ARMY Y. M. C. A. FUND OVER-SUBSCRIBED HERE

Much Enthusiasm at Meeting Friday
Evening—Country Districts Hold Meetings.

The meeting to raise Chelsea's quota for the Army Y. M. C. A., at Sylvan theatre, last Friday evening, was a disappointment in the size of the audience, but that was as far as the disappointment went. What was lacking in numbers was more than made up in enthusiasm.

The martial band, composed of E. A. Ward and J. L. Burg, fife, Dr. H. M. Armour and George Ward, snare drums, and Milo A. Shaver, bass drum, woke the echoes, before the meeting and attracted a great deal of attention.

N. S. Potter, jr., acted as chairman. Vocal music was furnished by Mr. Hamilton of the University School of Music, and the Community Quartette, composed of Messrs. J. H. Boyd, J. B. Bartch, Ray Thomas and Victor Morris, with R. D. Cheesman accompanist.

The first speaker was Rev. J. M. Wells, of Ann Arbor, who had visited Camp Custer and investigated the work of the "Y".

Rev. S. A. John, of Ann Arbor, gave an eloquent appeal for assistance in this work.

H. J. Abbott, of Ann Arbor, then took charge of affairs and started in to take subscription, and the response was so quick that it nearly took him off his feet, and at the close of the meeting it was announced that the amount subscribed had reached the sum of $1,235.

The total amount subscribed in the village for the work is $1,392.95.

Meetings were held in the various school districts and the amounts raised totaled $689.67.

The total amount raised in the Chelsea district, comprising the townships of Sylvan, Lyndon, Lima, and the north half of Sharon and Freedom, was $2,082.62.

Left For Service Overseas.

Friday afternoon the Wolverine limited on the Michigan Central slowed down while passing through Chelsea, to allow the officers and employees of the Lewis Spring & Axle Co. to wave a farewell to Elmer D. Greenamyer, who was a passenger, and was making the first lap of a journey to France.

Mr. Greenamyer was production manager of the Lewis Spring & Axle Company's plant here for some time. As the Michigan Central flyer pulled into Chelsea it found employees and officials of the Lewis plant lined up along the railroad tracks, giving an appropriate Godspeed to Mr. Greenamyer.

Mr. Greenamyer is one of the manufacturing experts in this section who has been drafted in the government service overseas. He has been commissioned as major in the quartermaster's department and will operate a large factory for the erection and maintenance of army trucks in France.

Preserving the Seed Stock.

After this war the United States will be in possession of an invaluable asset, the major part of the world's seed stock, cattle, hogs and sheep. The International Live Stock Exposition is the principal agency in this process of preservation and accumulation which will put North America in an enviable position.

The seed stock of Germany, Belgium, France and other European countries has been depleted to the extent of extermination. Great Britain is faced with the prospect of slaughtering pure bred flocks and herds if the war continues, and lack of feed may force Holland and Denmark to adopt a similar policy this winter.

The pick of this seed stock of the equine, bovine, porcine and ovine species will be exhibited at the International Live Stock Exposition the first week of December. It will be a display of superlative merit, possible nowhere else on this mundane sphere under present or post-bellum conditions. Those who miss it will have neglected an opportunity.

The civilized world must have a supply of animal foods and in the present emergency; providing it is the task of the United States. Under normal conditions the 1917 International Live Stock Exposition would have had a vastly greater economic value than its predecessors; with the certainty of semi-famine conditions for years to come, the institution has assumed greater importance than ever.

A QUARTER CENTURY

Happenings in Chelsea Twenty-five Years Ago This Week.

Everybody has been on the lookout for the comet which arrived on schedule.

FROM CAMP McARTHUR.

The following letter is from a Lima township boy now stationed at Camp McArthur, Waco, Texas, and was written November 13:

Editor Standard:—Received the November 8th issue of your paper on the 12th, and wish to express my thanks for same. I take great pleasure in reading the happenings in and around Chelsea. Seems real home-like to get a paper from home town.

Had a very pleasant trip down here. Left Camp Custer at 1:45, October 25, over the Michigan Central; arrived in Chicago at 6:30. Remained here for an hour. Reached East St. Louis at 10:20 a. m., October 26. Crossed the Mississippi River at 6:30. Awoke October 27th at Little Rock, Arkansas. Arrived in Texas, at 11:30 a. m. Stopped here for a short time, all getting off the train for a few minutes of physical drill. When the train came to a stop the head-end was in Texas while the rear was in Arkansas, the city being on the boundary line between the two states. Arrived at Camp McArthur, Waco, Texas, at 10 a. m. Sunday, October 28.

Had some sandstorm on arriving, and another on Monday. It was warm on Sunday, but turned cold before morning, and remained cold until the 30th. Has been real summer weather since, without sandstorms.

Had trench digging yesterday and today. The ground is very dry, for it has not rained for some time. The cotton crop is a small one.

Best regards from a Chelsea rooker, GEO. A. LINDAUER.

Here's Your Tax Rate.

No. 6, frl. Sylvan and Waterloo, school, $2.35; total, $9.64.

The above figures are per thousand dollars valuation.

The assessed valuation of Sylvan township is $2,978,730.

That Filthy Drinking Fountain.

The drinking fountain has not been cleaned up; at least it was not cleaned at the time we went to press, and if our information is correct it will not be cleaned by any help from the village. At last we have happened on the trail of the man whose duty it is to do the job, but the matter is a little complicated; but it must be the correct solution, because the night man told us. He said that it was the duty of the day man to do the work, and he must know what he was talking about as he occupied the position of day man until about three days before he ventured the information. As there will not be a day man on until next spring, the authorities should order the water turned off.

BODY OF AVIATOR FOUND ON TRACK

Had Fallen From Troop Train Early
Friday Morning—Member
Canadian Army.

James Powers, a member of the Canadian Royal Flying Squad, of Camp Mohawk, Deseronto, Ontario, was found dead between the tracks on the Michigan Central, about four miles west of Chelsea, at 6:30 o'clock Friday morning by George Heydlauff, who was on his way to his cornfield on the south side of the railroad. The body was found just west of the Sylvan crossing and the man had been dead for some time when discovered.

Mr. Heydlauff when he was crossing the tracks saw what he thought was a coat, but upon going to the object he found that it was a man. Three special trains on the Michigan Central westbound, passed through here at 12:16, 3:09 and 4:41 in the morning transporting Canadian troops.

It is supposed that Mr. Powers had stepped to the platform of one of the trains and fell from it. His skull was fractured and death was apparently almost instant.

In his possession was found two silver medals, mounted on ribbons with three silver bars, showing that he had served with the British army in South Africa in 1901-2. Powers' hat was in one of his jacket pockets with a small sum of money and other personal effects. The position of the body was lying with his head to the east, one hand on his breast, the other pointing toward the track and one foot crossed over the other.

Mr. Heydlauff notified Justice Brooks and the body was taken to Staffan's undertaking rooms. Among the effects of the dead man was his registration card in the flying squad and the address of his wife, Mrs. Cathalan Power, 418 Helm Place, Chicago, Ill. Coroner Brooks notified Mrs. Powers of the death and the body was shipped to her home Saturday evening.

Mrs. Adam Schmid.

Mrs. Dorothy Barbara Schmid, wife of Adam Schmid, died at her home in Lima, Friday morning, November 16, 1917. Death came as the result of a stroke of apoplexy suffered by Mrs. Schmid about four months ago.

Mrs. Schmid was born in Freedom township, October 12, 1842, and had always lived in this county. She was a woman of very lovable character, and had a large number of friends.

Mrs. Schmid was a member of Scio church, at which her funeral services were held Monday morning, at 11 o'clock, following a short service at the home, at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. Frederick Thrum officiating. Interment in the church cemetery.

Surviving Mrs. Schmid, are her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Frederick Eisenmann, of Freedom, and one son, Julius, living at home, and one brother, Charles Haas, of Freedom.

Cement City—Some people argue that the age of miracles is coming back, which may be true but probably isn't. At any rate, John Flint had a 30 acre field of alfalfa cut on shares last week and every particle was cured and secured without a symptom of dampness, which has never been done in November before. Cement City cor. Brooklyn Exposition.

He Removed the Danger Signal

"I suffered a long time with a very weak back," writes Fred Smith, 325 Main St., Green Bay, Wis. "A few boxes of Foley Kidney Pills completely relieved me of all pain and pain in the back, and now I am as strong and well as ever."

"One cannot help becoming nervous and feeling tired and worn out when the kidneys fail to filter and throw out of the system the poisonous waste matter that causes kidney troubles and bladder ailments."

"Backache is one of Nature's danger signals that the kidneys are clogged up and inactive. It is often followed by rheumatism, annoying bladder or urinary disorders, puffy swellings under the eyes, swollen ankles and painful joints."

"Foley Kidney Pills get right at the source of trouble. They invigorate the kidneys to healthy action and when the kidneys properly perform their functions the poisonous waste matter is eliminated from the system."

ANN ARBOR.

Ann Arbor—An Arbor boy, Corporal Phelps Collins, brought down a German aeroplane, recently. Collins is at present flying on the British front in Flanders and the machine that he brought down was a speedy monoplane, whose occupant was a captain possessing an enviable record as an air fighter.

BREVITIES

Dexter—Sidney Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Thompson, of Dexter, has been made a corporal of Co. E, 129th Infantry, stationed at Camp McArthur.

Ann Arbor—Kenneth Westerman, a professor of music in the University School of Music, has just been appointed by the government as song leader at Camp McArthur, Waco, Texas.

Jackson—Frank Savage, a former Jackson policeman, died in Mercy hospital Sunday from injuries received Friday evening, when he fell from a street car on Lansing avenue. He was found unconscious in the road near his home. His skull was fractured.

Ann Arbor—Twenty-five girl students at the University of Michigan have formed a club for military drill under the direction of Drill Master Orr and two sergeants. While no name has yet been officially given this military club, the male students call it the "Legion of Death."

Ann Arbor—An auto accident Sunday resulted in serious injuries to Mrs. Frank Stivers, and her mother, Mrs. McKay, and cuts and bruises for Mr. Stivers and Tom Morgan, of Liberty, Ind., and Frank Tabor, of Grand Ledge. Mrs. McKay received a broken shoulder, and Mrs. Stivers suffered severe bruises and a cut on her left temple. Mr. Stivers was driving his new machine when Theo. April, driving up a cross street at high speed, struck the Stivers car.

Clinton—Oiling streets in Clinton has not by any means proven a failure, notwithstanding the fact that the work was handicapped by unfavorable weather conditions, which prevented the roads from being as smooth as they would have been under more favorable conditions. As it is the one application has laid the dust and the surface has shed the water and thus eliminated the mud. The streets treated with oil have remained firm during the recent long spell of rainy weather and our main business street is the next best thing to a pavement. The automobile traffic over our streets has been heavy enough to give the roads the severest kind of a test, and there is no question as to the merits of the oiling process.—Local.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some parts of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms which vary widely but may include pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatic pains, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drawings, droopiness, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right the danger is overcome. Doan's Kidney Pills have proven an effective kidney medicine.

E. Chisholm, grocer, 608 Adrian Ave., Jackson, Mich., says: "My kidneys were out of order and I had a dull aching across my back. I could hardly stoop and my kidneys acted irregularly. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they relieved the trouble. The soreness and pains in my back left and I felt better generally."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Chisholm had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

Two Thanksgiving Proclamations of Revolutionary Days

THE first Thanksgiving proclamation of the revolution was reported to congress October 18, 1783, by Duane, Samuel Huntington and Holten. It was written by Mr. Duane and given to the people on the second Thursday in December. It expresses thanks for the discharge of troops in the following words:

"Whereas, it has pleased the Supreme Ruler of all human events to dispose of the hearts of the late belligerent powers to put a period to the effusion of human blood, by proclaiming a cessation of all hostilities by sea and land, and these United States are not only happily rescued from the dangers and calamities to which they have been so long exposed, but their freedom, sovereignty and independence are ultimately acknowledged; and, whereas, in the process of a contest on which the most essential rights of human nature depended the interposition of divine providence in our favor hath been most abundantly and most graciously manifested, and the citizens of these United States have every reason for praise and gratitude to the God of their salvation; . . . the United States in congress assembled do recommend it to the several states to set apart the second Thursday in December next as a day of public thanksgiving."

The first national Thanksgiving to be promulgated after the adoption of the Constitution of the United States was written by Washington and issued on October 3, 1789. This was a general recommendation of thanksgiving for the establishment of the Constitution. The whereabouts of the original of this instrument is unknown. The earliest Thanksgiving proclamation of Washington as president in the possession of the department of state is one dated January 1, 1795, and was issued in view of the suppression of the rebellion in western Pennsylvania, which for a time threatened the safety of the union.

This document was written by Alexander Hamilton, secretary of the treasury, and bears amendments by Edmund Randolph, secretary of state. The original copy is yellow and the ink is faded, but it is yet legible. It is the engrossed copy which bears the great seal of the United States and the signatures of Washington and Randolph. The proclamation is as follows:

"When we review the calamities which afflict so many other nations, the present condition of the United States affords much of consolation and satisfaction. Our exemption hitherto from foreign war, an increasing prospect of the continuance of that exemption, the great degree of internal tranquility we have enjoyed, the recent confirmation of that tranquility by the suppression of an insurrection which so wantonly threatened it, the happy course of our public affairs in general, the unexampled prosperity of all classes of our citizens, are circumstances which peculiarly mark our situation with indications of the divine beneficence toward us. In such a state it is an especial manner our duty as a people, with devout reverence and affectionate gratitude, to acknowledge our many and great obligations to almighty God, and to implore him to continue and confirm the blessings we experience.

"Deeply penetrated with this sentiment, I, George Washington, president of the United States, do recommend to all religious societies and denominations, and to all persons whomsoever within the United States, to set apart and observe Thursday, the 15th day of February next, as a day of public thanksgiving and prayer, and on that day to meet together and render their sincere thanks to the great ruler of nations for the manifold and signal mercies which distinguish our lot as a nation, particularly for the possession of constitutions of government which unite and by their union establish liberty with order, for the preservation of our peace, foreign and domestic; for the seasonable control which has been given to the spirit of disorder in the suppression of the late insurrection."

George Washington

Edmund Randolph

Belongs to All Humanity.

Essentially our American Thanksgiving is at least American of our holidays, for the simple reason that it is too human to be merely American. There were no most human things left for the New England fathers to originate. They are immemorially older than this country. There are no original ways of expressing gratitude. All the pathways of thanksgiving are very old paths.—James Lane Allen in Munsey's Magazine.

Make Use of God's Gifts.

"All that I have is thine," says God to us—earth and sun and rain and crops. Let us use them all the year for all they are worth.

Season for All to Magnify Blessings and Forget Crosses

WE CELEBRATE that great holiday, Thanksgiving, at this season. In the gay round of pleasures the day always brings, perhaps not one of us will stop a moment and seriously look back over the past year, now rapidly drawing to a close. Many of us—in fact, all of us—should pause a moment and quietly review the past months.

Perhaps these months brought us many trials, but they also brought us many blessings. It is the blessings we should itemize and magnify and forget the crosses. We may sigh discontentedly and say, "Well, last year I had many more reasons to be thankful than I have this year," but if we are fair and honest with ourselves we will have to admit that, even if troubles came our way, the blessings that followed them were far greater in number.

Who has not read the story of that first Thanksgiving Day? Fancy a woman in these times enduring the hardships and worries those strong-hearted New England pilgrims endured; and what a wonderful lesson in unselfishness they have handed down to us!

Argue and elaborate as we will on our burdens, we know fate has been good to us. Life is not all sunshine. If it were we would very soon grow tired of life. Disappointments, setbacks, disillusionments come to every one, and we must expect they will come to us. Indeed, we have no voice in the matter. They will come to us as surely as day follows night; but do we accept them patiently? That is another story.

Many women look only on the dark side of life. "What's the use?" they say dejectedly. "Everything I try to do turns out a failure." There is a tiny breath of selfishness here. "I" is very prominent in these women's thoughts. Perhaps if they did something worth while for someone else their work would be crowned with success. Doing something for another has never yet turned out a failure. There isn't a case on record showing where failure has followed a kind deed done for another. Perhaps this other did not appreciate the efforts taken in her behalf, yet the fact remains that the woman who put herself out to make another woman happy experienced a wonderful happiness herself.—New York Evening Telegram.

VERY POPULAR

The Duck—My, I'm getting popular. The whole family just watch me all the time.

Feast Without Gorging.

Thanksgiving day is devoted to many pleasant activities in social life, in the pursuit of health and amusement, but of old it was a day of heartfelt thanksgiving, first of all, and so it should always be, and especially so it should be this year. It is a feast, but why should the feast be a gorge?

DAIRY FACTS

FEED COWS WHILE MILKING?

Much Depends on Temperament of Animal and Person Who Milks and Attends to Her.

There has been some little discussion recently in the various farm papers on the matter of whether it is advisable to feed cows while milking. It would seem to me that little advantage can be gained from such a practice and there are several noteworthy objections to it, says a writer in an exchange. Of course, much depends on the temperament of the cow, and the person who milks and cares for her. There are cows with a quiet disposition and not of a hogish nature that will stand quietly while being milked. In fact few cows will not stand more quietly during the milking process if they have nothing else to attract their attention. If the cow is standing quietly she sees the milker when he approaches and steps in beside her. She also gives down her milk more freely than when she is attempting to eat at the same time.

On the other hand, if a cow has her head down in the manger she will probably not see the milker when he approaches, and the first intimation she has of his presence is when he speaks to, or touches her, and if she is of a nervous disposition she will probably jump back and then continue to annoy him during the entire process of milking.

PROPER QUARTERS FOR COWS

Suitable Place Must Be Furnished in Order to Get Best Results—Provide Ventilation.

To give best results milch cows should be provided with suitable quarters for feeding and milking. Stalls should be provided for each cow and feed boxes and manger racks should be so arranged that they will be of easy access for cleaning at least once every day. Twenty-five dollars, plus the labor, should fit an ordinary barn with stalls for five cows and the necessary feed boxes, mangers and gutters.

Plenty of ventilation is necessary, because the cow is somewhat like the human being, she thrives best where there is plenty of fresh air available. Provision should be made to take care of the manure. This can be done by providing plenty of bedding in box stalls, or, if stanchions are used, by having water-tight gutters about 14 inches wide and 10 inches deep running full length of the stable.

RATION FOR HOLSTEIN COWS

In Addition to Hay and Silage Each Animal Should Have Certain Amount of Grain.

Feed the cows all the clover hay and silage they will clean up well without waste. Holstein cows will, on the average, eat daily from 10 to 12 pounds of clover hay and 30 to 40 pounds of corn silage. In addition feed each cow one pound daily of the following grain mixture for each 4 to 4½ pounds of milk she yields: Oats, 50 pounds; barley, 15 pounds; corn, 15 pounds; and oil meal, 20 pounds.

If the barley and corn cannot be obtained conveniently a grain mixture consisting of 70 pounds oats and 30 pounds oil meal may be used and fed at the rate of one pound daily for each 4 to 4½ pounds of milk each cow produces.

CREAM OF HIGH PERCENTAGE

Keeps in Good Condition Longer Than Thinner Article—Easier Cooled and Handled.

Cream that tests from 35 to 40 per cent will keep in good condition longer, is more easily cooled, handled, costs less to transport, leaves more skim-milk on the farm than a thinner cream. On the other hand, with a heavier cream there is a mechanical loss by sticking to the sides of utensils when handling, and a quantity may get into the milk while separating.

COWS FRESHENED IN WINTER

Nothing Better Than Legume Hay and Silage Mixed With Few Pounds of Concentrates.

For cows that freshen during the winter months nothing is better than legume hay and silage mixed with three or four pounds of concentrates. The successful dairyman feeds his cows when dry, with as great or greater care than when fresh, and this prepares them for safe calving, and a maximum milking period.

Guess So!

Hugo Stennis, the Dutch publicist, said at a Holland society dinner in New York:

"The Germans are demonstrating in all sorts of ways that America's intervention in the war won't amount to anything. They're scared, you see."

"The Cologne Gazette said the other day that when the American armies arrive in France they'll be hampered by their ignorance of the various languages. Well, my wife laughed when she read that."

"I guess," she said, "the Americans can shoot in any language."

WRINKLES ALL DRIVEN AWAY

A grandmother writes: "The bottle of Usit has completely cleared my face of the horrible wrinkles that were such an eyesore to my daughters, my grandchildren and to me. It is a godsend to wrinkle suffering humanity." When Usit is regularly applied for a reasonable time, wrinkles disappear, the skin regains its former smoothness, plumpness and color. Usit is such a splendid skin treatment that a bottle should always be on your dressing table. Rough skins made smooth; sallow, dry, faded complexions get back their natural freshness from its use, and it is also a fine treatment for freckles, blackheads, and many forms of eczema.

Usit is not a cream or paste, but a pure nut oil liquid, to be used at night before retiring. Try Usit Face Powder De Luxe, which is no ordinary face powder, but a preparation appealing to people of discriminating and refined taste. Four tints—flesh, white, pink and brunette. Delicately perfumed. For further distribution a bargain. Once only. One 50c bottle Usit and one 50c box Usit Face Powder de Luxe for 75c. Address Usit Mfg Co., 895 Main street, Buffalo, N. Y.

A Quiet Week.

A man recently bereaved of his wife interviewed the minister about the arrangements for burial.

"When is the funeral?" asked the clergyman.

"Monday," was the reply.

"Monday?" ejaculated the minister. "That's a long time to keep the body; a whole week."

"Well, you see," said the bereft, "it's like this. When we got married, the wife and me made up our minds to live a quiet week at home the first chance we got. We're just livin' it now."

Canada's Liberal Offer of Wheat Land to Settlers

is open to you—to every farmer or farmer's son who is anxious to establish for himself a happy home and prosperity.

Canada's hearty invitation this year is more attractive than ever. Wheat is much higher but her fertile farm land just as cheap, and in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta

160 Acre Homesteads are actually free to settlers and other land sold at from $15 to $20 per acre. The great demand for Canadian Wheat will keep up the price. Where a farmer can get near $2 for wheat and raise 20 to 45 bushels to the acre he is bound to make money—that's what you can expect in Western Canada. Wonderful yields also of Oats, Barley and Flax. Mixed Farming in Western Canada is fully as profitable an industry as grain raising.

The excellent grasses, full of nutrition, are the only food required either for beef or dairy purposes. Good schools, churches, markets, convenient mail facilities. There is an unusual demand for farm labor to replace the many young men who have volunteered for the war. ## RED CROSS NOTES.

Owing to the advanced price of yarn mufflers will be made from woolen cloth.

The Red Cross sent a $25 check for the boys in France. Christmas boxes will be received by every American boy in France.

Since November 12 we have sent thirty-one sweaters, fifteen pairs of wristlets, three mufflers and four pairs of socks.

Do not forget "The Eagle's Wing" to be given at the Princess this afternoon and evening. Everyone should go and help the Red Cross.

The following are new members of the Red Cross: Mrs. Maria Frey, Miss Elizabeth Wagner, Miss Jennie Livingston, Mrs. John Wals, Miss Celia Keelan, Miss Alice Savage, Mrs. Sophia Merker.

The following ladies attended a very enthusiastic Red Cross conference at Lane Hall, Ann Arbor, Tuesday: Mrs. F. Shepherd, Mrs. L. T. Freeman, Mrs. L. G. Palmer, Miss Nina Belle Wurster, Mrs. B. B. Turnbull, Mrs. Howard Holmes, Mrs. W. C. Boyd, Mrs. H. J. Polford, Mrs. C. E. Whitaker, Mrs. J. E. McKune, Mrs. H. H. Fenn, Mrs. A. L. Steger, Miss Ella Barber.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Cecil Traver has entered the sixth grade.

The lower grades are making fracture bags for the Red Cross.

The fourth and five grades are filling Christmas boxes for Uncle Sam's soldiers.

The children of the fifth grade are knitting afghans for the Belgian and French children.

About two hundred people attended "The Rescue of Prince Hal" at the Dexter opera house last Friday night.

Took up your "Rah, Rah" apparatus and prepare to see some good basketball games. Practice started this week and the team promises to be better than ever.

In the fourth grade the perfect spellers for the month were: Wilhelmina Nicolai, Annie Gottschling, Celesta Alber, Anna Mayer, Orland Taylor, Mike Phillips, Dorothea Weinman, Gerald Hepburn, Dorothy Cavanaugh.

The Kindergarten Mothers' Club was organized in the kindergarten room, November 13, and the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. S. J. King; vice president, Mrs. M. J. Baxter; secretary, Mrs. Chauncey Freeman; treasurer, Mrs. E. Bahnmueller. Meetings will be held the second Tuesday of the month.

The school raised $125 for the Army Y. M. C. A. The class of '18 voted $25 from the class funds; class of '20, $3; class of '21, $3, and the remainder being personal subscriptions of the pupils and teachers. The sixth and seventh grades deserve special mention. The sixth grade contributed $17.75 and the seventh grade, $15.10. In a great many instances this was a personal sacrifice on the part of pupils, some of them bringing their savings covering a long period of time.

ALL CHILDREN'S COATS must now be sold. We've gone through our stock and reduced prices on many of these garments very materially to clean up all Coats now.

A Shoe Sale Worth While

We have selected every pair of Women's Colored Shoes, of which we have only a few pairs in stock. These are nearly all colored Shoes, made of real Blumenthal Kid, welt or turn soles, some kid tops, some have cloth tops. There are practically all sizes in this sale, but only a few pairs of a style. These Shoes are just such Shoes as will be shown for next season's wear, and the qualities are undoubtedly better than will be obtainable then at any price. Were $7.50 and $8.00. Price, $4.85.

Buy Children's and Girls' EDUCATOR Shoes. Every pair of these shoes are real calf skin, and are made of all leather, real welt, oak tanned soles, and are the most serviceable Shoes made for youngsters.

Our Well Stocked Knit Underwear Section

The Underwear section is well stocked both in the sense of quantity and variety, and particularly in the general excellence of yarns used and the high grade of work throughout.

This is a point to be considered more than ever, for the primary markets show extraordinary high prices, and skimping both in yarn, quality and trimmings is now by no means rare.

LOWE LAKE DRAIN.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Washtenaw, SS.

At a session of the Probate Court for the said County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate office in the City of Ann Arbor, on Thursday, the eighth day of November, A. D. 1917.

Present: Hon. Emory E. Leland, Judge of Probate.

In the Matter of the Application of the County Drain Commissioners of the Counties of Livingston, Washtenaw and Ingham, in said State, for the appointment of three disinterested Special Commissioners, to determine the necessity for a drain known as the "Lowe Lake Drain," and for the taking of private property for the use and benefit of the public for the purposes thereof, and the just compensation to be made therefor.

Whereas, On the eighth day of November, A. D. 1917, an application in writing was made to this Court by the said County Drain Commissioner, for the appointment of three disinterested Special Commissioners, to determine the necessity for said drain and for the taking of private property for the use and benefit of the public for the purposes thereof, and the just compensation to be made therefor;

And Whereas, This Court did, on the eighth day of November, A. D. 1917, upon a due examination of such application and of all the proceedings theretofore taken in the premises, find and declare the same to be in accordance with the Statute in such case made and provided, and did, thereupon, by an order entered of December, A. D. 1917, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, as the time, and in the office of the Judge of Probate in the City of Ann Arbor, in said County as the place when and where a hearing upon such application would be had, and did then and there order that all persons whose lands were to be traversed by such proposed drain, and who had not released right of way and all damages on account thereof, to appear at the time and place designated, and to be heard with respect to such application, if they so desire, and to show cause, if any there be, why said application should not be granted in full.

And Whereas, There is now on file with this Court a description and survey of such proposed drain, from which said description and survey it appears that the land to be traversed by such drain, and the commencement, general course and terminus of such drain are as follows, to-wit:

Survey of the Lowe Lake Drain, located on Sections 28, 31, 32 and 33, Town 1 North, Range 3 East, Unadilla Township, County of Livingston, sections 5 and 6, Town 1 South, Range 3 East, Livingston Township, County of Washtenaw, sections 11, 14, 23, 26, 35 and 36, Town 1 North, Range 2 East, Stockbridge Township, County of Ingham, State of Michigan, the centerline thereof being described as follows:

Can You Tell Pure Wool Cloth When You See and Feel It?

Can you tell the difference between hand and machine tailoring?

Mighty few men can and it's hardly likely that you are one of them. Most men have to find this out by wearing their clothing a few months and if these two qualities are not present, the clothing will show it in the wear very quickly.

You don't have to be a judge of fabrics and tailoring when you buy clothing at this store. The expert part of clothes selecting is done by us and clothing that is not pure wool quality and not hand made, is not given consideration in this store.

No matter what price you pay here, our guarantee of pure wool, hand tailored quality is back of your purchase—the wearing quality of any garment purchased here prove it.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steinbach received a letter from their son Albert, who is in France, written October 19, in which he says that "It is still raining and muddy. We work every day, however, unless the rain is too severe; and we are usually soaked from the knees down. We've got it all over Noah, he had to have an ark. Am receiving your letters regularly now. Keep it up."

Every person in the county who possibly can should attend the Farmers' Thanksgiving Festival at the Y. M. C. A. building, Ann Arbor, Friday and Saturday of this week. This represents the farmers' first organized effort to furnish funds for the Red Cross work. The committees have been soliciting throughout the county for donations. Four truck loads have been sent down from this vicinity. One of the Ann Arbor Red Cross units will furnish lunch in the Y. M. C. A. continuously during the Festival. Splendid programs have been arranged, which will be given in the Presbyterian church.

Married, at 7 o'clock Friday evening, November 16, 1917, at the home of Mrs. Alice Roedel, mother of the bride, Miss Rena Roedel and Mr. George Walworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Walworth, Rev. P. W. Dierberger officiating. Dr. D. F. Roedel and Max Roedel, of Detroit, brothers of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fox, of Leamington, Ont., were the out-of-town guests. Mr. and Mrs. Walworth are graduates of the Chelsea high school. Mr. Walworth is in the ordnance department of the quartermaster corps and is located at Rock Island arsenal, Rock Island, Ill., where he returned Sunday afternoon.

Dexter came near having the same experience Monday night that Concord had one night last week. The telephone and telegraph wires were cut, and when the telegraph operator heard the men working at the wires he turned out the lights in his office and threw over the signal levers and a fast train from the east was stopped. The engineer blew the whistle for some time as a signal, and it is thought that this scared the would-be robbers away before they could make an attempt at burglary. The train stopped at Chelsea and gave the alarm. An auto load of Chelsea men went to Dexter immediately after the alarm was given, but everything was found quiet.

Verne Fordyce is seriously ill with gas poisoning.

A large crowd was at the Michigan Central station at 10 o'clock this morning to greet the boys from this locality who were on their way to Camp Custer. Whistles were blown, flags were waved, and everyone cheered until they were hoarse. The pupils from the public and parochial schools were out.

Princess Theatre.

Open regularly Sunday, Wednesday and Saturday nights.

SATURDAY, NOV. 24.

Thelma Salter, America's leading child actress in "In Slumberland." A romantic journey into the mysteries of youthful dreamland, where elf and fairies dance among fairy settings. A story of bright humor and whimsical situations makes this picture interesting to both adults and children.

SUNDAY, NOV. 25.

Carlyle Blackwell and June Elvidge in "The Price of Pride." Half brothers look exactly alike. One is a desperado. The other an aggressive, clean easterner. The desperado holds up the train on which the easterner's sweetheart is traveling. She thinks the desperado is her lover. Complication swiftly follows complication, until the tangled thread is unraveled in a smashing, surprising climax.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 28.

Charles Ray in "Sudden Jim," a smashing drama of the big woods, by Clarence Budington Kelland, from his serial story of the same name in the Saturday Evening Post. The fight to the finish of a young man who preferred a run down clothespin factory to $50,000.

THURSDAY, NOV. 29.

Thanksgiving Day Special.

"Bringing Home Father," presenting Franklin Farnum and "Brownie" Vernon and skillful supporters in H. O. Davis' delightful comedy drama. The best fun ever shown upon a moving picture screen. Ridiculous situations, laughable episodes, clean fun and frolic.—Adv.

BATTLE CREEK EATING PLACES
MUST CLEAN UP OR LOSE SOLDIER TRADE.

SEVERAL FOUND UNSANITARY

State Food Commissioner Made Survey of Cafes At Request of Camp
Custer Officials.

Lansing—Restaurants and other eating establishments in Battle Creek must either clean up or lose the soldier patronage from Camp Custer.

Officials in charge of the camp are determined to protect the men from food served under insanitary conditions.

At the request of officials of the camp, the State Dairy and Food Commissioner has been making a sanitary survey of all eating places in Battle Creek, and as a result of the investigation, a number of proprietors will be asked to appear in court unless they give immediate heed to Commissioner Woodworth's warning to clean up at once.

Conditions in some of the places are extremely detrimental to health, according to the report prepared by the dairy and food department.

In one place in Battle Creek, according to the inspector's report, the dishes were washed in the same water used by the employees to clean their hands.

Battle Creek is not the only city in Michigan, however, where the cafes, restaurants and hotels will be inspected by officials of the dairy and food department. Commissioner Woodworth plans to start a state wide crusade along this line.

CUSTER "VETS" HELP RECRUITS

New Arrivals Receiving Valuable Aid
From First Two Increments.

Camp Custer, Battle Creek—Michigan's first two increments of selected men, who have been in camp for periods of time varying from two and one-half months to the same number of weeks, are playing an important part in giving the third contingent, its first lessons in the inside workings of military life.

Officially all instructions come from the officers but the latter are freely admitting the value of the knowledge gained by the older men and say they will depend largely on this experience as an aid to them in getting the new arrivals started correctly.

The very mingling of the two classes will have a salutary effect on the rookies, and the seasoned men, proud of their knowledge, will be anxious to aid as much as possible in steering their brothers along the right path.

And, if any of the new arrivals object to military regulations, the lessons they will be given in the barracks removed from the eye of commissioned officers, will perhaps be more efficacious than would any punishment which might be meted out by the officers.

A report received by the division surgeon shows that health conditions in Camp Custer are superior to those in the national guard and national army cantonments of the south and that the percentage of deaths in this camp is the lowest in the country.

RELEASES FROM CUSTER BARRED

Local Draft Boards Cannot Re-open
Cases of Men Now at Camp.

Lansing—Under a new ruling just received from Washington, local draft boards are prohibited from re-opening any cases of men who are already at Camp Custer.

General Crowder says the unrestricted opening of cases of men not yet inducted into military service is delaying the raising of the army and the re-opening of cases of men already in is interfering with the training.

Any person already inducted into military service who claims that he has not had a full hearing or fair opportunity to be heard by a local or district board as requested by the selective service law and regulations or who claims that the board has exceeded its jurisdiction or substantially violated the selective service law or regulations in passing on his claim may apply to the commanding officer of his mobilization camp at any time within seven days after arrival at the mobilization camp to be discharged under the provisions of regulations.

WITH THE BOYS AT CAMP CUSTER

Commanders have been authorized to lengthen the time of passes to Battle Creek to allow their men to attend the theatres of the city.

Nearly 200 complete suits of soldier winter underwear were stolen, when one of the division clothing warehouses was broken into. Entrance was gained by forcing the lock on one of the main doors.

Because of excessive fare and intermittent service by the street car line to camp, hundreds of soldiers and workmen are now walking to Battle Creek instead of riding. Many of the men, since they assigned part of their pay to the Liberty loan fund and to dependent relatives, feel the 15-cent fare beyond their means.

MICHIGAN NEWS BRIEFS

Two Flint women were attacked by the same man within a few hours, both being beaten, bound and gagged. Mrs. Charles Thomas was dragged to a shed in the rear of her house where she fell unconscious. Miss Nina Black, a boarder at the home of Mrs. Thomas' sister, was the other victim. Both women gave the police good descriptions of the man.

One man was killed and three seriously injured when their automobile was struck by a Grand Trunk train at the unguarded crossing at Caniff avenue at the Detroit-Hamtramck boundary. The car and men were hurled 25 feet by the force of the collision.

Michael Ellsworth, state fire marshal, has opened an investigation in the attempt to discover the reason for the great increase in fire losses in Michigan during the present year. With three months' fires still to be recorded, the state has lost $1,000,000 more than in all of 1916.

On Furlough

EVERY REGISTRANT IS SUBJECT TO CALL

IF NOT FIT FOR DUTY AT FRONT
CAN BE PUT TO WORK
BEHIND LINES.

DEPENDENTS ARE MORE SECURE

Man With Family Must Get Consent of Dependents Before He Will Be Taken Into Army.

Washington—Drastic new regulations for the draft, making practically every one of the more than 9,000,000 registrants subject to war duty, if not at front, then behind the lines, have been approved by the president.

The regulations mobilize the war strength of the country to a point where only a word is necessary to take a man from his desk or plow or work bench and put him in a trench or armed motor car or munitions factory or shipbuilding plant.

Men of draft age with dependent relatives are placed in a more secure position.

Added protection for dependents is secured by the requirement in cases where the registrant seeks to waive his deferred classification status that waivers also must be obtained from those dependent on him before he can be taken into the military service. Local boards are constituted judges of all such cases.

Men physically unfitted for front line duty in the army and yet able to do some part of the work of a soldier may be called for limited military service behind the lines.

Where registrants are away from home districts or in other circumstances, application to the local board for a questionnaire is all that is required.

Local boards are granted virtually judicial powers to summon witnesses and obtaining information.

Authority is granted to form special classes of men highly skilled in particular trades or professions and summon them under this special heading, regardless of their grouping in the general classification plan except in dependency cases.

Men already certified by local boards will be sent forward as needed until such time as the new class I in each district is sufficiently organized to care for drafts from the district. All pending appeals will then be wiped off the slate and the new system will apply in full.

GAS ATTACK MADE ON SAMMIES

Germans Shell American Sector—One Soldier Executed.

With the American Army in France—the first German gas attack on our troops to be made on a considerable scale has occurred.

Though the number of gas shells fired by the Germans was not larger than usual, the enemy concentrated his fire of a small portion of one sector, while in his previous "gasings," Americans entered the front line, the shells spread over a wide area.

American Soldier Executed.

Washington—An American soldier of Gen. Pershing's forces, found guilty by court-martial of an attack and the killing of a French woman, has been executed by a firing squad.

All details of this, the first death penalty imposed since the troops landed in Europe, are being withheld by the war department.

COLLISION SINKS U. S. WAR SHIP

Destroyer Sunk in War Zone—Twenty-
One Lose Lives.

Washington—Sinking of the American destroyer Chauncey in collision in the war zone with a probable loss of 21 lives was announced on November 20 by the navy department.

No further details were given in a brief report to the department from Vice-Admiral Sims.

The Chauncey was a small, old type boat of only 420 tons. For several years before the war the Chauncey was used only in coast defense work and was classified as a coast torpedo vessel.

TWO MORE SAMMIES KILLED

Second Casualty List Reported From Front By General Pershing.

Washington—Two American soldiers were killed and six wounded in a recent engagement, General Pershing reported Monday.

The killed are:
Sergeant John E. Czajka, father, Albert Czajka, Milwaukee, Wis.
Private Stanley Janovic, sister, Sophia Glebutovic, East Boston, Mass.

Severely wounded:
Private Earl E. Aurand, mother, Emma Aurand, Harrisburg, Pa.
Private Francis Blevins, father, Max Blevins, Eckman, W. Va.
Private Edward P. Cahill, mother, Bridget Cahill, Bakertown, Pa.

Slightly wounded:
Sergeant John A. Logan, father, Charles Logan, Mount Carmel, Pa.
Private Chester Johnson, father, Samuel Johnson, Forest Hill, La.
Private Robert I. Reid, mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Reid, Barneyville, Okla.

This is the second casualty list reported from actual fighting with the Germans. The engagement took place the night of November 13.

HIGHER COAL PRICE PROSPECT

Operators Agree to Wage Increase Provided Price Is Raised.

Washington—Wage increases ranging from 15 to 44 per cent for Pennsylvania anthracite miners have been agreed to by the operators here on condition that advances are absorbed in higher coal prices.

As soon as they had signed their tentative new contract the miners and operators called on H. A. Garfield and asked that anthracite prices be raised to meet the increase. Dr. Garfield took the request under advisement and announced that he would make a careful investigation before rendering a decision.

It is estimated that the wage increases would add about 45 cents a ton to anthracite prices, and give the miners about $10,000,000 additional pay annually.

ITALIAN LINES ARE HOLDING

Defense Against Austro-German Invaders Grows Stronger.

London—Italy's armies are making an heroic and so far successful stand against the Austro-German masses thrown against them in desperate attacks along the line of the Piave river and in the mountainous region from the Piave westward to the edge of the Trentino district.

It is now more than a week since the Italians, retreating from the Tagliamento, crossed to the west bank of the Piave and took up their defensive positions behind it. The German command lost no time in attempting to force a passage of the stream and the enemy efforts were pressed on a scale of increasing intensity during all last week.

The Italian resistance, however, seems to be growing stronger, rather than otherwise. The latest Austro-German attempts to gain a permanent hold on the westerly side of the Piave were not only brilliantly frustrated, but the enemy columns were badly cut up.

COMBINATION SALES UNDER BAN

Forcing People to Buy Other Goods to Obtain Sugar Must Stop.

Washington—Retail dealers have been ordered by the food administration to stop the widely prevalent practice of making "combination sales," requiring customers to make other purchases in order to obtain a certain commodity. One exception is made—on all sales of sugar the dealer may require to buy twice the weight of corn meal.

Reports have come from many cities on "combination sales," particularly since the shortage of sugar in the east began. In order to get a couple of pounds of sugar, consumers have had to spend a certain amount in other goods.

This practice, the administration holds, is likely to lead to wasteful buying.

The exception in regard to corn meal is made as a wheat conservation measure, to encourage greater use of corn products, but dealers are not required to make the exception unless they so desire.

ALIEN ENEMIES IN U.S. MUST REGISTER

UNNATURALIZED MALE GERMANS
REQUIRED TO REPORT UNDER RECENT PROCLAMATION.

MUST GET PERMIT TO TRAVEL

Cannot Approach Within 100 Yards
Any Wharves—Not Permitted to Travel On Any Water Way.

Washington—Drastic regulations to establish government agents to keep thousands of Germans in the United States under constant surveillance and curb the treasonable activities of a few, are being promulgated by Attorney General Gregory to make effective the proclamation issued Monday by President Wilson imposing restrictions on alien enemies.

By means of the new regulations the department of justice expects to be able to round up a number of Germans, believed to have directed organized campaigns of sabotage to embarrass the United States.

Under the proclamation unnaturalized male Germans above the age of 14 are required to register with the police or some other authority to be designated by the attorney general. In addition, they must report periodically to some official, if the attorney general so orders.

They may not travel in the United States without a permit, and may not approach within 100 yards of any wharf, pier, dock, warehouse, shed, elevator, storage house, railroad terminal, or other establishment which the attorney general may designate.

They are forbidden to travel on the ocean, Great Lakes, or any river or waterway, either on public vessels or in their own private boats. They may not enter or live in the District of Columbia or the Panama canal zone, and are not permitted to make flights in balloons or airplanes.

The new order applies to Germans living within the United States, the Philippines, Porto Rico, Alaska and other possessions or territories. It does not affect subjects of Austria, Turkey and Bulgaria.

BRITISH HERO DIES

GEN. F. S. MAUDE.

London—General Frederick Stanley Maude, commander in Mesopotamia, died Monday after a brief illness.

Major-General Frederick Stanley Maude, captor of Baghdad, was rated as one of the most brilliant commanders of the war. After a series of British defeats in Mesopotamia, General Maude was placed in command late last year, and won an unbroken series of successes.

FIVE U-BOATS SUNK IN ONE DAY

Lloyd George Announces Unusually Successful Blow At Teutons.

London—Five U-boats were sunk last Saturday by the Allies, Premier Lloyd George announced in the house of commons Monday.

The premier added that he had no further fear of German ruthless sea warfare, implying its peril of starvation of England and its threat against Allied fleets, is ended.

His announcement was made in connection with a defense of the proposal for an Entente council to co-ordinate war operations, made against sharp criticism by H. H. Asquith, Liberal leader and former premier.

PROFITLESS CONTRACT TO FORD

Motor King to Turn Out $300,000,000
War Order at Cost.

Washington—Machinery will win the war, Henry Ford, of Detroit, declared here in a statement.

Ford is reported to have obtained contracts to make airplane parts to cost the United States government about $300,000,000, construction to begin at once at Detroit. All of this work Ford declares will be sold to the government at factory cost, no profit being made by the company.

LITTLE ECONOMY IN PREPARED HEN FEED

Investigation Shows Whole Grain
Can Be Purchased Much More Cheaply.

WEEDS AND GRIT IN MANY

Suggestion Is Made That Buyers Insist on Knowing Amount of Various Ingredients in What They Buy.

From Department of Publications,
Michigan Agricultural College.

East Lansing, Mich.—Keepers of poultry—and this includes the little fellow who keeps a few hens as a hobby as well as the big poultry man who is in the business for the money—there is in it—many of them following a policy of "penny wise and pound foolish" in the buying of their scratch feeds. Lured on by fancy names and pretty pictures they have been paying extravagant prices for commercial mixtures made up of common grains, often of inferior quality, adulterated not infrequently with weed seeds and limestone grit.

A few shrewd individuals have for some time been more or less aware of this fact, but it remained for the chemists of the experiment station of the Michigan Agricultural College a few days ago to prove it. Going at it systematically, as is the way with scientific men, the college chemists made complete analyses of practically every scratch feed sold in the state. Their conclusion was that with prices as they stand at present (November, 1917) it will save poultry men from 25 to 100 per cent to go into the market if necessary, buy the whole grain and mix it themselves.

As with all things, of course, both good feeds and bad were found, but irrespective of what class they fell into, it was proved that it would be much cheaper for poultry men to use whole grain. Thus, there was one feed, and it was one of the best by the way, offered on the market for $4.75 a hundredweight. The corn, wheat, oats, and barley of which it was composed could have been purchased anywhere for $3.80. The grain contained in another commercial feed was worth just $2.87 at prevailing market prices—mixed up and christened with a pretty name it was selling at $4.50 to gullible poultry men. In the very best sample there was only $4.13 worth of grain—and it was selling at $4.80. In most samples the value of the grain ranged from $3.25 to $3.75, and they were selling at prices ranging from $4.50 to $4.75.

Of course much stress has been laid by the manufacturers on the fact that these scratch feeds are offered as "balanced rations" to give the hens variety in their diet, but any poultry man with half an ounce of brains can feed his hens a superior fare at a dollar less per hundredweight. One feed, for instance, was found to contain 50 pounds of corn, 5 pounds of oats, 10 pounds of barley, 30 pounds of wheat, 3 pounds of buckwheat, and 2 pounds of kafir corn in every 100 pounds. Another was made up of 40 pounds of corn, 10 pounds of barley, 20 pounds of wheat, 10 pounds of kafir corn and 15 pounds of weed seeds. Still a third was a mixture of 25 pounds of corn, 10 pounds of barley, 30 pounds of wheat, 5 pounds of kafir corn, 10 pounds of weeds and 20 pounds of grit. A fourth contained 55 pounds of corn, 15 pounds of barley, 10 pounds of wheat and 20 pounds of weeds. Thus it went through the whole catalogue of feeds tested.

Some few reliable firms at least used pure grains, but a majority of the brands inspected showed a variety of contents of questionable value. Forty-nine samples were found to contain grit, which was being charged for at the rate of approximately 2 cents a pound. In other samples the grains used were mostly of inferior quality and light weight, and in some cases salvaged grains were substituted for the sound.

But most objectionable in a large number of samples was the presence of weed seeds. In some cases running as high as 30 pounds in every hundredweight. Among these were many of poisonous varieties, such as night shade, ergot and cockle. One sample, containing night shade, when fed to hens on the college farm as an experiment resulted in the death of two and affected all the others. The fact that the seeds are always whole and are therefore not all eaten by the hens probably accounts for the fewer fatalities.

The final conclusion drawn from the inspections was that if poultry men will buy the whole grain and mix it at home they will save themselves all the way from 25 to 100 per cent in the cost of their scratch feed and will in addition guard their flocks from possible injury by poisonous seeds and other possibly harmful ingredients.

But in any event, where a man insists on clinging to commercially mixed varieties, he should be sure at least that he is buying a feed made up of good clean grains. The difference in cost between this kind of a feed, put up by a reliable firm, and that containing impurities and poisons as weed seeds is so slight that there is no excuse for buying the latter.

SOWS NEED WINTER RATIONS

Proper Nourishment of Brood Sows
Now Determines Success of Spring Litters.

By W. E. J. EDWARDS,
Department of Animal Husbandry
Michigan Agricultural College.

East Lansing, Mich.—The near approach of winter has made the matter of winter rations one of much concern to the man who has brood sows on his hands, for as every breeder of hogs well knows the success of spring litters is largely predetermined by the treatment accorded the brood animals from this time on. Sufficient nourishment is essential and plenty of exercise is important.

The exact amount of feed required to winter sows, however, cannot be stated definitely, for much depends upon the condition, age and the individual sow. The best rule to go by is not to allow them to become thin, while on the other hand it is not wise to allow them to become very fat. Sows in fair condition in the fall should gain from 50 to 75 pounds at least before farrowing time, for the loss in weight during parturition may be equal to this. This gain should be put on gradually, for it is advisable to spread it over the entire period, especially during the final six or eight weeks of pregnancy. By so doing the healthy development of the unborn litter is assured.

With sows in good healthy condition about 1 1/2 pounds of grain per day for every 100 pounds of live weight should produce about the desired gains. Some sows need more, others less. Equal parts of ground corn, oats and wheat middlings makes an excellent ration. During the colder weather if plenty of exercise is provided, a larger proportion of corn can be fed. Barley or rye, in place of the corn, do well also. Equal parts of corn and middlings, or 10 to 12 parts of corn to one part 60 per cent digester tankage, make good rations. It matters little which ration is used if care be taken to see that it is palatable, has the proper bulk and contains the desired nutrients. Corn, barley and other fattening feeds must be fed in limited quantities; muscle and bone builders, such as middlings, oats, tankage and alfalfa, are very essential and should form a considerable portion of the ration also. Good, well-cured alfalfa fed in racks, is greatly relished and supplies at the same time the necessary bulk. It is also a good bone and muscle builder. Some prefer to chop the alfalfa, and after steeping in water for several hours mix it with the grain ration. Handled in this manner the amount eaten can be more nearly regulated.

A small amount of succulent feed, such as mangels or garbage, gives variety and tends to keep sows in a healthy condition.

SHOW PEDIGREED GRAINS

Meeting of Growers at M. A. C. in Few Weeks Will Be Occasion for Display of Purebred Crops.

East Lansing, Mich.—Purebred grains, which have become one of the big factors in Michigan's effort to augment the food supply of the nation, will be given homage at the Michigan Agricultural college on January 15 and 16—the dates that have been chosen for the annual session of members of the Michigan Crop Improvement association. It will be recalled that it was these men's crops of Red Rock wheat, Rosen rye and Worthy Alexander and Success oats which played so large a part in the campaign last summer and fall.

In connection with the meeting in East Lansing, an exhibit of these purebred grains, along with others which the college is developing, will be placed on display in competition for state prizes. The exhibit, of course, will be in charge of J. W. Nicolson, farm crops extension specialist for M. A. C., to whom those desiring to make entries are requested to write.

This year's session of the Crops Improvement association, it is said, is likely to be a highly important one, since much that has come up as a result of the food campaign must be considered.

Big Convention of Stockmen.

The annual convention of members of the Michigan Live Stock Breeders and Feeders association—each winter the greatest gathering in the state of men identified with the live stock industry—will as usual this season be conducted at the Michigan Agricultural college on January 16, 17 and 18. One of the fruits of the session is expected to be a statement from the farmers of beef cattle, sheep and hogs of the part they expect to play in the coming spring drive to keep Michigan's herds stocked. Another feature of the session, one intended to promote the wider use of purebred stock in the state, will be a sale of pedigreed animals.

Buttermakers Will Attend School.

Working on the theory that they are never too old to learn, experienced buttermakers and managers of creameries in Michigan will become "pupils" at the Michigan Agricultural college from December 17 to 22, inclusive. During these six days a special course will be offered for them, taking up advanced and particularly important features of the buttermaking business. The usual college staff will be assisted during the session by a number of outside experts. Any creamery man or buttermaker in the state who cares to attend is eligible, it has been announced.

CHAPTER I.

The Chaperon.

"Girls—come down! Quick!—I want to see how you look!"

Prudence stood at the foot of the stairs, deftly drawing on her black silk gloves—gloves still good in Prudence's eyes, though Fairy had long since discarded them as unfit for service. There was open anxiety in Prudence's expression, and puckers of worry perpendicularly creased her white forehead.

"Girls!" she called again. "Girls, are you deaf?"

A door opened in the hallway above, and Connie started down the stairs, fully dressed, except that she limped along in one stocking foot, her shoe in her hand.

"It's so silly of you to get all dressed before you put on your shoes, Connie," Prudence reproved her as she came down. "It wrinkles you up so. But you do look nice. Wasn't it dear of the Ladies' Aid to give you that dress for your birthday? Do be careful, dear, and don't get mussed before we come back. Aunt Grace will be so much gladder to live with us if we all look sweet and clean. And you'll be good, won't you, Connie, and—twins, will you come?"

"They are sewing up the holes in each other's stockings," Connie vouchsafed. "They're all dressed."

The twins, evidently realizing that Prudence's patience was near the breaking point, started downstairs for approval, a curious procession. All dressed as Connie had said, and most charming, but they walked close together, Carol stepping gingerly on one foot and Lark stooping low, carrying a needle with great solicitude—the thread reaching from the needle to a small hole on Carol's instep.

"What on earth are you doing?"

"I'm sewing up the holes in Carol's stocking," Lark explained.

Prudence frowned disapprovingly. "It's a very bad habit to sew up holes in your stockings when you are wearing them. Mercy, Lark, you have too much powder on!"

"I know it—Carol did it. She said she wanted me to be of intellectual pallor," Lark mopped her face with one hand.

"You look nice, twins," Prudence advanced a step, her eyes on Carol's hair, sniffing suspiciously. "Carol, did you curl your hair?"

Carol blushed. "Well, just a little," she confessed. "I thought Aunt Grace would appreciate me more with a crown of frizzy ringlets."

"You'll spoil your hair if you don't leave it alone, and it will serve you right, too. Oh, Fairy, I know Aunt Grace will love you," she cried ecstatically. "You look like a dream, you!"

"Yes—a nightmare," said Carol snippily. "If I saw Fairy coming at me on a dark night I'd—"

"Papa, we'll miss the train!" Then as he came slowly down the stairs, she said to her sisters again anxiously: "Oh, girls, do keep nice and clean, won't you? And be very sweet to Aunt Grace! It's so awfully good of her to come—and take care of us—"

Prudence's voice broke a little. The admission of another to the parsonage mothering hurt her.

Mr. Starr stopped on the bottom step, and with one foot as a pivot, slowly revolved for his daughters' inspection.

"How do I look?" he demanded. "Do you think this suit will convince Grace that I am worth taking care of? Do I look twenty-five dollars better than I did yesterday?"

The girls gazed at him with most adoring approval.

"Father! You look perfectly grand!—Isn't it beautiful?—Of course you looked nicer than anybody else even in the old suit, but—it well, it was—"

"Perfectly disgracefully shabby," put in Fairy quickly. "Entirely unworthy a minister of your—er—lovely family!"

"I hope none of you have let it out among the members how long I wore that old suit. I don't believe I could face my congregation on Sundays if I thought they were mentally calculating the wearing value of my various garments.—We'll have to go, Prudence."

"And don't muss the house up," begged Prudence, as her father opened the door and pushed her gently out on a step.

The four sisters left behind looked at once another solemnly. It was a serious business—most serious. Connie gravely put on her shoe, and buttoned it. Lark sewed up the last hole in Carol's stocking—Carol balancing herself on one foot with nice precision for the purpose. Then, all ready, they looked at one another again—even more solemnly.

"Well," said Fairy, "let's go in—and wait."

Silently the others followed her in, and they all sat about, irreproachably, on the well-dusted chairs, their hands folded in their smooth and spotless laps.

The silence and the solemnity were very oppressive.

"We look all right," said Carol beligerently.

This charming story depicts the life of five loveable girls in the Methodist parsonage at Mount Mark, Iowa. They preside over the home and make things interesting for their widowed father. Prudence, the eldest, is the "little mother" of the family. Fairy is her able lieutenant. Carol and Lark, the twins, fill the place with mischief. Connie, the "baby," aids and abets them in every prank they play. This is a wholesome tale, with dashes of joy and sorrow, love and laughter, light and shadow.

THE EDITOR.

No one answered.

When the silence continued, Carol's courage waned. "Oh, girls," she whimpered, "isn't it awful? It's the beginning of the end of everything. Out-siders have to come in now and take care of us, and Prudence'll get married, and then Fairy will, and maybe us twins—I mean, we twins. And then there'll only be father and Connie left, and Miss Greet, or someone, will get ahead of father after all—and Connie'll have to live with a stepmother, and—it'll never seem like home any more, and—"

Connie burst into loud and mournful sobs.

"You're very silly, Carol," Fairy said sternly. "Prudence will be at the head of things for nearly a year, and—I think we're mighty lucky to get Aunt Grace. It's not many women would be willing to leave a fine, stylish home, with a hundred dollars a month to spend on just herself, and with a maid to wait on her, and come to an ugly old house like this to take care of a preacher and a riotous family like ours. It's very generous of Aunt Grace—very."

"Yes, it is," admitted Lark. "And as long as she was our aunt with her fine home, and her hundred dollars a month, and her maid, I loved her dearly. But—I don't want anybody coming in to manage us. We can manage ourselves. We—"

"We need a chaperon," put in Fairy deftly. "It isn't proper for us to live without one, you know. We're too young. It isn't—conventional."

"And for goodness' sake, Connie," said Carol, "remember and call her our chaperon, and don't talk about a housekeeper. There's some style to a chaperon."

"Yes, indeed," said Fairy cheerfully. "And she wears such pretty clothes, and has such pretty manners that she will be a distinct acquisition to the parsonage. We can put on lots more style, of course. And then it was awfully nice of her to send so much of her good furniture—the piano, for instance, to take the place of that old tin pan of ours. And do you remember, girls, that you mustn't ask her to darn your stockings and wash your handkerchiefs and do your tasks about the house. It would be disgraceful. And be careful not to hint for things you want, for, of course, Aunt Grace will trot off and buy them for you, and papa will not like it. You twins'll have to be very careful to quit dreaming about silk stockings, for instance. There was a tinge of sarcasm in Fairy's voice as she said this.

"Fairy, we did dream about silk stockings—you don't need to believe if you don't want to. But we did dream about them, just the same!" Carol sighed. "I think I could be more reconciled to Aunt Grace if I thought she'd give me a pair of silk stockings. You know, Fairy, sometimes lately I almost—don't like Aunt Grace—any more."

"That's very foolish and very wicked," declared Fairy. "I love her dearly. I'm so glad she's come to live with us."

"Are you?" asked Connie innocently. "Then why did you go up in the attic and cry all the morning when Prudence was fixing the room for her?"

Fairy blushed, and caught her under lip between her teeth for a minute. And then, in a changed voice she said, "I—I do love her, and—I am glad—but I keep thinking ahead to when Prudence gets married, and—and—oh, girls, when she is gone it—it won't be any home to me at all!"

For a moment there was a stricken silence.

"Oh, pooh!" Carol said at last, bravely. "You wouldn't want Prue to stick around and be an old maid, would you? I think she's mighty lucky to get a fellow as nice as Jerry Harmer myself. I'll bet you don't make out half as well, Fairy. I think she'd be awfully silly not to gobble him right up while she has a chance. For my own part, I don't believe in old maids. I think it is a religious duty for folks to get married, and—and—you know what I mean—race suicide, you know."

She nodded her head sagely, winking one eye in a most intelligent fashion.

"And Aunt Grace is so quiet she'll not be any bother at all," added Lark. "She won't scold a bit.—Maybe Carol and I will get a chance to spend some of our spending money when she takes charge. Prudence consecrates it all for punishment. I think it's going to be lots of fun having Aunt Grace with us."

"I'm going to take my dime and buy her something," Connie announced suddenly.

"I didn't know you had a dime," said Lark.

Connie flushed a little. "Yes—oh, yes—"

she said, "I've got a dime. I—I did it. I've got a dime all right."

"It's nearly time," said Fairy restlessly. "Number nine has been on time for two mornings now—so she'll probably be here in time for dinner. It's only ten o'clock now."

"Where'd you get that dime, Connie?"

"Oh, I've had it some time," Connie admitted reluctantly.

"But where have you had it?" inquired Lark. "I thought you acted suspicious some way, so I went around and looked for myself."

"Where did you look?"

"The twins laughed gleefully. "Oh, on top of the windows and doors," said Carol.

"How did you know—" began Connie.

"You aren't slick enough for us, Connie. We knew you had some funny place to hide your money, so I gave you that penny and then I went upstairs very noisily so you could hear me, and Lark sneaked around and watched, and saw where you put it. We've been able to keep pretty good track of your finances lately."

Carol rose and looked at herself in the glass. "I'm going upstairs," she said.

"What for?" inquired Lark, rising also.

"I need a little more powder. My nose is shiny."

So the twins went upstairs, and Fairy, after calling out to them to be very careful and not get disheveled, went out into the yard and wandered dolefully about by herself.

Connie meantime decided to get her well-hidden dime and figure out what ten cents could buy for her fastidious and wealthy aunt. Connie was in many ways unique. Her system of money-hiding was born of nothing less than genius, prompted by necessity, for the twins were clever as well as grasping.

The cookstove sat in the darkest and most remote corner of the kitchen, and where the chimney fitted into the wall it was protected by a small zinc plate. This zinc plate protruded barely an inch, but that inch was quite sufficient for coins the size of Connie's, and there, high and secure in the shadowy corner, lay Connie's dime.

She went into the kitchen cautiously, careful of her white canvas shoes, and put a chair beside the stove. She had discovered that the dishpan turned upside down on the chair, gave her sufficient height to reach her novel banking place.

The result was certain. As she slowly and breathlessly raised herself on tiptoe, steadying herself with the tips of her fingers lightly touching the stovepipe, her foot moved treacherously into the soapy area and slipped.

Connie screamed, caught desperately at the pipe, and fell to the floor in a sickening jumble of stovepipe, dishpan and soot beyond her wildest fancies! Her cries brought her sisters flying, and the sight of the blackened kitchen, and the unfortunate child in the midst of disaster, banished from their minds all memory of the coming chaperon, of Prudence's warning words—Connie was in trouble. With sisterly affection they rescued her, and did not hear the ringing of the bell.

And when Prudence and her father, with Aunt Grace in tow, despaired of gaining entrance at the hands of the girls, came in unannounced, it was a sorry scene that greeted them. Fairy and the twins were only too sooty than Connie and the kitchen. And Connie wept loudly, her tears making hideous trails upon her blackened face.

"I might have known it!" Prudence thought, with sorrow. But her motherly pride vanished before her motherly solicitude, and Connie was soon quieted by her tender ministrations.

"We love you, Aunt Grace," cried Carol earnestly, "but we can't kiss you."

Mr. Starr anxiously scanned the surface of the kitchen table with an eye to future spots on the new suit, and then sat down on the edge of it and laughed as only the young heart and old experience can laugh!

"Disgraced again," he said. "Grace, think well before you take the plunge. Do you dare cast in your fortunes with a parsonage bunch that revels in mischief? Can you take the responsibility of rearing a family that knows trouble only? This is your last chance. Weigh well your words."

Fairy pursed up her lips, puffing vainly at the soot that had settled upon her face. Then she laughed. "Very true, Aunt Grace," she said. "We admit that we're a luckless family. But we're expecting, with you to help us, to do much better. You see, we've never had half a chance so far, with only father behind us."

The twins revived at this, and joined in the laughter their father led against himself.

Later in the day Prudence drew her aunt to one side and asked softly, "Was it much of a shock to you, Aunt Grace? The family drowned in soot to welcome you? I'm sure you expected to find everything trim and fresh and orderly. Was it a bitter disappointment?"

Aunt Grace smiled brightly. "Why, no, Prudence," she said in her low, slow, even voice. "I really expected something to be wrong! I'd have been disappointed if everything had gone just right!"

CHAPTER II.

Science and Health.

After all, the advent of a chaperon made surprisingly little difference in the life of the parsonage family, but what change there was was all to the good. Their aunt assumed no active directorate over household matters. She just slipped in, happily, unobtrusively, smiling much, saying little.

The members of the Ladies' Aid, who hastened to call, said, "She is perfectly charming—such a fine conversationalist!"

She was always attractively dressed, always self-possessed, always friendly, always good-natured, and the girls found her presence only pleasing. She relieved Prudence, admired Fairy, laughed at the twins, adored Connie.

"Of course, Aunt Grace," Prudence told her sweetly, "we aren't going to be selfish with you. We don't expect you to bury yourself in the parsonage. Whenever you want a trip away for a while, you must feel free to go."

"I shan't want to go," said Aunt Grace quickly.

"Not right away, of course," Prudence agreed. "But you'll find our liveliness tiring. Whenever you do want to go—"

"I don't think I shall want to go at all," she answered. "I like it here. I—I like live!"

Then Prudence kissed her gratefully.

For several weeks after her initiation in the parsonage, life rolled along sweetly and serenely. For ten entire and successive days the twins had lived blameless lives. Their voices rang out gladly and sweetly. They treated Connie with a sisterly tenderness and gentleness quite out of accord with their usual drastic discipline. They obeyed the word of Prudence with a cheerful readiness that was startlingly cherubic. The most distasteful of orders called forth nothing stronger than a bright "Yes, Prudence."

But alas for Connie's calculations—Carol was born for higher things than dishwashing, and she had splashed soap suds on the table. The pan had been set among them—and then, nearly wiped on the inside, it had been hung up behind the table—with the suds on the bottom. And it was upon this same dishpan that Connie climbed so carefully in search of her darling dime.

The result was certain. As she slowly and breathlessly raised herself on tiptoe, steadying herself with the tips of her fingers lightly touching the stovepipe, her foot moved treacherously into the soapy area and slipped.

Connie screamed, caught desperately at the pipe, and fell to the floor in a sickening jumble of stovepipe, dishpan and soot beyond her wildest fancies! Secretary Daniels, Discussing Efficiency, Relates Story of Girl's Advising Beau to Kiss Old Mare.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels is a firm believer in speeding up. Efficiency is the watchword of his department. A big navy can't be built fast enough for him. And he was discussing efficiency and high speed. He wants to cut out red tape.

"Discussion is well and good," said Secretary Daniels, "but the main question is whether it is idle talk or not. Is it practical or is it foolish? Is it like Torkins and his girl?"

"Torkins, by the way, was out with his girl during the days before the automobile, when a young man who wanted to be popular would call on his girl with a horse and buggy to take her for a drive. You know, the faster the horse the better the impression."

"Torkins, on his first call, took the girl for a long drive, and when they found themselves in the midst of a country road, he ventured for a kiss."

"A kiss?" asked the girl. "What good would a kiss do?"

"Oh," replied the embarrassed youth, "it would make me feel gay and lively."

"Well, Charley," the cold-blooded, unemotional damsel retorted, "if it is as you say, and we expect to get anywhere before it's time to return home, you'd better get out and kiss the old mare once!"

Fads And Fancies Of Fashion

Dainty Gift Aprons.

For the holidays there are some things that are always the order of the day, certain gifts that bloom perennially, like the evergreens and holly that crown the glory of the passing year at Christmas time. Among them aprons of pretty material, small enough to be dainty, that are made for serving and sewing. The serving aprons do more than dress up the morning or afternoon frock in which the hostess or her aids, serve her guests, for they express a pleasure in serving. The little sewing aprons are a convenience and a protection. Their prettiness makes them a joy.

The shops are showing many of these little belongings for home wear this year. They are made of all the fine, sheer cotton goods that are used for lingerie or midsummer dresses, that will stand laundering and occasionally a quaint apron in silk leads the mind back to those yesterdays when they were prized possessions of our great grandmothers. But the modern woman seems to want everything made of washable stuffs.

A sewing apron made of printed dotted swiss figured with prim little roses and leaves is shown at the left of the picture and a serving apron of organdie and val lace appears at the right. Figured voile would do as well for the serving apron, or lawn or mull, although voile has the best wearing qualities. The apron is the simplest thing imaginable to make, being merely a straight piece of the goods with a hem run in across one end of the waistband, with a similar strip half as long set on at the bottom for a pocket. Narrow, gay-colored satin ribbon is run through the hem at the waistline, leaving long ends to tie at the side and allowing the material to be gathered into a little fullness. Ribbon run through the top of the pocket is finished at the sides with loops and ends, or sometimes with rosettes. The pocket will accommodate the sewing and the tools for sewing, so that this is a convenient apron for use with the sewing circle as well as at home.

The tea, or serving apron, is bordered with a narrow insertion in a cluny pattern and edged with val lace edging. A val lace insertion set into the material, simulates a true-lovers' knot. The band and ties are of the organdie or whatever material is used, finished with very narrow hems along the sides and a deeper hem across the ends. They tie in the back. A small ribbon bow in some light shade or a flowerlike rosette sets off the daintiness of the apron and is used at one corner or the pocket—if there is one.

"In Time," Dress of Satin.

It appears that a new name was needed for a garment that is not exactly a negligee, but is made strictly for indoor wear, on classic or oriental lines. Casting about for something to fit this new offspring of the designer's brain, failed to reveal a word to suit and so two were chosen in a phrase that is very matter of fact. The "in time" dress is the best we have been able to do in describing a robe that is at once easy and dignified and intended to be worn by the busy woman of today during such time as she is in her home. It is, in fact, something between a tea gown and a lounging robe, and makes opportunity for long flowing lines, drapery and picturesque effects that women love.

If you decide upon an "in time" dress you may borrow its style from what land you will—Turkish trousers, or Japanese robes, or Greek draperies, or what you will. All colors are yours to command, but the "in time" dress is not to be fussy.

In the picture a very excellent example of this new claimant for favor is shown. It is made of sapphire-blue satin and bordered with a stenciled pattern in several colors. Wide figured or brocaded ribbon might be substituted for stenciling and set onto the body of the dress with plings of satin. The style suggests classic Greek draperies, but follows them so vaguely the new dress cannot be identified as Grecian. In the same model long full sleeves of crepe georgette might be introduced without appearing incongruous.

Just whether the "in time" dress has been made to meet a demand or to make a demand for it only time can tell, but chances are in its favor. Women of taste who are dressed in quiet street clothes much of the time, like the picturesque in house gowns, and always there is an increasing call for individuality in styles and clever originality in details of construction and finish.

Some Excuse.
Johnny was a typical boy, and full of excuses for any wrongdoing. One day he whistled aloud in school and his teacher asked how he happened to do it.
Johnny said: "I—I—didn't mean to. I had a little hair in my mouth and I wanted to push it out; I didn't know it was going to make any noise."

Easy to Rid Home of Rats and Mice

There is no need of suffering from the depredations of rats and mice now that Stearns' Paste is readily obtainable at nearly every store. A small box of this effective exterminator costs only 35 cents and is usually sufficient to completely rid the house, store or barn of rats and mice. The U. S. Government has bought thousands of pounds of Stearns' Paste for use in cities where rats and mice are plentiful. The Paste is also efficient in destroying cockroaches and waterbugs. Adv.

WIFE NAGGED HIM TOO MUCH

Jarvis Decided to Go Behind Big Cannons and Lose Hearing—Now in Peace.

Synopsis: Jason Jarvis is a home-loving man. He loves to sit about in his carpet slippers reading the papers, and he loves his wife, Croona, dearly, but hates to hear her complain of his shiftless habits, says the Detroit Free Press. Now, as she keeps complaining of them from morning till night, Jarvis finds it extremely difficult to keep his mind on his pipe and his paper. He thinks of spending his time at a club or at movies, but is inherently such a home-loving man that the very thought is repugnant to him. So he stands his wife's accusing flow of words until one day something he sees in the paper (while he is smoking his pipe) gives him a brilliant idea.

Conclusion: "It's true that we are badly in need of men to help fire these new 80-cylinder cannons," said Colonel Kimmel, in charge of the government proving grounds at Skiptington. "But it is my duty to inform you that the shock of the firing is extremely bad for the ears. In fact, 18 men in the past week have been deafened and honorably discharged with a pension."

"I want the job," said Jason Jarvis firmly.

In three days the drums of both his ears were shattered.

Returning home joyously he subscribed for a dozen extra papers, bought four more pipes and settled down to smoke and read contentedly on his pension, entirely unaware as to whether his wife was talking or not.
