"Gentlemen, when you are all through, when you have tried all the experiments, when you have spent all the money you want to spend, remember the Consumers Power Company stands ready and willing to extend their line into Chelsea and serve the people of Chelsea. Our attitude ten years from now will be just the same as it is today."

The proposal will come up for approval of the people at the annual election to be held March 12.

The People's and Independent Parties Held Caucuses in Sylvan Town Hall Monday Night

Both the People's party and the Independent party held their caucuses in the Sylvan town hall Monday evening and nominated candidates for the various village offices. The candidates for president, D. Several citizens' names were placed before the caucuses as nominees for several of the offices but positively declined to make a run.

The People's party held their caucus first and was called to order by H. D. Witherell. A motion was made that J. Bacon be appointed chairman, which was carried. Harvey G. Spiegelberg Succumbs To An Attack of Pneumonia After Two Week's Illness

The announcement here Sunday afternoon of the death of Harvey G. Spiegelberg of Detroit, came as a great shock to his many Chelsea friends and relatives. He had been sick for two weeks, suffering with an attack of pneumonia.

Harvey G. Spiegelberg was born in Dexter township, October 7, 1880, and died at his home in Detroit, Sunday afternoon, February 18, 1923.

He received his education in the school on the farm of his father, and the Chelsea high school. After leaving school he was employed for several years by Saxe Simson and L. T. Risley conducting the services. Interment at Oak Grove cemetery. The Masonic burial services were conducted at the graves by the members of Olive Lodge, F. & A. M.

COUNTY PRIMARY ELECTION CANCELLED

Lack of Opposing Candidates Leads to Cancellation of Spring Primary by Election Commission

Because of the lack of opposing candidates in the scheduled primary election set for March 7, the election has been cancelled by the Washtenaw county election Commissioners. Circuit Judge George W. Sample, candidate for re-election, and School Commissioner Evan Essery, also a candidate for re-election, were only candidates to file petitions and since there is no opposition it is thought best by the election commissioners to economize in the matter of expense by calling off the needless primary.

In a letter to George S. Davis, Clerk of Sylvan township, Jay G. Pray, Washtenaw County Clerk, makes known the decision of the commissioners in regard to the March 7th primary. The letter follows:

George S. Davis, Clerk Sylvan Twp., Chelsea, Mich.

Dear Sir:

There being no opposition, either Republican or Democratic, to George W. Sample for Circuit Judge and Evan Essery for School Commissioner, no Primary Election will be held this spring.

Respectfully,

JAY G. PRAY, County Clerk.

LOCAL POULTRY MAN WINS PRIZES

Robert Collins Carries Away Honors in Poultry Shows at Chicago, Detroit and Ann Arbor

An industry which promises large returns for its owner is seen in the poultry business of Robert Collins, local poultry man, who resides on South Main street at the intersection of M-17. Mr. Collins, who has been in the business for a number of years, is making long strides toward perfection in the breeding of pure bred S. C. White Leghorns, having taken premiums at poultry shows at Chicago, Detroit and Ann Arbor.

In commenting on the Chicago show, the Poultry Tribune, a journal devoted to poultry breeding, says, in part:

Dr. Norton showed a string of exceptionally fine White Leghorns that had station, type, vigor and size. Clarence Hocking's string excelled in head points, while Collins' string of cockerels were real beauties.

In describing the entries, the Poultry Tribune further says:

Third cockerel. (Collins), fine head and lobes, great underline, fine saddle, great depth of back at base of tail, beautiful lines throughout, great width of feather and fine tail, was also Grand Champion at Detroit. Shown a little out of condition. Fourth and fifth (also Collins), 4th, broad, fine bird of stamina and vitality, fine station, head and comb, fine carriage and body length, hackle and saddle. Fifth, much like fourth.

The Poultry Press, another poultry journal, also comments on the beauty of Collins' birds, and states that his cockerels were preferred by many over those of his competitors in the show.

SPEAKING OF CHARITY

A woman in Chicago's "climbing" social circles gave $2,500 to a big charity organization not long ago, and just the other day asked that it be returned on a flimsy pretext. Through a friend, it came out that her real reason for remanding the gift was that the charity committee had not given her name to the newspapers, so she could see her name in print.

A man in the same city, about the same time sent an anonymous gift of $1,000 to a foundling's home, to be used in caring for babies deserted by their mothers.

Newspapers which sponsor big fund campaigns for worthy charities find it hard sledding unless they print the name of each donor and the amount of his gift. When that is done, names and dollars come in with a rush.

Charities which depend upon voluntary contributions find it imperative to give publicity to large contributors, and sometimes small. That happy feeling in the heart which follows a good deed doesn't seem to compensate any longer. Folks don't enjoy covering their light with a bushel. A pedestal is more desirable.

Stories of contributions to any worthy cause, from which donors expect no material return, are good newspaper stories. Folks like to read such things. But a better story still is an accidental discovery of a man or woman who wanted his philanthropy kept secret. Such stories may be interesting because they are more rare.

There is a wide difference between real and false charity. It is not real charity to give money away to the poor indiscriminately, however anonymously or prompted by a loving spirit. Much harm can come of that.

According to the president of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, tinsel, glamor, and tawdry publicity which often surround our philanthropic deeds ruins their purpose and reflects upon us. The real motive is swallowed up in our methods.

"There is a vast quantity," he says, "of our so-called charities, that lack of unselfish and intelligent motives are not only doing no good, but are doing positive harm."

The beggar in the street is not helped much by stray coins which fall into his hat. The poor family in your neighborhood isn't permanently benefited by a Thanksgiving dinner or cast-off clothing. A bonus paid to the cook or hired man isn't what he really needs. The problem of any charity which seeks to do the most good, publicly or secretly, is to help people become more independent, self-supporting, self-respecting. Most of our charity has the opposite effect.

Be a friend to the beggar or needy people; help them attain a decent standard of living, and money would be an insult. Get at the root of a person's misfortune, and dig it up. Money given blindly is soon forgotten by both giver and he who receives. Personal interest cannot be so easily undervalued. And if publicity is desired, after all it is a human failing, and not a crime.

WHY PERSECUTE

There is now a law in France, enabling any woman to enter a public hospital, give birth to a child, have absolutely the best care, stay until she is able to work, and depart with her child without anyone learning her secret. Not even the hospital officials. They arrange it by a number system, each numbered patient corresponding to a numbered sealed letter to be opened except in case of the mother's death.

She is destined chiefly to protect unmarried mothers from pitiless publicity, and to help them through the trying period when many commit suicide, toward a new life of real happiness.

Such a measure will not encourage maternity out of wedlock, nor will it rob it of its disgrace. But it will remove a bit of its horror and help those who shined and paid the price to start anew without the persecution of the mob.

What a similar law would do in this country is hard to say. Now, every birth must be registered, and records are open to the public, even if gossip could not start from other channels. We have not got to the point yet of trying to help this large class of people. True, we do not punish them legally, but that would be mere mercy compared to the torture of publicity they get. The French are admittedly more chivalric than we are; it took the French to counsel such a measure. Perhaps by 1950 we will have something of the sort. We have far to go right now.

But we are progressing. Not long ago, a father was hounded after release from prison; employers were notified, and his discharge insisted upon; he was persecuted into becoming a street-beggar, to reveal secrets to detectives, and on the slightest pretext was put back in jail to add to the glory of the officers. That is even practiced to some extent now.

Yet the modern idea that prisons and punishment are not for vengeance, but more to show criminals they are on the wrong track and to give them a chance to reform, is fast taking hold of our people. We are more and more getting rid of capital punishment. Those who have sinned should be helped, not tortured, is our present idea, and it is just and merciful as well.

The severity of punishment does not deter from crime nearly so much as the chances for being caught. The punishment is secondary. Severe punishment is giving way to instructive, constructive training. Minds are improved and bodies strengthened. We do not so much wish to get rid of criminals, as to regenerate and remodel them into good citizens.

The same principle holds true with regard to women who, for whatever reason, have stepped down. In the past they have been abhorred by their pious sisters, or, in small towns patronized and despised. That is unreasonable, unjust and cruel, to say nothing of being un-Christian. The new French law makes it possible for women to keep their guilt a secret, on the chance that they will make good in spite of it. It is a noble thought. America should have thought of it first. And yet, America should have not needed such a provision. We have not yet got to the point of forgiving others for mistakes we ourselves might have committed in their place. Women seem to be less lenient than men in this thing, possibly because their standards are more firmly fixed, and possibly because they want the effect of the contrast. At any rate, condemnation does much harm, where a little mercy would make the whole world brighter for the man or woman who takes a misstep.

THE DAY OF GREAT NEEDS

The passing of Dr. Roentgen into the ether which he did so much to harness recalls the derision and disbelief which the incredulous world gave to his theory of looking through a human body with his strange X-Ray. Doctors were as humbly jealous and suspicious then as now, and even experiments failed to convince some of them that bones, bullets, tumors and other things could be located in the human frame by invisible rays of light. And yet Roentgen worked with the Crookes tube until he had added one of the most important surgical discoveries to hospital equipment, and died the other day a hero and hailed as blessed.

Edison celebrated his 78th birthday just the other day and promised that he would reach the 100 mark. He, too, has added untold knowledge of inestimable value to the world, and if he completes half his contemplated goal of years, he will doubtless duplicate his benefits.

These two events, the death of one great discoverer and the birthday of another, offer cause for sober appreciation of the present day of great deeds, when so much is done to alleviate suffering, prolong life, rejuvenate men and women and make human beings happier. No man is ever useless who makes others happier, and when a man, like these, has a world for a patient, obviously the day is not far off when disease shall be scorned as evidence of improper living, and robust health the rule and not the exception.

We read how glands are grafted on men and women to bring back their youth, an operation still in its infancy, but soon to be a daily occurrence. Hearts are moved for operations; those that have stopped are started again; drowned and asphyxiated persons are forced to breathe again; various intricate things are done with our internal mechanism; sheep's kidneys are put into human bodies and function; artificial canals are made for food to reach the stomach; silver replaces skull plates; broken necks are spliced and made whole; toes and fingers are interchanged; pigs' eyes are put into boys' heads; and hundreds of such things which would shock our ancestors are in the daily news.

What is coming next, we cannot tell. Surely the day of good deeds for making man better is just dawning. Perhaps later, when a wise man dies, his brains will be put into a boy's skull with startling effect. Perhaps sculps, with growing hair, will be transplanted; perhaps the animals of the jungle will supply us with stomachs, lungs, skin, bones, even brains when ours fail us.

The days of miracles did not end with the Apostles. Men today are healing their fellow men with effects just as startling as in the days of the Nazarene. Wise men are apparently almost on the fair of the secret of life, which if not eternal, will be at least prolonged. And the life in the next few decades will not only be longer, but happier. Everywhere, men are erasing little by little the fog which has clouded the mirror of controlled existence, probing into the secret chamber of nature, revealing bit by bit the formula which shall give us a new world.

It is the age of good deeds, which has just begun. Others shall take up the work of Roentgen, and later on of Lorenz, Edison, Steinmetz, the Mayo brothers, and even Monsieur Gaud. For all are part of this new scheme which shall make previous knowledge seem like kindergarten training. Soon we shall have health a universal condition, and more of peace and prosperity and happiness on the earth.

Consumers Power Company is Selling a Service

In carrying out its policies, an honest endeavor is made to bring the message of the advantages of this service to all users and prospective users of electricity within reach of its lines. These efforts, unfortunately, have been misunderstood by some in Chelsea.

What Consumers Power Company is offering is exactly what Chelsea would have a right to demand did the Company seem unwilling to extend its lines to take care of Chelsea's requirements.

The Company's faith in the Service it is rendering is backed by the combined judgment of over 120 Communities in Michigan. Over two thousand industrial users of power have decided that Consumers Power Company's Service is best.

Is it necessary to say anything about the merits or demerits of other sources of power?

For a period of twenty-five years Chelsea has made an honest and earnest endeavor to serve its residents with electricity on a basis that would at least take care of the operating expense.

THE BOOKS AT THE ELECTRIC LIGHT PLANT INDICATE THAT THERE HAS BEEN A LOSS OF AT LEAST $18,000.00 IN THE PAST FIVE YEARS.

The Question for You to Decide is This:

"SHALL CHELSEA CONTINUE TO OPERATE A LIGHT PLANT AT A LOSS OR SHALL THE CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY FURNISH ELECTRIC SERVICE AT AN ANNUAL SAVING TO THE PEOPLE OF CHELSEA OF FROM $3,000 TO $5,000."

For who can say that fuel oil or coal, for that matter, will not increase in price to a point where rosy prospects of saving and profits will vanish.

Regardless of the decision reached, the attitude of Consumers Power Company will always be the same—OUR Service will always be at your door—YOUR'S for the asking.

A Leader's Example--

George Washington, in the trying days of the Revolution, won his way into the hearts of people by remarkable leadership qualities. Not only did he lead them successfully in war but in the days of reconstruction following the war, his policies of practicing national economy and thrift helped the colonies to weather the storm and make a stand as a nation.

While we are not all born leaders or can even aspire to be leaders, we can learn a mighty good lesson from the life of Washington. By saving our money or investing it wisely we too can weather many a storm of depression in our lives and become recognized as worthy citizens of the community. This Bank can help you in many ways. CHELSEA ADDS ANOTHER VICTORY

Judicious Are That Local Team With Flat Season With Unbroken Record In Games With Foreign Teams.

Accuracy in shooting field goals counted to the credit of Chelsea high school boys in a game with Grass Lake high at Weifure hall last Friday evening when the local team carried off the victory to the tune of 22 to 21.

Grass Lake, though in the game every minute, failed to stop the onward rush of the Chelsea boys, who tossed with an accuracy and regularity that has characterized all their games this season.

The line-up and summary:
Chelsea 22 Grass Lake 21
Mayer RF Walther 21
Kemper LF Knickerbocker 21
Brooks C Decester 21
Buehler RF Webb 21
Risley LG Chappel 21
Substitutions: Cannon for Kemper, also for Mayer, DePont for Brooks, MacCamey for Decester, Decester for Chappel.

Field goals: Mayer 6, Brooks 6, Webb 4, Knickerbocker 2, Cannon, DePont 2.
Free throws: Walther 9, Brooks 2, DePont 2.

In the game between the Chelsea high school girls vs. the faculty, the girls team won by a score of 11 to 4. Staffan, of the faculty team, scored the only field goal of his team, this being made in the first half.

Lambert, of the girls' team, proved the only score getter of her team, making the entire 11 points—five field goals and 1 free throw.

Line-up and summary:
Faculty 11 Girls 11
Staffan RF Lambert 11
Palmier LF Ellsworth 11
Chandler C Turnbull 11
Dempsey RC Dancer 11
Brooks RG Eppler 11
Heselschwerdt LG Harris 11
Substitutions: Chandler for Staffan, Staffan for Chandler.

Field goals: Lambert 5, Staffan 1.
Free throws: Staffan 2, Lambert 1.
Friday evening the high school boys team will travel to Grass Lake for a game with the boys' team of that high school. Grass Lake not having a girls team, the local girls will go to Mason and play the girls of that place. A fair representation of fans are expected to accompany both teams and good games are expected.

With the end of the season drawing near, interest in basket ball continues to run high in fandom locally. Home games have been largely attended, while games on foreign floors have been witnessed by large numbers of local people who take an interest in the cage game.

Is a Funeral for Show Alone?

For whose benefit is a funeral? Are the handsome casket, the beautiful flowers, the silver fittings merely for the neighbors? If so, bury them in a wooden box—and forget. If, on the other hand, they are really the last tributes to one departed, why put them into water and mud without protection. Buy the richest tribute you can afford, seal them into a NORWALK VAULT and know that no mausoleum of marble or granite could give more lasting protection. Some undertakers won't bury really costly caskets without protection.

All good Undertakers recommend the Norwalk Vault—the best in the world.

GOSHUONA ANYAKO

vice was seriously endangered. As a result of Mr. Wilson's proposal, a committee of five, consisting of D. C. McLaren, O. C. Burkhardt, L. P. Vogel, Geo. P. Stallan, and L. G. Palmer, was appointed by the chairman to investigate the possibilities offered by his company. This committee will make a report on its findings at a meeting to be held next Monday evening at Firemen's hall.

"The village of Mason is thoroughly satisfied with service rendered by Consumers Power Company," said Mayor Brown of Mason, in an address in which he explained the predicament of the Power Company's lines in 1917. Mayor Brown, here on invitation of Village President Warster, presented some convincing testimony in favor of the company in his address and in answer to questions from the audience following. He explained that Mason's predicament five years ago was somewhat similar to that of Chelsea at the present time but that solution of their problem was found to be satisfactory through adoption of the Power Company service. On account of the war, and their inability to secure the material, Mayor Brown stated that the company was unable to rebuild the distribution system of Mason when it was expected, but asserted that this was no fault of the Power Company, the latter proceeding to replace the worn out lines immediately after the close of the war. Since that time, the mayor stated, Mason has had continuous 24-hour service without interruption by breakdowns or other causes due to any fault of the Power Company. Mr. Brown stated emphatically that Mason is absolutely satisfied with service being rendered by the company.

B. B. Turnbull, as legal advisor of the village, made a report on his consultation with the Public Utilities Commission at Lansing, his report being favorable to the proposed franchise with possibly one or two minor exceptions. Mr. Turnbull also brought up the question of the local gas franchise, and a committee of three, consisting of B. B. Turnbull, A. E. Wingo and H. D. Withereil, was appointed by the chairman to investigate the possibility of a reduction of local gas rates.

Reports about the streets, following the meeting Friday evening were, for the most part, favorable to the franchise as proposed by Consumers Power Company and passed by the village council. Points which had not been made clear in connection with the proposed franchise, were brought up and discussed to the edification of many. Sentiment, generally, was reported to have been turned in favor of the Power Company proposition, and many were the predictions that a majority would be polled on March 12 for the granting of a 30-year franchise to Consumers Power Company to furnish power to the village of Chelsea.

The meeting next Monday evening will be held at Firemen's hall and every voter interested in the progress of his village is urged to be present. Final report is expected from the committee investigating other propositions and all will be interested in hearing it.

NOTTEN ROAD

There was a small attendance at the social held at the parsonage Friday evening, owing to the cold weather.

Adelbert Schenk has been on the sick list for the past week.

Wm. Davison of Chelsea, is assisting with the chores at the Schenk farm.

Henry Glazier and wife of Ann Arbor, spent over Sunday with Mrs. Lina Whittaker.

The Grange meeting held at the home of T. G. Riemenschneider Tuesday was well attended. They will hold a social in the near future. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lina Whittaker.

WANTED—By one of the young members of the Grange, a dictionary. We wish to correct the item. Miss Ida Osterle was compelled to give up her position at Saginaw account of illness. She had a long absence and is now again at her old position.

Stop the enterprise. The Grange is not a business. It is a social organization for the benefit of the members.
