Dyeing Easter Eggs Is Great Fun!

Most of the sport of Easter time for the kiddies is the dyeing and decorating of the Easter eggs. And the grown-ups, too, like to carry themselves back to joyful childhood days by helping the youngsters in their pleasant task.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY MEETS WITH APPROVAL

Well Filled Houses Greet Classmen at Both Friday and Saturday Performances.

The Junior play, given last Friday and Saturday evenings, brought good crowds both nights. People now pronounce this play, "And Home Came Ted," one of the best plays Chelsea has ever witnessed. Much credit is due to Mrs. Robinson, Junior class sponsor, for her directing and supervising the play. Mrs. Anderson also deserves credit for the facial make-ups the actors wore. The following is the cast of characters and the parts they played.

Helen Lambert as Miss Darcy was a typical Honolulu lady with her winning, voguish smile, and dancing black eyes. No one else could have acted the part so well, and made the men do her bidding as quickly as she.

The two hits of the evening were the two characters, Skeet Kelly and Miss Loganberry, taken respectively by John Hamp and Doris Foster. The first with his happy-go-lucky ways, and the latter with her kittenish, oldmaidish ways, kept the audience in a continual uproar from the going up of the curtain to the very end.

The part of the bride who ran away from school and eloped with a rich young man from Washington was taken by Luella Cox. This part called for a great deal of crying, and Miss Cox acted it to perfection.

Miss Glens Gage starred at her part as the heiress. Her plain pretty features combined with her fascinating acting brought her much applause and many compliments. The part of Mollie Macklin was taken by Florence Schmidt. Her emotional acting was one of the high spots of the play.

Olivia Huxel took the part of Jubilee, the cook. Her accent and acting together with her way of putting it over, did her share in making the play a comedy.

The part of Ted, taken by Lucien Broesamle, called for much emotional acting which he put across very nicely.

Jay Weinberg took a dual part in impersonating a farmer in disguise and in a changed voice, and the lawyer with his natural voice. Jay was instrumental in making the play a mystery.

Clayton White acted the part of Senator McCorkle, a very impetuous old gentleman. Clayton took on 35 years for two nights and handled them like a professional.

The part of the villain, Ira Stone, was taken by George Atkinson, and was acted so well that now George is afraid of himself.

Mr. Man, the Mystery, was taken by Ralph Kinner, who tangled and then unraveled the plot much to the satisfaction of the audience.

MRS. F. E. STORMS DIES AT FAMILY HOME HERE

Was Patient Sufferer for Several Months Prior to Death on Friday, April 4.

Belle Alice Storms entered into rest, Friday morning, April 4, 1924, after many months of patient suffering, "ever cheerful and hopeful until the last."

FORMER CHELSEA MAN DIES IN CALIFORNIA

A. W. Storms, Uncle of F. E. Storms, and Well Known Here, Answers Death's Summons.

In the March 24th issue of the Bakersfield (Calif.) Californian, appears the obituary of A. W. Storms, former Chelsea resident and G. A. R. veteran, who died at his home in that city March 23, aged 81 years. He was an uncle of F. E. Storms of this place, and was the last of his immediate family to answer death's summons. More than 40 years and his life were spent in Chelsea and he is well remembered by older residents of the community. The account follows:

A. W. Storms, pioneer citizen of Bakersfield and comrade of Hulbert Post, G. A. R., died March 23 at his home on Oleander avenue. Storms came to Bakersfield in 1888 and was for many years storekeeper for the Kern County Land company. He later entered the employ of the county and was engaged at the courthouse. He retired several years ago.

Storms was born at Chelsea, Michigan, August, 1843 and served with the United States army during the Civil war. He was one of three brothers and at the time of his death was the oldest living prisoner of war.

Comrade Storms enlisted in Company K, Twenty-fourth Michigan Infantry, April, 1861. He was taken prisoner the second day of the battle of Gettysburg. He remained a prisoner until the close of the war.

He was imprisoned with 35 others, all of whom died in the prison at Andersonville, Georgia. Storms was identified with the army of the Potomac from the first battle of Bull Run, to the third day of the engagement at Gettysburg, July 1 to 3, 1863.

Comrade Storms was well known in Bakersfield and was noted for his sterling qualities and his staunch principles of citizenship. He had a wide circle of friends and acquaintances who will regret to learn of his death.

The deceased was a past commander of Hulbert Post, 127, of this city and had served as quartermaster of the organization for more than fifteen years. He was a member of the First Methodist church. Surviving is his widow.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Payne & Son chapel with Rev. G. A. Warner officiating. Interment will be in the mausoleum at Union cemetery and will be under the auspices of the G. A. R.

Comrades of the World War veterans will act as pall bearers and guard. The funeral will be marked with the observance of full military honors. Comrade Storms will be at interment in his grand army uniform. An American flag will drape the casket and the salute of guns will be sounded across the grave.

WHERE, OH, WHERE WILL THE FUNDS COME FROM?

Chelsea is wondering from whence will come the funds to promote the band concerts for the coming season. Following the town meeting Monday at which time adjournment was taken before the matter of the amusement fund could be brought before the public, there is a question in the mind of the community as to the source of such funds.

That the band has been an asset to the community in the past is not doubted by anyone. That people have been attracted to Chelsea by the concerts when they might have gone elsewhere is not doubted. That thousands of people enjoyed the last summer concerts is a known fact. And last, but not least, that funds will be necessary before a band will be possible is an established certainty. Where, Oh, Where will the funds come from?

They All Praise Buick

Ask any garageman, any mechanic, in fact, any person who knows motor cars, what he thinks about Buick. Invariably he will tell you that Buick is a thoroughly good, high grade and dependable automobile and that a person makes a genuinely satisfactory investment when he buys one. Then ask the Buick owners you know what they think about Buick. Do these things and you will quickly understand why Buick has sold over one million motor cars and why you, too, should own a Buick.

Saline—St. John's Lutheran church of Bridgewater during the last five months contributed $180 for hungry children and benevolent institutions in Germany. Since the Armistice, churches of the American Lutheran synods have raised from their own constituents, approximately $5,000,000 for European relief, and sent about $5,000,000 pounds of clothing to war sufferers. During the last six months they are concentrating their efforts upon relief work in Germany. Most foodstuffs are bought on American markets.—Observer.

Howell—The Michigan Normal College it seems had mid year graduation exercises, this year the event occurred March 27. John Ryan went to Ypsilanti to see his daughter, Miss Gertrude Ryan graduate. Miss Ryan graduated from the Howell high school and then taught a year in Oceola and in a year and a half has finished the course at Ypsilanti and received her teachers' life certificate. Being only a few miles from Ann Arbor it is not strange that she should get the university bug and is now looking forward to a university course.—Republican.

Brooklyn—The new home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Higbee northeast of Napoleon was completely destroyed by fire Tuesday evening about eight o'clock. Mrs. Higbee was carrying an oil lamp in the stairway when she fell breaking the lamp and spilling the oil which instantly caught on fire. So quick was the blaze which caught on some clothing in the stairway that Mrs. Higbee was driven back upstairs as soon as she regained her feet. She climbed out on the roof and succeeded in calling Dale Rice, the boy who lives with them and who was milking at the barn. By the time the boy had secured a ladder and rescued Mrs. Higbee from the roof, flames enveloped the house and practically nothing was saved from the contents.—Exponent.

Brighton—Owing to the bad condition of the road on and west of the Fuller hill, Grand River road has been closed to traffic and gates put up where the road bends east at the Case corner in this village. This means that all traffic to Detroit must detour and the route now being taken is by way of Whitmore Lake, South Lyon, and Novi. This is considerably farther than it is to Novi over the Grand River road but it is the nearest all improved road to Detroit at the present time. Work has already started on the grading and the road will now be closed until the new road is completed. A large number of convicts arrived from Jackson the fore part of the week.—Argus.

Schenk School, Sylvan, Claims Essay Prize Winner

Robert Fahrner, age 13, pupil in the Schenk school, District No. 6 fr., Sylvan, submitted the essay which took first honors of that township. Inez Rank teaches the school. The essay follows:

"IN THE HOUR OF TRIAL"

During the winter of 1777-78 George Washington, who was Commander-in-Chief of the American Army was stationed at Valley Forge, 24 miles west of Philadelphia.

Washington's army, having been driven out of Philadelphia, located at Valley Forge for the protection of Congress, where it was convening, at York.

When Washington and his men arrived at Valley Forge, the chaplain offered a prayer of Thanksgiving in thanks of their safe arrival.

Washington's army was disappointed on account of the condition of things at Valley Forge. They had to walk on the frozen hillsides, their shoes were poor and they bound their feet with rags to keep them warm. It is said that there was blood in the paths where they walked.

While Howe and his officers were living luxuriously, Washington's men naked and starving were dying of putrid fever on the frozen hillsides of Valley Forge.

Burgoyne had fought two battles in the neighborhood of Saratoga, earlier in the fall, and had been defeated.

In the wars of over twenty centuries, an eminent English writer finds only fifteen battles that have had a lasting influence on the world's history. The American victory at Saratoga, he says was one of them. It had these two results, it completely broke up the English plans of war, and it secured for us the aid of England's old enemy France.

Some time after the victory Lafayette, who had been helping Washington, received letters from Paris telling him of the promise of help from France.

The next year (February 6, 1778) Benjamin Franklin, our minister at Paris, obtained the treaty or agreement by which the French King pledged himself to send us men, ships, and money to complete the war. Franklin and Washington were, in fact, the two great men who carried the war to a success.

A battle was fought at Monmouth (June 28, 1778). It would have ended in a brilliant victory for our side, if General Charles Lee had done his duty.

Washington won the battle at Monmouth (December 29, 1778). An expedition attacked Savannah. The British took the city.

The British had possession of Stony Point in the highlands of the Hudson. Under Washington's direction our army stormed and took the fort (July 15, 1779).

In the spring of 1780 the war in the south was renewed with vigor. The British took Charleston (May 12, 1780) and Lord Cornwallis held the city. But Marion and Sumter helped greatly in the American cause.

The British had a small force at Camden, South Carolina, a great center for roads and hence of much military importance. A battle was fought at Camden (August 16, 1780) in which Gates was compelled to retreat, losing artillery, baggage and narrowly escaping himself.

Although the British had been successful at the south they were defeated in a battle at Kings Mountain October 1, 1780.

The gloom of Arnold's Act of Treason reflected itself on the American army at Morristown in the terrible winter which followed. In some respects it was worse than that at Valley Forge.

Cornwallis defeated the Americans (March 15, 1781) but he himself lost so heavily he could not hold his ground and had to retreat to North Carolina. Then he marched through Virginia and after destroying millions of dollars worth of property he entered Yorktown (July 30, 1781). There the General fortified himself and as he looked over the walls of his town, he saw the French on one side and the Americans on the other. He held out manfully for more than a week, against solid shot and red hot balls, seeing it was useless to struggle, he surrendered.

His army marched out October 19, 1781, to the tune that the world is upside.

A monument has been erected at Valley Forge to the memory of the soldiers who perished in camp.

RESULTS THAT REMAIN

Are Appreciated by Chelsea People. Thousands who suffer from backache and kidney complaint have tried one remedy after another, finding only temporary benefit. This is discouraging, but there is one kidney medicine that has earned a reputation for lasting results and there is plenty of proof of its merit right here in Chelsea.

Here is the testimony of one who used Doan's Pills years ago, and now makes her testimony even stronger. "Mrs. W. D. Arnold, E. Middle St., Chelsea, says: 'I suffered greatly from dull, nagging backaches and a distressing pain through my kidneys which gave me a great deal of trouble. Doan's Pills from Fenn's Drug Store helped me wonderfully. They rid me of the backaches and corrected the action of my kidneys. I was better in every way after using Doan's.'"

The above statement was given July 7, 1909 and on April 27, 1920, Mrs. Arnold added: "I have the same good opinion of Doan's Pills now as I did when I recommended them before. They cured me and the cure has lasted."

TO REGULATE FISHING IN LIVINGSTON AND WASHTENAW

An order issued under Act 9, P. A. of 1923, regulating the taking of fish in the inland waters of the counties of Livingston and Washtenaw, State of Michigan, County of Livingston, ss.

Whereas, Petitions having been filed in my office in the city of Lansing, signed by twenty-five residents of the Counties of Livingston and Washtenaw, asking that a time and place be fixed to hold a public hearing to determine the advisability of making an order to further regulate the taking of fish in the inland waters of the district comprising said counties.

And Whereas, A proper notice of said hearing was duly published in accordance with law and hearing thereon having been held in the city of Howell in Livingston County, on the tenth day of March, 1924, at which time and place all persons were heard both for and against the issuance of such order.

Therefore, I, John Baird, Director, Department of Conservation of the State of Michigan, after due deliberation of the evidence submitted at such hearing do hereby order that in all of the inland waters of the district comprising the Counties of Livingston and Washtenaw, it shall be unlawful to take any kind of fish with spear excepting that carp and other obnoxious fish may be speared under the supervision of a deputy game warden.

The use of houses on the ice in taking fish is also prohibited and it shall be unlawful to take or catch any species of fish in the inland waters of the district comprising said Counties from April 1 to June 15, inclusive, and the possession of any fish taken in said Counties between the dates named shall be evidence of a violation of this order.

For a period of three years, the regulations herein specified shall be in effect under penalties provided by Section 5, Act 9, Public Acts of 1917. Signed, sealed and ordered published this 24th day of March, 1924.

John Baird, Director, Approved by the Conservation Commission, this 24th day of March, 1924.

Edgar Cochran, Secy.

SOUTH SEA FLAPPERS

MAP MORE THAN OURS

The modern American flapper is a tame sister compared to the South Sea Island girl of the same persuasion, according to members of R. A. Walsh's Goldwyn company which made "Lost and Found," coming to the Princess theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, April 10 and 11, on the island of Tahiti.

If you wonder how the flapper American can dance all night, between cocktails and cigarettes, and then get up in the morning for a game of golf, you would be amazed at the hardihood for jazz which the dusky and seductive Polynesian maidens show, said House Peters, Antonio Moreno, George Siegmann and Director Walsh upon their return from the island.

"It's the dance, dance, dance from morning till night," exclaimed the volatile Tony Moreno, with an expression registering that he could not hold the pace. And Tony is athletic too.

The equatorial flapper isn't keen on ballroom dancing as we know it, but she can spin loose a tornado and a strocco when it comes to the hula. The spirit of fun runs riot in her blood and she is not bound by the conventions of clothing. It must not be gathered, however, that the fair maidens flaunt their charms to the gazing public. On the contrary, one member asserts that the American and South Sea flappers may be sisters under the skin, but the latter brand displays less of the cuticle than the former.
