WILL HOLD CLINIC FOR CO.'S CRIPPLED CHILDREN

Keene Club of County Joining in Work While Effort to Extend Advantages of Consultation and Advice.

In the hope that crippled children who have not had the opportunity or could not afford to take advantage of the benefits which might be derived from consultation with orthopedic specialists and eminent physicians, may have such an opportunity, the associated luncheon clubs of Washtenaw county, including the Kiwanis, Rotary and Exchange, have launched an extensive campaign in the interest of these children. The campaign which is being conducted under the supervision of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children, will result in a clinic at an Ann Arbor hospital at which time it is hoped every crippled child, regardless of former treatment, may be taken before the foremost physicians of the country for examination and advice as to the best method of procedure in treatment of the case.

The entire of Washtenaw county, which boasts six service clubs, has been divided among the clubs for survey and determination of the possibility of bringing in any crippled child available. In many cases it is stated by authorities, much good may be accomplished by clinics of this kind where previous treatment has been unsatisfactory. While there will be no treatment of cases submitted on the day or days to be set aside for the clinic, there will be an opportunity for every child, its parents or physician to receive the benefits made possible by the latest discoveries of medical science.

The Kiwanis club of Chelsea has taken upon itself full responsibility for its share of the county-wide program and has been assigned four townships, Sylvan, Lima, Lyndon and Dexter, to survey and report for. That there will be found some persons in these four townships who will gladly avail themselves of this opportunity is not doubted by those in charge.

At the present time committees made up of members of each club over the county are busy rounding out a program of action. To stimulate interest and give an insight into the work before them all the clubs are joining in a big get-together banquet at the Michigan Union, Ann Arbor, on Monday evening, December 2, at which time Edward Kelsey, Boy Scout leader and executive of Toledo, Ohio, will address the men on the question before them. More than four hundred men are expected to be in attendance at this banquet, of which number more than thirty will be from the Chelsea club.

Present plans call for a house-to-house canvass of every section of the county soon after the first of the year. This method is expected to disclose and opportunity for service to crippled children that may exist. On the days of the clinic clubmen or others may see that the child is escorted to the hospital where, without cost whatever, he or she may receive the benefits needed to make them capable and self-supporting citizens.

SOUTHERN COUNTIES
WATCH DITCH BLASTS

A series of ditching demonstrations, using explosives to complete the operations, was witnessed by hundreds of farmers in seven southern Michigan counties during late October and early November. The demonstrations were conducted by extension specialists of the agricultural engineering department at the Michigan Agricultural College, in showing the practicability of explosives in farm drainage operations.

Fifty per cent straight nitroglycerin was used in the ditch blasting according to N. A. Kessler, in charge of the work. The counties included in the schedule of demonstrations were Washtenaw, Ionia, Kent, Clinton, Lapeer, St. Clair and Huron.

MRS. JOSEPH WENK
PLEASANTLY SURPRISED

Mrs. Joseph Wenk, sr., of Ann Arbor, who is spending some time with her daughter, Miss Ida Wenk of Lima, was pleasantly surprised Wednesday evening, November 19, 1924, the occasion being her 75th birthday anniversary.

After games and a social hour were spent, a bountiful supper was served. The tables were decorated with a birthday cake trimmed with candles and bouquets of white and yellow baby chrysanthemums, the gifts of her grandchildren.

After appropriate remarks by her son, Rev. E. E. Wenk of Toledo, Ohio, Mrs. Wenk was presented with a purse of money. The guests departed at a late hour, all uniting in wishing Mrs. Wenk many more happy birthdays.

Guests were present from Detroit, Toledo, Ann Arbor and Lima. All reported having spent a very pleasant evening.

MRS. AGATHA FISCHER

Mrs. Agatha Fischer, 87 years old, died Monday, November 17, at the home of her son, John G. Fischer, near Four Mile Lake in Dexter township.

Mrs. Fischer is survived by two sons, John of Dexter township and William of Ann Arbor; six grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from the home of John G. Fischer, Rev. S. Salsbury of Dearborn, officiating. Burial was in Oak Grove cemetery, Chelsea.

COUNTY CLOTHING PROJECT

Those interested in the clothing project, will be glad to learn that the local leaders of Lima have been to Ann Arbor for the third lesson, last Thursday. It was just as wonderful and helpful as the last two.

All members of Lima's club must not forget, December 9 at the home of Mrs. Ben Huchl. The third lesson will be given and other business of the club will be taken care of. The leader, Miss Sorenson, reported, at last meeting (last Thursday) that Washtenaw leads the rest with a large majority. It is hoped the lead will be kept up, for the benefit of all rural portions.

MRS. FREDERICK OSTERLE

Mrs. Frederick Osterle died at her home in Sylvan, Sunday, November 23. She was born in Waterloo township, May, 1854, and had been a life long resident of this vicinity.

She was united in marriage with Frederick Osterle about 82 years ago. Mr. Osterle died about 14 years ago.

She is survived by five sons, two daughters, several grandchildren, three brothers and three sisters.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon in St. Paul's church, Rev. P. H. Grabowski officiating.

SCHOOLS WILL BE CLOSED FOR COUNTY INSTITUTE

Teachers To Meet at Ann Arbor Friday, December 5, For All Day Meeting.

Mr. Johnson, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, has authorized the closing of village and rural schools on Friday, December 5, for a County Institute to be held at the Jones school auditorium, North Division street, Ann Arbor, from 10 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. Teachers attending these meetings promptly will receive their usual salary.

The purpose of this meeting is to enable the teachers to intelligently cooperate with the staff conducting the Washtenaw County Unit Health Program inaugurated by the authority of the Washtenaw county board of supervisors. The morning session will be devoted to instructing the teachers as to the object, methods of procedure of the physical examination, legal health requirements, and forms to be used and the schedule. Then Dr. Louis D. Stearns, of the University of Michigan staff, the recently appointed health inspector of the schools, will explain the methods of procedure. The afternoon session will be taken up by Dr. Charles M. Elliott, Director of Special Education in the Michigan State Normal college, with the view of instructing the teachers with the methods of the follow-up work.

Later each teacher will be notified of the date of the health inspector's visit to the school so that the parents may be present at the examination if they desire.

The children's individual health records will correspond with those proposed in the state system of uniform child accounting now under consideration.

ARRANGEMENTS BEING MADE FOR CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE

Miss Urenholdt, of the Washtenaw County Tuberculosis Association was in Chelsea Tuesday making arrangements for the annual sale of Christmas seals here. In the campaign for funds via the stamp sale route, Miss Urenholdt stated that stamps would be sent out to individuals in reasonable quantities with the expectation that the stamps either be used or returned to the association. However the hope was expressed that the stamps might be kept, paid for and used during the holiday season.

While not actively waging public campaigns in the interest of tuberculosis patients, the Tuberculosis Association is instrumental in locating the need and enlisting the active interest of other public welfare organizations in meeting the need. In this way a valuable service is being rendered at a very nominal cost which is negligible to the person who buys the seals. The seals will be sent out within the next few days it was stated. Rev. C. S. Risley is chairman of the local committee in charge of the sale of seals.

SCHOOL NEWS

The annual Thanksgiving dinner was held Wednesday noon. It was enjoyed by the teachers, high school and eighth grade. Wednesday afternoon there was an assembly relative to Thanksgiving. Each of the grades will celebrate Thanksgiving in their own rooms.

Tuesday afternoon Dr. Pool, from the State Department of Health, gave a talk on "Health" and "Keeping Fit." He emphasized how health makes success and how success makes happiness. His comparisons of the body to an automobile was well brought out in many ways. The body must have the right care, must be kept in good condition, and we must know how to live, keeping clean physically, mentally and morally. A health survey has been provided for in the near future, under direction of County Health Service.

BOULEVARD LIGHTS ASSURED
FOR SOUTH MAIN STREET

Additional subscriptions totaling several hundred dollars were reported Monday evening by the committees handling the financial side of the proposed boulevard lighting system for South Main street. This assures that the lights will be installed to M-17 and that Chelsea will no longer be an unknown quantity to motorists traveling the latter highway. It is even hoped the lights will prove attractive enough that persons passing by on the main highway may pause long enough to detour one-half mile to the north and learn "for why" the string of brilliantly lighted lamps.

Just when the lights will be installed and ready to turn on the "juice" is not known. With the avalanche of work already on the gang of men working on the village "change over" it is hardly to be expected that they will be installed immediately. However it is safe to assume that all possible speed will be made to finish the project.

Sealed! to protect Buick performance

Buick's chassis is sealed. Iron and steel housings protect the operation of all driving parts—seal them in to safeguard Buick performance.

Here are the vital points at which Buick engineering provides this extra protection:

1. FAN HUB—Fan bearing totally enclosed—lubricated by its own gear pump.
2. MOTOR—Steel cover keeps water from short-circuiting spark plugs. Steel cover over valve-in-head mechanism keeps dust out, oil in.
3. STARTER-GENERATOR—Delco single unit starter-generator completely housed in single housing. Starting gears housed with flywheel.
4. FLYWHEEL—Completely housed. Starting teeth protected from road dirt, mud and dust.
5. CLUTCH—Multiple disc—completely housed.
6. TRANSMISSION—Completely protected. Shifting mechanism holes sealed.
7. UNIVERSAL JOINT—Completely enclosed in ball joint at front end of torque tube—lubricated automatically from transmission.
8. PROPELLER SHAFT—Buick's single member drive, which is a torque tube, completely encloses the propeller shaft. It is impossible for road dirt to work from the shaft into the universal joint or rear axle.
9. REAR AXLE—Floating type, totally enclosed in rear axle housing.

PRESERVING FORESTS

President Coolidge has announced a firm policy for the preservation of American forests. President Roosevelt began and carried on this work quite effectively, and had the conservation policy well under way—but as soon as he was out of office, the old grab bag system started to work again, and our forests suffered.

It is estimated that there is now in standing timber in this country about 745,000,000,000 cubic feet of timber. We use about 28,000,000,000 feet annually. The present annual timber growth is about 6,000,000,000 cubic feet.

If we were to consume for forty years at the present rate, and grow timber at the present rate for that period, we would find our timber supply exhausted. It is likely that the consumption of timber will increase, rather than diminish, although we are now finding many substitutes for wood.

But if we should make peremptory a policy of conservation which would reserve annually as much as is cut of timber, we would have a perpetual supply of wood for by-the-time the standing timber would be cut off, we would have grown new forest to take the place of those cut off, and our stock of timber would be as great at the end as at the beginning of such a system.

We must adopt and enforce some such plan, or future generations must suffer because of our neglect. A conservative policy that really conserves will be approved by the whole of the American public.

A WRONG POLICY

The United States Chamber of Commerce, a commercial organization made up of the leading industrial and commercial concerns of the country, with headquarters at Washington, has made up a "program" for the government to follow in the coming session of congress.

We have heard many protests against the "big" system in government, and the United States Chamber of Commerce is charged with being one of the chief propagandists in opposing that system.

There are many American people who believe the system is wrong in principle and operation; and wholly opposed to our fundamentals of government. We heard very much about the constitution in the campaign recently closed, and it is well to guard the constitution, and prevent any approach to any attempt by any part of the government in over-riding, annulling or ignoring any part of it.

But, suppose the program suggested by the United States Chamber of Commerce were to be made a guide by any party, or any considerable part of any party in the coming session of congress, would that not be a blue just as offensive—just as opposed to the constitution and the fundamentals of our government as any other blue or combination that has been affected in congress to control or shape legislation?

We believe the American people want to return to the fundamentals—a strict obedience to the constitution. A close observance of the provisions of the constitution, and the avoidance of anything that looks like the encroachment or an attempt at encroachment of one division of the government against another's rights and prerogatives. We want to go back to get closer to the constitution rather than wander away from it.

TAX MEASURE TO WAIT

Dispatches from Washington inform the public that there will not be any attempt with the advice and consent of President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon, to revise tax laws at the short session of Congress this winter. In the next measure introduced to reduce taxes, there should be a reduction affecting more generally the whole public.

In the last tax reduction measure the nuisance taxes were removed, which was about the smaller taxpayer got in the way of relief. There still remains the tax on automobiles which is a direct, and many believe, an unjust tax on the smaller taxpayer.

"Why should there be a tax on a motor car, any more than on any other commodity that is manufactured and sold?" they ask, and with reason. The automobile has ceased to be a luxury or a useless expenditure for pleasure. It has become a necessity, and one of the greatest instruments in speeding up production in many lines of endeavor.

In the first nine months of this year, there was only one death resulted in the U. S. air service. This is claimed to be a better record than that made by the railroads. In the past two years and nine months, mail carrying planes have flown a total of 5,000,000 miles. Statemen claim, and the events would seem to verify the claim, that the country supreme in the air, will be supreme among the nations of the earth. The development of air mail routes is a step in the direction of air supremacy, and service to the American people at the same time.

WHAT WOMEN CAN DO

We hear a great deal these days about "The Advanced Woman" on the one hand, and a cry for "the old fashioned mother" on the other. Mrs. Frank B. Galbreth of New York City appears to embody all the fine examples of both, and is living proof that a woman can be all that modernity demands of "the advanced woman" and all that the most exacting could demand in "the old fashioned mother."

Frank B. Galbreth was one of the best known of American engineers. He had earned his place in the engineer's book of fame by putting theories into practice. His wife bore him fourteen children; raised all of them properly as an old-fashioned mother would have done it, and at the same time took part in her husband's work, his achievements and his practical application of engineering theories.

The husband was on the program to speak at the European Power Conference. He was all ready to go. His paper was written and in his pocket. He had made a will leaving his brain to a medical college for scientific purposes. On the eve of his departure for the European conference he went into a telephone booth to telephone, and while doing so, dropped dead.

His brain was taken out, delivered to the college, his remains buried, and in four days his faithful wife set out on the mission to Europe. She read his paper, and one of her own, presided over sessions of the conference and gained all the honors her husband might have gained. She has returned home, taken up her own work and her husband's, and is looking after her large family as a mother should. No man can excel, if indeed, any could equal this wonderful record of achievement and duties performed.

Chicago's largest mail order house announces that it has ceased to sell firearms to anybody. This is prompted, it is said, by Chicago's crime wave. Sometimes, it would appear, all the criminals of big cities have plenty of firearms, and it is the citizen who needs them in self-defense. The constitution of the United States guarantees every citizen the right to bear arms. It would appear that if the citizen were permitted to carry arms and defend himself when attacked, it would do more to curb and prevent crime waves than anything else could do. The more sale of firearms is prevented, the greater and more frequent the outrages committed by criminals.

Mexico, under the new regime, seems to be in a mood to cooperate with America, and many reforms have been set on foot, which should materially change things there. The annulment of the fishing rights granted to Japan in Lower California, appears to be a step in the direction of friendliness to America, not previously undertaken by any person in authority in Mexico. There ought to be the pleasantest relation between this country and Mexico. Both would be the better, and Mexico would especially profit by it.

GOVERNOR GROESBECK ISSUES THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

Thanksgiving Day this year should mean much to the American people. We are blessed with a reasonable degree of prosperity and the outlook for the future is encouraging.

In spite of the many handicaps under which our governmental operations are carried on, our people, as a whole, are making steady advances in the cause of good government. The progressive spirit which they repeatedly manifest in relation to the public service, demonstrates their faith in American institutions and the stability of constitutional government.

For these great blessings and the many good things that are ours, it is most fitting that we should render united thanks to Almighty God, the giver of all that is good.

Therefore, in pursuance of our time honored custom and in accordance with the proclamation issued by the President of the United States and by virtue of the authority vested in me as Governor of Michigan, I hereby designate Thursday, November 27, 1930, as a day of Thanksgiving and Prayer.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State this thirteenth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four, and of the Commonwealth the eighty-eighth.
Alex. J. Groesbeck, Governor.

He Took His Encore

It was little Ruth's first visit to the farm. She was watching a meadow lark in an adjoining field and listening to his song. In a little while she entered the house and told her aunt about it. "He wasn't a bit afraid," she said, "he just looked at me and then turned round and sang another verse."—Boston Transcript.

"Your bounty is beyond my speaking.
But if my mouth seems dumb, my heart shall thank you."

ON this the great occasion set aside for all of us to give thanks for the bounties that have been bestowed upon us by our Creator during the past year, we desire to take this occasion to express our sincere thanks for the many courtesies and considerations extended to us by our customers and friends.

In the list of things that we are thankful for, your Good will and Friendship comes first and foremost.

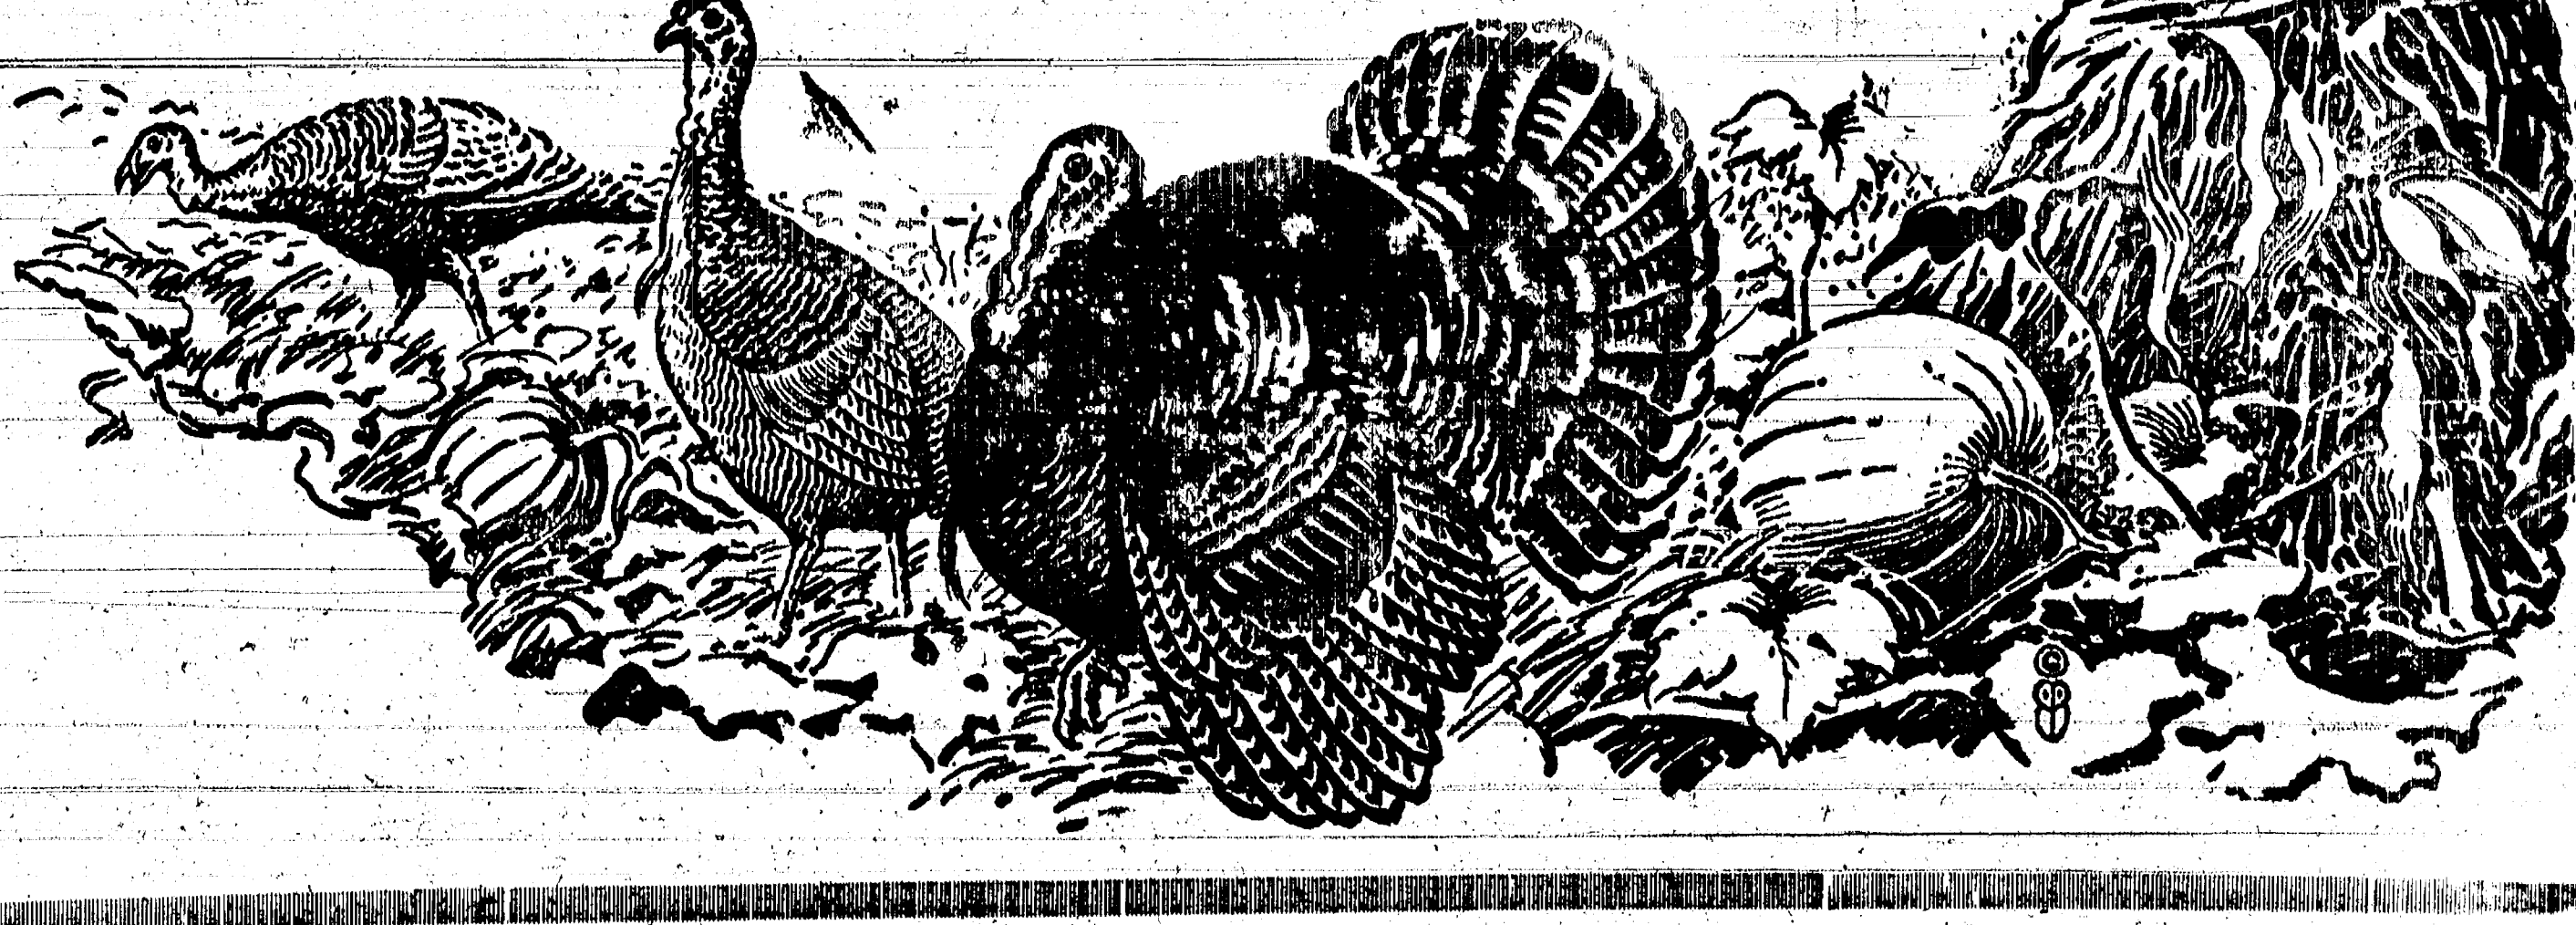

And to show our appreciation of this we shall endeavor to serve you as faithfully in the future as we have in the past and exert every effort to make life for you happy, healthful and successful.

When the President proclaims to us as he does every year, that Thanksgiving is at hand and that it behooves us to observe it, he gives us reasons why our hearts should be grateful and our spirit reverent. The condition of the country has been good, a fair degree of success has been attained. We have been able to perform in a good measure what has seemed to us to be our national duty. Those are sacred reasons for Thanksgiving.

Our whole life should speak forth on Thanksgiving. Every condition and place we are in should be a witness to our Thanksgiving.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

WHEREAS, default has been made in the payment of the money secured by a certain mortgage, dated April 30th, A. D. 1919, executed by Hudson
T. Morton, a widower, to Albert B.
Groves, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Washtaw and State of Michigan, on the 30th day of April, 1919, in Liber 140 of Mortgages at page 408;
and which said mortgage was thereafter and on the 11th day of November, A. D. 1924, duly assigned to Emmeline L. Groves, by William T. Groves, Administrator of the Estate of Albert B. Groves, deceased.
And whereas, the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage, at the date of this notice is the sum of TWO THOUSAND THREE HUNDRED

HERFETZ TO APPEAR IN ANN ARBOR DECEMBER 5

Jascha Heifetz, the most phenomenal violinist of this century, will be heard for the second time in Hill Auditorium, Ann Arbor, Friday evening, December 5, when he will be heard in the Choral Union Series.
Jascha Heifetz was born in Vilna, Russia, in 1901. From the cradle he showed a remarkable responsiveness to music and seemed to take instinctively to the violin, beginning to play the instrument at the age of three. His father, also a violinist, spent his days teaching his remarkable son. At the age of five Jascha entered the Royal School of Music at Vilna and graduated before he was eight years old. He had already made many appearances in public when the family took Jascha to St.
Petersburg to enter the Royal Conservatoire where he attracted the attention of Professor Leopold Auer who accepted him for his master's class as his youngest pupil. Mr. Heifetz made his first public appearance at the age of five. He played the Mendelssohn Concerto for the violin at the age of six and gave his first public recital at the age of nine in St. Petersburg. Soon after this he was soloist with the orchestra at Pavlovsk before an audience of 5,000 people. He has appeared in the leading cities of Germany, Austria, Hungary, Russia, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, France, England, Scotland, Australia and the United States.

Crowd Has Personality but Little Individuality

It would have been more to the purpose if the critics had insisted upon Wait Whitman's position as the poet of personality, rather than of individuality. These terms are commonly confused in the minds of most people, and even held to be interchangeable.
In reality a maximum of individuality implies a minimum of personality and vice versa. The individual, as such, is necessarily isolated and therefore devoid of personal ability to share in the lives and fortunes of others.
The truly strong personality is he who is able most fully to share and understand the nature of those with whom he is in contact, and who correspondingly subordinates his individuality to theirs. And the same is true of crowds, as of individuals. A crowd has personality; it has little or no individuality. It is a fact that crowds in different countries reveal individual differences, these an English crowd is less excitable, restless, noisy, than an American crowd; and a Chinese crowd may be even more reserved, for aught I know; yet, despite these accidents, each crowd expresses certain fundamental reactions, possesses certain elementary desires common to all humanity. Each crowd is at bottom a vast reservoir of blind desire, vague faith, dumb suffering; each crowd is composed of units that breathe, hope, desire; each crowd is uncoordinated personality in conflict with individual differentiation; each crowd is at once

Howell—A Lansing resident paid a fine in Howell justice court Monday for driving away from a recent auto accident in Green Oak township without rendering such assistance and information as is required by law in such cases.—Democrat.

Ypsilanti—Clifford Goldsmith has been with the Standard Oil company 16 years. In recognition of record he will receive a gold service button from the company with his name engraved on it and the inscription, "In Recognition of Service."—Record.

Eastville—J. B. Sumner of Ann Arbor, has exchanged property in that city with J. B. Kennedy for the Hotel Lockwood and took possession Monday. Mr. Sumner seems to be a genial mixer and it is hoped he will make this fine piece of hotel property a success.—Review.

Williamston—George Traver of Wheatfield township, well known pioneer of this section of the county, accompanied by his daughter, Nellie, went to the Wheatfield town hall election day, and cast his vote for Calvin Coultidge. Mr. Traver is 93 years of age and has voted in Wheatfield township for over seventy years. His first vote was cast for John Fremont over seventy years ago.—Enterprise.

Brooklyn—Harry DuBois, wife and son George had a narrow escape coming home from Cement City Tuesday evening. They were approaching the first railroad grade crossing and did not notice the train coming from the direction of Brooklyn until almost too late. In setting the emergency brake and turning the car to the left one of the tires was torn off and the rod they had to spare was none too far.—Exponent.

Manchester—Soon after 1 o'clock Monday afternoon the fire siren sent the department and many other citizens to the high school building where the east side of the roof was afire, evidently caused from sparks. The blaze was quickly by an extinguisher in the hands of Janitor Glatz and it was not necessary for the department to lay a line of hose. This seems about the tenth time the old roof has caused trouble. There is a spark screen on the chimney but evidently that is not an absolute protection.—Enterprise.

Eaton Rapids—Auto thieves, of the sneak variety, are very active in Eaton Rapids, several losses being reported during the past week. Some month or so ago, the side curtains of the C. D. Knapp Studebaker were stolen from the door pockets; several robes have been taken and last Saturday night, a high priced motometer was stolen from a car parked on Hall street. This was taken from a car almost directly under an electric light, which is proof that the sneak thieves are getting bolder.—Review.

Brighton—Coming home from Detroit one night last week Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Overturf had a peculiar experience. Between New Hudson and Novi they ran into a cloud of smoke that was so dense that they could not see a thing but the white line in the road. In spite of the fact that a truck just ahead was carrying a red light, they ran into it and damaged their machine. There were a lot of cars bunched in the smudge

MUSIC FOR GENERAL PUBLIC AT HILL AUDITORIUM

Two more attractive programs to which the general public with the exception of children under ten years of age will be admitted without charge, have been scheduled in Hill Auditorium, Ann Arbor, by the University School of Music before the holiday vacation, the first on Sunday afternoon, November 30, at 4:15 o'clock, and the second on December 7 at 4:15 o'clock. In both cases the audience is requested to come promptly on time as the doors will be closed during the performance of numbers.

On November 30, Palmer Christian will give a program on the organ. Mr. Christian is one of America's leading young organists. After completing his education under the best masters in this country, including Clarence Dickinson, he spent several years abroad where he acquired catholicity of taste and a knowledge of organ playing through study and contact with leading European organists and through public appearances which took him to Great Britain and throughout continental Europe. Returning to America he quickly became established as a leading organist in Chicago. He became municipal organist at Denver and later organist at Grove Park Inn, Asheville, North Carolina. He returned to Chicago from which as a center he has concentrated throughout the country.

Last January, upon invitation of the Board of Regents of the University of Michigan and the Board of Directors of the University School of Music, he assumed the dual position of University organist and head of the organ department of the University School of Music. His first Ann Arbor season of recitals, aroused much favorable comment from laymen and musicians and critics, and proved to be a valuable asset not only in Ann Arbor's musical life, but throughout the middle west for his programs have attracted organists and lovers of organ music from all over the country.

On December 7 a miscellaneous program will be offered by members of the faculty of the University School of Music, Grace Johnson Konold, soprano, who has been heard in concert in many states of the Union and who has appeared frequently in Ann Arbor not only in faculty concerts in church circles, but also in several May Festival programs, and Maude Ockelberg, pianist, who has won great distinction as a player both before and more particularly after several years residence abroad. The University String Quartet will provide several numbers.

Shortcomings. "Moses Diggs, an old Negro, had been arrested for having more than one wife."

"How many wives have you had?" demanded the judge.

"Six," was the reply.

"Why couldn't you get on with them?"

"Well, suh, de fast two spilled de white folks' clo's when dey wasened em; de third won't no cook; de fourth was jest nacherally lazy; and de fifth—I'll tell you, judge, de fifth, she—"

"Incompatibility?"

"No," said the Negro, slowly. "It won't nothin' like dat. Yo' jest couldn't git on with her unless yo' was somewhars else."—London Tit-Bits.

Why Urchins Leave Home. The principal reason why children run away are hurt feelings, desire to be alone, rebellion against authority, boredom, love or adventure and desire to see the world, says Mrs. Mary M. Hamilton, New York's first police-woman.

Cream on After Thought. When tea was first drunk in Europe, nobody thought of mixing it with milk though it was customary to sweeten it with sugar or sugar candy. Mme. De Sevigne, writing to her daughter in 1680, mentions an eccentric proceeding on the part of Mme. De La Sahiere that "she drinks milk in her tea." Coffee, too, was then drunk without milk.

The bid was not accepted, being deemed excessive by the postoffice authorities. The Jackson postmaster was instructed to find someone who would furnish an automobile, gasoline, etc., keep his machine in good repair to give good service for the sum of $300.00 per year.—Dispatch.

Lincoln" Made By Typical Movie Miracle

Is Great Artist and Has Ability Which Makes His Lincoln True Enough to Life to Be Real.

was out of Preston, Minnesota, the man came who is nearest Abraham Lincoln in appearance who was destined to impersonate the immortal Emancipator in the unusual screen production since the invention of the motion camera, "Lincoln" which opens at the Grand Theatre, Ann Arbor, Sunday, November 30.

War was his mother's and she was born and raised in Indiana. She married H. O. Billings, a minister, formerly of New York, and a Shakespearean scholar. Billings, doubtless inherited his talent for acting.

This George A. Billings, the sensational Lincoln of the Rockett Lincoln Film Company's production of "The Life and Times of Abraham Lincoln," is so startlingly like the martyr President in appearance and temperament that he was a constant source of wonderment to his fellow workers.

Abraham Lincoln (George Billings) and his Family

The exact height and weight of Hon. Abe, Mr. Billings has also the staid, earnest, and facial expression, voice and disposition. The great American tragedian Forrest said: "I play Richard, Shylock, Othello, Macbeth, but, by God, I am Lear," and so, too, is Billings Lincoln. Others have played Lincoln, but Billings is Lincoln physically and in spirit.

He is a veteran of the Spanish-American and World War. He served in the Philippines under Lawton and Wheaton and was for two years a member of the famous Dorrington Scouts.

Previous to his coming to the screen Mr. Billings had several years' experience on the speaking stage in stock and repertoire companies, but he had never played before the camera until the day he was tried out for the Lincoln character by Al and Ray Rockett at their studio in Hollywood.

He was chosen from a field consisting of all the professional Lincolns in the United States, and his startling physical likeness to Lincoln was not his greatest asset, for he has proved to be that rarest of all actors—a natural player able completely to submerge his personality in his characterization.

The new Lincoln studied his role six months before appearing before the camera, and trained physically after the manner that made Abraham Lincoln so strong and mighty. He split wood at Sunland, Cal., where the Rockett Company reproduced the famous log town of Salem, Ind.

No effort was ever made to picture the entire life and events of Abraham Lincoln until Al and Ray Rockett began in April, 1923, after research work covering eighteen months. This picture, the story for which was written by Miss Frances Marion, covers the time from the birth of Lincoln, February 12, 1809, to the events immediately following the assassination.

CHRISTMAS SEALS COME HERE FROM DENMARK

DANISH POSTAL CLERK HEARS SANTA WHISPER PLAN TO HELP TUBERCULOUS.

When Santa Claus was looking for someone to give the first Christmas Seal to the world, he picked on this big benevolent Nordic as a perfect personification of himself. On Christmas Eve, 1908, Elmer Holboell, a postal clerk in a small Danish town, stopped a minute to hear Santa whisper in his ear the plan of selling penny stickers to help tuberculous children.

His enthusiasm for a plan which would benefit humanity brought men of distinction and influence to his cause. A committee was formed. Mail clerks agreed to work overtime to sell the seals.

The people of Denmark liked the idea. It came to the United States

Direct From Heat
To obtain electricity direct from heat is a dream that is likely at some time to be realized. At present there are numerous methods of obtaining heat but the power obtainable is very minute. However, a method has been devised which employs two insulated carbon rods heated in an electric furnace or oxy-acetylene flame, in a new way. The two carbons are kept separated at one end, but the other ends are connected through a current measuring instrument. When one of the carbons is suddenly displaced a current of several amperes will flow. By displacing one of the carbons periodically an alternating current can be generated.

When a slight voltage is applied to the carbons the current increases to more than ten amperes at about 400 degrees Fahrenheit.

These experiments are interesting, inasmuch as such a result would hardly be expected at atmospheric pressure. The same thing has been noticed before on a much smaller scale, but in a high vacuum. Such seemingly insignificant discoveries often mark the beginning of wonderful developments.

Odd Birth Certificate

The egg with the greatest claim to distinction is one which was used as a birth certificate. This unique "document" was submitted to a meeting of a school attendance committee held at Norwich in February, 1890. Mrs. Bell, a widow, had been called upon to prove that her daughter had reached the school exemption age.

She produced an egg, colored in tints of purple, yellow and cream, with the name of her daughter and the date of her birth picked out in white in almost copperplate lettering. In addition, two texts had been written on the egg—"The Lord shall guide thee continually" and "Teach me to do Thy will." This was the only record Mrs. Bell had of her daughter's birth, and after the "certificate" had been passed round and admired, the committee accepted it as evidence.

Danger in Searchlight

Searchlight rays so powerful as to develop "sunburn" upon any person who gets in close proximity, come from a light constructed by the Sperry-Gyro scope company on Long Island. The light is 90,000,000,000 candlepower and it has a lens with a diameter of 60 inches. The beam can be flashed over a distance of 50 miles.

Low Shoes, High
Papa—I thought you said you bought low shoes?
Mamma—I did.
Papa—You've been deceived again. The dirt came in today, and they are certainly high ones.

Logical
Professor: (a little distracted)—I'm glad to see you. How's your wife?
"But I'm not married."
"Ah, no; then, of course, your wife's still single!"

Idiots Called Nonsequenzers
That idiots are incapable of speaking was a belief of our ancestors.

Man's Best Epitaph
He is the best bred and the gentlest gentleman who takes leave of the world without a stain upon his escutcheon, and with nothing but falsehood and dissimulation to cry or pride to tarnish his reputation.

The chief cross word puzzle is so many married people can have many cross words and still live the same house.

It is an old axiom that "everything that goes up must come down." A class of people so frenziedly buy stocks in the great bull market ought to burnish up that old saw and keep it in view.
