Annual Meeting Held By Chelsea District

The annual meeting of School District No. 3 Fr., Sylvan and Lima, was held at the public school auditorium on Monday evening, July 12, with an attendance of 35 electors of the district.

Because of the absence of John L. Fletcher, president of the Board of Education the meeting was conducted by M. J. Dunkel, president pro-tem. The minutes of the 1936 annual meeting were read and approved, after which the budget for the year 1937-38 as approved by the Board of Education was presented.

Estimated receipts for the next year totals $34,800.00, with the Board estimating expenditures of $34,785.00. However, by vote of the group at the Monday evening meeting the expenditures were increased by a total of $2100.00, with $1800.00 for the addition of Physical Education and $300.00 to provide adequate musical instruments for the band and orchestra.

This increase in the budget will no doubt necessitate an increase in the tax rate which totaled seven mills last year with the same proposal by the Board for next year—5 1/4 mills for operation and 1 3/4 mills for debt service. This district has enjoyed a very low tax rate in comparison to many districts of about the same size and a slight increase should not be objectionable.

Terms of two trustees, O. D. Schneider and J. L. Fletcher, having expired at this time, the election of trustees followed acceptance of the budget as amended. O. D. Schneider was elected without opposition for a term of three years. The names of J. L. Fletcher and J. Vincent Burg were presented for the second trustee to be elected, for a period of one year, and Mr. Burg was elected with a majority of one vote.

HONORED ON 80TH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Harry E. Foster was hostess at an enjoyable party given Wednesday afternoon for the pleasure of her aunt, Mrs. Ella Monroe on the occasion of her 80th birthday.

Pleasant features of the program were several numbers by Lynn Gervais, 12 year old boy soloist at Father Coughlin's Shrine of the Little Flower and radio soloist over "The Children's Hour", also several piano selections by Gilbert Gervais of Royal Oak; a quartet, "Little Old Lady", by Ruth Coulter, Betty Lee Foster, Sandra Schenk and Joyce Foster; a poem, "Down to Old Aunt Ella's", by Sandra Schenk; a reading, "It Pays to Advertise—But", by Madeline Rowe, and a reading by Ruth Coulter contributed to the program.

Pink rambler roses and delphinium, with white tapers in yellow holders, decorated the table from which a buffet lunch was served. The birthday cake was topped with 80 white candles. Several gifts were presented the honor guest.

Those attending the party were Mrs. N. F. Prudden of Kalamazoo, Mrs. Leland Foster and daughter Betty, Mrs. Mark Griffin, Mrs. Odilla Knapp, Mrs. Lavern Foster and Miss Ruth Coulter of Detroit; Mrs. Olin Claire and daughter of Rochester; Mrs. Florence Gervais and sons of Royal Oak, Mrs. Sam Yerkes and sons of Ralph Yerkes of Howell; Mrs. A. G. Clark and Mrs. Evelyn Foster of Ann Arbor; Mrs. Lynn Gordon of Waterloo; Mrs. Henry W. Danzer of Lima; Mrs. Robert Foster, Mrs. Elmer Weinberg, Mrs. Jessie M. Schenk, Mrs. T. H. Bahnmiller and Mrs. William Atkinson of Chelsea.

MRS. JACOB SCHNEIDER

Mrs. Jacob Schneider, 56, of Freedom township, died Sunday, July 11, at St. Joseph's Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor, after two weeks' illness.

She was the daughter of George and Anna (Bahnmiller) Loeffler, and was born in Freedom, March 15, 1881. On February 2, 1905 she was married to Mr. Schneider, and is survived by her husband and two sons, Alfred and Herbert, both at home; and a brother, George J. Loeffler, of Freedom.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 at the residence and at 2 o'clock at Zion church, Rogers Corners. Rev. M. W. Brueckner officiated and burial was in Zion cemetery.

TWO ROBBERIES HERE
Two Chelsea business places were robbed Tuesday night. Entrance and exit was made in the H. H. Fenn store through the small window in the lavatory; wrist watches, a pocket watch, billfolds, cigarettes and three or four dollars in money were taken. At the George Seltz restaurant entrance was made through the rear window and about $1.50 in money was taken.

My office will be closed until Monday, August 2.

Lansing—"Sharing the wealth", a social justice creed for passing around the good things of life, is running into financial difficulty at the state capitol.

Imbued with the happy desire to do something for everybody, the state legislature whooped through scores of appropriation bills in utter disregard of the budget directors' warnings. Having exceeded the most optimistic figure of state revenues by more than $18,000,000 the financial puzzle was then thrown into the lap of Governor Murphy with the blanket authority of a dictator to lop off allotments here and there.

All of which merely proves that distribution of wealth as a principle of social justice is fine and dandy, but someone has got to pay the bill. The administration has hewed consistently to the line that no new taxes must be imposed and that the budget must be balanced. Murphy now must make his choice: Deprive some citizens of the state's blessing or get somebody to pay the piper. Otherwise it's a boom-like deficit.

Declared Harold Smith, budget director: "The only way we can balance this budget is by a miracle." Having "passed the buck" to the governor, the legislature may find the responsibility back on its doorstep on July 29 when the special session begins at Lansing.

Special Session

In addition to creating a fiscal entanglement that needs straightening out, the legislature packed up its baggage early Saturday, June 26, leaving a number of important measures dangling amid air. Among these were civil service, caught in an inter-house jam on the final night; rural electrification along the lines of the federal power policy of encouraging co-operatives, unemployment compensation revisions, and teachers' tenure.

The rural electrification bill is a New Deal pet, making it easy for farmers' co-operative to condemn it by right of eminent domain for a right of ways. This bill passed House but died in the Senate utilities committee. It contained a clause that would discourage private utilities extending their lines into rural areas by a requirement that permission must be obtained first from the state utilities commission. The charge is being made that public utilities are rushing in to take the cream of the rural areas, leaving only the sparsely settled regions for federal-subsidized co-operatives.

Pointing to 1940

The governor may again accede to demands of labor leaders. According to Lansing reports, he wants the labor relations bill, which Speaker George

SALINE DEFEATS CHELSEA

With Sunday's decision going to Saline, 4 to 3, Chelsea finished the first half of the season with two victories and six losses. Ten games constitute half a season in the Tri-County League and although most teams have not completed their schedule the results of the games yet to be played would not affect the standings enough to change the leaders. Four of Chelsea's six defeats have been by the narrow margin of one run and with a break or two here and there the home team might have finished either second or third. Hamburg is the winner of the first round games this season as well as last, and will play the winner of the second ten game schedule for the championship.

Although outitting the Saline team 10 to 7 Chelsea failed to take advantage of several scoring chances and could score but three runs, while Saline scored four on timely hitting and three errors by Hart. Hart went into the game in the fourth inning without having handled a ball for two weeks and no chance to practice. Barth and Hoefft both pitched well, with little to choose between them. Barth struck out 9, walked 3, and Hoefft struck out 8 and walked 3.

Next Sunday Chelsea plays Pinckney at Pinckney, and they hope to start the second round with a win.

Drivers' License Tests Will Be Stiffened

Passage by the 1937 legislature of the act earmarking refunds by the state to local governments of 15 cents on each operator's and chauffeur's license issued, to be used to meet costs of examination and education of applicants for these licenses, is a measure which should advance the cause of street-and-highway safety, in the opinion of Leon D. Case, Secretary of State and Commissioner Oscar G. Olander, of the Michigan State Police.

Case, at the request of Olander, has drawn up a table showing the sums returned locally during the last three years, so that State Police may estimate results to be looked for from forthcoming local refund revenues which heretofore have gone into local general funds. For the calendar years 1934, 1935 and 1936, the total refunds to local governments was $307,373. The so-called "uniform operators and chauffeurs license act" went into effect in 1931, and since then, revenues have been high every third year, it being incumbent that licenses be renewed every three years. As a consequence, local refunds will show a rise the latter half of 1937 and the early part of 1938, over the preceding two years, closer enforcement of motor vehicle laws also being a factor in the estimate.

Michigan Newspapers to Entertain Editors

Weekly and daily newspapers in Michigan will serve jointly as host next week to approximately 350 newspaper editors from all part of the United States at a three-day convention of the National Editorial Association in Detroit, and a four-day state tour.

Through the medium of the Michigan Press Association, newspapers are taking the lead in a movement to publicize industrial and vacation resources of the state, awarding a Pontiac de luxe sedan to the outstate editor who writes the best published presentation of Michigan.

Speakers at the Detroit convention, which opens Monday, July 19, include Edgar Guest, poet; W. G. Cameron of the Ford Motor Company; Charles F. Kettering of General Motors; W. F. Wylie, Cincinnati Post; and James G. Stahlman, Nashville Banner, president of the American Newspaper Publishers' association. Gov. Frank Murphy and Mayor Couzens have also been invited to speak.

Editors will visit Greenfield Village at Dearborn and the Pontiac automobile plant. The three Detroit daily papers will be hosts at a formal banquet.

A special air-conditioned train will take the visiting publishers from Detroit to Grand Rapids Thursday morning, July 22, where Senator Arthur Vandenberg has been invited by the two Grand Rapids daily newspapers to speak at a luncheon at the Pansy hotel. At Muskegon the editors will visit the Lumberjack Carnival and Centennial Exposition, following a dinner at the Elks' club with Archie McCrea, editor of the Muskegon Chronicle, serving as toastmaster.

Taking a pullman train out of Muskegon at midnight, the party will arrive early Friday, July 23, at Traverse City in time for breakfast at Leelanau county resorts. Thence they go by train to Petoskey for an automobile caravan over the famed shore drive of scenic beauty to Cross Village. Indian maidens will serve refreshing drinks; a tribe will conduct ceremonial dances.

At Mackinac City the party will be conveyed by state highway department ferry over to Mackinac Island and thence by horse carriages to the Grand Hotel for two days' stay. A pullman train will return the editors to Detroit on Monday, July 26.

The state highway department and the four tourist bureaus are cooperating with the Michigan Press Association in helping to handle the state tour and to arrange constructive publicity for the state. Phillip T. Rich, Midland Daily News, who is chairman of the press convention bureau, telegraphed an invitation to President Roosevelt to address the editors at Mackinac Island. A personal invitation was also conveyed to the White House by Senator Prentiss Brown.

Claude Riey of Ontonagon is president of the 62-year-old state press association; Chester M. Howell of Chesaning is vice-president, and L. E. Towe of Jonesville is treasurer. Central offices are maintained at East Lansing.

CAMP MAY RUN NINTH WEEK

The Newkirk Scout camp which opened on June 20 with the plan of closing on August 14 may be continued for a ninth week, according to an announcement issued from the camp authorities. More than a hundred different boys from the various towns of Washtenaw and Livingston counties have already spent a period at the Scout Camp and they are now singing the laurels of the camp, its staff, its food, and its program to their friends at home.

The camp program includes many kinds of games, projects and experiences in living together. Watercraft, handicraft and nature activities loom large on the day's program.

A new feature of the camp may be a ship-shaped waterfront cabin, serving as a fourth troop unit of the camp. The foundation has already been excavated and it is expected that the unique new cabin will be in use before the end of the summer.

Teams Will Pull On Annual Farmers' Day

Addition of a trophy for the best teamster as well as one already announced for the best team is heightening interest in a new type endurance contest for horses. The competition will be staged for the opening feature of the annual Farmers' Day program at Michigan State College on Friday, July 30.

Entries by farmers are to be matched against a team of college bred sorrel geldings. Stub and Major, Belgians, represent what Ralph Hudson, college farm superintendent, believes are models for horses which show superior willingness, endurance and ability.

Trophies are offered by the Michigan Horse Breeders' association, says Andy Adams, Litchfield, president of the association. This association is cooperating with the college in sponsoring the contest.

One trophy will go to the team placing first on the basis of the greatest total distance in three consecutive pulls. Thirty seconds for intermissions are to be allowed for rest between pulls without unhitching. The teams must pull the college dynamometer set for a pull one half the weight of the team.

The other trophy is to be awarded by popular vote of the crowd. The trophy is offered the teamster making the best showing in horsemanship. The audience will be asked to consider each driver and award 50 per cent for driving, 30 per cent for appearance and stability of the equipment and 20 per cent for the quietness and good manners of the team.

Preparations are being made to entertain the thousands of Michigan farmers who annually attend this summer program which offers an insight into college research, projects in agriculture, entertainment and an afternoon program. Addresses will be made by E. L. Anthony, dean of agriculture, V. R. Gardner, director of the experiment station, and R. J. Baldwin, extension director.

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—I recently saw a flag and would like to know what it was. It had a blue center with white stars, white on either side of blue and red on either side of white.

Ans.—We have no record of a flag of that exact description. Unless it was an unofficial flag, it may have been meant for the Siamese man-of-war. It is identical with the one described, except that instead of stars in the blue center strip there is a white elephant.

Ques.—What President of the United States had the greatest number of children?

Ans.—William Henry Harrison, the fourteenth President of the United States, had ten children—six sons and four daughters. This was the greatest number of any of the Presidents.

Ques.—Will you please state which waterfall in the world has the longest fall? Also what is the height of Niagara's waterfall?

Ans.—The Oroco Falls at Monte Rosa has a fall of 2,400 feet, which is the highest in the world; Niagara Falls has a drop of 165 feet.

Ques.—Is it proper to say "those kind-of things"?

Ans.—No. In this sense "kind" is a singular noun and should be modified by a singular adjective. Therefore, say "that kind of things."

Ques.—What is the meaning of the initials "R. S. V. P." sometimes seen on letters?

Ans.—Those initials stand for the French phrase "Repondez s'il vous plait", which means "Answer, if you please."

Ques.—Which is the smallest of the Great Lakes—Lake Erie or Lake Ontario?

Ans.—Lake Ontario is the smallest with an area of 7,240 square miles. Lake Erie has 9,960 square miles.

Ques.—What is the origin of the word "cereal" as applied to wheat, corn, oats, etc.?

Ans.—Cereal is a blanket term for the great grass family of the earth. These are so named after the Roman goddess Ceres, who was their patroness of agriculture and of all the fruits of the earth.

Ques.—Why is a ten-cent piece called a "dime"?

Ans.—The word "dime" is from the French word "disme", which means one-tenth.

Ques.—If a telegram is sent from London at 11 o'clock in the morning what time will it be when it is received in New York?

Ans.—A message sent from London at 11 o'clock will be received in New York at 7 o'clock the same morning. Mathematically the telegram is received four hours before it is sent. This seeming paradox is explained by the four hours' difference in sun time.

Ques.—What is the difference between blueberries and huckleberries?

Ans.—Blueberries are huckleberries but not all huckleberries are blueberries. "Huckleberry" is the general name of several species of shrub berries, chief among which are the "dwarf" berries, "blue" berries, and "black" berries, all of which belong to the huckleberry family.

Ques.—Can you answer in your good paper just what a siren is?

Ans.—Originally "siren" was a mythological water nymph in the form of beautiful women who had the power of enticing mariners to destruction on dangerous rocks by their sweet music and charming ways. In modern times a siren is any kind of weird alarm, or soothing songs that forebodes danger to mortality.

Ques.—Where and what is the largest tree in the world?

Ans.—The largest tree in the world is known as the "Grizzly Giant", in Mariposa State Park, Mariposa county, California. This tree is a Sequoia 27 feet in diameter at a point 10 feet above the ground. A tunnel has been cut through the tree large enough for the passage of automobiles and other vehicles.

Ques.—Is the Italian language the same as that spoken by the ancient Romans?

Ans.—No. Italian is spoken in Italy; it is descended from the Latin. The Roman language died with the passing of the ancient Romans.

Much Air in Playing Flute A physiological study of flute playing shows that the velocity of the air as it leaves the flutist's mouth, even for low tones, says a writer in Collier's Weekly, is equivalent to that of a hurricane, or at a rate of more than 75 miles an hour.

The fourth meeting of the Dutch Cooks Food Preparation club was held at the home of our leader, Mrs. T. G. Riemenschneider on June 30. The meeting was called to order by the president, Betty Winter. We gave the club pledge; roll call; the minutes of the last meeting were read and accepted; there was no business. We will meet in two weeks at the same place.

After the meeting was over the first year members made cinnamon rolls and the second year members made fruit salad. Then we played games.

Sticker Deadline to Stop Many Cars

Several thousand owners of motor vehicles will be barred from driving in the streets and highways of Michigan on Sunday, August 1, because they delayed too long to buy 1937 license plates to replace their half-year "stickers", it is estimated by Leon D. Case, Secretary of State.

It has been computed that by July 16, with only 10 working days remaining before Aug. 1—the "sticker deadline"—about 375,000 motor vehicles will still be equipped with stickers which their owners plan to replace with 1937 plates by Aug. 1. This takes into consideration cars which will be junked when stickers expire, together with stickers already replaced with plates.

Case points out that it would tax the facilities of the Department and its 150 branch offices throughout the state to issue an average of 37,500 sets of plates daily, in the time then remaining, even if applications were made at that rate. Inasmuch as a large part of the stickers are being used in congested Wayne county, it is believed that time will not permit service to all who seek it when Aug. 1 approaches. The motor vehicle laws of the state do not permit the Secretary of State to postpone this deadline.

The huckleberry crop promises to be very light and short, the poorest in many years.

WHISPERING HOPE

Soft as the voice of an Angel Breathing a lesson unheard, Hope with a gentle persuasion Whispers her comforting word; Wait 'til the darkness is over, Wait 'til the tempest is done; Hops for the sunshine tomorrow After the shower is gone.

If in the dusk of the twilight, Dim be the regions afar, Will not the deepening darkness Brighten the glimmering star? Then when the night is upon us Why should the heart sink away, When the dark midnight is over, Watch for the breaking of day.

BAKERIES EMPLOY MANY

"In spite of all the latest labor-saving equipment used in large, modern bakeries, the American baking industry is the third largest employer among our various industries."

This statement came from Percy Owen, president of Michigan Bakeries, Inc. "The baking industry employs 200,000 wage earners with a payroll of approximately $260,000,000 annually," Mr. Owen further commented. "And with better hours, better wages and better working conditions have come greater efficiency."

Referring specifically to the payroll of Michigan Bakeries, Inc., bakers of "Michigan" bread and rolls, he said that the total amount was in excess of $450,000 annually, with 350 persons being employed.

The following additional facts, relating to the volume of bread ingredients used by Michigan bakeries, he also cited: 85,000 barrels of flour; 6 tons of lard per week; 8 tons of sugar per week; and 15 tons of yeast per month.

Wild Wheat in Palestine Wild wheat grown in Palestine but it was not discovered and identified until 1905.

OUR NEIGHBORS

DEXTER—Victor Schoen, who will be bugler at the Intermediate and Senior camp for boys and girls, and also at the Leadership Training school, left Sunday evening by boat for Buffalo and then by bus to Dunkirk, N. Y., where he will remain for five weeks.—Leader.

HOWELL—According to information from Murray D. VanWagoner, State Highway Commissioner, at noon today, funds have been released by the federal government and the state highway department for immediate use in the construction of a grade separation at the intersection of the Ann Arbor railroad and US-10 at the east city limits of Howell. The estimated cost is $108,000. A direct grant of $1,759,000.00 from the federal government for grade separations in Michigan has been made, the state furnishing the right of way and paying for abutment damages. According to Mr. McCool, of the Highway Department, the project will get under way in August.—Republican-Press.

MILAN—Parking meters along the curbs for three blocks in Monroe city placed in operation this week netted $50.00 during the first day. The meters are in operation from 9 a. m. until 6 p. m. every day except Sunday. It costs five cents to park for one hour. This is the first city in this part of the state to install the meters which have been used successfully in a number of larger cities.—Leader.

PLYMOUTH—Here's one fisherman who can catch nice big bass in Newburg lake without hook or line or net! He is so good that fish will jump right into his boat. That fisherman is Wesley Bakewell, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Bakewell of Plymouth road. His fishing companion on this famous trip was Leslie Huger. It is a true fishing story—not the kind you hear around sporting goods stores and read in outdoor magazines. Last Thursday evening Wesley was rowing a boat across Newburg lake with his companion when suddenly a black bass weighing a trifle more than a pound and half jumped out of the water and landed right in the boat. The boys were just about as surprised as was the fish. From there on the story is a brief one. The fish next landed in a frying pan at the Bakewell home.—Mail.

MASON—Both principals in a Bunkerhill hayfield fight of Wednesday afternoon fought to their death. The victor was a big crossbred German shepherd and bulldog and a three-foot rattler. The fight took place in the Fred Gilman hayfield northeast of Bunkerhill Center. The dog was a snake hunter and killer. He had accounted for scores of streaked snakes, black snakes and bluecrackers, and a few small rattlers. On Wednesday afternoon he came across a husky rattler. The dog went for the snake and four times the rattler struck his fangs into the dog's face, making two wounds on each side of the dog's nose. The venom was deadly. While Fred Gilman and his helpers finished the rattler the dog fell unconscious. Mr. Gilman picked up the big dog, carried him to a car and sped to a veterinarian in Mason. All remedies, even whisky, were tried but the dog died.—County News.

CHELSEA SCOUTS HONORED—Scouts David Eaton and Harvey Knickerbocker of Chelsea have been elected to membership in the Order of the Arrow, the Camp Honor Society at the Newkirk Boy Scout camp at Dexter, according to a report issued last week covering the first four weeks of the Scout camp.

Each Thursday the members of each cabin nominate for membership one of their members which they feel has contributed the most to the advancement of the camp spirit.

While the Order of the Arrow is primarily a Camp Honor Society, its members hold a banquet during the winter and a rally during the spring months preceding the opening of camp.

The Order of the Arrow chapter which was organized at Camp Newkirk in 1936 now has a membership of 85 Scouts.

Pikes Peak Devised Own Coins and Paper Money

At the time the nation was electrified by Pike's Peak gold rush the country around the present site of Denver was a part of Kansas. In 1888 and 1889 hundreds of covered wagon trains entered the district and Denver grew up almost overnight to the status of a large city, relates a writer in the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Clark, Gruber & Company, John Parsons & Company and J. J. Conway & Company, bankers of the city, issued their own gold coins of $2 1/2, $5, $10 and $20 denominations which were exchanged for the loose gold brought in by miners. Paper money was also used by Clark, Gruber & Company.

The obverse of one of these notes was inscribed in large letters across the top "Pike's Peak Gold," and had the denomination, "5 Dollars" in each of the lower corners. The reverse side bore in addition to the banker's name, the words "Territory of Jefferson, Denver, 1890," making this note one of the few remnants of any kind of an interesting episode in Colorado history.

As the Pike's Peak region was without protection from Kansas by the federal government, the leading men of the district in 1889 called a convention out of which grew the Territory of Jefferson. A legislature and governor were elected, laws passed, defense of the territory was provided for, neutrality in the impending struggle between the North and South declared and a commission sent to Washington to apply for recognition as a new territory. The authorities in Washington, however, were too busy with other affairs to pay much attention to the "Pikes Penkers," and when they did finally take up the question, organized the district into the Territory of Colorado.

Tsao Tsao, Chinese War Chieftain, Had 72 Graves

Chinese history records a war lord of some time ago who had no less than seventy-two graves and tombs. It has never been determined just which one of these many graves contains the body of the deceased person.

This chieftain known as Tsao Tsao was in his day one of the most powerful of all the provincial war lords, and also a government official of note during the Three Empire days. It was this same Tsao Tsao who had paved the way for his son to dethrone the Han emperor and to establish a new dynasty known as the Wei dynasty with the son at the helm.

When Tsao Tsao died he was afraid that his son might fail to carry out his plans and that the body might be given the supreme penalty of dismemberment. Consequently he ordered that seventy-two graves be dug and that seventy-two tombs be placed over them at the time of his death. Only his closest relatives were to know just where the body would be buried. Many Chinese even to this day have heard legends concerning Tsao Tsao, and they have wondered often if there was a seventy-third grave and tomb.

Disarmament Conferences

Disarmament conferences were in the news nearly a century ago. In a copy of an English illustrated weekly dated December 5, 1868, it was reported that the Great Powers—England, France, Prussia, Russia, Austria, Italy and Turkey—with various other smaller countries, had resolved to limit their armaments. Among other things, they signed a convention to "relinquish on both sea and land the use of explosive projectiles weighing more than 400 grammes." Two years later came the Franco-Prussian war!

How Racing Pigeons Fly

When racing pigeons are released from their crates, they spiral upward for twenty seconds, level off, and streak for home. Their eyesight, like their memory for landmarks, is remarkable. Apparently, they can see many times as far as human beings, says a writer in Literary Digest. In flight, pigeons don't follow an absolutely straight course for the home loft. They take it the easiest way, and will fly miles around storms of fog. Moisture is bad for their wings.

Bats Breathe Same as Humans

Bats breathe in exactly the same way as humans do. The air is taken in through the nostrils, rarely through the mouth, passes down the pharynx, through the glottis into the trachea or windpipe, and into the lungs. The action of the diaphragm regulates respiration. With the contraction of the diaphragm air is taken in and with its expansion air is expelled.

Lady Engineers Save Electricity

If the directions accompanying electric appliances have been mislaid they may be summed up as follows: Operate the appliance as instructed. Keep it clean and covered when not in use. Oil is required. Watch the cord that connects the appliance to the source of current and repair or replace it promptly if it becomes worn or frayed.

These are recommendations offered by Miss Helen Hayes, home management specialist at Michigan State College. In handling an appliance cord, she says, always grasp it by the plug and not by the cord itself. Rough handling is hard on the fine wires inside the cord and will eventually cause them to break. Then they may cut through the protective covering in which they are wrapped. The cord should not be twisted or bent. Bicycle tape may be used to wrap a cord where it has become worn.

For best service an electric washing machine should not be overloaded either with clothes or water. In starting the machine, first start the motor and then throw the machine into gear. In stopping, throw the machine out of gear before turning off the motor. Wringing rolls, of course, should have the tension released when left. The machine should be stored in a dry, clean place.

Best results with an electric iron come from keeping its sole or bottom surface clean, being careful not to scratch it. It is important that the iron be disconnected when not in use. Clean the dust bag of a vacuum cleaner regularly but never wash it because washing will remove the "filter" in the fabric which helps to make the bag dustproof. Bits of glass, pins or metal objects, if picked up with a vacuum cleaner, may clip the fan blades or make holes in the motor. Sparking of the motor is usually the result of worn brushes. These may be replaced.

The enameled parts of an electric range may be washed with soap and water or a mild abrasive, such as whiting when the range is cold. Metal parts may be polished with metal polish or whiting. Food spilled on cooking units is simply burned off and any particles left in the grooves brushed out with a soft brush.

Electric refrigerators require but little attention. The food compartment needs regular cleaning and whenever anything is spilled it should be wiped up immediately.

CHILDREN IN COURT

Judge Malcolm Hatfield The price of a half fare bus ticket proved the means of landing a thirteen-year-old girl in the juvenile court today.

Twenty-four hours before her apprehension by juvenile authorities for stealing from a ten cent store, this child had heard her mother tell a bus driver that she was eleven years of age. While the mother saved a small amount of money by misrepresenting her daughter's actual age, this proved to be the most expensive ticket she ever purchased for an example of dishonesty was set which the child was not slow in adopting.

The Telephone
Guards the Flock

DESTRUCTION was hovering over a pasture near Vassar, Michigan. There, during a heavy rain storm, two vicious dogs had gotten in among a flock of 40 sheep. The pasture could not be seen from the farmhouse; and the sheep, bleating in terror, raced around the field completely at the mercy of the pursuing dogs.
Suddenly help arrived. The farmer and his two sons, armed, came just in time to rescue their flock.
But they did not come by chance. A neighbor had noticed the sheep's danger—a neighbor who had a telephone. . . . Today the telephone is more than a convenience. Often it is a savior of property and life.

Tall Tales

As told to FRANK E. HAGAN and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

The Unfinished Story

CHARLES M. WALKER tells tall tales because of silent hours with feeding sheep in the Big Horn mountains of Wyoming.

"In 1925," Charlie tells, "downtown Chicago had numerous banks and many bank vice presidents."

"He lived fashionably on the north shore, commuting daily to the loop. One crisp morning he discovered the family cat dead at his back door."

"Two friends joined him at the river's edge, which meant that the parcel was cached in an empty safe deposit box at the bank."

"Homebound and the banker retrieved his deeded annual, planning quick internet on repossessing the river. Once again, however, friends accompanied him."

"Tribal Women Like Sashes. The women of the Hausa tribe in Africa confine a great deal of their love of finery to bright-hued sashes and much more clothing than many American women wear."

Michigan's Lower Peninsula. Michigan's lower peninsula covers 41,300 square miles, equal to the area of Ohio, Indiana, Virginia, Kentucky or Tennessee.

New Hampshire Bowlder Resembles Great Skull

Resembling the gigantic skull of some prehistoric monster, a great granite rock, the largest free bowlder in the state of New Hampshire, perches on the apex of the highest mountain in Windham.

On the ledge which supports the bowlder are distinct marks of the great ice sheet which ages ago in the glacial period overspread New England and of whose carrying force this bowlder is an exhibition.

And this one is upside down, as is proven by a basin in its underside as big as a bushel basket and into which you can thrust your head; your voice will sound as if you were speaking into a brass kettle.

Naming Hampton Roads

Hampton Roads, the channel through which the waters of the James, Nansemond and Elizabeth rivers pass into Chesapeake Bay, was named from the town of Hampton on the near-by shore of Virginia.

HOW TO MEET THE WORTHLESS HUSBAND PROBLEM

The woman who has children is the richest woman in the world. No matter what her other problems may be, if she is surrounded with sons and daughters she can work her way through to happiness.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS. THE worthless husband problem is always with us. It is very much at the moment with Kate Ringer, who writes me from a farm in the middle west.

Kate is thirty-five; she has four children. Boys of fourteen and eight, girls of ten and four. They have a place three miles from a small cross-roads town; the children come and go to school, movies, dentist and church in a Ford.

Judd has always been a weakling. He drinks; he rolls dice and plays poker when he can get hold of any money. He borrows. He makes Kate ashamed and his children ashamed. Not always, but often.

"Not with Juddy almost fifteen, and Judd like he is. He isn't ever violent when he gets drinking," she says. "But he's dreadful just the same, arguing along gently and wanting to interfere. He'll sometimes be in the car when the children come out of school, and you can imagine it isn't very pleasant for them."

"I've made it a matter of prayer," concludes this troubled wife, "and it seems that maybe I ought to divorce him. I don't know where he'd go or what he'd do, but it's all wrong to have him complicating the children's lives, when he doesn't contribute one cent to the household, or do anyone one bit of good."

Well, Kate, since you ask my advice you're going to get it. It's this. I wouldn't divorce him. I'd forget that I ever thought of divorcing him. I see in that idle, boozing, weak, disreputable father of theirs what is perhaps the most important element you can put into your children's lives. An element that makes for strength instead of weakness in them; for salt instead of too much sirupy sweet.

In every possible way I'd make their childhood delightful. Cousin parties, charades, theatricals, picnics, long walks, swimming afternoons, candy pulls, house-parties. I'd have a table out in the yard under a tree; I'd have Juddy build a little grill near it, and have many a summer meal out-of-doors.

But her children are a living delight that will live on in their children. Tiny and serious in the nursery over bottles and socks; eager around a Christmas tree; sprawling brown-legged on mountain tops or sandy beaches while the chocolate pot boils, growing up and bringing her their love affairs, how glorious they are!

For ourselves as well as our children it's a good thing to follow the advice of Browning's old prophet, and welcome each rebuff that turns earth's smoothness rough. The children who have conquered a hard and shameful and difficult situation at home are going out into the world some day ready to meet other dragons.

Lightning Rod Idea Has Proved Franklin's Theory

Ben Franklin worked out the lightning rod idea on Nov. 7, 1749. Up to perhaps about a half century ago the installation of lightning rods was as much a part of the standard equipment of buildings as the very shingles on the roof.

First of these was the lightning rod salesman, perhaps the first advocate of the idea of high pressure salesmanship. Gangs of them toured the country selling cheap and practically worthless sets of lightning rods which, in many cases, were more of a menace than a protection.

The second development was the growth of modern cities. Filling the streets with wires and houses with gas pipes, water pipes and electrical circuits and also crowding street after street, section after section of city and town with buildings—the very existence of modern construction practically did away with the menace of lightning, for wires and pipes are reasonably good lightning rods.

However, outside of congested areas, liberally networked by electric wires, the peril of lightning is as grave, and exposed buildings, such as isolated dwellings, even in large towns, and particularly farm buildings on hilltops and hillsides, are protected in some way.

Nature Fits Complexion to Land Where You Live

Your complexion which you inherited from your ancestors, who gradually developed the correct pigmentation to enable them to live healthily in the country to which they belong is due to a mixture of at least three separate pigments—black, red and yellow, observes a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Even among the so-called white peoples the amount of pigmentation varies considerably. There are all stages from very fair to dark. The two extremes—blonds with their light blue eyes, sandy-light, brown-red, or faxen hair, and fair complexion; and brunettes with dark eyes, dark brown or black hair, and dark complexion—are easily differentiated.

Between these, according to medical authorities, are innumerable intermediate types. The commonest of these have dark or black hair, with gray, hazel, or blue eyes, the combination of dark eyes and fair hair being rarer.

The full significance of the color in the human skin is difficult to explain, but it is in all probability a protection against sunlight—especially the active rays—and heat.

Fastest and Strongest Tides

One of the fastest and strongest tides in the world ebbs and flows off Mont St. Michel, in Brittany, among the chief natural curiosities and ancient monuments of France. Awe-inspiring, with a deep, moaning sound heard for miles, the unbelievable force and speed of the sea rushes back over the eight miles it has receded at ebb tide, and transforms within a few moments about 100 square miles of ocean bed from a desert of sand into a mighty ocean.

The Christian Mission Blue Laws. The Christian mission established at Schoenbrunn in 1772 laid down about twenty rigid rules of conduct and government. Here are a few of them: "No one that attendeth dances, sacrifices, or heathenish festivals, can live among us. A man shall have only one wife. Like-wise a woman shall have but one husband and be obedient unto him. We shall not permit any rum or spirituous liquors to be brought into our towns. No one is to go on a journey or hunt without informing the minister or stewards of it. Young people are not to marry without the consent of their parents, and taking their advice."

The Breeches Buoy

Suspended by pulley to a rope-shot from ship to shore, or vice versa, by means of a rocket—the breeches buoy, with its human cargo often is the only means of rescue when raging seas prevent the launching of lifeboats. Sometimes it is used far at sea between a sinking ship and a rescuing vessel hovering nearby. The breeches buoy is an ordinary lifebelt with leggings so that a seaman or passenger, even if exhausted, cannot lose his hold and fall to certain death in the boiling waters below.

The Clinical Thermometer

The capillary tube of clinical thermometers is partially obstructed near the bulb so that, although the mercury flows outward readily as the temperature rises, the column breaks at the obstruction when the temperature falls and it continues to register the temperature of the patient until the mercury is returned to the bulb by shaking the thermometer.

Egypt Land of Strife

Larger than Texas and Oklahoma combined, Egypt is a land of strife. Since Alexander the Great threw off the Persian yoke and substituted the Ptolemy dynasty, Egypt has been torn by rioting and rebellion. For, since that time, she has been ruled by seven different foreign countries.

'WAY BACK WHEN

CARL SANDBURG NEVER WOULD SETTLE DOWN

HOW many times have you heard what to do about that boy of mine; it looks like he never will settle down? Carl Sandburg was like that. A boy who skipped from job to job, and gave his simple Swedish immigrant parents many a worried hour! He was born in 1878 in Galesburg, Ill., of people who were uneducated and kindly, simple and poor.

He drove a milk wagon in Galesburg and he blacked boots in a barber shop. If you could have looked into the future and said that some day Carl Sandburg would be a great poet, they would have laughed you out of town! He became a scene shifter in a cheap theater, a truck handler in a brick yard, and then a turner's apprentice in a pottery shop.

Carl Sandburg was learning the painter's trade when the Spanish-American war broke out, and he enlisted. A comrade persuaded him to go to Lombard college and he worked his way through as a bell ringer, gym janitor and college correspondent for the Galesburg Daily Mail.

He entered politics, became a reporter, and in 1917, Carl Sandburg joined the staff of the Chicago Daily News, where his work has been outstanding. A rolling stone, a restless jack-of-all-trades has been Carl Sandburg, but from the time of his literary awakening in college, he has written steadily stories for children, a biography of Lincoln, and hundreds of poems about the mass of people.

So, if that boy of yours is restless, if he skips from place to place, be patient. Carl Sandburg gained fame by knowing many people, many jobs, many problems.

The Christian mission established at Schoenbrunn in 1772 laid down about twenty rigid rules of conduct and government. Here are a few of them: "No one that attendeth dances, sacrifices, or heathenish festivals, can live among us. A man shall have only one wife. Odd Marriage Rites Are Observed by Canadians

Ancient matrimonial customs prevailing in certain sections of some French Canadian provinces probably would amaze prospective brides in the United States. Much of the form and tradition harks back two and three centuries to the mother country, France, says a writer in the Philadelphia Inquirer.

In some outlying districts and villages a wedding assumes the character of a festival. One of the picturesque customs surviving among the "habitants," or rural residents, is that of the public wedding procession which passes through the streets to the church.

At the head of the procession is the groom, his two nearest of kin walking with him. Next come his friends and relatives who are married, marching in pairs, and then the single men of his entourage. Behind them comes the bride, escorted by a large assemblage of her own relatives and friends marching in the same order as those of the groom.

Another quaint custom is the wedding feast. The bride is seated at the head of the table, but the groom stands behind the chair and serves her throughout the dinner.

The Man Without a Country

The character of Philip Nolan, in Edward Everett Hale's story, "The Man Without a Country," is purely imaginary. Mr. Hale explained how he got the name, from that of a man mentioned in the memoirs of General James Wilkinson, but did not know that the first name of this Mr. Nolan was Philip until long afterwards. The historical Philip Nolan referred to by Wilkinson died in 1801, while the fictitious Philip Nolan invented by Hale appeared first in 1807.

Taste and Smell

Within the brain, taste and smell are essentially the same, notes a writer in Literary Digest. The nerve-centers of the olfactory bulb are similar to the taste-buds on the tongue. It is almost impossible to taste something differently than one smells something. Besides the conceptual identity of the senseless when they reach the brain, the nose and the mouth have a direct physical connection, so one can often literally taste what one smells and vice versa.

(Continued from page one) Schroeder proclaimed to be near perfect and which Rep. Joseph Murphy insisted was the executive's final choice, revised to appease the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. on the matter of mass picketing, registration of unions, and other points. The Michigan act also differs from the Pennsylvania act—and that is of interest in view of Governor Earle's prominence as a 1940 presidential possibility—in the power of subpoena invested with the labor board to make investigations of alleged unfair practices and to issue resist and desist orders, which when reviewed by the court, become enforceable. The power of subpoena may be used against either employees or employers to make mediation effective and to discourage racketeering and extortion. The Michigan act establishes the principle that peaceful picketing (which the United States supreme court ruled last May to be a legal right of the employee) should be limited to said employees. Mass picketing by non-employees would be outlawed. A federal statute now forbids transport of strike breakers in interstate commerce. If the governor again changes his mind, most observers believe it will be another "straw in the wind" looking forward to 1940. As every gardener well knows, insects are among the many little things that go to make life interesting. Books have been written about ants, bees, and spiders. But the first insect zoo in the United States was just opened this summer in Convention Hall, Detroit, as one of the unique attractions of that motor metropolis, No. 4 in America. Brayton Eddy, author and lecturer, is director of the exhibits which include clownish tumblebugs, Black Widow spiders, Coropin moths, walking sticks, dragon flies, rose beetles, horned grasshoppers, and even mosquito wrigglers.
