Lansing—Riding on a well advertised slogan, "Keys for Good Government," Dr. Eugene C. Keyes, a dark-horse candidate from Dearborn, provided a surprise feature of Michigan's primary election this month.He led a field of nine men for the Republican nomination of lieutenant governor.Virtually unknown among party leaders, Dr. Keyes is today the coveted, subject of attention by old-time politicians. Republican members of the State Senate are wondering "what"is next to Dr. Keyes and how they may fare in the next legislative appointment of committees. More thanone senator is planning a trip soon to Dearborn, perhaps to visit Ford'sGreenfield Village and then to "drop in" casually for a chat with the new state figure.

The Republican nominee has the distinction of being a three-in-oneprofessionally licensed physician, dentist and lawyer, all at the same time.His popular medical clinic at the automobile town in Wayne countyis followed by rival practitioners for its profitable operation. And yet Dr. Keyeshas never been a member of the state or county medical societies.Because of the apparent cost of Keyes' primary campaign, more thanone Lansing observer has wondered how it was being financed. From thefriends of the Dearborn physician-dentist-lawyer comes the assurancethat Dr. Keyes, a business success, has paid the bills himself. He madea vote appeal of the statement that he was independent of any group andhas not pledged to factional commitments.Among his opponents whose Lansing background include many yearswere the following: Felix H. H. Flynn, Cadillac, a state senator and presi-dent pro tem; Arthur Wood of Detroit, many-term state senator; EltonK. Eaton of Plymouth, a state representative, former sheriff of Kalamazoocounty and also executive secretary to Governor Groesbeck; James Thomson of Jackson, past chairman of the Republican State Central committee and former commissioner of agriculture under Governor Fitzgerald.True, Dr. Keyes was elected one year ago to the city council of Dearborn. But that is a long ways down the ladder from the office of lieutenant governor, glorified somewhat by the 1939 legislature which made it a $5,000-a-year job. The sudden deathof Governor Fitzgerald had demonstrated the possibilities which this office offered, automatically elevating Loren D. Dickinson into the governor's chair. Because Mr. Dickinson is 81years of age, it is inevitable that interest will center to a great degree on his running mate for lieutenant governor. This is not to allude that the governor isn't in the best ofhealth; in fact, his physician pronounces him to be sound physically for the office's responsibilities. It is merely recognizing the fact that lifeis more uncertain at 81 than it is at 42, the age of Dickinson's opponent,
Murray D. Van Wagoner.

A Primary Trait

If the nomination of lieutenant governor were to be made at a party convention, such as is the case for state treasurer, attorney general, secretary of state and auditor general,an independent candidate of the type of Dr. Keyes wouldn't have had the proverbial snowball's chance.

The organization custom is to recognize the loyal party worker whom the leaders feel can be trusted. Or perhaps the "powers that be" weigh the geographic, class and possibly religious factors at the ballot box andcut a deal which is henceforth relayed down to the rank and file. In the latter process the unknown may be given an opportunity, but it is usually for a reason known only to a select few.

But in the state primary the dark-horse is the equal of the favorite.At least, his chances of winning are as good as his rivals."Keys for good government," emblazoned on a myriad of newspaperadvertisements, billboards and direct mailing pieces, did what no partyconvention would have done for the Dearborn newcomer. The boys atLansing are still scratching their heads and wondering how it could have happened.

One answer is: It could take place
only in a primary election.

And so, if you aspire for state office, take comfort. If you deplore the breakdown of party organization and party responsibilities, read the news

and weep.

Van Wagoner

No one doubted for a minute that the Democratic primary would produce any other nominee for governor than Murray D. Van Wagoner.In party circles his nomination was conceded six months ago.In fact, the Van Wagoner band wagon was being rolled up since spring
thaws in anticipation of a fall race with Dickinson. G. Don Kennedy, hiscampaign manager, who resigned as deputy highway commissioner because of the Hatch act, indicated weeks ago
that the contest against Dickinson would be fought cleanly on issues arising from the Republican administration's record.

To those who have observed the efficient functioning of the highway department, as nearly every state legislator will readily concede, the Democratic state campaign is expected to follow the established Van Wagoner lines of intense organization.

Charles Porritt, Van Wagoner's

choice for state chairman, has a headquarters staff that even includes apublicity writer (something that the Republican staff does not have atpresent). Regardless of your party inclination, put it down in the booksthat the Democratic campaign will be waged vigorously. And that despitethe following observation made by the Associated Press bureau at Lansing:

"Political observers who scanned

the returns for a straw to show which way the wind may blow in Novemberfound little that as conclusive save that the outstate, traditionally Re-publican save for its bolt to Roosevelt and the New Deal again appeared to be safely within the G. O. P. fold."

Van Wagoner's aids would probably challenge this. They would merely recall that Michigan Republicans outvoted the Democrats two to one in the 1936 primary. After all, the chickens won't be hatched until November!

What's In a Name?

Another primary characteristic is seen in the Democratic nomination for

Frank Fitzgerald and Frank Murphy

for the office of United States senator and lieutenant governor, respectively.

Both men possess names famous in Michigan.

The Detroit Free Press comments:

"A young lawyer by the name of Frank Fitzgerald, who has never been prominent in politics, walks away with the Democratic nomination for United States senator because of the similarity of his cognomen with that of the late Governor. And a Frank Murphy easily wins the nomination for lieutenant governor."Recalling the fact that Franklin D.

Roosevelt was aided at the beginning of his career by the magic name of Roosevelt, observers note that history is repeating itself in the rise of the new Fitzgerald and Murphy. Each is 43 years of age.Will the magic of Fitzgerald and Murphy attract voters to the Democratic ticket in November? On the basis of the primary vote, such appears to be quite possible.In the coming weeks the personal popularity of Dickinson and Van Wag-oner, each one a powerful leader in his own party, will be put to a new test. We make no prediction other than this: The campaign will be colorful and interesting.

Highway Employees Affected by Hatch Act

State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner estimated this week that approximately 1,200 of the state highway department employees are affected by terms of the revised Hatch Act.

The commissioner said that his estimate was based on a study of department civil service records in the light of conversations and correspondence with Federal officials in the Public Roads Administration, U. S. Attorney-General's office, the U. S. Civil Service Commission and others. No specific ruling on individual highway employees has yet been made.

Application of the Act depends upon whether an employee's principal employment is in connection with an activity financed in whole or in part by Federal funds. The bulk of Michigan highway construction and planning activities are done under funding matching Federal Aid programs.

Out of a total of 12 divisions with a total personnel of 3,200, five divisions are directly affected and therefore barred from political activity. These are the road, bridge, testing, research, and highway planning division. Unaffected divisions are land and legal, public relations, finance, office management, state ferries, maintenance, and traffic safety.

In determining application of the act in individual cases, the department used position description forms filled out by employees when the original Michigan civil service act took effect in 1938.

Plans Closer Check On Petition Signatures

Legislation which will provide a closer check on signatures on political petitions will be sought by Harry F. Kelly, Secretary of State.

The present system, Mr. Kelly pointed out, is open to widespread fraud in nominating and referendum petitions. There have been large numbers of complaints from citizens who have denied signing petitions and many instances where petition circulators apparently copied names out of a city directory or telephone book.

"The law says that the Secretary of State shall handle petitions and that as a ministerial officer, he cannot go behind the face of the returns to determine if there was fraud," said Mr. Kelly. "I intend to ask the Attorney General for a comprehensive brief on the powers of the Legislature under the present constitution to tighten the present law."

Mr. Kelly also said that he intends to have a special and thorough study made of the records to discover just what petition frauds have occurred in the past and to learn what other states have experienced, and what they have done to remedy the matter. He said that by the time the Legislature meets early in January he hopes to be able to suggest remedial legislation which might become effective for the 1942 elections.

New Huron Oat Wins Top Prizes At Fair

Proof in the eyes of judges and thousands of visitors at the Michigan State Fair was given the new Huron oat recently at Detroit on the basis of both yields and quality.

Top honors in oats were won by C. D. Finkbeiner of Clinton on a sample of Huron oats in what A. A. Johnson, superintendent, and H. R. Pettigrove, judge, called the finest class of oats ever exhibited at the State Fair.

The winning sample weighed 47½ pounds to the bushel, far above the standard weight for oats which is 32 pounds. Show samples in Michigan seldom exceed 42 pounds. This is the first year the Huron oat has been in commercial production, as it is the latest offspring of the plant breeding work at Michigan State College.

The same variety won four of the five top placings in the open class for quality. In yield the variety's record again surprised judges and visitors. In the Ira H. Butterfield special class, with awards based on market grade and attested acre yield for at least five acre fields, the Huron oats shown by Robert Reich of Caro placed first with a yield of 116.3 bushels an acre.

In this class there were 46 entries. Huron oats took eight of the first 10 awards with yields from 98.7 to the top. The average for the first 10 entries was 104.7 bushels an acre.

The Huron oat resulted from breeding work carried on cooperatively by the farm crops department of Michigan State College and the division of cereal crops and diseases of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and was made available to Michigan farmers in quantity for planting in the spring of 1940. High test weight and immunity from smut with somewhat earlier maturity than other Michigan varieties are characteristics.

This and That

By Gerald K. Miller

The looting of occupied countries by the Nazis goes on at a rapid pace, but not in the manner of looting in years gone past. Previous to this time the men of the armies of occupation would seize anything they wanted for themselves, their wives and their sweethearts back home. Also, a systematic looting by the government would confiscate everything they thought they wanted. Now it is done in a much more pleasing way, but just as effective and just as efficient as in the past.

In France, for instance, the rate of exchange has been fixed by decree to give the German soldiers more French money in exchange for German money than it is actually worth. Following the German soldiers around in their leisure we find he minds his own business and pays for everything he receives, he seems not a bad fellow. He usually buys items to send home that there is a shortage of in Germany, buys a few things for himself, and spends some for food and drink. But every time he spends a franc he is really getting in value 1½ francs. Thus every time he spends money he is making France that much poorer.

The German government deposits German bonds in French banks and for them receive francs in exchange. Then they proceed to commandeer anything they want but pay for it. However, the bonds are worthless for practical purposes. They are supposed to be used to pay Germans for French purchases in Germany. Germany has nothing to sell that France wants or needs so the useless bonds remain in French banks and the French are losers again.

In much the same way the other occupied countries are deprived of their wealth. In Denmark, German credits are forced on the banks in exchange for Danish kroner. Germans buy meat, poultry and everything they want, but the Danish are unable to buy their needs from Germany and the credits lie in banks as useless mementoes of the German occupation. As a result, these countries are short of food, clothing, fuel and raw materials for their factories. In short, practically all of the necessities of life and of making a living.

There will be severe suffering in most of these countries this winter. Unless Hitler can defeat England this fall he may have a revolution in these countries this winter. Men are not going to stand idly by while their wives and children are slowly dying from exposure and starvation. Even against terrific odds their anger at their terrible wrongs will compel them to try to overthrow the Nazi aggressors.

For this reason England must hold off the intended invasion. If they can fight Germany off this fall, they could be in a position next spring to carry the fight to Germany, making them the defending nation. The chances are then that Germany will have more than they will be able to cope with. Uprisings all through their occupied territories, lack of supplies and food, and internal discontent with the way Hitler's war is progressing will tend to put England in the advantageous position. If they hold out now.

Silhouette for 1941

Buick SPECIAL 6 passenger 4-door Sedan, $1052 delivered at Flint, Mich. Wheel shields and white sidewall tires, extra.*

As surely as the new Buick FIREBALL* straight-eight engine sets the performance pace for the coming season, the graceful silhouette of the new Buick SPECIAL and CENTURY cuts the automotive style pattern for another half decade.

The reason is not alone the grace of its Buick-created lines, nor the appearance of solid substance in action that gives this honey the look of a speedster straining at its leash.

It is the practical quality of great room enclosed in sleek and flowing lines—more room for legs, for elbows, for heads, more room for entrance and more room for carrying luggage—that makes this the silhouette the cars of the future will seek to achieve.

Why wait for that—when in this Buick you travel in a car that, like time and tide, obviously isn't waiting for any man?

*According to the Encyclopædia Britannica, a super motor which travels with a series of explosions like the shock waves of a great projectile is called a "FIREBALL."

Editorial

This week's game being the first football game of the season a large crowd is expected to turn out Friday, and undoubtedly among them will be found a number of "roughnecks" and I don't mean on the gridiron! First, perhaps, I'd better describe a typical "roughneck". He is one who goes about criticizing every play, one who shouts into innocent bystanders' ears, one who tears around the field throwing candy wrappers here and there (and if he lives up to the rules it will be candy he didn't buy at the Senior stand!) His most outstanding and abominable trait will be his lack of consideration for others, and this he shows by crowding in front of the stands, and by callously crossing the lines.

The above traits aren't hard to acquire, but they are hard to break. Can you break yours?

Chorus News

The high school chorus started out grand this year by having an enrollment of 58. We have not been doing much singing because the chorus period has been taken up by having individual voice testings.

High School Activities

Chelsea public school is sponsoring a lecture course which opens on September 25, 1940, at 8:00 with a lecture by Captain Frank Criley entitled "Deep Sea Diving".

The program for the year is: Sept. 25, 12:45—Capt. Criley, Nov. 13, 12:45—Mr. Briggs, the artist.

Jan. 7, 8:30—Bentley Trio, music; Feb. 10, 8:00 p. m.—Sam Grathwell, G-Man.

March 6, 8:00 p. m.—Capt. Corley McDermont, National Air Show.

All-High Party

The Student Council has planned an all-school party for Friday evening, September 20.

Senior News

This year's senior class is already planning for the future year. As yet we have not elected officers but we will do that this week.

We have already started to make money for a trip in the spring. Probably many seniors have been at your door to sell magazines. Don't refuse them—help them!

Junior News

The Junior class under the sponsorship of Miss Laffer, opened its 1940-41 year with a business meeting and elected the following officers:

President—Jeanne Meseriva. Vice-Pres.—Marlan Eisele. Secretary—Chrisoula Samelis.

Treasurer—Roderick McDonald. They also elected Ruth Collins as their representative to the Student Council.

They also discussed their class rings, which they expect to arrive sometime this month. They ordered them last May.

The Sophomore Class

The Sophomore class had their first class meeting last Thursday and started off by electing the following officers for the coming year:

President—Bob Strieter. Vice-Pres.—Dick Kern. Secretary—Wilma Schweinfurth. Treasurer—Luther Kustner.

As yet the only activity scheduled for the next few weeks is the Freshman-Sophomore Initiation party, of which we are all looking forward to and we sincerely hope it goes off as a big success.

Journalism Club

Nineteen old and new members of the Journalism Club reported at the first meeting which was held at 12:45 on Thursday. Ruth Yettah, who was elected editor at the close of last year, presided at the meeting. Assignments for this week's paper were given and some plans for the future were discussed.

Gaddin' 'Round With Gadd

Another football season is about to begin for Chelsea high school and the outlook appears promising. We will miss last year's seniors but Coach "Charlie" Cameron will have a veteran team throughout.

A lighter team than customary is in prospect and speed will necessarily have to account for the loss in the weight of former years. Consequently, any successes this year will probably come entirely from this speed. The spirit of the team is high; this will do much toward getting the boys off to a good start. There are several prospects who might make the Chelsea squad an outstanding one.

However, let me remind you, the citizens of Chelsea, that the support you give them at the home games will go with the team when they are away and so do much toward keeping them in the top scores.

Three weeks of stiff practice and drill with new plays has whipped the team into shape for the game with Flat Rock tomorrow, Friday, Sept. 20. The opposing team tomorrow promises to give the local lads a tough time throughout all four quarters.

At this game the boys will make their bow in the new navy blue and gold suits. You should make every effort to be there.

Remember, we'll be looking for you tomorrow at the athletic field.

Views of some team members and others:

Bob Strieter—"We'll do the best we can." Dick Kern—"We have a good chance and I know we'll all do our best to win." Bob Perkins—"I think we have an even chance to win."

Ormal Schiller—"I think we stand better chances than last year because most of the fellows are veterans." Ted Combs—"The team will do their part if the people of Chelsea will do theirs."

George Knickerbocker—"Things look pretty bright this season for Chelsea, but we can't do it all. Give us your support by being at every game and cheer us along with a good yell every now and then." Coach "Charlie" Cameron—"The boys have been working hard and are in good condition. Flat Rock game will be a real test for our fellows."

Captain Andy Policht—"I think we have a swell ball team this year and I know that we will really be some competition to the other ball teams."

Mr. Downing—"Prospects and ambitions look pretty good for the team."

Mr. Johnson—"I haven't had much time to watch the boys this year but from all reports we should have a good team on the field."

Elementary News

Sixth Grade

We have four new boys in our grade. We now have twenty-four boys and nine girls in our class, which makes 33 pupils altogether.

Thursday afternoon we started our class club. The name of the club is "Sports Club". The officers are:

President—George Palmer. Vice-President—Loren Munro. Secretary—Mickey Garbison. We haven't chosen a treasurer as yet.

By Marceline Hinderer and Clara Miller.

Seventh Grade

We have 29 pupils in our grade. Three of us are new to this school. Their names are Thomas Smith, Shanty Zzapla, Jean Eisenbeiser.

We are fixing our bulletin board by putting on it pictures of places that we visited this summer. Joan Shutes was the first one to put pictures on the bulletin board. She put pictures of Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario.

Each pupil is now finding pictures and facts about a different U. S. possession.

Bruising of Potatoes Should Be Avoided

Every potato grower who bruises a potato, puts a dent in his own pocket-book.

Whether potatoes are being dug and stored for home use or for sale, the careful handling of the crop is worth while, concludes A. J. Bell of the agricultural engineering extension service of Michigan State College.

Five principal causes of mechanical injury can all be reduced or even eliminated, tests conducted all over the state have shown.

With a machine, four of these causes include: Digger running too shallow, elevators running too fast, drop from elevator to rear attachment, not enough dirt carried on elevator. One test in Marquette county reduced bruising 50 per cent when shakers were padded with inner tubing.

Crates for field handling sometimes are unsatisfactory. Sharp corners and throwing are two causes of injury. Then when the crop is dumped eight or 10 feet through a hole in a building onto a concrete floor there is bound to be injury and poor storage.

Even a hand digging operation is a source of trouble. City housewives, it is pointed out by Bell, shy away from buying potatoes that have been speared by a fork in the field.

Grading is another step where care pays more per bushel. Some growers in Michigan have discovered it pays to grade as the crop comes out of storage rather than when it goes in. The skins have had a chance to toughen before they are run over the grader. Damage can result if a grader is operated at too high a speed or constructed with sharp corners.

GRASS LAKE—At the end of the three days of school last week enrollment reached 280 students with 124 in the high school which places Grass Lake just under the Class C limit in county athletic activities. Due to the small number of 11 seventh graders they are placed with the eighth graders, thus eliminating one teacher. There are 12 in the kindergarten, in the 1st and 2nd grades, 22 and 14; 3rd and 4th, 22 and 15; 5th and 6th, 19 and 17; 8th, 24.—News.

PINKNEY—The Wilding Pictures Co. Inc. who made two pictures here last summer will make another one here next Saturday, September 14. This picture will be a picnic scene and will be made at the White Lodge Country Club. A cast of 200 adults is wanted and 100 children. This cast will be furnished by the Congregational and St. Mary's churches and the school. The company will pay $1.00 per person. All those who wish to take part will be provided with the means to get to White Lodge.—Dispatch.

TECUMSEH—The parking of motor cars on Chicago boulevard (M-50-52) in Tecumseh's downtown district at a 30-degree angle instead of parallel, as required by the state law, began here on Wednesday. The parallel parking of cars, as ordered by the state, brought many objections to the village council and merchants, many motorists declaring that it was impossible for them to park their cars in the allotted spaces. Merchants also declared that the enforcement of the state law resulted in a loss of business because motorists refused to stop where they could not park. It was indicated at Lansing that a friendly suit might be brought against some town or city in Michigan that failed to comply with the 1939 legislative act, in an effort to test its validity. Whether or not Tecumseh will be named in the suit, or some other city, is not yet known. Nevertheless, Tecumseh motorists are parking their cars "at an angle" and are doing no worrying.—Herald.

Soc. Security Benefits Go To Insured Workers

Workers who qualify for monthly payments under the Social Security Act must be fully insured individuals in order to obtain these benefits. This statement is made by William J. Rhynsbarger, manager of the Jackson field office of the Social Security Administration.

"Many persons who have called at our office seeking monthly payments which are now being made to insured workers who reach age 65 and retire from employment covered by the Social Security Act do not understand the requirements for obtaining these benefits," Mr. Rhynsbarger said.

"It is necessary to meet several requirements in order to obtain the monthly checks. A worker must have served in employment covered by the Social Security Act, he must have reached age 65 and he must retire from jobs of this nature. In addition, he must be a fully insured individual."

"To be fully insured a worker must show that he has earned $50 or more in one-half of the calendar quarters which have elapsed since the Social Security Act went into effect in January, 1937, or since the worker reached age 21, whichever is later.

"Once a wage earner can show forty quarters of such earnings he is insured throughout his lifetime.

"There also are currently insured workers whose status applies only in case of death. A currently insured wage earner is one who earned at least $50 in six or more calendar quarters, in covered employment, in the 12 calendar quarters immediately before his death.

"Where the deceased worker was only currently insured, payments are made to his widow if she has unmarried children under 18 years of age in her care. If no widow survives, payments are made to the legal guardian or the guardian in fact of such unmarried minor children. However, children between the age of 16 and 18 must regularly attend school to be eligible to receive monthly payments.

"If no one who would be entitled to receive monthly payments survives the deceased wage earner, then under certain circumstances lump sum payments may be made," Mr. Rhynsbarger said.

Children In Court

By Judge Malcolm Hatfield

Children Frequently Desert Organized Recreation

It has been observed that many delinquent boys who appear in court have deserted the supervision of the playgrounds and continue to find their amusements in the streets. Such youngsters might be restrained under the supervision of a unified recreational program if it were possible to utilize vacant lots and the school buildings in their own immediate neighborhood.

While it is only natural that teachers should want to get away from the school building after school hours, they should not virtually knock the students down in an effort to beat them to the door when school is dismissed. Since many teachers are existing on genteel starvation wages, it would be a wise policy for school boards to increase such teachers' salaries when they volunteer to supervise children during after-school hours. Teachers assigned to supervise recreational projects within the school building would undoubtedly exert a great influence in attracting children to such playgrounds.

A Community Problem
Five boys from one family had been in court within a period of one year. Their ages ranged from five to fourteen years; their offenses ran all the way from stealing milk bottles to automobile robbery. These boys lived with two sisters and their mother in a two room shack on the edge of town. Their father was dead and their widowed mother was employed at a semi-starvation wage as a dishwasher in a hotel, where her work kept her from early morning until ten or eleven o'clock at night. Since the boys were left to shift for themselves, it was small wonder that they got into trouble.

A day nursery would have cared for the smaller boys; supervised recreation would have occupied the older ones when they were not in school. The average small community, however, provides neither the one nor the other. Neglected children are a problem to the community in which they live. A little money spent for their care would pay dividends in the long run.

Protein in Human Body

Holds 'Secret of Life'

"If there were any one 'secret of life,' protein might be considered to be at the heart of it, since protein is the essential stuff of which all living tissue is made," says the current Yearbook of Agriculture. No simple substance could perform such varied functions, and science finds that there are really many different kinds of proteins. These proteins are made up of simpler substances, called the amino acids. It is these amino acids that are actually used to build up the body. So far, 22 amino acids have been found to make up protein.

When the cells take the amino acids—that are formed when proteins are digested—they unite them into new proteins for definite uses in the body. Probably the chief function of the proteins, says the Yearbook article, is to build tissue. This is why there is a special demand for protein during childhood when the body is growing. But both adults and children also need protein to repair old tissue as it wears out.

Proteins probably are important, also, in forming hormones and enzymes—substances that regulate many inside activities of the body. Proteins can also serve as a source of fuel to keep the body warm and to supply energy for work and play, but they are a relatively expensive source of energy when compared with sugars, starches, and fats.

Many communities have been sending their police officers to universities to improve their knowledge of the handling of traffic. This innovation at first met with plenty of sarcasm, and such headlines as "Traffic Cop Goes to College" made many readers smile. However, many cities now have their officers receive special training, and the schools at Northwestern University, Harvard, and Yale have been very helpful in the accident prevention problem by teaching these men just what to do and how to do it.

Cities with qualified traffic engineering and enforcement service enjoy consistent improvement in traffic conditions and a decrease in traffic accidents.

Sending your officers to a training school is a good investment. Has your community undertaken some thing of this kind?

Shoe Polishing Simplified

By Newly Patented Gadget

An invention that may take its place along with the can opener, the button hook, the zipper and many other little devices that have made man's life easier has been patented by Drew Morris, a university student.

The gadget solves the problem which most people encounter when they try to polish white shoes—keeping the liquid from getting on the hands and keeping the white polish off the brown or black edge of the sole and heel.

The device is simple, one of those things which seem obvious. There are two parts, one sponge and one metal. The metal serves as a handle for the sponge, thus eliminating one problem, and there is a strip of metal on the bottom side of the sponge to prevent the polish from getting on the sole or heel. The cellulose sponge has sharp corners, so that it can be easily manipulated along black-white boundary lines.

Morris got his idea about four years ago when he was a junior in high school. His grandfather was an inventor, specializing in such things as flysprays, garbage cans and other sheet metal wares.
