Rivals From South To Play Chelsea Friday

By Dwight Gadd
Chelsea's "Bulldogs" will meet their traditional rivals, "The Flying Dutchmen," of Manchester on Friday, Nov. 15 at Chelsea's athletic field in what should prove to be a great post-season football game. Last year Chelsea suffered its first defeat in the traditional games in thirteen years.

This is the sixteenth meeting of the two teams and the record to date is: Chelsea, 10 wins, 4 losses and 1 tie; Manchester, 4 wins, 10 losses, and 1 tie.

The two teams look forward to this game every year and this year is no exception. Both coaches, Cameron of Chelsea and Romani of Manchester have their teams primed for action.

Two years ago each team, undefeated in its respective league, met at Chelsea and the latter retained its undefeated record for the season when the final gun sounded, by the tally of 17-0.

Two years ago Chelsea boasted the largest crowd ever to attend one of their games and a similar attendance is anticipated this year.

Kick-off is scheduled for 3 o'clock, with the business men backing "the team" by closing their places of business for two hours.

Severe Wind Storm Sweeps Through State

Chelsea and vicinity experienced one of the worst wind storms in years on Monday. Preceded by a heavy rain storm on Sunday night and Monday morning, the wind rose on Monday morning and by noon had reached gale proportions. It is reported that wind in the various parts of the state reached a velocity of 36 to 60 miles an hour.

Many telephone poles and some trees were blown down. Electric wires were broken, windows blown in and signs blown off. The local electricians and telephone men were kept busy throughout the night and are still busy making repairs.

The wind finally spent its fury late Tuesday afternoon and evening. Many lives were lost throughout the state and on the great lakes.

Motorists had great difficulty keeping their cars on the road. On Monday afternoon the temperature was in the 60s and on Tuesday morning the thermometers had skidded down to the 20s.

ADOPT TWO ORDINANCES

On another page of this issue will be found two ordinances which were adopted at a special meeting of the village council last Thursday night. One ordinance pertains to regulations governing the collection of garbage in the village; the second deals with the creation, management and control of municipal parking lots in the village. Everyone should read these ordinances in their entirety, in order to become acquainted with the provisions contained therein.

St. Paul's Young People's League will give their annual play Friday, Nov. 22 at high school gym. Don't miss it. The name "Damsels in Distress."

1940 POPULATION FIGURES FOR CHELSEA NOT YET AVAILABLE

A number of inquiries have been received by The Standard in regard to the 1940 population figures for Chelsea. On May 28 an effort was made to get the figures from the Bureau of the Census at Washington, and The Standard was informed that the information would be available in November. Another effort was made last week to get the population figures but we were informed that they are not yet available. However, we have the promise that the information will be forwarded to us as soon as the compilation of the census figures is completed.

DETROIT WOMAN KILLED IN CRASH ON US-12

In a three-car collision Sunday night on US-12, just east of the Jackson-Washtenaw county line, a Detroit woman was killed and eight other persons were injured, two seriously.

Mrs. Eva Talcott, 60, of Jay Rd., Detroit, died in an ambulance en route to Foote hospital, Jackson; her daughter, Mrs. Vivian Connelly, 25, and a granddaughter, Judith Dunham, 9, were reported in a serious condition at Foote hospital with possible skull fractures. Lynn Connelly, 7, son of Mrs. Connelly, suffered a fractured leg; Harold Dunham, 32, head and wrist injuries; and his wife, Iris, a daughter of Mrs. Talcott, a possible thigh fracture and lacerations.

Ralph Lukomski, 22, Brooklyn, suffered lacerations; Barbara Loring, 19, head injuries; and Kathleen Perry, 18, of Jackson, cuts and bruises. Mrs. Talcott, the Connellys and Dunhams were riding in a car being driven east to Detroit by Dunham, while Miss Loring and Miss Perry were passengers in Lukomski's car, traveling west toward Jackson. The third driver, Guy Johnson, escaped injury.

According to state police, Dunham attempted to pass an eastbound car at the same time Lukomski turned out to go around a westbound automobile and the two cars collided in the middle lane. Johnson, who was driving directly behind Dunham, plowed into the crash before he could halt. The injured were taken to Foote hospital, Jackson.

Fiftieth Anniversary Is Observed By Ladies' Aid

The fiftieth anniversary celebration of the former Ladies' Aid Society of Salem Grove church was held at the church on Friday, November 8. Dinner was served at 1 o'clock to about sixty. Mrs. Theodore Riemenschneider and Mrs. Oscar Kalmbach acted as menu committee for the dinner. The kitchen committee, who so very ably did their part were Mrs. Albert Schweinfurth, Mrs. Max Hoppe, Mrs. Chester Notten and Miss Mabelle Notten.

Tables were beautifully decorated. Yellow candles, arranged in groups of three, made a pretty lighting effect. The programs, which helped to decorate, were all of the little ladies of the 30s in yellow, tied with lavender ribbon. Yellow and white mint cups and yellow-crope paper ribbons also added to the decorations. The committee in charge of this was Mrs. Clifford Wolfe, Mrs. Doris Whitaker and Mrs. Walter Bohne.

Mrs. Truman Lehmann and Mrs. George Heydlauff served on the committee for the following program:

Song—Assembly.
Prayer—Rev. Henry Lenz.
Remarks—Mrs. Millitzer of Toledo, Ohio.

Remarks by former presidents

Mrs. Mary Kalmbach of Chelsea, Miss Rieka Kalmbach, Mrs. P. H. Riemenschneider, Mrs. Geo. Heydlauff, Mrs. Oscar Kalmbach, Mrs. Wm. Broesamle.

Remarks by president of W. S. C. S., Mrs. Glenn Rentschler.

History of the L. A. S.—Mrs. P. H. Riemenschneider.

Address—Mrs. Carrie Schweinfurth of Jackson.

Remarks—Rev. Wuerfel of Ann Arbor.

Remarks—Rev. Henry Lenz.

Closing song.

Mrs. Millitzer of Toledo, Ohio, a former pastor's wife of the Salem Grove church, organized the Ladies' Aid Society in November, 1890, with eighteen charter members. Mrs. Millitzer, Mrs. P. H. Riemenschneider, Miss Rieka Kalmbach and Mrs. Mary Kalmbach were four of those charter members. Mrs. Millitzer, who is 82 years of age, came from Toledo for the event and took part in the program. Mrs. Carrie Schweinfurth, who will soon celebrate her 82nd birthday, gave the address. She was the daughter of John Snyder, a pastor who served at the Salem Grove church before the Ladies' Aid Society was organized.

Rev. Wuerfel of Ann Arbor, a former pastor of the church, in his remarks recalled several incidents which caused much laughter in the group.

The celebration was a success in every way and those in charge expressed their appreciation to all who helped to make it so.

Methodists Will Hold Annual Fair Tonight

Chicken supper will be served in the dining room, starting at 5:30, until all are served.

During the supper hour and continuously during the evening, Walter Harper and Rev. F. D. Mumby will show traveling moving pictures in the auditorium of the church.

Churches To Unite for Thanksgiving Service

The annual Union-Thanksgiving Service will be held this year at the Methodist church and Dr. Leroy L. Lord will be the preacher. The service will take place on Wednesday evening, November 20, at 7:30. The entertaining church will furnish the special music.

This is a cooperative service among the Protestant churches of the village. It is always well attended, but this year, being Dr. Lord's first appearance at such a community service, it is hoped that the attendance will be even larger than usual.

SPECIAL HOLIDAY PHONE RATES
Reduced night and Sunday long distance telephone rates will be in effect all day Thursday, November 21, Michigan's Thanksgiving Day, on calls to all points in this and the other 47 states, according to J. P. Johnson, manager for the Michigan Bell Telephone Company. They also will apply on calls to vessels on the Great Lakes that are equipped with radio-telephones, but not to vessels on the high seas.

The same reduced rates will be effective November 22 on calls from Michigan to points in states celebrating Thanksgiving on that day, but not to points in this state, he said.

Here are a few tips to follow before you leave on a trip:

1. Before you start out, check tires, brakes, lights, mirror, horn, and windshield wiper.
  2. If there is a defect in any of these parts, have it repaired immediately at your garage. Don't drive with makeshift repairs.
  3. Keep to the right—stay in your lane.
  4. Never pass another vehicle on a curve, near the crest of a hill, or at a road intersection.
  5. At night and in foggy or stormy weather, which we are likely to encounter at this time of the year, reduce your speed and increase your caution.
  6. If you must stop on the highway or if you are forced to park, do so off the highway proper.
- These are simple rules, and common sense tells us that their application will help us not only on trips, but in our daily driving as well.

New Library Books for National Book Week

The new books listed below will be on display in the library during this week—Book Week. They may be taken out for circulation Monday, November 18.

Adult
"The Family"—Nina Fedorova.
This is the Atlantic $10,000 Prize Novel for 1940. The story is of a family of refugee White Russians in China during the Japanese invasion of 1937. They keep a boarding house in the less-fashionable British quarters of Tientsin. The strange collection of boarders add color, gaiety and tragedy to the novel.
"From Many Lands"—Louis Adamic.

This book is the outgrowth of the author's deep interest in the developments which issue from the lives of the 30,000,000 immigrants of over 60 different nations who have come to the United States in the last hundred years. The book is made up of actual histories of immigrants and immigrant families familiar to the author.
"Invitation To Live"—Lloyd C. Douglas.

The inspiring central character, Dean Harcourt, of the author's previous book, "Green Light," again directs the lives of the characters of this new novel. Barbara Breckenridge is the outstanding figure guided by the Dean's principles. The theme of the Greek myth Pygmalion seems constantly to be in the mind of the Dean.

"A Starry Night"—B. M. Bower.
Jordan and O'Brien prospected for gold in Nevada. "Brims" wrote short stories to get money for "dynamite and beans" while Jordan wrote letters to "Lonely Hearts." One day a girl, not a "Lonely Heart" arrived. The difficulties that followed and the love story involved makes this an interesting western novel.

"Victory"—Joseph Conrad.
This is a story of a mysterious disillusioned Swede, Axel Heyst, who lived on a deserted South Sea Island. The rescue of a woman out of the hands of a fiendish character results in a plot of revenge.

"As I Remember Him"—The Biography of R. S. Hanz Zinsner.
This in reality is an autobiography. Medicine has taken R. S. to the far corners of the earth, wherever there were war and infection. Also he has passed his instruction to many students in Universities all over the world. This is a superb biography full of life.

Juvenile Books

"Wings Over West Point"—R. G. Emory.
The author, a West Point graduate and an army captain has written a vivid story that should appeal to everybody who dreams of flying or cherishes the desire to one day attend the U. S. Military Academy.

"The Lost Locket"—Ethel Parton.
This is a gossipy eventful story of the Newbury port of 1830 spiced with the author's dry New England humor. The instance of the lost locket is based on a true sensational trial of that day. This book is one of a series, all with the same local setting, Newburyport, and with some of the same characters.
"The Last of the Zuider Zee"—S. Franke.

This is a modern "Hans Brinker" written by a Hollander for Dutch readers, absolutely real in its pictures of everyday Dutch life.

"Along The Shores"—A Group of Friends.
A series of short stories and sketches of men and women whose history making lives have been laid "Along the Shores" (New England Coast). The stories are easy reading so will be of interest to children as well as grownups.

"Kit Cottage"—Blanche More.
From the Villa Keturah to Kit Cottage was certainly a change for the poor little rich girl. When Kit leaves her finely-regulated and tutored life for some very practical living at the little cottage with her beloved nurse, Norah, she learns of worthwhile and finally persuades her Uncle Hugh of the same.

"Timmy Rides the China Clipper"—Carol Nay.
With young Timmy as the main character the author describes the thrills of a pleasure trip on one of the world's largest airliners. The book has many fine pictures in color and in black and white.

Children's Books

"The Tin Tin Car"—Zillah MacDonald.
This is a fine story for children from 6 to 9 years. It tells of the many and varied experiences of the Tin Tin Car, especially with the Dogood family.
"Bimbo And His Jacket"—Kay Hunter.

For beginners—Bimbo, a monkey, lived with a circus. Mr. Strong-Man stole Bimbo's pretty jacket. Bimbo went to all the circus animals for help. The beautiful little dancer finally got his jacket for him.
"Abby In the Gobi"—Choate and Curtis.

A story of exploration and adventure of animals of long long ago, particularly of Abby, the last of the dinosaurs.
"Tiny Friend"—C. R. Action.

A true story of a little dog who was frightened and nervous when she was young. Then things happened to make her a real happy trusting dog.
"A Little Boy Was Drawing"—Roger D'Wolstein.
All the pictures the little boy drew came to life. He was crowned King of Wonderland. His experiences and escape make an exciting colorful story.

X. Y. Z.—Peter Gay.
An alphabet book of people.
"Peter And His Pals"—Lillian Cheesman.
Peter has many interesting and exciting experiences with his pal Charlie.

The matter of bringing new members into all Scout Troops is a part of the nation-wide emphasis of helping to strengthen democracy through serving America.
Local leaders are on the lookout for boys of 12 years of age and over who are not already enrolled as Scouts. Any interested should get in touch with local Scout leaders.

Farmers Have Good Diets

Fingers Came First
Forks were used as weapons in ancient times, and were not introduced into England from Italy for table use until early in the Seventeenth century.

Lungfish From Africa
By being placed in a can of dried mud, a lungfish was recently brought from Africa to Chicago, a distance of 10,000 miles, and it lived.

Cleaning Varnished Woodwork
To clean varnished and shellacked furniture and woodwork, these ingredients will aid the housewife: One quart boiling water, three table-spoons linseed oil, and one table-spoon turpentine. ## How Deep Is Depth?

Depths of oceans vary. Each ocean has extra deep portions called "deeps," which doesn't necessarily have any connection with average depths. The Pacific ocean has the deepest depths, then the Atlantic, the Indian ocean and then the Caribbean sea. The Pacific is also deepest in average depth, followed by the Indian ocean, the Atlantic, the Caribbean sea and the Gulf of Mexico.

Our Neighbors

PINCKNEY—Bert Van Blaricum, Jr. shot probably one of the largest pheasants ever seen in this section last Saturday. It weighed four and one-half pounds, and measured 38 inches from tip to tip. He shot it on the Ben White farm in Unadilla. It will be mounted. —Dispatcher.

TECUMSEH—Last February, Mrs. Joseph Russell, then Miss Emma Lowe, lost a purse in Tecumseh and advertised the same in The Herald.

The purse has just been returned, all articles intact; the same amount of money, although in different denominations. The purse was placed in a tobacco box wrapped and addressed to Miss Lowe at 115 South Union street, and left between the door and screen door at the home of her sister, Mrs. Louis Schneider at the above address. Although delayed a bit, Mrs. Russell wishes to thank the finder. —Herald.

HOWELL—Believed to have toppled over a cliff on the Lake Superior shore, the body of a bull moose weighing more than 1,000 pounds was washed onto the Miner's river beach near Munising recently. No identification tag was affixed to an ear and conservation officers are speculating whether the animal was born to parents brought from Isle Royale several years ago or if it had crossed the ice from Canada in some previous winter. —County Press.

MILAN—The Milan plant of the Ideal Furnace Company is a tangled mass of twisted steel beams, charred wood and rafters, broken castings and ruined machinery as the result of a fire that broke out at ten minutes before two Wednesday morning.

Most before the alarm could be sounded and the fire department responded to the frantic alarm of the sirens, the building was a mass of flames. The high wind that swept from the west turned a peaceful, darkened factory into a mass of flames that could be seen for miles and called the crowd of late tourists from every section. —Leader.

Hunters' Attention Is Diverted to Small Game

Lansing—Ending Tuesday of the lower Michigan season on pheasants, ruffed grouse, sharp-tailed grouse, prairie chickens, fox and grey squirrels leaves many hunters still in the fields and woods, with cottontails, snowshoes and raccoons getting hunters' attention now.

Coon chasers have five more weeks of the melodic midnight sport ahead of them. The ringtail leads hunters many a long, hard chase that sometimes ends with the raccoon secure in his den, where, according to the law, he may not be disturbed, nor dislodged.

With the end of the bird season, cottontails are getting more attention. Cottontail hunting during bird season has been spotty, good particularly in southwestern counties. Farther north hunters have been waiting for snowshoe hares to change to white winter coat. Snowshoe hares and cottontails may be hunted in southern lower Michigan until December 31, in northern lower Michigan until January 31 and in the upper peninsula until March 1.

Fall trapping began November 1 when the season opened on skunk and badger in all of the state, and on muskrat and mink in the upper peninsula. Raccoon trapping begins Nov. 15 in northern lower Michigan. Opossums, foxes, bobcats and weasels may be taken at any time.

After an open winter last year and a wet summer that produced an abundance of food, deer are reported plentiful and in good condition. A vanguard of archers, several hundred strong, is now in the deer country. The main army of deer hunters, which exceeded 170,000 last season, is expected to bag between 40,000 and 50,000 bucks in the two-week season beginning November 15.

Children Hard to Fool

Women like to be baffled, says Russell Swann, sleight-of-hand artist, but they don't like to stay baffled. If a trick is done for a girl, it must be explained, or she gets mad. He says that dentists and doctors often excel as amateur magicians, and children are harder to fool than intellectual grown-ups who attempt to apply logic. Some big-shot racketeers take keen interest in sleight-of-hand, and are as difficult to fool as children. Swann was born in Washington, D. C., so perhaps conjuring came to him easily and naturally.

State Records Reveal Interesting Squabbles

Lansing—Michigan's state capitol building knew politics before it was born, and lively political squabbles attended its birth, as a perusal of old library records reveals. Records of the geological survey of the department of conservation tell of the search at that time for suitable native stone for the commonwealth's chief structure.

The roof was to have been of copper, if the copper came from Michigan mines and could be delivered here at 25½ cents a pound. Cost of copper delivered in Lansing was then 31 cents a pound (it is now 12 cents) so a corrugated iron roof was considered but the building was finally roofed with tin especially prepared in Wales.

Foundation footings are of Bellevue, Eaton county, limestone, crushed and mixed with river sand and Utica cement. Overlying footing stones are of Lamont, Ill. limestone, the floors of vaults of Euclid, Ohio, freestone, and the superstructure of Amherst, Ohio, sandstone. It was the Amherst stone that caused most of the trouble.

The Amherst stone has a resistance of 7,892 pounds per square inch while the best Michigan stone then known had a resistance of only 3,362 pounds per square inch and was of inferior color, but some Michigan quarry men, especially at the old Flushing, Genesee county quarry, were quite unhappy about it all.

The capitol cornerstone is of Massachusetts granite. Corridors of the first, second and third floors are of Vermont marble. Fifteen million bricks used were made of Lansing clay. Plate glass was brought from England, and skylights over legislative halls were made of American hammered glass. Logs of Michigan trees on exhibit at the 1876 Centennial in Philadelphia were sawed up to make patterns for the ironwork castings used in the structure and to create the iron decorations of the dome.

The capitol was constructed 63 years ago.

The "Gutter" The inside margin of a book, where the pages are bound, is called the "gutter."

Early Oil Production In the early days of the McCaney oil field in west Texas a barrel of water cost more than a barrel of oil.

Cocktails in 1692 Island of Jamaica, British West Indies, might be the birthplace of the cocktail. In 1692, a clergyman, witnessing the earthquake that destroyed Jamaica's pirate city of Port Royal, began his diary with "I was drinking a cocktail when it commenced to happen."

Yes or No? ...

A bank can only make money by loaning money—by selling the use of money in return for a reasonable fee—interest. Naturally, we want to make loans.

But a bank's first obligation is to its depositors. Their money must be protected. The fact that your bank sometimes says "NO" is a strong indication of its safety.

All Right—why DO we buy Automobiles?

THIS is just between you and us and this newspaper, so we can be both frank and honest.

Don't you really buy a car for what it can do?

Doesn't the big kick come from being first off the mark and winging up hills as though they weren't there?

There's only one place in the world you can get such things—from a power plant that's up to its job.

But here's the interesting thing the new Buick proves: With enough power, you can have that flashing action—and economy too!

Our FIREBALL design and Compound Carburetion let us use a standard high gear that has the same economical result as so-called gas-saving devices.

They step up mileage as much as 10% or 15%, wing you down the road at 50 on a 30-mile fuel diet.

They even make driving easier, since they give so much reserve power that you'll have less need for shifting gears, whether it's to top a hill or pick up quickly in slow-moving traffic.

We're not saying style and comfort and size don't count. We wouldn't have worked out "mass-stream" styling, BuicCoil Springing and Buick's new roominess if they didn't.

But when you can get these and pace-setter performance too—hadn't you better at least drive a Buick to find out about it?

Children In Court

By Judge Malcolm Hatfield

Unified Recreation
A community with a unified recreation program found that it was spending all of its time attempting to reclaim individual delinquents. Greater progress was achieved when it devoted more attention to reclaiming gangs of boys and also to eliminating the various factors which caused the individual to develop into a problem child. This particular community program eventually reduced itself to controlling each child's environment and providing him with adequate leisure time activities outside the classroom.

When a community is not properly organized, it cannot hope to curb delinquency of the school and the home are nullifying such efforts. Every community should seek to work together with both public and private recreational agencies so that there will be no overlapping of influences and forces that make community life both richer and fuller for children and adults alike.

Foolish Business Men

A number of prominent business men severely criticized a newspaper editor because he started a campaign to abolish a gambling establishment. Their plea was to the effect that children were barred from the place and that they themselves enjoyed spending an evening under its roof after a hard day in the store or office. Consequently, the editor, being fearful of reprisals which might affect his advertising contracts, quashed the campaign. Within a year the matter was again called to his attention by one of the same group of business men, who said: "I don't see why in the blankety-blank the sheriff or the prosecuting attorney doesn't do something to close that joint outside the city limits. Here I am, a heavy stockholder in the Corporation, and our auditor has absconded with thousands of dollars which he gambled away there. If we do not raise this money within the next sixty days, we will have to close the doors of the plant and throw seventy-five men out of work."

When the editor reminded this business man that he had been the first to complain when the newspaper had started a campaign to close the gambling establishment, the business leader frankly admitted the error he had made. However, the establishment is reported to have returned the money to the corporation rather than be forced to close its doors. No doubt politics played an important part in keeping this particular gambling den open.

Crime enforcement officials cannot afford to tolerate the operation of questionable places when public opinion demands that they be abolished. In fact, the commercial interests of every community should realize that certain forms of commercialized amusements are detrimental to the morals of the younger generation. Business leaders must know that those who control amusements of the community also control its morals.

Planned for Bankruptcy

They tell of a borrower who applied for $50 at one of the personal loan companies. Sitting down with one of the officials, the visitor filled out several pages of questions. Finally they came to the routine question about what he proposed to do with the money. "I suppose you need it to pay small bills," the clerk suggested. "No," said the borrower. "Possibly to pay your insurance." "No." "For doctor or dentist bills, is it?" "No," said the borrower. "It's more important than that. I need it to take bankruptcy."

Girls' Athletics

Girls' basketball is under way now and about everyone turned out for practice last Thursday at 8:30. The girls were put through a few drills and called it a day for the first practice.

The high school girls expect to have a regular girls' team this year and a few games have already been arranged. The team will be selected later in the season and will be furnished with new suits which have been recently purchased. The colors are blue and white with gold trimmings.

Since they have basketball only two nights a week the girls have also taken up bowling. Almost everyone bowled for the first time last Monday at 8:30 and appeared with either sore arms or sore thumbs the following morning. Anyway the girls thought it was a lot of fun and will bowl every Monday.

Junior News

The members of the Junior class held a class meeting in the room of their sponsor, Miss Leffer, on November 8, 1940 to discuss some important events of the near future.

First and foremost their bake sale was discussed. It will be held Saturday, Nov. 16 and it is hoped that it will bring a little money into the treasury of the Junior class. The committees are as follows:

Arrangement Committee—Grace Merkel, chairman; Lillian Allshouse, Nancy Fleming.

Distributing Committee—Nancy Fleming.

The plans for their float for pep meeting tonight (Thursday) have been completed. The committee to prepare the float is as follows: Charles Lane, Ray McDaid, and Frank Novess.

Pep Meeting

A pep meeting was held Friday morning, Nov. 8 at 8:30 in study hall for the Saline game.

The pep meeting began with a couple of cheers; then the whole assembly sang the school song. A pep talk was given by Coach Cameron. The meeting was ended with two more cheers.

Band News

The Chelsea high school band again played at the football game on Friday and during the half marched across the field to form the letter S in front of the Saline grandstands. Then they returned to the home stands and after forming the C, played the school song, "Oh, Chelsea High."

Because of the extremely cold weather the band was excused and did not march home after the game.

The band will play at the final football game on Friday with Manchester, if weather permits.

After the marching season is completed the band will begin practicing for the annual Band Festival.

Gaddin' 'Round With Gadd

The team played its last league game Friday and ended its season with a good record. For the season, Chelsea has to its credit 3 wins, 2 defeats, and 2 ties, which is very commendable considering the fact that Coach Cameron found it necessary to develop new men to replace those lost last year.

The music by the band dressed in their new uniforms was appreciated by both spectators and the team. Stirling music is an asset at every football game. A football game without a band reminds one of the old saying "Pie without cheese is like a kiss without a squeeze."

Next Friday Chelsea will play its annual post-season game with Manchester so let's all come and see it. The stores will close at 3 o'clock and all the business men will probably come so let's all come out and back the team to the end.

Come one, come all.

Both great and small.

Though short or tall.

The spy, the lame,

Those with no name—

Come to the game!

WE'LL BE LOOKING FOR YOU!

Chelsea Ties Saline

Chelsea high school came to the end of another football season, as far as the league was concerned, last Friday when the Blue and Gold met Saline here in a 7 to 7 tie.

Saline came here with a much heavier team average and were picked to be easy winners. Those who saw the game could not help but admire the spirit of the local lads.

Chelsea scored first when, after backing the visitors to within easy striking distance, Novess carried the pigskin over and he also added the extra point. The first quarter ended without any further spectacular play.

In the second quarter Saline tied the count after a long run off tackle behind fair blocking.

The punting was not up to par for either side. Novess had the most yardage to his credit for the game but just could not get them out of bounds in the corners.

There were a few nice forward passes which aided materially in bringing the Blue and Gold close to the goal on three occasions only to meet reverses and failure to score.

The last half was a give and take affair and saw no scoring by either side.

The final score was 7 to 7. Next Friday the post season "game of all games" will be played when Manchester comes here. Be sure to come out to the game. You men owe it to yourselves to take at least one afternoon this fall and the ladies may bring their darning and knitting. The stores are closing for this game so let's all go and support the team 100 per cent.

Third Grade

On election day our fathers and mothers weren't the only ones that voted. We voted, too. But we didn't vote for Mr. Willkie or Mr. Roosevelt.

We elected Jean McClure, president; Marilyn Johnson and Phyllis Munro, vice-presidents. Ronnie Eder is our secretary, and Beverly Weatherwax takes care of our money.

This week is book week. Our school library has lovely new books. We are delighted about them.

Seventh Grade

(A) Freda Marshall and Robert Faber. Although they had previously voted, the seventh grade was nevertheless very pleased when Mr. Cameron invited them to participate in the "election" held in the high school on November 5.

They are pleased that one of our number, Leroy May, holds an office in the school safety patrol, which is designed to promote greater safety by preventing jay-walking. The little children are most co-operative, but some of the older boys and girls are not setting a very good example. However, we are taking names, and are promised office co-operation in making them observe safety rules.

We have a hard time to wait calmly for the prints of the pictures which were taken in the gymnasium last week.

June Vail and Shirley Platt were the only seventh graders who were on the program of the amateur hour.

Philip Tompkins, Edwin Lantis, Larverne Holbrook, Sam Baxter and Arthur Paul helped wash our windows last week.

Mr. Briggs, the artist, came Wednesday.

Our quotation for the week is from Epictetus: "Men are not influenced by things, but by their thoughts about things."

Teacher: Johnny, what is a cannibal?

Johnny: I don't know.

Teacher: What would you be if you ate your father and mother?

Johnny: An orphan. (P. S. This did not happen in our room).

During the past year, a great deal has been printed and said in automobile circles about new models of "drives" for the 1941 model cars. As a result, many people have come to Oldsmobile with natural and pertinent questions: "Are the 'drives' that other manufacturers offer similar to Oldsmobile's Hydra-Matic Drive?" "If not, how does Hydra-Matic Drive differ from the others?" In order to clear up any confusion or misunderstanding that may prevail in the public mind, Oldsmobile takes this opportunity to publish the statements of fact at the right!

No Lady Plumbers, But—

Although there are lady plumbers in many states, there are none in Rhode Island, according to Constable Harris, statistician for a newspaper in Providence. But Rhode Island has 23 women paper-hangers, 14 women undertakers, seven women porters, four women stonecutters, four women forest rangers, two professional fishermen and two women auctioneers.

Pedestrian Protection

Cute Deaths One-Half

Increased attention by states and cities to pedestrian protection in traffic will save more than 6,000 lives in the next three years, the American Automobile Association predicted.

The forecast was advanced by Thomas P. Henry, president of the national motoring body, who at the same time praised substantial reductions already achieved.

Great impetus was given during 1939 to programs of pedestrian protection throughout the country, Henry said. "More than 250 cities and 31 states were entered in the A. A. A. contest. Although it got underway comparatively late in the year, it helped focus attention on the plight of the man alone and the fact that his safety and convenience had been largely neglected in most cities until recently."

To achieve the forecast, pedestrian deaths in cities would have to be cut but one-third of their present toll in three years, and in non-urban areas but one-fifth, he said.

"In view of the fact that many cities entered in the 1939 contest reduced pedestrian fatalities by around 50 per cent in one year, the further reduction by another one-third in three years, through increased emphasis seems achievable without difficulty," Henry added.

Among the examples cited were Atlanta, which had but 15 pedestrian deaths in 1939, compared with 38 in 1938; Dayton, which reduced the toll from 20 to 19; and Flint, Mich., which cut pedestrian fatalities from 22 to 12.

Crystal of Corundum

The largest crystal of corundum ever found, 312 pounds, was mined in Macon county, North Carolina. The stone is now in the Amherst collection.

Cider May Prompt Action

It may have been the cider he was taking a swig of occasionally, but at any rate, Thomas F. Whitebread, a stamp dealer, in Williamsport, scorned a mechanical moistener in licking 5,000 stamps in one day. He would take a swig of old-fashioned every so often, "take the taste from my mouth," as it was a "sure-fire remedy."

1940 Call for Red Cross Recruits

The 1940 Poster of The American Red Cross sounds the call to the nation to serve humanity within the ranks of this army of mercy.

KEEPING step with the boys called to the colors in America's new defense army and navy, will be the American Red Cross, fulfilling its mission of service to the men in the line and to their loved ones at home.

Chairman Norman H. Davis announced in Washington.

"Several thousand Red Cross nurses already have been called to the colors," Mr. Davis said. "And Red Cross nurses are ready to help America's soldiers and sailors with personal problems, just as in the 1917-18 World War period."

"Every patriotic man and woman in the United States, who wants to do his or her share in upholding the national defense of our nation, can do so by sharing in the vitally important work of the Red Cross. Join as a member of the local Chapter during the roll call, November 11 to 30, and through your support you will strengthen the Red Cross army of mercy."

"Recruits are needed not alone as members, but also as volunteer workers in the Red Cross Chapters."

Red Cross work will continue undiminished in its usual domestic program of relief in disaster; community public health nursing; safety education and promotion of the Junior Red Cross. An individual membership supports all of this work, not only in Red Cross Chapters, but in the nation.

Relief to war victims in Europe is financed by the $20,000,000 war relief fund contributed by the public during the summer of 1940.

Quiz Program on Street

Gasping Final Breath

While the quiz programs ramble on merrily, the man-in-the-street broadcast, daddy of them all, appears to be gasping its final breath.

Man-in-the-streeters were scheduled for revival this month on several local stations, but haven't developed, mainly because no one can think of new ideas and, secondly, those ideas which have been thought of have given trouble.

Broadcasting stations which have made a specialty of man-in-the-street broadcasting say the participating audience comes too bold or too timid. By experience they can recognize the troublemakers and screwballs at a safe distance by their self-confident airs or actual glints in their eyes. The average person is reticent and unwilling usually to expose himself to specific questions for fear he will not know the answers. Popular opinion queries go best.

Frequent irritations are from passers-by who wish to address messages to their friends or families by way of the air; "auditioners" (who will write many letters to the station asking who was the person with the "wonderful" voice); and subsequently apply for a job; and noisy street-sidemen who gather to sell to the accumulated crowds.

Rocketeer Plaza Private Street

The group of skyscrapers in New York city known as Rocketeer Center occupies 12 acres of land owned by Columbia University. This plot between Fifth and Sixth avenues (rented at more than $3,000,000 a year until 1915, when all buildings and the site will revert to the university) is cut in half by a short street which deadends at the boundaries of Forty-eighth and Fifty-first streets—a private avenue known as Rocketeer plaza on which the Center pays $60,000 a year taxes.

And around that little stretch of pavement centers a curious ceremony every 12 months.

Though a resolution adopted by the board of estimate in 1933 permitted Rocketeer Center to open the street, under common-law the Columbia trustees rope off Rocketeer plaza once each July for 12 hours between sunrise and sunset to retain the university's property rights—otherwise the street might become a public thoroughfare, owned by the city.

Eight-Point Program to ## Protect Farmers Urged

Listing eight points he deemed necessary for the protection of the farmer, Howard E. Babcock, chairman of the board of trustees of Cornell University, pointed out recently that since 1933 subsidies to the farmers have averaged only 5 per cent of the total cash income of farmers.

The eight points submitted by Babcock were as follows:

The independent spirit of farmers should be revived; the integrity of agriculture should be restored from the top down; agricultural research should be speeded up; extension of agricultural education should be joined with practical experience of farmers and all educational machinery freed from commercial and political control; wider use of agricultural co-operatives should be sponsored by education means; money at market rates and for long terms should be made available to agriculture under a government-supervised farmer-owned and controlled system of agricultural banks; full unbiased information on agricultural production and markets should be made available at frequent intervals to both farmers and the general public; and the mobilization of the best agricultural brains in the country on a voluntary basis should be our fundamental policy in dealing with these problems.

Crab Canning for Alaska

Congress recently appropriated $100,000 to learn why this country can't exploit the giant king crab of Alaska. The Japanese have been crossing the Pacific, catching this giant fish and have taken them back to their country. They then can them and ship them back to the United States.

The bureau of fish and wildlife is sending two trawlers and a floating cannery to Alaska to explore the possibility of establishing a new crabbing industry. These vessels will work in the Gulf of Alaska and in the spring go into the Bering sea, where the Japanese have caught most of their crabs.

A trained personnel will be assigned to study the operation of fishing gears and the life history of the crabs, and to conduct technical research relative to the canning of crab meat and the production of by-products. An economist will also accompany the expedition for the purpose of compiling data on the cost of catching and manufacturing crab products.

More Careful Now

Love has made radio amateurs more careful in their choice of language. For years "hams" addressed each other as "OM" (old man) and when there was need to refer to one's wife she was the "OW" (old woman). But unmarried young folks when they got a girl naturally called her the "YL" (young lady). And when they married, love just couldn't see referring to the "YL" as the "OW" so soon, so new wives were called "XVL." And now all "old women" are referred to on the air as "ex-young ladies."

Girls Barchanded Until Married

In Hungary, girls go barchanded until they are married, and from that day on, they are never again seen with uncovered heads, according to Averil Mackenzie-Grieve, in the Hungarian Quarterly, published by the Columbia University Press.

There is a strange popular belief in that country, which attributes a secret power to a woman's hair to cast an evil spell on herself and on her surroundings. Headgear is the most important indication of a woman's status, with women in one Hungarian district wearing eight different hoods from the day of their wedding, onward, each with its particular significance.

Lemon Is Versatile And Extremely Useful

Versatile—that's the lemon, a first aid to the housekeeper in dozens of different ways.

Besides the delicious dishes made from this fruit and the flavor it contributes as a garnish, it has a multitude of household uses.

Lemon juice is an invaluable health asset to those who make its use a regular practice. For hair and complexion it is one of milady's foremost beauty aids.

Do you make the most of lemon to bring out flavor in other foods? A plate of lemon quarters may very well take its place on the table along with the salt and pepper shakers.

The Russian custom of serving lemon with tea is now universally accepted. Since many guests prefer lemon with this beverage, the thoughtful hostess will always include a plate of lemon slices and quarters.

Cloves may be inserted in the lemon for a decorative touch. Iced tea, in particular, calls for generous additions of lemon.

And believe it or not, there's nothing like lemon juice to bring out the full flavor of melon.

Fresh fruits, such as bananas, apples, avocados, peaches and pears, used for salads, may be kept light in color and are improved in flavor by covering or sprinkling with lemon juice.

Add a little lemon juice to water in which lettuce or other salad greens are freshened. It will revive and crisp them.

Nursery School for Deer

Set Up in North Carolina

A nursery school for deer, holding classes from June to October, has been established in the 100,000-acre Pisgah National Forest Game refuge, about 30 miles from Asheville, N. C.

The fawn station was set up because this national forest is overstocked with Virginia white-tailed deer, and they had foraged tree seedlings until forest growth was endangered. Now forest service men segregate the newborn fawns and raise them "by hand" until they are old enough to be returned to the wilds.

The course of the newborn fawn's life in the plant is as carefully supervised as that of the baby in a maternity hospital. Each little fawn has its own chart, which records periodically its weight, temperature and general condition. It is fed from an ordinary baby bottle with rubber nipple.

In addition to thinning out the deer by the fawn-farm method, the five or six thousand deer on the Pisgah game preserve is further diminished through the use of 160 deer traps. Placed by the roadside to facilitate the transportation of the adult deer by truck to other homes, these apple-baited humane traps capture the animals unharmed.

Equal to Stradivari

After eight years of research in his Harvard university physics laboratory, Dr. Frederick A. Saunders decided that a good American violin costing no more than $200, was the equal in tonal quality of a $50,000 instrument made two centuries ago by Antonio Stradivari. Recently he decided to test his theory before an audience of 170—including musicians and music critics at the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia.

Behind a screen, a violinist played a violin made in Philadelphia a few months ago, another made in Germany a few years ago and a third, made by Stradivari, 200 years ago. Of the 170 listeners, only 47 picked out the Stradivari.

Concluded Dr. Saunders: "The fine old instruments—the Strads and the Guarneris—require only half as much work to produce a good tone. They are, therefore, more responsive, important to players working at the limit of their abilities. But for the listener, there is no difference."

Price of Advancement

Since unemployment is often the price which society pays for technological advancement, society should meet the cost of caring for victims of technology, asserts Dr. Isador Lubin, U. S. commissioner of labor statistics. He points out that industry pays compensation to workers disabled by industrial injuries. But "no provision is made for the skilled worker who suddenly finds himself 'disabled' because a new machine has made it impossible for him to earn full wages at his former employment."

The cost should not be put on the individual employer, Lubin said, because "the too may be the victim of changes in technology." He points out that some employers have assumed partial responsibility for such job losses through payment of dismissal wages.

One Building Saved

In the War of 1812 the British burned all public buildings in Washington but one. When the British burned the Capitol, the White House and other public buildings in Washington, they did a systematic job of it, sending squads of soldiers to each building with orders to burn it. However, when a detail of troops under an officer marched up to the structure housing the patent office with its thousands of nondescript models, Dr. William Thornton, the first commissioner of patents, appealed to the officer in charge to spare the building lest the British go down in history as the world's worst barbarians. Impressed by Dr. Thornton's appeal, the officer marched his detail off without firing the patent office.

Powerful Antiseptic

A small amount of chlorine concentration—100 parts per million water—will lessen to a great degree the bacteria germ left on utensils in both the home and public restaurants, according to a bacteriological survey of public places recently made.

It was found that many bacterias are left on eating utensils in both the home and restaurant, despite a thorough cleaning. The report states, however, that they can do but little harm.

While many persons dislike the taste of chlorine in water, medical men say that it has been proved over and over again that in the concentration form, chlorine is harmless and at the same time valuable in the preventing of epidemics of food infection.
