CHS Mid-Winter
Reunion Will Be Discontinued

No officers were elected and no plans were made for a 1952 mid-winter reunion of Chelsea High school alumni of recent years when the group met for the 1951 reunion last week, Friday.

Marlene Heydauff, chairman of the group this year, blamed lack of interest in the project as the reason for the decision to discontinue the meetings in the future.

Originally planned as a get-together of recent graduates of Chelsea High school who come home from various schools and colleges at this time of the year for holiday vacations, the gathering served as a reunion of graduates whose school vacations in June do not begin early enough to allow them to be here for the regular June alumni banquet.

Miss Heydauff said yesterday that it was hoped the date for the alumni banquet could be set for a time when this younger set could be present, since the mid-winter reunion seemed to be impractical.

Only 22 alumni and teachers attended this year's reunion.

St. Paul's Church
Changes Schedule of Sunday Services

At the annual congregational meeting of St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church on New Year's day, it was decided to change the time for Sunday services so the Sunday school hour may be held before the church service.

The new schedule will go into effect the first Sunday in February and will continue on a trial basis until the first of August. At that time reports are to be made by a committee of five named at Tuesday's meeting to study the effect of the change on church and Sunday school attendance. The committee appointed includes Mrs. P. G. Schaible, Mrs. Oscar Stierle, Mrs. Herbert Paul, Mrs. Willis Heydauff and Paul F. Niehaus.

The change in time calls for Sunday school to begin promptly at 9:30 a.m., while church services are to begin at 10:45.

Lorenz Wenk and Wilbert Breitenwischer were elected to succeed themselves as members of the church council at Tuesday's meeting. Mr. Wenk's term is for three years and Mr. Breitenwischer's for two years.

Polio Funds Campaign Is Underway*Critical Need Forces
Extension of Period
Through Jan. 31

America's average number of polio cases in the past four years has more than tripled the previously accepted "normal" toll, it was disclosed today by Mrs. Herbert Sanborn, Chelsea campaign director for the 1952 March of Dimes.

The nation-wide appeal, which opened this week and continues to the end of the month, must "gain unprecedented support to assure every polio patient the care he must have," Mrs. Sanborn declared.

She noted that in the first ten years of the March of Dimes experience, beginning in 1938, the average yearly polio case total ranged from 10 to 12 thousand. From 1948 through 1951, on the other hand that average surpassed 30,000 new cases.

"In addition to this," Mrs. Sanborn said, "tens of thousands of victims from previous years remained on the rolls needing continued financial help. There were 45,000 of them during 1951. This is another reason why the March of Dimes ended each of the past four years in debt and why we found it necessary to double the period of the 1952 appeal."

In the past four years, she said, the March of Dimes has spent $79,000,000 for patient care alone. In the previous ten years combined, this bill was $41,000,000.

"The heavy jump," Mrs. Sanborn explained, "is due not only to the great number of new polio cases, but the ever-increasing number of those still needing assistance from past years and the greatly increased cost of hospital care."

"The March of Dimes campaign for 1952 has been doubled in length, to meet the serious financial crisis of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Due to the terrific increase in polio across the nation, the National Foundation has ended each of the past four years, including 1951, in debt."

"Washtenaw county we have had to ask for more money from the National Epidemic Aid fund during the past three years to meet local bills, than we have ever raised in our county," according to a statement released by Mrs. Richard Sinn of Ann Arbor, Washtenaw county March of Dimes chairman.

Cars Collide as Sleepy Driver Dozes Off

Cars driven by Carl Fletcher of Stockbridge, and Elden Buehler of Chelsea, received damaged fenders in a collision on South Main street at 2:15 a.m., Sunday, according to police reports.

Buehler, traveling north, stopped at the side of the highway when he noticed the other car, headed south, cutting across the highway. The Fletcher car's left front fender struck the left rear fender of the Buehler car.

It was believed Fletcher momentarily fell asleep while driving, according to police reports.

The accident occurred just north of the Pierce street intersection.

These two young patients and tens of thousands of others in all parts of the country look to the March of Dimes for help when polio strikes. THIS WEEK IN Washington

Events were moving rapidly in the President's plan to clean up his administration. After talking with Attorney General McGrath and J. Edgar Hoover, FBI chief, the President called in Federal Judge Thomas F. Murphy, of New York to accept a major post in the organization Mr. Truman is setting up to root out evil-doing in Washington.

Judge Murphy, who prosecuted the Alger Hiss case for the government and later, as New York police commissioner, made war on gangsterism and police grafting, is a recent appointee to the federal bench.

There are two viewpoints here on the President's action since he returned hurriedly from his Key West vacation. One school believes Mr. Truman overstepped a line and walked away from an opportunity to clean up the government. The other school believes that the President's action is a necessary step to ensure the future of the republic.

His one objective is a clean-house campaign is not only to eradicate the "rotten apples" but to save the government from being overwhelmed by thousands of honest and faithful government workers here in Washington and elsewhere, who are being hurt and pummeled alongside the few guilty. Another thing, these observers point out, President Truman just doesn't score as easily of some of the more "sensitive" Democrats who are advising him.

Actually there was an indication this week that some dirty linen might be aired on Capitol Hill in connection with the tax probes when the names of Congressmen James H. Morrison, of Louisiana and Frank W. Boykin of Alabama, both Democrats, and Sen. Styles Bridges, of New Hampshire, Republican, were brought into the picture through evidence indicating they all were interested in "fixing" tax cases.

There are some slight indications that at long last some progress may come in the second session of the 82nd Congress which convenes in Washington.

 Memory Selection—Deuteronomy 15: 27

THE LESSON TEXT is found among the farewell addresses of Moses. The grand old man, having led his people out of Egyptian bondage and after forty years brought them to a distant view of the Land of Promise, when he felt and knew his work was done, gathered the tribes, as it were, to his feet and gave them the benefit of the experience that had been his through an hundred and twenty years.

"EASY DOES IT"
 BEFORE STORING SPINACH, discard all undesirable leaves and wash thoroughly to remove sand. Store in refrigerator vegetable compartment or in a covered container.

Radishes and carrots should not be stored in the refrigerator until washed and tops removed. Carrots, chilled, can be cut into strips more easily after chilling.

A stalk of celery keeps longer if it is not quartered or broken apart until just before serving. It should be trimmed and washed before storing.

Tomatoes, green peppers and cucumbers should be washed and wiped dry before storing. Those which are used only partially should be wrapped in waxed paper to keep best.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
 Apple Crisp (Serves 4)
 4 cooking apples
 2 teaspoons lemon juice
 1/4 cup flour
 1/4 cup oats, uncooked
 1/4 cup brown sugar
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
 1/4 cup melted butter

Place, core and slice apples. Place in a greased 8-inch pie plate. Sprinkle with lemon juice. Combine flour, oats, brown sugar, salt and cinnamon. Add melted butter mixing thoroughly. Sprinkle this crumb mixture on top of apples. Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven for 45 minutes. Serve warm, topped with whipped cream or ice cream, if desired.

If you cannot use all of a package of frozen vegetables, break or cut off only what can be used and leave the remainder frozen in the freezing compartment.

It's best to thaw frozen meat in the refrigerator to prevent undue loss of juices. A four pound roast or fowl takes 48 hours to defrost in the refrigerator, steaks or chops, 12 hours.

You'll have to turn up the refrigerator from your regular position to a higher freezing temperature when you put in some ice cream. If the container is too large to store, place ice cream in wax-paper-lined ice trays.

Let the Buyer Beware
 It was the sole responsibility of the consumer, centuries ago, to be on guard against being hoodwinked when making a purchase, thus giving rise to the Latin expression, "caveat emptor"—let the buyer beware. This country, constant haggling over price between customer and storekeeper so aroused public indignation that the U.S. Congress and 45 states passed fair trade laws, beginning in 1931.

Father Robb, Freed
 Linda was 3, and she wanted a doll for Christmas. To get her one, jobless Leo Lacher held up a Des Moines shoe store, swiped $88 from its cash register. Twenty minutes later, Lacher trudged back and returned the money. Struck by his shamefaced tale, the store owner refused to prosecute. People around the town chipped in, bought Linda Lacher the doll, gave Lacher more than $200 and three offers of jobs. Last week Lacher had picked one and settled down to repay his fellow citizens' confidence in him. Said Police Inspector John A. Brophy: "It was a case of lapse of memory and a return of pride."

A Hymn Is Born
 BY CLINT BONNER

Come, Thou Fount of Every Blessing
 A drunken fortune-teller sets a youth to thinking

Young Robert Robinson poured the gypsy fortuneteller another drink and set back to watch the fun. The boy's widowed mother had sent him to London when he was 14 to learn the barber trade under Joseph Anderson. But he cared little for the trade and when Anderson wasn't reprimanding him for acts of mischief he was hawking him out for spending his time reading books. Now it was 1754. Robinson had served his five years and Anderson was relieved of his ward.

Suddenly realizing that he had to earn his own living, 19-year-old Robinson went to a fortuneteller for advice—and fun. But when the gypsy looked roughly into the crystal ball she came up with a bit of intelligence that set her mischief-loving customer to thinking. Said she, "You will live to see your grandchildren."

Robert Robinson realized for the first time that he must die eventually. This and the thought that his grandchildren might regard his life as useless haunted him for months. Then, in December 1754, he stopped at an open air meeting to hear John Wesley's co-preacher, George Whitefield, warn his congregation of "the wrath to come." That did the trick. Finding "peace by believing," the youth determined to get on the narrow path and to devote his life to persuading others to do likewise. And he started praying that when his time came he would die "softly, suddenly, and alone."

Armed only with his barbershop book learning, Robert Robinson started preaching as a Methodist, changed to the Independents and switched to the Baptists. Pastor of a small church at Cambridge, England, the self-made minister became one of the empire's most forceful writers and preachers. On June 9, 1790, when he was 54 years old, he went to Birmingham to fill the pulpit of Dr. Priestley. The following morning Priestley knocked at the door of his guest. There was no answer. Robinson had died in his sleep.

Robert Robinson was only 23 years old when he left to posterity a hymn that has been sung for six generations. It was only four years after he had made the gypsy fortuneteller drunk that, at the age of 24, the converted Robert Robinson wrote:

*Come, Thou Fount of every blessing,
 Tune my heart to sing Thy grace:
 Streams of mercy, never ceasing,
 Call for songs of loudest praise.*

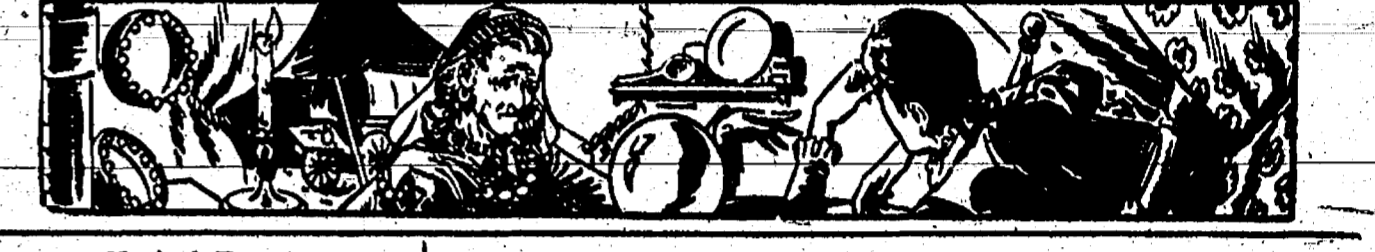

*Teach me some melodious sonnet,
 Sung by flaming tongues above:
 Praise the mount—O'er which I come—
 Mount of Thy redeeming love.*

*More I praise mine Ebenezer;
 Hither by Thy hand I come:
 And I say by Thy hand, O Lord,
 Safely I arrive at home.*

*Jesus taught me when a stranger,
 Wandering from the fold of God;
 He to rescue me from danger
 Interposed His precious blood.*

*O to grace how great a debtor
 Daily I'm constrained to be!
 Let Thy goodness, like a fetter,
 Bind my wandering heart to Thee!*

*Praise to wander, Lord I feel it,
 Prone to leave the God I love;
 Hark! my heart, O take and seal it,
 Seal it for Thy courts above.*

Musical Horn
 The Santa Fe Railway, which has been concerned about scattered complaints that Diesel engine horns are too harsh and startling, has equipped one of its steam locomotives with a newly designed set of horns which, it is hoped, will be more pleasing to the ear. The new signal is a five-chime Nathan whistle which, when sounded, produces a musical chord or, according to the Santa Fe, a "chime effect." Tests thus far have shown the engine with the chime to be popular along the locomotive's Chicago to Los Angeles run.

Agile Apes
 The gorilla is the largest of all the known apes, notes the National Geographic Society. The gibbon is the most agile of all the monkey family.

THIS PETTY PACE

BY BROWN LEE YATES

BY LITTLE HULL

COMMUNISM, in whatever country one finds them, are, as a rule, the dogs of society. Only occasionally some "long-haired," self-styled intellectual—who was not spawned in the gutter—joins the Molloy throng. Whenever these ghastly creatures get control of a situation, their first endeavor is to liquidate those of the so-called middle and upper classes.

In other words, Communism is another name for class jealousy and hatred. And this hatred is so all-consuming that it isn't satisfied until it "liquidates" right down to its own social level. In Russia, for example, the man who owned a tiny shop was a "Capitalist." His clerk was a "spy." The farmer who possessed a couple of acres, a cow and maybe a horse, was a "capitalist," and as such was either starved to death, as in 1933, or was sent to the labor camps for life. All classes of manual labor had to be spared, regardless of their social standing, because to liquidate this element would have destroyed the machinery with which to run the nation's economy. It probably went against the grain to have had to spare any element which ranked above the skum of which Bolshevism was composed.

Now there is a regular pattern which introduces into a nation this awful condition; and as far back as history records, these class struggles almost invariably followed that pattern. They usually started at a time of economic distress, which, if left to follow its normal course, would work itself out. But the socialist fools—the people—and himself—into believing he has the cure-all, and they elect him to office.

Where far more knowledgeable and practical persons "slip," the theoretical Socialist "falls," and in steps the Communist. Almost his first act is to wipe out his predecessors the socialist.

Wouldn't you think that even a hair-brained socialist would have "got hep" by this time?

Modern Definitions

Socialism—A form of state-control, run by power hungry politicians, which has destroyed other great empires besides Britain. Public ignorance of the history of this devastating system is the only reason it still exists.

Fabian—Ask "Americans for Democratic Action."

Anti-Catholic—A dumb cluck who doesn't realize that Christianity is engaged in a death struggle with anti-God communism.

Anti-Protestant—Ditto.

Industry—Our greatest protection.

Conservative—One who wishes to conserve the system, which has made us the best-fed and still most powerful nation on earth.

Liberal—A confused reactionary who honestly considers himself a Progressive.

Welfare state—A political theory which destroys man's initiative, his pride and his independence.

New Dealism—A process of rapid deterioration, initiated by Harry Hopkins and boosted by the English "economist" Keynes, which has cut our dollar in two and is fast sapping the lifeblood of the economy that has been the bulwark against Russia.

McCarthyism—Term invented by the foxy opposition smear gang, to cover their own smelly tracks.

4-H CLUB NEWS

By FRANK C. GENDRON

During the past week the snow in the county has slowed up traveling about the county, as well as causing many club meetings to be canceled. From all indications though, club leaders and members are making plans against the time when they can get together again.

A great deal of interest is shown in the tractor maintenance project.

On Tuesday, Jan. 8, leaders of 4-H clubs will have an opportunity to visit the recreational room for children at the University of Michigan hospital, which is maintained by funds from the Kiwanis clubs of Michigan. As many of you already know, 4-H leaders and 4-H members help indirectly to contribute toward this project by their cooperation during the annual Kiwanis sale held in Ann Arbor. This year the sale will be held Jan. 24-26.

The tour is by reservation only and 4-H leaders have been notified by letter.

Jan. 9 Washtenaw county will be joined by Livingston, Lenawee and Monroe counties for an Adult Leaders' Recreation school to be held at Pittsfield Grange hall beginning at 10 a.m.

Arden Peterson will conduct the school and give the instructions. Material will be available to all leaders who attend. Because of the limited space, the number participating had to be restricted and those people have been notified.

Science Quiz

Q: What are "rare earths"?
A: Chemical elements of numbers 57 to 71 in the list of elements. They are not very rare, but because of chemical similarity it is difficult to separate them. As a result, their production and study is rather limited.

Q: How does a sextant work?
A: A sextant has a pair of mirrors, one fixed and the other movable. As the user looks through a small telescope, he adjusts the movable mirror until the image of a heavenly body is apparently brought into contact with the horizon. Then he can read from a graduated scale, the height of the object above the horizon in degrees of arc. With the aid of special tables and the exact time, he determines latitude and longitude, after finding the heights of certain heavenly bodies.

Q: How do eyeglasses correct defects of the eye?
A: When lens of the eye is far-sighted, which means that it cannot be curved enough to focus nearby objects clearly, a convex (magnifying) lens gives the effect of additional curvature. Near-sightedness requires a concave (reducing) lens, for the curvature of the lens of the eye is then too much. In astigmatism the eye lens cannot focus vertical and horizontal lines sharply at the same time. This is corrected by a "cylindrical" lens, which is curved more along one diameter than along another.

Q: Is it true that the prehistoric dinosaurs had very small brains?
A: Yes. The bigger an animal the smaller usually is the weight of the brain expressed in ratio with the total weight. In a 75-pound sheep the 3.5-ounce brain is about a third of a per cent of the total, but the ten-pound brain of a six-ton elephant is only a tenth of a per cent. The dinosaurs did not weigh as well as this. The one called Stegosaurus weighed as much as an elephant, yet had a brain as big as that of a small kitten. His brain was only a slight swelling at one end of his spinal cord.

millions of dollars during the past few years to provide gas transmission and distribution facilities that will meet all of the requirements of its heating customers on the coldest days of the year," Mr. Fink explained.

These facilities are operated at less than capacity for many months of the year when there is little or no demand for gas for heating. The company believes it only fair that those who enjoy the benefits of gas heat should pay their share of the cost of constructing and maintaining these facilities.

Here and There with Our Neighbors

Buchanan—Roger Koenigshof, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Koenigshof, got some paint on one of his fingers. Paper towels were at hand for the emergency, but it seemed a shame to waste them so Roger stuck his finger in the spout of a turpentine can. Pulling it out was another matter. It stuck. The rim of the spout was sharp and started to cut into the finger when it began to swell. He was rushed, can and all, to his home where Mrs. Koenigshof liberated him with a can opener. In order to avert any possibility of lockjaw or other infection he was taken to a doctor in Buchanan. It seems quite certain that Roger will never try to be economical exactly that way again.—Berrien County Record.

Saline—The Lentz Tool and Die Co. of 112 W. Michigan Ave. is moving to Detroit and will be located at Wyoming and 8 1/2 mile road. The move was necessitated by the urgent need for larger quarters because Mr. Lentz has acquired a number of car contracts and the company for whom he makes dies also have more work than they can handle.

Lentz Tool and Die has been located in Saline for the past five years, and Mr. Lentz helped found the Bridgewater Machine Tool Co. in Bridgewater.

More new equipment will be added to the present stock which will be making plastic molds and dies for die casting companies.—Saline Observer

Buchanan—About 5:30 a.m. Saturday morning the Buchanan police department received a call to go to the rescue of a busload of passengers on a Chicago-Detroit bus which had been stalled near the Orchard Hills country club.

Clyde Weaver responded with the patrol car. He found the bus, passengers, stalled by motor failure, with no heat. Twenty men in the bus pushed it until they got it well under motion, whereon Weaver pushed it into Buchanan with the police car.—Berrien County Record

HAVE A PLEASANT

DAY AT THE OFFICE,

DEAR MURRY

HARDBOILED YANCEY-

(A Short Story)

By RICHARD HILL WILKINSON

THERE WERE FOUR PEOPLE

concerned in the incident. First there was Harvey Yancey, 50, hard-bitten, honest, with a passion for doing his duty and doing it well.

Harvey was police chief of a large city we shall call Hayden.

Then there was Bob Yancey, Harvey's son, 28, following in his father's footsteps, a rookie on the force. Harvey was proud of his son;

he loved him.

Next comes Barney Watts, underworld leader of Hayden. A smart man, a man who had maintained his high position because of one virtue: He always kept his word to crooks and police alike. Yet he was unscrupulous in his methods.

Last, there was Spider Julian,

Barney's henchman, an important cog in Barney's wheel. Not so smart as his chief, but cunning enough, however, for a week after the murder of a prominent Hayden banker, Chief Yancey picked

Spider up, charged him with the murder, and produced evidence that would send him to the chair.

Barney Watts received the news and pondered: He couldn't afford to have Spider go to the chair. He needed him. He must be freed.

That night a bunch of Barney's henchmen brought in Bob Yancey.

The kid was arrogant and contemptuous. He told Barney he was a fool. Barney shrugged.

"Maybe, kid, but we can't afford to let your old man keep Spider

Julian. Now, listen, if you're smart you'll do as I say. Write a letter to your old man and tell him unless Spider is out of the can by tomorrow morning, Hayden's police chief will be minus a son."

Bob.

I was just a little girl, I would go to the store for my mother and buy bread for five cents a loaf and get a dozen pork chops for 50 cents. My parents could live on

Farm Workers Are Protected By Social Security Benefits

AN EMPLOYEE of a greenhouse called his local social security office. "I hear that people who work on a farm have been brought under social security. How about me? Do I now have social security like regular farm workers?"

The answer was: "Yes, you are a farm worker."

It was explained that, for old-age and survivors insurance purposes under social security, a "farm" is defined in its broadest sense. It includes not only a greenhouse when used primarily for the raising of agricultural or horticultural commodities, but any other acre or fraction of an acre commercially used for agriculture, horticulture, or animal husbandry.

Equally broad is the social security definition of a farm employee. It includes not only the man on a tractor in a prairie wheat-field, and the man at the potting bench in the greenhouse; but also some 600,000 other regular workers, whether hired to herd sheep on a New Mexico mesa, or manage milking-shorthorns on an Iowa stock farm.

Whether or not the job of a farm worker is covered for old-age and survivors insurance depends on three things: First, his employment by the farm operator during a three-month qualifying period; second, his regular work for the same employer during the calendar quarter immediately following the qualifying period; third, his earning of cash wages of $50 or more in each three-month period after the qualifying period.

The "qualifying" three-month period does not in itself count towards social security payments, but the first step to that end for a farm worker is the "qualifying quarter."

It must be a calendar quarter—that is, a three-month period beginning with January, April, July, or October. The worker who is employed by one operator continuously during a calendar quarter may then begin to get social security credit for his wages in the following quarter, by working 60 days or more on a full-time basis for the same employer for cash wages of $50 or more.

The test that he must continue to meet, quarter after quarter, is the same. He must work for this employer on some 60 days, and be paid $50 or more in cash every calendar quarter. As long as he meets these conditions, his cash earnings from his work will be credited to his social security account, and he will be building towards old-age and survivors insurance protection. However, if in any future quarter he fails to work as a nurseryman for this same greenhouse operator for less than 60 days, the continuity will be broken. He will no longer be a regular employee, no matter how much in cash he is paid for less than 60 days of work.

During the business session it was voted to make a contribution of $5 to the March of Dimes fund. Grange members also planned a card shower for Mr. and Mrs. Peter Young in observance of their 60th wedding anniversary Sunday.

The afternoon program included group singing; a spell-out, with Walter Riemenschneider as winner; and a debate between the men and women on the question: Should We Have Leap Year Every Year? Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Van Valkenburg closed the program period with talks on their recent trip to California, Washington and Oregon. Mr. Van Valkenburg gave an overall description of the agricultural and logging industries as he observed them, and Mrs. Van Valkenburg told of the "Redwood Empire" and of Mr. Whitney and other points of special interest.

Our Neighbors

Grass Lake—Mrs. Lawrence Wernet, the former Doris Segger and Grass Lake, has been recently transferred to the main plant of the Hughes plant near Los Angeles.

Upon entering the plant which employs about 12,000 people, the first person Doris saw on her first day at work was Bob Dwelle, also a Grass Lake and a classmate from GLHS, who moved to California with his family a few months ago.

Neither knew the other was in the vicinity and both were dumbfounded.—Grass Lake News

Northville—Though the Christmas season is traditionally the time of giving, often the receiving of gifts, unfortunately, becomes most important. But this was not the attitude of the operators at the Northville Bell Telephone office.

This Christmas season the operators sent their money which key-dinner and party, to Jimmy McKindies of Detroit, a former employee who has been paralyzed since August.—Northville Record

Dexter—The temperature was not conducive to pleasant caroling Sunday afternoon Dec. 23, but some 55 or 60 people turned out at the Park for the Kiwanis Christmas carol.

D. F. Belt, chairman of the event, assembled a good sized "choir" considering the weather. A horn that was brought along for accompaniment froze up after a short performance but an accordion helped bring more than vocal music.—Dexter Leader

Stockbridge—Painters had just finished painting the ceiling of the Methodist church when the plaster on the southeast corner crashed. The main part of the church is over seventy years old and the plaster was poor and when paint was put on the moisture from the paint caused it to fall, as it was a good thing as it might have fallen during church services.

However a new ceiling has been put on and it not only improves the appearance but also improves the acoustics. The Hammond organ tones sound better and it is easier for speakers and singers to be heard.

Friday afternoon there was still no paint on the side walls. But that evening Rev. Soderborg, assisted by one other man went at the painting. They worked all night or nine hours each, and the job was finished.

Sunday services were held as usual.—Stockbridge Brief-Sun

Buchanan—Sheila Marrs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marrs, River Road, who says that she is charting her course to become an artist, advanced considerably in that direction in local esteem this past week, with the unveiling of some five Christmas window paintings in the Buchanan community, four on the windows of homes and one in a store window.

Seen by most people to date are the "cathedral windows" which she painted on the east windows of the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Huff, 120 West Front street (east apartment in Celon Hathaway home). In the center of the three lower sections of the window is the theme, the Madonna and the Child, and on the window section on either side are singing and adoring angels. The upper window sections are painted in the semicircle of decorative designs in stained glass on cathedral windows.—Berrien County Record

Milan—Kenneth Wells, former publisher of the Milan Leader, suffered burns about both feet last Wednesday morning at the Burkhart Typsetting Co. in Ann Arbor where Mr. Wells is employed.

Ken was sitting at his linotype machine about five feet from where Ben Burkhart, owner, was casting molten metal that is used in the linotype, this metal often reaches temperatures upwards of 600 degrees F. when being cast.

As the casting was being completed a leg on the melting pot broke spilling huge streams of molten metal on the floor. Ken lifted his right foot in time to receive only minor burns but his left foot received the full flow with the metal running over the top of his oxford shoes and down into his foot where he received serious first degree burns.—Milan Leader

Buchanan—Mrs. Mary Frame, who lives in the apartment over the Kelling Cigar Store, reports that about 11 a.m. last Thursday she saw a hen pheasant on the roof over the Sauman Dry Cleaners. When she opened her window to throw some feed to the bird it took off at full speed.—Berrien County Record

Manchester—Another grandfather was added to the growing list of "adopted" relatives of the eleven Moore children who were orphaned in the tragic Pontiac auto crash a few weeks ago. This relative knits mittens.

Stanley, 78-year-old August Linde, of 56 Dover, Pontiac, but formerly of Manchester, heard of the accident and wondered if there might be something he could do. His idea centered around keeping the 22 young hands warm. "And so I started to knit" said Mr. Linde, so keeps my fingers numb and then too I've knitting mittens for my own grandchildren for a number of years.

"Grandpa" Linde took the mittens to the children last Saturday and the girls were overjoyed with the bright varicolored yarn and the boys happy with the manly colors Mr. Linde had chosen for them.—Manchester Enterprise
