

Exchange of Mayors Day Highlights Michigan Week

Mancelona's Chief Executive Is Honored Guest Here Monday

Mancelona's mayor, George Ouvry, visited Chelsea Monday as scheduled. He was an overnight guest Sunday at the home of Councilman and Mrs. Harvey Lixey and Lixey took him on a sight-seeing tour of the vicinity Sunday evening.

The Exchange-of-Mayors Day program began at Pierce Park at 10 a.m., where the village police car and fire truck and the Chelsea High School Band in full uniform met him and headed a parade to the Municipal building. Directed by Gayle Grove, the band played several numbers in honor of the visiting mayor.

At the 125th Anniversary log "kade" erected on the McKune Memorial Library lawn, Police Chief John Palmer by pre-arrangement, simulated confining the visiting mayor in the stockade because he was beardless and had no anniversary hat and tie. The situation was remedied when he was presented with a top hat, an anniversary tie, a false mustache and Brothers of the Brush lapel button.

The "key to the city," a large wooden model made by shop students at Chelsea High school, was presented to Ouvry during brief welcoming ceremonies in front of the Municipal building. Acting Village President Pre-Tom Harvey Lixey, Victor Kohsman and William Chandler were co-chairmen of the Exchange-of-Mayors program.

The visiting mayor was taken on a morning tour of the village which included the Municipal building and fire barn; the new McKune Memorial Library which is nearing completion of its remodeling program; the addition to the Methodist church now under construction; and the Congregational church addition completed some time ago.

A Chamber of Commerce luncheon at Schumm's honored the visitors at noon and during the lunch

President Alber, Blaess Report 'Wonderful Time' at Mancelona

Village President and Mrs. Donald Alber and President Pro-Tem and Mrs. William Blaess report that they had a wonderful time as Exchange-of-Mayors Day guests Monday at Mancelona.

The Chelsea party spent the day at Mancelona while Mayor George Ouvry of Mancelona was entertained in Chelsea.

The Chelsea party left here Sunday and stayed overnight at the Pleasant Grove Motel just outside Mancelona where reservations had been made for them. A large welcome sign had been put up by Robert Biehl, owner of the motel.

Charles Avery, Mancelona chairman for Exchange-of-Mayors Day, visited the Chelsea couples at a motel and told them of the events planned for the day.

They had breakfast at Avery's nearby restaurant and then were escorted through the town, a band leading the way.

A key to the city was presented to Village President Alber when the party visited the municipal office and Alber presided at a brief Council meeting.

Later, the Chelsea party visited the sewage plant; a division of the Mt. Clemens Metals plant located there; the Mancelona Cheese Co., where Alber was presented with a five-pound cheese; and the Arthur Carlson Co., where precision tools and dies are manufactured.

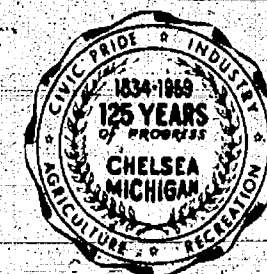

Mrs. Emma Nestle, a Mancelona business woman, and Chairman Avery entertained the Alber and Blaesses at a noon lunch at Ludwig's restaurant and in the evening Mrs. Nestle was hostess for dinner for Mrs. Blaess and Mrs. Alber at the same restaurant while their husbands were guests at a Rotary club dinner meeting.

At the evening restaurant dinner with a number of Mancelona women, the Chelsea ladies wore their anniversary dresses and bonnets, giving them the opportunity to purchase Chelsea's anniversary

Wooden Nickels Made Legal Tender For Chelsea Area

Novelty Backed By U. S. Coin

You've heard the old saying, "Don't take any wooden nickels!" This no longer holds true for Chelsea and the surrounding area, in keeping with the occasion of Chelsea 125th Anniversary.

The committee announced today that "wooden nickels" have been placed in all retail establishments in and around Chelsea and will officially become legal tender tomorrow, Friday, and will remain in effect throughout the celebration.

The nickels are actually printed on wood and are backed 100 percent by U. S. coins. They will be in trade at any business in the Chelsea area or redeemable at the Chelsea State Bank.

These nickels provide an excellent way to advertise the Anniversary Celebration and also offer means of giving a souvenir of the occasion. Residents are urged to buy some and send them to relatives and friends out of town.

There will be three separate issues of the nickels which will be released at various intervals. Each issue will be of a different color.

Never before has wooden money been used "officially" in Chelsea. Now is a chance to get in on the "TAKE A WOODEN NICKEL."

Anniversary Hats Now in Stock

The long-awaited shipment of "Brothers of the Brush" anniversary hats has arrived. On sale at Anderson's, Strieter's and Foster's. Note: Junior hats are not yet here.

Kiwanis Club Entertains Guest Mayor

Paul Mann reported that Chelsea Kiwanians had received $148.50 in prize money checks as Arthur Schunk, elementary school principal, reported that the initial kindergarten enrollment last Friday was exceptionally well attended and that 88 children are already enrolled for the morning classes and 66 for the afternoon sessions. Principal Schunk said yesterday that those not enrolled as yet may call the elementary school office and give the needed information.

Children were given a regular one-hour kindergarten session which included crayon work, story telling time and refreshments. Their second hour was a period of recreation.

Dancing, Ice Cream Social Promise Fun for Everyone

At the Chelsea Community Fair Board meeting last week, Everett VanRiper, president of the Fair Board, extended an official invitation to all village residents to join with the farmers and take part in the biggest hay ride ever held. Plans were discussed and here is the general theme of the hay ride you should be planning to attend this Saturday night.

More than 50 wagons and tractor will assemble at the fairground at 7:00 p.m. Those who wish to load the entire family into the family car, drive to the fairgrounds and join the farm families already in the wagons may do so.

Shortly after 7 o'clock the caravan of hay wagons will enter the village by way of South Main street and disperse throughout the village with members of the Brothers of the Brush marching band accompanying the various wagons to announce their arrival in your neighborhood.

You and all the rest of the family are urged to meet the wagons at the curb and pile on. Wagons will cover the entire town by the following routes and you should plan to catch a wagon at the scheduled street nearest you: length; East street, Madison street and East Middle, full length; McKinley to the North school; Wilkinson street, Garfield street and West Middle, full length.

The wagon train will form on M-92 north of Veterans Memorial Park for the start of the hay ride which should last about one hour.

Trucks equipped with flashers, Chelsea police, Washtenaw county Sheriff's cars and Balmer's wrecker will insure a safe ride by stopping traffic both at the head of the caravan and at the rear.

Any of the hay riders who play a musical instrument are asked to come so equipped (with the exception of pianos, unless you are prepared to load them by yourself).

The hay ride will finish up at the fairgrounds where the balance of the evening's entertainment will take place. The local square dance club will present a square dance demonstration; the Brothers of the Brush band will too a few numbers providing they are not all tooled out on the hay ride; the drum major will be there in full regalia; Al Mayer will recite a short poem; a rock and roll quintet will perform and various POPPY SALE PLANNED — Mrs. George Knickerbocker, at left, Poppy Sale chairman for Herbert J. McKune Unit No. 51, American Legion Auxiliary, and Mrs. Fred Klink, Poppy Sale chairman for the Ladies Auxiliary to Post No. 4076, Veterans of Foreign Wars, display posters, together with the artificial poppies their respective organizations will be selling on the streets of the community from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. tomorrow.

The crepe paper poppies are the official Legion memorial flower while the VFW features a cloth poppy known as the "Buddy Poppy." Proceeds of the sale are used for rehabilitation work by both service organizations. The VFW Post poppy chairman is Laurence Boyer. Disabled veterans make the poppies, thus enabling them to earn some money. Battle deaths in World War I numbered 53,042; in World War II, 291,557; and in the Korean War, 33,629. It is in memory of these (and the dead of all wars) that the poppies are worn by thousands of people on Memorial Day. The entire proceeds of the sale of poppies is used to help support rehabilitation and child welfare work of the American Legion and VFW. Every cent collected by volunteer workers here tomorrow will be earmarked for this purpose. "Honor the nation's war dead by wearing a memorial poppy" and "honor the dead by helping the living" are Poppy Day slogans of the two organizations. The little red flower helps keep bright the memory of America's fallen defenders and everyone should be wearing one (or more) tomorrow and on Memorial Day.

Sheriff's Dept. Will Sponsor Hypnotist Show

To advance the good work being done by the Junior Deputies League in their effort to combat juvenile delinquency, the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department is bringing "The Master of Your Mind," Rajah Rabold, hypnotist and mindreader extraordinary, to the Ann Arbor High school auditorium, two nights, Thursday and Friday, May 28 and 29 at 8 p.m. Proceeds from this big-name, big-time attraction will be used to benefit all youth of the county.

An evening with Rajah Rabold will be an event you will always remember. Seeing your friends and neighbors hypnotized and the most dignified among them performing crazy Katzenjammer-like stunts will make this a riotous evening of fun for you. In the presence of Rajah Rabold your most secret thoughts have no more privacy than a gold fish swimming about in a glass bowl. He will call you by name and tell you things about yourself that you and you alone know to be true.

Each member of the Junior Deputies League is selling tickets for this entertainment event. Your co-operation will be appreciated. Tickets are available locally from the Chelsea Police Department.

Michigan ranks first in quarrying and mining of gypsum, with an annual production of more than a million and a half tons. Industry is tapping this resource on an increasing scale.

PUBLIC FISHING SITES afford recreational pleasure to thousands of persons each year who otherwise would not have access to Michigan's lakes and streams. Vacationers overflowing from crowded state parks, fishermen and other water sport enthusiasts are the major users of these public spots. Since 1939 when the Conservation Department launched its public fishing site program, more than 700 sites have been acquired. Camping is permitted on approximately 475. The program not only opens up additional waters to the public but also, minimizes trespass problems over private lands.

Judy Gilbert Composes, Narrates U-M Swim Show

Judy Gilbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gilbert of North Lake, composed and narrated the script for "Attic Antics," synchronized swimming show presented by the organization known as "Michifish," of the physical education department at the University of Michigan. The show was presented last Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the women's pool at the University.

Conservation Dept. Experiments with Camp Areas at Five Fishing Sites

Lansing—Since its introduction in 1939, the Conservation Department's public fishing site program has grown by leaps and bounds in an attempt to keep pace with the swelling public use of Michigan's lakes and streams.

To date, 727 sites have been acquired, covering about 40,000 acres with a total water frontage of more than 200 miles. Nearly $2,750,000 has been spent for acquisition, development and maintenance of these sites during the past 18 years.

Streamlined automobiles, and super-highways have revolutionized the recreational scene. Able to reach their favorite vacationing spots within a few hours, people have acquired a good share of shoreline on most lakes and streams.

This trend has created a problem for those with no riparian rights and, consequently, the Department's program has been magnified, both in importance and problems.

Vacationers overflowing from filled state parks and recreation areas, fishermen and other water sports enthusiasts have caused the Department to attempt a regulated, compatible use arrangement at five sites this year.

Under the experiment, camp areas will be established on sites at Carp and Pickerel lakes, Emmet county; Wiggins lake, Gladwin county; Little Manistee river, Lake county; and Sages lake, Ogemaw county. If successful, additional camp areas may be designated at other overcrowded sites.

In stressing the need for camping control, fish division chief E. A. Westerman stated, "over the last few years camping has become so popular on some sites—principally on week-ends—that it has presented a real problem of sanitation and nuisance complaints from neighbors, as well as to limit parking facilities for fishermen."

Camping is permitted on approximately 475 sites, most of which are in the northern part of the state.

A salient feature of the over-all program is its reduction of trespass problems over private lands.

Jehovah's Witnesses To Hold Circuit Assembly in Ypsilanti

Among these will be 30 from the Gregory, Stockbridge, Pinckney and Chelsea areas, including Mr. and Mrs. Elden Buehler, Mrs. Bertha Smith and Mrs. Milda Grissom.

Also included are biographies of famous people who claimed Michigan as their home; the state motto; the state flower; and many other interesting features.

The display was arranged as a special observance of Michigan Week, May 17-23.

Verse Written for Chelsea Centennial Reprinted for 125th

Marie Hindelang Fleming, member of a pioneer Chelsea area family, is the author of verses entitled "In Retrospect," originally published in The Chelsea Standard in 1934, when Chelsea held its centennial celebration.

She is Mrs. Walter Fleming who has been living in California for many years.

Mrs. Fleming is a seventh-generation descendant of Peter Hindelang, a Frenchman from Alsace-Lorraine who volunteered with General Lafayette to come to America to help General Washington in the Revolutionary War.

Wounded in action, he returned to France and died there. Mrs. Fleming's grandfather, also named Peter Hindelang, came to America in the 1840's. Her father was Louis Hindelang, prominent in community affairs, who died in 1925.

The verses Mrs. Fleming wrote for the centennial celebration mention the business places and people who were familiar to her during her childhood in Chelsea and are especially appropriate to re-print at this time when Chelsea is making elaborate preparations for its 125th anniversary celebration.

The clipping from which the accompanying verses were copied, is the property of Mrs. G. L. Staffan, who is a niece of Mrs. Fleming.

IN RETROSPECT

'Twas a splendid celebration, But I must admit the truth, That in fancy I was wandering Through the Chelsea of my youth.

In those days up there on Main street, Were Kemp's Bank and Wood's feed store, While across the way was Freeman's,

Medicines for sick and sore. Blushing brides wore rings from Winans',

Glad they'd not their choice delayed, Pallid grooms stood 'fore the preacher.

Clad in suits John Rafferty made, Farrell's store below sold groceries,

Since Hirth ran the blacksmith shop; Boyd's Hotel, the home of travelers Who were always glad to stop.

Harry Avery was the dentist, Doctor Palmer the M. D.; George Ward, with his horse and buggy,

Made the milk delivery. Holmes and Schenk's sold gowns and dry goods, Fenn and Vogel handled drugs; William Knapp and Dennis Walker Hardware, guns and shaving mugs.

After school we children hurried Up to Burkhardt's for ice cream; O. T. Hoover ran the "Standard" Strange how clear these memories seem.

Apples and steaks were always tender, Caspari made fresh bread each day;

The express was ably handled By Ed Chandler and his dray. Glazier stoves from out the factory Traveled 'en to foreign shores; How we loved McLaren's movie! Standing wide-eyed at the doors.

Riemenschneider, the Postmaster, Sorted mail from every train; There were the six Taylor brothers,

The "McKune House"; then again At election time and caucuses,

G. P. Staffan, M. J. Noyes, Beckwith, Hummel, Bacon, Kalm-bach,

Often were the people's choice. Mr. Gifford ran the High School, R. A. Snyder onions sold;

Funny how my thoughts are straying, Can it be I'm getting old? Must be so, because this minute

I would gladly travel far, Just to be a youngster buying Peanut squares at the "Bazaar".

God bless Chelsea, and her noble Men, those striving pioneers, They, and those who followed after

Let her on through struggling years. Though her sons and daughters wander

Paths which lead them far apart, I am sure that there is carried Love for Chelsea in each heart.

—Marie Hindelang Fleming

Rules Reviewed For Displaying United States Flag

Mrs. Mary Kniss, Americanism chairman for the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 4076, has listed some "dos" and "don'ts" to remember about displaying the United States flag. The information is especially timely with Memorial Day and the Fourth of July approaching.

DOS—

1. The flag may be displayed at night upon special occasions when it is desired to produce a patriotic effect.

2. Always hoist the flag briskly, lower it ceremoniously.

3. Display the flag on all days that weather permits.

4. On Memorial Day the flag should be at half-staff until noon.

DON'TS—

1. The flag should never be displayed with the union down except as a signal of dire distress.

2. The flag should never touch anything beneath it (ground, floor, water or merchandise).

3. Never use the flag as drapery, festooned, drawn back, nor up in folds, but always allowed to fall free. For draping platforms and decorations in general, use blue, white and red bunting.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

"I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Michigan's annual vacation travel revenue exceeds $950 million.

KNOW YOUR PTA

A record turnout for the annual Penny Carnival Friday night attracted thousands of people to the PTA executive board and some 90 room mothers whose efforts helped to make the occasion a success.

It is reported that more than $1,200 was taken in, the profits from which goes into the PTA treasury to carry on its activities for the year.

Lucky winner of the coveted do-prize was young Andy Soule, second grader at the South School, the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Soule of 408 Madison. His prize was a large, white stuffed poodle.

Karen Culbert, 40 Cassaway Lake, carried off the second prize which was a gay parasol. A camera viewer and gun were won by Roger Harman, the prize winner.

Leaders of the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers report that the results are in the opinion—questionnaire the many of you were asked to fill out last fall.

"A sampling of the 200,000 returns of the PTA questionnaire reports the MCPT—bulletin, indicated that its members felt as follows:

(1) Teachers' salaries are low.

(2) A college degree should be required as a minimum for a teacher.

(3) Each child should have available a comprehensive educational program in grades kindergarten through 12.

Some other opinions expressed were as follows:

55 per cent indicated that they did not want to see salaries based on merit ratings.

98 per cent favored teaching foreign languages in high school.

66 per cent favored Federal aid to education.

Chelsea wound up its activities for the year with the installation of officers at the Wednesday night meeting.

Mrs. Grace Stierle, guest speaker, discussed the 14 million creases you will be asked to iron at school board election, to provide revenue for carrying on educational program for the handicapped and mentally retarded.

PERSONAL NOTES

Mrs. Joseph Wright was in Jackson Sunday to attend the confirmation of her grandson, John Hawley, at St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church. She was a guest, following the service, at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hawley.

Rockwell-Standard Reports Increased Earnings for 1959

Coropolis, Pa.—Col. William F. Rockwell, chairman of the board of Rockwell-Standard Corp., today revealed that earnings of the company for the first four months of 1959 exceeded the company's cumulative earnings for the first four months of 1958.

First quarter earnings had previously been reported as 52 cents per share as compared with 45 cents in the corresponding quarter of 1958 on an equivalent number of shares.

Colonel Rockwell stated that his record confirms the view he has expressed at the company's annual meeting that the second quarter looked very good; that 1959 should be a relatively good year and could be a very good one.

The outlook for the last half of 1959 still remains obscure because of the possible effect on the national economy of a prolonged steel strike.

Library Adds Vacation Travel Information

Something new at Chelsea Public Library and of particular interest at this time of year is material providing authoritative information on sightseeing and camping trips.

Listings of available facilities at all national parks and national forests and in all states of the Union, including Alaska, are included. There is also material on Canada.

Points of special interest in each state and general travel information are included.

The material may be borrowed or taken out of the library.

Rev. Fr. Francis Kolb Will Celebrate 25th Anniversary of Ordination

The Rev. Fr. Francis P. Kolb, who is pastor of St. Joseph parish at Adrian, will celebrate the 25th anniversary of his ordination next Sunday, May 24.

Solemn High Mass will be said at the Adrian church at 1 p.m.

Michigan ranks fourth among vacation states with a 5.7 per cent share of the domestic travel business. Some 9,750,000 tourists vacation annually in Michigan.

Catholic Charities Week Observed By Archdiocese

The Most Rev. John F. Dearden, Roman Catholic archbishop of Detroit, announced Wednesday the observance of Catholic Charities Week, May 17-24.

This annual recognition of the work of the 35 agencies comprising the Council of Catholic Charities will be held throughout the eight-counties of the archdiocese.

Activities included a Red Mass of the Holy Spirit in Blessed Sacrament Cathedral at 10 a.m. May 16; the annual Charities Five Hundred Dinner in Veterans Memorial, May 19, and various events scheduled by the individual agencies.

The newly-established Catholic Social Services of Washtenaw county which opened its doors to the public on May 1, will entertain the priests of the 11 parishes in the county at a luncheon on May 21, at 12 noon. The luncheon, which is being held during Catholic Charities Week, is a part of the new agencies' program to acquaint the community with the service it has to offer. The luncheon, which will also be attended by priests from the Catholic Charities office in Detroit, will be followed by a brief discussion of the agencies' role in the community, and by a tour of the offices.

From the Chelsea area, The Rev. Lee Laige of St. Mary's parish, was invited.

Corn Support Deadline Date Set for June 1

The last date to obtain price support on 1958 crop corn will be Monday, June 1, according to Max M. Kalmbach chairman of the county committee of Washtenaw Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office. The official closing date is May 31, but since that falls on a Sunday the deadline is automatically extended until the next business day.

Corn price support may be obtained by means of a non-recourse loan on either farm-stored or warehouse-stored corn or through a purchase agreement with the government. Any farmer desiring a loan should apply 15 days in advance of May 31 to give time for sampling the corn and processing the loan. A purchase agreement, however, may be applied for through the close of business, May 31.

All corn of 1958 crop is eligible for support provided it is of acceptable quality. Here in Washtenaw county, the support rate is $1.89 for corn produced in compliance with the 1958 acreage allotment of $1.09 for corn not produced in compliance with allotments.

To be eligible for price support, ear or shelled corn must grade No. 3 or better except that corn grading No. 4 because of test weight only will be eligible. The corn must meet certain moisture requirements and must be in adequate storage, either on the farm or in a warehouse or elevator.

Corn loans and purchase agreements being entered into now will mature July 31, 1959. Between now and that date, the corn may be redeemed at any time. At maturity, the grain may be resealed and kept in storage for an additional period.

Farmers interested in meeting the deadline on 1958 crop corn price support should apply at the county ASC office.

Anniversary Attire Creates Stir on Plane Trip to West Coast

Ralph Klingler claims the title of having appeared farthest from home in his anniversary top hat and tie and wearing a beard as a Chelsea Brother of the Brush.

Klingler flew to Los Angeles, Calif., Thursday and returned home Saturday. He said he caused quite a stir as he boarded the plane and wherever he appeared during his stay. He said everyone he met wanted to know the reason for his anniversary attire and as a result, Chelsea's 125th birthday received wide publicity.

Klingler's trip west was on business and while he was there he visited at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Armand Meyung at Redondo Beach.

Is Girl Scouting Necessary Today?

Girl Scouting had its beginning in a different day and age. Juliette Gordon Low, who brought girl scouting from England to America, recognized the needs of the sheltered and over-protected young girls and women of that era.

Today with women's suffrage accomplished and modern, liberal living an accepted fact, is it necessary to hold on to scouting?

Are you one of the parents who have said, "I can't see what my daughter is getting out of scouting, the things she makes are flimsy and she could play games at home." Perhaps you haven't realized that the main thing your daughter is getting, is nothing you can hold in your hand and take home and show mother.

As her leaders work with her in their weekly program, each activity, each game and every planned project has a definite objective. Behind it, the objective is character building. It doesn't show its results after one or two short years of Brownie work, rather it's a growing thing, implanting in young girls minds the correct ideals of decent behavior, self-respect and love for others that leads to a flowering of wholesome, intelligent womanhood who will be the future mothers, wives and teachers.

The girl who has grown through scouting is better able to meet the problems of today that arise with early maturity, fast cars and the uncertain living conditions of this modern age. She instills into her relationship with other people the Girl Scout Laws which are the basic truths of Christian humanity towards one another.

Michigan Residents Have Every Right To Be Proud of State's Recreation Facilities

Lansing—Residents of the Wolverine state have every right to boast this year's Michigan Week theme, "We're Proud of Michigan."

As stockholders and custodians of many state-owned natural resources their assets include 58 state parks and recreation areas and more than 80,000 miles of rivers and streams, 11,000 lakes, 700 public fishing sites, 100 state campgrounds and 8,700,000 acres of state forests.

Faster automobiles, improved highways and shorter work-weeks are steadily pushing the value of these assets upward.

Hunting and fishing license sales added $7,208,849 to the state's Game and Fish Protection Fund in 1958. During the 1957-58 fiscal year, timber sales from state forests brought $709,761. With last year's attendance figure surpassing 17,000,000, parks revenue approached $600,000. Some 2,000,000 boaters pump $120,000 into Michigan's economy each year.

Hiking, bird watching and nature study have also come into their own.

Using the supply-demand formula as an index, the popularity and value of these attractions should sky-rocket in the next 25 years. Michigan's population is expected to reach almost 14,000,000 by 1984, nearly twice the present figure.

To insure mutual and lasting enjoyment of these state-owned resources for tomorrow's generations, the public must wholeheartedly practice its responsibility of sharing and saving the outdoors today. This golden rule of the outdoors also commands an increased respect for private property.

Violations of conservation laws, forest fires and vandalism are a "Big Three" which annually threaten to depreciate Michigan's outdoor fortunes. Among the major miscellaneous offenses are: rubbish dumping and confiscation of shrubs and trees on state-owned lands, reckless operation of motor boats and burning without a permit.

Dear Editor:

It's a disgrace to the Village of Chelsea when the flags are put out in front of the business places to have one very dirty one among them. The cleaners advertise they will clean flags free of charge.

SOMETHING NEW in the way of attire for wear at women's state bowling tournaments are the Chelsea Belles anniversary bonnets which the five Chelsea ladies in the above photograph wore throughout their stay at the tournament held in Grand Rapids, May 9 and 10. They were members of the Gudeman company bowling team—from left, Marie Abdon, Mary Ellen Sutter, Gerry Wilkerson, Flossie Lake, Ruth Pierce and Lauretta Jarvis. The centennial bonnets were the object of considerable comment, affording the Chelsea ladies an opportunity to publicize Chelsea's 125th anniversary celebration which will be concluded with special pageant programs each night, July 11-12.

Mothers To Study Brownie Troop Organization Plan

Mothers of second grade school girls received letters this week from the Chelsea Girl Scout Neighborhood Team inviting them to a meeting in the all-purpose room at South Elementary school next Tuesday afternoon, May 26, at 2 o'clock, to make plans for organization of Brownie troops for the coming year.

Many of the second grade girls are looking forward to becoming Brownies next fall when they will be third graders and thus eligible to join.

In order to organize new troops for these girls it is necessary first to find adults willing to become leaders and troop committee members. Each troop consists of 16 girls, two leaders and at least three committee women.

Mrs. John Chaplin, Brownie organizer, said "If you think your daughter will be interested in becoming a Brownie next fall, we ask you to attend Tuesday's meeting."

"At this time the Scout program will be explained and your girl's name put on the prospective membership list," Mrs. Chaplin continued. "As more troops are organized, these girls will be registered first; any further prospective members might have to be put on a waiting list until adequate leaders can be found for additional troops."

For further information Mrs. Chaplin may be contacted by telephone.

Mrs. Chaplin emphasized that the meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, May 26, at 2 p.m. Some letters to prospective Brownies' mothers went out with an incorrect date for the meeting.

Board Studies Budget for Local Schools

The budget of the Chelsea School District for the 1959-60 school year was submitted to the Tax Allocation Board of Washtenaw and Jackson counties the third Monday in April as required by law. At that time, it was not known whether state aid for the 1958-59 school year would be paid in full; it was not known what the state aid would be for the 1959-60 school year; the valuation of the school district was not known; nor was the millage to be allocated by the Tax Allocation Board known.

Since the time the budget was submitted, the State Legislature passed a deficiency appropriation law guaranteeing the full payment of the 1958-59 state aid. However, the method of financing this law has not been determined as yet.

The tax allocation boards of Washtenaw and Jackson counties have met and both boards have set preliminary millage allocations to the schools. The Washtenaw Tax Allocation Board allocated a maximum of 9.5 mills to the schools and the Jackson Tax Allocation Board allocated a maximum of 9 mills to the schools. The Chelsea School District, because it is an inter-county school district, must levy the lesser of the allocations according to the present interpretation of the law. The final allocations will be made in the early part of June.

The Chelsea School District levied 9.2 mills for operation for the 1958-59 school year. The reduction next year is 2 of a mill or approximately $4,161.00 on the valuation of the district for the 1958-59 school year.

The state equalized valuation of the district, against which the millage is levied which determines the income of the district in taxes, probably will not be known until the early part of June. Likewise, the state aid for the 1959-60 school year will not be known until early June or possibly not until the latter part of June because of the financial problems facing the state legislature.

The budget will be reviewed when the above facts are known so the board of education can determine the approximate income of the district for the 1959-60 school year. Then, the board of education will determine whether the electors will be asked for additional operational millage and the number of mills.

Mancelona Visit . . .

and invite the Mancelona people to attend.

A tour of the scenic countryside around Mancelona impressed the Chelsea visitors. They were especially interested in the Mt. Mancelona ski lift and a stop at Dead Man's Hill, a promontory which affords a 20-mile view in all directions.

In the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Alber and Mrs. and Mrs. Blaess, remembering that a former Chelsea girl is now teaching in Mancelona, paid a surprise visit to the elementary school to see her—the former Maryellen Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Moore, who is now Mrs. John Stillwell. She teaches fifth graders at the school.

The Chelsea people left for home Monday evening. Enroute, during the first one and one-half miles, they saw a total of 13 deer. Five of these were together at one spot.

In telling about their enjoyment of the day at Mancelona, Mr. and Mrs. Alber and Mr. and Mrs. Blaess remarked on the friendliness of the people in the community which has a population of 1,050.

Presidents Arthur Cleveland and Wilson were sons of ministers.

Catholic Social Service Agency Now Open To Serve County from Ann Arbor Office

Washtenaw county now has another social service agency! May 1, the Catholic Social Services of Washtenaw county opened its doors to the public. The agency is a constituent service agency of Catholic Charities, Inc. The 20,000 Catholics living in Washtenaw county have long been asking for such a service, but it is only now that the Archdiocese has been able to secure personnel and initiate such a service.

The agency has purchased the residence at 117 North Division street for use as offices. The North Division street location was selected for the agency as it is near the downtown section of Ann Arbor and close to the University of Michigan campus so should be unduly difficult for clients to reach irrespective of the location of their homes. Proximity to the University of Michigan is an advantage as the agency plans to inaugurate a training program for student social workers.

The Rev. John A. Trese has been selected by the Archdiocese to be the director of the new agency, and Marguerite Parrish has been selected as executive secretary. Father Trese will continue to have his office in the Catholic Charities Building in Detroit, and Miss Parrish's office will be at 117 North Division street. Mrs. Elizabeth Berry, an Ann Arbor resident, has also been employed and will serve the agency in the capacity of case worker. Miss Elaine A. Dudzinski, a resident of Milford, is the newly opened agency's secretary.

The agency will for the present be supported by the Archdiocesan Development Fund. It is a service agency and not a relief agency. Its services will be offered to both children and adults of varying racial, nationalities, religious, social and economic backgrounds, who present a variety of personal and social difficulties. The purpose of these services is to assist one or more members of a family in handling problems that can disrupt family life. Such difficulty may arise from marital discord, emotional conflict, parental neglect of children, desertion, unemployment, mental illness, plans for the aged, budgeting, alcoholism or physical illness. Similar service is offered to the unmarried mother and her family in planning for the birth and care of her baby. The services with children will be closely interwoven with the other services and will be consonant with the purpose of the agency, to maintain and strengthen the family. Foster home placements and adoption services will be important parts of the agency program.

According to Miss Parrish, "The services offered by the agency will be closely coordinated with the existing community services. Family life education with prevention of family problems in mind is also numbered among the goals of the agency. According to Miss Parrish, 'Our future is dependent upon prevention; from more angles than we can afford the high cost of unhappy living.'

Problems brought to the agency will be dealt with on an individual or on a group level. When the problem concerns a lack of resources, such as the need for money, medical care, legal en-

Road Commission Honors Employees With Certificates

Oliver Walker and Victor Miller of Chelsea, have been presented certificates in recognition of 30 years of employment with the Washtenaw County Road Commission, according to an announcement by Howard G. Miner, Road Commission manager.

Norman Gregory of Dexter and Erwin Rothfuss of Saline were honored for 35 years of service, and Marvin L. Boelter and Rudolph W. Boelter of Manchester and William H. Rettig and Charles V. Pormorski of Ann Arbor were awarded certificates for 10 years of service.

Five year certificates were presented to Duane L. Breitenbach and Clarence J. Klumpp, both of Ann Arbor; George H. Chambers of South Lyon; Robert D. Hoffman of Dexter; Theodore Kulik of Ypsilanti and Raymond R. Rola and Egbert Treat, both of Manchester.

Michigan's lumbering industry is reviving fast and will soon be outstanding as a result of reforestation projects of 25 to 30 years ago. As a result, Michigan industry will have a handy wood supply.

tanglements etc., explanations and advice about appropriate resources can be easily given. When the problem lies in human relationships and feelings about them, advice is of little help. The case worker does not tell the troubled person what to do but rather they talk together about the problem, its development, the difficulties which lie in the way of solving it, and the feelings of pain and insecurity which make the solution difficult. Some individuals are helped with this new understanding of themselves and their problems by personal interviews with the case worker, others are helped by the group approach. The group therapy movement, which has rapidly developed during the last decade shows us that many people who are unable to accept help as individuals can be benefited by help which comes to them as members of a group. Psychiatric and psychological consultation will when indicated also be a part of agencies program for helping people.

Individuals interested in service will please write to the Executive Secretary, Miss Marguerite Parrish, at 117 North Division street address in Ann Arbor, telephone the agency, NO 2-4534, or make a personal visit to the office. Individuals may make their own appointments for service or be referred by an interested person or agency. Many referrals come from physicians, attorneys, schools, clergymen, employers and courts.

Police Warn Extra Caution Needed on Holiday Week-End

With fears mounting that Michigan's safety record of the last three years may have reached a turn for the worse, State Police are warning motorists to be unusually alert in the all time high traffic volume for that holiday expected over the Memorial Day week-end.

Nationally there has been an increase of five per cent in deaths in the first quarter of the year. January, February and March had reductions in deaths in Michigan compared with the same months last year, but the influence of the national trend was felt in April in the state with a sharp increase of 20 per cent. There was, however, a net reduction of 14 per cent for the first quarter, but accidents have been increasing since last fall.

The improvement in the economy and the ease and safety of travel with the long and confining winter months, will be accompanied by an upswing in deaths unless drivers exert every caution and drive defensively," according to Commissioner Joseph A. Childs. "The warning signals are up and the holiday will test whether we are in for real trouble in the months ahead, or whether Michigan can run counter to the national trend and continue with a good record."

To be ready for the holiday, past days of State Police officers have been canceled and patrol shifts lengthened from eight to 10 hours during the period from noon Friday, May 29, to midnight Sunday, May 31.

The State Police also have been assigned 129 National Guardsmen to serve as the second men on two-man patrols, releasing the regular second men for additional patrols. Sheriffs will have 96 Guardsmen.

Radar and speed control devices will be used by the State Police in the areas of heaviest travel and there will be aerial observation of traffic conditions.

Last year 13 persons died over the holiday, one every six hours. The worst Memorial holiday was in 1941 with 58 traffic deaths and the best in 1950 when only four died.

WARM WEATHER is just around the corner—the weatherman tells us—and with its arrival millions of vacationers will begin pounding a steady path to Michigan's 59 state parks and recreation areas. Wear and tear on recreational facilities by 17,000,000 visitors in 1958 left Conservation Department employees and inmate labor with a heavy work-load during the off-season months. Workers are now painting and touching up equipment in preparation for the busy summer months that lie ahead.

State Park Facilities Made Ready For Onslaught of Summer Crowd

Lansing—Summer's returning throng of swimmers, hikers, picnickers and campers will pleasantly note the changes made at state parks and recreation areas in Michigan since their 1958 visit.

Construction of new buildings was blocked and addition of many major improvements was curtailed considerably because of a lack of funds. Nevertheless, Department employees and inmate labor crews are busy painting, improving and repairing facilities to meet the approaching summer rush.

Campers will find new campgrounds at the Porcupine Mountains park and Metamora recreation area. Electricity, lotted sites and roads are being added at the Allegan park campground. New sewage disposal systems will service campgrounds at Gogebic park and Waterloo recreation area.

Several buildings have been remodeled and moved from the campground in Mitchell park, permitting future expansion of the camping area there. The park's picnic shelter was also remodeled and moved to the picnic grounds.

Concession and bath house buildings at Wilson park and Yankee Springs and Island Lake recreation areas underwent some interior face-lifting this winter while the historic buildings at Fort Wilkins will receive a fresh coat of white paint this spring.

Water systems are being repaired at Orchard Beach and Holland parks and Waterloo and Rochester recreation areas while sewage disposal systems at Orchard Beach, Gogebic, Straits and Interlochen parks and Waterloo and Rochester-Utica recreation areas are also undergoing repair.

Straits, Ludington, Silver Lake, D. H. Day, Lakeport and Wilson parks and Holly and Prou Lake recreation areas will have resurfaced roads.

This is Michigan Week—Michigan is second among the states in payment of taxes to the Federal government.

Proposed Half-Mill Tax Would Educate 169 Handicapped Chelsea Area Children

The Washtenaw county survey of handicapped children made to determine the need for a county-wide special education program shows 169 handicapped in the Chelsea area or about 1 in 10 of the district's 1,549 pupils.

Chelsea district electors, along with others throughout the county, will vote at a half-mill county school election on a tax to provide special education for the handicapped.

The survey showed a total of 3,072 county children in need of special education, also about 1 in 10 of the total county school population of 35,000 children.

Of the Chelsea district's 169 handicapped, 60 are receiving special teaching; 34 speech handicapped and one home-bound student.

Not receiving special education are 48 mentally retarded, 14 with orthopedic handicaps (crippling conditions such as cerebral palsy, poliomyelitis, amputation, cardiac and rheumatic fever cases), two deaf or hard of hearing; three blind or partially sighted; 54 emotionally disturbed; and three brain damaged.

Because individual districts such as Chelsea could not afford to provide special teachers for all the various kinds of handicapped, state law provides for a county-wide program supervised by the county school board.

Under the plan, centers for various types of handicaps are set up in individual school districts which agree to take non-resident pupils from other county districts. The centers are reimbursed from the county special education tax fund.

They also will receive up to four times the normal state aid allowance, of $190 per pupil, depending on the type of handicap. In cases where it isn't practical to set up a center, the county board may hire special teachers and send them to the schools or homes in the case of the home-bound.

If approved, the program would be put into operation as soon as teachers and other staff could be secured and rooms made available. The half-mill tax would include enough to build three or four classrooms per year, Washtenaw County School Supt. Julius W. Haab estimates.

The classrooms would be built onto existing or proposed buildings, not erected as a separate county unit. Educators believe it is desirable to have the handicapped in as close contact as possible with normal children and as close to home as possible.

Supt. Haab points out that special education now may help these children become self-supporting adults rather than tax burdens. He believes the program is a logical extension of the American belief in free public education to provide equal opportunity for all.

awards won at the state Kiwanis bowling tournament at Beulah last month.

Announcement was also made of an inter-club meeting at the Michigan Union at Ann Arbor last night in observance of the charter night. Those who planned to attend included Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Anton-Nielsen, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bishop and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Daniels.

It was reported that eight Kiwanians attended the Kiwanis club meeting at Mason, Tuesday night, May 12, as a return visit in recognition of the May 11 visit of Mason Kiwanians here.

Five of the Chelsea men made the pages of the Ingham County News as Brothers of the Brush. Their photograph and mention of Chelsea's 125th anniversary appeared in the paper there after their visit. The five are A. D. Mayor, Anton-Nielsen, Dr. P. E. Sharrard, P. F. Niehaus and Leo Bishop.

Bishop, who is president of the Chelsea club, conducted the meeting of the Mason club. P. F. Niehaus led community singing with Mrs. Niehaus at the piano; and Charles Cameron was the guest speaker.

Robert L. Drake, Ingham county probate judge, had been the guest speaker at the May 11 meeting of the Kiwanis club of Chelsea. Seven Kiwanians from Mason attended that meeting held in the social center of the Methodist church.

AN IMPROMPTU CONCERT took place in front of the Chelsea Fire Department's hall on East Middle street when firemen held one of their regular meetings Tuesday evening, May 12. As evidence of their membership each is wearing "facial foliage" of some kind and some have their anniversary hats. Unexpected musical talent was revealed when the men got together. A "little brown jug" was part of the stage setting when the picture was taken. Shown seated, from left, are Richard Rogers, playing a guitar (and wearing Fire Chief

The medley relay team, composed of Larry Schramm, Ron Doering, Dalice Ferris, and Don Sexton placed second in the regional meet with the time of 2:40.9.

The 880-yd. relay team of Schramm, Robin Wright, Loren Keizer and Ferris placed third with a time of 1:38.3 which is a school record for the event.

Fritz Wagner in the shot put, came up with his best effort of the season as his toss of 40 ft. 11 inches placed fifth. Wagner's put was another school record.

Mekune Library

Will Open for Public on June 29

The Mekune Memorial Library will be opened to the public on June 29. The structural work is nearly completed, and cleaning and painting are now the order of the day.

It is hoped that many volunteers will call GR 5-4001 and GR 9-7761 immediately offering services, and that enough volunteers will come forward so that some painting will be in progress continuously for the next fortnight. It is hoped to complete the children's room (downstairs-south) this week-end.

Nine members of the Youth Center spent Saturday, May 16, painting walls and woodwork. They were: Don Ferguson, Don Wood, Victor Blecharczyk, Anita Elsmann, and Lynn Lipphart.

Unfortunately, much that was planned cannot be done with presently available funds, and possibly some outstanding bills cannot be met at present. The eaves and cornices still need repair. The back porch is not built, the memorial plate is not provided for, the front door canopy must remain as it is at present.

The Board is hoping that additional donations, very substantial ones, will be forthcoming from both individuals and organizations.

Volunteers

Needed for Blood Clinic

Mrs. Dudley Holmes, Chelsea Community Blood Bank Chairman, announced this week that a blood donor clinic will be held Friday, May 29, at Cassidy Lake Technical school, and she will be needing volunteers from the community to assist.

This is the second clinic held at Cassidy Lake, the blood donated being designated for the boys' families.

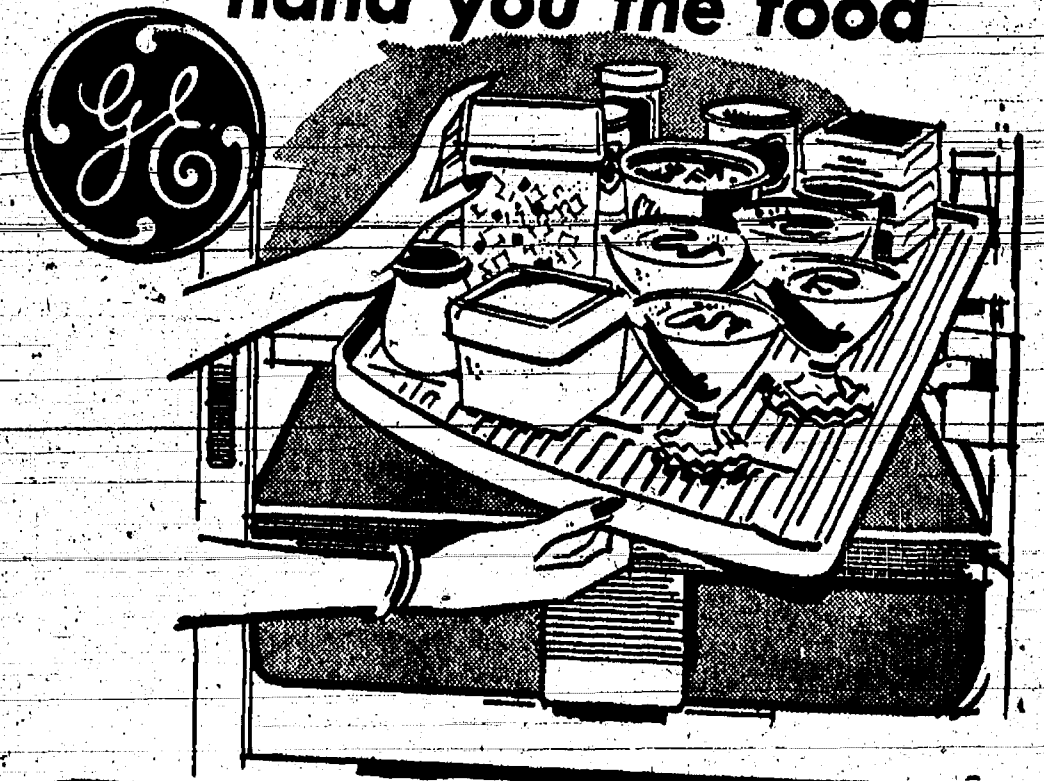

The Detroit Regional Red Cross mobile unit will be in charge. Clinic hours are from 9 a.m. until 12 noon and from 1 p.m. until 8 p.m. Lunch will be served to the workers at noon.

Mrs. Holmes said volunteers needed are nurses, registrars and aides and she would appreciate having volunteers call her and offer their services. She said she realizes that the day before the Memorial holiday might prove inconvenient for volunteers, but the mobile unit must schedule extra clinics whenever it is free to handle them.

Mrs. M. J. Baxter, who will be in charge of the canteen which is customarily a part of the clinic, also will need volunteer workers and anyone who might be able to help should call her.

Two Former CHS Athletes Star at WMU

Two former Chelsea star athletes are doing outstanding jobs at Western Michigan University. Footballer Ted Nixon is the Broncos starting center and baseballer Phil Bareis, a left-hander, is a starting hurler.

Football coach Merle J. Schlosser is happy about the spring drills work of center Nixon who was a starter as a sophomore at that position last season. He is looking forward to Ted's leadership next fall as the Broncos will play their most ambitious schedule ever, including a date with rugged University of Detroit Titans. Schlosser feels that Nixon is potentially an all-Mid-American Conference center.

Bareis, who lost a no-hitter to Florida State in the spring baseball tourney at Florida State University (Tallahassee) also beat FSU, then took conference wins against Bowling Green and Toledo as the Broncos hope to retain the league and district crowns and gain another trip to the world series at Omaha, Neb. Last year, WMU finished third in the nation.

A senior, Bareis is one of coach Charles Maher's work-horses this season as WMU has compiled a 12-2 winning season (8-2 mark at Florida State tourney) (4-0 in MAC play) (6-1 against Big Ten opposition, including double wins over Michigan, Michigan State, and Iowa). The only Big Ten WMU loss was the opener at FSU, 3-0 to Big Ten co-leader, Illinois.

Leland J. Kalmbach Heads One of Nation's Largest Insurance Firms

Leland J. Kalmbach, a native of Chelsea and a 1923 graduate of the University of Michigan, has for the past nine years been president of the 10th largest life insurance company in this country.

He is chief executive of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co. of Springfield, Mass., a 107-year-old firm which currently has assets of more than $2½ billion and total life insurance in force of nearly $7 billion.

When he was elected president of Massachusetts Mutual on May 19, 1950 at the age of 49, Kalmbach was the youngest man to head a major life insurance company. In the intervening years the company has gone through a period of dynamic and unprecedented growth under his leadership.

Massachusetts Mutual's field force has doubled in size since 1950. The rates of return on the company's investments have been among the highest in the industry, and dividends to most classes of policyholders have been liberalized four times since 1953 to reflect favorable mortality experience, operating efficiencies, and rising investment income.

Kalmbach is regarded as one of the best known and most widely traveled executives in the life insurance business today. He initially got his reputation through contacts made as vice-president and head of the re-insurance division of another large life insurance company.

In the years he was negotiating re-insurance contracts with more than 200 life insurance companies, he spent nearly 40 per cent of his time on the road visiting home offices throughout the country. He became acquainted with thousands of life insurance officials, and his flair for comradeship and his cordial personality made him a welcome visitor wherever he went. This experience furnished him with an excellent insight into how life insurance companies, both large and small, are administered, and he thus acquired a background which has helped him immeasurably in his present position as president of a major company.

Kalmbach's father owned two farms near Chelsea and had a family of five growing children when at the age of 40 he decided to go to college. He became a lawyer and practiced law in Chelsea for many years.

His son, Leland, was educated in the Chelsea schools where he took a keen interest in mathematics as soon as he began studying his first textbook on the subject. At the age of 13 he ran a newspaper route covering the entire town with Detroit Journal readers and had several older boys working for him. "I got to know the value of a dollar," he said, "and also to appreciate the value of an education, so I decided to go to college."

Polio Shots Urged Now For Children

Polio vaccine should be given to every unprotected child in Washtenaw county before the start of the mid-summer "polio season" or that period when most polio cases occur, according to Dr. Otto K. Engelke, Director of the Washtenaw County Health Department.

"It is not too late to begin the polio vaccinations," said Dr. Engelke. "Even two injections of the vaccine are helpful in preventing polio, although a total of three is required for complete protection."

Dr. Engelke said that family doctors of Washtenaw county are still giving polio vaccine in their offices to all patients who request it. Medical Society members are again offering vaccinations for children without charge in those cases where parents are unable to pay for the service.

The schedule for vaccinations calls for the second injection to follow the first by one month and the third injection to follow the second by six months. It was pointed out by Dr. Engelke that even those children who have had no vaccine, could get at least two injections before the real danger period.

"There is sufficient time, there is sufficient vaccine, and doctors are willing to give their services," he said, "to protect the children of our county. As parents we have no excuse for our children not being protected," Engelke said.

During 1958 there were a total of 11 cases of polio reported in Washtenaw county, 7 of which were paralytic. A total of 10 cases occurred in children and only 1 case in persons over 18 years of age. Only one person contracted polio after having had all three polio vaccinations.

There is little chance of having a major outbreak of polio as was experienced in the Detroit area last year, in Engelke's opinion. This is due to the excellent results obtained by family doctors giving the vaccine in their offices. This has resulted in many areas of the county having 80 per cent or more of the children protected.

There is likelihood that isolated cases of polio will be found in some areas where the immunization level is not high.

UAW-CIO Local Will Elect Officers

Amalgamated Local Union No. 437, UAW-CIO, will elect officers tomorrow. The election will take place in the Union Hall from 7 a.m. until 6 p.m.

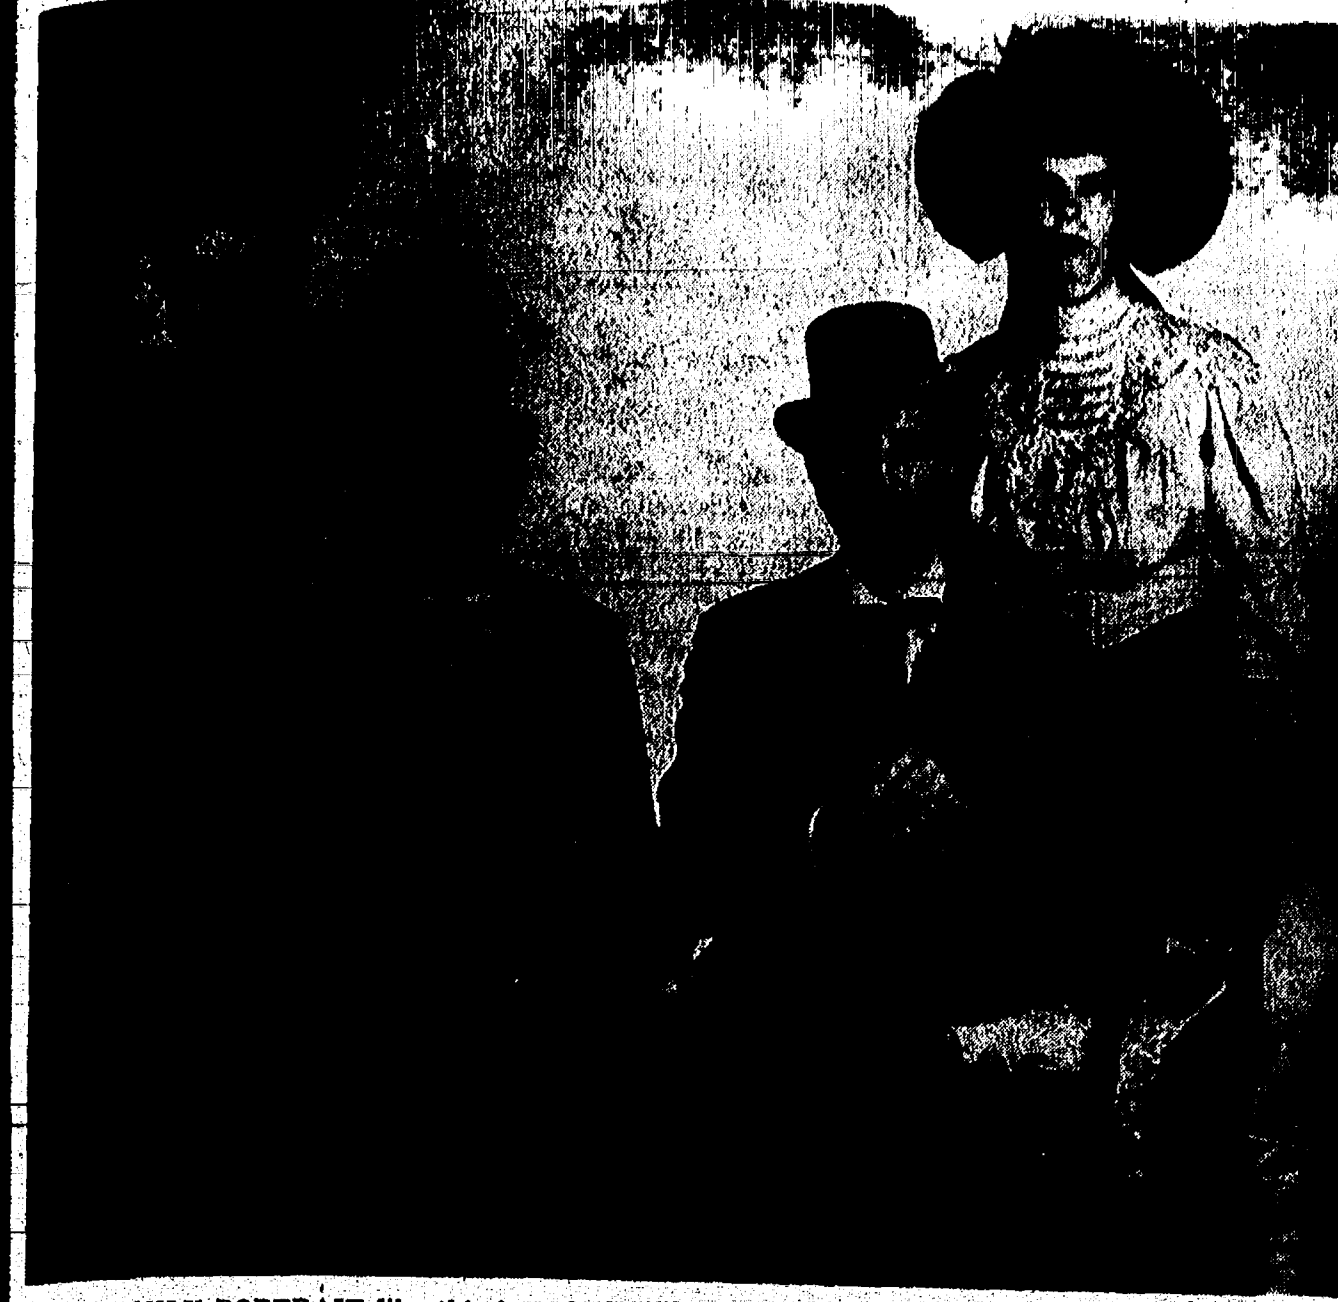

Harvey Lixey is unopposed for the office of president and Mac Packard is the only candidate for vice-president.

Three candidates are seeking election as financial secretary-treasurer. They are K. R. McMannis, Al Maher and Mitchell Picklesimer.

Charles "Pat" Patrick and Stanley Polight are candidates for the post of recording secretary.

Unopposed are Donna Joseph as trustee for four years, and Western Allen, trustee for two years.

No candidates have been named for the offices of guide and sergeant-at-arms but the ballots provide space for write-ins for the two offices.

A FAMILY PORTRAIT like this is to be the prize for the winner of the contest to select an appropriate name for the week-long 125th Anniversary program, July 11-18. Pictures in similar style will also be taken at an old-time "studio" to be set up Friday, May 29, from 4 p.m. until 9 p.m. on Main street between Grove's and Winans' stores. Dressed in the elegant styles of the "gay nineties" to have their pictures taken are Mr. and Mrs. J. Vincent Burg, I, their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. Vincent Burg, II, and the younger Burg's son, Gregg.

Teen-Age Drivers — Group Problem or Problem Group?

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of regular reports to be made to the MSU Highway Traffic Safety Center on traffic problems of topical interest.

East Lansing—"The car is only a symbol of the unearned increment that a kid should not be given unless it's absolutely necessary."

This view has been expressed recently by entertainer Sam Levenson, perhaps best known as a comedian, but still a keen observer of our contemporary America scene.

Levenson's comments are typical of the widespread concern over the stress-teen-agers place on the importance of the automobile to their social well-being and success.

Is concern justified? Parents think it is. Teen-agers feel concern is over-protective and subjective to their interests.

A different viewpoint has been taken by Dr. William A. Mann in reporting a study made of 100 problem-teen-age drivers. Dr. Mann is associate professor in the teacher education department at Michigan State University and is assigned to the MSU Highway Traffic Safety Center.

Mann feels it is important to understand the symbolism associated with the automobile as far as teen-agers are concerned.

Levenson presents the automobile as a symbol of undeserved rights and privileges afforded the teen-ager. Mann feels Levenson is speaking to the parent and for the parent's benefit. Mann presents the automobile as a different symbol when the teen-agers themselves are considered.

"The use of the car is a symbol of growing up and of acquiring highly prized independence," Mann emphasizes. "Also, I think the teen-agers seem to be exhilarated by the feel of new power at their command when they are driving."

Mann points out that his studies indicate that most teen-agers control this new power and their impulses reasonably well when they're behind the wheel of an automobile.

He feels that most teen-agers get themselves in no more difficulty than does the average adult when driving. This he attributes to good home training, to an adequately developing sense of responsibility, or to concern over possible loss of their driving privilege.

Some teen-agers, however, do not learn rapidly enough to accept responsibility. Some, having strong urges and more unstable personalities, actually accept little or no responsibility.

It is this group that make up the special problem group as teen-age drivers. This is the group experiencing difficulties in adjusting effectively to their changing life situation.

This lack of proper adjustment is basically what brings about driving difficulties. And in most cases, it is this special problem group of teen-agers that attracts attention by excessive dependence upon the automobile as an emotional outlet.

Mann's study indicates ways in which maladjustment expresses itself in driving.

Many teen-agers in the special problem group exhibit an extreme desire for recognition. They feel that through reckless use of the automobile they achieve this desired recognition.

Excessive speed may give feelings of escape. Still other teen-agers may express attitudes of active hostility toward control by completely rejecting responsibilities inherent in driving an automobile.

Teen-agers exhibiting these tendencies produce more than their share of accidents. They give teen-agers as a group a bad reputation on the road.

Basis for Mann's observations was a study of 100 case histories of problem-teen-age drivers. These case histories were prepared by driver education teachers throughout Michigan.

Three major causes of bad driving were brought out in the case histories. These are home life problems, detrimental personality traits and disregard for traffic rules, regulations and authority.

Some of the home problems indicated were broken homes, homes having serious inter-personal problems, homes in which both parents were working resulting in little supervision over the teen-ager, over-authoritarian homes, homes in which too many material things were given the teen-ager, homes in which parents exhibited improper attitudes toward law enforcement and safe driving practices.

Two adverse character traits were most frequently noted. These were "show-off" attitudes and hostility.

A high percentage of traffic tickets and license suspensions alluded to.

OPEN HOUSE for Merkel's newly-decorated furniture room at their Main Street store was held last Friday and Saturday when approximately 850 visitors registered for door prizes. Two of the prizes are shown in the above photo as they appeared at the store. The ladies are Mildred Liebeck, center, and Audrey Harris. Robert Merkel, one of the younger Merkel Brothers, is with them. They were photographed at the north end of the new addition which provides a total of 3,500 square feet of space devoted entirely to showing furniture groupings. The store presents a most attractive appearance with its all-glass front and modern canopy over the sidewalk.

LELAND J. KALMBACH

go on to the University of Michigan.

He entered the university in 1919 and was graduated in 1923. At college he majored in business administration and actuarial mathematics and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa national honorary society and Delta Sigma Pi professional fraternity. He was a student of the famous Professor J. W. Glover who turned out more graduates who became actuaries than any other professor in America.

Kalmbach, in addition to his liking for mathematics, soon discovered a talent for sales. While a student at Michigan during the depression year of 1921, he got a chance to sell subscriptions and in the process learned a great deal about family economic problems.

During a vacation period in 1922 he went to work for an insurance agency in Detroit and learned about canvassing for prospects. In discussing this period of his life, Kalmbach has said, "Getting my first observation of the merchandising end of the life insurance he was elected a director. On reaching Springfield, Mass., it did not take him long to make friends with the home office and field staffs and to impress them with his evident interest in the welfare of company personnel. Since his accession to the presidency the company has developed one of the broadest and most liberal employee benefit programs in the industry.

Kalmbach has devoted considerable time to industry and civic groups and organizations. He is a Fellow of the Society of Actuaries and a former chairman of the executive committee of the Medical Impairment Bureau. He is a director of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co., vice-chairman of the Development Council of the University of Michigan, and a member of the executive committee of the American Life Convention, and the joint committee of the American Life Convention and the Life Insurance Association of America on Economic Policy.

He serves on the finance committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to assist in the study of national problems that affect the work of all banks and financial institutions and to help develop Chamber policies and programs to meet these problems.

In Springfield, Kalmbach is a trustee of the Eastern States Exposition Corp., and the United Fund of Greater Springfield, a trustee and chairman of the finance committee of Springfield Hospital, and a member of the community funds advisory committee. He was president of the board for a recent hospital building fund campaign which raised over $1½ million. He is also a member of the board of governors of the Augusta National Golf Club, Augusta, Ga.

LIBRARY VOLUNTEERS—Lined up on the steps of the McKune Memorial Library Thursday evening, ready for three hours of volunteer work, removing wall paper and cleaning the walls, were 17 members of the Brothers of the Brush Chapter called Cavanaugh Lake Porcupines. Supervised by William Collins, a member of the Library Board, the "Porcupines" covered lots of ground (on the walls, that is) during the evening. Reading from top to bottom, those in the first row at the left are Richard Rudd, Floyd DeHaven, A. Akins, Harold Schauer, Dr. Jerome Casey and Walter Schrader, Jr., "main brush" of the chapter. In the middle row are John Rudd, Herman Bertke, Lowell Scripser, Norman Colvia and Max Ormsby, while those in the row at the right are William Howard, Ed. Lantis, Harold Waller, Joe DeCoster, Clinton Coitner and Roy Guenther. Others who helped in the project but do not appear in the picture are Harold Scott, Ed. Lauson and Graham Sprague. Ormsby, DeHaven and Waller were designated as "consulting engineers."

Michigan Week Job Made Difficult By Hagglng Over State's Cash Crisis

This is Michigan Week. The one week set aside each year when residents of the entire state of Michigan put on their best manners and publicly proclaim "It's Good To Live in Michigan," and boast of the many outstanding features of the state.

For five years prior to the present, since the annual event was inaugurated, the job was comparatively simple. Our state does have many, many features of which we can all be proud. We still think it is the greatest state of the country. But this year, week by week and month by month reports of Michigan's financial crisis and the subsequent lack of any progress being made in Lansing to cope with the solution, the job has been made more difficult.

The deadlock between the governor, holding out for some form of personal income tax program coupled with a corporations-profits tax, and the legislature, favoring an increase in sales tax or use tax, has long since ceased to interest and most people are finding it very disgusting.

What people across the nation don't realize is that the state's widely publicized financial crisis is not a case of the state being bankrupt or becoming a welfare state, but simply the result of a political battle. As a result of this battle the state has received such unfavorable publicity that it will take years to overcome the adverse effect.

An example of this facet of the state's money problems was pointed out last week in a release from Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie.

The Commissioner stated that nation-wide publicity of exaggerated claims about Michigan's "unfavorable business climate" and legislative failure to provide funds to maintain Michigan credit may cost the state's taxpayers millions of dollars in extra interest on future highway bond issues.

More than $8 million of a $25 million Detroit expressway bond issue, purchased by underwriters March 3, remains unsold as of today. From coast to coast investment bankers report a public reluctance to buy the bonds because of what people have read and heard about Michigan's financial condition, Mackie reports.

In contrast, a year ago almost all of a $100 million state highway bond issue was sold out by underwriters in less than a week.

The ridiculous part of it, according to the Commissioner, is that these highway bonds are guaranteed by constitutionally earmarked gas and weight taxes, and this security is in no way whatsoever affected by the condition of the state's general fund.

The Highway Department plans to issue an additional $300 million in highway bonds during the next few years to help finance our 1 1/2 billion, five-year highway construction program. The upshot is we are being warned that the public resistance the underwriters are experiencing with our last $25 million issue will probably force us to pay a higher rate in the future to attract buyers, even though security for Michigan highway bonds is not endangered by the present cash crisis.

Real damage has been done to Michigan in the national money market—when in fact many of our bonds—and especially highway bonds—are among the best risks in the nation for investment capital.

Unless the legislature and the governor get together on some kind of program soon to meet the cash crisis and restore an adequate basis for future operating revenues, it will further compound the damage already done. Each day that passes without action adds to the price we may pay and hurts the state in the eyes of the nation.

Are Highway Fatalities Avoidable?

You can pick up a newspaper anywhere in the United States, any day in the week, and you will read about fatal highway accidents. The accidents you read about will be mostly local, unless the victims are of wide importance and even the local deaths will get small space unless the people are especially prominent.

There was a time, not so long ago, when the killing of a pedestrian by an automobile was news. The crash of two speeding automobiles, involving the death of two or three persons, got the headlines. Today, however, the public takes the highway fatalities as a matter of course, assumes that they are, in part, unavoidable, and in almost every instance, acquiesces in the verdict that nobody is especially to blame.

In a recent study of almost 1,000 drivers involved in fatal highway accidents, highway officials found that only 28 served time in jail and only 95 paid fines. More than 86 per cent of the drivers were not penalized by the courts in any way.

A study of the case histories creates the impression that the penalties imposed by the courts are seldom in "reasonable proportion" to the offenses, but the bureau making the study does not find fault with the courts, saying that the failure to inflict proper punishment is due to the difficulty of obtaining evidence admissible to court under the rules of evidence sufficient to convict and, also perhaps, to the lack of a criminal code designed to fit present-day motor vehicle accident cases.

In regard to many of the highway fatalities, the public takes the view that they are the result of the hazards of the road. While there is basis for such a conclusion, in regard to some accidents, the fact is that many are caused by failure to follow regulations set up for highway safety. The careful supervision of the issuance of drivers' licenses, rigid inspection and strict regulation of motor vehicles on the highways, and vigorous enforcement of highway regulations will do much to cut down the death toll.

The time to avoid fatal accidents is before they occur. Afterwards it is too late to do the victims any good.

★ MICHIGAN MIRROR ★

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Michigan's eight million citizens proudly threw out their chests this week in observance of Michigan Week.

When all of the reports are in, this year's Michigan Week promises to be the most successful celebration in the six-year history of the unique event.

Michigan is the only state in the U. S. that sets aside one week each year to tell the rest of the world about its past, present and future wonders.

Republicans and Democrats, labor and management, farmers and residents of our cities join hands in a common effort to promote the state and its unlimited advantages and resources.

In all, more than 5,000 persons from all walks of life are taking an active part in the planning of Michigan Week programs in the state's 83 counties.

This is proof that the people of Michigan can and will work together for the common good of their state.

Michigan Week is unique in other ways, too. It is financed, for instance, by voluntary contributions from civic, business and labor organizations.

In this day of so-called "government handouts," it is refreshing to see an event of this scope financed entirely by private funds.

The state legislature could appropriate money to finance Michigan Week. Other states use tax money to help foot the bill for their "spectaculars." But not Michigan.

The per capita cost of Michigan Week is less than one-half of one cent.

There's no way to estimate the "return" on each dollar spent to promote Michigan Week. But it probably would seem unbelievable if it were known.

The state receives literally millions of dollars worth of free publicity each year as a result of Michigan Week.

In addition, it receives hundreds of thousands of dollars of donated time from the 5,000 citizens, including many top executives, who offer their services to make and execute Michigan Week plans.

Officials of Greater Michigan, Inc., a non-profit corporation that sponsors Michigan Week, consider the annual celebration a long-range investment in the state's future.

As a result, a great deal of emphasis is placed on the observance of Michigan Week by school children . . . tomorrow's leaders.

School officials say boys and girls graduating from high school today know more about Michigan and its colorful history than graduates of just a few years ago, thanks to Michigan Week.

"It has been the most amazing thing I have ever seen," a veteran Lansing teacher said.

"The interest in Michigan and its history in the last four or five years has even resulted in the publication of half a dozen new books about Michigan and we are using several of them as textbooks."

The same teacher, a history major, said he believes Michigan Week has created a demand for historical novels about Michigan.

"We have been so busy growing that no one has taken the time to write these novels," he said.

But more authors are using the many plots available for colorful historical novels about the state because there is a market for these books.

Activities in many of the state's schools have almost become a part of the curriculum. Teachers plan activities in the fall and students work on them through the winter and spring.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

I see where England wants us to let 'em have some squirrels for their parks in London. This could bring on international complications, might be a job for the United Nations. Do they want 'em on lend lease or do they aim to pay us cash on the barrel head?

This could get to be a global squirrel situation, and we might find it necessary to come to the aid of all under-squirrelled nations. Does the present administration have a definite squirrel policy?

Estes Kefauver is shore to fight the squirrel deal with England. He's not interested in nothing but the coonskin supply and would probably ask for a Senate investigation if we sent squirrels to England. This would bring the State Department into the squabble. They would contend that the squirrel angle could very well get over into the rabbit angle, and from there it might involve the world supply of cabbage. That would bring the Agriculture Department into the thing.

But most of them Congressmen we sent to Washington would contend that if the free world is short on squirrels, we should come to their aid. When a feller gets to be a Congressman he gets over come with the giving spirit. But I figger we're supplying the world with everything else so why not throw in a few squirrels?

We had a real good session at the country store Saturday night. One young feller said he was born on credit and he aimed to be buried on credit. In that one sentence he summed up the modern deficit finance system better'n a Congressman could do it in 12 pages in the Congressional Record.

And one feller was accusing Ed Doolittle of holding the lantern for his wife to chop some wood the other night. Ed said he must have took him fer somebody else on account of him being too much of a gentleman to let his wife chop wood after dark. But Ed did allow as how they was having a little scandal in his family. He said the teacher told his grandson he was too skinny and he ought to drink more milk. The boy told the teacher he couldn't get no increase in his milk rations on account of there not being enough now for the hogs. The boy was just joking but the teacher took it serious and notified the welfare department. Ed says the neighborhood has been full of uplifters all week investigating the matter and he figgers they'll arrest the hogs afore it's over.

I see where the Queen of Holland says the Dutch was depending on the United States. It'd be a fair question to ask the good Queen if she knows anybody on earth that ain't.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

★ Praying for Growth

The tulips and narcissuses on the south side of our village's Roman Catholic rectory came up earlier this year than any other flowers in town. A recent book suggests the thought that they may have grown faster because they were irradiated by the prayers of the good Padre.

The book I have in mind, "The Power of Prayer on Plants," was written by a Presbyterian minister in Los Angeles, the Rev. Franklin Loehr, and was reviewed in the April 18 issue of "Time."

Pastor Loehr became interested in the experiments of Prof. Joseph Rhine of Duke University in the field of extra-sensory perception. Dr. Rhine has found that some people are able to draw specific cards out of a deck more frequently than they could be expected to do by chance. In other words, they can sense the markings on the cards without seeing them. Other persons seemed to be able to influence mentally the fall of a pair of dice. By concentrating on certain spots, they could make those spots come up more often than they normally would.

As reported in "Time," "Loehr and his associates bought two sealed jars of water, prayed hard over one, ignored the other, and used them to water two equal sets of seeds, planted under identical conditions. Two weeks later the prayed-over water had produced seven seedlings, the ordinary water only three."

In another experiment, the researchers prayed for the growth of 23 kernels of corn planted on one side of a pan, prayed against growth of the same number of kernels in the other half of the pan. "Sixteen sturdy little seedlings greeted us on the positive side. On the negative side there was but one."

"Time" readers, impressed by the reports, began to make serious and logical suggestions about the use of this power. One thought "negative" prayer might be a useful weapon against weeds. Another suggested it as a means of controlling the farm surplus.

A Lutheran pastor suggested we could pray against the Communists, and thought they could not counter-attack, "for the Communists don't even believe in prayer."

A poet has said that "prayer is the soul's sincere desire, uttered or unexpressed." Even if they don't believe in prayer, the Communists have some sincere desires, and this has something to do with the successes they have achieved. Whether their desires are offered to God or to the Devil, "the prince of this world," would be a subject for theologians to discuss.

My mother had a "green thumb." I don't know whether she said prayers over her plants or not, but she certainly had a sincere desire that they would do well, and they usually did. If sincere prayers are good for growing plants, they should be good for growing boys and girls, too.

HAVE WE PLANNED FOR GROWTH?

There was the St. Bernard who grew and grew as some dogs will and awoke one day to find himself stuck in the dog house. All because nobody planned for his growth. Some towns have found themselves in the same fix, and for the same reason.

How about our town?

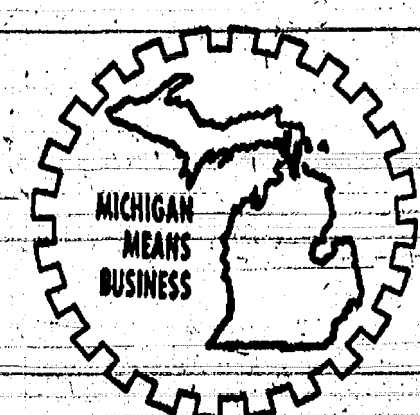

Are we concerned enough about having a future for our town, about having a future in our town for the boys and girls now growing up? If we are, then we as individuals will be solidly behind the kind of community planning that provides for growth and opens the way for prosperity. It includes, for example, modern zoning, thorough financial planning by the municipality, preparation for adequate schools and services and the provision of fully developed land for industry.

The Youth Center is closing for the month of May because of too many activities. Meetings, however, will be continued each Monday night at the Municipal Building. Everyone is invited to attend these meetings and new ideas would be appreciated.

The art classes have been doing projects in sculpture, printing, painting and mosaic. Now they are making vases, bowls and ash trays out of clay. They are painting landscapes, still life and abstracts in watercolors. Some students are working on murals in oil-paint for the lounge. Taking part in this project are:

Linda Burghardt, Ellen Kusch, Ron Warren, Carolyn Miller, Vic Blecharczyk and Marketa Young. It is hoped to have the pleasure of enjoying these paintings in the near future.

Last Friday the FTA (Future Teachers Association) sent 10 students to the elementary schools to aid in the kindergarten round-up. All the children planning to attend kindergarten in the fall were present with their parents. Cookies and punch were served to the children, while the parents held a discussion period concerning the coming year. Those assisting were Sandie Karner, Ellen Kusch, Kathryn Kinde, Nadine Lentz, Karen Munro, Lana Centilli, George Wilson, Elaine Walker, and Marketa Young.

In Phys. Ed. the girls are finishing up a fast moving unit on tennis. The next thing coming up is soft ball and the girls will be going outside to play. They are looking forward to this unit very much.

The Junior High Student Council meeting was presided over by President Dudley Holmes. The council has a balance of $85.82. Dot Martin and Virginia Le Van were appointed to check with Mr. Grove and Mr. Sanborn about musical assemblies. The school picnic and plans for it were discussed.

The president was asked to check with Mr. Conklin about the award catalogue to choose an emblem for the student council membership card.

In the English classes, under the excellent guidance of Miss Reidel, seventh graders have taken up the subject of business and friendly letters. They have been working on this unit now for the past week and hope to finish it by the end of the week.

Science classes are becoming more and more interesting as they continue on into the research of the various vitamins, minerals, proteins, etc., that our body needs to survive.

Recently in History they have taken up the topic of North America, trying to discuss more ways in which the world is interdependent. Mr. Prinzing and Mrs. La Goe teach the ever-popular history classes.

The young mathematicians in math class are having quite a struggle as they try to learn the reasons pro and con for using ratios. Math classes are taught by Mrs. Papsdorf and Mr. Bussler, who also has a seventh grade science class.

Deadline for all sophomore back dues and second semester dues was Friday May 15, according to a statement by treasurer Diane Holmes.

The geometry classes finished a unit on proportional line segments and have started learning about similar polygons.

In World History they are studying about Russia and looking at exchange magazines from Russia.

In English the sophomores are to hand in a book review on "Sins of Man" this six weeks which they are reading out of their literature books on their own time.

The Girls' Athletic Association chose up sides Tuesday night after school to compete against each other in a series of baseball games. This is merely for an extra-planned activity for the GAA girls.

French club elected for next year's officers president, Rita Rapp; vice-president, Lynn Slusser; recording secretary, Judy Martin; corresponding secretary, Carol Bureis. The class then composed a letter in French to their former club sponsor, Mrs. Bald. The Student Council was very active last week and got several things accomplished.

Tom Dunlap reported that if chaperons can be obtained, there will be noon dances. The bulletin boards that the shop boys are making for the council are progressing and should be completed shortly.

Land Unsited for Farming Can Make Good Woodlot

All land owners are interested in utilizing most of their land to the best advantage. Farmers, particularly, try to manage their farm in such a way that each acre of land does its best work. The way the land is used should depend on its natural capability. The greatest income will be obtained when the crops grown and the management system used are best suited to the character of the land. Many farms include some land that is so undesirable for the production of agricultural crops that it is unprofitable to use it for this purpose. Sandy soils, very stony soils, and lands with a steep sloping surface might be better put to some other use. These lands are more efficiently utilized by planting a crop of trees, preferably coniferous plantations, to produce timber products, and to encourage a larger crop of animals and birds.

The county ASC committee administers and Agricultural Conservation program (ACP) to encourage, by cost-sharing with the land owner, wise use of the land. Cost-sharing of about half of the cost involved in establishing a plantation, or $20 per thousand trees, is reimbursable to those participating in the program. Trees planted for short rotation crops, like Christmas trees, are not included in this cost-sharing program. Services of District Foresters of the Michigan Department of Conservation are available to the county ASC committee to help administer this tree planting program. District Forester, Victor G. Horvath is located at the County Building, Ann Arbor.

Hats Off To Michigan!

Michigan Week—May 17-23—with its emphasis on all of the things for which this great state of ours is famous, is a good time to consider the vital importance of the motor-truck. Here is a servant of the people which does indeed serve everyone: the farmer, the business man, the retailer, the housewife, the vacationer, the boy or girl at school.

Everything you eat, wear, or use travels all or part of the way to you by truck. Yes, trucks are as much a part of Michigan as its vast productive capacity, its beautiful scenery, its great educational facilities, its fine people.

telephone lines

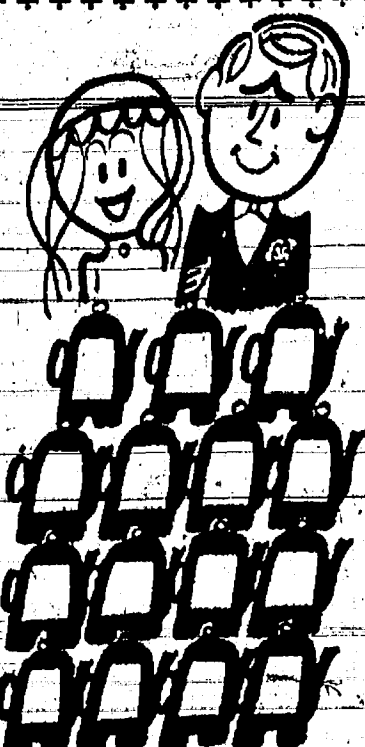

From NICK PRAKKEN, Manager

The recent severe wind storm in Ann Arbor again pointed out the importance of the telephone. As word spread concerning the emergency, local and long distance calls increased to a point where many calls did not get through. If you encountered this we are sorry. Every effort is being made during these emergencies to maintain service. Every available operator was called in, but as word of the storm damage reached distant parts of the country, people having relatives attending the university or living here, called to be sure they were alright. We also appreciate that many, realizing the urgency of the situation, refrained from placing calls. This is always most helpful in emergencies of this type.

MARRING BATHING ENJOYMENT in many of Michigan's state parks and recreation areas are debris-littered beach scenes such as this. The growing problem has spurred Conservation Department officials to prohibit food and beverages on beach areas in five heavily used recreation units this year. The measure is designed to curtail littering of beaches, prevent accidents and roadways and to relieve the policing chore placed on park staffs. Similar restrictions may be imposed on other parks and recreation areas.

Careless Dumping of Debris Spoils Beaches, Picnic Sites

Lansing—Bottles, cans, paper and other debris are calling cards of the unpopular litterbug who typifies the old expression, "There's always one who spoils the fun for others."

In this case, the others are campers, bathers, hikers and picnickers who abide by the rules of safety and sanitation at Michigan's state parks and recreation areas. Mr. Litterbug's debris-dumping antics also tax short-handed park staffs with a tremendous policing burden. Thousands of dollars are spent each year to clean up unsightly and unsafe conditions created by him: dollars which are sorely needed for expansion and addition of park facilities.

As one approach to this problem, the Conservation Department will place restrictions, effective May 1, on food and beverages in beach areas at four of its most-heavily used units.

Food and beverages of all types will be prohibited in specified beach areas of Grand Haven and Holland parks and Pontiac Lake recreation area, while alcoholic beverages will be "off-limits" in the beach areas at Dodge 4 park. The three parks each attract more than 1,000,000 visitors annually.

Similar restrictions, imposed at Warren-Dupee park last summer, brought successful results. "AD" ministratively, this park was managed from one catering to a group of people who used it with a total disregard for public interests, to a place where people could enjoy the beach, picnic area and other outdoor facilities," Arthur C. Elmer.

"These units are operated for the enjoyment of everyone—not a few," he added. Elmer indicated that similar action may be taken at other parks where the situation gets out of hand.

NOTICE OF RE-ZONING HEARING

Notice is hereby given that the Village Council will conduct a public hearing on the petition of Robert W. Wagner and Electa M. Wagner for the rezoning of the premises hereinafter described, from "A" Agricultural, to "R-1" Single Family, at the Council Room in the Chelsea Municipal Building on Tuesday, June 2, 1959, at 8:00 o'clock P.M.; said premises being located in the southwest corner of the intersection of MYSTERY FARM NO. 55, originally shown in the May 14 issue of The Standard, has been the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Guenther since 1951. The farm is located at 5240 Dexter Town Hall road, northeast of Chelsea.

Harold Guenther Farm of 330 Acres on Dexter Town Hall Road Is 'Mystery Farm'

Mystery Farm No. 55 is the beautiful nine-room farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Guenther at 5240 Dexter Town Hall road. It is the former Ed. Clauser Estate farm of 330 acres located midway between Island Lake road and North Territorial road. The Guenther family bought the place in 1951 from the Clausers' daughter, Mrs. Hazel Strohl of Detroit.

Mrs. Guenther said most of the buildings were probably built in the late 1930's after the original buildings were burned. The date

"1937" is inscribed on a corner block of the house.

While the barns appear to be painted white in the picture they are actually grey, Mrs. Guenther said. The buildings were painted last fall.

With the help of one steady hired man and extra help in the busiest season, Guenther does general farming in addition to dairying. At present 23 cows are being milked daily.

The Guenther family has two daughters, June Rose, 11, and Paula

May, 9, and a son Pauly, 7 years old. They attend school at Dexter.

The Guenther family are members of the Huron Valley Farm Bureau and St. Andrew's Evangelical and Reformed church at Dexter. Mrs. Guenther is also a member of Washtenaw Chapter No. 802, Order of Eastern Star and Guenther is a director on the Washtenaw County Livestock Council.

Earlier history of the farm was not available; however, Mrs. Guenther said it was known as the Clauser farm for some years. The late Ed. Clauser was a contractor in the days when horses were used extensively. When any of the horses became too old for the work, he sent them to his farm to spend their remaining days, Mrs. Guenther said.

Ezra Lesser called the Guenther Sunday saying he recognized the mystery farm photo as their place. Chelsea residents who have recognized most of the farm photos in the series failed to identify the Guenther place; however, Julius Blaess and the Floyd Fowlers recognized it.

Teen-Age Drivers

so characterize the problem group. In addition to recorded violations, most had been observed by the teachers driving recklessly and regularly exceeding safe speeds.

The classroom also gave its share of evidence of a bad driver. Two-thirds of the problem drivers reported were also discipline problems in the school. Almost all were reported working below their level of ability. Many had poor relationships with their teachers and were belligerent or overly aggressive.

To obtain comparative information, the same driver education teachers prepared case studies of average teen-age drivers. None of the average drivers fell into any of the group characteristics classified above.

Having identified a problem group of teen-age drivers, Mann's report offers suggestions on helping these young people overcome their personal problems as well as their driving problems.

Better parental understanding and supervision with an improved home life in which the teen-ager is not subjected to disturbing home problems can help remove basic causes of bad driving.

Welfare agencies, religious agencies, marriage counselors—any of these agencies concerned with saving broken homes and improving home life—can all contribute to highway safety. They can remove basic conflicts that reflect in poor driving attitudes and records for teen-agers.

Better counseling services in the schools can contribute. These services help teen-agers overcome their personality deficiencies and problems such as those displayed by the extreme show-off or the youngster who exhibits frequent and violent hostilities.

Understanding teachers can recognize and help the students who are working below their level of ability or who have extremely bad relationships with their teachers. Such teachers can contribute directly to helping the student become a better driver.

The driver education teacher—the one who comes into direct contact with expressions of personality and adjustment in the behavior of the student behind the wheel—is a first line of defense.

To be effective, however, the driver education teacher must not only be familiar with good driving practices but also must be skilled in the dynamics of human behavior.

Properly taught and administered with behavioral and attitude problems in mind, does more than simply develop driving skills, Mann emphasizes.

The problems and maladjustments recorded for problem teen-age drivers are the same behavioral and personality difficulties that are important in developing a good adult and a good citizen. They reflect themselves in all daily activities.

By being effective in the areas of attitudes and behavior, the driver education course helps develop the teen-ager for many aspects of the life ahead. As driver education develops good attitudes in the teen-ager and helps him solve his difficulties, so driver education helps develop a better citizen for the future.

Area with Plans for Future Likely To Attract Industry

"Communities with sound plans for the future are more likely to attract new industry than communities that have not planned ahead."

Scott Bagby, former Grand Rapids City Planner and now planning consultant for several other Michigan communities, made this comment recently after seeing advance proofs of an advertisement entitled "Have We Planned For Growth?" which appears in The Standard today.

"After all," Bagby said, "industry puts a great deal of emphasis on planning and it only makes sense that an industry looking for a plant location will pick the community that has planned for growth over one that hasn't, all other factors being equal."

Bagby is a strong advocate of the development of Industrial Parks—large protected areas where new industry may locate and will have adequate room to expand.

"For years, builders have platted areas for new housing developments," Bagby said. "Why shouldn't the same thing be done for industry rather than locate new plants in a helter-skelter pattern?"

"It's important for industries to be located near each other so they can supply each other's needs without having to truck materials and supplies great distances."

Bagby believes Industrial Parks should provide large areas for basic industries and ring them with smaller sites for supplier plants.

The entire area, of course, is zoned industrial and is separated from residential areas.

But more than just land is necessary to attract new industry, Bagby said.

Financial planning is an essential part of a community's plan for the future if it is to provide the additional services that will be needed as the community grows.

VA began mailing applications this week to all "RSP" veterans, who for the most part fall in the Korean and post-Korean Conflict period. They now have a chance to exchange their present five-year term policies for five-year term policies at a lower premium cost, due to the improved mortality tables resulting from modern medical advances.

The new policy, however, must eventually be converted to a permanent plan of insurance since it cannot be renewed by the insured past age 60.

A word of caution from Jameson: Even if you return the application, continue to pay your premiums at the old rate until the VA notifies you the new type policy is in effect. Any overpayment will be credited to your account.

U-M Extension Service Offers Source for Michigan Week Material

Ann Arbor—In connection with Michigan Week, May 17-23, the University of Michigan Library Extension Service plans to issue a new list of sources for current material on this state.

Much of the material listed will be free or relatively inexpensive, according to Miss Clover M. Flansburg, chief extension librarian. It should prove useful not only in planning Michigan Week, but also for a continuing study of the state, she adds.

Local Michigan Week committees may obtain a copy of this list, which will also be available to librarians and teachers. Address requests to Library Extension Service, 1 General Library, the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

RAPS NAVY SECRECY
Navy secrecy could result in concealing waste, extravagance and poor management, House investigators have been told.

Comptroller General Joseph Campbell said Navy information policies also have a practical effect of "thwarting the will of Congress."

VA Offers Lower

Rate on GI Insurance

Savings of up to two-thirds in the cost of their GI insurance are being offered by mail to all veterans whose insurance policy number is preceded by the letters "RSP," Lloyd H. Jameson, manager of the Detroit Veterans Administration regional office, announced today.

VA began mailing applications this week to all "RSP" veterans, who for the most part fall in the Korean and post-Korean Conflict period. They now have a chance to exchange their present five-year term policies for five-year term policies at a lower premium cost, due to the improved mortality tables resulting from modern medical advances.

The new policy, however, must eventually be converted to a permanent plan of insurance since it cannot be renewed by the insured past age 60.

A word of caution from Jameson: Even if you return the application, continue to pay your premiums at the old rate until the VA notifies you the new type policy is in effect. Any overpayment will be credited to your account.

Safety Rules Suggested for Flying Kites
Many centuries before the Christian Era, an air-borne kite became man's first link between sky and earth. Since that time kites of many sizes, shapes and colors have played important religious, scientific and military roles in both primitive and highly advanced civilizations.

But, here in Michigan, kite-flying is best known as a fascinating pastime for the young in heart and is, traditionally, a welcome sign of forthcoming spring.

Many youngsters have already rigged and flown their first kites of the year, but before the season gets into full swing, L. Clancy Nanry, director of safety for Detroit Edison, has a few suggestions for keeping the fun in and the danger out of kite flying. Here they are:

1. Always fly kites in open fields—away from overhead wires and away from streets and roads where traffic is an additional hazard.
2. Use wooden kite frames; wood is a non-conductor of electricity.
3. Use "plain" kite-string; avoid all tinsel wire of cord that has any appearance of being metallic. Metallic cord can carry electricity to your hand and cause painful injury or fatal shock.
4. If the kite catches on a pole or tree, do not risk an electric shock or a bad fall by trying to retrieve it.
5. Never fly your kite during an electrical storm. Ben Franklin used a kite in his famous experiment with electricity, but he was lucky not to have been killed.
6. When you're running to raise your kite or keep it in the air, watch your step rather than your kite—it may save you a bad bump or tumble.

NAME CONTEST - 125th ANNIVERSARY HEADQUARTERS
CHelsea, MICHIGANCommittee Named
To Push Plan for Special Education

Dr. Charles C. Miller, Mrs. Gerald Carr, David H. Soule and John Thomson are members of the Washtenaw County Special Education Committee of which Kenneth L. Lettinger, former superintendent of schools at Dexter is the general chairman.

The committee is concerned with acquainting residents of the county with the proposal to finance education for handicapped children. The proposal will be voted on at the school election here June 8.

All school districts in the county will vote on the proposition at their regular annual school elections. In rural districts the elections are held in July.

The ballot for the proposal will read as follows: "Shall the County School District of Washtenaw county, state of Michigan come under the provisions of sections 309-327, inclusive, of the School Code of 1955, which are designed to encourage the education of handicapped children; provided, that an annual property tax levied for administration shall be limited to one-half (1/2) mill?"

Anyone who is a qualified school elector in his own district may vote on the question. Property ownership is not a requirement.

CHEAPER, BETTER HOME

Kansas City—The average American home buyer wants a three-bedroom house, but he can't afford to pay for it. This is what Robert V. Blackstone told the Southwestern Lumberman's Association convention recently. He said the lumber industry and home builders should combine forces to build better houses for less money.

There she learned that she was eligible to participate in a tour of New York as a member of the party who would accompany the nation's winning candidate for mother-of-the-year.

Accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Lillie Bradshaw of Hillsdale, her daughter, Mrs. Arlo Wasson of Mason, and the daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lloyd Boyce, she left here Sunday, May 3. The party spent the week in New York and returned home on Monday, May 10.

Enroute to New York they were overnight guests of Mrs. Arlene Howe at Erie, Pa.

AIDS CONSCIENCE

New York—The New York City Transit Authority received a ten-dollar bill with this note: "I am sending you here in closed in payment for rides on the transit system for which I did not pay. Will you please put it in the conscience fund?"

The transit authority said it was the largest "conscience" payment it ever got.

Let's all renew our faith in the future of Michigan during Michigan Week, May 17-23.

LANSING
Observer

Lansing — Labor's annual "March On Lansing" last week was strangely different from the noisy stampedes that started in 1937 when auto workers barricaded the streets of Lansing and took over the capitol.

This time there were only 400 men and women in the demonstration. A majority were unemployed colored residents of Detroit.

Compared to the riotous exhibitions of other years, the group was subdued. The wild harangues by ribald revilers were missing. Instead, there was an ominous undertone far more dangerous than the old technique of insulting the legislature and the Republican Party with enthusiastic viciousness.

The UAW demonstrated during the last six years that it has come of age. It has learned how to use power of mass control in government and in industry.

No longer does it attempt to win points by barricading streets, breaking down doors, threatening the police, or seizing private property.

Speakers at the rally preceding the march to the State Senate were polished politicians in expensive suits, shined shoes and smirking with a new confidence in their power.

The principal address was by Emil Masey, secretary and treasurer of the UAW, who handles $1,600,000 a month when employment is good. He is a swarthy, heavy-browed leader whose strength in the union is next to that of Walter Reuther.

Many good citizens are inclined to shrug off Masey's statement that Michigan should have a one-house legislature controlled by Democrats.

Even a few respected daily newspapers welcomed the suggestion as well as an earlier plan along the same lines proposed by Supreme Court Justice Eugene Black. Because the Justices average only 27 opinions a year, Black has time to keep his well-formed chin injected into all manner of affairs outside the court.

The danger, unrecognized by those who smile at Masey and Black, is that the union actually intends to create a unicameral legislature in Michigan controlled by Democrats.

If former Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner or the late Gov. William A. C. Comstock were running the Democratic Party today, this one-house plan might not be too bad.

But take a look at the 55 legislators who make up the Democratic delegation in the House today. There are 14 labor union officials in the group, dedicated to a philosophy that includes rigid government control of industry.

Among others are bartenders, minor county employees, factory workers, super-market managers, salesmen and five lawyers. Few of the 55 completed high school.

On a basis of population, these representatives would be joined by newcomers of similar qualifications. They would rule Michigan's economic climate; fix its labor and welfare policies; and rewrite the tax laws.

It requires only 250,000 signatures to force a Constitutional amendment on the ballot in November, 1960. The UAW has the financial resources and the manpower to accomplish that task in a matter of weeks.

And Gov. Williams has demonstrated that his party has the votes to write any amendment into the Constitution if outstate citizens continue to remain away from the polls.

But Williams and Walter Reuther have another plan that will be made public next winter.

Instead of a unicameral legislature, they intend to amend the Constitution to reapportion the State Senate on a basis of population. They plan to capture a working majority in both legislative branches.

Don't think they are kidding. Their proposed amendment realigning the Senatorial Districts has been written. After a study to jerry-mander the districts to assure Democrats a majority, it will be on the ballot in 1960 as surely as the two political parties will have nominees for Governor.

At the same time, Democrats and the UAW may propose an amendment providing that delegates to any future Constitutional Convention shall be elected on the basis of the House districts, instead of Senate districts.

If election trends continue in Michigan, this would give labor control of the convention—and power to write a new Constitution from scratch.

Last January the AFL-CIO published its tax objectives in an interesting volume entitled "State and Local Taxes." In it, the union

Many Students Earn
Expenses at U. of M.

Ann Arbor—One-third of all single students at the University of Michigan now earn between 75 and 100 per cent of their college expenses.

Another one-third of the U-M's single students earn between 10 and 75 per cent of their expenses, while the rest are supported primarily by their parents, report Vice-President James A. Lewis and Administrative Dean Robert L. Williams.

Their findings are based on a survey of students enrolled at the start of this academic year.

This also showed more than half the University's married student couples earn between three-quarters and all their expenses. Another one-fourth earned between 10 and 75 per cent, while the rest were supported primarily by their parents.

Almost half the married students reported their spouse was employed and contributing to their support.

Growing Prison Population Threatens
To Swamp State's Corrections System

(Editor's Note: A national organization has estimated that Michigan must spend $5 million to $14 million more a year by 1970 to cope with its mounting prison costs. What is this problem and what can be done about it? This is the first of a series of four articles suggesting a solution.)

Lansing—Michigan's prisons appear to be operating economically, but the rising tide of prison commitments is threatening to swamp the state's corrections system and force the taxpayers to heavy additional expenditures in the next 10 years unless vigorous action is taken now.

That is the summary of an extensive survey of the Michigan corrections system made over the past 18 months by the National Probation and Parole Association for its state affiliate, the Michigan Crime and Delinquency Council. The Council, composed of citizens interested in improved corrections at savings to the taxpayers, said the survey showed that Michigan is sending more men to prison than comparable states and keeps them in prison longer than many states.

If this continues, the Council said, the state will be forced to build another major prison or a series of small prisons at a cost of $15 to $20 million, plus at least $1 million additional a year for operating costs.

But, the Council said, this is only part of the huge burden facing the state. It estimated: the state loses about $8,400 per inmate per year in operating costs, institutional depreciation costs, the cost of keeping inmates' dependents on some form of public relief and the loss of taxes normally paid by men at work in society.

The survey indicated that if Michigan pursues its present policies its 1959 prison population of about 10,188 will climb to 10,800 by 1960 and to 12,980 by 1970. Such a prison load would cost
