Entire Community Mourns Loss Of Respected Friend, Leader

History is written in many ways, by casual conversation and by deliberate attempt. The history of Lowell Davison must be written by a deliberate statement of a town's love for one of its own.

He died on a Monday night and the town almost died on Tuesday morning. It fought hard before it could stand up again. It stood numb and still. It moved about in a daze. It mourned in every way—with silence, closed stores on Thursday, hushed and perplexed conversation and with expressed love to his family.

We want history to remember this. We want history to remember the thoughtfulness of his life, his devotion and his helpfulness, his industry and his courage. We want history to remember how we—the village of Chelsea—felt and how we acted in love at the tragedy that came upon his life. We want no sidewalk conversation to take the place of the true history we would write in this way.

It is with this deep need in mind that we write this for all years to read. It is our judgment of his life that we still believe, not his judgment that he made in the darkness of depression.

If he were to advise us now, we still would heed him. If we needed a leader for a community affair, we still would go to him to ask if he would help.

This kind of faith cannot be taken away, so listen well all you who read in the years to come—we believe in this man and we love him very much.

Maybe the Woim Is Toining

For tough Jimmy Hoffa, boss of the million-and-a-half-member Teamsters' Union, things are not so good. A Federal grand jury in Orlando, Fla., has returned an indictment against him and two others charging the misuse of over half a million dollars of union money in a Florida real estate promotion. If he should be convicted, he could be put out of circulation for as much as five years and fined $1,000 each on as many as 12 counts. And this unpleasantness follows on the heels of the dismal failure of his all-out effort in the election campaign to defeat 56 congressmen who voted for the LaFollette-Griffin bill. Only one was defeated. Perhaps his long-loyal truckers are beginning to mistrust his motives?

There's a saying that little boys who whine all the time may later become groan men.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

My old lady told me at breakfast this morning I was looking up the wrong tree by always hollering about politicians. She allowed as how there ain't nothing wrong with the politicians, she claimed what this country needed was a new set of people.

I couldn't figger out if she was serious or gitting sarcastic, so I just said pass the butter please and it looks like we might get a nice shower today. Me and my old lady git along fine, despite the fact we've been hitched now fer about 40 years. And one of the reasons there ain't been no talk about divorce in our family is on account of when things git edgy around the place, I just set me a chair out in the front yard and start counting the shingles on the roof—till the storm blows over.

Gitting along in married life is like handling a pair of mules, you got to work as a team. Keep the single trees even to get a load, steady pull. But it's a sight in this world the married couples this day and time that can't keep the single trees even. I was just reading yesterday where a woman in New York told the judge she killed her husband to keep him from running around. Well, that'll stop it ever time. And I see where another one of them Hollywood stars is gitting a divorce in Reno. That must be a mighty busy highway from Hollywood to Reno. I don't see why some big promoter ain't thought of moving Niagara Falls about half-way between the two places. That would make it nice fer all concerned, git married in Hollywood, stop over at Niagara Falls for the honeymoon, then on to Reno for the divorce. They could set up a dual highway, newly-weds traveling east on one of them, the newly-divorced going back west on the other.

Gitting away from the domestic situation fer a moemnt, this television feller Jackie Gleason said the other night that the formula for success was to work half as much and git twice as much fer it. That seems to be the national trend in recent years. I reckon History is mighty puzzled over us, keeping the country strong and free and broke all at the same time. We're the only country in the world that's ever been able to pull this trick. We do it by using a slight-of-hand tax system. They say we got three million laws in this country trying to enforce the Ten Commandments. No matter how many we got, Mister Editor, it's a safe bet that more'n half of them has to do with taxes. And I ain't never saw nothing in the Ten Commandments about taxes.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

BOY SCOUT WEEK

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Echoes of unemployment in this state reverberate from legislative halls to relief lines and vice versa.

Since most goods and services in the state are consumed at a higher rate by working people than unemployed, nearly everybody feels the effect of economic hardship caused by unemployment.

The year 1961 has started out as if it were going to turn into a less than satisfactory one from the employment standpoint.

Through some economists and politicians too, hopefully predict an upturn in the final half year of 1961, the fact is any period of poor economic conditions is felt for a long time after things improve.

Take two of Michigan's major non-manufacturing industries, for example.

Farmers don't sell as much food when Michigan factory workers are out of jobs. While much farm produce is shipped out of the state, the biggest market is still at home.

Tourist and resort operations account for another big slice of Michigan business each year.

But out-of-state people don't bring prosperity to the owners of hotels, motels, stores, gas stations and the hundreds of other businesses surrounding Michigan recreation areas.

Michigan is not alone, of course, as a state with a recurring unemployment problem.

However, the problem here is with us time and again, and always produces a hitch in state operations as well as in the economy as a whole.

It's like an athlete who runs a continuous 100-yard dash, but falls into a hole every 25 yards.

Things race along between unemployment seizures, but every time the state falls into a hole, it must painfully crawl out and get back on its feet before it can start running again.

State fiscal officials take into consideration the trials and tribulations of the economy when they estimate revenue for a given year.

Lawmakers too would like to gather an intimate knowledge of the workings of the economy to help them in planning for expenditures and decide what can be done in what year.

Committees working on the program are in operation. More people will tackle the same issues from time to time and from different angles.

Whether government intervention, either state or federal, will ease the problems which unemployment creates in an economy like Michigan's is a question only that and only will answer.

Argument over "guided economy" versus "laissez faire" will likely go on.

At the same time, government will likely continue to operate more and more programs aimed at bolstering sagging sectors of the economy.

Numerous federal programs are in the works. Some would try to guarantee less drastic peaks and valleys in its employment picture.

Others would aid chronically distressed areas. All would apply in some way or another to Michigan.

Gov. John B. Swainson, for one, has his eye on area redevelopment legislation before the federal Congress. He thinks we have fruitful training ground in Michigan for testing such a program.

Should truckers try to hoodwink the state on weight taxes, they would face a virtual army of investigators and observers.

Secretary of State James M. Hare said officers from his branch of the government, whose job it is to see that commercial vehicle registrations accurately reflect the size of the vehicle being registered, work closely with the weighmasters division of the Highway Department and the enforcement of officers of the Public Service Commission.

The State Department officers carry a book with them showing each commercial registration by license number and size.

When an obvious discrepancy between actual weight and registered weight turns up, spotted by men of one or the other of the agencies concerned with these things, further investigation often leads to other violations.

In addition to follow-up checks on certain companies, the Department of State tries to cover every truck in the state every two or three years with spot checks for weight violations.

Last year, $404,744 came into state coffers from this type activity, and more than three quarters of it was additional payments from people who paid insufficient weight taxes when they registered their vehicles.

Governor Now Asks for Aid to Employ

Recalling the angry defense of Michigan's economy by Gov. Williams, Republican legislators were amazed last week when Gov. Swainson and his Democratic leaders came out of Solidarity House to pity and plead for the state's harassed employers.

According to the new Governor, industry was driven from Michigan during the 12 years of Democratic rule and is continuing to depart to happier areas. He said it is time employers got a break from the state government.

The Norge Division of Borg-Warner Corp. made Swainson a soothsayer a few hours later by announcing it is moving from Muskegon to Arkansas, July 1. This tragic decision means a loss of 1,600 jobs and a Michigan payroll of $10 million a year.

If you read Gov. Swainson's message, you discovered he took his words from Paul D. Bagwell, the GOP nominee for Governor in 1958 and 1960 and from the Republican State Senators who have been denounced in Detroit as a "veto bloc" because they upset Williams' attempt to increase business taxes.

Why this sudden turn-about by the AFL-CIO, and the Democratic Party? Why this deluge of tears for employers who always had been pictured by Democrats as ruthless slave drivers striving to make a reasonable profit?

There is a strategic motive back of every move in politics, my friends. Whether we like it or not, the two-party system produces a contest far more involved than the mathematical patterns of an electronic computer.

In this instance, Lansing writers neglected to point out that the UAW is now opening negotiations for a new contract with the automobile manufacturers.

The union, which was condemning industry last year as heartless profit-makers, proposes now to cut business taxes by $103 million annually.

When Walter Reuther and his economists face the automobile manufacturers at the bargaining table this spring, they will demand 40-hour pay for 30 hours work, a form of profit sharing and retention of the escalator cost-of-living clause.

It should be obvious that the tax-cut pitch is a lure. It's what the union calls a "fish-hook."

The UAW has been screaming for years that a sales tax is unjust, pointing out that a worker pays a higher percentage of income under this levy than does a high-salaried executive. It has been demanding an income tax with an exemption of $5,000 a year for each household.

It's not yet clear how the Democratic Party can defend the proposed income tax to the rank-and-file on top of the new four-cent sales tax, inasmuch as Swainson suggested exemptions at the $500 level of the Federal income tax.

But that is a problem to be solved between the UAW officials and the membership.

The most important development at this writing is the fact that Michigan's industrial climate has been bombed almost to rubble. Gov. Swainson's proposed remedy would reach not much closer to the heart of the problem than did former Gov. Williams' demand that taxes be shifted from consumers by a corporation profits tax.

The black storm in Michigan today results from the policy of the State Government that the employer always is wrong when he fight questionable claims workmen's compensation and unemployment insurance.

It results from the fact Michigan now is assessing highest maximum unemployment insurance tax in the nation that the reserve fund is headed toward bankruptcy.

It results from the decision the labor appeal boards, and the State Supreme Court, are forming precedents which once formed with the intentions of the legislature.

How many voters realize Michigan industry this year be assessed $137 per work unemployment compensation and that no other state is levying this? I would like to see the employer always is wrong when he

Cold Weather Blamed for Slow License Tab Sales

Unusually cold January weather has been blamed by most Department of State branch managers for slipping sales of 1961 vehicle tabs throughout Michigan. Others attributed unemployment, short work week schedules, and decreasing sales of new cars to the dropping off of weight-tax-license seekers.

According to Secretary of State James M. Hare license registrations are running 10 per cent below those of last year.

"During November and December," Hare said, "our 1961 tab sales were running ahead of 1960 sales. Since New Year's day registrations have dropped sharply and we are now 65,535 behind our figure on the same date one year ago."

During the first three months of 1960 tab sales, 608,501 vehicles were registered compared to 603,056 so far in 1961.

Instructions in actual shearing and in selection and care of shearing equipment will be given each day beginning at 9 a.m. All equipment will be provided. However, those who plan to attend should bring work clothes. A small fee will be charged.

Details are available at county extension offices. There is a need for more custom shears in Michigan. Some flock owners also may want to learn how to shear their own sheep.

S. E. Michigan Science Fair Will Be Held April 14-16

Ann Arbor—The third annual Southeastern Michigan Science Fair, an event for junior and senior high school students in five counties, will be held in April, Fair officials have announced.

Kent Leach, director of the University of Michigan Bureau of School Services, which coordinates the Fair, said the annual science show will take place April 14-16 in the U-M's Yost Field House.

It will be open to students from Washtenaw, Monroe, Lenawee, Hillsdale and Jackson counties, Leach said. As in the past, there will be two divisions: a senior division for students in grades 9 to 12, and a junior division for 7th and 8th graders.

The event will be sponsored by the Ann Arbor Exchange Club, the Ann Arbor News, and the University.

A science fair is a collection of projects conceived and prepared by students. Each exhibit is intended to show a biological, chemical, physical or technical principle, a laboratory or other procedure, an industrial development, or an orderly collection of materials which can be fitted into the broad concept of any branch of pure or applied science.

The non-profit fairs are designed to encourage and reward students in the sciences and engineering, and to inform the public of student efforts in those fields. Prizes will be awarded for the leading projects in each division. The first place girl and boy in the senior division will win expenses-paid trips to the National Science Fair in May in Kansas City, Leach said.

Fair rules and entry cards will be sent to science teachers in the five counties at a later date.

Last year's Fair was won by Michael Washburn, Saline Area High School senior, and Mary Ann Tiffany, Ann Arbor High School senior. They received trips to the National Science Fair in Indianapolis, Ind.

A total of 185 projects were entered in the 1960 Fair. The year before, 135 students presented their exhibits.

The Fair is made possible through contributions from area business and industrial firms. Members of the Exchange Club each year conduct a campaign to raise these funds.

The director of the 1961 Fair will be named next week, Leach said. Dr. Russell O'Neal, vice-president in charge of engineering for the Bendix Corp., headed the 1960 Fair. The first annual event was directed by Dr. Henry Gomberg, director of the U-M Memorial Phoenix Project of atomic research.

Mr. and Mrs. James LaRoe and children, of Elizabeth Rd., Ann Arbor, visited Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Trinkle.

Sunday afternoon guests of Mrs. Emma Seitz were her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Howell and children, of Jackson; also, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Volz of Saline.

Your Income Tax

R. L. Nixon, district director of Internal Revenue, today restated the Internal Revenue Service position regarding employees' reimbursement expenses and expense accounts.

Director Nixon stated that this year taxpayers will find two new questions relating to such expenses on all three Federal Income Tax returns, the 1040, 1040-A and the 1040-W. These questions MUST be answered, cautioned the Director.

He further pointed out that employees who are required to account to their employers for reimbursed expenses, do not have to report these items on their returns. However, taxpayer who claim a profit from the expense account, or claims more expenses than the amount reimbursed must attach a schedule to the return either the income or the additional expenses should be shown on Line 5, Page 1 of Form 1040-W, Line 1 of Form 1040-W.

Employees who do not account to their employers or who are not reimbursed for expenses MUST attach an itemized schedule of expenses incurred and any reimbursement received regardless of the net outcome.

Michigan Mirror

Things Uncle Sam doesn't want can often be a boon to someone in Michigan government or education circles.

Federal surplus property ranging from buttons to bulldozers and from adding machines to airplanes is distributed to states under a complicated program run jointly by the U. S. government and the states.

In fiscal 1959-60, Michigan received some $8 million worth of such property.

This year, the total could go even higher. Local units of government as well as school districts and state agencies are eligible, under specified conditions, to receive the bounty of the unwanted federal property.

The property may be new or old, usable as is or in need of repair, but the qualified group that wants it get is for just a nominal service charge.

These charges amounted to only a little over 4 per cent of the total worth of the property received in the last fiscal year.

That is the story of Camilla Day, born in 1951 with multiple heart defects.

Medical science knew of no way to repair her crippled heart when she was 8 months old. But amazing advances in surgery, performed on the heart itself, have been made in the past 9 years.

This new knowledge saved Camilla's life. And month after month, miracles of surgery are saving the hearts of thousands of other victims of heart and blood vessel diseases.

Anti-Rabies 'Shots' Given To 895 Dogs

A total of 895 dogs received anti-rabies shots in this area at clinics held during the past two weeks.

In London township on Friday, Jan. 20, 86 dogs were immunized with Dr. Henry Eames of Manchester as the veterinarian in charge.

Dr. Wilfred Lane of Chelsea, and Dr. J. A. Bergott of Ann Arbor, served at the Dexter clinic held Saturday, Jan. 21, when 440 dogs were treated.

Dr. Lane also served at the Chelsea clinic with Dr. P. E. Sharfard of Chelsea. The clinic, held Thursday, Jan. 26, handled 217 dogs.

The Manchester clinic, Wednesday, Jan. 25, was in charge of Dr. Eames, with a total of 152 dogs given the shots.

Planned for the convenience of dog owners so they may comply with the law requiring all dogs to be vaccinated before a dog license may be issued, the clinics are part of a program of the Washtenaw County Veterinary Medical Association and the Health Department to keep rabies out of the county.

This year's clinics were under the direction of Dr. George E. Bowler, veterinarian-meet inspector on the Health Department staff.

Gelman Instrument...

Gelman states that his company's foreign trade has been very satisfactory. Payments by foreign governments are very prompt and shipments are infrequent, he said.

The company is presently designing special equipment for the "weather" instrument. These "weather" instruments will be sent up in balloons in order to measure dust in the upper atmosphere.

The company has recently been making special weather measuring instruments which are widely used in atomic energy plants. Orders for these instruments have been placed by the Atomic Energy Commission of France, Sweden, Belgium, and Israel.

Gelman said "We are probably as well informed as anyone about atomic reactors and atomic laboratories all over the world. As soon as an atomic installation is planned we are contacted about air sampling devices and atomic safety instruments."

THE LETTERBOX

Feb. 3, 1961

Dear Editor: May I make a comment in addition to "A Teacher" from your Jan. 26 "Chelsea Standard?"

We adults are responsible for a share of the reasons why a student would wonder why he should study.

Are we not the end results of various periods of studying and examples for the students to look upon and think about?

Does the laborer do a day of honest work or does he "just put in his time"? Does the doctor help his patients' health or does he rush them through their appointments with a shot and bill?

Does the teacher teach or does he care very little whether his pupils really learn? And the student's parents and family, do they encourage and plan or are they just not interested? All of these people, and others, and practices influence a student's thinking.

Are any of these examples a good reason for not studying? No! Because it takes more than opportunity and ambition to want to study in earnest. It takes appreciation. The student must appreciate the people who are ambitious, unselfish, who use good judgment, and who do care where others are concerned. He must appreciate the opportunities that come to him and those he can make for himself. He can show appreciation by studying.

A Reader.

United Church of Christ Plans Huge Mission Program

Mrs. Paul G. Schaible, Sr., who is a member of the General Council of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, which, with the General Council of the Congregational Christian Churches merged to form the United Church of Christ in June, 1967, attended a meeting last week at Buck Hills Falls, Pa., when plans were discussed for raising and spending $11,500,000 for home and overseas missions during 1961.

Approximately 800 pastors and lay leaders of the Congregational Christian Churches from throughout the nation were present for the gathering which was the annual midwinter meeting to set plans for missionary programs of the denomination's home and foreign missionary boards and Council for Social Action and national conferences.

Missionary agencies are coordinating with those of the Evangelical and Reformed Church as a part of the organization of the United Church of Christ.

Funds raised in the churches will be supplemented by investments and other income of the denominational agencies. The combined income will permit the expansion of existing missionary programs and adoption of new projects. It was announced by the Rev. David Sandstrom, New York City, administrative secretary of the Missions Council, fund raising agency of the denomination.

The American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, the oldest American overseas missionary agency, will institute important new programs to provide educational opportunities in the emerging nations in Africa, Rev. Sandstrom said. There will be scholarships to bring African students to the United States; teachers will be sent for short-term work in Africa while African teachers are being trained; theological education in Africa will be expanded and material will be given where it is needed.

The Congregational Christian Churches have inaugurated a plan to raise pensions of retired ministers and their widows who served most of their ministry during the past 20 years so these people can meet present day living costs. part of the new funds raised will be used for this purpose, Sandstrom stated.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Hopkins and children, Jeffrey and Jennifer, Livonia, are leaving Sunday, Hartford, Conn., where they will make their home. Mrs. Hopkins, the former Jean McClure, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. McClure, Hopkins, who has been with the Detroit office of the Travel Insurance Co., the past six years, has been transferred to the new office at Hartford.

Taxation is the most successful levy ever made upon selfishness.

Girl Scout Council Buys New Campsite

Two hundred acres of rolling farmland and woods along a chain of lakes in Livingston county have been acquired by the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council for use as a new camp site. The property is located 12 miles north of Howell on Hogan Rd. with lake frontage on Lewis and Twin Lakes.

In making the announcement at the biannual Huron Valley Girl Scout Council meeting in Ypsilanti, officials declared the site to be ideal for scouting activities. Hardwood and pine forests alternate with meadows and swamps as excellent hiking and camping areas. The contrasts in terrain are exceptional for nature study as well, and the inclusion of a small private lake within the property plus the lake frontage on Lewis and Twin Lakes affords every opportunity for all water sports.

The new campsite will be available for use this summer for Pioneer Adventure, Senior Sojourn, and troop tent camping. A five year plan for development of an established camp is under study by a committee headed by Donald MacDonald of Howell.

Chairman of the selection committee for the land was Mrs. Lawrence Dunham of Howell. The site was purchased from Rudolph Mackovsky of Howell for $60,000. The funds are provided by cookie sales and private contributions. An option is held by the Council to purchase an adjoining 108 acres before April 1961.

The Huron Valley Girl Scout Council is now in its third year and comprises all of Livingston, Washtenaw and the western part of Wayne counties.

Debate Team in Lansing Today For Tournament

Chelesa High school debaters will be in Lansing today for elimination tournaments, accompanied by their coach, Mrs. Beverly Sharp. The tournament is the conclusion of a series of eight debates.

At Chelsea, two weeks ago, on Jan. 25, Chelsea's affirmative and negative teams each won from the Morenci teams; however, in the Feb. 2 debates at Leslie the Leslie teams were victorious.

Affirmative team debaters for Chelsea Jan. 25 were Kay Runciman and David Lixey, while those on the negative team were Lynn Lipphart and Dave Talbot.

At Leslie the affirmative stand was taken by Kay Runciman and Carolyn Barels and the negative by Linda Koengeter and Dave Talbot.

Large Tent Purchased for Girl Scouts

At the Chelsea Girl Scout Neighborhood meeting held Monday evening of the past week at the Junior High school, the purchase of a large tent for the use of Chelsea Girl Scouts was approved. Money to purchase the tent comes from a revolving fund plan which is no longer in use by the Neighborhood. The purchase of the tent was decided upon as an ideal way to dispose of the fund. Mrs. Edwin Sutter was in charge of the project.

Mrs. W. Impola was named chairman of the Chelsea observance of Girl Scout Birthday Week, March 12-18. She will be assisted by Mrs. Leo Bishop, who is Heritage Program chairman here. The theme this year is "Honor the Past; Serve the Future."

Mrs. Bishop announced that she is taking orders from troops for Girl Scout rose bushes—the yellow roses to be planted in the community this year as part of the three-year Girl Scout Heritage Program which is to be concluded next year with celebration of the Girl Scouts' golden anniversary.

Also announced at the meeting were plans for a Girl Scout camp rally to be held at South Elementary school at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 13. A film on established and day camps will be shown and a camp "songfest" will be held. The program, as announced by Mrs. Lewis Bernath, camp promoter, is planned as a means of showing Girl Scouts, leaders and mothers of Girl Scouts the fun and benefits of camps.

In reporting at the Neighborhood meeting, Mrs. Warren Bissel, said she had a consultation with an insurance program and sponsorship of an international "Friendship project" called "Operation Birthday Present" were major items approved at the bi-annual meeting of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council held in Ypsilanti on Jan. 26. The new insurance plan replaces various short term and individual types of protection and will be in effect throughout the Council area of Livingston, Washtenaw, and western part of Wayne counties. The cost for each Scout will be 60 cents a year.

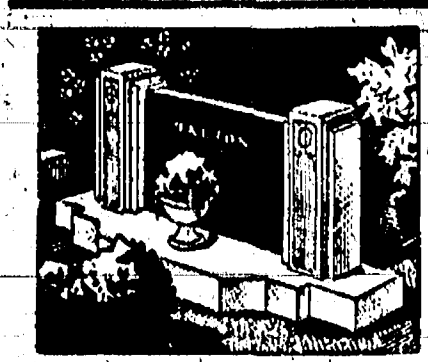

"Operation Birthday Present" is a plan to bring two Girl Guides and a chaperon from India to Michigan as guests of the Council in 1962. The cost of the trip will be borne by each member, Scout and adult, of the Council who will contribute a penny for each year of the National Girl Scout movement, which will celebrate its Golden Anniversary next year.

Present at the Neighborhood meeting was Mrs. Jesse McCorry of Ann Arbor, who is the new director of District III, replacing Miss Kay Kimball who is now working in District II. District III, in addition to Chelsea, includes Ann Arbor, Saline, Milan and Dexter.

Mrs. McCorry was introduced by Mrs. James Windell, Chelsea Neighborhood chairman.

Mrs. Windell also made several announcements, stating that Mrs. Robert Fitzsimmons and Mrs. Donald Knoll are new co-leaders of Girl Scout Troop 406 and that Mrs. Alfred Mayer is Girl Scout representative on the Chelsea Community Chest Board of Directors.

Good works, at $5 much per year, do not carry much weight with the wicked.

JOHN CLARK, second from left, has been awarded a certificate of individual membership in "The Wise Old Owl Club," an organization founded by the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, and at the same time Chelsea Products, Inc., where he is employed, became a group member. Membership in "The Wise Old Owl Club" is conferred in recognition of safety practices which call for wearing protection devices for the prevention of loss of eyes or eyesight. Clark became a member after one lens of the safety glasses was shattered by a piece of flying metal.

which would have penetrated the eye if the protective glasses had not been worn. Because of the safety lens, Clark suffered no eye damage. The company became eligible for membership for providing the safety glasses for the protection of employees. W. L. Shown in the photo are the shop foreman, John Hofhansian who made the presentation of the certificate; John Clark, W. L. DeClaire and Elwood McGlothen, Union shop chairman.

Conservation Dept. Offers Young Trees For Spring Planting

Lansing—Michigan's 1961 tree planting season is quite a few wintery weeks away, but now is the time for private landowners to order stock if they want to be ready when spring arrives, the Conservation Department announces.

More than 8,000,000 young trees are now on sale by the department's forestry division to help landowners check soil erosion, protect crops and build up their forest plantings for future wood production.

In the offering at approximate costs of production and packing are white pine and red pine seedlings and transplants, jack pine seedlings, white spruce transplants, and Austrian pine.

Official stock price lists and order blanks may be obtained from the forestry division in Lansing or locally at offices of district foresters and county extension agents. All orders must be sent directly to the division's Lansing office.

Planting stock will be shipped roughly from April 20 to May 30, weather permitting.

REDUCES RUSS REPORTS

The Commerce Department has sharply curtailed its satellite-inspired program of supplying English translations of Soviet scientific literature.

"Lack of public demand," was blamed for the cutback in the program, established after the Russians launched their first earth satellite in 1957.

Clay Langstons Now Own Mystery Farm on Western Side of Cavanaugh Lake

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Langston are owners of the farm at 18450 Cavanaugh Lake Rd., a photo of which was published last week in the Chelsea Standard's current "Mystery Farm" pictures. Readers are asked to identify the house. The house is located on the northwest corner of Cavanaugh Lake Rd. and the west end of the road around the lake. The farm property extends to the lake itself, and much of the Cavanaugh West Shore subdivision was formerly part of the farm. Present size of the place is approximately 185 acres.

Langston does not farm the land itself; he rents the acreage and only livestock is two, riding horses. Now retired, he formerly was construction superintendent for the Bryant & Detwiler firm of Detroit. He was employed by the construction firm for 32 years. Prior to moving to their Cavanaugh Lake home, the Langstons had lived in Dearborn for 35 years. Since moving to their home here, they have done extensive remodeling and modernizing of the pleasant seven-room house. Adding to the attractiveness of the place are the white painted fences and the sunken driveway leading to the basement area from the east.

The Langstons have a family of three daughters and two sons, all now married. They also have 10 grandchildren.

Their daughters are Mrs. Charles Willoughby (Maurine) of Glazier Rd., Mrs. Eddie Dike (Emma Ruth) of Detroit, and Mrs. Glen Kirk (Evelyn Fay), also of Detroit.

The two sons are Clay, Jr., and Burnett L. both of Detroit.

The Langstons also have a home in Florida and spend some time there each winter.

The Langstons bought the farm May 10, 1951, a year after the death of Mrs. Philip Riemschneider who had lived there for 25 years. She and her husband bought the place in 1924. The former Lydia Kruse, she had lived in the area all her life and was active in church and community affairs.

She was a life-long member of Salem Grove Methodist church.

The Riemschneider family included a son, Walter, who lives on a farm on Lowry Rd. on the opposite side of Cavanaugh Lake; and three daughters, Katherine, Clara and Hilda, the latter now Mrs. M. W. McClure.

Katherine, who was Mrs. Hewett, died in 1931. Clara is the wife of the Rev. William Steinman, a retired Methodist minister. She and her husband now make their home at Seaside, Calif.

Philip Riemschneider died Feb. 13, 1941, at the age of 83 and his widow continued to make her home on the farm until her death nine years later, on May 19, 1950.

According to ownership records, signatures of three presidents of the United States appear on deeds to various sections of the property—President Martin Van Buren, April 1, 1837; President James Polk, 1848; and President Calvin Coolidge, Jan. 22, 1926, the latter for the purpose of clarifying records.

Ground Broken For Ann Arbor Eastbelt By-Pass

Ann Arbor State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said today that an "outstanding spirit of co-operation" by city and county officials throughout the State has played a key role in Michigan's recent road-building accomplishments.

Mackie made the comments as he broke ground for the start of construction of the $16 million Ann Arbor Eastbelt by-pass (US-28). He was joined by Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti and Washtenaw County officials in brief ceremonies east of the city.

"The State Highway Department has received outstanding co-operation from most city and county officials throughout Michigan in its efforts to modernize Michigan's highway system," Mackie said.

"There are occasions, of course, when we have honest differences of opinion with local officials, but in most cases we are able to sit down and work them out promptly," Mackie said.

"But without this outstanding spirit of cooperation, work on many projects would have been delayed for months and even years."

Mackie singled out officials of Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti and the Washtenaw County Road Commission for their support of the Eastbelt.

"This project has been delayed for many months by a handful of people who were opposed to it," Mackie said. He praised local officials for their support in obtaining approval for the route.

Mackie said contracts for the remaining 17.5 miles of the Eastbelt-Freeway from Milan to a point north of Ann Arbor will be let during the next seven months and the entire route will be opened to traffic by late 1962 or early 1963.

They in turn awakened their mother and brother and the family fled.

Irregularities Uncovered in Detroit Voting

The Republican State Central Committee has turned over to the State Elections Division the names of 414 people from only 6 precincts in one ward of Detroit who do not live at the address from which they voted in 1960, Republican State Chairman Lawrence B. Lindemer disclosed today.

"There were 136 such instances in only one precinct," Lindemer said. "We do not have the facilities to check each precinct, but there is a possibility that more than 80,000 people in Detroit voted from addresses where they do not live, if the facts we uncovered extended throughout the city."

"This certainly calls for corrective action and legislation to guarantee the purity of Michigan elections. Our system of voter registration and supervision over the voting booths must be tightened up. While in many instances carelessness may be involved, I don't think the mass of what we have uncovered can be explained away as simple carelessness."

Lindemer said that each incident reported was investigated and affidavits obtained in regard to the true situation.

These are some of the notations made with respect to the voter and the address from which he voted:

"Property is boarded up and vacant for more than two years."

"Moved away over four years ago."

"Individual tenants vacated this property two years ago and the premises are presently operated as a hospital."

"The building at the above number has been torn down."

"The premises are vacant."

"Parking lot."

"Moved over eight years ago."

"There is no such number."

"Bricklayers' Union Hall."

"The address is the Elks Lodge and there are no tenants in the premises."

Lindemer said that an affidavit regarding one person who voted in the primary election last August said, "Deceased one year."

In 26 instances, additional information is being furnished the Director of Elections with the request for further investigation to determine whether the individual is voting from more than one address.

"We are providing the alternate precinct and ward number as the result of our investigation so that the authorities can determine whether the individual voted from more than one address," Lindemer said.

"Authorities inform us that notices have been sent to the voters involved and unless they can establish their rights to be registered at some other address, they will be removed from the rolls but this is locking the barn door after the horse has been stolen," Lindemer added. "We are to safeguard the public interest against repetition of this situation in the future."

Battle Against Heart Disease Is Showing Great Progress

This article is presented by the Michigan Heart Association to inform readers of this newspaper about the progress being made in the fight against heart disease.

Every February the American Heart Association and its state heart associations conduct a month-long drive to renew the public awareness of the continuous fight against the greatest health problem in America: diseases of the heart and blood vessels.

Not too long ago people believed that "nothing can be done about heart disease." Heart disease was viewed as an inescapable prelude to death.

This same fatalistic attitude was held about the infectious diseases such as typhoid fever, diphtheria and smallpox and each in turn has succumbed to medical scientists. Advances in drug therapy and surgical techniques have brought to bay a host of disorders through new remedies and cures.

Perhaps because heart and blood vessel disease is so widespread, it is commonly believed that the heart is delicate and easily strained. Actually a healthy heart is the toughest, strongest muscle in the body. It takes its rest only between beats for less than a second, and it works day after day, year after year, beating almost three billion times over a period of 70 years.

The heart is a double pump with four chambers. It is far more efficient than any man-made machine. It is a little larger than your fist and weighs less than a pound, yet it pumps the equivalent of two tons of blood every twenty-four hours. The healthy heart can adjust to almost any demand we ask of it.

Equally wonderful is the circulatory system. The blood vessels carry approximately 11 pints of blood pumped at the rate of 160 gallons an hour providing oxygen and food to every cell of the body.

Despite their durability, the heart and blood vessels are not immune to sickness and disorder. Heart and circulatory diseases are responsible for more deaths than the next five leading causes of death combined. In one form or another they affect more than ten million Americans including 500,000 children of school age. These are grim statistics indeed, but the outlook for the future is brightening.

The developments of the past few years have given a new hope to the people of this nation. Many forms of high blood pressure can now be controlled. Protection against rheumatic fever—the great scourge of childhood—is now available. Surgeons of middle-sized communities are now performing operations to correct defects which were once hailed as "rare." For 12 years now the American Heart Association and its affiliates have been leading a national campaign of research, education and community service to reduce and eliminate this medical menace.

The Michigan Heart Association is pledged to carry this fight for the benefits of citizens of Michigan. You can help fight this battle by your support of the Michigan Heart Association through your local United Fund Drive each fall.

Chelsea Dealer Named For New Type, Steel, Clear-Span Buildings

Chelsea Lumber Co. has been appointed dealer for Pruden Clear-Span steel framed buildings, according to an announcement by Clark Pruden, president of Pruden Products Co., Evansville, Wis.

"The Pruden idea has created new vision in the building industry," according to Pruden. "The clear-span, open web steel frames plus the use of many standard building materials, available at lumber dealers everywhere, for roofs and sidewalls affords untold possibilities in building design and interior arrangement. At the same time this building design keeps costs low, making it possible to construct buildings at a price for less than you expect to pay. It can all be summed up in the Pruden slogan 'more strength, less steel, at less cost'—expert engineering makes the difference."

Pruden frames are available in both Standard and Industrial models to fill the needs of industry, commerce and agriculture. Structures for use as factories, warehouses, shopping centers, churches, bowling alleys, skating rinks, auditoriums, truck terminals, aircraft hangers, fair buildings, boat houses, barns and machinery sheds, and poultry houses, are being framed out with Pruden frames.
