At left, Homer Nixon holds a plaque which he accepted for himself, named "most valuable player"; his twin brother, Alton, who was chosen honorary captain of the basketball squad; and Mike Marsh, named "most improved" player of the season by his teammates. The three names are inscribed on the plaque which has been given a place of honor in the school's trophy case. Standing between the two basketball players is Coach Robert Taylor.

Windows Shattered In Boiler Explosion At High School

Blast Discovered Early Wednesday; Cause Not Known

An early morning explosion in the boiler room at Chelsea High school tore off the entire front of the big heating boiler, shattered the windows at the east and south sides of the boiler room, which is a separate building at the west end of the high school property, and bulged out floor-to-ceiling steel window frames on the south side of the fireproof structure. The shattered glass, one-quarter of an inch thick, was scattered inside and outside of the boiler room. The door frame of the furnace hung askew and masses of broken pieces of the outer casing littered the floor.

In spite of the damage to the gas-fired furnace, it continued to operate.

The mishap was discovered when H. T. Moore, chief custodian at the high school, arrived at 7 a.m. An auxiliary boiler beside the damaged one was put into use and the heating system continued to function without interruption. Students attended classes as usual.

No one had been in the building since midnight and first reports stated the explosion had occurred between that time and 7 a.m., when it was discovered; however, discussion among nearby residents later yesterday morning brought out the fact that a "terrific noise," accompanied by "distinct shaking of houses in the vicinity," occurred shortly before 5:30 a.m.

Some residents believed it to be jet planes breaking the sound barrier.

The state fire marshal's office was notified upon discovery of the explosion and representatives of the office arrived in a short time.

Also on the scene almost at once, were Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. men and Harold Dresch, the school's engineer.

An investigation to learn the cause of the explosion was undertaken immediately and a meeting was scheduled for yesterday afternoon or today.

Present for the meeting were to be representatives of the Grove Co. of Detroit, who installed the boiler; General Controls of Detroit; and Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.

FIVE GIRL SCOUTS of Troop 77 have contributed many hours of work as a community service project in assisting the librarian at McKune Memorial Library during the 1960-61 school year. Four of the girls are shown in the above photo, together with the librarian, Mrs. Francis Wojciehowski. From left, those who appear in the photo are Diane Worden, Kathy Sutter and Mrs. Wojciehowski (all seated) and Cindy Schumm and Carol Haffley, (standing). The fifth girl who assists is Sandy Eresten. She was not present when the picture was taken. Although the work at the library was not a requirement, all five girls have earned First Class awards in Girl Scouting this year. The library work was over and above the projects they completed for their Girl Scout First Class rank. Mrs. Wojciehowski said the girls were "loyal and diligent in making the busy life of the librarian easier." Among the many jobs done by the Girl Scouts was re-stamping, in three places, every one of the more than 14,000 books in the library which formerly bore the old "Chelsea Public Library" stamp. The girls have also proved helpful to library staff members by replacing returned books in their proper positions on the shelves during rush periods and by generally keeping the book shelves in order. The girls have alternated in being on duty for one hour, 4-5 p.m., on school days, and working on Saturdays. Leaders of Girl Scout Troop 77 are Mrs. Wilber Worden and Mrs. Fred Schumm.

STORY OF A MUSTACHE—A flurry of challenge and counter-challenge followed a proposal by Wallace Wood that those seated at different tables Monday evening at the Kiwanis Club meeting challenge each other to raise mustaches for the Old Time Showboat project, a community-wide project scheduled for the end of June. Wood then said he, himself, would challenge Bob Foster and when Foster and other Kiwanians accused Wood of taking an unfair advantage, since he has worn a mustache for years, Wood promptly offered to shave off his full-grown mustache and start to raise another. True to his word, he pulled an electric shaver from his pocket, plugged it in to a wall outlet and proceeded to shave off the entire mustache—and that was the beginning of the "mustache challenge" among Kiwanians.

G. Knickerbocker Named Chest Campaign Chairman

George Knickerbocker is to serve as campaign chairman for the fall campaign for funds for the Chelsea Community Chest, according to an announcement made this week by the Chest's board of directors.

A co-chairman is still to be named.

Knickerbocker has been employed by Standard Oil since he completed a six-year enlistment in the U. S. Navy in 1947. He is now commission agent for this area for Standard Oil Division of American Oil Co.

He graduated from Chelsea High school in 1941 and enlisted in the Navy, serving three years in the South Pacific and the remainder of his tour of duty at the Naval Training Center at Jacksonville, Fla.

His previous community service includes serving as president of the Chelsea Recreation Council in 1956-1957.

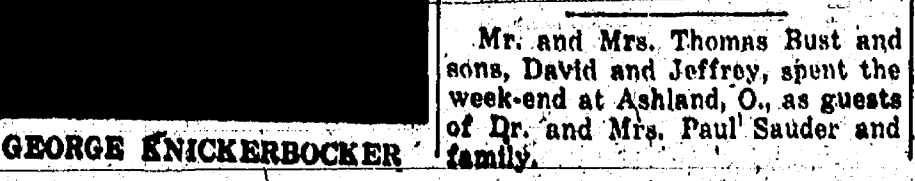

He is a member of the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce and has served as its secretary and on the board of directors.

Knickerbocker is also a member of St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church and served on the church council—as vice-president in 1958 and president in 1959.

In addition he is a member of Olive Lodge No. 156, F&AM and Herbert J. McKune Post No. 31, American Legion.

He is married and the father of three children.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rust and sons, David and Jeffrey, spent the week-end at Ashland, O., as guests of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Sauder and family.

CHS Athletes Hosted By Kiwanis Club at All-Sports Banquet

Alton Nixon Chosen Honorary Cage Captain

Chelsea Kiwanians entertained coaches and team members of the four fields of competitive athletics—football, basketball, baseball and track—at the annual all-sports banquet Monday evening. The dinner meeting was held in the social center of the Methodist church.

Program chairman for the evening was School Superintendent Charles S. Cameron.

Among those who attended were Coaches Alan Conklin and Robert Taylor; also Donald Bussler and John McGill, who assist with the Junior High sports program.

One of the highlights of the evening was presentation of a basketball plaque to be placed in the trophy case at Chelsea High school. Inscribed on the plaque are the names of Alton Nixon, named honorary captain; Homer Nixon, "most valuable player"; and Mike Marsh, "most improved player."

Homer Nixon accepted the plaque for the three individual award winners—his twin brother Alton was kept at home because of a throat infection.

Industrial Development Commission Formed Here

Chelsea now has an official Industrial Development Commission, formed for the purpose of assisting existing industries and attracting new industries to the community.

Representatives of the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce acting as members of the commission are Charles Lancaster, Paul Mann and M. W. McClure.

James Liebeck is designated as a representative of the community-at-large. Additional people are to represent the community with him.

Village Council representatives are Village President Robert Daniels, Stephen Clark, William Chandler and Harvey Lixey.

Lixey is serving as general chairman.

Harris Miller, of the Michigan Department of Economic Development, had been invited to meet with the group to explain the purpose of such a commission and to make suggestions for its effective functioning.

Miller said that to visualize the "picture" of a community which would not only prove interesting in attracting new industry but would also show that its first concern was for benefit to existing industry. (Continued on page three)

CD Exercise Slated Friday

W. J. Grossman, Civil Defense director for Zone VI which includes the Chelsea area, said yesterday that an "attack warning" signal will be sounded by the fire siren some time Friday afternoon. The exact time will be determined when Civil Defense officials send out information as to the "emergency."

The "take cover" signal is a three-minute "up-and-downs" sounding of the siren.

The attack pattern, the exact weight and fallout pattern, will not be known before the exercise.

Attack information will be developed by use of prepositioned envelopes containing radiological information, distributed throughout the county and state.

For exercise purposes it will be assumed the Federal Government has had indications of a deteriorating international situation which requires increased readiness and has sent warnings to state Civil Defense units. These in turn will (Continued on page three)

Mrs. Bahnmitter Honored at Mother-Daughter Banquet

MRS. THEODORE BAHNMILLER, left, honored at last year's Mother-Daughter banquet at the Methodist church for her 50 years of service as cradle roll superintendent, is shown in the above photo looking over the current cradle roll list with Dorothy Loring, nursery department superintendent.

Mrs. Theodore Bahnmitter was the surprise guest of honor at the Mother-Daughter banquet held last night at the Methodist church. She was selected for the honor because of her 50 years of service as the church's cradle roll superintendent.

Mrs. Bahnmitter was revealed as the honor guest during the program entitled "The Face in the Pansy" which told her life story. Narrated by Mrs. Charles Cameron, Mrs. Bahnmitter received additional surprises as old friends and members of her family appeared to take their places as the story of her life unfolded.

Present for the occasion were Miss Mima Davis and Mrs. Mabel Davis Pardee of Manchester, girlhood friends; Mrs. Ruth Hickman DeVorna of Grass Lake, a former student while Mrs. Bahnmitter was a schoolteacher; the honor guest's daughter, Thelma, now Mrs. Elwin Hulce of Roscommon; a grandson's wife, Mrs. Larry Hulce of Flint; and an old friend, Mrs. Fern Frimodig of Jackson.

Notes and telegrams were read from other family members and friends and the Rev. S. D. Kinde, pastor of the church, presented Mrs. Bahnmitter with a scroll from the church in appreciation for "her 50 years of faithful service."

As a memento of the evening the honored guest was presented a hand painted pansy pin and earring set.

The banquet meal was served at 6:30 p.m. by men of the church in the social center, decorated in the theme of the program. Pansy colors of blue, purple and yellow were featured in all the decorations including a backdrop of large paper pansies and little girls' faces.

Favors at each place at the tables were individual potted pansies.

The program was held in the church auditorium, Mrs. Loring (Continued on page three)

"Michigan Is Transportation"

Proximity of markets is of prime importance to industry. Michigan has the advantage of a great transportation system.

Industry in Michigan has the widest possible choice of transportation of its products to the market places. This is a fact which each of us should understand and appreciate. In "selling" our communities to new or expanding industry, we would do well to point out the benefits of our various transportation facilities.

As is pointed out in the latest of a series of industrial development advertisements sponsored by the Michigan Press Association and the Michigan Economic Development Department, Michigan IS Transportation.

Each of us can do a great service by letting the nation know of this great industrial asset. The advertisement on Michigan's transportation appears in the The Standard today on page two. It would be a personal contribution to Michigan's industrial development program if you would clip this advertisement and mail it to a friend outside of Michigan.

Automation Is Extension of Progress Started with Industrial Revolution

Some people—a lot of people, in fact—have got this automation thing all wrong. Carbon paper is automation, when it saves a worker from having to write the same thing half a dozen times so that the information may be sent to six different places. So is the "late, late show" when it presents in a million homes the work that a bunch of actors did thirty years ago.

Instead of all-of-a-sudden conjuring up armies of robots with Frankenstein's for second lieutenants, automation is merely the current name for the fact that through the ages has been liberating human beings from drudgery jobs and giving man-type jobs to increasing numbers, and making economically practical the multitude of products and services that support our present standard of living.

One hundred and fifty years ago or more, when the automatic loom began scaring the wits out of weavers who thought they would starve if hand looms were obsolete, it was called the "industrial revolution." In the 1930's, when the mass production ideas of the auto wizards began to be adopted by industry at large, some writers raised the bugaboo of "technocracy."

So now, with electronic "brains" to do our engineering sums faster and production machines controlled and cycled by punched tapes instead of people, it's called automation. And the common denominator is the production of more comforts for everybody at prices everybody can pay, with a comparable increase in the over-all number of jobs and a spectacular advance in the kind of work required of humans. The real misfortune is we have only the beginnings of automation in this country. As a result, we are increasingly unable to compete in many major markets.

These are the things that Roger W. Bolz, publisher and editor of Automation Magazine, has been trying to explain to the Joint Economic Committee of Congress. As an outstanding national authority on the subject, Bolz's presentation has been considerably more technical than this, and takes into consideration the enormous industrial investment, employment and years of time involved in tooling up for automation, and stressing the futility of manufacturers trying to match high-priced U.S. labor and low-wage foreign labor on equal production terms.

The human problem, as Bolz pointed out, is not over-all employment, since studies of automated industries clearly show an increase in personnel. Rather, the problem is to train people up to the demands the new jobs will make on their intelligence. They'll be better-paying jobs, more interesting jobs, less physically demanding, but more mentally challenging, Bolz is telling us. And with this prospect ahead, the boys and girls now in school had better do their homework!

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where one of our U. S. Senators says that if we let Red China in the United Nations the Senate ought to hold national prayer meetings for the entire country. There's one thing you have to say for our Senators. They put on what television folks call a "spectacular" at the drop of a hat. I wouldn't be surprised to see 'em get the Academy Award this year. They can go from Jimmy Hoffa to national prayer meetings, all in the same session. And if I know our Senators, they'll have them prayer meetings on a nation-wide television hookup. But I wouldn't put too much faith in their program for national prayer on account of them devoting too much time to a point of order. Either the preacher or the camera would be out of order during most of the service.

I was reading a magazine piece last night praising Secretary of State Rusk for being a small town boy that made good in the big city. I think them kind of things is overdone, Mister Editor. I can't see where it's any harder for a man to make good in a big city. The true test of a fellow is whether or not he can make good in the small town where everybody is watching him, and maybe has already put two strikes on him on account of them knowing his Grandpa was a horse thief and his Pa used to put brass washers in the collection plate. In this community, for instance, a fellow has to make good with all the family skeletons bring out of the closet and set on the front porch.

Speaking of the State Department, I see where some fellow in that office is complaining that 66 per cent of the nation's secret information has already been published by our newspapers. That puts me to wondering what happened to the other five per cent. I reckon them Tass newspaper men from Russia that we allow to operate over her unhindered got that.

Mentally ill men in Michigan prisons need help they are not getting.

A program is underway that would shift some of the people in mental institutions to the Howell Tuberculosis Sanatorium. The mental patients would be shifted in such a way as to make room at the Ionia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane for dangerous psychotics from the prisons.

But what the Corrections experts would really like to see is a separate unit for psychiatric care. They would prefer to have this diagnostic and treatment center, which would take care of chronically ill as well as mentally and emotionally disturbed inmates, in the Detroit or Ann Arbor areas.

There are several reasons why this location is preferred. It would be close to the research facilities of state universities. It would be near the metropolitan areas of southeast Michigan where many offenders are apprehended. It would be centrally located to most of the prisons and mental institutions of the state.

Ideally, the diagnostic and treatment facility would serve as a reception center for screening of all convicted felons.

While Michigan's corrections systems has many urgent needs, the lack of adequate facilities and staff to care for mental cases seems to be the most critical.

Warden William H. Bannan, of State Prison of Southern Michigan, recently warned legislators during budget hearings that the discipline situation at the Jackson institution is currently more explosive than it was just before the infamous 1952 riots.

The supervisory staff is better able to deal with problem situations now, but mentally ill persons at large in the general prison population constitute a tremendous hazard.

Getting state money for a diagnostic treatment center is just one of the problems for the Corrections Department. It would cost more than $18 million.

Until such a facility is provided, the department faces a tough job in keeping professionally competent people staffing existing diagnostic and treatment units within the prisons.

The state Corrections Department believes that proper treatment of the psychotic, the borderline psychotic, the emotionally unbalanced and the chronically ill would be an investment that would pay off in a reduction of the number of returns to the state's prison system," a recent report on the situation said.

Non-stop driving, especially on superhighways, increases the chance of an accident, the state Highway Department believes.

In fact, monotony is increased by the very ease of driving on the four-lane freeways that are part of the interstate highway system in Michigan.

One weapon in the fight against fatigue is the so-called "rest-area" being included in contracts for new freeways.

These parking areas alongside rural sections of the interstate system, where motorists can stretch their legs and otherwise make themselves alert for more hours of driving, cost from $80,000 to $80,000 each.

About 100 rest areas are now planned for the state's freeway system. They will be about 35 to 50 miles apart.

Federal law prohibits commercial service facilities within the highway right-of-way on interstate routes, but the rest areas are expected to keep drivers more alert and less likely to have an accident.

Indications are that the common "gas station" may be one of the most risky businesses in Michigan.

While motoring miles continue to increase, and multitudes of super-service stations thrive by selling gasoline, oil, other products and service to customers, the bankruptcy rate for this most familiar of business ventures is appalling.

Home V. Lindeberg, Dowagiac, who operates Small Business United, Inc., says all firms of this type need to thrive is a chance to get going on their own.

In an appearance recently before the state Senate Taxation Committee, which was studying property taxes, Lindeberg mentioned the plight of the gas stations.

He said there was a 37 per cent bankruptcy rate among service stations last year.

The roughly 800,000 small businesses, employing an average of two workers each, should be considered as a vital part of the over-all picture when the talk turns to business taxes, Lindeberg said. And lawmakers would do well to think twice about the 9,600 or so gas stations in Michigan, he said.

Herbs can add extra flavor to tomato or vegetable juice. Economists suggest trying herbs in a bag and letting it stand in the juice for several hours before serving.

Quite a few years ago the economist Stuart Chase wrote "The problem of communism is production, the problem of capitalism is distribution."

And in the ensuing years it is becoming quite apparent that the cost of distribution can be stabilizing to an economy as high costs of production.

There seems no question that the science of production has for outstripped the C. W. Harder advances made in the science of distribution. Yet if an advance in distribution is made, an artificial burden is placed on it.

The most recent example of this was the trucking contract negotiated in the midwest by Jimmy Hoffa for the teamsters. This provided that every time a truck trailer is loaded on a flat car for hauling, $5 must be paid into union welfare fund.

Obviously, the "piggy-back" idea was developed to cut the costs of moving goods from one place to another. Moving merchandise by rail freight car in the old classic manner had many drawbacks. First of all, it usually meant loading a truck at a plant or warehouse and then at the rail freight yard unloading the truck and loading a box car.

Trucks, because they could load at one city, and directly unload at the door of the consignee in another city, overcame this problem of cost. On the other hand, on long hauls, a diesel truck will burn more fuel, run into more costs per mile, than a diesel locomotive hauling a long string of freight cars. Thus, was combined the best features of each system. Truck trailers haul the loaded trailer onto freight cars. On arrival, truck trailers hook onto the trailers and take them directly to the customer's door.

This was an advance in providing lower cost distribution. But now the Hoffa gang has wiped out a fair share of the progress that had been made.

Eventually, there will be a day of reckoning. For example, in heavily unionized markets today, the bread truck driver who delivers to the stores goes around $100 per week if his route averages $400 per week in sales. On sales over that there is a percentage paid the driver. This means, then, that the delivery costs to the store of bread is well over 25% of the price consumer pays for it.

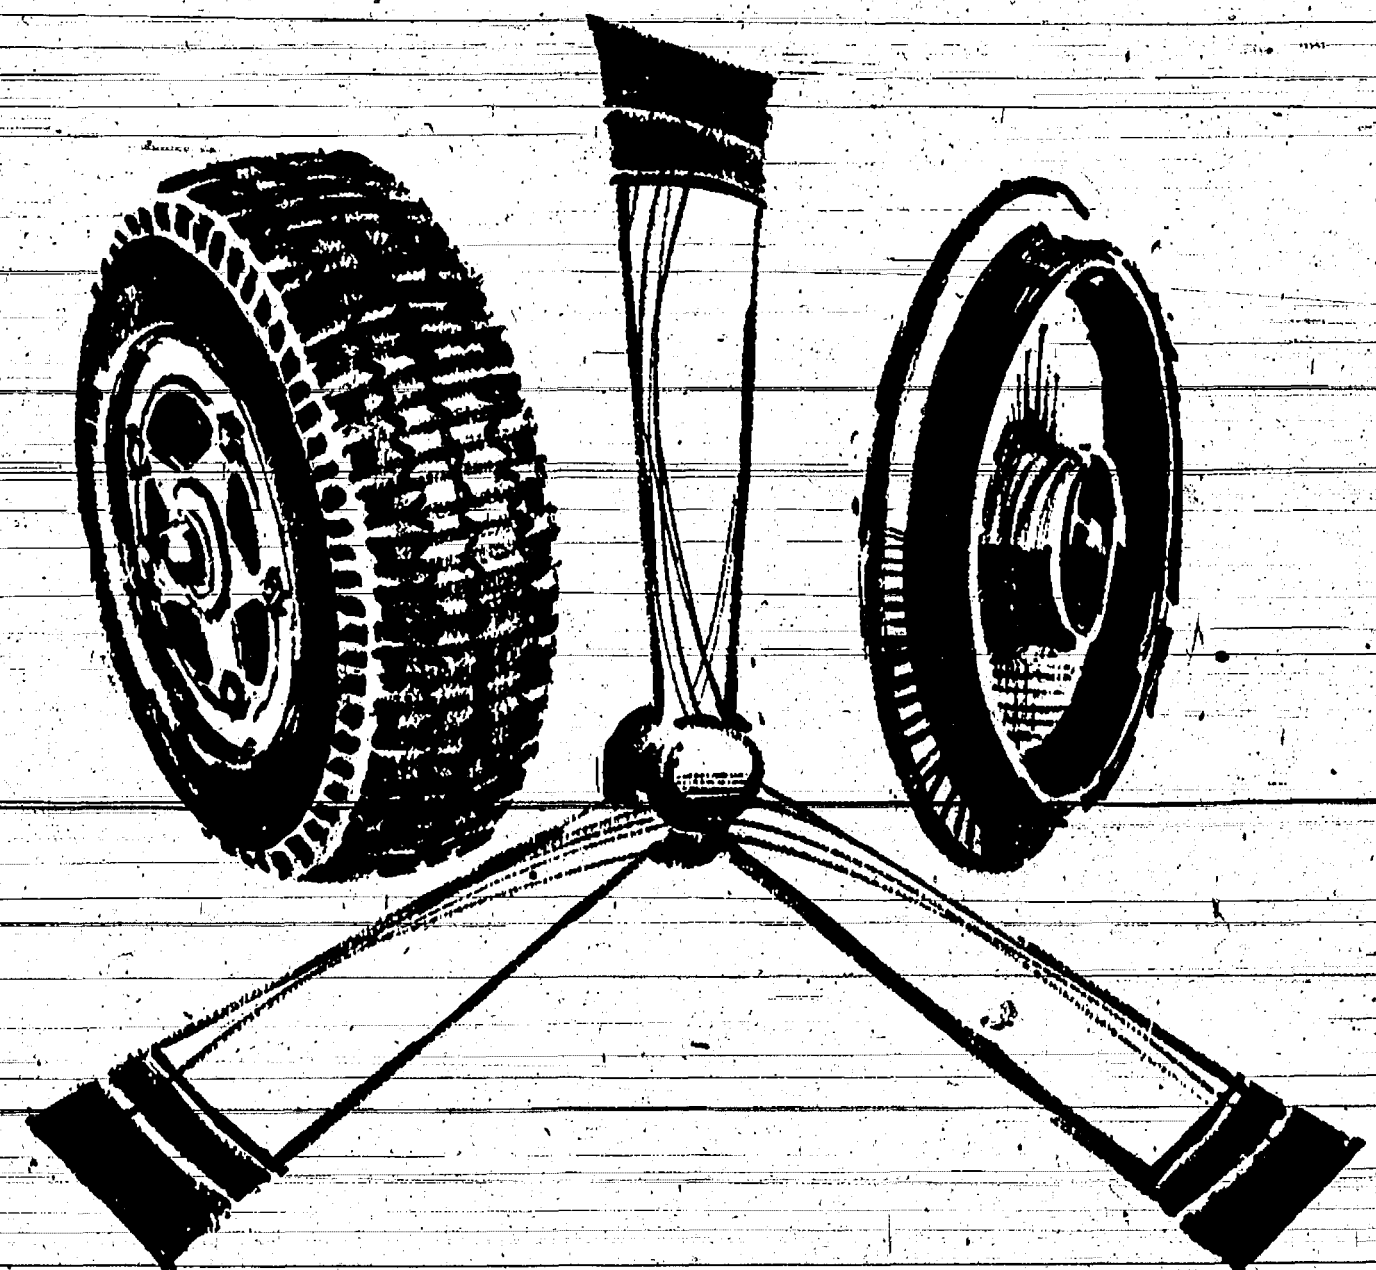

Today, the major wholesale bakeries are working on new methods to cut costs.

However they will be of little avail if labor can continue to block their usage.

Nation's independent businessmen voting through National Federation of Independent Business, have long asked that labor unions be made subject to the anti-trust laws.

There is a problem herein that legislators cannot ignore for too much longer. For it is the law that it is illegal for anyone to conspire to artificially hold up prices. But is it not just as conspiratorial when labor leaders power into being artificial devices which prevent the public from benefiting from new and more economical methods of distribution?

In short, you newspaper folks have equipped on five per cent. But I see where this column from New York says this year for shoe men will stand.

Warty-knee pants for cool and comfortable. They're trying to put that one over for several years.

I just can't believe that men will come to that state. How, I ain't certain. As a matter of fact, I think men have been getting sissier ever since they quit drinking matches on the seat of their pants. That was the peak of manhood in this country and ever since we've had a decline. But the latest thing I read in the papers all week was about this feller 104 years old starting out hitch-hiking looking for his relatives. I can't understand why a feller that has got along without kinfolks so long starts out looking for trouble in the twilight of his career.

Yours truly,

The meeting took place at South Elementary school.

Parents and teachers present were given copies of the PTA calendar which lists school activities for the remainder of the school year. The calendar was prepared by Philip Smith as a convenience for parents of school children.

PTA President David Soule announced that the 44th annual convention of the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers was scheduled to be held in Detroit from Monday until Wednesday of this week.

The Rev. Philip Rusten, who is program chairman for the PTA, introduced Alan Conklin who, in turn, presented members of the physical education department, each of whom spoke on a different aspect of the physical education and athletic programs in the Chelsea schools.

A report of the discussions, given by a parent who attended the PTA meeting reads as follows:

Robert Taylor stated that all high school boys are required to take two years of "phys. ed." If a boy is "out" for a sport he is exempt from physical education only during that time. Classes meet every day for 55 minutes and units covered include tennis, touch football, military drill, tumbling and trampolines, wrestling, volleyball, bowling, basketball, boxing, badminton, soccer, softball and horse shoes.

Taylor said that a trend in the department is to expose more students to "carry-over" activities which he described as those activities a student can participate in on his own, outside of school—perhaps with parents—and which requires little equipment such as tennis, horseshoes, badminton and bowling. He emphasized their importance as recreational activities after school years. Golf and swimming are two major carry-over activities Chelsea school does not offer.

In speaking of the Junior High Phys. Ed. program, Truman O'Donoherty told of the boy's enjoyment of the kickball, boxing, touch football, track, basketball, and wrestling but mentioned that large classes and lack of space inhibit the program.

Mrs. Wanda Finch made similar comments regarding the Junior High girls' program, but stated that the high school girls are making excellent use of the facilities available to them.

Conklin explained the Junior High athletics program and spoke of the stiffer eligibility rules for these younger boys.

Interest in the program was shown by the large number of questions asked the panel and administrators after the formal program. The point was made that much of the athletic program is self-supporting through gate receipts of contests. An Athletic Board consisting of students and a faculty advisor is responsible for this part of the program.

In response to one question as to why articles of clothing and equipment are lost at school, the teachers emphasized that all articles should be plainly marked, and parents should encourage children to keep their possessions picked up and in the proper place. Some students neglect, also, to lock their baskets and lockers.

Mr. Bussler and Mr. McGill were also available for questions about the Junior High athletic program.

It is regrettable that a greater number of parents did not avail themselves of this opportunity to hear more about this phase of the school program.

The next meeting should be of interest to all parents, too, as it concerns marks and grades. It will be held at the North school, May 17.

Two-thirds of the students engaged are men. Their average age is 24.

If you live by high principles you will not have to tell anybody.

Industrial Development . . .

industries, he outlined 12 areas of utmost importance.

Listed in the order in which he mentioned them, the 12 important considerations are as follows:

(1) Location of raw material.
(2) Labor—quantity, quality and price.
(3) Sites.

(4) Industrial fuels available.
(5) Transportation facilities.
(6) Markets.

(7) Distribution facilities.
(8) Power.

(9) Living conditions—not only housing but in regard to proximity of cultural, recreation, educational, shopping, and other facilities.

(10) Laws and regulations—zoning, etc.

(11) Tax structure.

(12) Climate (actual prevailing weather trends).

Tuesday's organizational meeting was held in the Village Council room in the Municipal building. Miller commended the Chelsea community for its foresightedness in forming such a commission. He said many communities frantically institute formation of development committees when urgent need arises as some industry appears interested in locating in the area.

Often, he said, the industry locates elsewhere before the formalities of organization of a commission can be completed.

Organizing the Industrial Development Commission, as Chelsea is doing, before an emergency situation exists, shows that area leaders are alert to prevailing conditions and realize the importance of being prepared for any eventual progress.

Principal activity here will be injection of a "large radiological situation" which will affect decisions and actions of both government agencies and the public.

Concord will be imposed between 4:00 and 4:30 p.m. Friday. Concord, which deals with Civil Defense information, can be heard at 640 and 1240 on the radio.

William Hunter, Chelsea, High school biology instructor, who was trained in radiological monitoring at Montana State University, will "measure radiation rates," Director Grossman said.

A set of instruments for this scientific measurement will be used and the information sent to Battle Creek by Hunter.

Grossman said the exercise here will attempt to stress the importance of making individual plans for personal protection in case of disaster, particularly in regard to radioactive fallout.

H. Anderson To Represent Chelsea at United Fund Meet

Howard Anderson will represent the Chelsea Community Chest at the annual Admissions and Budget Conference of the Michigan United Fund. He is secretary of the Chelsea Community Chest board of directors.

The two-day conference, to be held May 2-3 at Kellogg Center at Michigan State University in East Lansing, will have more than 250 Michigan citizens hear the financial needs of the 34 health and welfare agencies which are supported through the Michigan United Fund.

Members of the budget committee represent all areas of public interest and every geographical area of Michigan.

In 1960 the combined requests of the 34 agencies exceeded four million dollars, but were reduced by the budget committee to $3,365,001. As the financial needs of the 34 agencies are determined each community in Michigan is asked to accept its fair share of these needs and include this amount in their united campaign in the fall.

The 34 agencies which comprise the Michigan United Fund are statewide or national agencies, such as the Michigan Heart Association, an affiliate of the American Heart Association; the Michigan Chapter of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation; the Multiple Sclerosis Society; and other agencies which in other states campaign independently for financial support.

The Michigan United Fund is the only state fund where many of the large national health agencies, such as the Heart Association, annually submit a budget for review.

Each of the 15 state-wide agencies submit a detailed budget, outlining exactly where each dollar received from the Michigan United Fund will be spent. Items such as research, professional education, direct services to the public, public education, medical grants, scholarships, educational and public information costs and administrative costs, will be discussed and their value to the over-all needs of the community will be determined.

The national agencies included in the Michigan United Fund were reviewed at the national budget

Bill Introduced Which Would Permit Counties To Advertise Their Area

A bill introduced by Rep. DeMaso (R) Battle Creek, which would allow county boards of supervisors to appropriate money to advertise their county's advantages for industry, passed the House last week.

The bill, if it becomes law, would allow counties to levy a tax, or make appropriations to attract industry to their county.

HARDY R. SONGER

Hardy Songer Will Direct Scout Camp

Alfred Mayer, chairman of the Camping Committee of the Portage Trails Council, Boy Scouts of America has announced the appointment of Hardy R. Songer as Camp Director for the 1961 season.

Songer, well known to men and boys at Bruin Lake Boy Scout Camp, is principal of Medaryville Consolidated School in Medaryville, Ind. "Dad," as he is affectionately known, entered Scouting in 1921, became an Eagle Scout with three Palms, served as a Scoutmaster for several years and was awarded the Scoutmaster's Key. He is well versed on Council and District operations, having served as a district chairman, commissioner and vice-president of Potawatomi Council in Michigan City, Ind.

Camping is a specialty with Songer and he has pursued this endeavor in the Order of the Arrow (honor camp society). Further, he has functioned as a camp provisional Scoutmaster, commissary officer, waterfront director, program director, and camp director.

During his teaching career he has taught English and mathematics and has coached the four major sports in Indiana high schools. At present, in addition to being principal, he teaches mathematics. To his bachelor's degree he has added a master's degree from Purdue University.

While visiting Ann Arbor during recent school vacations, Songer met with the executive staff of the Portage Trails Council to formulate an adventure packed program to be guided by a nucleus of carefully screened and highly qualified camp staff personnel. Upon completion of the current school year, he will attend camp school and join the rest of the camp staff at Bruin Lake for a week of staff training in preparation for the opening date, June 26.

Portage Trails Council, a community fund agency, serves Washtenaw and Livingston counties. Bruin Lake Scout Camp, located near Gregory, affords the opportunity for Scouts and Explorers to participate in swimming, canoeing, rowing, riflery, Scoutcraft and campcraft. There will be seven camp periods, each beginning on Sunday afternoon and concluding just prior to Saturday noon. At some time in each of the periods, each troop will cook three meals. The other meals will be served in wholesome manner in the Camp's dining hall prepared by James and Harriet Moore, well known to all previous campers. The fee per scout per week will be $16.00; however, if the troop chooses to do all of its cooking, the fee will be $1 per Scout per week.

Business managers for alternating camp periods will be Harley Pierson of Ann Arbor, Paul Pierson of Ypsilanti, and John Pierson of Howell.

Among the 30 troops who already have signed up for participation in the camping program are Troop 76 of Chelsea, sponsored by the Kiwanis club of Chelsea, and Troop 28 of Dexter, sponsored by the Dexter Kiwanis club.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Wank of Manhattan Beach, Calif., spent from Friday until Sunday here as guests of the farmer's mother, Mrs. Roland Wank. On Saturday, they were guests of honor at a party held at the home of Mr. Wank's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Eismann, at Ann Arbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Boylan and family and Mrs. Bertille Forner were in Adrian Sunday to visit Sister Mary Francis.

AREA HOMES PREVIEWED:

Co-Op Nursery House Tour Will Take Place Thursday

The Chelsea House Tour will be held Thursday, Apr. 27, from 10:00 a.m. until 3:00 p.m.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jones, 701 Glazier Rd., was originally built by the Glazier family more than 70 years ago.

The black marble fireplace and hearth, accented by a white mantel, is the center of interest in the living room. The paintings over the fireplace, as elsewhere throughout the house, are originals by a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jones. Two antique Adam chairs, upholstered in red velvet complement the living room.

An interesting use of glass brick has been made in the kitchen. A breakfast nook, overlooking Glazier Lake, joins the kitchen.

The dining room, entered through a doorway from the breakfast nook, has many interesting items: a Windsor dining room suite, two reproductions of Hitchcock chairs, reproduction of an antique mahogany marble top chest, and silk damask draperies. Two rare pieces of Steuben glassware will be displayed on the dining room table. The master bedroom and bath complete the original house.

A guest wing, with two bedrooms, one especially designed for the Jones' grandchildren, and bath have been added. This wing may be closed off by a sliding door when not in use.

The basement provides for many family activities. Here is found a billiard room, family room, utility room, sewing room, garage and workshop.

This is indeed a very liveable home with its unusual exposure overlooking two lakes.

The Merle Barr, Jr., residence, 206 Congdon St., is a modified English Tudor house designed by Thomas Tanner and was built about 1937. The original decoy (wallpaper, carpeting and living room draperies), still present in the home, affords a distinctive and timeless atmosphere.

A striking feature of the living room is the fireplace of antique

3-Ring Circus Is Coming To Chelsea

Floyd E. Hill, special agent for the Carson and Barnes Big Three Wild Animal Circus was in Chelsea last week to complete the arrangements for the circus to show here on Monday, June 26 at the fair grounds.

The Carson and Barnes name is one of the oldest and most honored in the circus business, and the representative reported in a visit to The Standard office the show this year is right abreast of the times with the most elaborate features and equipment that it has ever carried.

One of the many features will be the personal appearance of Col. Tim McCoy the famed TV and Western movie star and his congress of cowboys and Indians.

In addition to the many performing animals which includes elephants, bears, lions, monkeys, llamas, camels, beautiful matched Liberty and high school horses and Darling trained Shetland Ponies.

The Carson and Barnes Circus boasts a huge menagerie which includes lots of jungle animals that are ordinarily seen in only the largest zoos.

In addition the show carries a well-balanced assortment of trapeze, tight wire, jugglers, tumblers, clowns and aerial acts all competing in a well rounded performance that is guaranteed to entertain children of all ages.

There will be two shows daily, 2 and 8 p.m.

brick and white paneling. A portrait over the mantel and reproductions of two Hitchcock chairs enhance the room.

Cushman Colonial furniture create a perfect setting for some of Burr's treasured items: a tea pot which is a Congdon family heirloom and pieces of a seven-piece breakfast set of Dresden-Meissen china purchased in Germany.

Off the living room is the pine paneled den. Here is found a unique collection of woodcarvings, cut glass goblets, and an original painting of the Bernina Pass by the German artist Arnegger.

The cozy kitchen and breakfast nook complete the downstairs. On display in the hutch will be Bavarian china. Barr had made in Germany.

On the wall leading to the upstairs is a woodcarving of the Standish Coat of Arms. Three bedrooms, bath, and a guest room and bath over the garage are on the second floor.

The rustic fireplace in the basement and terraced herb garden with a sky-light roof complements the rathskeller effect.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wood, 646 Flanders St., is a contemporary split level home designed by Lee Goucher of Pinkney. The slate entryway leads to the upper level living room, kitchen, adjacent laundry room and half-bath, three bedrooms and bath; to the lower level—family room, two bedrooms, full bath and furnace room. Unusual lights here create an immediate interest in this home.

Birch paneling combined with beige, brown, and turquoise with orange accents are used for decor throughout the upper level. The wooded view from a picture window in the living room brings the feeling of country living into this spacious home. The U-shaped kitchen with dining area is divided from the living room by a wood accordion door.

The kitchen is planned for the utmost efficiency with built-in range and oven, kitchen planning desk, snack bar, ample birch cupboards and storage space with roll-out drawers.

An appealing feature of this home with children is a "mud room," also accessible from the garage.

The open stairway with carpeted stair treads leads to a large family room with fireplace and partial kitchen for entertaining. Birch paneling is again used in this room. Two more bedrooms and full bath complete this handsome house ideally suited for a large family.

Women Plan Formation of United Group

Plans are now in progress among women of four Chelsea churches to form a group known as United Church Women of Chelsea. The plans will be discussed at a May Fellowship Day meeting scheduled to be held at St. Barnabas' Episcopal church on May 19. Representatives of women's groups of the Methodist, Congregational, St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed and St. Barnabas churches have been appointed as members of a committee to promote the organization of a United Church Women's group here.

Purpose of such united groups of women is to offer "a program of fellowship, worship, study, action and giving for the bringing about of a world Christian Community."

United Church Women is a general department of the National Council of Churches. On a national scale the group sponsors three big meetings during the year—World Day of Prayer on the First Friday in Lent; World Community Day in November; and May Fellowship Day.

Protestant church women of Chelsea have observed all three of these special united projects at various times with World Day of Prayer stressed as an annual event for many years.

All church women of the community are urged to attend the May Fellowship Day meeting at St. Barnabas' church.

Bulldog Nine Drops Two Last Week

After winning their first two games of the season, the Chelsea Bulldogs proceeded to make it 3-0 on the season by dropping their next two games.

Last week was a bad week for the baseball team as they were defeated 4-0 by Saline, and 11-5 by Pinckney.

On Thursday of last week the Saline Hornets, behind the fine pitching of left-hander Jim Walters, shut out Chelsea and allowed them only three hits. Homer Nixon collected two of the three hits while Charles Koenn got the third.

Don Blalock was the pitcher of record. While working five and two-thirds innings he allowed four runs on eight hits, and walked only one. Homer Nixon pitched the last one and one-third innings. He allowed no runs on one hit and walked two.

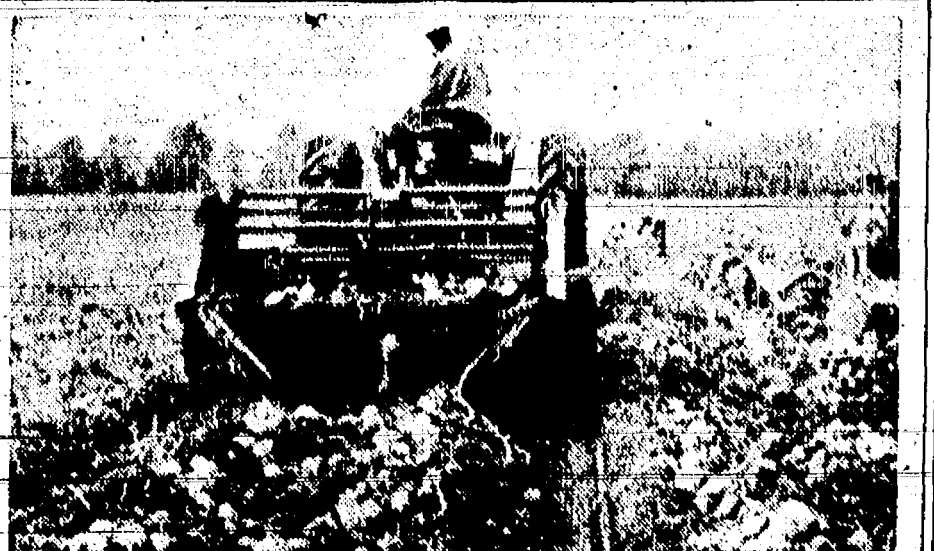

The line score was Saline 4 runs on nine hits and one error, while Chelsea had no runs on three hits and five errors.

On Friday the Pinckney game was moved to Chelsea because of Pinckney's flooded field. When it was all over the Bulldogs would rather have played the game on any other day.

The Bulldogs out-hit Pinckney, 11-5, and were defeated by the same score.

Chelsea pitchers had plenty of trouble finding the plate, and walked some 14 Pinckney batsmen, which led to eight unearned runs. Four Chelsea hitters collected two hits each. They were: Ed Latham, Kenny Larson, Alton Nixon, and Mike Marsh. Homer Nixon, Don Blalock, and Jerry Ringe had one hit each.

The line score was Pinckney 11 runs on five hits and one error; Chelsea 5 runs on 14 hits and 14 errors. (Continued on page 10)

Band Rates High in State Festival

Chelsea High School Band, playing in state competition for the first time, was given an unequalled second division rating by four judges. Saturday at the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Festival held at Slauson Junior High school, Ann Arbor.

The Chelsea musicians and their director, David Lindsay, are very pleased to have received the honor. Lindsay said yesterday he was "extremely pleased with the students" and that they did an excellent job of presenting their required numbers.

Judges comments on the Chelsea band included the following:

"The band plays the march with a lot of spirit and considerable enthusiasm," and "the band shows a good sense of interpretation."

Other comments of the judges: "You have apparently made excellent progress and deserve hearty congratulations for the accomplishment," and "your performance shows good taste and preparation."

The Chelsea Band was one of 33 bands competing in Class "B" in the state festival for senior bands. Saturday, Apr. 29, the Chelsea Junior High School Band will go to Grand Rapids to compete in Michigan School Orchestra and Junior High Band Festival. The Chelsea group is scheduled to play at Union High school, Grand Rapids, at 11:30 a.m.

MYSTERY FARM NO. 147—Located at 1874 S. Van Rd., at the west edge of Chrysler Proving Ground, the farm photo shown in the Apr. 20 issue of The Standard as "Mystery Farm No. 147" was identified by a number of people as the Irvin Steffens place. Steffens has owned the farm the past six years.

Irwin Steffens Family Specializes in Raising Hogs on 160-Acre Farm

Mystery Farm No. 147 is now the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Steffens, former residents of Farmington, who bought it six years ago from Howard Miller. They have 160 acres on the place, located at 1874 S. Van Rd., the east five years. Steffens specializes in raising hogs and it was for this that he bought the place. The modern big barn which is 30 feet long and 66 feet wide, he has approximately 100 hogs on the place. The old barns, across the road from the new house, are used for storage. Steffens has no other stock in addition to the hogs. Mr. and Mrs. Steffens have one son, Roger, an eighth grade student at Chelsea Junior High school.

The only crop Steffens raises is corn, of which he customarily raises 90 acres. The farm acreage is listed at 160 acres. The farm was formerly owned for many years by Becker Pratt who lived in the west. Gottlieb Sager operated the farm for Pratt for more than 40 years. Pratt sold to T. Luther Pardon in 1951. Then Howard Miller bought it and Steffens bought it from Miller in 1954.

Those who identified the farm include the men at Farmers' Supply Co. and at Blass Elevator Co. Others are Don and Al Weber, Mrs. Bernard Herrst, Herbert Jacob, Mrs. Floyd Brand, Mrs. Earl Helm, James Brown, Wesley McClain, Roger Steffens, Judy Woolley, Robert Schneider, John Widmayer and Mrs. Parker Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Elba Gere and Miss Lillie Wackenhut spent Saturday and Sunday at South Haven as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Barden.

Area Students Named To Student Offices At Eastern Michigan

Carol Huelsberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Huelsberg, Sr., 20336 Sager Rd., has been elected historian of Bertha J. Buell residence hall at Eastern Michigan University. Miss Huelsberg is a freshman majoring in occupational therapy.

Donna Oesterle, another Chelsea student at EMU, has been elected secretary of King residence hall for the coming year. A sophomore this year, she is majoring in English. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Oesterle.

The University of Michigan granted a total of more than 6,000 degrees last year.

THE LONGEST UNFORTIFIED BOUNDARY IN THE WORLD

Shown here are the thirty-two Peace Markers which Kiwanis Clubs on both sides of the common U.S.-Canada border have established at principal ports of entry. These markers are dramatic proof of the peaceful nature of the longest unfortified boundary in the world. This map is presented at the time of the thirty-sixth anniversary of Canada-U.S. Good Will Week.

32 Kiwanis-Sponsored Peace Markers on Border Symbolize U.S.-Canada Friendship

There are now thirty-two Kiwanis-sponsored peace markers along the 3,000-mile Canada-United States border, each one dedicated to dramatizing the peaceful neighborliness of the two countries, according to James P. Liebeck, President of the Kiwanis Club of Chelsea.

The announcement is made at the time of the 1961 observance of Canada-U.S. Goodwill Week, which is scheduled for the period Apr. 23-29. Canada-U.S. Goodwill Week, although originated by Kiwanis, now enjoys wide participation in both countries.

The peace markers, each of which has been erected by Kiwanis clubs on opposite sides of the common border, working in concert, are located at all principal ports of entry. Two of them are located away from the border—one in Washington, D.C. and one at the site of Mount Eisenhower in the Canadian Rockies.

The idea for the peace markers came from the erection of the Harding International Goodwill Memorial in Stanley Park, Vancouver, British Columbia. This monument commemorates a speech on Canadian-United States friendship made by that spot in 1923 by President Warren G. Harding, shortly before his death. Harding was a Kiwanian. In 1935 the first "peace marker" was erected on the Ambassador Bridge between Detroit, Michigan and Windsor, Ontario.

Each peace marker bears the legend: "This unfortified boundary line between the Dominion of Canada and the United States of America should quicken the remembrance of the more than a century old friendship between these countries—a lesson of peace to all nations." Some of the markers are of bronze; some of granite.

The dates of Canada-U.S. Goodwill Week include Apr. 28, which is the anniversary of the signing of the Rush-Bagot Agreement in 1817. This agreement is the sole legal basis for our 3,000 miles of unfortified boundary. It virtually demilitarizes the boundary between the United States and Canada by calling for a limitation of naval vessels on the waterways between the countries, and instructing those which are deemed necessary to interfere in no way with the peaceful passage of merchantmen of either country. This agreement can—and could be terminated by a simple six months notice on the part of either signer.

Canada-U.S. Goodwill Week observances, like the peace markers themselves, are designed to reaffirm and dramatize the friendship between the United States and Canada, Liebeck concluded.

Perch Festival Set This Week At Harbor Beach

Harbor Beach—The annual Perch Festival here will take place Friday through Sunday, April 28, 29, and 30th, announced the festival committee of Harbor Beach.

Post 107 of The American Legion, sponsors of the festival.

These three days were picked in hopes they would coincide with the annual spawning run of the big "yellow bell" perch that come in to the large harbor each spring. When the run is on, many of the perch hit the scales at 1 1/2 pounds and often two at a time on a line. This is perch fishing at its very best.

Plans are complete for a fishing contest with prizes for the "heaviest" perch, largest perch, and one for a name to be picked from all contestants. The only requirements are that entries must be caught at Harbor Beach and that each contestant registers at the local Legion building before going fishing.

The Harbor Beach Youth Club has also planned a fishing contest from the new boat dock on Saturday, April 29, 1 to 5 p.m. This contest is open to boys and girls up to and including 14 years of age. Prizes will be awarded.

Festival headquarters will be at the Legion building where contest entry blanks may be obtained. The Legion building will be open to the public all three days with a fresh perch fish fry planned for Friday night and a free dance Saturday night. Awarding of prizes to contest winners will take place Sunday afternoon at 8 o'clock.

A cordial invitation is extended to all sportsmen by the local Post and community to attend and enjoy "pulling in the big ones!"

Farm Interphone Now Offered by Telephone Co.

Michigan Bell said the new system offers the farm family a wide range of time- and work-saving features. The new system combines for the first time the telephone's traditional role of handling outside calls with the capacity to provide intercommunication services around the farm.

For example, with Farm Interphone, the farm wife can answer an incoming call in her kitchen and hold the call on the line while talking over the intercom system to her husband in the barn or barnyard. The farmer can hear and answer without stopping work or touching the system. His wife can relay his message or he can go to the nearest phone and handle the call himself.

When the intercom service or telephones aren't in use, microphones in the speaker units monitor sounds around the farm and relay them to the house. The telephone ring is broadcast over the loudspeakers and can be heard throughout the farm.

The Farm Interphone—the new farm communications system that serves as a step-saver, page, and even monitors sounds in the barnyard—will be available to farm customers of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. beginning Monday, Apr. 17.

The company, after the new service was authorized by the Michigan

Public Service Commission, announced its immediate plans to place the Farm Interphone on the market.

Three New Men Named To Conservation Commission

Lansing—Three new men—August Scholle, Harry H. Whiteley, and E. M. Laitala—were appointed Apr. 19 to Michigan's Conservation Commission by Governor Swainson.

If their appointments are confirmed by the Senate, Scholle will succeed Lawrence J. Gotschall, Whiteley will replace George A. Griffith, and Laitala will fill the post of Peter J. Calcaterra on the seven-man governing body of the Conservation Department. Their terms expire Apr. 1, 1967.

Scholle is president of the Michigan AFL-CIO Council. Whiteley publishes the Presque Isle County Advance, a weekly newspaper, at Rogers City. He is a nephew of the late Harry H. Whiteley who served on the Commission from 1927 to 1949. Laitala is editor of a Finnish newspaper at Hancock. Griffith, a retired field representative for Wayne Knitting Mills of Fort Wayne, Ind., has served on the Commission since 1950. He lives at Grayling.

Gotschall has been a member of the Commission since 1949. He taught high school for more than 30 years prior to his retirement in 1955 and is now a realtor at Baldwin.

Calcaterra also joined the Commission in 1949. He is the founder and owner of a distributing company with headquarters at Norway where he lives.

Committee Heads Are Named for VFW Auxiliary

At a regular meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 4910, held Monday evening at the K. of C. Hall, the president, Mrs. Fred Klink, Sr., announced her list of chairmen appointed for the year.

Names of the chairmen and the committees they head are as follows: Mrs. Helen Harvey, poppy; Mrs. Vera Heim, membership; Mrs. Eulalie Packard, youth activities; Miss. Alda Juergens, community service; Mrs. E. Bernice Scheldt, cancer; Mrs. Cletea Frayer, Civil Defense.

Delegates and alternates were elected to the department convention to be held in Lansing June 22-25. Delegates are Mrs. Thelma Franklin, Mrs. Iza Carty and Mrs. Eulalie Packard, while alternates are Mrs. Helen Harvey, Miss Alda Juergens and Mrs. Dorothy Lentz.

As past president of the auxiliary, Mrs. Harvey installed Mrs. Cletea Frayer as historian and Mrs. Florence Merkel, flag bearer.

Annual reports given by chairmen at the meeting revealed the fact that two—Miss Juergens as community service chairman and Mrs. Franklin, poppy chairman—had fulfilled all requirements to earn maximum points for their work. The points give credit toward attainment of a place on the state honor roll of the Auxiliary.

The Ann Arbor Civic Symphony Orchestra and the Ann Arbor Civic Ballet Troupe will present their annual combined program this Sunday at 7 p.m. in the Ann Arbor High school auditorium.

The ballet troupe will present Benjamin Britten's arrangement of Rossini's "Soiree Musicale" and the ballet music from the opera "Faust" by Charles Gounod. They will be accompanied by the orchestra.

Rimsky-Korsakov's brilliant "Capriccio Espagnol" will be performed by the orchestra as will the "Suite on Fiddler's Tunes" by George Frederick McKay. The latter is a nostalgic group of six folk songs reminiscent of the days of Tom Sawyer, sailing schooners, Calico Jane and square dancing in leather breeches.

Chelsea's grade and junior high school children have been studying about ballet music in general, and the story of "Faust" in particular, in their vocal music classes and it was pointed out that these students would gain a tremendous experience from a live performance such as this one.

Performing in the orchestra this year are two Chelsea residents, Mrs. James Hoffmeyer who plays first violin and Day Sauborn, vocal music director of the Chelsea public schools, who plays string bass.

All of the orchestra's programs are open to the public and admission is free. Parents are urged to bring their children as the music is geared to the interest of all age groups and the aim of the orchestra is to present a whole, some program of cultural entertainment for family listening.

Scholles' Nomination to Conservation Body Finds Mixed Reactions
There were some mixed reactions to the naming of August Scholle to the State Conservation Commission by Governor Swainson this week, and Thursday there was considerable doubt that his appointment would be confirmed. Without Senate approval, he cannot take office.

He replaced Lawrence J. Gottschall, of Baldwin, who has sought reappointment. Many around the Capitol feel that the appointment was made in payment of political debt.

Among Conservation Department personnel it was feared that if his appointment should be confirmed that it would mean some violent shake-ups in the department. Scholle has opposed many of the department policies.

Because of his violent statements against all Republicans, it seemed unlikely that enough of them would join the 12 Democrats in the Senate to give approval. There is some speculation that the Governor made the appointment with tongue-in-cheek.

The human race has its problems, including you and me.
