Commencement Exercises To Be Held Wednesday

Commencement exercises are to be held Wednesday evening, June 7, at 8 o'clock, also in the gymnasium.

Dr. Norman B. Scherer, superintendent of schools at Santa Barbara, Calif., will give the commencement address.

Dr. Scherer is a native of Adrian. He graduated in 1925 from Adrian High school and in 1929 received a bachelor of arts degree at Pasadena College, in California. He has advanced degrees from the University of Southern California and the University of California. He also spent a year in graduate study at the University of Michigan and in 1959 was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree at Pasadena College.

His experience in the field of education ranges from elementary teacher, child welfare worker, high school teacher, elementary and high school principal to administrative positions in California school districts since 1951.

He has also taught at summer sessions in various colleges and universities on the west coast.

His avocation is listed as "private pilot."

This is believed to mark the first time in the history of Chelsea High school that no valedictorian or salutatorian was named, instead the top ten seniors in the class will be listed for recognition.

The school band is to participate in the program and the school chorus will present W. B. Olds' "Let Us Praise God," with Peter Flinto as narrator.

The Rev. Allan Reed of St. Barnabas Episcopal church is to give the invocation and benediction at the commencement program.

Poppy Sales Higher Than Last Year

Proceeds of the annual poppy sale here Friday were $164.68 for the American Legion group and $172.37 for the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Mrs. Paul Frayer, chairman for Herbert J. McKune Unit No. 31, American Legion Auxiliary, said the $164.68 proceeds was approximately $14 more than was received at the 1960 sale.

Mrs. Wayne Harvey, poppy chairman for the Ladies Auxiliary to Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 4076, also reported an increase over last year's receipts, a total of $104.22.

Two Junior Auxiliary members and 22 Auxiliary members were among the volunteers who sold poppies, Mrs. Frayer reported. The Auxiliary president, Mrs. Lynn Kern, and Mrs. Merle Barr, Sr., also assisted Mrs. Frayer.

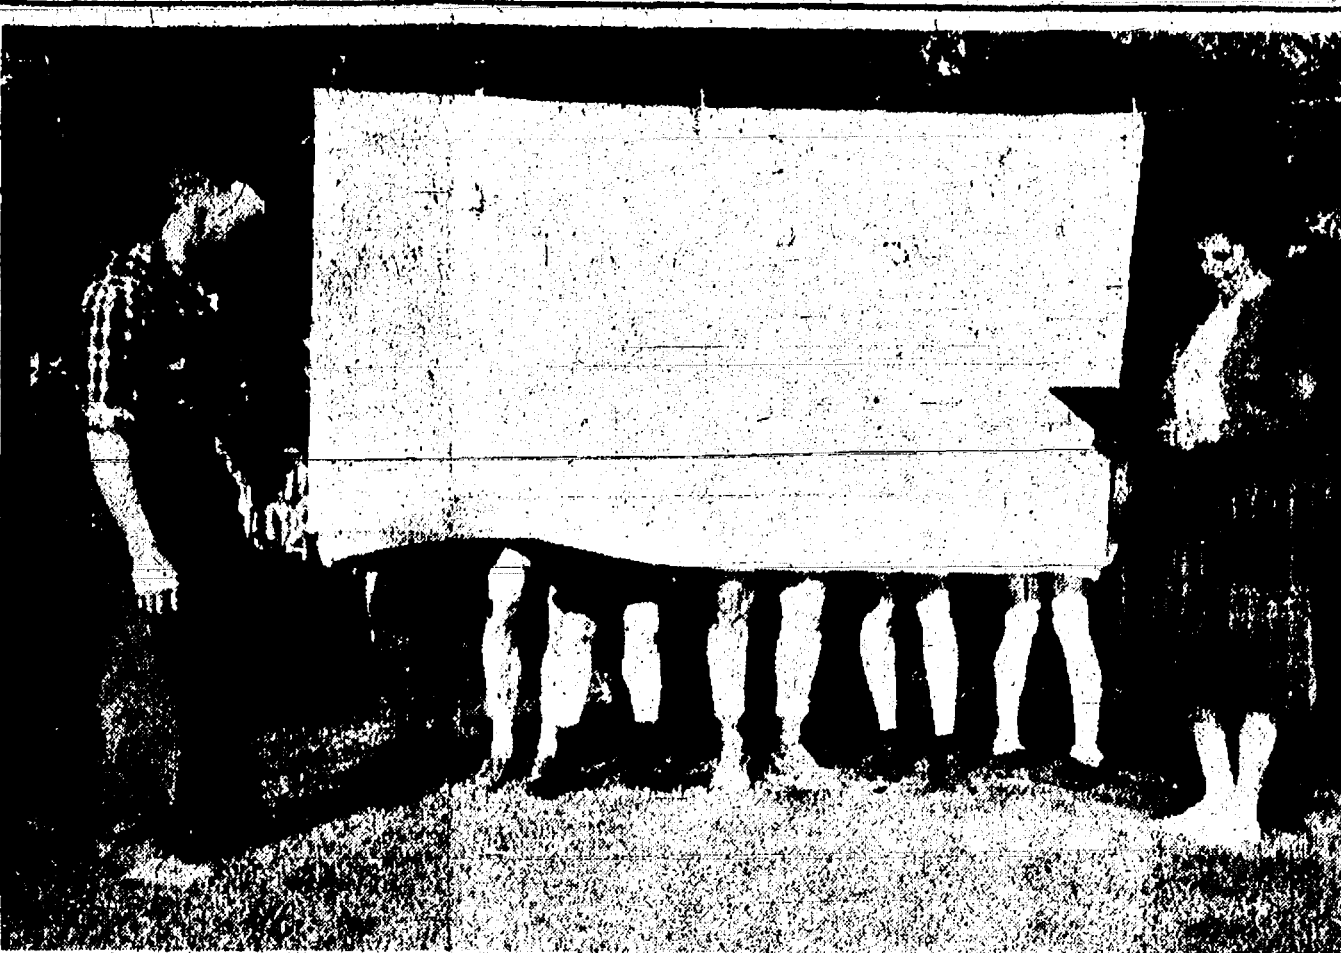

Twenty-four VFW Auxiliary members, the Auxiliary president, Mrs. Fred Klink, Sr., Post Commander Fremont Boyer and Henry Notten of the Post, assisted the VFW Auxiliary chairman, Mrs. Wayne Harvey.

Headquarters for both service organizations was in the lobby of Sylvan Hotel.

So far as could be determined, this was the first time it snowed in this area on Poppy Day.

With early morning temperatures in the 30's and a cold wind blowing most of the day, some snow fell several times during the day, although it melted as it struck the ground.

Winter coats were the order of the day, however.

CAREFUL SCREENING of talent by the casting committee promises an exceptional Showboat production. Janet Hutzler and Dr. Parker Sharrard are shown here evaluating the "charms" of a group of local male aspirants for the chorus kick line.

Stunts Arranged To Recruit Cast For Showboat

Here is the latest report submitted by the special Showboat reporter pertaining to the progress of plans for the presentation of the community event in just three weeks—June 22-23-24—at the Chelsea High school auditorium.

Your Showboat is about to get under steam and its time to get aboard!

Last-minute patron tickets are being sold with the sale of the regular tickets due to kick-off tomorrow night.

Your casting committee is rapidly but very carefully selecting a fine array of outstanding talent for the production, but according to Chairman Anton Nielsen, "we still need 51 more to fill our minimum requirements of 237 cast members or 52 if you leave the people department and consider the male role that is as yet unfilled."

Tony further requests that "any and all of you, who wish to be in the production, sign in tomorrow night at the showboat corner up town."

Upon checking with the general chairman, "Doc" Aker, your reporter received the following direction as to finding the showboat location. Come uptown this Friday night and follow the hot music of that famous Dixieland band, the "Butterball Eight"—where you hear the beautiful organ music and see the large showboat right on Chelsea's Main St. Wait until the singing stops and sign up for the show and, even if you can't find time to be in the show, be sure to come up town tomorrow night and join in the fun.

Your producer, Jim Egbert, will arrive here June 3 and in order to have the cast organized as much as possible before his arrival, a community meeting will be held in the Chelsea Community Fair building Thursday evening, June 8.

Everyone having anything at all to do with the Showboat or wishing to help in anyway, is requested to attend.

See you all up town tomorrow night!

School Asks for Allocation of Differential Tax Levy

School Superintendent Charles Cameron will be in Stockbridge to attend a four-county meeting of chairmen of tax allocation boards.

Superintendent Cameron was at the Ann Arbor meeting he attended on the board to instruct the Allocation Board, to vote for a differential tax for the Chelsea School District when he meets with representatives from Jackson County.

The board, however, voted 5-1 that a softened version of this proposal which would call on Verity merely to "be informed the Michigan county Tax Allocation Board favors the spreading of a differential tax."

He made it clear to the board that he is opposed to the differential tax because of the wording in the State Constitution and an attorney general's opinion, which held that such a tax is illegal.

Cameron pointed out that the differential rates could be used in the parts of the school district in Washtenaw without going over the 15-mill limitation set by the State Constitution.

He said an allocation of 9.5 mills to the school district, 28 mills to Sylvan township and 4 mills to the county would add up to a tax rate of only 13.78 in the part of the school district in Sylvan township, leaving 1.13 mills which would be unused unless levied as a differential rate on property in the township.

In the parts of the school district in Lima, Lyndon, Sharon, Dexter and Freedom townships, however, there would be a larger amount of unused tax because these townships have not asked for a share of the 15 mills.

The Auxiliary hopes to make this Christmas especially happy for the needy children. They have made their plans for a used-toy drive for the children of needy families.

A door-to-door pick-up has been planned for Saturday, June 3. If anyone has any toys they may call any of the members of the committee including Mrs. Ron Brannham, Mrs. Richard Salonen, Mrs. Charles Gelman, Mrs. Merle Leach, or any other member of the Auxiliary.

A deposit box has also been conveniently placed at Stop and Shop.

Co-operating with JCC Auxiliary in this project are the Cassidy Lake Technical school and Chelsea Social Service, Mrs. Louis Rump, director of Chelsea Social Service has stated that last Christmas 27 families were aided. This included 95 children. There was a "store" with toys grouped according to the age of the children. If they were of old enough the children had lots of fun selecting their own toys. The Chelsea Social Service covers the area of the entire Chelsea school district which includes the village and surrounding area.

After the toys are collected they will be repaid by the boys of Cassidy Lake Technical School. Kenneth J. Shea, superintendent of Cassidy Lake Technical School, has said that the school will repair these under the supervision

All classes compete in one field and McLaughlin finished in third place in both the high and low hurdles events, his time being 14.8 seconds in the high hurdles and 20.0 seconds in the low hurdles.

PLANT ADDITION—Fortune Industries, Inc., 1770 Chelsea-Dexter Rd., will have an additional 100,000 square feet of floor space when construction of a new addition at the east end of the present plant is completed. The addition is 66 feet long and extends 50 feet from front to back. The new structure will permit installation of 100 running feet of continuous tunnel kiln, capable of generating temperatures up to 3000 degrees, Fahrenheit. The tunnel kiln is used in the company's manufacture of refractory abrasive products for metal finishing.

Principal owners of the firm, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Fortune of Ann Arbor, organized the firm in October, 1953, and now have 15 people on the payroll. Completion of the new addition could more than double that figure. Fortune has proved he was right in his belief that automation in the manufacture of metal products, such as huge calculating machines and electronic equipment, would create a market for a perishable tool to be used for deburring, deraduating, etc., in improving metal finishes. This is the second addition to the plant. The eventual 212-foot over-all length is expected to quadruple the original manufacturing capacity.

Jaycees Planning Work Bee Monday In Pierce Park

Chelsea Jaycees are planning a "work bee" Monday evening at the Pierce Memorial Park in an attempt to get all remaining brush cleared out. President Daniel M. Roney has announced that any help contributed by Chelsea area men would be much appreciated.

The four had attended the Junior-Senior prom at Chelsea High school and at the time of the mishap were enroute to one of the many after-prom parties held at homes of classmates.

Her family said yesterday she is recovering satisfactorily.

Hula Hoops, Coonskin Caps Fads Caught On... Why Not Seat Belts

The ability of the average American—that's you and me—to ignore the possibility of his own destruction is nowhere better illustrated than in his casual neglect of a simple accident and death preventive. It's called a seat belt.

Every day we blithely duck into a couple tons of steel, hunch over a steering wheel, and send it (and us) hurtling along the ground at anywhere from 30 to 70 miles an hour. And every day—predictably—hundreds of us discover that when those tons of steel are forced to come to an abrupt halt, they—and us, get smashed up.

Of course, the nice thing about it is that although we know it happens every day, we don't really believe it will happen to us. We know better; we realize that sooner or later, some time or other, chances are pretty good that it will happen to us. But we don't believe it.

And that's too bad. Because if we truly believed it, we'd do something about it. Like putting seat belts in our cars. And using them. And making sure our wives or husbands and our kids did the same thing. We'd do it because it might well mean the difference between their lives or their deaths; their serious injury or their minor hurt.

Anybody doubt it? Then listen to this. Indiana police studied 180 fatal accidents during a 90 day period—in which 153 people were killed. They reported that 69% of those killed would have lived and another 12% might have lived if seat belts had been used. Only 19% were considered hopeless.

Using a paired comparison technique, crash injury research shows that in accidents where people remain in the car, seat belts reduced the frequency of injury as much as 60%; in accidents where people are thrown from the car, seat belts reduce the frequency of dangerous or fatal injury 87%.

Given these facts, you'd think we would all rush out and install seat belts, wouldn't you? But here's another fact. Less than 3% of the cars in this country are equipped with seat belts. Even worse—2 out of 3 of these belts aren't even used.

Well, this is impressive in a ghoulish sort of way, but what about it? Maybe nothing. But then again, maybe some of us will get around to installing seat belts in our cars and using them. If enough of us do, who knows? It may get to be stylish. Maybe we can start a fad. Sometimes this kind of thing can be as communicable as some of those diseases we talk about so often. After all, it happened to the hula hoop and the coonskin cap. Why not seat belts?

Something Wrong with Pay Scales

There's something morally wrong in our buckwheat cake way of thinking—when an actor or an actress gets $25,000 for one appearance on some silly television show. Of course, we don't blame the show people; we'd take it if an offer like that came our way.

But this points up the distorted pay scale of the entertainment world. While remuneration for citizens doing work of great value to their country, in the scientific, defense or intelligence fields—for a few examples—is usually meager, powder puff boys and girls get more for one performance before the cameras than professionals in the above-mentioned fields receive for a whole year's vitally important work.

The movie and television industries are so organized, and the entertainment field so situated, that an established star can demand exorbitant sums of money for his little stint, or song, or dance—or cute remarks.

As far as we are concerned the acting profession is the most overpaid of all professions. And considering the quality of entertainment on television, and the quality of most movies, this makes the salary scale in show business the outrage of the ages.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR: This fellow John Duncan from Georgia that's holding down the Assistant Secretary of Agriculture job is a good talker, a real live wire. He came out the other day with an order in his Department that from now on all excess food in this country shall be known official as our "abundance." Instead of "surplus," he allows as how "abundance" sounds better'n "surplus."

Now if he can come up with a plan to store our abundance or give it away without costing the taxpayers a fortune, he ought to be in line for bigger and better things in the Government. Come 1964, our farmers and ranchers might even run him for President on the "abundance" ticket.

He also claims the official figures show only one-fourth of the income in this country goes for food. The trouble with that fellow is his old lady ain't went him to the grocery store lately. My old lady come home Saturday hollerin' about a head of cabbage costin' her 8 cent a pound. She allowed as how, if inflation keeps getting worse, it'll be cheaper to eat money. Of course, my old lady ain't above exaggerating things when she gets riled up. "My memory win't be good as it used to be," she hollered, "and it used to be bad, but I can remember when you could buy this burp-product, stepchild of the vegetable kingdom for one cent a pound. I tried to quieten her down by citing her fingers from the Assistant Secretary of Agriculture that we ain't spending but one-fourth of our income on food. She said this wasn't nothing but talk. "Back in Bible times," she said, "it was a miracle when asses spoke. Now they talk all the time." I don't mean no disrespect to the Assistant Secretary, Mister Editor, I'm just telling you what my old lady said.

But I do believe we're getting a little inflation around the country, and across the New Frontier. For instance, I see where haircuts have gone to $2.00 in some of the big cities. I recollect getting my first haircut during the first World War, and the fellow that run the shop gave me the complete job for 25 cents, and I got my clothes brushed off for free. Now, they tell me, in some of them big cities just the brushing costs 25 cent.

Well, I see where the report to President Kennedy from the Conference on Education went to 50,000 words. I could've give him the same report in two words, "More Dough."

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Getting Ready For 1961

★ MICHIGAN MIRROR ★

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Michigan Week, 1961 is now history. In terms of activity by Michigan people within the state and publicity for Michigan outside, it was the greatest yet in the opinion of those who worked to make it a success.

Naturally, those who boost this state are anxious that the effort be year-round rather than just a seven day binge. They are devoting much time to stretching effects of the "boost Michigan" idea as long as possible, and giving the drive a new lift each year in the May celebration. One way to keep things moving is to name the next year's chairman before this year's program is finished. That was done this year.

1962 chairman is Edward O. George, sales vice-president of Detroit Edison, whose home was in Petoskey until 1929 when he went to work for the utility. Before this year's Michigan Week was started, he was busy organizing for next year, asking clubs, schools and other groups to improve this year's activities for the 1962 campaign which takes place, incidentally, May 20-28 next year.

The manufacturer all too often leaves industrial promotion to the retailer, the banker, the insurance man, the utilities or far as leadership and strong participation are concerned," said Don Gerber, Fremont baby food manufacturer and Michigan Week enthusiast. In one of the more significant talks made on the subject.

He asserted that manufacturers should be out in front in their local industrial programs by the same reasoning that leads them to positions of leadership in such activities as the Community Chest. "It is no nobler or wiser to help one's fellow-man through charitable organizations and social services than to help assure jobs for him and his children through the promotion of more payrolls for the community," he stressed.

"I didn't know Metrecal is made in Michigan," a statement frequently heard since this Michigan "Product of the Year" was selected for 1961 honors, emphasizes that many of us know far too little about our state and some of its outstanding products, says Lowell Treaster, director of MSU Information Services and a Michigan Week worker. Metrecal, manufactured in a busy Zeeland plant, has received much national attention, but few realize its Michigan connection. Hush Puppies, a smart, moderately priced sports shoe made in Rockford, was selected as 1960's Product of the Year.

Treaster pointed out that more knowledge about Michigan permits individuals to make sound decisions for improvement.

"Man can do something about our environment and Michigan Week is one of the most useful vehicles in our state for this purpose," he said. "Through this event we have the opportunity to inspect our surroundings from every point of view. We see the beauties and the shortcomings. We learn about some of the assets that make our communities, our state and our nation the envy of other people throughout the world. By identifying both the good and the bad, Michigan Week prepares the way for the improvement of our environment."

Michigan Week is financed by Greater Michigan Foundation, an organization in which many groups work toward these ends.

To get Michigan people better acquainted with their state and each other, their prides and problems.

To win favorable attention for Michigan nationally;

To encourage Michigan people to work together on an all-year basis.

Don C. Weeks and the staff of the Economic Development Department which he heads, do a great deal of the co-ordinating for Michigan Week. Gerber, a former chairman and recently reappointed member, had this to say of that office in his recent Detroit talk:

"The staff of our state Economic Development Department is one of the ablest and most highly respected in the business. Under sometimes the greatest handicaps, this department has done and is doing a most effective job, with devotion, perseverance and distinction that every Michigan citizen should applaud."

Delegates to a convention for the purpose of revising the 1908 Michigan Constitution will convene in October. They have a chance to rise above partisan bickering and special interest pressure and devise a solid document to provide a basic framework for government.

The Constitution, of course, is no more responsible for Michigan's troubles than any other one thing.

But a sound basic document, coupled with a better economic situation and responsible actions by the leaders of political parties, business and industry, could mean Michigan is on the road to better things.

It may be an oversimplification to say that one Payless Payday shattered the image of a great state. The rebuilding job, which may be underway, is neither simple, nor easy nor short.

Helpful hints for hospital operation.

LAY DITCH-DIGGER?

Painesville, Ohio—Why asks Mrs. Esta Belle White, year-old mother of four, "It's not be ladylike, but there are a lot of things women do now were unheard of a few years ago."

Mrs. White, of Madison, holds a sentie tank installer's license and a partner in a working party in the White Excavating Company founded by her husband, Mr. W. has taken another job as a he equipment operator.

Michigan dairymen should consider replacing part of the ration of the milking cows with silage, say Michigan University dairymen.

It is more than of passing interest that Luther Hodges, Secretary of Commerce, is talking quite openly of putting representatives of small business on the Business Advisory Council of the Commerce Dept.

As of this writing, this has not been done, but orders have gone out that sessions of this council shall be open to the press whenever a business government man is addressing the council.

Some time ago, the nation's independent businessmen, voting through the National Federation of Independent Business, requested that small business representatives be included in the Federal Reserve Board. This expressed indignity of Secretary Hodges is along the same line.

For many years now, the Business Advisory Council composed only of executives of huge enterprises, have periodically requested themselves at some spot such as sea, inland, Georgia, and in closed sessions formulated economic policies for the guidance of the executive branch of the government.

But up until this time, no one really required attention such as Secretary Hodges has pointed out, a fallacy of developing programs and policies from viewpoint of huge business alone.

After all, the bulk of American employment is afforded by small and independent business, and there are many great and profound differences between the viewpoints and the

Thus Secretary Hodges' desire to put small business representation on the Business Advisory Council, if put into action, could do a great deal in small commerce. Department an integral part of the welfare instead of the vague, little understood, and ineffective bureau it has long been.

Lawn Mower Can Kill, Pfister Warns

An "unguided missile" launched by a rotary lawn mower can be deadly.

"The mower blade can pick up nails, stones and other objects and eject them at speeds up to 180 miles an hour," says Richard Pfister, agricultural safety engineer at Michigan State University.

Recently, a four-year-old Chicago boy watching his dad mow the lawn, suddenly screamed and fell unconscious with a piece of copper wire in his skull. He died.

Pfister has records of all too many such tragedies.

"Be sure to check the lawn for small objects before mowing," he warns. "Also check the blade often for cracks and defects, especially after five or six years of use."

"An Ingham county resident's blade recently sheared off, sliced through a half-inch thick branch 50 feet away, and carried 100 feet further before hitting the ground."

While "missiles" are deadly, direct contact with the machine accounts for more than two-thirds of all lawn-mower injuries.

About 75,000 Americans suffer mower injuries each year. Rotary mowers account for about 90 percent of the mishaps—far more than their share.

Pfister is quick to point out that rotary mowers can be safe. He mentions several important safety measures:

"Keep children away while mowing. You might have them play in the backyard while working in front and vice versa."

"Put one foot on top of the mower to hold it in place when you pull the starter cord. Otherwise, the mower may move and endanger your feet."

"Wear shoes that provide good footing. Mowing isn't a job for bare feet."

"Use the normal motor operating speed that the manufacturer designed into the unit. Avoid tampering with the governor."

"Mow across a slope. Going up and down the slope makes it more difficult to handle the machine."

It may be wise to consider buying a reel-type mower if a young child will do any mowing, the safety specialist says.

Merlene Rogers of Olivet College was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Garnett Weir and their son, Robert James, who was home on leave from the Marine Corps before reporting May 30 at Quantico, Va.

Series of Classes Scheduled for Expectant Parents

When the new series of Expectant Parents' Classes begins June 1 in Room 1 in the basement of the County Building Thursday nights, those present will hear Mrs. Audrey Negrelli, public health nurse, discuss how the baby grows before birth. Mrs. Negrelli's discussion will be designed to provide an overview of the entire program of Expectant Parents' classes as well as to help the parents to develop an understanding of how their baby grows before birth.

Included in Mrs. Negrelli's discussion will be a film titled "Human Reproduction" which will show the growth and development of the baby before birth and will also show diagrammatically how labor takes place. Mrs. Negrelli will also discuss the anatomy and the physiology of pregnancy and then will open the class to discussion and questions from the group assembled.

This new series of classes will meet each Thursday night in the County Building for the next seven weeks.

Registration may be accomplished at the class meeting and the registration will be open at 7:00 p.m. to allow ample time for registration before the class begins at 7:30 p.m. Registration fee for the entire series is $2.50 per couple. This includes seven classes. A special class is held for the fathers only. In addition a tour of the maternity wards of the hospital in which the mother expects to deliver is planned.

Production Records Told For Area Holstein Cows

The Holstein-Friesian Association of America has announced the completion of outstanding official production records by the following registered Holstein cows in this area.

Leo Bur Robinson J. 4286780, owned by Leonard Burmeister, Ann Arbor, produced 17,107 lbs. milk and 623 lbs. butterfat in 365 days on twice daily milking as a three-year-old.

Ormsby Robes Sandy Maxine, 3857599, owned by George & Ralph Eike, Chelsea, produced 16,831 lbs. milk and 607 lbs. butterfat in 365 days on three daily milkings as a nine-year-old.

Green Acres Rock, Doris, 4719496, owned by Lowell Spike, Manchester, produced 16,478 lbs. milk and 587 lbs. butterfat in 365 days on twice daily milking as a three-year-old.

Michigan State University working in close cooperation with the national Holstein organization, supervised the weighing and testing of production as a part of the official herd testing program.

FORMER ROAD CHIEFS HONORED—Michigan has honored the men who transformed her muddy roads into 9,300 miles of paved highways in 50 years. Roadside Parks have been named for the eight former commissioners by their successor, State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie. Receiving the awards were (left to right) former Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner of Bloomfield Hills, who was Commissioner from 1933-40; Charles O. Ward of Alma, nephew of Townsend A. ...

State Highway Department Had Tough Going at Start

Lansing—Sixty years ago, the Michigan Legislature took action that paved the way for creation of the Michigan State Highway Department.

A concurrent resolution introduced in the legislature on May 15, 1901, called for appointment of a committee to study the need for a state highway system.

"The resolution, which was sponsored by State Sen. Horatio S. (Good Roads) Earle," was passed by the Senate the day it was introduced and the House of Representatives the next day and was immediately signed by Gov. Aaron T. Bliss, who named Earle chairman of a seven-member committee.

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said passage of the resolution marked the first time that the people of Michigan took steps to provide themselves with good roads.

"Up to then, Michigan's road system had consisted of a few military routes, some private toll roads and local rural roads," Mackie said. "The resolution of 1901 opened the way for Michigan to have a unified road system covering the entire state."

The committee issued a report in 1902 calling for a constitutional amendment to allow the state to give financial aid to counties for construction of roads.

Rep. Edwin Denby of Detroit, who later served as Secretary of the Navy under President Harding, termed the committee's report "one of the most dangerous ever to come before the session" and the legislature defeated a resolution to amend the constitution.

However, Gov. Bliss was impressed by the committee's report and he proposed creation of a "State Highway Department" in his message to the legislature in 1903.

The lawmakers passed a law creating the Highway Department and Bliss named Earle as commissioner but the law was ruled unconstitutional by the attorney general. Although unable to spend any of the $5,000 that had been appropriated by the legislature and deprived of both salary and expenses, Earle continued his crusade for good roads throughout the state. In 1905 the voters approved a constitutional amendment allowing the state to participate financially in construction of roads.

The legislature promptly passed another law creating the State Highway Department and Gov. Fred M. Warner named Earle as its first commissioner.

Earle won national fame by building the first mile of concrete highway in the world on Woodward Ave. between 51st and 57th Mile Roads in 1909. Engineers from all parts of the country inspected it and some predicted it wouldn't last a year. But it carried 35 million vehicles before it was replaced in 1922.

Earle failed to gain re-appointment as highway commissioner in 1909 and in 1913 ran for the office on the National Progressive (Bull Moose) ticket after it had been made elective by the legislature. Frank F. Rogers, who was Earle's deputy commissioner from 1905 to 1909, won the contest. Earle—who was not an engineer—ran third. He died in 1935 at the age of 80 after seeing many of his highway dreams come true.

TO REDUCE BIAS IN JOBS—Vice President Johnson is reported studying a recommendation for intensified training of Negroes to lessen racial job discrimination.

As chairman of the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunities, Johnson has received reports indicating that lack of skills in engineering, chemistry, physics and biology are contributing to a higher rate of unemployment among Negroes than among whites.

Supervisors Inter-County Committee Meets Thursday

Supervisors of Washtenaw county will join with supervisors of Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, St. Clair and Wayne counties for the annual session today of the Supervisors Inter-County Committee, an association of the six county boards.

Purpose of the committee is to develop and encourage inter-county co-operation and co-ordination in approaching mutual problems.

The meeting will take place in the Veterans Memorial Building in Detroit.

Activities will begin at 2 p.m. with an afternoon program to be concerned with the past, present and future of the inter-county group.

At 6:30 p.m. dinner will be followed by an address by Prof. James K. Pollock, retiring chairman of the University political science department and vice-chairman of the Permanent Advisory Commission to the President on Intergovernmental Relations.

Pollock will speak on intergovernmental relations and constitutional revision in Michigan. He is a candidate for the constitutional convention, which will convene in the fall, from Washtenaw's First Legislative District.

Personal Notes—Mr. and Mrs. M. W. McClure spent May 20 in Grand Rapids as the guest of Mrs. Dorothy Schable. Mrs. H. D. Witherell returned home Thursday after being a patient the past two weeks at St. Joseph Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor. Guests Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Adam Alber were Mrs. Clarence Gilbert and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Gilbert and children of Pontiac.

MRS. MICHIGAN—Mrs. Lila Masson, the new Detroit Area Homemaker, stands next to Governor Swainson and her husband Cleve, accepts her new role as the state's top homemaker.

Detroit Area Homemaker Wins Mrs. Michigan Title

Mrs. Lila Masson, the new Mrs. Michigan, finally had a chance to sit down today after a whirlwind week of newspaper, radio and television interviews and personal appearances which followed her crowning by Governor Swainson Thursday, May 25.

The reddish-haired mother of three, and her husband, Cleve, reviewed the week as "the most thrilling in our lives." The Massons live in a four bedroom, 1 1/2 story home at 25137 Lyndon, in the Redford area of northwest Detroit.

Mrs. Masson gave most of the credit for her winning to her husband who is group operating manager for Sears, Roebuck & Co. She was a finalist in last year's Mrs. Michigan Contest and her husband convinced her she should try again.

"He and the children were wonderful to put up with my Chicken Almondine every other night for two weeks and the dozens of banana cakes I made in practicing for the cooking and baking competition," she said. And the practice paid off because Mrs. Masson won the culinary arts award.

Mrs. Masson had plenty of competition in the contest sponsored by Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. Thirteen top homemakers from all over the state, including Mrs. Ellen R. Booth of 17217 Faust, Detroit, and Mrs. Nonie Hainline of 28908 Ivanhoe, Detroit, cooked, baked, sewed, and gave speeches under the watchful eyes of the judges for two days.

Outstate finalists included Mrs. Barbara Morgan of Grand Rapids, chosen "Mrs. Congeniality" by the other contestants, Mrs. Betty Jane Woyson of Traverse City and Mrs. Joyce Boaz of North Muskegon who won the cake baking award. Also Mrs. Marjorie Daniels of Chelsea, Mrs. Lois Miller of Scottville, Mrs. Frances Mielke of Manistee, Mrs. Carolyn Swanson of Cadillac, Mrs. Mary Lou Franklin of Mt. Pleasant, Mrs. Patricia Van Syoc of Belding and Mrs. Arlene Oetmeier of Big Rapids, winner of the lunch box packing plaque.

In placing the crown on Mrs. Masson's head, Governor Swainson remarked that "it is our wives, that make the living that we men make, worthwhile." Fred A. Kaiser, vice-president and general sales manager of Michigan Consolidated, commented that "no other 'profession' draws so little recognition yet requires as many versatile skills and talents as homemaking. Through the Mrs. Michigan Contest we help focus public attention on our wonderful wives who dedicate their lives to making happy homes for their families."

Mrs. Masson, who is 39 and stands 5 feet five tall, does all of her own housework with help from her 16-year-old daughter, Diane. Her sons, Thomas, 12, and David, 8, pick up after themselves "pretty well," she said.

She is active in a number of groups and serves on the board of directors of the Redford Suburban League which sponsored her entry. She works with the St. Mary's Hospital Guild and St. Joseph's Auxiliary of the Sisters of the Poor. She is a member of St. Valentin's Altar Society, Ladywood High Mother's Club and League of Catholic Women.

As the new Mrs. Michigan, Mrs. Masson will represent the state in the Mrs. America Contest in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., next November. In addition to the Florida trip for her and her husband, she will receive the gas range on which she cooked in the contest and other gas appliances and prizes from Johns-Manville, Tupperware and Toni companies, sponsors of the Mrs. America Contest.

Among her many prizes should she become Mrs. America, she and her husband will take a flying trip abroad, receive a complete wardrobe, and at least $5,000 in personal appearance fees.

THANK YOU
My thanks are extended to all who helped make the American Legion Poppy Sale such a grand success—all the people who bought poppies, the Legion Auxiliary and Junior Auxiliary members who worked during the day, my co-workers, Mrs. Marie Barry, Sr., and Mrs. Lynn Kern, and especially Mr. Appel for the use of the Sylvan Hotel lobby as headquarters; also, Mrs. Wayne Harvey, Poppy Chairman of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary for her splendid co-operation.

Mrs. Paul Frayer, chairman, Herbert J. McKune Unit No. 31 American Legion Auxiliary.

THANK YOU
Many thanks to my friends, relatives and neighbors for flowers, gifts and cards sent to me during my stay at the hospital and since my return home; also, to the Rev. Harry Pyscher for his calls. These kindnesses are deeply appreciated.

Crops-Soils Field Day Set June 29

The annual Crops-Soils Field Day at Michigan State University is to be June 29 this year so that visitors can see experimental work on early-maturing crops and forages.

The day-long program at the College of Agriculture Farms on the East Lansing campus is to begin at 9:30 a.m. Latest research Crops and Soils Science will be shown to visitors.

Chairmen of the event are Leyton V. Nelson, farm crops specialist, and James A. Porter, soils specialist.

Tractor-drawn trailers will take visitors to tour stops where researchers will explain the work. Nelson and Porter say tour stops will be picked from experiments on the following:

Wheat breeding, fertilizer placement and row spacing of wheat and oats, effect of borax on beans, oat and barley breeding, early planting of oats and barley, chemical weed control in field crops, forage production and management and forage breeding, corn production, efficiency of nitrogen on corn, turfgass management and soil testing.

A wide variety of factors are being examined in these experiments. For example, in wheat breeding, the plots are yield trials of new short-strawed experimental strains and variety evaluation tests of Monon (a new soft red from Indiana) and Avon (a new soft white variety from New York).

For the fifth consecutive year on another plot, date-of-planting experiments have been conducted with oats and barley. This year, the first planting was made on Feb. 14.

The borax experiment is designed to measure the degree of bean tolerance to applied borax and persistence of toxicity.

In the forage breeding plots, many potential forage plants from all over the world are under test to determine their possible use as hay and crops in Michigan.

The nitrogen plot is aimed at measuring the interplay of time of application and form of nitrogen as it affects yields of corn.

The turfgass research involves species and varieties of grasses with different fertility, herbicide, watering and mowing management. Extensive experiments on crab grass control are a feature.

Shearing Delay Helps Control of Pine Shoot Moth

A two-week delay in shearing Scotch and red pine trees can practically eliminate the pine shoot moth—a bad Christmas tree pest—at no extra cost.

Most growers shear pine trees in the last half of June. But Michigan State University foresters Walter A. Lemmlein and Victor J. Rudolph have found that a delay until mid-July eliminates most shoot moths.

MSU entomologist James Butcher notes that spraying—the most common control method—costs about four dollars an acre. Shearing may eliminate that cost.

"The pest-control effect is really a bonus," Rudolph and Lemmlein says. "One shears mainly to improve Christmas tree shape. The delay does not increase cost or effort."

Trees pruned in mid-July still have plenty of time for bud setting. Also, shoot growth during the following year has been proven adequate by the MSU study.

Rudolph and Lemmlein note that shearing gets rid of buds temporarily. Buds provide shelter and food for the shoot moth.

"Shearing may clip off the bud with the moth inside," they point out. "Or it may eliminate buds while moths are still on the twigs. Both processes get rid of the pest."

WASTE IN FLIGHT PAY
Senator Symington (D., Mo.) accused the Air Force recently of "wasting" $183,000,000 this year by paying "proficiency" flying time to 27,000 officers who don't need to fly.

Of this amount, Symington said, $71,000,000 is being spent "for unnecessary flight pay" to Air Force dentists, lawyers, mathematicians, physicists, chemists, auditors, chaplains and other specialists trained in nonflying fields. The other $112,000,000, he said, goes to pay for the maintenance and operation of the aircraft they use.

It is amazing how much applause the average individual will swallow.

THANK YOU
The Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 4076, wish in this way to sincerely thank the people of Chelsea for helping to make Poppy Day such a success. Many thanks to Mike Appel for the use of the Sylvan Hotel lobby as our headquarters and also the American Legion Auxiliary for their friendly co-operation. A big thank you to all of the volunteer members who assisted in this sale; also to The Chelsea Standard for their splendid publicity.

Former Area Resident Killed in Parachute Jump

Word was received here Thursday that a former area resident, Lt. Comdr. Neil Vincent Seckinger, was killed when his parachute failed to open after he and a companion bailed out of a plane at the Navy Air Station at Kingsville, Tex.

Farm Council Preparing For Barbecue

The task of organizing, preparing for and conducting a charcoal broiled chicken Bar-B-Que for 4000 people is a major undertaking for any community. Especially is this true when all efforts are donated for community improvement.

Farm Council Barbecue, scheduled for June 18 at the Rural Activities Center, is held annually to raise funds for the maintenance and improvement of Washtenaw County Rural Activities Center located on Saline-Ann Arbor Rd. The center is owned by the people of Washtenaw county. Its Board of Directors serve without pay.

This annual event requires and gets some of the best community leaders in the county. The Board of directors choose committee chairman and members who have demonstrated their selfless interest to community development and skills in organizing and conducting such a large and important event.

Undoubtedly the general chairman are the most responsible and carry the greatest burden. Farm Council chose for 1961, Mrs. Erwin Fredericks of Ann Arbor and Mrs. Simon Girbach of Saline for this assignment. Both ladies have outstanding records in leadership roles.

Leland Kalmbach Named to Industry Reviewing Panel

President Leland J. Kalmbach of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co. has accepted an invitation to serve on the "Presidents' Panel" of Dun's Review and Modern Industry, a leading business periodical.

The "Presidents' Panel" consists of top executives of 200 major companies located in all parts of the United States. Panel members periodically answer questionnaires on current business and economic trends. Articles based on these questionnaires and individual comments of panel members appear in the magazine under the title, "A Presidents' Report." These articles present the thinking of a cross-section of business leaders and are helpful to other executives in formulating their own policies and programs.

Kalmbach, a Chelsea High school graduate, has been the Massachusetts Mutual's chief executive since May 1950. He is a director of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Corp. and of the Sheraton Corp. of America.

Club Scout Awards Given at Regular Pack Meet

Indian Country" was the Cub Scout theme for the entire month of May and the theme was exemplified in many ways at the May pack meeting at the Junior Scout Council.

An impressive skit, in keeping with the Indian theme, was presented by Den III, of which Mrs. Gardner is den mother. They enacted a war dance and smoking a peace pipe.

Den Chief Steve Green of Troop 76 played the drums for the Cub Scouts of Den III who participated in the skit—Ned Blacklaw, Ted Ewald, Ralph Frisch, Tom Gardner, Andrew Soule and Carson Soule.

Den VI led the closing prayer and chose "The Indian Lord's Prayer."

All Scouts were reminded to participate in the Memorial Day parade.

Other activity at the pack meeting included presentation of a den chief award to Den Wilson who "has given much in the way of spirit to our pack meetings as well as ably assisting as song leader."

The presentation was made by Cubmaster W. J. Grossman.

The renewed Cub Scout charter was presented by Cub Scout Committee member Ralph Frisch to the Institutional representative, Junior Chamber of Commerce President Daniel Maroney, and committee members and den mothers were given registration cards and service pins by Cub Scout Committee Chairman John Potts.

Parents of Den VI received a banner in recognition of 100 per cent attendance at Cub Scout meetings during the year.

Mrs. Paul Morley was given special recognition and presented a gift in appreciation for her work.

George Menge. It had begun to appear that identification of the place was to remain a real mystery—no one had recognized the place until Saturday when a member of the Menge family called The Standard office.

Another Alert Policeman

In a story commending the Chelsea Police Department for quick action at the Stop & Shop store the week-end of May 20 when a break-in was suspected, one police officer failed to get full credit for his participation in the action. The information given The Standard indicated it was Officer Earl Willis who noticed the store's safe door ajar; however, it was later pointed out that it was Frank Reed, riding in the police car with Willis, who first spotted it and both he and Willis set the alert in motion.

Kindness is a language the mute can speak and the deaf can hear.

BACHOFEN BROT BAVARIAN TREAT—from June 12-17, Mrs. William Zehnder, Sr., takes Bachofen Brot baked in outdoor ovens will be an unusual treat to visitors during the third annual Bavarian Festival to be celebrated in Frankenmuth.

Frankenmuth Preparing For Annual 'Bavarian Days'

A bright idea collided with his... to overshadow temporary failure with a success story that is creating a new Michigan tradition. The bright idea came to a mission society in Bavaria, Germany, in 1844. Instead of sending a lone missionary to the heathen Indians of the New World, they would send a whole congregation to show the redskins just how Christianity worked on a day-to-day basis. But just as the small band of pioneers erected their first building—a church, of course, on their new homestead on the Cass River—the Indians were ceding their land by treaty and moving westward. So the missionaries had no natives to convert. Instead, they devoted their energies to creating a unique settlement, Frankenmuth. Today their descendants have made the community known for industry, self-reliance, and gemütlichkeit—an untranslatable word that mixes up hospitality, happiness and a comfortable way of life. That is, best typified, perhaps, by the chicken dinners that have made Frankenmuth a magnet, not only for all Michiganders but for visitors from all over the world. Gemuetlichkeit will be the word, too, to describe a comparatively new festival that is becoming as famous as the Tulip Festival of Holland—Frankenmuth Bavarian Days. For a whole week, Frankenmuth will adopt the appearance and guile of the Bavarian town from where their ancestors came. Starting Monday, June 12, and continuing through Saturday, lederhosen and dirndls will be the dress for many Frankenmuthers—and their visitors. The city—it became the second city in Saginaw county only a little more than a year ago—will be decorated with Bavarian banners and window boxes and even sidewalk benches. Free entertainment includes Fritz's Little German Band from Bay City, Tony Schuster's Lederhosen Band from Detroit, Herbert Langerger, an Austrian yodeling star and Sidfried Schweighoffer, the country's best schuppletten dancer. This is only the beginning of the list of professional entertainers. And the amateurs are countless. The celebration is sponsored by the Frankenmuth Chamber of Commerce. Headquarters will be the new Bavarian Inn and Zehnder's Hotel, just across the street, which will transform its well-known Colonial architecture into Bavarian for the occasion. But actually the whole town will be festive headquarters, and every inhabitant thereof will be extending typical friendly Frankenmuth greetings. Naturally, food will not be forgotten. Bachofen Brot bread-baked in outdoor ovens, will be an unusual treat to most visitors and a giant pit will produce barbecued chickens in quantities that have long been associated with Frankenmuth. Officially, the program starts at 6 p.m. Monday, June 12. It will continue until the last visitor says "Auf Wiedersehn" sometime Saturday night. Consider the calorie counter. Plan family meals for the calorie-watcher, then let others add calories in extra foods. Home economists recommend this idea rather than depriving overweight members of some rich, favorite food. After-school snacks, for instance, provide additional calories for school youngsters.

'Charity Begins at Home'

By Paul L. Adams
State Attorney General
(Note: This is one in a series of articles by Paul L. Adams, State Attorney General, concerning frauds affecting the consumers of this State.)
The open-hearted and open-handed American people are being preyed upon by a few unscrupulous solicitors. These racketeers not only relieve us of our money, but they divert millions of dollars each year from going into legitimate charity sources. It is estimated that Americans give nearly $5 billion a year to charities. Most of it is well spent; some of it is mismanaged and wasted; and an estimated $150,000,000 a year is siphoned off by the cheats and frauds. All of us are subject to charity solicitations—by phone, by mail, door-to-door, and by other personal contacts. Should we be uncharitable to these charities? Should we turn them all down? Of course not! Most of these charities need our help, but we can help them and help ourselves at the same time if we are careful about our donations. This may be done by following these simple rules:
1. Know your charity. If it is not a well-known organization with which you are acquainted, check its authenticity. You might check with the chamber of commerce, better business bureau, your local law enforcement agency, or if these groups can't help you, you might want to check with the Consumer's Protection Division of my office.
2. Know your solicitor. Request complete identification to be sure that the solicitor is a representative of the charity organization with which he or she claims to be working. If you suspect that the solicitor is an impostor, contact one of the agencies mentioned above.
3. Know your contribution. Obtain a signed receipt for your contribution. This receipt should contain the full name and address of the charity and should be clearly signed by the solicitor.
By following these rules you can protect yourself and help the many charities that are really in need of assistance.
UNGRATEFUL CANINE
Oxford, England—Mike, a shaggy dog, was limping down the middle of the highway. It touched Miss Mary Benson and she stopped her car and got out.
The limping dog bounded into the drivers seat of her car—planted his feet firmly and growled with bare teeth.
Police were called and they convinced Mike to come with them. Miss Benson had an awful job convincing her boss that a shaggy dog made her late to work.

YOUTH FINDS FAMILY DEAD

Greenwood, Miss.—Teen- aged Jackie Taylor went looking for his parents, a brother and a sister when they failed to return home.
He found their bodies in a pick-up truck overturned in a canal near here.
Jackie, a Greenwood high-school senior, now the only survivor in the family, was treated for shock.
The truck apparently slipped off the wooden runners of a bridge and ran through the railing.

KILLS SELF IN CRASH

San Louis, Obitop, Cal.—A farewell note to her sweetheart was found beside the body of a pretty 16-year-old high school cheerleader who crashed a station wagon into a concrete pillar at high speed near here.
The California Highway Patrol
said it appeared that Lynn Marie Bennett, of San Mateo deliberately swerved into the highway 101
overpass pillar.
A four-page note found in her purses indicated that she was upset over the recent break-up with her boy friend.

Food Production Is Vital Factor in Michigan Economy

East Lansing—Food is a real bargain in Michigan, thanks largely to the state's efficient agriculture.

Hourly factory wages increased 56 per cent in 1950-1958 while beef prices went up only 29 per cent. A factory worker's average hourly pay would buy more than 11 loaves of bread today compared to 6 in 1929.

Robert Kramer, director of the Agricultural Marketing and Utilization Center at Michigan State University, points this out to show agriculture's importance to Michigan. He urges all citizens to learn about their state's economy during Michigan Week, which ends
Saturday (May 27).

"Many people have the mistaken impression that agriculture is declining," says Kramer. "Actually it's growing rapidly in total size and efficiency. One farm worker can now feed 26 people compared to only 7 in 1900."

The number of marginal or part-time farms selling less than $2,500 worth of products annually has declined 44 per cent since 1944. But larger, more efficient farms selling $5,000 worth of goods or more have increased 31 per cent.

About six per cent of Michigan's

2.9 million workers farm. Roughly nine per cent of the state's 8 million people live on 112,000 farms. Average farm size is 182 acres.

Kramer notes that agriculture
boosts the state's total economy in several ways.
First, it helps support 148,000
farms employing about 780,000
Michigan residents. These firms supply farmers and use agricultural raw material. Their employees and farmers make up more than one-fourth of the Michigan labor force.

Second, farmers spend about $375 million for operating costs and another $200 million for depreciation, interest on mortgages, taxes and returns to non-farm landlords.

Third, about 60 per cent of all farmers work part-time off the farm.
Only 38 cents of the consumer's food dollar gets back to the farmer, also the shotgun.

mer. Michigan farmers received

$700 million for goods sold 1959. Assembly, processing distribution added more than billion to the value of 1959 cultural output.

Farming requires huge investments. It takes about $50,000 to provide work for one person a large, commercial farm compared to $15,000 in industry.

Agricultural land bears a burden in local government education costs. Farmers pay a $40 million annually in taxes.

About one-fourth of all city town residents in the state
born on farms. Rural commuties paid for educating many these people.

The Juniors English classes taught by Mr. James LaGoe are continuing their study of the growth of literature. They are now studying the era of Bret Harte and Mark Twain. This study has previously enlarged knowledge of the Puritanical beliefs as expressed in their literature. All areas of the United States have been described in the various selections supplied in the textbook.

The seniors are eagerly awaiting graduation exercises. They are buying the rest of the name cards. Term papers are being finished. At the class meeting for May 24 the seniors discussed skip day. They decided to stay away from other schools. They also discussed what to do with the money they had left over. They decided to buy an activity board for the school unless it cost too much. In that instance the money would be donated to the Teacher's Club Scholarship Fund.

The Sophomores held a Car Wash last Saturday. They each took half hour shifts. Some parents and class advisors were there.

Mr. Musser's mechanical drawing classes have been very busy finishing up their machine drawings. Mr. Musser's advanced drawing classes have been hurrying to get the screw drawing completed.

Mr. LaGoe's English classes are studying the more important and influential periods of literature. Some moderns such as Walt Whitman, Emerson, and Thoreau who were influential writers of poetry are the main topics for discussion.

Physical Science classes under Mr. Steve Hayden have been studying electricity. The students have been covering material on dry cell batteries and storage and galvanic batteries.

Office practice class is typing up several of the teachers examinations.

Mrs. LaGoe's senior English classes are reading modern short stories. The classes are also working on their English notebooks.

Mrs. Straker's third-year Home Ec. girls are having discussions on the preparation for marriage. Several of the girls made marriage scrap books.

The Sophomore class is setting up the car wash committees which was to be held at Hankerd's Gas Station, Saturday, May 27.

The Freshman class is planning their pre-enrolling for next year.

Mr. Slater's biology classes are dissecting worms, frogs, and crayfish. They are also working on their projects.

The installation of new officers was held last Wednesday, May 24. New officers for the year are Donna Schiller, president; Jeanne Rowe, vice-president; and Carol Lawson, secretary. The treasurer for the new year has not as yet been picked.

Mr. Prinzing's Economics students have completed their textbooks. They are now preparing themselves by reviewing for the final exam.

Mrs. Straker's Home Ec. 11 students are now working on various flower arrangements. They are also studying periods of furniture.

Home Ec. 1 girls are working on their skirts and bermudas for the summer months.

The Juniors plan to sponsor a Fireman's Banquet to be held the last week of July. This banquet is to be held in honor of the Southern Michigan Fireman's Association. Approximately 170 are expected with plate dinners costing $1.50 each. All profits will go to the class of '52.

Latin II class has been translating direct passages from the Bible. They have just finished translating the Ten Commandments and are now working on David and Goliath.

Latin club has decided to donate $50 to the Mabel Fox Memorial Fund. They have also planned a picnic for the last day of school at Pierce Park.

Latin I has finished the study of the fourth and fifth declension of nouns and have been using the language laboratory in reviewing for their final exams.

ROOSEVELT DEFEATS CHS Ypsi Roosevelt ended Chelsea's six game conference winning streak by defeating them 5-3. Jerry Ringe was the losing pitcher but allowed only five hits. Four of these five hits were bloop singles. Chelsea's hitting was very poor as Don Blalock got Chelsea's only hit, a single.

BULLDOGS LOSE CHAMPIONSHIP The Bulldogs out-fielded, out-hit, and out-pitched the Saline Hornets, but lost a game and a chance for a championship. The final score was Saline 1, Chelsea 0.

Don Blalock pitched one of the finest games of his career, allowing only two hits. One a long triple and one a bloop single. Chelsea hits were made by Jerry Ringe, Ken Larson, Charles Koehn and Dud Holmes.

BULLDOGS TIED FOR THIRD Chelsea's baseball team tied for third in baseball and caused a deadlock for the all-sports trophy. Chelsea will share the trophy with Saline.

After winning their first two non-conference games from Grass Lake and Stockbridge, they came back and lost the opening conference games to Saline and Pinckney. They bounced back to win their next six conference games to stand 6 wins and 2 losses in conference play. In between these six conference wins were two defeats to a tough South Lyon team by scores of 10-9 in 12 innings, and 13-12.

A 5-3 loss to Roosevelt hurt the Bulldogs' chances for a title, but a win over Saline in the next game would have made a three-way tie for the title between Chelsea, Saline, and Pinckney. Unfortunately, Saline outscored Chelsea, 1-0 in a well-fought game to put the Bulldogs all the way down to a third-place tie.

Chelsea still has three games remaining on the schedule, two games with Leslie and one with Ann Arbor.

Final Standings

2. Pinckney	7	3
3. Chelsea	6	4
4. Roosevelt	6	4
5. Dexter	2	8

JV'S END SEASON AT 4-2 The Chelsea Junior Varsity baseball team ended the 1951 season with a fine 4-2 record.

The first game was played with Stockbridge, the Bulldogs lost 2-1. Dud Holmes and Don Brooks were the leading hitters in this game. Don Brooks, although he pitched a good game, was the loser.

Next the JV's went on to Dexter and their first victory. Chelsea called for eight runs in the fifth inning to down Dexter, 12-3. Jeff Flintoft was the leading hitter with four hits. Tom Eder also had a bases-loaded hit. Jim Hanson was the winning pitcher.

Two days later Chelsea again defeated Dexter, this time the score was 6-3. Roger Lehman was the leading hitter, while Don Brooks was the winning pitcher.

Chelsea's next win came against South Lyon, 6-1. Curt Farley and Dudley Holmes combined their strong arms and came up with a no-hitter. Curt was the winning pitcher.

Next came Chelsea's second defeat and again it was at the hands of Stockbridge, 18-7. The Bulldogs came up with some fine hitting, but just couldn't seem to stop Stockbridge at the plate.

In the final game of the season should the Bulldogs coming from behind to win another one by the score of 11-10. Tom Eder won the game for the Bulldogs while waiting with the bases loaded.

BULLDOGS PLACE SECOND The CHS track team placed second in the conference track meet to assure Chelsea a share of the all-sports trophy.

U. High won the meet but had an advantage over the other teams because of having no baseball team. Saline placed third, 3/4 of a point behind Chelsea, next came Pinckney, Roosevelt, Dexter and then the limping Dutchmen of Manchester.

McLaughlin, Sexton, Maynard, both Catons and Warren football all placed high for Chelsea.

Visiting Judge Dismisses Suit Demanding Building Permit

Visiting Circuit Judge John H. VanderWal of Grand Rapids, in Washtenaw County Circuit Court Thursday, dismissed a petition for a writ which would require the county to issue a building permit which had been refused Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mohrlock in March. The permit was sought for construction of a home on a lot the Mohrlocks own at Cavanaugh Lake.

Mohrlock has been unable to obtain a building permit from the county building inspector because of refusal by the County Health Department to issue a permit for the necessary private sewage system.

Health officials, the Board of Appeals and the Health Commission of the Board of Supervisors turned down the permit on the grounds that the proposed private sewage disposal system would not be an adequate distance from nearby wells and there was inadequate land available for such a system.

Mohrlock's attorney, Richard L. Fahrner stated he could produce engineers to testify that the land was adequate for the system which Mohrlock contemplated and that it wouldn't be a health hazard.

The petition to the Circuit Court contended that the Board of Appeals does not have a lawful existence and actions by it are null and void.

Judge VanderWal ruled, however, that a Supreme Court decision prevented him from issuing a writ of mandamus and that the court had no authority to substitute its judgment for that of the County Health Department, which refused Mohrlock a permit

Michigan Made Honey Undergoes State Inspection

To make sure that the honey purchased by the consumer meets requirements after busy bees have produced it, the Michigan Department of Agriculture's foods and standards division continually makes inspections of premises where honey is extracted, processed or packaged for trade channels.

Last year the 188,000 colonies of bees in the state produced an estimated 9,680,000 pounds of honey valued at $1,576,000. But bees, says Agricultural Director G. S. McIntyre, pollinated about $150 million worth of fruit, vegetable, and field crops. The work of bees as pollinizers is of greater value than the honey produced.

Periodically samples of honey are purchased by inspectors of the division for laboratory analysis. This is to determine if the product has been adulterated. Such practices are almost non-existent in the marketing of Michigan honey. Mr. Littlefield has observed.

The branding and labeling of honey requires the name and address of the processor responsible for the product, along with true net contents of the container. This must be plainly legible on the label or package.

Use of a grade declaration on the label of honey is entirely optional, but if a grade is declared the product must meet the standards for the grade.
