Sylvan Zoning Board Okays Two Changes

A public hearing of the Sylvan Township Zoning Board Tuesday evening at Sylvan Town Hall, approved a zoning change from A-1 Agricultural District to B-1 General Business for approximately 36 acres of land on the west side of Chelsea-Manchester Rd., owned by Fred Keizer.

Agreement Reached With Township for Sanitary Landfill

Wednesday, May 31, the Sylvan Township Zoning Board approved a Conditional Use Permit to use a piece of land for a sanitary landfill on the Leonard Eder property located in Ivey Rd., one mile north of Chelsea.

A Conditional Use Permit is as the name implies, a permit to use a piece of land for a specific purpose subject to certain conditions.

The conditions required by the township Zoning Board are those which the Village has drawn up, with the aid of the Washtenaw County Health Department, for the proper operation of a sanitary landfill. In addition the Zoning Board added two other conditions: (1) That the Village and the Sylvan Township Board reach an agreement so that the township residents will be able to use the fill. (2) That both the Village and the Township enact identical "Anti-Littering" ordinances as a safeguard against littering of the route to the landfill.

The rules for the proper operation of the landfill are listed on page five of this issue of The Standard.

The actual operation of the landfill will not begin for at least three weeks. Ample notice of the starting date will be given to the village and township residents. Please do not go out and expect to use it before the opening is announced in The Standard.

A conditional use permit is good only as long as the conditions are abided by. The granting of this permit is the culmination of six months' effort by the Village Council. Any irresponsibility on the part of any individual by not heeding the rules of the landfill can blow many hours work out the window. Please read carefully the rules again.

Your attention is directed to Item 1, 2, 3, 4, 9 and 19.

Differential Tax Levy Vote Pending

The Chelsea School Districts request for allocation of a differential tax levy now awaits action of Probate Judge John W. Conlin who must cast the deciding vote on the question.

At the meeting held at Stockbridge High school with chairman of adjoining county allocation board chairman, Lyle Torrant, chairman of the Jackson county tax-allocation board, made a motion to allocate for the Chelsea School District 9.5 mills, Waterloo and Grass Lake townships, 10.72 mills in Sylvan township and 11.00 mills in Dexter, Lima, Lyndon, Sharon and Freedom townships.

William F. Verner, chairman of the Washtenaw county tax allocation board, seconded the motion so it could be brought to a vote. Torrant then voted in the affirmative and Verner voted against it.

Verner has made it clear in previous meetings that he is opposed to the so-called differential tax because of the wording in the State Constitution and an attorney general's opinion, which hold that such a tax is illegal.

Superintendent Cameron, however, had pointed out that the differential rates could be used in the parts of the school district in Washtenaw without going over the 15-mill limitation set by the State Constitution.

He said an allocation of 9.5 mills to the school district, 26 mills to Sylvan township and 4 mills to the county would add up to a tax rate of only 13.78 in the part of the school district in Sylvan township leaving 1.12 mills which would be unused unless levied as a differential rate on property in the township.

In the parts of the school district in Lima, Lyndon, Sharon, Dexter and Freedom townships, however, there would be a larger amount of unused tax because these townships have not asked for a share of the 15 mills.

Showboat Activity Will 'Blast Off' in Earnest This Week

Here is another report from the special Showboat reporter, keeping readers of The Standard informed, to date, on plans for the community project, Chelsea's Old Time Showboat to be presented June 22, 23 and 24.

The first scheduled "shake down cruise" of your Showboat last Friday night proved quite successful, despite the loss of part of the crew.

Tom Sharrard, one of the members of that renowned "Dixieland Eight", reported rain turning his drums into dish pans and funneling down the bells of the horns in such a manner as to almost drown the players, they had to abandon ship. Part of the comb reached the safety of the local theatre and the other two rejoined the ship after the storm.

Those of you who were around after the rain enjoyed some fine organ music and were treated to an enjoyable surprise when your friend and neighbor, Doug Lange, came aboard with a banjo and proceeded to join in with the organ in a demonstration of banjo picking such as this town has never seen before. But the real traffic stopper of the evening was the activity of some our Becky Belles-Lulu Swency, Gladys Parks and

Vandalism Must Stop At Parks

Extreme cases of vandalism at Veterans Memorial Park were brought to the attention of the Village Council at Tuesday's meeting and the Council is considering drastic action against offenders.

The Council requests that, as a community service, anyone who notices vandalism being perpetrated would call the police department at once so those responsible may be apprehended.

New plants set out at Veterans Memorial Park for Memorial Day have been pulled up and flowers have been picked or trampled.

The fountain has been broken again—a repeated offense—and "village workers" have found it necessary to remove the bronze plaque honoring veterans, because of vandals' efforts to pry it loose and causing damage. Unless a way can be found to attach the plaque in such a way that it cannot be damaged in this way, it cannot be replaced.

Children gather at the park and throw stones into the water of the creek and around the area and park visitors walk through neighboring yards as though they were public property.

Many complaints have been received and arresting those responsible is to follow in an effort to halt the vandalism, not only at Veterans Memorial Park but in the public rest rooms in the Municipal building, at Pierce Park and other places in the community.

Provision Should Be Made for Fall-Out Shelter in Any New Home

Those contemplating building new homes are now faced with the question of providing a fall-out shelter in the basement. Although some build without ever considering a nuclear-war possibility, every serious-minded individual should face the prospect squarely.

For those preparing to build a new home, the answer is simpler—provide shelter area in the basement. For those who are not planning to move or build, a suitable shelter area should be considered.

In case of nuclear war, with Willow Run Airport being a prime target, bombs might be dropped near enough to this area so that the atmosphere would become highly radioactive and radioactive dust might become an acute danger. In that case the person who had a shelter available would enter for a stay of perhaps two weeks, or longer.

In a few weeks the experts say the radioactivity will have greatly diminished and it might be possible to emerge from the shelter unharmed and relatively safe. Those who have had no protection, however, might have been exposed to varying doses of radiation, with serious effects.

The usual reply to suggestions that shelters be considered is the opinion that if a nuclear war is fought, everything and everyone will be lost anyhow, so there's no need to bother. But this is not true. Everything and everybody will not be lost. Those who have adequate protection will survive and carry on. And the percentage of those who survive can be largely determined by us.

Some do not believe nuclear war is possible. And we do not think the odds favor the occurrence of such a catastrophe. But we do believe a nuclear war is a genuine possibility. And as long as you are convinced that nuclear war is possible, the prospect can no longer be ignored. The question, then, is what you are going to do about that possibility, to protect your loved ones, and yourself, if such a war comes to pass.

Michigan Is Industry!

Michigan is Industry!

That headline, contained in an industrial advertisement in today's issue of The Standard is descriptive of our great State. Michigan is not just a manufacturing operation. It is a collection of a variety of industries. There is hardly an industry which is not represented in Michigan which has more than four-fifths of the 453 industry groups recognized by the United States Bureau of the Census.

What does this mean to our local community and to Michigan as a whole? It is one of our greatest advantages. It means that our industrial development groups do not have to use the selectivity that is required in many areas. With only a handful of exceptions we have the skilled workers for any industry. We have the management know-how that can operate almost any industry. It means that almost any industry can locate here advantageously.

The Michigan Press Association and the Michigan Economic Development Department, in preparing this advertisement, point out that Michigan has such varied manufacturing as concrete products, office furniture, breakfast cereals, drugs and pharmaceuticals.

This is a good time to let everyone know that Michigan has a diversification of industry. A good way to get that message to the nation is to clip this advertisement and send it to a friend who lives outside Michigan. It will give them a new look at our State and well could bring beneficial results.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Minority groups in Michigan have little reason to resort to "freedom rider" crusades, or even the "sit-in" or "kneel-in" tactics common in southern states. They've got the law behind them here.

Northern states, of course, don't have the problems of the South. There is discrimination, because where there are people who differ in "color of skin, national background or religion there is in some degree mistrust, fear and bigotry.

But Michigan has been a leader in guaranteeing human rights. Even controversy over such things as the anti-discrimination "Rule Nine" which deals with real estate is based mostly on the fear that the rights of non-minority groups might be impaired by going too far with legislation or administrative rules.

Antidiscrimination law has deeper roots than "Rule Nine," which was promulgated by the Corporation and Securities Commission. First, there is the Michigan Constitution, which (in Article II) guarantees certain basic property and personal rights to all the citizens of the state.

The Fair Employment Practices Act, which sets up a Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC), is aimed at insuring equal job opportunities for all citizens, regardless of race, color, creed, national origin or ancestry. The FEPC finds its greatest tool for fighting bias is the threat of action, although it can and will go to court to protect rights.

Legally, of course, it is difficult to prove an employer has been discriminatory in his hiring and firing practices. Too many questions involving only judgment, of such things as competence, personality, suitability and other characteristics, enters in.

But the law tends to make employers conscious of race regulations and even employees who might resent the hiring of some people realize the law makes it difficult to do otherwise.

Perhaps the most effective anti-discrimination force in the state is the example set by the Michigan government in its personnel policies and statements.

The Civil Service Commission has promulgated comprehensive and effective rules to prevent official bias.

Another move to safeguard the rights of all persons in Michigan was recently made by Gov. John B. Swainson, who issued a "Governor's Code of Fair Practices" to govern personnel practices and services, facilities and regulatory and contracting policies of all state agencies.

While Swainson, like any other politician, is aware of minority group bloc-voting, he also seems to have a very strong personal feeling in the area of civil rights.

"If I demand a right for myself," Swainson has often said, "then I must be ready to give that same right to others."

The Governor's code, which details the things which government agencies may and may not do in connection with civil rights, was based, he said, in the Preamble to (Continued on page five)

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I was reading some fingers last night by a column writer for the Associated Press showing the awful price the world is paying on account of Russia trying to get the upper hand all over the globe.

This fellow said $14 million a hour is being spent in the world on weapons and armed forces ever hour round the clock, with the United States and Russia spending 73 per cent of it. The place went on to say that it's costing $40 a year for ever man, woman and child in the world, including the millions in China and India.

This fellow figured out that this money would furnish housing for 240 million families, or provide food and medical care for three billion people.

—And it looks like Russia has got us on a treadmill. We can't get 'em to quit and we can't quit 'em till they do. Looks to me like sooner or later the hole is going to get bigger'n the doughnut.

I don't know what the answer is, Mister Editor. About half the world seems to be working on the solution and the other half is part of the problem. Things is getting too complicated for me anymore. For instant, I see where they is predicting that in 20 year houses will be made out of plastic, won't rot, won't need paint. Cars will have turbine motors and tires will last 100,000 miles. Sidewalks will have moving belts so's feller can stand still and get there just the same. Electronic stoves will get dinner ready in three minutes, and food will be kept market fresh for a whole year by radiating it, whatever that is. And to put the stopper in the jug, Time Magazine predicts that afore long wimmin's skirts will be sprayed on from a can.

At my age, I ain't liable to make it another 20 year, and maybe it's for the best. I don't know if I could stand so much progress in such a short time. I was raised up in the rocking chair age and as a feller gets older he ought to worry less about life on account of they being less of it to worry about.

With things in such a mess, I'd just like to take me a vacation that is, if I could get up the collateral or find enough cosigners. But I reckon I'll just take my vacation store and enjoying hearing about my neighbors trouble. Don't cost me a cent and always leaves me refreshed to know I ain't suffering alone.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

BIG INCREASE IN RAILWAY FREIGHT

Statistics collected by the International Labor Organization, the United Nations indicate that railway freight rates rose 28 per cent on a global scale between 1933 and 1936—from 2,250,000 to 2,825,000,000 net ton-kilometers. The increase was greatest in America (one percent). In American the volume fell by percent—in favor of truck transportation.

WASHINGTON AND 'SMALL BUSINESS'

By C. Wilson Harder

Senator William Proxmire has introduced a bill in the United States Senate that would go a long way toward plugging one of the obvious major loopholes in nation's antitrust laws.

In essence, the bill, if passed, would impose a fine on corporations responsible for their corporations violating the laws.

For some time nation's independent businessmen, voting through National Federation of Independent Business, have asked for stricter penalties.

Senator Proxmire's bill would apply in either a civil or criminal case that the government won a verdict.

For regardless of the type of case won, executives found responsible for illegal conduct of the corporation would suffer severe financial loss.

The bill provides that the wrong doing executives can be cut off from any remuneration from the corporation for as long as a year, the corporation would be enjoined from paying any type of compensation to such executives for the period of time prescribed by the court.

Commenting on his bill Sen. Proxmire says "A jail sentence is a very serious social penalty but may not impose any financial hardship if the convicted person continues to hold office and draw his salary. A one year suspension from office is a National Federation of Independent Business without pay is a much more serious financial penalty."

There are many American corporations with the highest standards of ethics. Unfortunately, there are some whose standards are not of the highest. And it is those less ethical ones who can often persuade their executives to take illegal measures.

Or as Federal Judge J. Cullen Gandy expressed the philosophy in a recent antitrust case: "Here we have the nonfictional case of the organization man and the question of conformity to the corporate line. As an executive he goes along with the line of doing business. Consider his stake in this—large salary, high position, seniority. He may realize it's risky; but he must either violate the law or give up his seniority and excellent remuneration."

Thus, there can be corporation executives persuaded to take illegal courses on the assurance of the corporation that their personal financial well being will be protected. Likewise, they can be informed unless they go along with the plan, regardless of its legality, their position with the corporation is in jeopardy. Thus, in desperation, many corporation executives, conceivably, could be induced to take a chance.

However, Sen. Proxmire's proposal would change all this. Because the provisions of this bill, enacted into law, would make it clear to an executive that no matter how hard his corporation tried to pressure him into committing illegal acts, the game would truly not be worth the candle.

MICHIGAN IS INDUSTRY

What has developed a multi-billion dollar automobile industry in Michigan? The very same advantages that have attracted many other industries to this state—abundant sources of raw materials, a limitless supply of water, unmatched transportation facilities, and a labor force with an average employee productivity that is 18.3 percent above the national average.

Michigan has manufacturing operations in over 80 per cent of the 463 separate industry groups recognized by the U. S. Bureau of Census. A good percentage of these are only remotely related to the auto industry, such as the manufacture of concrete products, office furniture, food products, machinery, transmission equipment, cereal breakfast foods, refrigeration machinery and pharmaceutical preparations. Michigan is Industry—truly diversified industry.

(Continued from page one) cessional and recessionary music and the chorus sang "W. B. O'Leary's 'Let Us Praise God,' narrated by Peter Ellmuth. Diplomas were presented the graduating seniors by Howard W. Bennett, secretary of the Board of Education, and Superintendent Charles S. Cameron. Commencement week began with the baccalaureate service in the high school auditorium Sunday evening. The Rev. Philip Rusten, pastor of the Congregational church, delivered the sermon, taking for his topic, "Wanted, A Garbage Dump for Time." He stressed the importance of using time as God's gift of life to us, saying that time can best be used by persons who will live at their own age level—if 17 years old, then be that age without trying to live as a 25-year-old; if 40 years old, accept living at that age, and so on through life. There is something fine and good about each age during a lifetime and no one should be guilty of "killing" time—wasting precious hours which can never be regained. The Rev. Rusten pointed out that high school years are traditionally a time of wasted opportunity to share life with the most important persons in our individual world—our families. Young people are so busy with outside activities that they have no "time" for this family fellowship and, as a result, literally "lose" the time because after high school, in the normal course of events, there is no longer the opportunity for this close family living. Meaningful experiences with epigrams—things—makes for the best possible use of time, the Rev. Rusten said, using a number of appropriate illustrations to emphasize the points he made. The week's activities will be concluded with the alumni banquet to be held Saturday evening.

CIRCUS CLOWNS ARE NOT JUST BORN

Clowning is a business before it is an art. Not all clowns are artists, but both the stars and the rank and file—have learned their trade the hard way, the big top way. They know their business. Clowns are not born. However, the good ones are born with the comedy spark. But they are not the ones the folks at home refer to as "born clowns." No cut-ups ever held a crowd in the Big Show with "life of the party" antics. Every skit, gag or walkaround "clown bit" is a studied thing. Knowledge of human nature, psychology and comedy knowhow are factors in each bit, no matter how brief or trivial.

The Carson & Barnes clowns have all been through the mills—they are masters of their business and their business is provoking laughs and bringing happiness to children of all ages. The clowns however, are just one small part of the mighty entertainment program of this year's stellar program presented by Carson & Barnes Circus.

Coming to the Chelsea Fairgrounds Tuesday, June 27, for matinee and night engagements.

R. McCrory Named New 4-H Agent

Washtenaw County Co-operative Extension Service has announced Robert W. McCrory as the new 4-H club agent, succeeding James Hutchinson who resigned recently.

McCrory is a native of Oakland county where he was an outstanding 4-H club member for seven years. His major projects consisted of beef, swine and soil and water conservation.

Following graduation from South Lyon High school in 1955, Bob spent the summer in Germany and other European countries as a delegate of the Rural Council of churches student exchange program.

Returning from Europe he entered Michigan State University. He graduated from the School of Agricultural Education in 1959, majoring in rural sociology and anthropology. He was a member of two honorary societies, Inter-Fraternity Council, Agricultural Economics club, and served as president of Farm House fraternity. He was a recipient of the Sears Roebuck Foundation scholarship.

Bob and his wife, Nancy and their two-year-old daughter, Sheri, reside at Northville.

NO CHANGE IN SCHOOL BILL

President Kennedy still is opposed to granting Federal aid to parochial and private schools, Senator Mansfield (D-Mont.) said.

Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader, reported Kennedy's position after the President's weekly meeting with Democratic Congressional chiefs.

At a news conference recently Kennedy said Federal aid to parochial and private schools would be clearly unconstitutional.

President Kennedy said recently that America's great gift of natural resources wealth provides the foundation upon which defense of freedom rests.

The President said that once again there is need to "call upon that spirit of wild adventure" and once again to develop those resources which lie beneath our earth, in our mountains, and in our rivers—the resources on which the strength of our land and our people ultimately depends.

Michigan Provides Facilities For Any Type of Industry

Industry in Michigan is diversified to the extent that more than 80 per cent of the 453 industry groups recognized by the United States Bureau of the Census are represented in our great family of industries.

It is in Michigan that automobile manufacturing and mass production were developed to a point where the economy of the world was altered. This was possible because of our highly skilled workers and excellent management know-how. Because of this development, Michigan is known and instantly recognized as the automobile capital of the world.

But, Michigan's industry includes much more than automobiles. There are such industries as the manufacture of concrete products, office furniture, food products, machinery, breakfast cereals, drugs and pharmaceutical products. All of these are remote from the automotive industry.

This diversification of industry is of importance to local and State industrial development programs. It means that there is a place for nearly every industry in Michigan. Our state has the raw materials, the workers and management skills, transportation and a considerably higher than average productivity.

These advantages mean that almost every industry has markets—both consumer and industrial—in Michigan or adjoining States and there are the materials and labor force required by industry.

The variety of industries removes Michigan from the provincialism of any particular area of manufacturing. It means Michigan has advantages for any industry which seeks to relocate or expand.

Friday Night Street Show

Dorothy Keezer, resplendent in their anniversary costumes, and very-ably assisted by Vern Parks, Graham Sprague and Tony Nielsen, in stopping every car and truck going thru town and hand-out handbills advertising your Showboat and the big inter-oomunity party and dance taking place uptown Friday night, June 16.

Enough for last week, to borrow a phrase made famous by Gypsy Rose-Lee as she removed her hat and hung it in the closet, "you ain't seen nothing yet!" This week will see your Showboat activities really getting underway.

Tonight, June 8, there will be a community-wide meeting held in the Community Fair building at 8:00 p.m. Any and all of you who are already involved in Chelsea's '61 Time Showboat activities in any capacity are requested to attend and, equally important, all of you folks who are willing to help in any way, on stage, behind the scenes, advertising, promoting, etc. are also requested to attend. Everybody come to the meeting and see if you can find a way to join in the fun. The more the merrier and to quote your general chairman, "Doc" Alber, "the real profit gained from this community production will not be counted in dollars but rather in the number of people in our community who will enjoy working together with their neighbors in either the actual Showboat production or some related activity."

At the meeting you will all be alerted as to time of various group rehearsals, some of which will start Saturday following the arrival of Jim Egbert tomorrow night.

Tomorrow night! Another Chelsea Friday night in the making! Come up town, watch the activities or join in if you feel like it! What's going on? Now that is a good question.

Organ music for sure, Butterball Eight Dixieland band, banjo playing (we hope); also we hear rumors of the Congregational Guites all love to hear trumpet players, licorice stick tooters, (could develop into quite a jam session); Lulu and company, and a barber-shop quartet formed especially for your Showboat production that wishes to test their harmony on their friends before stepping on deck.

Dig out your celebration costumes (you'll need them next Friday night anyway) and wear them up town.

Call some of your friends and come up in a group if you think you'll be the only one in costume and remember, some of the anniversary chapters are still going strong.

Next Friday night will be the last big night before your Showboat production. Some of our neighboring towns have been invited over—there will be square dancing in our parking lot, in keeping with its dual role as Community Outdoors Activity center, and some of you who prefer the rock and roll, the waltz, or the inbetween will also find plenty of opportunity to enjoy yourselves.

Now, back to tomorrow night, one of the main events, so important that it was saved for the end of this article—a truly breathtaking spectacle, (especially for the two contestants) a thrilling foot race between Lulu and Tony over a measured section of Chelsea's Main St. This race will be a truly modern version of one of the most famous racing events of all time.

Join us up town tomorrow night—you'll be glad you did!

The Regents of the University of Michigan first met in Ann Arbor, June 4, 1887.

the code, on fundamental American concepts that "all men are created equal," and are endowed with "certain inalienable rights."

"No state constitution, no state law can hinder the pursuit of equality, justice and liberty," the Preamble says.

The state has a good record in civil rights, Swainson said, but government must take special pains to keep its house in order.

"State government, as an employer, has a responsibility to serve as a model for business, industry, labor and private employment agencies," Swainson said in the Preamble to his code.

Group health and life insurance for state employees apparently will go ahead as ordered by the Civil Service Commission despite the fact that many agencies have tight budgets may be hard-pressed to meet the state's share of the cost of such programs.

Attorney General Paul L. Adams has ruled that because the legislature failed to prohibit the programs, they will be legal.

In an opinion nearly two years ago, Adams cleared the way for insurance programs in which the state and state employees participate in the cost by ruling that the Civil Service Commission could legally make the necessary commitments to set up such a plan.

State Controller Ira Polley asked Adams if it would be proper to certify expenditures for the state's share of insurance premiums. Adams said yes.

The legislature not only refused to include in appropriations for salaries and wages any sums for insurance, it also failed to either approve or disapprove of such expenditures.

Adams' opinion said not only could classified Civil Service employees take part in the plan, but so could unclassified employees—which includes the Legislators.

Nine Seek Positions on School Board

Election Set Monday at Junior High

Monday, June 12, from 7 p.m. until 8 p.m., at the Junior High school gymnasium, electors of the Chelsea School District will elect two of the nine candidates seeking the two four-year terms as school board members to succeed Dr. J. V. Fisher and Earl Beeman who did not seek re-nomination.

To be eligible to vote in the school election the qualifications are listed as follows: Must be 21 years of age; a citizen of the United States; a resident of the school district 30 days. Ownership of property is not a requirement.

The nine candidates are Betty Seitz Rust, George W. Doe, George P. Frisinger, Gordon J. Gary, Gerald D. Grohnert, Arthur Kuhl, Paul E. Mann, N. H. Miles and Clarence Wood.

Each of the candidates was asked to state why he became a candidate and to make additional comment and/or suggestions pertaining to problems they feel are facing the district.

Pictures of each of the candidates, together with a brief biographical sketch and comments of each are presented here as a service to the community.

both earned at the University of Michigan.

His civilian experience includes the following:

One year as a civilian employee of the War Department serving as governmental consultant to the newly created German local governments in the American Zone of Germany.

Served on the Little Hoover Commission for the Reorganization of State Government in Michigan as a project analyst.

Served several years with the King-Seely Corp. in an accounting and purchasing capacity.

Past four years with the University of Michigan first as an accounting supervisor and more recently as a procedures analyst.

GERALD D. GROHNERT

Gerald D. Grohnert, 7125 Bush Rd., is a candidate for the Chelsea School Board because this year, more than any previous year, we can see the problems education faces and I believe my long experience as a lawyer would enable me to be of service to the school system.

He continued by stating, "Anyone who can take a realistic look at educational needs in Chelsea would have to conclude that we must be certain that we are realizing maximum educational value in return for our dollar.

"In education there should be more stress on the basics and less on the current trend toward embellishments.

"Keeping in mind anticipated requirements of the District, good sound planning is required," Grohnert concluded.

He is a member of the Michigan State Bar, Michigan Association of Professionals, and Dexter Post 557, American Legion.

Grohnert is married and is the father of two pre-school children.

ARTHUR KUHL

Arthur Kuhl was born in Freedom township and attended Manchester High School.

Kuhl is a farmer and has owned his place at 11181 Seio Church Rd., known as the former McLaren farm, the past 29 years.

He served a number of terms as treasurer of the former McLaren rural school district, now a part of the Chelsea District.

He served on the Washtenaw County Farm Bureau board of directors for three years and as chairman of the building committee for the Farm Bureau office building at the Rural Activities Center.

Kuhl served a one-year term as vice-president of the Chelsea Community Fair Association.

Active in the affairs of Zion Lutheran church, Rogers Corners, he served as chairman of the new parsonage building committee and later was elected by two terms on the Church Council, serving as chairman of the Council and president of the congregation.

In his statement relative to becoming a candidate as school board member in the Chelsea District, Kuhl said:

"I believe in good education, having two daughters who graduated from Chelsea High school and who attended Michigan State University from which they both received teaching certificates.

"I would work to eliminate unnecessary costs to taxpayers without lowering educational standards.

"I believe there should be rural representation on the school board.

"Also, I would like to see reports of activities at school board meetings published following the meetings."

"I have a sincere desire as a parent and as a citizen of Chelsea to see that each child in our school district is given the opportunity to receive the best possible education we can develop to meet the needs of our society.

"At this time I do not feel qualified to present or remark on problems which face the school board."

GEORGE DOE

George Doe, who lives at 410 Washington St., has been a Chelsea resident for 25 years. He was a member of the Chelsea Police Department for 10 years and was chief of police for part of that time.

He said "The reason I became a candidate as one of the members of the Chelsea School Board is the fact that I am interested in our schools. I am a property owner and interested in Chelsea.

"I believe that we should have the best teachers we can get and that they should be paid a good salary.

"I also feel, that if I am elected, I would try to cut down on expenses of some of the things that are not so important.

"We now have good school buildings and have paid out money for landscaping—I feel that neither should be permitted to become 'run down.'"

BETTY SEITZ RUST

Mrs. Betty Seitz Rust, wife of Thomas Bust, Chelsea businessman who was formerly a teacher in the Chelsea schools, is a 1939 graduate of Chelsea High school and a 1943 graduate of the University of Michigan.

Before her marriage she was employed in the Teachers' Placement Bureau at the University of Michigan and for 3 1/2 years served as secretary to the superintendent of schools of Pittsfield District No. 9.

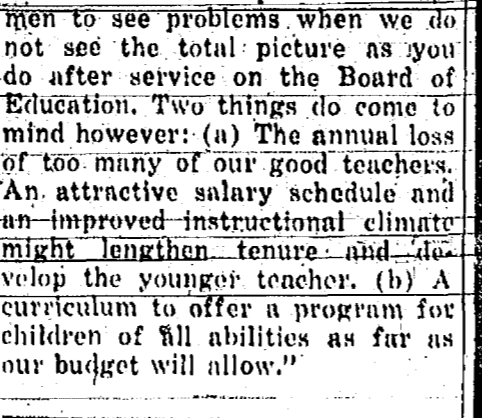

Mrs. Bust has been active in civic and church affairs, including St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church and McKune Memorial Library.

Her home is at 112 East Summit St.

Mrs. Bust made the following statement:

"My purpose in running is to offer my services to the children and parents of this community.

"It seems so simple for we laymen to see problems when we do not see the total picture as you do after service on the Board of Education. Two things do come to mind however: (a) The annual loss of too many of our good teachers. An attractive salary schedule and an improved instructional climate might lengthen tenure and develop the younger teacher. (b) A curriculum to offer a program for children of all abilities as far as our budget will allow."

GORDON GARY

Gordon Gary, 14001 Riker Rd., is a veteran of 87 months service in the U. S. Army with 54 months of uninterrupted time in the European Theatre. At the time of his discharge he held the rank of major.

Gary has an AB degree in political science and a master's degree in governmental administration,

Lubahns Report Catching Big Fish In Petoskey Area

Bill didn't say how many inches a picture of himself and a 12-pound muskie caught in front of the Lubahns' Northwood Motel on Crooked Lake at Oden, near Petoskey; unfortunately, however, the photo was not clear enough for reproduction.

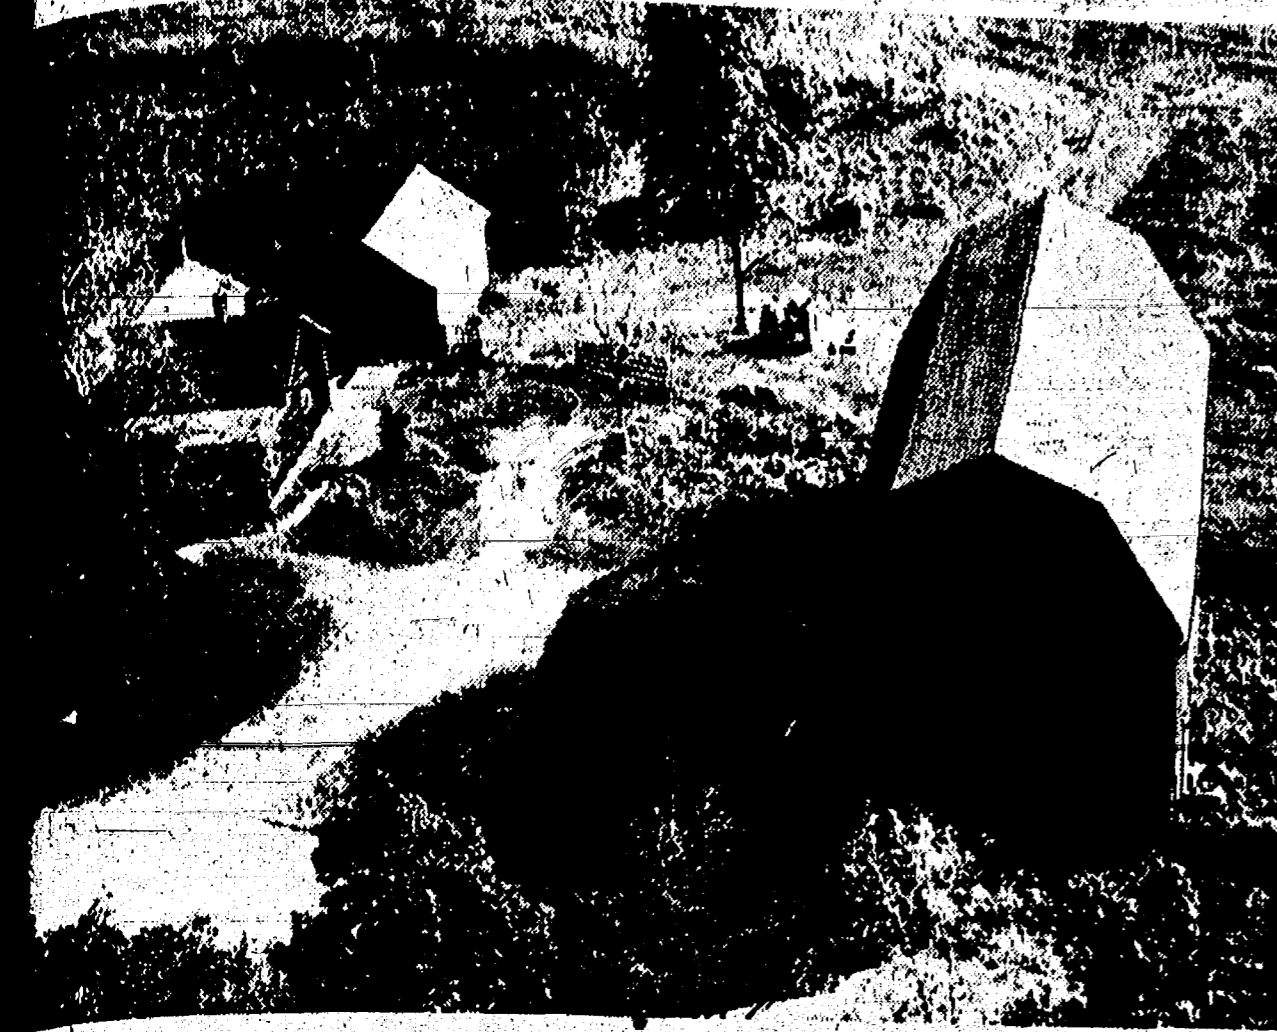

Bill didn't say how many inches the big fish measured but from its appearance as he held it with both hands, the fish must have been at least 36 inches long.

Bill and his son, Larry, were fishing with two friends, Al Burwell and Hank Godin when they caught the big fish that "didn't get away."

The Lubahns, former owners of The Pub here, said they wanted their friends in Chelsea to know about the big fish that "we can catch up here."

MYSTERY FARM No. 153—This photo proved that of the James Grissom farm at 4109 Sylvan Rd., although only the owners, themselves, were positive in their identification of the place.

James Grissom Family Are Now Owners of Farm Known as 'Old Veit Bahnmiller Place'

Mr. and Mrs. James Grissom now are the owners of the farm at 4109 Sylvan Rd., a photograph of which was published in the June 1 issue of The Standard for readers' benefit. It was listed as "Mystery Farm No. 153."

The Grissoms bought the 40-acre farm in 1956 from Mrs. Irene Bahnmiller, the former Mrs. Cecil Galbreath.

Prior to that it had been owned a time by Howard Haselward.

It is still known to older residents as the old Veit Bahnmiller place. The Veit Bahnmiller family had four sons and three daughters—Emanuel, Theodore, Albert, and Julia, who is Mrs. Ben Marston of Manchester, Mrs. Augusta of Dearborn and Margaret, who is Mrs. Elmer Weinberg.

Emanuel operated a threshing business in this area for many years and also operated a feed mill here. He and his wife live at 313 E. Middle St.

Oscar Bahnmiller lives at Manchester.

The late Theodore Bahnmiller served several terms as supervisor of Sylvan township before his death in 1937.

The fourth son, Albert, is also deceased.

The farm originally was comprised of 120 acres secured by patent from the U. S. Government in 1836 by Samuel Torbert. President Martin Van Buren signed the original deed.

Since the Grissoms have owned the place they have painted the outside of the house and have done some remodeling inside.

Grissom had worked in this vicinity before entering military service during World War II.

After his marriage he and his family lived in Detroit approximately 10 years before purchasing the farm here. Grissom is now employed by the Cloverleaf Dairy of Ann Arbor.

The Grissoms have two sons and a daughter, Jimmy, 14, Arthur, 8, and Mary Jean, 12. All attend St. Mary's school.

He served on the Citizens Curriculum Planning Committee for Chelsea schools; is a member of the Community Chest Board of Directors; American Society of Tool and Mechanical Engineers; and Knights of Columbus.

service, a sense of civic obligation and a desire to maintain high standards of education, are all factors involved in my decision to become a candidate for a position on the Board of Education.

"The growth of the Chelsea School District, from the standpoint of number of students, personnel employed, and operation of the physical plant, is a responsibility that requires proper administration. The high and rising costs of operations and the consequent these costs have on each taxpayer of the district is a primary concern.

"We must strive to insure the best possible educational opportunities for all of our children, while operating within the limits of budgeted revenues."

PAUL E. MANN

Paul E. Mann, 637 Flanders St., is married and the father of four children.

Born in Freedom township, he is a graduate of Cleary College, Ypsilanti and came to Chelsea in 1952.

He is executive vice-president and cashier of Chelsea State Bank.

His former employment includes three years at State Savings Bank, Ann Arbor; service as disbursing officer in the U. S. Army Air Force from 1942 until 1946; and for five years immediately prior to coming to Chelsea, was an examiner for the State Banking Department of Michigan.

He is a member of the Congregational church, presently serving on the finance committee.

He served on the Citizens Advisory Committee for finance in connection with construction of the new Chelsea High school.

He holds membership in the American Legion; Chelsea Rod and Gun club; and Saline Masonic Lodge No. 133, P.E.M.

Mann is a past president of both the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce and the Kiwanis club. He has also served on the board of directors of the Chelsea Community Chest.

Mann's statement regarding his candidacy is as follows: "The opportunity for community

Clarence Wood said, in his statement, "I have submitted my name as a candidate for election to the School Board because I believe that every citizen, and parents in particular, should take as active a part as possible in the operation of our school system. If I am elected I will endeavor to provide the best possible education for our children, without unnecessary frills, and yet to be constantly aware of the fact that every dollar that we spend has been earned and paid in taxes by a taxpayer of the Chelsea School District."

Born in Plymouth, Wood has lived in the Chelsea area since he was three years old.

He graduated from Chelsea High school in 1940 and in 1941 went to work for Federal Sewer Works where he is still employed as an estimator.

Children Must Learn Safety in Playing With Adult Guidance

Safety at play is one of the many things a young child has to learn as he climbs, jumps, balances himself, moves heavy objects, and judges the amount of space needed to turn a toy wagon. Betty Garlick, head of Spartan Nursery School at Michigan State University, says children must learn to use the various muscles in their bodies, and teach child is different. Some will climb better and more safely than others. If a child falls easily, perhaps his grip is not yet firmly developed. Adults need to be alert to see what a child is capable of doing and to give guidance as needed. They need to show a child safe places to climb, help him see where it is safe to jump, and give positive suggestions when he is in dangerous situations. It's better to say, "Take it easy" or "move this foot" than to shout, "Look out!" or "You'll fall!" Excited calls may frighten a child and hasten an accident. Positive suggestions give needed support, and can guide a child safely in a way that will carry over to other situations. Safety instructions in the use of toys and equipment should be matter-of-fact, positive, cheerful and functional. Minor accidents do happen during play, and Miss Garlick suggests these be turned into learning situations. If all the time is spent in comforting the child, the only thing he will learn is to expect comfort when he is hurt.

MARVIN L. ESCH

Speech Professor Seeks Position as Con-Con Delegate

Marvin L. Esch, assistant professor of speech at Wayne State University and executive speech consultant, announced today that he will seek election on the Republican ticket as Washtenaw county delegate to the Constitutional Convention.

The 33-year-old Esch, who lives in Ann Arbor, will be a candidate for his party's support in the primary to be held July 25. The general election will be Sept. 12.

Other Republicans who have announced their candidacy for the county position are Lewis Christman and Roscoe O. Bonisteel.

Esch, national vice-president of Delta Sigma Rho, speech honorary, and former president of the Michigan Speech Association, said in announcing his candidacy:

"The Republican Party of this state has too long been labeled as the party 'against'—against labor, against education, against progress. The Constitutional Convention is an unusual opportunity for conservative leaders to present a positive program to solve the problems facing our generation in Michigan."

"Those who urged my candidacy have stressed their concern that we have affirmative thinking, active spokesmen for the Republican philosophy within the convention. I believe my educational and practical background qualifies me to draw clearly and firmly the issues facing the citizens of our state."

Esch and his wife have three children, Emily, 7, Leo, 5, and Thomas, 3. They are members of the First Presbyterian church in Ann Arbor, where Esch is an elder. Esch's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Huber, reside at 233 Cavanaugh Lake, Chelsea.

Council Briefs

At the June 6 Village Council meeting with Donald Alber, general chairman of Chelsea's Ol' Time Showboat production to be presented as a community project June 22, 23, 24, it was agreed that the Council will send official invitations to surrounding communities—Dexter, Saline, Clinton, Stockbridge, Manchester, Grass Lake, etc.—inviting people to attend a planned street dance in Chelsea, Friday evening, June 16, as a prelude to the show project the following week.

Robert Wilging, engineer on the sewage lift construction at the south edge of the village, reported satisfactory progress of the work.

Following approval by the Sylvan Township Board of the Sylvan Township Zoning Board's approval for a Chelsea Village land fill on the Leonard Eder property on Ives Rd., the Council signed an agreement with Sylvan township for township use of the land fill. The land fill is to be operated under strict policing, rules for proper procedure for its use to be stressed in information to be given all prospective users.

Village Council now in process of passing an anti-littering ordinance affecting the road and area leading to the land fill—Sylvan Township Board having indicated similar action. This in line with efforts to forestall any possible objectionable actions by unscrupulous persons. Strict enforcement of the ordinance will be the rule.

Also in connection with the land fill—a committee was set up to study rates to be charged for use of the land fill for disposal of rubbish by people of Chelsea; Sylvan township and non-residents. Revenue from these rates to be applied to cost of operating land fill.

Washington St. preliminary road improvement now completed. Road surface was chlorided on Tuesday to eliminate dust. Plans for blacktopping to be added in September. Tentative plans, also, for grading and one coat of blacktop on Garfield St. at the same time.

Because of improvement of the Freer Rd.—Washington St. intersection, the Council approved changing the "Stop" sign there to a "Yield Right of Way" sign.

Discussion on flooding problem between Madison St. and Oak Grove cemetery and assurance that the Council will continue efforts to have County Drain Commissioner John Flook institute necessary co-operation in remedying the situation. Village health officer reports trouble until Drain Commission acts and Drain Commission can do nothing unless a New York Central Railroad culvert can be lowered. Dr. Otto Engelke, Washtenaw county health director co-operating with village in attempting to promote action to eliminate the flooding which is a health hazard as well as a breeding place for mosquitoes. No funds or equipment available for preventive spraying. Drain Commissioner Flook indicated there were tentative plans to "do something" about the situation "this fall."

Possibility of fencing well site also came in for discussion at Tuesday's meeting.

Village Council again emphasized that residents should guard against possible fraud in connection with door-to-door salesmen or solicitors unknown to them by demanding to see the person's permit, signed by Village Clerk George Winans. Principal offenders could be unauthorized magazine subscription salesmen—one such organization having indicated it planned to solicit without a permit. Residents are again warned that it is wise to check with the village clerk or Chelsea police if there is any question about door-to-door solicitors.

Peace Corps Asks MSU for Proposal

East Lansing—Michigan State University has been asked to submit a proposal for a program which would send 30 Peace Corps members to assist the faculty of the University of Nigeria at Nsukka.

The Peace Corps members would be university graduates whose duties might include some teaching, assistance on research work or other duties determined by their supervisors.

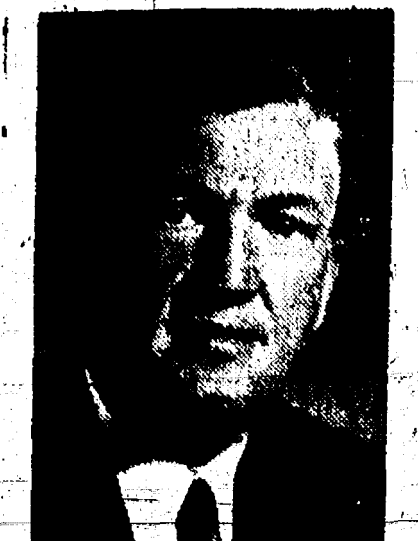

Participants would receive orientation on the East Lansing campus prior to departure for Nigeria and would be given some additional orientation on arrival at Nsukka.

MSU co-operated in helping to establish the University of Nigeria at Nsukka.

WYETH ALLEN

U-M Professor Cited for Service To Boy Scouts

Wyeth Allen of Ann Arbor, professor of industrial engineering at the University of Michigan and a former industrialist, was cited Saturday for distinguished service to Boy Scouting and given a Silver Buffalo Award at the closing session of the National Boy Scout Council's 51st annual meeting in Detroit.

Allen, chairman of the University of Michigan's department of industrial engineering, is the second person to receive a Silver Buffalo within the Portage Trails Council which serves Washtenaw and Livingston counties. The other winner was the late Fielding Yost.

Allen has served Boy Scouting in many capacities during the past 41 years, and is currently vice-chairman of Region VII which takes in part of the Midwest.

Allen was cited for developing the resources of Region VII's canoe base and strengthening the operation of the base.

He has served as Scout "ambassador" on trips to many parts of the world, and served as Region VII's national jamboree chairman during 1953, 1957 and last year.

Allen received a Silver Beaver Award in 1943 from the Milwaukee County Council and Silver Antelope Award in 1953 from Region VII.

Seney Noted For Wildlife, Lumber Tales

Seney, Mich.—Seney National Wildlife Refuge in Michigan's Upper Peninsula demonstrates how good conservation measures can make a silk purse of a sow's ear of nature.

Tourists enjoy seeing Seney Swamp's thousands of acres of open ponds which provide a home for great flocks of ducks, geese and related wildlife such as beaver, deer and muskrat, says Geographer Kenneth C. McMurry of the University of Michigan.

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service provides tour guides for the refuge area, which is readily accessible on Highway 77 north of Blaney Park in Schoolcraft county.

Seney Swamp once was practically worthless, Professor McMurry recalls. It was one of several great swampy areas created when the early-lakes that covered the eastern part of the Upper Peninsula receded from expanses of nearly flat land sloping gently from high moraines in the north down to Lake Michigan.

Seney Swamp is named for the nearby town of Seney, a quiet village which in Michigan's lumbering heyday was one of the most notorious spots in the nation. Tales of her warring lumberjacks are part of the national folklore. For many years the U-M has maintained a summer camp at the northern edge of the sloping plain for student field work.

When first surveyed, the area was found to consist largely of broad swampy flats, grass, sedge and reed-covered areas, organic deposits and pine-crust sand dunes in irregular patterns, McMurry points out.

About 50 years ago an attempt was made to ditch and drain some of the areas of organic soil deposit in order to introduce agricultural production. But the poor peat soils failed to support crops and the project was abandoned.

The area lay relatively unused until early depression years when the federal government undertook extensive development of wild fowl refuges and breeding areas. The Seney area was recommended, McMurry says, because it was capable of good development and already was mostly public-owned, having come back to the state through tax delinquency.

CCC laborers and others built embankments to back water into the shallow ponds which today provide food, shelter and natural environment for ducks, geese and other aquatic fowl.

A flock of captive Canada geese were kept in the area at first, McMurry says. They began to breed and over the past 20 years the population has increased steadily to perhaps 5,000. The geese migrate normally, but continue to come back to the familiar swamp area to breed.

"Here is an example of how manipulation of environment can make valuable and useful property of relatively worthless country," the U-M geographer concludes. "The same type of management process could be carried out on many other stream basins of similar habitat."

The proper life includes a balance between work and play. This applies to grown-ups as well as to children.

Senator Philip A. Hart's REPORT from WASHINGTON

Workers undergoing retraining periods of up to 62 weeks. Financial assistance to workers and their families who are to relocate to other areas of state or the country where have been offered. New on-the-job retraining by private firms and with aid of the government stepped up through the Department of Labor. Revamped vocational opportunities for those more specialized retraining carried on through the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. I am convinced that effective equipment our tremendous national resource—our human resources—with new skills and opportunities for those as a winning race for space. A matter of fact, it may well be a key factor in winning the race space. If my readers would like information on the President's retraining program, please and I will send you more details this program now pending in press. It takes two nations to but it takes many more to the peace of the world.

New Training for the Unemployed

Lots of printed words and speeches have been made on the problems of the unemployed whose job was lost because of automation, changes in defense requirements, technological progress, or foreign competition.

In Michigan we know that the unemployed in many industries in our State are unable to find jobs because of these national changes. Deep shaft iron mines have closed in the UP. Automated automobile lines need less workers. Advances in missile technology mean basic changes in missile plants such as the one at Warren. The Defense Department buys fewer tanks, trucks and tracked vehicles and this means less defense dollars spent in our State.

President Kennedy knows that talk will not solve these problems. A few days ago he asked the Congress to authorize a major new program to help the unemployed who can not be expected to find work without retraining.

As a co-sponsor of Senate Bill 1991, I hope there will be quick widespread support throughout Michigan for getting this new program for developing and retraining our manpower resources into law.

Here are some of the highlights of this new retraining proposal: Payment of minimum income to

State Traffic Toll May Increase Over Last Year

The 14,776 accidents were decreased by 814, or two percent, compared to April last year.

In the first four months there were 447 persons killed and 25,882 injured in 61,920 accidents. These are increases of six percent in deaths and two percent in injuries but a reduction of 10 percent in accidents, compared to the same period.

Estimated mileage for the first three months, the latest information available, totaled seven billion, a decrease of three percent compared to the corresponding 1960 quarter while the death rate of 4.5 per 100 million vehicle miles was up two percent.

Lynwood Noah Accepts Position With Parke-Davis

Lynwood E. Noah, son of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Noah, was recently honored at the 12th annual Business Studies banquet at Eastern Michigan University by being awarded a scholarship at Michigan State University. Dr. Julius Robinson, head of the Department of Business Studies, made the award at the annual affair honoring the graduates for 1961.

Noah, however, has decided to accept a position with Parke, Davis & Co. in the Internal Branch Training program in Detroit.

He is a 1964 graduate of Chelsea High school where he was editor of the yearbook; a member of the junior-senior class play; a member of the debate team; and student council representative. Following graduation from high school, Noah enrolled in the University of Michigan to start his post-high school educational career. He transferred to Eastern Michigan University where he has been a major in the area of business management for the past three years.

While at Eastern, he has been a member of Delta Sigma Phi, a social fraternity on the EMU campus. He served as chairman of the Engineering Leadership Committee for 1960-1961 on behalf of his fraternity. He has appeared on the Dean's Academic Honor List five semesters while at Eastern. He was selected to participate this spring in Ford Visitation Day—a co-operative program for outstanding students in business and EMU's Department of Business Studies.

During the past year, Noah was married to Camilla Kerkhoff of Ann Arbor. The Noahs plan to move to Detroit at the end of this semester.

Isle Royale Fishing Rated Among Best

ISLE ROYALE — Trout, pike, perch, walleye. Such names bring a glint of excitement to the angler's eye.

Michigan's Isle Royale National Park has them all and more—wrapped in some of the most magnificent wilderness areas in the country.

Karl F. Lagler, nationally-known authority on sport fishing and chairman of the University of Michigan's Department of Fisheries, has high praise for the diversity of fishing waters offered by Lake Superior's largest island.

"Isle Royale's most extensive habitat is, of course, the surrounding waters of Lake Superior," he points out. "Off the southeast shore, where the slope is more gradual, some 20 species of fish have been reported—including the popular rainbow, brook and lake trout, brown trout, northern pike, yellow perch and yellow walleye. The relatively rare lake sturgeon is occasionally taken by gill nets. Others to be found here include white and longnose suckers, lake chub and burbot, lake whitefish, round whitefish (menominee) and ciscoes."

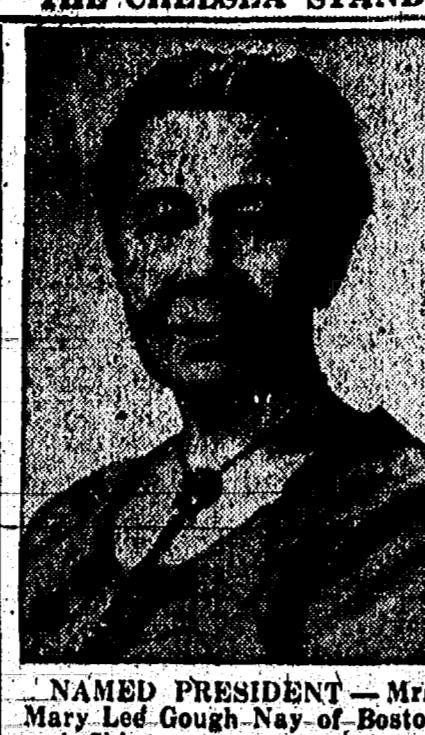

The 45-mile long island offers both open and sheltered shoreline habitats, along with rapid streams and the quiet inland waters of lakes, bog ponds and beaver impoundments.

"Thirty-two inland fishing lakes dot the 210 square miles of wilderness area. Northern pike are found in 28 of the lakes, yellow perch in 26, while brook and lake trout, yellow walleye and pumpkinseed sunfish are reported in others."

"At no time in the history of this country has there been a greater appreciation of its vast natural resources," Lagler says. "Of these, the recreational and educational facilities of the National Park rank among the most important and are used by millions of people each year."

"One of the wildest and most primitive of such public lands is Isle Royale National Park, established by Congressional Act in 1931. Its extensive wilderness area and excellent facilities for boating, swimming, hiking, camping and fishing are very popular during the summer months. Many visitors return year after year, charmed by the insular solitude that is enhanced by the absence of roads and automobiles. Increasing numbers of anglers visit the island park annually."

Inquiries concerning Isle Royale accommodations and ferry service may be made through the National Park Service, Houghton.

Huron Canoeing Guide Map Series Now Available

A series of four Huron River canoeing guide maps illustrating routes from Pontiac to Lake Erie are now available for free distribution from the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, a five-county park and parkway agency serving Livingston, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw and Wayne counties.

The Authority maintains canoe camp sites for overnight use by permit with stoves, water and sanitary facilities at Labadie Island in Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford and along the Huron River 1/2 mile south of Hudson Mills Metropolitan Park, located 5 miles northwest of Dexter; and a canoe camp site near Hamburg.

These colorful, detailed maps or canoe camp permits may be secured from the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, 1760 Guardian Building, Detroit 26 (Phone Woodward 1-5865). These maps are also available at Kensington Park or Hudson Mills Metropolitan Park northwest of Dexter.

There is a canoe livery located in Milford which provides canoe rentals and pick-up service. No facility of this type is maintained at any of the authority parks.

Whitmore Lake Boys Training School Plans Open House

On Sunday, June 11, 1961, from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. the Whitmore Lake Unit of the Boys Training school is having an Open House to which the public is invited.

This new facility is a unit of the Lansing Boys Training school and is operated by the Michigan Department of Social Welfare for the care and treatment of delinquent boys between the ages of 12 and 17 years.

The unit is located one mile west of US-23 on M-36, which is just north of Whitmore Lake.

Organizations are also encouraged to send representatives to attend the open house.

TO MODERNIZE ASIAN RAILWAYS

Transport deficiencies which have been one of the major hindrances to economic advancement in Asian countries will be remedied to a degree during the next few years. Two loans for that purpose were made this month by the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development (World Bank)—one to Japan, for $80,000,000 and one to Thailand, for $22,000,000. The latter will finance purchase of 65 diesel engines and 1,650 freight cars, as well as most of the steel needed to replace 350 wooden bridges. The Bank is one of the agencies affiliated with the United Nations.

Bass Fishing Season Opens Saturday, June 17

Lansing—Michigan anglers can stop wishing and start fishing for large and smallmouths come June 17, opener of this year's bass season which runs through Sept. 10 on trout lakes and streams and Dec. 31 on all other waters, including the Great Lakes.

Except in several experimental lakes regulated by the Conservation Department for research purposes, the minimum size limit remains at 10 inches for these fighting fish. The daily catch quota is still five, singly or combined.

Fishermen will find no change in license fees. Residents must have an annual $2 license to fish on inland lakes and streams. They need only the right gear, bait, and know-how for bass fishing in the Great Lakes and their connecting waters.

Non-residents are required to have a license for bass fishing in all Michigan waters. The annual fee for out-of-state fishermen is $5 while the non-resident 15-day license is $4.

A June 1 bass opener is in prospect for 1962, covering all waters except Lake St. Clair, the St. Clair river, and Detroit river. It was approved in a bill passed recently by the legislature which pends final action by Governor Swainson.

Park, Forestry Equipment Show Set at Rouge Park

The Wayne County Extension Service and the Southeast Michigan Forestry and Park Association are jointly sponsoring an equipment show to be held in mid-June.

Equipment for municipal forestry work, park management, and turf management will be donated by various municipal units, and the equipment will be demonstrated by the crews. This is an opportunity not only to examine the equipment, but to see it in operation.

The date for this meeting is June 15, from 10:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. Visitors are urged to come any time during the day and stay as long as they wish. The location for the demonstration is at Rouge Park, one of the Detroit Department of Parks areas, on Spinoza Dr., north of Joy Rd. and east of Telegraph Rd. Signs at that point will assist in finding the exact location.

This will be a "brown-bag" lunch (bring your own). Coffee and soft drinks will be available at the park.

Humble Hot Dog Is Safest Meat on Summer Picnics

Ann Arbor—The humble hot dog has staunch support from dietitians at the University of Michigan Medical Center who say it's one of the safest meat items to take on summer picnics.

Finding the right menu for family picnics during the hot summer months can be a difficult and critical chore for the housewife, says Marguerite Burgoin, U-M staff dietitian. The food basket can make the difference between a healthful week-end in the outdoors, and rush visit to the hospital for food poisoning.

For an ideal safe picnic lunch, Miss Burgoin recommends: soft drinks, ice tea or lemonade; fresh fruit; relishes such as carrots, radishes, pickles and celery; and hot dogs—grilled, of course.

Some of the more dangerous foods are "salad sandwiches," deviled eggs, mayonnaise, cream pies and any kind of chopped or ground meat. These can become excellent breeding grounds for disease-producing germs. In addition, said Miss Burgoin, they can "smell good" and "look good" and still be dangerously contaminated.

The hot dog—possibly because of its skin-tight individual wrapping—tends to "bacteria better" than other meats. Although cold cuts run it a close second, the practice of singeing the hot dog in the campfire just before eating makes it the safest picnic meat.

"What if you don't like hot dogs?" Then says the U-M food specialist, take extra special precautions to keep your picnic selections cold (under 45 degrees) or very hot (over 150). This slows the growth rate of those bacteria that cause different forms of food poisoning.

Hint to bachelors: A compliment a day will eventually lead to the altar.

School for Retarded Children Accepting Applications for Fall

The Washtenaw Association for Retarded Children, a member agency of the Ann Arbor United Fund, the Ypsilanti Community Chest and several smaller United Funds throughout the county, is now accepting applications for the fall term in its Day Center for Trainable Retarded Children which is located at 2030 Dhu Varren Rd., north of Ann Arbor. Trainable retarded children are considered to be those who will never mature enough to read and write, or to be independent of adult supervision, but who can, however, be taught habits of personal health and safety and good manners and grooming. They can also be taught to perform simple tasks. At the grooming. They can also be taught these basic social skills. The older children are guided in wood-working, weaving, and homemaking tasks.

Children of five years and over from all of Washtenaw county are eligible. For further information or application blanks for next year's classes, call Mrs. Hugh Pickett, director, at NO-5-8069.

Burton-Hoey Named To Junior Membership In Holstein Association

Burton M. Hoey of 8540 Island Lake Rd., son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hoey, has been accepted as a Junior Member of the Holstein-Erician Association of America, Brattleboro, Vt.

He qualified for the Certificate of Merit and Junior Membership plan through successful dairy project work with registered Holstein cattle.

Junior Membership entitles 4-H members and Voc-Ag students to all of the privileges of the national Holstein organization with the exception of voting.

Under the plan, Junior Members register and transfer their animals at members' rates and receive regular reports of breed and Association progress.

More than 30,600 young Holstein breeders have participated in the program since its inauguration in 1928.

CHELSEA Telephone Lines

By NICK PRAKKEN, Manager

MANY OF US who have watched the satellite Echo move across the night sky realize that the project gave America a clear lead in space communications. However, the longer we delay in setting up the first satellite system, the more we risk losing our lead.

The Bell Telephone System has offered to build and pay for experimental satellites. It is willing to pay for their launching and for the ground stations in the U. S. (foreign ground stations would be owned by foreign communications agencies.) There would be no cost to the taxpayer.

The Bell System's interest in space stems from the fact that a space communications system would be a natural extension of networks used in providing service to the public today. Bell seeks no monopoly and does not wish to exclude other international carriers either from establishing satellite communications systems or from sharing use of the system it proposes. This system would be operated under government regulation just as today's communications systems are operated.

What could offer a better means to serve the public's interest in a broader communications network for tomorrow?

EVER WONDER how a telephone lineman knows the safety strap he wears when working atop poles is dependable? Like all equipment our people use, the straps must meet rigid standards. Nothing is left to chance. These safety straps are made of several layers of tough fabric. When the outer layer wears thin, the contrasting color of the next layer shows it's time to get a new belt. A small thing—but one reason why telephone people are six times safer than those in most other industries.

Gordon Gury... (Continued from page seven) this challenge, standards must not only remain high, but the prospects for the future of every student should be uppermost in our minds. "I like to classify students into three major classes, namely: non-college preparatory, college preparatory, and gifted. In behalf of the non-college preparatory, the curriculum should provide sufficient technical training to enable the graduating student to be prepared for suitable employment. For the college preparatory, the standards should be sufficiently high to prepare him for further formal education in a manner that will minimize his problem of adjusting to college standards. Finally, I feel that the nation's needs are such as to cause all public schools to challenge to the utmost the academic capabilities of the few gifted students all schools have.

BUCKET SEATS ALONE DO NOT A MONZA MAKE. Geel! Little did we know, when we introduced the Corvair Monza last year, that we were starting a Big Thing. We just thought it would be pleasant if you could buy a car that treats you the driver, like you want to be treated. The bucket seats, of course, are the most obvious evidence of our desire to please you. But they're not the most important thing. No sir. What's really vital is the way a Monza handles—something nobody in the U.S. has yet copied. Or can copy. Because Corvair is the only rear-engined car made in this country, and you know what that means: steering light as a thistle-down. (You even park this one more easily, it steers so briskly.) Beautifully balanced braking—the car stays level even under panic braking, which we hope you'll never have to do. Traction and more traction, so you don't become a stick-in-the-mud. The kind of cornering that's sheer joy to experience. You get more: a fully independent suspension that blots out road shocks before they can ruffle you. Clean, crisp styling. Ministers Join in Pastoral Care Course At U-M Medical Center

The Rev. Allan Reed, vicar of St. Barnabas' Episcopal church, is one of three supervisory staff members at a 12-week summer school session on pastoral care which began Monday at the University of Michigan Medical Center.

Others on the staff are Alguin L. Toews, vicar of St. Paul's, training at University Hospital, and Paul W. Miller, chaplain of Ypsilanti State Hospital.

Among the nine chaplains, pastors and theology students from various parts of the country who are taking the course is Herbert Crandall, Jr., of Ann Arbor, who is from Virginia Theological Seminary, Alexandria, Va.

The course marks the 25th anniversary of the start of the Clinical Pastoral Training program at University Hospital, and the 15th year in which it has been conducted by Chaplain Malcolm B. Ballinger.

The course is designed to teach pastors how to call on the sick, Chaplain Ballinger said. "The students also learn to work in co-operation with the health professions. They serve right on the wards: attend lectures by doctors, nurses, psychiatrists; and seek awareness of the responsibilities, resources and limitations of the clergy in dealing with patients and families of patients."

State Sales Tax On Cars Drops Over Last Year

Sales tax income on 1961 car purchases in Michigan is expected to run behind that of 1960 by four months of the current year, according to the Michigan Department of Transportation.

James M. Hare, Secretary of State, pointed out that despite the fact that the sales tax on cars increased from 3 percent to 4 percent on Jan. 1, tax income from $15,720,141.71 in the four months of 1960 to $14,272.02 in 1961.

"The primary reason for the decline," Hare said, "is that the number of new cars and trucks has dropped this year by 76 from the 317,334 units on which we collected the 3 percent tax during the first four months of 1960 to 240,836 units taxed during the same period this year."

The average sales tax collected per sale in Michigan this year is $102.16.

The starting line of the University of Michigan football team fall is expected to be all grown Wolverines.

What problems do you see and what are your solutions for them? "The rapidly increasing school enrollment, the economical maintenance and use of expanded school facilities; budget control, analysis and scrutinizing of operating expenses and providing an educational pattern designed to fulfill the individual needs of this community to the greatest extent possible."

"How can we solve these and other pressing problems as they come up—not by individual opinions or snap judgment expressed before thorough investigation and analysis—but only by concerted effort and mutual agreement on the part of the entire school board after proper evaluation of committee and individual reports and written or oral comments of interested residents presented prior to or during school meetings. Our school system facilities and monies are now entirely too large to be treated any differently from a large business or industry. All important decisions must reflect what is best, not only for the present but also the foreseeable future. Before deciding upon the need for more buildings, we must be sure our present buildings are being used to capacity or if more efficient scheduling of their use is the answer. If new facilities are necessary, contemplate the future, let's be sure they will be efficient and economical—not only for teaching but also the construction, maintenance, and operating costs. The anticipated life of the building are different from business or industry. In that no cash profits turns on the investments are expected to repay them. Consequently before asking for additional millage we must be sure all money and efficiency possible have been exhausted. I am sure all agree to wanting a good, economically sound, educational system in the Chelsea area."
