Landfill Blocked by Zoning Board

In turning down the petition of the Village of Chelsea for a conditional use permit for a sanitary landfill on the Donald Proctor farm west of Chelsea the Sylvan Township Zoning Board told the village to operate their landfill on the Leonard Eder property, for which a permit was granted earlier, or not at all in Sylvan township.

The objections presented at the meeting last Monday night by residents of the area according to the Village Council, apparently had no bearing on the decision of the Zoning Board.

Showboat Report Due Next Week

The special Chelsea Ol' Time Showboat reporter who has kept readers informed of all details of the "community project" the past few weeks, has submitted his final story; however, a report of the proceeds and their disposition must await a meeting of committees to be held Friday night.

Here is the special reporter's story for this week.

The final curtain has been pulled and Chelsea's Ol' Time Showboat is now past history.

The scenery and costumes have been returned, the stage is swept clean, dressing room waste baskets are devoid of blackened tissues, and empty cold cream jars, and the grey toppers are once more back in storage.

Our community has once again demonstrated the co-operation, talent and outstanding community spirit of which we are so proud.

Your organizational committee is busy tabulating the final ticket sales, compiling the bills and determining the profit derived from the show in preparation for dividing the proceeds among the recipients of your choice when their representatives meet tomorrow night to open the donor box and count your votes.

The final report on the devotion of profit will be published next week, officially bringing Chelsea's Ol' Time Showboat activity to a close and allowing you to take a short vacation before our next big community activity takes place.

The Chelsea Community Fair will be held Aug. 30, 31, Sept. 1 and 2. An all-out effort has been underway for several months, interrupted slightly by your showboat, to make this year's fair even bigger and better than any of the past fairs, with special effort being expended in the display area and in the increase of free entertainment in the grandstand.

According to your Community Fair president, "Cruck" Lancaster, "the fair dates have been set ahead this year making our fair the last big entertainment feature of the summer vacation period, both for our full-time residents and our many friends who spend their summers with us at our surrounding lakes. It will have to be, and it will be, an outstanding fair even in comparison with the many time fairs Chelsea has held in the past."

St. Paul's Church Will Begin Summer Schedule Next Sunday

Sunday, July 2, St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church begins a summer schedule of services.

Sunday school will begin at 8:45 a.m. and only one worship service will be held with the time changed to 10 a.m.

The schedule will be in effect during July and August and the first Sunday in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Breitenwieser and sons, Kirk and Scott, of Baytown, Tex., arrived Tuesday to spend a week with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Breitenwieser. Also a guest this week at the Breitenwieser home is their granddaughter, Kay Britten of Jackson.

Kathryn Kinde Wins Methodist Scholarship

Kathryn Kinde, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. S. D. Kinde, received word this week from Albion College that she has been awarded a National Methodist Scholarship by the General Board of Education of the Methodist Church.

National Methodist scholarships are assigned to a specific number of Methodist students of high scholastic standing.

Dr. Wayne H. Floenor, director of public relations of Albion College, wrote Miss Kinde, saying, "We want to congratulate you on receiving this scholarship since the endorsement by the General Board of Education means that you have established a very commendable record for yourself."

Funds for National scholarships and the Methodist Student Loan Fund are raised by a special offering in all Methodist churches on Methodist Student Day which generally falls on the second Sunday in June.

Miss Kinde also received the Mabel Fox Memorial Fund Scholarship through the Chelsea High school. This scholarship was made possible by Region III of the Michigan Education Association.

Miss Kinde has been accepted as a student for the fall term at Albion College.

A total of 312 FHA members from the entire state participated in the week's activities designed to impart ideas for improving local club work.

The two Chelsea girls plan to meet with their advisor, Mrs. Straker, to report on their week's stay at the University and to discuss plans for the Chelsea club.

Recreation Attendance Hits 452

Total attendance for the first day of Chelsea's summer recreation program, Monday, June 26, was 452, according to Recreation Director Alan Conklin.

As has been the case in previous seasons, swimming attracted the largest number, 148, in spite of the fact that the weather has been rather cool.

The morning baseball program at the athletic field was second with 132 participants; arts and crafts at the North and South school playgrounds, 102; and the evening program, 60.

The 1960 first day figure was a total of 409, the difference being almost entirely accounted for by the number who participated in swimming, 194, as compared to this year's 148. The first day's weather last year was warmer, accounting for the additional number of swimmers.

As has been emphasized, children must be seven years old before they may participate and should have written permission from their parents the first time they attend the swimming program.

The playground at South Elementary school will feature a "Hobby Day" program tomorrow (Friday, June 30), while North school has scheduled a costume party as a special event.

A schedule of events for the July 3-7 week of the recreation program appears on page six of this issue of The Standard.

Pharmacists Association Elects Beissel

Robert J. Beissel, co-owner of Fischer's Pharmacy at 227 E. Liberty St., Ann Arbor, was elected president of the Michigan State Pharmaceutical Association at a meeting of the association held in Muskegon Tuesday, June 20.

Beissel is a son of Mrs. Cora Beissel, 542 McKinley St., and the late Edward Beissel. He lives at 1144 Aberdeen Ave., Ann Arbor.

A graduate of the Ferris Institute College of Pharmacy, he has served as secretary and treasurer of the Washtenaw County Pharmaceutical Association and is a member of the American Pharmaceutical Association.

In his acceptance speech, Beissel told association members that a move is to be launched to present a new pharmacy law to the State Legislature. The present law is almost 60 years old and has had only minor revisions in recent years, he said.

Mrs. William Bench entertained 18 members of the Past Matrons' club of Washtenaw Chapter No. 302, OES, at her home on Chelsea-Dexter Rd. Monday evening.

American Legion, Kiwanis Club Sponsoring Show

Commander William Blaess of Herbert J. McKune Post No. 31, American Legion, announcing the Fourth of July fireworks display to be held at the Community Fairgrounds, said the display "will be more than double the size of any display we've ever had" and would take from 30 to 45 minutes to complete.

Blaess said the "extra big" display is made possible by "a most generous contribution" to the community effort by the Kiwanis Club of Chelsea.

For a number of years Legion Post No. 31 put on a fireworks display each Fourth of July at the Legion Home at Cavanaugh Lake. After the first or second time there developed a demand for an opportunity to obtain refreshments for the many people who came to view the display and so an ice cream social was added.

Each year, however, the crowds became larger and the traffic situation at the lake became a real problem; in addition, people who wished to avail themselves of the opportunity to buy refreshments were unable even to reach the Legion Home.

In order to accommodate everyone in the community, it was then decided to hold the annual affair at the Chelsea Community Fairgrounds where parking off the highway is available for everyone who cares to attend.

Because of work being done at the fairgrounds last year the Legion canceled the customary fireworks display.

The ice cream social held in connection with the Fourth of July celebration will begin at 5 p.m. and Legionnaires are inviting families to come out and have supper and then remain to see the fireworks display tentatively set for 9 p.m. or as soon as darkness falls.

Commander Blaess said the committee has planned to include the customary "hot dogs," barbecues, potato chips, ice cream and homemade cake on its menu for the social. The food will be served inside of the Community Fair building.

General chairman of the ice cream social is Past Commander Keith Boylan.

Elton Guenther is chairman of the fireworks committee.

The finale of the fireworks display is a 36-piece setting of rockets and colorful formations concluding with a display depicting the American Flag.

Commander Blaess said everyone in the community is invited to "come out to the fairgrounds and see the fireworks display."

He emphasized that the Fourth of July entertainment is a community service project of the Legion Post and that the Kiwanis club's donation this year was made as one of that organization's community service projects.

Harold Hunselmann and his five children, of Saline, visited Monday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Eisenmann.

Social Security Program Distorted, According to Insurance Executive

The truth about this country's social security program has been distorted and misrepresented to the American people and "important political and economic consequences" may result when the facts are ultimately understood. This is the view of an authority on such matters—Ray M. Peterson, vice-president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, writing in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Peterson makes a number of extremely important points. Among them:

The public is being given the false impression that the method of financing the social security program possesses many of the unique characteristics of voluntary private insurance.

The program has been misrepresented as being a time-tested and tried and proved system of financing old age benefits.

People are being given the mistaken impression that social security benefits are paid out of accumulated reserves, similar to private insurance program, where the truth is they are financed almost entirely on a pay-as-you-go basis with benefits paid out of current income.

In his words, "No reserve is accumulated, no element of prepayment is involved." Simple statistics tell the story: From 1956 through 1960, total tax collections for social security will be just about the same as benefits and expenses—which means that it is almost entirely dependent on the taxing power of the government. Peterson also pointed out that, had taxes paid into the fund been stopped last year, the $20.2 billion then in the fund would have been sufficient to meet only 23 per cent of the obligations to current recipients.

You may be for or against the social security system—but, either way, you should know the facts. It is particularly important now, in view of the effort to graft a medical care for the aged program onto it, thus adding $20 to $30 billion to the permanent debt. This would mean that thousands of people presently receiving social security benefits would have paid nothing for the added medical benefits received. The bill would be passed on to younger generations—and a huge and everlasting bill it would be.—Industrial News Service.

Why Not Attack Causes?

Juvenile delinquency now becomes, by executive order of the President, a responsibility of the Federal Government. Three Cabinet officers, Attorney General Robert Kennedy, Welfare Secretary Abraham Ribicoff and Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg, aided by a former Olympic hockey star are to dream up and execute a five-year "Pied Piper act" in reverse at an estimated cost of $10 million for the first year.

Meaning no disrespect to these eminent sociologists, we think the Administration could do more for youth by reforming our wasteful, spendthrift government, reducing taxes and checking inflation so that a single paycheck might again support a family. If mother could return to her traditional duties in our economically broken homes the forces of juvenile delinquency would receive a greater assist than Federal millions will ever provide.

This might even help adult delinquency.

Champion For 185 Years!

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

The certainty of death and taxes is widely publicized in story and song, but the death of taxes, even though they be "temporary" in nature, is a rare thing indeed.

Michigan will witness the death of the so-called "Nuisance" taxes which were passed to ease the Cash Crisis of 1959 this June 30.

Despite the promises of politicians from both parties that the taxes would expire, this is no small event. The roughly $50 million annually resulting from the taxes will be sorely missed by the state's still-unhealthy treasury.

Efforts were made to extend the taxes, which carried the expiration date when they were passed. The taxes were practically painless, as taxes go. They levied a penny a pack on cigarettes, 4 per cent on the use of telephones and telegraph service, a charge on tobacco products, and additional charges on liquor and beer purchases and the corporation franchise fee.

Some lawmakers had the idea that austerity budgets for some areas of state government, notably higher education and mental health, could be increased and perhaps some of the state's staggering $80 million debt retired if one or more of the taxes were extended.

But no agreement could be reached on the why and wherefore of continuing the taxes, so the legislature kept hands off.

Now come the liquor interests, plus some lawmakers, with the proposal that a refund on certain of the taxes be made. The situation that causes the anguish is this: Liquor dealers were assessed the nuisance tax on their floor stocks when the tax went into effect.

It would be equitable, they say, to refund a similar amount on the floor stocks on hand when the taxes expire.

While the proposal may be a sound logical position, needless to say it was greeted with no great show of enthusiasm when mentioned on the floor by Sen. Charles S. Blomdy, D-Detroit, during the last days of the regular session. The tax on tobacco products was not assessed on floor inventories when passed, so these dealers do not have the problem.

The Liquor Control Commission says it is powerless to refund the tax without action by the legislature. Lawmakers can't get to the problem until the 1962 session, and by that time, the whole thing may be forgotten and better left dead.

Just for the record, labor unions weren't the only ones to applaud Gov. John B. Swainson's veto of the controversial Unemployment Compensation bill passed by the 1961 legislature.

A recent issue of the Michigan Food News, a publication for retail grocers, in a column signed by editor Willis R. Keasey, also said the people were better off with the bill inoperative.

Said Keasey: "The bill is one of the biggest monstrosities ever passed by the legislature."

The strong voice which undoubtedly caused Swainson to veto the bill came from the unions.

Equally vocal were the forces pleading with the Governor to sign the bill, or let it become law without a signature. These belonged to many big and small employers and those interested in the "economy climate of the state."

Keasey's point, on which he could find much agreement, was that a percentage of small businessmen would have to pay higher rates under the bill.

Merits of the bill, which had as its chief aim the beefing up of the Unemployment Compensation Fund, and its drawbacks were debated almost to the point of tedium before Swainson acted. While the labor unions opposed the bill on totally different grounds than did some small businessmen, this relatively quiet but tremendously important segment of the Michigan economy was glad that it did not have to face up to increased costs of any kind.

Mr. Average Consumer in Michigan might feel a little sheepish if he contemplates a recent word from J. L. Littlefield, chief of the foods and standards division of the Department of Agriculture.

Littlefield and his boss, Agriculture Director George S. McIntrye, warned buyers to beware of advertising that ballyhooes a "king size quart," a "full pound," a "gigantagon" and the like.

A pound is a pound, the officials said, and the same goes for any other unit of measure.

Law requires that anything sold as a pound really be a full pound. The size of a pint, quart, gallon or any other standard unit of measure is also spelled out in the statutes, so any billing that hints of a bonus is deceptive, the officials said.

While everybody seeks a bargain, common sense would dictate that advertising of the "full pound" type is really only a gimmick.

Like so many other things right under our noses, this obvious truism escapes us too easily, and it takes the prompting from an official quarter to bring things into focus.

St. Barnabas Episcopal Mission has called the Rev. Richard Cockrell to serve as vicar succeeding John E. Lee, lay vicar.

A total of 294 participated in the summer recreation program on Monday, the first day of the season, in spite of inclement weather.

The "Gay Nineties," a group of older graduates of Chelsea High school met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. J. E. McKune, included among those present were five members of the Class of 1897, the 60th anniversary class—Mrs. D. R. Approximately 14,000 square yards of oil mix will be laid on Chelsea streets this year as compared with 10,000 square yards last year. In addition it is expected that all of Summit St. will be torn up and resurfaced as it has been in bad condition the past year.

Almost every house in Brooklyn was damaged and many fine shade trees uprooted in Sunday's severe electrical and windstorm. Chelsea suffered minor damage in comparison—flooded streets and cellars, broken branches, stalled automobiles.

Miss Margaret Hindelang and daughter, Bertilla, of Mishawaka, Ind., were weekend guests of relatives here and on Saturday attended commencement exercises at the U. of M. where Mrs. Hindelang's nephew, Louis Doll, received a Ph. D. degree.

U. S. Prefers Education To Funds in Foreign Aid

Although the United States has agreed to accept membership on United Nations committee to consider preparatory measures for capital development fund to aid underdeveloped nations, its spokesmen have stipulated that the response does not constitute endorsement of the proposal. On the contrary, the formal answer makes clear, "the principal obstacle economic growth in many less developed countries is no longer the lack of adequate financing but rather the absence of trained people, the public and private institutions, and the values which are essential for a successful development effort."

By the end of 1960, there were more than 22½ billion dollars in the social security trust funds. According to actuarial experts, the social security funds will grow to more than 40 billion dollars by the next five years.

WASHINGTON AND 'SMALL BUSINESS'

By C. Wilson Harder

By the time this appears, U. S. may, or may not, have a man orbiting in outer space. Scientists say that instruments put into orbit gather much more information than a man can, it probably does not make much difference if a man or big or not, except for some propaganda value, which is dubious.

Russians have done well in heating the tub for their not inconsiderable scientific achievements, and in C. W. Harder's opinion, so, have created in certain quarters of nation a dangerous trend of thought.

These apologists for America being second in some of these areas shout loud and clearly that "of course" in a dictatorship system things can be accomplished more efficiently than in a free society."

The fallacy of this thinking rests on the fact that in major fields at present, there is no free economic order. The indictment returned against General Motors by a federal grand jury charging the firm with violations of the antitrust laws to monopolize the diesel locomotive industry could well be used as a case in point.

The diesel principle of internal combustion engines is so far more efficient way yet devised to turn petroleum into motive power. In industrialized nations of Europe great strides have been made in this field.

But Department of Justice charges that General Motors has monopolized the electric locomotive building field to the extent that last year it sold 84.1% of all diesel locomotives sold, increasing this share from 47.1% in 1946.

Justice Dept. charges that inasmuch as General Motors is possibly the largest shipper of freight in the U. S., it has in formed railroads that when they bought their locomotives, competing lines would get their share of GM freight business.

It is also charged that Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton, a famous old locomotive builder, has dropped out of the field. Also Fairbanks-Morse & Company has dropped out.

This despite the fact that Fairbanks-Morse developed for railroad use the opposed piston diesel engine which leading engineers throughout the world acclaimed as one of the greatest developments ever made in diesel engine design.

Only one other builder remains in the field, Alco Products, which only gets the business General Motors does not have. According to the Justice Dept. it would appear profits of monopoly are vast. Also, it is claimed, makes only an average profit of 1.9%; the GM diesel division makes 20.2% profit.

Thus, it is quite erroneous to say that a dictatorship can make scientific advances faster than a free society.

But by the same token, it is not erroneous to claim that a dictatorship can make faster advances than a system where developments and improvements are stifled by the control of a monopoly. Trying to progress through monopoly is like an ant trying to move forward through a stone wall.

BEAUTIFUL HOME FURNISHINGS

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR: The Constitution says everybody is entitled to the pursuit of happiness and, come next Tuesday, the pursuit will be on.

I aim to come through Independence Day this year without a scratch. My plans call for setting in a rocking chair on the front porch and rocking with the grain. I might get a mosquito bite or two but that'll be pretty good compared to all the broken bones I'll be reading about in the papers.

Back when I was a boy it wasn't so dangerous to venture out of the house on July 4. We had a old mule named Jerry and he had a heap of faults but he never turned the buggy over on account of rounding a curve at 90 miles a hour. And they wasn't no 7-cent road tax on his oats. Pa would hitch up the wagon and we'd all go to town on Independence Day. First off, we'd go in some store that was open and get a nickel's worth of cheese, a ten-cent can of sardines and a box of crackers and then we'd all eat like a hog. Nowadays if a family wants to come to town and eat like a hog, they'd have to sell a hog to get the money.

I was reading a piece in the papers about a fellow named Elwood Haynes and his contribution to Independence Day. On July 4, 1894, at Kokomo, Indiana, ole Elwood cranked a one-horse-power, two-cycle engine on a rubber-tired buggy and took off at 7 miles a hour.

When Elwood twisted the crank that Independence Day, he started somepon. The piece said a stone marks the place where America's first gasoline automobile sputtered off down the road. And I reckon, Mister Editor, they is a million stones today in this country erected in memory of folks who has died by that device in the pursuit of happiness on Independence Day.

Of course, I ain't hankering to go back to them days of crackers and sardines and ole Jerry. But sometimes I do git right homesick to pick up a newspaper and read where the big argument of the day is somepon gentle like gitting off the gold standard. Back in them days the papers was full of discussion about things. Now everything is a argument in a discussion folks exchange ideas but in a argument they just swap ignorance. You could have a real discussion around a store counter eating crackers and sardines. Around these new-fangled eating places today, about all you git is a argument.

Talking about arguments, I see where two writers is having a argument on how many wimmen a man can love at the same time. I don't know nothing about wimmen, but I know men, and I'd say that if a feller has a hankering fer wimmen he can love as many as time, opportunity and wimmen permits.

Yours truly,

Uncle Lew.

Washenaw Selected To Take Part in U.S. Health Survey

Washenaw county residents will soon be visited by an inter-county team from the U. S. Bureau of Health Examination and Statistics for a physical examination at the United States Public Health Examination Center, which will be set up on the premises of the Veterans' Administration Hospital, said Dr. K. Engleke, Washenaw County Health Department.

Washenaw is one of the 100 counties which has been selected for the U. S. National Health Survey. The 100 counties, taken as a group, constitute a representative sample of the entire United States population, balanced between urban and rural, North and South, East and West, large cities and small cities.

The Health Examination Survey will soon give a health examination to about 15-20 adults drawn at random from all the households in the Washenaw county area. To these people, interviewers from the U. S. Bureau of the Census are visiting the households to select the persons to receive the health examinations, Dr. Engleke said.

The purpose of these health examinations is to answer the question "How healthy are people in the United States?" The U. S. Congress, in 1956, set up the U. S. National Health Survey to get the facts. Some of the facts to be learned by asking people questions about their health examinations. However, to really get the scientific facts, actual tests and measurements from a health examination are needed.

The health examinations done by the U. S. Public Health Service in the Health Examination Survey are focused on some of our most important health problems, such as heart trouble, arthritis and rheumatism, dental conditions, hearing, and vision. In addition, there are measurements on body size which are important to health and to "human engineering." The body measurements are needed to better design and plan clothing sizes, automobile seats, auditorium seats, and many other items that need to fit people.

The examination itself is not a substitute for visiting one's own physician or dentist for a check-up, Dr. Engleke explained. While the examination is quite thorough, it does not require undressing below the waist. It is not painful or embarrassing in any respect, he said.

None of the information collected about a person in the examination is revealed to anyone other than the person's own physician or dentist. Furthermore, the physician or dentist is told only in case the person has specifically requested.

Examinations are given by invitation only. The invited persons are chosen at random. No substitute persons can be accepted for the examination, no matter how much they would like to be examined.

Everyone is given free transportation to and from the place of examination. The examinations are taken place in the Health Examination Centers operated by the U. S. Public Service and are given at the convenient hours on weekdays.

Polio Shots Urged Now For Everyone

Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner, today reminded Michigan residents who haven't been immunized against polio that there is still time to be at least partially protected before the seasonal peak arrives for this disease which each year needlessly cripples hundreds of Americans of all ages.

"By having one shot now and a second a month later, you may be providing yourself the margin of safety which could mean the difference between your spending the rest of your life as a healthy person or a cripple in a wheelchair or iron lung," Doctor Heustis said.

There shouldn't be any doubt in anyone's mind about which is the wiser choice—protection by vaccination or trusting to Lady Luck, the health commissioner pointed out. Polio has never favored those who trusted to luck in favor of vaccination and it no longer respects age nor sex in selecting its victims.

Even though polio continues to strike hardest and most frequently among the very young, each year finds breadwinners and even persons over 65 among the victims of this crippling disease. Last year in Michigan, one of the polio deaths was a 48-year-old man.

Immunization against polio should start at age three months. The first injection in an initial series of three is followed by a second a month later and the third seven months after that. To keep protection at a maximum level, a booster shot is given a year after the initial series.

Anyone, regardless of age, who hasn't been vaccinated against polio should seek protection, starting right now, the commissioner emphasized. The peak of the polio season is usually in late August or early September in Michigan. Shots are available from your doctor or at your local health department. "Get them now while there's still time to be protected," Dr. Heustis urged.

Extra State Police Patrols Set for Holiday Week-End

With the extended July Fourth week-end a high point in summer traffic, the State Police will intensify patrol schedules to provide maximum coverage during the 102-hour holiday period.

Increased patrols will be operated from 1 p.m. Friday, June 30, to midnight, Tuesday, July 4. Assistance will be given by 106 National Guardsmen from 1 p.m. to 11 p.m. on each of the three days of June 30, July 1 and July 4, to serve as second men on two-man patrols and on point control.

Patrol shifts will be lengthened from eight to 10 hours and pass days cancelled June 30, July 1 and July 4. Where available, detectives will take over desk assignments to relieve uniform officers for more patrol runs.

"Heavier traffic, hurry, excitement and fatigue add significantly to holiday travel hazards and chances for accidents are multiplied," Commissioner Joseph A. Childs emphasized. "If Michigan is to hold the line on deaths and injuries, each motorist and pedestrian must faithfully obey the rules and watch out for the mistakes of others. Celebrate your holiday safely and sanely."

Last year there were 16 deaths in 16 fatal accidents during the 78-hour July 4 weekend, an average of one fatality every four hours and 53 minutes. The last previous 102-hour July 4 holiday was in 1957, when 20 were killed in 14 accidents, an average of one death every five hours and six minutes. For the seven-year period of 1953-1960 the average has been one death every three hours and 41 minutes.

Box Score on U.N. Vetoes

To date 101 vetoes have been registered in the Security Council of the United Nations, of which the Soviet Nation has exercised 93. France has used the veto power four times, twice against a cease-fire proposed during the Suez Crisis of 1956; and Britain and Nationalist China, twice each.

MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

★ Long May It Wave . . .

On June 14, 1777, the Stars and Stripes became the official flag of the colonies that we now call the United States. "Flag Day" is actually the "birthday" of our flag, before that time the colonies flew a standard that was somewhat related to the flag we now know. Called the Grand Union flag, it had 13 red and white stripes in honor of the 13 colonies. The Union-Jack of Great Britain was where our field of 50 stars now fly.

History such as this is under review by Farm Bureau citizenship committees in a majority of the 14 county organizations in Michigan. Since many persons will fly flags during the coming July 4th holiday, the committees are especially concerned with flag rules and etiquette. They pass along some common rules that should be remembered and observed:

In general, treat the flag as if it were a "living" flag. It should fly free and unattended. A bearer should not hold any portion of the flag against the staff, except as momentary protection such as when lowering it through a doorway.

The flag should not be displayed in stormy weather. It should not be used to carry or deliver anything, it should never be used as a receptacle. The flag should not be used for advertising purposes. It should not be printed or imprinted on anything designed for temporary use and discarded. It should not be part of a costume or athletic uniform.

To honor the passing flag, as in parades, a man in civilian clothes should always remove his hat with the right hand, hold it at his left shoulder, with hand in position over the heart. Uniformed men render the military salute. Men without hats and women, render a hand-to-heart salute.

Some of the more common mistakes are made when the flag is placed in a church chancel or on a speaker's platform. These rules are to be followed: if displayed without staff, the flag should be flat above and behind the speaker. When on a staff, the flag should be to the right of the clergyman or speaker as he faces the congregation or audience. Any other flag should be to his left. But the rule is a tricky one and the order reverses should the flag be placed on the same floor level with the audience. In this case, the flag then is placed to the right of the audience as they face the chancel or platform.

JUNE IS DAIRY MONTH—Governor John Swainson, this week, officially proclaimed "June is Dairy Month" as he presented the signed proclamation to Michigan's 1961 Dairy Princess, Miss Marjorie Mueller of Saginaw. Governor Swainson in return was given a five-pound box of Michigan cheeses by Princess Mueller. "June Dairy Month" has become a vital yearly event for the Nation's dairy industry. This is the month when milk and milk products are in great abundance, and the American Dairy Association of Michigan, managed by Mr. Boyd Rice, joins hands with the entire Michigan Dairy Industry and allied industries to salute the nutritional, health-giving qualities of all dairy products by urging consumers to include plenty of milk and its products in every meal.

Use of Gamma Globulin Restricted by Health Dept.

The unusually high incidence of infectious hepatitis in the State of Michigan has forced the State Health Department to restrict the use of gamma globulin, or Immune Serum Globulin to household contacts of cases of infectious hepatitis among exposed persons.

Dr. Otto K. Engelke, Washtenaw County Health Officer, in announcing the restrictions, said that the state had defined "household contacts" as persons "who have spent at least eight hours within a household." In view of this ruling, Dr. Engelke said, casual visitors to the household will not qualify for gamma globulin. Neither will relatives not in prolonged contact with the case qualify for the gamma globulin distributed by the County Health Department.

Gamma globulin may be purchased from commercial sources, however, just as any other medicine. Family physicians may, at their discretion, purchase the product and administer it to patients.

Gamma globulin has proved helpful in preventing infectious hepatitis. It is given after exposure to the disease. It is also used to prevent measles in children and pregnant women. The combined demand has taxed the production capacity of the State Health Department laboratory, thereby necessitating the restriction on distribution, Dr. Engelke concluded.

Ann Arbor Police Lieutenant Receives Public Service Award

Police Lieutenant Henry Murray of the Ann Arbor City Police Department, was named as the recipient of an award for outstanding public service, the award being made last night at Old German Park, Ann Arbor, by the public relations committee of the Law Enforcement Industrial Security Association of Washtenaw County.

The presentation took place during the association's annual ladies' night picnic.

Lieutenant Murray was nominated for the honor because of his outstanding service over and above the call of duty, in including an aged Ann Arbor recluse to leave his barricaded home and enter the hospital for needed medical care.

The association is made up of police, conservation department, plant protection and other law enforcement personnel.

The awards are planned as recognition for community service and assistance in law enforcement, not necessarily by police or other officials; however, Murray's follow-up of the case involving the aged man was considered so outstanding that he was selected for the award.

Meeting Scheduled To Study Health Rules for Stock Shows

The 1961 health requirements for livestock exhibited in Michigan have been substantially revised over those in effect last year. In order to adequately explain the rules a meeting has been set up for July 6, at 8 p.m. in the county building.

The Agricultural Extension Service at Ann Arbor has announced plans to have several area veterinarians in attendance to help explain the requirements.

All 4-H members, parents and leaders; fair representatives; breeding association representatives; other exhibitors and interested people are urged to attend.

Livestock health is an important item to all exhibitors. Good attendance at this meeting can help eliminate confusion and disappointment at fair time. It was pointed out.

No Major Change Seen in Kennedy's CD Program

The June news bulletin of the Washtenaw County Civil Defense office gives general information concerning the future of Civil Defense, especially in regard to possible changes and effects of Civil Defense under President Kennedy's reorganization plan as outlined in the president's message to Congress.

A conference held Thursday, June 1, at the Roger Smith Hotel at Washington, D. C., to evaluate the information, was attended by representatives of the State Civil Defense Association, including W. A. Weatherford, president of the United States Civil Defense Council.

The conference result was the listing of the following information.

1. There will be no change in the name "Civil Defense" at the state and local level as a result of the President's reorganization plan.

2. The present functions of Civil Defense organizations at the state and local level will not change except that we foresee additional and expanded responsibilities and we have recommended that additional funds be provided as the duties and responsibilities increase.

3. All of the present Federal Contributions programs will, in our opinion, be continued and increased.

4. Financial participation by state and local governments must be continued, and in many instances increased. Wider participation will be sought. Strong executive leadership will greatly assist our efforts in this respect.

5. All mobilization functions will be retained by the Office of Emergency Planning (OCEM).

6. All Natural Disaster responsibility will be retained by OEP (OCEM).

7. Responsibility for the national shelter program has been assigned to the Secretary of Defense. (Note: It is important to quote the President at this point, "It is important that this function remain civilian in nature and leadership and this feature will not be changed.")

8. Other assignments of Civil Defense responsibilities at the Federal level, to other Federal Agencies are pending.

9. The new Office of Emergency Planning, in addition to "retained" responsibilities, will be charged with seeing that our entire non-military defense mission is effectively planned, coordinated and executed.

Co-Ordinator Named for Blood Service

Mrs. C. W. Coates, Jr., former assistant director, Dean of Students offices, Women's Division at Michigan State University, has joined the Washtenaw Red Cross staff as Blood Services Co-Ordinator. It was announced today by W. de St. Aubin, executive director.

In making the announcement, St. Aubin cited the greatly expanded Red Cross programs in the past few years and noted that the blood service has grown to a level where full time guidance was necessary to keep pace.

As blood services co-ordinator, Mrs. Coates will be working with 23 established blood clubs, which covers nearly 85 per cent of the county population, while her chief objective will be developing the program to cover the entire population of the county.

Mrs. Coates is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta and Pi Sigma Alpha, national honorary societies, as well as Michigan Adult Education Association and National Association of Women Deans and Counselors. Her undergraduate and graduate work was done at Michigan State University and she lives with her husband at 1278 Harpst, Ann Arbor.

On June 7, 1921, the Secretary of the Navy authorized the Brevet Medal, the only decoration specifically for Marine Corps personnel.

Hepatitis Cases Show Sharp Gain

Infectious hepatitis, or jaundice, has shown a slow, steady increase during the past few years, but has jumped far ahead of the usual rate of increase during the first five months of 1961, says Dr. Otto K. Engelke, Washtenaw County Health Officer.

To illustrate his point, Dr. Engelke quoted figures which show that in 1958 only 12 cases of infectious hepatitis were reported to the Health Department. This increased to 29 cases in 1959 and to 39 cases in 1960. So far, during the period January through May, 1961, there have been 69 cases reported in the county.

The Health Department believes that this illness is directly attributable to the exposure of the victim to human waste in the form of raw sewage from failing septic tank systems or water from wells which have become contaminated from such sources.

The disease is transmitted through human intestinal waste, and it is possible for an individual who is in close personal contact with a case to get the disease through handling undergarments, bedpans and other such items.

Numerous limited outbreaks of the disease have been noticed in areas where sewage from septic tanks has been allowed to come to the surface and run off. Dr. Engelke said this is borne out by the fact that in those counties where the requirements for building homes and installing septic tank systems are less rigid there have been significantly higher numbers of cases of infectious hepatitis than in Washtenaw.

Dr. Engelke stated that the best method of combating the disease is prevention of exposure to the wastes mentioned above. This can only be accomplished by providing a safe and adequate type of sewage disposal system for homes. The septic tank system is often not safe and in many instances not even adequate for the amount of sewage it is expected to handle.

In those instances where such a situation has been described, has already developed and where unsanitary conditions prevail, children as well as adults, should be extremely careful of their personal hygiene. Handwashing before meals should be strictly observed, children should be cautioned continuously about placing objects in their mouth and about drinking from cups used by other children. Under no circumstances should water from ditches or drains be taken into the mouth. Parents should discourage children from playing in areas adjacent to drains.

Where direct contact and exposure has been established, the family doctor should be called immediately to get his recommendations. If administered soon enough, gamma globulin, can be helpful in preventing infectious hepatitis. It will not be helpful if not administered soon after the exposure, however, Dr. Engelke said.

Congregational, E&R Delegates Meeting To Study New Constitution

Approximately 2,000 men and women representing the Evangelical and Reformed Church and the Congregational Christian Churches will be in Philadelphia, Pa., Thursday, June 29 through Monday, July 3, for historic meetings of both church bodies.

Among the 2,000 are 350 who are serving as delegates to the 11th meeting of the General Synod of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, June 29-July 1; and 1,800 who are delegates to the 15th meeting of the General Council of the Congregational Christian Churches, June 29-July 2.

The Rev. T. W. Menzel, pastor of Bethel Evangelical and Reformed church, Freedom township, will attend as a delegate of the Michigan-Indiana Synod. Mrs. Paul G. Schauble, Sr., a member of the General Council of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, also will attend the meeting as an associate delegate.

On July 3 approximately 750 delegates will meet for the third General Synod of the United Church of Christ. Early in the meeting the Synod will receive a report of the votes on the Constitution by the synods of the Evangelical and Reformed Church and the local Congregational Christian churches. If "by not less than two-thirds of the synods of the Evangelical and Reformed Church and by not less than two-thirds of the Congregational Christian churches voting" the vote is favorable the General Synod will declare the Constitution of the United Church of Christ in force. The United Church of Christ is a merger of the Congregational Christian and Evangelical and Reformed Church.

State Spends at Least $205 Yearly on Each School Child

Michigan guarantees that at least $205 a year goes into the education of each child in public elementary and secondary schools. "The state contributes more to poor communities than to well-to-do areas," explain William Heneberry and Robert Bevin, agricultural economists at Michigan State University. "The $205 figure is a minimum. Some communities can pay more."

The economists note that school taxes on real and personal property exceeded $400 million in 1960. That represents a 750 percent increase since 1940. School districts levy only this kind of tax.

About 28 cents of each Michigan state government dollar also goes back to local primary and secondary schools. More than half of the four-cent sales tax revenues goes into this total.

"Altogether, local governments foot about 57 percent of the state's primary and secondary education bill," Heneberry and Bevin say. "State funds total 39 percent; federal money only one-half percent. Other sources add up to 3 1/2 percent."

While poorer districts are helped most, they must do their share, according to the economists. A district cannot qualify for state funds unless it levies at least six mills on the state equalized value of its property for school purposes. "The state equalized value confuses many taxpayers," Heneberry notes. "The state contributes partly on the basis of local property values, so it requires that property be valued uniformly among districts. The State Tax Commission determines the state equalized value, which runs about one-half of the market price."

The local share of school costs is determined by multiplying the state equalized valuation—by a certain factor, currently three and one-fourth mills. This is deducted from the $205 a pupil, and the state pays the rest.

Latest Tally Shows

Fewer Workers Jobless

East Lansing—In April, for the first time in six months, the number of Michigan's jobless dropped, according to the latest report of the Michigan Economic Record, published by the Michigan State University Bureau of Business and Economic Research.

State unemployment in March had hit a high of 422,000, or 14.2 percent of the labor force. In April, the toll was down to 348,000 as 11.7 percent of the total labor force sought work.

On June 5, 1954, a Navy blimp broke the world's endurance record for aircraft remaining aloft without refueling for 200.2 hours.

"Lost And Found, Found, Found, Found!"

I ran one of the most important "Lost and Found" advertisements in Clarion history for the Widow Parker last week.

Seems she lost her purse with $8 in it at the last town meeting. We figured it would mean a lot to her if it were found and returned.

Well, the ad ran and the strangest thing happened: We received four envelopes—from Buck Hanson, Windy Taylor, Curly Rice and Slim Thomas. Each envelope contained a note saying the enclosed money was found in or around Town Hall. We returned the lost money with 300% interest!

From where I sit, people are pretty wonderful. I see it in a lot of little things. For instance, my neighbor always has a cold glass of beer on hand when he invites me over for dinner—though he prefers tea with his meals and has for years. His gesture is not only generous but tolerant, too... both are valuable assets to be "found" in any community.

Sgt. Charles Romine Will Begin Tour of Army Overseas Duty

Fort Benning, Ga.—Army Acting Sergeant Charles H. Romine, Jr., 20, is scheduled to leave Fort Benning, Ga., July 16, for Korea with other personnel from the 2nd Division's 3d Battle Group, 1st Infantry. The move is being made under Operation OVUREP, the Army's Overseas Unit Replacement Program.

Under this program the 1st Infantry will become the 32d Infantry of the 7th Division upon arrival in Korea.

Operation OVUREP is designed to provide infantry replacements for units in Korea on a unit exchange basis at battle group level. Sergeant Romine's unit has received more than eight months of intensive training in preparation for its forthcoming 13-month tour of duty in Korea.

The 7th is one of two highly trained U. S. Army combat divisions which have remained in Korea since the Korean War as part of the United Nations forces maintaining a shield of defense against aggression.

A fire team leader in the 1st Infantry's Company B, the sergeant entered the Army in September 1950 and received basic combat training at Fort Benning.

He was graduated from Chelsea High school in 1948 and was employed by G. V. Airey, contractor, Ann Arbor, before entering the Army. His mother, Mrs. Elmore P. Romine, lives at 311 Congdon St.

30-CENT STAMP TO BE ISSUED

In a ceremony planned for June 5, the American Air Mail Society and the United Nations Postal Administration will observe the issuance of a 30-cent stamp to be added to the series of regular issues of the world organization. It will be used primarily for sending one-ounce airmail letters to Europe and North Africa, as well as for special delivery and parcel post in the United States. The design, depicting an abstract group of flags (red, yellow, white, blue, green and orange) symbolizes a phrase in the preamble of the United Nations Charter: "To Unite Our Strength."

"Semper Fidelis" (Always Faithful) has been the official motto of the U. S. Marine Corps since about 1880.

Roswell Garst Will Speak At Farm Management Tour

Michigan farmers who attend the State Farm Management Tour on August 2 will hear one of the nation's best known farmers, Roswell Garst of Coon Rapids, Ia., who has made trips to Russia to study Soviet agriculture, will speak on the noon program of the Gratiot county tour.

The Iowa cattleman and corn breeder got into the international spotlight two years ago when he was host to Premier Khrushchev. Garst issued a personal invitation to the Russian chief during an earlier trip to the USSR.

The noon program will be at the W. M. Van Page and Son farm south of Breckenridge. This farm is one of three in Gratiot county to be visited on the 13th annual tour. The tour is sponsored by the Co-operative Extension Service in Gratiot county with the cooperation of staff members at Michigan State University.

Tour director Everett Elwood of MSU estimates that more than 2,000 persons will attend the tour which is planned to show wise use of resources coupled with sound business management. In Gratiot County, tour-attenders will see both cash crop and livestock farms. These farmers take advantage of productive soils where 100-bushel corn yields are the rule rather than the exception.

Each of the farms will have crop plots arranged by specialists at MSU. These will demonstrate corn varieties, fertilizer application, planting rates and weed control. All will be included on the individual farm tours.

Veteran cattle feeder Clair McLean and son, Jack, will be host for the first stop near St. Louis. The McLeans have more than 200 acres in corn that goes into silage and high-moisture storage. More than 600 head are on feed this year to make nearly 200 tons of beef-on-the-hoof.

Van Page and son John concentrate on beans, corn and wheat. They have 128 acres planted to beans, 100 in corn and 53 in wheat. The 1961 wheat crop is in the same field that made 80 bushels per acre three years ago. Last year the corn crop averaged 135 bushels. Good practices and sound management give high yields on the Van Page operation.

Seed grower Basil McKenzie will show visitors his seed farm as the final tour stop. The farm is just across the road from Van Page. He operates 450 acres to grow certified seed corn, beans, wheat, barley and oats. Top quality seed demands clean fields and nearly every acre on the McKenzie farm is hoed or weeded each year. His seeds go to farmers throughout the lower peninsula.

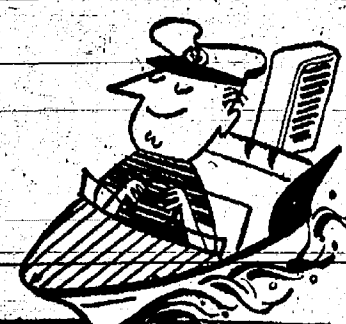

Extension Director John Baker in Gratiot county says that the welcome mat will be out for the August 2nd tour. Committees have

MSU Offers Course In Life's Great Issues

East Lansing—A new "Great Issues" course at Michigan State University will call the attention of the graduating senior to the problems that will confront him as a human being and as a citizen for the rest of his life. Faculty from all colleges at Michigan State will take part in teaching it. Among the issues scheduled to be studied are racial relations, world population and resources and world peace and order.

Dr. Thomas Greer, chairman of the committee planning the course, says that he expects that the teaching committee each year will take a look at the course and define the issues and procedures. A student advisory committee will also be encouraged to make its suggestions concerning issues are "crucial" and should be included in the new course.

Lynda Mayer, John Cattell Wed Saturday at St. Paul's Church

At a 3 o'clock double-ring ceremony performed Saturday afternoon at St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church by the Rev. Paul M. Schmale, Lynda Marie Mayer became the bride of Charles John Cattell. Approximately 200 guests were present for the ceremony and for the reception which followed in the church parlors.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mayer of 958 Washington St., while the bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Rush Cattell, 9760 Lombardy Drive, North Lake.

David G. Sanborn was the soloist. Accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Linda Greenwood, he sang "Love Theme" by Grieg; "Wedding Prayer" by Dunlap; and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's wedding gown was of blossom white tissue silk fashioned in princess style with brief shoulder covering sleeves, an oval neckline, and a bouffant skirt extending into a full court train. Almond lace and seed pearls accented the neckline and matching appliques were used on the skirt.

An orange blossom crown held her bouffant waist-length veil of silk. Her bouquet was a white orchid encircled with Stephanotis.

Carolyn Beall of Webster Groves, Mo., serving as maid-of-honor, was gowned in orchid colored mouseline de sole featuring a three-tiered cummerbund of orchid, light blue and leaf green and flower appliques in the same colors scattered over the skirt. The waistline accent at the back was a cluster of flowers and bows in the three colors. Her ensemble was completed with an orchid sat-in headband and halo veil and a colonial bouquet of orchid-colored daisies.

Carol Mayer, sister of the bride, and Nancy Mayer, her cousin, were similarly attired for their role as bridesmaids.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Mayer wore a slate blue lace sheath with matching accessories while the bridegroom's mother wore a light blue sheath style gown with a short lace overskirt and matching accessories.

The rehearsal dinner was given Friday evening at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bust.

Few Precautions Against Sunburn Can Prevent Misery

With vacations and week-end outings getting into high gear, the following tips from Robert Folles, Director of Safety Services for the local Red-Cross may be of help in avoiding serious sunburns.

Have fun in the sun, but take the sun in small units because the most effective prevention of sunburn lies in the limiting of the time of exposure. Unlike other types of burns, sunburn is caused by what we can't see. The ultraviolet rays which cause both the sun tan and sunburn are invisible and are affected by atmospheric conditions which may be misleading to the novice sunbather.

The time of day as well as the altitude affects the degree of filtering of the ultraviolet sections of the sun's light reaching the earth. At higher altitudes, the atmosphere is thinner and thus filters less, while the angle of the sun allows for faster "burning" at midday.

Dust and smoke which hangs in the air around most cities filters out some of the rays, so, as many vacationers learn painfully, sun-burning is not a guarantee against getting "burned." Likewise, application of such products should be frequent as swimming, perspiration, and contact with clothing will markedly reduce their value.

Commercial preparations for sunbathers vary in effect from person to person and some have hardly any protective value at all. The most effective means of protection is the control of exposure to the sun either by protective clothing or graduated exposures until the skin becomes tough enough to stand longer periods of exposure. The Dermatology Department of the University of Michigan Hospital explained that repeated exposure to the sun causes the skin to become thicker and to build up a layer of pigmentation which helps to extend the safe exposure limits for the individual. However, repeated over-exposure can cause serious skin damage and tends to leave skin texture rather leathery and susceptible to premature aging.

If commercial preparations are used, it must be remembered they are not a guarantee against getting "burned." Likewise, application of such products should be frequent as swimming, perspiration, and contact with clothing will markedly reduce their value.

Sunburn, as the Red Cross Aid Textbook notes, results from over-exposure to the sun which causes tiny blood vessels in the skin to dilate, turning the skin red color. As overexposure continues, tissue injury starts, swelling of the skin occurs, blisters appear, and often fever and headache develop.

For mild sunburn, cold cream or ointments as oiled or shortening may relieve, however, butter or oleomargarine should not be applied. If blisters appear, a dry sterile cover should be used to cover the blisters raw, and medical attention should be sought. Do not use oils or grease on blistered skin as whatever you put on must be removed by the physician prior to treatment and cause further discomfort. Blisters offer an avenue for infections to occur.
