

11 CHS Varsity Football Players Suspended for Year

A number of Chelsea High school students were involved in a drinking party at North Lake Friday night following Chelsea's football victory over Manchester, 38-0, and as a result, 11 members of Chelsea's football team have been suspended from the team and from participation in all school athletic activities for a full year.

While individual names of students suspended are not published as a matter of newspaper policy, because they are minors, it was explained that nine of the suspended football players are seniors and two are juniors. They include top stars and a number of regular varsity players who must be replaced in tonight's Roosevelt game by junior varsity players. Tonight's game was originally scheduled for tomorrow but was moved forward because Briggs

Field, Ypsilanti, where the game will be played, is being used Friday by the Eastern Michigan team. Donald J. Petsch, 21, a Chelsea area resident, was sentenced to 90 days in the Washtenaw County Jail by Ann Arbor Municipal Judge Francis J. O'Brien when he admitted selling six cases of beer to the high school students. Petsch told investigating officers that he had furnished the beer for the party in return for $1.50 more than its cost.

In keeping with the court's "get tough" policy against persons convicted of furnishing intoxicants to minors, Judge O'Brien assessed no fine or costs as an alternative to the 90-day jail sentence. During the Friday night "party" an automobile was overturned in a field and holes were shot in the overturned vehicle, as well as in another car, with a shotgun and a deer rifle.

Petsch was arrested on information given Friday Sunday evening by School Supt. Charles Cameron, who learned the 21-year-old's identity during meetings held over the week-end with the affected students, their parents and school athletic and administrative officials. The announcement by Chelsea High school's Coach Alan Konlin that the nucleus of his varsity team had been suspended cast gloom over all of the school's students as well as people of the entire community, some expressing the opinion that an entire year's suspension "seemed severe" for a first offense; however, no one condoned the students' flagrant infraction of the rules and regulations which are emphasized to all athletes and prospective athletes. The rules clearly state that suspension is mandatory for any athlete apprehended drinking or smoking and all students are fully informed of the existence of such rules.

Ray Knickerbocker, Chelsea Civil Defense director, announces this week that a basic course in Civil Defense will be offered in Chelsea next week.

Classes will be held at the Junior High school gymnasium on East St. from 6:45 to 8:45 p.m. each evening, Monday, Oct. 9, through Friday, Oct. 13.

Village Council members, all village employees, Chelsea Auxiliary Police and Chelsea Police and Fire Department personnel plan to attend on a voluntary basis.

The course covers nuclear radiation and its effects, fallout shelter, natural disasters, and the Civil Defense role in meeting emergencies.

Director Miller will include moving pictures, displays of equipment and lists of materials recommended for use in fallout shelters—presenting the 10-hour course.

MARK COLOR TOUR ROUTES—Thomas McClear (left), Chelsea Chamber of Commerce president, gave Anton Nielsen a hand in putting up signs on Wexner Rd., along the Chelsea Color Tour route. Nielsen is color tour chairman for the Chamber of Commerce. Frost Friday morning and cold weather this week helped to bring out brilliant coloring in the woods which abound along the tour routes in the Waterloo and Pinckney Recreation Areas. Color tour routes start and end at the corner of Main and Middle streets. This week-end is expected to see large numbers of visitors from many points in southeastern Michigan where information about the tours and the Junior Chamber of Commerce chicken barbecue to be held Sunday at Pierce Park, have received wide publicity in tourist guide materials.

Bulldogs Win 33-0 Over Manchester

Last Friday night the Chelsea Bulldogs defeated the Manchester Dutchmen, 33-0, in the Bulldogs' home opener.

After a one-point defeat and a tie in their previous two games the Bulldogs got their offense rolling as they shot to a 20-0 half-time lead.

The Bulldogs got a break early in the game as safety man Curt Farley intercepted a Manchester pass deep in Manchester territory and returned it to the Manchester 10-yard line. Two plays later Halfback Al Schauer, behind good blocks by Jim Maynard, Dud Holmes, Don Brooks and Stan

Hund, raced into the end zone for the TD. Schauer hit the same place for the extra point and the Bulldogs led, 7-0, early in the first quarter.

Early in the second quarter the Bulldogs scored again on a sustained march featuring a 35-yard scamper by Al Schauer, who sparked all evening.

Fullback Jim Maynard cracked over from the three to score with Warren Porath, Paul Schramm and Bob Reimenschneider opening the hole. Quarterback Dud Holmes' at-

Additional Adult Brownie Leaders Needed at Once

Forty-five Brownies and mothers were present Thursday for an organizational meeting in the all-purpose room at South school and two new troops, accommodating 40 girls, were formed. Unless additional adult leadership is available, no new members will be accepted, according to Mrs. Carl Elkins, troop organizer.

Mrs. Elkins, who may be reached at GR 5-8344, said the first meeting of the new troops will be held in approximately two weeks. Arrangements require that much time for completion, she said.

Leader of one of the troops is Mrs. David Brozman with Mrs. Charles Lancaster as assistant while the second troop is led by Mrs. Wilbur Youcum.

Present at Thursday's meeting in addition to the new Brownies and their mothers were Mrs. Warren Eisenbeiser, troop counselor, Mrs. Elkins, troop organizer for Brownies, and Mrs. Wilbur Worden, the new Chelsea Girl Scout Neighborhood chairman.

General chairman of the barbecue is Ron Eder and he has asked Henry Orthing to be chief cook and Joe Doering, assistant cook. Frost of the past week were welcomed here for their effect on foliage of trees in area woods and along the roadsides on Chelsea's color tour routes. The second Sunday of October has become the traditional "high spot" of the annual color tours instituted here by the Chamber of Commerce in 1955.

Because the second Sunday of the month customarily brings the largest numbers of people to the area, the Junior Chamber of Commerce has co-operated by offering the visitors, as well as Chelsea area residents the opportunity to get a good dinner by patronizing their chicken barbecue at Pierce Park.

This year the Jaycees are preparing for 1,100 adults and 400 children.

Toll-Free Dexter Telephone Service Will Start Oct. 25

Extension Results From Efforts of Many Groups

The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. announced it has set Oct. 25, the date for inaugurating new toll-free service, which will put Chelsea and Dexter in each other's billing area.

N. J. Pruken, manager here for Michigan Bell, said the new service will go into operation at 1:00 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 25. Calls between the two communities will be billed directly by dialing the number. It will no longer be necessary to place such calls through an operator when the new service is in effect.

Prakken said, expansion of the billing area was done at a cost of about $57,000 for additional trunks and other facilities needed to meet the anticipated increase in the number of calls between Chelsea and Dexter communities. At present both communities get Ann Arbor, and, in addition, Chelsea can reach Manchester telephones and Dexter can call Pinckney subscribers as part of the local area.

Prakken stated that the company was pleased to announce this service and recognized that much credit is due to the Dexter Chamber of Commerce who through its initiative last October, secured the support of the Chelsea Chamber, the village councils of the two communities, farms groups, and many interested citizens. These efforts culminated in the approval of the service by the Michigan Public Service Commission last May.

Effective with the improved service, rates for residential lines in the two communities will be increased from 15 to 25 cents per month, depending on the class of service. Business service will be increased $1.00 per month per line.

Chelsea Area Citizens Urged To Attend CD Class Series

Village President Robert Daniels, in a statement yesterday regarding the Civil Defense training program to be given here next week, said "I cannot urge too strongly that everyone who possibly can do so will attend these sessions—even one or two sessions will prove extremely helpful if it is not possible to attend all five of the two-hour meetings."

President Daniels said the training meetings which are to be in charge of Col. Gerald G. Miller, Washtenaw County Civil Defense director, afford an opportunity to get valuable information firsthand from a man who has made a thorough study of protective procedure which could mean the difference between life and death for approximately 95 percent of the people of Chelsea in case of nuclear blasts in such target areas as Detroit and Chicago.

President Daniels called the training course a "good insurance policy for survival, obtainable for those willing to 'invest' a few hours of their time."

Authoritative information about fallout shelters, such as Col. Miller will include in the training course, should be familiar to everyone in this area which is not considered a target area but needs to be prepared to guard against fallout; a fairly simple matter, Daniels said.

"Guarding against the danger of fallout" Daniels pointed out, "is not a complex matter; only a few elementary rules, if observed in accordance with the Civil Defense director's recommendations, can assure survival of large numbers of people who otherwise would perish needlessly."

Daniels said a fatalistic attitude about nuclear blasts is a mistake, especially for large areas of the country, such as this community where only fallout must be guarded against.

President Daniels concluded by saying "This is a wonderful opportunity for the people of Chelsea and I hope the townspeople will turn out en masse."

The meetings are to be held from 6:45 p.m. until 8:45 p.m., Monday through Friday at the Junior High school gymnasium on East St.

Methodist Church Plans Parish Dinner for Oct. 18

The second annual congregational dinner of the First Methodist church will be served in the church social center Wednesday evening, October 18 at 6:30 p.m. Those attending are asked to bring their own table service. The program will conclude at 7:51 p.m.

Sauerkraut and "niffles" will feature the meal to be served in an old-fashioned setting of the kerosene lamp era. Mrs. Lawton Steger, assisted by WSCS members, will be in charge of the meal preparation. Mrs. Robert Daniels is supervisor of table and room decorations. George Winans, every-member canvass program chairman, will briefly review highlights of the church program of all church groups for the year 1962.

The Rev. Vaughn Whitely, Ph.D., pastor of the West Side Methodist church, Ann Arbor, will address the gathering on "The Life of John Wesley." The Rev. Whitely spent a year in England gathering information on John Wesley and is now writing a book on Wesley's life to be published soon. He is an authoritative writer on the life of the man who founded the Methodist Church.

Reservations for the dinner will be taken following the worship services on Oct. 8 and 15 or people may call Mrs. William Storey, GR 9-7061, or Mrs. Loring Bates, GR 9-3461. Reservations must be in by Monday morning, Oct. 16.

While this special meal is the kick-off event in the annual every-member canvass, no funds will be asked for, nor pledges taken, at this affair other than ticket costs. This is simply an inspirational introduction to the canvass to be held the first week in November. Loyalty Sunday is Nov. 5 and Victory Sunday, Nov. 12.

One False Step...

There is a long-held fear that World War III might be set off by miscalculation—by some error of judgment on the part of an aggressor that could conceivably lead to the death of civilization as we understand it.

That danger was recently stressed by Lord Home, Britain's Foreign Secretary. Specifically, he said that a Russian false step in Berlin "could easily plunge Europe into war."

There is a chilling item in recent news releases. According to them, Soviet Ambassador Menshikov said, at a recent diplomatic reception: "In the final analysis, when the chips are down, the American people won't fight for Berlin."

That view—which has been held in some friendly circles, as well as unfriendly—has resulted, in part at least, from the air of indecision which has hung over Washington. Brave words have not been implemented by action. Now, however, a change seems to be taking place. It is being made clear that we will retreat no farther so far as Berlin is concerned.

There can be no doubt that this kind of resolve motivates the great majority of Americans. Let us hope that is understood everywhere. For that kind of understanding, in this age of unbelievable weapons, offers the last best hope of avoiding war.

R. Sargent Shriver Jr., director of Peace Corps: "Anybody who joins the Peace Corps to avoid the draft is going to be a disappointed volunteer."

Michigan Is Culture...

Culture is not for the long hairs.

Culture is for everyone and if the long hairs want to join with the rest of us in enjoying culture that's all right with us.

There's a new appreciation of culture as it affects our lives. It has an economic impact that is taking on greater importance each day. Industry, generally considered pretty practical, is taking a look at cultural facilities when it is making a decision to expand or locate a new plant.

This doesn't mean that industry will go to a community that has the best symphony orchestra or the finest little theatre or the best art gallery. But, it could well mean that in a choice between two communities, the one with cultural facilities—all other things being equal or nearly so—would get the new plant.

Industry is practical. It realizes that culture helps make for a full life. It knows that culture provides a safety-valve for management and workers. It can help make them happier and better employees.

That's where Michigan has a great advantage. There's hardly a community in Michigan that doesn't have cultural facilities adequate to meet its population. We have our symphonies, our theatres, our libraries, our art galleries, our concert and travelog series. These things are important.

It is interesting to note that more and more, the several States most actively engaged in industrial development are stressing their cultural advantages. This is an area in which Michigan stands right up at the top.

Our cultural facilities are delineated in a public service advertisement prepared by the Michigan Press Association Industry Promotion Committee and the Michigan Economic Development Department which appears in today's edition of The Standard. You can assist our industrial development program if you clip this advertisement and send it to someone outside of Michigan. Let's tell the whole nation about our cultural advantages.

Michigan's highest court often walks the fine line between usurpation of legislative power and judicial interpretation of constitutional or statutory law.

A recent Supreme Court decision which seems to nullify an age-old doctrine of governmental immunity is a case in point. The idea that governments should not be sued by individuals is said to date back to days when "the king could do no wrong." Others say that the concept developed from the way things used to be when the local government units performed only a few, necessary services and had no sizable resources.

In its decision, which upsets these ideas, the Court pointed out that the legislature could restore governmental immunity any time it chose to do so.

As it stands now anyone who feels he was wronged or damaged by a government in Michigan is free to start suit. Previously it was necessary to seek and obtain permission from the government about to be sued before action could take place.

There are few who would argue today that an individual should not have the right to seek just restitution for damages suffered because of failings of a government unit to properly discharge its responsibilities. There are also those who are concerned that injuries in such cases may follow the path of those which set damages for accidents involving insurance companies. There has been a detectable attitude in some cases: "sue the insurance company, it has lots of money." This has resulted in increased insurance premiums. A "sue the city" attitude on the part of juries could easily result in the same thing.

An increase of cost to the public. Government immunity was a doctrine of Michigan since the state came into being until the recent Supreme Court decision overthrew it. Alarmists among those with an interest in the subject would do well to allow at least some brief period to see the effect of the new concept and how it will work.

It is always possible, according to the Court, for the legislature to bring the former doctrine back into existence.

Vision is needed to make any kind of worthwhile attempt to predict either urban growth or transportation needs of the future.

The state Highway Department hopes it has this vision in attempting to work out routes and access points for expressways of the future which will be situated in Michigan cities.

One problem, becoming more acute as the federal and state governments move more and more into the urban renewal field, is whether these planned roads will conflict with slum clearance and other civil betterment projects also on the drawing boards.

Michigan's highway chief, John C. Mackie, says his department already does more urban planning work than any other agency of state government.

Highway planners are now branching out more into the field of federal programs of urban renewal and planning. In fact, a top-level meeting recently was held between Mackie, other high state officials and William L. Slayton, the Federal Urban Renewal Commissioner.

Aim of this meeting, and in fact, the aim of all the co-operative efforts of planners from both fields, is to promote comprehensive transportation and construction blueprints for the future.

Michigan grows faster in population during the last decade than it did between 1940 and 1950 and it has continued to grow at a higher rate than the country as a whole, according to figures recently released by the U.S. Census Bureau.

Between 1950 and 1960 Michigan added 1,424,016 to its population as compared to a growth of 1,118,000 between 1940 and 1950. So it added 27 percent more people during this last decade than it did during the previous decade.

Michigan's population now is 7,795,781 as compared with 6,371,766 in 1950. In 1950 Michigan's population represented 3.2 percent of the population of the United States. In 1960 it constituted an even greater part—4.3 percent.

WASHINGTON AND 'SMALL BUSINESS'

By C. Wilson Harder

For some time, to curtail the ravages to American business and employment brought about by the flood of cheap goods from low labor wage areas, Sen. Keating and colleagues have had before Congress a measure which would set tariff rates according to the prevailing wage scale of any nation exporting to the U. S.

This problem of having an economy undermined by goods produced by cheap labor is not alone an American one. In England, the present government is trying to get England into the European Common Market.

The European Common Market to which practically every free Europe nation belongs, except England, is a plan whereby goods are moved between nations without import duties or tariffs.

However, since the Macmillan government started the drive to bring England into the Common Market, there has been, according to public polls made in the British Isles, a distinct opposition to the Macmillan government which some believe will cause its fall.

A major spearhead against the plan is the Beaverbrook newspapers who are currently running front page boxes on the affect joining the European Common Market would have on British welfare.

MICHIGAN IS CULTURE

Culture is at the crossroads in Michigan, at all the crossroads. This is one more reason Michigan is a great place to locate an industry.

Culture is a part of pleasant living. In itself, it is enjoyment. It is a means of surcease from the busy world of industry. It provides the opportunity for workers and management to come together in a spirit of mutual appreciation of the arts. Culture is essential to the full life.

Michigan, with its libraries; world renowned museums and art galleries; its symphony orchestras, full and little; its theatre, professional and amateur; its concert stages; offers the ultimate in culture.

In Michigan there is an abundance of opportunity to enjoy the arts or to participate in them. This has a direct relationship in selecting location for a new industry or for industrial expansion. Cultural activity is important—and in Michigan it is almost everywhere.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers at the country store didn't get nothing solved Saturday night on account of Zeke Grubb's preacher come by afore they got started good.

The Parson allowed as how this was the night for the regular monthly meeting of the Light Committee but they had to call it off on account of Zeke's preacher took sick. He said Katie was named this year to pull the main switch and you couldn't have no meeting of the Light Committee with the main switch puller absent.

Anyhow, he said, he was glad to get the night off to rest up from the Choir Committee meeting they had Friday night. He claimed things was real rough Friday night. The choir director served notice she was going to quit if they didn't keep them flat voices out of the choir. It was voted to keep 'em out, but the Parson said they'd have to appoint another committee to figure out how to do it.

Then Ellie Sanders got up and allowed as how they ought to have more solos. The Parson said Ellie was sorter heavy-set and sung the same way and done a powerful job of moving the congregation with her solos. He said one Sunday when she got through with her special everybody in the church clapped. By the way the meeting went, the Parson said, he was expecting a heap of solos by Ellie from now on.

One member brung up the complaint that the choir loft was so hot in the summer that he couldn't sing good. The Parson said this feller couldn't carry a tune in a bucket and the rest of the choir had to sing real loud so the congregation couldn't hear him, even in the winter time when he wasn't suffering from the heat. But it was voted, the Parson said, to ask the congregation to appoint an air conditioning committee to look into the matter for next summer.

The Parson said that personal he was agin putting any air conditioning in the church, said he was having it hard enough making it hot for sinners like it was. Anyhow, he claimed, they wasn't no vacant time left in the church for the Air Conditioning Committee to meet unless they wanted to meet joint with the Stove Committee and the Stove Committee was already overlapping into time allotted to the Fund Raising Committee.

All the fellers enjoys having the Parson drop by on Saturday night. Ed Doolittle invited him to set a while longer but he said he had to get on home and work up a little sermon to go with the music Sunday morning, somepun that would go good with one of Ellie's solos.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

The center will be called the "Clark Schorling Army Reserve Center" in honor of the Ann Arbor war hero who was decorated for gallantry in infantry action in Germany during World War II. He was killed in action at the age of 22.

Mrs. Schorling, widow of a nationally known University of Michigan educator who died in 1950, will be introduced by Municipal Judge Francis L. O'Brien, a World War II veteran who will be master of ceremonies.

Maj. Gen. Lloyd R. Moses, deputy commander of the Fifth United States Army, of Chicago, will deliver the dedicatory address.

The public is invited to attend the ceremonies which are scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. Saturday on the Training Center grounds of 1980 South Industrial Highway, Ann Arbor. In case of rain, the program will be conducted in the drill hall of the center.

A number of dignitaries, including Major General Johnathan C. Seaman, Commanding General of the VI United States Army Corps, Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., will be in attendance, according to Colonel Whitaker.

Two Pay Fines For Closed Season Pheasant Hunting

State troopers of the Clinton Post called Conservation Officer Donkey Boyer Friday night after stopping Kenneth J. Manick of Detroit and Gerald C. Waters of Wayne, and finding a gun and evidence of pheasant hunting in their car. Opening of pheasant season was still three weeks away—Friday, Oct. 20.

The two men were apprehended in Bridgewater township. Appearing before Sylvan township justice of the peace, Chandler Rogers, the two men pleaded guilty and each was assessed fine and costs of $57.30 in lieu of seven days in jail.

Leon W. Herndon another Detroit man, arrested Sunday, Sept. 24 on the Winewanna waters for possession of undersized black bass, appeared before Justice Rogers Thursday and pleaded guilty to the charge. He was assessed $12.30 fine and costs.

Conservation Officer Boyer also reported that three deer have been killed in the vicinity during the past week when they collided with cars. Boyer said motorists should be on the alert for deer at night.

One of the deer, a small buck, was killed Wednesday night, Sept. 27 in the vicinity of McKinley and Yankum Rd. when it collided with a car driven by Byron Smith.

Two hours later a large doe was killed at Chrysler Freight Ground and Friday, north of Dearborn on North Territorial Rd. near Donovan Rd., a doe ran into the side of a trailer pulled by a car driven by George Welton of Silver Hill Rd., an assistant park manager in the area.

Barbecue...

at the barbecue for the first time this year is an afternoon wrestling match staged by Ron Eder and "Buz" Buzinski.

Dan Ewald, Don Houle, Hal Bennington and Sam Brown will also assist by appearing at the barbecue dressed as clowns for the entertainment of children. They will distribute free balloons to the children.

The four "clowns" will also be in the downtown area Friday evening to publicize the barbecue and to distribute candy to children. Parents are urged to bring their children downtown that evening.

Chelsea Chamber of Commerce color tour chairman Anton Nielsen has been busy putting up directional signs around both color tour routes. Also designated are picnic areas.

People who buy their dinner at the chicken barbecue at Pierce Park may stay and eat it at the park or stop to out at a picnic spot along the color tour route.

Both color tour routes begin at the corner of Main and Middle streets, going north out of Chelsea by way of M-92, Wexner and Stoffer roads to North Territorial Rd.

Routes I and II divide here, the former turning east to Town Hall Rd., then following Silver Hill Rd., Patterson Lake Rd., Harker Rd. and North Lake Rd. back to Territorial Rd.

From this point the tour may be concluded by returning to Chelsea or Route II may be followed west on Territorial Rd. into the Waterloo Area. This is marked along Sugar Loaf Lake Rd., McClure Rd., Cavanaugh Lake Rd. and back to downtown Chelsea by way of West Middle St.

Route I takes approximately one hour and Route II about an hour and a half of sightseeing driving.

Selective admissions policies and counseling help insure that more than 90 percent of University of Michigan freshmen become eligible to continue their sophomore year.

Jiffy Mixes Sponsoring Entry In Plane Race

The sixth annual small plane race sponsored by the Michigan Chapter of the Ninety-Nines, an organization of women pilots, is scheduled to be held Saturday, Oct. 7, from Reynolds Municipal Airport at Jackson.

Competing in the race will be a Cessna 175 piloted by Babe Weyant, Ruth of Lansing and sponsored by Chelsea-Milling Company's Jiffy Mixes.

Copilot of the plane is Joan I. Olowach.

Exact course of the race is not given to the contestants until the briefing meeting the night before the race which is a round-robin event starting and ending at Jackson after a cross-country flight of approximately 200 miles.

The race is described as a cross-country proficiency aviation event for stock-model, single or multi-engine aircraft of not more than 400 total horsepower.

Members of the Michigan Amateur Radio Operators Organization are leaving at check-points to be sure that the women pilots properly check in by radio at each place as they fly by.

Contestants come from as far away as California, New York, Arizona, Texas, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Kentucky and Wisconsin.

Prizes totaling $600 are awarded winners of first through fifth place by the Greater Jackson Chamber of Commerce. Trophies are also awarded the first five place winners and, in addition, the first place winner receives the Paul Bunyan trophy, a special rotating trophy, now in the hands of Margaret Ringenberg, the 1960 winner.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Haider of Ocean Port, N. J., parents of Mrs. William Van Riper, and Mr. and Mrs. George Ferguson, of Oakhurst, N. J., her sister and brother-in-law, have returned home after spending a week here at the Van Riper home.

Announcement was made this week by the board of trustees of the Michigan Veterans Trust Fund of the appointment of Donald G. Bachman of Ann Arbor to serve as the DAV representative on the Washtenaw County Trust Fund Committee.

tempted pass to Larry Cattell was incomplete on the extra point attempt.

The third Chelsea touchdown went to the elusive Schauer as he raced over from the 18-yard line as quarterback Holmes sent him through the weakness in Manchester's left side. Fullback Jim Maynard cracked up the middle for the extra point and the Bulldogs led 20-0 at half-time.

The third quarter was scoreless but early in the final period Schauer broke away on the same type of play that he had scored on earlier, and aided by Don Wilson's key downfield block, dashed 35 yards for his third and the Bulldogs' fourth touchdown. The extra point came as Dudley Holmes scored on a keeper play.

Midway in the final period Holmes scored the final TD on a quarterback sneak from the one-yard line to cap a 60-yard sustained march. The extra point attempt was not good.

Offensively, it was the finest showing of the season as Guard Tom Eisenbeiser and halfback Jack Howard turned in excellent offensive efforts.

Defensively, the Bulldogs never looked better as they consistently outcharged Manchester and tackled with determination. Tim Whitesall, the Hand brothers, Stan and John, and Mike Schrader, along with line backers Don Wilson and Warren Porath, turned in excellent games. In the secondary Curt Farley intercepted two passes, while Maynard and Schauer tackled with real desire.

Co-Captain Dave McLaughlin was withheld from the game except for a token appearance as a result of a pulled leg muscle sustained in last Wednesday's practice.

This week on Thursday the Bulldogs travel to Ypsilanti to take on Roosevelt on Eastern Michigan's field. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Michigan Historical Group Seeking Old Documents

Prof. Lewis G. Vander Velde, assistant director of the Michigan Historical Collection in the University of Michigan Rackham Building has requested that area residents turn over to the collection old materials as letters, books, maps and diaries which might have been stored away in attics and basements.

Such items can often provide important information in reconstructing half-forgotten chapters of the state's history.

Other materials which are rich sources of information are records of schools, business organizations and churches that are no longer in use.

Such materials "are indispensable sources of information for historians—unless they are preserved and made available for use, important facts may be lost," Prof. Vander Velde pointed out.

Established in 1938, the collection contains research materials on all phases of Michigan's history, its people and its institutions. At present they contain more than 1,000,000 letters, diaries, account books and pamphlets, and 1,400 maps.

The materials are made available to anyone interested in the history of Michigan, or of his own community, in the collection's reading room. Persons who have material to contribute may call NO 3-1511, Ext. 2734.

AGRICULTURE in ACTION

by M. L. Woolf

★ Murderous Mite

A tiny killer is loose in the trees of our cities and forests. In size he is unimpressive—no longer than the lead tip of a wooden pencil—a little, elongated dot of death.

Peel back the bark on any one of thousands of elm trees and tiny "embosings" will show where he has tunneled in the larval stage. Examine the bark closely and little perforations reveal where he has emerged to widen the circle of his destruction.

The culprit is the elm bark beetle, carrier of a microscopic fungus that results in Dutch elm disease. Once a tree is infected, certain death follows. It may take months; it may take years; but it is certain.

The enormity of this loss comes crashing home with the realization that 75 per cent of Michigan's municipal shade-trees are Dutch elms.

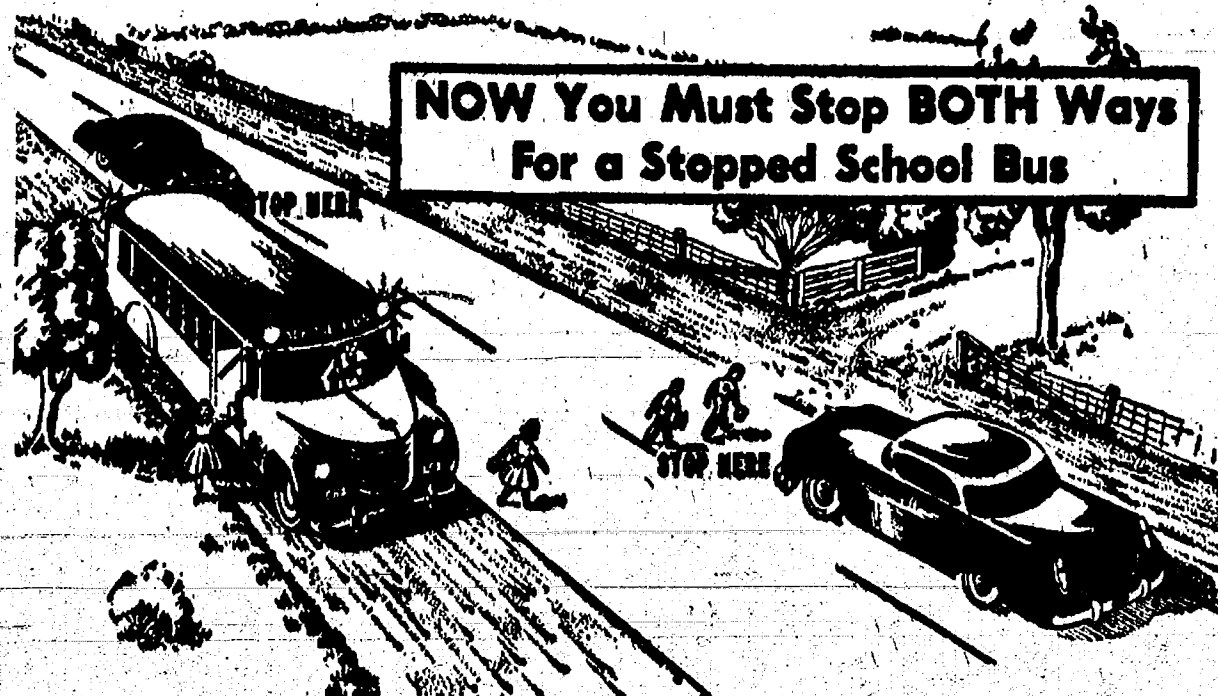

According to C. A. Boyer, chief of the Plant Industry section of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, more than four million dollars were spent last year in 200 Michigan communities to save what elms remain since the scourge first struck in 1950. Local money is used for these projects, further indication of the value of such trees to resident taxpayers.

In a recent talk before the board of directors of the Michigan Farm Bureau in Lansing, Boyer said that laboratory analysis of diseased trees is on a steady incline, up 40 percent in the past five years. "What's the chance of a resistant elm-strain being found?" one of the Farm Bureau leaders asked. Although Boyer did not rule out such hope, he made it plain that science has found none to date. Further, Boyer warned that "eures" offered so far have proven effective under controlled laboratory tests.

He reported that some odd-ball theories have been tried. "Some cities ran completely out of zinc coated roofing nails when word got around that zinc introduced into the tree bark had a favorable effect. Since there is no laboratory basis for this idea, it may be the 'cured' trees never had the disease."

What is the answer? "Complete removal of all infected trees, including burning their debris, coupled with complete sanitation of remaining trees through a spraying program," Boyer said. Cities and areas using such control programs over a period of years are enjoying both success and the shade from their stately elms—a magnificent tree, but one in terrible trouble.

Starting salaries for University of Michigan engineering graduates last year averaged $553 monthly for those with bachelor's degrees, $650 monthly for master's degrees, and $825 monthly for Ph. D. degrees.

MOTORISTS ARE REMINDED that present Michigan state law requires stopping when overtaking as well as meeting a school bus stopped to receive or discharge school children. Cars may not proceed until the school bus resumes motion or the school bus driver signals drivers to proceed or the flashing red lights on the bus are no longer actuated. Numerous violations of this law have been reported and police state they are prepared to deal severely with anyone apprehended.

Culture Listed as Important To Area Industrial Growth

Culture is important to industrial development of a community. While cultural advantages are not necessarily listed as a determining factor in plant location, industrial development experts explain that culture is assuming increasing importance.

The reasoning of those closest to the area of plant location point out management recognizes the relationship between culture and the community's desire for progress and the probability of the presence of municipal facilities.

Culture, industry realizes, reflects the attitude of a community. The greater the progress in municipal services and utilities, the greater the progress in culture, industrial development professionals agree.

Aside from the indications of community spirit, culture is a reward in itself. Industry officials acknowledge it is a part of pleasant living. It is a means of expression and enjoyment to all people in industry. It serves as a stimulant to community pride and for appreciation for industry, management and workers whose participation makes cultural activities possible.

The cultural advantages of Michigan, in our communities, our educational centers are receiving increased attention in presenting the advantages of Michigan as a location for industry.

The Michigan Press Association Industry Promotion Committee and the Michigan Economic Development Department are placing new emphasis on this phase of life in Michigan as they seek to encourage present industry to expand here and to invite new industry to locate here.

the decade from 1940 to 1950. Predictions by expert demographers state that Michigan will have more than 10,000,000 people 10 years from now. If so, the increase in the next 10 years will total more than 2,000,000, half again as much as during the last decade.

Michigan had 9,891 industrial plants in 1947; 12,711 in 1954 and 13,238 in 1958. During the past period, from 1954 to 1958 Michigan gained 527, just exceeded by Illinois with 531 but far ahead of Ohio's 407.

Auto Leaves Road, Slams Into Parked Car at Portage Lake

Deputy Koch was summoned to the scene of an accident on McGregor Rd. at Portage Lake early Monday morning after Irwin L. Knickerbocker of 3207 Lima Center Rd., swerved some 390 feet along the road's right shoulder before hitting a parked car in the lot at a service station operated by Weir C. Webb.

Knickerbocker was driving a 1957 two-door Ford sedan when he lost control of the car and hit two mail boxes and two metal A-poster signs, as well as a Michigan Bell line post, and finally smashed into the 1952 Dodge owned by James Robinson, M.D., of Riker Rd., Chelsea. The Robinson vehicle had been parked in the station awaiting repairs, having recently been purchased by the doctor as the family's second car.

The car driven by Knickerbocker was owned by Eddie Walter Scott of 8110 Gregory Rd. Scott was a passenger in the car at the time of the mishap.

Both cars were apparently total losses, according to Deputy Koch.

Justice is the goal, not necessarily the product, of our courts.

Chelsea Social Completes Fifth Year of Service

Chelsea's "unique" Social Service agency can no longer be so described, since the city of Saline now has a similar agency directly modeled on the Chelsea Social Service, also with the aim of providing stop-gap service for families in temporary distress.

This information was contained in the report of Mrs. Louis Ramp, director of the Chelsea Social Service in her fifth annual report to the board of directors.

In a business meeting preceding the report, present officers were re-elected, with one exception. Mrs. Paul Schabale was named to replace Mrs. Sallie Smith, who has retired from the board. Officers for 1961-62 are: Louis Ramp, president; Mrs. E. E. Eaton, treasurer; Mrs. Paul Schabale, secretary; and Mrs. R. W. Wagner, H. T. Moore, Harold Jones, Charles Tancaster, F. W. Meikel and Mrs. Edward Kelly, board members. Mrs. Kelly was named to replace Mrs. Smith on the Board. Mrs. Ramp will continue as director with Mrs. David Colquhoun as assistant.

In her report to the Board, Mrs. Ramp revealed that 235 interviews were held this year with persons seeking help of one kind or another from the Chelsea Social Service. In addition, there were 100 collateral conversations with persons interested in the clientele of the organization.

The greatest number of requests were for clothing. New clothing for school wear is provided from the Needlework Guild Ingathering and is distributed entirely through the Social Service. Next in frequency were requests for food and fuel orders and for help at Christmas time. The agency also purchases medicine when indicated and provides transportation for persons going to Ann Arbor for clinic appointments or to seek help from the welfare agencies there.

Fifty-three of the interviews held this year were with people who did not ask material help, but who wanted to consult on personal problems. Problems were of varying nature and ranged from inability to secure or hold employment, to procedure to take when someone in the home is mentally ill.

The report was largely concerned with new cases encountered this year and contained statistics as to number, types of problems met, solutions found and length of service.

Of the 23 new cases, only two were termed "long-term" problems who are still being seen. Most came to the Social Service in a time of crisis which was of short duration, or were referred on to the state agencies for continuing service. In this way the funds of the organization were conserved for true emergencies.

Of the applications this year, six came primarily for material help, and received grocery orders and other material assistance, with referral to welfare agencies, where indicated. Four of these were newcomers to the community, and one a transient, just passing through, who received a room for the night and a restaurant order. One was a wife, newly separated from her husband, who received help for a short time and was then reunited with her husband.

Five were families who came for help at Christmas time only. Other cases were opened for medical care or for counselling only.

Mrs. Ramp, in her report, said: "Frequently, the initial request is not the real problem, but the factor causing dependency becomes evident during the preliminary or succeeding interviews. Of prime value is the opportunity the agency gives a troubled person of 'talking out' his problems, knowing that whatever he says will be held in strict confidence."

The Chelsea Social Service is completing five years as an organized agency with regular quarters maintained on the second floor of the Municipal Building. The office is open each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon from 2:00 to 5:00.

"Interested persons are urged to visit the office and see for themselves what Chelsea offers its troubled and needy citizens through this Community Chest-supported agency," Mrs. Ramp concluded.

Boy Scouts Participate in District Camporee

Nine Boy Scouts of Troop 25 were one of the 16 patrol groups who earned blue ribbons at the "Sierra Rendezvous," the district camporee held the past week-end.

Fifty patrols, with a total of more than 400 boys, participated in the event.

The Chelsea troop started at Sugar Loaf Lake and followed a prescribed route by compass to reach a previously unannounced destination at Green Lake.

Enroute they were assigned an emergency first aid test and were required, also, to make nature observations.

Boy Scouts in the blue ribbon winning Chelsea patrol are Gayle Shears, Gary Hopkins, Ronnie Morley, Eugene Morley, Mike Grob, Paul Schabale, Freddie Worden and Gilbert Trevis with Don Dickelman as patrol leader.

Robert Foye is Scoutmaster and Fred Worden assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 25.

Cholera Cases Found in Two Nearby Counties

Although there is no significant increase in 1961 in the incidence of hog cholera in the state, 11 herds of swine in Monroe and Lenawee counties have been quarantined with the disease within the past 45 days.

Hog cholera is nearly always fatal to swine, but is not transmissible to humans.

Dr. John F. Quinn, state veterinarian in the Michigan Department of Agriculture offices at Lansing, warns swine owners to seek the services of their local veterinarian for any unusual symptoms in their hogs.

"Early diagnosis of the disease," said Dr. Quinn, "is of utmost importance when dealing with hog cholera. Local veterinarians are required by law to report their findings to the state veterinarian's office which is vital as a state-wide animal disease control measure."

There is no known treatment for hog cholera, and vaccination is the only sure preventive.

Some cases of hog cholera are reported nearly every year, but Michigan is one of the states with relatively low incidence as compared to some of the other states. It is estimated that swine are raised on approximately 35,000 farms in the state.

During 1960-61 the manuscript holdings of the University of Michigan Historical Collections increased more rapidly than in any other year since they were established.

March of Dimes County Campaign Chairman Named

The Washtenaw County Chapter of the National Foundation has announced the appointment of Mrs. Albert Coudron of 2210 Needham Rd., Ann Arbor, as chairman of the 1962 March of Dimes campaign. Chairmen in the cities and towns of the county will be announced later.

Mrs. Coudron is a life-long resident of Ann Arbor and has served as president of the local Democratic Women's Club, president of the Pittsfield PTO, and campaign chairman of the Calvary Presbyterian church building fund. Her husband owns and operates the Community Drug Store at 3014 Packard Rd., and is in his second term on the Ann Arbor Board of Education. The Coudrons have one son who attends Tappan Junior High school, Ann Arbor.

The March of Dimes drive will begin Jan. 2, and funds will be used in the fight against three major crippling diseases: birth defects, arthritis and polio.

'Dynamic Kernels' Film To Be Shown At Grass Lake

The Grass Lake Federated Church will present the film "Dynamic Kernels" covering the seven-year experiment conducted by Perry Hayden of Tecumseh, and assisted by the late Henry Ford who was very interested in the project.

The film shows how 360 kernels of wheat grew into 72,150 bushels of wheat in seven years. Many southern Michigan farmers gave the use of their land to prove that the Bible increase could be realized in modern times.

The country people of the church are sponsoring this program which will be free as a part of the regular service next Sunday evening, Oct. 8, at 7:30 p.m.

A special invitation is extended to any farmer or group donating land for this "Dynamic Kernels" project.

The film will be of special interest to the many area people who attended the huge rally at Adrian when the final threshing was done.

State's Grape Crop Reduced Sharply But Good Quality

Only half as numerous as last year, Michigan-grown grapes, particularly the popular old-fashioned Concord variety, are now available on most retail markets in the state.

Low temperatures in May that were later than usual took a toll of the 1961 grape crop in some sections. As a result the state is expected to harvest only about 32,500 tons. This is just half of last year's crop of 65,000 tons, and also well below 42,700 tons which was the 10-year average, according to Director G. S. McIntyre of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

All other eastern grape states except Arkansas will have as large or slightly larger yields this year than last. For the nation as a whole the crop is estimated to be eight percent larger than last year and 10 percent above the average.

Because of the lateness of the growing season this year, the grape harvest also is tardy. Grapes are reported to have good sugar content. This adds to their desirability for eating-out of hand. Concord grapes are preferred by home-makers for jam and jelly use.

There are few Michigan counties that do not have some grapes, but commercial production is largely centered in the southwestern counties of Van Buren, Berrien and Kalamazoo. Two adjacent counties, Allegan and Cass, also contribute to the state's commercial production.

The greater part of the crop each year goes to wineries and juice plants with the rest going into retail channels.

Grouse and showshoes have populations fluctuate in fairly regular 10-year cycles whether hunted or not.

NATIONAL OUTLOOK

By RALPH BOBEY

★ Opinions on Business Recovery

There has just been another dinner of top management and private business economists for the purpose of appraising the outlook. The dinner was held on September 19. It just happened that the following day the Department of Commerce issued a series of reports on the business trend. Between the two, therefore, we have a rather exhaustive review.

It is not to be expected that the two will agree except in broad outline. The dinner participants are all on the firing line and have to be quite accurate in their projections. The Commerce Department, on the other hand, must be correct in regard to its figures, but it is not necessary for its spokesmen to be so careful in interpreting the figures. This is another way of saying that the Commerce statements have a certain political freedom which is not possible for business management and private economists.

The dinner participants, just as the Commerce Department, recognize that we have been in a recovery period for several months and all of them anticipate that the upturn will continue. The Secretary of Commerce, Mr. Hodges, places no time limit on the recovery, and neither do the private business analysts, but the latter talk about the middle of next year as a possible crucial period and some of them obviously are not too confident beyond then. No one, however, makes a firm prediction that the upswing either can or will last only until mid-1962.

Another interesting point is that there were several of the dinner participants who felt the recovery is a little less vigorous than some months ago. This is borne out by the Commerce Department figures on gross national product. The low of the recession in terms of GNP was $501 billion in the first quarter. In the second three months this increased by $15 billion to $516 billion. In the third quarter the increase was only $10 billion or to $526 billion. This is still a good rate of increase, and from the viewpoint of sustained recovery it is better than the $15 billion rate of the second quarter.

An issue upon which there is basic disagreement is profits. There is no doubt that overall profits to date are increasing, but the total is still far too low for the growing volume of business, and making a profit is getting more and more difficult. But to Secretary Hodges the profit picture is highly favorable. The pre-recession high of pre-tax profits was, on an annual basis, $48.1 billion in the first quarter of 1960. In the first three months of this year the total had fallen to $39.6 billion. In the second quarter the aggregate rose to a little over $45 billion, and the Secretary predicts that by the end of the year we shall be at or above $50 billion, which would mean a new all-time high.

Such a growth of profits would necessitate higher prices in many directions. Secretary Hodges does not even mention this possibility and the view of the Administration as a whole is that there is no excuse for higher prices because of extensive unused productive capacity and a surplus of labor. Such reasoning does not appeal to management and private business analysts. Costs of production are continuing to rise in many instances and not too much more can be done in getting greater output per man-hour. The inevitable choice, thus, becomes higher prices or lower and lower profits.

This is one of the reasons that there is growing fear of inflation. The other great reason back of this fear is continuation of federal deficits, and the lack of concern on the part of the Administration over spending billions of dollars more than it gets in revenue. For this fiscal year, which ends next June 30, it now is officially estimated that the deficit will be $8 billion. There is plenty of reason to doubt that prediction. In the judgment of careful students, the deficit will be between $5 and $10 billion, and no one takes seriously the contention that in the following fiscal year the budget will be balanced.

One final point needs to be made. This is that all the dinner participants, and apparently the Department of Commerce, assume that we are not on the verge of the third world war. To predict continued recovery this has to be the assumption, but it must be emphasized that no one can be sure this is true.

State's September Traffic Death Toll Shows Reduction

Traffic deaths in Michigan totaled 115 in September, a reduction of 20, or 15 percent, compared with 135 in the same month a year ago, according to provisional State Police figures.

Though delayed death reports will raise the count slightly, the month is expected to hold its status as the fourth this year to show a decrease compared with corresponding months in 1960. Other months registering reductions were January, June and July.

The provisional nine-month death toll now is 1,112, only five more than 1,107 in the comparable period last year.

More complete figures for August list 162 killed and 8,876 injured in 15,951 accidents, all increases compared with that month in 1960. There were nine, or six percent, more deaths, 1,019, or 13 percent, more injured, and 799, or five percent, more accidents.

The accumulated eight-month totals include 57,046 injured, an increase of two percent, and 123,207 accidents, a reduction of seven percent, compared with the same 1960 period.

Estimated mileage for the first seven months, the latest information available, was 18 billion, virtually unchanged from that period last year, while the death rate of 4.6 was increased by two percent.

MILK MADE SAFE

A process has been found to make milk safe from fallout should a nuclear attack hit the United States.

The Agricultural Research Service, the Atomic Energy Commission and the United States Public Health Service have developed a process that removes 98 percent of the Strontium-90 from milk, which they claim will make it safe for use.

ACCOMODATING JUDGE

Albany, N. Y.—Stanley W. Forsack of Long Beach, N. Y., was fined $185 for speeding and passing a red light. Forsack confessed that he did not have that much money.

The judge then reduced the fine to $30.

The most traffic offender could come up with was $28. The judge lent Forsack $1 and the fine was paid.

RUSS TO GET FALLOUT

It was reported that the fall-out from the last four Soviet nuclear explosions would be carried over Russia by prevailing winds according to the United States weather experts.

The film library was expanded to 12,500 prints having a replacement value of approximately $1,000,000 at the University of Michigan Audio-Visual Education Center.

Dayton, Ohio—A resident of this city decided he'd build a nuclear blast shelter.

He obtained the original design used for testing at the Nevada Proving Grounds, hired a contractor and had the plans approved by an engineer.

The estimated cost was above $2,500. He proceeded to have the 17-foot pit dug.

The resident then applied for a building permit. The application was denied—there was a question whether the shelter would hold up the 6 feet of earth required.

Mrs. Fremont Boyer

Judith Woolley, Fremont Boyer Speak Vows at Methodist Church

First Methodist church here was the setting for the wedding ceremony uniting Judith Louise Woolley and Fremont L. Boyer at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The Rev. S. D. Kinde, pastor of the church, officiated in the presence of approximately 350 guests.

Mrs. James Gaynt served as organist and played the traditional wedding music as members of the bridal party entered the sanctuary and took their places before the altar decorated for the occasion with white rug mums.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. William J. Woolley, 731 Taylor St., and the late Mr. Woolley, while the bridegroom is a son of Mrs. Alpha Sanders of Charlotte and the late Fremont L. Boyer, Sr. The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Richard Vicary of Elkhart, Ind., wore a long-sleeved gown of white rosepoint lace styled with a sequin and seed pearl trimmed sweetheart neckline forming a V-outline at the back. Large roses fashioned of the lace formed a bustle at the back of the floor-length skirt. Her elbow-length veil of French silk illusion was held in place with a crown-shaped headpiece of pearls and crystal. White mums and roses were arranged in cascade effect as her wedding bouquet.

Sonja Briggs, of Dexter, served as maid of honor, her costume for the occasion being an antique gold satin sheath with a bateau neckline and a matching gold satin overskirt. Gold colored leaves formed the headpiece which secured a brief veil and her cascade bouquet was of bronze and gold mums.

Mrs. Duane Westphal of Manchester and Mrs. Dean Fowler of Pinckney, were bridesmaids. Their ensembles, including gowns, headpieces and bouquets, were identical to that of the maid of honor.

The bride's mother, in green and beige jersey with green nee-sores, while the bridegroom's mother, in a blue print dress with black accessories, had a corsage of pink roses.

The bridegroom's brother, Winston E. Boyer, served as best man and another brother, Duane Boyer, and David Buku were ushers.

Among the relatives present were the bride's grandparents, Mrs. Mabel Woolley of Manchester and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vicary of 731 Taylor St.

At the reception which followed in the church social center, the bride's aunt, Mrs. Richard Vicary of Elkhart, Ind., poured punch.

Mrs. Mac Packard, sister of the bridegroom, cut the wedding cake. Mrs. Winston Boyer, a sister-in-law cut the bridegroom's cake; and Mrs. Roy Greenleaf, a niece of the bridegroom, was in charge of the guest book.

Mrs. Floyd Fowler of Dexter, Mrs. Henry Walter and Virginia LeVan of Waterloo, and June LeVan of Ann Arbor, assisted as hostesses.

Mrs. Laurence Boyer, sister-in-law of the bridegroom had baked and decorated the wedding cake and Mrs. Floyd Fowler made the bridegroom's cake.

Carrying out the gold and white color theme of the wedding, the bride's table at the reception was centered with white candles and yellow mums.

For going away after the reception, the bride wore a blue knit suit with black accessories and a corsage of roses from her wedding bouquet.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Boyer are now at home at 645 South Main St.

Both are graduates of Chelsea High school.

Mr. Boyer served with the U. S. Army in Korea and is now employed in the office of Rockwell-Standard Corporation.

Pre-nuptial parties honoring the bride included showers given by Mrs. Duane Westphal and Sonja Briggs and by Mrs. Winston Boyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Mac Packard entertained at a rehearsal supper at their home Friday evening.

ONE WAY
Linz, Austria — Afraid to face failure in passing shorthand and having to spend another year in the same class was more than 17-year-old Karl Nagenkoegl wanted to face. He pulled a gun on his teacher and said: "I don't know a thing. But if you want to go on living, better sign this."

He handed the teacher a certificate that stated the entire class had passed. The teacher signed.

Stop cutting brush...
really kill it with Reddon

It's REDDON—the all-season farm brush killer. Use Reddon as a foliage spray in pastures and along fence rows during the growing season. Or you can use Reddon as a "frill" basal, or stump-treatment any time of the year. It even controls tough species like oak and maple. Brush requires up to 10 times the amount of moisture and fertility needed by desirable plants. Eliminate the brush that shades crops and crowds out pasture grasses... order Red
