

Methodist Home Starts Construction Tuesday on New Wing

GROUND BREAKING CEREMONY—The Rev. J. Douglas Parker of Rochester, chairman of the Methodist Home Board of Trustees, is shown at left in the above photo as he officiated at ground-breaking ceremonies Tuesday for the new $1,118,000 addition to the Home. The new unit will increase care facilities for aged persons by more than 60 per cent. With the Rev. Parker are the Rev. E. J. Weiss, superintendent of the Home; the Rev. George P. Stanford, chaplain at the Home; Mrs. Charlotte Tamlyn, resident of the Home, who will be 100 years old in June and believed to be one of the oldest living twins in the United States, and Harold Glazier of Cavanaugh Lake, grandson of the late Frank P. Glazier who was the donor of the 14-acre site on which the first of the present six units of the Home was built in 1906. Frank Glazier also contributed $10,000 for construction of that first unit and pledged $1,000 a year for 10 years for maintenance costs. Ideal weather, pleasant and sunny, prevailed Tuesday and all Home residents who were able to attend and all personnel were outdoors for the occasion. Many area residents and representatives of Chelsea churches and organizations were present and extended greetings and good wishes.

Facilities Will Make Possible Caring for 82 Additional Persons

Groundbreaking ceremonies took place at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Methodist Home for the new $1,118,000 addition announced several months ago, the act of groundbreaking being delegated to a resident of the Home believed to be one of the oldest living twins in the U.S., and to the grandson of the donor of the site and first unit of the Home.

Mrs. Charlotte Tamlyn, who is 99 years old and has a twin brother living at Howell, and Harold Glazier of Cavanaugh Lake, are the two who had the honor of turning the first spadeful of earth.

Groundbreaking for the first unit of the Home took place Oct. 11, 1906, the Home Board of Trustees having accepted the gift of 14 acres of land and $10,000 given by the Honorable Frank P. Glazier—$5,000 in his own name and $5,000 in the name of his mother, Emily P. Glazier. Glazier also had pledged $1,000 per year for 10 years to maintain the property. The first unit was dedicated Oct. 31, 1907.

A second unit, known as Ellen Hanley Hall, was added in 1915; the third unit, Dr. and Mrs. Marquis High Hall in 1926; Kresge Hall, the fourth addition, in 1942; and the fifth unit, Kimball Hall in 1949.

The five units are all residence halls and have provided facilities for 145 resident members.

During the past 10 years a chapel has been built with funds contributed by the late Mrs. Anna E. Kresge and friends; a cottage for retired ministers and their wives has been added; and a home for the administrator of the Home has been completed.

The new addition, the sixth unit of the residence care facilities, will make it possible to care for 82 additional aged persons. It is claimed the new structure will be one of the finest of its kind in the state.

It will include, on the first floor, living quarters for 22 couples or individuals in separate "efficiency" apartments, each complete with a private tiled bathroom; a kitchenette unit with small refrigerator and two-burner electric stove which is hidden, when not in use, by a folding louvered door; and its own private outdoor balcony.

Craft shops for such activities as sewing, weaving, ceramics, woodworking, etc., a room for physical therapy; two laundries, one for individual use of members and one for doing hospital linens, etc.; shuffleboard courts; a lounge; storage space; and many other conveniences are included in the new structure.

Residents in the new unit will have direct access to the present Home dining room which is to be enlarged.

Participating at the groundbreaking ceremony Tuesday were the Rev. Edwin Stricker, D.D., district superintendent of the Ann Arbor District of the Methodist Church; members of the Methodist Home Board of Trustees and Board of Managers; the Home building committee; the architects, Clark, Scripture and Pishas, of Detroit; the general contractor, O. W. Burke of Detroit; the plumbing and mechanical contractor, Shaw-Winkler of Detroit; the Austin-Blue Kitchen Equipment Co. of Howell; and Turner Electric Co., the electrical contractors.

Bishop Marshall R. Reed of the Michigan Area of the Methodist Church, had other commitments and could not be present for the historic occasion.

The Rev. K. Douglas Parker presided at the groundbreaking ceremony and greetings were extended by Chelsea Village President Robert Daniels, Mrs. Harvey E. Lakin, president of the Chelsea Home Friends of the Detroit Conference; Frank Dellor, representing the residents of the Home; and representatives of Chelsea area churches.

The Rev. Edwin J. Weiss, superintendent of the Home, said $900,000 has already been raised for the addition; all in voluntary contributions. Special bequests of the past 16 months by various persons account for $600,000 of the amount.

The Rev. Weiss pointed out that the Home is open to any evangelical Christian church member 65 years old or over; however, members of the Methodist Church are given preference for available space when there are waiting lists.

St. John's Church Holding Annual Mission Festival

At the morning service, at 11 a.m., Mr. Bine will deliver the sermon, according to an announcement by the pastor of the church, the Rev. J. Tracy Luke.

A carry-in dinner for all, who attend the morning service will be held in the church dining room at noon.

All members and friends of the church are invited to participate in the special services.

Trick or Treat Activity Limited

"Trick or Treat night is from 6:30 p.m. until 8:30 p.m. only on Monday, Oct. 30.

Toll-Free Dexter Telephone Calls Become Reality

Extended Area Service in Effect Wednesday Noon

Wednesday, Oct. 25 goes down in history as the date when toll-free telephone service between the two neighboring communities went into effect.

As a special observance of the occasion, a luncheon was held at the American Legion Home in Dexter, guests of the telephone company present including Dexter village presidents, Robert Daniels, Fred Layton and Robert Daniels, respectively; members of the Chelsea and Dexter Village Councils; members of boards of directors of the Chamber of Commerce in both communities; and representatives of various farm groups who are active in promoting the extended area telephone service.

Included among Michigan Bell telephone Co. officials present for the occasion were N. J. Prackken, a manager of Ann Arbor; C. B. Woodhead, district commercial manager; A. Wolfman, district manager; and William J. McClure, district plant manager, all of Ann Arbor.

At one o'clock, official time for instituting the new toll-free service between the two communities, the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce president, Leo Hoy, declared the number of the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. office in Chelsea where a collection agency of the telephone company is located, and talked to the manager, W. McClure, who is a former Chelsea Village president.

Present at the luncheon and the conversation in which he mentioned that the direct toll-free telephone service will bring the two communities closer together and is a mark of progress. Hoy, in a brief talk at the luncheon, had expressed appreciation of the new service on behalf of the Dexter Chamber of Commerce. Dexter Village President Fred Layton also spoke in similar fashion on behalf of the entire community.

Both said thanks were due for efforts of all who had a part in bringing about the extended area telephone service.

On Oct. 5 when Prackken made an announcement that Oct. 25 was an effective date for the new service he said that "much credit was due to the Dexter Chamber of Commerce who through its initiative last October, secured the support of the Chelsea Chamber, and the councils of the two communities, farms, groups, and many interested citizens. These efforts culminated in the approval of the service by the Michigan Public Service Commission last May."

Effective with the improved service, rates for residential lines in the two communities will be increased from 15 to 25 cents per month, depending on the class of service. Business service will be increased $1.00 per month per line.

Four scholarships were awarded Tuesday, Oct. 17 to Washtenaw county youths for first-year Short Course at Michigan State University. Recipients of the scholarships are Robert Kuhl, Stanley Dyer and Charles Koehn—all of Chelsea—and Richard Brissow of Dexter.

The scholarships were presented by William J. Crimm, secretary-treasurer of the Bankers Association. This is the 12th year that the Association has awarded scholarships to Washtenaw county youths. During this time 47 have been awarded, many former recipients now are outstanding farmers in the county.

"Washtenaw County Bankers Association has made a major contribution to Washtenaw County Agriculture through this program," says W. A. Dexter, county extension agent.

Guest Will Show Wildlife Slides To Camera Club
Chelsea area people interested in viewing color slide pictures of wild flowers and some wildlife are being invited by Chelsea Camera Club members to be their guests in the South Elementary school auditorium, Tuesday evening, Nov. 7, when Bernard Horn of Jackson will narrate and show his collection, described as outstanding. Photography is Horn's hobby and he has become so proficient in his specialty of color pictures of wild flowers from many areas of the country that his work has been recognized by the University of Michigan botany department. Chelsea Camera club is sponsoring Horn's appearance here. There will be no charge.

Bulldogs Lose Contest to South Lyon Prepare To Meet Neighboring Rival, Dexter, Friday Night

Last Friday night Chelsea High's gridlers went down to defeat to South Lyon, 25-0. The Bulldogs, even in defeat, showed considerable improvement over the previous game with Pineknob.

In the beginning, however, the Bulldogs appeared to be following the previous game. After receiving the opening kick-off the Bulldogs couldn't move the ball and were forced to punt. The punt was short and South Lyon took over inside the 25-yard line. Four plays later South Lyon Fullback Lowell Burgess crashed over from the two-yard line. Quarterback Fred Gerhardt scored the extra point on a sneak and South Lyon had a 7-0 lead with only three minutes gone in the first quarter.

However, the Bulldogs took the next kick and returned it to the 25-yard line. Two plays later Sophomore Quarterback Curt Farley broke away on a fine 30-yard run, aided by blocks from Fullback Jeff Flintoff; End Don Brooks and Tackle Bob Riemenschneider, to move the ball into South Lyon territory.

South Lyon stiffened at this point and the Bulldogs had to punt. Two plays later Co-Captain Jack Howard intercepted a South Lyon pass and returned it 35 yards to the South Lyon 35, only to fumble when finally tackled. The Lions started a sustained march to the Chelsea 35 where Left Halfback Gary LaBohn broke off tackle to go all the way for the TD. The middle of the Chelsea line, led by Warren Porath, Mike Daniels and John Hand stopped the extra point attempt.

The Lions added their third touchdown in the first half with two minutes left on the clock as Lowell Burgess broke away on a 24-yard run.

Early in the third quarter the Bulldogs started their finest offensive threat of the night. Freshman Left Halfback Dick Luohon began the drive as he fought to gain 10 yards. Then Co-Captain Howard broke away on a 44-yard dash as Mike Schrader, Tim Whitesall, Laubon and Jeff Flintoff opened the hole. Quarterback Curt Farley then quickly sent Howard twice more through the same hole to pick up a first down on the 25. There the drive fizzled out as a fourth down pass was not good.

The fourth period saw both teams' second units in action and while Chelsea's second unit couldn't move the ball they performed capably on defense; especially Guard Dick McCalla, Fullback Paul Huber and Halfback Roger Lehman. Burgess picked up the game's final TD against the second unit. (Continued on page three)

TOLL-FREE DEXTER CALLS—The above scene marked an historic occasion in the life of Chelsea and Dexter area residents, showing Leo Hoy, Dexter Chamber of Commerce president, making the first call from Dexter to Chelsea following inauguration of toll-free telephone service between the two neighboring communities. Hoy was accorded the honor of making the first call because of the important part played by the Dexter Chamber of Commerce in promoting the toll-free service. Hoy's call was received in Chelsea by M. W. McClure, manager of the Chelsea office of Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. where a collection agency of Michigan Bell Telephone Co. is located. McClure is also a former Chelsea village president. With Hoy, when the call was placed was Chelsea village President Robert Daniels, seated at left, and Dexter Village President Floyd Layton, seated at right. Standing behind them is N. J. Prackken, Michigan Bell Telephone Co. area manager, of Ann Arbor.

Church Women Will Observe World Community Day

Friday, Nov. 3, at 1 p.m. Chelsea church women will mark the observance of World Community Day at the Methodist church social center.

Along with the program topic, "Freedom To Know," and the subtitle question "Is freedom without knowledge possible in today's world?" there will be a work project—the assembling of school bag kits. The kits will be material aid for children in Latin American countries who are without the bare essentials necessary in acquiring an education.

The bags are being made by circles and groups of women in several of the Chelsea churches and will be filled with supplies contributed by church school children.

These donations are being collected Sunday, Oct. 29, at the various churches. Each bag will contain six pencils, two erasers, one box of crayons, two pads of paper and one scissors with blunt ends. A special feature of the afternoon's program will be film slides especially selected from a collection secured by the Rev. Paul Schnake during his recent visit to Ecuador. They illustrate from first-hand observation some of the pressing needs existing in that Latin country.

There will also be an exhibit of South American arts and crafts. All church women of Chelsea are invited to the service.

Methodist Women Observing Week of Prayer, Self Denial

Women of the Methodist Church throughout the nation, in keeping with an annual custom, are this week observing a special occasion of their program calendar—the Week of Prayer and Self-Denial.

Most Methodist church women plan at least one special service in observance of the week, Chelsea Methodist church women having planned theirs for today, Oct. 26, at 1 p.m.

The program will be in charge of Mrs. William Storey.

Others who are to participate are Mrs. Edwin Weiss, Mrs. Robert Harris, Mrs. Charles Cameron, Mrs. Walter Harper, Mrs. Benjamin Bower and Mrs. Robert Kusch. Arrangements have been made to have the nursery open for preschool children. A nursery committee will be on duty during the service.

James Weir, stationed at Quantico, Va., spent the week-end here at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Garnett Weir. Also a week-end guest of the Weirs was his fiancée, Merlene Rogers of Olivet College. Additional Sunday dinner guests were Mrs. Trevor Smith of Morenci, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Smith and son, of Adrian, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Egeler and sons, of Dexter, and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Reithmiller and daughter of Waterloo.

Children Await Big Halloween Party Tuesday

Community Chest Fund at 40% of Goal

Reports as of Tuesday night indicated that 40 percent of the $15,300 goal of the current Chelsea Community Chest fund drive had been contributed or subscribed. No area of solicitation had yet been completed, however, and additions as reported to chairman late last night could substantially change the total figure.

Co-chairmen George Knickerbocker and Larry Chapman are urging area residents to make their contributions at their earliest convenience in order that volunteers may complete their work of solicitation before the official closing date of the campaign.

The 40 percent total was registered on the "Red Feather" sign on the Post Office lawn, the solid red filling the outline slightly less than half of the way to the top. Total amount accumulated for the 40 percent figure is slightly more than $4,100.

Agencies to benefit from the campaign are Chelsea Recreation Council, Chelsea Social Service, American Red Cross, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Salvation Army, Chelsea Friends of the Library, Huron Valley Child Guidance, UAW-CIO Children's Christmas Fund, Chelsea Band Instrument Fund and the United Fund.

The Community Chest was designed to eliminate the need for many separate drives for contributions and the "give once for all" campaign has, for the most part, accomplished this purpose.

Campaign captains for the various sections of the community are as follows: Mrs. Merle Leach, northeast area; Mrs. George Heydlauff, southeast area; Mrs. Leon Chapman, northwest area; Mrs. Roger Smyth, southwest area; Charles Cameron, schools; William Marsh, industry and Dr. James Botsford, business.

Rural area captains are Mrs. George P. Frisinger, southeast; Mrs. Fred Schuman, southwest; Mrs. Donald Beaman, northwest; and Mrs. Richard Schmidt, northeast area.

Mr. and Mrs. Dillman Wahl and daughter, Loretta, with Christine Fisher, spent from Wednesday until Sunday on a trip to Washington, D. C., Gettysburg, Pa., Rochester, N. Y., and other points of interest enroute. At Rochester they called on friends, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Steer who have visited here at intervals.

Kiwanis Club Sponsors Annual Event for Kiddies

The annual Kiwanis-sponsored Halloween party for children, complete with a parade, prizes for various categories of costumes, and cider and doughnuts served later, will be held Tuesday evening, Oct. 31, from 6:30 until 8:30 p.m.

The parade will form in front of the Junior High school where noisemakers will be distributed at 6:25 p.m.

The committee in-charge of this portion of the party includes Kiwanians Charles Lamasas, Donald Haldwin, Charles Cameron, Paul Mann, James Liebeck and P. G. Schable, Sr.

Chelsea police and auxiliary police will assist the parade committee—Ray Knickerbocker, Dr. Clare Warren, Jack Dettinger and George Staffan.

First, second and third prizes of $3, $2 and $1 will be awarded in each of the following four categories; most typical of Halloween; most original; most comical; and spookiest.

Wallace Wood is in charge of prizes and Dr. P. E. Sharrard and Chandler Rogers are to be responsible for arranging for the judging of the costumes.

The parade will be led by the Junior High Band and a fire truck. The parade will wind up at the Municipal parking lot on Park St. where cider and doughnuts will be served to the music of a Dixieland band. This will be the entertainment feature this year—a departure from the programs of former years. There will be no further program Chairman of the program arrangements is Paul F. "Jerry" Niehaus.

Other Kiwanis committees assigned for the party are H. T. Moore, Don Turner and George Doe, in charge of tables and elder pitchers for serving at the parking lot; Charles Slocum and William Freeman, temporary stage; Lloyd Heydlauff, public address system; George Palmer and Anton Nielsen, elder and barrel holders; and the Rev. Edwin Weiss, John Alber, Loring Bates, A. S. Penhaligon, John Kausch, E. W. Euton, Robert Foster, Thomas Smith, M. J. Anderson, Leo Bishop, Harold Jones, Kenneth Runcieman, M. W. McClure, Robert Daniels and Warren Daniels, elder and doughnut servers.

Constructive Halloween Activities Are Triumph over Persecution, Cruelty

Halloween, once observed with mystic rites and ceremonies deriving from the Druids centuries ago, has come to be a sensible and beneficial annual observance in the United States.

Halloween at one time was the night of the year when it was supposed that witches and ghosts were most likely to wander about. This belief went back many centuries and evidences of it are even found in the Bible. Both the ancient Egyptians and Romans believed in witches, as did the American Indians.

The Christian church, throughout history, had varying opinions about witches. At one time, the churches regarded witches as nonexistent and, at other times, they accepted the existence of them. By the end of the 15th Century, the church had adopted a policy of punishing witches with extreme severity.

The accused witches were tortured into confession and then were burned. In the following two centuries thousands of women were slain after they had been charged with practicing witchcraft and a single judge in France is said to have put to death 800 women within six years. Many persecutions for witchcraft were carried out in America, especially in New England. There were many executions of so-called witches in Salem, Mass.

In our country, Halloween once was a time when young people got into trouble and created trouble and disorder. That custom prevailed until recent years, when the energy and effort of young people was turned into more constructive and helpful channels.

Today, youngsters go out on Halloween night to collect funds for charities and good causes, and treats for themselves. The result of this work, which is carried on all over the country simultaneously by millions of young Americans, is highly encouraging.

Instead of the witches, the killings and the grief, sorrow and trouble once caused by Halloween, we enjoy the mystic spirit, the history of the observance and the fun which goes along with it—while turning our energies to something constructive and worthwhile—a sign of progress and a victory for common-sense over suspicion, persecution and cruelty.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where them Englishmen is complaining pretty loud over this new "austerity" program their government has arranged for everybody except the Royal family. I reckon "austerity" is a $10 word meaning the folks has got to tighten their belts. England has been getting in a bad way ever since right after World War II when they started that Socialism business and put the railroads, electric power, health and all such things under Government control.

Ed Doolittle's grandson was stationed over there in the Air Force last year and he sent Ed a batch of their Government pamphlets. On account of me being a authority on Government pamphlets, Ed give 'em to me. I got 'em down off the shelf this morning and I discovered right off why things is so bad in England. It's hard to believe, Mister Editor, but people has to pay for them pearls of wisdom over there.

I ain't shore but I think Thomas Jefferson put it in the Declaration of Independence that we was to get these masterpieces free in this country. I note here where one of the pamphlets Ed's grandson sent him is entitled, "Calf Rearing" and is put out by the Ministry of Agriculture and costs 55 cent. It says that "Research on the physiology of the calf shows it can be reared on diets previously considered unsuitable." And here's one that ought to be a sign the law and might be the one that's causing a heap of their troubles. It's entitled "Women, Wife and Worker" and sells for 35 cent. It is put out by the Ministry of Industrial Research and starts out, "Married women's employment is often cited as the cause of separation, divorce and juvenile delinquency." How do you like that for 35 cent?

A note on the front of each pamphlet says they is printed by "Her Majesty's Stationery Office." It also says people in the United States can get 'em for the proper fees from the British Government Publications offices at Rockefeller Plaza in New York. No country can prosper where they ain't got free pamphlets from the Government. I estimate that about half our prosperity is due to them free pamphlets we get ever day from the various agencies.

Prime Minister Macmillan, in discussing the situation, says four out of ever-five people in England gambles, but he says it ain't hurting nothing. I can understand how four out of five over there gambles, but I can't understand why the fifth feller don't join 'em. After all, in a country where folks is charged 55 cent for a Government pamphlet or "Calf Rearing," what has he got to lose?

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Election workers in Michigan have a new tool to prevent woes caused by absentee voter problems.

It's a new law passed by the 1961 legislature. It permits the naming of "Absentee Counting Boards" by the election commission or any governmental unit other than a county or the state.

Considerable flexibility in the operation of "Absentee Counting Boards" is allowed under the new law.

Secretary of State James M. Hare, the man who must supervise elections, says the statute has been interpreted to mean that the election commission must make decisions on which precincts are to have counting boards and many other details of procedure.

There are, however, some requirements in the law which are aimed at preventing any possible abuse of chicanery.

A recent publication of Hare's office, which goes to election clerks and other workers, outlined provisions of the new law because of possible confusion over some of the rather complicated wording.

No regular election at which the counting boards could operate is scheduled until November of 1962.

A special election or primary can make use of "Absentee Counting Boards" as well as a regular election.

The value in the new procedure is that it relieves the regular election workers of the chore of compiling absentee voter ballots. At the same time it provides a somewhat closer check than is possible with the old method. An undesirable effect might be that it could make the voting procedure even more complex than it already is.

In precincts where a large absentee vote is expected, especially those where the absentee vote must be transferred onto voting machines for compilation, the time and frustration saved could be considerable.

Water-Wonderland as a tag for the state of Michigan has a double meaning for many people who own property on Great Lakes shorelines.

They often wonder how much land lapped by the beautiful waters of Huron, Michigan, Erie or Superior is theirs.

Later in a long series of court battles over title to bottomlands in dispute presents one of the trickiest questions.

It goes something like this: If the level of one of the Great Lakes goes down, and a property owner brings fill dirt into an area that was formerly covered by water thus making it high and dry when the lake level rises again, does the new shoreline land belong to the property owner or the state?

The Supreme Court has to determine whether the high level mark, or some place in between is proper point to determine what is Great Lakes-bottomland and what isn't.

It's well established in law that the state holds title to bottomlands, and can transfer this to private owners under certain conditions and through the proper procedure.

The definition of bottomland for purposes of determining what is lake frontage is only one of the problems concerning the Great Lakes which is a bugaboo to the state.

Another is the Federal Government's claim to lands lying in natural deltas or islands formed at the mouths of rivers.

This one is being fought in the Interior Department at Washington, D. C. A negative decision could result in the loss to Michigan of such vast and important recreation areas as the St. Clair Flats region. More court action could be taken in this case which involves many other states besides Michigan.

Any doubt that Michigan is a major farming state should be laid to rest by the success of youngsters who have chosen agriculture as a career.

Michigan members of Future Farmers of America chapters have always made a good showing in nation-wide contests.

And they continue to do so in such diversified fields as beef cattle raising and celery growing. Michigan FFA chapters always rank high among those receiving recognition for the effectiveness of their programs. With talented and interested young people on the way up in farming, Michigan can look forward to continued success in what is one of its three major money producers.

HARTFORD OPENS SEASON

Members of the Foreign Policy Association at Hartford, Conn., welcomed a group from the United Nations staff as weekend guests in their homes last weekend, in the first of the 1961 community programs of hospitality provided for the past several years for Secretariat men and women.

PROBLEM FOR TYPESETTERS

Among delegates to the United Nations, lengthy names are no novelty. In the 16th session of the General Assembly, a record of sorts has been set by his Royal Highness Prince Chulachakrabongse of Thailand, and Konthi Suphamongkhon of the same country. Both have delegate rank.

Late Ripening Corn May Need Dryer

This year's late-maturing corn crop is making a lot of farmers think about farm corn dryers.

"Harvest will run at least two or three weeks later than usual," says Robert Maddex, Michigan State University extension agricultural engineer. "Late planting last spring, a fairly cool summer and recent frosts are all to blame."

A lot of high-moisture corn is sure to result, Maddex believes. Farmers with dryers can field-shall corn containing up to 30 percent moisture.

"It's important to pick as early as possible," Maddex points out. "One bushel is lost for every week's delay in picking after late October. Lodging, field shelling and poor husking all contribute to this loss."

The MSU engineer says shelled corn piled more than two or three feet deep requires heated-air drying. Unheated-air units work best on large quantities of ear corn.

"Growers with more than 40-50 acres of corn should seriously consider field shelling," Maddex believes.

He explains that a farmer may wait until spring before deciding whether to feed or sell shelled corn. Field-shelling machines handle between 700 and 1,000 bushels a day. Drying equipment usually takes care of 100-150 bushels an hour, allowing for handling time.

The engineer warns that the handling-and-storage system is as important as the type of dryer used.

"Some portable, wagon-type dryers push warm air through three wagons at once," Maddex reports.

"Harvest moves quite rapidly, especially if a farmer has four or five wagons."

Batch-type dryers present similar problems. Maddex recommends building a bin for wet corn right at the dryer. This bin should hold about 50 percent more than the dryer to permit some flexibility.

Storage-drying units for shelled corn are catching on fast, Maddex has found. They have proven especially useful for farmers who harvest 3,000 to 7,000 bushels annually.

"These units are intended mainly for storage, not drying," the MSU specialist says. "They have limited heating and blowing capacity that normally keeps forced air 10-15 degrees above the outdoor temperature."

Piling in too much corn at once can overload such a dryer, causing mold and spoilage. Manufacturers provide "fill schedules" to follow for best drying results.

BOYS FIND TREASURE

Los Angeles, Calif.—Two youngsters were playing "pirates" in an old abandoned house and located a steel chest.

The brothers decided to look inside and found a wooden box containing $1,035 in cash and estimated $2,000 worth of coins and jewelry.

They reported the treasure to the sheriff, who located the owner and he rewarded the boys. The safe had been stolen.

Many Mail-Order Nursing Courses Prove Worthless

By Paul L. Adams
State Attorney General

A flourishing market in correspondence school "degrees" in practical nursing which are not acceptable in Michigan is a matter of present concern to my office.

These correspondence courses in nursing are not approved or recognized by the Michigan Board of Nursing or the Superintendent of Public Instruction. Yet, hundreds of Michigan women have been led to believe that such a course can make them eligible for a license as a practical nurse.

The victims of this racket are usually women in the low income bracket who are forced to work to help support a family or are conscientiously trying to improve their skills. Most distressing is the fact that these people deprive themselves to get the money—usually in excess of $200—to receive a worthless, gold-seal "diploma," graduation pin, identification card, gauze face mask, receipt book or identification card. Some schools may throw in a thermometer!

Personal contacts in Michigan by agents of these schools are illegal since none are approved by the necessary state agency. Don't be misled by the promises of job security. If you want to be a licensed practical nurse, check with the Board of Nursing in Lansing. Don't prey to a mail-order degree.

Foreign Cars Show Fewer Registrations During September

By C. Wilson Harder

Although the Congress reluctantly agreed to give away spending for another year, there are strong indications that if the vote had been delayed until now, the whole sorry mess might have been eliminated.

Probably there have been few things that have hit Congressmen as hard as the action taken in their recent Belgrade meeting of the 24-30 C. W. Harder called "neutral" nations.

For they established without a doubt that they are extremely neutral against the United States.

repute war—it could be quite serious; in fact they are more inclined to believe it represents danger than not. And obviously, the Russians don't lack in scientific brains.

Yet despite this weight of informed opinion, the Russians, like mad dogs, resumed exploding in the atmosphere, and it is a certainty that if such pollution damages, it will not distinguish between the peoples of the committed West and the peoples of the "neutral" nations.

Foreign "car" registrations in Michigan decreased by 222, from 1,758 in August to 1,536 in September.

James M. Hare, Secretary of State, attributed the sharp drop in foreign car sales to the introduction of new 1962, sporty American-made compact cars.

The popular Volkswagen counted for 799 registrations more than half of the foreign cars added to Michigan registration lists, Hare pointed out.

Second place Renault fell 401 registrations in August to 1,100 in September. Other makes are gradually declining in demand. The third-place Triumph had 66 registrations. Metropolitan had 43, Mercedes-Benz with 31, with 29, and Fiat, which fell 51 registrations in August to 1,100 in September.

WASHINGTON AND 'SMALL BUSINESS'

By C. Wilson Harder

Although the Congress reluctantly agreed to give away spending for another year, there are strong indications that if the vote had been delayed until now, the whole sorry mess might have been eliminated.

Probably there have been few things that have hit Congressmen as hard as the action taken in their recent Belgrade meeting of the 24-30 C. W. Harder called "neutral" nations.

For they established without a doubt that they are extremely neutral against the United States.

Now you can dial your own calls to Dexter toll-free

Now you can dial your own telephone calls direct to friends, relatives and business associates in Dexter as often as you wish without any Long Distance charges. And they can dial you direct toll-free.

As so many of you have requested, Dexter has been added to Chelsea's local calling area. So calls between the two communities are now the same as local calls.

This improvement will strengthen and widen the business and social ties between Chelsea and Dexter. It is another step in making your telephone service even more convenient and useful.

Some numbers in your directory have been changed since it was issued last year. For any such number, just dial NO 113 for information—as shown on the first blue page of the Chelsea section—until an up-to-date directory comes out next month.

Occasionally you'll find someone has the latest-type number consisting entirely of numerals—seven of them. (No alphabet letters). These new-style numbers are being given to new phone customers and to people who move or need a new number for any reason. Examples:

475-8000 (in Chelsea)

426-4700 (in Dexter)

To speed each call, it's a good idea to jot down the number and glance at it as you dial . . . either seven numerals or two letters and five numerals.

Currier attended Oberlin Elementary school, and college. He received a Bachelor of Science degree from Western Michigan University at Kalamazoo, in 1914, and a Master of Arts Degree from the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Celeste Payne became Mrs. Currier at Hillsdale, June 1955, and they have one son, Jay. Now a five-year-old, Charles is a coronet soloist with more than 50 appearances, since three, a credit.

Curriers are active members of Stanton's Congregational Church and High Priest. Currier was elected May 18, 1957, in Battle Creek, and was elected Grand Priest of Battle Creek Chapter No. 110, becoming affiliated with the chapter. He became a Royal Arch Master of Zabu Chapter No. 110 in 1943, and was a member of Battle Creek Commandery No. 110 from 1943 to 1952, when he transferred to Ionia Commandery No. 11, where he served as Eminent Commander and Recorder.

Road Building Accidents Fall Nearly 20 Percent

Chicago — On-the-job highway construction accidents have been reduced nearly 20 percent in Michigan since 1959, when a 10-point safety program was adopted by road builders and the Michigan State Highway Department, a Detroit contractor reports.

Grant Sivier, a member of the Michigan Safety Conference, said Michigan highway contractors have become "evangelists in the cause of safety."

Sivier said road builders are beginning to realize that safety "means money in their pockets" in the form of reduced insurance rates and increased insurance dividends as well as a savings of life and limb.

The Detroit contractor said Michigan road builders began an all-out attack on construction accidents three years ago when a committee of contractor and Highway Department representatives worked out minimum specifications for job safety and fire prevention.

Sivier said the safety specifications are incorporated as part of each highway construction contract.

"If a contractor fails to live up to safety requirements in the contract, the project engineer has authority to stop all work until corrections are made," Sivier said.

The program has revived interest in safety and has benefited contractors, the State and the public, he said.

The Public Health service is expanding its fallout detection network and is speeding efforts to determine whether any significant health hazard may be expected from radiation in the atmosphere from Russia's nuclear tests.

The hazard depends on how much and what kinds of radioactive material are ingested by people in milk, water and food—or are inhaled.

Laborers Continue To Leave Farms

The price-cost squeeze on farms, the widening gap between farm income and industrial wages, and new technology have encouraged a movement of labor from farm to industrial employment, says John Ferris, Michigan State University agricultural economist.

The decline of employment opportunities on the farm is also reflected in the trend toward part-time farming. Modern technology has made it possible for more farmers to supplement their income from off-farm jobs.

The leveling out of prices received by farmers, combined with the increase of prices paid by farmers, has pushed the Parity Ratio to its lowest level since the early 1930's, Ferris says.

The purchasing power of labor income per farm has declined about 20 percent during the past 10 to 15 years.

However, those who have stayed in farming have adjusted to somewhat adverse economic circumstances and are continuing to apply much new technology. They have expanded rapidly and have become more efficient.

Many farmers have improved their income position in the last decade even though average income has declined, Ferris says. In addition, inflation and land values has been a windfall gain to the owner of the land who is also the operator of most Michigan farms.

In the last five years, this appreciation has easily amounted to $20,000 a year on a 270-acre commercial farm in central Michigan—nearly equivalent to the annual labor income.

Of course, the farmer would realize this appreciation only if he sells the farm and leaves agriculture, he notes.

Because of the economic situation, the present trends in Michigan agriculture are toward larger commercial farms, more specialization and the confining of production to smaller areas where natural and economic conditions are the most favorable.

HEALTH BILL PASSED

The House has approved by voice vote and sent to President Kennedy a $230,000,000 community health facilities bill.

The measure would raise from $30,000,000 to $50,000,000 the annual authorization for Federal matching grants to help the states establish public health services for the aged, improve nursing homes and finance public health schools.

Furniture Refinishing

by BOB WILKIN

In the first of this series on furniture refinishing, we discussed the tools and general materials we'd need to revitalize some drab old piece of furniture. Now, let's get the old finish off.

Q. I suppose that means a pile of lye, a long-handled brush and all that?

A. Not at all. Your hardware store has a variety of modern removers, and you'll be certain to find one that's just right for the job you're undertaking.

There are four general types available. First, if you're just doing a piece that is horizontal and flat, a liquid-benzol type is very efficient. It's low-wax content permits maximum penetration. However, because this type is toxic and flammable, you'll have to provide thorough ventilation of the working area. And don't work near a fire.

Q. What about a typical job involving table and chair legs and other vertical areas?

A. One of the "all purpose" semi-paste removers fills the bill. It clings to rounded or vertical surfaces, and its anti-evaporation film allows it to stay wet longer.

Some of these semi-paste removers are almost non-flammable. The third type is the out-and-out non-flammable remover. While not having quite the staying power and penetrating quality of a semi-paste, it is lower in toxicity and does a fine job when one is working near a furnace, stove, or open fire. But you always need adequate ventilation.

The newest aid for do-it-yourselfers is a "wash-away" method by which the loosened sludge can be rinsed away with water. One such type consists of a package containing two solutions (a remover and an emulsifier) and the necessary steelwool pads as well.

No matter which of the four general types you use, remember that they are chemically derived and should not be used in direct sunlight because sunlight speeds up wasteful evaporation.

A cardinal rule in using removers is ALWAYS let the remover "work" as long as the manufacturer's directions say.

More on removers in the next article.

UN Membership

Now Totals 101

In 1958 the nameplate of the Syrian delegation disappeared from its accustomed place in the United Nations General Assembly hall, as that country's representatives joined the Egyptians in seats assigned to the United Arab Republic. Concurrently the Syrian national banner was removed from the arc of flagpoles along First Ave. But on the afternoon of Oct. 13 the dissolution of the partnership was symbolized as four Syrians headed by Farid Chelchouli quietly resumed their former seats according to alphabetical order. With their re-entry, member states of the world organization now total 101.

You need not worry very much about the "fate of civilization"; it is a tough baby that can take what comes and get over it.

CARD OF THANKS

Our heartfelt thanks and appreciation are extended to our friends, relatives and neighbors for the sympathy expressed by means of cards, flowers and many kindly acts at the time of the death of our brother, James Simpson. Special thanks to Don Boeman for his assistance; the Rev. Muri Eastman for his comforting words; the pallbearers; Grass Lake American Legion; and the Stormont Funeral Home.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barber and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Theron Foster and family.

Frank Simpson.

Halloween Hazardous for Young Goblin

Ann Arbor—Pediatricians at the University of Michigan Medical Center have issued their annual warning to parents of inexperienced ghouls, goblins and hoodlums to help them through the uncanny hazards of Halloween.

Low-flying witches or ground galloping ghosts should positively not carry sharp or pointed instruments, caution the University doctors, or they may wind up hunting a hospital.

Demons of all types need plenty of visibility. Use burnt cork or cosmetics in preference to masks. And use luminous tape on costumes. This heightens the eeriness of the costume, and helps ward off such dangers as automobiles.

Carry a flashlight if desired, but nothing with open flame such as candles or oil lanterns. Each Halloween, say the U-M doctors, hospitals repair a number of wizards who become careless with fire.

And, they add, science still has no sure cure for "Poltergeist Dyspepsia." This ghoulish stomach ache is usually caused by too many trick-or-treat goodies. Moderation helps. But if it persists, it's best to hop on your broom and go see your family doctor.

The U-M specialists also urge homeowners to keep porch lights on for the guidance of amateur and inexperienced spooks. They say despite a legendary ability to walk through walls, these hoodlums have a knack for tripping over bushes, steps and lawn furniture and skinned their shins.

Parents can take other measures to come through Halloween with a whole hoodoo. Warn youngsters repeatedly against going into the street; make sure spooks under age eight have an older wizard to guide them; and, if staging a party at home, don't make it too ghoulish or you will frighten the wits out of the younger goblins.

After all, reason, the doctors, they're just like children.

SURPRISE: Foods Are Bargain Priced

Food prices at the local supermarket have meant a pay raise for every American family over the last dozen years. Prices are higher—up 20 percent since 1947—48—but incomes and take-home pay have risen much faster.

Food is a bargain—the result of an amazing production on American farms that is the envy of the entire world. The U. S. Department of Agriculture provides these figures in a new folder, "Food is a Good Buy."

"But I pay more now than ever before for food," the housewife says. Correct, both the farmer and the grocer agree. "And we pay more taxes too," and the answer is right again.

"But, Mrs. Housewife," point out Mr. Farmer, Mr. Grocer and Mr. Processor, "while your food bill has been going up by one-fifth, your family income has risen more than twice that fast. Factory wages have jumped 57 percent over the past 13 years. This means you have more money left for a new house, a boat, television sets and vacations."

Department of Agriculture statistics show that the average family spends a little less than $400 per person each year for food. This is more than in 1948 but it takes less of the total income. People are living better and eating better than ever before. The next time the cash register rings up the week's groceries, most shoppers will be spending less of the family paycheck for food—a reminder that it remains as one of today's best buys.

FEDERAL BUDGET

Senator Harry F. Byrd, (D., Va.), and chairman of the Senate Finance Committee estimated that the Administration's programs would increase the Federal budget to at least $108,000,000,000 by 1965.

Mr. Byrd pointed out that President Kennedy had proposed 175 spending increases in twenty-five messages to Congress through July 26.

The Senator said, in his re-elected conservative determination that if defense expenditures must rise, non-defense expenditures must be curtailed.

Halloween Season Danger Increased By Pranksters

Halloween, a happy and care-free season of the year for so many children and adults, is unfortunately also one of the most dangerous.

Last year, Halloween Sunday was the deadliest traffic accident Sunday of the entire year with 14 fatal accidents resulting in 24 deaths.

According to State Safety Commission Chairman James M. Hare, the Halloween week-end and the Christmas week-end, the two worst of the year, brought death to 36 Michigan drivers, passengers, or pedestrians.

In releasing the report Hare said, "An unfortunate mixture of witches, goblins, wet-leaves, autumn arizies, and early darkness which come at this time of the year brings about more accidents of all kinds."

Hare asked youngsters to refrain from one hazardous Halloween pastime: souping or waxing car and truck windows.

"With early dusk and frequent wet pavements in October the driver's problem increases," Hare said. "Souping or otherwise marking up car windows makes visibility even more difficult to the peril of pedestrians, young and old."

Hare also pointed out that the anger and resentment felt by the Halloween motorists, whose car has been the object of pranksters' wax and soap, increases the danger of accidents.

"Kids should have fun during this traditional trick or treat holiday," Hare said. "But they must learn to understand the possible fatal consequences of the thoughtless actions of the few who fail to respect the property, and life or limb, of others."

Monday of the past week, Mr. and Mrs. George Knoll visited Mrs. Hannah Nuernberger at Royal Oak and called on their niece Mrs. Richard Koonitz and her father, Charles Youngs.

Justices Hear Area Hunting Violations

Six cases involving hunting violations were brought before Justice courts the past week and five others are pending, according to Conservation Officer Donley Boyer. Those pending include two each before Sylvan Township Justice of the Peace Chandler Rogers and Ann Arbor Municipal Judge Francis O'Brien and one before Manchester Justice of the Peace Stanton Roesch.

Those who appeared before Justice Rogers during the week and paid fine and costs of $17.50 each are Arlond Sites, 39, of Jackson, apprehended in the Winewana flooding area for taking more than the limit of wood ducks; Thomas Rayer, 20, of Dexter, and Lynn C. Richards, 21, of Ann Arbor, for late shooting (after sunset) on Four Mile Lake; and William J. Petrovich, 26, of Manistowic, for having a loaded gun in a motor boat.

The sixth man, Raymond A. Nichols, 23, of Tecumseh, appeared before Manchester Justice of the Peace Stanton G. Roesch on a charge of late shooting on the Raisin River.

Conservation Officer Boyer said pheasant hunting here and in the Saline area has been "very poor." He said he has never seen cover as heavy during the opening week of the small game season as it is this year, a condition which helps the birds elude hunters; however, that is not the principal reason for the small number of pheasants taken. Boyer explained that for "some unexplained reason pheasant numbers are 'way down' this year—the birds taken are good, but very few have been taken."

Duck hunting, Boyer said, has been "fair to good." Boyer reported, too, that three deer have been killed by cars during the past week. He said the deer are "on the move" now and motorists should be on the lookout for them crossing roads at night, particularly on bright moonlight nights.

A yearling doe was badly mangled when struck by a car on the Chrysler Proving Ground Friday night; a large doe was found dead on North Territorial Rd. near M-22 Saturday and another on US-23 near Joy Rd. on Sunday, Boyer said.

ARMY BUILD-UP

The Pentagon has ordered to active duty two National Guard divisions and 240 smaller National Guard and Army Reserve units throughout the country. The mobilization date will be Oct. 15.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced the mobilization at a news conference at the Pentagon. He emphasized that the Atlantic Pact allies were also taking measures to increase their military strength.

Olivet College Plans Homecoming Festivities

Olivet—Olivet college Homecoming is set for Oct. 27-28 with Noel's Coward's play "Blithe Spirit" the Friday night opener done by the campus drama club.

Saturday morning will feature meetings of alumni committees, trustees and women's auxiliary board. Afternoon highlight is the game between the Comets and Illinois college at Reed Field following a float parade headed to the theme "The Old South," a bow to the Civil War anniversary.

A Homecoming queen and king are to be announced at game half-time and will lead the Homecoming Ball in the evening at MacKay gymnasium, following the alumni banquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Buck and children, Wayne, Paul, David and Diane, of Werkner Rd., are moving next week to Canoga Park, a suburb of Los Angeles, Calif. They have lived here the past three years. Mr. Buck has resigned at Chrysler Proving Grounds to accept a position on the coast.

Public Invited, Even Urged To Observe Con-Con Debate

Constitution Hall, where proposals for a new Michigan Constitution are being debated, is open to the public.

James M. Hare, who was a member of the commission which prepared the facilities for the Convention said, "Many of us in Lansing are deeply concerned when we find that there are many people in the State who have the idea that the public is not wanted at the deliberations or debate."

"Since the group assembled on Oct. 3, we have been surprised to hear that many parents and students believe that visitors are not welcome," Hare said. "This, of course, is not true."

Hare pointed out that the Preparatory Commission had taken many steps to insure maximum public participation by providing 180 spectator seats, setting up microphones, cutting large picture windows into the walls of Constitution Hall, and providing for closed circuit television facilities to take care of overflow crowds.

Television monitors have been placed in the large lounge, in committee rooms, and elsewhere in Constitution Hall. There are enough of these closed circuit receivers to accommodate up to several hundred visitors.

Hare pointed out that these monitors will be most useful when busloads of eager students and other interested citizens begin to head toward Constitution Hall for a personal look-see. From 300 to 600 students alone, not to mention older visitors, come to Lansing every day when the legislature is in session, and many additional groups are expected to come to see this once-in-a-half-century convention.

"The reason that many more students haven't come already," Hare said, "is clear to any schoolman: a bus trip to Lansing, to be a real educational experience, takes preplanning and thought by both student and teacher plus permission of the parents, principal, and the school board."

"Almost everyone in Lansing is agreed on one thing," Hare concluded. "If the public doesn't understand the Constitution it will never be accepted at the polls, and the time and money and effort which have been spent on this Convention will have been wasted."

"If school children can watch democracy in action and observe the 144 delegates in their deliberations and if they and their parents see the issues clearly, the Constitutional Convention will have been worth having. It is our hope that many thousands of parents, teachers, children and other interested citizens will visit the Convention every week it is in session."

Convention authorities recommend Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday visitations for school groups. Most of weekly deliberations will begin Monday evening and close Thursday afternoon or early Friday.

Husbands and wives have been trying to reform each other for the past few thousand years; let's reverse the stunt and see how it works.

UN Drafts Text of International Convention On Child Marriages

After 23 votes including roll-calls, the social, human and cultural committee of United Nations General Assembly last week completed the text of a draft international convention on child marriages in many parts of the world. Some changes made in the measure as it submitted originally by the United Nations Commission on the Status of Women. As sent to the Assembly for action the convention states that both parties to a marriage must give their free consent and that all marriages must be registered officially. Establishment of a minimum age for marriage is left to be settled by each country which ratifies the convention. A supplemental note, the Status of Women Commission had recommended 15 years as a desirable objective.

Delegates Attend State Grange Meet

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Koenn were delegates of Pomona Grange, representing all Granges in Washtenaw county, at the Michigan State Grange convention held at Coldwater from Tuesday, Oct. 17 to Saturday, Oct. 21.

Koenn is chairman of the State Grange legislative committee. Also present as subordinate delegates from the county were Mr. and Mrs. William Hayes of Stony Creek Grange.

More than 400 representatives of Granges throughout the state were present and adopted more than 40 resolutions to be submitted for consideration at the national Grange convention to be held next month in Worcester, Mass.

The resolutions indicated the Grange's support or opposition to matters affecting township, county and state government; taxes; water pollution; state aid funds; distribution; labor unions; agriculture; Civil Service; and many others, emphasizing those pertaining to school matters.

On educational policy, the State Grange resolved as follows: That the 15-mill limitation on property taxes be retained.

That only qualified property owners be allowed to vote on increasing millage for any purpose.

That county boards of education authorize steps to be taken whereby all Junior High physical education classes would be transported by bus to the High School, thereby making better use of facilities and alleviating a bad situation created because of the large number participating.

Locker and shower room size of Junior High school is inadequate. Only cost is to be use of bus as teacher is to drive bus. (There are 80 students in classes and only six showers at Junior High school.)

A committee was appointed, composed of three members, Book, Vogel and Kusterer, to work with teachers committee in reviewing existing salary schedule.

The Board is contemplating the creation of a Citizens Committee.

A special meeting will be held Tuesday, Oct. 31, at 8 p.m. in the Board Room to discuss custodial service.

The annual financial report will be found in this issue of The Standard.

More than 300 press and radio correspondents are regularly accepted for coverage at the United Nations, more than half of them from countries outside of the United States. There are also 128 photographers and 145 newsreel cameramen and television operators on the list.

School Board Briefs

In the hope of a better understanding of your school operation the Board of Education through this medium will attempt to inform you of various school problems and of action taken on matters which perhaps will be of interest.

Regular Board meetings are held at 7:30 p.m. the third Tuesday of each month. These are open meetings and are held at the High School conference room.

At the meeting held Tuesday, Oct. 17, the date for the School Board reception for teachers was set for Oct. 24.

A request for use of school bus by the Agriculture Department for a field trip to the International Livestock Show in Chicago in November was turned down.

Physical Education department was informed a School bus could again be used to transport students for a two-week period to bowling alley. Bus to be driven by teacher as before.

A report on Junior High physical education program by Principal Lane resulted in the Board authorizing steps to be taken whereby all Junior High physical education classes would be transported by bus to the High School, thereby making better use of facilities and alleviating a bad situation created because of the large number participating.

Locker and shower room size of Junior High school is inadequate. Only cost is to be use of bus as teacher is to drive bus. (There are 80 students in classes and only six showers at Junior High school.)

Auto Safety Explained to Kiwanians

Announcements made at the Kiwanis club meeting Monday evening included mention of the Halloween party for children of the community, Tuesday, Oct. 31 at 6:30 p.m.; the club's Octogenarian Night, Monday, Oct. 30, when men of the community 80 years old and over will be guests of the club; and the annual Kiwanis public pancake supper to be held Nov. 6 at Chelsea High school cafeteria.

Guests of Monday's meeting included Arthur Walker, lieutenant-governor of Kiwanis Division VI and the lieutenant-governor-elect for 1962, J. D. Clark of Belleville.

Ray Haessler, Chrysler Corp. safety engineer, was the guest speaker at the meeting and explained about newest safety features being incorporated in the manufacture of the 1962 model cars, stressing particularly the great benefits of safety belts in case of an accident.

Other guests at the meeting included E. Kleinmann and B. J. Ludwig of Chrysler Proving Ground. The Chrysler guests were introduced by William Rich, program chairman.

Also guests were Elmer Wilson of Ann Arbor, Howard Peebles of Ypsilanti, Dr. J. B. Casey of Jackson, and Louis W. Allen.

Michigan Posting New Low Mark In Polio Cases

Lansing—With only 18 cases of paralytic polio reported during the first nine months of the year, it appears that Michigan may record the lowest number of polio cases in history, according to Dr. George Agate, director of the Michigan Department of Health's division of epidemiology.

Last year, 50 cases of paralytic polio were recorded, while the total was 104 in 1959. In 1954, the year before the Salk vaccine immunization program got underway, more than 1,000 cases of polio were reported in Michigan.

"While the figures for this year look good, it doesn't mean we have polio licked," the public health physician said. "The risk to those unprotected by immunization is just as great today as it was before the vaccine was developed."

The school checkpoint immunization law, which went into effect last year, focused attention on the question of immunization. As a result, about 98 percent of all children entering Michigan schools for the first time this year are protected by the vaccine.

Purpose of the tour is to explain authority facilities with special emphasis on park lands serving Washtenaw county residents.

Director Hallenbeck stated that the tour by bus will start in Ann Arbor and include stops at Delhi, Dexter-Huron and Hudson Mills Metropolitan Parks, located from 5 to 12 miles northwest of Ann Arbor, as well as visits to other authority property along the Huron River and finally stop at Kensington Metropolitan Park, located a few miles southeast of Brighton.

Co-hosts for the day are Herbert L. Frisinger, authority commissioner representing Washtenaw county and Ann Arbor resident, and Director Hallenbeck. The authority is a five-county park and parkway agency serving Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne counties.

Gelman Instrument Company To Distribute British Line

Gelman Instrument Co., of Chelsea, has negotiated an agreement with Evans Electroselenium, Ltd., England, for exclusive distribution of Evans products in the United States.

Charles Gelman, president of Gelman Instrument Co., stated that the Evans instruments will round out the line of equipment his company manufactures. He anticipates that some of the medical research instruments, particularly, will find widespread use in the United States.

One of the devices made by Evans is important in the treatment of heart disease. This new instrument automatically measures the clotting time of blood right in the doctor's office, avoiding the delay of sending blood samples to a laboratory.

Evans instruments are currently used throughout Europe and the British Empire. Evans employs more than 400 persons in their modern plant at Halstead, Essex, England. P. R. Brown, export manager, represented Evans Electroselenium, Ltd., during the negotiations in London. Brown said the agreements resulted from more than a year of preliminary discussions. His firm was impressed with the competence and aggressiveness of the Gelman management and selected the company as a distributor in preference to many larger firms. Sale of Evans equipment will represent a diversification of product line for Gelman. This firm has previously specialized in the manufacture and sale of air sampling instruments, and special filters and apparatus for the missile and atomic energy industries.

International trade and agreements are quite familiar to the Gelman Instrument Co., which regularly exports equipment to all major countries of the world. It also has purchasing and licensing agreements with other companies in England, Germany, and Finland.

Your hometown, like other human enterprises, requires the usefulness of individuals to be a great success. What do you do for others who live about you?

Station Operator Wins Cash Award For Good Service

Donald Knoll is $50 richer this week as a result of good customer service.

Knoll who operates the Ashland Oil service station at 500 N. Main St., was visited recently by one of Ashland Oil's "Mystery Drivers," and as a result was awarded a cash prize this week for his good customer service and the cleanliness of his station by Ward K. Stamm, district manager for Ashland Oil.

Awards under this sales-promotion program are based on salesmanship, driveway service, station cleanliness and appearance, and other key points in service station operation.

The Mystery Drivers, who remain unknown except to one or two company representatives, travel Ashland Oil's entire 14-state marketing area visiting service stations. Driving unmarked cars, they at no time indicate to the service station dealer that they are checking station appearance and service.

Following each visit the Mystery Driver mails a report card to the company's headquarters in Ashland, Ky. Dealers who qualify promptly receive an award.

Knoll is now a five-time winner, and reports he is keeping on the alert for an opportunity to pick up another cash bonus.

U-M Frosh Rate High in Scholarship

Nine out of 10 University of Michigan freshmen who enrolled this fall graduated in the top quarter of their high school classes.

Almost all of the 3,300 member class will succeed and become eligible to continue as sophomores, U-M admissions officers predict.

The most selective freshman class in U-M history, its members hold at least equal achievements of the 1960 group—91 percent of whom posted satisfactory grades, says Assistant Director of Admissions Byron L. Groesbeck.

Groesbeck notes that criteria used to select the class included high school academic and personal records, test scores, school recommendations, and rank-in-class.

A class-rank breakdown reveals more than half (57 percent) of the freshmen were in the top 10th of their graduating classes, 25 percent in the second 10th, and 18 percent in the third 10th.

After all other criteria are considered, a student who ranks in the upper 10th of his graduating class and the recommendation of his principal is virtually certain to be successful at the University, Groesbeck says.

Though students who rank high in the classes tend to be the most consistent performers at the U-M, Groesbeck explains, many more with records and lively interests in their programs of study excel in University courses. Some were "snowbirds" in high school who later showed the drive and initiative to achieve in accordance with their abilities.

Groesbeck points out that increased quality of the class stems from a greater number of well-qualified students in a growing college-age population and increased awareness by the high schools as to who should apply to the U-M.

Associate Director of Admissions Gayle Wilson points out, "As the University has always had an image of being a highly competitive institution, self-selection made by the student is also among factors accounting for the upswing in top ranking students."

"Also, counselors and principals realize that competition is mounting and recommend the student for admission only if they think he will succeed at the U-M."

Wilson points out that counselors, like admissions officers, evaluate students in light of their backgrounds and planned programs of study, realizing that competition varies in each U-M school and college.

Wilson and Groesbeck both state that success is most accurately predicted when the students' high school is considered. In the past, the Admissions office has prepared rosters which show principals and counselors how well their schools prepared students for their first college years.

Used to guide students in selecting and preparing for college, these rosters also aid effective high school counseling, the admissions officers agree.

A GIANT RADAR complex near Lima, Peru is probing outer space for information on stars and other possible space inhabitants we may have overlooked using conventional telescopes. SMALLER FAMILIES have become more popular with women of child-bearing age, report three scientists at Miami University. Married women aged 20-24 in 1955 expected to have an average 3.1 children, but this year those in the same age bracket expect only an average 2.8 children. The report predicts an "appreciable downturn" in the average size of completed families within several years.

Household Employees Urged To Verify Their Social Security Credits

Many maids, cooks, and other workers in private homes are getting credit under social security, according to Robert A. Kohn, district manager of the Ann Arbor Social Security office.

If you work for someone in a private home, make sure you are getting social security credit for your work by following these rules: If your work is in a farm home and you receive the calendar quarter from any one employer, insist that the employer report your earnings and pay your employer copies your name and social security number on your card.

When you reach age 62, you receive monthly old-age benefits but only if a certain number of quarters of work have been reported for you. The number needed ranges from 6 to 40 depending on your age. If she is 62 or older, she needs 10, or if she is 62 or older, she needs 10, or if she is 62 or older, she needs 10.

Workers who become disabled and unable to work at any time before age 65 may receive disability benefits if they have enough quarters of work. If a worker at any age, benefits may be to her survivors. Make sure your earnings are reported—it's important to you.

It seems that the telephone company converted its dial system recently and changed Waldron's unlisted number.

Dr. Waldron called information to get his number—they wouldn't tell him. The supervisor refused to give him his number. At last reports he still didn't know his number.

NEW FACE, SAME SPORTING HEART

We might as well tell you straight off: Corvair's the car for the driving enthusiast. Think that let's you out? Maybe not.

Until you've driven one, you really can't say for sure, because Corvair's kind of driving is like no other in the land. The air-cooled rear engine sees to that. You swing around curves flat as you please. You whip through the sticky spots other cars should keep out of in the first place. (Especially this year, now that you can get Positraction as an extra-cost option.) You stop smoothly, levelly with Corvair's beautifully balanced, bigger brakes.

Corvair's found other new ways to please you this year. A forced-air heater and defroster are standard equipment on all coupes, sedans and both Monza and 700 Station Wagons. So are dual sunshades and front-door armrests and some other goodies. You'll note some new styling, inside and out. Nice. And safety-belt installation is easier, too, and cheaper.

So you can see we haven't really done much to Corvair this year. Why on earth should we? If this car, just as she is, can't make a driving enthusiast out of you, better take a cab.

And here's America's only thoroughbred sports car, the '62 CORVETTE. We warn you: If you drive a Corvette after your first sampling of a Corvair, you may well end up a two-car man. And who could blame you?

Predicts Need for Second Detroit to Chicago Freeway
Quincy — A second Detroit to Chicago Freeway will be needed in Michigan within 20 years, a State Highway Department official predicted today at the dedication of a US-112 modernization project here.
Chief Engineer John E. Meyer said a recent Needs Study made by the Highway Department shows there will be a need by 1980 for a freeway paralleling US-112.
Construction of the freeway, Meyer said, probably won't be started until sometime between 1975 and 1980 "if we continue to have unmarked funds for highway construction."
Meyer said the State Highway Department will be unable to develop a long-range road building program unless gasoline taxes and license plate fees are earmarked for highway construction and maintenance.
Meyer said the Highway Department's program for the next few years calls for modernization of sections of US-112 all across the state "to provide motorists with the best highway possible as an alternate route between Detroit and Chicago."

From where I sit . . . by Joe Marsh

Friendly "Enemies"

Just about my closest friend in town is old Colonel Harmon, our banker. Yet, when I was a lot younger and had just started the Clarion, I actually thought he was my enemy!
Whenever I wrote an editorial, there was sure to be an angry letter from the Colonel, taking the opposite side. Seemed pretty clear he'd just as soon I was out of business.
But in the Depression, when it looked like the Clarion would have to shut down, it was Colonel Harmon who offered the loan that kept me going. Startled, I asked him why. "Well," he growled, "just because I don't agree with a man, doesn't mean I don't value his opinion. Besides—if you'd closed up, who'd I have to argue with?"
From where I sit, one of the wonderful things about America is the way people respect each other's opinions. For example, the Colonel doesn't happen to share my preference for a glass of beer, but he understands I have a right to feel the way I do. It's tolerance like this that keeps our friendship "in business."

Michigan Was First State To Provide for Libraries

Michigan claims the signal honor of being the first state to make provision for libraries in her first constitution in 1835. That year the Constitutional Convention met in Detroit, then little more than a village of 3,000. One clause marked the recognition of library service: "As soon as the circumstances of the state will permit, the legislature shall provide for the establishment of libraries, one in each township, and the money which shall be paid by persons as an equivalent for exemption from military duty, and the clear proceeds of all fines assessed in the counties for any breach of the penal laws shall be exclusively applied to the support of said libraries." (Art. 10, Sec. 4, Law of 1835).

Former Missionary In Pakistan Speaks To St. Paul's Women

Speaking at a joint meeting of the Mission and Willing Workers Circles of St. Paul's church Wednesday evening, Oct. 19, Mrs. R. R. Stewart, now of Ann Arbor, gave a resume of her experiences as a missionary worker in Pakistan.

A fluent and exceptionally interesting speaker, Mrs. Stewart explained that she comes of a family of missionaries—that her parents, and grandparents, and other relatives had served as missionaries before her. Her husband, formerly president of Gordon College for boys in Pakistan, is now working on a botanical project at the University of Michigan, identifying, cataloging and preserving specimens of plant life of the Himalayas.

Mrs. Stewart said that her husband, now 70, is believed to be the only surviving botanist who is able to do this particular work.

She said that this week she would be with him in Washington, D. C., where he is to receive an award for his efforts from the Pakistan government.

Specifically known as a "medal of service to the government," the citation mentions his work of constructing a Pakistanian herbarium during his years in Pakistan and that this project of his has served to bring many learned foreign visitors to Pakistan, in the intervening years.

Mrs. Stewart's talk followed the presentation by James Schneider of a film and tape recording received from his brother and sister-in-law, Douglas and Karen Schneider, in which they gave their impressions of their trip to India and the language school they attend there in preparation for missionary work.

The program was planned as a means of comparing a newcomer's impressions of a foreign mission field (by the Schneiders) with the experiences of a long-time missionary worker (Mrs. Stewart). The Stewarts are members of the Episcopal Church.

Wednesday's meeting, held in St. Paul's church hall, was preceded by a pot-luck supper at 6:30 p.m.

VFW Auxiliary Hears About Needs Of Hospital Patients

Mrs. Anna Ray, hospital chairman for volunteer services at Ypsilanti State Hospital and her co-chairman Mrs. Mina Durham, were guests at Monday's meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 4076. The meeting was held at the Knights of Columbus hall with nine members present.

Mrs. Ray spoke of the services at the hospital and the Auxiliary planned a hospital party at Ypsilanti for Nov. 21. It was also announced by Mrs. JoAnn Warywoda that the Auxiliary will present a Thanksgiving basket to a boy at the hospital.

During Mrs. Ray's talk she mentioned the urgent need for clothing for many of the patients—particularly coats, shoes and other outdoor apparel now that the weather is growing colder.

Also needed are lamps, davenport and other furniture to replace those sometimes damaged by patients.

At the request of Mrs. Warywoda, hospital chairman for the Auxiliary here, the Chelsea group voted a contribution of one dollar to be sent to the Battle Creek Facility as a contribution to its Christmas fund for indigent patients, and two dollars to be sent to the Iron Mountain hospital for Veterans' Day, Nov. 11.

Also voted was a contribution of one dollar to the Christmas fund of the VFW National Home at Grand Lodge at the request of Mrs. Helen Harvey and a contribution of $5.00 to the Chelsea Community Chest.

A report of the October social meeting held at the home of Mrs. Janet Fletcher was given by Mrs. Anna Warner and it was announced that hostesses for the November social meeting are to be Mrs. Eulalie Packard, Mrs. Iva Carty, Mrs. Birdie Chaplin and Mrs. Laureta Boyer.

SAFETY STARTS WITH YOU—More than 20 percent of all hunting accidents, including three fatalities, were self-inflicted during Michigan's 1960 deer and small game seasons. In more than 33 percent of all accidents, including eight fatalities, the victim was within 10 yards of the fired weapon. What do these percentages tell? Well, for one thing, "Watch out for your own gun." Secondly, be especially careful when near your hunting partner(s). Defensive hunting is the answer to most accidents. It involves staying alert to dangerous situations and compensating for the other guy's mistakes by using your own good judgment. It begins with your right choice of hunting buddies. This is as important to your life and limb as your pick of guns is to your shooting success. The two hunters above illustrate several good points for partners to remember: Always keep your muzzle pointed away from others; carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle should you stumble or bump your arm; keep your finger off the trigger until you've sighted game and know the coast is clear.

Painting of Mt. Calvary Cemetery Now Displayed in Detroit Library

A painting of the old St. Mary's Catholic church cemetery northwest of Chelsea, now known as Mt. Calvary cemetery, has been hung in the main Detroit Public Library's Burton Historical Collection, according to word received here by Mrs. F. A. Roethlisberger.

Mrs. Roethlisberger came into possession of the painting following the death in 1927 of her uncle, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. James Savage, who served in the heart of Detroit's Irish settlement, called Corktown, for many years. The picture was painted and presented to Msgr. Savage in 1904 by the late Miss Alice Gorman of Chelsea who was an accomplished artist.

The painting differs from other pictures and old photographs of the church and cemetery in that it portrays the particular part of the cemetery where the Savage family members are buried and includes the family monument.

Msgr. Savage's father, James Savage, Sr., came to this area from Ireland early in the 1830's having lived here some years before the birth of Msgr. Savage and Mrs. Roethlisberger's father, Edward Savage.

The old church, which was formerly located at the site of the cemetery and called St. Mary's,

Chelsea Standard
Chelsea, Michigan

Dear Sir:

We think it might be of interest to the people in your community to know how much some of our citizens are doing for the patients in Ypsilanti State Hospital.

You received publicity at the time of the recognition ceremony at the hospital so you are aware that Chelsea is represented by four very fine volunteers: Mrs. Gertrude Bates, 804 Washington St.; Miss Cora Feldkamp, 252 Park St.; Mrs. Ruth Wilkinson, 20850 W. Old US-12, and Mrs. Helen Walz, 13349 Yankum Rd. These four ladies serve us faithfully once a week throughout the year.

Now other members of your community are becoming interested in our program through the efforts of these Gray Ladies. Mrs. Walz (Floyd) enlisted the aid of her husband, a friend, Miss Marian Allan, and a local merchant, Lloyd Heydlauff, to help secure a stove for one of our geriatric recreation rooms. Through their combined efforts, we received a very good electric stove last week. This stove will be used by groups of patients to cook and bake snacks and meals from donated packaged foods.

Projects of this kind are of enormous help in the rehabilitation of the patients. We feel that this deserves recognition in your newspaper.

Sincerely,

William S. Cook
