Area People Reminded of Blood Clinic

Mrs. Dudley Holmes, Chelsea Community Blood Bank chairman, is reminding area residents that a blood donor clinic at the sub-center in the American Red Cross headquarters at Ann Arbor is scheduled for Friday, Aug. 14 (tomorrow). She urges all area persons who can do so to give blood at this time since it might be more convenient now than at the time of the Chelsea clinic scheduled for Oct. 30.

All blood donated by Chelsea area people will be credited to the Chelsea Blood Bank, which at present has a credit balance of only 40 pints.

Mrs. Holmes pointed out, too, that hunters and others who will be out of town at the time of the Chelsea clinic are especially urged to avail themselves of this opportunity to participate in the community blood donor project.

The Red Cross sub-center is at 2720 Packard Rd.

Hours for the clinic are 2-5 p.m. and 6-7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Holmes reminds those who are under 21 that they must bring with them permission slips from their parents or guardian if they wish to contribute blood.

Dr. A. Steger Dies Sunday At Age 86

Practiced Dentistry In Chelsea 59 Years Before Retiring in '59

Dr. A. L. Steger, 86, a life-long Chelsea resident and a practicing dentist here for 59 years before his retirement five years ago, died Sunday at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor, where he had been a patient since Thursday. He had been in failing health for some time.

Born in Chelsea, Jan. 13, 1878, he was a son of Augustine and Hattie Nelson Steger. He graduated from Chelsea High school and from the University of Michigan Dental School in 1909. He practiced in Chelsea from that time until his retirement.

In 1908 he was married to Elizabeth Breitenbach and they made their home for many years at 402 S. Main St. They celebrated their golden wedding in 1958. Mrs. Steger died Sept. 27, 1963.

Survivors of Dr. Steger are two sons, W. Arnold and Lawton, both of Chelsea; five grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; and one sister, Mrs. Mina Defendorf of Ann Arbor.

Two brothers and a sister preceded him in death.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Staffan Funeral Home with the Rev. James Craig officiating. Burial took place at Oak Grove cemetery.

Kiwanians Plan Ladies Day Picnic

Floyd Fowler, program chairman at the dinner meeting of the Kiwanis club of Chelsea Monday evening, conducted an interesting quiz period on facts related to Kiwanis International.

There were three guests present for the meeting which was held in the social center of the Methodist church. The guests are listed as Vance Watson of Hermantown, Fla.; Hobart M. Reise of Dayton, O.; and Harold Storms of Maple Heights, O.

Plans were discussed for activities of the club in connection with the Chelsea Community Fair.

PAUL GUENTHER, a member of the Busy Two-in-One 4-H club, led by Albert Ruhl, was "plum" tucked out at the Washtenaw County 4-H Show after his two-year-old Holstein cow placed first in her class in the dairy division. More than 1,000 exhibits were entered by hundreds of 4-H club members. The entries included a great variety of projects in addition to the animals exhibited at the three-day show which ended Friday.

GEORGE MACOMBER of 6844 Park Rd. exhibited the grand champion senior yearling in the Holstein dairy division at the Washtenaw county 4-H Show held last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at the Rural Activities Center on Saline-Ann Arbor Rd. The registered Holstein — Wolverine Baron Abbecker — was also the division junior champion at the show. It was one of the many fine animals exhibited at the county show. Livestock of all kinds, as well as dogs, horses, poultry, rabbits, etc., were included in the exhibits and competition.

Area Youth Win Many Top Awards at County 4-H Show

The Washtenaw County 4-H Show, held at the Rural Activities Center on Saline-Ann Arbor Rd. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week included more than 1,000 exhibits entered by hundreds of Washtenaw county 4-H club members.

County-wide recognition and the privilege of representing the area at the State 4-H Show Aug. 31-Sept. 3 at Michigan State University, East Lansing, was the goal of the competition among the club members.

Some also were selected to represent Washtenaw 4-H club members at the Michigan State Fair in Detroit.

The main building at the Rural Activities Center, the three barns on the premises and two circus tents were headed to house the exhibits.

The County 4-H Show is sponsored jointly by the Co-operative Extension Service, the Washtenaw County Board of Supervisors, the Washtenaw Farm Council and the Washtenaw 4-H clubs.

Chosen as the dairy judging team to compete at the State 4-H Show were Archie Bradbury of Dexter, Doug Spike of Manchester, Grace Kuehmal of Chelsea and Phil Gordon of Saline.

Dairy winners in the various categories from this area are George Macomber, Park Rd., whose cow was judged junior champion and grand champion in the Holstein division; Colleen Haab of Chelsea who had the junior champion in the Brown Swiss division; Mark Ruhl of Dexter whose Guernsey was judged senior champion and grand champion in her division; Blanche Davis of Manchester who exhibited the junior champion Ayrshire; and Steve Brautigam, also of Manchester, whose entry was judged grand champion in the Brown Swiss category.

Area winners in the various sheep divisions are as follows: Corriette — Bill Kuehmal of Chelsea, champion ewe; Bev Win-jell of Chelsea, reserve champion ewe.

Suffolk — Archie Bradbury of Dexter, champion ewe and champion ram.

Other Breeds — (Medium wool) Mike Gruu of Chelsea, reserve champion ram; Cheryl Gruu, champion ewe; Susan Gruu, reserve champion ewe; (Fine Wool) Ron Mast and Carol Mast of Dexter, champion and reserve champion ram, respectively, and Ron Mast, champion and reserve champion ewe.

All Merchants Offering 2-Day Bargain Event

Chelsea's eighth annual "Sidewalk Days" is being held tomorrow and Saturday — two gala days when the downtown area takes on the appearance of Chicago's famed Maxwell St. where merchandise is displayed on the sidewalks as a customary practice.

All Chelsea merchants are co-operating in the annual event and have been making special preparations for this big sale — offering new seasonable merchandise at bargain prices, not merely end-of-the-season close-outs.

Chelsea Jaycees are co-operating by having a "popcorn wagon" stationed in the downtown area during the two-day sale.

Included in bargains offered are such items as electrical appliances, furniture, home furnishings, men's, women's and children's clothing, groceries, etc.; in fact, every kind of merchandise in which area shoppers are interested at this time of year, including back-to-school items.

Special bargains are being advertised by individual merchants in this issue of The Standard.

Adding interest to Friday evening's Sidewalk Days events is a band concert at 7:30 p.m. in the Municipal parking lot. The Community Band, directed by Bruce Galbraith, will present the final concert of the summer season.

Included in the concert will be "Promotion March," by Chenette; "Three Sketches for Band," by Morrissey; "Syncopated Clock," by Anderson; and "Firework Music," by Handel.

Frisch Family Wins Trip to Scout Ranch

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Frisch will leave by train from Ann Arbor next Monday for the Philmont Scout Ranch at Cimarron, N. M. They will be accompanied by their five children.

The trip is awarded in recognition of Frisch's service to boys through his work in Boy Scout activities. It is awarded by the National Boy Scout Council on recommendation of the local council — Portage Trails Council — and the regional Boy Scout executive. It is described as a scholarship to a Farm-City Scoutmaster conference to be held at the Philmont Volunteer Training Center.

The scholarship course lasts a full week and while Frisch and other Scout workers are busy, a special program will be carried out for their wives and children. Included will be tours, hikes, horseback riding, parties, crafts, banquets and many other activities.

The training center is situated in a scenic area of the 147,000-acre ranch which is 6,000 feet above sea level.

Frisch, who currently is Scoutmaster of Troop 425, said the trip and the training he will be given will prove invaluable to him as preparation for leading a troop, including Chelsea Boy Scouts, on a trip to Philmont in the summer of 1965.

The Frisch family — parents and children — are looking forward to their week's stay at Philmont Ranch. They have been told they will be living in a tent city; however, the modern conveniences of wooden floors and electric lights add to the comfort of living in the tents. Beds and all linens are also furnished.

The Kenneth Livingstons and their family, formerly of Chelsea, are spending a month's vacation as guests of Mrs. Livingston's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Stoffer of Dexter. The Livingstons have been living at Riverview, Fla., the past few years.

Waterloo Museum Opening

The Waterloo Area Historical Society which has been instrumental in restoring the old Reilly homestead as a farm museum, is holding an "unofficial opening" there on Sunday, Aug. 16, from 2:30 until 5:30 p.m. and combining it with an old-fashioned ice cream social. Cuke and pie is to be served with the ice cream.

This is a departure from originally announced plans for a dinner. Proceeds of a free will offering will be used for further restoration of the historic house and grounds as a lasting memorial to the pioneer life of this area a hundred or more years ago.

Conducted tours will be featured at a nominal charge per person. The tour will include visits to the rooms already restored and furnished in the fashion of the period.

The century-old parlor has a genuine Brunswick carpet, a peloton, cast iron heating stove and authentic wall paper.

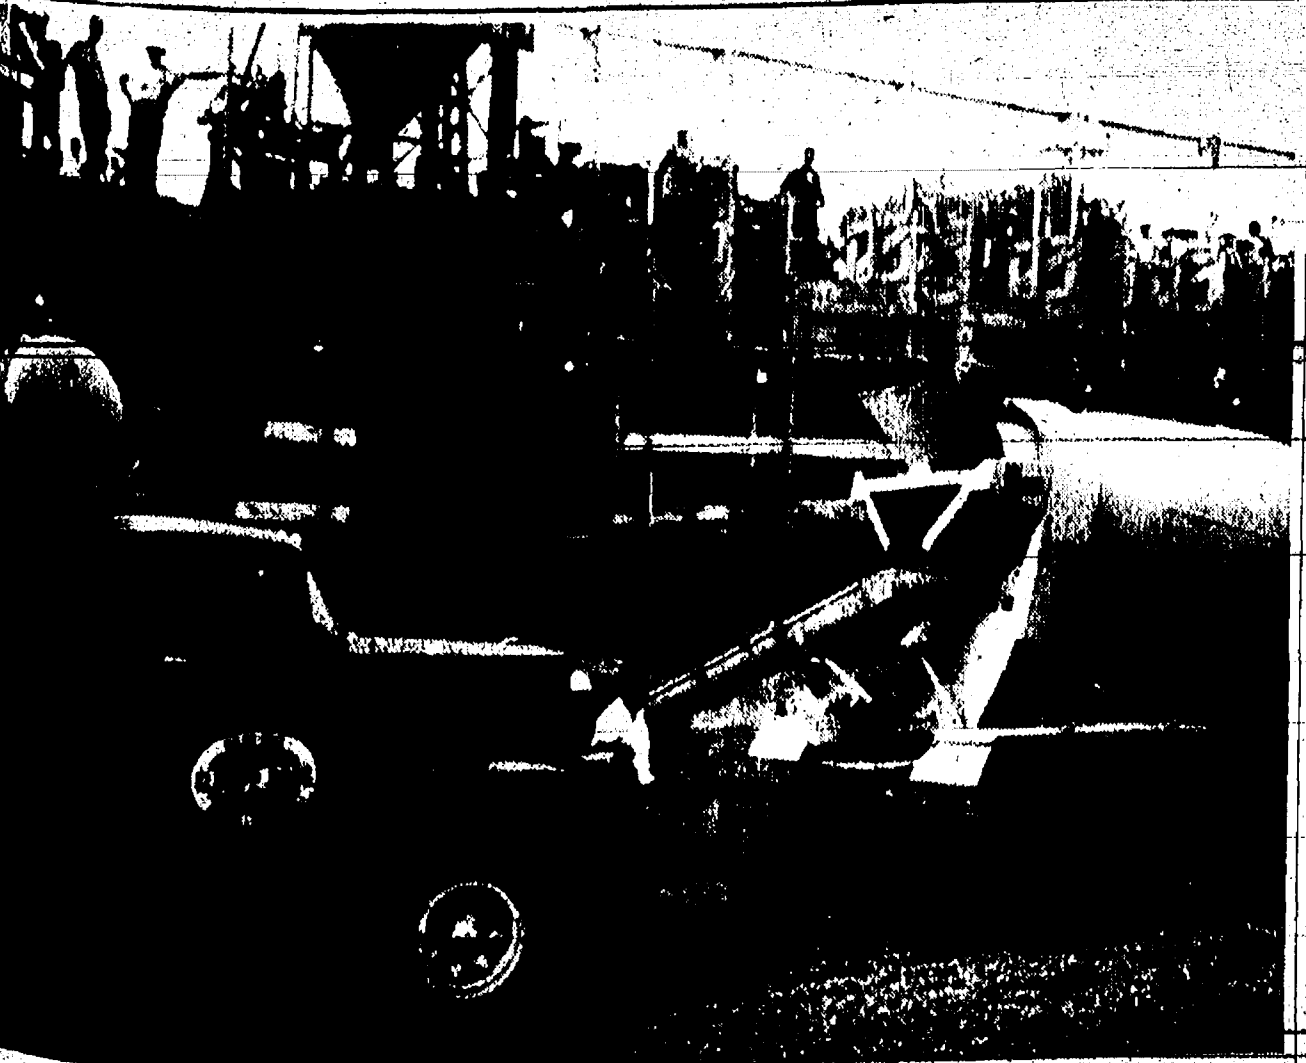

In the living room a beautiful rag carpet, a reproduction of a Franklin stove and an old-time writing desk are highlights, while the dining room has a table set with old-fashioned case knives and forks and ironstone dishes. One bedroom has also been restored and furnished.

"Before and after" pictures will be on display in the house.

Another building which is part of the general museum project is the former rural school, known as the Dewey school. It is located at North Territorial and Mayer Rd. Open house also will be held at the school Sunday afternoon.

All area families are invited to attend Sunday's open house — both at the former Reilly homestead, 6908 Waterloo-Munith Rd. and at the old country school.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Munro and children, of Peoria, Ill., spent the week-end here visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Munro.

10 FEET HIGH IN FOUR DAYS: This is a new activity at the Chelsea Milling Co. construction project as the concrete walls were approximately one-quarter completed. Pouring of the concrete on the new mill building began Monday morning, Aug. 3, and was completed to the full height by last Thursday night. The work continued on a 24-hour basis since once the pouring was started the process had to continue without interruption until the full height was reached. The photo shows the gigantic form used — the form extended entirely around the 100x44-foot structure and was steadily moved upward as pouring of the concrete proceeded. Two of Klump Bros. Gravel Co. transit-mix trucks are shown delivering concrete for the project.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

The summer months are upon us—and once again Michigan citizens (and, of course, many people from outside the borders of Michigan) are taking to the road to enjoy the many scenic sights of the water Wonderland—Michigan as a vacationland for many people and our tourist industry is one of the biggest industries we have.

Michigan is a beautiful state, with its sparkling lakes and lush green forests, its quiet retreats and its fishing streams all beckoning for the vacationer's attention.

One over-riding element clouds this beautiful picture: human carelessness.

One cannot help feel a sense of anger and resentment at finding a pile of rusty beer cans at an otherwise lovely camping spot. Or shards of broken glass on a sandy beach where many walk barefooted.

What is more disgusting than a pile of litter or trash alongside the highway or a lake or stream that serves as a garbage dump?

I have recently received a progress report from the Keep Michigan Beautiful Committee which I think is doing an excellent job in alerting the public against littering.

The Committee is a fine example of public-spirited men working in the public interest and attempting to educate the citizens of our state and of other states against despoiling the landscape of Michigan.

Ten citizen subcommittees have been established; new releases and radio programs have highlighted the problem; and brochures, films and television shorts are in preparation, as part of a systematic campaign to drive home the point.

The Michigan State Chamber of Commerce has provided organizational facilities for Keep Michigan Beautiful.

Keep Michigan Beautiful, Inc. is now established as a permanent, citizen-operated organization. I urge all citizens and officials in local communities around the state to cooperate in the anti-litter campaign.

We must keep Michigan beautiful for others, as well as for ourselves, to enjoy. The land is ours and we must respect the land we cannot afford a country where aesthetics and beauty is trampled upon, due to carelessness and human "non-concern."

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udell, in his book "The Quiet Crisis," maintains that "we can have... an unspoiled environment if we are willing to pay the price" and he further adds that "we must develop a land conscience that will inspire those daily acts of stewardship which will make America a more pleasant and more productive land.

Keep Michigan beautiful. The responsibility is yours.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

by M. L. Wolf

Shrunken Wheat Income

It has been a good harvest year in Michigan, yet wheat farmers are bitter and discouraged. Not because of the yield, for most of this year's wheat was impressively good. There was little "lodging" and few shrunken kernels were found. But the crop is bringing a shrunken price.

Where most wheat sold for around $2.00 per bushel last year it is bringing from $1.15 to $1.30—a drop of about 70c per average bushel. Apply this to a total crop of 40,000,000 bushels to see the enormity of the loss in Michigan. It comes to over 17 million dollars in farm income.

At the same time, the price of flour has jumped and soon will be reflected in the prices of bread. Why? How have these things happened?

Farmers trace the trouble directly to the Wheat Certificate Plan which Congress enacted by a scant margin after farmers had turned the same scheme down in national referendum.

It passed as a supposedly "voluntary" program promising much talking of $2-per-bushel wheat and predicting better farm incomes because of government "help."

The wheat program calls for flour millers to pay the government 70c for each bushel they mill. Exporters pay another 25c. These funds are supposed to help finance the program.

The new wheat certificate will not affect a bushel of bread wheat. Orville Freeman when rounding up votes in Congress in support of the bill. But millers have naturally reflected the higher cost of doing business in the price of flour—and bakers will, in turn, in the price of bread.

To keep his promise, Freeman has been depressing prices by dumping government-held surplus wheat on the market. He released 7,500,000 bushels in the first week of July just as the new crop Michigan wheat was coming to market. Farmers paid the bill.

Fortunately, the provisions of the Agricultural Act of 1949 which allowed the Secretary of Agriculture to enforce the wheat certificate plan without a grower referendum, expires in 1955.

There is little doubt that by then Congressmen will fully understand how farmers feel.

Television stars on hand to entertain the youngsters at the 115th annual Michigan State Fair will include Cap'n Jolly, Ricky the Clown, Bozo the Clown, B'wana Don, Poeddeck Paul and Johnny Ginger. The fair runs from Aug. 28 through Sept. 7.

IN THE GOOD OL' SUMMERTIME

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Head Count

A count of people in minority racial groups in state employment turned up some informative but less than conclusive figures.

The Civil Service Commission, which ordered the study and received the report, agreed that it "neither proved nor disproved the existence of racial discrimination."

Primarily aimed at determining where and how many Negroes hold state posts, the study included all non-white racial groups. It was prompted by Negro leaders' demands for equal employment opportunities for members of their race.

Since no racial classification was listed on employment records in past years, the study was largely dependent on supervisors' counts of employees in their jurisdiction.

It showed that 8.6 percent of state employees are non-whites, slightly less than the 9.4 percent figure of non-whites in the total state population.

In the southeastern metropolitan area, however, the percentage of non-whites on the state payroll is higher than the population rate in that area, the study showed.

More white employees receive promotions once they are in the state service, according to the survey. White workers also have a higher median pay than non-whites.

Commission members said these conclusions could not lead to any generalizations about racial discrimination, however.

"There is no question that the Civil Service examination program discriminates against the less qualified candidates," the report said.

With the education level among non-whites, the Commission report said it could draw no conclusions on whether discrimination existed on criteria other than job capacity.

A similar study in the future could only be meaningful, the report said, if race were listed on the job application. This change is currently under study.

The racial designation would show how many non-whites apply for jobs and why they do or do not succeed in competitive examinations.

Milk Wars
Michigan consumers may see an end to the milk price war which has been waged over several years between grocers and dairymen.

Members of the dairy industry at the retail level have blamed much of the price war on shipper wholesalers, who they say have sold milk to grocers at lower prices than it can be delivered at home.

Wholesalers deny this, saying the grocers were at fault for selling milk below cost as a loss-leader item to get consumers into the store.

Loss-leader milk prices in the grocery stores, nonetheless, have been putting retail dairies out of business at an increasing pace in the past five years or less.

Legislative attempts to regulate dairy pricing methods have failed, largely due to opposition from all segments of the industry.

Now, Gov. George Romney calls for strict industry regulation from its own membership, threatening government control if this is not forthcoming.

Price leader selling results in demoralization of the industry involved, the Governor said.

"When price is the only thing you're selling you're on the way to real trouble, and in the long run it is the customer who pays for the trouble," he said in a meeting with industry representatives.

"We don't like governmental regulation," said Romney, "but if it is necessary we would require it."

Kids - Kids - Kids
Large figures cited to support political positions often mean little or nothing to the average man.

The increases in public school enrollments is one which is easily translated on a small scale because it affects every parent in Michigan.

The total figure involved, however, remains impressive. Experts tell us Michigan public schools have increased in enrollments by more than 55,000 annually in the last few years and will likely continue at this or an even greater pace.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn M. Bartlett translates this into a more meaningful figure. He explains that this growth pace is equivalent to the combined public school enrollment of Bay City, Battle Creek, East Detroit, Muskegon and Grosse Pointe.

Homemakers Urged To Report Suspected Illegal Products

East Lansing—A Food and Drug Administration home economist called upon homemakers to report abuses of the law when they suspect that a product is illegal.

Speaking to a College Week for Women audience at Michigan State University recently, Diane Place, FDA consumer consultant in Detroit, said, "Consumers can protect themselves against both economic and nutrition cheats if they are responsible for reading and heeding the labels on the products they buy and respond when they suspect that the product is illegal by reporting it."

She reminded homemakers that foods in interstate commerce are protected by the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act.

Zeke Grubb reported he didn't have no pants problems on account of him not wearing nothing but overalls. And he was of the opinion that the Congress has got so fond of the 40-cent dollar they ain't going to investigate the pants makers for the larceny of a little cloth. Furthermore, he allowed, between Bobby Baker and them lobby fellers, everybody in Washington was violating the 10 Commandments and the Constitution in a manner that has got both Moses and Jefferson turning over in their graves.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:
I have wrote to my Congressman and ask him to get them two Government agencies that was conferring at the summit on chicken soup to put another item on the agenda.

It used to be a feller could get a pair of pants he could pull off with his shoes on without no trouble. But the pants makers has got together and figured if you can sell chicken soup without no chicken you can sell pants without no cloth. And it looks like the disease is spreading. Hat brims was getting slimmer and simmer shoe strings for neck ties. The legs on the last pair of pants I bought fits me tight and snug like my winter underwear. If a feller's ankle got swole up during the day he'd just have to keep his pants on for the duration. Furthermore, they don't allow no margin at the waist for eating a good meal. I take off mine like I take off my boots, git my old lady to back up and hold on to the cuffs while I pull up her and gravity. She says she aims to put zippers from the body that needs that much cloth, and you will recollect the old saying that a elephant is a mouse made to Government specifications.

I sprung this item up at the country store Saturday night and Ed Doolittle said he couldn't speak with no authority on the subject, allowed as how the price of pants had got so high under the Democrats he ain't bought a pair since Ike moved to Gettysburg.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

B Radio Operators Help Member Visit Ill Father

Defense Director Elwyn Harrison was contacted by a clipping from the Standard when he learned that a telephone call when radio response was not forthcoming and learned that Griswold's father was seriously ill with a nervous breakdown.

Griswold, when asked, if he wanted to go to see his father, said he couldn't afford to take the trip but certainly would like to go if it were possible.

Roberts and Harrison then went to work and contacted the Chevrolet dealers in the area for donations to raise the price of airplane fare ($217.14) to Arizona and return. The next day Roberts traveled north to pick up the promised donations and Harrison made the collections in the southern area and that afternoon Griswold was on the plane for Arizona.

He remained at his parents' home for a week, a note of thanks from his parents to all CB's involved stating that Griswold's visit to his father "had done more good than all the medicine you can buy."

Roberts, who with Harrison, was instrumental in making the visit possible said the incident "proves one thing to all of us—that there are still some people in the world who have time and hearts big enough to help his fellow man in time of need."

Civil Defense Director Beach echoed Roberts' sentiments saying this was one of many instances (and an outstanding one) in which CB's have rendered service. He pointed out that the Chelsea Citizens' Band Emergency Radio Service is ready, at a moment's notice, to go into action in case of community emergency of any kind—man-made or natural—and should be commended for their willingness to be of service.

The National Outlook

By George Hagadorn

★ The Economic Boom Shifts Gears . . .

The three-and-a-half year old business expansion continues with no discernible loss of momentum. But a significant change in its character is occurring. A consumer-aided boom has changed into a capital-goods boom—but not as yet, into an inventory boom.

In its early stages the rise was sparked chiefly by increased consumer spending for durables (automobiles and household appliances) and for housing. Currently, however, the leading factor is the rise in business expenditures for plant and equipment.

Follow the Leader? Of course, both consumer spending—including non-durables and services as well as durables and business spending have been rising throughout. Generally speaking, in any movement in business conditions consumer spending and business spending move in the same direction.

But we can usually see certain particular sectors of the economy leading the procession, while other sectors move in the same way but at a slower pace. We then conclude, at least in the absence of evidence to the contrary, that the fastest moving parts of the economy are creating the conditions in which the other economic sectors are participating.

In the first stage of the business rise which began in 1961 consumer spending led the rise, while capital spending increased less rapidly. Between 1961 and 1962 the gross national product increased by 7.2 percent. Expenditures for consumer durables rose by 10.8 percent and residential construction increased by 11.8 percent. But expenditures by business for plant and equipment rose by only 8.4 percent.

The story during the past 12 months has been somewhat different. In the second quarter of 1964 consumer spending for durable goods and for housing was 8.2 percent higher than in the same period a year ago. This was approximately in line with—the 7.1 percent rise in gross national product.

The real leader during this latter period has been capital spending. Outlays for new plant and equipment have increased 13.9 percent. This is almost twice as fast as the growth in the economy generally.

Thus our economic expansion gradually assumes the character of a capital goods boom. This was to be expected as production levels began to encroach on available capacity.

Inventory Trend During any prolonged expansion economists usually watch for the point at which it turns into an inventory boom. This is the phase when an increasing proportion of current production goes into stockpiles rather than out to final purchasers. Our current rise, however, gives no indication that it is even approaching that point. In fact, during the first half of 1964 the state of inventory accumulation was lower than at any time since 1941.

There is no reason to suppose that capital spending is about to reach unsustainable levels or that this new stage in the business rise is necessarily a step toward its termination. In fact, an expansion in productive capacity is essential to provide the base for further growth.

LABOR AND RIGHTS The American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations plans to put the full weight of its 14.5-million members behind the new Civil Rights Law in a campaign of "constructive compliance." The campaign may include strikes against employers who discriminate.

One good thing about the hot days—they're getting shorter daily.

County 4-H Show Awards . . .

outstanding food exhibit went to Carol Niehaus of Grass Lake in food preparation and Janet Kemmer of Manchester in food preservation (freezing).

Recipe books awarded by Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. as food preparation awards went to five county girls including Alice Bristle of Dexter.

Barbara Kemmer of Manchester was included among 12 girls who received cooking books as Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. awards for outdoor cooking projects.

Demonstration winners in the senior division included Arlys Wiseman of Chelsea recreation and arts; and in the junior division, Renee Kirk of Manchester, conservation; and Kathy and Lucy Feldkamp of Manchester, baking.

Others from this area selected in various categories for exhibiting at the 4-H State Show are as follows: David Steward of Chelsea, photography; Janet Kemmer of Manchester, senior foods; Alice Bristle of Dexter, alternate in senior foods; Bill Wolk of Chelsea, other crafts; Nancy and Danny Ganshorn of Manchester, vegetable conservation.

The list continues with Arlys Wiseman and Linda Koch, flower judging and identification; Carol Curtis of Chelsea, rabbit judging.

Young of Chelsea the winner in the Junior beef division and Michele O'Doherty of Dexter in the Junior sheep division.

Listed among those who exhibited market beef champions and reserve champions is Dave Young of Chelsea whose Angus was judged reserve champion in that division.

Special 4-H Horse Project activities were highlighted at Friday's County 4-H Show including a "Fun Horse Show" in the afternoon and a grand entry and presentation of 4-H horse awards during a one-hour presentation beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Selected for Michigan State Fair exhibits was a bedspread entered by Marcia Heiber of Manchester, according to additional lists of winners. She also received the Detroit Edison award—a resource book—on her bedspread entry in the home design division.

In the flower garden division Marcia Heiber's dahlia was chosen for exhibit at the State 4-H Show and Judy and Arlys Wiseman each had her flower arrangement chosen.

Home design award winners include Vicki Eisel and Hattie and Janice Spaur of Manchester, Kathleen Feldkamp, Theresa Roberts and Karen Jenter, also of Manchester, and Laura Reddeman of Chelsea.

The money management project exhibited by Elaine Kastl of Manchester and a foods project (quick breads) by Marilyn Wurster of Manchester also were chosen for State Show while alternates in the foods division are Leslie Litke of Dexter and Cynthia Niehaus of Chelsea.

REPUBLICAN NOMINEE Senator Barry Goldwater, Republican nominee for President, emphasized in his acceptance speech that he planned to conduct a hard-hitting campaign against President Johnson through the party's National Committee, which is being revamped in his image. Goldwater names Rep. William E. Miller, the vice presidential candidate and Dean Burch, Tucson lawyer and devoted student water strategist, as National chairman.

ON BUDGET DEFICIT

President Johnson is expected to announce that the budget deficit for the recently completed bookkeeping year will be significant.

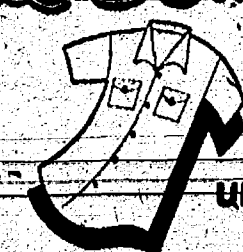

Antly lower than anticipated, it was learned. Evidence is mounting that the deficit will be lower than the $9,800,000,000 forecast recently.

a parking ticket on his car.
He took the ticket and story to the city hall and was excused this time.

History Books Found in Old Building

Lewis Schneider came into possession of two interesting old books which he found while he was at work some time ago tearing down an old building.

One of the books, called "The Beginner's American History" concisely and in simple language understandable by children as young as fourth graders, covers the years from the birth and boyhood of Columbus to the assassination of President William McKinley in 1901 and the swearing in of the vice-president, Theodore Roosevelt, to succeed him.

First copyrighted in 1892, the history book, written by D. H. Montgomery, was revised and copyrighted again in 1899 and in 1902.

Ginn & Company of Boston, New York, Chicago and London were the publishers. The price listed for the well-printed, strongly bound book was 60 cents.

The other book is approximately 12 by 18 inches in size and chronicles the story of the War of 1898, described as the "Spanish-American War and the Revolt in the Philippines."

The title page states that the story was told by W. Nephew King, Lieutenant, U.S.N., and illustrated (profusely) with drawings in black and white, photographs taken at the front, and "paintings by the best artists."

Other military personnel given credits in the book include J. O. Howard, major-general (retired), U.S. Army; and U.S. Navy Captain Robert D. Evans.

Some of the artists whose illustrations are included are listed as H. C. Cristy, A. C. Redwood, Henry Reuter and J. G. Tyler. The publication date is Sept. 1, 1908.

The story begins with a description of the sinking of the battleship Maine in Havana Harbor with the loss of 266 of her crew. That occurred Feb. 15, 1898 and the story states "war with Spain followed 65 days later."

Illustrations include a photograph of President William McKinley and the members of his cabinet and many photographs of soldiers who took part in the war, as well as battle scenes, types of guns used, etc.

Also included are messages sent by various generals and communications sent by President McKinley.

Instructor at Cassidy Lake School Conquers Lake Michigan in Canoe

A Grass Lake man who is employed at Cassidy Lake captured third prize in the 43-mile Lake Michigan Canoe-Endurance Race Aug. 2, but it wasn't easy, he explained.

J. A. Kuenz who is employed at Cassidy Lake Technical School in the machine shop, and his partner, bucked 90-mile winds the last four miles, and most of the trip they couldn't see land at all.

The pumps failed when they were a short way out while they were still leading the pack. Kuenz's partner, Charles Kuszynski of Chicago, baled with a furor as the high waves poured into their canoe and sloshed around dangerously. In the frantic bailing however, Kuszynski let go of the bailing can and it washed into the lake.

Kuenz had two cans screwed to the front of his canoe, one holding a jar of drinking water and one a jar of liquid food. He didn't dare throw out what was left of the food because the way things were going no telling how badly they might need it—no buoys were in sight—no canoes were either—but he needed the can desperately that held the food to use for bailing. He had a screwdriver in his jacket in his pocket but his fingers were covered with plastic putty toys and he had to twist when the water in the boat swashed and vice versa to keep the canoe in balance. Still, somehow, he had to get the jackknife out of his pocket, unloose the screwdriver, and use it on the cans. While trying to accomplish all this, he had to sip the liquid food through a straw so as not to lose it. He won the battle, but in the meantime, two of the canoes they had been in front of, were now in front of them.

They had two misdirections given to them and paddled seven miles out of their way, all the while surrounded by what seemed like a wall of waves. Kuszynski had baled the canoe out 12 to 15 times. Kuenz had lost his compass.

He called it his "greatest trial by ordeal" in nine years of canoeing. "I had my watch and luckily we could see the sun above the waves," which was how they managed to get back on course after taking the two wrong instructions. Out of 18 canoes that started a New Buffalo, only four finished at the 57th St. Beach in Chicago. Kuenz was the third.

J. A. KUENZ, machine shop instructor at Cassidy Lake Technical School, proudly displays the trophy he won for a third-place finish in a canoe trip across Lake Michigan.

Kuenz, then 56, the oldest man in the race, said, "The next day was my birthday but there were a good many moments when I never expected to see age 57!"

Kuenz is a machine shop instructor at Cassidy Lake Technical school. He is a veteran of marathon canoe racing but said the Lake Michigan voyage was "the most exciting and dangerous race" he has ever been in.

The race was sponsored by the Chicago chapter of the 82nd Airborne Division.

First place finishers, an hour ahead of Kuenz and Kuszynski, were Wayne Richardson and Jim Leuck of Detroit.

There is usually a brighter side to any bleak situation.

WIVES ARE VALUABLE
Miami — A Florida University economics professor testified in court that a 20-year-old mother is worth $417,000 to her husband during his lifetime. He based his estimate on a wife's combined average salaries as a public school teacher and domestic servant. His testimony was used in a negligence suit in a car-train collision.

Mr. and Mrs. Haselswerdt, who were married Aug. 11, 1904, at Manchester, have made their home in the Chelsea area throughout their married life. They have lived at their present home, 140 Park St., for approximately 48 years. GROCER KEEPS PROMISE

London — As a joke, a grocer put a sign in the window promising free groceries for the first lady customer who comes in wearing a topless dress. During the rush hour, a chemist's daughter, Miss Catherine Jones, walked in bare from the waist up, carrying a shopping basket. The grocer kept his promise. Three-year-old Miss Jones got her basket filled with free goodies for her birthday party.

SHRINKING SILHOUETTES

At the Aug. 5 meeting of the Shrinking Silhouettes chapter of TOS (Taking Off Pounds Sensibly), Mrs. A. S. Carlone of Ann Arbor was honored by being designated as "queen" the member who lost the most weight during the week. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Warner Otte with 11 members, one new member and one guest present. Next Wednesday, Aug. 19, the group will honor one of the members — Mrs. Elmer Lindow — at a picnic meeting at Independence Lake on Jennings Rd. The noon meeting is scheduled for 12 o'clock.

TIPS for your TOP

TODDY and FRAN We don't really promote "keeping up with the Joneses" — but we do think you get a good idea of how much difference a new hairdo can make in YOU when you look around at the Mrs. Joneses and see how much prettier they look after a neat haircut or an attractive new style — or a beautiful body permanent. When your hair is highlighted, everything else seems to fall into place — because you feel confident that you're looking your nicest. We'd like to have a part in making you feel tops — so why not take this tip — call us — we're open evenings except Saturday at Magic Mirror Beauty Salon 6555 Jackson Rd., Ann Arbor Phone 665-0816

Dexter Jaycettes

Elect Their First
Slate of Officers

Jaycettes, the Dexter Jaycee Auxiliary, organized through efforts of the Chelsea Jaycee Auxiliary, has now elected officers. Mrs. Bill Tupper was elected president of the Jaycee Auxiliary group. Mrs. Don Van Sickle, vice-president, Mrs. Don Stoll, secretary and Mrs. Pat McLeod, treasurer. Two members of the board of directors elected for one year are Mrs. Ron Adair and Mrs. Doug Sindling.

At a meeting held Monday, Aug. 3, at the home of Mrs. Don Stoll, the Dexter group also discussed Charter Night arrangements and completed plans for a baby contest to be sponsored by the Jaycettes during Dexter's "Crazy Daze" events scheduled for Aug. 20, 21 and 22.

In order to enter the baby contest entries must be in at McLeod's Pharmacy at Dexter by Aug. 14. They must be 6x7 photographs (no snapshots). The photos will be protected. Jaycettes point out, and owners may pick them up after Crazy Daze at McLeod's; however, Jaycettes cannot assume responsibility for mishaps to the pictures. The contest is not open to Jaycettes.

Voting for the favorite baby will be by pennies. Canisters attached to the pictures will be placed in stores throughout the town. At the close of the contest, Aug. 22, the "votes" will be counted and pictures of the winner and two runners-up will be announced. The winner will receive a free colored photo of the baby and a $5 start in a savings account.

Fair Plans . . .

After the parade on Saturday, a horse show will be held at the fairgrounds and at the evening program on Saturday, there will be the customary feature of distributing prizes contributed by Chelsea merchants.

Four quarters of beef are also to be given away that evening. Free tickets for the merchants' prizes will, as in former years, be available at all stores and other business places where prizes are being offered for the Saturday event.

Also to be given away again this year are a boy's and a girl's bicycle. Fair officials said the bicycles are already on display in the downtown area.

Chairmen of all divisions of the fair are looking for an extra-large number of entries. These will be on display to better advantage with the additional space available in the new permanent fair building now being completed.

All chairmen urge prospective exhibitors to get their entry forms in as soon as possible.

Fair "queen" candidates should also be registered at once, either with Mrs. David Rowe, GR 9-4884 or with Mrs. Ken Norris, GR 5-5532.

Mrs. Raymond Liebeck, with Mrs. William Reule of Ann Arbor, spent Tuesday of last week at the Monroe County Fair, near Monroe, where they acted as judges in some of the home economics divisions.

KNOW YOUR MICHIGAN LAW

by Attorney General TRANE J. KELLEY

(This is a public service article explaining in general terms a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their private legal affairs should consult a private attorney.)

County fair time is just around the corner. While most Michigan citizens will have a good time at the fairs they attend, a few will be fleeced by sellers of merchandise who do not keep their word.

Each year, sellers who do not have a sales tax license issued by the Michigan Department of Revenue, are active in selling goods at the various county fairs. Because most of us generally buy from local merchants who collect the four percent sales tax from us and remit it to the Revenue Department, we may assume that all sellers will do the same. Unfortunately, this is not so.

Complaints received by my office indicate that frequently these out-of-state sellers do not remit any sales tax to the State of Michigan. This happens despite the fact that the buyer of such goods pays the tax to the seller and is assured it will be taken care of.

Michigan law requires the buyers of goods in such instances to pay a use tax equal to the sales tax. The only way to protect yourself in such a sale is to demand to see a copy of the seller's sales tax license. If he has one, you are protected. If he does not, beware.

Just A Minute...

Rev. James A. Craig

East Lansing — Recent research in nutrition is emphasizing the prevention of dental caries, safeguarding the preparation of food against toxic substances and evaluating the effectiveness of vegetarian diets.

This is what Dr. Olf Mickelson, professor of foods and nutrition at Michigan State University, told a College Week for Women audience at MSU.

"Although fluoridation of water reduces the incidence of dental caries by some 60 percent, this leaves a large fraction of the problem still to be solved," he said. He noted that efforts are being made to overcome and completely prevent dental caries by a combination of nutritional and other techniques.

He said we may have to revise the emphasis on the importance of animal protein in our diet in view of the rapid increase in the world population. Almost six times as many calories can be secured per acre when food is consumed directly by man as when it is converted into animal protein, he pointed out. This calls for added research in the area of the effectiveness of vegetarian diets, he indicated.

College Week ended July 24.

Tiger Scouts Busy Signing More Than 30 Prospects

Detroit — Tiger scouts have been busy this summer pumping new blood into the lifeline of the club by signing more than 30 fresh prospects since spring training.

They include youngsters from the sandlots, high schools and colleges from coast to coast. Some are already playing with Tiger farm teams; others will start in 1965.

While bonus figures are not disclosed by the Tigers, all the new prospects received payments of some kind and the 1964 investment in new players is in step with the Tigers' liberal policies of the past, according to Don Lund, director of scouting and farm operations.

A prize catch is Mike Small, 6-foot-4 190-pound lefthanded pitcher from Long Beach, Calif., who was sought by 14 other major league clubs. Personally inspected by Chief Scout Ed Katalinas after preliminary scouting by Scout Marv Owen, the youngster currently is pitching for the Lakeland farm club of the Florida State League.

Four of the Tigers' recent signees have Michigan backgrounds. They include:

Dave Campbell, University of Michigan graduate in June whose home is in Lansing. An infielder, he is at Knoxville of the Southern League, following an impressive start at Lakeland.

Ron Tate, another Michigan graduate who is from Akron, O. An outfielder, he is at Lakeland.

Amerigo Zuccaro, an outfielder from the University of Detroit, now playing at Jamestown of the New York-Pennsylvania League. His home is in Detroit.

Ray Newman, lefthanded pitcher or from the Muskegon sandlots, now on the staff of the Tiger team in the Cocoa division of the Florida-Rookie League.

Other recent signees include:

Pitchers — Jamie Driggers, Tampa, Fla.; James Gray, Wichita, Kan.; Pat Carlton, Marshall, Mo.; Joe Bingham, Erie, Pa.; Mike Kennedy, Bradford, Ont.; George Moberg, Fort Mill, S. C.; Jerry Napton, Everett, Mass.; Duncan Wood, Scarborough, Ont.; Ken Hay, Grove City, O.; Charles Kuhn, Lakeview, N.Y.

Catchers — Gerald Baumgartner, Oregon, O.; Darrell Fulton, Bartow, Ala.; Ben Roop, Berea, Ky.

Infielders — Charley Canty, Junction City, Kan.; John Eerguson, Delaware Water Gap, Pa.; Jim Mabry, Dover, Fla.; Gene Smith, Asbury, Mo.

Outfielders — Paul Bradshaw, Moraga, Calif.; Glenn Davis, Jacksonville, Fla.; Larry Seneta, Girard, Pa.; John Fallis, Toronto, Ont.

Life Doesn't Begin At 40, Sociologist Tells Homemakers

East Lansing — Life does not begin at 40, a Michigan State University sociologist told homemakers at MSU's 87th annual College Week for Women, July 21-24.

In a discussion called "After 40 — What?" Dr. Walter Freeman maintained that the age of 40 is simply "an accumulation of years and nothing more." It is neither good nor bad.

He suggested that how you live life after 40 depends upon how you've lived before you're 40.

"If you haven't got anything to say about the years before 40," he said, "chances are you won't have anything to say about the years after 40." If you've been dull before, you'll be dull after, in spite of our tendency to associate dullness with age, he explained.

The professor maintained that a person's activities at any age should be compatible with his life style and with the meaning of life for him.

"When I get older, I hope that no one asks me to weave baskets," he declared. "My way of life is not to work with my hands."

But he insisted that the person who gains great pleasure from working with his hands should continue to have the opportunity to enjoy such pleasure.

DOG BARKS ALARM

Luray, Va. — Mrs. Lawrence Kibler was awakened by the barking of her small beagle named Moe. Finding her house afire, Mrs. Kibler, her four children and Moe escaped from the flames which destroyed the house despite efforts of firemen to put out the blaze.

Ice Cream Social Started Law Career

Circuit Judge Howard R. Carroll operated a ferris wheel in Flint, out bread in Kalamazoo, sold shoes in Lansing, worked on a road building gang in Clinton county, played in a dance band and taught school to finance his legal education.

Judge Carroll was born on a farm near Ovid in Clinton county. After living in Lansing for two years his parents returned to a farm near St. Johns. He and his two sisters trudged to a one-room country school house until his parents moved to nearby St. Johns where his father had purchased a grocery store.

Judge Carroll as a chubby freckled boy of nine when he first evidenced interest in the law. He explained:

"Dad and I were attending an ice cream social at a country church near Ovid when a big fine-looking man drove up in an 'Overland' car. It couldn't have been more than eight feet long but it was the largest automobile I had ever seen."

It was Edward J. Moinet, then the Clinton county Circuit Judge and later on a Federal Judge.

"Dad pointed to Judge Moinet's fine clothing and car and said, 'See, if you study real hard you can be a lawyer first and a judge later on.'"

And that's exactly what Judge Carroll did. He graduated from Michigan State University and five years later he graduated from law school with an honors degree of Doctor of Jurisprudence.

As a young lawyer he learned fast and soon became a polished court room lawyer and a leader in the state legislature where he served 10 years, most of the time as chairman of the important judiciary committee. In 1956 he was elected Circuit Judge.

Judge Carroll has been on the circuit bench in Macomb county eight years. He commented:

"If I had not attended that ice cream social at that country church and seen Judge Moinet it is hard to say where I would be now. Perhaps I would be selling ice cream."

Al Samborn Addresses Local Group

"I'll sacrifice almost anything—except my principles—to win this election," Al Samborn, Republican candidate for State Representative of the 51st district told a group Friday night at a coffee hour. The gathering arranged for Samborn by Mrs. Elvira Vogel was at her home near Manchester.

"One thing is certain—if it takes dishonesty to win an election—I'll never win," the new politician told the roomful of representatives of several townships. "If it takes dishonesty to stay in office—then should I get there, I won't be able to stay." He went on to say, "I refuse to be influenced by other people's thinking—I'll think each issue out myself and decide what I personally feel is best for the people I represent."

Samborn also said he "refused to be labeled." "There are issues on which I'm a liberal and there are issues on which I'm conservative. You ask me about any specific issue, and I'll tell you frankly how I stand on it."

And he pointed out that he stands as he does on any issue because he has considered every angle of it.

A Manchester man asked, "What will you do about the lobbyists? You're new at this—maybe you don't realize as I do that there are five forever men elected up there in Lansing."

Samborn explained that in 17 years as a newscaster he's "been under pressure daily." "I've learned to cope somehow," he said in essence, "and all I can say now is I'll continue to think for myself and act on my own reasoning of what is right."

Samborn seeks office under the auspices of no group. He stands out as an individualist—one whose viewpoint remains the same in any audience.

Samborn has found that his friends, while wishing him luck in his campaign, invariably add, "but what does a nice guy like you want to get mixed up in politics for?" This very point—the fact that people imply that there "are no nice guys in politics" pushes Samborn all the harder. "If politics has become a dirty word, it up to every one of us to do something about it—these people are running our country—if they're not the kind of men we want to associate with, it's up to us to start making a change." One of his most vital points is the importance of the individual and what he as a voter can do toward putting men of integrity into office.

Livingston Supervisor Protests Impoundment Plans

Clifton Heller, chairman of the Livingston County Board of Supervisors, and Mrs. Evelyn Cunningham, a major landowner in the Brighton area, were at Higgins Lake Thursday to enter protests at the Michigan Conservation Commission's monthly meeting relative to the proposed plan for state acquisition of land in Livingston county to create an impoundment.

Heller stated at the meeting that 24,000 acres of land in the county now is in public use and asked for meetings between the department and local officials before plans for the 500-acre impoundment go any further.

Heller indicated the tax base of county is in danger of vanishing if the land is taken over by the state and said most recreationists using public parks land of the county do not spend money but travel out from metropolitan areas in Wayne and Oakland counties.

He asked that a long range solution to the problem be studied. The impoundment would create seven-and-one-half miles of shoreline.

Mrs. Cunningham has campaigned steadily the past few months among area residents in an effort to halt the project.

Corrections Listed For Some Fair Division Chairmen

Some corrections are being made in the list of chairmen in charge of some of the divisions of the Chelsea Community Fair as submitted for publication in last week's paper.

In Class 7 (Beef Cattle) the name of Reuben Lasser, Jr. should be added to act with Loren Koenigster and John Brooks. (Robert Heller's name should be deleted.) Flower show chairmen are Dr.

and Mrs. L. J. Paul and Maxine Kuehmal. (F. Armstrong and G. Van Riper whose names also appeared, were on the committee last year but should not be included this year.)

Also listed in last week's copy was a pony pull. Community Fair President William Blaess said yesterday there is to be no pony pull and the notation should have been deleted before the list was submitted for publication.

In the Class 9 division (Sheep) David Wolfgang is the superintendent and the names of Keith Bradbury and Duane Noah should have been deleted.

A gala parade in downtown Detroit will herald the opening of the 115th annual Michigan State Fair Friday evening Aug. 28. The fair runs through Monday, Sept. 7.
