Pinckney Recreation Area Welcomes 20,000th Camper

Mr. and Mrs. James G. Weston, of Middlebelt, Livonia, registered at the Pinckney Recreation Area Saturday morning, Aug. 22, 11 a.m., presented by Sen. Stanley Thayer because they were the 20,000th camper at the Pinckney Recreation Area since they were opened in 1944.

Westons had just returned from a week of camping in the area and came into the Pinckney Recreation Area to register for the 20,000th camper in this area which is a small part of the recreation area.

Ernest Botke, his daughter, Don Richards, a girl and, in the summer, 10 years, have the responsibility for the 9,500 acres that make up Pinckney Recreation Area. Botke has a permanent staff of five, but from sometimes as early as April until after Labor Day, he has to add rangers, both full- and part-time.

In addition to the popular Silver Lake beach, the area now boasts of the newly-completed, beautiful beach at Half Moon Lake where 600 cars can park at one time. The parking lot at Silver Lake is limited to 225 cars, but according to Richards as many as 950 cars have gone through Silver Lake camping area alone in one day during the hot spell just past.

Half Moon, however, has relieved the congestion at Silver Lake considerably. Last year, Richards said, on July 4th 500 cars went through the gate and 130 cars were parked outside the area. Four girls waited in the line that day in order to get into the park. There have been times on holidays and week-ends even this year with both areas available, when rangers have opened the gates at 8 a.m. to find sleepers who have been in line since 1:30 a.m. to make sure they would have a place to picnic and swim. When you realize that the line of cars runs all the way down the park road to Dexter-Townhall Rd., and even down that road toward North Territorial — 76 to 100 cars patiently waiting to get into the park — it's understandable that in hot weather some people might prefer arriving too early rather than too late.

Silver Lake was packed to capacity from noon on for 13 consecutive days during the recent 90-plus degree weather. One mother from Ann Arbor told Richards she had brought her children out for 10 consecutive days. "Local people come for a picnic and a swim," Richards explained, "but they don't stay too long so the turnover is greater during the week. On Sundays visitors are mostly from the metropolitan areas; they come in groups and they stay all day." The average number of cars to go through the Silver Lake State Park is 450-500.

Richards estimated, while approximately 580 park at Half Moon on a Sunday.

Besides these two developed lakes where no overnight camping is allowed, the area includes 25 to 35 lakes. Outpost camping is provided at Crooked, Hell Creek and South Lakes. Here there are only primitive facilities, but trailers and tents look in to camp, fish and swim.

There is a life guard at Half Moon and Silver Lakes every day, with two at Half Moon on week-ends. No boats with motors are allowed on Silver except for those belonging to property owners who launch them from their own sites. However, a state-owned launching site exists at Half Moon.

There is also boat launching allowed at Portage Lake, Bruin, North, South and Sullivan Lakes. There are picnic areas maintained at Portage and Blind Lakes. Although there is no spot provided by the state to launch a boat at Silver, many owners of light fiberglass sailboats and canoes (which are not prohibited because they do not have motors) carry their boats from the parking lot to the lake and put them in.

Fortunately the rangers have Jackson prison help to keep the 9,500 acres clean. Every day from June 1 to Labor Day from 10 to 20 men and two foremen come from Camp Washtenaw to haul trash. They arrive at 7 a.m. and much of the debris has disappeared before the first park user arrives. After Labor Day, clean-up is done on a spot-check basis, mostly after week-ends, according to Richards.

One of the worst problems confronting rangers is that of minors drinking. There is an alcoholic ban at Silver Lake from April 15 to June 25, and there is talk of making it permanent. Each season, the problem has increased until this year it reached emergency proportions and an order came out from the Conservation Department regarding it. Rangers sometimes have to work the clock around "protecting State property from vandalism and rowdiness" and in an effort to "return the area to the people."

State parks were designed for family use and this kind of conduct by young adults is not conducive to family use of the parks," Richards said.

It increases the cost, of course, of keeping up state parks — not only here but all over Michigan — because a ranger not only has to be on duty selling permits but also someone must be mingling with the crowd, ever on the alert for trouble.

Some rangers had to work 10 consecutive hours during the recent hot spell, Richards said. How has the cold spell that followed affected the parks? Richards admitted: "We haven't even had to have a man on the gate this week."

Wednesday Designated As Children's Day
Each Kiddie in Parade Will Receive Ticket for Free Ride at Carnival

The Kiwanis club is responsible again for organizing Kid's Day on the first day of the Chelsea Community Fair, Wednesday, Aug. 26. The club's committee on boys and girls activities and community support are co-operating in the planning and work of the day for children. The club's treasury will furnish the money for prizes and ribbons, etc.

Every youngster in town is invited to get into the parade. All that is required is to come and register and be in the parade. To win prizes or be eligible for judging one must have a costume, or decorate a bike, trike, wagon, or construct a float, or have some other original idea that the judges like.

15 Floats Now Entered In Parade
The complete program for next week's Chelsea Community Fair is published in today's issue of The Standard.

A detailed resume of the first day's events — the Kiwanis-sponsored Children's Day program for Wednesday, Aug. 26 — is also included in this issue.

During the past week another five floats have been registered with the parade chairman, George Atkinson, making a total of 15 floats to be entered, to date.

Council Briefs

At the Aug. 18 meeting of the Chelsea Village Council the invocation was given by the Rev. Elmer Stoen of the Chelsea Baptist church.

Discussion was held with residents of Lanewood regarding the method of determining sewer rental rates. They feel, they said, that the matter should be clarified — that Lanewood residents are not asking for special concessions for sewer rates but intend only to bring to the attention of the Council that a study of the water and sewer rates may establish perhaps, in their estimation, a more equitable charge for the residents of the village as a whole.

They were told that such a study will be instituted by the Council.

Discussion with Jud Bacon, representing Consumers Power Co., regarding proposed purchase of power equipment; also the power sales contract. A sales contract and agreement was submitted to the Village. Homer Nixon, Light and Water Department superintendent, and John Keusch, Village attorney, were instructed to analyze the contract and agreement and submit recommendations at the Sept. 1 Council meeting.

Following discussion of the over-all storm sewer system of the village, Peter Kurzy submitted recommendations for consideration and discussion of future plans.

SEWING CENTER PROJECT: Photographs of Laurie Redden, built-in sewing center will be entered in the State 4-H Show East Lansing. The spacious drawer compartments are topped with a counter on which her sewing machine is centered. The peg and at the back, ceiling height, permits convenient arrangement space for hanging all the sewing equipment and accessories she needs. An ironing board is folded and stored in an easily accessible spot at the right of the cabinet and high-up shelves provide additional storage space. Folding doors completely hide the center from view.

School Opening Date Set for Tuesday, Sept. 8
High School Principal Charles Lane announced this week that school opens for the fall term on Tuesday, Sept. 8, at 8:30 a.m.

Buses will make their regular runs on the same schedule that was in effect last June. Any necessary changes will be made at a later date.

Books and lockers will be available at the high school Aug. 31 and Sept. 1. Book store hours are 9 to 11:30 a.m. and 12:30 to 3:00 p.m. both days.

Books for juniors and seniors will be available Aug. 31 and those for freshmen and sophomores on Sept. 1.

Livestock Entries Will Be Released
Chelsea Community Fair officials announced yesterday that livestock being shown at the State Fair and at the Chelsea Community Fair will be released at the Chelsea fair in time for the State Fair.

CHURCH PICNIC: At the Congregational church picnic Sunday afternoon at the Warren Spaulding farm, a new game was enjoyed. Invented by Spaulding himself, it is played with broom handles, a rubber ball and bases made from two-inch pipe sticking up out of the ground in a 15-foot circle. In the group above, apparently enjoying the new game are Alfred Johnson (back to camera), Vern Parks, Mrs. Robert Jacobs and Bruce Parks, left to right, going after the ball with their broomsticks, and in the background, Mrs. Alfred Johnson and Judy Livingston.

There will be one or more prizes in each group. First prizes will be $2; second, $1; and third, 50 cents. If more than one person is part of the winning entry the prize will be divided unless it is a group. William Windle will be in charge prize when the one prize will be given.

William Windle will be in charge of registration and lining up the parade in the parking lot.

Judges will be announced at the evening program at the Fair and prizes will be announced and presented at 8 p.m.

Ribbons and "Kid's Day" buttons will be awarded to winners and each entrant will be given one of the "Kid's Day" buttons.

Assisting the committee in making arrangements for the event are Don Turner, Wallace Wood, Jack Fowler and Ray Schultz; many other Kiwanians will be "drafted" to assist, according to the Rev. Livingston.

The Kids Day evening program at the grandstand on the Fairgrounds will begin at 8 p.m. featuring a "Kitchen Band" under the leadership of Mrs. William Van Riper and Velma Wiseman.

Paul F. Niehaus (Jerry) will act as master of ceremonies at the program and will introduce the judges, announce the prize-winners and present the prizes and ribbons.

There will be games and contests for the children and the committee has arranged that all entrants in the events will be "winners."

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

Last week I talked about the anti-litter campaign in Michigan and this week I want to talk about related subjects within the area of conservation.

Some time ago I announced appointment of a special task force on Water Rights, Water Use and Pollution Control. I am confident that the work of this 22-man group will result in a water policy for Michigan that will be the envy of all other states.

Water is a common denominator of our natural resource wealth. Its variety of uses—for agriculture, for manufacturing, for transportation, recreation, the public health—makes it essential that we develop now, before it is too late, a comprehensive policy to serve as a guideline.

The task force will do this. And our water, like our forests, will be managed on a multiple use basis. There is no reason why it cannot be done. It must be done, and soon.

Peaceful coexistence among the users of water in this Water Wonderland is possible and very necessary. There is no need for serious conflicts of interest—no need for clashes between those who would put our lakes and streams to work and those who would put them to recreation—no need, that is, if water uses are placed in their correct perspectives.

I want the task force to define such perspectives and to make recommendations for action. And when they do this I will then do everything in my power to effect a workable, step-by-step procedure for water management... for today, of course, but most importantly, for what promises to be a very busy tomorrow.

Definite progress in conservation was made by the legislature this year. Personally, I am proud of the record. By the close of the session, I had signed 24 conservation bills into law. There were disappointments, to be sure. Certain water bills were defeated, as was the bill to abolish the fox bounty. And there were others; but the final result of legislative action was a strengthening of conservation.

House Bill 401, pertaining to the liability of landowners who open their properties to hunters, fishermen and other recreationists, was especially significant. So too, was the elk hunting bill. Our Michigan United Conservation Club deserves much credit for the support they gave these measures.

All-in-all, I think conservationists throughout Michigan can be pleased with this year's legislative record. It was progressive. (Continued on page three)

PROGRESS THROUGH THE YEARS

NATIONAL AVIATION DAY—AUG. 19

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

School for Unschooled

A "new and different" educational project is underway within the shadow of Michigan's State Capitol.

Students attending classes in old St. Mary's school are all majoring in the same subject—jobs.

"The world doesn't owe us a living—all we ask is that it give us a chance to earn one ourselves."

With this creed, 150 students, most of them previously unemployed, are undergoing a one-year training program at the Michigan Catholic Conference Job Training Center. Religious background is considered when enrolling students, and many faiths are represented.

The unique anti-poverty program, designed to make them employable, is being paid for by three federal agencies and is sponsored by the Michigan Catholic Conference, which represents the Catholic Bishops of Michigan. However, few of the students and staff are Catholics.

Students attend classes daily from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. in old St. Mary's school. The program calls for 30 weeks of basic education and 20 weeks of vocational instruction. Students receive training allowances ranging from $20 to $45 weekly depending on their family status.

Average age of all students is 34. Married students have an "average" of four children; one has 12. Their formal education level is grade six. One in four students had less than three years of formal education.

The average earnings of each trainee last year was below $799.

Francis J. Coomes, Executive Director of the Michigan Catholic Conference, said the program has received "outstanding" support from all major faiths in the Lansing area and other community organizations like the Lansing Community Services Council.

"Central Methodist, for instance, is operating a Nursery School for prekindergarten children of the trainees," Coomes said. "And transportation for the pre-schoolers is being supplied by the Lansing Chapter of the American Red Cross."

Coomes said most of the students are making "good progress." "We're pleased with results of the program so far but the real test will be whether they can get jobs afterward," he said.

"If they can get jobs that will pay twice as much as they were receiving on welfare, then the training will pay for itself," Coomes said.

If Experience Counts

Farm displays and other agricultural matters at Michigan's State Fair are in the hands of six experienced farmers. The Fair opens Aug. 28 and closes the evening of Labor Day, Sept. 7.

The six farmers, who are in charge of exhibits include two who come from Centennial Farms, which means they have been operated by members of the same family for more than 100 years. One of these is Stanley M. Powell of Ionia. Powell is very active in the Farm Bureau and raises both prize milking shorthorn cattle and prize sheep.

The other Centennial Farmer is Delmont Chapman, South Rockwood. He has served on the State Fair Authority several times and in the State Legislature. He is the third generation to operate the farm and now raises prize sheep. His youngsters are also active in sheep raising.

Former Director of Agriculture Charles Flay, a Marcella farmer, is chairman of the State Fair Authority. Youngest member of the group is Robert Zeeb, 32. Chosen Outstanding Young Farmer of the Year in 1958 by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Zeeb operates a 480-acre dairy farm with his father near Bath.

Robert J. Noon, Jackson, has been on the Fair Authority for more than a dozen years. He raises swine, sheep and Shetland ponies.

Lyle Glover, operates a 247-acre dairy farm near Fowlerville where he was born in 1907.

In addition to the Linotype and Intertype, several other line casting machines have been developed for use in the composing room.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

YEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers at the country store Saturday night come up with the proper strategy for electing the next President of the United States and solved the whole highway safety and parking problem in one big swoop. The debate on these matters lasted about a hour. I recollect during the last year when the Congress was in debate 8 days on the price of cabbage. The fellers was all agreed that what the Congress needs is a few members like Ed Doolittle to speed things up.

First off, Zeke Grubb brung along his latest pamphlet from the U. S. Department of Agriculture and give us the official figures on how much land we got in this country and who owns it. The figgers, Mister Editor, was flabbergasting.

For instant, the piece says the United States and its possessions is made up of two and a quarter billion acres, or around 3.5 million square miles. The government holds the title to 770,797,000 acres, or about 1.2 million square miles of our land. It goes on to say that only 14 per cent is being used for military purposes and for housing all the Government buildings and operations. This leaves 20 per cent laying idle, and here is where the next President comes in.

Ed Doolittle claimed the population explosion was gitting so bad people was so crowded in some places they was sleeping in trees. Ed said he could recollect when he was a boy that when a neighbor got close enough for you to hear his rooster crow in the morning, it was time to move on. Now, allowed Ed, your neighbor's rooster is setting on your barnyard fence.

It was voted that any candidate for President that would run on a platform to parcel out them 154 million acres of idle land to folks that didn't already own no land at a dollar a acre, 10 acres to a customer, he would sweep the November election. That way, claimed Ed, folks would have room to throw out their chest and breathe some of this fine, tax-polluted air we got in this country.

Two plans was proposed for solving the highway safety and parking problem. Clem Webster said if we'd git a law again driving a car on the highways that was more'n two year old and the owner didn't have a clear title fer it, we'd have half the traffic and twice the parking space.

Bug Hookum was in favor of a plan to bar all women from driving. He allowed as how women was too stubborn to drive, said it didn't make sense that she could threaten a needle and couldn't drive a car through a 12-foot garage door.

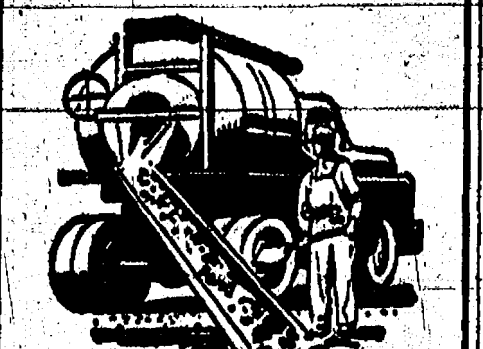

Clem's plan carried on a 5 to 4 vote. On account of my old lady might see this piece, I ain't saying, Mister Editor, how I voted on this item.

Yours truly, Uncle Lew.

No human endeavor has contributed more to the progress of civilization than the art of printing.

BOY SCOUT FIRING RANGE: Bruin Lake Boy Scout Camp Director Harold Houk, Jr., stands in the tower and demonstrates the raising of the warning flag which signifies that it's safe to shoot on the newly-constructed rifle range. The range, whose director is Tom Andrews, is considered one of the best in this area and has proved to be the most popular activity of the boys in camp this summer. Camp Ranger Michael Yawosky is shown standing in the shelter that covers the firing line.

IN THE OPEN

By Lee Smits

Two hundred and ten square miles of wilderness with a singularly rich population of wildlife, a fascinating history extending back to 1800 B.C., superb fishing, and with all modern conveniences for the small section of the public that prefers orchids to juke boxes, mouse to speed boats, sunsets to water skiing, forest to cocktail lounges—that's Isle Royale National Park.

Each trip to the island, dating back more than 30 years, has been more rewarding than the last. The Park Superintendent, Henry G. Schmidt, greeted me at Mott Island headquarters as Ranger II docketed, loaned me a bedroll, told me that Dr. Duward L. Allen of Purdue University would pick me up presently—and one more Isle Royale adventure began.

A few notes. Guided by Park Naturalist Bill Dunsmire, we visited the old Mining mine at the foot of McCarage Cove, where a community of some 100 miners' families flourished 90 years ago and where the Park Service has a dock, camping shelters, cooking grills, the only evidence of civilization anywhere around.

Moose tracks, deer prints and buck horns (Cliffen Bone Lake) a massive dam of cedar logs that had provided water power for stamp mill in the 70's and 80's. The dam had been rediscovered just one week before we got to it.

Camped on Birch Island, at the head of McCarage Cove, Dr. Allen cooking supper, when we were joined by a soaking wet fox. She had swum across for a free feed, daintily took food from our hands. Stepped at the Milford Johnson cruse up and down the island by plane, the wolves—and the moose—are sighted and counted. An estimated 600 moose, a known wolf population of 25.

Eric Stauber, a Purdue student specializing in birds of prey, on the trail into Lake Ritchie from Moskey Basin, Eric, was raked by the talons of a goshawk with a single half-grown infant in a bulky nest. Eric went back to photograph the fierce bird.

The people come to Isle Royale in family groups. Kids are numerous, parents and grandparents, but not many teenagers.

It is gratifying to note that the memory of an old friend is well preserved on Isle Royale. Albert Stoll, Jr., outdoor editor of the Detroit News, headed a long campaign, sponsored by the News, that brought the island into the National Park system.

Mr. Smits' column is presented through the courtesy of the Michigan Consolidated Gas Company. Mr. Smits will be pleased to answer any questions sent in.

BUILDING SURROUNDS STORE

Oklahoma City—The owner of a small wood and canvas grocery store refuses to move before his lease runs out in fifteen months. Constructors said they will build the 25-story building around him. The store will be in the center of the new structure and O. T. Norton, owner, believes his business will profit by the purchases of the construction crews.

STATE FAIR
DETROIT
AUG 28-SEPT 7

Fair Program...

mounted drill team performance at the Fairgrounds and all other regular features are being stepped up in order to offer a fine parade and a fine program for the four-day fair.

Mrs. David Rowe reminds prospective queen candidates that registrations must be made with her by Friday (tomorrow). She may be contacted by phone at 479-4884. She is holding a meeting of all queen candidates at 7 p.m. Friday at 563 McKimley St.

Mrs. Rowe and Mrs. Kenneth Norris are co-chairmen of the queen contest, acting for the sponsoring Jaycee Auxiliary. Merchants, following the custom of many years standing, are distributing free cards for the giving away of gifts at the Saturday night Fair program. The cards are available for signing at all co-operating business places in the community.

Mrs. Fred Klink, Sr., (Geraldine) and Mrs. Donovan Sweeney (Lulu) are asking for volunteers to assist at the Community Fair restaurant during the four days of the fair. They ask anyone willing to help with the project to contact them so their schedule may be arranged as soon as possible. Mrs. Klink and Mrs. Sweeney are co-chairmen of the restaurant project.

Community Fair Association President William Blass said yesterday that "things are shaping up fine" with all committees co-operating to make Chelsea's 1964 fair a really outstanding event.

Among the big-name stars at the free Music Shell programs at the Michigan State Fair, Aug. 28 through Sept. 7, will be Count Basie and his band, Nancy Wilson, the New Christy Minstrels and the Jimmy Wilkins band.

Romney Report...

The importance of all this, however, is not in what has transpired in the past few months or in what is transpiring now, but what will be done in conservation in the years ahead. Here is where the real progress will be made. Here is where we will move ahead.

There is a reminder here to all the people of Michigan: our Department of Conservation, as competent as it is, cannot go it alone. New directions, new programs, new goals must continue to be a widespread concern.

Apathy must be battled, interest and concern must be promoted.

It is then that we may talk confidently of the progress we have made... and the promise the future holds.

A BIG WORRY

Istanbul, Turkey — Ali Yucel, 72, is so afraid that he will be buried alive that he has had a special grave built. It contains an eight-inch-wide window and a push-button hooked to an alarm bell in the cemetery's office. Making certain he will be able to find the button, Yucel will have an electric light shine within the grave for a week after his burial.

SUNDAY SERMON

Rev. ROBERT H. HARPER
LOVE OF HOME

AT COLLEGE - I struggled through the pages of Xenophon's Anabasis which tells of the ten thousand Greeks as mercenaries who followed Cyrus to the heart of Persia in a campaign to wrest the throne from Artaxerxes, his brother. And after the death of Cyrus in battle, the remnant of the Greeks fought their way back through incredible hardship and almost innumerable foes until they reached the sea that would bear them home.
And the weary Greeks went into transports of joy. They embraced one another and wept, crying, the Sea, the Sea!

Thus the love of home makes all the world akin. And whether it be the Scotch in outer trenches guarding who chose to sing Annie Laurie, the Englishmen who asked to die with his face toward England, or the Negro who asked a nurse of the First World War, "Lady, do you know which way is Alabama?" and the nurse inquired of him why he wanted to know. He said, "I just want to die with my face toward old Alabama." All were filled with the love of and longing for home.

The American who turned from the maddening throngs of Paris and climbed to his garret, and wrote a song that will never die, sang of Home. An old reading relates how two great armies lay facing each other along the Rappahannock one night. The bands struck up, on one side the strains of Yankee Doodle filled the air and back across the stream came the music of Dixie. And when at last each band had exhausted its repertoire and there came a moment of silence, a lone soldier began to sing "Home, Sweet Home" and both armies joined.
And on many a soldier's face something trickled down and washed away the powder stain.
So may the love of home unite us now.

CHIEF SHINES SHOES

New York - When president Irving J. Bottner, of Esquire-Polish, calls an employee to come to his office, he always shines their shoes before they leave no matter what he calls them in for. Bottner recalls that once he called a man in to fire him for doing something wrong, but still shined his shoes before he let him leave the office.

the various primary candidates is and add to the excitement. Other tion of balloons and other campaign materials. Ox Roast hours

Film Revue . . .

"A SHOT IN THE DARK"
Following the general theme of "Pink Panther," Peter Sellers portrays a French detective in the most undignified fashion in "A Shot In The Dark."

Sellers is called to a very fashionable Parisian chateau where the murder of a famous dead intellectual is being investigated. In his haste to nab the murderer, he falls into the fountain getting, drenched, and this is the beginning of his bumbling methods throughout the film.

The pretty maid, Elke Sommer, is a prime suspect and Sellers follows her all the way even to a nudist camp. George Sanders, the owner of the property, leads the zealous sleuth into several funny traps.

Sellers turns this murder mystery into a comedy filled with whacky humor.

ITEM: Meat does not ordinarily need to be washed before it is cooked. Food specialists in the U.S. Department of Agriculture, however, suggest you wipe it with a damp cloth or scrape it with the blunt edge of a knife if the meat needs cleaning.

ITEM: A variety of beef cuts are suitable for barbecuing.
Steaks include porterhouse, T-bone, club, rib, sirloin and choice grade, top round or blade chuck steaks. Also suitable are boneless beef cubes for kabobs and, of course, ground beef for hamburgers.

Freedom is too often taken for granted by Americans.

Samborn Proposes Formation of Citizens Lobby

"I deplore an approach that sees all aspects of growth as 'problems.' I am convinced that it is representative works with able people from about his district that many of the forces of growth can be directed into an orderly process of advance and development."
To accomplish that "directing of the forces of growth," Al Samborn proposed that if elected state representative from the 51st district he would work to establish a "citizens lobby" from among the many willing and able citizens in the district.

Samborn, seeking the Republican nomination as State Representative from the 51st district, spoke to a gathering of Saline area residents at the home of Mrs.
Lee Limberg.

Samborn noted geographic, economic and governmental features of the new 51st district that he saw as having a "general sameness."

"The urban sprawl in the Saline and Brighton areas and the resultant new demands on township, village and city governmental units form one example. Why shouldn't there be a citizens lobby to establish a two-way communications link between the people and their representative in Lansing," Samborn asked.

Samborn said that if he were successful in his bid for office,
"I would move immediately to develop this citizens lobby from men and women from the 51st district in farming, business and industry, local government and education."

Samborn, a resident of Seio township near Dexter, has been a radio broadcaster and newsmen for the past 17 years. He is making his first bid for public office above the local level.

Library Friends Arranging Adult Education Classes

Chelsea Friends of the Library are making arrangements for the 1964-65 season and Jack Merkel, president of the group, urges prospective participants to contact him or leave their names at the library as soon as possible.

To be offered are Elementary Conversational French I; Great Books in Western Culture; Reading Efficiency; and Vocabulary Improvement.

The reading efficiency course is of eight weeks duration while the others are 12-week courses. Price of each course is $22.

The reading efficiency course is designed to help the individual improve his reading rate, concentration, vocabulary and critical comprehension. Classes will be held Monday, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.; beginning Sept. 21.

Tuesday evenings, also from 7:30 until 9:30 p.m., beginning Sept. 22, the vocabulary improvement course will be given. It's aim is the development of a successful command of the English language.

The course designated "Great Books in Western Culture" is described as "for those of an inquiring mind who would like a basis for judging the validity and importance for today of the significant ideas of the past" and "analysis of books which have been instrumental in the development of Western Civilization."

Classes begin Wednesday, Sept. 23.

The French class will meet Thursday evenings. It is planned to provide a usable vocabulary covering everyday situations and to teach elementary structures of spoken French. The first class will be held Sept. 24.

A course in basic bridge also is being planned. The one held last year proved popular and it is believed another class of 16 will be recruited easily.

Farnum said that this is a routine audit which his department is required by law to conduct annually in each county. County audits are conducted to ascertain if the accounting systems and records conform to and are consistent with proper governmental accounting standards; if there has been any irregularity in the receipt, expenditure or disposition of any monies received or appropriated; or if such funds have been disbursed and used for any purpose other than that provided by law. The last state conducted audit of Washtenaw county was for the calendar year ended Dec. 31, 1961.

Just A Minute...

By the Rev. James A. Craig

The village church looked out over wide fields across a green lawn its white steeple in the summer sun.

Around the building people moved slowly, with a quiet dignity.

At the appointed time the congregation rose to sing. It was a simple hymn sung at first with some reserve. At the end it was sung with enthusiasm.

The minister led the procession into the sanctuary. The casket came last.

The service was short. The congregation sang two more hymns. The scripture was from the Psalms.

Outside during the service you could hear the children playing ball on the diamond across the road. Somehow their noise wasn't a distraction.

There were tears. It would have been strange had there been none. There were smiles. It would have been strange had there been none of them.

After the service, back outside, the sun still shone. There was still the echo of the hymns. The children played ball.

The trip to the cemetery was short. It marked the end of one life and the beginning of an even greater one.

Through it all you just knew "The strife was over, the battle done, the victory of life is won; the song of triumph has begun."

Historic U. S. Post Office Operating at World's Fair

Over the world, by machines which position the mail so that the addressee is visible to an operator who sits in front of a typewriter. By pressing the correct buttons, 100 letters a minute are automatically directed to bins for 50 different destinations.

A larger device, the Burroughs sorter, drops letters and cards into 131 different bins at a rate of 68 letters per minute for each of the 12 operators.

The work area is surrounded by a ramp and gallery for visitors which is open from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m., seven days a week. Tape recorded vignettes explain the action on the work floor and describe the operations of each machine.

Outside the building, mail boxes from 21 countries serve as background for the red, white and blue box of the United States.

A prototype stainless steel mail box being tested as an eventual replacement for the standard box used for the past 40 years is located at one of the Fair's busiest intersections.

Postmaster Mayer suggests that Chelsea area visitors to the Fair express their comments on the new box by dropping a note addressed to the "Superintendent, World's Fair Post Office" through the modernistic mail slot. Postage is not necessary. If they wish, visitors may discuss their reactions with clerks at the post office building.

The publishing business began to expand in this country shortly after the Revolutionary War.

Judge's Farm Program Helps Many Problem Boys

Clare — "Why are dangerous teenagers allowed to roam the streets in Michigan?" a reporter asked in March, 1963, following a violent crime by a teenager in a Detroit suburb.

At that time a controversy was raging in the Detroit area over facilities considered too inadequate to handle potentially dangerous "problem boys" from big city areas.

Social and political leaders have since continued to search for a means of rehabilitating juveniles who become involved in crime.

Recent violence in some areas and rioting in a number of cities have shown evidence of many young people participating.

"Will these conditions lead youths to greater crime?"

"What is the answer to the problem teen-ager who becomes embroiled in big city crime?"

"Can it be found on the farm?"

These questions were asked recently of Circuit Court Judge Donald E. Holbrook, whose home is near this typical central Michigan community.

Judge Holbrook's "probation farm recovery program" has been in progress since the early '50s, quietly placing problem boys from 17 to 21 on farms in Clare and Isabella counties. Some 125 to 150 boys have been placed on farms.

With about 80 percent effectiveness during the past 13 years.

"Is the city boy losing something that the farm life can give him?"

Judge Holbrook smiled thoughtfully at this question.

"Usually violence in big cities is caused by living conditions—the closeness and great numbers of people living in small areas," he observed.

"Much of the youth problem is caused by no jobs for these boys. They get into groups or gangs. Vandalism occurs. They have very little supervision. They're out all night. Sleep all day. Use intoxicants on many occasions. Little adult interest is shown in them. If they're poor students, they drop out of school," the judge continued.

"A great number of all youths who become involved in violation of the law can be helped through this probation farm recovery program. It teaches the boy that he can live a normal life. He sees rewards in being a good citizen. The program helps him to develop the proper attitude towards society."

"It gives him confidence in himself. In being a productive member of society. He responds to the interest and supervision of the farm parents. Regular house,

Gaines Wheat Unsuited For Michigan

The Michigan State University Crop Science Department and the Michigan Millers Association strongly recommend that Michigan wheat growers avoid planting Gaines wheat this fall.

This new Pacific Coast variety has attracted the attention of wheat growers on account of the widely publicized short-strawed characteristic it possesses and the high yield record in Washington. Gaines is a semi-hard white wheat developed at the Washington Agricultural Experiment Station. It is 7-10 days later in maturity than Genesee or Avon. The soft wheat quality is satisfactory when grown in the Pacific Northwest where it is adapted.

However, when grown in Michigan the Gaines variety has undesirable characteristics that may seriously damage the reputation of Michigan's soft white wheat. Gaines has been tested for several years in MSU trials and found to be poorly adapted to Michigan.

In variety comparison made this year by farmers in several Michigan counties, Gaines yielded 76 to 80 percent as much as Genesee or Avon, the recommended varieties in Michigan. The samples of Gaines collected from these tests had a high percentage of badly shrunken grain.

Limited milling tests made by Michigan millers of Michigan-grown Gaines show a low yield of flour and poor bran clean-up. In laboratory and baking tests the flour had a higher protein content than that from Avon or Genesee and was deficient in the cooky-spread factor. The premium pasty quality of recommended Michigan varieties is due in part to the low protein content of the flour and to the high cooky-spread factor. In Michigan trials it has proved to be very susceptible to mildew, stem and leaf rust.

SENIOR CITIZEN'S DAY

Senior citizens will have a big day Wednesday, Sept. 2, Old Times Day at the Michigan State Fair will have special contests, shows and conveniences, with free admission for senior citizens until 3 p.m. The fair opens Friday, Aug. 28, and runs through Sept. 7.

Walter has four children. He operates five farms, totaling 575 acres, feeds 125 head of cattle, including a herd of 53 milk cows. He raises 90 per cent of his own feed. He's been in the probation program about eight years and has had about 10 probationers.

The probationers have contributed to his farm operation, and have even helped his own son "grasp a lot that he wouldn't have without our having these boys," Walter said.

"You can't imagine how green these boys are when they come out to the farm," Walter related. "I had a Canadian boy who was green when I got him. He'd gotten into some trouble, but he was a fine boy and a good worker. He couldn't

the NATIONAL OUTLOOK

By GEORGE HAGEDORN

★ Getting and Spending

The federal budget deficit for the fiscal year ended last June 30 — $8.3 billion — turns out to be less than had previously been predicted. This is some satisfaction but it is still a deficit and a substantial one. It reminds us that the federal government has operated in the red in all but 8 of the past 10 fiscal years.

That is simply to say that spending has exceeded receipts most of the time. Yet, if one looks at a chart that shows both the growth in expenditures and the growth in revenues, one is struck by the remarkable parallelism of the two lines. The two seem to grow at about the same rate, although the spending total stays ahead fairly consistently.

Depends on Base

As everyone who works with statistics knows, you can prove what you want by judicious selection of the base year. If we pick fiscal 1959 as a starting point we can show that receipts have increased faster than spending. Between that year and fiscal 1964 receipts have grown by $22 billion and spending by $17 billion.

If we start from fiscal 1960 the reverse appears true—receipts increased by $12 billion whereas spending expanded $21 billion.

In order to eliminate the peculiarities of single years let's compare averages of two five-year periods. We find that average revenue for the period 1960-64 was $10 billion higher than for the average of 1955-59. Similarly, average expenditures were $17 billion higher. This is about as close to a match as you could hope to get.

Parallel in Rates

This recalls the story of the little boy who is surprised to discover that, as time passes, his older brother always remains older than he, and by the same number of years. Federal spending tends to grow at about the same rate as federal receipts, and thus the gap between them doesn't seem to narrow.

There are two ways you could explain this parallelism in growth rates. Either receipts place a limitation (although a loose one) on spending, or spending requirements determine tax policy and hence the level of revenues.

The probable truth is that cause and effect run both ways. The policy lesson is that we should plan ahead to control federal spending and to distribute revenue gains from economic growth to our citizens in the form of tax reduction.

A determination to control expenditures helps make tax cuts feasible. A will to reduce the tax burden strengthens the forces making for economy.

Mountain climbers sometimes get carried away — in one of two ways.

Record Number of 371 File Petitions For State Office

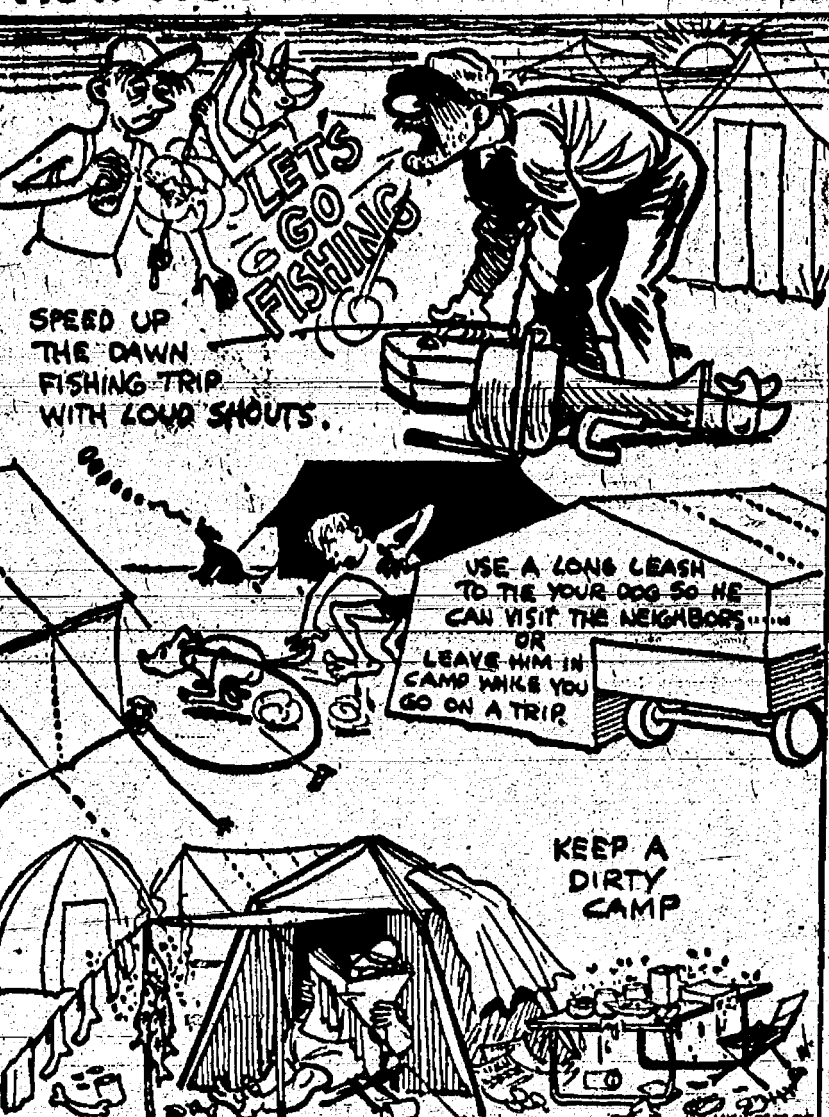

Lansing — A record number of 371 candidates for state offices have filed nominating petitions for the Sept. 1 primary election with the Elections Division of the Secretary of State.

Offices range from governor and U. S. Senator to State legislators. New offices — state courts of appeals, which will be segmented into three districts — brought 33 candidates into the field for brand new judicial jobs that will guarantee the three top finishers in the general election terms of the eight- and six years, depending on the order of finish.

In addition to candidates who file with the Secretary of State, there are many more who have filed their petitions with their county clerks. This holds in districts which are within a single county and includes Wayne County in which scores of candidates are vying for legislative positions.

How NOT to Make Park Friends

Consumers Aided By Adoption of New Weights Law

In the past, several non-food products bought every day by citizens did not show a declaration of net contents on the container because the law did not require it. But this will all be changed on Aug. 28 when the new state weights and measures law goes into effect.

After that date net quantity content must be shown in terms of weight, measure, or numerical count. Furthermore, such information must be so it can be easily read. In the language of the statute, such data must be "definite, plain, legible, and conspicuous."

Formerly, some manufacturers of paint, varnish, anti-freeze, oil, soaps, detergents, household cleaners, and a whole host of other products where not required to have a declaration of quantity contents did not do so. Most manufacturers did, but some didn't. The theory was that the size of the container spoke for itself, but if the container was not well filled, no violation was involved because no quantity was stated.

The new law will do away with containers of any product being short of the quantity contents the buyer assumed was present just because the package looked like a quart, etc. Now the container must be labeled as to its contents. Enforcement of weights and measures laws is the responsibility of the Foods and Standards Division of the Michigan Department of Agriculture of which J. L. Littlefield is chief.

In the opinion of Agricultural Director G. S. McIntyre, adoption by the legislature of the new law is a vast step in consumer protection and will work to the advantage of the industry because the consumer must meet requirements that the honest member has complied with for years.

Medical Director Named For Ypsi State Hospital

Edward N. Hinko, M.D., 54, will be the new medical director of Ypsilanti State Hospital beginning Sept. 1. Announcement of the appointment was made today by Robert A. Kimmich, M.D., director Michigan Department of Mental Health.

Dr. Hinko, who since November 1963 has served as an assistant director of the state department, will fill the vacancy left by retirement of O. R. Yoder, M.D., who on July 1 completed 26 years as superintendent at Ypsilanti and 42 years on the medical staffs of state hospitals.

Dr. Yoder has served at Dr. Kimmich's request as acting superintendent since July 1, pending appointment of the new hospital director.

"As head of the division of State Hospital Program for the Mentally Ill in Michigan and in administrative positions prior to coming here, Dr. Hinko has established an excellent record in administration of psychiatric programs," said Dr. Kimmich.

Since joining the central office staff of the Department of Mental Health, Dr. Hinko has been responsible for psychiatric care and treatment functions of the hospitals, the professional training programs and research activities.

After receiving his medical degree from Loyola University, Chicago, in 1936, Dr. Hinko came to Michigan for his psychiatric residency at Wayne County General Hospital. He remained in the state for 17 years. In 1949, he was appointed assistant director of psychiatry at Wayne General, and in 1951 as assistant medical superintendent at Northville State Hospital.

During these years he served as an instructor in psychiatry and as clinical assistant professor of psychiatry at Wayne University College of Medicine. He was secretary-treasurer of Michigan Society of Neurology and Psychiatry for four years.

In 1953 he left Michigan to become assistant medical director of Larue D. Carter Memorial Hospital at Indiana University, and in 1955 was appointed director of Cleveland, O., Psychiatric Institute and Hospital, a research and training center. He continued in this position until returning to Michigan as assistant director of the Department of Mental Health.

While in Cleveland he became executive secretary of Cleveland's Psychiatric Research Foundation, chairman Cleveland Mental Health Association committee on Assistant to the Clergy.

He is a Fellow of American Psychiatric Association; Board Certified in Psychiatry; Certified Mental Hospital Administrator; American Medical Association, American Psychosomatic Society, American Public Health Association, Central Neuro-psychiatric Association, and Society for Research in Nervous and Mental Diseases.
