★ 1965 Social Welfare Legislation

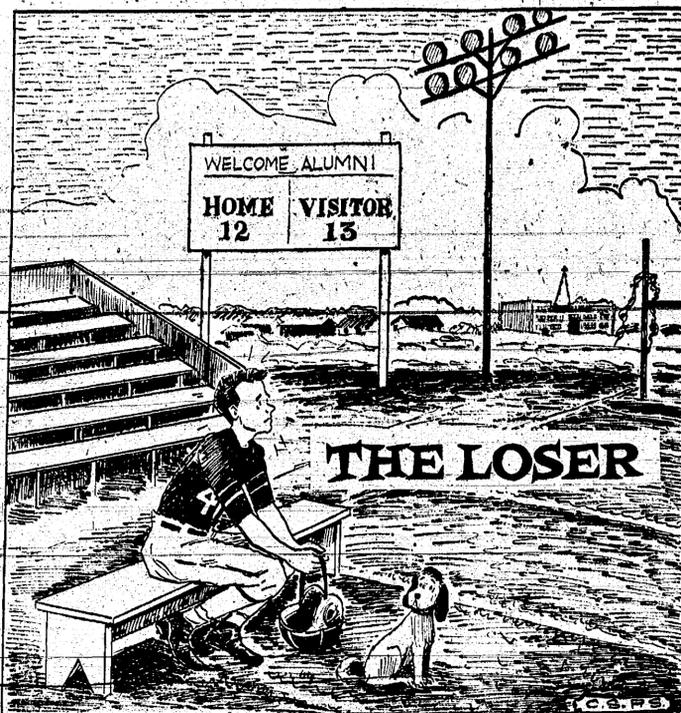

Although we are enjoying a period of prosperity and abundance in this country, public welfare expenditures are constantly increasing, with direct benefits to the poor having doubled in the last 10 years, at an annual cost to the taxpayer of more than $5 billion per year. In fact, one out of every 25 Americans today is on relief, and when the "Great Society" finally gets underway, this figure will skyrocket out of sight.

About half of all welfare funds come from the federal government—the rest from state and local units. By far the greatest expenditure is for ADC (for children in households where there is no bread winner due to absence, desertion, or illegitimacy). Next comes assistance for the needy aged or senior citizens who cannot take care of themselves; then the needy blind and disabled, leaving less than 10 percent as general welfare cases.

The 1965 Michigan legislature placed its stamp of approval on a $102.8 million public welfare appropriation for the current fiscal year (this figure exceeds that for 1964-65 by $3.4 million, and 1962-63 by a whopping $11.3 million), and enacted a series of social welfare measures which will affect hundreds of thousands of Michigan citizens. Among these were bills to:

- Give the Social Welfare Department authority to determine the location of vending stands operated by blind persons and expand the act to include state hospitals among the state institutions where they may operate concessions.
- Boat operation of the Boys and Girls Training Schools by increasing this year's appropriation by about $1 million, thereby permitting the Whitmore Lake Facility of BTS to reach a maximum enrollment of 600 children by the end of 1964 and the GHS to begin operation of a new 75-bed special treatment unit next fall.
- Increase the annual appropriation for the Highway House Program by about $200,000 this year, which will put 10 such facilities on a full-year basis with eventual capacity to accommodate 120 children.
- Provide an additional $275,000 to reduce social work caseloads in the ADC program; $100,000 for an increased vocational rehabilitation program; an additional $350,000 for county welfare integration; and $200,000 for implementing the newly authorized family planning program.
- Increase state payments to counties for hospital care of tuberculosis patients from $4 to $6 per day.
- Transfer Camp La Victoire (a conservation-rehabilitation camp near Grayling) from the Department of Corrections to the Department of Social Welfare, which has been operating it for the last 27 years as a part of BHS.
- Extend the June 30, 1967 authorization to pay for all dependent children in child care institutions, in conformity with the Federal ADC law, and continue allowing children under the ADC program to be placed in child care institutions where the interest of the children and society warrants such action.
- Increase the state's reimbursement to hospitals for the care of crippled and afflicted children from 80 to 90 percent of adjusted ward cost, at an estimated cost to the state for 1965-66 of $1.1 million.
- Authorize recipients of aid to the disabled to set aside an amount for burial purposes, the same as is now allowed recipients of old age assistance and aid to the blind.
- Direct the Social Welfare Department to provide or arrange with other public or private non-profit agencies to provide protective services to children in cases of child neglect, exploitation, abuse, or abandonment, and to initiate appropriate court action to assure protection of the child where the conduct of the parent or guardian requires.
- Authorize the State Social Welfare and Health Departments to dispense birth control information and materials to welfare recipients and needy mothers, upon request, with the proviso that the departments may initiate discussion of family planning services but may not coerce individuals into requesting the service or materials.
- Require counties to provide burial for non-resident poor on the same basis as resident poor, and then be reimbursed on the basis of the existing direct relief formula—70 percent county, 30 percent state.
- Allow welfare recipients a free choice of optometric services.
- Allow a parent to work 32 hours per week (now 32 hours in a two-week period) and still be eligible for ADC-U benefits, providing the family satisfies all other eligibility requirements; (Continued on page six)

One Man—One Fight

Political sparring for the 1966 bout is getting serious already, but instead of being a man-to-man encounter, it has taken on more of a "Daniel in the lions' den" appearance.

Like gang warfare, the rumbustious started several months before the midsummer Democratic "Get Romney" campaign came out in the open.

Even a few dissident Democrats commented about the lack of substance used by the legislative majority leaders in killing Gov. George Romney's hopes for tax reform this year.

"One of the keys to this all-out effort lies in the increasing mention of the Governor's name in conjunction with 1968 presidential election talk. Another is in the fact that State Senators will be elected for four years in 1966.

Still a third can be found in the attempt to get former Gov. G. Mennen Williams back to run against Romney next year.

First, Democrats need to punch as many holes as they can in Romney's national image armor, which at this point is very firm.

Four-year terms for Senators means the Democrats need to put on a strong fight next Fall to hold us many seats as possible.

To accomplish this, politicians need to appear as supporters and ideologues for all popular legislation and opponents of the publicly unpopular proposals.

If any tax reform is to be undertaken, they must try to see to it that it is Democratic in intent. It must be geared so they can appear to be convincing Gov. Romney that it is valuable and needed.

By calling Romney's reform plan unfair to the low-income taxpayer and the consumer, they hope to maintain in good favor with the voting, working man next November.

Possible retirement from the international political arena has been admitted by Williams, but his statements of recent weeks are still a far cry from announcing intentions to run against Romney. Democrats tried at least once before to lure the former six-term governor back to the state scene.

Strong evidence will be needed that serious interests have been made by the current campaign if Williams is to agree to run against either the Governor or U. S. Senate race next year.

An unfortunate sidelight of the current political fighting has developed: to include an arena of legislation which should have nearly unanimous support.

Several traffic safety measures proposed in the regular 1965 session died because of minor spats between members and the major fight between the Governor and the Democrats.

Now, majority Democrats say they are working on a comprehensive program of traffic safety legislation to be presented next year.

A Governor's study committee came up with several recommendations to alleviate traffic safety problems. Most of these were incorporated in the Governor's official legislative program, which this year was the kiss of death for them.

Although several of these duplicated proposals suggested by Democratic Secretary of State James M. Franke, legislative powers decided to hold passage until next year.

Waiting under pretense of preparing a major program, accomplishes an important political purpose. House Speaker Joseph A. Kowalski, D-Detroit, says the program "will be ready to move as soon as the 1966 session convenes."

Essentially what he means is that he will have traffic safety bills ready for introduction before the Governor's 1966 legislative program is spelled out. The package, or a good part of it, can then be represented as a Democratic victory.

Blue Guidelines

Blue, yellow and white may one day have as important meaning to traveling motorists as the red, green and yellow of traffic lights now denote.

Michigan highway officials have now installed the second series of color coding signs and reflectors to test the effectiveness of them as a means of instant communication.

Yellow and white reflectors have been in use for some times on the state's high-speed roads. The white is used on through sections to mark the roadside, while yellow reflectors bring out exits and entrances.

Blue signs and reflectors to denote exit lanes were tested to some degree of effectiveness at Mount Pleasant and Clare on U.S. 27 the past four years. Similar markings were installed this fall at the complex Ann Arbor-Flint interchanges on northbound U.S. 24.

Officials hope the new test will determine whether the distinctive blue markings will eliminate some driver confusion and thus ease the flow of traffic at busy interchanges.

The golf umbrella is very popular with sport fans. Some of these are designed so that they can be stuck in the ground and the handle, used as a seat, while the owner watches the game.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where a fellow from Detroit named Alfred Adams was writing to all the big magazines and newspapers in the country trying to get a movement started to make Columbus Day a national holiday every year.

"I put this matter on the agenda at the country store Saturday night and all the fellows was agin it. First off, Ed Doolittle said the national budget couldn't stand it. He reported he had saw in the papers where more'n 1,200 people was killed for the July 4 and Labor Day holidays. Ed was of the opinion the economy of the country can't stand losing no more taxpayers for national holidays.

Zeeke (trump) was agree with Ed, allowed as how President Johnson would have to go to Spain for the signing ceremonies on this bill, and furthermore, it would probably take about 1,000 pens for such a historical occasion.

Clon (Mister) that was in tune with the Great Society most of the time, said he would vote with the majority agin the bill but he wanted to get one item in the records. He reported them pens President Johnson was using was now being bought wholesale and the price had dropped from $1.11 per pen to 17 cents. Zeeke claimed this was a big saving and was in keeping with turning out the White House lights and other Great Society economy moves. Furthermore, allowed Clon, the pen people had been having it pretty hard and this pocket of poverty has now been washed away.

Everybody was strong in favor of Columbus but, considering all the dangers, they was agin giving him a Day. And so, Mister Editor, if you get a letter from this feller, Adams I would tell him, Columbus st. holiday no.

Josh Clodhopper announced he was feeling mighty encouraged over our war agin poverty and was pleased to hear the pen folks had been took care of in such fine style. He reported he had saw where the hotel folks was also getting removed from the poverty list. For instant, he told the fellers, he was reading where the Office of Economic Opportunity had

Friends of Dexter Library House Tour Slated Sunday

Friends of the Dexter Library report that arrangements have been completed for the 1965 Country House Tour which they will sponsor this Sunday, Oct. 11 from 1 to 6 p.m.

The five attractions are: the Eugene Young residence, 480 Tiplady Rd.; the Mary Crain Allen residence, 11764 Dexter-Pinckney Rd.; the Peter Kozlowski residence, 810 Scully Rd.; the C. H. Dykeman residence, 8870 Merrill Rd.; and the Ralph Smith residence, 7366 Jennings Rd.

The three homes pictured here belong to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Dykeman and Mary Crain Allen.

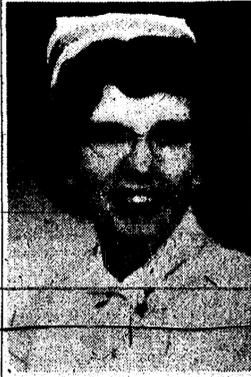

The Georgian-Colonial house has many interesting interior features, according to Mrs. Albert A. Phillips, publicity chairman for the tour. The staircase, she explained has hand-turned rungs and a heavy oak railing. An open hearth set in a brick wall located in one of the two kitchens should also be examined.

The basement tap room walls of polished stone, thought to be granite, indirect lighting fixtures and enormous fireplace are other unusual features of the house.

The library of this elegant home employs cherry panelling and an unique corner fireplace, Mrs. Phillips added.

Storybook Farm has long been known to area residents as "Byron Kenny's Farm." Murray's Kenny's grandfather was a classmate of Daniel Webster, after whom Webster church, Webster Church Rd., and Webster township were named.

OPENS FOR VIEWING SUNDAY, as part of the 1965 Friends of the Dexter Library Country House Tour, will be these three attractions: The elegant Georgian Colonial house, nearly 125 years old, is now the Ralph Smith residence, located at 7366 Jennings Rd. "Storybook Farm," owned by Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Dykeman, 8870 Merrill Rd., embodies farmhouse architecture typical of many of the early structures built by New York State carpenters in the late 18th century. The Mary Crain Allen residence, 11764 Dexter-Pinckney Rd., incorporates stucco and narrow wood beams and wood trim in an English Tudor cottage. Two other homes, the Eugene Young residence, 480 Tiplady Rd., and the Peter Kozlowski residence, 810 Scully Rd., appeared last week.

MRS. BEULAH RANKIN of Dundee, a former Chelsea resident, has completed the required course at the Ann Arbor Practical Nurses Education Center and is now employed at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor. The former Beulah Radle, she made her home at Rogers Corners with the late Mrs. Amanda Schneider until her marriage to the late Marshall Rankin. Mrs. Rankin graduated from Chelsea High school with the class of 1913. She is the mother of four children seven to 13 years of age. She is to take state board examinations in November. Her home is at 180 Outer Dr., Dundee.

Official School Enrollment Hits 2,264

Official enrollment figures in the Chelsea schools total 2,264. The high school enrollment stood at 565 students on Oct. 1, according to Charles Lane, high school principal.

Of this total, 148 are freshman, 144 are sophomores, 151 are juniors and 122 are seniors.

Enrollment in the Junior High school came to 461 pupils, reported Alan Conklin, Junior High principal.

One hundred forty-two were sixth grade pupils, 167 were seventh grade pupils and 152 were in the eighth grade.

Enrollment figures for the public grade school units as announced by Principal Sylvester Wojcicki, include 472 students at South Elementary school, 491 at North Elementary school and 46 at the Methodist church unit.

The breakdown at the different grade school units includes 25 kindergarten students and 21 first grade students at the First Methodist church educational unit.

Figures for North Elementary school include 60 kindergarten pupils, 77 first grade pupils, 87 second grade pupils, 88 third grade pupils, 90 fourth grade pupils, and 89 fifth grade pupils.

South Elementary school has 118 pupils in kindergarten, 80 in grade one, 90 in grade two, 60 in grade three, 62 in grade four and 62 in grade five.

Official enrollment figures at St. Mary's school include 35 second graders, 43 third graders, 39 fourth graders, 29 fifth graders, 28 sixth graders, 32 seventh graders and 24 eighth graders, for a total of 220.

Last year's hunting accidents in Michigan underscored an old truth: the biggest threats to sportsmen are their own weapons and those of their hunting partners.

Sheriff's Raid Picks Up 37 Area Youths

Washtenaw County Sheriff Douglas J. Harvey led a raid Friday night, Oct. 1, which netted 37 Chelsea youths and a keg of beer.

The Chelsea youths, accompanied by two youngsters from Ann Arbor and one from Jackson, were all between the ages of 16 and 24.

Detective Lt. Irwin Hollis said they had received a tip several days before the keg party and were all set for the raid at 11:45 p.m. Friday night at the American Legion Home at Cavanaugh Lake.

The lock on the lower door of the American Legion Home, Post 31 had been broken, according to Post Commander Eugene Martin, and members of the group had been told they definitely could not use the American Legion Home if teen-agers were going to be present. No rent money was received from the group, he added.

A dozen officers from the sheriff's office accompanied Sheriff Harvey on the raid. All exits to the building were blocked by deputies while other officers entered the hall and confiscated a keg of beer. Officers reported several bottles of beer in the hall as well.

The 28 boys and 12 girls were celebrating the birthday of a boy on leave from service duty.

The 40 were taken to the County Jail in Ann Arbor where they were questioned, warned and ordered to appear back Monday before they were released to their parents. Deputies did not complete the processing until 5 a.m. Saturday.

Lt. Hollis said that Monday the prosecutor's office warned that if any of the teen-agers is ever picked up again they would be charged instead of receiving warnings.

He added that any of the youngsters arrested again would very likely also face charges for the Friday evening offense.

Lima Admitted to Watershed Council, But Without Vote

The Huron River Watershed Council delegates voted to accept Lima township as ex-officio member without voting privileges during their meeting on Sept. 30 in the Ann Arbor City Hall.

This action was taken as there was some question as to whether Lima township could legally be seated according to present interpretation of Public Act 253. A committee was chosen to make a study of what sort of amendment would be needed in order to make Lima legally eligible for membership on the Council.

The old Huron River Intergovernmental Committee had allowed membership to each governmental unit in the Huron River drainage basin. This method of determining eligibility made possible a delegate body of more than 60 although only 32 were ever certified.

It was felt that the change had been made concerning eligibility on a watershed council, not with

The bill also provides lifetime protection for former presidents and four years of protection for widows and minor children of presidents who die in office.

THE LANSING REPORT FROM senator GIL BURSLEY

As state senator from this district I try to be objective and non-partisan in considering legislation of concern to the welfare of the area and of Michigan as a whole. Letters and inquiries reach me from thousands of citizens and I don't know what the political affiliation of most of them is—nor does it make a bit of difference. If a citizen has a problem my job is to consider the facts and to be as helpful as possible.

Along this line I must be fair in giving Democrats credit for some constructive legislation this spring. Such items as water and air pollution controls and improved school support are examples. It must be added that Republican legislators also voted for these measures. In the area of traffic safety, needed legislation was not passed, however.

This fall I think Democrats are open to legitimate criticism. The fall session beginning Sept. 14 was purportedly to consider fiscal reform. House Democrats refused to even permit it to be discussed. As a matter of fact it has taken three weeks for the Democratic leadership in House and Senate to agree on what items we would consider in the legislature this fall. Logically this homework should have been done before Sept. 14.

We now have a schedule calling for work completion on Friday, Oct. 15. We have 32 items on an agenda for consideration. Some are very simple such as giving immediate effect to the Senior Citizens' property tax exemption bill passed last spring. All that is needed here is a two-thirds vote by House and Senate in favor of the action. This could be done in just a few minutes.

Other items involve new bills which have to go through the committee process and may require time, debate and amendment. In this category we have bills to Want Something To Do Sunday?

The Chelsea-Dexter-Waterloo community will provide recreation and entertainment for people of the entire southeastern area of the state Sunday, Oct. 10.

Separate stories in this issue of the paper give details of the various events planned.

The Chelsea Chamber of Commerce sponsored color tours, customarily planned for the entire month of October, are considered at their best on the second Sunday of the month. Because the second Sunday of the month brings so many people to the area the Chelsea Junior Chamber of Commerce has its annual chicken barbecue at Pierce Park on that day. They have worked out a system of serving which is exceptionally efficient and patrons may eat their dinner at the Park or at one of the many picnic areas along the two color tour routes.

Dexter Friends of the Library are sponsoring a house tour on Sunday from 1 to 6 p.m. and people in the area for the color tour may go on to Dexter and participate in the house tour in the Waterloo Area there will be the final open house of the season at the Waterloo Farm Museum—the former Realy homestead built in 1862 and reconstructed and furnished in authentic style of the period.

The museum is located on the Waterloo-Munith Rd., approximately one-eighth mile north of Waterloo village.

The museum will close for the winter following Sunday's open house from 1 to 5 p.m. There is a nominal charge for touring the museum. The committee plans to serve refreshments.

Another Sunday tour of interest to many area residents is being arranged on an invitational basis by the Mill Creek Research Council. A bus tour is planned; however, all area people interested in the proposed Lima township Mill Creek impoundment are welcome to attend a social hour is planned for 3:30 at Homestead Acres, the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Frisinger, 13450 Jerusalem Rd. The social hour is planned for 3:30 p.m.

Independence is something that the married man brags about.

lower the Mackinac Bridge tolls by refunding outstanding bonds; legislative auditor general act as required by the new Constitution; highway sign police legislation; and appropriations for directors of new departments created under the Executive Reorganization legislation which reduces the number of independent boards, bureaus and departments from 130 to not more than 20.

Of general interest will be a bill to extend township officers terms to four years. This measure I will support. I hope the dates may be made as logical as possible, taking into account local tax collection schedules.

Generally Democrats set up this agenda although Republicans can claim credit for adding one item which is the Veterans Homestead Tax Exemption.

Pre-Measurement Service Offered By ASCS Office

Mrs. Carolyn Stump, office manager, Washtenaw ASCS office has announced that all county offices provide measurement and pre-measurement services to farm operators at a very low cost. Farm operators may use the pre-measurement service to have their wheat ground measured before planting. The measured acreage will be staked and the farmer will know exactly where to plant.

The cost of this service is $5 plus 10 cents an acre for acres measured.

Counties are also offering an early measurement service. This measurement is done after the crop is planted. The cost of this service is $5 per farm. Other services offered are: to establish the official acreage for any or all fields on the farm, and to obtain measurements of acreages prior to adjustment so the producer will know how much to destroy to be in compliance with program regulations. The cost of these measurement services is $5 per farm plus 10 cents per acre.

Advantages of pre-measurement are: (1) The producer will know in advance of planting the exact acreages in his fields. (2) He will not lose money in labor, machinery, seed and fertilizer, costs of overplanting acreages which must be destroyed. (3) He will be able to plant the entire permitted or intended acreage for feed grain or other crops and will not lose money from underplanting acreage in order to be sure that he is within his permitted acreage. (4) He will be sure of being eligible for price support and other program benefits.

All counties in southeast Michigan will be on "Compliance by Certification" for 1966 programs. This type of compliance does not allow for adjustment of acreages after spot-checking is completed. Check with county ASCS offices for full details.

New Educational Concepts Needed, Says Dr. Gibbons

Dr. Ray Gibbons, national church leader in the United Church of Christ, spoke to four groups while in town Monday and Tuesday of this week. Invited by the Deacons of the First Congregational church and shared with the community, Dr. Gibbons brought with him 80 years of experience in working with churches in the field of Christian Social Action. A steering committee of representatives from six churches, the high school, the village council, the police department, and the student government at the high school met together with moderator of the Congregational church, William Tite, and with the minister, the Rev. Robert Livingston. They discussed the areas on which Dr. Gibbons had been asked to speak concerning "youth" and searched out facts and ideas and briefed Dr. Gibbons on his arrival Monday afternoon.

Then at Kiwanis Club; where Dr. Parker Sharrard had arranged for him to speak, the guest spoke on the fact that the 3-Rs for today are changed from the days of our youth, and that with the radical changes in today's world they must be different if we are to prepare our youth for tomorrow.

The first R is for "Re-educate." The youth of tomorrow must be ready to learn new skills in this rapidly changing world, re-training when the old skills become obsolete, or our age or circumstance makes us unfit for the job for which we were originally trained.

The second R is for "Re-creation." In the life of our children they may be able to spend the bulk of their time doing as they please since their jobs may take much less of their time than now. They must be ready to deal with a life that may be entirely their own choice... with few, time or financial limitations... almost like the retired person today.

The third R we must teach today is the R of "Relationship." The world is so small that we are "rebell to eyeball" as Secretary Rusk says, with foreigners all around the earth... because our boundaries are so close together they are neighbors. Our youngsters will have to learn to live with all, even the most distant, perhaps even life from distant planets. So our children must be educated to relate well to all kinds of people.

Dr. Gibbons said that perhaps one of the ways we are teaching Relationships is through our cultural exchange programs where even small schools and villages learn to know how other people feel. Because children growing up without this broadening experience are culturally deprived many towns are segregated for the benefit of White children. He said that we need concern, not only about the location of our children, but that in the next town and south, and even over the water, they may make decisions which our future could influence. Our future cooperative government or international government for them. He said that he had been writing and "with me" to pay our children for their part of the education, Religion, and Re-education. Attending the Kiwanis meeting with Dr. Gibbons were William Tite, the Rev. Billott, Robert Jacobs, the John Smucker, Dr. Parker Sharrard, and the Rev. Livingston.

Numerous other bills passed year which came under the title of "Public Welfare" have recently been summarized in reports on such subjects as "Citizens," "Regulatory Agency," "In all welfare programs it is the necessity to analyze the humanitarian demands of society and the economic of welfare posts—and it is ways been my objective the years I have worked a subject—to attempt to make fare a step toward self-sufficiency rather than a perpetual need, wherever this is a state.

No problem of life has ever solved by dodging facts and running away from the truth.

Youth Problems

A summary of the discussion seemed to bring to the surface three areas in which the group felt concerns.

First they seemed to want to encourage our community to try to get a program started in which we can identify potential delinquents and drop-outs early and then do something about them — when there is more chance of helping. Perhaps this will be by enrichment programs in school, smaller classes, operations like Headstart, and perhaps it will require some sort of a big-brother program for those in broken homes.

Second, the group seemed to be asking for help for the youth who are potentially troubled or in actual difficulties with school, home, or community — and for their parents. This might be accomplished by having parents of a single grade be called to discuss their mutual problems and opportunities with expert leadership. The youth might find professional psychiatric or social worker help, or perhaps a "pal" program would be helpful if the community and schools and churches would provide it.

Third, the group was interested in a center, or a coffee-house that would have low-lights, loud music, informality and little regimentation where youth could feel at home and yet be in good sponsorship. However, the youth should be consulted, and experts too, to find the record and desires.

JOB RECORD

The Labor Department reports more Americans were employed last month in manufacturing than at the height of World War II production. There were 18,133,000 persons employed in July 1964, above the previous high set in November, 1943.

tures built by New York State carpenters in the late 19th century. The house was modernized in 1950, in 1955 the family room, upstairs bedroom and bath and garage were added.

One of the upstairs bedrooms has been converted to a studio for Dykeman, who calls himself a "Sunday painter." Mrs. Phillips said that visitors can see from his watercolors, hung beautifully throughout the house, that he is more than just a "Sunday painter."

Items throughout the house reflect the Dykeman's interest in traveling. Mrs. Phillips said visitors will be able to see a Belgian Congo spear, ancient Roman nails used during the time of Christ, and a painting by Ludwig Bemelmann, a friend of the Dykemens. Bemelmann is the author of "Madeline" and many other books.

A notable feature of the yard is the oak tree at the northwest corner which measures 12 feet 9 inches in circumference and is thought to have been there in the days of the Indians. Numerous arrowheads and five drill stones have been found in the vicinity. The barn, painted bright red with a lovely fieldstone base, dates back to the days of Daniel Webster.

The English Tudor cottage belonging to Mary Carin Allen is set back in the pines, constructed of stucco with narrow wood, beams and trim, and gives a cozy, intimate atmosphere, according to Mrs. Phillips.

One interesting architectural interior feature is the beamed living room ceiling. An antique canopied bed and pecky red and white kitchen are also of special interest. Mrs. Phillips added.

A Chinese painting dating back 250 years is of special interest. Mrs. Phillips pointed out. The painting, "Lasa in Tibet," was found in a temple in Peking, China and was given to Mrs. Allen by the Oriental Art curator of the Detroit Art Institute.

Mrs. Allen has furnished her home with family heirlooms, such as a bench from an English pub that was used while changing ice skates; on one wall is her grandfather's watchfob which is typical of the treasured keepsakes she has filed away concerning the part he played in the Civil War. Included among her family mementos is the unpublished funeral address given by President Garfield at the death of his friend,

William Steadman, an ancestor of Mary Allen.

Arrangements for showing the homes were made by Mrs. Paul Rossel and Mrs. Norman Wilner.

Tickets and maps of the tour route are available at the Dexter Library or from Friends of the Library board members, Mrs. Wilner and Mrs. John Ayers. Chelsea residents may obtain tickets at Sanjour Ceramic Gift Studio, 102 E. Middle St., between the hours of 12 noon and 5 p.m. Friday and Saturday. Information on the tour may be obtained by calling 426-4442 or 426-8387.

All of the homes this year are north of North Territorial Rd. Two of the Young and Allen residences, are on the Dexter-Finchway Rd. just beyond Portage Lake. The Kazlouski, Dykeman, and Smith homes are between Scully Rd. and Jennings Rd., north of North Territorial.

Visitors taking the tour are invited to stop at the Dexter Library during the tour for cider and coffee. Visitors may follow any route they choose in touring the homes, which will be identified by signs.

In the event of bad weather, visitors will be asked to remove their shoes before proceeding through the homes. Visitors are also asked to refrain from smoking as a courtesy to the hostesses. The Friends of the Library also ask that no children under 12 be taken on the tour.

plumbing, Weber said. He added that even the basement walls had buckled, cracked and caved in and would have to be replaced.

Workmen left the site about 5:30 p.m. Friday evening. Everything appeared normal at that time. One of the firemen said he had driven by the house only an hour before the fire alarm was turned in at 10:30 p.m. and noticed nothing unusual.

Where the fire started has not been determined.

The blaze was Chelsea's second serious fire in less than two weeks. The Fremont Boyer home at 815 W. Middle St. received extensive damages when fire broke out in an upstairs closet on Sept. 20.

Community Calendar Questionnaire

All organizations in the Chelsea area are being asked to co-operate in a plan to formulate a "community calendar." Such a calendar would prove a convenience in planning future projects so that conflicting meetings or events would not be set for the same dates.

Every community club, church group and organization is asked to fill out the form below and mail it at once to The Chelsea Standard, 300 N. Main St.

A mimeographed copy of all the events scheduled will be mailed to each group responding. It is hoped that this will help each group to organize its own program to better advantage.

Dundee Rolls Over Bulldogs For 21st Win

Dundee High school's football team came to Chelsea Friday and defeated the Chelsea Bulldogs 37-7.

Tod Kerner quarterbacked Dundee to their 21st consecutive victory by passing 15 yards to Jim Bowman for Dundee's first TD. He ran the second one three yards for a TD, and passed to Jim Bowman 10 yards for another TD. The fullback ran two TD's in over the guard's spot and Jim Bowman ran off tackle to finish the scoring for Dundee.

Tom Wojcicki ran the second half kick-off back 80 yards for Chelsea's only TD. The extra point attempt was good on a pass from Mike Kushmaul to Gary Houle.

Dundee intercepted five passes and blocked a punt which helped Mike Kushmaul to Gary Houle.

Defensive stand-outs for Chelsea were defensive halfback Tom Wojcicki and linebacker Larry Porath.

Friday, Chelsea goes to South Lyon to meet a team which is coached by a Chelsea High grad, Robert Keezer, and we know they would like nothing better than to beat his old school for him. Their backfield is bigger than ours, but our backs should be faster. They have nine seniors in their starting line-up and we will have seven seniors for Friday's game.

Earl Hughes has moved into starting center spot and Larry Porath has moved to guard. Kim Flintoff may move into the slot-back position after his showing in the last three games and his practice. Danny Allen is looking good and may move into an end position. Larry Gaken and Lyndon Benjamin are looking better and will see more defensive duty this week against South Lyon.

Tom Adams has also looked good of late at corner-back and will see more action at this spot. Don Salyer has looked real quick in our first three games and we are counting on seeing him more and more at the tail-back spot.

Noon-Time Siren Blast To Be Resumed

The Village Council reinstated the 11:30 a.m. siren testing at the Council meeting Tuesday evening, Oct. 5.

The siren was reinstated because the blowing is regarded as a safety test to make sure the mechanism is functioning properly in cases of emergency.

At the same time, the Council instructed two Councilmen and Fire Chief James Gaken to investigate relocation possibilities for the Van Buren St. siren.

The Council had received several letters regarding the termination of the 11:30 test. They voted to discontinue the daily blowing at their meeting on Sept. 21. The Van Buren St. siren is located in a residential area and residents have complained that it is very disturbing.

Magee doesn't have an exclusive on Herculon — but the Magee brand of beauty makes these Herculon carpets almost exclusively special. So rich, thick and bouyant, so graceful with the decorator look, it seems too much to expect that they should be trouble-free too. But they are: the polypropylene olefin fiber is built to take all kinds of trampling, all kinds of spills. There's almost nothing a baby or a pet, a gaggle of girls or a bay of boys can do to a Magee Herculon carpet that won't wipe right off. To deal with a spot, all you do is blot; as for such nuisances as moths and mildew, they just naturally stay away.

From Here and There

Very few states in the union license locksmiths and as a result anyone can buy a key to fit any parked automobile and that should explain the great number of cars stolen every day...

One of the very large industries in the United States is burglary; not quite as large here as in Asian countries, but we're growing it and with the inborn American burning desire to be "first" in everything, who knows...

There's an 80-unit apartment building in San Francisco where the rents are a-cut or two higher than medium priced, and recently one of the long-time tenants complained to the manager that two stability dressed women who were quite well known among the natives for their constant pan-handling were soliciting in the building...

A little investigation unfolded an almost unbelievable story. The older of the women is in her mid-80's, the younger one is 60-odd. For years they lived in the slums and begged all day. The older woman, now almost feeble, walks by taking not more than six-inch steps and not infrequently a compassionate person offers a handout of money. It is said the money begged was hoarded until the amount was staggering; then, rather than bank it, they bought a large building with many flats...

Time went on and a huge price was offered for the property which was accepted and promptly reinvested in another piece of income property. What the women paid for this is unknown, but the previous owner had paid $365,000 for the holding. The women no longer beg, but passersby still offer for them these two extremely shabby dressed women who were think it a sin to refuse money. No one in this country need starve; every county in the nation has a welfare department and those down on their luck can apply for assistance and get it, therefore begging is entirely unnecessary; also illegal, but it goes on under the eyes of policemen who hesitate to make arrests...

The two San Franciscans who own the apartment house and who look so bedraggled even a pawnbroker would hesitate to refuse a handout, is only one classic case of rich beggars. Several years ago an "enterprising" gentleman rounded up a group of handicapped people including blind men and women and provided for them in a large private house; also he had a station wagon. Weather permitting he would lead his "employees" into the car and drop them off at selected spots where they were to stand and ply their trade all day. As dusk approached he would gather in his "army" and bring them home. After the evening meal, the spoils were divided. This promoter was put out of business but no criminal charges were filed...

In midtown New York where 90 theatres light their neon signs nightly, begging is very big. One man with a spine curvature has been holding forth in front of the hit shows for years. He makes his appearance about 7 in the evening and waits for the stage curtain to rise, then he takes his "break" until intermission when patrons come out for a smoke or a breath of fresh air. At that time he does more soliciting, then he's through for the day. This went for years until one day someone who was being treated to the theatre happened to see him; the beggar was his bookmaker. Reconstruction of the facts developed the modus operandi: He would come to the corner saloon in his rundown neighborhood and take bets from 10 cents to 50 cents on the horse races, and he accumulated a fortune doing this. The hours were short, the rewards were satisfactory and there was no investment...

Retail merchants, especially department, store and supermarket operators, have found their losses through pilferage amount to nearly 20 percent of their sales. Not infrequently someone is caught shoplifting, but not too often. Store detectives hesitate to call the police for fear of lawsuits charging false arrest. If a shoplifter pays for the merchandise, that usually ends the case, but does it? No woman can be searched by a man, most detectives are men, and there hangs a tale of immunity for the female transgressor. In the very large supermarkets where pilferage has become a serious problem there have been placed a number of mirrors which can spot a little stealing, but people walk around a great deal and following a suspect is confusing. The most flagrant instances of stealing in food stores is by men or women who buy a loaf of bread or a bunch of radishes and steal a pound of butter, a few cans of caviar or salmon, and packaged meats out of the refrigerated cases...

Dean Martin who has created a reputation for himself as being a champion toper, has a new song the first line of which is "If you were the only girl in the world, with my luck I'd be one, too." Joe E. Lewis, the highest priced night club entertainer, also a two-fisted drinker, says "You're young once, but if you work it right, once is enough." Doctors will tell you if a man is known as being able to handle his liquor, he'll show you a serious liver condition. Among baseball players today the names most frequently mentioned are Willie Mays, Sandy Koufax, Don Drysdale and Mickey Mantle. No one talks about the great pitcher of yesteryear, Bugs Raymond. Not only was he a good pitcher, he was a phrasemaker, too. It was Raymond who invented the Breakfast of Champions, "Two boiled eggs and a pint of Bourbon. Fifty years ago marathon foot races were all the vogue, and there were two extremely popular professionals—Dorando and Longboat, the American Indian. Long distance walking races were popular too. All this was changed, now Pop and the kids start the motor to go two blocks for a nigger or a package of cigarettes. Mom is too busy to learn to drive, she walks to the market. These are but a few of the literally hundreds of questions which have arrived at my office from responsible city, village, township and county officials in the past eight and one-half months. While my staff has worked diligently to find the answers to as many of the questions as it has been possible for us to work on, we find it nearly impossible to provide communities all of the help which we feel they deserve in planning for the health and welfare of their residents. Therefore, with the help of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and his capable staff, I have arranged to hold a Second District Community Development Conference, here in Washington. The Conference begins at noon on Monday, Oct. 18, with a luncheon at which a distinguished speaker will address the Conferees on the problems and the promise of the

Congressman Wes VIVIAN Reports from WASHINGTON

"How can our township get help in constructing a sewage treatment facility?" "Is there a Federal program to help our village purchase park lands?" "What Federal programs exist to help our watershed committee get a flood control and water recreation project underway?" "What are the provisions of the new Economic Development Act, applicable to Monroe county?" "Do the rent supplement provisions of the new Housing Act apply only to newly-constructed units?"

That morning, a special session will have been held for county, city and township officials in Monroe county, attended by officials of the newly-constituted Monroe Development Administration. Of the five cities of the district, Monroe is the only one eligible for assistance from this agency under the terms of the legislation. Tuesday we will meet with representatives of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the Department of Agriculture, and the Small Business Administration. At luncheon, a speaker will be a high-ranking official of the Department of State who will deliver an off-the-record briefing on the status of our affairs as of that date. I am hopeful that every county, village and township will want to send at least one representative to this first Federal Local Second Congressional District Conference, to be held in Washington on Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 18 and 19. A fanatic is simply an individual who knows that he is right.

Just A Minute...
By the Rev. James A. Craig
What's the matter with kids today? The line from the Broadway production seems to sum up what a lot of adults are either saying or thinking. We're convinced that something is wrong. We wish we knew what it is.

SUNDAY'S SERMON
SUCCESS
Every man has a personal yardstick for measuring "success". For some, success is never lasting. Achievement of one goal dictates the establishment of another. The scientist who makes a discovery or proves a theory may be elated. He is, nonetheless, aware that there are many more problems, many questions unanswered. Many of us are apt to envy a neighbor or associate whose achievements have marked him as a "success" in the eyes of his contemporaries. This individual, however, may be far from satisfied. He may have goals and ambitions yet unachieved. If we would achieve success, we must establish our own goals. And we must not be content with a single success. For every task accomplished, there is a job yet undone. We cannot decide for ourselves that we are a "success" in life. If we do, there is temptation to sit back and admire our accomplishments... and this is when deterioration begins.

BIBLE VERSE TO STUDY
He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at him.
1. Who spoke these words?
2. Unto whom were they addressed?
3. To whom does "he" refer?
4. Where is the quotation found in the Bible?

DEAL BASEBALL FAN
Miami, Fla. — While attending a double-header, Edison Hartford fell asleep. When the 68-year-old man awoke, the stadium was dark and the gate locked. He yelled for help four hours before a passing taxi driver heard his call. The driver called police who had to call firemen to use a ladder to get Hartford over the fence.

SUGAR QUOTA
The Agriculture Department has granted the Dominican Republic a quota of 31,700 tons of sugar for this country. This will help meet the deficit in the Puerto Rican quota.

EXAMS FOR SUMMER JOBS
The Civil Service has announced plans for competitive examinations for federal summer employment for next year. Legislation is proposed that each state be given a quota of summer jobs in Congress.

The tiger scores again!

It's dramatically fresh and new, but still very, very Pontiac. That's written all over it, from the no-doubt-about-it new front end to the trimly tailored rear. (Did you think for one minute that we'd leave out the unique Pontiac styling character you like so well? Never!)
Another nice thing about the '66 Pontiac is that there are more of them—3 new super-sumptuous Broughams and 4 Ventures. And, of course, for you other Pontiac lovers we've got a bright new Grand Prix, new Catalinas, now Star Chief Executives—all with new Wide-Track ride and improved cat-quick handling. But you'll discover those things when you slip behind the wheel and turn a new '66 tiger loose. Wide-Track Pontiac/'66 and again!

You're looking at the newest thing in tigers. Sleek, lean-muscled new style. New power that starts with a revolutionary new kind of six and ranges through four V-8's. Crisp curves shape the new silhouette, and the sports coupe sports a smartly recessed rear window. Pontiac's revolutionary overhead cam six acts more like a V-8, looks like no six you ever saw, and still remembers that saving is what six buyers buy sixes for. Delivers 165 hp (or you can specify the sports package which includes the 207-hp version). And it's standard on all Tempests. Tempest Customs and Le Mans. V-8's? Up to 360 hp in the GTO. Tiger Management Looks To Success With Youngsters

Detroit — Chuck Dressen, recently signed to a new managerial contract for next season, has sounded the keynote for the 1966 Tigers.

"We'll win with our kids—and a trade or two," announced the veteran manager who will bring back his entire five-man coaching staff next year—Bob Swift, Pat Mullin, Stub Overmyre, Mike Roarke and Frank Skaff.

"I don't know of any team in the major leagues that has as many good young players as the Tigers," Dressen continued. "I mean young players who have been tested under fire in the majors."

"This isn't just my opinion; I've been told the same thing many times by other managers and by the scouts who've been following a lot of teams."

"There are plenty of clubs in the majors that would like to get their hands on some of our young players. We'll keep most of them. I'm sure; but I expect some trades—and good ones."

"Take pitchers like Denny McLain, Joe Sparna and Mickey Lolich. You don't find good young ones like that every day. It's the same way with Willie Horton, Gates, Brown and Jim Northrup in the outfield; Don Wert, Dick McAuliffe and Ray Oyler in the infield; and Bill Freehan behind the plate."

"They've shown me—and everyone who has seen me—play major league ball. Mickey Stanley, for instance. Right now, he's got to be my centerfielder next year. You a young Wayne Redmond will be ready before long. And I like Vern Holtgrave, John Hiller and Bill Graham for pitching futures."

"It's a great crop to go with our veterans—who aren't old by any means. Al Kaline, Norm Cash, Don Demeter and Dave Wickosham are all just 30. In fact, Hank Aguirre and Jerry Lampe are the only ones past 30."

Dressen's praise for the Tigers' fine crop of youngsters is a tribute to the Detroit scouting and farm system which is responsible for almost all of them. It also proves the wisdom of the course charted by Owner-President John E. Fetzer, who announced in 1961: "We will sign and develop our own players. You can't buy your way to success in baseball."

Twenty-two of the 34 players currently on the Tigers' active roster were signed and groomed by the Detroit organization. They have never played for any other team.

Two others were signed, traded, then reclaimed. Four more were acquired in trades directly involving Tiger-signed players.

The 22 "all-the-way-home-breds" include:

PITCHERS—Fred Gladding, John Hiller, Vern Holtgrave, Mickey Lolich, Leo Marantette, Phil Regan and Joe Sparna.

CATCHERS—Bill Freehan, Jackie Moore and John Sullivan.

INFIELDERS—Dick McAuliffe, Ray Oyler, Bill Roman, George Smith, Don Wert, and Jake Wood.

OUTFIELDERS—Gates Brown, Willie Horton, Al Kaline, Jim

MSU Admitting Their First Medical Students

East Lansing — Michigan State University will admit its first medical students in September, 1968.

Dr. Andrew D. Hunt Jr., dean of the college, announced that applications are being accepted by the College of Human Medicine for a class of about 20 students.

MSU will offer a two-year pre-professional program in medical education to prepare students for transfer to the third year of medical schools offering the degree of doctor of medicine.

Dean Hunt noted that the nation's four-year medical schools have hundreds of vacancies annually at the third-year level due to student attrition during the first two years.

MSU's medical students will be introduced to clinical training at Edward W. Sparrow Hospital in Lansing. Through a co-operative arrangement, the hospital is establishing a 40-bed University School section on one floor of its new wing now being constructed.

Word of Advice to Waterfowl Hunters

Lansing — Any sportsman who plans to take part in this fall's waterfowl season should pick up a copy of 1966 waterfowl hunting rules when he buys his small game license, the Conservation Department advises.

Under a change to simplify the old, complicated game law digest which covered regulations for all shooting seasons, hunting rules are now listed in three separate, easy-to-read folders.

Thus, when a duck or goose hunter purchases his small game license, chances are he will only get a copy of rules for the small game season unless he specifically asks for the waterfowl hunting information.

Rules for hunting waterfowl are now available at U. S. post offices where federal migratory waterfowl stamps are sold.

Computers May Help Draw Maps

Ann Arbor — Computers can be used to make quick and reasonably accurate maps, a University of Michigan geographer explains in a technical report prepared under contract with the U. S. Office of Naval Research.

Associate Prof. Waldo R. Tobler, says it was inevitable that the current revolution in data processing procedures would have an impact on cartography, because "map-making characteristically requires manipulation of large volumes of information, numerous computations of a fairly complicated nature, and often (particularly in military situations) a sense of urgency."

The ability of a digital computer to make algebraic manipulations for triangulation adjustments or map projections "has been well developed, Professor Tobler explains.

"The advent of graphic plotters—instruments which will draw lines—extends this process to operations which traditionally are considered non-mathematical. Map generalization is one such operation," he adds.

Tobler visualizes that "cartographers of the future may sit at a desk all day doing no drawing at all but only making decisions" at critical stages of the process.

Senator Philip A. Hart's

REPORT from WASHINGTON

Memo to Michigan Businessmen

I think, are aware of the work that the Agricultural Extension Service has been doing in bringing know-how to the farmers. Congress has passed a Technical Services Act, which is sponsored to provide technical assistance to businessmen. The bill recognizes that many businessmen have either failed to conduct research projects or to keep up with innovations on new techniques and equipment. The new legislation provides to set up a business extension service in each state which will keep local businessmen abreast of the latest technological developments.

Under the law to be administered by the Department of Commerce, $60 million is authorized in federal matching grants. For a state to participate, the governor must designate a state agency - probably a university - to submit a five-year plan outlining a technical service program to solve the most pressing problems of industry in that state.

A state plan to implement the act might employ workshops, seminars, demonstrations and publications sponsored by colleges and universities throughout the state. Also, a central referral agency could be set up to refer inquiries of local industry to the proper sources.

I have already written to Governor Romney urging him to take early advantage of this program. In the meantime, I thought you might like to know something of the program's aims.

Young Trees Now On Sale for Fall, Spring Plantings

Lansing - Purchase orders are now being taken by the Conservation Department from Michigan landowners who need young pine and spruce trees for reforestation plantings this fall or next spring. Approximately four million seedlings and transplants are being offered for sale at near-production costs to provide private property holders with stock for growing timber crops, controlling erosion and reclaiming farmlands from winds.

As in the past, orders are not being accepted to meet landscaping needs. Accounting for a large share of the Department's nursery supplies are red pine seedlings and transplants. Also available for fall or spring plantings are young white pine, jack pine, Austrian pine, white spruce, and Norway spruce trees.

Plans call for starting fall tree shipment shortly after the first hard frosts take place, making it safe to lift stock from the ground. Landowners may get tree stock price lists and order blanks from the Department's forestry section in Lansing or at offices of its field foresters and county extension agents.

1966 Valiant Has Lower, Wider Look

New styling changes create a wider, lower-looking Plymouth Valiant for 1966. There is a new hood, new front fenders, new roof and rear deck upper and lower panels on all 14 models of the 106-inch wheelbase Valiant. This marks the sixth model year of the Plymouth Valiant as an entry in the compact field. A complete line of 6- and 8-cylinder models is available in three series - V-100, V-200 and Signet, and includes two- and four-door sedans, two-door hardtops, convertibles, and four-door, two-seat station wagons. Valiant's traditional circular-shaped instrument panel has been replaced by a rectangular-shaped cluster of gauges, and the longer console for Signet models is completely new. The 1966 Valiant is offered in 17 different solid exterior colors. Shown in the Signet two-door hardtop.

Lansing Attorney Will Direct New Accident Claims Fund

Lansing - A Lansing attorney with vast experience in claims work and the insurance field in general has taken over one of the toughest jobs in Michigan - administering the state's new uninsured-motorist protection law, the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Act. He is Robert E. Hall, who will head up the fund's operation as a staff function of the Michigan Department of State.

Secretary of State James M. Hare, who chose Hall over a host of candidates, calls the job "one of the most challenging in state government."

"The new law is absolutely without precedent in the United States," Hare said, although there is a fund similar to it in Ontario, Canada.

"I consider Hall ideally qualified to handle the fund. He's a lawyer. Many of the problems in the claims area are in the legal field. But, just as important, he's a claims man, having worked 16 years in the field. This is rather a unique blending of qualifications."

Hall, 43, has been employed by Michigan Millers Mutual Insurance Company of Lansing as head of the legal department of the firm, a position he has held since 1958.

He is a graduate of Georgia Military College and the University of Florida Law school. He achieved PCPU (Chartered Property and Casualty Underwriters) designation in the insurance field. Hall has also taught insurance subjects at Michigan State University.

His claims experience was with the Michigan Claims Service as branch-office manager from 1952 through 1958. Prior to his work in the insurance field, Hall practiced law in St. Petersburg, Fla.

He joined the Department of State's staff as a division director in mid-September.

Hare said he would start with a small staff of about 20 people and build it up, as needs arise. "Just how large the staff will eventually get is anybody's guess," Hare said. "Much depends on the types and volume of claims. Another intangible is the possibility that the law will be amended to up the minimum claim from the present 50 to perhaps $200 or $300. This would undoubtedly cut the volume of claims."

Legal aspects of the fund will be handled through the attorney general's department, Hare said. And adjustors' work will be contracted, at least for the present.

Hare has other problems right now - money. There is no appropriation to get the fund "off the ground." He is hoping the legislature will provide for a deficiency appropriation of about $7.8 million, with about $7.1 million pegged for the payment of claims.

Fund collections will go throughout the year, although a sizeable portion of the fees of $25 by each uninsured vehicle owner and $1 by each insured owner will be collected by the licensing deadline of Feb. 28, 1966.

Victims of accidents with uninsured drivers will be able to file claims on or after Jan. 1, 1966.

Traffic Tolls Destined for New Highs

Michigan's total traffic casualties (deaths and injuries combined), total reported accidents and costs of accidents are destined this year to again set new annual highs, according to analysis of provisional figures by the State Police safety and traffic bureau.

Combined casualties last year were 140,743 (2,120 killed and 144,023 injured), accidents totaled 284,444 and the estimated cost of accidents reached $380 million. All were new highs.

Through Sept. 14, Michigan traffic deaths numbered 1,367 which was 91 or six percent fewer than 1,458 in the same period in 1964. However, most of this death reduction occurred in the year's first quarter. The 883 deaths in the ensuing five months exceeded by 18 the 870 of that period last year.

Deaths have averaged 5.3 a day so far in 1965. This rate, applied to the remainder of the year, would give the state an annual toll of at least 1,930 which would rank as fifth-worst on record.

Injuries and accidents through July, the latest information available, were up nine and 13 percent respectively over the first seven months of 1964. This continued upward trends that have prevailed for many months - injuries have increased 55 successive months compared with the same months a year earlier while accidents have been up on the same comparative basis in 53 of the 55 months.

The final death record for the year cannot be reliably predicted at this time. Ahead are three of the worst months for traffic fatalities.

Scholarship Fund Set Up in Memory of James 'Bingo' Brown

A scholarship fund in commemoration of the late James M. "Bingo" Brown, former dean of men at Eastern Michigan University, is now being established, according to university authorities.

Brown, who died Sept. 1 after a brief illness, was dean of men at EMU from 1927 until his retirement in 1962. He was nationally known as an educator and sportsman.

Those wishing to contribute to the James M. Brown Scholarship Fund should send their contributions to the office of Harold E. Sponberg, president, Eastern Michigan University.

Hunting on another man's land is a privilege, the Conservation Department reminds sportsmen. Abuse of that privilege has but one result - loss of a place to hunt.

Michigan groups interested in viewing the movie are urged to order film prints two weeks in advance of when they plan to show it. They are also asked to give alternate dates for use if possible. Loans are limited to three use-days.

TODAY'S INVESTOR
 BY THOMAS E. O'HARA
 Chairman, Board of Trustees
 National Association of Investment Clubs

Q. My broker suggests buying common stock of a certain company because, he says, it has good "leverage." What does he mean?

A. Leverage is a device making it possible to use a small force to act upon a larger one; the advantage the lever provides - is called leverage. "Give me a lever," said Archimedes, "and I will move the world."

In investing, leverage refers to the situation where a relatively small change in a company's earnings results in a much larger change in the earnings on its common stock. This happens only in cases where there are senior securities - bonds or preferred stock - outstanding. If a company has no senior securities, there is no leverage.

Here is how it works: Company A, with no senior securities, has 1,000,000 shares of common stock outstanding. Its net income, after taxes, is $2,400,000. This, divided by the 1,000,000 shares outstanding, amounts to earnings of $2.40 per share.

If next year Company A's net income should increase by 50 percent, to $3,600,000, the earnings per share will also go up 50 percent, to $3.60.

On the other hand, consider the case of Company B. Company B also had net profits, after taxes, of $2,400,000 for the year. Company B has 500,000 shares of preferred stock outstanding, on which it is obligated to pay dividends of $1 per share, or $500,000. This leaves $1,900,000, or $2.00 per share, as earnings on the 500,000 shares of common stock outstanding.

Now suppose Company B's net income next year also increased 50 percent, to $3,600,000. Dividends on the preferred still remain $1,000,000, leaving $2,600,000 - or $5.20 per share - as net earnings on the common - an increase of 86 percent. This is leverage.

But remember: leverage works both ways. If Company A's net profit should decrease 50 percent - from $2,400,000 to $1,200,000 - the net earnings on the common stock will also decrease 50 percent, from $2.40 to $1.20 per share. However, if Company B's net profit drops 50 percent - from $2,400,000 to $1,200,000 - it is still obligated to pay $1,000,000 of that sum as preferred dividends. This leaves just $200,000, or 40 cents per share - a decrease of 80 percent - as earnings on the common.

I would say that, on the whole, your broker is right: leverage offers a chance for greater yield on an investment. However, since it is more speculative, you must be prepared to see your dividends shrink or even evaporate completely in a bad year.

Q. Friends have told me I shouldn't be buying stocks now because the market is on the way down. What do you think?

A. The great financier, J. P. Morgan, had a stock answer when people would ask him, "What is going to happen to the market?" He'd say: "It's going to fluctuate."

That 19th century observation is just about the only valid prediction that can be made today on stocks - just as it was then.

If you have a sound investment program, and buy quality stocks at regular intervals without trying to predict the market, you are likely to do very well over an extended period of time.

This principle is one of the three basics of sound investing advocated by the National Association of Investment Clubs.

If you want to embark on a long-range program for investment for retirement - or for any other reason - right now is just as good a time as any, provided you select your stock purchases carefully. It is a good principle to space purchases over a period of time rather than make a major investment at one time.

Q. I belong to an investment club. Our broker tells me that we must have a tax identifying number for our club. How do we go about getting one?

A. Contact the District Director of Internal Revenue for your area and ask him for Form SS-4. Fill it out and return it to him; he will then assign a number to your club. This number should be used when filing your investment club's income tax return and should also be supplied to the transfer agents for each company in which your club owns shares of stock.

Interested in starting an investment club? NAIC's booklet, "An Educational and Investment Opportunity for You," tells you how to go about it. For a free copy write to T. E. O'Hara, National Association of Investment Clubs, Box 1056, Detroit, Mich. 48231, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Rep. Sharpe Gets Investigation into BTS Discipline

State Representative Thomas G. Sharpe (R-Howell) announced today that at his urging the Department of Social Welfare is initiating an immediate investigation into disciplinary problems at the Whitmore Lake Boys' Training School near Brighton.

According to Sharpe, "The number of walk-aways from this school is alarming and indicates to me that serious disciplinary problems exist there. For an institution that is charged with correction of delinquents to have over 250 walk-aways since the first of the year is deplorable, and would indicate that not much correction is going on there."

Sharpe has received several letters from local residents complaining about the school.

"These people have been harassed and their cars stolen and live in constant fear of harm from the escapees," Sharpe said, adding that this situation must stop immediately.

My own investigation and information received from my constituents indicate that the problems of this school are much deeper than just keeping the delinquents on the ground. The walk-away problem is only symptomatic of failure of the whole operation to run effectively," he said.

Sharpe reported that he has met with Bernard Houston, director of the Department of Social Welfare, who agreed to launch an immediate investigation. He also met with Virgil M. Pinckney, superintendent of the school.

"I have received excellent co-operation from the department on this matter," he stated.

He continued to trace their activities from battle to battle and finally to Andersonville prison and Lincoln's funeral in Springfield, Ill.

ON SEIZED PROPERTY

Senator Thomas J. Dodd (D, Conn.) has proposed legislation to let United States citizens file claims against Communist China on the same basis they now make against assets in Cuba. Treasury officials estimate there was between $100 and $150 million in frozen assets of individuals or businesses.

Fashion Notes

The new hats are being fashioned to suit the new hair styles. Some of them are small and fit the head in much the same manner as that of the World War I era. Others have the accent at the back of the hat. Then, too, it is now smart to wear the hat on the back of the head rather than to have it tilted toward the front. However, there are hats to suit every wearer—small, large, fur, felt or silk. Turbans are good and colorful. There are people who discuss problems maturely and people who converse all day without saying a significant word.

AGRICULTURE in ACTION

MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

Farm "Marketeers"

Not all "at-the-farm" markets are alike. We are moving away from the days when the farmer merely laid out his fruit and produce on a plank strung over a couple of barrels. The little roadside cubicle with its flap-front is being superseded by attractive, colorful farm salesrooms, filled with modern sales devices such as accurate scales, coolers and cash registers and with the operation held to high standards of cleanliness, product quality and honesty of pack. This consumer-consciousness and up-grading of standards for roadside markets has been established recently by a group of "farmer-marketeers" who have formed an association to assure the dignity and public respect for their own business practices. Two years ago, these farmers organized the association of "Michigan Certified Farm Markets" with the help of the Michigan Farm Bureau and its affiliate, the Michigan Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Association. Not every farm market can become a member of the association. The farmer and his market must first meet rigid requirements. The market must be attractive. It must be sanitary. Products must meet high quality standards. To assure this, the market must submit to inspections regularly by the Michigan Department of Agriculture and the Association. Products must be presented in accurately labeled, attractively packaged displays. The salesroom must be a semi-permanent or permanent structure with plenty of space provided for safe parking off the highway. When you stop at one of these markets, look for the sign that says "Michigan Certified Farm Markets." If the sign is there, the market should be as neat as a pin, as clean as a Frau's kitchen and as colorful as a rose garden in June. The fragrance of apples, peaches, pears, plums, grapes or other fresh fruit will assault you as you enter. There may be squash, cabbage or pumpkins in season. Most were grown on the farm of the owner for that is one of the requirements of the Association. There is no use trying to regulate the world—unless you can first demonstrate that you can regulate and control yourself.

Now you can have plenty of peace—cashews and almonds—on 14 months in plastic bags. Banner Year Reported for Mushrooms

The warm wet September weather Dexter has been undergoing has produced several interesting botanical features for area residents to note and enjoy.

Lee Curtis calls attention to the fact that this is a banner year for mushrooms. Because of the warm, wet weather, he reports that a variety of these interesting plants may be seen in the nature area behind the high school.

"These same conditions may not produce a colorful fall season," he adds, "but many colors are evident in the fungal world—yellow-green, purple, red, white and orange."

He also reports seeing a fair number of wildflowers, including white snakeroot, moth mullein, asters, chickory and others.

"A surprise was a beautiful blue bottle gentian growing right in the middle of the trail," he added.

Traditional Sermons Losing Effectiveness

East Lansing — Many traditional preaching techniques are losing their effectiveness, says a Michigan State University speech professor who advises clerical study groups and conventions.

Dr. Kenneth C. Hance says sermons with "loaded language" have emotional appeal but do not get their message across. He is a leading spokesman in a movement to modernize many traditional preaching methods.

He notes, however, there is a "widespread awareness of the importance of communication in the church," evidenced by growing numbers of clergymen returning to schools and seminars for work in speech and rhetoric.

Watershed Council To Tour Proposed Reservoir Area

On the next two Sunday afternoons, Oct. 10 and 16 two more special group tours will be made of the Mill Creek impoundment area.

The tour guide will stress technical aspects concerning the proposed reservoirs as well as show the area involved.

Invitations have been issued by the Mill Creek Research Council to all delegates on the Huron River Watershed Council and to its technical advisory committee. Also invited are Wendell E. Hulcher, mayor of Ann Arbor; Fred A. Mummel, Superintendent of Public Works for Ann Arbor; Dr. Otto K. Engelke, County Health Director; Ann Arbor City Council members who have not been present for earlier tours and others.

These tours will begin at the Leonard McCulla home on S. Steinbach Rd. and will make a stop for a social hour at Homesstead Acres, the George Frisinger home, 13450 Jerusalem Rd. at about 3:30 p.m.

All interested area residents are invited to the Frisinger home to greet the tour guests.

New School Bus Now in Operation

W. J. "Wally" Grossman, supervisor of transportation for the Chelsea schools, has announced the arrival of a bright yellow school bus, numbered 15.

The bus, built by the Superior Coach Co., is one of three ordered from the Superior Coach Co. in Lima, O. Grossman said the other two buses are expected within the next next two weeks and are badly needed.

The 60-passenger bus was put into operation Sept. 27. It replaces bus 12 and is driven by Elmer Lindow.

Chelsea schools have a fleet of 20 buses serving grade and high school students. Twenty-two drivers, including relief drivers, operate the 19 buses on their five-days a week schedule.

Reason Autumn Foliage Changes Puzzles Scientists

One of the great mysteries of nature is unfolding in Michigan's woods and forests as the green of summer gives way to the flamboyant colors of autumn.

The reasons why some leaves change color in autumn and others do not and why some turn faster than others is somewhat obscure, botanists admit, but it all adds up to scenic delight for vacationers and sightseers.

Those who look at the change of color through the season through scientific eyes have observed that the change of colors and the falling of the leaves coincide with a definite time-table of nature, related to the shortening of the daylight hours. It is the same kind of time-table that triggers the southern migration of birds and the spawning run of certain species of fish—a mystery which scientists have never been able to completely unravel.

It seems likely that the widely accepted theory that color changes are induced by heavy frost is a myth. Conversely, it appears that extreme weather has a tendency to reduce the formation of fall color rather than enhance it. Frost, as related to the turning of leaves, is now thought to be more of a coincidence rather than a contributing factor.

An abundance of chlorophyll in wooded plants accounts for Michigan's green summers. Toward late September and early October, nature springs the mysterious mechanism that breaks down the chlorophyll supply and the pigmentation of yellows, browns and reds—already present in the leaves—remains. In some trees, the color chemistry occurs just before the leaves fall.

Added to this mystery is the fact that the turning of leaves in autumn is characteristic, to a greater extent of American rather than European trees. Plants imported to Michigan soil will turn bright colors or remain green, according to the time-table of their native region. This factor is a dead giveaway as to their origin. Climate is not necessarily a factor and neither is the relationship of one tree to another, for many unrelated trees turn identical colors while others of the same family will turn different colors.

Whatever the cause, color tour enthusiasts find Michigan's fall season is resplendent with nature's most magnificent finery.

From the rocky crags of the Upper Peninsula to the gentle, rolling hills of the southern counties, Michigan in autumn is one gigantic color tour.

Many communities and regional groups, however, have established posted color trails where motorists follow marked signs which take them through the more outstanding color areas.

Michigan is well supplied with a variety of trees making it the fall showplace of the nation. With 85 kinds of soft and hardwood species it has a greater offering than any other state. It has more types of trees than all of Europe. Flaming scarlet and crimson mingle with chromes and ambers over a background of greens supplied by the spruce, pine and other firs. Low growing sumac, berry bushes and scrub oak add to the color that is Michigan in autumn.

Rambling through Michigan's wooded countryside on a fall weekend can prove a rewarding experience for those who find enjoyment in traveling where their fancy may take them. For many others who prefer planned color trails the Michigan Tourist Council offers the Michigan Autumn Color Tour Guide containing 24 routed color tours through various parts of the state. Copies of the publication are available without charge by writing the Michigan Tourist Council, Lansing 48926.
