New District Court Starts Chelsea Unit

Court Will Use Village Council Room While Permanent Facility is Fitted

With the new year comes a new court system to Washtenaw county and the opening of a district court in the village of Chelsea.

The district court system, created by the state legislature earlier this year to comply with provisions in the 1963 Michigan Constitution, will replace three municipal judges, 26 justices, and two circuit court commissioners in the county.

County Administrator Theodore Strunk said provisions for the change were made in an attempt to unify the lower court system by requiring that judges be attorneys and paid by the state. The five county district court judges were elected in November.

Two of the new judges, S. J. Eiden and Peter G. V. Thomassen, will hear cases in the 15th district, Ann Arbor. The remaining three, Edward D. Deake, Rodney E. Hutchinson and Patrick Conlin will hear county cases.

The Chelsea branch will be a permanent court under the judgeship of Patrick Conlin, who will decide with Deake and Thomassen what the geographic jurisdiction of each court will be. Deake will serve the Ypsilanti area, with the rest of the 14th district divided into jurisdictions for Hutchinson and Conlin.

Plans for traveling court to sit in Manchester, Saline, Dexter, Whitmore Lake and other county towns are being formulated.

The legal jurisdiction will include civil cases involving up to $3,000, raised from $500 maximum for justices. Criminal cases up to high misdemeanors, with maximum penalties of two years imprisonment, will be handled by the courts. This is an increased criminal jurisdiction from the municipal courts. Traffic offenses, arraignments and examinations of criminal defendants and original jurisdiction of felonies will be heard by district judges.

The former Chelsea State Bank building, given to the county for the purpose of establishing a court, will be the final home of the district court. Temporarily the Council Chambers in the Municipal Building will be used to hear cases. Architect Linden C. Pettys of Ann Arbor has submitted a report on finances, building condition and proposed changes to the building and grounds committee of the Washtenaw County Supervisors.

The building will be renovated and remodeled to create facilities necessary for the district court. Judge Conlin was a partner in Conlin-Conlin-Meador, McKenney and Conlin.

Fortune Sold To Michigan Seamless Tube

William A. McHattie, president and chairman of the board of Michigan Seamless Tube Co., announced agreement was reached for acquisition of all the assets of Fortune Industries, Inc., located at 11770 Dexter-Chelsea Rd.

Fortune Industries manufactures ceramic and plastic pre-formed tumbling materials and abrasive products for mechanical finishing methods.

The firm will operate as a wholly-owned subsidiary of Michigan Seamless Tube Co., under its present management. Leonard Fortune, Ann Arbor resident, will remain as chief executive officer.

The agreement to merge is subject to stockholder approval by both companies. The 30 Fortune Industries stockholders will cast their votes Jan. 18 and Michigan Seamless stockholders will reject or accept the proposal Feb. 11.

Fortune Industries, currently an employer of 50, will probably expand after the merger, according to Fortune. The production site will remain in Chelsea.

Major Problem in '69 Is for Administration To Control Inflation

Financial Writers See Delicate Balance in Fight Against Inflation

By Babson Institute Staff Writers

President Nixon will take over in January in a continuing national and international "state of siege." His major legacy from the outgoing Administration will be Vietnam, a militarily resurgent Russia, inflation, and a dollar that is not yet "out of the woods."

War and Peace

Much of the difficulty in which the United States finds itself today, both at home and abroad, can be laid squarely on the doorstep of a terrible error in national policy. The great mistake was the belief that we could fight a war in Southeast Asia and conduct "business as usual" elsewhere. The result was an immensely unpopular conflict and the setting in motion of a massive inflationary wave. The effects of both tragedies will continue to scourge our people with social divisiveness and economic inequalities for an untold length of time.

Recession Pockets—Peace will not come in Vietnam like the dropping of a curtain. The incoming Administration does not intend to surrender. Hence, the path to peace will be tortuous and, at times, seem without end. But, even though fighting may flare now and then, the consumption of the hardware of death will be considerably less in 1969 than in 1968. This will apply particularly to standard items that are burned up rapidly during heavy and widespread attack and counterattack. As a result, Babson's Reports looks for those concerns and areas that have been heavily committed to the making of bombs, shells, small arms, light ammo, etc., to suffer a slump in business volume and employment as the year wears along.

Boom Spots Too—But, if we may need fewer bombs and less TNT, we shall surely have a lot of work to do in order to catch up in modern weaponry. For while we have been tied down in Vietnam, we have been neglecting our defense posture elsewhere.

especially the application of the most up-to-date research and development: 1969 will not feel the full impact of the coming arms catchup; but it will see a strong beginning. Emphasis will be on silent submarines, lasers for use with both offensive and defensive weaponry, much more highly sophisticated computerized control of short- and long-range missiles, deployment of the latest ABM system, greater versatility and mo-

Space Revival—We have made great strides in space penetration despite our occupation with the jungles and swamps of Southeast Asia. Yet, our progress has lacked the impetus of the early years after Sputnik. Just now, recurring reports indicate a real likelihood that Russia will score a significant "space spectacular" probably sometime soon. Should this be the case, we foresee a new surge of spending on more massive boosters and on more refined vehicles. . . . both manned and unmanned. Again, observe that the big need will be for skilled men and highly complicated machines.

Russia Resurgent—The Russian Bear is no longer emitting friendly grunts of détente. Thoroughly aroused by near-revolution on his doorstep—and the gateway to his heartland—by the Czech stirrings for freedom in the summer of 1968, he will not risk any "repeat performance" in 1969. It will be the "hard line" for the Kremlin throughout the coming year; and the Nixon Administration will be shoved off balance many a time. Most ominous is the powerful strengthening of the Soviet Mediterranean fleet; for there it is in direct contact with American and other NATO warships. Once more, it will be a case of urgent defense needs taking precedence over pressing social demands. The issue of "guns or butter" will persist throughout 1969. Too much attention to either or both could well lead to a price-wage spiral in our economy. . . . with all the threat of a deflationary plunge thereafter.

Inflation Still Incubating

1968 will go down in economic histories as "the year of the great boo-boo." Early it was recognized that the economy was overheating. . . . that a cooling off was necessary to prevent runaway price boosts and the inevitable aftermath of recession. The government opted for a fiscal "wet blanket" (Continued on page three)

Bulldogs Take Third Place in Cage Tourney

Financial Writers See Delicate Balance in Fight Against Inflation

Chelsea Bulldogs soundly defeated the Brighton Bulldogs, 75-57, to claim the Holiday Tournament Consolation Trophy Saturday at Chelsea High school.

Chelsea Schools Superintendent Charles Cameron presented the Bulldogs the trophy after the game. They, in turn, passed it on to injured senior captain Doug Weatherwax, who was unable to participate since he is recuperating from a minor operation.

The team performed in a satisfactory manner with a majority of the Chelsea squad seeing service in the final quarter. The Bulldogs trailed through most of the game until the last quarter when they surged to the lead. Top Bulldog scorer was David Conklin with 28 points, followed by Jim Wojcicki and Howard Treado, with 18 and 10 points, respectively.

Top rebounders were Lance Burghardt and Dave Conklin with eight each.

Two bright spots for Chelsea proved to be sophomores Jim Wojcicki and Howard Treado. Both boys are first year varsity players. Wojcicki has seen much varsity action this year. Treado, recently added to the varsity team, has contributed to several games and is slated for heavy action during the remainder of the season.

The Bulldogs dropped their first tournament game to Ypsilanti Roosevelt, 52-46, but rallied to defeat their other two opponents and pick up a momentum that Coach Tom Balistrere is counting on to carry the Bulldogs through for a winning season.

The Bulldogs were encouraged by leads up to 19 points during the Roosevelt game, but were overtaken during the third quarter when Web Kirksey's Rough Riders began making the riding rough for Chelsea.

In spite of the defeat, Balistrere said the Bulldogs were strong on offense and defense throughout the game. High scorer was Jim Wojcicki with 20 points, followed by Lance Burghardt and David Conklin with seven points each.

Friday night Chelsea's luck turned and the Bulldogs saw themselves romp over Livonia Churchill 61-39. The tough Bulldog defense held the opponents to a quarter scoring average of nine points to the Bulldog average of 15. Chelsea standards on offense were David Conklin with 17 points, Mike Schmidt with 14, Jim Wojcicki with 12 and Lance Burghardt with 11. Lance Burghardt led defensive action with 11 rebounds, followed by Mike Schmidt with nine and Jim Wojcicki with six.

In other games during the tournament, Dexter lost the championship trophy to the Napoleon Pirates in an overtime period. The Pirates provided the ultimate in snappy finishes by sinking a basket as the buzzer sounded to tie the Dreadnaughts, 68-68, and then repeating the performance at the close of the three-minute overtime period to defeat the Dexter boys, 75-74.

Stockbridge, defending champions for the big trophy, claimed the JV championship.

Chelsea Coach Tom Balistrere praised the team leadership provided by senior captain Mike Schmidt and commented that Lance Burghardt did an excellent job on the boards. He added that the teamwork and spirit demonstrated during the three-game series inspired thoughts of a winning season for the Bulldogs.

The coach also said that the community offered fine support to the players and they intended to reward that loyalty.

Bulldog Wrestlers Face Tough Test in Quadrangular Saturday

After being put on their backs by the flu last week the Bulldog wrestling team is practicing hard in preparation for what promises to be a tough quadrangular meet Saturday.

Two Class A high schools, Adrian and Belleville, and Haxlett, a tough Class B wrestling school from near Lansing will offer the most Bulldogs some tough competition in two afternoon rounds and one evening session.

Bulldog Coach Burley Hendricks said the teams were picked to provide top-level competition early in the season, rather than having the first severe tests at the major tournaments.

A team trophy and medals for first- and second-place men in each weight class will provide incentive for the competitors.

The Bulldogs will be led by their undefeated co-captains, Kerry Kargel, 134, and Mike Gaken, 175. Each owns a 5-0 record with Kargel claiming all five wins by pinning his opponents.

Looking over the probable Chelsea line-up, Hendricks said that beyond Kargel and Gaken, Chelsea should get a good performance from either Jim Rolyan or Dennis Stahl at 138.

"Most likely the team with the best balance rather than a few outstanding men will take the trophy," Hendricks said. "The answer to our team performance lies with how much we can accomplish in overcoming the effects of the flu and lack of practice due to bad roads and other conditions."

Hendricks said that with the strength of the four teams it is unlikely that any weight class will be soft for all three contests.

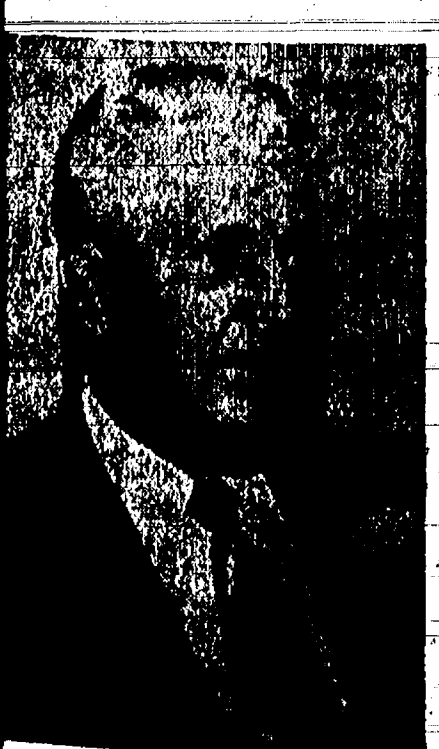

The outbreak of illness, also hampered the performance of the contingent of first-year wrestlers who participated in the Ann Arbor Novice Tournament last week.

None of the eight-man entry survived the second round of wrestling. Larry Jones, 103, Floyd Boyce, 133, and Karsten Kargel, 165, all won first-round matches but suffered defeat in the second round. Jeff Bust, Paul Wenk, Mike Spence and Glen Munsolf were the other Bulldog entrants.

Hendricks said he thought participation in the Novice tournament was valuable and would benefit the Bulldog team.

For And About Teenagers

THE WEEK'S LETTER:

"I babysit near where this cute boy lives. I like him and I know he likes me very much. He came to the house where I was babysitting. I was really surprised when he told me his feelings about me. But, because he came to the house, I think his mother got some ideas. I don't go to this house any more, but whenever I see him he never says hello or anything. What should I do?"

OUR REPLY: It's a pretty good bet that the boy's mother really read him the riot act for going to the house where you were babysitting. And also that you don't babysit for these people any more because they also know that he came to the house. This is where you both went wrong. He should not have come to the house where you were babysitting. When you take a babysitting assignment you are taking on an adult responsibility. Boy friends, phone calls and other distractions violate the trust that parents place in you when they leave their children to your care. You should have told him that you were happy to see him, yet should have asked him not to come into the house while you were taking care of children. Both of you should have learned a good lesson.

If you have a teenage problem you want to have discussed or an observation to make, address your letter to "For And About Teenagers," Community and Suburban Press Service, in care of this newspaper.

"Lame Tortoise"
 Barring a major crisis that would require hurry-up legislative action, the 1969 Michigan legislative session convening Jan. 8 apparently will start with the speed of a lame tortoise.

"We will work hard and be through by the Fourth of July," some of the leaders will pronounce. "We'll be out of here by Labor Day at the latest," others will predict. They are sincere as ever—and quite probably just as wrong.

If things follow the form charts, the legislature will spend the first few days in session busily organizing itself, then quickly settle down to two or three weeks of inertia.

It really is not anybody's fault that little will be accomplished in the opening weeks of the session. It's just the nature of the work. First, there is the matter of recounting the ballots in the 100th house district to ascertain who should be allowed to represent that Upper Peninsula area of Iron, Menominee, Gogebic and Marquette counties in the legislature.

Under the 1963 State Constitution, House members, through a special committee, must personally conduct a recount when a seat in that chamber is at stake.

Rep. Jack Gingras, D-Iron Mountain, has advised the House he will file a recount petition when the 1969 session opens.

Gingras lost his 100th district by 318 votes to Republican John D. Payant of Kingsford in the Nov. 5 election. The official certified total was 15,233 votes for Payant and 14,915 for Gingras.

The recount delay could stall the session long enough to permit Lt. Gov. William G. Milliken to submit the state of the state message to the legislature as the new Governor of Michigan.

Milliken will become Governor after Gov. George Romney resigns to take over as U. S. Secretary of Housing and Urban Development. But Romney won't leave office until the U. S. Senate confirms his appointment to the post, expected shortly after Richard M. Nixon is inaugurated as President Jan. 20.

Rep. John and Democrats have selected their leaders for the 1969 session. No surprises or new faces emerged from their separate organizational caucuses.

The Democrats, who will hold a 87-53 edge in the House, named Rep. William A. Ryan of Detroit as the next speaker. Rep. Stanley J. Davis of Grand Rapids got the No. 2 job of speaker pro tempore.

Other key jobs went to Rep. George F. Montgomery, Detroit, majority floor leader, and Matthew McNelly of Detroit, associate speaker pro tem.

Ryan, everybody's idea of a nice guy and a political liberal, won the coveted speakership in a five-candidate race. He promised to work co-operatively with Republican House members for the betterment of the state.

Republican Rep. Robert W. Walcott of Grosse Pointe, speaker of the 1968 session, was named by his colleagues as minority leader for next year. Rep. Martin J. Betsworth of Farmington Hills, assistant minority leader.

Other GOP leadership posts went to Rep. William Hampton of Bloomfield Hills, minority floor leader; Rep. Hal Ziegler of Jackson, assistant minority floor leader; Rep. Russell Strange of Mt. Pleasant, caucus chairman; Rep. James Farnsworth of Plainwell, assistant caucus chairman; Rep. James Smith of Davison, minority whip; and Rep. Robert Davis of St. Ignace, assistant minority whip.

State aid to education, budgetary problems and social welfare programs are shaping up as the major issues that will face the 1969 legislature.

Milliken and the Republican leadership have said they will focus on any attempts to raise or expand taxes to pay for new programs.

STILL WORKING AT 90

Massillon, O.—Mrs. Clara Murray, 90, is happy with her work at the Central States Can Company and dreads the day when she will have to retire. In 1941, two years after retirement age, Mrs. Murray went to work during the manpower shortage of World War II.

CIRCULATION AFTER DEATH

Pittsburgh—Dr. Arthur E. Baum, a surgeon at the University of Pennsylvania said that a new instrument has proved successful in maintaining circulation after death. This will preserve organs for transplantation that deteriorate rapidly after death.

Marathon Service Robbed of $325 By Two Male Bandits

Monday evening, Dec. 23, shortly before 9 p.m., Bill Sprentall's Marathon Service at 1-94 and Fletcher St. was robbed of approximately $325 by two bandits who overpowered the station attendant, William Lounsbury, after asking him for change for a dollar.

According to reports of the hold-up one of the bandits came up behind Lounsbury and put his arm around his neck while the other also grabbed him from behind. They forced him into a back room and tied his feet together, using his shoe laces. He was able to tear the shoe laces apart and the bandits then used battery cable and rope to tie his hands and legs. They gagged him with a plastic rain cap.

After the bandits left Lounsbury managed to hitch around in the dark and find a weed whip which he used to cut himself free so he could notify the sheriff's department.

The bandits were described as white, 25 to 30, with one having blond or light brown hair and the other black hair. Their height was judged about six feet and five feet 10 inches, respectively.

You can make a gay tablecloth by covering your table with metal foil and placing a wide width of nylon net or tulle (thin stiff transparent muslin) over the foil. Fasten holly or greenery at the corners.

A balanced life includes work, recreation, meditation and study.

Cager of the Week

FORWARD JIM WOJCIICKI has been season high-scorer with a 20-point game average. Wojcicki is one of the two sophomores on the Bulldog varsity, showing a "great deal of ability and excellent working knowledge of the game" according to Chelsea Coach Tom Ballistreri. 5'10", 155-pound Wojcicki played junior high and JV basketball before this season. He was a varsity griddier this fall, in the flanker position. Previously, he has been flanker and quarterback on JV and Junior High teams. During track season Jim competes as Chelsea pole-vaulter. Varsity and Key Clubs serve as other activities. Math is his favorite subject. During the summer, Jim supervised baseball for youngsters. He has one sister and three brothers, including Bob, CHS freshman. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Wojcicki.

Youth for Christ Rally Bringing National Figure

Bill Eakin, vice-president of Clubs for Youth for Christ International, will speak Jan. 4 at Ann Arbor High school, Ann Arbor. The meeting will begin at 7:15 p.m. and is sponsored by the Huron Valley Youth for Christ.

Eakin is recognized as an authority on youth programs and gives leadership to the 3,000 high school and junior high clubs in this country and abroad.

Bill Eakin is in constant demand as a speaker because of his understanding of the teen-agers problems and his ability to challenge them with the Christian way of life. His ministry with youth has taken him throughout the United States, Canada, and Mexico. He has also conducted leadership training schools in many countries of South America and Europe, and in the Philippines, Australia, Hong Kong, India, Singapore, Fiji Islands, and New Zealand. He has been on the staff of Youth for Christ International since 1958.

Also appearing with Bill at the rally will be local musical group known as "The New Dimensions." This is a choral-orchestra group and features some of the outstanding teen talent in this area. The program will also include a double teen tyme, which will be led by Bob Williams, associate director of Huron Valley Youth for Christ. Coming from Southgate, will be the Dave Edwards trio. Dave Edwards does the musical work for the Billy Walker Crusades.

The pre-rally program, which will begin at 7:15 p.m. will feature the newest Charlie Churchman film entitled "Charlie Churchman Meets the Clowns." The public is invited to attend the rally; there is no admission charged.

Money is not especially important when you have more than you need.

to smother the inflationary fires . . . and boldly the surtax on personal and corporate incomes was enacted, effective mid-1968.

But the boom rolled on . . . confounding both the Federal Reserve—the country's money managers—and the President's Council of Economic Advisers. What happened? Two things: (1) The Fed thought the surtax would cause "overkill" in business, so opened the money spigots wider . . . stimulating buying just when the tax was supposed to depress it; . . . (2) Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Public sharply cut their rate of savings and went on a buying binge . . . augmenting their fling with big jobs of borrowed money.

More to Come—So, here we are: Months after the "tax to kill inflation," prices of goods and services are still spiraling upward. This, of course, gouges the workingman to support his labor boss when he demands outsized hikes in pay and benefits. Even though the Fed now gives signs of having moved to lessen the money rise from a rusher rate to a more gentle flow, the floods of prior months will continue to seep through business and financial channels . . . at least during the early part of 1969.

Our staff here at Babson's Reports looks for "more of the same" during the first half of the year: Higher price tags, further wage rises in excess of productivity gains, continued up-pressure on costs all around, and the inexorable fattening of the tax burden—not long from the perennial upsweep of state and local levies, but also from the substantial step-rate in social security charges. Indeed inflation is still incubating. The virus is virulent. The antitoxin is known. But the political medicines that will administer it have not yet come forth.

Number One Problem—Mr. Nixon knows that inflation is the one force that can destroy this nation—financially, morally, even militarily. He also knows that to move aggressively against it could plunge the U. S. into a depression. The latter state might be worse than the former. It seems likely, then, that he will move slowly against the incubus of perpetually climbing costs and prices. Fortunately, the incoming President has the advantage of the anti-inflationary moves made in the late days of President Johnson's tenure. We expect that he will move cautiously to augment these. As a result, we look for no spectacular attack on the country's number one enemy in the opening days of Nixon's office. That means there will be further portents of inflation early next year . . . later in 1969 you can look for many signs of a tipping off, even maybe some deflationary signals.

Strong Start on Dollar

Unlike a year earlier—when the dollar was under world suspicion and attack—the "good old buck" will start 1969 with a halo over it. The big bad wolf—President de Gaulle of France—who left an all-out offensive against the dollar in 1967 and early 1968 is now pretty "dead" insofar as any lethal threat to it in 1969 is concerned. His own franc had to have a good many blowout patches applied at the end of 1968 to keep it rolling.

It is not that the dollar has gained any real fundamental strength in recent months; rather it is that the pound and the franc got so weak that, by contrast, the dollar gained stature. Excellent co-operation with the U. S. by Germany has caused the deficit in our international payments to all but disappear. Then, too, our nation did move toward fiscal restraint when it enacted the surtax. Finally, with the pound sick and the franc tottering, the other stable currency areas such as the German, Swiss, and Dutch just did not have sufficient size and room to accommodate all those financial refugees who might have been seeking shelter.

Could Be Only Temporary—But it is too early yet to crow. Our dollar may still fall victim to a recurrence of the persistent weakness in our international payments position that has marked our relationship with the rest of the Free World for 90 percent of the last two decades. Actually, the final-half 1968 strength in our balance of payments has not been the result of an improvement in our trade or payments position. Its good health then was more apparent than real, resulting from financial transactions, capital movements toward our shores (Continued on page five)

—some of them flights from the currency ills of Europe, some for speculation in our stock markets, some "deals" between our Treasury and Germany to keep the mark from getting too strong and the dollar too weak.

Barring cataclysmic developments on the military front, the dollar should occasion us no great concern in 1969. However, the labor prediction still stands . . . that the dollar may be living on borrowed time, even on borrowed time, if the new Administration lets prices and costs run wild . . . or even if it cracks down too hard on inflation, touching off a recession. The things it must do: (1) Keep the federal budget close to balance; (2) persuade the money managers to maintain a moderate, not too stimulating increase in the money stock; (3) crack down on speculative excesses; (4) curb the underlying causes of our deficits in international payments . . . namely, faltering exports, soaring imports, non-competitive (with nations abroad) prices and costs (which are the fault of both business and management leaders).

The dollar is now in the "eye" of a tremendous national and international inflationary hurricane. Its respite will be but temporary. To bring it through the "other side" in late 1969 or 1970 will be a Herculean task for the new Administration. Indeed, Mr. Nixon and his advisers will have to do a veritable "lightning act" above the Seylla of inflation on the one side and the Charybdis of disinflation on the other. 1969 will witness the first scenes of the act.

Business To Scale New Peaks in 1969

The momentum built by rising business volumes and production will surely carry the usual measurements of Gross National Product and the Federal Reserve Index of Production onto new all-time high ground in the year 1969. But that is not the whole story.

What you want to know is what the rate of gain will be and what the shape of the year, business-wise, will look like.

Gross National Product—Total dollar value of all goods and services finished 1968 on a strong note . . . at nearly a $20-billion gain. That is only slightly less than the best 1968 quarter of $22 billion. Prospects now favor a good further boost in the first 1969 quarter . . . perhaps equivalent to the $18-billion advance of the third 1968 stretch. The second quarter of next year may slip a bit from the first; but the up-coming half year will show a climb in dollar values perhaps only $3-billion below the great bulge of a year earlier. Assuming no dropping of the surtax, we look for a lesser rate of gain in the final 1969 half . . . another big year, but tapering as it wears along. Over all, expect a GNP upthrust over 1968 of close to 7 percent (about $60 billion).

Physical Volume—Physical output is not expected to match the dollar value of increase in 1969 . . . not surprising, as more than half of the looked-for improvement will result from higher prices. Assuming the Federal Reserve Index of Production averages around 105 for 1968, we can project about a four-point climb in the year ahead. But again, we think the best will be seen early in 1969.

Capital Outlays—Despite a continuing depressed rate of plant utilization, business managers are projecting increased budgets for new plant and equipment. Look for a strong start—perhaps as high as an 8 percent increase—to be followed by a slower rate of gain as the year ages. For all of 1969, a 4 percent betterment would seem about the best to expect.

Profits—Total corporate profits in the first half of 1969 will outdistance those of the year earlier period . . . they may even equal the strong final six months of 1968. Here again, however, squeezed by inflationary costs and somewhat less boisterous demand, we look for a downdrift in profitability before 1969 has advanced too far.

Money To Stay Costly

The first half of 1969 may experience some moderate easing in short-term interest rates. This will be occasioned by lessened federal demand for loans . . . as the budget moves from deficit to surplus and the Treasury has no need to borrow. Most of the easing, however, will show up in the Treasury 90-day bill rate. Long-term money may experience some temporary downjiggle . . . but over all, Babson's Reports is not expecting any sustained slide-off from the most costly credit of the century. Also, as Uncle Sam comes back into the bond market later in the year, rates should again stiffen.

Mortgage Costs—No real relief is in sight here. Availability and rate may be somewhat more favorable in the first half of 1969 than in the last. No incentive to postpone building or buying plans.

Business Loans—If the Treasury bill rate declines in the first half, as we expect—there will be much talk of lower costs for business loans. Here again, we feel that any easing will be tiny and temporary.

Another High in Common Stocks

The buy-stocks-to-protect-against-inflation "bug" has bitten deeply. Most investors are convinced that a stock-buying formula is the best antidote for soaring living costs. New common-stock-oriented institutions are being formed "a mile a minute." Foreign investors are flocking back to U. S. securities markets. And corporate sales and earnings trends are supporting the convictions of the multiplying herds of bulls.

On pure momentum alone, we anticipate new all-time highs in the Dow Industrials, as well as in the more comprehensive averages, during the forepart of 1969. If such does occur, however, we shall have our "fingers crossed" about the course of stocks during the time after mid-year . . . especially if market "fireworks" become particularly brilliant in the early 1969 days. Under these circumstances, cautious selecting may pay bigger dividends in 1969 than "playing the field."

Farm Equipments—One group that has hardly gotten off the ground in 1968 has been the agricultural machinery makers. Some good long-range values exist here in issues such as Deere and International Harvester.

Conglomerates—The big multiple-activity companies have certainly failed to shine in the year now closing. Some issues may hold low risk for investors with patience. Among such are Textron, Gulf & Western Industries, and TRW, Inc.

Chemicals—This once-favorite of securities fans has again passed a year in the market doldrums. Some indications of a turn-in-the-making are beginning to appear. We feel there is not too much risk in old-line concerns like Allied Chemical and Union Carbide at recent levels.

Containers—Another group that does not seem to have exhausted its investment potential is the containers . . . though they are not as cheap as they were a year ago.

ago. Our choice in this field would be Continental Can.

Fertilizers—After a long and painful stretch of being "put through the wringer," there are now some signs that moderately more profitable days may lie ahead for the plant-food makers. International Minerals & Chemical—with vast potential raw materials resources on more than one continent—appears to hold little risk at current levels for long-term purchasers with patience.

Life Insurance—Halted five years ago as "the greatest" for appreciation, life company stocks overshoot their dynamic possibilities and were disdained by speculators for several years. In 1968, however, life stocks—with management becoming much more aggressive in diversifying—again began to stir. The persevering speculator might find opportunity in Life Insurance of Kentucky.

Electric Utilities—Electric power stocks, one of the soundest growth areas, are showing signs of emerging from the investment pall that has enshrouded them for some time. They offer both income and growth. Try Texas Utilities for the latter and Niagara Mohawk for the former.

Bonds Still Bargains

With stocks all the rage, bond buyers among individuals have become "scarce" than hens' teeth. Yet bonds are selling at the lowest prices and the highest income yields of this century . . . yes, in many cases, for a full 100 years. We state emphatically: If the inflation prospects are as sure-fire, as pervasive, and as unpreventable as many would have us believe, we doubt that the ownership of common stocks will provide a truly safe passage through the inevitable maelstrom that will follow in inflation's wake. If the storm comes, high-quality bonds may ride it out better than stocks. If it does not come, 6 1/2 percent, 7 percent, and even higher incomes from senior securities will furnish food and shelter to those dependent upon savings . . . and afford something "over" with which to "feed" inflation.

For Big Income—If current high return is your major need—retired or supplemental—top-quality corporate issues of recent flotation are your best bet. Returns here run from 6 1/2 percent to 7 percent for the "cream."

Income Plus Profit—Those who can take somewhat less currently, but with equal certainty of income should pick up best-grade deep discount bonds. Middle-term maturities—say 8 to 12 years—give you fairly high current return . . . and a capital gain if held to pay-off time.

For the Affluent—Never have tax-exempt bonds been so attractive. Follow the general rules laid down above. Buy the new, long-term exempt of best quality . . . if the best in income right now is your need. If saving for the future, however, there are plenty of near- and middle-term maturities available in nontaxables that will save on your annual tax bill and give you a capital gain at maturity.

Convertibles?—At time such as now, after stocks have had a long and sizable run-up, we at Babson's Reports, Inc., are not attracted to convertible bonds. feeling that, in most cases, the cost of the call on the common has become inflated. Convertibles not as cheap as they were a year ago are most attractive after a stock market shake-out . . . when uncertainty exists and when you are not paying too much above the investment worth of the bond for a call on the common.

Risks To Rise As Year Lengthens

The nation is now in the days of hope . . . the honeymoon of the electorate with the new Administration. But the "changing of the guard" at the White House is not likely to be accomplished without causing uncertainties. With business and the stock market bowling along toward new highs, the risks of change lean toward increasing exposure as the euphoria of early post-election comes to full bloom.

As we peer into 1969, the staff of Babson's Reports, Inc., foresees new advances on both the economic and the financial fronts. But we also are convinced that as the year lengthens, risks for businessmen and investors will likewise increase. Temper your optimism with caution.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT

People create traditions. Employees establish traditions for employers. Politicians have certain traditions. Any present or ex-service man knows there are traditions in our armed services. School teachers and administrators create traditions for many schools. Church people have formed traditions in churches. Gang-land hoodlums have traditions too. Traditions can be good - or bad.

As we approach another New Year, wouldn't it seem fitting to ask what sort of family tradition we have? Are our traditions heading in a good direction? For example, do we traditionally say Grace before meals? Do we traditionally attend church worship in a family group? Wouldn't it seem fitting to examine our traditions - at New Years . . . to start new traditions for good . . . to discontinue whatever undesirable traditions to which we may have accustomed ourselves? . . . Traditions have a lot to do with having a Happy New Year. We sincerely hope this year, and future years will be a traditionally Happy New Year for you . . .

"I REMEMBER"

BY THE OLD TIMER

From Mrs. Lucille Petersen, Palatine, Ill.: I remember when it was customary to SAVE rather than throw out. We made put holders out of scraps of dress and apron material, used the good parts of woolen underwear for the padding, and hung them up by garter fasteners from Ma's worn-out corset. Shirt collars were turned to lengthen the shirt's life. When bed sheets showed wear in the centers, they were cut down the middle and the sides sewn together. Eventually they were used for ironing board covers, and finally as dust cloths. Paper wrappings that came on meat were carefully saved and used for draining doughnuts and other fried foods.

AUGUST BRIDE: The engagement and summer wedding plans of Jo Ellen Tison and Sgt. Jack Speer, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Byford Speer of 128 Orchard St., have been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl J. Tison of 50 Cavanaugh Lk. Miss Tison is a senior at Chelsea High School this year. Her fiancé, formerly a student at Chelsea High school, joined the army in November 1966 and is presently stationed at Ft. Bragg, N. C., after returning from duty in Vietnam. Both plan to attend Washtenaw Community College in the fall.

Greatest advantage of using the enzyme-active laundry products seems to be due to pre-soaking long enough for the enzymes to break down the soil or stain in garments. However, without pre-soaking, homemakers may still find regular use of the enzyme-active detergent to be more effective than the regular laundry products.

String was tied together and wound into a ball for future use. Goose grease was used for chest rubbing in the event of colds. Bacon grease was used for most frying needs. Bread-crusts were dried in the oven, rolled fine with a rolling pin and used for bread-crumb chop or topping casseroles. No cans or bottles were allowed in the garbage as this was collected free of charge and fed to pigs. Sour milk was used for cakes, and Mother made a "try-cake" in a small pan to see if the cake needed more flour or other ingredients. She never had a failure. Pajamas and underwear were made so when the elastic wore out, it could be easily replaced with new. Although I have had no personal experience with corn cobs, I understand they had a use too.

In arguing with an intelligent individual, remember that he is right as often as you are, and that you are wrong as often as he is.

ENGAGED: Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Fish of 3451 Waltrous Rd., announce the engagement of their daughter, Shiela, to DeWayne Laney. Laney is the son of Horace and the late Mrs. Laney of Detroit. Miss Fish, a 1968 Chelsea High school graduate, is employed at the Ann Arbor K-Mart. Laney is employed at a service station in Detroit. A March 22 wedding is planned at North Sharon Bible church in Manchester.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

★ Take Time ...

A New Year comes, offering 365 bright, as-yet-uncluttered days; ample time in which to do things that need doing.

As yet, these days are for the most part uncommitted. Except there are hours that will be set aside for work and for necessary things.

So, what about the "other" hours?

What will you do this year? For yourself? For your family? For others in need? And, for your God?

This year, take time and set it aside for a most necessary thing—the practice of your faith. Live by faith, not part-time, but every waking moment of the day.

In the story of the living Christ, see the pattern of dedication and service.

Take the time to seek out truth and goodness for your very own. Give the world a smile and a helping hand. Lend encouragement. Set an example.

Take the time to build a better foundation for daily living and each day will be more rewarding, more blessed.

Homemaking Hints

Chlorine bleaches are safe on white and colorfast cottons and linens, white nylons, polyester, and acrylics. However, they must not be used on silk, wool, acetate, or most resin-treated fabrics because chlorine will damage these fabrics. Use a chlorine bleach only as needed to whiten the wash.

Mill outlet stores specialize in handling seconds and irregulars, although they do carry some first-quality garments. Factory samples, often available through these outlets, can be good buys since they are first-quality garments and were used for display purposes or to determine appropriateness of style.

Child Punishment Discussed By MSU Extension Specialist

How do you make a child behave?

"Effective punishment must be adapted to the individual child, his age, personality, ability to understand, and to what happened before," contends Dr. Margaret Jacobson, Michigan State University family life specialist.

Correction takes many forms: from mild disapproval to more or less severe punishment. Parents sometimes use isolating, depriving, spanking, withdrawing love, ignoring, scolding, frightening, shaming, and making amends.

A mild form of isolation is restraining a child. Holding a child back for a long time, or using unusual forms of isolating tends to frighten a young child, says Dr. Jacobson. This is not effective with an older child who prefers to be by himself.

"A child may not see the connection between being deprived of a favorite toy and his punishment," adds the Co-operative Extension Service specialist. "Depriving a child of an unusual event, such as a circus, may be a very severe punishment."

Spanking as punishment is not always best, Dr. Jacobson says that parents seem to find it to be a quick way of getting results.

It is sometimes used when other means fail, to release the parents' own feelings of annoyance, or to satisfy the "silent but compelling opinions" of a neighbor or grandparent.

Ignoring or shaming a child may mean loss of parental love which the child values highly, says Dr. Jacobson. This may get momentary results but will create additional problems.

Dr. Jacobson suggests other methods of handling behavior problems: telling, approving and correcting. The first two she stresses for early childhood. Only when a child becomes capable of intentional misbehavior should a greater emphasis be put on punishment. Correcting, the third method, should fit the child and situation.

Parents should do their best to stay calm and unruffled when they must punish a child. It's enough for the child to have to deal with his own upset feelings, he needs comfort and support from his parents, Dr. Jacobson concludes.

Luzanne L. Liebeck, Bruce Spencer Wed Saturday at St. Mary Church

Luzanne Louise Liebeck exchanged wedding vows with Bruce Spencer Saturday, at 12:15 p.m. in St. Mary Catholic church.

The groom, of satin was accented with lace featured at the neck on the long puff sleeves. The full length train was attached mid-back with two bows accented it.

To enhance this picture the bride chose a fashionable Camelot veil with the headpiece accented with lace and seed pearl butterflies. She carried a hand bouquet of white roses with accents of tangerine carnations and long floor-length velvet ribbons of white.

Maid of honor was Susan Gardner of Chardale Ct. Miss Gardner wore a floor-length apple green semi-fitted gown accented with embroidered allusion lace on the wedding ring collar and edging the sleeves and the back train.

Members were reminded of the Jan. 7 meeting of Rebekah Lodge when the 1988 officers of the lodge will be installed under the direction of Mrs. Loydell Keezer.

It takes a good worker not to think of an excuse for not doing something that hasn't got to be done.

Thomas McGaw of Washington, was best man. Ushers were Stephen Harris of S. Main St. Thomas Wojcik of Taylor St. Richard Kiel of Book St., Robert Joyce of McKinley Rd., Charles Brenner of Westland and Chris Brenner of East, all close friends of the bridegroom.

The mother of the bride chose a light beige silk wool three-piece suit with accessories of brown and orange of yellow rose buds and carnations. The mother of the bridegroom was attired in a turquoise dress and matching coat with navy accessories, and a corsage of white rose buds.

Senior Citizens May Apply for Tax Reduction

It's time for eligible senior citizens to apply for their property tax reduction under Michigan's Homestead Tax Exemption Law, which saves more people more money each year.

Last year this law meant an average saving of $104 to 184,000 senior citizens. The state spent $10,300,000 reimbursing local units of government for the tax loss. All eligible Michigan homeowners who are 65 years of age and over will need to file an affidavit at their local assessor's office for a tax reduction for their 1968 tax.

Those who applied last year must file again.

Applications may file between Jan. 2 and sometime in March, a date set by each local assessor's office. There are no lien provisions attached to the Homestead Tax Exemption Act, and there will be no attempt by state or local governments to collect from the heirs or otherwise attach the property.

Michigan residents of more than five years, aged 65 or over, are eligible for the exemption if their homesteaded real property tax value does not exceed $20,000, and their gross income does not top $5,000.

Each applicant must supply a deed, land contract, or mortgage; a birth certificate or other legal proof of age; a recent tax bill or bills for all real property owned; and his social security number.

He should be prepared to give the true cash value of property owned out of the state of Michigan, and a statement of income.

Astronauts Orbit Moon, Return Safely

Chelsea and Dexter area residents, in common with people throughout the United States and many other countries, watched television or listened to radio reports of the historic Apollo 8 mission which began at Cape Kennedy Fla., Saturday, Dec. 21, and was concluded at 10:50 a.m. Eastern Standard Time Friday, Dec. 27, the successful splash-down in the Pacific Ocean southwest of Hawaii, after having made 10 orbits around the moon.

Astronauts Frank Borman, James A. Lovell, Jr. and William Anders had kept their spacecraft on its pre-planned course throughout the six-day exploration flight and guided it to a pinpoint landing less than three miles from the main recovery ship. It was dark when they landed (it was 4:50 a.m. in the Pacific area time zone) and they remained in the spacecraft for 45 minutes until it was light enough for recovery teams to safely drop into the sea to secure the Apollo 8.

The astronauts were taken to the recovery ship—the USS Yorktown—by helicopter and their arrival there was televised so watchers throughout the world were able to see them and hear the welcome they received from officers and crew members.

Air Force Capt. Frank Borman, who was commander in charge of the flight, stepped to a microphone and thanked the crew for the "great recovery operation" and also expressed commendation to the "thousands of people" who had a part in preparing for the memorable round trip to the moon—240,000 miles away.

Mission of this space flight was to scout sites on the moon for an eventual manned lunar landing. The astronauts orbited the moon 10 times on Tuesday, Dec. 24, and started back to earth early Christmas morning.

The mission has been pronounced a complete success, bringing closer to reality proposed landings of men on the moon. Such a proposed feat, even a few years ago, would have seemed like the subject for an imaginative science-fiction writer's story, but already the idea is being accepted as something entirely possible.

Mrs. Kenneth Kemmer of St. Mary's, Pa., with her sons, Kevin and Corcoran, arrived Saturday by plane to spend New Year's with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Barr, Sr.

AGRICULTURE In Action

by M. L. Woolf

A Brave Man

It takes a brave man to agree to become Secretary of Agriculture in any President's Cabinet. It requires capable administration, astute leadership, and an understanding of what has often been termed "the world's toughest business."

Politically, the position of Secretary of Agriculture represents something of a paradox, for it is critically important while reflecting a minority group of people holding only a handful of votes (about 5 percent). But the minority on the land holds something more important—the food basket of the nation, and through it, the production key for the other 95 percent of the people. There is every evidence that America's world leadership has largely come about through its leadership in farm production—highest in the world.

Dr. Clifford M. Hardin, the man picked by Nixon as his Secretary of Agriculture, is known in academic circles of Indiana, Michigan and Nebraska as an able administrator. Farm leaders know and respect him. They feel he will speak for agriculture.

"Dr. Hardin has a sound background in both farm economics and administration," says Elton Smith, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau. "Doubtlessly he is capable of administering the laws in an impartial manner. His background is such that it should allow him to apply economic instead of political answers to farm problems."

B. Dale Ball, Director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, said that he was "certainly encouraged" when Nixon indicated that the Secretary of Agriculture's role would be to speak for the farmers to the President, rather than communicating policies of the President to the farmer. "If this concept is carried out, I can envision much improvement in the economic position of our agricultural producers."

Facing the new secretary are stacks of inherited administrative and political situations which stem from decisions reaching back 35 years or more. Included is the one-year extension of the controversial Food and Agricultural Act of 1965—which farmers strongly opposed. The part the new secretary will play in modifying or removing such politically-oriented farm programs, and replacing them with market-oriented ones, can be substantial. Farmers ask that Congress give him every chance.

Considering the vast amount of advice that is poured into the public ear, one suspects that mankind is somewhat inclined to ignore advice.

Wet Weather Watchers Study Rain in Storms

RAIN, one of nature's little understood trash collectors, soon may yield some of its secrets. For the first time, University of Michigan meteorologists have successfully placed a tracer material, a chemical called indium—into a convective storm and identified and measured it in rain collected at the ground. This could help, in time, to get an exact understanding of how the contaminants in air are cleaned by rain; to test various theories on how the air circulates in severe storm systems; and to develop a dependable method of verifying the results of rainmaker's attempts.

THE SWITCH from tobacco to marijuana is an easy one to make, simply because the tobacco industry spends millions of dollars advertising "training people how to inhale," says a University of Minnesota researcher in the psychology of drug addiction. "Relatively few of the many different kinds of drug users and abusers in the United States today take their drugs by injection, primarily because the technique of injection is just not taught people on as large a scale," he said. He also believes that the self-administration of drugs is learned under the control of the environment.

A NEW INSECT REPELLENT developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for use on clothing or protective nets, rather than directly on the skin, has been shown to have long-lasting effectiveness against mosquitoes and certain other insects. Researchers found that application of the repellent keeps yellow-fever mosquitoes from passing through netting for as long as 200 days.

Police Help in Apprehending Two Escapees

Chelsea patrolmen McCormick and Schneider assisted Washtenaw County Sheriff's deputies and Dexter police in recovering an escaped juvenile from Whitmore Lake Boys Training School Dec. 21.

According to Chelsea police four youths escaped from the Boy's Training School the evening of Dec. 21. Two took a panel truck containing equipment from the grounds and were seen headed west on Jackson Rd.

Chelsea police were requested to drive west on Jackson Rd. in front of the speeding truck, which was pursued by a deputy's car. They brought the truck to a halt at 1-94 and Jackson Rd., where a youth jumped out, vaulted a guard rail and headed through a field before being stopped by Chelsea Patrolman Schneider.

One occupant had bolted out the door of the truck when it had been halted earlier by deputies and Dexter police. The other ducked to the floor and drove off while police recovered the first.

The escapees were returned to Boy's Training School.

Youth Arrested After High-Speed Chase By Police

Action is pending on the arrest of Herbert Lynn Carpenter, 303 Madison, who was arrested for driving without a Michigan operator's license and fleeing from a police officer.

Carpenter was arrested at 1:15 a.m. Dec. 19 by Chelsea Patrolmen Peebles and Schneider after he fled from them in a blue Dodge. Police say they spotted him driving south on S. Main St. and pursued him at speeds up to 110 mph and through several high-speed turns until the car ran off Loeffler Rd. on a curve. It was stopped 35 feet off the road by brush and trees.

Earlier in the evening, Chelsea police received a report that stones from the wheels of a blue Dodge driven by Carpenter had broken a window of a 1967 Chrysler. Police searched for Carpenter at the time with negative results.

Carpenter has never had a Michigan driver's license. He was released on $100 personal bond after being charged with fleeing from a police officer, a high misdemeanor, and driving without a license.

Gardening Tips Offered on TV 'Making Things Grow'

East Lansing—A special treat awaits all indoor gardeners as Thalassa Cruso, the Flower Lady of television, offers gardening tips on "Making Things Grow," premiering Wednesday, Jan. 8, at 1 p.m., and Friday, Jan. 10, at 12 noon, on WMSB (Channel 10), Michigan State University television.

The series deals with practical home-gardening topics applicable for both experts and amateurs alike. The premier episode, for example, covers the often exasperating problem of watering indoor plants correctly. Thalassa, who has made several appearances on NBC's "The Tonight Show," explains the proper watering procedure, based on the kind of pot, the plant's growing conditions and the amount of light it receives.

Other segments of the series deal with putting plants, caring for bulbs, choosing good soils and making "holiday" decorations.

Other WMSB highlights include: BLACK AMERICANS—

A special end-of-the-year review of 1968 in terms of Black America is featured on "Black Journal," Friday, Jan. 10, at 7 p.m. The program includes profiles of both known and unknown black people from all parts of America. Of special interest are excerpts from recent panel discussions on black America featuring political scientist Charles Hamilton, jouralist Robert Johnson, psychiatrist William Grier, writer Claude Brown and civil rights leaders Bill Strickland, Whitney Young, Kathleen Cleaver and Andrew Young.

MUSIC—Widely acclaimed Canadian contralto Maureen Forrester performs on the "NET Festival" special, "Maureen Forrester," Sunday, Jan. 5, at 1:30 p.m.

Miss Forrester has appeared with several famous orchestras at Carnegie Hall, in addition to her busy schedule of concerts and foreign tours. For this studio recital, she sings compositions by Handel, Purcell, Schumann, Brahms, and Debussy. Miss Forrester is accompanied by pianist John Newman and viola player Paul Doktor is featured in the Brahms songs.

VICTORIAN FARCE—

"NET Playhouse" features the sublimely ridiculous Victorian farce, "Charley's Aunt," Sunday, Jan. 5, at 10 p.m.

Jack Chesney and Charles Wykeham, both students at Oxford, seize upon the arrival of Charley's rich, widowed aunt from Brazil to invite their proper girlfriends to a suitable chaperoned tea. When the aunt is delayed, the ingenious young men prevail upon a fellow student, Lord Babberley (Babbs), to impersonate her. The result is a hilariously contrived piece of sublime nonsense.

LET'S LOOK AT THE RECORDS
BY LINDA NORRIS

Wanda Jackson has been a star from her very first recording. In her new album, "Cream of the Crop," she sounds fresher and more creative than ever before. She provides us with a look at her great talent in such songs as "Little Boy Soldier," "Together Again," "I Talk a Pretty Story," "Wishing Well," and "No Place to Go But Home." To every selection Wanda Jackson provides an example of elegance, sophistication and true talent.

Merle Haggard is an entertainer who brings a brand of entertainment to his listener that provides refreshing newness coupled with long ago memories. . . . Originals in his new "Mama Tried" include "You'll Never Love Me Now," "The Sunny Side of My Life," "I'll Always Know and Mama Tried." . . . Haggard has, deserves and, in this album, proves that he has the admiration of everyone in the country music profession. . . . It's easy to see why after listening to this LP.

I Ain't Good Looking, but I'm Mighty Sweet, could easily be the unalterable description of the character in the Andy Griffith show known as Goober. . . . As it is, it is the title of his first LP in which, Andy attests, Goober does himself mightily proud. . . . George Lindsey, who portrays Goober, does "Good Morning Sunshine, My Way of Life, Moccasin Branch, Write Me RFD," and his own title song. . . . As George says, When I came to town, I didn't want to be just another pretty Hollywood face. . . . The same can be said about his singing. . . . And George didn't have a thing to worry about—he sure isn't just another Hollywood pretty face or pretty voice.

THE LANSING REPORT

GIL BURSLEY

I hope you have had a happy holiday season and I wish you the best of luck, health and prosperity for the coming year.

Your 1969 session of the Michigan legislature begins Jan. 8 with the swearing in of the new House of Representatives. Control will shift from the Republicans to the Democrats (57 Dems, 53 Reps.). Senators, and the Governor, as you may recall now serve four-year terms. This is why you did not see me campaigning this fall although I did serve as the Nixon Chairman in the 2nd Congressional District. The Senate will remain under Republican control (20 Reps, 18 Dems).

On Jan. 9, according to present information, the annual "state of the state" message, which will have been prepared by Governor Romney and Lt. Gov. Milliken during recent weeks, will be presented at a joint session of the Senate and the House. It charts a broad course of recommendations from the Executive branch. Later in the month the Governor will present a much more precise budget message.

Senate Republicans met last month to make some changes in committee assignments for the new session. Accordingly I will review the status of my standing and interim committee positions. When approved after the session starts I am scheduled to chair the Senate Corporations and Economic Development Standing Committee. It will be directly responsible for proposed basic changes in Michigan's banking structure. I will continue as vice-chairman of the Education Committee and as a member of the Commerce, Senate Business and Interstate Co-operation Committees.

My interim committee assignments will have expired on Dec. 31 but some I will recommend be extended another two years. As chairman of the 16-man Joint Legislative Committee on Urban Mass Transportation I am just finishing a 100-page report which I will be glad to send you upon request. It is my tentative conclusion at this point that the greater Detroit area will have to go to a rapid transit fixed rail system—also that a State Department of Transportation be established.

As chairman of the Senate committee on Abortion Law Reform, I called an all-day public hearing on Oct. 7 in Ann Arbor. I also conferred with California Senator Anthony Beilenson who sponsored their new statute as well as with the head of the University of California Medical School Obstetrics Department, the Director of the State Department of Public Health and the San Francisco Assistant District Attorney in charge of rape and incest cases under the abortion law. Senator John McCauley and I are sponsoring bills to liberalize the present Michigan abortion statute.

During the fall the U. S. Government invited me to participate in

As chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Pesticides I called public meetings in Lansing, South Haven and Detroit. We also visited in depth the Pesticide Control Center at Michigan State University and the Dow Chemical Laboratories in Midland. We are preparing legislative recommendations for the 1969 session.

The Senate International Commerce Committee which I have headed for the past four years supervised further implementation of our basic recommendations to assist in expanding Michigan export markets and thus create jobs and income at home. The University of Michigan's Institute of International Commerce, one of the Committee's first recommendations, published this year an excellent five-language directory of 2,000 Michigan exporters. It has received world-wide distribution and is unique among the 50 states. A 1969 edition is in the works.

The State Commerce Department organized for the second successive year a West Europe trade mission composed exclusively of Michigan businessmen—who reported several million dollars in actual and projected sales. The State Agriculture Department has hired a top international marketing specialist in line with the bill sponsored last spring creating a foreign marketing branch in the Agriculture Department. The State Chamber of Commerce which activated a World Trade Committee in accordance with our committee recommendations is planning a high level economic mission to Japan in 1969.

In my work with the Education Committee I have been active in meetings concerned with parochial bus transportation for school children, and educational TV and radio.

Again my best wishes to you for a really great 1969.

a special mission to the Ivory Coast and Cameroun. This was a federal assignment—not at the expense of Michigan taxpayers. Because my previous service in France speaking Africa I felt I could make a worthwhile contribution. The Jan. 20 issue of "International Commerce" published in Washington will contain several articles featuring this mission and I will be glad to forward copies upon request.

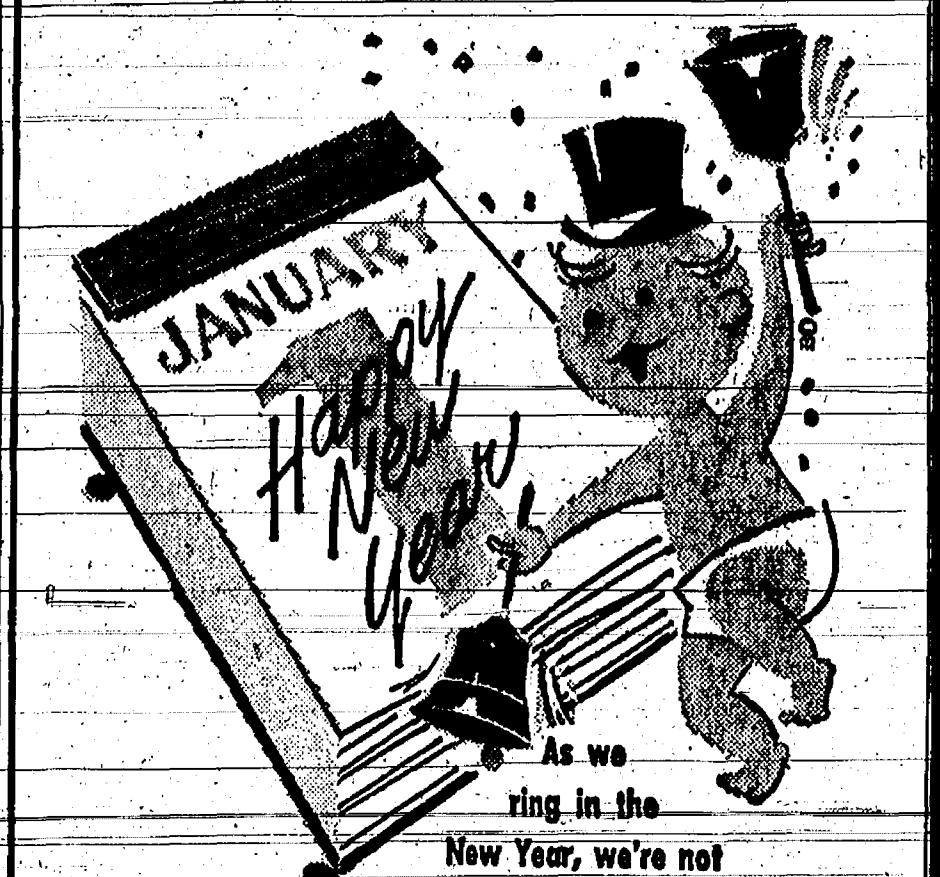

It is my continuing goal to better serve you as your state senator. I find, with added experience and responsibilities in Lansing that it is a constant struggle to get back and meet regularly with groups throughout the 1st senatorial district. But I want to do this. I would like to speak to meet with any groups. Write on this if you have suggestions. I will be continuing my news column "The Lansing Report" weekly papers in 1969 as in previous years. I am planning a series of "townhall" meetings in all cities and villages in the district during the coming weeks. I would like to talk at first hand with you on your problems.

Of great help are the annual questionnaires which I circulate throughout the area. Last May your response to the legislative questionnaire carried weight with my colleagues in Lansing. It made a quick tabulation of results but for detailed demographic breakdown I have had to rely upon the computer service of the University of Michigan School of Business Administration. I am very much indebted to them for this assistance and will be sharing with you a partial analysis of the detailed results in a forthcoming newsletter. I think this is the most scientific analysis of a legislative questionnaire yet accomplished.

Again my best wishes to you for a really great 1969.

DAVE DISCUSSES SCHOOL ACHIEVEMENT with a Guamanian student as part of the tutoring program while serving a year-long tour of volunteer duty on the small Pacific island of Guam. Although the VISTA members occasionally tutored directly, the program emphasis was on training natives to tutor, in line with the philosophy of the program, to "help them help themselves." Dave, now waiting to return to Michigan State University in January, remembers some of the other projects the group organized. Once, parents who feared their children would not be able to enroll in Headstart because no building was available got together to build one. Another time a group of teenagers known for minor trouble joined other teens to make a summer recreation program successful. After his experiences on Guam, Dave says he is considering some sort of social studies at the University.

David Wood Finds Satisfaction in VISTA Service on Island of Guam

Twenty-year-old David Wood might be compared with many other young idealists who would like to see the life of those less fortunate than themselves improve, except he did something about it. David, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wood of 646 Wanda St., recently returned from a year-long tour of duty with VISTA on the small Pacific island of Guam. He became interested in VISTA through a summer 1967 job with Chelsea's Headstart program after two years at Michigan State University. He said he joined in hopes of finding more of the same worthwhile experiences that he encountered in Headstart, but with more involvement. Apparently, he found "involvement"—a year of it, advising, tutoring, and working with the Guamanians to help them organize their communities. Wood was sent to the University of Oregon for 10 days training after his application for service was accepted. With 14 other volunteers, he chose Guam as his service area and was sent to San Francisco for a 10-day Guam training program. Several of the days were filled with lessons in Chamorro, the native language of Guam. Most Guamanians speak English also, since the schools are geared toward the large U.S. military population on the island. After arriving in Guam, the 15-member contingent was given two weeks orientation by an agency sponsored by the Economic Opportunity Commission under the office of the governor of Guam.

The EOC has six area opportunity offices on the island which helped the volunteers establish themselves. Guam is an unincorporated territory of the U.S., approximately one-fifth the size of the smallest U.S. state, Rhode Island. Little industry or agriculture is established on the island, causing a high rate of importation and high prices. Most of the 40,000 Guamanian population is supported by jobs related to service to the military bases and the 40,000 military persons on the island. The schools are geared toward military children rather than natives, who have little opportunity to apply the program designed for San Francisco children to their own futures. Guamanians suffer from the high prices caused by the necessity to import a large percentage of food and manufactured goods and a housing shortage that drives rents up. Wood and the other VISTA volunteers found the people very open and friendly and said that he felt the program benefitted individuals and groups more than an objective look at the island as a unit would indicate. "One of our most important functions was advisory, looking around and deciding what programs were needed, then organizing people to do them." The volunteers were allowed to begin programs on their own, rather than being told what each village needed. Most of them were partly engaged in establishing and strengthening tutoring programs. They attempted to locate persons in the villages to tutor, rather than directly providing instruction, an approach VISTA encourages in all programs. Tutoring is especially important to Guamanians because most of them speak Chamorro at home and are more comfortable

VISTA VOLUNTEERS meet with Guamanians engaged in the tutoring program for comparison, discussion and technique tips. Dave, third from left, said that the VISTA group tried to train some of the native residents to tutor school children rather than directly tutoring the students themselves. Tutoring was one of the most important programs Dave worked on while there, since the Guamanians are faced with English at school and Chamorro, the native language, at home. Most natives speak both, since approximately half the 80,000 islanders are U.S. military from the states. The schools are all fairly new and modern, with a curriculum taken directly from San Francisco schools and geared less to the needs of the Guamanian students than the military children. Dave and the 14 other VISTA workers tried to teach tutors to help the students who had difficulty, explaining that often the tutor-student relationship, rather than the information, was most important in injecting interest in studies into the children.

DID YOU KNOW:

Yam Supper Season Starts Jan. 1

At a time when large, important events spring upon the peoples of the world without warning, there is something comforting about an annual event. Annual events have always added a measure of stability and predictability to an otherwise very unpredictable future. Customs, traditions and holidays such as Christmas, New Year's Eve and Day, birthdays, and anniversaries are all fondly celebrated each year by a majority of the U.S. population. However, there are a myriad of lesser events that come and go, unrecognized by most people. Jan. 1 is a good example of how year, Silent Record Week is also the beginning of "The Year of the Silent Woman," 1969. Break-A-Cold month kicks off Jan. 1, with special attention to promoting Baking Soda as a relief for the discomforts of the common cold. Other specialized annual events beginning Jan. 1 are "Save the Fun Week," Independence Day in Haiti and Republic of the Cameroons, and, best of all, "Weeks Week." This last annual event strives to call attention to all important weeks in the coming year and inform the public how to participate and enjoy each week they consider worthy. CAROLING EVERYWHERE In every country where Christmas is celebrated, carols are a part of the celebration.

Barry Visel Home on Leave from Navy

AN Barry Visel, stationed at Naval Air Station at Memphis, Tenn., spent the week-end here at home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Visel. AN Visel entered the service July 2, 1968, and was stationed at San Diego, Calif. for basic training until Sept. 28. He was then home on leave until reporting to the Memphis Naval Air Station Oct. 10 for a course of study on air electronics.

Advice is usually worthless because older people have had more experience and rarely heed it and younger people know everything and do not need it.
