

Open House Slated Sunday for New Extended Care Facility

OPEN HOUSE: The snow covered front entrance to the Chelsea Medical Center Extended Care Unit will soon be opened to area residents.

An open house for the new 110-bed unit will be held Sunday, Jan. 11, from 1 to 6 p.m.

Sunday, Jan. 11, the new Chelsea Medical Center Extended Care Unit will be open for inspection by the public from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. The new 110-bed unit is the second building phase of the Chelsea Medical Center whose original building was the Chelsea Medical Center Emergency Clinic.

Construction of the new unit began July 29, 1968.

The facility brings a new concept in patient care to the Chelsea area. It will provide convalescent care on a 24-hour-a-day basis to post-operative and other recuperative patients in order "to relieve crowded conditions in hospitals in the area," according to Hal Pennington, administrator for the Chelsea Medical Center.

The new unit will offer facilities for physical therapy, inhalation therapy and laboratory and diagnostic X-raying, and will employ a staff of approximately 60 people from the Chelsea area, including the seven doctors, who already man the emergency clinic. Future plans for staffing the facility include training programs for those interested in the Chelsea area. Pennington noted the desire of the Medical Center to employ area residents.

The facility is open to area doctors and already nearly 70 physicians covering a wide range of specialties have sought privileges at the Chelsea unit.

Builders of the Chelsea unit were the Michigan Extended Care Building Corp. and the architect was Louis Ost, of Memphis, Tenn. Medicenters similar to the one at Chelsea are spread across the United States (including two others in Michigan), but they are usually connected to hospitals, which is one unique facet of the Chelsea Center. It is built adjacent to the Emergency Clinic, connected by an underground walkway. This design facilitates the two units complementing one another.

The Chelsea Center hopes, according to Pennington, "to practice the true philosophy of an extended care unit, to offer surroundings conducive to recovery for the post-operative and the recuperative patient in the unit, in order to alleviate the desperate need for hospital space for the acute patients." Pennington added that the cost factor is another important one. The unit's cost per day, per patient, is estimated at $28.

In following the philosophy that pleasant surroundings aid in recovery, the unit's planners (Continued on page five)

COLORFUL DAY ROOMS: The new extended care unit of the Chelsea Medical Center has two day rooms, one for each wing. The rooms are decorated furnished in bright hues, which add to the philosophy of the unit, "surroundings conducive to recovery," according to Hal Pennington, hospital administrator. This room is done in bright blues and greens with flecked green and blue carpeting and co-ordinated draperies.

School Millage Request Set At 10.98 Mills

A two-year millage request of 10.98 mills has been made by the Chelsea Board of Education at its Jan. 5 meeting. The Special Millage Election has been set for Jan. 26.

Fred Mills, board business manager, explained that by "going for two years, we can do a better job of future planning." In the past, millage elections have been yearly. Although millage from the county is set at 11.22, it is difficult for the board to do any long range planning, according to Mills, with the yearly anticipation of village millage elections.

The millage request this year is a renewal of the millage approved for the 1969 tax year. Although, according to Mills, some increase in assessed valuations and state aid may give increased funds to the system, neither of these has been determined specifically as yet. The millage requested this election, he notes, is to maintain operation of the system at its present pace.

Varsity Cagers Sweep S. Lyon In Good Effort

Chelsea varsity basketball team defeated South Lyon at home last Friday to run their league record to 8-2, which puts them in a two-way tie with Saline for third-place in the league. The tie will be broken as Chelsea travels to Saline this Friday.

Chelsea got off to a good start to lead South Lyon, 12 to 8, but South Lyon roared back to take the lead, 17-14. Then Chelsea really took over and scored 18 straight points to take the lead, 32-17, and South Lyon could never cut the lead to less than 10 after that. The first half ended in Chelsea's favor, 38-26. In the third quarter, Chelsea netted 18 to South Lyon's 15 and continued to outscore South Lyon in each quarter by netting 15 to 13 in the last quarter.

This was Chelsea's best offensive showing of the year as they hit 44 percent from the field and continued their excellent foul shooting, making 18 of 25 for 72 percent.

The scoring was well balanced, led by Ron Sweeney with 15 points, followed by Howie Treado with 12, Dave Conklin and Wayne Welton 11 each, Jim Wojcicki 10, Jeff Hughes 9 and Art Farley with 4.

Chelsea was led in rebounding by Ron Sweeney and Jeff Hughes with 9 each and Jim Wojcicki with 8.

CENTENNIAL FARM: Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wenk, 2833 Fletcher Rd., hold their recently acquired Centennial Farm Marker in front of their farmhouse home. The farm has been in the Wenk family since 1859 and the Michigan Historical Commission has recently designated it as a Centennial Farm. The green and yellow marker was provided by Detroit Edison Co.

Ernest Wenk Home Granted Centennial Farm Marker

Michigan's Historical Commission has designated a farm owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Wenk, 2833 Fletcher Rd., a Centennial Farm. The farm, has been in the possession of the family since 1859, when Ignatz and Anna Marie Wenk, grandparents of the present owners, purchased 40 acres of land from Ebenezer Bayden on April 14. The farm today is 130 acres.

The land of the original homestead was purchased from the United States by John M. Dickinson, and although no date is given for that transaction, there is recorded a sale of a 15-acre parcel of land in 1850. The sale price per acre was $1. Mr. Wenk, the present owner, with a sly grin estimates that the land is valued at a "little more than that today."

Over the years the Wenk farm has managed many technological and physical changes. Most notable of these is the June 6, 1917 tornado, which completely demolished all buildings on the farm. At that time the farm was in possession of Ignatz Wenk who did as many others of that era did and took his eggs to town in exchange for groceries. It wasn't until the invention of the automobile that this practice of exchange was eliminated. The automobile allowed for produce pick-ups to travel from farm to farm picking up the eggs. The automobile also eliminated the need to go to town by horse and buggy, which was a several mile jaunt for the Wenks.

Martin Wenk, father of the present owner, did custom grain threshing for neighboring farms until the invention of the combine. Martin, who was in possession of the farm when electricity was installed, purchased the farm from Ignatz in 1924.

In the spring of 1942, Martin Wenk sold the farm, now 130 acres, to his son, Ernest Wenk. The Wenks, who have three children, Kenneth of Ypsilanti, William, a graduate student at Michigan State University, and Carolyn, a sophomore at MSU, made application to the Michigan Historical Commission in Lansing in anticipation of having their farm named a Centennial Farm.

According to Secretary of State James M. Hare, whose department directs the activities of the Historical Commission, the Centennial Farm program in Michigan was established in 1948. Since that time, certificates and metal markers have been awarded to more than 2,500 Michigan farms, 12 in the Chelsea area.

The program is administered under the direction of the Commission, while markers are provided by Detroit Edison and Consumers Power Companies.

Persons owning farms who wish to apply for Centennial Farm certificates are asked to write for an application to Centennial Farm Program, Michigan, Department of State, Lansing 48918.

Guest speaker at the dinner, which was completely donated by the Moose Lodge, was Dr. James V. Higgins in the department of human development at Michigan State University. Dr. Higgins spoke of his work as a geneticist in the new March of Dimes Genetic Counseling Center at their medical school. The Rev. William Kendall, of St. Matthew's United Methodist church, Ypsilanti, gave the invocation and benediction.

Volunteers also viewed a film on rubella, which explained the new vaccine which is to be given in the county to prevent birth defects resulting from the rubella strain of measles. More than 60 clinics have been set up to open for distribution beginning Jan. 19. The state has purchased the vaccine, but the Washtenaw chapter of the March of Dimes will furnish the volunteers to man the clinics, in co-operation with the Washtenaw County Health Department.

Dr. Otto K. Engelke, Washtenaw county health director, Miss Winifred Fischer, county health nurse who is helping to co-ordinate the clinics, and John Harvey, public education division of the county health department all attended the dinner. They will be working with Mrs. John Briegel of the Ann Arbor March of Dimes on the operation of the clinics.

Also attending were Moose Governor Raymond Schief, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Smit, and other county officials. Although regrets were sent from Ann Arbor Mayor and Mrs. Robert Harris, the mayor did send his proclamation designating January as March of Dimes Month in Ann Arbor. Village Mayor Hal Pennington had previously proclaimed the month March of Dimes Month in Chelsea.

SUSAN AND JOHN MANN, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Mann, 637 Flanders, were introduced to Dr. Hazel Losh (left), retired professor of astronomy at the University of Michigan, and got a look at a sample of the first Moon Rock taken from the moon by Neil Armstrong of Apollo 11 on their recent trip to California for the Rose Bowl. While on their way to a party in the hotel where they were staying, Susan and John, both students in the Chelsea schools, were stopped by officials who asked them if they would like to meet Dr. Losh and examine a sample of Moon Rock taken to the hotel especially for the viewing of the Michigan Alumni Rose Bowl Big Ten Tour. Susan and John were accompanied to California by their parents and two other Mann children, Laurie, 12, and Jane, 16. The family, who traveled with other Michigan alumni, spent the week previous to the game sightseeing in the California area, including a trip to Disneyland.

MARCH OF DIMES CAMPAIGNERS in Chelsea report that all is going well for the foundation's month long drive. Canisters and dime boards chairman, Mrs. Joseph Verwey, reports that already two of the dime boards at the Wonder Bar, 20750 Old US-12, have been completely filled. Canisters should be in the stores and set up by Sunday, Jan. 11, according to Mrs. Verwey. She reports that "loose change dropped in these canisters usually adds up to a nice contribution for the March of Dimes."

Thoughts on Leaving the 60's Reviewed on TV Program

East Lansing—"NET Playhouse" ranges the art and entertainment world of the '60s, as NET affiliates across the country contribute to "Thoughts of the Artist on Leaving the Sixties," Sunday, Jan. 11, at 11 p.m. on WMSB (Channel 10), Michigan State University television.

The 90-minute special consists of several segments, each produced by a different affiliate station. The topics are lively and varied. W.O.E.D. (Pittsburgh) presents Fred Rogers (Misterogers), who talks about the only world "10-year-olds have ever known—the '60s. From Boston, WGBH illustrates the "sound of the 60s," covering the evolution of the Beatles, the interpretation of Bob Dylan and a study in soul. Bob Cromie, host of "Book Beat," defends the printed page from W.T.W. (Chicago). Other segments add to a thoughtful and challenging perspective on the past decade. Other WMSB highlights include:

PUPPETS—
Jim Henson and his nationally famous Muppets provide an hour of entertaining education with "The Muppets on Puppets," Sunday, Jan. 11, at 11:30 a.m.

Rowlf, the popular dog puppet, begins the show by taking a whack at puppetry all by himself. Jim Henson soon steps in to clarify the situation and includes some fascinating material about the art of puppetry in his explanation. He outlines the various types of puppets and describes the method of making a basic puppet from which many characters can be created. The program also includes Rowlf's attempt to narrate a "sort of" fairy tale, as well as a pantomime and a puppet play.

BALLET—
"NET Festival" presents a unique look at the Stuttgart Opera Ballet, both in training and on stage, with "Cranko's Castle," Sunday, Jan. 11, at 1:30 p.m.

Thirteen years of experience paid off for John Cranko, a South African-born British choreographer in 1960, when he was offered the directorship of the Stuttgart Opera Ballet. He transformed the dance company from an unspectacular addition to the opera to a dynamic and creative company which has toured the world.

"Cranko's Castle" reveals the day-to-day functions of the company, including rehearsal scenes and a portrait of Cranko at work.

U. P. Gets Notice
If Michigan's Upper Peninsula were made into a separate state, it would rank 42nd in size among the states, ahead of Maryland and behind West Virginia.

Its population of 297,400 would place it ahead of both Alaska and Nevada in numbers of people.

The drive from Detroit to Ironwood is longer than the drive from Detroit to Washington, D. C.

Despite these statistics, which would seem to indicate enough size and substance to warrant a great deal of attention, most residents of Michigan know very little about the beautiful, spacious U. P. save for the fact it has lots of trees, some deer and some mines.

In economic terms, the area has been stagnating for much of this century. Menominee, for example, had 12,532 residents in 1900, but has only 11,289 today.

The area originally was populated by miners and loggers. But as minerals became available at a lower cost from other locations, the higher cost U. P. products became non-competitive. At the same time, the timber resources were depleted.

Now the Michigan Commerce Department, at the direction of Gov. William G. Milliken, has come up with a set of recommendations which it hopes will breathe new life into the long suffering area.

The recommendations are the result of a study of the area made by Commerce Department Director Richard Whitmer, who made a trip through the area in September, visiting a total of 10 communities.

Whitmer's study group was not greeted with the greatest enthusiasm by some leaders in the area. One U. P. resident told him, "I have been amazed at the number of studies of our economy that have been made during the last 10 years. It would be better to get the money to implement the earlier studies than to make new studies."

The 10 recommendations, which Milliken has under consideration, include such items as the completion of highway improvements, especially in the US-2 corridor, from St. Ignace to Escanaba, to improve communications.

Whitmer also suggested establishment of a vocational, educational program for the U. P. to serve the needs of the area.

He said his own department should establish an office in the U. P. and that the Governor should appoint a special assistant for the U. P. who would work and live there.

Other recommendations involved studies of state investments in banks in the area and a study of the tax situation there.

Milliken has been working on the recommendations since he received them.

One of the main problems involved in any program designed for the entire area, Whitmer said, is the fact "The Upper Peninsula is not a homogeneous area. Rather," he said, "it consists of several diverse regions, each differing from the other."

He said the eastern part consisting of Chippewa, Luce and Mackinac counties "is the only part of the U. P. within the economic zone of influence of the lower peninsula."

The remainder of the zone is under the influence of Milwaukee, Chicago and Minneapolis to varying degrees, Whitmer said.

"The Upper Peninsula is not like much of the rest of Michigan," the report concluded. "Economic development programs that may work well in much of the lower peninsula may be ineffective in the Upper Peninsula for the following reasons:

- its immense area.
- its small, scattered population.
- its level of income which is below that of the rest of the state.
- its level of educational achievement.
- its absentee ownership of property.
- the heavy outmigration of young people.
- the sociological and cultural aspects of its geographical isolation.

"These facts must be kept in mind if the state of Michigan is to deal with the crisis facing the Upper Peninsula," Whitmer concluded.

Fierce pride of Upper Peninsula residents in the capitalizing of the "u" and "p." There is no grammatical rule which justifies this, but their pronounced reaction brings it about. Consequently, writers are faced with a problem in consistency when they refer to the "lower peninsula." The situation is especially apparent when references to both areas are made in one sentence.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:
I am happy to report that all the fellers are alive and kicking. We all lived thru the Christmas and New Year holidays, in spite of all them statics we been reading in the papers. Like the fellers said, reports of our getting killed was great eggzaggerated.

Zeke Grubb remarked at the country store Saturday night as how it is odd that we get a play-by-play of all road accidents on holidays, but you don't see a count on regular days. To play it safe, the fellers stayed inside the store from dark to closing. Zeke allowed if he was going to get listed in them holiday weekend statics, he was going to be a setting down, minding his own business static, and not a four wheel one. He wasn't going to let some drunk driver see two of him on the road and dodge the wrong one, Clem said.

The feller that runs the store said if he was to pick the safest place to be on Saturday nights and holidays he would say the trash can in the store. In all the time the fellers has been meeting, he said that can ain't been hit by nothing. He said if he heard the country was attacked, he would jump right in that can.

Clem Webster said they is the most dangerous travel they is, and ever year they make em faster and put more safety things on em. He said this car safety business is about like he heard Zeke Grubb's preacher say about his congregation onct. The preacher said one fifth of them wore out their knees praying and four fifths wore out their seats backsliding. Clem was of a mind that making a car that will run 130 mile a hour and then putting dual system safety brakes on it is jest backsliding at a profit.

(Incidental Mister Editor, Ed Doolittle was agreed with Clem that power and speed don't add up to road safety, but he said cars is getting blamed for a lot that ain't fair. For instance, Ed said he heard a feller say cars cause trouble with younguns. The feller said younguns ain't no meaner than they allus was, but they all got cars now so they can spread their meanness over a wider area faster.

Furthermore, cars may be the most dangerous, Ed allowed, but they don't get a hundred or two at one wreck like them big airplanes that statics say is safest of all. Ed said cars is like guns. Guns and cars don't kill people, but people kill people with em. He was of a mind that folks ought to show the same respect for a loaded car, they show fer a loaded gun, and ever time the law gets a loaded driver they ought to give him automatic five year in jail to sober up.

Personal, Mister Editor, Ed can look on the bright side and see where cars is doing more than wars, famine and disease to control the population.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Bowling Event

Slated for

Dimes Fund

One of the highlights of March of Dimes month is the annual county-wide bowling tournament held in Chelsea, and Mrs. Ed Greenleaf, chairman of the bowling tournament, reports that plans are well underway for the tournament to be held at Chelsea Lanes Bowling, Jan. 11 through Sunday, Jan. 13.

"Any league bowler who wishes to participate donates $1 the night he bowls and his scores for the evening are entered in local competition, carried out all week," according to Mrs. Greenleaf. At the conclusion of the week, the top three women and the top three men will each receive a first, second, or third-place trophy.

Winners are determined by their total "individual" score for three games, said Mrs. Greenleaf, with handicaps figured on averages as of Dec. 31.

Winning scores from the Chelsea tournament will be submitted for competition with other county entrants. Top man and top woman will each receive a trophy for first place in the County Bowling Tournament. In addition, she mentioned, they and the second- and third-place winners in the men's and women's divisions, will each receive a prize of dinner-for-two at an area restaurant.

Winners will be notified by Monday, Jan. 26, and will be announced at that time.

In previous years there has been a roll-off in the county where local winners bowled against those from other cities. This will not be held this year, local planners indicated.

SHOPLIFTER LOADED

SHUT-OUT ARTISTS

New Law Amends

500-Ft. Rule on Sale of Beer, Liquor

Lansing—Gov. William G. Milliken has signed into law a bill to amend the Michigan Liquor Control Act and its provisions regarding the restrictions concerning issuance of liquor licenses within 500 feet of schools and churches.

The bill will exempt from the restriction 500-foot (specially designated merchant) licensees who do not sell beverages on the premises.

The bill will also allow the Liquor Control Commission of the Michigan Department of Commerce to waive the 500-foot restriction and award various other types of licenses if there are no objections filed by church or school officials within the area and after a hearing if such an objection is filed.

Jim Northrup, Tiger outfielder, hit .295 in 1969 to lead the Tigers. It was the best average of his five-year major league career.

Power Failure Disrupts
Activities Monday Afternoon

Policemen directed traffic by hand... school children changed classes by watching their wrist watches... The Fire Chief was ready to alert other firemen by telephone... and the telephone at the Light & Water office almost rang off its hook. The reason of these events was a power failure in the Village of Chelsea, Monday afternoon, Jan. 5.

According to Richard Harvey, village clerk, all of Chelsea east of Main St. south of the railroad tracks and the area north of the railroad tracks and east of Main St. was without electricity from 11:20 in the morning until 4:30 in the afternoon. An overload on the main circuit caused all circuits to shut down. It was necessary for crews to restore the main circuit and then each of the various circuits, which feed electricity into homes and businesses.

Because of industrial lunch preparations demanding much electricity, and various other noon-time activities involving electricity, the strain on the main circuit is usually greatest around noon time, according to Harvey. Although there are many conjectures as to why this particular overload occurred, it is probable that it occurred due to the increased demand for electricity because of the weather and the return of youngsters to school lunch programs, Harvey noted.

Despite the inconveniences and minor adjustment of activities which took place throughout the village, most of Chelsea took the lack of electricity in stride.

Albert Bachman, 582 N. Main, was quite prepared in that he has a fuel oil stove and a kerosene stove. As he put it, however, "the fan just fans out a little heat... not at all like electric heat." He and his wife agreed that the worst part was the effect upon the refrigerator, especially the ice cream.

Most of the affected Chelsea residents with children did as Mrs. F. J. Verwey, 136 Dewey, did, "bundled up the youngsters, and waited."

Both Mrs. Gottlieb Heller, 613 S. Main, and Mrs. Walter Haab, 19147 Grass Lake Rd., had electricity and were little affected by the failure. Mrs. Haab, who is the secretary at South school, noted that the school had heat and lights because of its location.

Other schools in the affected area relied on ingenuity to get them through the day. According to Mrs. Edward Visel, the secre-

1970 Fishing
Licenses Are Distributed

Lansing—Michigan's Department of Natural Resources this week completed its distribution of about 1,200,000 fishing licenses for 1970 to approximately 3,000 local dealers throughout the state.

Also reaching those dealers with the DNR's recent mailings were copies of next year's fishing rules which, as before, will be issued free to license buyers.

Prices of all 1970 fishing licenses, including those for trout and salmon stamps, are unchanged from this year. They read as follows:

Resident annual, $3.10; non-resident annual, $6.10; resident trout and salmon stamp, $2.10; non-resident trout and salmon stamp, $3.10; resident 7-day, $3.10; non-resident 7-day, $5.10; special 1-day resident and non-resident for Great Lakes and Lake St. Clair, $1.10; and special resident (for persons 65 years and older), 50 cents.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT

In a world of discord and disagreement, hostilities and hatreds, all of us can be thankful for the vastly improved attitudes of friendliness seen throughout our land—if we will only look. Where divisions and differences were once hotly debated, we now see open and frank discussion in friendly manner.

The walls and their shadows of religious isolationism are being removed. Protestant and Catholic relations have changed, have vastly improved in recent years. They are not only more friendly in their talks with each other, they are LISTENING to each other. Catholic priests and Protestant ministers appear in public on all sorts of occasions—without provoking argument. Strong Growth Seen in 70's By North American Rockwell

A local official of North American Rockwell and the president of its Automotive Divisions today looked to the new decade ahead and expressed confidence that the automotive component business, serving the expanding motor vehicle market, will enjoy substantial growth in the 1970's.

"North American Rockwell, as the nation's leading independent supplier of mechanical components for motor vehicles, looks forward to sharing in this growth," said Fred W. Parker, Jr., Automotive Divisions' president, and Robert D. Rudd, manager of the firm's Mechanical Spring plants here and in Ann Arbor.

In a joint year-end statement, Parker and Rudd said, "The Chelsea and Ann Arbor plants will share in the growth of the automotive industry because they are two of our key mechanical spring plants in the Automotive Divisions. In 1970, output and sales will maintain a strong pace, and as we move further into the decade we see a firm growth pattern."

Headquartered in Detroit, the Automotive Divisions manufacture axles, brakes, drive assemblies and springs for trucks, trailers, buses and off-highway vehicles. The divisions also produce such components as bumpers, springs, wheel covers and plastic trim for passenger cars.

In its plant here and in Ann Arbor, the firm produces mechanical springs for the automotive industry.

According to Parker and Rudd, the outlook for growth in the truck market in the 1970's is excellent. Currently, there are about 19 million trucks registered in the United States. Projections place the number at more than 20 million trucks by 1975 and nearly 25 million by 1980.

"In 1969, truck sales climbed to around two million units," the joint statement said. "They are expected to reach 2.5 million by 1975 and over three million by 1980."

"Heavy duty trucks, a key market for North American Rockwell, show good promise for long-term growth. One reason is the increasing amount of freight shipped in the nation each year. Another is the rising percentage of all freight handled by trucks."

The two officials noted that trucks and trailers, which now haul 23 percent of the nation's freight tonnage, are expected by 1980 to carry 25 percent, or nearly 78 billion ton-miles of freight, an increase of more than 90 percent over 1966.

An important contributing factor to future growth, they said, is the current expansion of the interstate highway system. The superhighways are wider, safer, more durable and can handle greater weight, helping to stimulate the trend to larger vehicles.

"Interstate highway expansion also is encouraging industry to locate plants in smaller communities," the year-end statement said. "This decentralization of industry is helping to increase highway freight movement."

"Trucks with a gross vehicle weight of more than 33,000 pounds are expected to show the greatest growth rate in factory sales among all trucks in the 1970's. This is a prime market for our company."

Turning to other markets, Parker and Rudd observed that trailer production in 1969 grew by 18 percent over 1968. Expanding use of "piggyback" and containerization methods of transporting freight have contributed to growth of the trailer market, and this trend is expected to continue, they said.

The outlook for the passenger car market in the 1970's also is bright, they declared, adding: "Although some current projections in the automotive industry call for a possible dip in passenger car sales in 1970, the outlook is for considerable growth in the years beyond."

"The major automobile companies project passenger car sales to increase to around a 10 million annual rate by 1971. In the year just ending, the total is about 9.8 million."

Looking farther ahead, the automakers have projected sales of about 13 million by 1980.

The two North American Rockwell spokesmen said that components manufactured by the Automotive Divisions are used on more than 100 car models sold both in the United States and Canada. In the 1969 model year, they said, the divisions supplied nearly 60 percent of the wheel covers and 20 percent of the hubcaps used in North America.

To keep pace with current demand and to prepare for expected growth in the 1970's, the Automotive Divisions in 1969 embarked on a $100 million expansion program which will extend through 1971. The program calls for expanded manufacturing capacity and research facilities.

This expansion will, for example, increase the divisions' capacity for axle production by 66 percent and brake production by 45 percent, Parker and Rudd said. They said that the over-all market position of the divisions will be strengthened by the expansion program and that benefits from it ultimately will be felt locally.

"We think we can look ahead to a good year with assurance that, as part of the nation's 29th largest industrial firm, we will be able to keep pace with the market," they said. "We think 1970 will be a good year for our plants here and in Ann Arbor and that our strong position will contribute substantially to the local economy."

The Automotive Divisions, with 20 manufacturing plants in the United States and 11 in Canada, constitutes one of nine major divisions of North American Rockwell Corp. The parent firm is engaged in 20 related engineering and manufacturing businesses, with major strengths in research and development, aerospace and commercial products, systems engineering and a growing position in several of the emerging industries.

Poultry Planning Meetings Slated At Dundee Bank

Paul Nevel, Monroe county extension director, and Dr. John Wolford, Michigan State University poultry specialist, have made arrangements through the Co-operative Extension Service for two poultry meetings on an area basis. The meetings will be held in the Community Room, Monroe County Bank of Dundee.

Jan. 15 will be the first meeting which will begin at 7 p.m. with "Layer Husbandry Program: What I can do to insure egg production?" Other topics that night will be: "Outlook, What price for eggs in 1970?" and "Manure Handling, How and with what equipment?"

The second meeting will be held Jan. 22 and will cover: "Michigan Poultry Industry, Where are the eggs produced?", "Pesticides, What can we use?", "Egg Quality, Problems and How to correct them", and "Marek's Disease, Where do we stand?" This meeting will also begin at 7 p.m.

Both meetings will conclude at 9 p.m. with a question and answer period.

New Carrot Available From Seed Companies

A new hybrid carrot, well-suited to processing, is now available for use in most muckland areas of the U. S.

The hybrid, Spartan Bonus, produced high yields with good processing qualities in numerous commercial trials, reports Dr. L. R. Baker, Michigan State University horticulturist.

An advantage of the new carrot is good flavor, and it is relatively free from both exterior and interior color defects, says Baker.

The Danvers-type hybrid is a uniform deep orange and is approximately seven inches long with a medium taper, stump tip and slightly indented crown.

Seed is available through these seed companies: Asgrow, Agway, FMC-SRS, Ferry-Morse, Harris, Key Stone, Northrup-King, Peyer-Wheeler and Vaughns.

Spartan Bonus was released a year ago by MSU's Agricultural Experiment Station. It was developed by Dr. C. E. Peterson, former MSU horticulturist and now head of carrot and onion investigations, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Logical Order For Numbering All Freeways

Lansing—There is a logical order to numbering the nation's 42,500-mile Interstate freeway system.

Numbers generally follow the same pattern as U. S. highways—odd-numbered routes run north and south, even-numbered routes east and west. On the Interstate system, however, the lowest odd numbers are in the west and the highest in the east, just the opposite of the U. S. route numbering.

Interstate 5, for example, runs north and south along the west between San Diego, Calif., and Bellingham, Wash. Interstate 95 runs along the east coast between Miami, Fla., and Houlton, Me.

The lowest even-numbered Interstate routes are in the south and the highest in the north. Interstate 10 is between Santa Monica, Calif., and Jacksonville, Fla., and Interstate 90 is between Seattle, Wash., and Boston, Mass. This, too, is the reverse of the U. S. numbered system, to prevent U. S. and Interstate routes from having identical numbers in the same geographical area.

Major routes have one or two-digit numbers, and numbers of the longest roads end in 5 or 0. Three-digit numbers are used for urban penetrators and connector routes.

Michigan has four major Interstate freeways; Interstate 94 between Port Huron and the Indiana border near New Buffalo, Interstate 96 between Detroit and Muskegon, Interstate 75 between Sault Ste. Marie and the Ohio border near Toledo, and Interstate 69 between Flint and the Indiana border south of Coldwater.

Total mileage allotted to Michigan is 1,175 miles.

Fire trucks were sent at approximately 10:07 a.m. to extinguish the fire, which caused little damage to the Koch kitchen. The fire had been caused by spattering grease, which ignited curtains near the stove.

A second fire in Chelsea at the home of Morgan Esch, 4242 Jacob Rd., demolished a second story building, which had formerly been a combination chicken coop and tool shed. The firemen from Chelsea were called to aid the Manchester Fire Department Sunday afternoon, Jan. 4, at 3:45 p.m.

Alcoholic Beverage Earnings Increase During Past Year

Lansing—The State of Michigan earned a record $118.6 million from the sale, licensing and taxing of alcoholic beverages during the fiscal year ending last June 30, the Michigan Department of Commerce (MDC) reported recently.

State Commerce Director Richard E. Whitmer said the MDC's Liquor Control Commission (LCC) increased its net revenue by nearly $6 million or 5.5 percent compared to the previous year.

LCC Chairman Stanley Thayer of Ann Arbor said gross receipts totaled $384.5 million while costs amounted to $215.9 million.

The largest single expenditure—$203.5 million—was for the purchase of liquor and wine from distilleries and wineries.

Thayer said $114.5 million of the net revenue, earned through sale of alcoholic beverages, licensing and taxing went to the State of Michigan while $4.1 million was returned to cities, villages and townships for enforcing provisions of the Liquor Control Act.

Michigan residents consumed about one million gallons more of alcoholic liquors of more than 16 percent alcoholic content than they did during the previous year while beer consumption declined by nearly 800,000 gallons.

New Polyester Core Thread Now Available

With the new fabrics on the market these days, it's almost natural that new threads would begin to appear.

The old standby, mercerized cotton thread serves many purposes. However, a new one, polyester, core thread, offers other possibilities, said Mrs. Helen Fairman, extension home economist for Washtenaw Monroe and Lenawee counties.

This new thread looks a lot like cotton thread, and it comes in almost as many colors as the cotton thread. But it's thinner and stronger, Mrs. Fairman says, and this makes it great for use on stretchable fabrics.

Its strength is due to the size of the twist of the yarn, and to the polyester core center—a man-made fiber.

"However," Mrs. Fairman says, "this new thread has a cotton covering, which allows it to be washed and ironed just like the regular cotton thread. And it also makes a wide color range possible. With today's array of fabric colors, this is important!"

Many homemakers still prefer the mercerized cotton, says Mrs. Fairman. Its color choice is still the widest and it does a satisfactory job on the natural fibers—cotton, linen, silk and wool.

Mrs. Fairman suggests two things to remember when sewing, no matter what kind of thread you use:

"Remember to use the same type for both the bobbin and the top thread," she says. "This keeps you stitching in balance."

"And, when using threads with stretch characteristics, decrease thread tension so that it does not over-stretch or over-extend the thread. This can cause a puckered stitching line."

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

by GARY A. KLEINHENN
Michigan Farm Bureau

* A 'Meaty' Subject

Many of the disgruntled housewives pushing for reduction in meat costs at the marketplace often are the victims of their own taste buds and growing family income, rather than the actual price of meat.

Grocery costs have long lagged behind the higher costs of living despite the yell of "foul" by the ladies of the land. Thus, what is a more probable cause of higher food bills is the rising price of the inflationary times which in turn gobble up more and better quality groceries than ever before.

For instance when shopping, those lamb chops and those good looking steak cuts (once too expensive to buy) are now tossed into the stopping bags at a higher percentage rate than ever before. So, because the grocery bill is more, food eaters are unjustly upset. It's not so much the prices as it is the family's change of diet.

But of course it doesn't take any economic wizard to discover a family eats better as income increases, but by revealing the obvious, other "meaty" facts (sic) otherwise unavailable, come to the forefront.

At least that's what's indicated by the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago Agricultural Letter, in a survey of meat data. For instance they say that higher income families as compared with lower income families eat more beef, veal, lamb and least of all pork and poultry. Furthermore, the report states that a 10 percent increase in income is associated with a three percent increase in beef consumption.

There's a snooty appeal in the shopper's cart too. Apparently, pork and poultry do not have the prestige or status associated with beef. Studies indicate that these meats are not as responsive to changes in income as beef.

And... did you know that meat and poultry expenditures account for around one-third of the typical family food budget... about $512 per person?

And... did you know that because meat is perishable and storage stocks normally are small, consumption must roughly equal production? What does that mean when there is an unusually high demand, prices may jump until supply can catch up.

Finally... did you know that the fifth consecutive year meat consumption has increased? The average growth per year has been three and one-half pounds although the 1969 increase geared down to half a pound.

Pinckney Offered Grant from Water Pollution Fund

Sharpe said that the formal offer is being placed in the mail today. The project for which this grant is offered will consist of construction of a pumping station, force main, waste stabilization lagoon, lift station, second waste stabilization lagoon and a ridge and furrow irrigation field. The amount of the grant offer is $86,454 based on a total estimated project cost of $161,800.

Striking closer to home, Davids hit at parental responsibility as a contributing cause of some snowmobile abuse. "When a parent will allow a child to operate this sort of machine, unattended and often unskilled, the consequences are tragically predicatable," Davids noted.

Air Freight Totals Increase Greatly in State

Mature judgment, responsible operation and a knowledge of the rules can help make snowmobiling a safer sport according to the director. As a guide to registration and use, Davids said a copy of the Michigan Department of State's snowmobile pamphlet is available upon request at each State Police Post throughout the state.

Michigan Ranks Among Leaders in Plant Investment

Lansing—How hospitable is Michigan?

How is it regarded by new firms, and by firms that need more room for more facilities and equipment so they can meet the demand of expanding markets?

How attractive an environment is it in terms of growth prospects and stability?

One measure is in expenditures for new plant and equipment. Dur-

The latest official figures from the U. S. Department of Commerce for the year 1965 show that Michigan led the nation in new plant and equipment investments—passing even the six industrialized states that are larger in population.

Michigan's investment for new plant and equipment during 1965 was $1 billion $390 million. Next highest was neighboring Ohio with Medicenter... a nice place to get well.

Concept

The Medicenter has been designed to provide specialized care for recuperating patients... those patients who no longer need all of the services of a hospital, but who do require some additional time for recovery. The Medicenter is neither a hospital nor a nursing home. It is a medical facility constructed and operated entirely for recuperating patients. By offering such care at approximately one-half the cost of general hospital care, the Medicenter is making a major contribution towards solving the problem of rapidly increasing medical costs.

Hospitalization today is expensive, and justifiably so, but there is a distinct need for alternatives to the high cost of hospital care. The Medicenter is a perfect example of a facility that will maintain quality and reduce cost through private enterprise.

The Facility

The Medicenter operates as a unit of Medicenters of America, Inc., under procedures developed by the national organization, and is periodically inspected to insure that the highest quality care is maintained.

The building is designed and furnished to create a pleasant, luxurious atmosphere. Each patient room is spacious, colorful, fully carpeted, has individually controlled heating and cooling, and has a full private bath. Both private and two-bed rooms are available.

Medicenter of America/775 S. Main St./Chelsea, Michigan

Other services offered by the Medicenter include beautiful lounges, physical therapy, recreational therapy, selective menus and beauty and barber shop. Telephone and television are also provided in each patient room at a slight additional charge. Visiting hours are relaxed, and visitors, including children, are welcome at any reasonable time.

Patient Care

Each patient is admitted by his own physician and remains under the care of this physician as long as he is in the Medicenter. Registered nurses are on duty 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Other nursing and technical personnel are provided as necessary to provide the specialized recuperative care which is the Medicenter trademark. Physical therapy is a very active department, and all therapy is administered or supervised by a registered physical therapist.

Open House

You are cordially invited to visit our facilities at our open house, January 11, from 2:00 to 6:00 p.m.

TROOP 58—
Girl Scout Troop 58 met Monday and for the opening ceremony we said the pledge of allegiance, sang "America" and repeated the Girl Scout Promise. We held elections for officers and Diana Roy was elected to be troop treasurer. Debbie Packard was elected troop scribe. The new officers will take over next week. We played The Old Men from Tanglefoot Woods for the game. We started to discuss plans for our next badge, My Trefoil. Kathy Foreman showed us some postcards that she got from Savannah, Ga. For our closing ceremony we sang taps and had the "squeeze."

BROWNIE TROOP 169

We had refreshments and paid our dues. Then we got into a Brownie ring and we learned our first Girl Scout Law. Then we played a game. After Brownie ring, we made get-well cards for Terry Ames who had a bad fall during Christmas vacation.

We closed with the Taps and Squeeze.

Hearing Slated On Plan for Village Growth

A Public Hearing must be held prior to the adoption of any comprehensive development plan, according to Fred Barkley, secretary of the Village Planning Commission. Since Chelsea has already been submitted a plan for the development of the Village of Chelsea, on June 30, 1969, a public hearing has been scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 8 at 7:30 p.m. in the Village Council chambers. After the public hearing, adoption of the plan rests with the Village Council.

Facets of the recommended plan, submitted after two years of study by Perkins, Rogers & Associates, Inc., under the auspices of the Village Council Planning Commission, include land use planning, traffic-way planning, and community facilities planning.

According to a report published in June of 1969 describing the plan, community facilities "to satisfy long and short range needs include: 1) a new elementary school on the east side of Main St.; 2) a new playground in conjunction with the elementary school; 3) tot lots; 4) swimming pool; 5) ice skating rink; 6) expansion of Pierce Park; 7) a new civic center; and 8) water and sewer improvements.

Traffic-way planning would recommend that an M-52 by-pass route along the western side of the village be constructed to remove industrial and through traffic from Main St.

UNCLE SAM

"Uncle Sam" really lived. He was born in 1766 in Arlington, Mass., christened Samuel Wilson. During the war of 1812, when he was selling meat to the Army, someone asked a nightwatchman on Wilson's loading dock what the initials US, stamped on beef, meant. "Uncle Sam," retorted the impatient watchman. "He's feeding the Army."

Chelsea Group Preparing for Jaycee Week

Richard Stoll, Jr., 341 Elm, has prepared the following statement to better acquaint the community with the function of the Jaycees. Stoll is the chairman of Jaycee Week to be held Jan. 18-24.

"A task force of energetic and civic-minded young men is at work in your community. Here, as in 5,700 other communities, the Jaycees organization promotes young men to an active role in the affairs of your city, state and nation.

"You might have first noticed the Jaycees because of their work in the area of youth and sports activities, or it could have been through their efforts to petition for a local bond issue. But regardless of the project, you noticed that energy and enthusiasm, backed with Jaycee manpower, are a hard combination to beat.

"Because the Jaycees tackle projects with their own members, furnishing the ideas, labor and follow-through, each Jaycee dips into areas of knowledge and experience not gained through his occupation or profession. Whether it's heading up a fund-raising drive for a new city hall or handling publicity for a safety campaign, the Jaycees are broadening his experience and gaining leadership or management training.

"You benefit from this training in addition to the visible civic improvements forged by the Jaycee task force.

"This pool of talent is available to your community for appointive or elective positions. Men hardened by the fire of projects with scope and purpose, men with public speaking ability polished by constant debate for community causes, men with unlimited pride in your community.

"So, draw freely upon these young men between the ages of 21 and 36. Take notice of their vitality and enthusiasm—then arrive at your own conclusions about their goals of self-improvement and civic progress. If you agree with these responsible citizens, and you're proud of a continuing community heritage, back the Jaycees through work, deed and action. Help them to help your community."

Primary Electric Power Users Get New Service

Power rates to customers who desire to purchase primary power from the Chelsea Electric Water Department will soon be set. Approval to set the rates came at the Tuesday, Jan. 6 meeting of the Village Council.

Previous to this, those demanding large amounts of power bought directly from Consumers Power Co. Chelsea Electric Water Dept. will soon be making available to area consumers primary power at a set rate.

Small amounts of power, such as the amount used in a home, travels through the Chelsea substation out to primary sources, then to transformers, and then on to the individual houses. It is metered there, according to Richard Harvey, village clerk. With the setting of new rates for primary power, it will be financially feasible for large power demanders to purchase from the local department. Primary power is metered at a set rate from the primary line before it gets to the transformer.

One area facility which will be able to take advantage of the local primary power will be the new extended care unit at the Chelsea Medical Center, according to Harvey.

SPATTER FINISH

Putting a spatter finish on an antiqued piece of furniture is as easy as a flick of the wrist. It's just one of the many effects you can get with antiquing kits by varying the way in which you apply the toner. Use a stiff bristle brush—an old toothbrush will do. Dip the bristles of the brush into the paint. "Spring" the bristles with your finger to throw a fine spray of toner over the undercoating. Don't load the brush too heavily with the toner—you want spatters, not blotches.
