School Seeks Same Millage For Next Year

Special Election Scheduled for Jan. 26 Asks Renewal of 10.98 Levy

No increase in millage over last year has been requested by the Chelsea Board of Education over the next two years, it has been announced by Chelsea Superintendent Charles Cameron.

"Although the costs of the operation of the schools have increased each year, it is expected that the anticipated increase in state aid, as well as the state equalized valuation of the district, will offset this increase," Cameron commented.

The election, which will be held at the Dwight E. Beach School Monday, Jan. 26 from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m., will be a special election for the purpose of renewing the 10.98 mills requested last year for school operational costs.

"The purpose of holding the election early is to enable the board of education to make plans for the future," explained Cameron. "The educational program of the district should be planned early so that the most capable and qualified teachers may be hired to staff the schools."

"The early spring is the most appropriate time for interviewing teachers," Cameron continued. "The candidates for teaching positions as well as the present staff want to know the program, salary schedule, and whether or not the program will be continued."

Between March 1 and March 15

the board negotiators and the teacher negotiators will prepare to negotiate and/or renegotiate many articles in the present contract. "If the board knows the total income of the district, the negotiators can do their best to settle the issues early," Cameron explained.

"Each election held is costly in terms of money, and in time. Therefore, the board of education encourages you to support the renewal of the millage," Cameron added.

DSA Awards To Highlight Jaycee Week

Chelsea Jaycees will highlight National Jaycee Week and the national organization's 50th year of community service with the presentation of DSA awards.

Awards are to be presented this year to Chelsea's Outstanding Young Man and Outstanding Young Educator. These awards will be presented to two young men between the ages of 21 and 35 who have served the community faithfully and unselfishly for the past year, resulting in lasting contributions to the community. The two outstanding young men will be awarded plaques and honored at the Jan. 20 Bosses Night membership meeting.

Any organization, individual, association or institution may submit an outstanding young man's name for consideration for these awards. The only rules governing nominations are: nominee must be a U. S. citizen between the ages of 21 and 35, and must reside or work in the Chelsea area.

All nominations must be submitted on an official DSA form which may be obtained by calling Walt Brown at 475-7634.

A three-man committee of outstanding citizens will review all applications and make the final selection for each award.

Bosses Night chairmen, Dave Rowe and Mike Eubanks, have planned the event to be held at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 20, at the American Legion Home at Cavanaugh Lake, with Tom Nowatzke of the Detroit Lions as guest speaker during the dinner program.

Bosses night, an annual Jaycees event, is an opportunity for Jaycees members to host their bosses in order that the bosses may better understand the meaning of Jaycees and learn what the local chapter has been doing the past year.

RETIRING from his position as supervisor of the Five Gauge Listing Wire Forming Department just prior to his retirement today, Thursday, Jan. 15, is Garnett Weir, 902 McKinley, who poses for this picture at Central Fibre after nearly half a century.

Garnett Weir Retiring Today - Nearly 48 Years at Fibre

Garnett Weir, 902 McKinley Rd., is retiring today, Thursday, Jan. 15 after working 47 1/2 years for Central Fibre Products Co.

Weir was born in Toronto, Ontario. He came to Chelsea in 1918 and started to work at Central Fibre for Donald Bacon in June, 1922 at the age of 14. "I started to work in the old green barn alongside the railroad tracks," Weir reminisced, "where we made twisted paper twine for fibre furniture, which was popular at the time."

"I was earning 10 cents an hour after school at that time. It wasn't exactly what you'd call a man's wages," chuckled Weir. "They were making between 35 and 40 cents an hour. From that first location, we moved to the stone building which now houses Frigid Products," continued Weir. "We made wool twine to tie up the wool for farmers. It was shipped all over the United States. Yes, it was big business." Weir added, "We sure made a lot of wool twine."

In 1930 Weir married Marguerite Krentz. They have four children, Mrs. Douglas (Barbara) Egeler; Mrs. Floyd (Jacqueline) Reithmiller; Robert James Weir, assistant coach at the Naval Academy in Maryland; and Mary Alice Weir, at home.

"Around 1930 we moved into what was at that time called the Sawtooth Building, owned by the Lewis Spring and Axle Co., located on N. Main. It no longer exists. It burned in 1947 and has now been rebuilt."

"We began to make automotive parts, such as parts for upholstery soon afterwards, and that's what we're in today."

Weir, who at the time of his retirement was in charge of the Five Gauge Listing Wire Forming Department, which is located in the Tower Building, noted that Chelsea has changed a great deal in the 50-odd years that he's been here.

When asked for his opinion on the biggest change, he answered that at one time, "nothing ever happened" in Chelsea, while today "everything happens." Weir is quite pleased with the many new facilities that Chelsea has. Among these he mentioned the new Chelsea Medical Center, which he described as a "wonderful addition to the community."

Weir intends to do some traveling, but also intends to "mow the grass around my small lake at 902 McKinley."

Blood Bank Clinic Slated Here Friday

Blood Donors Needed To Replenish Supply Kept for All Area Residents

The American Red Cross Blood mobile will visit Chelsea for the 18th year Friday, Jan. 16 at the Congregational church.

Blood may be donated that day from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Mrs. Robert Wagner will be contacting factories and other businesses on Thursday, Jan. 17 to make specific appointments for workers to donate blood. Other appointments may be made through Mrs. Dudley Holmes, 146 E. Middle, co-ordinator of the Chelsea blood drive.

"It takes just about one hour to donate a pint of blood," according to Mrs. Holmes, who has worked with the Chelsea Blood Bank Clinic for 17 years.

"We call ours an open clinic," says Mrs. Holmes, "since almost everyone in the Chelsea area is eligible for blood from the Chelsea Blood Bank when they need it. This includes anyone who works or lives in the Chelsea area, and their immediate family."

The Chelsea Blood Bank is part of a larger organization, which collects blood to service hospitals in the area. Detroit is the regional center and services five counties: Macomb, Oakland, St. Clair, Washtenaw, and Wayne.

"Three bloodmobiles travel out from Detroit every working day of the year," according to Mrs. W. Loren (Pauline) McKenna of the Washtenaw County Chapter of the American Red Cross. These bloodmobiles schedule their appointments a year in advance, they travel from area to area collecting blood from groups, clubs, organizations, and/or cities who wish their members to have blood available to them from the reserve in case of an emergency.

"Ninety-five percent of the population is covered in this area by the blood clubs," reported Mrs. McKenna. She added that those not covered would have to rely upon donors who would have to come into the hospital to give blood to a particular patient. "I can't recall too many cases of this happening here because most everyone is covered," she said.

After processing in Detroit, blood is then delivered to the hospitals within the five counties. A driver from the Washtenaw (Continued on page three)

Extended Care Unit Visited By 8,000 People

More than 8,000 people from across the state attended the open house Sunday, Jan. 11 at the new Chelsea Medical Center Extended Care unit, according to Dr. Michael Papo, head of the Center.

The new unit, whose construction was begun in July 1968, and which is designed to handle care of post-operative and other recuperative patients, exhibits a new philosophy in patient care. The pleasant surroundings are believed to be conducive to recovery, according to the unit's planners.

Guests entered through the main lobby, which is decorated with various art works, creating the aura of something other than a hospital unit. To the left and right are long halls, along the sides of which are the rooms. Each room houses space for two patients. Each room has its own tiled bath in pastel colors, as well as decorator furniture. The walls are adorned with what appears to be hand-painted art, works, although the print is actually part of the wall covering itself.

At either end of the long halls are a nurses station and a day room. Each day room is done in brightly colored co-ordinated furnishings. Each resembles a home, rather than a hospital sitting room.

The dining room, which is across the hall from the main lobby, is done in a Mediterranean motif. All the chairs are plastic covered for longer wear. According to Dr. Papo, most of the patients will be able to use the dining room, as will the patients' visitors.

The unit, which is connected to the emergency clinic by an underground walkway, admitted its first patient Monday, Jan. 12, as well as received its license from Medi-center. The first patient is Mrs. Loren Turner, 725 Howard Rd., who was transferred from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after a week's stay there.

ARMIN SCHNEIDER

Armin Schneider Retires As Dana Purchasing Agent

Retiring after 25 years of service with Dana Corp. is Armin D. Schneider, 239 Washington St. Schneider, whose retirement was effective Jan. 1 came to Chelsea in 1941 to work for Chelsea Products.

A 1929 graduate of the University of Wisconsin, Madison, in Landscape Gardening, Schneider was working in Madison after graduation when his uncle, Donald Bacon, came to him and asked that he come to Chelsea to work for him at Central Fibre. At the time Schneider's father, Henry Schneider, was the superintendent of the Fibre plant. Shortly after his father's retirement, Schneider gave notice to his boss in Madison that he would be leaving.

"I had just a little problem, Schneider recalls, "I told my uncle that I could begin work immediately, Monday morning if he wanted. My Madison boss was a little hesitant to let me go without giving two weeks notice. He finally came and told me that I could leave when I wished. So, I headed for Chelsea."

Schneider, who by the time of his move to Chelsea had married the former Helen B. McCool in 1931, said that he had no problems in moving his wife, "I told my uncle that my wife goes where I go."

Mrs. Schneider, who has grown "to love Chelsea," was confronted with several adjustments. At that time, she notes, "there was no mail delivery in Chelsea. We had quite a time at first paying our electric bill. We kept waiting for the bill to be mailed, until we discovered that no bills were mailed. We had to go down to the board and pay it." Mrs. Schneider reports that Chelsea has changed a great deal since that time.

After three years working in the plant, Schneider moved into the office of the Fibre Co. to handle the inventory.

In 1945, Robert Wagner organized Chelsea Products, and Schneider was asked to become his purchasing agent. This he did and stayed in that capacity through Dana's purchase of Chelsea Products in 1958 and until his retirement in 1970.

Schneider, whose family was all born and raised in Chelsea, has one daughter, Mrs. E. G. (Joan) Gleske, who lives with her husband and two sons in Upper Marlboro, Md. Her husband, an Air Force major stationed at Washington D. C. is studying for an M. A. in aeronautical engineering at the university of Maryland. Schneider's mother, Mrs. Henry Schneider, 90, is a resident of the Chelsea Methodist Home. (Continued on page five)

Are our colleges and universities getting too big?
Are too many young people attending college who shouldn't be there?

A report in an educational journal and a speech at Michigan State University would seem to indicate some validity to the questions.

In the educational journal, Dr. Jarland G. Barker, Vice Provost for Admissions and Records at the University of Cincinnati, reports that there currently are more than seven- and three-quarters million full-time degree-credit students in all institutions of higher learning in the United States.

This is an increase of almost five percent over last year.

Dr. Barker reported that Michigan State University leads Michigan's institutions and is 11th in the nation in terms of full-time students and total enrollment.

Also among the top 30 educational institutions in the matter of size are the University of Michigan and Wayne State.

Michigan State is 11th in both categories while the University of Michigan is 16th in full-time students and 17th in total enrollment.

The report shows that Michigan State's enrollment this year is 50,085 and it has 39,244 full-time students.

The University of Michigan enrollment is 38,328, of which 30,525 are full-time while Wayne State has enrolled 34,924, including 21,175 full-timers.

The State University of New York is first in the nation with 79,107 but this figure cannot be compared with the Michigan institutions because this is the total of all of the state-supported universities in New York State.

By the same token, California's second place figure of 138,100 is a total of several universities.

In the Big Ten, Michigan State is exceeded by the University of Wisconsin with 50,504 full-time students; University of Minnesota with 50,504; University of Illinois with 46,292; Ohio State University with 44,560; and Indiana University with 41,854.

In a commencement address at Michigan State University, Yale's President Kingman Brewster, Jr., noted that enrollment in American higher educational institutions had zoomed from 3 million to more than 7 million in the last 15 years.

Dr. Brewster broached the idea that much of the campus unrest today stems from the fact that far too many students are unwilling college students. They are there because parents think they should be there or because society has created what Dr. Brewster called a "bad case of credentialitis."

He criticized what he said was the growing notion that anybody who wants to be somebody must now earn that special imprimatur of success—the advanced degree.

Dr. Brewster said "if too many students feel compelled to the university is corrupted, distracted and fouled for all its members." He said higher learning cannot work if it is involuntary.

He suggested that employers in business, industry, government and the professions must cure their bad case of "credentialitis" by judging the product rather than the fancy wrapped degree package.

Recognizing the problem, some colleges have begun to consider admitting students with the understanding that they will not actually enroll until after a year or two of work for public service.

In the last few years, Michigan has attacked the problem in an interesting way.

It has been placing greater emphasis on two-year community colleges where young people can get a taste of academic life close to home to see whether they want to—or are qualified to—continue on to obtain degrees.

This year, the enrollment in all Michigan colleges—public and private, four-year and two-year—is 374,115.

This is an 8.6 percent increase over last year.

Our public four-year colleges increased 4.9 percent from 198,419 to 208,273. Meanwhile, our non-public colleges remained almost stable at about 51,000.

A look at the progress of our 29 community colleges shows what is happening there. This year, the head count for our community colleges is 114,823 compared with 95,065 last year. This is a whopping 21 percent increase.

One feature of the community colleges that may help correct the situation that disturbs Dr. Brewster is the number of two-year, terminal courses in practical subjects that they provide.

They provide courses in the vocational line—nursing, medical and dental technicians, drafting, auto mechanics and many others—which qualify students for above average jobs that will provide them a good living without having to take a lot of liberal arts courses which they do not want and which would be of questionable value to them in the non-academic fields they choose.

There is a two-fold advantage in this sort of education. It is less costly to the individual, who often is not flushed with money, and it is a lot less of a burden on Michigan taxpayers who help foot the bill for what some educators feel are too many four-year students who should be in an entirely different field.

State officials are finding it discouraging to have credit for $435 million and not be able to use more than a token amount of the fund.

The culprit, of course, is the high cost of borrowing money. A year ago, Michigan voters approved a recreation bonding program of $100 million and a water pollution bond program of $335 million.

This meant that the voters were willing to bond themselves for that amount of money to insure better recreational facilities and clean air and water.

But the "hooker" is that, because of high interest rates that lure investors elsewhere, only $30 million of the bonds have been marketed so far. These are of the water pollution series.

Women Win One

Advocates of women's rights won another round in their battle to receive equal treatment with men in Michigan.

Attorney General Frank J. Kelley issued an opinion which said a Michigan law prohibiting women from working more than 54 hours a week or 10 hours a day is unconstitutional.

Kelley based the opinion on the 1964 Federal Civil Rights Act, which bars discriminatory employment practices on the basis of sex.

The federal law, however, applies only to employers with 25 or more employees, so women working for small firms still are subject to the restriction, Kelley said.

Kelley's opinion said the conflict between the state statute and the federal law is "irreconcilable."

Since Michigan has not yet amended its law, the state is in violation of the federal act, he said.

He also said the Michigan law limits a woman's chance of earning a supervisory position since in many cases, extra hours of work are required for management positions.

"Any denial of employment opportunities on the basis of sex alone constitutes a violation of the federal law," Kelley said.

The Michigan law, originally enacted as a protective measure for women employees, has been under constant fire from various women's rights groups in the state in recent years.

They have claimed in testimony before House and Senate committees that the law was unfair because some employers used the hour limitation as an excuse for not hiring women.

The whole question is another example of a law originally enacted as a protective measure later being attacked under different circumstances, as a discriminatory measure.

Another such instance came in the area of voting when the poll tax, originally used to increase the number of persons eligible to vote, later became, in the opinion of many, a protection device from voting.

The New York Central's new "Aerotrains" which later this year is to make regular runs between Detroit and Chicago, made its initial run Thursday, going through Chelsea at 11:45 a.m. Spectators were out along the entire right-of-way to see the ultra-modern train.

Commission Chairman Willis F. Ward of Detroit said the average residential electric bill in Michigan is $759 for homeowners who use up to 500 kilowatt-hours of electricity per month.

Only Washington and Oregon have lower bills, he said.

The average bill throughout the country for 500 kilowatt-hours of electricity per month is $10.37, according to Ward.

The Public Service Commission is proud that Michigan electric utilities are among the most efficient in America, he said.

Our electric rates are low despite the fact that most Michigan homeowners buy electricity from privately-owned electric companies, he said.

He said the bargain of Michigan rates is further shown by comparing rates paid by Detroit residents with those of other major cities.

The average 500 kilowatt hour customer of Detroit Edison and Consumers Power had a monthly bill of $8.84 in 1968. This compared with a cost for the same service of $15.76 in New York City; $18.74 in Florida; $12.81 in Boston and $12.80 in Chicago, he said.

Thursday, Jan. 16, 1936—

Sale of all merchandise stock and fixtures of Hindelang Hardware Co. to Merkel Bros. and Chelsea Hardware Co., took place Jan. 9 and plans are underway for a closing-out sale of the entire stock beginning Monday, Jan. 20.

C. D. Platt, manager of the Waterloo Federal Park project, addressed the Kiwanis club Monday, discussing in detail the purposes and plans for the development of this great park and playground.

He emphasized the fact that the project is primarily a "demonstration project" and not just another state park and that campsites will be prepared for lease to charitable or civic groups who care to sponsor youth activities.

The paving of the re-location of US-12 from Sylvan Center to Jackson is set for this summer. This leaves only the 4 1/2 miles between Lima Center and Sylvan Center to be acted upon, this being the stretch Chelsea and Sylvan people and farmers are opposed to as presently planned to, by-pass Chelsea a mile south of the present highway.

In the 24 Years Ago column (Jan. 18, 1912): Ralph Pierce has sold his farm in Lima to Indiana parties, the price paid being $65 per acre.

Estimated cost of installing adequate drain facilities for the southwest portion of Chelsea and nearby farm lands is approximately $119,000, according to engineers' reports to Drain Commissioner John H. Flook. The estimates were made as a result of the study of the situation following presentation last year of a petition for the so-called Wilkinson drain signed by area property owners.

The Chelsea freshmen basketball team again counted on a big fourth quarter to win as they racked up a 42-34 victory over a stubborn Brighton team.

Chelsea battled Brighton defiantly through the first three quarters, only to find themselves trailing 27-30 at the end of the third period. However, the Chelsea frosh outscored Brighton's freshmen, 16-4, in the final stanza to put the game out of reach.

The Bulldogs were led by Mark Policht who scored 7 points in the fourth quarter and by Dan Bertke and John Mann each with 3.

Policht hit on 9 of 13 shots from the charity stripe and flipped in two field goals for a total of 18 points. Dan Bertke banged home 11 points and Ron Conklin hit for 7. Other scorers for Chelsea were Bruce Guster, 5, John Mann, 4, and Dave Hanson, 2.

Cagers Lose to Saline by Jim Wojcicki with 11, Howie Treado 9, Ron Sweeney 7, Jeff Hughes and Art Farley with 6 each.

In rebounding, Chelsea was led by Ron Sweeney with 10, followed by Jim Wojcicki and Jeff Hughes with 7 each and Dave Conklin and Howie Treado with 5 each.

Chelsea and Saline scored even from the floor but Saline made 14 of 18 on the foul line to 7 of 20 for Chelsea.

JV Cagers Rally To Win Over Saline

Chelsea Junior Varsity basketball team picked up their sixth victory of the season Friday as they came from behind to defeat Saline, 58-47.

The Bullpup cagers trailed through much of the game but came up with a fourth quarter rally to down the Hornets.

Chelsea's passing sparked as the Bulldogs Junior Varsity made some fine feeds into the key. Mike Thompson, Todd Sprague, Greg Howard, and Tom Lixey all came up with some fine passes to their teammates.

Jeff Schmidt was the main benefactor from the Bulldogs' sharp passing as he tossed in 11 baskets and hit on two of four shots from the line for a high of 24 points. Greg Howard also hit in double figures as he tallied 13 counters.

Schmidt complimented his scoring outburst by grabbing 15 rebounds to lead Chelsea. Tom Lixey pulled down 11. Jeff Daniels also aided the Bullpup board game with 7 rebounds.

We had fortune tellers. They had tiny toys in them. Some of the toys were babies, nickels, glasses, screwdrivers, purses, autos and charms.

We must bring permission slips to the next meeting.

We closed our meeting with the Brownie Ring and Squeeze. Janet Walt, scribe.

Gun Control Act Eases Burden on Retail Dealer

Detroit—It is no longer necessary for dealers to keep records of certain ammunition sales, the Internal Revenue Service has revealed.

Newly enacted legislation eliminates the need for dealers to keep records on sales of shotgun ammunition, ammunition suitable only for use in rifles, and component parts of these types of ammunition. Purchases of ammunition interchangeable between rifles and handguns, such as .22 caliber rimfire ammunition, continue to be subject to the recordkeeping requirements.

IRS stressed, however, that no other aspect of the act, which is administered by the Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division of the IRS, was changed by the legislation.

Persons engaged in selling ammunition still are required to be licensed under the Act.

Anyone under 21 years of age cannot purchase handgun ammunition. Dealers must still require purchasers to identify themselves if there is doubt about their age.

Felons, persons under indictment for a felony, fugitives from justice, unlawful users of drugs, mental incompetents, and persons under 18 continue to be prohibited from purchasing ammunition of any type.

Eventually, of course, the money market will loosen and then the state will be able to move. But until that time comes, it is frustrating to have $485 million at your back and call and not be able to use it.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT

We live in what is considered an affluent society. Yet, for debatable reasons, our country's welfare costs have sky-rocketed. Our people are able, ready and willing to support a welfare program handled on a basis of need but realize it is difficult at times to determine who is worthy or unworthy for relief.

The problem dates back much farther than most people realize. While the socio-economic conditions were different from today, the Pilgrims faced it in colonial days with a strict dictum — "No work, no eat" . . . Their attitude was actually based on the Scriptures . . . Paul, for example, was a strong supporter of charity for the poor, but he objected to and condemned the able-bodied charity seekers who could but would not work. It might be well for welfare and relief officials to remember there is NOTHING in the Bible that approves or encourages charity to able-bodied people who are unwilling to work and think the "world owes them a living" . . . Former Elaine Eder Returns To Peace Corps Job in Uganda

Mrs. Joseph Durham, the former Elaine Eder, left Wednesday, Jan. 14, after spending a little more than two weeks here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Eder, and other relatives and friends. She had completed two years of service with the Peace Corps in Uganda and is returning there to rejoin her husband who is administrative associate for teacher education for East Africa. He is the assistant to the chief of party of Makerere University, Kampala, Uganda.

Their marriage took place Dec. 23 in Christ the King Catholic church in Kampala, Uganda, their attendants being Mrs. George (Esther) Angulo and Philip Acaze. A reception followed at the Grand Hotel.

Since her husband has completed only one year of his work in Africa, he could not accompany her home to attend the wedding of her sister, Cathy and James Schneider on Dec. 27.

Elaine's Peace Corps work was teaching at St. Katherine Girls' School approximately 200 miles from Kampala, the 130 to 150 students coming from the widely scattered, predominantly rural area. She explained that the school had only four teachers, three of them being Peace Corps volunteers. Although it is described as "a new school" it began operation in old buildings, under-equipped, short on library books, but gradually working toward standards set for the educational program. Desperately needed for the school is a set or two of the World Book Encyclopedia. This is preferable to more advanced sets because of its many illustrations and simpler language. The pictures are especially important because pictures are almost nonexistent in the area and when official tests are given students after completing certain levels of study they are shown pictures and asked to explain them. Naturally, this is difficult if they have not had an opportunity to see pictures before.

Elementary students must complete seven years of schooling before they take the official examination for that level. Students often do not attend school classes for consecutive years and many are 19 or 20 years old before completing the elementary grades. There is no compulsory education and no public schools. Those who attend must pay fees amounting to approximately $100 a year, and lack of money thus influences the number of years they can be in school.

The top 10 percent of students at this level are taken into secondary schools for a four-year course and then, after another official test, the top 10 percent go on to fifth and sixth-year secondary schools. Very few of these finally reach university levels. Only about 40 percent of children ever attend school at all.

The official language of Uganda is English and from about the third grade up, all classes are taught in English. At the secondary school level, which Elaine taught, there are nine compulsory subjects—English, Math, geography, history, physics, chemistry, biology, home economics (for girls) and Bible knowledge.

When asked how anyone might go about helping to supply badly needed books, Elaine said anyone who has a set of the World Book Encyclopedia to donate could simply send it by parcel post. The postage is all it would cost. It should be directed to:

St. Katherine Girls' School
P.O. Box 5, Lira, Uganda.

Anyone interested in helping supply other books could go to any reliable book store and purchase a gift certificate and send it to the same address. The school then could order a book (or books) which the teachers feel are appropriate. In this way the books may be obtained much more quickly than for the school to order them through regular channels—the orders sometimes being delayed as much as a year because of "red tape." Ten dollars would probably cover the cost of one of the needed books and shipping charges.

Elaine first met her husband when she was at Columbia University in New York City for her Peace Corps training. He was professional administrative assistant in the University's Peace Corps teacher training program. He had come to New York from Boise, Idaho, where his mother resides. His parents are Mrs. Rose Durham and the late Edgar Durham.

When Elaine left here Wednesday she went first to New York and then to London to visit a friend, leaving from London for the trip to Africa. She said she has been "frozen" ever since she arrived here and will be glad to get back to Uganda where the temperature is ideal the year round—between 65 and 85 degrees—and the days and nights remain the same all year.

Students Get Special Rate For Theatre

High school groups have been allocated a block of tickets at reduced rates by the Professional Theatre Program in Ann Arbor for its "Play of the Month" series in Hill Auditorium. The announced reduction is an extension of the PTP's reduced rates for high school groups for the APA Repertory Company productions. Last fall for the eighth year in succession the PTP was host to the APA company.

Regional high school audiences will recall the hits of the past few years, including "Fiddler on the Roof" and "Man of La Mancha" which PTP offered at reduced rates to the high schools. This year's series offers Broadway and Off-Broadway theatre. Opening on Jan. 23-24 will be "Rosenkrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead." A new winning musical "Cabaret" will be offered Feb. 4-5.

"The Price" by Arthur Miller, author of "Death of a Salesman," "The Crucible," and others will be Feb. 24-25. "I Do! I Do!" the musical version of "The Four Posters" starring the comedy team of Phil Ford and Mimi Hines will play March 12-13. Climaxing the series will be "Your Own Thing" March 18-19, which is a rock musical version of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night."

Teachers and parents interested in securing tickets at special high school rates may contact Mrs. Alex Haynes, PTP high school representative at Lydia Mendelsohn Theatre in Ann Arbor, or by phone at 764-0450.

Tiger Pitcher Earl Wilson has a lifetime record of 20-8 against the Orioles.

Jaycees Plan Events for 50th Anniversary

Jaycees across the nation are celebrating their 50th anniversary with Jaycee Week, which here in Chelsea will begin Sunday, Jan. 18 and continue through Jan. 24, according to Walter Brown, president of the Chelsea Jaycees.

Founder's Day, Thursday, Jan. 22, will be celebrated in innumerable ways around the country as Jaycees pay tribute to Henry "Hy" Giessemer, and to the men who initiated their respective local chapters.

In 1910, Giessemer had a vision of young men being involved in their communities, according to Jaycee publications, and formed the Herculaneum Dance Club in St. Louis, Mo. At that time in the nation's history, they were concerned over preserving more conservative dance steps, such as the two-step, and preventing the serving of liquor at public dances.

Chelsea Jaycees have outlined a number of projects for themselves, reports Brown, to realize that purpose. Among these are an extension of the Manchester chapter of the Jaycees. Work with the Village of Chelsea and Dana Corp., on the expansion of Veteran's park is another effort.

Jaycees are ready to work with the state and the village to put up large community markers at the village limits on M-52 to inform motorists on the Village of Chelsea.

Another project in the offing is a community survey, approved by the village council and the Chelsea Planning Commission, to survey the likes and dislikes of the residents on various community endeavors.

The Jaycees also are planning to work with the Chelsea Fair Board on the addition of a civic or community center for Chelsea.

Tyskiewicz will be giving one of the talks at the assembly on Sunday afternoon, Jan. 18, it being titled, "The Implanting of the Word." This talk and others on the program will consist of points of instruction and narratives of the Bible and its application to modern day living.

TODDY and FRAN

Is there a duller time of year? Probably not. And there's no more appropriate time for whisking away the doldrums with a "complete overhaul"—at the beauty salon, we mean, of course. It's the next best thing to a vacation in Acapulco; a rejuvenating hair style, coloring perhaps, permanent if you need it; you won't believe what this will do to your morale until you try it. And if you want to REALLY boost your spirits, invest in one of our inexpensive whimsical wigs for those worst days—when both your hair and your disposition are drooping (you'd be surprised how simultaneously that happens).

STOP! reads the sign on the flags that the safety patrols at South school carry when they are on duty at the cross walk—and yet not all motorists do. According to Principal Sylvester Wojcicki, two children were narrowly missed by a car Dec. 18. Students wish to do all they can to avoid an accident. The patrols shown here, Ted Speer (left) and John Toon hold the youngsters back until it is safe for them to cross the walk. When the crossing is clear, the two boys walk out and hold the signs against potential oncoming traffic.

Measles Vaccine Program Seeks To Eliminate Measles

On Thursday, Jan. 29 there will be an opportunity for school aged youngsters to be vaccinated against rubella, the strain of measles which has been responsible for certain birth defects when it is transmitted to women of child bearing age.

Since school age children are the victims and carriers of this disease, the vaccine was developed with the idea of preventing the disease in youngsters and thereby eliminating the possibility of pregnant women coming in contact with rubella.

The Washtenaw County Health department, which is conducting the Chelsea clinic along with the March of Dimes Foundation, recommends immunization even though a child may have had the measles, since it is extremely difficult to distinguish the rubella strain.

The vaccine will be given in the Chelsea schools only with the permission of the individual parents. Written authorization sheets are being made available to parents of those eligible. These should be completed with parent signature and returned to the schools. Parents are being asked to complete the form even though they may not want their child to be immunized.

Rubella tends to become an epidemic disease every five to seven years. The spring of 1970, according to health department officials, is seen as the start of the next two-year peak period. Previous epidemics were recorded in 1964-65 and in 1958-59. The 1964 epidemic killed about 30,000 babies and crippled an estimated 20,000, according to the health department. It was the biggest outbreak in a generation. In Michigan, the epidemic left 370 killed or severely crippled, according to the estimates of the U. S. Public Health Service.

Rubella attacks unborn children through the mother. If she catches the virus anytime in early pregnancy, the odds are her baby may die, or may live with gross congenital defects. The extreme danger is that this disease is most damaging, say health department officials, during those early weeks of pregnancy when many women do not realize they are pregnant.

Since youngsters in the early grades are the potential carriers of this disease to other members of the family, thus beginning a chain of the disease in the community, this age group has been selected as the priority group, and these boys and girls are eligible for the free vaccine.

There are some who should not receive the vaccine. These are youngsters who are sensitive to chicken or duck, chicken or duck eggs or feathers, or the antibiotic neomycin. In addition, young people who have a fever or a cold, or who have been, or are being, treated for asthma, cancer, leukemia, or tuberculosis, or who are receiving cortisone.

This vaccine should not be given within one month before or after another vaccination, the health people say.

Reactions to expect following the vaccination will include mild fever, possible redness or swelling and tenderness at the site of the injection, but this is rare, the authorities explain. Occasionally, there may be some swelling of the glands under the arm. If the reaction is troublesome, parents are advised to consult their doctor.

For specific information about the times of the vaccine for children in the Chelsea schools, the individual school should be contacted.

MEMBER MONUMENT GROUP President Nixon has named General Mark W. Clark as one of the six new members of the American Battle Monuments Commission. The commission maintains memorials and armed forces burial grounds in foreign countries.

After studying observations made by the first year of the space agency's Orbiting Astronomical Observatory, astronomers say the universe may be several times larger than previously believed. Some astronomers rank the orbiting of OAO2 in importance with the invention of the telescope.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

by GARY A. KLEINHENN
Michigan Farm Bureau

Census Nonsense

Government is like a long lost relative for most farmers. It's one that comes out of nowhere and once here rarely leaves even when presented a real clear invitation, like a wide open door and Dad's big shoe for a kicker.

One example is the three and one-half million or more Census of Agriculture forms in the mail to the homes of the nation's farmers. The census, taken every five years for farmers and every 10 years for others, is more like a preliminary draft to sign over the family business.

Questions more appropriately left to the Internal Revenue or crop reporting services are now demanded by the Census Bureau such as: acres harvested, irrigated, and how much fertilizer used; amount harvested; commodities grown; how much money received from the sale of forest products; volume of livestock sales; report of business; any agreement to produce farm products; report of machinery and equipment on the farm regardless of who owns it and on and on.

The questions are mandatory and threaten 60 days in jail or a $100 fine or both to the farmer who refuses to fill in the blanks.

There's something kind-of eerie about government having a book on everyone—maybe it's because it represents too much power. The information is said to be held in confidence, however, the best confidential material is kept down on the farm. If the government really needs all those statistics, let's have it controlled by the local people and not the federal government. Decentralized power is still the firmest policy.

One idea stirring in national legislative circles supports limiting mandatory answers to seven basic questions, which include name, male or female, date of birth, marital status. Any other information would be voluntary.

If it's agricultural trends the government believes it must know, then a solution could be random surveys sampling techniques on a voluntary basis. Just imagine, lessons could be taken from television pollsters, as many of the programs are about the same (sic). It may be too late to do anything about the census this year, but certainly there's time to work on that "invitation" for government before the next census roll around.

Classes Vie For Pep Week Honors at CHS

"We Love You Bulldogs" posters have been plastered on the halls of Chelsea High school for Pep Week, which started Monday, Jan. 12 and will terminate Friday, Jan. 16 with the basketball games between Dexter and Chelsea that night. The junior varsity game will begin at 6:30 p.m. and the varsity game at 8 p.m.

Pep Week in the high school is a tradition before the Dexter game. Each of the classes competes for the class with the most pep.

Last year the class of '71 won the honors. Karen Reynolds, of the Class of '71, explained that because of their victory last year they're "all steamed up to win again."

The competition includes signs, card sections and any other activity that the members of the class can come up with to transmit spirit.

Winners of the week-long competition will be announced during the half-time intermission of the varsity game.

The games will be held in the Chelsea High school gymnasium.

Consumers Power Working on Pipeline To Fenton Area

Workers have nearly completed the unloading of some 400 carloads of 40-foot sections of pipe near Oak Grove (north of Howell) in preparation for the construction of a 38-mile gas transmission pipeline from Chelsea to the Fenton area by Consumers Power Co.

The 36-inch pipeline will be laid through portions of Washtenaw and Livingston counties at a cost of $14 million. It will provide increased natural gas service for customers in Consumers Power's Jackson, Flint, and Lansing divisions as well as adding to the company's fuel transmission capability to more than 800,000 gas users in Michigan's Lower Peninsula.

The pipe is being welded into 80-foot sections at the Oak Grove location to facilitate operations once actual construction of the line begins in June. Completion of the project is expected late in 1970.

Snowmobile Events Top Busy Wintertime Michigan Sports Calendar

'Snowmobile races or safaris? Skating championships? All-around winter carnivals or festivals? Speed skating? Dog sled races? What's your preference for wintertime activity, either as a spectator or participant?

Whatever it may be, chances are you'll find it among more than 40 top events scheduled by Michigan communities through next March, according to Jerry E. Fisher, Auto Club touring manager. Skating, snowmobile events, dog sled races, ski jumping contests, ice-fishing, carnivals, a variety of shows, even a sports car ice run—all are included on the state's winter events calendar.

Snowmobile gatherings, either for races or safaris, top the list with at least 16. There's at least one scheduled each week throughout the winter.

A dozen or more all-around winter carnivals also are on tap, Fisher said.

Among the top three Michigan Snowmobile Association sanctioned races is the Thunder Bay 250-mile race, scheduled at the Alpena County Fairgrounds Race Track on Jan. 17. Officials expect 250 machines to qualify for the event before the qualifying cut-off time at 4 p.m. Jan. 13.

The top 35 qualifying speeds will be eligible to compete in the 250-mile, 500-lap race for $4,500 in cash prizes; plus additional merchandise awards. The top 15 finishers will share the purse, with $1,100 in cash going to first place. The Thunder Bay event is limited to 15 inches and wider tracks and under 400cc engines' ratings to insure widest possible competition.

The 20th annual Tip-Up Town USA, one of the top 10 winter carnivals in the country, will be followed by the Tip-Up Town Grand Prix for snowmobilers the next week-end, Jan. 24-25.

The Tip-Up Town USA carnival is a fun-filled tribute to a variety of winter activities, including a Medalion hunt, parade, ice sculpturing, contests, races, carnival of fun on the ice, helicopter rides, banquet and queen's ball and coronation. There will also be additional features this year, such as acrobatic stunt flying on Jan. 17 and sky diving the following day.

Cadillac has scheduled a National Ice and Snow Festival for

Jan. 10-17. The week-long program includes dog sled races, queen's contest and dance, figure skating, sled races, torch parade, amateur snowmobile races, ice fishing, snow sculpture and skiing at all winter resorts.

The Clare County Winter Sports Carnival in Clare-Harrison-Farwell Jan. 28-30, boasts a variety of unique activities from square dancing on the ice to winter golf played in the snow.

Alpena also will be the scene of the Northeastern Michigan Speedskating Championships, Feb. 14-16, with about 150 speedskaters expected to participate. Speedskating events have been held in Alpena for nearly 40 years.

A top event in the Upper Peninsula is the International 500 Snowmobile Classic at Sault Ste. Marie, a sanctioned race on Feb. 7. Others include the Michigan Tech. Winter Carnival at Houghton-Hancock, Feb. 6-7, and the Grand Prix Snowmobile Derby at Marquette, Feb. 18-19.

The Traverse Winter Carnival, in and around Traverse City, Feb. 20-22, calls itself a carnival that will offer everything that's fun and is done in winter. It includes a 250-mile sanctioned snowmobile race with $15,000 in prize money.

March events include a ski carnival at Freeland, March. 6, Snowmobile Championship Races at East Jordan, set tentatively for March 7-8, and the Sugarloaf Village Spring Carnival, March 13-15.

DONKEY BASKETBALL

Faculty vs. Varsity Club
SATURDAY, FEB. 7

Chelsea High Gym - 8 p.m.

The "CRAZIEST SHOW ON EARTH" comes to town on February 7th at 8:00 p.m., when it's men vs. donkeys, at Chelsea High School Gym. The opposing teams will be Faculty and Varsity Club members in a game sponsored by the Varsity Club.

The donkeys will be stubborn, as usual—sometimes a little contrary, and to put it mildly, sometimes a bit uncooperative. The rules of the game are that you can only shoot while sitting on the donkey and recover loose balls while holding on to the donkey. This is where the fun comes in. About the time a player goes to shoot, the donkey decides he has been on his back too long. The local "cowboy" will then show his skill as a rodeo star. Trying to move the donkey two or three inches when going after a loose ball, can sometimes seem like a city block. It will be a real challenge to the local men of strength. There will be thrills, spills, laughs, and more laughs. The local drug stores will sell their liniment stocks the day after the game. It's fun for members of the entire family. It's the basketball game of the year, where everyone goes home laughing.

Travelogue Film Makes Tour of Holland in Spring

Kiwanis Club of Chelsea will present the next program of its "Travel and Adventure Series" Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Chelsea High school auditorium. The featured artist will be Robert Brouwer, who will present an unusual travelogue, "Spring Captures Holland."

Robert Brouwer is a resident of Grand Rapids, where he has been in the electrical contracting business for several years. Many years ago he embarked on the hobby of photography and his first slides were enjoyed by friends and neighbors. Many of his slides won national acclaim from all who saw them. The encouragement of his friends and experts prompted him to produce a finished slide program.

For the first program, Brouwer produced he used one screen and one projector. Later, he used two screens and two projectors. Now he has developed a revolutionary and unique presentation in which he uses three screens and four projectors. He also incorporates hi-fidelity stereophonic equipment and music and sound effects recorded on-the-spot. He carries his own equipment, which takes a considerable amount of time to set up in each auditorium.

Brouwer's program has sometimes been referred to as a movie-slide presentation. He has presented the unusual program in some of the largest auditoriums in the country. Recently, the travel officials of the country of Holland commissioned him to produce a similar travelogue on the Netherlands, underwriting all his expenses—an unprecedented arrangement in the travelogue field. Some have remarked, "On a par with Cinerama."
