

Farm Museum Shows Pioneer Life

Have you ever imagined what it was like to live on a Michigan farm in the pioneer days of the latter half of the 19th century? To give your imagination a little help, try visiting the Waterloo Area Farm Museum, 9998 Waterloo-Munith Rd., any afternoon from 1-4 p.m., except on Mondays.

The farm museum offers anyone curious a chance to go back in time and visualize how life was for local inhabitants 100 years ago. With painstaking care, co-directors Mrs. S. A. (Harriet) Beckwith and Mrs. Carl E. (Edna) Burkland have restored the old farm with voluntary help and donations from area residents and the Waterloo Area Historical Society members.

For a nominal fee, a guide, in a long traditional dress complete with authentic white bonnet takes you through a 10-room, completely furnished farm house, explaining how families used to survive without any of today's labor saving conveniences. Guides will also point out the outside bake house, stone milk cellar, ice house and windmill, answering questions as you go.

The house itself was built in 1854 by the Ruehle family who had emigrated from a town in Germany near Stuttgart in 1844. Additions were added to the original structure until 1885 which accounts for the disparity of architectural styles in different sections.

Jacob Ruehle married a neighbor farm girl and served in the Civil War where his German name was changed by the recruiting officer to an Irish sounding name, Really. The new Jacob Really could not write so the soldier spelled it the way it sounded. Jacob and his wife had seven children: Charlie, John, Daniel, Albert, Sophie, Mary and Ida. Ida is the present Mrs. Schumacher and the only one surviving.

Before the death of the last of the brothers, the farm became the property of the State Conservation Department. After the death an auction was held and the department razed the barns and cider mill across the road. Before the house could be destroyed, members of the Parks Division of the department, the Director of the State Historical Museum and the manager of the Waterloo Recreation Area made an appeal to interested persons in the area to see if there were those who would form a Historical Society to restore and run the house, as a museum. This occurred in January of 1962.

Two large meetings in the Stockbridge Town Hall produced the Waterloo Area Historical Society, organized primarily to make a living museum of the Really House. This museum was to be a memorial to the Michigan pioneer farmer.

After years of neglect because of old age and illness in the family, the old place was overgrown with waist-high grass and weeds. Many windows were broken, doors stolen, shutters sagging, and inside the falling plaster was held together chiefly by the tattered wallpaper.

There was little money for repairs; only the two dollar memberships and the contributions of a number of kind-hearted individuals who gave in memory of their pioneer ancestors. So the money was carefully laid out for materials, a carpenter when absolutely necessary, and also for painting the exterior. Board members on faith signed notes at the bank to tide over until the money came in.

All the yard work, plastering, paint scraping, papering, interior painting, and refinishing of furniture has been done lovingly by volunteer labor.

All the furnishings, furniture, dishes, glass, pictures, etc., came from homes and attics of area residents, family heirlooms given generously to make the old house come alive.

And come alive it has to the delight of thousands who walk through the authentically restored house every summer, from Memorial Day to Labor Day. In 1967, the unique value of this farm museum was recognized when it was honored with the Michigan Week Regional Award for a community project.

When you enter the house by way of the shed door, probably the most used entrance to the house, you are confronted with high piles of wood against the wall for use in heating stoves to warm the homestead through the cold winter months. The shed is filled with various dated items popular a century ago; there is even a fine wooden shoulder balance used to carry two buckets of water simultaneously from the well.

Moving next into the kitchen, there is the kitchen sink used for washing up, not for dishwashing as we are used to today. Dishwashing was done in dishpans on the kitchen stove in winter and in the pantry in summer. Central to the kitchen was the big, black kitchen stove. The museum has an authentic one, complete with various irons on top used for pressing clothes.

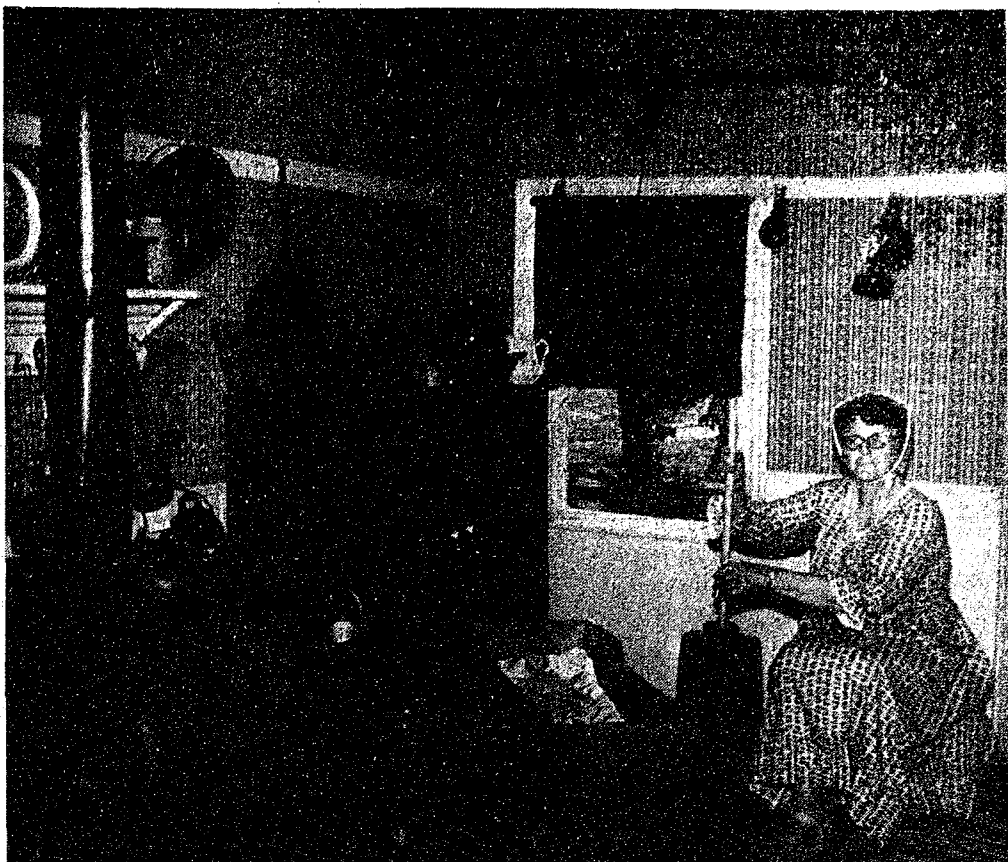

A casual glance around the kitchen will bring to mind the old medicine bottles—cure-alls for every ailment under the sun, a milk safe which is a screened-in cupboard, old cookbooks, a wooden dasher churn, and on the wall the important muzzle-loader, powder horn and shot bag.

Adjacent to the kitchen is a well-stocked pantry, quite large for its time, where baked goods were prepared from the abundant flour bin and sugar barrel. Dishes and tableware are dried and stored here in pass-through drawers so the dining room table could be set from the other side.

The main focus in the dining room is the extension table with its extra leaves that could be stretched to accommodate anyone who happened to arrive near mealtime. When the family meal was over the dining room commonly became the center of the family activities; the long table providing a place for father to spread his newspaper, for mother to lay out her quilt blocks, and for the children to do their lessons, while the marvelous hanging lamp shed light over all.

Notable in the dining room are the hand-woven carpets and hand-made reversible damask cloth covers for the table and couch. There was one pattern woven on the cloth for winter use and a lighter pattern on the other side for summer. Pictures and wreaths decorate the walls, and the museum even has one hair wreath—intricately woven designs made from real hair.

In the next room, the sitting room, is a fine, old, still used (Continued on page seven)

PIONEER KITCHEN: Mrs. Harold Walz, 12370 Waterloo Rd., sits in the Farm Museum kitchen at the butter churn. Above her are the muzzle loading musket and powder horn of the early pioneer; at her feet, the cradle which allowed her to keep an eye on the baby while she worked; to her right, the milk safe; and in front of her, the big black iron stove with an authentic collection of kettles and irons.

Sewer System Extension Vote Set for Sept. 21

Overload on Existing Lines Has Forced Moratorium on Extensions

At Tuesday night's Village Council meeting, a resolution was adopted calling for a special election to be held Monday, Sept. 21, to submit to the people a general obligation bond proposition to acquire and construct improvements and extensions to the sanitary sewer system for the Village of Chelsea at an estimated cost of $500,000.

It was determined a year ago that a new sewer system consisting of trunk sewers, force mains and pumping stations would be needed for two main reasons. First, the existing sewer system was built in 1929 and its capacity has been reached. This was determined by village engineers and consulting engineers Finkbeiner, Pettis & Strout of Toledo, O. Second, in the last four or five years several areas west and east of Chelsea have been annexed which the village administrator believes are entitled to sewers. The existing line doesn't reach these areas and if it did it still wouldn't be adequate.

A year-long moratorium has been declared since last summer prohibiting the addition of any

Powers Appointed To Fill Vacancy On School Board

Harold C. Powers was appointed July 2 by the Chelsea Board of Education to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Edward E. Lewis. Powers, who had just completed a four-year term, was the next highest vote receiver in the last election.

The appointment will take effect on July 13, and extend until the next annual election in June 1971.

Wheat Harvest Should Start About July 18

This year's wheat harvest should be in around the latter part of next week, according to Manager Ron Satterthwaite of Blaess Elevator Co. He predicts July 18 as his day for the first bushel to be turned in.

However, the rain we have been having lately directly affects when the wheat can be harvested. Wheat needs hot, dry weather to develop properly. If the temperature is high over the next few days, the wheat may be ready sooner, but if the rain continues, it may push the harvest date to the week of July 20.

Satterthwaite mentioned that he expects some shrunken wheat due to wet weather when the head was forming on the wheat. But all in all, he expects a good yield of about 45 bushels per acre. He hopes for an improvement over the last two years when wet weather before and during harvest time caused a fairly low yield.

Village Street Improvements Underway

As part of the 1970 Street Improvement Program, various local streets are being resurfaced at a cost of about $13,907.50. This price may vary due to the amount of asphalt tonnage needed to cover the damaged areas.

As of Monday, July 6, the resurfacing of Taylor St. from Pierce St. to Lincoln St., on Congdon St. from Summit St. to South St., and on the entire length of Filmore St., E. North St., and Harrison St.

By the end of next week, the contractors will have resurfaced Wilkinson St., the alley between Madison St. and East St., the parking lot on N. Main St. adjacent to the railroad tracks next to Frigid Products, and numerous other little patches.

The resurfacing of Wilkinson St. will be started as soon as the Village Public Works crew digs out the damaged area, according to Frederick A. Weber, village administrator.

President Fulks on the behalf of the Village Council extended their gratitude to the Chelsea Auxiliary Police for their time and effort freely given while working with the Chelsea Police Department and at other area functions.

Trustee Musbach read a summary of the Fire Department activity for the months of May and June as submitted by Chief Gaken.

Motion by Musbach, supported by Gorton, to authorize and direct the Clerk to issue checks in payment of bills as submitted. Roll call: Yeas all. Motion carried.

Motion by Gorton, supported by Musbach, to adjourn. Roll call: Yeas all. Motion carried. Meeting adjourned.

Balloon Released in Illinois Found on W. Rothfuss Farm

Neil Rothfuss, 10115 Liberty Rd., found a card released at Butterfield Park in Elmhurst, Ill., with a helium balloon. The card was released Friday, July 3, and Neil found it on the morning of July 4 in the field of the farm of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rothfuss.

Civic Leader Donald Bacon Dies Suddenly

Had Been Prominent Community Industrialist, Benefactor for Years

Donald H. Bacon, one of Chelsea's most prominent citizens for many years, died unexpectedly at 11:55 p.m. Saturday, July 4, at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor. He had been taken to the hospital after becoming suddenly ill at his home, 540 Barton Shore Dr., Ann Arbor. He was 75 years old.

Founder and president of Central Fibre Products Co., he retired May 31, 1969. The business was sold May 31, 1964, to the Avis Industrial Corp., and Bacon remained in an advisory capacity after the purchase.

Central Fibre was organized Aug. 6, 1920, by Bacon, his father, Jabez Bacon, and Howard Holmes, Sr., of Chelsea Milling Co. From humble beginnings making paper twine for tying sheep fleeces and cord for furniture manufacturers, the company expanded through the years to a firm with assets of $1.5 million and annual sales of twice that amount to three major automotive manufacturers.

Central Fibre Co. now occupies an entire block on N. Main St. north from the Penn-Central Railroad. This includes the Chelsea landmark clock tower building.

In the early days of the company, Bacon continued operation of an insurance agency in Detroit to supplement his income while the newly-formed Fibre Co. was getting started.

At the time of his death he was president of Bacon Industries, a holding company, with nationwide interests, particularly in Michigan and Arizona, with a central office in Chelsea.

He formerly had business interests in Tucson, Ariz., and at the time of his retirement from Central Fibre last year was still connected with the Kreuger Manufacturing Co. there. He maintained a home in Tucson as well as Ann Arbor from 1941 until 1950. Bacon was a member of the Congregational United Church of Christ in Chelsea; Olive Lodge No. 156, F&AM, and also a life member and 50-year member of the lodge; a member of the Harmonie Club of Detroit; the Emeritus Club of the University of Michigan; Herbert J. McKune Post No. 31, American Legion; and was a member of the Board of Trustees of Olivet College since 1952 and had served as vice-chairman of the board.

His community interests included assistance to CAP, an organization providing employment for handicapped persons, and was chairman of its recent fund-raising program. He also was instrumental in the acquisition of the former Beach rural school on Chelsea-Dexter Rd. as a permanent location for the Chelsea Co-Operative Nursery as a memorial to Florence Howlett, a long-time Chelsea schoolteacher, and was active in assisting with scholarship funds benefiting Chelsea High school students as well as assisting many young people to attend college.

He was a veteran of World War I. He enlisted in Ann Arbor on March 20, 1918, and served with Medical Corps AEF in France and was discharged June 28, 1919.

Born in Chelsea, March 18, 1895, he was a son of Jabez and Eliza Hook Bacon. He graduated from Chelsea High school, attended Olivet College and was a graduate of the University of Michigan, class of 1920.

He was married Aug. 16, 1926, in Detroit to Jerry Marie Houghton and lived in Detroit where a branch plant of Central Fibre was started. When that plant closed the Bacons returned to Ann Arbor.

Survivors are the widow; a daughter, Mrs. Kelley (Sally) Rollings of Tucson, Ariz.; four grandchildren; several nieces and nephews; two brothers and three sisters, George Bacon of Fort Wayne, Ind., John Bacon of Empire, Mrs. Henry C. (Marie) Schneider of Chelsea, Mrs. Harris (Dorothy) Fletcher of Urbana, Ill., and Mrs. Norman E. (Edith) Phelps of Coldwater. A son, Donald, Jr., died in an automobile accident Dec. 11, 1948.

He also had four sisters and two brothers who are deceased: Mrs. Fred (Mabel) Dewey, Mrs. H. C. (Nell) Schneider, Mrs. Samuel (Anne) Schulz, Miss Grace Bacon, Reynolds Bacon, and Benjamin Bacon.

Services were held at 2 p.m. Wednesday, July 8, at the Congregational church, with the Rev. Daniel Kolin officiating, assisted by Dr. Gorton Rietmiller and Harold A. Jones. Cremation followed. Memorial contributions may be made to Children's Library, Olivet College, Olivet. Arrangements were by Staffan Funeral Home,

RETURNING HOME: The Rev. and Mrs. Douglas Schneider and children are returning to Chelsea for what they consider a "furlough" from India where they began a community development program in a new language area in the State of Orissa. Karen Schneider will return with the two youngest children July 23; and the Rev. Schneider will return with oldest son, Benjamin, Aug. 19 after visiting the Rev. Schneider's twin brother in Alaska. The family will be living with the Rev. Schneider's mother, Mrs. Lewis Schneider, 219 Railroad St. (See story on page six.)

Washington Report by Congressman MARVIN L. ESCH

The growing emergence of high quality private trade and technical schools is a development of long-standing significance for the United States. It means we are somewhat closer to getting the technicians we desperately need while altering our educational system to better fit individual needs.

This represents some shift from the predominant view of recent decades that every high school student must be treated as a potential academic scholar.

It was former Health, Education and Welfare Secretary John W. Gardner who said, "The society which scorns excellence in plumbing because plumbing is a humble activity and tolerates shoddiness in philosophy because it is an exalted activity will have neither good plumbing nor good philosophy. Neither its pipes nor its theories will hold water."

The Bureau of Labor Statistics projects the largest proportional increase in employment opportunities in the Seventies among professional and technical workers. That projection shows an increase of almost 40 percent for this group over the figures for the 1960's. Job openings for technicians are expected to exceed 100,000 a year in the next decade.

Perhaps the only way we will bring about a proper concern for vocational education is to split off the entire educational structure from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and combine it with the manpower training functions of the Labor Department to form a new Department of Education and Manpower.

I recommended such action last year—in part to realize these related activities into a more meaningful federal department—and in part to make the huge and complex Department of Health, Education and Welfare manageable for the first time.

ON WELFARE, BUT WEALTHY
 Sacramento, Calif.—Mrs. Henry Shinden, a 77-year-old widow, who had been receiving $157.44 a month in welfare for four years, died recently leaving a fortune. She had $6,000 saved in her pockets, $44,000 in two bank accounts and owned her home valued at about $9,000.

The deficiency disease beriberi got its name from a word meaning "I cannot" because its victims felt too ill to do anything.

Methods Criticized
 Michigan may have the most unusual method of picking its Supreme Court members of any state in the union.

Candidates for the court are picked in political conventions held after the primary in August. In November the candidates then are placed on nonpartisan ballots and selected on a theoretically nonpartisan basis.

This is, according to a high court member who is seeking reelection this year, "probably the poorest method in the nation" for selecting members of the court. Former Chief Justice John R. DeWitt, when asked about the Michigan method, said, "I think it's a very poor system."

Many other members of the legal fraternity, as well as DeWitt, have been pushing for years for adoption of the Missouri plan for selection of judges.

Under the Missouri plan, judges from the state Supreme Court on down to the district court level are nominated by a commission made up of persons appointed to it by the courts, the bar association and the Governor. The commission nominates three persons for any judicial vacancy which occurs, and the Governor then names one of the three nominees to the post.

After a period of time, the person appointed as judge is placed on an election ballot along with the question, "Shall this judge be continued in office?" If the majority of voters say yes, then he is retained. If they say no, he is out.

"That system takes the judges out of politics and the politics out of the judges, so to speak," DeWitt said. "I have gone around thinking that for quite a few years. I did it for quite a long time, but I wasn't successful."

The constitutional convention is responsible for the current selection method. The committee handling the question of election of judges was able to agree on a nonpartisan election of judges.

But it deadlocked on how to nominate judges and finally decided to leave it up to the Legislature. The Legislature also de-

Farm Program Payments Close to Early Schedule

Approximately 75 percent of the 1970 farm program payments earned by producers in Washtenaw county have been made, according to Earl Doletsky, chairman of the Washtenaw County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee.

"Thanks to the fine co-operation of participating farmers, we are well on the way to completing payments in the Feed Grain and Wheat programs. The U. S. Department of Agriculture this year made a commitment to make farm payments earlier than ever before—and we are keeping that commitment," he said.

The ASC committee chairman said that in previous years partial payments had been made in advance to Feed Grain participants. Budget restraints this year made it impossible to make any farm payments before July 1, the beginning of the Government's fiscal year.

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Afore the fellers took up the regular agender of news of the week at the country store Saturday night, they was a short discussion of Independence Day and a full endorsement of the United States of America. Ed Doolittle and Clem Webster, that usual is on opposite ends of ever issue, was happy to stand solid agreed in what Clem called "a show of unity that goes beyond party lines and personalities."

Ed said they is a lot going wrong with this country of ours, but the old USA still has more going right than any society ever has. Farthermore, Ed allowed, most of the problems in this country right now we brought on ourselves by trying to help one another and everybody else in the world that's in trouble.

The fellers was full agreed with Ed. Clem said it done his old heart good to read about the demonstrations being held in support of our country this week. He said times has changed since he was a boy and the Fourth was just about the most exciting day of the year except Christmas. He said folks change their way of celebrating, but he was happy to see they still is some that don't mind standing up and being counted as a man that loves his country.

No country in history, allowed Ed, ever has shared her wealth like the United States, and no nation ever has had more to share. No society ever has tried to come face to face with problems like we have, Ed went on, and he reckoned no society ever has had more trouble solving em.

Michigan Leads Nation in Move Restricting DDT

Michigan led, and the federal government and the rest of the nation followed, in taking action against DDT. A report released from the White House on Nov. 20 bears this out. It suggests federal action almost identical to that taken about six months ago in Michigan.

In April, 1969, the Michigan Commission of Agriculture moved to cancel DDT registrations and placed manufacturers and distributors on notice that the action would become effective June 27. Certain minor uses connected with human health needs were allowed. Michigan became the first state to take this type of action in curtailing use of the persistent insecticide.

On Nov. 20, the White House press office released a report of President Nixon's Environmental Quality Council with national recommendations paralleling the previous DDT action in Michigan.

The President's report recommended that DDT be restricted in use, but that exceptions be made where the material is needed for prevention of human disease. This action has been taken in Michigan.

The federal report indicated that restrictions on DDT be based in part on the availability of effective alternative controls. This was the basis of the DDT action last spring in Michigan.

The White House report recommended a new inter-agency agreement to strengthen co-operative action in protecting the environment from pesticide hazards. The Michigan Department of Agriculture initiated such an agreement in Michigan early this year, with state departments of health, natural resources and water resources co-operating.

Don Turner Stops To Renew Many Alaskan Friendships

Don Turner dates his fourth letter June 23, from Coho, Alaska, as he continues on his journey through the Northwest.

Dear Readers:

Since my last report including Watson Lake, Yukon, I have been doing some extensive traveling. I am sorry I didn't get this to you in time for publication last week, but through my socializing with the many fine people I have met in my traveling to this great land, I have been quite busy.

I stopped at Teslin Lake and met old friends Wesley and Betty Doe, who run the Fox Point Lodge and Guide Service. There is good lake trout fishing here. Whitehorse, the capital of the Yukon, is still booming with an increase of 1,500 since 1968, and still growing. Much oil and mineral explorations are going on here and in the vicinity.

Haines Junction was as pretty as ever with the snow capped mountains looking down from all sides from part of the St. Elias Range. I spent a night at Katlens Lake (pictured) about 17 miles from Haines Junction at the free campground and met old friends from Michigan.

I pushed on toward the Alaskan border, stopping occasionally to fish for arctic grayling, a very hard-fighting fish. I caught enough for my dinner on two occasions. At the Canadian Customs at Beaver Creek, Yukon, I met an old friend formerly of Dawson City, Yukon, Walter Denham, customs officer. He had been transferred to Beaver Creek from Dawson City where I met him in 1966 at the Kiwanis Club. We had quite a chat and renewed old times.

I stopped several times along the way for a day or so. From Tok Junction to Palmer over the Glenn Highway and Richardson Highway, I stopped several times to fish and explore the possibilities of big game hunting at Herbert Fassler's Lodge. Herb, or "Whitey" (see picture) as he is known, has a fine place. He flies hunters to remote areas and guarantees shooting for moose, caribou, dall sheep, and grizzly bears.

I spent a few days in Anchorage and looked up some friends I had made on my previous trips. Visited Dean Fowler and family, son of Jack and Dorothy Fowler. Dean has been here in Alaska for a number of years and is now a taxi driver in Anchorage.

From Anchorage, I drove the Seward Highway to the junction of the Sterling Highway then on toward Homer on the Kenai Peninsula, stopping off at Coopers Landing to do some fishing for sockeye salmon. The salmon run had just started and it seemed as if half of the population of Alaska was there trying their luck along with all the tourists. I saw quite a few salmon caught but it was a bit crowded for my taste so I didn't catch any. (See picture)

I then drove on to Coho, Alaska, where I looked up friends I had met on the Alaska Highway in 1968, Glenn and Lee Bragg who settled here at Coho after touring Alaska that year. (See picture) The Braggs are originally from the lower 48 but have the pioneer spirit. They both love the outdoors. Hunting and fishing seems to be their main recreation. They have built a new log home on the Coho Loop Rd., where it is real quiet and the wild creatures are all about. I spent three delightful days with the Braggs, and met many of their friends and neighbors. Glenn is a carpenter and cabinet maker and has built the log home all by himself. Of course, Lee, his wife, had quite a hand in it also.

The Braggs guided me to Clam Gulch where people congregate week-ends to dig for razor clams. Digging for clams is a lot of fun as well as rewarding. When the tide is low one can dig a bucket full in no time once you learn what to look for. Razor clams are delicious cooked as chowder or fried. Paul HERBERT FASSLER, big game guide encountered by Don Turner, poses beside the record grizzly bear. His gun sight mountain lodge at Milepost 123 on the Glenn Highway near Palmer, Alaska, is the take-off point for Herb's air trips to remote hunting areas.

Schroyer (see picture) posed for me with his bucket of clams. It was with a degree of sadness I said so long to the Braggs. It isn't every day one meets such hospitable people, and Lee's cooking, like home-made bread and pies made from the wild fruits that grow in the area, is something to behold. Imagine a meal of roasted moose, baked salmon, smoked salmon, mashed potatoes, home-made bread, cranberry and apple pie, and home-made ice cream. I think I gained a few pounds during my stay.

I must be running along now.

The next encounter will be the Pribilof Islands to see the fur seals. Will keep you posted. Northern wanderer, Don Turner.

RESURRECTION

Many people in Jerusalem believe the resurrection of the dead will occur in the Valley of Kidron, a hallowed burial ground for Christians, Jews and Moslems just outside the city's walls.

ALASKA CRAB

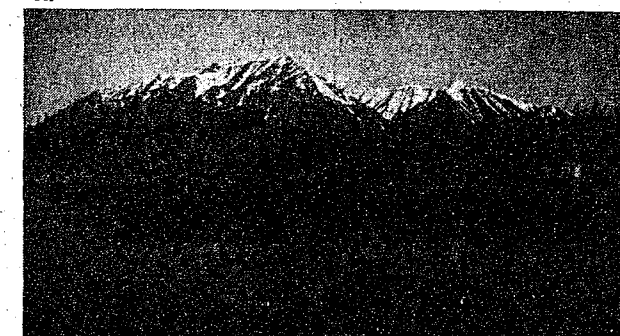

The sale of king crab meat earns Alaska more than $14 million a year.

SALMON FISHING: Don Turner calls this a typical scene at the Kenai and Russian River Junction, Coopers Landing, Alaska, where hundreds of people try their luck for salmon every day during the salmon runs. It's known as the big "snarl" as someone is always tangled with someone else's line.

ALASKAN HOSTS: Don Turner with his friends Glenn and Lee Bragg in front of their new log home at Coho, Alaska on the Kenai Peninsula. Don spent three delightful days with Glenn and Lee who he says are "the most hospitable people I have ever met."

KATHLENE LAKE, one of the beauty spots Don Turner passed on his way to the Alaska border. Kokoni salmon are in great supply at Kathlene Lake where the snow capped peaks look down from all sides and the stillness fills one with peace.

SALMON CATCH: Don Turner talked Beth Douth of Anchorage, Alaska, into posing for him with her first salmon caught at Russian River resort on Kenai River near Coopers Landing. Beth was on a week-end outing with her father Harry, as were hundreds of other Alaskans and tourists during the salmon runs there.

DRINKING & DRIVING

If a person is going to drive, it would be better if he did not drink at all, says the National Safety Council. However, if he is going to drink, he should drink in such a manner that he will not be under the influence when he does drive. The driver should wait at least one hour per average drink before operating a motor vehicle. This is the minimum amount of time required by the body to rid itself of alcohol, according to the Council.

The traffic safety campaign conducted by the Advertising Council for the National Safety Council is now in its 25th year.

Consumer protection is a two-way street. The reliable manufacturer seeks to protect his reputation by providing top quality products and complete instructions for their use. Consumers who wish to protect their investment should read and follow instructions carefully.

ARBOR MARKET

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR SMALL BUSINESSES

On January 1, 1971 Arbor-A, Inc. will open a specialized food market at 407-409 N. Fifth Ave., Ann Arbor, adjacent to the Farmers Market on property now occupied by the Washtenaw Farm and Garden Center. The market will have approximately 5,400 square feet of retail space.

The market is designed to fill the demand within the Ann Arbor community for personalized service in the following food categories:

1. Meat, including specialty meats.
2. Fish.
3. Baked goods.
4. Delicatessen, cheese.
5. Fruit and vegetables.
6. Wines.
7. Specialty groceries, foreign and domestic.
8. Lunch counter; hot pastrami, corned beef and good soup.
9. Miscellaneous.

Each food category of the market will be individually owned and operated with Arbor-A providing space, building management and maintenance. The Ann Arbor Fish Market will move its outlet into the Arbor Market and Mario Druzetich of the Grafton Central Market will provide meats. Space for all categories except meat and fish are available for lease.

Each business will be protected from competition within the market with some overlap permitted for customer convenience. The total combination of individual businesses will offer products complementary to each other and to those offered at the Farmers Market. The market will meet both community and neighborhood needs and will be a metropolitan food center comparable to the old Broadway Market of Detroit. Ample customer parking will be provided.

The market itself is the first stage of the entire redevelopment of this property. A second story will be added to the market building and 413-415 N. Fifth Ave. will be converted to shops and perhaps offices. Fifth Avenue itself will be landscaped and a fountain installed.

If you are interested in transferring your present business to Arbor Market or in starting your own business, we invite you to talk with us about tenancy in the Arbor Market. This is a significant opportunity for those who qualify. Small Business Administration advice and loans may be available.

For more information about this exciting new market, write Arbor-A, Inc., 415 Detroit St., Ann Arbor, Michigan, A. Carpenter. 23

A thank you to our friends neighbors and relatives for their calls, gifts and cards during my recent stay at the hospital. A special thank you to the Women of Zion and also to Pastor Morris for his calls. Mrs. Duane Schiller.

THANK YOU

Many thanks to my friends for their cards and the Vivian Otto Circle for the beautiful rose sent me while I was in the hospital. Erma Hart.

Unusual Events
Plague State
Road Crews

Lansing — Hot tar, chickens, Herford cattle and 20 tons of dressed beef were on the menu for discussion at a recent conference of Department of State Highways maintenance engineers.

The subjects were prompted in part by a rash of unusual accidents on Michigan highways, including:

— Hot tar from an overturned truck spilled and hardened in a freeway culvert on Interstate 94 west of St. Joseph.

— A three-truck accident released a flood of lubricating oil and a load of white-faced Hereford cattle into 70 mile-per-hour traffic on Interstate 96 near Okemos.

— A load of plastic scattered during a rainstorm on Interstate 75 (Chrysler Freeway) in Detroit.

— Several thousand live chickens spread over a half-mile of Interstate 94 near Interstate 196 in Berrien county.

— Twenty tons of dressed beef dumped on a ramp of the Ford-Lodge Freeway interchange in Detroit during the late afternoon rush hour.

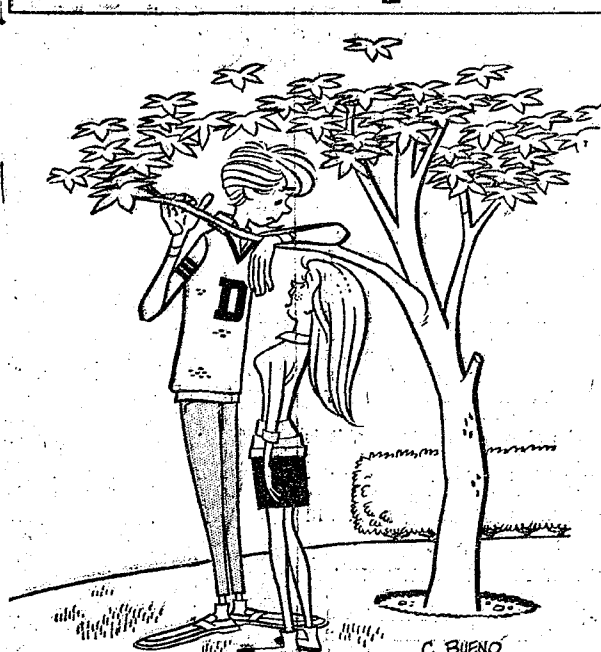

— Liquid wax from an overturned tanker spilled and hardened on an Interstate 94 exit ramp east of Battle Creek.

— A load of paint solvent exploded and burned on Interstate 94 east of Baker Rd. near Dexter, cracking several sections of pavement.

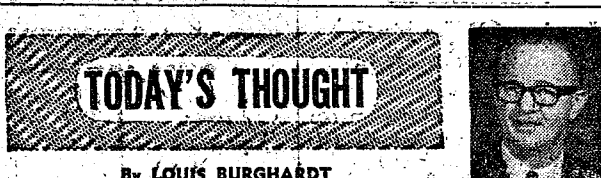

All of the incidents snarled traffic from one to seven hours. Maintenance engineers are still trying to get the tar out of the culvert and alarmed motorists still report an occasional chicken at Interstate 94 and Interstate 196 in Berrien county.

The drunken driver is the most deadly killer on the highway. At any given time it is estimated that only four or five percent of the drivers on the road are drunk. However, this group is responsible for at least half of the highway deaths that occur each year.

Generation Gap U.S.A.

"Nothing personal, Freddie. It's just that I couldn't possibly be seen out with a boy younger than myself."

Ovid, the Roman poet wrote centuries ago, "He who doth like is liked." This is a timeless transparent truth. Look around you. People who are liked by legions of friends are those who in turn like people. Dislikes, even if they do exist, are never known.

Will Rogers, the most popular humorist of his time once said, "I never met a man I didn't like." He was so well liked that more than a million copies of books about him were sold after his death.

It is a fact of life that if you like people you will be liked. People who resent or dislike people are in turn resented and disliked by others. It is an inexorable law of retribution. Liking people is an indispensable possession that is shared—share for share. To have a friend and to be a friend, one must be friendly. BURGHARDT FUNERAL HOME, 214 East Middle St., Chelsea, Mich. Child-Rearing Advice Has Long Been Popular

DR. SPOCK has had many predecessors and some contemporaries in the business of writing about the art of rearing children. A recent study shows that about 2,000 popular books on child-rearing have been circulated in the United States since 1802. There have been significant changes in the advice contained within them, and probably the biggest change is in the recommendations on parental authority. Where formerly such authority was assumed, or claimed by the parent on the ground of his being "morally superior," now the advice is to justify the authority on the ground of superior knowledge. At the same time, corporal punishment has been downgraded, superseded by the psychological weapons of inducing guilt and shame for wrongdoings.

UNDERGROUND RESEARCH of outer space has brought forth new clues about neutrinos, mysterious particles created by the interaction of other particles from outer space. The evidence is being "dug up" in a laboratory set up in an underground mine in Utah. Tons of rock filter out unwanted particles, while the remainder are caught and tracked by a detector in the lab consisting of four huge water tanks, light-collecting tubes and gas-filled cylinders rigged as spark counters.

GRAVITATIONAL ASSISTANCE is not the reason lowering is easier on the muscles than lifting, says University of Pennsylvania teachers. Rather, the difference is tied to chemical reactions in the muscles. Lifting uses up more ATP, the chemical energy source in the body. Even when you are lowering at a controlled speed, you are using ATP, but at a lesser rate because of the activities of filaments of protein which make up the muscle.

ACTUAL RECONSTRUCTION of human skin by tissue grown under artificial conditions outside a living organism is reported as having been achieved by a Stanford University medical research team. Skin grown in laboratory cultures for periods up to six weeks acted as a source of new skin cells in ulcerated or burn wounds.

MAN will take the 50,000,000-mile journey to Mars long before he makes a 50-mile journey into the earth, say University of Chicago scientists. They say, in fact, that steel-crushing pressure, rock-melting heat, and engineering problems may keep man from ever penetrating through more than the equivalent of "a thin pencil line around a circle the size of a basketball." In their conjecture about the interior of the earth they studied both samples from below, thrown up by volcanoes, and meteorites that might resemble internal constituents of the earth.

TENSION BUILD-UP in underground rock may be the key to predicting earthquakes, reports a University of Utah geophysicist. Researchers installed devices to measure underground strain deep within a granitic records vault in mountains near Salt Lake City and observed rapid tension build-up several days before earthquakes were felt in the Salt Lake valley. A chain of gradual tension buildups has also been recorded, followed by a series of "snaps," minor earth slippages, or "micro-earthquakes," after which the rock goes in compression before again building up tension.

Tournaments Slated at New Golf Course

A full slate of tournament action has been planned for the remainder of the season at The Boondocks Golf Course in Grass Lake.

"We waited until now to firm up our tournament schedule because we wanted to be sure the course was in satisfactory condition for such competition," said Bill Haney, owner of the course. "The course has come along so well and so many people have been asking about our tournament plans that we have now arranged for competition to suit the preference of every type of golfer in our area."

The major event on the schedule will be The Boondocks Classic, which will be the major event on the tournament calendar every year at the new Jackson county course, Haney said. There will be separate divisions for men, women, and young people and each division will have several flights.

Medal play competition will be used in all flights, with actual score determining the winners after players have been bracketed in flights.

Trophies and prizes will be awarded to winners in each tournament and each event.

"We expect the Classic to attract golfers who knock it around close to par," Haney said, "and we are strongly encouraging all players—even novices—to enter other flights because of the improvement such competition will mean in their games."

Qualifying for the Classic will begin July 25 and run through July 31. The final rounds will be played Aug. 1 and 2. There will be divisions for both 9-hole and 18-hole play and reserved starting times for all rounds will be assigned by player's preference.

Next on the slate is the Summer Shotgun Tourney to be held Aug. 15. Players arrange their own foursomes and sign up as a team with one acting as captain. Each player hits his tee shot on each hole, the captain selects the best and each shooter then hits from that spot. "The result is that each golfer gets to hit his full quota of strokes, but has the enjoyable experience of putting for a birdie on nearly every hole," Haney said.

The tournament activity will continue on into the fall. "It is ironic and something of a shame," Haney said, "that many Michigan golfers put away their clubs on Labor Day. There is no prettier time in Michigan—surely at The Boondocks—than October when the leaves have turned and the grass is lush and green from the autumn rains."

So several tournaments will be offered in the fall, including another shotgun event on Sept. 13 and a Best Ball on Sept. 20. Final plans for the remaining October tournaments will be made based on the preferences of the players in the early tournaments.

Senate Creates Population Growth Study Committee

The Senate Thursday adopted a resolution introduced by Senator Gilbert E. Bursley (R-Ann Arbor) creating a special committee to study the impact and trends of population growth in Michigan.

Senator Bursley, Senator Harry DeMaso (R-Battle Creek), Senator N. Lorraine Beebe (R-Dearborn), Senator John T. Bowman (D-Roseville), and Senator James D. Gray (D-Lansing) were appointed to the committee.

Senator Bursley cited the need for such a study to determine "The effects of population growth rate and pattern of change from rural and urban areas on the environment, public education, transportation, recreation, housing, employment, health, welfare, institutional care, law enforcement, pollution, and other appropriation concerns of the state."

"We are interested in the impact of population growth, particularly in southeastern Michigan, and we will hold public hearings in Detroit, Ann Arbor, and other cities. The TALUS (Transportation and Land Use Study) and Doxiadis reports will be especially helpful to the committee," Bursley said.

"The greatest reason for the increased taxes and higher government costs has been our rapidly rising population," according to Bursley, who has introduced a bill to establish a Population Commission.

Waterloo Area Farm Museum Restored To Show Pioneer Life

spinning wheel. Mrs. Beckwith demonstrates how our ancestors used to spin yarn from shorn sheep wool. Over the fireplace, there hang balls of colored yarn dyed from extracts the farmers made from flowers in the field. On the center table, the children's play things are piled casually—stereoscopes and a supply of pictures to view. The old desk has a collection of Washington Irving's tales on the shelf. Every detail imaginable is supplied at the farm museum to help you imagine what Michigan farm pioneers did with themselves when there were no movies, art museums or drag raceways.

In pioneer times, the parlor was a very special room, and this specialness is communicated at the museum where the finery is off-limits. A melodeon complete with music, a dainty stool, a painting on velvet hung over it occupy one part of the room. Fine furniture, a gorgeous seed wreath, feather paintings, and priceless family mementoes are among the delicacies found in the parlor, used only on formal occasions—Weddings, funerals and calls of honored guests. The fineness of this room brought a relief to the hard days of toil for the family. It was a symbol and a promise that there was something higher the children might aspire to.

Upstairs, a small young girl's bedroom was planned and executed by Mrs. Ardie Collins, Mrs. Edna Walz, and Mrs. Mary Brown of Stockbridge who grew up together in Waterloo Village. There is a dress worn in 1898 when the owner was 17, a cotton nightgown and chemise worn a little later. Fashionable stencilled window shades were reconstructed for this unheated room, used almost exclusively for sleeping.

In the weaving room, a loom was set up and outside of the room, down the hall, there is an early sewing machine. The walls in this room were not recovered to show the deterioration of the original wall.

A smaller room at the end of the hall has been restored primarily to house a fine collection of dolls and toys. The collection contains miniature china, cradles, iron "everything" and delight's small girl.

A larger, pink bedroom contains two very old rope beds which came to Michigan in the 1830's. One bed is a four-post cannonball style with a blanket roll at the foot. The beds look large and luxurious, but a guide will inform you that very often three "small" children would snuggle up in one bed. The birds-eye maple chest is the handwork of a Michigan pioneer who cut the timber on his own land and fashioned this piece as a gift for his bride.

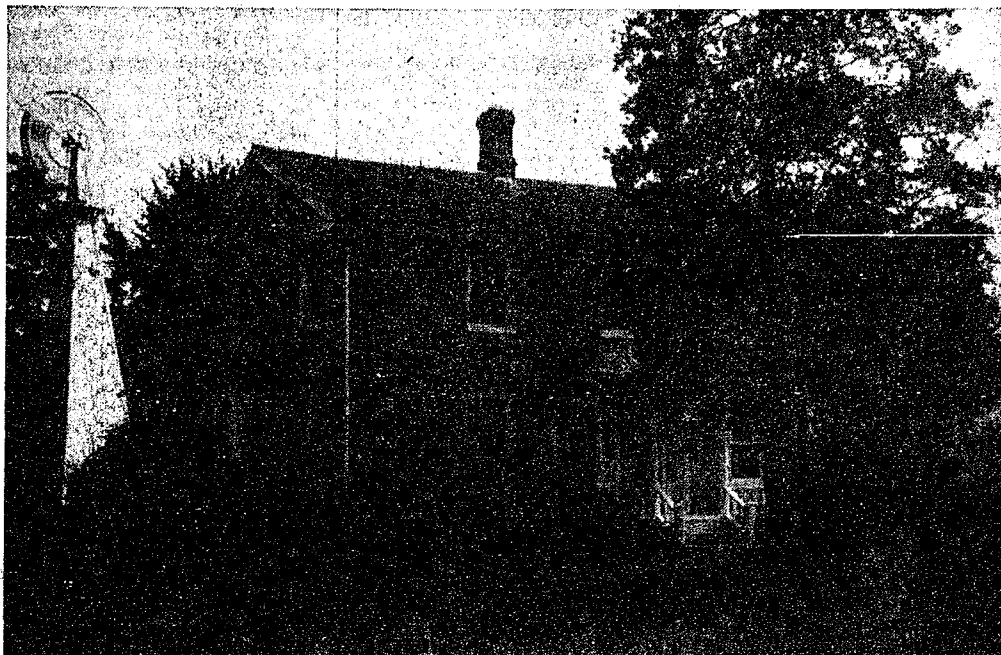

In the parents' bedroom, decorative pillow shams cover the big, fluffy pillows, as they do in all the bedrooms. The fine embroidery, all hand-sewn of course, implies many long hours of concentrated work. A baby's cradle is next to the bed, and the usual chamber pot under the bed. In the closet, guide Mrs. Burkhead displayed the fine collection of old clothes that have been generously donated to the museum. This collection is shown at local meetings and fairs, as is the famous doll collection.

Through the master bedroom is the attic—a room of many uses. Hired men often slept here, children played here with the trunks of cast-off clothing, boxes of keepsakes, bundles of old letters, and other souvenirs. A great wooden chest which might have transported a couple's earthly belongings from the "old country" to America rests in the attic. The museum directors keep odds and ends, unusable furniture, and inappropriate objects in the attic, just as the Really family probably did.

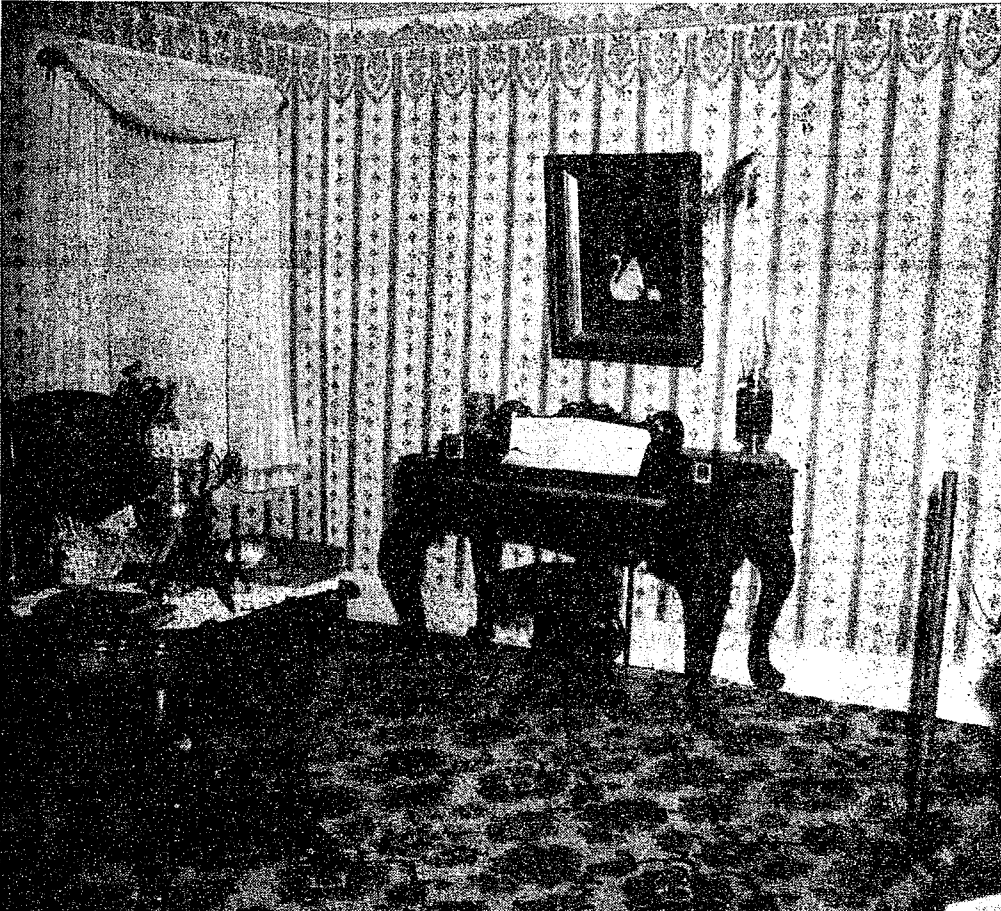

Next to the attic is the drying room, used for drying fruits and vegetables and herbs and spices. Both the attic and drying room are warmer than the other upstairs rooms from the heat generated by the stove pipe from the kitchen below.

Out of the house once more, you look back at the pumpkin colored simple exterior, marveling at the treasure chest of reminders of an earlier age contained within. Outside, there were two additions to the original brick house. These have been restored by Max Cool who took care with details like the fancy shingle pattern on the porch. One puzzling feature on the exterior is the stone areas between the windows. Some appear to be double cross designs which may have been merely ornamental. Or they may have had some significance for these German immigrants. The museum directors welcome any clues to the meaning behind the stonework areas.

The big, wooden Perkins windmill next to the house was a tremendous labor saving device as well as a landmark in the area. Supplied by the Perkins Co. of Mishawaka, Ind., in 1872, it had to be completely restored. The 10-foot-tall tower with 90

RESTORED FARM MUSEUM: This exterior view of the Waterloo Area Farm Museum, 9998 Waterloo-Munith Rd., shows the fine restoration done by volunteers to house a valuable contribution of century-old furnishings and mementoes. A 30-ft. tall Perkins windmill with 90 redwood blades in a 10-ft. diameter wheel, has been restored for the Farm Museum by Loy McCleer of Pinckney.

FOR SUNDAY ONLY: A view of the Farm Museum Sunday-best parlor, off limits for all but special occasions, displays kerosene lamps, the melodeon, and a picture of a swan done on velvet. All help create an image of life in the late 19th century that the Farm Museum tries to recapture.

SPINNING WOOL: Mrs. Milton Barber, of Grass Lake, demonstrates what it might have been like to spin your own wool and yarn. She is dressed in a traditional costume complete with white bonnet that guides at the Farm Museum wear.

redwood blades is the work of master carpenter Loy McCleer of Pinckney. Kenneth Amerman of Gregory did the painting and lettering. Unlike metal wheels, this wooden one is very quiet.

Also outside the farm house are three structures which are peculiar to the 19th century. The ice house preceded the electric refrigerator as the ice-man did not peddle the country roads. The Reallys joined with their neighbors to cut ice in Markle Lake and bring it in by sleigh to be packed away in sawdust for making butter in the summer. The original dirt floor has been covered with concrete.

In the milk house, butter was made and stored to be sold in town as one of the farmers' few cash crops. It was customary for the children to churn the cream after it had been skimmed off the milk.

Finally, the bake house has been rebuilt behind the ruined log building which the Really women used. Max Cool rebuilt the bake house in the summer of 1966 from a photograph of the original. It is laid up of old poles contributed by Consumers Power Co., and shingled with split shakes. The rafters are tamarack, the traditional material for this type of construction. The only concession to modernity is that the house is built at ground level with a footing, and the door is normal height for us. Formerly you stepped through a five-foot door and down a foot to dirt.

The bake house can really be used for baking and during Pioneer Day in October, molasses cookies are baked and sold to visitors. Proceeds from this and from the admission charge combine with donations to finance repairs and upkeep for the museum. Most of the work on the unique museum has been voluntary, however, which symbolizes the true sharing spirit necessary to the Michigan pioneer farmer.

Maj. R. Toney Cited By U.S. Air Force

Major Robert L. Toney, son of Mrs. Lewis E. Haselswerdt of 884 S. Steinbach Rd., Chelsea, has been recognized for helping his unit earn the U. S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

Major Toney is a management analysis officer at the U. S. Air Force Academy and will wear a distinctive service ribbon as a permanent decoration.

The Academy was cited for exceptionally meritorious service from Jan. 1, 1968 to Dec. 31, 1969 for the high degree of professionalism and devotion to duty consistently demonstrated by assigned personnel.

Among the significant accomplishments noted in the award were those of the Air Force Academy cadets who served to establish the Academy as a national institution of recognized stature through military leadership, athletics and academics.

The major, a 1950 graduate of Chelsea High school, received his BA degree in business administration in 1954 from Michigan State University and earned an MS degree in 1966 from George Washington University, Washington, D. C. The major was commissioned upon completion of the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program.

His wife, Carolyn, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Carl Bates of 2700 Parker Rd., Dexter.

Girl Scouts Enjoy Session At Day Camp

Gypsy Glade Girl Scout Day Camp, under the direction of Mrs. Louis Galan, of Dexter, ended its two-week session Thursday, July 2. In attendance were approximately 140 girls and a staff of 16 adults making up three Brownie units, one Junior unit, and one Cadette unit.

The girls enjoyed such activities as cooking outdoors, hiking and swimming. Some of the creative ventures included tie dying, dying with natural root and plant dyes, silk screening, plaster leaf prints, finger painting, Navajo Back Weaving, and lashing tables and accessories. They visited the Saginaw Forest, west of Ann Arbor, and were entertained by a group of performers from the Gilbert and Sullivan Society of Ann Arbor. They were joined by a visitor who had been a Girl Guide in India. The Cadette unit spent three nights at camp and the Junior unit spent one night.

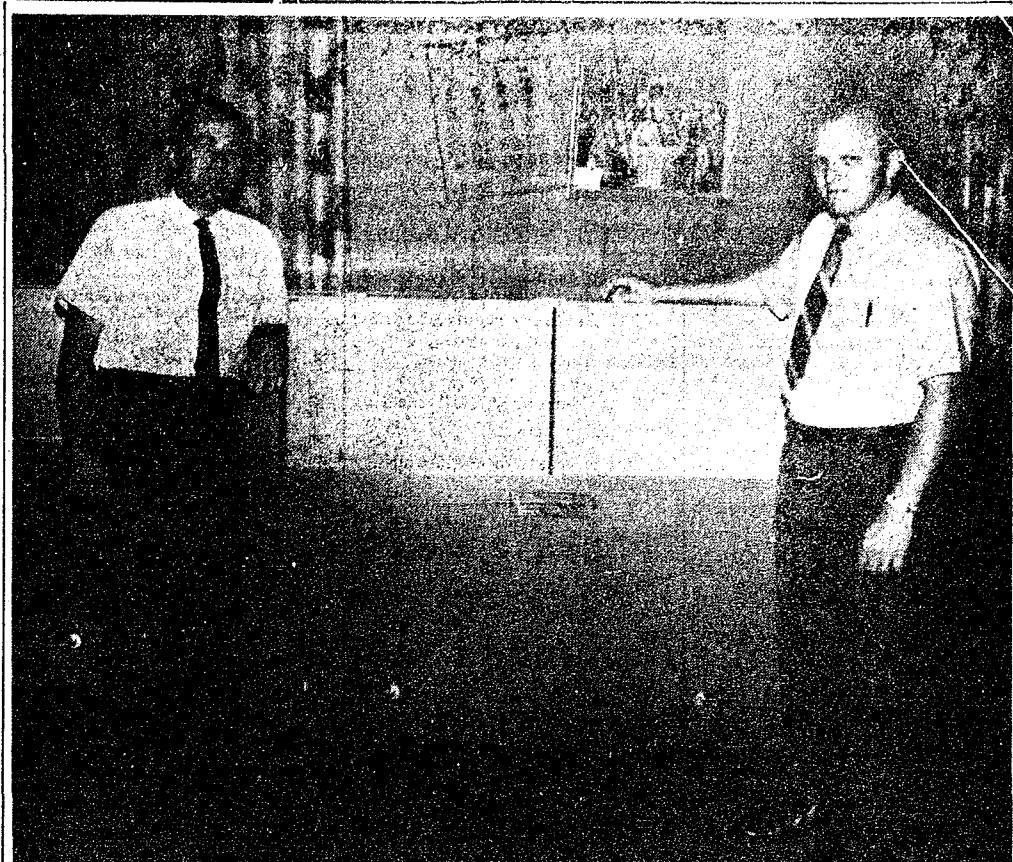

Chelsea adults and girls who attended the Gypsy Glade include Mrs. Robert Barlow, Junior leader; Mrs. James Lorenz, Junior leader; Tammy Lorenz and Tracy Updegraff of the Daisy Hill Mob, Junior unit; Marsha Liebeck, Linda McGuire and Cathleen Myers of the Purple People Eaters, Brownie unit; Susan Stoner of the Tendertrap, Cadette unit; Kim Hopkins, Sheryl Kiel, Caroline Lane, and Karen Updegraff of the Jolly Green Giants, Brownie unit; and Kimberly Boyce, Tracy Cattell, Karen Liebeck, and Karen Popovich of the Pink Panthers, Brownie unit.

DECORATE PLAIN DOORS

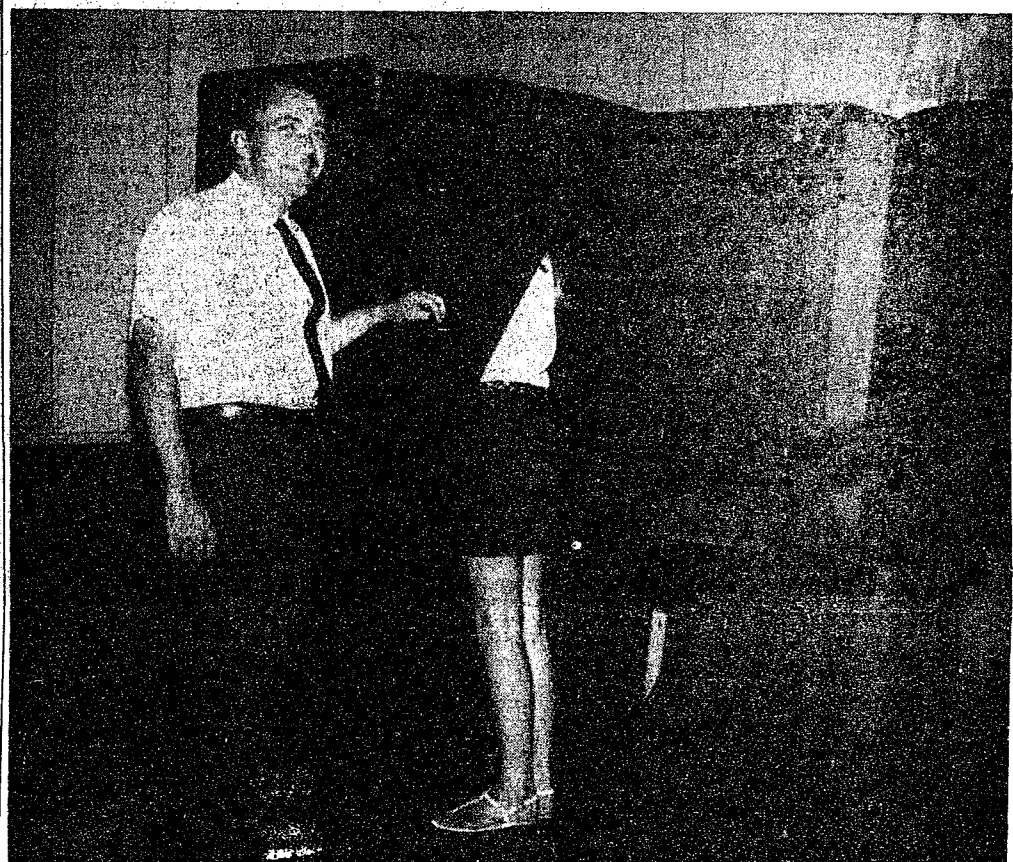

Have a plain door that could stand some dressing up? Enamel it. On a flat door, mark out a wildly abstract design of bright, bold colors. Use masking tape to keep the lines straight and prevent overlapping of colors. This is highly effective in a hallway or narrow corridor where space is at a premium and color is needed.

BUILT IN RADIO

Daytona Beach, Fla.—A housewife, who asked not to be identified, had all the fillings in her teeth replaced except one in an effort to stop receiving musical radio signals through her teeth. There was peace three days, then the one metal filling began picking up signals again.

NEW VOTING MACHINES: Clerk Duane Luick, left, and Supervisor Kenneth Haist, display the new Automatic Voting Machines, which will be used in Lima township on a one-year trial basis. If the public responds to the time-saving machines, the rental fee will go toward the purchase of the 2 machines priced at $2,000 each. A demonstration by factory personnel of how to operate the machines is scheduled in the near future.

SCENE OUT OF THE PAST: Lima township clerk Duane Luick peeks at the old style voting booth which, if used again this year, would cause his township to go into three precincts if there are over 800 registered voters. At present, 775 voters have registered. The AVMs can process up to 1,400 votes in a fraction of the time it took using the manual voting booth.

Prospective Students Attend Orientation Program at EMU

Christine Alber, daughter of Mrs. Dolores Alber, 11 Sycamore, Chelsea, and Steven Willoughby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Willoughby, 5711 Dexter Rd., Dexter, were among some 750 students who attended one-day orientation programs to prepare them for entering Eastern Michigan University this fall.

At the programs, held on campus in Ypsilanti from June 13 through 19, the students received individual and small group counseling and registered for the fall semester. They received their first taste of college life with a campus tour.

A special parents' orientation was held twice daily. The parents heard talks by University personnel and had a chance to ask questions.

Items Needed By Jaycees for Rummage Sale

Chelsea Jaycees are urging all residents to look through their closets, to clean out garages and attics of all unneeded but useful articles, then give them a call. The articles will be picked up and used for their annual Auction-Rummage Sale July 25.

To arrange for a pick-up, anyone of the following persons may be called—Glenn Weir at 475-7509, Dan Eder at 475-2663, or Mitchell Zink at 479-5361.

The rummage sale is the solution to the problem of what to do with those articles no longer needed, but which could be used by others.

The Jaycees hope to have a successful sale, as the proceeds are used to support projects for the community, but they need more articles than have already been collected.

Pick-ups will be made until July 21, so residents are urged to sort out their items as soon as possible.

The auction-rummage sale will be held at Chelsea Fairgrounds on July 25, only three weeks away. George Staffan has been appointed auctioneer.

Arrest Made for Faulty License Display Brings Further Trouble

The only arrest this month reported by the Chelsea Police Department was on Wednesday, July 8 at 1 a.m. when Jack Craft of Dagsville was arrested for improper display of license plates. Through the department's LEIN (Law Enforcement Information Network), the arrested man was found wanted by the Michigan State Police and was turned over to State Police Post No. 41.

Chief Meranuck expressed satisfaction with the small amount of trouble his department has had for the past few weeks.

DEATHS

Mrs. Eugene Garvey Dies Friday at Nursing Home Following Lengthy Illness

Mrs. Betty Garvey, 750 Taylor St., died at Green Meadows Nursing Home at Stockbridge, Friday, July 3, where she had been a patient since November, 1969.

She was born in Franklin township, O., Dec. 18, 1903. She married Eugene Garvey July 12, 1937. He died Feb. 7, 1969.

She was a member of St. Barnabas Episcopal church.

She is survived by one son, Wayne McConkey of Springfield, O., and one sister, Mrs. Phoebe Cain also of Springfield.

Funeral services were held Monday, July 6, at 10 a.m. at the Staffan Funeral Home with the Rev. Michael K. Mutzelburg officiating. Burial was in Washtenaw Memorial Park, Ann Arbor.

George Winchester, Sr. Former Chelsea Resident Dies Monday in Florida

George D. Winchester, Sr., 71, of 409 W. Ann St., Edgewater, Fla., died Monday, July 6, at Fish Memorial Hospital in Edgewater.

Formerly of Chelsea, he had moved to Florida following his retirement in 1965 from Central Fibre Products Co., where he had been employed since 1946.

Born Feb. 12, 1899, in Geneva-on-the-Lake, O., he was the son of William and Pearl Nearpass Winchester. He was married May 24, 1924, to Rhea Budd. She preceded him in death Feb. 19, 1968.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Edmund (Betty) Green of Chelsea; a son, George D. Winchester, Jr., of Dexter; seven grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Funeral services are to be held at the Staffan Funeral Home, Chelsea, at 2 p.m. Friday, July 10, with the Rev. George P. Stanford officiating. Burial will follow at Oak Grove cemetery.

THE REV. DOUGLAS CLAIR

Guest Missionary Will Speak at Assembly of God

The Rev. Douglas Clair, an approved Assemblies of God missionary to South Korea, will be guest speaker Sunday, July 12 at 11 a.m. at the First Assembly of God of Chelsea on Old US-12, the Rev. T. B. Rhodeson, pastor, has announced. The public is invited to attend.

During their first term of missionary service the Rev. Clair and his wife, Jean will be engaged in language study as well as ministering in the Assemblies of God Bible School. They will be stationed in Seoul, the capital city where the Assemblies of God has a thriving church of 7,000 members.

Schneiders Returning to States from India Mission

The Rev. and Mrs. Douglas Schneider and children, Benjamin 7, Kenneth 5, and Kathleen 4, are returning to Chelsea after a long stay in India. Two of the children, the boys, were born in India while Kathleen was born in Fremont.

Douglas, who was born and grew up in Chelsea, still considers Chelsea his home town. The family will be living with Douglas' mother, Mrs. Lewis Schneider at 219 Railroad St.

Douglas and Karen first went to India in 1961 as missionaries of the United Church of Christ. They are members of St. Paul United Church of Christ, Chelsea and are employed by the United Church Board for World Ministries, the Mission Board of the United Church of Christ.

Douglas and Karen are both graduates of Michigan State University. Karen did her training in Medical Technology and Douglas earned both a BSc and MA in Agricultural Education. He also holds a MDiv. from Eden Theological Seminary, St. Louis, Mo. They became interested separately in mission work and were married in 1957. From that time they pursued a program to serve as agricultural missionaries.

They were commissioned by St. Paul church and left for India in January, 1961. They were called to India by the Rural Life Program of the Chattisgarh and Orissa Church Council to begin a Community Development Program in a new language area in the State of Orissa. The Church Council was already working in the Hindi speaking area and wanted to extend their service to the Oriya area.

Douglas and Karen spent their first year in studying the Oriya language before they began to develop a program of community development. From a small beginning with one staff member they watched the program develop into a full extension program with 15 full-time workers, including one college graduate. The main emphasis in their first five years was poultry, bee keeping and improved rice production. In 1965, during the worst famine that region had seen in this century Karen was flown home with the two children in December. Kathleen was born the next May in Michigan. Douglas remained in India another four months to organize relief work among the starving. After that work was completed he returned to the States for the first time in five years and four months.

After a year of study the Schneiders returned to India in July 1967. By then the relief work was drawing to a close and they saw the beginning of new approaches and techniques in helping others help themselves. Food-for-Work Projects became a major part of their program. These projects involve using PL 480 food grains paid for by U. S. churches in Community Self-Help programs. The Rural Life Program paid the grain out to workers for doing long term benefit programs, mainly in the area of Water Resources Development. More than 75 projects were completed in three years and about 2,000 tons of U. S. surplus food grains were utilized.

A kitchen garden program was also developed and special gifts enabled 150 wells to be dug. Douglas imported American bees into the state of Orissa through Heifer Project. This was the first such importation. Dairy goats were another major concern. A tractor was also imported from England.

It has a special Compressor Unit for deepening wells. Orissa has the unfortunate circumstance of having no deep water so all water resource efforts are in the area of full use of surface water. A complete farm was also developed to provide protein foods such as eggs and milk. The program now has three college graduates and 15 other full time staff. A major effort has been made in self support and gradually the program will raise its own operating capital through its various programs. Three large 22 h.p. pumps are being installed on behalf of the Rural Life Program and they will yield the organization a nice income.

Area Students Included On Academic Honors List at Ferris State

At Ferris State College in Big Rapids, Dr. Robert L. Huxol, vice-president for instruction, announced those students who made the Academic Honors list for the spring quarter by maintaining at least a B average while carrying a full academic load. Among the 1,274 students honored for scholastic excellence were the following:

Mary M. Baize and Judy K. Sanderson, both from Chelsea and studying business; Robert E. Schuyler, Dexter, studying Technical and Applied Arts; Kay M. Eschelbach, Grass Lake, studying Health Sciences and Arts; Daniel J. Hawkins, Deborah L. Paul, and Mark E. VanDoren all from Grass Lake and majoring in business.

David Lixey returned home from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and is recuperating at his home, 1008 Fahrner Rd.

The Schneider family will return to the States via Europe where they will meet Karen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Daenzer and her brother Tim in Zurich. The group will vacation for one week in Switzerland with Dr. and Mrs. Manfred Laun and family.

Mrs. Laun is Swiss and the Launs are the Schneiders' nearest fellow missionaries in India. After Switzerland the group will visit Copenhagen, Oslo, Bergen and London. From London, Karen, the two youngest children and Karen's parents will return to Michigan. They are scheduled to arrive in Chelsea, July 23.

Douglas and Benjamin will then fly over the pole to Alaska for a three-week visit with his twin brother, Richard and family. Richard is with the Bureau of Indian Affairs at Bethel. Douglas and Benjamin expect to arrive in Chelsea, Aug. 19.

Their stay in Chelsea is considered a furlough. Douglas will be writing a book on Community Development when he is not busy with speaking engagements and visiting family and friends.

Crash on I-94 in Rain

Wednesday Morning

An accident on I-94 at Kalmbach Rd. Wednesday morning, July 8 caused traffic to be backed up to the Jackson county line. The wet, slippery pavement caused a car to veer around in a complete circle over both guard rails into the path of an oncoming semi-truck which could not stop in time to avoid the collision. The driver of the truck was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and the car driver was just shaken up, according to the Sheriff's Department.

Lima Residents Plan Battle With Utilities

Monday night, July 6, at the Lima Community Hall, a meeting was held to investigate the current controversy over the large utility companies' right-of-way procedures. Approximately 60 concerned citizens showed up at the meeting which was presided over by Gen. Dwight Beach, and featured Sen. Gilbert Bursley and Rep. Thomas Sharpe.

William Van Riper, who is chairman of Lima Township Planning Commission and is currently battling Consumers Power Co. over a proposed gas line through his property, opened the meeting and introduced the honored guests.

Mrs. Harry W. (Virginia) Denham, a secretary of the Lima Township Board, explained the interest of the Planning Commission as not one of protesting Detroit Edison per se, but making sure on a broader perspective that the individuals in the townships are protected.

Gen. Beach then took over and found by a count of hands that most of the audience came to the meeting to discuss Edison's right-of-way in the area. Through anonymous ballots, it was also discovered that all citizens in the way of Edison had been offered the same price for their land, $1,000 per acre, except one exception.

Gen. Beach gave a description of the area in contention and his feelings on the matter. A volunteer group of concerned citizens was called for from Lima, Dexter, and Freedom townships to investigate the matter further.

There was much discussion at the meeting about what to do about the situation. Attorney William Rademacher, who attended the meeting, and attorney John Keusch, who sent information to the meeting, both reviewed cases and claims between individuals and public utility companies.

At the next meeting, which will be held Thursday night, July 16 at 8 p.m. in the Lima Community Hall, state commissioners from the Michigan Public Service Commission will attend. For this meeting, attorneys Rademacher and Keusch were urged to draw up sample contracts which would provide an equitable agreement for the farmer.

All interested and concerned residents of the area are urged to attend on July 16.

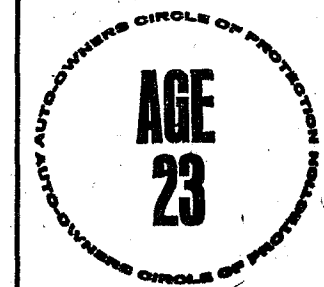

Dexter Youth Named to Air Force Academy

Hobart Bates, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bates, 8450 Shield Rd., Dexter, was among the six young men from Michigan's Second Congressional District to receive appointments to U.S. service academies, according to Congressman Marvin L. Esch.

Although appointments were made by the individual academies, Esch and other congressmen hold interviews and make recommendations to the academies. The six men chosen were recommended for appointment by the Congressman.

They are: Navy—Kim Marburger of Northville, and Douglas Sherman of Ann Arbor; Army—David Burandt of Ypsilanti; and James Sonserant of Monroe; Air Force—William Doneth, III, of Ann Arbor, and Hobart Bates of Dexter.

Hobart attended Dexter High school where he played on football and wrestling teams, and was a member of the National Honor Society. He was active in the Boy Scouts and his church, and was a delegate to Boys State.

TREAT FOR CITY KIDS: Tony Wisniewski and Si Hopkins, part of the Trail Blazers Riding Club of Chelsea, leading children from Orthopedic Schools of Detroit on horseback during their two-week stay at Camp Crile, 10842 Joslin Lake Rd. The Trail Blazers visit the camp every two weeks during the summer to give a different group of 24 handicapped children from Detroit a chance to go horseback riding.

Manchester Chicken Broil Scheduled for Next Thursday

Chicken Broil time! The 17th annual Chicken Broil is set for Thursday, July 16 on the Manchester Athletic Field. Nearly 400 men in the community are prepared to feed 12,000. This well-known event is sponsored jointly by the Optimist Club and Jaycees. Every available man helps. Dinners will be served from 4 to 9 p.m. The point that makes this event unique is that each year profits go to youth projects. Money this year will be earmarked for developing a new ball park on what was once a village dump. The project is two-fold. There will be a much needed athletic field and an eyesore to the community will become useful again. Additional playground equipment will also be added.

Again Dr. Howard Zindell, head of the Michigan State Poultry Department will personally supervise the now experienced chefs in their white aprons, hats and gloves as they preside over the pits. Chicken halves will be checked as they are slow broiled over glowing charcoal, basted in Michigan butter and never burned or blistered. Dr. Zindell has never failed to take his place at the Big Broil—largest of its kind in Michigan.

Luther Klager and Rolland Grossman will again engineer the Big Broil—their 17th time. The huge committee, second to none, will again work out the details from pre-heating tons of charcoal to boxing take-outs. Refrigerated trucks bring in the chicken halves weighing 19 oz. each. They'll be put on double type grids which cut down manpower over the heat.

There are two ticket lines and a special line for take-outs. Parking is no problem as the Athletic Field and Double A parking lot will be used and a shuttle bus will take visitors to and from their cars. Washtenaw sheriff's department's mounted police will direct traffic.

The dinner includes chicken, cole slaw, potato chips, radishes, buns and butter, coffee or milk. Loud speakers will announce distinguished guests and two softball games furnish entertainment. Shelters are available in the event of rain.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

★ Our World

The modern world is filled with temptations. Society is permissive, indulgent. Much that should not be ignored is permitted as the expression of someone "doing their thing."

We, all of us, help to set the standards for the world in which we live. We contribute through participation and, as well, through indifference.

To make a better world, we should make "our thing" the practice of a Christian life. We must reject all that which is contrary to the teachings of God. We must reject false ideas, false ideals, selfish leadership, and the safety of practiced indifference.

We cannot merely go our own way, believing that the rest of the world will pass us by, if it is racing headlong to destruction and chaos. Whatever forces move the world create a backwash, with undercurrents spreading far and wide.

We must learn to react—and to act.

MOSQUITO & SURGERY
Athen, Ga.—Dr. Arden O. Lea recently performed brain surgery on a mosquito, using a special built microscope and jeweler's tools. The scientist's surgery on the female mosquito prevents them from laying eggs—explaining that only the female mosquito bites.

The impulse to do good is worth while if the individual does good.

SUGGESTION SAVES MONEY
Washington—A suggestion by Capt. James R. Griffin, a mechanical engineer in the minuteman program office at Norton A. F. B., California, is credited with saving the Air Force $45 million. Griffin received $2,000 for the suggestion.

The light horse populations of the United States increased about 300,000 foals per year. Of the many breeds, the Morgan was the first developed in this country.

Are you paying more than 11¢ a gallon for your home's heating oil?

If you are, you can heat your home for less with Gas.

If you are now using natural Gas (or plan to) for cooking, water heating, clothes drying or Gaslights, and your use is equal to that of our average residential nonheating customer, read on. You can get your Gas for heating under our special service rate at a price equal to fuel oil costing 11¢ a gallon. Whether you convert your present furnace, or even install a new Gas furnace, we will pay for it and its installation by a participating Gas heating contractor. Repayment can be made on your Gas bill. We'll buy the oil that's in your tank at the price you paid for it. We'll remove the tank from your home at no cost to you, and we'll even haul it away if you want. Convert to thrifty natural Gas today and cut your heating bills up to one-third. Call us today for the name of a participating Gas heating contractor for full details.

AN OPEN LETTER FROM DICK FAY

Citizens of Washtenaw County:

I want to look after your interests as State Representative for the 51st District and I need your vote in the Aug. 4 primary. But almost as important, I need your help in overcoming the advantage which my incumbent opponent enjoys — advantages, incidentally, which you are financing.

As a fresh face on the political scene, I cannot afford the full-time public relations staff which my opponent enjoys at public expense. I do not own an interest in a magazine which will trumpet my views throughout the area—as my opponent does. I cannot mail a weekly newsletter at your expense, as he does.

I need your help to overcome my opponent's built-in head-start. In my visits throughout the district I have sensed an unrest and a desire for change from the old politics. If you can help in even a small way, please call me at (517) 546-2313 or write me at 3500 Norton Road, Howell.

My crusade is for a policy of wise growth. I will work to preserve what is good in the district while also working against the excesses of the land speculators. I will work to stop the problems of the big cities from spilling over into our area, burdening us with high taxes and little in the way of service.

Sincerely,
Richard Fay

Bonnie Green, Donald Dickelman Wed at Congregational Church

Miss Bonnie L. Green, 1840 Stadium, Ann Arbor, was married at the Congregational church June 27 at 7 p.m. to Donald L. Dickelman. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shelby E. Green, of Clifton, Colo., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Dickelman 253 Harrison. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Daniel Kellin and vocalist Miss Grace Penhale sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "One Hand, One Heart."

The bride wore a floor-length, empire style gown of tiered lace with short, puffed sleeves and a satin bow at the bodice. Her veil was layers of scalloped silk illusion sequined with pearls and held by a crown of leaves and pearls. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Maid of honor Miss Janice Rose of Eldorado, O., wore a floor-length dress of yellow dotted swiss styled like that of the bride. Her veil was of tiered yellow nylon sequined with daisies, and she carried a bouquet of yellow daisies.

Bridesmaids for the ceremony were Mrs. Linda Penhale and Miss Jane Dickelman, sister of the bridegroom. They wore floor-length yoked, yellow dotted swiss dresses with ruffled collar and short sleeves. Their veils and bouquets matched those of the maid of honor.

Best man was the bridegroom's brother, Lee Dickelman. Ushers included Tom Penhale, James Ducey, Tom Tuttle, Lewis Ordway, and Ron Weiss, all of Chelsea.

Costume for the mother of the bride was a pastel green, sleeveless dress with white accessories. Mother of the bridegroom wore a turquoise two-piece ensemble with white accessories.

A reception following the ceremony was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Dickelman, 253 Harrison. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Martha McDonough, Mrs. Barbara Gebbia, of Palatine, Ill., Miss Judy Weston, and Mrs. James Ducey.

After a wedding trip to Canada, the couple will reside at 1840 Stadium in Ann Arbor.

The bride graduated from Mesa College in December, 1969, and is employed at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor. Her new husband served in the U. S. Navy for four years and is employed at Madison Electric in Ann Arbor.

Drive carefully and avoid the sorrow and mental anguish that will come if you cripple a child for life.

Rebekah Lodge Holds Last Meeting Until September

Chelsea Rebekah Lodge No. 130 held its last meeting until September on Tuesday, July 7, at the hall.

The charter was draped for a period of 30 days in mourning for the president of the Assembly of Michigan, Mrs. Pearl McGregor, and Mrs. Josephine Fowler, a member of the local lodge who died in June.

A morning breakfast is being planned for Wednesday, July 29, at 8 a.m., at Pierce Park for all lodge members and Past Noble Grand of the lodge. Mrs. Lucille Alstaetter and Mrs. Jacque Beyer are chairman of the event.

Members are asked to notify Mrs. Beyer or Mrs. John Harook in case of sickness or distress during vacation period.

Mrs. Anna McDonald was reported in the hospital for 12 weeks now; and Mrs. Carrie Niehaus will be at the Medcenter for the balance of the week. Mrs. Dorothy Keezer reported visiting the Odd Fellow and Rebekah Home at Jackson, taking empty bread wrappers there for the residents to use in making rugs in the therapy room.

A memorial donation to the fund for President McGregor was voted on, to be used at the Home. Mrs. Addie Fitzmiller will celebrate her 83rd birthday July 17. Members Mrs. Helen French, Mrs. Edith White, Mrs. Alice Knoll were reported recuperating at home after being in the hospital.

LaRue Shavers Mark 55th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. LaRue Shaver, 508 W. Middle St., were honored Sunday at a family dinner at their home in observance of their 55th wedding anniversary.

Present for the occasion were 40 relatives including the Shavers' daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mitchell of Atlanta, Ga.; a niece, Linda Bowen of Golita, Calif.; and three sisters and a brother of Mrs. Shaver—Mrs. Horace Phipps of Lionville, Pa., Mrs. Emma Taylor of Grass Lake, Mrs. Herbert Scofield of Clark Lake, and Emil Ashfal of Grass Lake.

Mrs. Shaver is the former Marie Ashfal, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Ashfal of near Grass Lake, while her husband's parents were Mr. and Mrs. Milo Shaver, who lived in Chelsea. Their marriage took place July 4, 1915 at the home of Mr. Shaver's uncle, E. E. Shaver, Chelsea photographer for many years. The Rev. A. A. Schoen, of St. Paul church, officiated.

The couple lived in Detroit for many years before Mr. Shaver's retirement from the Packard Motor Car Co. They have lived in their present home the past 15 years.

In addition to the son-in-law and daughter, the Shavers' family includes three grandchildren.

A philosopher is a man giving advice to other people about troubles he hasn't had.

Mrs. Anthony T. Grudnoski

Riedboldt-Grudnoski Vows Exchanged at St. Mary Church

Kathleen H. Riedboldt and Anthony T. Grudnoski were united in marriage during a nuptial mass Friday, June 26, at St. Mary Catholic church in Chelsea.

Kathleen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Riedboldt, 18238 North Territorial Rd. Anthony is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Grudnoski of Marengo.

The bride created her floor-length white gown which was styled with a scoop neckline and modified bell wrist-length sleeves. Her floor-length mantilla veil was trimmed with alencon lace. She carried a bouquet of white daisies and yellow sweetheart roses.

Miss Mina Beck, Milwaukee, Wis. acted as maid of honor. She was attired in a floor-length gown of yellow lace over taffeta, and carried a bouquet of yellow and white daisies.

David Grudnoski, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. The bride's mother wore a white dress trimmed with blue Schiffl embroidery, with blue accessories.

The bridegroom's mother wore a pale green dress with white accessories.

Both mothers wore spring bouquets.

Robert W. Riedboldt, brother of the bride, and Lynn P. Kobarik acted as the ring bearers.

Daniel and Thomas Oas, cousins of the bride, acted as altar boys for the nuptial mass.

The couple is spending their honeymoon in the Upper Peninsula. They will make their home at 15 Court Pleasant, Baltimore, Md., after Aug. 15.

Joy Reynolds Is Bride of W. Lounsbery

Miss Joy Elaine Reynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Reynolds, 506 Arthur St. was married Saturday, July 4, to William Clark Lounsbery of 701 W. Liberty St., Ann Arbor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Lounsbery, 11911 Waters Rd. Approximately 130 guests attended the 7 p.m. ceremony at the Church of Christ. Officiating was Murray S. Hudgins, minister of Taylor Center Church of Christ. Background music was provided by a recording of "I Love You Truly" and "At Dawning."

The bride's gown was empire-waisted with the bodice and sleeves of lace, a skirt of chiffon over satin with a matching cape and an attached train of lace. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion was fastened to a crown of pearls and rhinestones. Her bouquet was a cascade of white carnations and yellow rose buds with yellow streamers.

Miss Rita Spees, 520 Lane St., served as her friend's maid of honor in an empire-styled gown of aqua dotted swiss. She carried a bouquet of yellow-tipped white carnations and yellow rose buds. Miss Reitha Spees, the sister of the maid of honor, served as bridesmaid in an identical gown. She carried a bouquet of yellow-tipped white carnations.

Best man for the ceremony was Mark Musolf. Ushers included brothers of the bridegroom James Lounsbery and Thomas Lounsbery.

Approximately 100 guests attended the reception following at the church. Mrs. Cecil Freeman, 666 Washington St., cut the cake; Mrs. R. D. Parnell, 13631 Old US-12, served the punch; Miss Lucinda Reynolds, sister of the bride, attended the guest book; and Mrs. Barbara Spoonamore, aunt of the bride from Macedonia, O., served the coffee.

The bride left for the couple's wedding trip at Tahquamenon Falls and the Upper Peninsula in a pale blue crepe dress with white accessories. After the trip, the newlyweds will reside at 701 W. Liberty St., Ann Arbor.

Mrs. Kenneth Robert Moffat

Linda Kay Walter, Kenneth Moffat Married at Ann Arbor Church

Miss Linda Kay Walter exchanged wedding vows with Kenneth Robert Moffat on Saturday, June 27, at 7 p.m. Linda, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Walter, 3345 N. Zeeb Rd., and Kenneth, son of Donald T. Moffat, 9555 McGregor Rd., were married by the Rev. R. C. Grigoreit at Calvary United Methodist church on Miller Rd., Ann Arbor before 150 guests.

The bride wore a gown of white chantilly lace accented with pearls at the empire waist, on the cuffs of the long sleeves, and at the scoop neckline. A small train of the same material was attached to the dress, and the veil was of pearl accented illusion to the waist.

Maid of honor, Miss Janice Schneider, 219 Railroad St., Chelsea, was attired in a Nile green, rayon brocade, empire, waisted gown accented with a satin ribbon, short puffed sleeves and a rounded neckline.

Two friends of the bride from Dexter, Miss Diane Wing and Miss Marie Moore, served as bridesmaids in matching dresses. Steven Schultz served as best man, and ushers included Joseph Lane and Geoffrey Moffat.

Mother of the bride, Mrs. Walter, chose a light blue brocade A-line dress with a full matching coat for her daughter's marriage.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents. Marcia Minetti took care of the guest book, the wedding cake was cut by grandmother Doris Strain, and served by sister-in-law Memarie Walter. Also assisting at the reception table were Barbara Feldkamp and Pearl Thiede, cousins of the bride.

The bride left for her wedding trip to northern Michigan and Wisconsin in a white lace long-sleeved dress accented in blue with matching accessories. After the trip, the newlyweds will reside at 402 Hickock, Ann Arbor.

The bride is a graduate of Dexter High school and the State College of Beauty. Her new husband, a graduate of Dexter High school, is employed at University Microfilms in Ann Arbor.

Co-Op Nursery Still Has Openings For Fall Classes

Chelsea Co-Operative Nursery school, on Chelsea-Dexter Rd., announces that there are still openings for the fall in each of the three classes: 4-year-olds, 3-year-olds, and the non-assist group consisting of children of both ages who do not require parental assistance. Residents of Dexter may also attend.

For further information, contact Mrs. Carl Robinson, the new membership chairman, at 426-4128.

The test of real sincerity is the willingness of an individual to do something without the thought of compensation.

Soil Conservation Service Can Help You Improve Your Environment

By John Layher
Soil Conservation Technician
Is the rumble of trucks on the highway keeping you from a good night's sleep? Ask your local Soil Conservation District and Soil Conservation Service personnel what can be done about muffling the sound. Are you experiencing erosion in your lawn and garden? The odds are that your local Soil Conservation Service office can be of help to you.

The USDA Soil Conservation Service, working with the local Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District has more than 30 years of experience with assisting landowners and users to achieve better environment in which to live, work and play.

Wind, water and soil know nothing of city limit signs. The problems caused by the uncontrolled flow of water, wind and soil washing are the same everywhere.

Trees and shrubs act as sound barriers; windbreaks for blowing soil; odors; noises; and can screen out a very unattractive scene also. These same trees and shrubs become home to many different types and kinds of wildlife which certainly do not detract from any setting.

A good ground cover of sod forming grasses blends with any landscaping scheme and adds beauty to what may have been a not too pleasant view. Adapted trees and shrubs along with a good grass cover will absorb much of the objectionable odors from sewage treatment plants, garages, barnyards, feedlots and even inoperative septic systems. The same adapted trees and shrubs can help muffle objectionable sounds and noises.

Soils eroded by water is a very serious pollutant and can be controlled by grass seedings, diversions, debris basins or sediment traps and terraces.

If you are contemplating an earth moving project, the Soil Conservation Service can help you plan your project to keep soil erosion to a minimum regardless of on which side of the city limit sign you are.

If you wish information on how to obtain assistance on problems affecting your land, contact the U. S. Soil Conservation Service at 6101 Jackson Rd., Ann Arbor 48103. Telephone number 761-6721.

To "be prepared" is as important for the housewife as her Girl Scout daughter. The summer essential for being prepared for such exigencies as impromptu parties, old friends dropping in as they pass your house on vacation, or some other emergency that comes up while you're swimming or cooling off in a convertible-ride with the wind in your hair, is, obviously a wig. What else will make you look beautiful again in less than a minute? As inexpensive as wigs have become, it's really inexcusable to be caught without one when good grooming is so important to your confidence. Let us show you what we mean by Instant Hairstyling; drop in and try on one of our wigs just for fun.

ROBERT J. NIEHAUS

Robert J. Niehaus Promoted With New York Industrial Firm

Robert J. Niehaus, whose mother, Mrs. Mary J. Niehaus, lives at 252 Park St., has been named vice president-general manager of the Schwitzer Division of Wallace-Murray Corp. He joined the Schwitzer Division in 1960 as manager and then vice-president of procurement and planning. Between 1966 and the present, he has served on the corporate staff of Wallace-Murray Corp. in New York City, first as vice-president-administrative services and later vice-president - corporate development.

Niehaus lives with his wife, Aileen, in New Canaan, Conn. A former Ann Arbor resident, he graduated from the University of Michigan and is a lieutenant in the U. S. Navy Reserves. Before joining Wallace-Murray Corp., a diversified manufacturer of building products, power components and industrial tools, Niehaus worked for the Ford Motor Co. and Hercules Motor Co. The Schwitzer Division, which he now helps direct, is the world's largest manufacturer of turbochargers and a major supplier of fans, fan drives and vibration dampers for the automotive industry.

BRIDGE LAND

Bermuda is regarded as the birthplace of modern world Championship bridge. The first postwar world title contest of the popular card game was held in the colony in 1950. The Bermuda Trophy is symbolic of world bridge supremacy.

ELK ROMANTIC

Elk are the most polygamous of American deer. In mating season, a bull elk may collect a harem of 60 cows.

SUN-PROOF® FOR THE HUSBAND WHOSE IDEA OF "GETTING OUT" DOESN'T INCLUDE PAINTING THE HOUSE.

Your wife says, "Paint the house before you do anything else this summer." So what do you do? As little as possible. That's why you need Sun-Proof Latex House Paint. It does as much as possible. To begin with, it normally allows you to skip priming completely. Further, it stretches and shrinks with your house. Which eliminates cracking and peeling. Also, a special paint film resists air pollution, smog, and mildew. This all means that your paint will last up to four years longer. So you spend less time painting and more time relaxing.

SUN-PROOF... the husband's easy way out.
