Wheat Harvest Is Underway Between Rains

Smaller Than Usual Crop Reported This Year Although Price Is Higher

This year's wheat harvest will produce a relatively short crop said Ron Satterthwaite of Blaess Elevator Co. He revealed that this was due to Federal government controls cutting back on wheat quotas and because people didn't plant as much as usual. The price per bushel has risen from the usual $1.16 per bushel to $1.34 this year because the demand is high and the supply short.

Irving Battdorff of Stockbridge brought the first load of this year's wheat crop to Blaess Elevator on Thursday July 16. Satterthwaite announced he had received 30,000 bushels of wheat so far, and expects 90,000 when the last bushel is in. Recent rain especially over the last week-end has delayed harvesting.

A fairly good yield of about 45 bushels per acre was expected by Satterthwaite. This compares favorably to the Washtenaw county average of 36.9 bushels per acre in 1968 and 41.0 bushels per acre in 1969 according to Phil Doctor of the Michigan Crop Reporting Service.

This year's crop has an average moisture content of 12 percent, making it of a fairly dry quality as far as Satterthwaite can tell. The test weight per bushel was low, at 55 pounds per bushel, at Blaess Elevator. That would be categorized as a number three grade wheat. Number two grade wheat is 58 pounds per bushel, and number one grade weighs 60 pounds per bushel. A premium of one cent per bushel is set on wheat weighing 60 pounds per bushel with wheat weighing less than 58 pounds per bushel discounted.

Inclement weather and rain during the time when the head was forming on the wheat caused some of the wheat to shrink, thereby contributing to the low test weight, according to Satterthwaite.

JC Auxiliary Sponsoring Baby Contest

Chelsea Jaycee Auxiliary is again sponsoring its annual Baby Contest.

If you are the parent of a cute baby, from newborn to age four, you are urged to enter him or her as soon as possible.

Fifteen Chelsea area children will be chosen by the Auxiliary for display on canisters in Stop & Shop Supermarket.

The canisters will be out Monday, Aug. 10, through Aug. 22. First, second, and third-place winners will be selected by the amount of money placed in each canister.

Winners will be contacted by telephone on Monday, Aug. 24.

If you wish to enter your baby, send a close-up photo, preferably of the baby alone, to chairman Sue Zink, 10869 Joslin Lake Rd., Gregory, 48137; or Judy Eubanks, 1001 Pierce Rd., Chelsea 48118.

Be sure to include your name, address, phone number, and the name and age of the child on the back of each photo.

Sorry, pictures are not returnable.

New Radar Unit Acquired By Police Dept.

Speeders beware! The Chelsea Police Department has just acquired a new, sophisticated radar outfit which will be put in use immediately. It was felt the device was necessary due to an increasing number of complaints of speeding in Chelsea which the police department was unable to accurately and effectively enforce.

With the radar unit, a transistorized, certified piece of equipment, the police will be able to show speeders exactly how fast they were going. In addition, radar evidence is upheld in court. "Anyone interested in seeing how the unit works is welcome to come in for a demonstration. The system is made by Kustom Signals, Inc. and is a TR-6 Doppler Radar Unit.

The Chelsea Police Department is not anxious to give more speeding tickets, and Chief of Police George Meranuck hopes that drivers in Chelsea will speed less knowing they are being clocked by radar and won't be able to get away with speeding anymore. All main village entrances are posted with signs clearly indicating that Chelsea streets are "Speed Radar Timed."

Fire Damages Cottage at Half Moon

A fire at a Half Moon Lake cottage caused extensive damage but no injuries at 1:09 a.m. Wednesday, July 22. The Chelsea Fire Department was called by some neighbors who noticed the blaze and in half an hour the flames were put out.

The cause of the fire is not precisely known; but Mac Packard, assistant fire chief, thinks that oily rags and other things being used to restore the cottage by its Ypsilanti owner earlier that evening could have led to the combustion.

A large hole in the floor and a smaller one in the ceiling were caused by the flames and extensive smoke damage also resulted. The fire was extinguished before it could spread to do further damage.

This was the second fire this year at Half Moon Lake that Chelsea has been called to; often the Dexter squad is beckoned. Packard noted that this was only the 76th fire this year which means "we've only had half as many fires as last year." He attributes better equipment over the years to the decrease in large fires.

PHYSICALS FOR HEADSTART PUPILS on Tuesday, July 21, was a big event. Dr. Wallace Kemp, assisted by nurse Judy Stipe, shows Joseph Gurzeck of Manchester, seated on the lap of teacher's aide, Mrs. E. Trevino, that there's nothing to be afraid of. Judy Lane, seated left, looks on as Felicia Passow awaits her check-up. Free health care is an important, new facet of the Headstart program.

Headstart Program Offers 29 Youngsters Early Guidance

The Headstart program this summer in Chelsea offers a unique opportunity for enrichment, guidance, and new experiences to 29 pre-school children. Funded through a federal government grant and in its fifth year of operation in five area centers, including Chelsea, Headstart offers socially disadvantaged children whose lives have been limited, an equal opportunity to experience things they normally would not be exposed to.

Maurice Martinez has been the over-all Headstart director in the area for two summers now. He points out some of the advantages of this year's Headstart program. For the first time, there is at least one male aide in each classroom. The male figure acts as a model for the boys and has produced amazing gains in motivation and IQ, Martinez reports.

Each classroom has at least one highly qualified teacher, three aides, and three youth corps assistants. These seven provide a variety of different figures which the children can relate to.

Teachers were selected from applicants responding to an Equal Opportunities employment advertisement. The 300 applicants were carefully screened to select teachers for the eight openings.

The para-professional aides are special youth corps youngsters who undergo a pre-service training week of an intensive course in education. They also participate in workshops with the teachers before they enter the classroom. These youth corps assistants help the teachers and aides in the classroom, and outside of the classroom they ride the school bus with the children. At the end of the program, these youth corps assistants receive a certificate of merit for their participation. The decision to hire and train these inner city youths was an attempt to offer them meaningful employment early in their working career.

Another new element of the Headstart program is the family co-ordinator who works with the parents of the Headstart pupils to let them know what their child is learning and experiencing and how they can reinforce it at home. "Headstart at Home" is the slogan for this year's program, and Mattie Holzer is in charge of working with the parents to find out their reactions to the program and to incorporate any suggestions that the parents might contribute.

Funds for the program have not decreased since last year, but they haven't increased either as Martinez was hoping. Eventually he would like to see a year-round Headstart program instead of just a summer session.

In Chelsea, Judy Stewart, 25, and a first grade teacher at South school during the regular school year, is the Headstart teacher. Her 29 students are mainly from Chelsea with a few from Dexter and Pinckney.

Participants in the program were chosen according to Federal guidelines. Three main criteria in selection were family income, age—a child of five, or four years old who would be entering kindergarten, and special need as identified by school officials, community officials and the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Headstart in Chelsea starts each weekday morning at 8:30 a.m. when all the students arrive by bus in time for a morning snack of milk and cereal or cookies in the kindergarten of North school.

Helping Mrs. Stewart are aides Aurora Trevino, a local mother; Ann Nyies, a recent Chelsea High school graduate, and Larry Porath, a senior at Central Michigan University majoring in special education. The three youth corps assistants in Chelsea are Jackie McCullough, 18, Steve Shepherd, 15, and Rick Bentley, 16.

Plans Made For Five-Day Fair This Year

Chelsea Community Fair this year will be held five days instead of the usual four, reports Fair Board Secretary Ed Keezer. From Tuesday, Aug. 25 through Saturday, Aug. 29, the Chelsea Fairgrounds will be the scene of contests, rides, refreshments, and fun.

A tentative daily schedule has been set up with the highlights to be Kid's Day on Tuesday, the judging of livestock and exhibits on Wednesday, the garden tractor pull on Thursday night, the farm tractor pull on Friday, and Queen's Day on Saturday. Daily activities chairman is Mrs. J. Satterthwaite.

The Little Red Schoolhouse promises to supply plenty of refreshments.

Entry cards for the exhibitors may be picked up at Chelsea State Bank, Farmers Supply, Chelsea Drug Store, or Chelsea Hardware. They are to be returned to the superintendent of the particular category or to Farmers Supply no later than Saturday, Aug. 22. The premium list is published elsewhere in this edition of The Standard.

Public Access Denied Boats On Area Lakes

Citizens who were concerned that Independence Lake, Cavanaugh Lake, and Pleasant Lake would be the target of the Waterways Commission's public access boat launching site program, may now rest assured that no action will be taken as far as public access sites are concerned on these lakes in the foreseeable future. Predominantly through the efforts of State Rep. Thomas G. (Continued on page eight)

Supreme Court Knocks Hole in School Budget

Decision Granting Free Books, Supplies Will Cost at Least $35,000

How does the recent Michigan Supreme Court decision declaring that public school districts must provide free textbooks and supplies for their pupils affect the Chelsea school district?

According to Business Manager Fred Mills, all the ramifications of the decision are not yet known, but it appears that it will cost the district a minimum of $35,000 in funds which were not budgeted to provide for the textbooks, fees and supplies normally absorbed by the students.

The landmark decision on Friday, July 17, was the result of an Ann Arbor lawsuit initiated by Prof. Daniel Fufeld and Mrs. Lillian Bond. In its ruling, the Supreme Court interpreted language in the 1963 State Constitution obliging the legislature to "maintain and support a system of free, public schools."

Lima Landowners Report Progress in Battle with Utilities

Public Service Commissioner Urges Continuation of Fight for New Laws

A degree of progress has been made in the continuing struggle of rural landowners to ascertain their rights and privileges against the increasing intrusion of utility companies' rights-of-way through their property.

At a special meeting at Lima Community Hall held last Thursday, July 16, to investigate the problem of utility companies' rights-of-way in the area, some 40 concerned citizens in attendance learned of a House Bill that would, if passed, require utility companies to prove necessity, convenience and feasibility of a new transmission line prior to construction.

William A. Boos, Jr., a representative from the Public Service Commission in Lansing, provided clarification on many of the legal and technical issues involved. In addition, Sen. Gilbert E. Bursley distributed copies of a letter of response from William G. Meese, president of the Detroit Edison Co., to questions originally raised by Gen. Dwight E. Beach, Rep., about Detroit Edison's right-of-way through Lima township.

Herman Koenn, chairman of the Committee on Utilities Rights-of-Way Issue, presided over the close to three-hour session. A list of 12 questions drawn up by the Lima Township Planning Commission were answered and discussed by Boos, and then the audience was given the opportunity to bring up points on which they were still confused or incensed by.

Rep. Thomas G. Sharpe, and attorneys William Rademacher and John Keusch were present, in addition to Sen. Bursley and Commissioner Boos, to provide assistance in analyzing the issues at hand.

Commissioner Boos, and old friend of both Rep. Sharpe and Sen. Bursley from his days in the Legislature, has also served as a judge before becoming a Public Service Commissioner. He explained that the Public Service Commission (PSC) began three years ago as a creature of the state legislature and presently has no authority over electric transmission lines, right-of-way, or damage payments. Its only jurisdiction is over gas transmission lines.

Boos explained that House Bill 2841 would provide that for any electric utility new plant construction or transmission line the company must first prove convenience and necessity, as well as economic and engineering feasibility to get certification. This bill will give the PSC full disclosure of a utility company's plan for routing before they begin acquiring rights-of-way.

By having utility companies submit plans for new or additional generating facilities to carry 69,000 volts or more, the PSC will be able to co-ordinate building sites to provide the most sensible distribution of corridors.

The bill has passed in the House and is now being studied by the Senate Commerce Committee. Sen. Bursley is one of the five state senators on the committee studying the bill. He said the bill may be presented to the governor this fall. Presently, only the financing of a new utility line is considered. According to Boos, the utility companies have not been fighting the passage of House Bill 2841.

RUMMAGE SALE WORKERS: Jaycees and Auxiliary members examine the wide array of merchandise set to go at the Jaycee Auction Rummage Sale, Saturday, July 25. Saturday Is Rummage Sale Date for Chelsea Jaycees

Chelsea Jaycees and the Jaycee Auxiliary are making final preparations for the Auction Rummage Sale to be held this Saturday July 25, at the Chelsea Fairgrounds.

Auctioneer George Staffan will start promptly at 1 p.m. and go until everything's gone, one way or another. A visiting professional auctioneer will be on hand to fill in since the auction may go on for quite a while from the looks of the mass of donations the Jaycees have collected. The Jaycee Auxiliary will be selling refreshments to perk up everyone.

With nearly twice as many items as last year, the sale promises something for everyone. As Mitch Zink, chairman of the event, says, "You name it, we've got it."

NEW TRACK FINISHED: Mike Mikkola, left, of Detroit, uses a striping machine to line the newly resurfaced track field, while Dennis Kaupila, right, uses a rolatape measuring wheel to mark off distances for various track events. Northern Marking Co. of Detroit is handling the marking of the field, which has been widened from six to seven lanes, and marked off according to state regulations. Humphries-Hansen Co. of Jackson was contracted for the resurfacing to apply an "all-weather" covering to the track which is soft enough for runners to get needed traction by wearing tennis shoes instead of spiked shoes.

Washington Report by Congressman MARVIN L. ESCH

Congress has failed to play its proper Constitutional role in both foreign and domestic affairs and in the process has lost the confidence of the American people in many respects. A main reason for such a sad state of affairs is procedures woefully out of date and in some cases actually anti-democratic.

Secrecy in voting is one of the worst. Under a complicated parliamentary process, the House this year has decided such matters as deployment of the anti-ballistic missile, use of American troops in Cambodia and Laos, the preventive detention, and no-knock provisions of the crime bill and an anti-bussing amendment to a school-aid bill without a record vote. Thus, the public has no way of knowing how an individual Congressman votes unless he chooses to tell them.

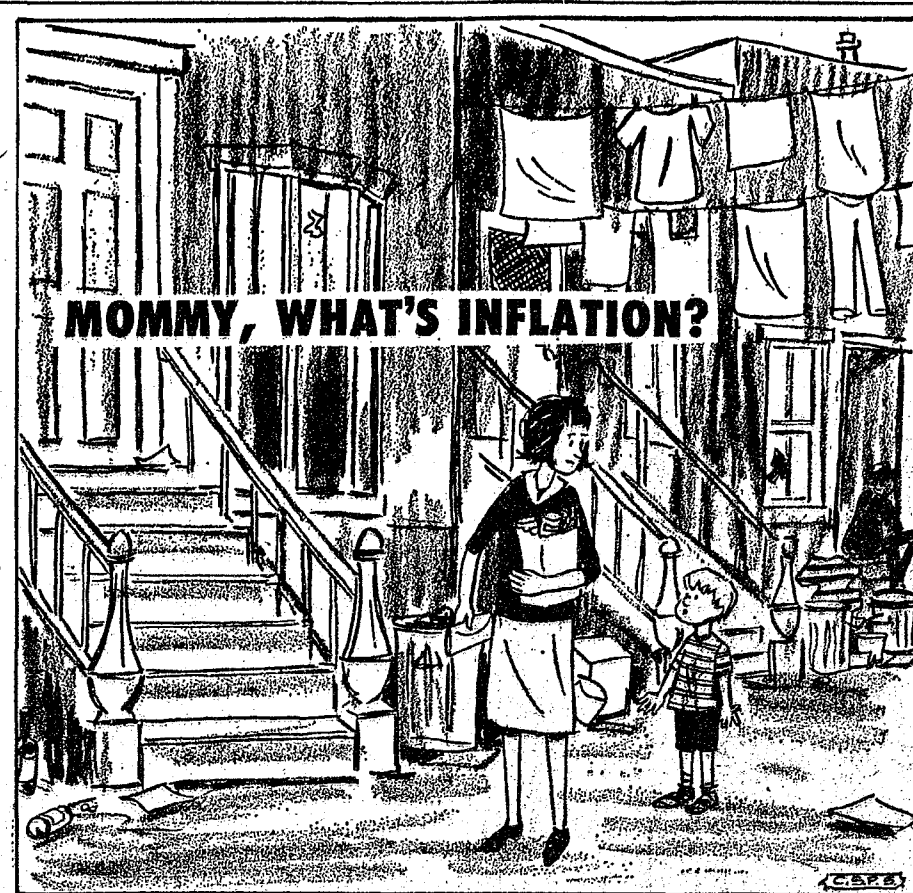

While it is understandable that a member of Congress may want to hide his vote on controversial issues—and there are many of them—it seems to me that a willingness to let the public know what you are doing in the House is an integral part of the job. Not only has the House hidden its votes on the floor but in committee where, much of the important work of the Congress is done. I have long pushed for open committee meetings and was particularly gratified last year when the Committee on Education and Labor of which I am a member, accepted my amendment to its rules and made meetings open to the public. The Committee's experience since then has conclusively proven that open meetings make Congressmen more responsible and more responsive to the people's needs.

Open votes in the House are essential in an open government in an open society.

MOMMY, WHAT'S INFLATION?

★ MICHIGAN MIRROR ★

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

"Vehicles Multiply"

Michigan stands seventh in the nation in the number of registered motor vehicles in the state with a total just short of 4.5 million, according to the State Highway Department.

The department said the state showed a gain of 171,496 registrations in 1969 to reach the total, which does not include more than 540,000 trailers and some 132,000 motorcycles.

Nationally, motor vehicle registrations topped the 105 million mark, for an increase of 4.5 percent. Of this total, 87 million were automobiles, nearly 18 million were trucks and 864,000 were buses.

"Word Spreads"

Gov. William G. Milliken's educational reform program is receiving more and more attention around the nation.

One of the most recent indicators of this is a speech Milliken gave to the Education Commission of the states in Denver at its national convention.

Milliken, with a group of other governors in the audience, outlined his plan and told those attending that education needs to be given a higher priority.

"If this means a lower priority for other items on our national agenda, then say 'so be it,'" he said.

"If this means that the Soviet Union, rather than the United States, builds an Aswan Dam, then so be it.

"If this means that a Russian, rather than an American, is the next to step first on a distant planet, then so be it."

"Kelley Talks Bluntly"

Blunt talk by Attorney General Frank J. Kelley was directed at Michigan's chiefs of police during their annual convention.

He told the chiefs that one reason for the rising crime wave in the nation and the state is "petty bickering" among various law enforcement agencies.

Kelley said "There are many answers to the question" of why crime is increasing.

"Some have to do with the social causes of crime; some with how our courts are dealing with it; and some for other reasons," he said. "Many of these problems, however, lie mostly outside of our power and responsibility as law enforcement officers."

"I would like to address myself to one reason that falls totally within the power of those of us in the law enforcement community to affect it. I speak of the problem of disunity within the law enforcement community."

"We all know that it exists," he said. "Each of us is aware of petty bickering between local and law enforcement agencies, of ugly disputes between prosecutors and police, of jealousies and rivalries between agencies, and even between departments within the same agency."

Continuing Education Program Fall Session To Start Sept. 21

The Dexter Community Continuing Education Program, sponsored by the Friends of the Dexter Library, with the co-operation of the Dexter Community Schools, announces that the 10-week Fall session will begin Monday, Sept. 21.

Area residents are advised to watch for further details in the form of a mailed brochure to be sent to all boxholders in the area in mid-August. Class descriptions, information on locations, times and teachers, and instructions for registration, either by mail or in person will be included.

In addition to the courses offered last year, many new offerings, including Bridge, Arts and Crafts for the Home, Decoupage, Bishop Sewing II, as well as Bishop for Young Girls, and Bishop for Children, Photography, and Simple Home Repairs will be added.

Co-ordinator for the program this year will be Mrs. Winthrop Vall, with Mrs. Thomas Hemingway acting as secretary-treasurer. An office has been established at 4199 Loch Alpine Dr. E. Anyone interested in information about

Thursday, July 23, 1966—

Frederick A. Mills, 26, a teacher at Chelsea High school since 1963, has been hired as the Chelsea schools business manager for the 1966-67 school term. The newly-created position involves the consolidation of a variety of duties previously under the jurisdiction of several persons, plus additional duties, such as the county group purchasing, which the Chelsea schools have not been able to take advantage of because the schools had no personnel available to attend the purchasing meetings.

Shades of William Shakespeare will again haunt the big red barn on the George Frisinger farm, 13450 Jerusalem Rd., Aug. 4 and 5, as members of the 1966 Homestead Acres Theater Camp present "Twelfth Night."

Trophies went to four Cracker Box Derby contestants following an exciting race Saturday evening. Winning the trophy for the "Best Upholstery" was Michael Roskowski, while Philip Musolf walked off with the championship trophy after outdistancing all his opponents in the race. Scott Foster received the trophy for "Best Construction" and Eugene Moore was the race runner-up. Local Jaycees were sponsors for the event.

Chelsea's Main Street had remained essentially the same since the present post office building was built in 1937. But the past few months have seen many changes as the business center expands.

First to go on S. Main St. was the George Palmer house, which had stood at 224 S. Main St. for more than 100 years. It was moved on June 6 to a new location on Freer Rd. to provide space for a parking lot adjacent to Palmer Motor Co.

At the same time, demolition crews tore down another old Chelsea home belonging to the late Lillie Wackenhut. The house was located between Palmer Motor Co. and the Chelsea theater.

Meanwhile, on the other side of the street, space is being cleared for a proposed new bank building. Moved were the O. B. McLaughlin home, formerly located at 114 Orchard and the former Russell McLaughlin home located next door. Now owned by Dr. and Mrs. Bruce Stubbs, the home was moved to its new location on McKinley Rd. north of Chelsea by blocking off Main St. to traffic, moving several wires crossing the street and lifting electric and telephone wires as the house squeezed under. Bystanders lined the street to watch the progress of the house, which was moved in two parts.

Water Accidents Claim 92 Lives in Past 6 Months

Michigan has had 217 water accidents in the first six months this year which have claimed 92 lives and injured 83 persons, according to State Police provisional figures.

Compared with the same period last year, there were decreases of 24 in deaths and seven in accidents but an increase of four in persons injured.

The accidents were classified as 85 fatalities, 63 involving personal injury and 69 property damage only.

Accident information is compiled by the State Police water safety unit from reports received from department officers and other law enforcement agencies.

The breakdown of the half-year death toll included 45 swimmers or waders, nine boat operators, 11 boat passengers and 27 miscellaneous.

guilty to excessive noise, paying $15 fine and costs.

Hi:

We got our store open and the way you folks received us was most gratifying. I, my wife, children and employees thank you from the bottom of our hearts.

We know now that we can provide a long-needed service in the food business to this shopping area.

This service simply means a large variety of quality foods at fair prices, and store hours that will serve all people at their convenience. We have a handicap in the fact that this store is small in size, therefore our variety of sizes will be limited.

We pledge to serve you faithfully, honestly and fairly, using all the knowledge that we have and all the sources of food supply that are available to us. We want you to feel that this store is here for your convenience and benefits. Any and all suggestions will be appreciated and your complaints or dissatisfactions will be promptly cared for.

Thank you.

THANK YOU — The family of George Lovely extends a most sincere thank you to all our friends and neighbors for the comfort of their many acts of thoughtfulness and kindness. Our deep appreciation to the Rev. T. D. Thodeson, to the Staffans for their words and acts of sympathy and understanding, to Dr. J. V. Fisher for his service over the years, and to the pallbearers. The George Lovely family.

THANK YOU — Many thanks to everyone who sent me cards and for calls of concern while I was in the hospital and, since my return home. Thanks also to the Washtenaw County Council of Veterans and Local 1284 for the fine plants. Herman Reed.

THANK YOU — I would like to thank all of my friends and neighbors for their cards and gifts during my stay in the hospital and after my return home. I greatly appreciate everyone's thoughtfulness. Mrs. Anna Penny.

Severinson To Join Boston Pops
As Trumpet Soloist on TV Show

East Lansing — Doc Severinson, musician in residence of "The Tonight Show" and one of America's best-known band leaders, joins conductor Arthur Fiedler and his Boston Pops on "Evening at Pops," Sunday, July 26, at 10 p.m. on WMSB (Channel 10), Michigan State University television.

Severinson performs as trumpet soloist with the Pops in renditions of Werle's "Concerto for Trumpet," and "La Virgen de la Macarena," a concert version of this trumpet music that is played at bullfights.

Arthur Fiedler and the Boston Pops play "Pines of Rome," the operatic overture to "The Secrets of Suzanne," and a special Pops "Round-Up" of television Western themes, including "Bonanza," "Maverick," "Have Gun, Will Travel" and others.

MARGARET MEAD — Dr. Margaret Mead, internationally known anthropologist, writer, educator and lecturer, addresses herself to the problems of the "generation gap" on "Margaret Mead," Sunday, July 26, at 2 p.m.

In a lecture entitled "Rifts Between Generations in a Changing World," before a packed house at Battelle Memorial Institute in Columbus, O., Dr. Mead explores and explodes certain myths, placing herself squarely on the side of the young in their aspirations for a greater society.

Although the lecture was delivered in mid-1968, it is still true and relevant. Even more important, her responses to the issues raised by the then current student rebellion at Columbia University take on new significance as time has proven the wisdom of her assessment.

BLACK DRAMA — A black man who takes pride in his work awaits a promotion that never comes in Clayton Riley's drama, "The Record is 21 Minutes," Friday, July 31, at 7 p.m.

The play is one of 10 original dramas in the series "On Being Black," all exploring what being black in white America is like.

"This drama centers around the reliable Jesse Dobbs who runs the mail room at Chatham Textiles, where he holds the mail delivery record—21 minutes. When the company installs a new community console system, Dobbs assumes he will run it—an assumption his superiors do not share.

Fred Pinkard, who has appeared with the New York Shakespeare Festival and the Tyrone Guthrie Theatre in Minneapolis, stars as Dobbs.

EAST HARLEM — "NET Journal" journeys through the world of Piri Thomas, author, community leader, ex-con, er-pusher, ex-addict, New Yorker, Puerto Rican, on "The World of Piri Thomas," Sunday, July 26, at 4:30 p.m. and Friday, July 31, at 12 noon.

Thomas is an inhabitant of "El Barrio," or East Harlem, the section of New York City where a vast number of emigre Puerto Ricans have settled.

Thomas takes viewers on a guided tour through this world of raw emotion, poverty, waste and joy. He also enacts key incidents from his early life—in one instance, seeking to quit his drug addiction, he locks himself in a bare room then punches a wall to express his inner agony; in another scene, he simulates his shooting by a policeman during a robbery.

Jack Gould of The New York Times wrote that the program contained "uncommon artistry and force . . . yet in the remarkable film's unrelenting focus on reality, there were overtones of spiritual beauty, a moving appeal to make a fact and not a saying of the brotherhood of man."

MUSIC — Cellist Theo Salzmann and Joseph Evans appear in the last of a five-part concert celebrating the 200th anniversary year of Ludwig van Beethoven's birth, on "Music for the Cello: Beethoven," Wednesday, July 29, at 7 p.m.

Salzmann and Evans play the short work used as the theme for the five programs, Sonatine (originally written by Beethoven for mandolin and piano), and Sonata in D Major, Op. 102, No. 2, the fifth sonata.

Salzmann is former principal cellist of the Pittsburgh Symphony and now serves as professor of cello at the Carnegie Institute of Technology. Evans is professor of piano at MSU and has appeared as a concert artist throughout the Midwest, as well as in Europe.

TEXAS — The words of A. C. Greene and the photographs of Shel Hershorn combine to form a portrait of West Texas, on "It Is an Excessive Land," Monday, July 27, at 7 p.m. and Thursday, July 30, at 12:30 p.m.

Green, author of "A Personal Country," was born, raised and lived much of his adult life amidst the expansive hardness of West Texas.

Hershorn is a Dallas-based, nationally acclaimed photographer.

Jerry Coffee, TV editor of the Fort Worth Star Telegram, describes the film as "disarmingly simple, direct and unpretentious. It consists of a stringing together of Hershorn's marvelous pictures to evoke a bit of the scenery and flavor of West Texas, with an informal conversation between author or Greene and KERA's public affairs director Jim Lehre, filmed in a cowlot on a cold, breezy autumn day . . ."

Progresses in

passed, said in the planning and community awareness of utility rights-of-way, appraisals will not deal with appraisal and condemnation procedures. Boos pointed out that utility companies will still have the power of condemnation to acquire land, regardless of the bill's passage.

Utility companies acquire rights-of-way through condemnation when negotiations, easements or purchase fails. In general, condemnation can take place in probate or circuit court. In probate court, a three-member commission of local residents is appointed who decide the necessity, and the compensation for the property. In circuit court, a 12-man jury determines the same things. Boos stressed that people should not be afraid to represent themselves in court. The judge does not have as much to say about the condemnation as do the three-man commission or 12-man jury.

Several appraisers are used to establish the "fair market value" of a property. Boos defined fair market value as the current market value plus residual damage. Some of the problems with appraisal estimates were disclosed at the meeting.

Two appraisers with exactly the same training and experience could have a 200 percent differential in appraisals on the same piece of property, explained Boos. He said that perhaps the state should have certified appraisers who would be independent of either of the contending parties. Rep. Sharpe said that the townships wouldn't want state appraisers any more than they want state assessors. In Michigan, he said, property owners are pretty well-off in terms of fees paid for rights-of-way.

Boos said that there are now nine different condemnation laws. He suggested that all of them should be repealed and replaced by one or two laws. The law revision committee has been working on it, but it is a very complicated process, Boos explained.

Protecting the individual landowner in negotiation with utility companies is often needed but not brought to the attention of the PSC. It is only the people that give the utility companies a hard time that get their day in court. Many innocent people cooperate with the persuasive coercion of "utility land buyers without ever going to court. A badmasher pointed out that these are the people that end up losing.

Bill Van Riper also mentioned the utility company practice of buying a right-of-way 10 or 11 years before the utility company completes the project. Boos admitted that legislation should be drafted to require that rights-of-way be used within a given time limit of maybe three years. He said that there are a lot of things the PSC doesn't learn about which are unfair.

Rep. Sharpe offered to introduce a bill which would stop the coercing of landowners if the PSC could come up with one.

John Tandy, of 7045 Hankerd Rd., Gregory, was reported to have said, "I'm mad. I've sat here all evening and no one has mentioned the real problem. What's going to happen to our countryside after it is raped by the Golden Towers of Edison? The quality of our life is deteriorating because these companies use the cliches of efficiency and tax saving. They are desecrating the land and they'll never stop until they are forced to. Local government should look into this and force alternate ways. We end up paying for the efficiency, not the utility companies. We should stop accepting their word that the projects are necessary."

Boos was sympathetic but replied that priorities have to be established. We might have an energy shortage by 1972, he pointed out, of all forms of energy leading to fewer appliances such as air conditioners, etc.

Following the recommendation of Sen. Bursley and Rep. Sharpe, it was decided that the Committee on Utilities Rights-of-way issue should meet and try to make suggestions for legislation based on the discussion at the meeting to help improve the problems.

WATCH WAX

Although nothing does so much to enhance the beauty of a furniture finish as a fresh waxing, occasionally wash your furniture to remove heavy wax build-up. Wash a section at a time, using a sudsy solution of warm water and a good detergent or soap flakes. Rinse your cloth off and always follow the wood grain with your strokes. After the surface is thoroughly dry, you are ready to re-wax or polish. Do not wash furniture that has been finished only with oil.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT

It seems ages ago, but do you recall Astronaut John Glenn's TV press conference following his first orbital flight? When asked if he said a special prayer before his journey into space, he replied, "No." . . . Maybe you remember how he said, in effect, religion was a daily habit with him, not something to be turned on or off like a water faucet when needed.

His statement is worth remembering . . . Any clergyman will tell you it is never too late to turn to religion, even in times of turmoil or stress. And, have you ever noticed those who have happy, confident, every day smiles are usually those who adhere to their beliefs in every day living?

Some call it prayer in time. Because time never stands still, it is worth remembering that in any one's life time, it is never too late . . . BURGHARDT FUNERAL HOME, 214 East Middle St., Chelsea, Mich. Phone GR 5-4141.

Baseball Most Popular of Rec. Activities

Next will be the last week of the five-week Summer Recreation Program except for the evening Little League and T-Ball games which will be completed the first week in August.

Of all the activities, baseball has been the best attendance puller and the young children's games the worst. If not not enough children show up for the young children's games next week, the session will be cancelled.

Baton classes are going strong according to Sue Blaess, the instructor.

Tennis lessons have picked up, and a boys' and girls' tournament is planned after the program ends, details to be announced.

State Fair Entry Deadline Date Extended

The entry deadline for all exhibits at the Michigan State Fair has been extended from Aug. 1 to Aug. 10, it is announced by E.J. (Jeff) Keirns, general manager.

Keirns said his decision to extend the deadline was due to a delay in the delivery of the printed premium lists to the State Fair. These now are being mailed to exhibitors.

Others desiring to be placed on the mailing list may write the Michigan State Fair, Detroit 48203. Since there are three sections of the premium book—agriculture and livestock, horse show, and community art—requests should indicate which sections are desired, Keirns said.

An all-time high $165,000 in premiums is being offered at this year's State Fair which will be held in Detroit from Aug. 28 through Sept. 7 (Labor Day).

National Farm Safety Week Designated

President Nixon has designated the week of July 19 as National Farm Safety Week. Recent statistics show that the number of accidental deaths in agriculture is second only to that of the construction industry. This is a tragic record.

President Nixon has asked "all farm families and every person and group allied with agriculture, to make every effort permanently to reduce the number of accidents which occur at work, in homes, at recreation, and on the roadways.

We owe it to ourselves to work and live safely. Each of us has an obligation to carry the message of accident prevention and safety to others.

Keep the following safety hints in mind:

- Keep all guards and shields in place when operating machinery and power tools of any kind.
- Equip your tractor(s) with a protective frame.
- Be prepared for emergencies

Medicare Medical Care Premium Increases July 1

On July 1 the basic monthly premium paid by people enrolled for the medical insurance part of Medicare increased from $4 to $5.30, reflecting the rising costs of medical care in the country.

The increase is necessary to keep the medical insurance program on a pay-as-you-go basis, according to Robert A. Kehoe, social security district manager in Ann Arbor.

The $4 basic premium rate has been in effect since April 1968. Actual costs of the program, however, have shown that the rate should have gone up to about $4.70 in July 1969, Kehoe said. Because the premium wasn't changed then, the program has had to draw upon reserve funds.

Approximately half of the increase starting in July is needed to finance the insurance program as it is working now. The balance of the increase will cover higher costs anticipated in the 1970-71 premium period.

"Even though the premium rate is going up, Medicare medical insurance is still a bargain for older people," Kehoe said. "Purchasing comparable coverage through a private insurance company would be many times more expensive."

Medical insurance under Medicare costs twice the amount beneficiaries pay. The premiums of participants cover half the cost of the program. The other half is paid out of general Federal revenues.

Medical insurance pays for doctors' services, certain medical supplies, diagnostic tests, and certain laboratory and x-ray services.

The medical insurance part of Medicare is financed on a short-term basis. Under the law, the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare must determine each December the premium rate that will apply during the 12-month period beginning the next July 1.

Personal Notes

There eventually comes a time when one gets tired of work.

Funeral services were held Monday, July 20, at 2 p.m. from the Staffan Funeral Home with Rev. T. B. Thodeson officiating. Burial followed in Vermont Cemetery, Chelsea.

DEMOLITION of the Old Junior High, (former grade school, high school and gym) on Park St. is getting underway this week. A contract has been signed with the Progress Wrecking Corp. to do the job for $16,350. Take one last look at the historic old building because it won't be around much longer.

Vincent Dorer, 6751 Werkner Rd., has recently been promoted to the position of plant manager of the Chelsea division at Federal Screw Works. Dorer, who has worked there since 1940, has risen from line inspector to chief inspector to director of quality control to his new office. The president of Federal Screw Works, B. L. Norton, announced the promotion, effective as of July 1.

In considering which lakes to choose, the criterion of the maximum public boating potential with the least interference to local property owners will be the key. The assistant director of the Department of Natural Resources has assured Rep. Sharpe that, according to this requirement, Independence Lake, Cavanaugh Lake, and Pleasant Lake would have a very low priority for land acquisition.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

by GARY A. KLEINHENN

Michigan Farm Bureau

★ Over the Back Fence

Visiting over the back fence with your neighbor is a time honored tradition in the city for the development of understanding and friendships. But in the farmer's situation, he's got to talk pretty loud to be heard. For the farm family, about all the back fence can bring them is a scenic view of the countryside. It's a sure bet that talking to oneself doesn't build understanding for the farm industry with the urban folks. In fact, rural-urban relations, it has long been believed, have needed more cultivation than the distance of miles from country to town can provide.

Agriculture has long been in action on this point. There are farm tours with city families, rural-urban dinners throughout the counties of the state, and again there are the fairs, about 85 of them this year in Michigan, plus there are many, many community club activities that work to pique the curiosity of urbanites to the fact that there really is a thriving agriculture working to improve the quality of our living through healthy food and active participation in community events.

Trouble is . . . in telling the story of farming, the degree of progress in promoting understanding has been near impossible to measure. In other words, folks didn't know if anyone was listening and such things as public relations programs were coined with the distinction of the hard to answer question, how did we do?

However, on the positive side, according to a recent Gallup International survey of non-farm residents over in New Jersey, farmers do have a good public image. We like to believe the same is true here at home. The survey showed that non-farmers look upon farm people as hard-working, friendly, honest and contributing more than their share to the state's economy.

A pleasing surprise is that the "Garden Staters" seemed to be well informed about the farmers; financial, weather, labor shortage, high production costs, high taxes, encroachment of development land and didn't blame them for rising food prices.

Yes sir, evidence shows agriculture is gaining understanding from his city cousin. If it sounds as if farmers are tooting their horn a little bit, perhaps it's true, but after all, from the farmer's side of the fence it's been a long dry spell.

DIES PROTECTING KIDS

Sylmar, Calif. —John P. Erratchuo, who acted as a decoy to protect a group of school children from a panicked bull, died of injuries suffered when the 1,500-pound animal attacked and gored him. The bull apparently had escaped from a pen as the school children walked into its path.

SPORTS CORNERBoondocks Golf Tourney Starts Aug. 1

Several Chelsea area golfers are expected to participate in the season's biggest golf tournament at the area's newest golf course.

The tournament is the Boondocks Classic and play begins July 25 with qualifying rounds to be shot any time at the player's convenience for the next seven days.

Final rounds will be held Aug. 1 and 2. The new course is located on Curtis Rd., 4 miles southeast of the village of Grass Lake. Players may enter either 9- or 18-hole divisions and all entrants not qualifying for the championship will be placed in handicapped flights. All competition will be on a medal play—total strokes—basis for the final two rounds.

There will be separate divisions for Junior Golfers and for women. Prizes or trophies will be awarded to winners and runners-up in each flight.

Entry fee of $6 for the nine-hole divisions includes three 9-hole rounds of golf; the $8 entry fee for the 18-hole division includes three 18-hole rounds. All prize funds and other fees are included in these entry fees.

Reserved starting times for all rounds may be obtained. Further details are available by calling the pro shop of the Boondocks Golf Course, (517) 522-4245.

ARMSTRONG & SPACE

Space Center, Houston—The first man on the moon, Neil Armstrong, 39-year-old spaceman who commanded the Apollo 11 moon landing mission, will become head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's aeronautics program in Washington on July 1. The move takes him out of the astronaut corps; but he'll keep his flying skills sharp by flying helicopters, jets and sail planes.

MCCORMACK TO RETIRE

After 42 years in Congress, John W. McCormack, Speaker of the House, is retiring. In announcing his decision, McCormack said he was retiring so he could spend more time with his wife who is not well.

Candidates Told Highway Signs Are Prohibited

Lansing—The State Highway Commission is asking candidates for public office to refrain from posting their advertising signs within the right-of-way of state highways.

Unofficial signs posted along busy highways detract and confuse motorists, constituting a driving hazard, Highway Department maintenance employees have standing instructions to remove all such signs from state highway rights-of-way and bridges, the Commission said.

Election years usually bring a flurry of political signs along state highways. Although rapid removal of such signs usually discourages further placements.

The Department of State Highways has jurisdiction over all state highway rights-of-way.

FOR MERCHANT MARINES

State Fair Offers Farm Animals For Kids To Pet

Youngsters attending the 1970 Michigan State Fair will have a first-hand opportunity to get acquainted with farm animals, how they eat, and how they feel, in the Kiddieland section of the Fairgrounds.

The fair runs from Friday, Aug. 28 through Monday, Sept. 7.

Kiddieland has been expanded this year. A number of new "umbrella rides" have been added—miniature cars, boats, and motorcycles taking the kids for a jaunt under huge matching umbrellas. There will also be a small tilt-a-whirl, a merry-go-round, and even a small version of the you-drive-'em cars.

In the animal petting area, a number of tame young farm animals will provide fun for the kids. There will be no admission charge for this area.

E. J. (Jeff) Keirns, State Fair general manager, said he was delighted with the new animal petting setup.

"When the youngsters have had a chance to see at close hand and pet the animals they'll like the many other animal and farm exhibits on the grounds that much more," he said.

TONS OF WASTE

Washington—Americans soon will be discarding 48 billion cans and 26 billion bottles a year, according to a national solid wastes survey conducted for the Federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare. It was estimated 3.5 billion tons of solid wastes are being discarded annually and it costs $4.5 billion a year to handle and dispose of the refuse.

HEALTH REQUIREMENTS FOR LIVESTOCK EXHIBITED

IN MICHIGAN - YEAR 1970

(Revised April 1963)

GENERAL

Requirements provided in Michigan Department of Agriculture Regulations No. 110, 116, 117, 133, and Section 10 and 21b of Act 181, Public Acts of 1919, as amended.

1. Livestock affected with a communicable disease must not be exhibited at, nor brought to, fairs.
2. All exhibitors must furnish their own feed buckets, water buckets, and other equipment. Common water tanks are not permitted.

CATTLE

Cattle may not be exhibited from a quarantined premise or a quarantined area except upon permit from the Director of Agriculture or his authorized agent.

All Cattle Must Be Identified by Ear Tag, Tattoo, or Registration Number.

All native Michigan cattle must be accompanied by a certificate of record (Form 275) certifying to the brucellosis and tuberculosis status except the following:

1. Officially vaccinated under 30 months of age.
2. Native steers.
3. Sprayed heifers.
4. Free martins.
5. Calves under 12 months of age.

Free martins and sprayed heifers must be accompanied by a letter of certification from a veterinarian.
A Form 275 will be issued by the Michigan Department of Agriculture upon request, provided the following requirements are met:

TUBERCULOSIS

No cattle may be exhibited from a tuberculosis quarantined herd.

A. Cattle identified as not under quarantine and located in a modified accredited tuberculosis free area are not required to be tested for tuberculosis; or
B. Cattle identified as originating from herds not under quarantine and located in counties not designated modified accredited tuberculosis free areas shall be required to pass a test for tuberculosis within 90 days of the opening day of the fair or exhibition.

C. Cattle identified as originating from a certified brucellosis free herd blood tested within a year may be issued certificates of record (Form 275) upon request, based upon the certified herd status. Form 275 must accompany animal; or
D. Cattle identified as originating from herds not under quarantine located in a modified certified brucellosis area (county), the herd having passed a complete herd blood test for brucellosis within one year of the opening day of the fair or exhibition may be issued certificates of record (Form 275) upon request, based on herd status. Form 275 must accompany animal.

CATTLE FROM OTHER STATES, PROVINCES OR COUNTRIES MUST BE ACCOMPANIED BY AN OFFICIAL INTERSTATE HEALTH CERTIFICATE APPROVED BY THE LIVESTOCK SANITARY OFFICIAL OF THE STATE OF ORIGIN CERTIFYING THAT THE ANIMALS MEET MICHIGAN REQUIREMENTS FOR IMPORTATION.

HORSES

Requirements provided in Michigan Department of Agriculture Regulation No. 117:
All horses for exhibition must be free from infectious and contagious disease.

SHEEP

Requirements provided in Michigan Department of Agriculture Regulation No. 117:
All sheep for exhibition must be free from infectious and contagious disease.

SWINE

Requirements provided in Michigan Department of Agriculture Regulations Nos. 116 and 117:
1. All swine for exhibition must be free from infectious and contagious disease.

2. All swine for exhibition must be identified by ear tag, button or tattoo and be accompanied by a certificate signed by a graduate licensed veterinarian stating:
a. Name and address of owner, date of vaccination, and signature of the veterinarian.
b. Identity of hogs and statement of serum treatment within 30 days of show; or
c. Identity of swine and statements of vaccination with serum and virus, crystal violet vaccine or any of the lapinized vaccines, which are used in the prevention of hog cholera which shall have been administered at least 21 days prior to offering the said animals for exhibition purposes.

3. No swine shall be presented for exhibition purposes which have originated from any garbage feeding premise or that are in a quarantined area for the prevention of the spread of vesicular exanthema; or if a quarantine on the premise for any reason (except upon a permit from the Director of Agriculture or his authorized agent).

4. No vaccination required on pigs less than six weeks old if nursing a sow vaccinated with serum and virus.

DUANE LUICK, Township ClerkEdison Co. Explains Plans for High Voltage Electric Lines

William G. Meese, president of the Detroit Edison Co., has written a letter explaining the company's plans for constructing high voltage transmission lines through Bridgewater, Freedom, Lima and Dexter townships.

The letter, which was distributed to those in attendance at the July 16 meeting at Lima Community Hall to investigate rights-of-way, was sent to State Sen. Gilbert E. Bursley of the 18th District. Meese's comments stem from questions initiated by Gen. Dwight E. Beach, a resident of Lima township, who opposes the proposed right-of-way.

Plans for the project call for the construction of one line on 140-foot-high towers carrying 765,000 volts and a parallel line 135 feet away on 140-foot-high single poles carrying 345,000 volts.

Lima Township Planning Commission, with chairman William Van Riper and secretary Virginia Denham, has begun an inquiry into Detroit Edison's plan for acquiring rights-of-way. The questions they have raised based on Gen. Beach's complaints, followed by Meese's replies from the Bursley letter follows.

Lima: 1. "How many alternate routes through the area were considered by the Edison Co? Where were these routes? Were all routes evaluated in terms of environmental effects and best land use or was the selected route chosen for reasons of convenience and economy to the Edison Co?"

Meese: 1. "The Detroit Edison Co. is acquiring a high voltage transmission line corridor in the area of Lima township identified by Mr. Beach. Serious study was given to many alternatives respecting a route for this transmission line through Lima township and the selection was narrowed to three basic routes. The route selected in the corridor being acquired was for many reasons the best path for construction through the township. The route of the line was selected by the use of aerial photographs with consideration given to avoiding to the extent possible built-up areas, farm buildings, etc. We are satisfied that, based upon objective considerations alone, the route selected is the most reasonable one."

Lima: 2. "Why hasn't consideration been given to using existing rights-of-way already carrying high voltage lines in order to combine services and avoid additional scars on the landscape?"

Meese: 2. "The Detroit Edison Co. does not have any existing right-of-way wide enough to accommodate the planned transmission lines. The power line mentioned in Mr. Beach's letter is a wood pole 40 kilovolt line, whereas the planned construction in the new corridor is for transmission lines of 345 and 765 kilovolts and consequently required more space."

Lima: 3. "Is it feasible to carry transmission service underground as is now required for distribution service in subdivisions?"

Meese: 3. "It is not technologically feasible or economically possible to construct transmission lines of these voltages underground for any appreciable distance. This, of course, applies nationwide and is not limited to the Detroit Edison Co. service area. This is a complex subject, and additional information can be supplied if desired."

Lima: 4. "If overhead transmission is essential, in addition to combining the services and using only one right-of-way, why shouldn't Edison be required to use well designed transmission structures such as those designed by Henry Dreyfuss for the Edison Electric Institute?"

Meese: 4. "I have been advised that the structures supporting the cables will be steel poles of the most modern design and improved appearance. It is our belief that these modern steel poles will do much to eliminate the aesthetic objections to high voltage transmission line construction."

Lima: 5. "What effect will power lines of 1 million volts have on nearby television and radio reception? Can interference be expected for a distance of one mile? two miles? three miles?"

Meese: 5. "The Detroit Edison Co. has had experience in the operation of lines at 345 kilovolts. It has been the company's experience, supported by investigations and data from other states, that there is no TV or AM radio transmission interference due to properly designed lines of this voltage."

Lima: 6. "What are the dangers to nearby residents?"

Meese: 6. "The standards of construction used by the Detroit Edison Co. are well above and beyond the minimum standards of construction required for transmission lines of this character. With these standards of construction and the clearance area to be acquired by the company in its right-of-way acquisitions, we do not feel the construction of these lines and the operation at these voltages will present any unreasonable danger to nearby residents."

Lima: 7. "The Detroit Edison Co. has not contacted the Lima Township Board of Trustees or the Lima Township Planning Commission to discuss the project. Why not? Have governments of the other affected townships been contacted?"

Meese: 7. "Before commencing negotiations to acquire the transmission line corridor in Lima township, the reasons for the transmission line construction were reviewed with the supervisor of the township. In addition, Detroit Edison representatives specifically called upon the offices of the Washtenaw County Planning Commission and advised the Planning Commission of the fact that the company proposed to acquire right of way for construction of the transmission line in the identified area."

Lima: 8. "Has the Detroit Edison Co. consulted with the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners or with the Washtenaw County Metropolitan Planning Commission during the investigation the routing or are these groups advised after the fact?"

Meese: 8. "A question was raised with respect to the use of a gas pipeline corridor for construction of this transmission line. The Detroit Edison Co. transmission line engineers were aware of this pipeline corridor but could not even consider a combination use of this gas pipeline corridor because the pipeline did not travel in the direction desired. In addition, the gas pipeline corridor was on a diagonal, whereas the Detroit Edison Co. was attempting to follow property lines as nearly as possible in a north and south direction."

Lima: 9. "What legal rights and responsibilities does Edison have in acquiring land? Does the company have the right of eminent domain under state laws? How and by whom are lands appraised?"

Meese: 9. "There is reference in Mr. Beach's letter to the price being paid for the corridor. The Detroit Edison Co. attempts, as far as possible, to negotiate with the land owners on mutually acceptable terms for purchase of the necessary land and adjoining clearances. It has been our experience that by far the greater number of land acquisitions have been by negotiation and purchase, but it is true that in the event a purchase cannot be effected on mutually agreeable terms, the Detroit Edison Co., as a last resort, may institute a condemnation suit to acquire the remaining parcels of land. This, of course, is a right provided by state law in recognizing that the supply of electric energy to the public is necessary and in the public interest. The Detroit Edison Co. negotiates the purchase of land upon the advice and counsel of an appraiser familiar with land values in the area. Of course, in the condemnation case, land value appraisals will be submitted with respect to the value of the property both by the Detroit Edison Co. and the particular land owner involved."

"The construction of this line is related to the construction of the large electric power generating plant located in the City of Monroe. As you will realize, additional transmission facilities are necessary to transmit throughout southeastern Michigan and the service area of the Detroit Edison Co. the large quantities of electric energy that will be generated at this Monroe power plant site. The construction of this line is not directly related to the construction of the atomic power plant located in Frenchtown township in the vicinity of the city of Monroe."

Lima: 10. "Are sellers compensated for depreciation in value of land adjacent to the right-of-way as well as for the right-of-way itself?"

Meese: 10. "It has been the experience of the Detroit Edison Co. that the presence of a transmission line corridor does not deter the subdivision of land and the building of very attractive homes immediately adjacent to these corridors. The company has had studies made which amply demonstrate that very expensive and attractive subdivision developments have been located immediately adjacent to transmission line corridors. Perhaps many purchasers of homes appreciate the extensive open space that is available to them by locating immediately contiguous to such a corridor."

Dexter Township
Republicans Plan
Pot-Luck Picnic

State Sen. Gilbert Bursley and State Rep. Thomas Sharpe, along with the five Dexter Township Republican candidates for the Aug. 4 primary election will be in attendance at a pot-luck picnic to be held at Hudson Mills Park at 12 noon on Sunday, July 26.

The candidates and their offices they hope to be elected to are: John M. Tandy, supervisor; Gary Albrecht, trustee; Neil Franks, clerk; Mildred Hackney, treasurer; and Harvey Fischer, constable.

The picnic, sponsored by the Dexter Township Republican Committee, provides an opportunity for citizens to meet and talk with their local and state representatives. Fun and games for the whole family is planned, and refreshments will be furnished. Just bring yourselves, a table service, and dish to pass, urges the Republican Committee.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

Clem Webster came to the session at the county-state Saturday night with a handful of clippings. None of em were kind to the Nixon Administration, and most of em was dealing with what is wrong with Government in general.

Olem told the fellows he ain't heard much in the last few weeks about President Nixon's welfare reform bill, and he was of a mind it was time to drag that monster out of its cave. Clem allowed that any program that will cost $45 billion right off the bat, and run as high as $15 billion a year when it gets rolling had ought to get the attention of the people that's paying the freight.

The way he reads the column writers on this reform, Clem said, it comes out like piling more tax on folks now paying tax, and their ranks is growing powerful thin. Some Congressmen reported they is 25 million pore in this country, and present welfare ain't getting to but 40 percent of em.

This means, went on Olem, that the "reform" bill is really a way to get 60 percent of 25 million on welfare one way or another. The income floor deal really is tricky, Clem said, and it is rigged so that if a feller has enough younguns he can make $8,500 in his job and still draw $4,000 in welfare.

Ed Doolittle, that tries hard to see the Republican side of things, said he can't believe what Nixon wants can be as bad as what the Democrats had. Ed was of a mind that nothing in the history of charity, public or private, can top OEO and all them initials that paid out everything in salary to bums on the Government payroll.

But Ed said he still was worried cause Nixon was financing study of such subjects as the nervous system of Chilean squid, $200,000 for a three-year training program to make gunners, photographers and mine detectors out of buzzards, crows, hawks and jays, research into face expressions as a aid to communication, and a study of how the Australian natives sweat.

Even so, said Ed, it was the Democrats that got the giveaway steamroller rolling, and it don't seem right to jump on Nixon cause he can't get it stopped. And it bothers him, Ed said, that liberal Democrats in Congress is getting paid three times their salaries for making speeches agin Nixon all over the country.

Labels don't mean much in politics no more, Mister Editor. Didn't Grover Cleveland, a real Democrat, once say it was the people's duty to support their Government? Now Ed allows the Democrat platform is for the Government to support the people.

Yours truly,

Uncle Lew.

Mrs. C. Jerry Picklesimer

Mary E. Steele, Jerry Picklesimer Wed at St. Mary Catholic Church

Miss Mary Ellen Steele, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Steele, Sr., 13877 Old US-12, and C. Jerry Picklesimer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ishmael Picklesimer, 460 North St., were united in marriage Saturday, July 18, at 12 noon in St. Mary Catholic church with the Rev. Francis B. Wahowiak officiating. Bill Hamer played the organ and Christine Alber sang the theme song from Romeo and Juliet, "A Time for Us."

The bride wore an empire-waist, A-line gown of white organza over taffeta with a scalloped wedding ring collar, long tapered sleeves, and an attached chapel train. Alencon lace accented the bodice, skirt and sleeves. The bride carried a bouquet of white cascading bridal roses and ivy with a center white orchid later used for a going-away corsage.

Maid of honor for the ceremony was sister Diane Steele who wore an empire-waist, straight skirted peach organza over taffeta dress with a slightly scooped neckline, long sheer sleeves, and an attached flowing train with a bow at the back. White lace accented the bodice and cuffs.

Sisters of the bridegroom, Miss Linda Picklesimer and Miss Rita Picklesimer, along with Miss Roberta Paul, 420 Garfield St., served as bridesmaids in dresses identical to that of the maid of honor. They carried nosegays of peach roses and carnations.

Best man for the ceremony was Ted Picklesimer, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers included brother of the bride, Tom Steele, Paul Stahl and Jerry Whitaker of Chelsea. Christopher Steele, younger brother of the bride, served as junior usher, and Jane Wood, a cousin of the bride, served as flower girl in an identical outfit to that of the bridesmaids and maid of honor.

Mrs. Steele, mother of the bride, chose a turquoise sleeveless sheath with matching coat and shoes for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Picklesimer was attired in a yellow sleeveless polyester knit dress with yellow short-sleeved

Durable Press Fabrics Present Laundry Problems

This is the age of durable press clothes—much to the relief of most homemakers. Durable press finishes, however, require special considerations, says Mrs. Helen Fairman, Extension Home Economist for Washtenaw, Monroe and Lenawee counties.

For instance, you may find that durable press clothes are warm, because the fabric is non-absorbent. They sometimes irritate the skin, unless they are laundered before they are first worn. And they may wear out faster than similar non-durable press clothing.

Above all, Mrs. Fairman says, soiling and staining are major concerns.

"Soil can be picked by durable press clothing during the laundry process," she says. "Durable press items are also very susceptible to oily soiling. If this oil is not entirely removed during the laundering, a build-up on the fabric can cause graying, or a grimy look."

A new bulletin from the Co-operative Extension Service discusses some of the laundry methods with which most housewives are familiar.

Special pre-soak detergents, the bulletin explains, sometimes work better than some regular detergents, especially on all-cotton fabrics. Repeated soaking may be necessary, however, and this makes laundry a much more drawn-out affair.

On the other hand, regular detergent and bleach used as pre-soak agents, may be just as effective.

Hot water is sometimes needed to remove especially heavy stains, and is often used for oily stains. But, hot water can actually spread and set oily stains. It's always a good idea to sponge the oil stain with a safe cleaning fluid first.

To reduce wrinkling, wash and dry smaller loads, the bulletin suggests. But this requires more time, energy and money. The decision you make in choosing laundry methods depends on just how much time, money, and energy you feel the job is worth.

The bulletin, which is available from your county extension office in the County Building, says that the result you want with your laundry and durable press clothes, should balance with the commitment you can and should give to clothing care.

lance coat, and matching yellow shoes.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 4564 Madison St., Manchester. Miss Nannette Tandy cut the cake; Mrs. John Steele, Jr., sister-in-law of the bride poured punch; Miss Sarah Taylor and Miss Kathy Grob attended the guest book; and Miss Nancy Mshar, cousin of the bride, took care of the gifts.

In a light blue polyester sleeveless A-line dress with white lace bib and round collar, the bride left on the couple's week-long wedding trip to New York State. They will reside at 7525 Jackson Ave., Apt. 3, Dexter, after July 27.

The bride graduated from Chelsea High school in 1969 and is employed at the Chelsea State Bank. The bridegroom, a 1968 Chelsea High school graduate, enlisted in the service in January, 1969, from which he was honorably discharged in April of the same year. He is employed at North American Rockwell Corp.

Mrs. Kim Alan Schrotenboer

Susan Holmes, Kim Schrotenboer Speak Vows at Holland Seminary

Miss Susan M. Holmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley K. Holmes, 146 E. Middle St., and Kim Alan Schrotenboer, 77 Honey Creek Rd., Ada, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schrotenboer, of Grand Rapids, were married Saturday, July 18, at 3:30 p.m. in Western Theological Seminary, Holland.

The Rev. Frank J. Shearer of Beechwood Reformed church in Holland performed the ceremony and Mrs. Dwight MacKerron sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride wore a floor-length gown of ivory pearl de sole silk with seed pearl embroidery on the alencon lace, which bordered the neckline, sleeves, and bodice to the fitted waist. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanotis, baby's breath and ivy, and wore a veil of illusion secured by a band of alencon lace petals.

Matron of honor was Mrs. R. M. Hall, sister of the bride, from Gainesville, Fla. She wore a deep pink and turquoise plaid floor-length satin gown and carried three deep pink Duchess roses.

Bridesmaids Mrs. James Tilney of Collinsville, Conn., Mrs. Dwight MacKerron of Allston, Mass., Miss Jean Williams of Boston, Mass., and Miss Suzanne Reber of Washington, D.C., all friends of the bride, carried one deep pink Duchess rose and dressed identically to the matron of honor.

Best man for the ceremony was the brother-in-law of the bridegroom, John Burggraaff of Holland. Ushers included Dudley Holmes, Jr., of Ann Arbor, brother of the bride; Herbert Postma of Jenison; and Kenneth and Clarence Ritsema of Grand Rapids.

Mother of the bride, Mrs. Holmes, chose a deep pink silk linen ensemble with matching accessories and a corsage of one pink cymbidium orchid and ivy. The mother of the bridegroom wore a turquoise raw silk ensemble with matching accessories and one pink cymbidium orchid with ivy.

Funds in Most Banks Insured By Federal Agency

The sign at the local bank reads, "Each depositor insured to $20,000 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation." And that means quite a lot to the depositor.

"All but two of Michigan's 68 banks are insured by the FDIC," says Lucile Ketchum, Michigan State University home management specialist.

Savings and loan associations have a different sign. It states, "Safety of your savings insured up to $20,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation."

The FDIC and FSLIC are independent agencies of the federal government; established by acts of Congress during the 1930's. They insure the safety of depositors and thereby maintain sound conditions in the nation's monetary systems.

Depositors do not pay for the insurance protection on accounts. The bank or savings and loan association pays the cost of the insurance through semi-annual assessments on its deposits, says Miss Ketchum. Insurance protection is provided for checking accounts, savings accounts, time certificates of deposit and other kinds of accounts.

To protect depositors against loss, each bank or savings and loan association approved for deposit insurance must meet certain standards. Regular examinations by federal and state agencies determine whether they are meeting the necessary standards.

If an insured bank or savings and loan association must liquidate, the FDIC or the FSLIC is promptly on hand with cash for depositors. Payments usually begin within 10 days after the final closing of the bank. Such insurance protection is extended only to losses sustained by depositors through the closing of an insured bank or savings and loan institution. It does not cover theft.

Individuals cannot increase their deposit insurance coverage merely by dividing funds between several accounts in the same bank, the specialist says.

For example, checking savings accounts owned by the same depositor in the same bank are added together and insured up to $20,000. If the bank has one or more branches, the main office and all the branch offices are considered as one bank.

However, if a depositor has accounts in several different insured banks, the maximum insurance of $20,000 applies to each insured deposit in each insured bank.

Because of the variety of degrees in which a person may maintain an interest in deposits, it is possible for a person to hold, or have, more than one separately insured account in the same bank, says Miss Ketchum.

For example, John Smith and his wife, Mary, each may have an individual account insured up to $20,000. The Smith's son, Bob, by, may have an individual account, plus a joint tenancy account with his mother and another joint tenancy account with his father.

Thus, for a couple with one child, it is possible to have six separate accounts, each insured up to $20,000 by the use of individual and joint tenancy accounts. Other kinds of multiple ownership accounts are available.

Tension Can Be Dealt With If

We all "fly off the handle" once in a while. When these occasions arise, several simple practices will help you regain your composure, says Gail Imig, family life specialist with Michigan State University's Co-operative Extension Service.

If something is bothering you, talk it out with someone you can trust. This often helps you see your worry in a clearer light.

"Sometimes it's good to escape for a while when things aren't going right," Mrs. Imig says. "Read a book, go to a movie, or even go for a ride for a change of scene."

"But be prepared to come back and deal with your difficulty," she says.

Anger may give you a temporary feeling of righteousness or power, but it usually leaves you feeling sorry over what you have said or done. If you feel like lashing out at someone, try holding the urge until tomorrow. Meanwhile, busy yourself with something to wear off the excess energy anger builds. Undertake some physical activity like gardening, sports or cleaning. By the next day either you will have forgotten the trouble or will be able to handle it more rationally.

"If you find yourself frequently quarreling with others," the specialist says, "give in occasionally, even if you're dead right. If you yield, you'll find that others will also. This relieves your tension, and leaves you with a good feeling of satisfaction and maturity."

Try doing things for others if you find yourself worrying about yourself all the time. This takes the steam out of your own worries.

When a work load seems particularly heavy, and you think you'll never find your way out, try doing one thing at a time, Mrs. Imig suggests. When the big things are out of the way, the others won't seem so overwhelming.

If you expect too much of yourself, you'll feel frustrated, let down, and even trapped when you don't live up to your expectations. And don't expect too much of others either.

Remember that each person has his virtues, shortcomings, and values. Instead of being critical about the other person's behavior, search out the good points and help him to develop them.

"Believe it or not," says Mrs. Imig, "a hobby is really a very important thing to have. It gives you a chance to throw all your energies into something you really enjoy doing, so that you can forget yourself, and your worries."

The art of cooking does not end with the preparation of plain food.

Mrs. Ray Riddle

Sandra Kay Bauer, Ray Riddle Are Honeymooning in Colorado

Miss Sandra Kay Bauer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Bauer, 16920 Waterloo Rd., and Ray Riddle, 533 N. Main St., son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Riddle, 641 Sterling Rd., Jerome, were united in marriage Saturday, July 18 at 4 p.m. at the Chelsea Church of Christ. The Rev. Edsel Carpenter, cousin of the bride, officiated.

The bride was married in a floor-length, princess style gown with applied daisies flowing down the front, scattered on the long, full sleeves, and dotting the long train. She wore a matching headpiece and carried a bouquet of white gardenias and pink roses.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Lesley (Susan) Leggett, 223 South St. Her gown was a floor-length, empire-waist aqua chiffon creation with daisies anchoring the waist and sleeves. The headpiece matched the gown, and she carried a multi-colored bouquet of daisies.

Serving as bridesmaids for the wedding ceremony were Miss Patty Parks, niece of the bridegroom, from Grass Lake; Miss Cynthia A. Bauer, sister of the bride; and Miss Shirleen Riddle, sister of the bridegroom, of Jerome. Their dresses were all the same style as the matron of honor's dress, and each was in a different color. Cindy's was Nile green, Shirleen's was pink, and Patty's was in apricot. The bouquets were the same arrangement as the matron of honor's with the colors in the bouquets matching the bridesmaids' dresses.

Wendall Kruse served as best man. Ushers included Michael E. Bauer, brother of the bride; Lesley M. Leggett, brother-in-law of the bride; and Bill Riddle, brother of the bridegroom, of Grass Lake. Richard K. Bauer, younger brother of the bride, served as ring-bearer.

Mrs. Bauer chose a spring green and white sleeveless dress with yellow accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Riddle wore a lilac dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white roses.

No date has been set as yet for the wedding.

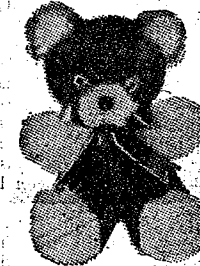

Fashion Notes

Many of the new play suits being shown for summer wear are of knitted cottons. Some of them have ducks or paper doll designs. Others are covered with flags or tiny figures one is accustomed to seeing on the play clothes of the very young.

Some of the coats for men are double breasted and have a fitted look about the waistline.

ON FOOD PRICES

Dr. S. Kent Christensen, vice president and chief economist for the National Association of Food Chains, said retail food prices this year will be 5.5 percent to 6 percent higher than in 1969. He said rising labor costs and higher transportation costs would cause the increase.

Straight Talk from DICK FAY About the Real Issues

TAXATION: In 1773 our forefathers held a "tea party" because of unjust taxation schemes, and I believe we are nearing a similar stage of revolt. The people are angry because they feel the tax burden is unfair, especially in the area of property taxes. My position is that there should be a more equitable formula worked out to equalize the burden of taxes. For example, a farmer should be taxed according to the profitability of his farm, rather than according to the alleged value of his land based on speculation as to its value when subdivided. Such taxation drives the farmer out of business because it makes his land too expensive. Similarly, senior citizens and others on fixed incomes should have their taxes adjusted.

EDUCATION: Demand for educational facilities has exceeded our tax base. It is time for new thinking. The biggest tax bite comes from the cost of building new classrooms. The cost of such building has jumped from $10 per square foot in 1958 to $42 per square foot now. I propose legislation which would encourage modular construction of schools which would permit easy expansion of classrooms. Such a system would eliminate soaring architects fees since each school and classroom would be uniformly designed, and a classroom could be fitted into place as needed. Additionally, I will support an increase in the taxes on public utilities. Since the profits of these utilities is guaranteed by the state, I feel they should carry a fairer share of the tax burden.

REPRESENTING EVERYBODY: I have received support from persons in all walks of life including farmers, factory workers, doctors, hardhats, lawyers and housewives. I am grateful for all of their help; I am beholden to none of them. I will work for the interests of all of the people, and where that means calling to task any group for whatever reason, I will not hesitate to do so. The era of special interest dominance in the district will end when I am elected.

SUB-QUALITY DRUGS ARE RECALLED

Every week the government issues a list of products that they would like taken off the market either temporarily or permanently. We have found that the majority of the drugs on this recall list are made by lesser known manufacturers whose products are not usually stocked by pharmacists.

When one of the larger well-known companies is listed it is usually at their own request and because they have found something in their extensive testing laboratories. The public is being protected by strict supervision of the medicines that can be dispensed, so you can have confidence in what your doctor prescribes and your pharmacist dispenses.

Lyndon Planners OK Amendments To Zoning Code

At the Lyndon Township Planning Commission meeting Thursday night, July 16, the Planning Commission voted yes on all three amendments to the permanent zoning ordinance.

The amendments concerned (1) decreasing the agricultural lot size requirement from the present 10 acres to two acres to build a home, and five acres to own limited livestock; (2) correcting a zoning oversight which zoned certain parcels of property as estate residential when it was actually farmland; and (3) issuing a conditional use permit for trailers and mobile homes based on a hardship case or a case of temporary living quarters while a home is being constructed.

The six-member commission includes L.D. Guinan, chairman; Gail Bauer, secretary; Duane Noah, co-chairman; Fred Klink; Jay Hopkins; and Carl Schoonover. They voted unanimously to adopt all three amendments except for one negative vote on the first amendment.

On Aug. 5, the Washtenaw County Planning Commission will vote on the amendments, and then it comes back to the Lyndon township board members for a final vote on Aug. 8.
