Sylvan Planners Hear Opposition to Livestock Auction

Michigan Livestock Exchange Asks Zoning Permit To Build Facilities

After a heated meeting of the Sylvan Township Planning Commission, Monday night, Sept. 28, it was the decision of the commission to adjourn the meeting until Oct. 5, in order to study the issue more clearly. The permit was taken under advisement.

The meeting concerned granting to the Michigan Livestock Exchange a Conditional Use Permit to construct a facility for the auction and private sale of livestock. The facility would include roofed livestock pens with concrete floors, offices, bleachers, public washrooms, parking area, and a small restaurant.

Michigan Livestock Exchange sold 68 million dollars worth of cattle, sheep, and swine, at auction across the state last year. There are 20,000 farmer members of the Exchange, 1,100 of whom reside in Washtenaw county. It is the hope of the Exchange to make this facility the central facility for their business activities. They are closing their facility in Detroit, and have opened several other areas, but wish to make the Chelsea Exchange the central plant. Edwin F. Steffin, attorney for the Exchange, from Lansing, spoke on behalf of granting the permit. Also present for the Exchange were Mr. Walton, manager of the Michigan Livestock Exchange, Walter Lewis, engineer, who spoke on the proposed disposal system, Stanley Harris, from the Michigan Department of Agriculture, who spoke on the operation of stock auctions similar to this proposed one, and Arthur Lindauer, architect, who designed the proposed buildings. Bill Ames, county agent spoke about the market in the area for such an auction in Washtenaw county.

The proposed site, which is on the Norman Hinderer farm on the west side of M-52, covers about 45 acres. It borders on three acres of land owned by Homer Kuhl. Kuhl, who is spearheading opposition to the move, spoke at the hearing also. He presented a petition, signed by more than 200 people, which opposed construction of the auction facilities. More than 100 people attended the meeting.

Monday's meeting, on Oct. 5, will begin at 7:30 p.m. It will be held in the Sylvan Town Hall, Chelsea. All interested people are urged to attend and speak their minds. (Continued on page eight)

Chelsea Community Hospital Is Organized, Now Ready To Serve

Bulldogs Post Big Win Over Dundee, 35-14

Chelsea Bulldogs defeated the Dundee Vikings 35 to 14 in an action-packed game Friday night, Sept. 25, at Dundee.

Both teams played strong defense the first quarter. Chelsea stopped a Dundee drive on their 18-yard line when Randy Seitz made a fourth down tackle in their backfield. Chelsea took over the ball, and behind the quarterbacking of Wayne Welton and the running of Tim Orthing, and Larry Gorton, the Bulldogs started an 84-yard drive to score.

The final ten yards were covered on a pass from Welton to end Jeff Hughes. Tim Orthing kicked the extra point, and Chelsea led midway through the second quarter 7 to 0.

The Vikings came right back, marching the length of the field with Bill Busch going the final 5 yards. A 2 point extra point was good, and Dundee led 8 to 7.

Dundee's kick was caught on the 20 yard line by the Bulldog's Larry Gorton, who behind the good blocking efforts of Mike Powers, Tom McKernon, and Tom Lukasiak, raced 80 yards for the touchdown. Welton passed to Hughes for the 2 point extra points, and Chelsea led Dundee 15 to 8.

The Vikings came back again to duplicate the score, by returning Chelsea's kick-off a sum of 86 yards for a touchdown. In that run, the Bulldogs had five good chances to tackle the ball carrier, but failed. The try for the extra point failed, and Chelsea led at half-time 16 to 14.

Dundee got a quick break starting the second half, by recovering a Chelsea fumble on Chelsea's 35 yard line. But Mitchell Heard came right back to recover a Viking fumble on Chelsea's 23 yard line. From that point, the offensive team drove the length of the field. Welton passed to Orthing for a 16 yard touchdown.

The high point of this series happened when Bob Salyers pulled a 26 yard reverse behind blocks from Dale Robbins and Jeff Bust. (Continued on page eight)

Physicians, Laymen Realize Long-Time Dream Come True

At a special meeting of the governing board of the Chelsea Community Hospital, Tuesday night, Sept. 29, it was announced that the new hospital facility is now open. The first patient was admitted Monday, Sept. 21.

The hospital which has temporarily leased for use the unused west wing of the Chelsea Medical Center, received a license to operate on Sept. 17 of this year.

The first moves to get a community hospital began five years ago, in 1965, when a group of concerned citizens in Chelsea met to form a study group to consider the medical care problem that faced the citizens of the community. St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, the hospital to which most area citizens must go in the event that they are in need of hospital care, does not have adequate facilities to provide needed beds for citizens of this community. It was the recommendation of the study group that an acute general hospital was needed. This recommendation was made to the physicians in the area for a more definite specification of what was needed.

A. Penhallegon Dies Suddenly Wednesday

Albert S. Penhallegon, 61, of 155 Shore View Dr., Crooked Lake, died unexpectedly at his home Wednesday, Sept. 30. He had been manager of the Budget-Wise Store, 116 S. Main St., for the past five years.

Born April 4, 1909 in Laurium, he was a son of Albert G. and Grace Ingersoll Penhallegon. He was married to Lydia Arnold on Oct. 1, 1939. She survives, as well as his mother, who makes her home with them. Also surviving are two sons, Richard A. of Kalamazoo, Thomas A. of Chelsea, and a daughter, Grace A. Penhallegon, at home; a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Tipadale of Detroit, and three grandchildren, Richelle, Philip and Jill Penhallegon.

Mr. Penhallegon was a member of the First Congregational church, and had worked with the Chelsea Boy Scouts from 1957 to 1967. He has lived in the area since 1963 and had been employed by Chrysler Corp. and had published a Shopper's Guide for two years before his association with the Budget-Wise Store. He also had been a member and past president of Kiwanis Club of Chelsea.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Friday at the First Congregational church with the Rev. Daniel Kelin officiating. Cremation will follow. Those desiring to do so may make memorial contributions in his name to the Congregational Church Memorial Fund. Envelopes are available at the Burghardt Funeral Home, where friends may call today.

Ultimately, through close work with the Greater Detroit Area Hospital Administration, and the area physicians, local citizens agreed that an acute general hospital would be premature at that time.

Indeed, the group decided that an extended care facility would best suit the needs of the community. In January 1970 the Chelsea Medical Center, or the Medcenter, as it is called, opened.

It soon became obvious that the hospital bed shortage which existed in the community was not going to be elevated. This summer, therefore, a group of citizens in the area got together, and a lay governing board for the Chelsea Community Hospital was organized. The lay governing board, which represents all walks of life within the community is chaired by Paul E. Mann, president of Chelsea State Bank. Mrs. Dorothy Miller is first vice-chairman, J. L. Bradbury, second vice-chairman. Walter J. Brown, is secretary, Bob Ludwig, treasurer. Harold Jones is the board's legal counsel. Other board members include L. D. Guinan, John H. Burton, F. W. Merkel, Dudley K. Holmes, and the Rev. Warner H. Siebert.

The present structure, which leases a wing of the Chelsea Medcenter, plans to conserve monies by maintaining the same administration as that of the Medcenter until the new facility is built.

A medical staff has been organized with Dr. Fisher being the chief of staff, Dr. Botsford, vice-chief of staff, and Dr. Wadyke, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Michael Papo, is the hospital's administrator. At present time the community hospital carries insurance coverage for third party insurances, Medicare, and Medicaid. Blue Cross coverage has been applied for.

New Owner Takes Over Patty Ann

Rena Johnson, 540 Chandler, is the new owner of the Patty Ann Shoppe, 118 S. Main. She opened her doors for business Tuesday, Sept. 22, after purchasing the business from Effie Scott.

Mrs. Johnson, who will be assisted in the store by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Bud Johnson, and her daughter, Mrs. Fred Powell, plans to retain the store's present format. There are no redecoration plans at present, although some changes will be made. She plans to make the store more of a self-service place, making the displays more visible. She plans to discontinue carrying shoes.

When asked if she will be carrying clothes for the younger set, (Continued on page eight)

HAROLD JONES, 701 Cavanaugh Lake Rd., displays the obituary file he started collecting in 1955. The file, which contains obituaries that date back to 1880 includes in many instances the cemetery inscriptions also. The collection is a result of a mammoth effort that Jones humbly labels a hobby.

Card File Obituary Index Maintained By Harold Jones

An important, but little known area of the McKune Library is a card file in which obituaries of people who have died in the western part of Washtenaw county from approximately 1880, are recorded. The obituaries are the work of Harold Jones, 701 Cavanaugh Lake Rd., who started the project in 1955, when he became interested in genealogies.

The file, which was discovered in June of this year by Mrs. Helen Kramer of the Michigan State Library, was microfilmed recently by Richard Hathaway, director of the Michigan Unit of the Michigan State Library. Hathaway commented that the collection is one of the most complete records in the state. Jones' file has been taken from current editions of The Standard.

ard from 1957, but includes copies of the obituaries from The Standard that date back to 1880. He has done extensive searching through a number of old cemetery records, noting graves and cemetery inscriptions where necessary. There are at present approximately 29,000 cards in all.

Jones claims the idea is taken from the card file he saw in the Burton Library in Detroit, but adds that the one in Chelsea is probably more complete. The file he says is very useful for tracing genealogies. Many people, some even from out of state, have come to the McKune Library in search of information on relatives.

Florists also use the file, Jones claims, as sometimes a florist receives an order to place flowers on the grave of a relative, without any instructions as to where that relative is buried. With the help of the file, the florist can find the location of the grave, and carry out the order.

Jones plans to expand the file, by branching into the Ann Arbor News. He has already started clipping obituaries from that paper, and estimates that in one year, he should have as many as 2,000 additions for the file.

Along with the card file of obituaries, copies of The Standard which were given to the Library a number of years ago, have been taken to Lansing for microfilming. McKune Library notes that it now has need of a microfilm reader to permit people to view these old copies, and save wear and tear on the older bound volumes.

Rec. Council Elects Officers

CHELSEA MILLING EXPANDS: The huge steel structure that is going up on North St., next to the Chelsea Milling Co., is a future finished goods warehouse for the company, according to Howard Holmes, president of the company. The building, which houses 36,000 square feet, was started Aug. 1, and should be completed by the end of November. Construction is being handled by the Henry DeKoning Co. of Ann Arbor. The building fills in the gap on North St., between the milling company's truck shipping warehouse, and the production plant. The steel frame was scheduled for completion by Monday, Sept. 28, with work on the roof scheduled to begin Tuesday.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

Personal, Mister Editor, I ain't never had a craven for none of that hay in pritty boxes that was give such a bad name a while back, so I ain't in a position to say if the stuff is fit to eat. It was the opinion of the fellers at the country store Saturday night, tho, that by the time the cereal folks git done telling their side, the newspapers will be to fall for the hole business.

It were Clem Webster that allowed as how the papers usual git blamed for everything, and the number of vittims in corn flakes ain't no exception. Clem said he recalled whete, Department of Agriculture experts said a while back that newspapers was falling down on their job of explaining food prices to the public. These experts said folks could git more food for their money if the papers was to "put food prices in better perspective."

Even Ed. Doalittle, that ain't give up complete on being called in as a farm price support expert by the Nixon Administration, said he don't find much perspective in the papers, and he wouldn't know it if he got hit side the head with it. Ed was full agreed with Clem, tho, that blaming the papers for high prices is like cussing the bucket cause the well run dry.

Zeke Grubb and the rest of the fellers took up for the papers in this case. Zeke was of the mind that what happens to food prices happens after food leaves the farms, and cereal and bread is good examples. A loaf of bread in a pritty cellophane bag might have a nickle's worth of wheat and the rest of the 25 cent is paid for all the vittims, minerals, iron and them big words fer stuff that has been added. Zeke recollected the little feller that when he was told to say the blessing at breakfast he looked at what was in front of him and ask "fer corn flakes?" By the time the corn gits to be flakes in them little luminum boxes, allowed Zeke, the only thing fit to eat is the milk you pour on em.

Gitting back to the papers, Ed allowed they jest git the message from one place to another, and the cereal folks don't need to worry cause they got the names of this country, with em. Ed went on that dry cereal and TV is all a mama needs, to sleep mornings, so it don't matter how bad both is, they're here to stay. As long as the cereal commercials on TV keep the younguns happy eating the stuff, everybody's happy, was Ed words.

Personal, Mister Editor, I think the cereal commercials helps everybody too. When I see some pritty gal on TV telling me that a glass of someone's milk is better than a glass of store-bought nutrition. So I reckon cereal ain't a total loss even for my generation.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Postage Skyrockets

In 1965, members of the Michigan House spent $16,000 of state money to mail letters and literature to their constituents.

In 1966, the total increased nearly five times to $76,500. In 1967, it subsided slightly to $68,500 but in 1968 it skyrocketed to $222,000.

It slid down to $150,000 in 1969, but by the August primary, this year's total stood at $238,000—an average of better than $2,000 per House member.

It didn't take too much analysis to come up with the fact that every increase came during an election year. That gave some observers the idea, which seems apparent, that some House members were using tax money to publicize their campaigns.

When the figures were disclosed, the House leadership moved to ferret out any blatantly political literature from any future mailings at state expense.

The lower chamber set up two committees to review mailings of both Democrats and Republicans from now on. The Democrats will be supervised by three Democrats, while the Republicans will be supervised by three Republicans.

The big push for the controls came from Republican leader Robert Waldron of Grosse Pointe, who said he was disappointed when the two parties were told to police themselves.

"This isn't quite as far as I wanted to go, but it is a step in the right direction," he said.

Waldron would like to see lawmakers who have already abused the mailing privileges be required to pay their postage bills out of their own pockets.

Mailing privileges are authorized because it is felt part of the duty of legislators is to inform their constituents in newsletters what is going on in Lansing. Some also use mailing to poll constituents.

But Waldron said the fact $76,000 was spent on mail in July provides "circumstantial evidence that the mails are being used for campaign purposes."

The most glaring example he cited involved a lawmaker who ran a successful primary race for a nomination to the state Senate and spent $3,818 in state money on postage in July. In August, his postage bill totaled $9.40.

Prisons Change

Prisons around the country and in Michigan long ago ceased being the dungeon-type places depicted in western movies.

The latest evidence for this continuing change and modernization comes from the Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson.

Inmates at the prison who keep a good record for themselves can now pick up a telephone and call their family or friends once a month.

Officials believe it is the first prison in the nation to institute such a program.

The inmates are just delighted with the new change in rules," says Warden Perry M. Johnson. "If the program works as well as it has so far, we might expand it to include even more inmates."

Under the system, honor prisoners are allowed to place one collect call each month to a person approved by prison authorities.

Special phones are available for the calls between 6 p.m. and 9 p.m. seven days a week.

The old rules only allowed prisoners to call home in the event of death or serious illness in the family. Those calls were monitored by prison officials.

Now calls are monitored only if prison officials have reason to think the prisoner is up to something improper.

"By allowing him more freedom to place calls and allowing him to make the connection himself, the inmate feels less dependent on the prison system," Johnson said. "It gives him more of a sense of manhood."

Johnson said the program is especially good for inmates who have difficulty writing or who are illiterate. About 25 percent of the Jackson inmates are illiterate, he said.

There are some men in prison who never get visitors," he said. "By allowing them to call home or friends, they can maintain important contacts with their community or family."

Thursday, Oct. 6, 1966—

Area residents are invited to "take to the hills" this weekend for the 11th annual color tour which begins this Sunday, Oct. 9. The color tour, scheduled annually as the autumn leaves transform the countryside into vivid shades of red, yellow, orange, and brown, will again be sponsored by the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce. The Chelsea Jaycees and the Jaycee Auxiliary will prepare another chicken barbecue in Pierce Park, with box lunches for eating in the park, or for picnics in scenic country spots.

Housecleaning in the Sylvan Township Hall last Saturday brought to light an unexpected treasure of ancient township records, many of them more than a century old. The old records were discovered when Maurice Hoffman, township supervisor, Claribel Hoppe, township treasurer, and Gerald Roberts, Washtenaw county examiner, decided to go through the large walk-in safe to see what records needed to be saved.

A fire of undetermined origin broke out at approximately 12:19 Wednesday noon inside a closet in an apartment located at 111 S. Main St., above the Kusterer Food Market. Chelsea Fire Department responded by sending three fire trucks to the scene. Although no estimate of damages was available at press time, Chief Gaken said that all the clothes in the closet were destroyed by the fire and that the apartment suffered some smoke damage.

Hunters had reported to Chelsea police that they believed a man seen in the Yokum Rd. area was the Jackson Prison escapee."

As a result of a gun duel last Thursday afternoon at the farm home of Grant Kimmel near South Lake in Lyndon township, between Kimmel, 66, and his stepson, John Sheets, a 36-year-old Detroit policeman, both were wounded and were taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor. Sheets was found to have a punctured right lung, the shot narrowly missing the spinal column. Kimmel was shot through both arms, the third bullet entering his mouth and passing through his cheek. The fight culminated a feud of 10 years standing when Sheets, acting on the advice of the sheriff and Mrs. Maria Peel, friend of the court, came to take his mother from the step-father's home, claiming she was continually abused by Kimmel.

Routine Traffic Violation Leads to Warrant Arrest

A significant felony arrest was made late Sunday afternoon, Sept. 27, when Chelsea Police Patrolman Peebles observed two young men without helmets traveling through town on a motorcycle. He followed them at a speed which was in excess of 80 miles an hour.

When the young men stopped, Peebles noticed that their vehicle had no license plates, or lights on it.

The driver who identified himself as Charles Edward Hale, Austin, Tex., had no identification on him.

Officer Peebles ran a check on him on the LEIN machine and found out that he was wanted on a felony warrant as well as a traffic warrant for defective exhaust, and a felony warrant in Saline for forgery.

Peebles immediately arrested the man, who is presently living with his parents at 19200 Clark Lake Rd.

The rider on the motorcycle, Wayne Robert Miller, from Tampa, Fla., was not arrested. Both men, however, were ticketed for not having helmets when riding a motorcycle.

REPORT from WASHINGTON

There is no shortage these days of opinions about the economy. "Experts" and their theories—abundant enough in normal times—hatch in bewildering profusion in an election year.

Politicians feel they are expected to know everything about everything and opinions are loose and ready in their holsters.

Moreover, cool analysis and balanced logic seldom survive long in the heat of an approaching political contest. So any citizen searching out alternatives is sometimes hard put to sort out the facts.

Our problems really started some years ago when Vietnam expenditures crept up to $20 billion a year. This spending—like all war spending—was highly inflationary because it pumped money into the economy without generating goods or service for that money to buy.

During this same period, the country was experiencing the greatest corporate merger movement in history. As the big fish gobbled up the little fish, price competition lessened.

Domestic government spending was also high, although this may not be as inflationary as some political speeches indicate since much domestic spending creates supply as well as demand. A manpower training program, for example, puts pay in the hands of trainees but also creates mechanics and nursing aides whose services can be purchased.

But indisputably, the Nixon administration inherited a badly overheated economy and properly set about choosing a medicine to cure it. The problem: Bring down fevered prices.

The medicine chosen was a traditional one: Choke off the nation's money supply. With money in short supply, demand would go down and prices would follow—at least, that was the theory.

It had worked before in our history and it might have worked again had there been no war and if price competition were alive and kicking in the basic industries. But when an industry—steel, for example—is dominated by a few firms and there is no fear that your "competitors" will undercut you, then you are going to protect profits by raising prices in the face of falling demand instead of lowering them.

And if profits stay healthy, labor unions are not going to be inclined to reduce demands.

Painful side effects

So the medicine had no effect on the price fever, despite increasing doses. Meanwhile, it was causing very painful side effects. Unemployment is high (7.5 percent in Michigan). Mortgage money is enormously expensive. Housing starts are disappointing. The stock market falters uncertainly. Urban programs are starved for funds. Needed Social Security increases are stalled because they would be "inflationary."

The war against prices is, in short, taking much longer than the administration thought it would. And for all this time, the burden of that war is falling most heavily on the shoulders of low and middle-income Americans.

That's why there is increasing clamor to try a new medicine, one that will spread the burden over a wider base.

Why not a special corporate tax on industries where power is concentrated in very few hands? That would increase revenue while encouraging competition.

Which is needed most?

Is it really necessary for the government to spend $1.3 billion for a supersonic passenger plane? Shouldn't the Pentagon budget absorb the next deep cuts instead of our health programs?

And are we really wise, at this time, to spend billions for a space platform?

Still, our basic problem is clear and we might as well say it out loud: prices are no longer very responsive to supply and demand. So we have to find something that they will respond to.

That means wage and price guidelines now with outright wage and price controls standing in the wings—a distasteful prospect to

State Scholarships, Tuition Grants Registering for Exam Before Oct. 26

Lansing—High school seniors who compete for state scholarships or tuition grants that will be awarded next year must register for the annual examination prior to Oct. 26, Acting Superintendent of Public Instruction Dr. John W. Porter has announced.

Registration is possible at every high school in the state. The examination will be given on Nov. 14 which is a Saturday.

More than 40,000 Michigan high school seniors are expected to take the examination, Porter said.

"Participation in this examination is the first step in the process of selecting State Scholarship recipients," Porter said. "In addition, it is the necessary first step for those high school seniors who wish to receive Tuition Grants for attendance at Michigan's private colleges and universities."

"State Scholarships are awarded on the basis of need, may be in amounts up to $800 per year."

Those of us who respect the efficiency of competitive systems. Meanwhile, I hope the White House will begin vigorous "jaw-boning" against inflationary price and wage increases.

It seems to me that the current medicine has had a fair trial. And there are other bottles on the shelf.

and may be used at any of the 90 approved Michigan institutions of higher learning," Porter said. "Tuition Grants may be used only at approved private colleges or universities—that is, non-state supported institutions—but amounts are the same."

This year's competitive scholarship examination will be administered at about 200 test centers throughout the state, Porter said.

Teen Rally Slated Saturday Night

A teen rally will be sponsored by Huron Valley Youth for Christ on Saturday, Oct. 3, 7:30 p.m., at Pioneer High school, Ann Arbor. The rally will feature former Youth for Christ International Campus Life Director, Bill Eakin, and outstanding recording artist Flo Price. The contemporary musical group "The Truth Revolution" will also be performing.

Bill Eakin is presently working as Campus Life Director of Metropolitan New York Youth for Christ. For 12 years he headed the Campus Life Division of Youth for Christ International. He has twice traveled to Europe and on one other occasion led a Youth for Christ teen team to the Orient. Bill Eakin developed the "balanced life" concept which is part of the core philosophy of Campus Life clubs. His sincere interest in youth, his width and his depth of understanding of the teen psychological make-up has led to his being much in demand as a speaker throughout the country.

Flo Price will also be included in the program. Flo has appeared as featured soloist on radio network and television gospel programs. She was formerly a featured soloist on the Jack Wyrzen Word of Life television program. She is an organist and pianist as well as singer and has composed several songs and choruses including "Let Not Your Heart Be Troubled," "Wandering Sheep," and "Gonna Wake Up Singing."

"The Truth Revolution" is a dynamic, youthful group composed of high school and college students. Their exciting sound and contemporary approach make them a favorite among teens.

Admission is free. The public is invited to attend.

Thank you to our wonderful neighbors and friends for their comforting hands and thoughtful expressions during the loss of our loved one. Thank you to the Rev. Registration
Deadline Nears

Lansing — You may have strong feelings on parochialism or who should serve during the ensuing four years as Michigan's governor, but if you are not registered to cast your vote Nov. 3... well, forget it.

Persons who are otherwise eligible to vote but who are not currently on the registration rolls have only until Friday to qualify for the general election.

Final day for registration is Oct. 2, says Secretary of State James M. Hare, the state's chief elections official. And he adds that they may register at the city or township clerk's office where they reside.

Aside from the important race for governor and lieutenant governor, there are also the very vital offices of secretary of state and attorney general to be decided. There is also a U. S. senate and 19 congressional seats.

And two seats on the supreme court will be decided by the electorate.

In addition, all members of the state legislature are up for election, as well as scores of local offices.

Three important propositions will be on the ballot. They include proposals to provide bonding for low income housing, granting the vote to 18-year-olds, and the aforementioned controversial anti-parochialism proposal.

New Series of Interviews with MSU President Begins on TV

East Lansing — Gian Carlo Menotti's enchanting madrigal ballet, "The Unicorn, the Gorgon and the Manticore," has its television premiere, Sunday, Oct. 4, at 10 p.m. on WMSB (Channel 10), Michigan State University television.

Commissioned in 1956 by the Library of Congress, the work calls for superb singing, playing and dancing in a series of melodic and highly imaginative madrigals, telling the story of a strange man in a castle who vexes the people of his town by parading about with mythological beasts.

The Washington Ballet, the performing entity of the Academy of the Washington Ballet under the direction of Mary Day, dances in the production. Students of the academy are preprofessional performers who receive their full education at the school in Washington, D.C.

Singing the madrigal is the Paul Hill Chorale, a group that has received national prominence with outstanding performances both public and recorded.

Directly following "The Unicorn, the Gorgon and the Manticore" is a performance of "Tom O'Bedlam," a choral work by Jacob Avshalomov, telling the story of a medieval "madman" named Tom.

Other WMSB highlights include: MSU PRESIDENT —

A new series this season features a weekly visit from MSU President Clifton R. Wharton Jr. on "Presidential Forum," premiering Tuesday, Oct. 6, at 7 p.m. As host for the series, Dr. Wharton explores issues and activities of the campus and community.

BEETHOVEN — "NET Festival" observes the 200th anniversary of Beethoven's birth with a program devoted to the composer's "Emperor" Concerto, Sunday, Oct. 4, at 3:30 p.m. and Tuesday, Oct. 6, at 11:30 a.m.

The major segment of the program will feature pianist Grant Johannesen, performing the "Emperor" (Concerto No. 5 in E Flat), with Erich Leinsdorf and the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

Also included on the broadcast is an informal studio session in which Johannesen demonstrates the "infinite variety of Beethoven's writing" on an 1804 Broadwood piano and on a modern Steinway. The pianist contrasts the sound and construction of both pianos, noting that Beethoven composed pieces that pianos of his day could not accommodate.

BIG TEN FOOTBALL — Jim Adams and Terry Braverman, WMSB sports editor and associate sports editor, respectively, provide exciting film highlights from the MSU-Notre Dame football thriller, Monday, Oct. 5, at 7 p.m.

Adams and Braverman also analyze the 1970 Big Ten championship season, which begins next weekend with the Spartans meeting the expected national champion, Ohio State.

JAZZ BALLET — "Chicago Festival" features an original jazz ballet dramatizing the rise to power of political demagogues on "Ritual-D," Sunday, Oct. 4, at 2:30 p.m.

With a highly stylized dance form and the use of two narrators, the dance features Chicago choreographer and dancer Gus Giordano.

Narration and score are by J. Mark Quinn.

DACHAU — One man's search for a fellow survivor of Dachau draws him inexorably into his own tangled memories on "NET Journal's" presentation of "Kaddish," Sunday, Oct. 4, at 4:30 p.m. and Friday, Oct. 9, at 11:30 a.m.

The film depicts the odyssey of Peri, who, in the streets of Tel Aviv, searches for his friend, Bach, a fellow Jew and survivor of Dachau. Peri remembers Bach as a free man, one who refused to crack beneath the burden of fear, one who refused to hate his tor-

A Juilliard School graduate, McDaniel received a Fulbright scholarship for study in Stuttgart, Germany, then made his operatic debut in Mainz. He sang with the Stuttgart and Karlsruhe operas and is now a leading singer with the Deutsche Oper in Berlin, as well as with the Munich and Vienna opera companies.

The picture of Salmon P. Chase appears on $10,000 bills, Grover Cleveland on $5,000, and William McKinley on $1,000.

Peri's search finally brings him to a mental institution, where he learns of Bach's recent release. Upon finding the spiritless remnant of his friend, Peri completes his painful journey by requesting that an old man in a synagogue say a kaddish — the prayer for the dead — for his friend, still living.

McDaniel is accompanied by pianist Robert Jones in a program of songs by Schubert, Duparc and Boyles.

The major segment of the program will feature pianist Grant Johannesen, performing the "Emperor" (Concerto No. 5 in E Flat), with Erich Leinsdorf and the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

Also included on the broadcast is an informal studio session in which Johannesen demonstrates the "infinite variety of Beethoven's writing" on an 1804 Broadwood piano and on a modern Steinway. The pianist contrasts the sound and construction of both pianos, noting that Beethoven composed pieces that pianos of his day could not accommodate.

BIG TEN FOOTBALL — Jim Adams and Terry Braverman, WMSB sports editor and associate sports editor, respectively, provide exciting film highlights from the MSU-Notre Dame football thriller, Monday, Oct. 5, at 7 p.m.

Narration and score are by J. Mark Quinn.

DACHAU — One man's search for a fellow survivor of Dachau draws him inexorably into his own tangled memories on "NET Journal's" presentation of "Kaddish," Sunday, Oct. 4, at 4:30 p.m. and Friday, Oct. 9, at 11:30 a.m.

The film depicts the odyssey of Peri, who, in the streets of Tel Aviv, searches for his friend, Bach, a fellow Jew and survivor of Dachau. Peri remembers Bach as a free man, one who refused to crack beneath the burden of fear, one who refused to hate his tormentors — until he was subject to sterilization.

Peri's search finally brings him to a mental institution, where he learns of Bach's recent release. Upon finding the spiritless remnant of his friend, Peri completes his painful journey by requesting that an old man in a synagogue say a kaddish — the prayer for the dead — for his friend, still living.

McDaniel is accompanied by pianist Robert Jones in a program of songs by Schubert, Duparc and Boyles.

Directly following "The Unicorn, the Gorgon and the Manticore" is a performance of "Tom O'Bedlam," a choral work by Jacob Avshalomov, telling the story of a medieval "madman" named Tom.

Other WMSB highlights include: MSU PRESIDENT —

A new series this season features a weekly visit from MSU President Clifton R. Wharton Jr. on "Presidential Forum," premiering Tuesday, Oct. 6, at 7 p.m. As host for the series, Dr. Wharton explores issues and activities of the campus and community.

Bullpen Ace Tom Timmerman May Win Tiger-of-Year Honors

Detroit—It's been quite a year for Tom Timmerman, the bullpen ace of the Tigers.

He has broken the Tiger record for appearances by a pitcher, rewritten the club record book for saves and thrust himself into the forefront for consideration as Tiger-of-the-Year.

What makes the 30-year old fireman's feats more amazing is that he accomplished all of them after a shaky start and a trip to the minor leagues, where he spent nine long years before making the grade with the Tigers in mid-season of 1969.

After Timmerman's first 12 appearances, his record was 0-1 and his earned run average had ballooned to 6.43. It looked like the sophomore jinx had taken its toll on the easy-going reliever when he was sent to Toledo, the Tigers' top farm club, on May 13.

But there his luck changed. A month and five starts later, his problems solved, Tom returned to Detroit to help pull a struggling club out of its doldrums with a string of clutch pitching performances that left Tiger opponents bewildered.

Timmerman was recalled June 8 and made his first appearance two days later, earning his second save of the year with two innings of one-hit pitching against Milwaukee. It was the start of a hot streak that saw the tall righthander reel off nine saves and two wins in his first 11 relief jobs, go unscathed in 19 of his initial 21 appearances and pile up 15 saves and three victories from May 10 to July 21.

The Tigers won 28 games and lost only 13 in those six weeks, and Timmerman, pitching brilliantly, had a hand in 19 of the wins.

On July 29, the Illinois native chalked up his 18th save against Kansas City, breaking Larry Sherry's Tiger record of 17 (earned under the more stringent save rule of pre-1969). Next to fall to Timmerman, was Sherry's club record for appearances—55 in 1966. The sinkerball specialist, even after spending a month in the minor leagues, appeared in his 56th game on Sept. 16, against the Cleveland Indians, to pick up his 26th save of 1970.

Marching in from the bullpen with a dazzling array of pitches that includes a hard slider, sharp curve and sinking fastball.

After 10 years—and a month—in the minors, he's making the most of his opportunity. And he shows no signs of letting up.

LOOK FOR DEEP HEMS

Learn to look for deep hems in girls' dresses and you can save money. Also look for interfacing behind buttons and buttonhole areas. It will help prevent the fabric from tearing. Deep-cut armholes, dresses without waistlines, and skirts with long tails will allow for growth and longer wear.

The distance between the pitching mound and home plate before 1884, when hurling was underground, was only 45 feet. It is now 60½ feet.

THE LANSING REPORT FROM senator GIL BURSLEY

LEGISLATIVE JARGON is often confusing to persons not closely attuned to the parliamentary process. Let me define a few of these terms as they are used in a state legislature.

SPEAKER. This has nothing to do with your hi-fi or stereo. Rather it is the title accorded the presiding officer in the House of Representatives—probably the single most powerful position in the legislature.

BOTTLED UP IN COMMITTEE. This does not mean that Coca-Cola or Hiram Walker have a concession in the State Capitol. It does mean that a presumably good or popular bill is being held in a legislative committee and apparently has no chance of being reported out.

ON THE FLOOR. This does not mean that Cassius Clay has knocked someone out in the legislative chambers. It can mean that a bill is out of committee and is before the House or Senate for consideration, debate and possible passage.

WHIP. This has nothing to do with a rodeo or circus. Each party designates a legislator as whip. His duties include seeing that his own party members are on the floor for key votes. He may poll them in advance of a formal vote to see how they feel on a bill.

STANDING COMMITTEE. This is not one where everybody is on his feet. It is a permanent legislative committee to which bills are referred in the Senate or House for study or action. The standing committee may kill the bill, amend it or recommend its passage. In either case, it is set up to investigate specific matters and make recommendations back to the following session of the Legislature.

GENERAL ORDERS. This term has no connection with the Pentagon or the National Guard. It refers to a point in the legislative process when a bill, already reported out from committee, is considered by the Senate or House acting as a committee of the whole when unlimited debate and amendment are possible and prior to voting for final passage.

ON THE TABLE. This does not mean that dinner is ready. It can mean that a bill has been reported out of committee without recommendation for passage. To receive consideration on the floor of the Senate a motion must be made to take the bill from the table. 20 votes are required—a majority of the senators elected and serving. When a bill is "tabled" in committee it is put aside into a sort of indefinitely postponed status.

CHANGE THEORY

Salt Lake City, U.—Experiments with mental patients and children show that releasing anger on punching bags or with toy guns in the case of children; does not mean that a person's aggression has been relieved and that he will be less inclined to fight in the future. The analysis was made by Dr. Lincoln D. Clark, associate professor of psychiatry at the University of Utah College of Medicine.

"In fact," he added, "mental patients who practice with punching bags just have better aim, and children who play with toy weapons have more fights than children who don't." The need that must be satisfied, he said, is removal of any threat to security. People may do this verily or physically, and according to Dr. Clark, "the former is much more acceptable."

The electric hairsetter has jumped from a new item on the market to one of the most sought. Nearly 6.7 million units were sold last year.

Senate Hearing Oct. 15 on Impact of Population Growth

A Senate hearing on the impact of population growth in Michigan will be held Thursday, Oct. 15, at the University of Michigan's Rackham School of Graduate Studies in Ann Arbor.

A Senate resolution, introduced by Senator Gilbert E. Bursley, (Rep.-Ann Arbor), created a special Senate committee to study the impact and trends of population growth in the state of Michigan and to consider actions including possible legislation to meet the problems posed by the rapidly increasing numbers and density of population in southeast Michigan.

The committee will study the population growth rate and its effect on the environment, education, transportation, recreation, housing, employment, public health, welfare, institutional care, law enforcement and pollution.

Members of the Senate study committee include Senators Bursley, N. Lorraine Beebe (R-Dearborn), Harry A. DeMaso (R-Battle Creek), James D. Gray (D-Warren), and John T. Bowman (D-Roseville). The hearing in Ann Arbor will also be attended by House members Representatives Raymond J. Smit (R-Ann Arbor), Thomas J. Anderson (D-Southgate), and Richard J. Allen (R-Ithaca).

"Skyrocketing population is the most serious long-range problem facing mankind," Senator Bursley said. "The earth's present 3½ billion will be 7 billion by the year 2000. The United States population will grow from more than 200 million to over 300 million during this period. Southeastern Michigan's population will double according to the recently completed TALUS and DOXIADIS studies. We must consider what this will do to our drinking water, to the air we breathe, to sewage disposal, to recreation facilities, and to congestion on our highways. The dollar cost to meet these problems will be fantastic and much worse if we don't start planning now."

"Hopefully, through public awareness and educational measures, we can change attitudes so that the rate of population growth will taper off," Senator Bursley continued. "There is time now to do things on a voluntary basis. I'm afraid if we shut our eyes we will face a problem in another decade where compulsory and mandatory measures might be suggested and I would hate to see that kind of society."

The committee hearing in Ann Arbor on Oct. 15 will begin at 9:30 and run all day. Although it is open to any citizen who may wish to testify or listen, many recognized experts on various aspects of population growth and population planning have been specifically invited. Testimony will relate, as well, to three bills introduced by Senator Bursley; two relate to limiting city and state income tax exemptions to two natural children born after Dec. 31, 1971 and the third calls for the creation of a permanent Michigan population commission. Similar legislative measures are under consideration in California and Colorado.

For And About Teenagers

THE WEEK'S LETTER:

"I am a girl of 16 and I have a bad problem. I like this boy and he doesn't even know I'm alive until we see each other by accident, and then he acts as if he doesn't know me. I smile and say 'hello' but he doesn't seem to care. I try to be friendly, but he just doesn't pay any attention to me. I liked him before and he found out and treated me as if I were dead and now it's the same thing."

OUR REPLY: If you think you have made a fair effort to speak first and be friendly, give the guy the gate and forget all about him. You think you can't do it—but you can. Next time you see him, look him right in the eye, but don't speak unless he speaks first. He will be waiting for you to speak, as you always do, and will be quite surprised when you do not. If he likes you at all, you can bet that he will start wondering. If he considers you just another female under the spell of his great charm, he will wonder why you are no longer so spellbound. If he doesn't like you at all and hardly notices you are no longer speaking first, what have you lost? Nothing from nothing leaves nothing. Give it a try.

If you have a teen-age problem you want to have discussed or an observation to make, address your letter to "For and About Teen-Agers," community and suburban Press Service, in care of this newspaper.

Driver Population Increases to 5.5 Million

Lansing—There are 5.5 million licensed drivers in Michigan, a 3.3 percent increase over a two-year period.

Statistics released by Secretary of State James M. Hare of a study of drivers indicate that as of May 1 this year there were 5.5 million valid licenses in the automated files of the Michigan Department of State.

Records of drivers in the central files numbered 5,724,945.

The number of male drivers is increasing faster than the distaff side. Male increase during the period was 4.155 percent, higher than the average, and more than one percent higher than the 4.338 percent increase recorded by Michigan's female driving population.

Average age of all drivers was 37 years old.

Average age of male driver remained constant, 36 years of age for both 1968 and 1970 studies, Hare stated.

Average age for male drivers dropped from 40 in 1968 to just under 38 years of age this year.

Frosh Grid Team Defeats Milan, 14-0

Chelsea freshman gridder matched their second win of the season Tuesday night, Sept. 29, with a 14-0 victory over a small but spirited Milan team. The freshmen were led by Tim Treado's two touchdowns, and the fine quarterbacking of John Houle.

The Bulldog defense played another strong game. A hard pass-rush and alert line play stopped the Milan attack. The pass defense led by interceptions from John Beeman and John Tandy, broke up the aerial threat. The combined effort earned Chelsea their first shut-out of the young season.

Treado got Chelsea's first touchdown when he blocked a punt and picked up the loose ball, going 35 yards for the score. This occurred on the third play of the game. The offense could not get untracked in the first half, but began to roll in the second.

Improved blocking by the offensive line, and tough running by Dale Poertner, and Marvin Guster spearheaded the attack. Second tally came early in the fourth quarter on a Houle to Treado pass. The same combination hit for the point after touchdown. Treado made several fine catches to set up the score.

Bulldog frosh are now hard at work preparing for their next outing. This will be a home game Tuesday, Oct. 6 at 7 p.m., against Willow Run.

Junior Varsity Gridders Down Dundee, 44-6

Chelsea's Junior Varsity football team was victorious over Dundee, Thursday afternoon, Sept. 24, at the high school field with a score of 44-6.

In the first quarter, Bruce Guster started the scoring on a touchdown on a one-yard dive. Tim Lancaster scored the extra points, making the score 8-0. Lancaster scored the second touchdown on a one-yard dive, bringing the score to 14-0 for Chelsea. The extra point attempt was not good.

Bruce Guster came back to score a touchdown on a 41-yard sweep, making the score 20-0 for Chelsea. Tim Lancaster scored the extra points, for a quarter score of 22-0, Chelsea's favor.

Tim Lancaster started the scores in the second quarter with a touchdown on a 54-yard sweep. The extra point attempt was not good, leaving the score at 28-0.

Dundee came back, scoring on an 85-yard slant. The extra point attempt was not good, so the score was 28-6.

Tim Lancaster scored with a six-yard dive to make the score 34-6. Bruce Guster scored the extra points, making the score 36-6.

In the third quarter, Dan Bertke caught a pass from John Mann for 32 yards and a touchdown. Tim Lancaster scored the final points in the game, making the final score 44-6.

There was no scoring action in the fourth quarter.

In the first half, Mark Grambeau recovered a fumble for Chelsea. Bob Elliot intercepted a pass in the second quarter, and Mike Robbins recovered a fumble. Doug Hillman also intercepted a pass.

The game was a good team effort, as Chelsea received some fine blocking from the linemen, Jeff Van Riper, Jeff Daniels, Dan Schultz, Mike Mickle, Dan Houle, Tim Johnson, Dan Bertke, and wing back, Jeff Marshall. Chelsea was led defensively by Mike Robbins and Dan Bertke, who recorded the most tackles. The Bulldogs travel to Novi this week, Oct. 13 to take on the Wildcats, who have won both of their games by a couple of touchdowns.

UPTIGHT SNAKE: John Wacker, 2450 N. Lima Center Rd., found this massasauga rattlesnake sunning himself in the middle of his driveway, Friday afternoon, Sept. 25. The snake, which measures approximately 18", curled around this stick to strike a pose for The Standard photographer. Wacker, an employee of Federal Screw Works, lives with his wife and two children, Larry, 14, and Tom, 13. Mrs. Wacker works at MacDermid, Inc. When asked what plans he had for the creature, Wacker replied that he'd show it to his children so that they would recognize one if they ever saw one again, and then he'd kill it.

East Lansing—Michigan State University chemists have devised a way to detect phosphate pollution in streams, lakes and oceans that is 10 times faster than previous methods.

Previous detection methods required a time-consuming procedure to differentiate between silicon and phosphorous complexes.

Bulldogs Post Big Win Over Dundee, 35-14

Tim Ortbring kicked the extra point. That brought the score to Chelsea 22, Dundee 14.

A tough defensive effort from Howard Treado, Rick Wescott, Tom Lixey, Mark Collins, and Jack McClear held the Viking team scoreless in the second half. Chelsea managed to score 2 more touchdowns, one when Captain Larry Gorton raced 71 yards from a drive up the middle. Ortbring kicked the extra point.

Quick thinking by Randy Seitz made the second touchdown, as he blocked a punt by Dundee on the 5 yard line, followed this ball into the end zone, and fell on it. The final score was 35 to 14 in favor of Chelsea.

Chelsea's defense team again scored 2 touchdowns in this week's game, as they did last week. Mitch Heard recovered two fumbles. Tom Lukasiak intercepted one pass.

Chelsea plays its first home ball game against Novi, Friday, Oct. 2, at 7:30 p.m.

Statistics show that about 75 percent of the men released from penal institutions will return to prison.

RICHARD AUSTIN, Democratic candidate for Secretary of State, and George Palmer, president of the Kiwanis Club of Chelsea, posed following the meeting Monday night, Sept. 28, at which teachers and their spouses, and wives of Kiwanians were honored.

Hosts Wives, Kiwanis Club New Teachers

Chelsea Kiwanis Club members hosted their wives, and new teachers in the Chelsea schools, Monday night, Sept. 29, at the Congregational church for their annual, "Teacher Recognition Banquet." Seven new teachers, and their spouses, were present, along with Principals Benedict, Conklin and Wojcicki.

The banquet is an annual event designed by the Kiwanis to make new teachers feel more comfortable in the community by meeting the businessmen of Chelsea and their wives in an informal atmosphere.

Democratic candidate for Secretary of State, Richard Austin, was guest speaker for the event. "Austin urged the Kiwanians to take a part in their community's politics as businessmen."

"Too often businessmen have been afraid of political involvement, afraid of the effect of political controversy on the cash register," said Austin. "They too often have limited their own role to that of occasional contributor of political funds."

"Service clubs, such as Kiwanis, often performed valuable service," said Austin, president of the Downtown Detroit Optimist Club, of which he was a founder, "and the ability to serve our fellow man, and truly relate to the communities which support our businesses, is severely limited unless we also join in partisan politics."

Austin is a firm believer in businessmen in politics. He is a Certified Public Accountant, senior partner in the Detroit accounting firm of Austin, Washington & Davenport, and an officer and director of several companies and institutions.

But, Austin, 57, is also Wayne County Auditor, a former Democratic District Chairman, served as delegate to Michigan Constitutional Convention, and received 49 percent of the vote when he ran for mayor in Detroit last November.

He was Michigan's first black CPA, in 1941, and was recently chosen for a three-year term of the National Governing Council of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

Following Austin's address, an announcement was made that dedication ceremonies for the newly named athletic field at Chelsea High school will be held at halftime ceremonies during Friday night's game against Novi. The field will be called the Jerry Niehaus Field.

Registration Underway for P P & K Event

The 10th annual Punt, Pass & Kick event will be held Saturday, Oct. 3, at the Chelsea athletic field. Beginning at 9 a.m., the event will be held come rain or shine, spokesmen for the P P & K activities say.

Deadline for registration is Friday night, Oct. 2. Any boy between the ages of 8 and 13 years old is eligible to compete. Registration will be at Palmer Motor Sales.

There will be first, second- and third-place prizes given to the winner in each of the 6 age groups. Winners will compete in the "zone" competition that will be held in Ypsilanti in a few weeks.

The contest involves punting, passing, and kicking a football as far as it will go from the contestant. A point will be given for each foot away from the contestant the ball flies, minus a point for each foot away from the center line the football lands.

The event is sponsored by local Jaycees in co-operation with Palmer Motor Sales. All boys, between the ages of 8 and 13 are urged to get down to Palmer Motor Sales to register for the contest.

Officer Nabs Three Men in Stolen Auto

Chelsea police officer John Detling was on midnight patrol close to midnight Sunday night, Sept. 27, when he noticed an out-of-state car, with a Massachusetts license, parked along the road. He didn't think too much about it at the time. Somewhat later Detling stopped three young men who were wandering the streets. They were all from out of town and claimed to be hitch-hiking.

When Detling saw the would-be "hitch-hikers" get into the out-of-state car (not one of them was from Massachusetts) he stopped them again, and was not satisfied with their explanations. Not being satisfied, he ran a check on them, and the car, on the LEIN, the computerized service available to policemen, which gives them information needed on any person who has been arrested, or is wanted on a particular warrant.

The automobile, a 1965 blue Volkswagen, had been stolen the day before at the University of Michigan, in front of the Michigan Union. One of the young men admitted taking the car, but no proof of the incident is available, hence no warrant.

Involved in the incident were Gordon Richard Moore, Montreal, Canada, 21, and Bruce McEachern, Jr., 18, of Ann Arbor. McEachern is presently living at a halfway house on probation for a former offense in Ann Arbor. A minor was also involved in the arrest.

Patty Ann Shoppe

Mrs. Johnson stated that she would have some things for the young, although, the basis of her goods would remain to be ladies apparel. She claims that she has avoided totally the mid-length styles.

Effie Scott, former owner of the business, plans to continue living in Sanford, Fla., where she and her son-in-law, Joel Kruse, formerly of Chelsea, own and operate the Big Dip ice cream stand.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

by GARY A. KLEINHENN

Michigan Farm Bureau

★ Saluting National Newspaper Week

Michigan's nearly 800 weekly newspapers and 56 dailies, Oct. 4 to 10, will observe National Newspaper Week. The theme this year will be "American Newspapers—200 Years of Freedom—1770's to 1970's." So, it is appropriate that agriculture salute these vanguards of freedom in joining with congratulations to the more than 10,000 nationwide newspapers.

Michigan Farm Bureau members of 58,000 families have established in their organization policy book this recognition:

"We are grateful to Michigan news media for their continued support, understanding and recognition of agriculture. We are most appreciative of those special services provided farmers—such as market reports and honest news reporting.

"We are aware of continued attempts to expand government 'guidance' within the news media industries, and compare these attempts with similar interference by government within the agricultural industry.

"In both cases, we believe the least amount of governmental intervention is best.

"Farmers oppose further government control of the news-media industry just as we oppose further supply-management schemes for agriculture. However, we note that in both cases the best defense for such attacks is the acceptance of self-responsibility and self-discipline.

"The future prosperity for farmers, we believe, depends strongly upon our success in working together to develop farm programs and facilities through which we can co-ordinate production with demand, rather than allow this privilege to pass to government.

"In similar fashion, we believe the news media must work together to maintain accurate reporting and quality business standards, and the acceptance of public interest responsibilities—both for the sound growth of their own industry and as the best assurance that they will be allowed to continue to operate with minimum government interference in the future."

Bonnie Wengren 8th in Exclusive Field at EMU

Bonnie Wengren placed eighth out of approximately 25 women at the Wolverine Invitational Cross Country Meet at Eastern Michigan University, Saturday, Sept. 26, with a time of 12:53 for the women's two mile event. This is a very good time for two miles. One of the runners she was competing against placed third in the country a year ago.

Sunday, Sept. 27, the girls track team traveled to Lincoln Park for a relay event. Bonnie ran her quarter-mile heat on the winning relay team in a time of 52.8 seconds. Janet Sibley, also on the winning relay, ran her quarter-mile heat in a time of 54 seconds.

A 440 relay team from Chelsea, which consisted of Janet Sibley, Pat Poertner, Sandy Notten, and Robin Terns, placed third at the event.

Robin Terns placed second in her heat of the 100-yard dash. Pat Poertner placed fifth

SUNDAY'S SERMON

★ Winning

Someone has said, of sports, "The race is never won until the final gun." How true—and how relevant to the game of life, as well, is this statement.

To try, always to try—how great is this virtue. Many of us stay with the pack so long as we feel there is hope, dropping quickly to the wayside when it appears there is little chance left to win. To the contrary, we should always renew our efforts as the chances of success appear less probable.

Hope is an incentive, but it has little value without active effort. One cannot hope to win and make it so. One must try. To give up hope is to expect defeat, to accept defeat before the race is ended.

When reason tells you that a cause is hopeless—give it another try. You are never out of the race until you cease to try.

Western Michigan University provided the first master's degree program for the preparation of teachers of the disadvantaged in the state.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

Sitting back and looking at the rules of the Chelsea High school system is disgusting. This business of hall monitors, hall passes, tardies for being 10 seconds late and a number of others like that are uncalled for.

For instance, say the bathroom is 10 yards from your classroom and it really is urgent for you to go you have to stop and write out a hall pass and have the teacher sign it along with the time you leave so you won't be expelled for being in the halls.

Also at lunchtime you have to either be in the lunchroom or gym (which they call the "recreation area"). Why can't the kids eat out on the lawn on nice days or even go up town? It's our lunch hour and it's about the only time we have to relax during the day.

Another thing that really bugs the students is the system they have for being tardy to a class. A student is allowed two tardies a year. A third one results in a letter to your parents. And a fourth one expels you till a parent conference is held. This is a ridiculous rule because some teachers send you to the office if you're 10 seconds late. And a few teachers if you aren't sitting in your seat it's down to the office for an admit slip. A lot of the students have a good reason, too. But they don't care. They rather just write you up for being tardy.

One more thing. Whenever the subject of vandalism is mentioned I have to laugh and this is no laughing matter. Last year I got about 25 girls together and during 5, 6 and 7 hours during our study halls (a few got out of regular classes) we cleaned the walls in all the girls' bathrooms. We really worked hard trying to scrub pencil, pen, magic marker and other marks off the walls. We did a good job and we never got a word of thanks from anyone. This disgusted everyone after we had worked so hard. Some of the teachers said that it was nice but, nothing came from the people who really count in the students' eyes.

County Commissioners Allocate $1,500 To Help Soil Conservation Unit

For the second consecutive year, the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners has appropriated funds to help support the program of the Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District. An appropriation of $1,500, was provided to the District in both 1969 and 1970.

Funds contributed by the County Board of Commissioners enable the Soil Conservation District (SCD) to carry out a greater number of conservation projects for the benefit of people in Washtenaw county.

The Soil Conservation District provides professional on-site assistance to people who want to do something about resource conservation. Through the SCD are provided the services of technically trained U. S. Soil Conservation Service personnel. They provide assistance to landowners for pond development, water management, erosion control, tree planting, wildlife habitat improvement and similar conservation land treatments. During the past year, nearly 400 landowners and others received technical conservation planning assistance from the District.

Chelsea School District Annual Financial Statement

Receipts and Disbursements - 1969-70

Board of Education July 10, 1970
Chelsea School District
Chelsea, Michigan

We have examined the statement of financial condition of the Chelsea School District at June 30, 1970, and the related statement of income and equity for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion, the accompanying statements of financial condition and the related statements of income and equity present fairly the financial position of the Chelsea School District at June 30, 1970, and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Iceman, Johnson & Hoffman
Certified Public Accountants

The Chelsea School District ended the 1969-70 school year with a net cash balance of $147,071 as compared with a net cash balance of $90,226 on June 30, 1969. The general financial condition of the school district compares favorably with the condition as of June 30, 1969. The physical plant appears to be adequate for the coming year with the exception of storage space in all buildings. The bus fleet is in good condition and with the delivery of new buses for 1970-71 the transportation program should be adequate for the school year. The present condition of the school district leads the Board of Education, administrators and teachers to look forward to a successful 1970-71 school year.

County's 1,400 4-H Members Celebrating National 4-H Week

Washtenaw county's more than 1,400 4-H club members are having a celebration this week. And they aren't the only ones, according to Duncan E. Sanford, Extension 4-H Youth Agent. The local 4-H'ers are joining more than 100,000 Michigan 4-H'ers and nearly 4 million others throughout the nation in the observance of National 4-H Week, Oct. 4 to 10.

What is the occasion all about here in Washtenaw county? Agent Sanford said the county's 4-H'ers will be participating in activities all week to tell the public and prospective 4-H members about the Head, Heart, Hands and Health program; also to recruit more volunteer leaders, recognize the support of parents, and to honor 4-H friends.

The county and national observe as its theme, "We Care." "Opportunities in 4-H are greater now than ever before," Sanford said. "Young people between the ages of 7 and 18 qualify for membership whether the live in towns, cities, or farms. Those of all cultural and economic backgrounds are welcome too."

To help call attention to their achievements during the past year and point out what 4-H offers Washtenaw county youth, several 4-H clubs have arranged displays and exhibits in their neighborhoods. Churches, civic clubs, and other organizations are being asked to promote 4-H by distributing "4-H Cares" leaflets.

In the modern 4-H program, Sanford said the major part of the 4-H story is project work. Members choose from some 100 projects dealing with everyday learning experiences that fit them and the places where they live.

Washtenaw county boys and girls were enrolled in 5,300 educational learn-by-doing personal development and community projects last year, the Extension Youth Agent reported.

The Co-operative Extension Service of the Michigan State University provides each 4-H club member with the latest research information and up-to-date methods for carrying on the projects.

Sanford added that National 4-H Week is a fine time for boys and girls to join 4-H and show they care about their future. His office is located in Room 116 of the County Building in Ann Arbor and his telephone number is 663-7511, Ext. 227.

Presidential Primary Heavily Favored in Poll Taken at State Fair

Lansing—Legal limits on political campaign spending, laws requiring full disclosure of all financial holdings of public officials, and a presidential primary for the state are favored overwhelmingly by the people of Michigan, a recent sampling of public opinion by the Michigan Department of State indicates.

In the same polling, taken at the State Fair, "voters" also were heavily behind a tightening of laws on tests for drunk driving and the laws regarding operation of motorboats, snowmobiles and the so-called "all terrain vehicles."

As one of the attractions at its State Fair exhibit, the Department of State set up an automatic voting machine upon which were placed several questions on current issues of state-wide interest. Visitors to the exhibit were given opportunity to cast "yes" or "no" ballots on the questions and a running tally was kept on their response.

Pride Is A Farm Pond

EDITORS NOTE: This is the first in a series of four articles dealing with ponds and pond site development. The series has been prepared by the Ann Arbor Office of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service to provide information on ponds to both potential pond owners and those who already have ponds. Some of the items covered in the series will be what to look for in selecting a pond site, where to get technical help in designing the pond, stocking the pond with fish, and over-all pond management tips.

By Clark A. Eacker
District Conservationist
U. S. Soil Conservation Service

A pond has many faces. Just which one it will wear on your land depends on its intended purpose. The chances are good it will wear more than one face and serve multiple uses.

What are some of these faces? Fire protection, wildlife haven, livestock water, all-season recreation center, nature study area and source of irrigation water, to mention a few.

Whatever its planned use, owning a pond gives a special kind of pride to the landowner and his family. To the landowner who is considering building a pond, here are five steps to ensure pride of ownership.

1. Pick the site. You probably have a particular site in mind. Perhaps it is a pothole, an area with a high water table or a ravine across which a dam might be constructed. Quite often, potential pond sites are areas that are not suitable for other uses. Why not put them to work?

2. Request technical planning, design and layout assistance. Most projects need a plan or blueprint. So does a pond. Technical help is available from the U. S. Soil Conservation Service through the Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District. Soil Conservation personnel can help you determine if your pond site is suitable, and if so, supply you with design and layout assistance.

3. Install the pond. Select the contractor you want to build your pond and the pond becomes a reality. As soon as construction is complete, you will want to vegetate the pond banks to protect them, and keep soil from eroding back into the pond.

4. Develop your pond site. The possibilities are unlimited. Stock the pond with fish. Plant a screen of evergreens around the pond area to act as a year-round wind-break and provide privacy. Establish some wildlife shrub plantings to enhance the pond for wildlife use. Build a boat ramp or diving platform for family fun. Keep pond safety in mind by installing safety devices to prevent accidents from occurring.

5. Enjoy your pond. This is the easy part. Swim, boat, fish and observe the wildlife your pond attracts. Make the pond work for you. Irrigate from it. Use it as a water source in case of fire. Use it for watering livestock. Water has many uses. You will find many ways to enjoy your pond and keep it busy serving you. As your pond reflects the changing seasons, you will find that it can indeed wear many faces. Boating, fishing and cool summer dips will resolve to fall scenes of migrating ducks pausing to rest and mirror-like reflections of autumn's brilliant colors. Winter will change your pond's face to one of ice skating, ice fishing and possibly even trapping. Your pond will noisily announce the arrival of spring as its many inhabitants begin to stir after a long winter's sleep. These are just a few of the many seasonal events in the life of your busy pond.

Is there a pond in your future? If so, put the pride formula to work for you and a successful pond will be the result. Pride is imminent.

The University Libraries at Western Michigan University house more than half a million volumes.

FAMILY POT LUCK

For a breakfast treat combining four foods from the basic four food groups, pile split hot dog buns with slices of cooked smoked pork shoulder and Cheddar cheese. Broil until the pork is hot, the cheese bubbly and the buns are slightly toasted. Serve a tomato juice starter.

Cubes of cheese and assorted crackers make tasty after-school snacks. Peak flavor is assured when most cheese is served at room temperature. Take the amount to be served from the refrigerator a half hour to an hour before serving time.

Classic in cookies and cakes, caraway seed can also add a piquant flavor to sauerkraut, noodles and cheese.

An exotic blend of many spices, curry powder is the standby of Indian cookery. Wonderfully versatile, it can give an exciting pick-up to leftover meats, stews and fish dishes.

By Mary Weber

Another school year has started. I greeted my new class of fourth graders and saw as always expressions of expectancy and eagerness on their faces. I felt hopeful and happy to be back in the classroom with them.

As I sat thinking about my new class after the first day, I thought, What is a teacher? What will I do with these children this year? How will I help them and teach them?

A child comes to school at age five. He has only been walking and talking and communicating for a few short years. He comes to us just out of his babyhood. Our teachers take this child and warmly welcome him into a whole new world. They strive to make this first encounter with school as comfortable and secure as possible. They know that this is a very important step for him, and they know the child must enter this world with confidence and security. Here is the most precious product this country produces, a small human being. This product must be properly cared for and developed in order to become a productive citizen.

During this first year away from the security of the home, the teacher will strive to develop the child's interests in a new cultural, social, scientific and academic world. They will open many new vistas to the child. They will create new interests. Then, at the end of that first year, the child is ready to learn to read, count numbers and communicate the written word on paper. The child is now involved in a new structure of life which, but a few short months before, was completely unknown to him.

Realize now what happens to these children in the next four or five years. As teachers, we teach children to read and to think about and understand the written word. In arithmetic, we teach them to add, subtract, multiply and divide whole numbers and fractions. In science, we teach them about sound, sight, the earth, animal and plant life, and physical structure. In social studies, we introduce them to the country in which they live. We talk and teach them first of all about our country's beginnings and then we travel here and there throughout this country learning about the many people and regions that make up this country. We introduce them to the many great inventors, statesmen, presidents, scientists, and other people who have helped this country grow. We teach them to know and understand our neighbors around the world.

In addition to all of the formal teaching children are also taught how to become acceptable social beings. We try to teach them how to live and work together. Their safety and physical welfare are a continual source of concern and planning.

The tasks outlined above are accomplished with much love and caring. Teachers leave their buildings nightly, concerned for some child who seems to be in need of more attention.

What is a teacher? A professional, caring, individual deeply involved in a life's work of teaching and developing a child's intellect.

One lady said to another lady, "Hold onto your hat, it's windy." The second lady said, "Not 'hat' — hair; it's a wig." The first lady admitted, "So is mine; I wouldn't waste time fixing my hair." This modern-day conversation would have been a cartoon conversation a few years ago — like a trip to the moon. Now we take them both in stride: astronauts and women who keep a spare head of hair on the shelf — maybe two or three, in fact. A formal hairdo, perhaps, and a fall for looking youthfully frivolous, plus, perhaps, a neat replica of your usual hairdo for those pre-beauty shop days or for full time wear while you're on vacation and "wouldn't waste time fixing your hair." See us for a lovely wig fit.

Sixth Grade Doings

By Mrs. Brown's 6th Grade Class

In the 6th grade, we change classes just as the seventh and eighth graders do. But we also have one long class—three periods—called unified studies or the "bloc." In this class, we study geography, English, spelling, French (for one semester only), creative writing and reading. There are four unified studies teachers and eight classes. The teachers are Mrs. Brown, Mrs. DeSmet, Mr. Lauhon and Mrs. Koch. This is the first article of a new column, which the unified studies students will be writing every other week.

In geography, we are studying man and his environment. We discussed three kinds of occupations: primary occupations, such as farmers who work directly with the earth; secondary occupations, such as workers in a factory, who work with raw materials to change them to useful items; and service occupations, such as doctors and teachers.

This week we visited Chelsea's Milling Co. where we saw slides and had a tour of the plant. At the end of the tour we received cake and frosting mixes, and we had delicious milk and cookies after the slides. We would like to thank the guides, Mrs. Dittmar, Mrs. Roskowski, and Mrs. Bushnell. At the plant, we saw many secondary occupations, and the guides were examples of service occupations. It was very interesting, even for those of us who had been there before.

Last week, we were introduced to our library and the new librarian, Mrs. Pauline. She showed pictures and helped us find our way around the library. Right now, we are reading biographies and non-fiction books. We enjoy visiting the library because it is so large and has so many books and interesting bulletin board displays.

WHAT A PICKLE! Longer than the average cucumber is this vegetable which Mrs. Sylvester Fisher, 8250 Mester Rd., grew in her garden this summer. The plant, which Mrs. Fisher grew from seeds a friend had given her, does not look like the standard type cucumber. Thirty-three inches long, the vegetable is ridged, with a light green skin. It is meatier than an average cucumber, but it tastes and smells like the genuine thing. Mrs. Fisher, who has recently moved out this way with her husband, an employee of WAAM radio, has one daughter, Doris Hiser, of Ypsilanti, a granddaughter, and one great-grandchild.

TEA, PLEASE

There are many legends about the origin of tea. One of the most popular is that a Chinese emperor, Shen Nung, discovered the pleasures of tea drinking in 273 B.C. when tea leaves accidentally fell into the water he was boiling for drinking. The aroma and taste were so delightful that he remained a tea drinker ever after.

Mrs. Hazel Dvorak, Mrs. Ida Nixson acted as treasurer.

Games finished the evening's entertainment. Mrs. Velma Wolfe won the door prize.

The October meeting will be held Oct. 27 at the home of Mrs. Wolfe on Francisco Rd. Members are to wear Halloween costumes.

Lodge announcements were made. Oct. 6 is the next regular meeting at the hall.

It was announced that Mrs. Anna McDonald is a patient at Chelsea Medcenter.

WIGS ARE POPULAR

Washtenaw Community College ALL CLASSES ON NEW HURON CAMPUS

Girl Scouts, Brownie Troops Need Volunteer Adult Leaders

It's organization time for Chelsea Girl Scouts. Leaders are desperately needed. Of the 200 girls who have indicated an interest in participating in the Girl Scout program there are troop placements for only 70 girls. Two Brownie troops (grades 2-3) and one Junior troop (grades 4-5-6) are involved in registration now. Two Brownie troops, two Junior troops and one Cadette troop (grades 7-8-9) are without leaders and cannot be started until adult leaders can be found.

No one has any "time to spare." Time must be made for our young people. Our youth is our investment in the future. "Doing for others" in community service is an important and essential part of Girl Scouting. Some of the service projects in the past two years in Chelsea were: cleaning Pierce and Veteran parks, distributing "Please Vote" notices prior to general elections, painting a local church interior, collecting material for Methodist Home rest-home craft projects, providing a natural and large bibs for the Methodist Home hospital floor, Easter and Christmas cards, place mats and tray favors for Mott Childrens Hospital, Medcenter, Methodist Home and U. of M. Hospital, bean-bag toys for Mott Childrens Hospital, and Christmas caroling for shut-ins.

Leaders need not be parents of girls involved in scouting. A leader may be any adult who is interested in young people and able to command their respect and regard. Leadership training is required, and this October, a Leader Training Workshop is being given in Chelsea for the Western Washtenaw area. This workshop is sponsored and taught by the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, a Chelsea Community Chest agency. Any one who has any interest in becoming a leader, is urged to contact Mrs. John Thornbury, 475-274.

Parents will be required to register their girls in a troop this year. This is the opportunity for the parents to show their interest and support for the Girl Scout program, and at the same time volunteer their services for a specific responsibility during the year. The leaders have stressed that although parent participation is a must, parents will not be called on at the last minute for other than their particular volunteered job.

Each of the eight troops has a troop committee made up of parents and a representative of the sponsoring organization. These small groups have been active since June in contacting parents to organize the volunteer areas, and in planning the over-all program for their troop for the year. Anyone who has any questions about troop placement, should call Mrs. Thornbury.

WINANS JEWELRY

HAND-HEWN BEAMS, and pole rafters "date" this barn as being older than 100 years old at the Waterloo Farm Museum. The museum, with all the old farming implements may be seen this coming week-end at Pioneer Day at the Waterloo Farm, Waterloo-Munith Rd.

THIS OLD BARN, which stands vacant at present, will come to life, Sunday, Oct. 4, when local residents will participate in "Pioneer Day". Housed in the barn will be an extensive display of early farm tools. Among the activities and displays will be demonstrations on pioneer activities such as quilting, corn husking, and rushing chairs.

Waterloo Farm Museum Pioneer Day Slated Sunday

Weaving rush bottoms in chairs will be among the pioneer crafts to be demonstrated at the Waterloo Farm Museum, Waterloo-Munith Rd., Sunday, Oct. 4, to 5 p.m. at their annual Pioneer Day event.

Mrs. Milton Kable, Plymouth, will be doing the rushing, an almost forgotten craft now popular again. Rushes are ordinary cattail leaves found growing near the edges of Michigan marshes.

Jim Daniels will carve a picture frame, and weavers from the Ann Arbor Weavers' Guild will be at their looms. Jean Kunzelman and Susan Smith will spin with wool, and Natalie Barry will spin linen thread from flax.

Mrs. Homer Parks, and her granddaughter, Patty, will churn butter.

There will be the usual display of old quilts and a demonstration of the fine art of quilting. Other old-time work to be seen will be chair caning by Mrs. Max Kalmbach.

Mrs. Lloyd Hodges, Jr., her daughter, Cindy, and others, will sew carpet rags.

William Landis and Robert Sweet will demonstrate corn husking.

Tours of the house will be guided by ladies in the area dressed in mid-19th century costume. Music on the parlor melodian will be provided by a number of young girls from Stockbridge.

Martin Hannebold expects to have the old barn ready for the museum's collection of small farm tools. These have been crowded into the former ice house, now the ticket office. There is still work that has to be done on the barn, but the old tools may be seen in there to better advantage.

The building is more than 100 years old. Its hand-hewn beams

Government Officials Tour Nature Center

Alan Conklin, principal of Beach Junior High school, received a visit from Kenneth Goodrich, Midwest Information Specialist of the USDA Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service, in Washington, Friday, Sept. 18.

With Goodrich was Joel Young, of the Crop Adjustment Program (specialist), Michigan State ASCA office, in Lansing, and Mrs. Carolyn Stump, Representative of the ASCA office in Washtenaw county, from Ann Arbor.

Purpose of their visit was to gather information concerning the progress and use of the Chelsea Nature Center.

Chelsea received a grant from the Greenspan program in 1966 for the establishment of the Outdoor Nature Laboratory for a sum of $1,034.61.

Goodrich was given photographs, and stories of laboratory activities for use in the nature center, as well as a copy of the Beach school science curriculum. He also received press clippings that involved the nature center.

Information gathered by Goodrich will be made available to the Secretary of Agriculture, and will possibly be used for publication as a report on the use of public funds.

YOUTH SEMINAR DELEGATES REPORT: Martin Straub, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Straub, 6969 Madden Rd., and Janet Wackenhut, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz Wackenhut, 11730 Waters Rd., addressed the Chelsea Civitan Club, Thursday evening, Sept. 24. The young people, who represented Chelsea at the Civitan Youth Seminar, a four-day camp in Green Lake, Wis., Aug. 27-31, spoke on their experiences at the camp. Martin and Janet, who were sponsored by the club at the camp, reported that during the four days at Green Lake, many friends were made, speakers delivered their views of the problems facing young Americans, and most important, participants discussed the problems of today's youth with people from all over the Midwest. They agreed that, after attending the Civitan Youth Seminar, it could be clearly seen that there are many straight-thinking people in America today who are willing to shape the character of tomorrow's leaders in a way that will be most beneficial to the preservation of the American way of life.

1971. Buick introduces a new set of values.

Value, not gimmicks or ornamentation, sells cars. More people have been coming to Buick each year for just that reason. Buick concentrates on value. And this year, Buick introduces a new set of values. Features that will help make your new Buick perform better, last longer and get you more of a return on your investment at trade-in time.

Only a Buick dealer can offer you our new set of values. So, test your values against our new ones. Then ask yourself this simple question. Wouldn't you really rather have a Buick?

Something to believe in.

1971 Buick Riviera. A totally new design concept. And that's not all. Riviera offers MaxTrac, an exclusive power control system you can order with its own on-board computer. It helps you get securely over slick surfaces by reducing rear-wheel slipping. The new body features side-guard beams for protection, a bigger trunk, and a driver cockpit with a control center designed around the driver for new ease and convenience.

1971 Buick Electra 225. A new interpretation of quiet elegance. We've improved our Electra everywhere you look. There's more room in every direction, interiors that can be appreciated as much for their durability as for their beauty and comfort, even a new balanced braking system. A unique valve proportions braking force front to rear to help give you quick, smooth straight-line stops.

1971 Buick Skylark Custom. This is the car that has set the pace for value in its price class. Rocker panels that wash and dry themselves, big-Buick room and comfort inside, a cooling system that should never overheat, inner fenders that protect the outer fenders, and a modest price have put our Buick Skylark traditionally among the resale leaders in its class.

1971 Buick Centurion. This is our newest Buick, a city car with sleekness and grace as well as muscle. It features more nimble variable-ratio power steering, power front disc brakes, Full-Flt ventilation, and a vinyl roof on the Centurion Formal Coupe as standard equipment.

1971 Buick LeSabre. An incredible new offering of Buick value. The LeSabre, like the Riviera, Electra and Centurion, features AccuDrive, a new version of the directional stability system we pioneered. It will help give you smooth handling.

An Important Improvement. Every new Buick engine is now designed to run smoothly and efficiently, and with lower exhaust emissions, on no-lead and low-lead gasolines. And every Buick V-8 engine will have exclusive nickel-plated exhaust valves for smoother operation and longer valve life, and a new time-modulated choke to help give quicker warm-up and a more consistent fuel mixture.
