New Principal Named for High School

A 29-year-old former Howell teacher and more recently, the assistant principal of a Cincinnati, O. high school, has been named principal of Chelsea High school for the 1977-78 school year by the Chelsea Board of Education. The board's decision came following personal interviews with several candidates under consideration for the post.

Chelsea High's new principal, John L. Williams of Loveland, O., will be moving to the Chelsea area shortly with his wife, Sue, and their daughter. Once here, he will undergo a period of preparation to acquaint himself with the needs of the local school district.

A native of Michigan, Williams is a 1966 graduate of East Lansing High School, East Lansing. He received his bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan in 1971, followed by a master's degree in educational administration from U-M in 1973. Currently, Williams is doing graduate work toward an educational, specialist degree.

Williams began his career as an educator in Howell where he taught in high school from 1971 to 1974. The following year, from 1974 to 1975, he expanded his knowledge of public school systems and the needs of its students by serving on various committees to promote better education, as well as coaching high school football. His official title at this time was "coordinator of student services."

Along with that title, Williams served as building representative for the Howell Education Association; chairman of the Language Arts Department; chairman of the Secondary Curriculum Council; University of Michigan administrative intern; chairman of the North Central Evaluation Steering Committee; and Dean of Students.

In August, 1975, Williams was named assistant principal of Indian Hill Senior High school, Cincinnati, O.

During his two years as assistant principal, he was responsible for discipline in the school, student accounting procedures, building the master schedule, guidance and counseling services, community relations and formal negotiation of teacher contracts.

In addition, he served as athletic director of the school, he supervised maintenance of the school building and grounds, and was responsible for student extracurricular activities, scheduling school facilities, fiscal management of the school, internal and external security, transportation needs and co-ordination, personnel growth, and the appraisal of curriculum and instruction.

Concluding the list of his duties, Williams was also involved in the administering of school data processing needs, and served as the district's Title IX co-ordinator.

Among his civic and fraternal involvements, Williams is a member of Delta Tau Delta, a national fraternity; the Michigan, Ohio and National Associations of Secondary School Principals; and the Howell Jaycees. In July, 1972, he was chosen Jaycee of the Month by members of his club.

Other positions of distinction held by Williams include serving on the Howell Citizen's Advisory Task Force as a member of both the Educational Requirements Committee and the Year-Round School Committee; serving as commander and as a member of the National Color Party of the 5th Michigan Regiment - Civil War Band; and serving as treasurer of the Howell Bicentennial Commission.

Williams will replace 1976-77 Chelsea High acting principal Dwight Smith, whose one-year contract expired in July and was not renewed by the local Board of Education.

COME AND GET IT: Carefully lifting a barbecue grate laden with chicken tenderly roasted to delicate perfection are three members of a staunch crew which stood over the grilling pits in near 90-degree temperatures, turning and seasoning the tasty morsels. The chicken barbecue sponsored by American Legion Post 31 launched Chelsea's 4th of July celebration at the fairgrounds Monday. From left, are Tim Orthing, Max Mock and a side view of Joe Merkel, III.

Huge Crowd Enjoys July 4 Celebration

A blanket of heat and humidity, coupled with an overcast sky, failed to hinder a crowd of thousands from taking part in Chelsea's 4th of July celebration Monday.

According to American Legion Commander John Popovich, whose organization sponsored the event, all 2,000 chicken halves shipped in for the barbecue which launched the event were sold by the end of the day, putting a seal of success on the annual celebration for a second consecutive year.

Although fewer people participated in Monday's 7 p.m. Ice Cream Social than had in previous years, "a really large crowd" showed up for the fireworks display at dusk which capped the event, in the words of Commander Popovich.

The explosion of fireworks was conducted smoothly with the grand finale overwhelmingly rated as the most spectacular display of the evening.

The Chelsea Kiwanis Club and the American Legion shared in the $1,700 cost of the fireworks, aided by contributions from local citizens.

Broiling of the 2,000 chicken halves was expertly handled by veteran Chef Jim Gaken and a crew consisting of Hank and Tim Orthing, Max Mock, Joe Merkel, III, Ron Branham and Tom Franklin. Work began at 8 a.m., with the first order for 24 chicken halves taken and filled by 11:15 a.m. Recipient of the first order was Chelsea's United Methodist Retirement Home.

Also instrumental to the success of Monday's celebration were Legion Auxiliary member Lena Behnke, who assisted with ticket sales and various other facets of the event from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m.; the Chelsea Community Fair Board; Chelsea's regular and auxiliary police force; and Chelsea's Fire Department.

CATS Bus Is Successful In First Year

The first annual president's financial report on the Chelsea Area Transportation System (CATS), delivered at the CATS annual meeting June 6, showed the service working within its proposed budget for its initial year to date. From Oct. 11, 1976, to March 31 of the current year, 2,624 riders had used Chelsea's nascent shuttle bus service for elderly and handicapped adults.

In acknowledging satisfaction with the system through a general consensus, CATS officers further established that the system had increased its riders in each successive month of operations.

Consequently, CATS officers began making plans for a productive summer season and they devoted a major portion of the meeting to a discussion on the expansion of CATS bus service. Anyone in the CATS bus service area, with ideas on how the bus may better meet the needs of its riders, is asked to contact Sam Johnson at 475-7472.

Another highlight of the annual meeting was the election of officers for the 1977-78 year. Replacing outgoing president Lou Burghardt will be Sam Johnson. Burghardt was thanked by the CATS Board of Directors for helping to institute the bus service and for serving as the first president of CATS.

Re-elected to office were Don Wood, vice-president; Dale Schumann, treasurer; and Betty Koch, secretary. All of the officers will continue to be responsible to the board which consists of one representative each from the Chelsea Jaycees, the Chelsea Kiwanis Club, the Village of Chelsea, Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home, Sylvan township and Chelsea United Way.

Following a discussion of future funding of CATS through state aid, the meeting concluded with board approval of recommendations made by CATS officers in conjunction with the CATS audit report.

Cassidy Lake Walkaway Nabbed Pronto

A Redford township man, serving a one- to two-year sentence at Cassidy Lake Technical School on a forgery conviction was thwarted in his attempt to walk away from the facility when he was picked up by an off-duty Chelsea policeman while hitchhiking.

At the time of his apprehension, his absence had yet to be discovered by Cassidy Lake personnel.

According to police reports, Patrolman Robert K. Browning was operating his private vehicle at approximately 7:30 p.m. July 2, when he observed Peter A. Guerrieri, 18, hitchhiking toward M-52 on Waterloo Rd. Led to believe that Guerrieri might be a walkaway from Cassidy Lake, Patrolman Browning stopped to pick up the hitchhiker.

As Guerrieri entered the officer's vehicle, Patrolman Browning identified himself and asked Guerrieri where he was going. Guerrieri stated he was on his way to the store in Chelsea, but according to Browning, the reply was given in a nervous manner.

Browning then asked Guerrieri if he was a walkaway from Cassidy Lake, but Guerrieri stated he was not.

Still unconvinced, Patrolman Browning advised the hitchhiker he was being transported to Chelsea police headquarters for a further check. Upon completing a file check at the station, police learned Guerrieri was wanted on a traffic warrant in Redford township.

Because Patrolman Browning was unable to get the warrant verified, he called Cassidy Lake Technical School and asked its director, Lt. R. V. Worden, if Guerrieri was a resident there. Worden's response

Stolen Auto Mars Quiet Holiday Week

Chelsea police coasted through a relatively quiet holiday weekend with no accident reports and only a few minor complaints were received by the local department.

Topping the list of complaints was the report of a stolen car by the vehicle's owner, David H. Shenk of 13 Hickory Dr. He valued his loss at $200.

According to police records, Shenk stated he had parked his 1961 blue Chevy two-door in the driveway of his home at approximately 11:30 p.m., July 4. The following morning, at approximately 7:30 a.m., he noticed his car was missing. Keys to the Chevy had not been left inside.

No suspects have been named in the theft.

Methodist Home Resident Honored By Ferris State

Though she may have spent one of her namesakes many years ago when U.S. $10 gold pieces were called "Gold Eagles," a Chelsea centenarian, who recently earned the right to be referred to as a Golden Eagle, is far from spent. Ruth L. or she is one of this year's initiates into the Ferris State College Society of Golden Eagles.

Mrs. Clara Breitenwischer, 106, a Chelsea United Methodist Home resident, was added to the rolls of the society upon "coming of age." To "come of age," she was required to have graduated Ferris State College at least 50 years ago. Mrs. Breitenwischer is a 1927 graduate of the college, located in Big Rapids.

Approximately 25 new initiates personally received their Golden Eagle awards at the Ferris Alumni Reunion in May. All remaining initiates received theirs by mail.

Pirates Undefeated In T-Ball Action

The Chelsea Recreation Department's summer T-Ball program opened last week with eight teams seeing action. Scores were high but the competition was close as the Giants nipped the Braves 16-14, and the Royals pulled ahead of the same Braves team, 25-21.

The Blue Jays then chalked up their first victory of the season as they scored over the Yankees, 24-14, and the Pirates finished the week with a 30-25 win over the Reds.

The T-Ballers hustled around the bases and after the hall all week to the delight and cheers of their favorite followers, moms and dads, according to league director, Joe Rossi.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Warren M. Hoyt, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Crime Down But Losses Up. Serious crimes are down in Michigan for the first time in four years, but victims are losing more to criminals than they did in the past.

State Police tabulation of local departments' statistics showed Michigan residents lost about $151.6 million worth of property due to crime in 1976, compared to $137 million in 1975. Total losses in 1976 were estimated at $233 million, but police recovered cash and property worth about $83.6 million. Stolen autos made up about 53 percent of the total dollar value of lost property, but were a major part of the property recovered, too.

The statistics showed 1976 numbers were down 41 from 1975's amounts were rapes, robberies, assaults, burglaries, larcenies and auto thefts.

Police officials guessed that an increase in employment could have made the state a safer place in 1976 than it was before.

Suit Over U.P. Planned. A decision by the federal government in 1837 to give what is now the Upper Peninsula to the state of Michigan was invalid, says an Ironwood man who plans to take his argument to court. Ted Albert said he would file suit in U.S. District Court in Marquette soon to make the U.P. a United States territory, separate from the state of Michigan.

The idea's not new. U.P. lawmakers and others have been mumbling about seceding for years, but nothing serious has ever come of it.

Albert says his suit will challenge a 1837 settlement ordered by the federal government to end a feud between Michigan and Ohio over the so-called Toledo Strip. The settlement gave the strip, an 8-by-25-mile stretch of land on the border of the two states, to Ohio. The U.P., which was part of the Northwest Territory, was handed to Michigan.

But Albert claims that the U.P.'s Indian owners did not actually sign it over to the federal government until 1854. That means it was not the feds' to give away in 1837, Albert says.

Washtenaw County Health Officials Elected In State Association

Two persons from the Washtenaw County Health Department were elected to high office in the Michigan Public Health Association at the Association's annual meeting last month in Traverse City.

John B. Atwater, M.D., director of the County Health Department and board member for the association, was elected first vice-president.

Mary M. Sexton, R.N.V., coordinator of the Health Department, Family Planning Project, was elected chairperson of the Community Health Nursing Division which strives to promote and improve community health care in Michigan.

Mrs. Sexton has been serving as a member of this division of the Michigan Public Health Association and has also served as president of the Washtenaw District Nurses' Association.

The Michigan Public Health Association is active in working with the Governor's committees to revise and develop health codes for the State of Michigan.

abuse involving a child and adult. But the laws don't deal with acts performed only by children, enticed to do so by adults for commercial purposes.

Other bills pending simultaneously would make it a misdemeanor to distribute obscene material to anyone under 18 and would require child care workers to report sexual abuse of children to the state. The state could then file the reports with a county prosecutor, who could prosecute those involved in the abuse.

Animals Vie For Status

Lawmakers engaged in some gentle bickering last week over whether the white-tailed deer, the wolf, the bobcat or any animal for that matter should be labeled the "state animal."

"We have a state tree, a state fish, a state stone and a state just about everything, but we have no state animal," said Rep. Sal Rocca in explaining his bill to designate the white-tailed deer as the honored creature.

No vote has yet been taken on his bill. But a suggestion that the wolf might be named "state animal" fell to defeat. Although Michigan—and particularly the University of Michigan—has long been linked with the wolf, Rocca protests there's naught a one on the state.

Kid Porn Primed For Vote

Those who profit off child pornography could get up to 20 years in prison under bills approved by both houses of the legislature.

The bills faced no opposition. They would crack down on those who solicit children to engage in sexual activity for commercial purposes, and even on those who sell child pornography.

Such a loud cry of outrage has been made nationally over child pornography in recent weeks that Michigan lawmakers are speeding to give final approval to the bills. Debate was only on technicalities; no legislator opposed the bills, although some felt they should be tougher.

Paula Krakowski, David P. Winans Wed in Pennsylvania Ceremony

Paula Joanne Krakowski of Missoula, Mont., daughter of Mrs. J. Paul of Corry, Pa., and Joseph Krakowski, Jr., of Sharpville, Pa., married David Paul Winans, also of Missoula, son of Mr. and Mrs. David S. Winans of 232 South St., Saturday, June 25 in First United Methodist church of Corry. The 11 a.m. ceremony was performed by the Rev. Henry A. Morris, pastor of the church, before a gathering of 100 guests.

Vocalist for the occasion was Mrs. Karen Kaufmann White of Tuscaloosa, Ala., former voice teacher of the bride. She sang selections from Schumann's "Die Frau und Leben"; Beethoven's "Ich Liebe Dich"; "Evergreen"; and "Annie's Song."

For her wedding, the bride chose a white tulle floor-length gown styled with a high stand-up neckline and sheer yoke outlined in Venice lace. Her Venice lace cap sleeves were accented with pink satin bows, and matching Venice lace encircled the pink satin ribbon which marked the empire waistline of the gown, as well as the hem of her A-line skirt and the edge of her chapel-length train. The brim of her picture hat was also covered in Venice lace while a pink satin ribbon encircled the crown. A chapel-length illusion veil flowed from the crown of her hat, completing her attire. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white sweetheart roses, white daisies, white carnations, stephanotis and white's breath.

Mrs. David P. Winans

Matron of honor was Mrs. Richard Spicher of Wichita, Kan., sister of the bride. She appeared in a pale pink dotted Swiss, floor-length pinafore gown with white eyelet trim. Her wide-brimmed pink dotted Swiss picture hat featured pink satin streamers and a white eyelet trim. She held a colonial bouquet of white daisies with pink satin ribbons.

Serving as bridesmaids were Pamela Krakowski and Rebecca Jo Krakowski, both of Corry, Pa., and sisters of the bride; Mrs. John Roscoe of Notre Dame, Ind.; and Mrs. Kathleen Hosea of Missoula, Mont. Their attire was identical to that worn by the matron of honor.

Mrs. Paul, mother of the bride, wore a long, two-piece champagne-colored ensemble styled with a cowl collar, long sleeves and gold accents. Mrs. Winans, mother of the bridegroom, appeared in a long, robin's egg blue gown with a matching long-sleeved jacket.

Attending as flower girl was Karri Clark of Chelsea, niece of the bridegroom, while Chip White of Tuscaloosa, Ala. was ringbearer.

Best man was David S. Winans of Chelsea, father of the bridegroom. He was assisted by ushers Paul Krakowski and John Roscoe. Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. S. Paul in Corry, Pa., for 100 guests. Laurie and Anita Kinnear poured punch and coffee, while Mrs. Steve Nadolny and Mrs. Barry Johnson tended to other details where needed.

Upon their return from a weekend at Inn-at-the-Peak Resort in Clymer, N.Y., and a one-week stay in New York City, the newlyweds will reside in Albany, Ore. For her travels, the bride selected a multi-colored striped sundress.

The former Miss Krakowski received her bachelor's degree in music from DePaul University and her master's degree in music from Eastman School of Music. A member of Delta Gamma sorority, she has taught elementary general music, dramatics and creative dance for the past two years in Missoula, Mont., where she also has been featured in leading operatic roles with the University of Montana Department of Music and the Department of Drama and Dance.

Her husband received his bachelor of arts degree from Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant; his master's degree in education from Antioch Graduate School of Education; and is currently a doctoral candidate in education at the University of Montana. A member of Sigma Chi fraternity, he will begin working as curriculum coordinator for Albany Public High School, Albany, Ore., in mid-July.

County Committee on Status of Women Accepting Applications

Outcounty women interested in being named to the Washtenaw County Advisory Committee on the Status of Women this summer may submit applications through July 21.

Applicants must be county women who are interested in doing something about the needs of women. The committee represents all county women.

The committee meets the first and third Mondays of the month at 7:30 p.m. Applicants must be free to attend regularly.

The committee is currently preparing to publish a directory of professional women and women's organizations in Washtenaw county.

It has organized a county-wide coalition of women's groups through which women may exchange views and information and, eventually, find ways to fill existing gaps in areas of need.

The committee is also involved in on-going studies of women in employment.

Applications are available through the County Board of Commissioners' office in the County Building. Or, applicants may call 994-2400 and ask to have them mailed.

Voting members are appointed for two years. Women who prefer not to commit themselves but who would like to work with the committee on particular projects may join committee task forces.

The committee's next meeting is scheduled for July 11 at 7:30 p.m. in Room 117A of the County Building. Entry is through the loading dock door.

All potential applicants are encouraged to attend.

Ask Project COPE

Question: Tell me about some of the early warning signs of possible problems in pre-school age children. Should I be concerned if my young child is lagging in some area? Don't children often go through "phases" but then catch up later without any help?

Answer: From the day that a human being is born, he begins to explore his environment and to begin to master various developmental tasks. He is to eventually become a productive, smoothly functioning individual. He must master various kinds of physical skills, social interactions, emotional controls and expressions, cognitive (intellectual) tasks, and speech and language skills. An individual does not suddenly or magically master a skill; rather he learns many smaller tasks - all in a certain sequence - which, together, lead to acquisition of a larger skill. A baby does not just walk; instead, he may have to learn to kneel; to squat; to push up to an erect position; to walk with support; to balance alone; and to take a step by oneself. There is much research which demonstrates that certain skills tend to emerge at certain ages and that there is a point at which the majority of children have mastered a skill. For example the normal range of time for learning to walk is roughly at 8-18 months of age. The largest number of children seem to walk at about 13 months of age. A child who did not walk until he was 18 months old or more might possibly have a problem which should be explored.

No child masters all tasks smoothly; snags or rough places are frequently hit. A learning pattern may mean smooth progress, a plateau, perhaps some regression, and then more progress. Many children are born with or may acquire various conditions which handicap their normal growth and development. Many of these conditions can be helped or corrected if parents recognize the problem early and seek help.

If you'll call Project COPE at the number given below, we'll be happy to send you a free Early Warning Signs brochure which includes some of the more common indications that a problem may exist.

Some of these warning signs may show up in many normal, healthy children at some point in their development. The presence of one or two warning signs does not necessarily mean that he or she has a serious problem which requires special attention. However, the presence of several signs or persistent slowness or difficulty in an area, may signal a problem.

In that case, we invite you to call us up to chat, ask questions, and perhaps put your mind at ease. Problems have a tendency to get worse or to spread if neglected. It's important to know that your local school can help a child with his special needs from the day that he is born until he is 25 years old or graduated from high school.

(Project COPE is a federally funded program which is being operated during the current school year by Special Education Region V for Chelsea, Manchester, and Whitmore Lake School Districts. Its aim is to inform the community about the special problems and needs of pre-school children. Those who have questions, concerns, or who wish to refer a child for diagnostic services can contact Ellen Eagen, Project COPE Coordinator at 475-9131, ext. 50 or Dr. DeYoung at ext. 48.

Completion of eight hospitals recently authorized for the Veterans Administration will add almost 7,000 beds to the nation's largest health-care system.

County Parks Comm. Plans Nature Programs

Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Commission is sponsoring a series of nature programs this summer for all county residents. Because of the tremendous response to last year's pilot program of survival clinics, WCPARC is expanding its offerings this season to include Orienteering, Edible Plants, Outdoor Appreciation Classes, and Family Camping. In addition, a more advanced Survival Skills course will be held as a sequel to the popular morning clinics.

The Orienteering course is designed for those who want an in-depth experience in the use of maps and compasses. Four Monday night sessions from 7 to 10 p.m. will give participants opportunities to learn these important skills from a qualified instructor. (Mondays, July 18, 25, and Aug. 1, 8) On Saturday, Aug. 13, participants will test their knowledge and skill with compasses at a nearby wilderness area. This course is essential for backpackers who would like to plan adventures to remote wilderness areas. Maps and compasses are provided for this class.

The second program, Introduction to Wilderness Camping, is an excellent course for those just beginning to camp in rustic settings. The four classroom sessions from 7 to 9 p.m. on Thursdays, July 14, 21, 28 will focus on techniques of light-weight camping and backpacking. Slide presentations and equipment demonstrations will be used to cover topics such as equipment selection, food preparation and trip planning. Edible Plants consists of three Wednesday morning sessions (July 13, 20, 27) from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Primarily for beginners, this course will introduce participants to many varieties of edible and medicinal plants native to Michigan. Identifying features and ways to prepare the leaves, fruits and roots of the various plants will be discussed.

Another course, Survival Skills, will offer three classroom sessions from 7 to 9 p.m. on Wednesdays, July 6, 13, 20, as well as an all-day field adventure on July 23. Designed for those seeking primitive camping experiences, the sessions will offer survival information on food-gathering, fire-building and shelter construction.

Outdoor Appreciation is the final course on this season's agenda. Its two hour program is to be held on Tuesday evenings beginning July 12 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. An experienced naturalist will lead the walks identifying birds, wildflowers, and offering tidbits of knowledge about the outdoors. The walks will also be held on Saturday mornings beginning July 16 at 10 a.m. These Saturday hikes will take place at Park Lyndon, a 205-acre county park featuring a bog with insect-eating plants and a lake and marsh area abundant with birds and wildlife.

A similar program is being offered for Senior Citizens at Park Washtenaw in Ann Arbor. An hour of interesting information about the park's natural features will be given by a WCPARC naturalist. These walks are free for senior citizens. Interested Seniors should call the WCPARC office at 894-2575 for registration.

Others interested in these summer nature programs may also telephone the Parks office or pick up course descriptions and registration forms at the Ann Arbor Public Library, the County Building or WCPARC's office, 2355 W.

FIREWORKS DISPLAY: Skies were a blaze of color and light as fireworks exploded in Chelsea's Independence Day celebration at the Chelsea Fairgrounds Monday evening. Withstanding intense humidity and the threat of rain, thousands gathered to watch the dazzle of patterns etch the nighttime skies. Chelsea's American Legion and Kiwanis Club co-sponsored the $1,700 fireworks display with the help of local businessmen.

NOW NUMBER ONE in their league, these members of Chelsea's Babe Ruth Royals boast a perfect 6-0 record after three weeks of play. The Royals squeezed past the Chelsea Athletics, 3-2 last week to cement their position as league leaders. However, they will have to maintain their momentum in upcoming weeks to remain at the top as Babe Ruth's seven other teams prepare to in-

MOVING EXPENSE TAX DEDUCTIONS

Prior to 1970, your moving expense tax deduction was limited to the cost of transporting your household goods and family transportation costs for the move (including food and lodging).

Little by little, other expenses of making the move were added to the deductible expense list. Now they have been liberalized even more with the 1976 tax reform bill. Effective in 1977, here is how the new score-board reads.

You can deduct up to $3,000 for the cost of real estate commissions, mortgage costs and similar items incurred in buying or selling your home or settling a lease. Of this $3,000 total — one half (or up to $1,500) — may be deducted for expenses incurrred for pre-move house-hunting expenses as well as temporary living expenses for up to 30 days at your new location.

These benefits apply to the self-employed as well as employees. In order to qualify for this moving expense deduction, the reason for the move must be a job change and the new job site must be at least 35 miles away.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at FRISINGER REALTY CO., 935 S. Main St., Chelsea. Phone: 475-8681; evenings 475-2621. We're here to help!

Michigan Museum Guide Now Available

A visitor's guide to the historical museums in Michigan has just been published by the Historical Society of Michigan in Ann Arbor. More than 120 museums are listed in the 1977-78 edition.

The guide provides all the important information a visitor will need, such as the museum's address, phone, hours, and fees. In addition the name of a contact person is given whenever possible to answer any questions. For instance, many museums are open by appointment in addition to the scheduled hours and will make special arrangements for group tours. Furthermore, although only the adult admission fee is listed, many museums have separate rates for children, senior citizens, and family groups.

Michigan's community and regional historical museums interpret many fascinating aspects of our state's colorful history. An authentic 1840s fur trading cabin in Munising is among the 24 Upper Peninsula museums listed. In Fayette, visitors may see a 19th century iron smelting town at the Fayette State Park. Old Fort Wilkins is also located in a state park at Copper Harbor.

An even 100 museums are listed representing the Lower Peninsula. Among the many different types of museums are a tavern in Cambridge Junction, a farm near Stockbridge, the Old Lighthouse in Presque Isle, the Matilda Dodge Wilson home, Meadow Brook Hall, in Rochester, and the Dossin Great Lakes Museum on Belle Isle.

Publication of the directory was made possible through a co-operative effort among 40 historical museums and these Michigan foundations: the Fisher-Insley Foundation, the Walter and Josephine Ford Fund, the Gornick Fund, the Herrick Foundation, the Kellogg Foundation, the Miller Foundation, Inc., the Sage Foundation, and the Harry A. and Margaret D. Towseley Foundation.

Copies of the directory are available for 25 cents from the Historical Society of Michigan, 2117 Washtenaw Ave., Ann Arbor 48104.

Black Sheep Repertory Theatre Launched Friday in Manchester

Looking decidedly uncomfortable in suits, tuxedos, and evening dresses, members of the press and guests from all over southeastern Michigan filed into the venerable building which houses the Black Sheep Repertory Theatre in Manchester on Friday evening, July 1, to witness the dedication of the new enterprise.

Inside, the guests were treated to a sampling of history. Since April, members of the Association for the Performing Arts of Manchester have labored painstakingly to restore the 110-year-old theater to its former stateliness. The staircase leading to the second floor is steep and rather narrow, a reminder of the days when people were built on a smaller scale and accustomed to using their legs for something besides walking from their automobiles to the elevator. Blue-painted muslin covers the plaster of the walls and ceiling in the theater proper, and the original curtain, bedecked with advertisements for Manchester businesses long dead, hangs on the back wall. Since microphones were things unknown in 1867, the acoustics are flawless.

A speech was delivered by James R. Fleming, the show's producer, in which he thanked all those who had made opening night possible. Following that, Manchester's village president and a representative of Governor Milliken arose to express their wishes for the theater's success. The set—a duplex studio apartment in San Francisco decorated in patriotic red, white, and blue—was then illuminated to enthusiastic applause from the spectators, and the show, Neil Simon's hit comedy "Star Spangled Girl," got off to the customary Simonesque quiet start.

If it can be said that the size of a theater production has nothing to do with the dimensions of the proscenium arch, then the play presented Friday night was as big as all outdoors. Briefly, it's the story of two young men struggling to keep alive their underground magazine, one of whom falls hopelessly in love with the down-home girl next door. The balance of the plot has to do with the efforts of his partner to make him forget the girl and get back to work lest the publication fail.

Owen J. Anderson shines in the role of Andy Hobart, the businesslike half of the team who, in order to keep the magazine going, is forced both to romance the landlady in lieu of paying rent and to devise an elaborate system of ducking his most persistent creditor. His comedy timing is flawless and he has a slick style that puts one in mind of Paul Newman as the high-powered con man in "The Sting." As his love-struck partner, Norman Corne provides a cuddly puppy-dog naïveté that somehow renders plausible the incredible lengths to which he will go to win the love of the girl next door, portrayed by Linda Hart.

In that role, Miss Hart is the best and most consistent of all. She comes on like a bundle of raw energy crammed into a compact five-foot-two-inch frame, sealing the show wherever she appears while sidestepping the Beverly Hills-inspired stereotype of the pert southern girl cast into the turmoil of the big city.

With performances such as these, it came as no surprise that the end of the last act was met with a unanimous standing ovation. Champagne was served to the guests following the performance, bringing to a reluctant close the first of what is hoped will be many evenings of pure entertainment at Manchester's Black Sheep Repertory Theatre.

PET OF THE WEEK: Here is a wonderful little dog who is just perfect for small houses and/or apartments. He is good with children and other dogs and is housebroken. He is a wire-haired terrier with curly hair and a short tail. He has his duster shot and is ready for adoption. He is in dire need of a good home and tender, loving care as are all of the animals at the Humane Society of Huron Valley. Please remember that the animals at the shelter who do not find homes are destroyed—these are the hard, cruel realities of the overpopulation of pets. The statistics of animals destroyed at the shelter are gruesome—7 or 8 out of 10. So please come to us first before going anywhere else as we have a fine selection. In the past we have had Sheepdogs, Collies, Malanutes, and there are always at least one or two Poodles in our kennels—and many more breeds and, of course, the All-American dog. So please, please come in to visit us at our kennels at 3100 Cherry Hill Rd., and adopt a pet who will be the best friend you ever had. The Humane Society is open from Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., or on Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. The phone number is 662-5585.

Fun Events for All In Michigan Summer

Sun and sand, green forests and blue water and all the easy going, warm weather fun they invoke! Can you think of a better "State" to be in for the lazy, crazy days of summer? Then you ought to be in Michigan in July, according to the Travel Bureau, Michigan Department of Commerce.
Festivals and fairs dominate the fireworks month inspired by agriculture, tradition, heritage, history and the arts among other things. Since Michigan blueberries find their way into pies and muffins and pancakes throughout the country, there has to be a Blueberry Festival. This year's affair is July 1-4 at South Haven. Of all the red tart cherries grown in the United States, Michigan produces more than 75 percent. The National Cherry Festival, July 6-12, in Traverse City celebrates this claim to fame. Spectorator highlights of the festival include the Cherryland Band Classic, Heritage, Junior Royale and the big cherry Royale Parades. This year the Cherry Royale will feature the famous Budweiser Clydesdale horses.
Strawberry shortcake fans will enjoy the Strawberry Festival July 8-9 at Chassell. The sugar that sweetens the strawberries may very well come from the Sebewaing Sugar Festival, July 8-10.
Moving from dessert fare to the "main course" varieties, there's the Corn Festival at Auburn, July 15-17; Manchester Chicken Broil, July 21-22, and the Potato Festival, July 28-31, at Munger. You can also enjoy a nice selection of fish, provided you catch your own. Try your luck at the Bass Festival, Crystal Falls, July 8-10; Troutarama, July 29-31, Baldwin; the Blue Gill Festival, St. Helen, July 30-31, or the Brown Trout Festival, July 30-Aug. 7, at Alpena.
If your taste leans to more exotic dishes, you have a number of opportunities to indulge yourself. Detroit's ethnic festival program for July leads off with the International Festival, July 1-4, followed by the Arabs, July 8-10; Far Eastern Festival, July 15-17; Afro Americans, July 22-24 and the India Festival, July 29-31. A bit of the old Barney will prevail July 8-10, at the Irish Festival in Yack Arena, Wyandotte and July 28-30 will be Polish Festival Days at Bronson. In addition to ethnic foods, arts and crafts, the festivals offer native entertainment and a variety of activities and attractions.
"Fair minded" folk have some 16 to choose from this month, complete with midways, grandstand entertainment, livestock shows, harness racing and prize winning pickles. To mention a few, the Mecosta County Fair comes up July 11-18 at Big Rapids; Barry County Fair, July 17-23 at Hastings; Montcalm County Fair, July 18-23, Greenville; Van Buren County Fair at Hartford, the Gladwin County Fair, Gladwin, and the Otsego County Fair, Holland, July 25-30; and the Clare County Fair, Harrison, July 31-Aug. 6.
As we said in the beginning, several festivals and events are tinged with history, and a bit of nostalgia too, such as the National Forest Festival, July 1-4, in Manistee, and the National Forestry Exposition, July 21-23 at Mio. These events will recall some of the color and excitement of Michigan's booming lumbering era in addition to all sorts of things to do.
More than 60 fire engines, hand-pumpers and hose carts converge on Greenfield Village, July 2-3, you've missed some of the most spirited competition, rip-roaring excitement, and hilarious antics a sport can offer. It will be happening July 2-3, when the "world series" of frisbee—better known as the International Frisbee Tournament—goes into its 20th annual "fling fest" at the Range Snowmobile Club, Houghton. This year's event will also feature live entertainment both nights of the tournament.

For patrons of the arts and crafts, here are a few you might want to make note of: the Art and Crafts Fair, July 2-3, Manistee; Dancing Hippopotamus Art and Crafts Festival, July 2-4, Beavertown Township Hall, Oscoda; Feisty Frolics, Iron County Museum July 16-17, Caspian, Street A Fair, Ann Arbor, July 20-21; Art-Craft Festival, July 30-31, Alpena, and Art on the Rocks, July 30-31, Presque Isle Park, Marquette.
The Chicago to Mackinac Island Yacht Race get underway July 2, and the Port Huron to Mackinac Island Yacht Race, July 23. This is also the month for the We Michigan Seaway Festival, July 10, Muskegon; Blue Water Festival, July 7-16, Port Huron; Alpena Festival, July 13-16, Gaylord, and the Venetian Festival, July 21-24, Charlevoix.
And, that just begins to scratch the surface of all there is to do and do in July, in Michigan. So the total picture by writing a free copy of the Michigan Calendar of Travel Events from the Travel Bureau, Michigan Department of Commerce, Box 3022, Lansing, Mich.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I wish to clarify what occurred at the Lima Township meeting last Tuesday, June 21. Your reporter was not there and whoever gave the story distorted it. Your article implied that Mr. Musolf pulled a maneuver in an attempt to get the Board to approve someone he wanted to appoint to the Planning Commission. He was accused by other members of the board of soliciting people to submit resumes for consideration when he had announced a prior closing date. He stated unequivocally that was not the case. These candidates were not aware of the closing date, only of the obvious need for a member to be appointed to the Planning Commission.

If any maneuver was pulled, it was done by other members of the board when they refused to accept any appointment except Dave Bacon or Wallace Fusilier. It is difficult to understand their insistence that either one of them be appointed. Mr. Fusilier was overwhelmingly rejected at the polls for supervisor by the people of Lima township. He then forced himself onto the board by taking advantage of an election technicality with 16 votes. He then resigned when he knew the people would force him out by a recall election. How these people on the board expect Mr. Musolf to appoint either Fusilier or his ardent supporter, Dave Bacon, is beyond my understanding.

I guess maybe that is not too important now, inasmuch as they informally agreed to throw out the original five applicants because they were deadlocked with Mr. Musolf, and that they would start with the new applicants at the next meeting.

If they do, indeed, agree to drop Mr. Fusilier and Mr. Bacon as applicants, then I will gladly follow Mr. Schwarze's lead and agree to withdraw with the further proviso that they approve someone who is not a Fusilier supporter.

Miriam Klemer.

To the Editor:

It appears that I have been credited with far more influence on the Lima Township Board than I have, and the members of the board have been credited with far less intelligence than they have.

I feel, and these are my own opinions, that the refusal of the members of the board to approve Musolf's appointments are justified by their concern for having people on the Planning Commission that really care only for the well being of Lima township residents. Their decision to not appoint one of the candidates, a real estate salesman, is probably based on the obvious conflict that and use decisions can influence property values.

If an attorney, a second candidate, was appointed to the Planning Commission and he felt that advice given to the township by its attorney was wrong, he would place himself and the township in a bad position if he voiced his disapproval of that opinion, and he would place himself in a bad position if he didn't inform the township of something that he thought was wrong. Again, this is my own opinion, but I would imagine that this conflict was perceived by the Township Board members also.

The third candidate that the board members felt that they could not approve was one of only two people at a public meeting of more than 40 people who wanted the township assessed by an outside assessor. That same person, in a letter to the editor, made it seem wrong for one of the Township Board members to not be a property owner. I don't understand the purpose of making that statement but it seems fairly obvious that the third person was out of step with the people of Lima township and might also try to destroy any harmony that might exist on the Township Board or Planning Commission for no good reason.

To clarify the situation of the board member not being a property owner, the law states that Township Board members must be residents and electors. I am sure that the reason that Trustee Harold Gross is not a property owner in Lima township is that the farm that he lives on and works is still owned by his mother. Harold and his father before him have held Lima township offices since the beginning of this century. They have served us honorably and well for many, many years. To make it appear that Mr. Gross is holding his office with less than complete credentials, as the letter appeared to do, served no useful purpose. I feel that the people of Lima township do not need people representing them on the planning commission who have demonstrated an ability to create useless discord.

Mr. Gross does have complete credentials to serve as a member of the Lima Township Board. He deserves a written, public apology for the innuendoes applied to him and his family.

Sincerely yours,
Wally Fusilier, former Supervisor for the people of Lima Township.

RED HOT REDS: A tie game with the Little League Reds squad out of first place in league standings this week but not before members of the team slid past the Yankees, 3-2, and flushed the Royals, 16-5, in the league's opening week of play. Capping that performance with a 15-0 victory over the Twins, the Reds maneuvered their way to second place in league standings behind the unbeaten Dodgers. Leading the Reds up the ladder are first row, from left, Doug Sarbach, David Dresselhouse, Tommy McElroy, Dan Alexander, Kevin Vandegrift and Rod Satterthwaite; second row, from left, are Matt Grau, David Wolters, Brent Bauer, Richie Conners, John Duhamel, Ron Ferry and Brian Ackley. Bringing up the rear, from left, are Assistant Coach Dick Conners and Coach Bill Ackley.

Man No Longer Must Prove His Dependency for Social Security

A widower or a husband can get monthly benefits on his wife's social security record without proving dependency on her under a recent decision by the United States Supreme Court.

Previously a man had to prove he was dependent on his wife to get benefits on her record if she retired, became disabled, or died after working long enough in jobs covered by social security. A woman did not have to prove she was dependent on her husband to get benefits on his record.

Starting with payments for March 1977, neither men nor women have to prove dependency. Husbands and wives can get reduced social security payments starting at 62 or full payments starting at 65.

Widowers and widows can get payments starting at 60—or starting at 50 if they're disabled.

Men who think they may be eligible under the court ruling may get information about applying for benefits by calling or writing any social security office, according to Robert A. Kehoe, social security district manager in Ann Arbor.

"Social security payments may be affected by earnings," Kehoe noted. "You can earn as much as $3,000 in 1977 and still get your full social security payment. But over $3,000, social security payments are reduced by $1 for each $2 earned."

"That means that if your full social security benefit is $225 a month, you could earn over $8,000 for the year before your social security payments would be reduced to zero," he said.

"But no matter how much you earn for the year," he said, "you can get your full social security payment for any month you neither earn over $250 nor do substantial work in your own business."

A man already getting social security benefits may also be eligible for payments on his wife's

MSU Researchers Seeking Folk Art

A continuing search for Michigan folk art by a couple working out of the Michigan State University Museum has a new focus: the work of artists alive and working today.

Kurt Dewhurst and Marsha MacDowell, who co-ordinated a critically acclaimed exhibition of pre-1941 folk art that is currently touring Michigan, are planning a follow-up show in 1978 and a series of TV programs.

To be entitled "Rainbows in the Sky," the new folk art exhibit will seek to recognize the work of the self-taught folk artist for its esthetic value and not solely for folk components, said Dewhurst.

Objects in their search include weathervanes, toys, primitive paintings, quilts, pottery and other objects created "when the eye of an artist directs the hand of a craftsman."

Wayne Dari-Blen Rations...
"New Concept" Feeds of the 70's

When a Wayne Dari-Blen ration starts working in the rumen, it keeps right on working... hours and hours longer than ordinary dairy feeds with only a single source of protein. Dari-Blens offer multiple-source protein and other key milk-producing ingredients which work together to increase the level of Volatile Fatty Acids in the rumen. This is the "secret" of Dari-Blens... the secret of top milk production.

Many dairymen want to "cash in" on the economy of non-protein nitrogen. If this is you... if you feed a medium level of milking ration, ask us about Wayne 42 Dari-Blen. It's 22 percent natural protein and 20 percent non-protein nitrogen. It's one of Wayne's NEW CONCEPT feeds of the 70's.

ASK THE GOVERNOR
by William S. Mathison

Question: I am concerned about the continued contamination of our environment. It seems every time I pick up a newspaper or turn on the T.V. there is another chemical catastrophe. What is being done in our state to prevent these catastrophes?

Governor: We live in a chemical age. We must insure that we receive the benefits of chemicals while preventing or curtailing their accidental or illegal introduction into the environment. Realizing the responsibility of the state for public health and safety, I recently proposed to the legislature a series of new initiatives to deal with toxic substances.

Present law requires industries which discharge water to a municipal treatment facility or into Michigan waters to report annually quantities of critical material used in the process of manufacturing, and to report the quantities of any byproducts and waste products that are discharged. The state maintains a critical materials register which is updated periodically. I urged the legislature to amend the Water Resources Act to require every industry which handles a material on the register, and which does business in the state to file a Critical Material Report with the state. This information can prove to be vital in isolating specific chemical contamination problems.

I am also seeking funds for the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) to conduct 35 bioassays per year instead of the 25 now performed. Bioassays use plants and animals that live in the water to determine whether effluent discharged is toxic and whether a toxic substance accumulates within those species.

To help avoid mixups in chemical manufacturing plants which produce a number of diverse products, I will propose legislation to require all nonvegetative feed ingredients sold in Michigan be clearly marked to identify them as a food ingredient. The proposed legislation will also prohibit the use of additives not so packaged.

To further reduce the risk of accidents, I endorse the concept included in Senate Bills 198 and 199 of completely separating storage areas for commercial food and industrial chemicals at the place of manufacture and at retail sales outlets.

Senate Bill 63, which would create a Toxic Substances Commission, also has my full support. The commission would collect data pertaining to the presence of toxic substances in the environment and would assume additional responsibilities during any chemical contamination emergency.

We must also improve our research capabilities. I will propose that a Specimen Bank be created in the Michigan Department of Public Health (DPH) to preserve selected human and animal tissue for the purpose of scientific analyses and study.

There is also a need to upgrade the state's present laboratory programs. Therefore, I strongly support laboratory facilities to provide regulatory testing within the Department of Agriculture and a joint laboratory for the DNR and DPH.

One of the most important improvements we can make is in the disposal of toxic substances. I will propose legislation to provide the DNR with the authority to establish disposal facilities for hazardous and toxic wastes.

All of these proposals will help us deal with the critical issue of toxic substances for the safety of ourselves and our descendants.

Question: I am interested in old farms in Michigan. Does the state have a listing of old farms?

Governor: The Michigan History State has compiled a Michigan Centennial Farms Directory. Although it was published in 1972, it lists farms that have been owned by the same family for 100 years or more. The booklet is arranged by counties and includes the address, the name of the owner and the age of each farm.

You may obtain a copy of the booklet for $1 by writing: Centennial Farms, Michigan History Division, 3500 N. Logan, Lansing 48906.

Question: Does the state have parks with facilities for the handicapped?

Governor: Forty-three of our state parks have facilities for the handicapped. The Department of Natural Resources publishes a pamphlet which explains the facilities. The pamphlet is arranged by regions—the Upper Peninsula, upper half of the lower peninsula, and the lower half of the lower peninsula. It gives a brief explanation of the type of facilities at the various sites. You may obtain a free copy by writing: Department of Natural Resources, Information Services Center, Mason Building, 7th Floor, Lansing 48909.

Drinking Listed As Factor in Many Accidents

State Police analysis of recent week-end traffic accidents in Michigan show there were 11 fatal motor vehicle crashes that claimed 12 lives, according to the department's traffic division. Drinking was a factor in four accidents.

Four of the accidents were of the one-vehicle run off the roadway type. Drinking was a factor in two of them. One accident involved a car and a train in Sunfield township of Eaton county at an unmarked crossing on Dow Rd., a half mile north of M-43. Two small children were killed. Investigation showed the driver had not been drinking. One of the accidents involved two motor vehicles. Neither driver had been drinking, according to the analysis. Two of the fatal accidents were investigated by State Police.

June Traffic Deaths Down From Last Year

June Traffic accidents in Michigan took the lives of 146 persons, which was 23 or about 13 percent less than the 169 deaths charged to the same month a year ago, according to provisional figures of the State Police traffic division.

The June count was well below the average of 194 for this month in the last five years, 1972-76. High record for June was 236 which was set in 1969 while the all-time low of 57 occurred in wartime 1944.

The deaths in June brought the accumulated toll for the six months this year to 797, which was 39 or more than four percent less than 836 counted in the same period last year.

Delayed deaths charged back to June or the earlier months this year will increase somewhat the tolls for those periods.

High blood pressure, overweight, too much cholesterol in the diet, smoking and lack of exercise—these are all risk factors of heart attack and stroke. If you'd like more information on how to change these risk factors and increase your odds for a longer life, contact the Michigan Heart Association. We're fighting for your life.
