Mixed Feelings Greet New 'Bottle' Law

Called everything from "Ex-cedrin Headache No. 49" to "the greatest thing to ever happen to Michigan," the Michigan Beverage Container Deposit Law has put many local retail merchants somewhere between a rock and a hard place.

The law, which becomes effective this Dec. 3, was passed by 64 percent of Michigan voters in the 1976 general election and bans the use of non-returnable bottles and cans which contain carbonated drinks or beer.

Since the 1976 election, breweries, bottling companies, and can manufacturers have been re-vamping their operations to comply with the law and about two weeks ago, consumers and retailers across the state were suddenly confronted with the change over.

To find out how Chelsea area merchants were accommodating their stores and establishments in time for the Dec. 3 deadline, a survey was taken with owners and managers asked about their problems, viewpoints, and suggestions.

Of the 11 businesses interviewed all shared the common problem of a negative and often verbally hostile consumer response while the owner's viewpoints were evenly divided between disgust and joy.

"Much of the negative customer reaction stems from confusion, not just from having to pay more for the deposit or the bother of bringing the cans and bottles back," Gene Schoemaker of Jiffy Market commented.

Schoemaker referred to several questions posed by his customers. 1. Can the cans be crushed? 2. What type of container has to be used when returning bottles or cans? 3. How clean do cans and bottles have to be?

After talking to the owners, a spokesperson for the Michigan State Liquor Control Commission, and local distributors, no clear cut answer could be found.

The 1976 law makes no provisions on what condition the cans and bottles must be in when returned, only that merchants are required to accept empty cans and bottles and pay-in cash—the full deposit. For most containers the deposit is 10 cents and on "certified" bottles (those that can be used by more than one bottle) the deposit is 5 cents.

Stores are allowed to accept only those containers in the sizes and brands that they carry. Owners, answering the above questions, varied in their responses. All of them agreed that the containers did not have to be rinsed out before bringing them back, but they would not be accepted if they still contained liquid or extraneous material such as cigarette butts.

Polly's Market and Rick's Market both stated that they would not accept bottles and cans which had been collected off the side of the road and were covered with dirt.

One area which presented the greatest amount of confusion for customers and merchants alike was in container condition. Only Rick's Market said that they would accept crushed cans, as long as the part which said "return for deposit" was readable.

Pump & Pantry said they would take containers with a little dirt and maybe a chip on the bottom of a bottle. None of the stores said they would refuse cans if they had a dent or two or if the pop top was missing.

"It's been rough going these first few weeks," Gene Schoemaker of Jiffy Market commented on the conversion. "There have been more than a few nasty words expressed by my customers and it has caused me a lot of added work and expense to switch my stock over to all returnables," he commented.

Still, in spite of Schoemaker's added work load in rearranging merchandise and his stock area, he is exuberant over the law's long range consequences.

"12 years ago when I managed Stop & Shop Market, I was one of the first to go with the non-returnable containers. The Michigan container law, however, is one of the best things to happen to this state and I am convinced that it will reduce the amount of litter and waste," he said.

Jiffy, as have all of the businesses, are faced with finding more storage space for the empty containers and adding extra hours to their payrolls for checking in the containers, sorting them into separate bins, and keeping books. Not every owner, of course, was as enthusiastic about the law as Schoemaker.

Neither Judy Merkel of the Wolverine Bar or Frank Marriotti of Polly's had anything positive to say. "Everyone I've talked to hates it," Mrs. Merkel said. "The customers may like having their beer in bottles again but they don't like to have their carry-outs in bottles and the waitresses don't like it because the bottles are tippy and it takes more time to handle them because they break," she added.

Marriotti's headache stems from the tremendous amount of storage area he has had to dig for. "I've tripled my usual space for returnable containers and even that isn't going to be enough, especially with the holidays coming. At least they could have waited until after New Year's when stores don't sell so much beer and pop," he commented.

Marriotti said that he won't reduce his selection of sizes and brands if he can help it. "The storage is the big problem and I may even have to build an outside storage shed. That may help to cut down on sanitation problems if the containers are kept outside," he said.

Shirley Rickerman of Rick's Market said that at least half of the back room stock area will be converted to handle just the re-

Robert Foster Injured in Auto Crash

Robert Foster was released from Chelsea Community Hospital Friday, Nov. 24 after receiving treatment for injuries sustained in an automobile accident on Tuesday, Nov. 21, according to Chelsea Police reports.

The early morning accident occurred when Foster, 140 Clardale Ct., failed to yield the right of way to a southbound car on Main St. The 65-year-old former owner of Foster's Men's Wear had been traveling west on Summit St., according to police reports, when he pulled out from a stop sign to cross Main St.

As he pulled out, he was struck by the car driven by 16-year-old Dawn Marie Apilado of 145 Park St., and in turn his car was pushed into the vehicle driven by 18-year-old Elizabeth Jean Merkel of 142 Van Buren. Merkel's car was stopped on E. Summit St., waiting to cross Main St.

The Apilado car had two passengers and the Merkel car had three but no one was injured according to the report filed by Police Chief George Meranuck who was called to the accident.

Foster was driven to Chelsea Community Hospital immediately but was released that morning. Later that night he returned and stayed until his release on Friday, according to hospital records. No citation was issued.

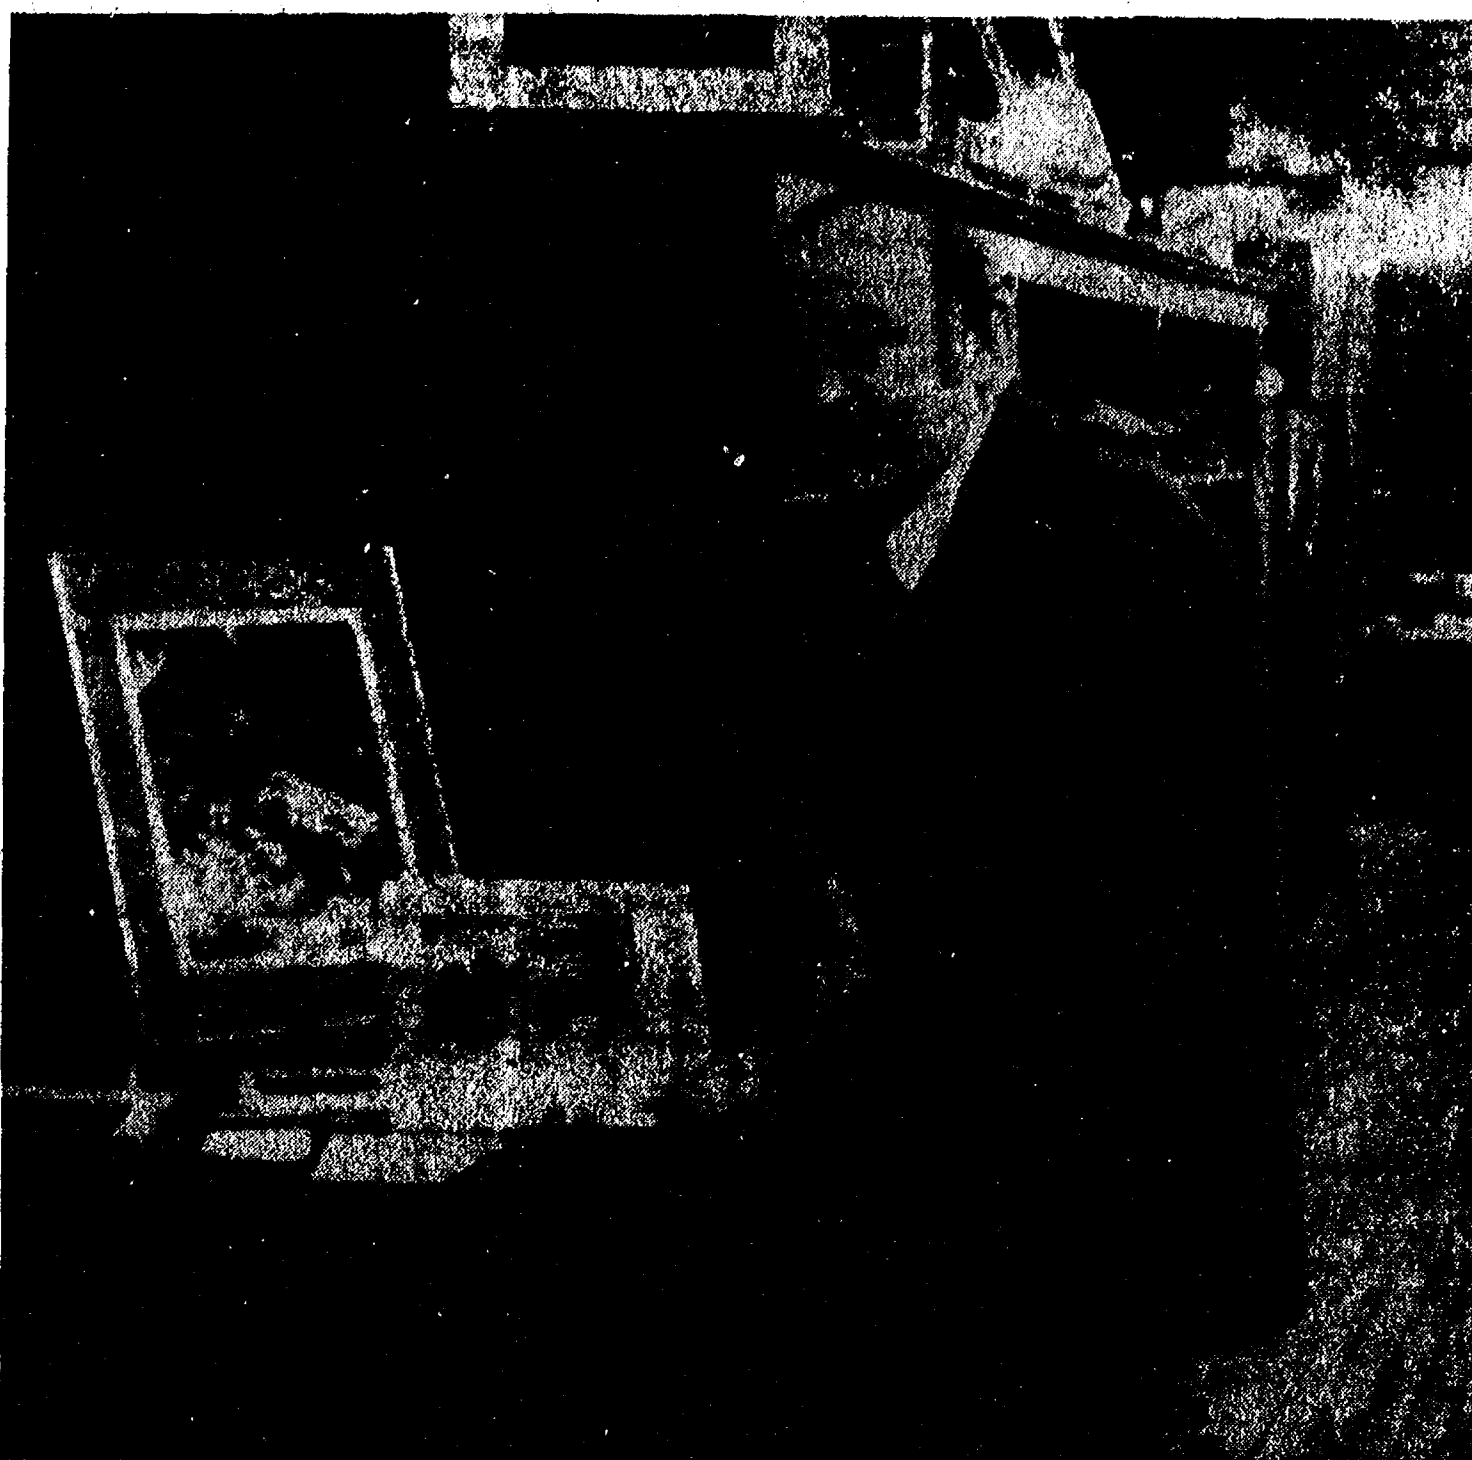

Still Time for Christmas Package Mail

Worried about mailing Christmas packages in time for Dec. 25?

Chelsea Post Office reports that domestic mailing (within the continental United States) is less hectic than in recent years, thanks to modern sorting machinery.

According to the Post Office, if packages are mailed at least 10 days before Christmas, arrival is virtually guaranteed. Christmas cards, however, should be in by Dec. 12.

The deadline for mailing overseas packages has passed.

FIRST PUBLICATION: Former Chelsea minister Philip Rusten holds up a copy of his "Way of Seeing" during an open house hosted by Jack Winans of Vogel's & Foster's on Friday, Nov. 24. The book culminates years of writing and photography by the author. Still, while Rusten enjoys the satisfaction of having his first book published "it is the process that is the most fascinating and rewarding to me," he said. The book offers beautifully captured views of nature and provides an insight to the philosophies of the artist.

Enthusiastic Welcome Received By Philip Rusten for New Book

"What I want my pictures to reveal is a sense of joy at being alive. I want wonder and glee and serenity and happiness to spill out to the viewer."

Combining a discerning eye and the thoughtfulness of a precise pen, Philip Rusten has recently published this wish in a 96-page hard-bound, beautifully colorful way.

On Friday, Rusten was the guest of Jack Winans at Vogel's & Foster's where the author, photographer, teacher, and former Chelsea pastor exhibited his "Way of Seeing."

Except for the actual printing, the book represents a near single-handed undertaking by Rusten whose motivation was "self-discovery; what I think and who I am."

"It probably would never have happened without the encouragement and ideas of Jack Winans," Rusten said. "Jack was the one who suggested that I take my words and photographs and put them into a book. The idea was a turning point for me and the process of doing it was exhilarating. I'm still catching my breath," he said.

A photographer, albeit amateur since he was 12, Rusten taught himself the camera techniques which are so vividly portrayed in his first publication.

Murder Suspect Free on $500 Bond

The man accused of killing Donald Harvey, a 36-year-old Jackson resident, on Saturday, Nov. 18, was freed on a $500 bond issued by 14th District Court Judge Henry Arkison. Free is Anthony Parker, 36, 811 Forest Ct., Ypsilanti township.

According to reports, Parker and Harvey were involved in a minor car accident on westbound I-94 on Nov. 18. Both men drove off the expressway at the M-52 exit to fight when Parker apparently pulled a shotgun out of his truck and shot Harvey once in the stomach. Harvey was taken immediately to the Chelsea Community Hospital where he died.

A District Court examination of the defendant on a murder charge is to continue before Judge Arkison on Dec. 4.

BIRTHDAY GIRL: Mrs. Leno Doty gives a knowing smile as she poses patiently before cutting her 100th birthday cake. Dozens of family, friends, and Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home nurses gathered Tuesday, Nov. 28 in honor of the grand lady's longevity. Wishing her well were her two daughters Beatrice and Mildred. "The celebration was a kept secret to surprise her,"

Beatrice said. Mrs. Doty moved from Dearborn in 1963 to the Chelsea home and has enjoyed a happy and healthy stay. Earlier this year, more than 130 of her family members traveled across the country to give her a birthday party. Mrs. Doty has five children, 18 grandchildren, more than 50 great-grandchildren, and at least 50 great-great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Leno Doty Celebrates 100th Birthday at Methodist Home

She may not be able to turn out the fine needlework she once did, but 100-year-old Leno Ann Doty maintains a bright, cheerful twinkle in her eyes especially when surprised on her birthday.

Mrs. Doty was duly honored by her friends and family Tuesday, Nov. 28, the day she was born a century ago, in a celebration arranged by the staff at the Chelsea Methodist Retirement Home.

She was showered with congratulatory messages and given flowers for the occasion.

"She always said she must have God on her shoulder for living such a healthy life," her daughter, Mrs. Beatrice Williams of Southfield commented during the party. Also attending was Mrs. Doty's eldest daughter, Mildred McGrath of Wayne. Both Beatrice and Mildred visit their mother once a week at the home where Mrs. Doty has lived since 1963.

Born Leno Ann Caster on Nov. 28, 1878 near Pearson, she married Lewis Doty and moved with him to Detroit in 1914. He died shortly before they were to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary.

Daughter Beatrice recalled that "mother never touched a drop of whiskey and never smoked. She wouldn't allow it in the house, not even beer."

"I think though that it is her religious nature which has contributed to her long life," she added.

Mrs. Doty has three other children in addition to Beatrice and Mildred. Daughters Margaret and Mizpah and a son Milton all live in Florida. In September, 130 family members traveled from across the country to give her a party. In all, she has 18 grandchildren, more than 50 great-grandchildren and nearly 50 great-great-grandchildren.

Once a choir singer in her church, Mrs. Doty still enjoys waking up each morning with a song. "She used to wake up at night and start singing but when she learned that she was disturbing other's sleep, she stopped," Beatrice said.

SEVEN NEW LIONS: Chelsea Lions Club installed seven new members during their Nov. 21 meeting to bring their membership up to 46 men. District Governor Ev Huttenlocker of Munith conducted the ceremony at the Chelsea Community Hospital and discussed the activities of Lions District 11-B-1 which extends from Coldwater to Ypsilanti and includes 49 clubs. He stressed Lion support and participation in local and area programs as

4 Years Ago...

Thursday, Dec. 5, 1974—

More than 18 inches of snow blanketed southeastern Michigan, including Chelsea, with at least 525 stranded motorists spending the night in various Chelsea homes, churches, and other places. In 1973, on St. Patrick's Day, Chelsea was hit with even more snow and more than 1,000 stranded persons. Everyone who's been anxiously awaiting news of when Amtrack will begin its scheduled stops in Chelsea had better postpone those hopes for another year.

John Klink, 18026 Bush Rd., will join his former comrades this week in California to "remember Pearl Harbor."

Chelsea cagers saved their best for last Saturday night—a 29-point burst in the final quarter—which enabled the local squad to trounce Columbia Central, 72-50, in the 1974 opener.

Voters Win Praise

With Success of General Election
 Michigan's 2.5 million voters who participated in the recent general election are to be commended for making the election run smoothly.

Faced with state-wide elections and no fewer than 11 ballot proposals, voters entered the polls better educated on the issues and the candidates and went about methodically casting their votes to expedite the process.

Prior to the election, officials were worried that people would not be prepared to vote on the large ballot they would face and the election process would immediately get clogged, causing long lines and voters to turn away without participating in the process.

The media did a fine job presenting the candidates and the proposals to the voters. Nearly every newspaper devoted special sections with a complete run-down of the complicated ballot proposals—a public service that should not go unrecognized.

The voters, meanwhile, took the time and effort to educate themselves on the candidates and the proposals. This is the real reason the process worked and only minor problems were encountered in only a few polling places.

Michigan voters again displayed their ability to intelligently vote the candidates and issues. Famous for ticket splitting in a traditional Democratic state, voters were "all over the lot" on their ballots.

They rejected brash and challenging Democratic Sen. William Fitzgerald and kept the solid, steady hand of incumbent Republican Governor William G. Milliken.

At the same moment, voters were turning out incumbent Republican U. S. Senator Robert Griffin in favor of Democratic Carl Levin of Detroit.

Three major tax proposals appeared on the ballot and voters obviously were unsure about the uncertainty of the Tisch property tax-cut plan and the school voucher plan. Although being touted as tax-cut issues, voters are aware that revenues would have to be made up in some other area and rejected the uncertainty of the new proposals for the status quo.

Meanwhile voters were able to send a message to Lansing with approval of the Headlee tax limitation plan demanding the legislature only spend what they have available and limit the amount of increase to the actual increase in the state's personal income.

Reflecting back, voters made the November general election with their preparedness. They again reaffirmed that our system of government is one of people oriented. With the informed electorate, this system is one that can not be taken from us.

Kelley Sues Blues
For Medicaid Funds
 Attorney General Frank J. Kelley has filed suit asking that Blue Cross-Blue Shield reimburse the state $47 million in health services that have been paid by the state-supported Medicaid program since 1973.

Kelley said, however, the failure of the Blues to pay the coverages to its customers was not necessarily its fault. He noted in many cases, customers of Blue Cross-

Blue Shield told health providers they were covered by Medicaid, but did not mention the Blues coverage.

The attorney general alleged, in his suit, that the Blues have ignored thousands of claims submitted under agreements acknowledging their responsibility to provide payment.

He said the Department of Social Services has collected large sums of money from other private carriers under similar circumstances, but Blue Cross-Blue Shield has refused to proceed in good faith to ascertain the extent of their liability.

The suit, filed in the Ingham County Circuit Court, asks for a court ordered system to process the state's claims.

Kelley said some of the claims may not be valid, but that cannot be determined until the Blues are compelled to provide pertinent information.

New Members Named to GOP County Committee

County Republican Chairman, Ray Smit, stated earlier that he would not be a candidate for a third term as party chairman. Nominations were presented for offices including Robert Henry, county chairman; Mrs. Betsy Durbin, incumbent vice-chairman; Mike Stimpson, secretary; and Kenneth Tappe, incumbent treasurer.

er. The executive committee will select officers in January.

Twelve alternative delegates were named Monday night for the county executive committee.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Well, Mister Editor, we got to brace ourselves for all the new "fiscal crises" that's sure to hit Government from the court house to the White House. I have been listening to politicians and following their performances for more years than I want to think about, and I have worked out a pattern on taxes. I saw this piece in the paper the other day where this column writer was touring the country, asking folks what's wrong and what's tight with this country. If you see him you might pass along what I'm fixing to say. It will save him a heap of questions.

After a life of studying taxes, and dodging all of em I could, I can tell this feller that folks will tell him everything, but what they want from their country is more fer less. And what they're going to get is less fer more. And I would add that if you want to start off with this move for national health insurance you have picked a good example for both sides.

What this column writer will hear mostly is taxes. They're to high, and they're not fair. Depending on how close folks have been listening to the politicians before the election, some will think help is on the way. These ain't made much of a study of the situation. Taxes always dip in a election year. But this is like that item in the papers the other day about the Japanese government trying to calm folks that were crying about the dolphins the Japanese fishermen were killing because they tear up their nets and eat all their fish. The government spent $25,000 making a fake whale to scare the dolphins away. But after a week, the dolphins figured out the whale ain't real and they were right back in the nets worst than ever.

In ever speech from precinct to President leading up to the election, these fake whales were built to calm folks concerned about higher taxes. But I guarantee you that by the time these new elected office holders git swore in they will be faced with a crisis that changes the hole shape of things they outlined in the campaign. Them candidates that were going to turn the country around and head it toward less government, balanced budgets and all the rest will be explaining that they are just one among many, and their little voices are crying in the big spending wilderness.

When I hear some feller trying to git in or stay in office talking about how he's going to reduce taxes I git as deaf as a Scot. I mean being ask for a loan. They say the three toughest things to do is climb a fence leaning toward you, kiss a gal leaning away from you and live up to your commitments. I would add reducing taxes to the list, Mister Editor.

General speaking, we nearly always aim at one thing and hit another, like the country boy that went to Harvard. When folks ask his Ma what he was studying at Harvard, she said Harvard was studying him. And I saw where this feller mailed his gal a marriage proposal every day fer two years, and then she married the postman.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

JC Auxiliary Hears Special Ed Director

General membership meeting of the Chelsea Jaycee Auxiliary was held in the meeting room of Chelsea Lanes on Nov. 21. Hostess for the evening was Shirley Weatherwax. After calling the meeting to order, President Sandy Meyer introduced the visiting Ypsilanti Auxiliary president, Mary Lou Skulley and her traveling companions.

Special guest for the night was Nancy Cooper, special education teacher at Chelsea High and Area 20 director for Special Olympics. She showed the group slides of activities special children have been involved in. Upon conclusion, Meyer presented her with a check for $26 from the Auxiliary for its sponsorship of Cooper's marathon run for Washtenaw County Special Olympics.

As part of officer reports, Vice-President Carol Smith introduced a national project called "Project Concern." The group voted to use the "Luxury Tax" form to help the needed countries covered under this project.

Final reports were given on Kid's Program (Parade), Family Halloween Party, New Member Orientation, joint CPR, and joint Get Out and Vote.

Progress reports were given on BUBS, Avon Calling, joint M-Night, Redball, Lunch With Santa, Ladies Day Out, Christmas Cards, Christmas Auction, Family Christmas Party, Blood Drive Assist and Blood Drive Meal.

FOYW (Five Outstanding Young Women), a state project that recognizes non-affiliated young women for community service in Michigan was accepted and an applicant was discussed. A discussion and revise session was announced for Dec. 19 to go over and reconsider the present year's planned program. Shirley Weatherwax took on the chairmanship of the upcoming Bowl for Impact on Burn Project.

The group celebrated with champagne on their success at the recently attended State Fall Meeting. The creed was repeated and Chris Wagner, co-hostess, served dessert.

A banquet has been described as an affair at which a man may insist that he isn't much of a speaker — then get up and spend an hour trying to prove it!

Mr. and Mrs. James Clyde Whitaker

Mary Beth McGinn, J. Whitaker Wed Saturday in Chelsea Church

Mary Beth McGinn and James Clyde Whitaker were united in marriage Saturday, Nov. 25 in an early afternoon ceremony at St. Mary Catholic church.

The Rev. Fr. Philip Dupuis performed the wedding for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William S. McGinn, 14240 North Territorial Rd., Gregory, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Whitaker of East Territorial Rd., Munith. Nearly 200 guests attended.

Mrs. Patrick Farrell, aunt of the bride and Maureen McGinn, cousin of the bride, were vocalists.

The bride chose a white chantilly lace gown and a knee-length veil. She carried white orchids and ivory streamers with her great-grandmother's white prayer book.

Jody Bennett of Chelsea was maid of honor. She wore a burgundy velvet skirt with a pink flowered blouse. Janet Nicola of Chelsea, and Mary Catherine Bonnell of Detroit, cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids. Flower girls were Jennifer Whitaker, sister of the bridegroom, and Nancy Farrell, cousin of the bride.

Bridesmaids were costumed in identical skirts and blouses as the maid of honor. Flowergirls wore pink brocaded taffeta dresses trimmed with velvet.

The bride's mother wore a dusty rose floor-length gown. The bridegroom's mother chose a champagne-colored floor-length gown.

John Stanfield of Munith was best man. Ushers were Jerry Whitaker, brother of the bridegroom, and Robin Munsel of Stockbridge.

A reception was held at the Inverness Country Club with Cathy and Ann Farrell attending the guest book.

The couple took a two-week honeymoon trip to Florida and the

Good Things Grow in Michigan

Fresh hot rolls from the oven, covered with melting Michigan butter, are an added treat for holiday dinners.

Butter is useful for many holiday fixings—for making old-fashioned cookies, candies, gravies, frostings and as a perfect topper for baked Michigan potatoes.

Historical accounts reveal butter was used for medicine, cosmetics, religious rituals and as a symbol of wealth. Overseas commerce records of the Middle Ages show butter being shipped from Scandinavia to other parts of Europe as early as the 12th century.

Until the late 1800's, buttermaking in America was done on farms and taken to local stores for trading. In the late 19th century, such innovations as refrigeration, cream separators and tests for butterfat helped the commercial butter industry to develop.

Modern buttermaking involves testing, weighing, grading, separating and churning. Michigan dairies produce about 35.5 million pounds of butter each year and our state ranks seventh in the nation in production, according to the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Federal and state standards require creamery butter to be manufactured in a commercial creamery and at least 80 percent of it to be comprised of milk fat with no added ingredients except salt or added coloring. If coloring is added, a statement to that effect must appear on the label.

Unsalted butter may change in flavor more rapidly than salted and both should be kept in the coldest part of the refrigerator. Changes in temperature and light can cause flavor changes, so home economists suggest taking out enough butter for only one meal at a time.

TODAY'S INVESTOR

By Thomas E. O'Hara

Q. I have purchased several stocks on margin. I feel they have excellent capital appreciation potential. They were doing well and going up until October when all the stocks took a nose dive.

Do you think people should establish a bottom line or should they stick by their guns? Also, do you recommend buying on margin?

A. There are two major times when the price of a stock is likely to fall. One is when you have a general lack of confidence and the entire market drops as it did in October and November. At such a time, practically all stocks drop in price. The second is when a particular company develops a problem and its future becomes unclear.

When the total market drops, as it did in October and November, yet the company in which you have stock is enjoying good business and seems to have excellent management and prospects, I would not sell. I would look upon that as an opportunity to buy more at a good price.

If the stock drops because something negative has happened to the company, you need to do a little thinking. Is the problem a normal business problem that management will work out in the course of time? Or, is it a major problem that might require years to correct? In the earlier case, you probably have an opportunity to buy more at a good price. In the latter case, you might have to consider moving your money to another situation.

In my years of investing, I have found that the individuals who make the most money are not those who are in and out of stocks, but those who buy good stocks and keep adding to their holdings regularly, especially at times when stock prices are low.

As to buying on margin, I believe that as a general rule, I would suggest you not do so unless you are an experienced investor, understand the company whose stock you buy very well, and have the reserves to cover any margin call you might get. When you buy a stock out-right, the price may fluctuate a lot; but if you have bought a good stock, you aren't likely to lose anything as long as you can pick the time when you sell. The odds are more likely that you will make money.

When you buy on margin, you have added another risk. That is, you may have to come up with more money or lose your stock. You shouldn't take that gamble unless you can meet the risk.

Beverage Container Deposit Law Creating New Problems for Retailers, Consumers

turnable containers. "We are adding about six hours a week in worker hours just to sort through and separate the containers and will probably have to reduce our size selection," she said.

As expected, the survey found that the smaller stores were experiencing fewer problems. Carl Schneider of Schneider's Grocery said "it's no big deal. The extra work will be minimal, storage isn't a problem, and we won't have to cut down on selection," he said. While Schneider personally is opposed to going with all returnables, he laughed and said "the kids will love it. I remember making some good pocket money from collecting bottles."

Wilfred Cook of Cook's Grocery has stocked mostly returnable bottles for years and doesn't foresee a storage problem. He is, however, concerned about a sanitation problem with people bringing back containers in the summer time. "It will cost $70 for a health inspection and if stores have this problem you can be sure it will be passed on to the buyer," he commented. Cook is also pessimistic that the law will do much good because "people aren't going to be bothered with bringing back cans or bottles," he said.

Strongly disagreeing with this point of view are Steven McGee of the Pump & Pantry and William Dittmar of Cavanaugh Lake Store.

"Naturally people are going to object a little at first, but once they've done it once or twice they'll get used to it," Dittmar said. An avid believer in the fight against litter, Dittmar is looking forward to the day when he can go up north camping and not see "the junked-up roads." Those cans don't rust down and it's a real mess," he added.

As a suggestion to customers in returning containers, Dittmar said he has seen people put the plastic carrier tops back on to the empty cans. "Co-operation will be the key to the law's success and pretty soon I think people will get used to the idea," Dittmar commented.

McGee also is optimistic that much of the litter across the state will be eliminated.

Search Continues for Centennial Businesses

Wanted: Businesses that have a Michigan Centennial Business operated in Michigan for more than 100 years.

The Historical Society of Michigan is continuing its search for centennial businesses operating in the state. The Society sponsored a contest during the Bicentennial year to locate the oldest business in Michigan. Because of the enthusiastic response, the recognition of centennial businesses has been adopted as an ongoing program of the Society.

Over-all winner of the contest was George Jerome and Co., a Detroit surveying firm founded in 1828, nine years before Michigan became a state.

According to Frank C. Wilhelm, executive director, more than 265 centennial businesses have been located through an intensive search conducted by local historians throughout the state since 1976.

In addition to local ceremonies, all businesses celebrating their centennial during the coming year will be honored at the Society's second annual Salute to Michigan's Business Pioneers, Wednesday, May 23, Livelihood Day of Michigan Week. The salute will be held in Lansing.

Each century-old business will be presented with a certificate of officially designating the recipient.

The Society is especially interested in locating all businesses celebrating their centennial in 1979 and 1980. Older businesses not yet identified are also urged to notify the Society.

The names of all centennial businesses and their founding dates will be sent to the State Library, the State Archives, and the State Historic Preservation Officer. This information can then be used by researchers studying Michigan's early commercial and industrial history. The names will be added to the next edition of "Century of Achievement: A Guide to Michigan's Centennial Businesses."

Applications for centennial business certificates should include: complete names, address and phone number; name and title of chief executive officer; documentation to verify founding date; and name and address of person submitting the application. All applications should be mailed to the Historical Society of Michigan, 2117 Washtenaw Ave., Ann Arbor 48104.

A non-profit, non-governmental organization, the Historical Society of Michigan promotes the preservation of state and local history throughout Michigan.

Real Estate

By PAUL FRISINGER

REALTOR

FROSTING THE CAKE

When the time comes to sell your home, the inevitable question will arise. Which items will stay with the house and which will not? Certain items carry little doubt such as tacked down wall-to-wall carpeting, storm windows, and items permanently attached to the house or property. They would normally stay.

It's a good idea to include as many extras as possible. If you'll have no further use for draperies, particularly when they were made for an odd-sized window, be sure to include them. That porch furniture you will have no future use for or that extra lawn mower may be just the "frosting on the cake."

The idea of getting something extra is a strong motivating force, especially if it seems well suited to its present surroundings.

One bit of advice. Items should either stay or go! Do not try to sell them to the buyer. The sale of a home is a big enough negotiation without muddying the water.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at FRISINGER REALTY CO., 935 S. Main St., Chelsea. Phone: 475-8881; evenings 475-2621. We're here to help!

Girls Varsity Cagers End Season With Win

Chelsea girls varsity basketball team closed out their season last week with a 44-36 victory over their hosts, the Lincoln Railspitters.

Nanette Push and Jennifer Ringe led the Bulldogs, jumping to an early 11-5 lead after eight minutes of play. Push hit for six points and Ringe for three while Sheryl Kiel dominated the boards.

The Bulldog defense loosened in the second stanza and the Railspitters took advantage of it to knock home 12 points to cut Chelsea's margin to five, 21-16. Push tallied six of the Bulldogs' 10 points with Ringe and Lori Miles tossing in two each.

Third quarter action saw the two SEC teams play evenly as the Bulldogs increased their lead by just one more, 30-24. Not until the final quarter did Chelsea revive their first quarter dominance. Miles and Push contributed in scoring while Kiel and Boylan pulled to a 14-point advantage off their rebounding. Lincoln, however, rallied in the final moments to cut the winning margin to eight.

Leading the Bulldog attack was Push with 19 points, 10 rebounds and four steals. Miles chipped in with eight points and three steals, and Ringe hit for seven points.

Kiel tallied four markers and pulled down a game-high 14 rebounds. Boylan was close behind with three points and 13 rebounds. Rounding out the scoring were Tammy Collinsworth with two and Mary Jo Elsele with one.

Bulldogs finished their regular season with a 9-11 over-all record and a 5-9 SEC record for a seventh-place finish.

House-Burning Exercise Slated By Fire Depts.

As part of its ongoing program to sharpen the volunteers' fire-fighting skills, the Dexter Fire Department will host a house-burning on Jackson Rd. Sunday, Dec. 10, at 9 a.m.

The exact location of the house to be burned remains a secret, as Fire Chief Keith Hoatlin wants his men to answer the summons as if it were a genuine emergency, with no planned approach aside from standard procedure.

Chelsea Fire Department also plans to assign some of its newer members to the fire in order to build up their experience.

Legion Post Plans Christmas Party

Second District Committee member Gordon Whitaker of Brooklyn and alternate Al Ford of Ypsilanti will visit the Herbert J. McKune Post American Legion on Thursday, Dec. 7. Meeting begins at 8 p.m. that night.

Lena Behnke announced that the Christmas Party will be held at the post on Dec. 9. Food will be served at 6 p.m. and Santa is expected to arrive that evening. Gifts under $2 should be brought and children and grandchildren are invited to attend.

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1978

Gridders of the Week

BRAD FLANIGAN (89): Joining the Chelsea varsity football team this year Flanigan was positioned as a defensive end and an offensive tight end although his experience on the junior varsity team was in playing tackle. He took little time in becoming successfully acquainted with the new positions, however, and played in six Bulldog games. At 6'3" and 179 pounds, Flanigan described himself as being "built more like an end than a tackle and playing the end positions was good for me." On defense an end "contains the opponents and keeps them from going outside," he explained. Offensively, a tight end "must block and go out for a pass occasionally," he said. It is the latter that Flanigan prefers and accounts for his remembering the Dexter battle as his best game. "It was our Homecoming game and there was a lot of excitement. I played a lot in that game and caught a pass during the action," he explained. Flanigan believes that the team "could have done better but we fell apart mentally towards the end after the Milan game. We had the skills to win but it was tough to get back after the first loss," he commented. Next year Flanigan expects an even better season. While the end of the football season marks the end of his interscholastic involvement until next year, Flanigan works out after school running and lifting weights. He is the son of Larry and June Flanigan, 13867 Old US-12.

TOM GILBREATH (62): A first-year varsity griddier, Gilbreath enjoyed an active season with the Bulldogs. The 5'10", 160-pound junior was slotted offensively as a guard and defensively as a linebacker. While he played the latter position most often in the four games he started, Gilbreath said that, if given the choice, he'd stick with offense. "Offense suits me because I like the organization it involves and the movements," Gilbreath explained. An offensive guard blocks the opponent's linebacker to clear the path for the running backs. A linebacker, Gilbreath said, "flows with the play, tries to read the offensive call, and gets to the ball quickly." His best game this year was against the Dexter Dreadnaughts when he made an important block for the Bulldogs' last touchdown. Chelsea won, 34-14, in that Homecoming game. "The team's best game was with South Lyon. We were really up for it and for a long time it looked as if they had a sure win. Chelsea, however, came through at the very last," he said. Remarkably on the season, Gilbreath said "over-all the team did very well. We had our share of problems but we were able to get over most of them quickly." For Gilbreath, football is "America's No. 1 sport which is why I like it. I like the running and contact and am looking forward to a great season in 1979." He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Gondek, 8216 Bee-man Rd.

CARD OF THANKS

My deepest appreciation for the

CARD OF THANKS

Many thanks to my friends, nei-ghors, and relatives for their visits, flowers, and cards during my recent confinement at the Chelsea Community Hospital. Thanks to the Rev. Schwarm for his visits and prayers and to the west end nursing staff for their excellent care which made my stay more pleasant. Thank you all very much.

Good Things

Grow in Michigan

Ah, the smell of roast turkey cooking all morning for Thanksgiving festivities! Since our Pilgrim fathers brought turkeys to the original Thanksgiving, turkey has become a symbol of thanks for a bountiful harvest.

In the state where good things are growing, an estimated 1,200,000 turkeys are marketed each year, according to the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Many modern turkey farms have become complete turkey processing plants. Indoor controlled houses, where temperatures are maintained for raising turkeys, also keep them less susceptible to diseases spread by wild animals and other birds.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Barnes

Linda M. Bayer, James Barnes Speak Vows in Grosse Pointe

Linda Marie Bayer and James E. Barnes were wed in a late autumn ceremony at St. Clare De Montefalco Catholic church, Grosse Pointe.

The Rev. Fr. James Halstead performed the ceremony assisted by Deacon Robert Pare for the daughter of Ed Bayer and the late Mrs. Bayer of Grosse Pointe Park, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack E. Barnes of 9 Maple Ct., Chelsea. More than 250 guests attended the wedding on Oct. 23. Judi, Mary, Margie and Connie Burke were vocalists for the occasion. The bride chose a white qiana princess-style gown trimmed with alencor lace and seed pearls. The neckline was fashioned with a Queen Anne collar. Her finger-tip veil and headpiece matched the gown's detailing. She carried a bouquet of snow drift 'mums, yellow roses, and orange baby's breath.

Mary Bayer of Grosse Pointe, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a spice colored qiana gown with a long-sleeved short jacket. She carried a bouquet of gold and orange fall flowers.

Bridesmaids were Debbie Bartoy of Detroit; Julie and Jane Barnes of Chelsea, sisters of the bridegroom; and Ann Kemppainen of Covington, Va., sister of the bridegroom. They wore costumes identical to that of the maid of honor and carried similar bouquets.

The bridegroom's mother wore a coral qiana gown with long sleeves and a matching long coat. Baby orchids were pinned to her handbag.

Dan W. Barnes of Chelsea, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers included Dave Hertzler of Okemos; Randy Secondino of Detroit; Ed Bayer, brother of the bride; John Bayer, brother of the bride; and Roy Kemppainen, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

A luncheon for out-of-town guests was given by Mr. and Mrs. James Humphrey of Grosse Pointe Park. A reception and dinner following the wedding was given for 250 guests at the Detroit Yacht Club.

The newlyweds traveled to Hawaii for a 10-day trip. They reside at 3108 Chelsea Circle, Ann Arbor.

The bride graduated from Dominican High school in Detroit. She attended Michigan State University.

The bridegroom graduated from Chelsea High school and received a bachelor of science degree in microbiology from Michigan State University. He is employed with IPM, Inc.

Keep It Simple

$1000 Average Minimum Balance = No Service Charge on Local Business Checking Accounts

Most banks use a complex mathematical formula to compute service charges on business checking accounts. First they charge a flat fee (70 to 80¢), then they add fees for each deposit (4¢), each item deposited (2¢) and each check drawn (4¢). Next they credit your account with 10¢ for every $100 of minimum average deposit balance. If the deposit credits exceed the monthly charges, no service charge is assessed; however, no extra credit is registered in your account over and above the monthly charges. The average balance that must be maintained of course, varies with the level of activity in your account, and could amount to several thousand dollars in a highly active account. You never know until you get your bank statement.

At "The Bank of Trust" we keep it simple! Our Commercial Checking Plan is designed for the local small business. All you have to do is maintain an average balance of $1000, and you'll never pay a service charge. It's that simple. There are no flat fees charged, no fees for deposits, items deposited or checks drawn. Should your monthly minimum average balance be less than $1000, a charge of $5 will be assigned.

Compare our simple formula with the other banks and you'll see how less of your money can do more for you.

Our centrally located downtown office provides 35 free customer parking spaces, convenient drive-up banking, and prompt, courteous teller service.
