Chelsea High school forensics team continues its upward march toward the state finals, as the team qualified in nine of 12 events in the District Finals, Wednesday, April 4 at Saline High.

The finish enables CHS forensicators to participate in the upcoming regionals, to be held April 24 at Ann Arbor Huron High school.

A first or second place finish in a category was required to enter a student in the regional competition. CHS snatched seven firsts and three seconds on its way to dominating the meet against such competition as Saline, Ann Arbor Huron, Ann Arbor Green Hills, Ann Arbor Pioneer and Whitmore Lake. William Coelius, CHS forensics coach since 1968, is extremely pleased with the results. "This is one of our strongest teams," he said. "I'm pleased with our showing, especially against the large Ann Arbor schools. We're really fired up."

Students going on to the regional competition in the various categories are:

Dramatic Duo: Ruth Rawson and Todd Wurster (1st in districts); Impromptu Speaking: Tod Severn (first).

Sophomore Extemporaneous: Sara Merkel (first).

Senior Extemporaneous: John Koepele (second).

Oration: Brian Kruger (second).

Open Serious: Mark Stevenson (first).

Humorous: Arnel Minix (first). Multiple Reading: "Family" — Gary Dills, Mary Bort, Michael Benedict, Jerry Herrick, Jim Cobb, Kollette Rinehart and Dawn Kreiger (first); and "Boys" — Dan Alber, Steve Kvarnberg, Jeff Boyer, Dave Morris and Kent Bollinger (second).

Taking third-place finishes and qualifying as alternates for the regionals are Scott Prohaska, Cindy Bareis, Sally Vaught, Debby Koepele, Kelly Stebbell and John Whitaker.

The top three in each category at the regionals will qualify for the state competition.

Sophomore Serious: Patrick Powers (first) and Theresa Merkel (second).

CHANGING OF THE GUARD: George and Virginia Elkins, left, are retiring from the retail business and leaving the Gambles store in the hands of their long-time partners, Sam and Joyce Johnson. The Elkinses say that their faces will still be seen in Gambles now and then.

George, Virginia Elkins Retiring From Gambles Store Ownership

Retirement means many things to many people, but to George and Virginia Elkins it means finally spending some time in "our place right there on the hill."

Their ownership of Gambles on Main St. since 1947 has kept them away from that house at 15580 Cavanaugh Lake Rd. for the better part of each day since they built it 18 years ago.

Now that Gambles officially belongs to Sam and Joyce Johnson, the Elkins' partners for 10 years, George and Virginia plan to travel, fish and enjoy the leisure that is not part of the average store owner's life.

Virginia is quick to point out, that retired does not mean gone. "We'll still be seen in the store, helping out when people are on vacation and such," she promised.

The Elkinses bought Gambles from Don Martin in 1947, together with George's now deceased brother, Carl, and Wes and Ruby Howes.

In the 32 years since that purchase, Gambles has expanded into three additional buildings and dropped the second name from the original store name of "Gambles and Skogmo."

In commenting on his retirement, George said, "My wife and I look forward to the more relaxed pace of retirement and hope that we'll have the opportunity to do some of the extensive traveling that we've been looking forward to for the past several years. However, we'll miss the day-to-day associations with our many customers and friends . . . who have made operating a business in Chelsea a pleasure."

K-C LEADS CAMPAIGN: Donors to the Knights of Columbus fund drive to aid the mentally retarded, Dennis Petsch, far left, and Mrs. Kenneth Unterbrink, far right, receive Tootsie Rolls for their contributions. Clad in bright aprons, Sister Pat, religious co-ordinator at St. Mary's Church, and Walter Bolanowski accept the donations. The knights and their volunteer helpers were out in force the week-end of April 6-8, collecting for the cause of the retarded, both locally and state-wide. Contributions may still be made at the Knights of Columbus Hall. Campaign co-ordinators reported a total of $2,500 had been raised by the Chelsea group.

South School Fun Fair Set For Saturday

If the school semester is dragging on too long, or spring seems stubbornly far away, a Fun Fair might be just what the doctor ordered.

Just such a fair may be found at South school on Saturday, April 12 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Sponsored by the Parent Teacher South, festivities will include a bake sale, make-up room, games, cakewalk and balloons in addition to hot dogs, chips and drinks.

All proceeds will go to benefit South school. For more information call Mrs. Brian Elliott, 475-1245.

Arson Suspected in Fire Destroying Home

Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department is investigating the origins of a blaze that destroyed the home at 17800 M-52 Friday afternoon, April 6. The house was undamaged and no one was injured.

Police Chief Jim Gaken reported that the Chelsea Fire Department was summoned to the scene on Friday at approximately 3:45 p.m.

Extensive damage was done by the fire before firemen could bring it under control.

Sheriff's Department Detective Harold Kerr said that there appeared to be no explicable cause for the blaze and indicated that possible arson is suspected.

Kerr stated that sheriff's department reports indicated the house was owned by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Slocum, Jr. The Slocums could not be reached for comment.

Sheriff's reports also showed that the home was in the process of being sold to someone named McTaggart. Robert Riemenschneider (Continued on page seven)

Most area stores will close tomorrow in observance of Good Friday from noon to 3 p.m. Area churches have scheduled traditional services for the three hours, including a community service at the Chelsea Baptist church for members of that congregation and the congregations of First United Methodist church, North Lake United Methodist church and St. Paul United Church of Christ at 1 p.m.

St. Barnabas Episcopal church will keep the Easter Vigil and light the Paschal candle on Saturday evening at 7:30.

A number of churches are holding sunrise services at varying times Easter morning.

First United Methodist church will have sunrise worship at 7:30 a.m., Chelsea Baptist church at 8 a.m., St. Thomas Lutheran at 7 a.m., Zion Lutheran at 7 a.m.,

North Lake Methodist at 7 a.m., Faith Evangelical Lutheran at 6:30 a.m., and St. Paul United Church of Christ at 6:30 a.m.

The sunrise services will be followed by Easter breakfasts at all of the above churches with the exception of St. Paul United Church of Christ.

Chelsea First Assembly of God will present an Easter musical, "Lift Him Up," by the combined choirs of the Assembly of God and Chelsea Baptist church, Easter Sunday at 6 p.m.

Most congregations will hold worship and communion services for Holy Thursday or Maundy Thursday in the evening. Trash-Treasure Sale To Benefit Children

Church Women United of Chelsea will be sponsoring a Trash or Treasure sale on Friday, April 20 from noon to 8 p.m. Proceeds from the sale will go toward helping children all over the world in this International Year of the Child.

The sale will take place at the Longworth Plating Co. building. Items for the sale may be brought to the building on April 19 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Anyone needing help with large items should call Catherine Hillis at 475-7716.

In support of the International Year of the Child Church Women all over the world have pledged $15,000 by May 10 to help hurting children everywhere. This is just one of the ways that Church Women United are promoting the well-being of today's children.

It was the United Nations that designated 1979 to be the Year of the Child. Its purpose in doing so was to increase awareness of the needs and rights of all children, and then to encourage society to direct energy, resources and time toward meeting those needs and ensuring those rights. Bringing

Energetic Grandmother Conducts Business As Usual on Birthday

Mrs. McMillan said she didn't mind if we told you, so here it is: Mrs. Ella McMillan, energetic proprietor of the Chelsea Restaurant, was 79 years old yesterday.

If anyone is overly surprised to learn that, it just shows how it suits our traditional beliefs to assume that anyone over 65 should retire contentedly and let someone younger run the show. Clearly, this is not so with Mrs. McMillan.

On any day of the week she may be found bustling expertly around the restaurant kitchen, filling in for an ailing dishwasher, helping out a new cook, and, in general, running her business.

It's a business that began years ago when John and Ella McMillan moved from the Upper Peninsula town of Ironwood down to Ann Arbor where good jobs could be had working in defense plants building bombers. In Ironwood, Mrs. McMillan had been a housewife while her husband worked as a cook for the loggers in lumber camps.

After the war they moved to Chelsea and started a restaurant in the building that now houses Frisinger Realty, later moving it to the present site at 119 S. Main St.

Over the years all of their grandchildren have taken their turn in the restaurant kitchen or behind the counter, as an introduction to the world of business. Employees, who call Mrs. McMillan "Grandma" just as her grandchildren do, stay at the place for years, often becoming as much a part of the restaurant as Mrs. McMillan herself. Ruth Lensen, who just retired, worked for about 16 years, while Dorothy Schneider has stayed for eight. Katherine Ellenwood has been a regular part-time employee for seven years.

Mrs. McMillan continued the business herself after her husband died in 1964. She now lives with her daughter, Mrs. Noel Laraway, but holds on to the independence that her restaurant affords her.

"I don't know if she's ever going to retire," said Mrs. Laraway. "We ask her, but she won't ever say."

Retirement isn't the only thing Mrs. McMillan won't comment on. Talking about herself to The HAPPY BIRTHDAY: Pouring yet another cup of coffee is a stock in trade of the restaurant business — a business that Ella McMillan knows better than anyone in town. Her 79th birthday Wednesday was celebrated with yet another busy day in the kitchen of the Chelsea Restaurant.

Chelsea Standard reporter when there's a new cook at the stove and the staff is short-handed is clearly not a high priority on a busy Saturday afternoon.

"I was born in Ironwood, I'm 79 and I run a restaurant," she says, arms submerged in a tub of soapy dishwater. "What more do you need to know?"

Mrs. McMillan is a strong and courageous person and she gives a positive force to our community. Chelsea wouldn't be the same without her.

Her patrons enjoy the friendly "round table" breakfast and coffee gatherings where much of the "most important business" in Chelsea is conducted every day.

As Archie used to say on a famous radio show of the past, it's "where the elite meet to eat!"

Unknown Samaritan Aids Accident Victim

Can and Marian Sharp, 137 Island Lake Rd., are looking for the person who quite possibly saved Dan's life last Sunday night, April 1, along a stretch of Werkner Rd.

As Marian explained it, Dan was driving home alone from Ann Arbor that night and fell asleep at the wheel.

Police feel that the Jeep must have rolled over and thrown Dan to the pavement. Based on the time he left Ann Arbor, police estimate he must have lay unconscious in the road for one-half hour.

Finally, someone stopped: the man the Sharps are seeking. He helped Dan into his car and drove to the nearest house and had the owner call for help.

When sheriff's deputies reached the scene they got Dan off to the hospital, but didn't get the Good Samaritan's name on their report.

Dan suffered a broken back and multiple bruises to his head, but is in stable condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor.

The Sharps would very much like to meet that man and shake his hand, thank him, and hope that, somehow, he will get in contact with them soon.

Varsity Track Team In Rebuilding Process

Having lost 21 lettermen from last year's team, Chelsea High school boys track coach Pat Clarke faces a massive rebuilding job with this year's varsity squad.

About 30 boys have been working intensively for the past six weeks in an attempt to fill the void.

"If I had to describe our team this year, it would be young and inexperienced," said Clarke. "We have 14 freshmen in the group. They work hard and will improve throughout the year."

One of the few returning veterans is third year junior letterman Blaine Suliman. "Blaine has been working very hard this season. His attitude is just superb and he should have a fine year," said Clarke.

Two other veterans who should contribute are seniors Pat Murphy in the distance runs and Bob Oslander in the shot put and discus.

Others on the team this year include seniors Jeff Elbler, hurdles; Holton Finders, distance running; juniors Jeff Boyer, middle distance; Don Schrotenboer, hurdles, high jump; Todd Otto, high jump; and distance runners Mark Boyer, Randy Bohl, Steve Kvarnberg and Mark Stevenson.

Underclassmen who should contribute are sophomores Ken Bayer, prints; Bill Freeman, sprints and shot put; Jeff Bradley, distance runs; and Shawn Pierson, hurdles and pole vault.

Initiative Petitions May Start To Roll Back Gas Taxes

Although the March 31 deadline for rolling back vehicle registration fees has passed, supporters of a petition drive have not given up and say refunds may yet be returned to the driving public.

Sen. Jack Welborne (R-Kalamazoo), co-chairman of Citizens Against Higher Taxes, said he believes the Court of Appeals will still rule that a petition drive was valid and order the two-cent per gallon and an average 35 percent license plate increase be held off until the electorate decides its fate in 1980.

He vowed that if the referendum route fails, the committee would immediately mount a petition drive to place the question on the ballot and allow the people to write their own laws.

Gasoline and diesel fuel taxes were increased two cents per gallon and license plate fees were hiked by about 35 percent as part of the state's transportation package to improve roads and mass transportation in the state.

The referendum petitions were challenged by proponents of the entire package and the case is pending before the Michigan Court of Appeals.

Proponents challenged the petition, saying the increases actually constitute an appropriation and therefore fall under the constitutional provision that exempts appropriations bills from public referendum.

Welborne had earlier urged people not to purchase their vehicle registration plates as a protest, but with the March 31 deadline past, he said he would purchase his but in protest. He added he would also send his old plates to Governor William G. Milliken as a protest.

Meanwhile, the secretary of state's office, which administers motor vehicle registration, says the court has until March 31, 1980 to decide the case and if the increase in rolled back they are authorized to make refunds to all vehicle owners of the difference between last year's and this year's fees.

Bogus Vacation Trips
Attorney General Frank J. Kelley has filed suit against a Chicago-based firm which the attorney general's office alleges has been cheating Michigan residents by falsely advertising bogus vacation trips.

A formal suit has been filed in Ingham Circuit Court against the Columbia Research Corp. and its president, Raymond Anderson, for alleged violations of the Michigan Consumer Protection Act.

The attorney general contends that the corporation and its president violated the consumer protection act by mailing advertisements to Michigan residents promising "on-the-house" vacations in Florida, Las Vegas, Reno or Lake Tahoe for a minimal $15.95 fee.

Kelley charges that the advertisements falsely state that the recipients have been selected by a computer to enjoy a vacation trip that includes free drinks, free meals, gambling benefits (where appropriate) and other amenities.

He contended the advertisements state that the vacations are provided because of an agreement with "moneymen and businessmen who believe a 'word-of-mouth' campaign will result in a number of new customers.

Kelley said a number of Michigan residents have mailed their "deposits" of $15.95 without ever again hearing from the company or getting their money back.

The suit is seeking an injunction against continued activities of this nature by Columbia, together with repayment of all monies paid by those Michigan residents who failed to get what was promised.

Kelley urged people who receive any such offer for Columbia or any other company, to be very careful before sending in a deposit as all such offers, at best, are questionable.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ed Doolittle got the floor early during the discussion at the country store Saturday night. He held this clipping that gave a report on Government regulations for last year, and he was busting to get it in the record. He said the Office of the Federal Register figured out that 61,000 pages of rules were issued in 1978, including a 200-page masterpiece on how to write regulations in plain English folks can understand. This output, Ed said, compares with 20,000 pages in 1970, a increase of more than 300 percent.

Practical speaking, declared Ed, after all it is said and done at any level of Government, a heap more is said than done. But this is no where truer, he said, than on the Federal level, and especial under the Democrats that just love to issue orders to cover every possible circumstance. Just the other day, Ed went on, it took the Supreme Court to convince the Department of Health, Education and Welfare that of all the thousands of pages it has wrote on what schools can and can't do, not one word can be used to tell church-supported schools what they can do when they get in a labor dispute with their teachers. Probable, Ed said, more than a few thousand of them pages tell Government agencies how to get out of where they got no business.

Republican Ed natural got some backfire from Clem Webster, the New Deal, New Frontier, Great Society Democrat that admits he's trying, but having some trouble building a New Foundation. He said you can pick your favorite official source, and you can read back, and you can't find a speck of proof to Ed's charge that one party is making a bigger mess of the bureaucracy than the other. Clem said he was prepared to argue a case based on which party has more ex-convicts that fell from high places, but it was his guess that Ed left that set of clippings at home. But as a practical matter, Clem went on, he could see why Sears Roebuck is suing to prove it is impossible for a company to follow all the government rules, and why small companies are trying to organize a revolt against filling out forms.

General speaking, the fellers sided with Clem. Zeke Grubb said he had studied the situation up one side and down the other, and his best advice to the Federal Government is "physician, heal thyself." He said he saw just the other week where President Carter's chief inflation fighter was lambasting big companies that realized profits up 25 percent last year. This shows they ain't trying to cooperate with the Administration's seven percent increase in wages, but the spokesman didn't mention the Federal deficit that looks to run near $50 billion this year.

Furthermore, Zeke said, while the President's chief energy saver is crying for everybody to cut down on travel he is leading the list of bureaucrats that go to ever meeting everywhere. He said he read where 20,000 of em are in the air at any given time, and at least 2,000 ain't got no business up there.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

ASCS Leaders Discuss Farm Income, Ecology

Approximately 500 farmer committeemen and employees of the Michigan Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) met in Grand Rapids April 3-5 to discuss farm income and ecology in rural areas. Attending from Washtenaw county were Earl Dolezky, Raymond Girbach and Roy Brown.

Stewart N. Smith, ASCS's No. 2 man in Washington, D. C., told the meeting that the only way farmers would be able to get better prices for wheat and feed grains would be to cut plantings this spring. ASCS farmers who participate in government sponsored set-aside programs benefits such as loans, disaster protection and other incentives.

"Farmers must begin using the set-aside and diversion programs and begin balancing supply and demand so the market will pay reasonably profitable prices," said Smith. He warned that another 7-billion bushel corn crop this year would depress prices to farmers. Smith, himself a potato farmer from Maine, urged all Michigan farmers to look at the government's program as a package—then to weigh each of the benefits separately. "Some farmers have found just the disaster protection enough incentive to sign up," he said.

On the ecology side of the meeting, Vernon L. Kretzschmer, chairman of ASCS in Michigan, announced four projects of ASCS's Agricultural Conservation Program. Two projects aim to clean Michigan streams, two will solve wind erosion problems. Michigan farmers in affected areas will be able to get $156,000 in federal cost-sharing funds to solve wind and water problems. "We are going to announce four or five more such projects," said Kretzschmer.

Rates of Exclusion For Capital Gains Tax Increased

A relatively new tax law allows taxpayers who have sold property since Oct. 31, 1973 to keep an extra 10 percent of the gain, the Internal Revenue Service says.

The Revenue Act of 1973 has increased the exclusion for long term capital gains to 60 percent on all sales or exchanges after Nov. 1, 1978. The 60 percent deduction also applies to installment payments received on or after Nov. 1, 1978, no matter when the actual sale took place, the IRS said. Sales and exchanges before this date still get the old 50 percent exclusion.

GARI FELDMAN likes chocolate bunnies—kitchen. She operates under the name "The Sugar Shack" in fact she enjoys making all sorts of chocolate "Shack" candies in her own chocolate factory—her home

'The Sugar Shack' Becomes Busy Home Chocolate Factory

"I brag a lot about what I do," says Gari Feldman, chocolate bunny in hand. "I'm good at it."

What Gari does is make delectable chocolate candy. That she does it well is evidenced by the fact that, at peak times such as Easter, she keeps her chocolate factory, The Sugar Shack, at 41 Chestnut Dr., humming 15 hours a day to meet demand.

She didn't start out to be Chelsea's answer to Willie Wonka. It just happened that Havana, Ill., can be a pretty boring town.

Gari and her husband found themselves in Havana after a move with Dana Corp. She and two boating buddies found the tedium of the town getting to them, so, on a whim, enrolled in a chocolate seminar offered by the local parks and recreation department.

The trio used their new found skills to craft Christmas gifts for friends in the winter of 1977. By Valentine's Day they had a business and the beginning of a thriving coffee shop.

So far, the great American success story, Dana had other ideas, though, and the day the shop lease was signed, the Feldmans were transferred again, to Chelsea. Gari sold her interest in the business to the other two partners and forgot chocolate for a while.

It was word of mouth that got her going again. Gari's children bragged to friends at school that their mother made candy, and the friends told their parents, and the parents expressed an interest in her products.

Encouraged, Gari made samples of Christmas candy and toured area stores, but none were interested. Disappointment settled in until her bowling friends got wind of the samples and bought out her entire stock of chocolate trees, Santas and snowmen.

After her supply sold out in two hours at the bazaar, Gari knew she was on target again. She again approached area merchants and this time succeeded in placing her products in the Village Bakery and in the Dexter Bakery.

Sitting among bowls of colored chocolate and half-completed duck and rabbit molds, Gari is the very busy epitome of confidence.

"I'm my own best salesman," she emphasizes, and watching her describe her operation and candy inventions, there's no doubt that she's right.

Intermingled with seasonal confections are innovations such as peppermint, strawberry, coconut and wintergreen flavored chocolate.

late. Her treats come in all sizes, from bite-sized bunny rabbits to their larger, boxed cousins.

Gari deftly pops a colorful duck into the freezer to prepare it for the final hardening, all the while explaining her techniques.

A typical lollipop is prepared by painting colored chocolate into the mold with a tiny paint brush. Each color must be set in a freezer before another one is added. The more colors, the more time and effort involved.

After all colors are in place, warm, liquid white or dark chocolate is spooned to the rim of the mold and a stick added. One more trip to the freezer and the duck is ready for wrapping and pricing. Usually working alone, Gari's daily production often tops 250.

Gari Feldman is happy with her work and a success. But, as with any success, there is a price, one that many of us might hesitate to pay. Working in chocolate all day long as she does, Gari can no longer enjoy eating it.

Stunt driver—pilot—firefighter. Some pretty risky occupations, right? Fact is, we all take some risks every day. We just try to minimize them. But what about your risk of having a heart attack? You know, heart attack kills more people than any other cause. But there are things you can do to reduce your risk there, too—like having your blood pressure checked, watching your weight and getting regular exercise. If you'd like to know more about reducing your risk of heart attack, call the Michigan Heart Association. We're fighting for your life.

CHS Varsity Softball Team Led By 5 Outstanding Seniors

This year's Chelsea High school varsity softball team will be led by five outstanding seniors. All five have made many diverse contributions to CHS and to Chelsea women's fast-pitch softball.

Cathy Volta, Tammy Collinsworth, Cindy Barels, Jenny Clark and Annie Umstead will begin their senior softball season on April 17 against last year's league champions, South Lyon.

"This game will be a true test of our leadership and our team," says softball coach Bill West. "Our seniors realize that we have not beaten South Lyon on their home field in six years. They are a rough team to beat at home."

Expected to create a good solid outfield this season are three seniors who have all won varsity letters in softball. They are Cathy Volta, Jenny Clark and Annie Umstead.

Cathy hopes to win her third varsity letter this year. This season she will be one of the captains, taking on an important leadership role. In addition to her diamond accomplishments, Cathy has participated in swimming and cheerleading. Next fall she plans to attend Michigan State University, enrolling in a pre-med program.

Penny Clark, a good, strong hitter, will also add her skills to Chelsea's outfield. Jenny has played three years of softball for CHS. Last year, as a junior, she won her first varsity letter. She has taken an active interest in the high school band and debate programs, in addition to softball, and plans to attend Michigan State University.

The third important outfielder this season is Ann Umstead. Annie won her first varsity letter as a junior last season and was a member of the Chelsea summer softball team that played in the national tournament in San Antonio, Tex. She has also been involved in the Chelsea Drill Team.

Two key senior athletes in Chelsea's infield this season will be Tammy Collinsworth and Cindy Barels. Tammy has been a part of Chelsea softball for the past four years and has played many different positions.

"She has been a true team player," says Coach Westcott. "She always contributes a great deal to the team effort."

Tammy won recognition as a basketball player and has been a senior class officer this year. She plans to attend Central Michigan University next year.

Cindy Barels is a returning varsity letterwinner and has seen a lot of action at third base. Coach Westcott hopes that she will continue to improve her fielding and hitting as much as she did last season. Cindy has been involved in student government, cheerleading and is the senior class secretary.

"Cathy Volta, Jenny Clark, Annie Umstead, Tammy Collinsworth and Cindy Barels have all been very dedicated to our softball program as well as CHS," notes Coach Westcott.

Community Service Agency Meet Slated

Washtenaw County Community Service Agency (CSA) is offering the community an opportunity to get involved in its community meetings during the week of April 15.

Area residents are invited to meet at the Sylvan Town Hall, Wednesday, April 18 from 1 to 3 p.m. to voice opinions on human services concerns. Topics for discussion will be poor housing, youth projects, employment, criminal justice, food co-operatives, education and others.

CSA traditionally holds these public meetings every two to three years throughout the county in order to establish a program planning format which more accurately reflects the needs of Washtenaw county's low-income residents.

People concerned about any of the above mentioned (or unmentioned) human-service concerns should attend.

Council of Veterans Will Meet Monday At Legion Home

The Washtenaw County Council of Veterans will meet Monday, April 16 at 8 p.m. at American Legion Post No. 31, 1700 Ridge Rd. On the agenda for the session is a report on the dinner meeting, selection of parade location and chair, nominating committee and committees for liaison with Board of Commissioners and Veterans Affairs Office. Executive Committee will meet at 7 p.m.

Counselor Offers New Approach to Weight Loss

"I find it fascinating working with people who have weight problems," Adrienne Ressler, a counselor at the Huron Valley Institute, has some definite ideas about weight loss, and is putting them into effect currently at the institute's headquarters at 6889 Marshall Rd. She is convinced that people's attitudes about their bodies are behind the problems many experience in trying to shed excess poundage, and has opened the institute's doors to a weight reduction program, where interested parties may make individual or group appointments with no charge for the first session.

"Much of the attitude people have toward the world is in the body," says Ressler. "We've all seen people who seem up all the time, or down all the time, just by the way they carry themselves. Unless they get a whole new perspective, the problem is going to continue."

Ressler's role is that of catalyst. "Very often these people keep trying the same things over and over, methods that have failed before. I come to them with a fresh viewpoint, another perspective, to show them a new way of tackling the problem they may not have thought of."

At the Huron Valley Institute, which also trains social workers, Adrienne Ressler plans to take over the spa area for exercise and group sessions in an attempt to help her subjects overcome their inhibitions. Once the ice is broken, she feels, she can then begin working on the problem itself, which is very often not one of weight but of an inner posture that bars the way to weight loss.

Adrienne Ressler, a native of Pontiac who lived in Ann Arbor for 15 years, now resides on W. Joy Rd. with Russell Mott, her husband of nine months. She holds a master's degree in psychology and education from the University of Michigan and has taught special education classes as part of the requirements for the degree.

"I don't want people to think of this as a hardship," she stresses. "It's really a very pleasant, creative experience."

For further information about the Huron Valley Institute or the weight loss workshop, call the institute, 426-2903, or Ressler at home, 663-1967.

Timothy J. McAllister Participates in Army Training Exercise

Pfc. Timothy E. McAllister, son of Mrs. Donna J. McAllister, 302 Lincoln St., Chelsea, recently participated in a training excursion with the 130th Engineer Brigade in Berlin, Germany. During the exercise, the unit learned combat-in-city tactics. Using old buildings and streets for battlefields, their purpose was to conduct operations in an effective and efficient manner in built-up areas such as cities.

McAllister, a clerk with the brigade in Darmstadt, Germany, entered the Army in January of last year.

The private is a 1977 graduate of Chelsea High school. His father, James E. McAllister, lives at 7 Cornelius Court, Florissant, Mo.

READY TO GO: John Ledwidge shows off the 1973 Camaro he and his Brother Mike plan to have ready to represent Dexter when Jackson's Butler

Motor Speedway opens its 1978 season with an open house Sunday, April 29. At the moment, however, the car is seeking a sponsor.

Racing to Begin at Butler Track

The stock car racing season at Butler Motor Speedway south of Jackson, will begin with an open house Sunday, April 29 at noon. John and Mike Ledwidge, co-owners of Late Model No. 34, hope to have their car ready to race even though they desperately need a sponsor.

The 1973 Camaro has a small block 383 cu. in. engine and finished last season at Butler Motor Speedway 12th in points. It finished eighth in the Michigan Speedway Promoters Association (MS-PA), which is a series of races taking place at different tracks throughout the state.

John, the driver, won "Rookie of the Year" last year at Butler, and also received a "perfect attendance" trophy at the annual banquet. Mike Ledwidge is engine builder and mechanic, with Ken Klapperich and Brian Montibeller as pit crew.

If anyone is interested in sponsoring a winning stock car, call 426-8548, John or Mike; 878-9365 John; 662-3393 Mike.

The Jones racing team that runs Sportsman No. 43 "is ready to race," says Ray Jones. Owner and builder Carl Jones is ready to take the wheel for another season of exciting driving.

Fred Worden, Sportsman No. 94, Fred White, Late Model No. 22, and Joe Romeo with his New Howe Cameo No. 80, hopes to be ready for Open House at Butler.

Bulldog Sluggers of the Week

MIKE EISELE is feeling the ill effects of the forced inactivity of the 1979 Bulldogs and says that some temporarily low morale has resulted from the unseasonable temperatures. The 6'1" pitcher is ready and eager for the season to get underway. For someone who's been active in baseball through T-ball, Babe Ruth and Little League, senior year is no time to miss out on any contests. Mike's 1978 record on the mound was 4-0. He recorded an ERA of 1.34 and struck out 25. Besides baseball, he played forward on the CHS basketball team in 1978 and spends the fall on the links with the golf team. Mike sees a hopeful season ahead. "We're a young team. All we can do is hope for the best. Nobody will be ashamed of us." Eisele's brother and two sisters are sports-oriented too, with his sisters playing for the Chelsea softball team and his brother one of the tri-managers of the baseball squad this year. There is no problem being managed by his brother, Mike reports, even though he admits to being occasionally domineering. As of now, Mike plans to attend Aquinas College in Grand Rapids, majoring in business, and maybe playing some baseball. His parents are Tom and Joan Eisele of 770 Book St.

FOR AL AUGUSTINE, right, a captain of the Chelsea High school football team as well as tri-captain of the baseball team, this week's weather must have looked more suited to the pigskin than the horsehide. All games having been cancelled so far, no one has had a chance to even pop out to short. Nevertheless, Al is one of the sluggers of the week. A senior, Al concentrates on catching, but may do some pitching and play a little third base this year. The 6'1" right-hander led the Bulldogs last year in stolen bases and was second in RBIs. He hasn't started toward any 1979 records yet, but he does have an idea of how the season ought to go for the Bulldogs. "From as much as I've seen," he said, "we look pretty good. It's been hard practicing inside, but we've got the fundamentals down. We should have a better hitting attack than last year and defense and pitching should be much the same. We ought to have at least the same kind of season we did last year." In between baseball and football seasons, Al takes to the mats with the CHS wrestling team. He has no clear favorite sport, but divides his loyalties equally between the gridiron and the diamond. Al plans to attend college after graduation. He is the son of Helen and Dale Augustine of 20331 Jerusalem Rd.

Senior Citizens May Seek Home Heating Tax Credit

"It's still not too late for senior citizens, burdened by the high cost of energy, to apply for a home heating tax credit," says Office of Services to the Aging Director Elizabeth J. Ferguson. Persons 65 years of age or older who qualify, she says, have until April 10 to file for the credit. Applications for the rebate is on the same form as that used to claim a refund of local property taxes. The credit is provided through the 1978 Michigan Home Heating Assistance Program, currently administered by the Michigan Department of Treasury.

According to Treasury Department officials, it appears that many eligible senior citizens are not participating in the program because they are confused about how to apply for a rebate. The confusion apparently stems from the fact that the program does not operate in the same way as it did last year when it was administered by the Michigan Department of Social Services.

A major improvement is the way in which home heating credit is being handled under the new program. No longer is the amount of relief being paid to the utility company. Rather, those home owners and renters who qualify are receiving a refund check directly from the Department of Treasury.

"High energy costs are usually a severe burden to senior citizens who are oftentimes faced with very limited incomes," says Mrs. Ferguson. The home heating assistance program was devised to assist low income families and senior citizens. "Therefore, we encourage all who think they might qualify for the home heating credit, to investigate their eligibility before it is too late."

The amount of heating assistance payment is determined by a formula relating to the applicant's household income and the number of exemptions. Assistance is available to persons with household incomes of no more than $10,565 a year and liquid financial assets of no more than $30,000. Senior citizens age 65 and older need not count the proceeds of the sale of a home as liquid asset if the home was sold within the last two years. Citizens can receive help in determining their eligibility for a home heating credit and in the preparation of the forms at any Department of Treasury Office.

Applications for the home heating tax credit are available from the Department of Treasury and the State's 13 Area Agencies on Aging. Persons who have already filed their income tax returns, but failed to file for the home heating tax credit, can file amended returns. For more information contact the Treasury Department.

Kindergarten Registration Set for May 3

Registration for kindergarten classes for the 1979-80 school year will take place Thursday, May 3 from 7 to 8 p.m. at the North Elementary school cafeteria. It is important that children be registered at this time in order to plan classes for the year.

A child must be five years old on or before December 1, 1979 to attend kindergarten next year. The state requires that a birth certificate from the county of the child's birth be presented at this time. Parents will be given a medical form that may be used to obtain a physical, record immunizations and provide a health history of the child.

This year, the State Department is requiring that children have all immunizations completed before they enter school. Records must show both month and year that immunizations were given and must be returned by the time school begins. Other information forms are completed and turned in during registration.

Parents will be provided with information about transportation, health, school readiness and other pertinent areas.

Anyone unable to attend this meeting may call either elementary school at 475-9131 and register. Materials will be ready for parents to complete at their convenience.

Dexter Students Nabbed Following Juvenile Prank

A juvenile prank resulted in the arrest in the village of four Dexter High school students Thursday afternoon, April 5, according to the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

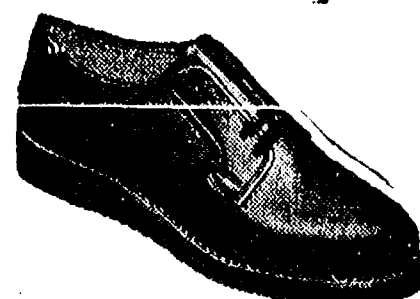

Deputy Basil Baysinger reported that he was off duty and walking with his wife on the south side of Island Lake Rd. facing eastbound traffic at 12:50 p.m. when a truck passed them heading west, turned around in the Lima Center Rd. intersection, revved its engine, and accelerated eastward, then suddenly swerved directly toward the two pedestrians.

Basinger thrust his wife off onto the shoulder, it was reported, then leaped himself as the truck swept past within five inches of him. After passing, the truck slowed down, at which point Basinger drew his gun, took aim at the vehicle's right rear tire and fired, missing the tire but hitting the tail pipe bracket, according to the report. He then ran to a nearby home and telephoned the sheriff's station in Dexter to report the incident.

A few minutes later, deputies said, Deputy Richard Pniowski, on foot on Main St., observed a vehicle answering Basinger's description heading eastbound on Main, ran to his scout car, and took up pursuit, backed up by station command officer Sergeant Robert Aeillo. Minutes afterward the suspect vehicle was stopped across from the Dexter Bowl 'n' Bar on Baker Rd. and the four juveniles inside were taken into custody.

Questioned at the Dexter substation, the youths, including the female driver, stated that the incident was a prank intended to frighten the couple, and that none of them knew Basinger or recognized him as a law officer.

Retired Teacher, E. Martin, Dies at Area Nursing Home

Ellis R. Martin, affectionately known to generations of Dearborn high school students as "Martie" and "The Professor," died Friday, April 6 in Ann Arbor. He would have been 86 years old on April 7.

Martin taught English for 26 years, becoming an institution to as many students. In 1953, he retired to his small cottage, called "The Bird House," at Sugar Lake near Chelsea. Failing health forced him to enter a convalescent home several years ago, and he died at Whitehall in Ann Arbor.

A native of Jamestown, N. J., Martin graduated from high school there in 1910, then tried several occupations, including that of reporter. He came to Detroit in 1916 and became a timekeeper at Cadillac Motor Car Co., a job he held until 1922, with interruption for Army service in World War I.

He entered the University of Michigan in 1922, graduating with a scholastic average which earned him membership in Phi Beta Kappa. He later received his master's degree from Harvard University.

Martin was a teacher of the "old school," insistent on correct spelling, grammar and usage. He had a great interest in people and carried on a voluminous correspondence with friends and former students. Many letters were exchanged with former student, movie star George Peppard, and with Jesse Stuart, author of "Taps for Private Tussey" and other books.

Although he spent some years working for an automobile company and lived a long time in Dearborn, he owned a car only once—and then for only a few months.

Martin had a large collection of books which, together with the many letters he saved, filled every bit of space in his cottage. He had a special interest in history and collected many items of historic value. He also greatly enjoyed nature and travel.

Martin was a member of the Presbyterian Church, the Masons and the Dearborn Historical Society. He is survived by a sister, Clara, and three nieces.

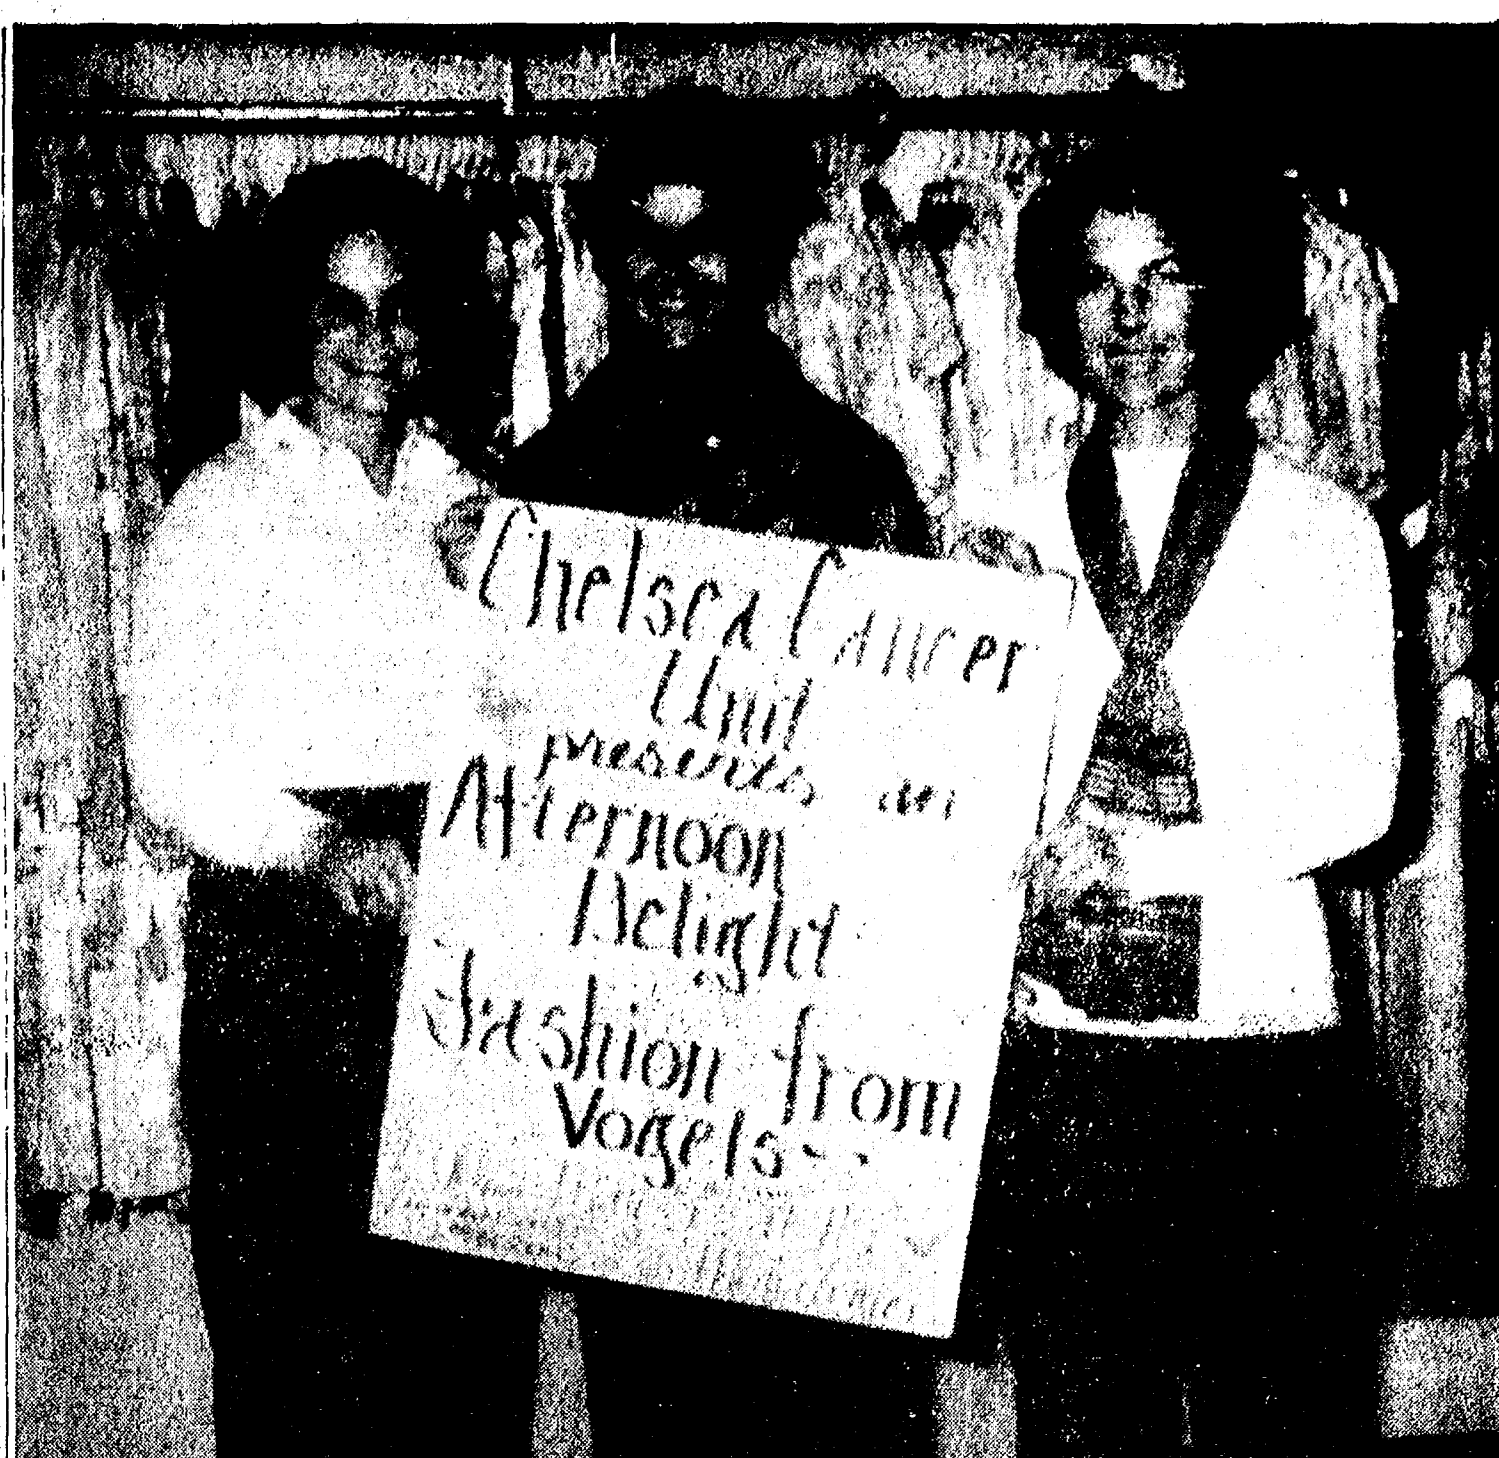

His relationship with his students is summed up by the dedication of the 1953 Dearborn High School Pioneer Yearbook:

"A teacher loved for his advice and counsel; a man of kindness and understanding heart; an unpretentious example of candor and justice, who scorns hypocrisy; a solid rock of constancy and high idealism; a link between our alma mater and alumni; a friend ever ready to help in time of material or spiritual need; a wit well known for his subtle humor; for 26 years a mentor to his 'children'."

INVESTOR'S VIEW OF REAL ESTATE

The New York Stock Exchange recently conducted a study of the small investor's view of investment income potential. It must have backfired, because stocks came out a distant second to real estate.

The study concerned itself with the small investor, defined as anyone who falls in one or more of the following categories: 1) annual household income between $7,500 and $20,000; 2) has a securities portfolio valued at less than $10,000; 3) or annual securities transactions valued at less than $5,000.

They were asked what rate of return they thought could be attained on a regular basis from the five major investment areas. Real estate investments were rated highest, exceeding the yield from stocks (the second ranking category) by more than one-third, followed by mutual funds, savings banks and insurance in that order.

Cock Fight Raided on Jacob Rd. Farm

Acting on an anonymous tip, police raided an illegal cockfight last Saturday night, April 7 at 4800 Jacob Rd., in Sharon Township.

Working in conjunction with the Michigan State Police and the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, Manchester Police arrested 13 adults and two juveniles for loitering in a place of illegal occupation. All were released at the scene, pending formal charges.

The owner of the barn was arrested for maintaining and keeping animals for fighting, and was also released.

Police confiscated four of the fighting cocks and were forced to leave 15 more at the scene for the protection of the birds.

When asked about the longevity of the operation, Manchester Police Chief William Zsenyuk said that his department had received an earlier complaint at least six months ago, but that no one was found at the scene when police arrived.

The students' course of study was centered on armored vehicle tactics and the duties and responsibilities of a platoon commander. In addition, they learned gunnery, communications and preventive maintenance procedures. Amphibian vehicles are used to transport troops ashore and supplies both from ship to beachhead and during subsequent operations ashore.

John Judson Quits 30 Years As Banker To Start Greenhouse

For the urban office worker, probably the most common, and at the same time most elusive, dream is to be able to buy some land in the country and one day to be his own boss.

For John Judson, after "30 years of hard work," both of these dreams are coming true.

On Saturday, April 7, the grand opening of his place in the country, the Spring Oak Greenhouse, 1750 Garvey Rd., was held. The bare fact of the opening, though, reflects none of the story of its beginnings or of its owner's determination.

John Judson was a practitioner of that most desk-bound of professions: banking. After 17 years as a banker, he seemed to have found the profession that he would eventually retire from. One day in Ypsilanti, though, he faced the chief hazard of his trade, an armed robbery, and began to feel that his banking days were over.

"It just didn't seem worth it anymore," he said.

After that decision, of course, came the even tougher one of "what do I do now?" A logical assumption would be, perhaps, business or another office job but Judson had something not so obvious in the back of his mind.

With a lifetime of interest and part-time work in horticulture behind him and tuition funds from the GI Bill in his pocket, Judson set out to become a student again. He enrolled in DuPage Horticulture School in West Chicago, which he had discovered through a library brochure.

After so many years in the office, he was back in the classroom again.

For one full year he spent eight hours a day in classes, alternating one month indoors and one month in field training under actual growing conditions. Every conceivable aspect of the business was covered from entomology to how to keep the books.

He returned to this area ready to embark on a second career. Financed by employment at LithoCrafters, Judson purchased 20 acres and began to prepare his land for a greenhouse business. To go with the wild fruits already there, he planted fruit trees, berries and vegetables. A 30'x90' greenhouse building was completed and nursery stock obtained.

Judson's finances not allowing for employees, the enterprise became a family affair. His mother is co-owner of the land, his niece works in the greenhouse, and his sister takes care of the marketing end.

Now that it's all about to begin, instead of resting on his accomplishments, Judson will find himself working harder than ever, tending to his fledgling business and working at LithoCrafters.

He hopes eventually to be able to devote all of his time to the greenhouse, but even then it seems unlikely that John Judson will slow down. The way he talks about his previous "30 years of hard work" gives the impression that he's fully capable of 30 more.

U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotilla 12-19 of Ann Arbor is offering a free boating safety course designed especially for youngsters between the ages of 12 and 16. The class is being held in co-operation with the Livingston County Wildlife and Conservation Club.

Prospective students are requested to pre-register for the course no later than May 2 by calling (313) 231-1811.

"Youngsters in the 12 and 16 age group are legally permitted to operate a motor boat only after completing the course, prepared by the boat and water safety section of the State Department of Natural Resources," according to Louise Walker, Public Education Instructor of Flotilla 12-19. Mrs. Walker is a certified instructor who has taught this course to more than 1,200 young students during the past eight years.

Mrs. Walker points out that, "If youngsters 12 to 16 have not earned the state registration card awarded at the completion of the course, they must be accompanied

The free state boating course will consist of three classroom sessions from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on consecutive Saturdays—May 5, 12 and 19, at the Livingston County Wildlife and Conservation Club, located at 6060 M-36, Hamburg.

The State of Michigan furnishes the course materials, registration card and cloth shoulder patch awarded after successful completion of the course. The classes will cover such topics as: safe boat handling, rules of the road, required safety equipment, and owner-operator responsibilities and liability.

Youth who are 11 years old must reach their 12th birthday by July 1 in order to take the course.

Boaters over 16 who are interested in boating safety are also welcome to attend the classes.

Hospital Child Care Center Has Openings

Chelsea Community Hospital provides a child care service for families in Chelsea and the surrounding areas. It offers an educational program with the basic philosophy that each child is a unique human being with special talents and interests. It strives toward the healthy development of the total child—his or her social, emotional, intellectual and physical development.

In a safe setting, with children his/her own age, with equipment designed especially for the small but active pre-schooler, the child has the opportunity to explore, experiment, and learn. The program incorporates a schedule which alternates quiet with active play, solitary with group play, indoor with outdoor play, and child-directed with teacher-directed activities. Such a schedule allows the child to participate in different types of experiences, assures him/her of a certain routine so he will feel secure, yet is flexible enough to be changed as the needs of the group or individuals warrant it.

The Center is organized into specific interest or learning areas. The areas provide for art activities, science activities, block play, dramatic play, woodworking, table toys, language arts activities, music and large muscle activities. During a period often referred to as free play, the child moves from one area to another, at his or her own pace, responding to his or her own needs and interests. At this time, he or she is developing autonomy, self-direction and initiative as he makes decisions about what he or she will do. He is acquiring information as he or she interacts with materials and people, both through self-discovery and through teacher guidance as they find time to interact with him or her on a personal level.

During group time, the teacher has an opportunity to more formally instruct the child in specific concepts and to sequence learning for individual children. For the child, group activities provide a quiet time and help him or her learn to comply with the wishes of others, both children and adults.

Each week the children study a specific unit. For the week of April 9 the children will learn about Easter. During that week the children will learn about rabbits, eggs and the traditions of the Easter holiday.

The following week they will be discussing "Tools and Machines in My World." The children will learn the difference between tools and machines, the names and uses for tools and machines.

"Plants and Planting" will be the topic for the next week. Topics such as stem, leaf, root and branch will be explained to the children. They will discuss what a plant needs to grow (light, water, soil). They will plant seeds and watch them grow.

There are still openings full- or part-time children 2½ through 7 at the Center, which operates from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. The center is located at St. Paul United Church of Christ, 14600 Old US-12 in Chelsea. For further information contact Corinne Priehs at 475-1920.

Ruth Ann Curtis Accepted as Nursing Student at NMSU

Ruth Ann Curtis of Chelsea has been selected as one of 60 nursing students in the fall 1979 freshman class at Northeast Missouri State University, Kirksville, Mo.

Ruth Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. Curtis of 3630 Sharon Hollow Rd., Manchester.

NMSU offers a four-year program leading to a Bachelor of Science in Nursing. The program recently received full accreditation from the National League for Nursing.

After acceptance into the nursing program, the student's freshman and sophomore years are spent mainly on liberal arts and nursing foundation courses. The junior and senior years focus on clinical nursing courses and others necessary for the nursing major.

Federal Crop Insurance Applications Accepted

Harlan G. Stull, district director of USDA's Federal Crop Insurance Corp., said that applications are now being taken for insurance on 1979 corn and soybeans, with the actual planted acreage reported after the crops are planted. Applications on corn may be made through April 30, on soybeans through May 10.

Protection is provided against "all-risks," which include drought, excessive moisture, insects, plant disease, hail, etc., attaches at planting and continues through normal harvest, with the premium being deferred until after harvest with no interest being charged.

Farmers using Federal Crop Insurance can reduce some of the risks of higher production costs. Federal Crop Insurance guarantees "quantity and quality," provides peace of mind which would be knowing financial investments in crops are protected against the hazards of weather.

Farmers wishing to apply or wanting information may contact the office located at FCIC, 1123 W. Chicago Rd., Coldwater 49036 or call (517) 279-8471.

Under the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, the minimum age for employment is 16 for any job except those declared hazardous by the Secretary of Labor; however, 14- and 15-year-olds may work in some jobs during certain hours and for a limited number of hours per week, and at any age youths may deliver newspapers, work for their parents in certain jobs and do specified other tasks.

THE GIFFIN HOME on W. Old US-12 is a split-level set on a high hill overlooking the countryside. The building project, inside and out, was done by the family.

THE LOVELY DINING ROOM of Ellie and Gerry Giffin displays some of Ellie's talents, including the needlepoint chair seats and the draperies she made, as well as all those throughout the house.

THE STEINHAUER'S year-round home on Sugar Loaf Lake was built of redwood exterior and incorporates an original summer cottage with a large addition.

THE FREESTANDING FIREPLACE in the living room of Jerry and Judy Steinhauer has a stone base and a large copper flue and hood, suspended by chains.

G. Giffin, J. Steinhauer Homes Opened for April 27 House Tour

Gerry and Ellie Giffin's home at 19895 W. Old US-12 and the home of the Jerry Steinhauers of 1110 Sugar Loaf Lake are featured this week as homes number five and six on the Spring Home Tour. Sponsored by the Chelsea Chapter of the American Cancer Society, the tour is April 27, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The Giffin home is the ultimate do-it-yourself project, being completely built by the Giffin family who worked on it from 1969 to 1972. The split-level, set on a high hill overlooking the Chelsea countryside, has an exterior finish of vinyl siding and Tennessee ledge rock. All of the cabinets in the kitchen, bathrooms and laundry room were built by Gerry and finished by Ellie. The fireplaces are made from boulders found on the building site. The furnishing are a blend of contemporary and traditional with many antiques.

The visitor should note the many personal touches that reflect the talent of the owners. The antiques, mostly family pieces, were restored and refinished by Ellie. The "Gone With the Wind" lamp and the Tiffany lamp are prized heirlooms. Ellie made all the draperies and the needlepoint chair seats in the dining room. The love seat and chairs were upholstered by Gerry who also designed and completed the Tiffany-style shade over the kitchen table. Canning, wall-papering and rug hooking are just a few of the additional interests of this talented couple.

The Steinhauers purchased a small summer cottage on Sugar Loaf Lake and have, with a large addition, turned it into a spacious year-round family home. Architect Mark Atwood designed the massive rounded addition to look like a ship docked to the original structure. The low maintenance exterior is redwood and the interior cedar. Ropes, wooden posts and lanterns carry out the nautical theme. The home was built so that every room has a view of the lake.

The country kitchen-dining room, which is in the original cottage, hosts an outstanding collection of Indian artifacts, some dating back to the 1700's, including an arrowhead collection, leather apparel and birdstones. The freestanding fireplace in the living room has a stone base and a large copper flue, suspended by chains. Opposite the fireplace are pastels of Jerry and Judy's five children.

The upper bedroom area, reached by a circular staircase, has displays of many water skiing awards won by the children. The master bedroom is set apart by a long curved stairway.

Tickets are on sale for the tour at Dayspring Gifts, Merkels and

PIONEERS

At Ann Arbor Trust, we are pioneering new ways to help you get the most out of your savings dollars. Back in 1974, no bank in town was paying 5% interest on passbook savings accounts until Ann Arbor Trust announced the opening of its banking facility, and 5% interest was born!

We were the first—and still are the only—bank to continuously compound 5% interest on both passbook savings and statement savings accounts—resulting in a 5.20% effective annual yield,* the highest in town!

We were the only bank in town to automatically increase all existing 7.25% Individual Retirement Account Certificates of Deposit to 7.75% as soon as the law allowing banks to pay this new, higher interest rate went into effect.

We were the first bank in town to guarantee that customers who have their Social Security checks mailed directly to us will have their accounts credited on the 3rd day of each month—whether or not we've received the check!

The pioneer spirit is evident in a host of special services offered by Ann Arbor Trust, and our friendly, efficient tellers guarantee you'll never wait in long lines.

When it comes to new ideas in savings, the pioneer bank is Ann Arbor Trust. Come on in and get the most out of your savings dollars.

*Minimum balance $1K. Under age 18: $10.

Withdrawals prior to age 59 1/2 are subject to substantial interest and tax penalties.
