Four Teams Leading Babe Ruth League

Chelsea Babe Ruth League is off to a good start with two weeks of play completed. The league this year consists of nine teams with five from Chelsea, three from Dexter and one from Manchester. Each week nine games are played. At this point there is a four-way tie for first place, with another team close on the heels of the leaders.

One of the more interesting games was a 12-inning affair in which the Athletics outlasted the Royals. Toby Boyd collected five hits including one triple and two doubles. Bob Trevino was very effective in relief and picked up the win in the 12th inning. Steve Grau pitched well for the maximum of 10 innings. Eric Krueger had four hits for the Athletics while Scott Dault had three hits and Gur Gross and Dave Gipson each had two hits.

The Yankees have received good hitting from Kurt Brushaber and Randy Raiford, but over-all need a little more steam to break into the winning column regularly. The Dodgers are thick in the race with very strong over-all hitting and less effective defensive play. For the Pirates, Jeff Beaver has gone 10 for 12 since beginning the season. The Orioles have Dave Wojcik hitting well in addition to his good pitching. Mike Bareis has pitched well for the Orioles and completed a full seven-inning game while striking out 11.

Summer Musical Taking Shape Rapidly

Chelsea's community production of the musical "Bells Are Ringing" is taking fine shape, according to the cast and staff of the production. Rehearsals have been going on nightly for the past three weeks, with the result of completing the entire first act as of last Friday night.

The show's director, Michelle McClear stated that she is very pleased with the effort and ability displayed by the cast. McClear is especially pleased with the effort put out by the lesser experienced members of the group.

"They all have a desire to learn, which makes rehearsals a very productive and enjoyable experience. There are some in the show who haven't been on stage since high school, or never at all. It's a pleasant surprise to see how fast everyone is picking up the 'tricks of the trade,' she added.

The entire cast was on hand for Sunday's Strawberry Festival held at the community hospital. The full ensemble performed three songs from the show. Upcoming activities include the traditional "street serenade" featuring numbers from the show, and a community-wide Dinner Theatre Contest, to be announced next week.

The show will be performed on July 19, 20 and 21, at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium. For further information, call Michelle McClear at 475-1168 or Mary Powers at 475-7302.

Early Registration Needed By Schools

Robert Benedict, principal of North Elementary school, reminds parents who intend to enter their children in kindergarten for the coming school year that such registration should be done as soon as possible.

To be eligible to enroll, a child must attain his/her fifth birthday on or before Dec. 1, 1979 and have immunizations completed. Parents also need to bring a notarized birth certificate as proof of the child's age.

All kindergarten registration will take place at North school. Parents should call 475-9131 (x 60) and make an appointment to register with Mr. Benedict.

It is essential that the total number of kindergarten students be known soon in order to facilitate planning for the upcoming school year.

Other children entering the Chelsea School District for the first time should make arrangements to register at the appropriate school—North and South for grades 1 through 5, Beach Middle School for grades 6, 7 and 8 and Chelsea High school for grades 9 through 12.

Contact the district office, 475-9131, for further information.

Note that all children in all grades must be properly immunized in order to enter school next year.

Three Girls Softball Teams Are Undefeated

Chelsea's girls softball leagues swung into their third week of competition with more exciting contests and booming bats.

In the Junior Miss League Wednesday, June 20 at the softball diamond, a titanic battle between the Red Devils and the Black Panthers was waged.

Both teams stroked their share of hits. Nora Morseau boomed a triple in the second inning for the Red Devils. Black Panthers' Sue Messner slugged two doubles and Cathy Doll one double, making a team total of 18 hits for the game.

Vicki Motesinger's Black Panthers finally squeezed by the Devils, 24-23.

The second contest between the Candy Kisses and the Blue Eyes proved just as exciting. It was a defensive battle royal with Blue Eyes' Maro Petsch pitching the first three innings.

but the rally fell short. Blue Eyes held on to win, 11-8.

In the Midget League, Tuesday, a defensive struggle shaped up between Basso's Bombers and the Blue Angels. Amy Dmoch started the pitching dual for the Bombers, with Shelly Boham hurling for the Angels. The Angels finally squeaked by, 4-2.

Pat Leidner's Black Squad extended its winning streak by beating Ken Unterbrink's Brown team, 8-2, with some exciting ball playing.

With the score tied, 2-2, in the fourth inning, Leidner's Patricia Elkins slugged a triple to knock in Kelly Ghent and clinch the victory.

Another defensive contest was played Thursday by Nancy Pichlik's Blue Streaks and Ken Unterbrink's Chocettes, with the latter team taking the win, 7-4.

Two Nabbed In Theft of Watermelons

Some people will do anything to escape the summer heat, as Chelsea Police found when they investigated two thefts last week.

In two separate incidents, sweltering party-lovers made off with 60 bags of ice from Pump & Pantry on Main St. and five watermelons from Polly's Supermarket, also on Main.

Police reports indicate that the ice was discovered missing from the chest outside the store at about 10:30 a.m. Thursday. The 60 bags were valued at $61.80. Police have no suspects.

In the other incident, two melon-lovers were caught in the act at Polly's when they attempted to carry away five of the cool green oblongs from an outdoor bin in front of the store at around 11:30 p.m.

The subjects told police they wanted the melons for a party. They were placed under arrest, then released. Warrants will be sought in the coming week.

Lots of Work To Be Done at Fairgrounds

Last Thursday, June 21, the Fair Board held a regular work bee and meeting. Those present were Kay Poljan, Mary Ann Guenther, Earl Heller, Marty Heller, Jim Dault and Brian Dault with a post hole digger. L. Olsen, with a front loader, picked up rocks on the site and buried them.

Dan Grau, with a fork lift, and R. Poljan, Mark Lesser, Ed Keizer and Mark Staphis moved the horse stalls to the old horse barn. Harold Gross, Reuben Lesser, Jr. and Lloyd Grau all worked at placing posts for the fence at the new arena.

Lyle, Mary and Shawn Jones were there as superintendents of the poultry. Work is progressing and there will be more work bees before the fair is ready.

Correspondent John Wellnitz hopes that no one who helped was left out. All volunteers are still welcomed.

School Light Poles Toppled By Vandals

Vandalism was reported on the Chelsea High school grounds last Saturday, when Chelsea Police, on routine patrol, discovered that two aluminum street light poles on the school grounds had been toppled.

The destruction was discovered around 4 a.m. as officers made their rounds. According to police, the poles were not sawed off, but bent over as though a car had been run into them.

Police contacted custodian Ron Joseph and Principal John Williams who both estimated the damage at more than $1,000. Police are still investigating the incident and have a suspect in mind.

HALF-HIDDEN among giant trees and planted on a dusty corner, Old Zion Lutheran church looks much as it did when the services were held exclusively in German and people walked or drove horse carts to services instead of cars. The 112-year-old church is being preserved in its original form thanks to funds raised by a committee for that purpose and donations from private sources, such as the Herrick Foundation in Tecumseh.

CARL LOEFFLER, a member of the Committee for the Preservation of Old Zion Lutheran church, sits at the keyboard of Zion's 62-year-old organ, which has helped to fund the preservation by providing music at benefit recitals for the structure. Next recital will take place on July 17 in conjunction with Zion's annual ice cream social. Donations will be accepted at that time, but offers of time and funds are always welcomed by the committee.

Committee Continues Efforts To Preserve Old Zion Church

From a certain point on Fletcher Rd. the sudden appearance of the spiky steeple of Old Zion Lutheran church through the tree tops probably looks much like it did when approached by horse and buggy in the last century. Rogers Corners is still leafy and dusty enough to be rural and, from a distance, the new Zion church building is obscured by a rise in the road.

A closer inspection of the church, though, discloses bleached crumbling shingles on the steeple, peeling paint and battered front doors, now nearly always kept locked.

Nothing much has been done about the physical condition of the old structure since the 175-member congregation made its short exodus across Waters Rd. to the new Zion about five years ago. The lack of activity, however, doesn't mean that no one has thought, puzzled or debated over what ought to be done with the old building.

Some of the congregation have gone on record as saying they would like to see the 112-year-old church razed. The majority of parishioners, however, voted to appoint a committee for the preservation of the building at the very same time they voted to build a new church. After five years, the work of that committee is becoming known to people outside the Zion congregation—people who might be interested in preserving the old building as a historical resource, irrespective of any sentimental ties they might feel for it.

Someone who feels both the sentiment and the historical value is Carl Loeffler, a member of the committee and a long-time congregation member at Zion.

Although he lives and works in Ann Arbor and is spending a lot of time renovating the historic home on the farm of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Loeffler, Carl deliberately makes time to work and act on behalf of preserving Old Zion.

"Don't get me wrong," he says quietly. "I'm not against change, just against change for the sake of change alone." The switch to the new church, he feels, should not automatically condemn the old. Just because the church is no longer in use by the congregation does not negate its worth as a place of worship.

It was Loeffler who, about a year ago, arranged for the first organ recital at the church for fund raising. Since that time, the members of the Ann Arbor Organ Guild have donated performance time to the preservation committee and hold their annual meeting at the church. C. P. Means of Ann Arbor has done maintenance and repair work on the instrument free of charge to keep it in condition for the performances.

Loeffler says the last recital, over Memorial Day week-end, drew only about 30 people but he considers even that number a success for the event.

"Some on the committee say that they (the recitals) don't bring in much money," Loeffler said, "but even $60 to $100 a few times a year helps."

The organ itself was purchased in the golden anniversary year of Zion, 1917. Obtained at a cost of $1,323, the small two-keyboard instrument would today require $30,000 to replace. Recitals given periodically serve the dual purposes of keeping the instrument in condition and raising funds for the church that houses it.

A generous sum donated by the Herrick Foundation in Tecumseh is earmarked for re-roofing the spire and patching interior plaster where water has dripped through. Also on the list of needed improvements are front doors and repair of one of the delicate, pastel stained glass windows that has become badly warped.

Loeffler ruefully repeated an old adage that says whenever a building ceases to be used, the worsening of whatever problems it may have are hastened. But even though improvements need to be made, Loeffler stresses, "There's no reason not to use this church as a church."

His ultimate wish is to see Old Zion used again for religious purposes, basically as a "chapel"—a place where people could sit and meditate or get married.

Furthermore, demolition is an

Barbecue, Ice Cream Social, Fireworks Set

Chelsea Fairgrounds promises to be the area's not spot Wednesday, July 4, as members of the Herbert J. McKune Post No. 31 of the American Legion turn their talents to the roasting of 2,000 chickens and the detonation of more than $1,800 worth of fireworks.

Beginning the celebration of Independence Day at noon Wednesday, Legion grilling pits will become a production line of hot, juicy, perfectly roasted chickens served with cole slaw, rolls and chips for a modest price.

Dining facilities will be provided in the Chelsea Fairgrounds Service Center or boxed lunches may be ordered for take-out. A variety of beverages will also be available. Legion members will man the grills until the last chicken is gone.

To complete the meal, an ice cream social will begin at 5 p.m. with cake and ice cream, followed by an extensive display of fireworks, shared in cost by the American Legion and Kiwanis Club.

Chief Chef Jim Gaken will supervise the barbecue pits and John Popovich will organize the fireworks display.

Strawberry Festival Draws Large Crowd

Mounds of eye-catching and mouth-watering strawberry delights combined with crowds of hungry people to make a success of the first-ever Strawberry Festival, sponsored by the Chelsea Hospital Auxiliary Sunday, June 24.

A steady stream of people basked in the warm sun on the Medical Center grounds as they enjoyed glazed pie, strawberry shortcake, fruit baskets, strawberry ice cream and punch, and sandwiches and iced tea. As visitors munched to their heart's content, they were entertained by Mike Ward and Pat Powers, and Jeff Daniels, all of whom played guitars and sang, the Chelsea Players cast of "Bells Are Ringing" performing numbers from the show, and the always-popular magic act of Boyer and Fitzsimmons.

A University of Michigan quilt, hand-made by Alice Stimpson, raised $165 for the effort. The winning ticket was held by Pat Brooks, operating room supervisor at the hospital.

All proceeds from the afternoon go into the Auxiliary's treasury, to eventually be contributed to the hospital in various ways. Past auxiliary donations have included a projector and an exercycle.

The auxiliary, heartened by the turnout and fine compliments, is considering making the festival an annual affair.

Police Find Prowler Hiding Under Bed

Chelsea police were called to the scene of a break-in early Tuesday morning at the home of Warren McGuire, 416 Garfield St., where they arrested a 19-year-old Stockbridge man for illegal entry with breaking.

Police reports indicate that Officer J. Orr was dispatched to the Garfield St. residence around 3:45 a.m., after McGuire informed police that someone was trying to break into his basement.

A search of the basement turned up no one, but subsequent noises in the upstairs of the home led Officer Orr to discover Eric E. Teachout hiding under a bed in the front bedroom. Police surprise that Teachout climbed up to the second story and broke through a window there.

Police said that Teachout was extremely violent in resisting arrest and continued his violent behavior after being placed in a holding cell in the Chelsea Police Department.

Teachout repeated over and over that he had broken into the home only because he "wanted to see Linda," reports indicated. Linda McGuire, 18, told police that Teachout had been at their home before, but that they were not friends.

Teachout also told police that he had been drinking beer and rum. Police reported that they found a nearly empty bottle of rum in his car.

Teachout was arraigned Tuesday on misdemeanor charges of illegal entry with breaking. He will be sentenced in 14th District Court on July 20.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see where a doctor in North Carolina made all the papers the other day with a call for return of the front porch to American life. Mister Editor, that's what I call good news judgment. With the possible exception of requiring sidewalks in all housing subdivisions, I can't imagine anything that would do all of us more good than a front porch. We've been going down ever since we took away the porch and added the two-car garage with the door opening straight into the kitchen.

In his speech, the good doctor said proper use of a front porch would cure half the mental problems that send us running to the doctor. What we got to do, he said, is sit on the porch and talk it out. I would say his estimate is low, but he's dead right about the remedy as far as it goes. Instead of a pound of cure we need a ounce of prevention. And we can start by taking the old lady out to the front porch swing instead of sulking in front of the TV in the den because she's more involved with her soap operas than she is with you. A front porch is good, doctor, but with a swing it's better, and with a rocker or two it's great.

More starts in life than we might want to admit are owed to front porch swings, and more cooling off after spats later on. Listening to the corn grow late of evenings and general sorting out your life is big on the list of advantages of a front porch, but listening as a boy to the older heads swapping yarns has to rank right up there. When they got around to telling for the 50th time about the mysterious light on the trestle where the train hit the feller coming home late at night a boy allus could scoot through the house to the back porch and pretend to help the wimmen shell the peas. And come to think of it, you don't see back porches any more, which is the more a pity. Back porches are for chores and front porches are for relaxing after or sneaking away from back porch chores. Between them they went a long way toward keeping America sane. Nowadays we stay boxed up in our houses and in ourselves.

One thing you can't do very good on a porch is worry. When you settle in the high-back rocker full intent on worrying you more than likely will doze off and wake up refreshed and wondering what it was you were worried about. The way I figure it, Mister Editor, the feller that worked up this positive side of inflation I saw the other day must of done his thinking on the front porch. He started off worrying and wound up counting his blessings.

Fer instant, he said gasoline not only is in short supply, but the price has gone up 284 percent since 1939. And a loaf of bread today is 412 percent more than its 1939 price. Butter is up 332 percent, and lettuce, fer peter's sake, costs 775 percent more today.

But this feller's point is that wages have been going up even more, no less than 1,027 percent, from a weekly average $23.64 then to $268.24 now. We had to work 19 minutes for a gallon of gasoline then, and now we can pay for it in seven minutes. This feller would never see half-empty bottles, just half-full ones.

Yours truly
Uncle Lew.

Pennsylvania passed a child labor law setting the minimum age for workers in commercial occupations at 12 years in 1848. The following year, the minimum was raised to 13 years, according to "Important Events in American Labor History, a publication of the U. S. Department of Labor.

The first U. S. Department of Labor was established in 1888, but without cabinet status, according to the Department of Labor's publication, "Labor Firsts in America."

Anti-Steering Bill Passes House of Representatives
Legislation prohibiting real estate agents from steering customers towards or away from neighborhoods because of race, religion or ethnic background was recently approved by the Michigan House of Representatives.

A second bill in the package was also approved providing penalties for violation of the anti-steering legislation which could bring a reprimand, suspension or revocation of a real estate license.

The main measure was approved after an amendment exempting from the definition of steering a factual response by a real estate agent to a question from the customer when the agent did not solicit the question.

Sheryl Cobb, Richard Johnson Wed at Congregational Church

Sheryl Cobb and Richard Johnson recited the vows of marriage Saturday, June 9 in an early evening ceremony at the Congregational church, with the Rev. Carl Schwarm officiating.

Sheryl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Cobb, 13877 Old US-12. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Everett Johnston of Gregory.

For the ceremony the bride chose a floor-length gown of white peau de soie accented with lace on the sleeves, with an inset of lace at the scooped neck and a train of white lace held in place with a lace covered cummerbund. Her veil was a mantilla of imported Belgium lace belonging to her aunt. She also wore satin slippers belonging to another aunt, and carried a bouquet of white roses, carnations, stephanotis and baby's breath accented with lace streamers.

Maid of honor was Lisa Ramm of Pinckney, who wore a pale blue floor-length dress of jersey-knit. She wore a sprig of flowers in her hair and carried a bouquet of assorted spring flowers accented with lace streamers.

Mother of the bride wore a floor-length dress of lavender and light blue semi-sheer crepe-stitch polyester knit, accented with a white orchid corsage.

Mother of the bridegroom chose a floor-length long sleeved dress of medium green jersey knit, accented with a white orchid corsage.

Best man was Eric Linn of Pinckney, James Johnston, brother of the bridegroom and James Cobb, brother of the bride, were ushers. A reception was held following the ceremony at the American Legion Hall in Stockbridge, given by Mrs. Irene Richardson and Kitty Richardson of Stockbridge. The bride's sister, Lauri Cobb, was in charge of the guest book and Mrs. Kevin Johnson, the bride's aunt, cut the cake.

Following a week-end trip to Mackinac Island the couple returned home to Ann Arbor. The bride is employed as a lab technician at Chelsea Medical Laboratories. Her husband is employed at Hydramatic in Ypsilanti.

The group met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Wahl. Oldest member was Nina Wahl, youngest was Brian Trinkle and Mr. and Mrs. Don Lieder of Fenton were judged to have come the farthest.

Attending the reunion were residents of Mason, Fenton, Munth, Chelsea, Manchester, Grass Lake and Dexter.

Next year's affair will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Clark of Grass Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Trinkle

Observe 25th Anniversary

One hundred seventy-five relatives and friends gathered at the Chelsea Community Fair service building Saturday, June 2 to surprise Charles and Pat Trinkle on their 25th wedding anniversary.

The party was planned and given by their children Darrell, Cheryl and Nancy Marie Pidd; Dan and Sheryl Trinkle; Duane and Linda Trinkle; and Darroll Trinkle. A daughter, Joyce Marie, died Nov. 19, 1968 at the age of eight.

Charles and Pat were married on June 5, 1954 at the Dexter Gospel church by the Rev. Henry A. Campbell. Mrs. Trinkle is the former Patricia Miles, daughter of Walter and Alice Miles of Webberville, formerly of Dexter. Mr. Trinkle is the son of the late Wilbert and Hilda Trinkle.

A bountiful buffet dinner, complete with a lovely, three-tiered wedding cake especially made for them by Mrs. Robert Moore of Dexter, was served and enjoyed by all. Dance music was provided by the Luke Schaible Band.

Quilt Show & Tell Event Planned By Manchester Group

Do you, or someone you know, have an old quilt you would like to show off, or know more about? Bring your quilts to the Manchester Methodist church on Tuesday, July 10 and join the Manchester Art Guild in a Quilt Show-and-Tell. Sarah Deasy, quilt enthusiast, will be there from 1 to 3 p.m. to answer any questions you might have concerning the pattern used in your quilt, types of fabrics used, probable age of your quilt, etc.

Do you already know all about your quilt? Then bring it anyway! The Manchester Art Guild is planning a "Quilts 1850-1979" exhibit in September and may want to use your quilt. The Art Guild would like to have as many "local" quilts as possible in this exhibit, so come and show what you have. There will be refreshments, expert "help" in identifying your quilt, and a lot of lively conversations about quilting in general.

For more information concerning the Quilt Show-and-Tell, please feel free to phone 423-7927.

The Trinkles have lived at 9331 Trinkle Rd. since their marriage. Mr. Trinkle is a self-employed farmer and is also in the hay and straw business with his sons. Mrs. Trinkle has worked for the past 10 years at the University of Michigan Chelsea Family Practice Center.

Charles and Pat were presented with a scrap book filled with "memories" from all who attended their party. According to the couple: "This will be one evening we will never forget. What a surprise and what a lovely evening for us."

The awarding of the scholarship will be based on a student's academic achievement and his/her sincere intent to further education in a health oriented field. After initial screening of applications, personal interviews will be conducted for those candidates deemed most highly qualified.

Application forms for this scholarship are now available at the office of Jan Tupper, director of volunteer-auxiliary services. To be considered for the 1979-1980 school year, the applications must be returned no later than Aug. 1.

Three Injured In Crash on Pinckney Rd.

Three people were transported to University Hospital with serious injuries sustained in a collision with a tree at the intersection of Dexter-Pinckney and Fleming Rds. Tuesday night, June 19, Washtenaw County Sheriff's department has reported.

According to the report, Vivian Kay Visel, 23, of 614 Second St., Ann Arbor, was northbound on Dexter-Pinckney Rd. at 6:33 p.m. when she failed to observe two vehicles stop in front of her while she was waiting to turn left onto Fleming Rd. Seeing them at the last moment, deputies said, she swerved right to avoid striking them and collided with a tree on the east side of the road.

Injured with Visel were her passengers, Daniel Joseph Cropsey, 3, of 1503 Pringle St., Jackson, and Fredrick James Herendeen of 1013 Arbordale, Ann Arbor, both of whom were riding in the front seat.

YFU Seeks Host Families For Students

Youth for Understanding, a non-profit student exchange organization, is seeking host families for 14- to 18-year-old students from other lands who wish to learn about America at first hand.

Families who participate will be exposed to a different culture and promote world citizenship through understanding between youths. Visiting students will be responsible for all personal expenses, while host families will provide meals and shelter, love and companionship.

This program has brought the experience of international friendship to 55,000 young people since its inception in 1951. This year, 3,500 teens from 24 countries will be placed with American host families.

Interested parties may learn more through Mrs. Joan Carr, 5505 Jennings Rd., Ann Arbor 48105, telephone number 665-5041.

Youth for Understanding is asking you to invite the world home.

Mary Delaney Finds Job With Bite That Gets Under Her Skin

Mary Delaney of Chelsea collects mosquitoes. She doesn't do it for the love of them; rather, seeking out the tiny, vicious insects is her job.

Working with Clemson University graduate student Jonathan R. Davis, entomology technician Delaney is conducting a mosquito survey in the vicinity of a dam and lake being constructed in South Carolina by the U. S. Corps of Engineers. The Richard B. Russell Dam and Lake is scheduled for completion in early 1984.

Davis and Delaney, working under entomologists T. R. Adkins and

J. C. Morse, have located 10 mosquito breeding sites on either side of the Savannah River, which is being dammed to make the lake. They make weekly collections of mosquito larvae for subsequent identification and estimates of abundance.

Also, they collect adult mosquitoes by attracting them to battery-powered, dry ice-baited traps. Those traps are located near public access routes, in areas fairly safe from vandalism and in places likely to experience mosquito nuisance problems. And, they collect adults at natural resting sites such as culverts, hollow trees, undercuts, old barns and privies.

"The work is tremendously interesting and we are, of course, learning a lot," Delaney said. "We are also getting awfully dirty and wet and sweaty. And a lot of mosquitoes have had us for dinner."

The survey, being funded by the South Carolina Experiment Station under contract with the Corps, is designed to determine the effects of the dam and lake on the area's mosquito population. According to Corps Savannah River District entomologist Joseph H. Patti, who is supervising the contract, it's one of the first such studies in the country.

"This is the only way a benchmark can be determined as to what the mosquito population is before impoundment begins," Adkins said. "It also will give an indication as to what problems will occur in the future and will be very useful in the preparation of environmental impact statements."

Mosquitoes are capable of removing significant amounts of blood, their salivary secretions cause allergic problems in sensitive individuals, and they are known vectors of organisms which cause many diseases.

They are capable of transmitting encephalitis, yellow fever, dengue fever, and malaria, and some species transmit heart worm among dogs and to human beings.

Mosquitoes breed only in water and almost any kind of water will support them in their immature forms. This includes naturally-occurring water and water held by artificial containers. Even small quantities of water can support large populations of the external parasites.

Adkins said construction of the dam and lake could result in new mosquito breeding areas but that it likely will rid the area of others.

"It's important that the Corps of Engineers is concerned enough about the potential problems to seek only mosquito identifications, potential breeding sites and estimated population numbers," he said. "After our work, we'll be able to offer recommendations for a total mosquito control program."

Many people who experience the symptoms of a heart attack refuse to seek help because they think they are experiencing indigestion, or some other mild disorder and they will feel foolish if they go to a hospital. In fact, the average heart attack victim waits three hours before seeking help, which is why half of those who die of a heart attack, die before they ever reach a hospital. Stockbridge Youth Cyclist Struck By Auto on M-52

A 12-year-old Stockbridge boy was injured Monday, June 25, when the bicycle he was pedaling south on M-52 near Waterloo Rd. veered into traffic and was struck by a car.

Washtenaw County Sheriff's Deputy R. Compton said that Frederick P. Fletcher was riding his bike on the shoulder of the road, but lost control and swung into traffic. Willard Pearson of Chelsea, driver of the automobile, was unable to avoid hitting the boy.

The youth was transported to Chelsea Medical Center in an ambulance, suffering from head injuries, said Deputy Compton. A spokesman at Chelsea Community Hospital reported that Fletcher was released Tuesday morning in satisfactory condition.

Old Zion Church

expensive undertaking. Loeffler estimated the cost of razing Old Zion to be somewhere in the neighborhood of $15,000, a sum that would go far toward its preservation.

Efforts have been made by the committee to have the building placed on the state historical register, but recognition has been slow. Loeffler said that the initial request was made more than a year ago, but that a committee from the state has yet to even travel to Rogers Corners to see the church.

"It can be a frustrating experience," said Loeffler. "Over the past five years I've learned that if you really want something, it's worth taking a long time to work at it."

Next fundraiser at the church will take place during the annual ice cream social, July 17, when the organ may be heard in a series of recitals by various organists all through the social.

Visitors to the old building on that occasion are well advised to keep their eyes open as well as their ears. The engraved stone tablet above the front doors, for instance, gives a clue to the church's past. The inscription, "Zion Kirche 1887" is a reminder that services in a language other than German were not held in this traditional church until 1930, when the first English service was conducted.

The ropes on the right of the narthex lead up to the bell, circa 1877, which was purchased that year for $598. Plans were originally formulated to move the bell to the new church, but it was decided to instead install an electronic device that will ring the bell by pushing a button in the new church.

Delicately-shaded yellow, lavender and blue stained glass windows, installed in 1909, line the nave. 1909 was also the year a furnace was added to replace the two stoves which had led up to the building. Although the windows are marvelous examples of craftsmanship, Loeffler said that if the building is destroyed it is unlikely that they would be saved.

Rows of solid wooden pews date back to 1887. A close observer will notice the wooden pegs joining the benches together in lieu of nails. Glorious woodwork abounds on the altar, pulpit, choir loft and organ. Aside from some velvet carpeting around the sanctuary, the interior of the church is hard and spare, producing wonderful acoustics for the organ.

The cumulative effect of the building is to inspire respect for proud craftsmanship and for the generations of people who worshipped here.

Carl Loeffler is not rich. "Blue collar workers don't make much," he said, "especially in small factories. But I prefer to use some of the money that I earn here on the church."

Pastor John Morris of Zion also sees the structure as a valuable asset to not only the church but the community. "It is yet a church of beauty and one of deep sentiment for many of the people," he said. "I know there are some who say we can't afford to maintain two churches, but that's why we have the committee. I know that I myself enjoy going over and just looking around."

Carl Loeffler, too, enjoys looking around but what he delights in most is the doing. "You've got to love old buildings and be crazy to do work like this," he smiles.

Given half a chance, there are probably a lot more crazy people in this community than Carl suspects.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I would like to clarify a statement that I made in my letter to the editor of The Chelsea Standard which was published on June 21, regarding casting of the Chelsea Players' forthcoming production. In that letter, I said that Mrs. Rita Howard attempted to have the director of the production fired.

My comment was based on conversations I had with persons directly connected with the incident. Subsequent to the publishing of my letter, it was called to my attention by Mrs. Mary Powers, president of the Friends of the Chelsea Players, that Mrs. Howard merely requested that the Board of Directors be polled to determine whether the board, as producers, should override Miss Michelle McClellan's casting choice. Had this been done, the board recognized the risk of Miss McClellan's resignation as director of the play. The board was polled and upheld Miss McClellan's selection of the cast.

I was gratified by the confidence expressed for Miss McClellan, Miss Lori VanRiper, and the Chelsea Players in last week's Letters to the Editor column. I hope that we can now direct our efforts in a positive and constructive manner by supporting the cast, crew, and director of "Bells are Ringing".

Julie Prohaska.

Dear Mr. Editor:

As I detest writing letters, this is a great chore for me; however, I feel that, once and for all, this mess needs straightening out for the good of all concerned — the entire cast of the "Bells are Ringing," the people of Chelsea who support the players and deserve to know the facts, and for my family and myself.

First of all may I say that I, too, until this last week of terrible misunderstandings, have found this to be a "welcoming" community — all the merchants have been helpful, friends forthcoming, and I was even asked to join the board of directors of the Chelsea Players within a very few months of our moving to the area. As I have lived away from America for 10 years, this kindness was deeply appreciated by my entire family.

Unfortunately, with the exception of the choreographer's letter, but including the letter of June 14, no one has stated the true facts behind this issue and it is sad that many people have suffered from "hearsay."

In reply to the "professionals" who asked "Who is Rita Howard," would you forgive my immodesty if I reply? I am a small-town girl from Humboldt, Tenn., who worked my way through Northwestern University on academic and "Miss America" scholarships; then studied privately in New York in ballet, jazz, opera, and actor's studio — for 14 hours a day for 8 months under the direct double guidance of David Merrick and Elia Kazan, whom I'm sure you have heard of. The "break" came and as a result I was luckily cast in five films, 14 TV guest star performances including westerns, comedies, and dramas, was hostess in three area TV shows, and was a guest artist on the "Tonight Show," "The Today Show," "Merv Griffin Show," as well as "To Tell the Truth" and many other game shows. In 1968 I was one of the three leading women in TV commercials in the USA (based on income earned and number of commercials). As for the legitimate theatre, I have performed in well over 100 professional and Little Theatre productions including musicals, Shakespeare, and drama — all over the USA (not just NY!) and in England. Also in England I attended the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts and private instruction in ballet and voice from the Royal Academy of Music. As for your very catty remark (most unappreciated and unnecessary) concerning publicity, I would be most happy, if you would care to introduce yourself to me, to let you browse through some 20 scrapbooks filled with clippings (that my mother in Tennessee has proudly collected over the years) from Variety, The Hollywood Reporter, The New York Times, The London Times, The London Evening Standard, The Los Angeles Herald, The Chicago Herald-Tribune, a three-page spread in Life Magazine — excuse me, please, only to name a few.

As for all the insinuations that I consider myself a "prima donna" and would only accept a leading role, you are greatly mistaken. My record shows that I have welcomed many small character roles and enjoyed doing them. In this particular circumstance, however, I was offered no role at all — instead I was placed in the chorus — belatedly, I might add. As a matter of interest, I tried for the leading role in order that I might not get "rusty" in these few years that I am away from the theatre. (I am not an ex-professional; I am a professional who decided to take a break for a few years and enjoy my two children while they are young.) A part in the chorus would serve no purpose to me at all except to keep me from my family and it would be unfair to the young talents on stage for I have no powerful a voice and personality and would overshadow them — a fact that an experienced director would have immediately recognized for I have never played in a chorus in my entire career!

I wholeheartedly agree with the letters that mentioned that perhaps the directress would feel the show was unbalanced with me in it or that she felt that I was not her idea of the leading lady. This is her right as the director of the show — these facts I will accept and did accept and have accepted many times previously — for I have lost lots of roles in the 20 years of my career. I do not accept, however, the discourtesy that was displayed in the directress not informing me of the above and my finally having to call her to see if the rumors were true that I was not in the cast. Yes, I was disappointed just as I have been disappointed many times in many roles that I would love to have played but, again, I have learned to accept — a very important facet in any career. Perhaps, Mr. Professional, I might, after my children are older, have the opportunity to take your advice and try for "Ella" at the Fisher Theatre — one of the theatres I have not had the opportunity to perform in.

Of course the Chelsea Players want to encourage young talent and I do as well. I am currently training two of your talented girls in Chelsea in the art of baton twirling so that a new dimension can be added to your already successful, exciting band. In the same light, I will be the first to applaud Miss Van Riper, whom I have never seen perform, when her difficult role is feated.

As for Miss Prohaska's letter — I'm afraid she, in the wonderful enthusiasm of youth, has been desperately misguided and misinformed. No one, as far as I know, ever mentioned firing Miss McClellan — certainly not I! We, on the board of directors, were pleased to have a local girl interested enough to devote her time and energy toward directing a difficult play. Several members on the board called me after they heard that I was not in the cast and were concerned that she had placed too many high school students in the play instead of adults (note: not "alias professionals" but over 21!) They expressed disappointment that I did not have the lead and asked if we could "over-rule" her decisions. (This is done by every professional producer if he disagrees with the director and a compromise is thus achieved.) I felt that I should not vote as I was so obviously affected and said I would go with the decision of the board. It was decided to not over-rule her cast-list — a decision that I wholeheartedly agreed with and felt very relieved over for I have no desire to inspire "hard feelings" from anyone. No, Miss Prohaska, I don't think I owe an apology to the community for I have done nothing except try out for a play like anyone else, and lose. I'm sorry that you feel I am such an ogre for I think my past will show that I am only trying to be a part of a community very similar to the one that I grew up in.

For the people of Chelsea who have been so very disturbed by these events, I do apologize for having instigated them — however innocently. I do plan to see "Bells are Ringing" and enjoy it as I hope the entire community will. And I do sincerely hope that this long letter will stop all these very silly rumors that only hurt and never help anyone.

Yours faithfully,
Rita Wilson-Howard.

To The Editor:
Concerning the letter signed by

Julie Prohaska, which appeared in The Chelsea Standard on June 21, there is a statement which is not factual. Miss Prohaska said, "Certainly a truly professional actress would never attempt to have the director fired because she was not cast as a lead, as did Mrs. Howard." Mrs. Rita Howard did not, at any time, make any attempt to have Miss Michelle McClellan fired as director of "The Bells are Ringing."

Legislative Update

A Weekly Report from
State Rep. Mary Keith Ballantine
State Capitol, Lansing 48909
Phone (517) 373-1775

Week of June 25 to July 2

SAFETY STEPS—Governor Milliken is taking all possible steps to avoid serious effects to Michigan citizens from the nationwide truckers' strike. However, the main issues involved must be dealt with at the federal level.

BUDGET WORK—Both houses of the legislature continue to meet for long daily sessions in an effort to approve as many of the 1979-80 budget bills as possible before the scheduled summer recess date of July 14.

MEDICAID CUT?—The U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare has announced Michigan will lose $33.7 million in Medicaid and ADC funds July 1 under present plans. A court fight is expected; other states are losing funds too.

LOCAL BONANZA—Governor Milliken has recommended an additional $40 million in the 1979-80 budget for local governments. This is required under the Headlee Amendment, since the state equalized valuation for last year was higher than expected, resulting in lower school aid requirements. All the savings therefrom must be passed on to local governments.

TRACK RECORD—The Michigan Department of Transportation has reported that more people are using state Amtrak services than ever before, with more railcars being added all the time. Memorial Day traffic on the Port Huron-Chicago run was up 63% over the same time in 1978.

CRIME SURVEY—A recent state-wide survey conducted for the Commission on Criminal Justice reported these findings: 65% of the people support the death penalty for first degree murder, kidnapping or terrorism; 50% support reducing penalties for personal use of marijuana; 60% support repeal of certain juvenile crimes; only 37% would favor a ban on handguns.

DISABLED BENEFITS—The Governor has signed into law HB 4030, which protects the unemployment benefits of people who are disabled for long periods of time, by making a benefit claim be based on the entire 52 weeks preceding the time a disability occurred.

JOB SAVER—A five-year review has shown that 1974's Plant Rehabilitation and Industrial Development Act has helped generate 62,000 new jobs and has saved more than 70,000 existing jobs in Michigan. This law allows communities to grant tax breaks to manufacturers willing to renovate obsolete facilities or to build new ones.

PRIME GRIPE—The Consumers Council has reported that cars and car repairs are the single most-mentioned complaints received through its "Consumers Hotline." Other problems mentioned often were household merchandise, landlord-tenant trouble and builder-contractor projects.

CONGRESSIONAL UPDATE

By Congr. Bob Carr

THE MORATORIUM ON A BAN OF SACCHARIN expired May 23, but don't look for diet drinks to disappear from the store shelves immediately. Food and Drug Administration proceedings against the alleged carcinogenic sweetener will take more than a year. In the meantime, Congress may make a major revision of food safety laws.

SEVERAL NEW PROPOSALS are in the works for conserving gasoline and setting up emergency shortage plans now that the President's stand-by rationing plan has gone down in flames in the House. Among the ideas being kicked around: a "no driving day" for everybody once a week, and a ban on "tank-topping" purchases of less than $5 worth of gas.

THE GREAT COMPROMISE of 1977 between the large and small states laid the groundwork for the defeat of the President's emergency gas rationing plan. In the Senate where small states have more power (2 senators regardless of population), the President modified his plan to appease several "small state" senators by switching the gas allocation formula from number of autos to traditional amount of use. In the process he lost the support of the two California senators, whose 2 percent of the Senate vote was not enough to prevent Senate approval. In the House, however, where seats are based solely on population, California's 10 percent voted heavily against the plan and helped kill it.

WILL THE 1980 CENSUS BE TOO NOSY? Some congressmen are worried that the length of the form and the types of questions will anger the public and cut down on responses. People will be asked whether they are married to the person they live with, whether they have a flush toilet, how well they speak English, whether they have any mental disabilities, their divorce history, and their ancestry, among other things. Failure to respond brings a $100 fine.

A BALANCED FEDERAL BUDGET by 1981—the first in more than a decade—became foreseeable after the House and Senate agreed budget targets for 1980. The budget resolution set spending at $532 billion and the deficit at $23 billion, the lowest deficit in six years and $6 billion below the President's request. A recession, however, would scratch all plans for the 1981 balanced budget.

SPECIAL TAX CREDITS for small companies engaging in major research and development programs are under consideration as a possible part of a tax bill next year. The object: to encourage new technologies which will keep the U. S. competitive in world markets.

THE STRONG HOUSE VOTE in favor of a bill preserving 125 million acres of Alaskan wilderness is expected to help that bill's chances in the Senate, though a tough fight is still anticipated. The measure was adopted by a 268 to 157 vote after one of the biggest lobbying efforts in recent years. It was killed last year by a Senate filibuster.

A SECOND TRY AT WELFARE REFORM is being made by the Carter Administration, this one sharply scaled down from the 1977 proposal. It would put more than 600,000 welfare recipients to work in public jobs and would expand efforts to find them employment in the private sector. The estimated cost would be less than a third of the 1977 plan.

RENTERS COULD DEDUCT from their federal income taxes that portion of their rent attributed to the property tax if the IRS goes along with a recent request from several congressmen. They reason that homeowners already have that privilege. Michigan since 1973 has had a provision for such a deduction from state taxes. A decision from IRS is expected within a few weeks.

The University of Michigan at Ann Arbor was the first state university established by vote of the people through their Constitution. The Upper Michigan Copper Country is the largest commercial deposit of native copper in the world.

Michigan State University's Upper Peninsula Medical Education Program is a pilot project that could become a national or international model for training more family physicians for patient care in doctor-short small towns and rural areas.

Disco with Dick

And dance down memory lane.

Just off your penny loafers and dig out your charm bracelets. Mingles is rolling up the rug and rolling back the calendar with its own version of American Bandstand revisited. Every Wednesday night, Mingles will play your favorite tunes from the bygone, beloved era of the burlap, the bop, and the twist. We'll set your toes tapping with Chubby Checker, Little Richard, and Brenda Lee. We'll spice up the evening with the Beach Boys and the Righteous Brothers. We'll throw in some early Elvis and vintage Motown. And for occasional contrast, we'll bring you up to date with a disco download. For old fashioned fun and no holds barred nostalgia, it's "Disco with Dick" Every Wednesday night, only at Mingles. (Bobby socks optional.)

Maple Medical Center Ready To Start Service Monday, July 2

Maple Medical Center, an outpatient facility which will provide non-emergency, primary health care to area residents, will open on Monday, July 2. The 5,000 square-foot, one-story center is located on the northwest corner of Maple and Dexter Rds.

Initially, the Maple Medical Center will provide only general adult medical care. Pediatrics and Obstetrics-Gynecology services will not be available upon opening of the Center, but these services will be provided in the near future. In order to facilitate scheduling of patients, the Center encourages persons to make appointments, although walk-ins will be accepted.

The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation awarded a four-year $300,000 grant to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital a year ago to equip and operate an outpatient health care center on Ann Arbor's west side. The grant will fund capital equipment purchases and operating costs including staff salaries, maintenance and utility expenses for four years.

The practice will be staffed by two physicians, two nurse practitioners, a nurse, a nurse's aide, a group manager and a small clerical staff. (A nurse practitioner is a registered nurse who has completed advanced training in a specialty.) The physician staff will be increased each year as the patient volume increases, up to a total of four or five physicians.

It is projected that the Maple Medical Center will serve almost 2,000 people during its first year of operation, and that by 1982, the group practice should be providing health care to some 14,000 area residents.

Hours for the center will be Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Wednesday, Noon to 8 p.m. and Saturday, 9 a.m. to Noon. Appointments may be made now by calling 662-5626. Fee structure will be similar to that of comparable physicians' offices.

Michigan is first in the nation in growing pickling cucumbers and ranks ninth in cucumber yields for fresh market. Nearly 100 varieties of pickles are processed by the largest pickle packer in the U. S., which is located here.

For light fruit salads on hot summer nights, Michigan's summer crops include apples, peaches, blueberries, cherries, strawberries, huckleberries, cantaloupe and pears. Lake Michigan, with its tempering effect on climate, helps our state produce large quantities each year. Ten of our state's fruit crops rank sixth or higher in total yield among the states, according to MDA.

For a free listing of "pick-your-own" farms and roadside markets where these fresh salad makings are available, write the Michigan Department of Agriculture, for "Country Carousel," P. O. Box 30017, Lansing 48909.

TODAY'S INVESTOR

By Thomas E. O'Hara

Q. You very frequently write about buying stock and say that one or another stock is a bargain. It seems to me that when you buy a stock you also should be thinking about when you should sell it. Why don't you write something about when to sell a stock?

A. I don't write much about selling stock because I think the most important step is to buy a stock carefully with the thought that you are going to continue to hold it for as long as it continues to offer the hope of meeting your objectives.

But I do have some guidelines for selling: I sell most frequently when I find a stock that I believe has exceptional ability to grow at a rate well above average for several years in the future. I then am in a position where I look over each stock I own and compare what I think its prospects are with the new one I have decided I want to own.

The reason I decide to sell a stock may be one of several:

1. It may be that I decide to sell a stock because I think it will increase its earnings less than any other that I own. In that case I am replacing a slowly improving company with one that is growing faster.

2. Sometimes I will have a company where there has been a sudden change in management. One management is never the same as another and if a very aggressive manager passes away and is replaced by another, it is likely to be two or three years before you can judge the skill of the replacement. This is a time when I might move to a new company.

3. If a company has built its business on just one product and I see signs the market is maturing and no movement is being made into new markets, I would sell.

I usually don't sell just because some news comes out that the company is facing a new business problem. If the management has a record of solving its problems, I figure it will continue to solve them and prospects of two or three bad quarters is no reason to sell a company that my studies show is likely to be a much stronger company five years in the future.

It is nearly as far from Copper Harbor in Michigan's Upper Peninsula to Detroit as it is from Detroit to New York City.

CATHERINE ANNE BEAUGRAND

Whitmore Lake Girl in State Teenager Pageant

Catherine Anne Beaugrand, age 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beaugrand of Whitmore Lake, has been selected to be a state finalist in the 1979 Miss United Teenager Pageant to be held at Adrian College, Adrian, at 7:30 p.m. July 28.

The winner of the state finals will receive an all-expense paid trip to compete in the national finals, a three-phase pageant in Washington, D. C.; Hollywood, Calif., and Honolulu, Hawaii; where she will compete for $15,000 in cash scholarships; a new Thunderbird for her reigning year; trip to Europe, $5,000 appearance contract, $2,000 wardrobe and other awards.

Contestants will be judged on scholastic, civic achievements, beauty, poise and personality.

No swimsuit competition is required. Each contestant will write and recite on stage a 100-word essay on the subject, "My Country."

REALTOR

THE TRUE MIDDLEMAN

When a REALTOR executes of ethics, the REALTOR must protect the interest of the buyer estate, he customarily receives as well as the seller because of his entire remuneration in the transaction. For the most part, though, the REALTOR is the true middleman. He is legally entitled to receive his commission, under the laws of most states, from either the seller or buyer, but in practice he represents the seller and receives his commission out of the price that is paid to the seller.

This does not mean that the REALTOR, as the seller's agent, is not in a position to protect the interests of the buyer. Indeed, under the law and codes

Chelsea Student Enrolls in Boston Music College

Boston's Berklee College of Music has accepted Chip Trombley, son of Mrs. Sue Trombley of 2580 Fletcher Rd., for entrance to its intensive special seven-week summer program which commences on July 2. His curriculum will include private instrumental instruction, arranging, improvisation and solo-orchestral performance.

The seven-week program is designed to assess the musical talent, capacity and growth potential of the student considering music as a vocation. Through the development of special techniques and testing methods, the individual's aptitude and talent is measured prior to his/her embarking on the long training course of a formal musical education on the college level.

Trombley will be instructed by the regular Berklee faculty and will have exposure to many educators and professionals enrolled in this summer program.

Class of '29 Holds Reunion

Twenty-two members of Chelsea High school's graduating class of 1929, the last class of the Roaring 20's, got together to remember the old times at their 50-year class reunion last Sunday at the Rod and Gun Club.

Various members of the class worked to prepare the event. Mrs. LeRoy (Elsie) Satterthwaite made the pre-afternoon snacks. The Lawton Stegers also brought snacks and Katherine Staffan fashioned a large, decorated cake for the occasion. Lyle Haselswerdt was master of ceremonies.

The tables were decorated with place cards in the shape of mortarboards. A small, diploma-like scroll at each place was actually a small certificate to commemorate attendance at the event. Vases on the tables held silk versions of the flower of the class of 1929, the American Beauty rose. Eighteen members of the original 41-student class were not present at the reunion. Twelve members could not attend and seven are deceased.

Absent were John Adrien, Marcia Boone (Mrs. Joseph Kuenz), Berchman Crocker, Edith Dunkel (Mrs. Edith Morrison), Arnold Fahrner, Delores Hamp (Mrs. Claude Williams) Pauline Jones (Mrs. George Thompson) and Lyle Walz.

Those from the class who have died are Virginia Barbour, Raymond Canine, Clifford Heydlauff, Wilbur Klingler, Louise Nemethy, Robert Winans and Gertrude Young.

Some traveled long distances for the get-together. Mary Morofsky Adler and Norman Huele came from California. Vern Foster from Florida, John Ballard from New Hampshire and Irene Reichert Aycock from New York City.

Some who didn't make it to the reunion sent correspondence to the committee expressing their regrets. They heard from Pauline Jones Thompson and Peter Crocker from California and John Adrien in Scottsdale, Ariz.

Those who did come, though reportedly had a wonderful, nostalgic time.

Release Level Reached On Grain Reserve Corn

Washtenaw County ASCS office was advised on June 20 that the Release Level had been reached for corn under the Grain Reserve Program. The Release Level requires the average National Market price to be 125 percent of the National Corn Rate ($2). All producers were notified of their opportunity to market their reserve corn during the release period which extends until July 31, without any penalties.

Producers in Washtenaw county have more than 350,000 bushels of corn stored under the three-year program.

If our 7,368,000 acres of public lands were divided among our state's population, each citizen would have about four-fifths of an acre.

GREAT LAKES FEDERAL SAVINGS INTRODUCES HIGHER INTEREST FOR SMALLER ACCOUNTS

Until now government regulations required savers to maintain big balances to get the top interest offered by certificates of deposit. Starting Monday, July 2nd small savings balances can earn the high interest formerly available only to large accounts. Passbook holders increase their earnings, too.

4 YEAR ACCOUNT PEGGED TO TREASURY RATES

Now even accounts of $100 can earn high interest pegged to U.S. Treasury rates. Our new 4-year certificate pays you 1% under the yield of selected U.S. securities in effect at the time of issue. Rates are announced monthly by the Treasury Department.

5 1/2% PASSBOOK SAVINGS

Interest on Great Lakes Federal Savings' passbook savings accounts has been increased by 1/4%—to 5 1/2%. Effective annual yield is 5.614%. Add or withdraw whenever you choose without penalties of any kind. Have liquidity, plus more interest for funds you want available for emergencies and opportunities.

NOW $100—MINIMUM CD'S

The minimum on all certificates of deposit (other than the Money Market Certificate) has been reduced to $100. Depending on how long you choose to leave your savings with us, even a deposit of $100 can earn annual interest rates up to 8%.

Federal regulations still require an interest penalty for early withdrawal from certificate accounts.

The Bible-The Light from Heaven

Speaks about some new things. Man seeks new things. This is true in every field of endeavor. It is written about the Athenians in Acts 17:21, "... the Athenians and strangers ... spent their time in nothing else, but either to tell, or to hear some new thing." Let us consider some new things in the New Testament. The Bible speaks about the new covenant in Hebrews 8:12. In this new covenant we read about a new birth. Jesus told Nicodemus, "Except a man be born again (anew), he cannot see the kingdom of God." (John 3:5; Romans 6:1-4). In the New Testament Paul wrote about "a new creature." (2 Corinthians 5:17). This new creature is in Christ. "If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new." The new creature has a new name—Christian. (Isaiah 62:2; Acts 11:26). The Christian walks a new way. (Isaiah 35:8; John 14:6; Hebrews 10:20; Matthew 7:14). The Christian follows the new commandment. (John 13:34, 35): "Worships 'in spirit and in truth.'" (John 4:24). He makes preparation for a new home. (John 14:1-6; Revelation 21:1-4).

INVASION: Eastern Michigan University was invaded recently by 2,000 Girl Scouts from across Michigan who took part in softball throws, running and standing jumps, and races inside the stadium. Dexter troops participated in the day-long event.

Nearly 2,000 Participate in First Girl Scout Games at EMU Stadium

Girl Scouts from the Dexter-Chelsea area were among the 2,000 participating in the recently held Girl Scout Games at Eastern Michigan University.

Events that day included softball throws, running and standing jumps, a tumble dash for the Brownies and a mile race for the seniors.

Noon-time festivities featured

George Goodman, mayor of the host city, Ypsilanti, who greeted the girls and volunteers. Following the parade of girls in troop formation, Huron Valley Girl Scout Council President, Pat Levas, read a message from Mrs. William Milliken encouraging the girls to develop their bodies as well as their minds so that they will be able to meet the challenges in the world today.

Barb Boelter, of Belleville, chairman for this first-time event, said, "Because things went so nicely and the girls had such fun, we are hoping to plan a similar kind of event for next year."

Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, a United Way agency, serves nearly 12,000 girls in Washtenaw and surrounding counties.

Talented Area Students Attending Honors Program

Four area residents are among the academically talented high school students attending the June 17-29 session of Indiana State University's 1979 summer Honors program.

Attending from Chelsea are Dace Ertel, 13453 Ricker Rd., in chemistry; Marilyn Hafner, 127 Orchard St., Spanish; and Elizabeth Merkel, 142 Van Buren St., government and politics. Representing Gregory is Molly Bacon, 14081 Gilbert Dr., in math and computers.

Studying with ISU faculty, they explore their academic interests in varying activities in each of seven seminars—chemistry, government and politics, life sciences, history: World War II, math and computer science, physics, and Spanish.

The program also provides the opportunity to sample college life. The young people live in university residence halls and balance their intensive studies with a full recreational schedule, including sports, a picnic and closing banquet.

Students successfully completing one of the seminars may earn two hours of university credit and become eligible for an ISU Talent Grant which waives a portion of their fees upon enrollment at ISU immediately following high school graduation.

The first President to act as a mediator in a labor-management dispute was Theodore Roosevelt who personally attempted to settle the anthracite strike of 1902, according to the U. S. Labor Department's "Labor Firsts in America."

More than 21,000 samples of animal blood and other body samples for disease diagnosis are analyzed annually by the clinical staff of the Large and Small Animal Clinic of Michigan State University's College of Veterinary Medicine.

Free Canning Center Preparing To Open

Washtenaw County Co-operative Extension Service will again be operating its Free Community Canning Center for the public this year. Its purpose is to give novice canners and low income families who otherwise might not attempt to preserve food an opportunity to learn how to can foods safely.

Many hesitate to invest in a pressure canner until its value is demonstrated. Certain foods like green beans and corn require the use of a pressure canner in order to avoid botulism.

Individuals are required to bring their own jars, lids, and produce. The Center is equipped with canners and other equipment. Linda Goldsmith, canning center co-ordinator, will teach pressure canning and water-bath methods and will be on hand to supervise the participants as they can their own food. Individuals must pre-register to participate. There is no charge for the workshop or use of the equipment.

Last year 44 people took advantage of this service and more than 800 quarts of food was canned at the Center from June through September. This year Mrs. Goldsmith expects the number to increase many-fold since the center is ready to go as soon as produce is available. Target date is July 3.

Last year donations to the center enabled several deserving families to add more jars of canned foods to their pantries to provide better nutrition during the winter months. Anyone wishing to make a donation of jars, equipment, produce, or money is urged to respond by contacting the Co-operative Extension Service, P. O. Box 8645, Ann Arbor 48107, telephone 973-9510.

The Canning Center is located at Washtenaw County's Service Center, 4133 Washtenaw Ave., just east of Carpenter Rd. For more information and to register call Linda Goldsmith, 973-9510.
