Spring Trash Pick-Up Set For Monday

Spring cleaners and chronic junk collectors beware! The 16th annual Village of Chelsea spring rubbish pick-up will begin Monday, April 19 at 7 a.m. sharp.

Tune up your muscles now for the "anything you can carry" day when employees of the Public Works department begin combing the curbs for everything you've been promising to throw away for years.

So clean out those drawers, check the closets, garage and basement for things that you'd do better without. Anything that is capable of being carried to the curb, ranging from broken furniture to dead or dying house plants, will be carted off by village workers.

Chelsea Craft Co. Opening Monday

The Chelsea Craft Company will open for business on Monday, April 19. The shop, which will specialize in needlepoint, crewel, counted cross stitch and macrame, is the product of a long-time hobby of Lorraine Perkins, director of pharmacy at Chelsea Community Hospital, who, according to husband, David Perkins, is very accomplished in her needlepoint and other craft endeavors.

The Perkinses came to Chelsea about five years ago, Lorraine as hospital pharmacist and Dave as part-owner of Chelsea Pharmacy. Still, it was not until Jerry Ashby moved from the former State Farm insurance office to his new location that the idea of turning a hobby into a money-making venture became reality.

Like Ashby, the Perkinses express the thought that the future of Chelsea will be determined by a vital downtown area and, when the opportunity to rent the space came up in March, they jumped at the chance. According to Dave, the location is excellent and very few downtown localities are ever available.

Since coming up with the idea, the Perkinses have hired two employees with considerable expertise in needlecraft. Marcie Doan will operate the store on a day-to-day basis while Barbara Branch will be there part-time as well. Lorraine will work on Saturdays and will teach craft classes while Dave will help with the behind-the-scenes bookkeeping and ordering of merchandise.

According to Dave, high quality merchandise will be available and discounts will be given on all items purchased. A greater price reduction will be given on higher ticket items while smaller discounts will be offered with less expensive items.

The Perkinses explain that their merchandise will be competitive in price if not less expensive than most. Also, kits will be made up by the employees, including the necessary materials for a specific piece of work. It is anticipated that sometime in the not-too-distant future, a catalog will be compiled and that the Chelsea Craft Company will become a mail order retail outlet as well.

Window displays are planned and to create a cozy, warm atmosphere within the shop, items will be displayed on or in combination with antique furniture.

Kindergarten Round-Up Set for May 4

The annual Kindergarten Round-Up for parents is scheduled for Tuesday, May 4 at South Elementary school.

Enrollment and other pertinent information regarding children entering school for the first time will take place. Parents are asked to bring a birth certificate from the clerk's office in the county of their child's birth.

Registration will begin at 6:30 p.m. A short program will follow and continue until 8 p.m.

Persons unable to attend may call the South school office after the May 4 Round-Up to register. The phone number is 475-9131, ext. 65.

Bulldog Baseball Team Will (Hopefully) Open Spring Season Today

Chelsea's varsity baseball team will kick off their season today, April 13, facing Brooklyn Columbia Central in a non-conference game. This comes after the first game of the season, scheduled for Tuesday, March 30, was rained out.

According to Coach Wayne Welton, this year's squad features 12 returning ballplayers with considerable experience. Veteran seniors on the team are tri-captains John Welton, Ross Murphy and John Preston, Craig Olmsted, Mike Bareis, Steve Grau, Mike Gipson, Sam Coomes, Bob Trevino, Gary Van Meer and Tim Whitesall. Chelsea's other returning player is junior Rod Robeson.

Five rookies join this year's baseball team as well. They are juniors Ken Nadeau, Doug Pagliarini, Tom Headrick, Mike Neibauer and Matt Villemure, combining with veteran players to make up an unusually large 17-player squad for the 1982 high school baseball season.

Welton explains that this season's schedule is as difficult as ever in terms of competition. Included among the opposition are three class A schools that Chelsea has never taken on. They are Brighton, Ann Arbor Huron and Ann Arbor Pioneer High schools.

In terms of the Southeastern Conference, traditionally a fine baseball league, four teams—Chelsea, Dexter, Tecumseh and Saline—have a shot at and will fight for the league crown.

Taking their places on the pitcher's mound will be John Welton and Steve Grau, who will trade gloves during the season. Also having possible pitching opportunities are juniors Nadeau, Pagliarini and Headrick.

Returning to the catcher's position will be Rod Robeson who will be backed up by Coomes and Whitesall.

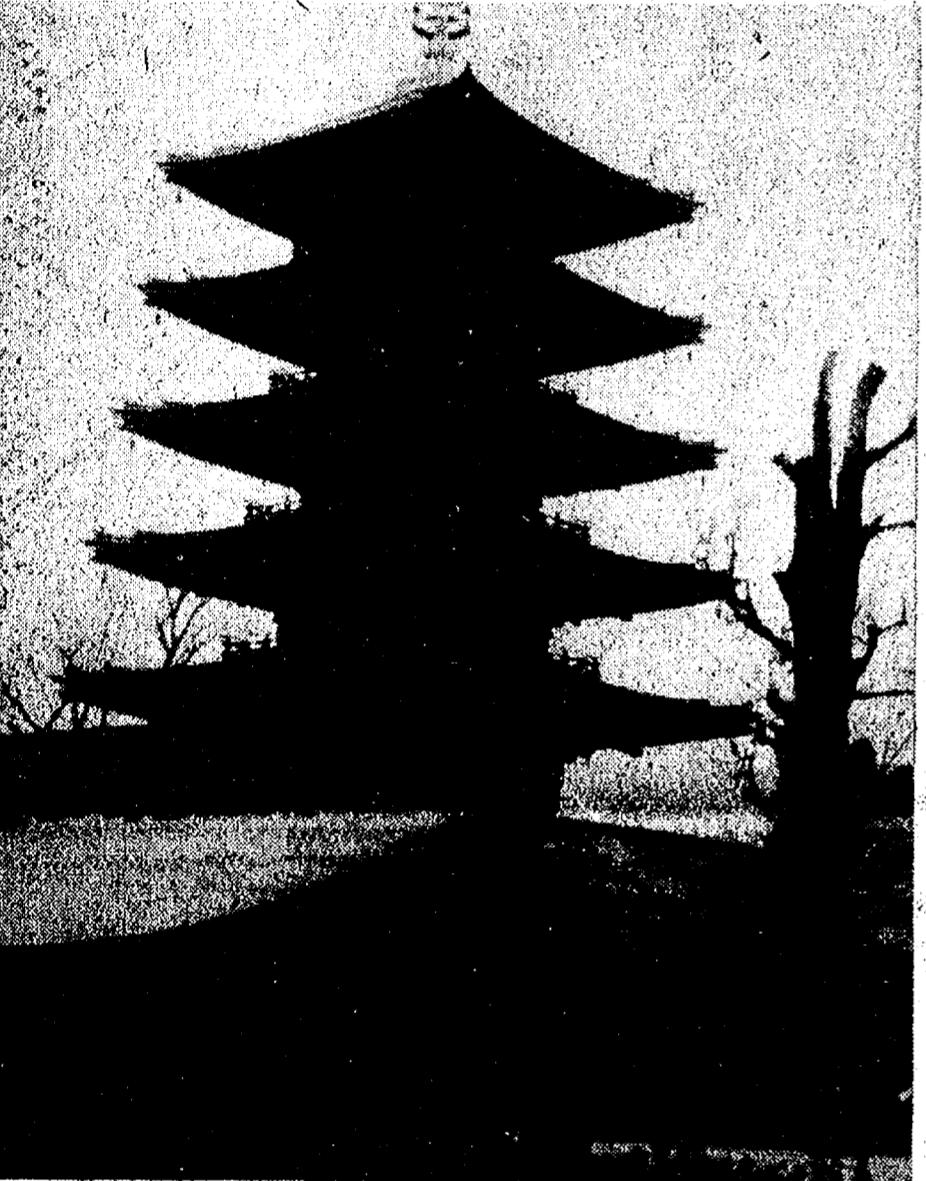

At first base, Mike Bareis will return, providing the necessary talent and leadership while, Ross Murphy, who had a fine season as a junior, will take his place at second. Several players will have the opportunity to man third base, including centerfielder John Preston, Gary Van Meer, Doug Pagliarini and Tom Headrick.

When not pitching, John Welton will play shortstop, backed up by Trevino and Villemure, displaying versatility and capable of playing anywhere in the infield.

In left field, Coomes and Neibauer will be positioned while centerfield will be manned by Craig Olmsted. Right field will be Mike Gipson's territory.

With practice getting underway March 1, Chelsea's Bulldogs display a great deal of versatility and maneuverability this season. Great depth, team speed and hitting abilities characterize this year's roster. Considered Chelsea's only weakness, the pitching staff has not as yet peaked and displayed any tremendous power. Nevertheless, if the team is able to bear down in pitching and playing defensively, the 1982 Bulldogs could have a fine season and be as competitive as ever.

UNUSUAL ORIENTAL BEAUTY is evidenced by this Buddhist temple located in Tokyo. The photograph was taken during Dennis Petsch's recent missionary trip to Japan.

Dennis Petsch Finds Japan 'Very Different'

"Japan sure is a different place," explains Dennis Petsch after spending two months there as a missionary under The Evangelical Alliance Mission (T.E.A.M.).

The language is difficult, materials are expensive and there are no street signs in English. But, most important, the Japanese are very friendly.

Petsch went to Japan to teach English to the Japanese and also to work on several construction projects. When he arrived in Tokyo on Jan. 11, he was filled in on all the details of his job and, the next day, he was transferred to Karvizawa Christian Center (KCC) in Karvizawa, approximately three and one-half hours northwest of Tokyo.

There, he met with his host family, Mark and Jan Chandler, full-time missionaries for T.E.A.M. KCC is a Christian camp for the Japanese churches to use as a retreat center and the T.E.A.M. members' work was to fix the center up to prepare it for the summer and to assure its status as a year-round camp.

Expected to take nearly five weeks, Mark and Dennis completed their job in nine days. Thereafter, they converted an old house into a coffee house for the summer business. Karvizawa is a summer resort town located high in the mountains. With a winter population of 15,000, nearly 250,000 people come to Karvizawa in the summer to get away from the typical hot, humid Japanese weather.

The purpose of the KCC coffee house would be to provide a cup of coffee and some food at a minimal price while other coffee shops in the vicinity typically charge between $1 and $50 for a

Waterloo Natural History Assoc. Named Top Group By Michigan Audubon Society

The Waterloo Natural History Association was named this year's outstanding government or non-profit organization for environmental achievement by the Michigan Audubon Society. Emilie Polens and Carol Strahler, co-directors of the Waterloo Nature Center, were presented the award at the Michigan Audubon annual convention in Grand Rapids on April

Strahler and Polens were cited for having formed the non-profit Waterloo Natural History Association in order to operate the Nature Center which was being closed by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources because of the state's severe economic situation. These two women, both formerly associated with the Nature Center as naturalists, gathered up a group of volunteers to act as naturalists, grounds keepers, maintenance workers and a board of directors. They raised enough money to keep the Center's bills paid, and even managed time to develop new programs and environmental displays.

In accepting the award, the Center's co-directors expressed thanks to all who have assisted in keeping the Center going and said that this recognition from an organization such as Michigan Audubon had buoyed their spirits and confirmed their feelings that their efforts were worth their personal sacrifices.

The Waterloo Nature Center has recently announced its 1982 spring schedule, and it reflects an increasingly active program for area school children and the general public. Call co-directors Emilie Polens or Carol Strahler at the Center at 475-8069 for information on programs or to join in as a member or volunteer.

Legislative Discussions Begin On Interest Rates

Behind-the-scenes discussions on a package of bills that would allow increased ceilings on consumer loan interest rates are continuing in the Legislature.

Rep. James Defebaugh (R-Birmingham), sponsor of the bills, said whatever the discussions produce, there will almost certainly be a "floating" maximum rate on interest ceilings.

Legislation pending before the House of Representatives raising the various interest rate ceilings to 6-8 percent above the floating rate on 28-week treasury notes appears stalled until after the negotiations are completed.

Defebaugh, however, said he would not support a package that puts a float below the level set by the current package—6 percent above the treasury bill coupon yield rate.

Opposition is coming from Democratic members, through the United Auto Workers lobby, who contend the 6 percent float is too high for consumers.

The discussions are between officials of Governor William G. Milliken's office, the office of the House Speaker Bobby Crim (D-Davison), labor groups and lending organizations.

Discussions began when it became apparent the bills would not pass the House after they were reported by the Corporations and Finance Committee.

Defebaugh said further negotiations are preferable to putting the bills up for an almost certain defeat.

Under the bills, the ceiling of loans such as auto loans could "float" no higher than 25 percent, the criminal usury level, while a secondary ceiling of 15 percent would also be in place.

Defebaugh said eliminating the secondary ceiling could be negotiable if the criminal usury were also eliminated.

Under the package, the maximum rates on second mortgages would go from 15 to 21 percent and bank credit cards would be increased from 18 to 21 percent.

While admitting that continuous delays on passing a package will make it more difficult to pass with elections upcoming, Defebaugh said the issue would not go away.

A number of statutory sunset dates are coming up soon. The 11 percent on land contracts will revert to 7 percent on July 1 and the 16.5 percent maximum on auto loans will drop back to 12.83 percent in December.

Those sunsets will keep the issue before the Legislature, he said, as will the threat of businesses leaving the state because they are unwilling to operate under the current interest limits.

Child Abuse Trust Fund Proposed

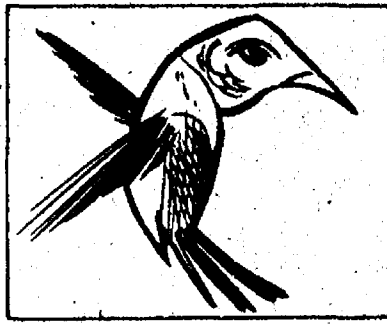

A child abuse trust fund paid for by an income tax refund check-off and maintained by the Department of Treasury, has been proposed by Rep. Debbie Stabenow (D-Lansing).

Under the system, half the funds raised by the check-off system would be for child abuse prevention programs at the local level if matched by local funds.

The other half will be invested by the department and once $20 million is raised, the income tax check-off would be eliminated and programs funded by interest earnings.

The trust fund would be administered by the state child abuse and neglect prevention board which would be comprised of 14 members representing various professions and the heads of the Departments of Education, Social Services, Public Health, Mental Health and State Police.

Such funds already exist in Kansas and Washington.

Good Things Growing in Michigan

By Margaret McCall

Good things are growing in Michigan and agriculture is our state's leading growth industry! While final figures are not yet available, preliminary estimates indicate agriculture was worth more than three billion dollars again in 1981. With addition of the costs of processing, transportation and marketing services, total cumulative value to Michigan's economy is estimated to be more than 16 billion dollars.

According to the Michigan Department of Agriculture, our state leads the nation in five crops—dry edible beans, blueberries, red tart cherries, pickling cucumbers and Eastern soft white winter wheat—and ranks fifth or higher in a total of 19.

Wherever you live in our state, MDA inspectors are busy checking grocery stores, processing plants, bakeries, warehouses and soft drink bottling plants to be sure the food and beverages you buy are pure, safe and wholesome.

In addition, weights and measures, from grocers' scales to gas pumps, are routinely inspected to determine accuracy.

Michigan has the strictest committed (ground) meat laws in the nation and it's the responsibility of MDA food inspectors to assure consumers are offered only pure, wholesome ground meat products.

Our state was the first in the nation to adopt Grade A fluid milk laws. MDA inspectors continually check farms and dairy processing plants to insure safe, wholesome dairy products.

For further information concerning our state's more than 50 commercial crops, write for the free brochure "Fun Facts About Michigan Foods," available after April 15 from MDA's Communications office, P.O. Box 30017, Lansing 48909.

Regular hours for Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Commenting on the new hours, Dr. Yarows said, "Since beginning my Chelsea practice in October 1981, I have been aware that regular office hours are not convenient for everyone. In addition to her work in science, Lorrin is active in gymnastics and is a member of the Chelsea swimming team during the summer months.

She resides in Philadelphia during the school year and spends the summers with her father, J. W. Thomas, who lives on East St. in Chelsea.

The Other Side of the Scoreboard

Declining enrollment and participation are concerns of many school districts. Academic achievement has always ranked high as a concern within the district. The Chelsea High school athlete ranks very high in academic achievement. Our general student body participates in extra curricular activities. In the Chelsea interscholastic program, participation numbers have grown during the past few years. Today we will look at the numbers to give you an example of what has happened.

This year, 341 members of the Chelsea student body have come out and participated at one time or another in one or more interscholastic activities. This represents 43 percent of our general student body. By classes, we have a total of 125 girls who have participated, and 216 boys. Of this number, 57 girls participated in more than one sport, and 106 fellows have also participated in more than one sport. A breakdown by class shows that we have 65 seniors in the interscholastic athletic program this year, 25 girls, and 40 boys. Ten girls and 20 boys participate in more than one sport. In our junior class, 94 have participated in an interscholastic activity, with 16 girls and 21 boys in more than one sport. In our sophomore class, 87 students have participated in more than one sport, and 29 of the boys did the same. In our freshman class, 95 students participated for the first time—31 girls and 64 boys, of which 13 girls and 36 boys participate in more than one sport.

These numbers will change as the years go on. In the younger classes, the number of students participating will, drop. These students make choices as to what they want to do with their extra-curricular time. The key to growth is the freshman and sophomore class; you recruit from those classes. The minds of the juniors and seniors are fairly well made up; you won't have too many students come out for the first time. We have good balance within our program, and our intent is to keep it that way.

Our total participation this year—43 percent—has grown. During the 80-81 school year, Chelsea had approximately 37 percent of the students involved in one form or another of interscholastic activity.

In regard to academic achievement, 32 members of the junior and senior class are in the National Honor Society, which lists 87 members. These honor students are involved not only in interscholastic athletics and National Honor Society, but also in other school activities such as Student Council, Key Club, Band and Orchestra, Forensics, Drama, school plays. They are the students who are active.

Pertaining more to academic achievement, 35.3 percent of the entire student body at Chelsea have maintained a cumulative grade point average of 7.0 or better during their high school career. 7.0 is the minimum grade point average a student may have to be listed on the honor roll. This percentage represents 281 students at Chelsea. Of these 281 students, there are 82 seniors, 73 juniors, 62 sophomores and 64 freshmen. Breaking this down into student athletes, there are 33 seniors, representing 40 percent of those 82 being on the honor roll; 52 juniors, which represents 57.5 percent; 36 sophomores, which represents 58 percent; and 38 freshmen, which is 59.4 percent. This is a total of 149 student athletes or 53 percent of those 281 students who currently have a cumulative grade point averages of 7.0 or better.

The evidence speaks for itself. Our student athletes are high achievers in the classroom. They excel in participation on the field in interscholastic athletics, and they are involved in student activities outside of the classroom. Our community and school district can be very proud, not only of our student athletes, but also of the entire student body who have the desire to achieve. The district stands for excellence and our students stand for excellence.

Art Competition Set For High School Students

Congressman Jim Dunn today announced details of an art competition for high school students in Michigan's Sixth Congressional District, which includes Ingham and Jackson counties and the western portions of Livingston and Washtenaw counties.

The winning competition will be displayed later this year in a national exhibition in the corridor leading to the United States Capitol in Washington, D.C.

The art competition is part of "An Artistic Discovery," a nation-wide activity initiated by members of the U.S. House of Representatives to recognize the creative talents of young Americans, Congressman Dunn explained.

"I believe that no group of Americans is more creative, expressive and curious about our society than our young people," he said. "This competition enables us to encourage and recognize their rich and diverse artistic talents at a time when the budgets of our local arts organizations are being curtailed."

Congressmen will conduct local art competitions for high school students until May 31 in order to select artwork to be displayed in

Hearing Set On Aging Plan for '83

Washtenaw County older residents, service providers, and other interested persons are invited to attend an Area Agency on Aging 1-B public hearing at the Frenchtown Township Hall, 2744 Vivian Rd., Monroe, on Monday, April 26, from 1 to 4 p.m.

The hearing on the proposed 1983 activities for the Agency's Area Plan for Fiscal Years 1981-83 will be held to receive testimony from individuals in Washtenaw and Monroe counties.

According to Agency Director Sandra K. Reminga, "Input from older adults, agency representatives, and other persons interested in problems and needs of aging adults will be welcome."

"Public comment can be considered," she continued, "as the final version of the plan is developed and submitted to the Michigan Commission of Services to the Aging for approval."

The Area Plan outlines proposed planning and service funding activities for the maintenance of assistance to the Region's older adults. The proposed services will be supported by federal Older Americans Act funds as well as additional funds appropriated by the state legislature.

The Area Agency on Aging Region 1-B is the identified organization responsible for short and long-range planning in the counties of Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, St. Clair, and Washtenaw.

The Agency is part of the federal aging network administered by the Administration on Aging, Department of Health and Human Services.

Classic Film Series Cancelled

Despite an effort to bring classic films to the Chelsea community, thereby sparing the trials and tribulations of loading up the car with anxious moviegoers and traveling at least 10 miles to the nearest theater, the Chelsea Community Education and civic committee-sponsored films have been not-so-popular, to say the least.

Because community response has not been overwhelming, the third and final films in the three week-end series, "Cat Ballou" and "Yellow Submarine," have been cancelled. They were scheduled to be held on Saturday, April 17, the matinee at 1 p.m. and the evening performance to be shown at 7:30 p.m.

The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the veterinary field.

He is a 1981 graduate of Manchester High school.

Ann Arbor Chapter Wins Sweet Adelines Region Title

The Ann Arbor Chapter of Sweet Adelines (women's barbershop chorus) is the 1982 champion of Lake Erie Region 17. Twenty-five choruses from Ohio, northern Indiana and southcentral Michigan gathered in Lansing at the Civic Center Saturday, April 3 for the first contest to be held in Michigan.

The Ann Arbor chorus has competed in three previous contests, and has placed sixth, fifth and second since it was chartered less than four years ago.

Directed by Jack Herr of Warren, the Ann Arbor chorus took 72 singers to Lansing, and won first place with a package of "Who'll Take My Place When I'm Gone" and "Alabama Medley." According to Herr, the addition of more than 20 new members and the group's hard work and dedication were deciding factors in the winning of the competition.

Awards were also picked up by two quartets: "Top Priority" from Ann Arbor, East Pointe and Great Lakes Chapters and including member Sharon Hoover of Manchester; and "Classic Rendition," from Ann Arbor chapter and including member Carol Flintoft of Washington St., won the Novice Quartet and Showmanship awards. Both quartets are also coached by Jack Herr.

In addition to Ann Arbor, other Michigan choruses also did well with fourth-place honors going to Mason chapter, hosts of the competition and Small Chorus award

Restructured Beef Steaks on the Market

If you've been beefing about the price of steak at your local supermarket, try strolling over to the frozen meat case, where it is possible to find two: six-ounce USDA Choice beef steaks for about $2.50—total.

These steaks are among the restructured meat products being developed to meet consumer preferences for lean, easy to prepare meats that are also economical, says Al Booren, a meat processing specialist at Michigan State University.

"Meat restructuring might sound sinister, but it is a way of processing lower-priced meat cuts into tender, juicy products acceptable to consumers," he explains.

Several restructuring methods have been developed to process meat that has been separated from fat and connective tissue. Flaked and formed meat products are made by shaving a piece of meat, usually chuck, into flakes and forming the cooked particles into a roll that passes through a slicer and emerges as individual, uniform steaks.

Sectioned and formed steaks are created with whole pieces of meat pressed together in the shape of a steak and bonded with meat protein extracts.

Booren says people who buy restructured beef steak and expect it to taste like naturally formed steak will be disappointed. But these products are tasty and nutritious and are intermediate in price between hamburger and top sirloin.

Restructured beef is being sold in steak sandwiches by several fast food outlets, Booren notes, but these products have just begun to be marketed as grocery items. The average consumer does not buy frozen beef, so shoppers need to be informed that quality beef items are available in the frozen meats section.

In the past, consumers avoided frozen beef because it was often of lower quality, but that is no longer the case, Booren says.

Restructured beef products are frozen to keep meat pieces together prior to cooking. Such restructured meats as ham and turkey rolls are cooked before merchandising and so do not need to be frozen.

Booren notes that the highest quality hams on the market are restructured products from which the seams of fat have been removed. Consumer acceptance of these hams and of restructured poultry products bodes well for the future of beef products, he says.

Federal Crop Insurance Acreage May Be Adjusted

Barbara Cranson, district director for Federal Crop Insurance Corp., has announced that farmers who have already reported their acreage of All-Risk crop insured barley, oats and wheat for 1982 crop year may adjust that report if they participate in the ASCS acreage reduction program.

"Producers who have questions concerning that program should contact their ASCS office," continued Cranson. "Insured producers who choose to participate in the acreage reduction program through ASCS can reduce their crop insurance premium liability by reporting the acreage reduction to their All-Risk crop insurance agent no later than April 16. Producers who do not have their acreage reports revised will be obligated for the premium established by their original acreage report."

cup of coffee. In addition, this would allow the missionaries a chance to explain Christianity to the Japanese who, for the most part, follow the teachings of Buddha or are shintoists, which teaches the worship of ancestors.

The transformation from home to coffee house took just two weeks and Dennis had four and one-half weeks left in his mission and all of the planned construction projects were completed. At this time the T.E.A.M. center decided to send him to Tokyo for one week to work on a project at the Christian Academy.

According to Petsch, Tokyo is like any other large city, only larger. More than 12 million people live there, creating many problems. Mass transit is the general mode of transportation and the Japanese trains are very clean and, most importantly, on time.

Following his Christian Academy project, Dennis returned to Karvazawa, where he taught English on Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Being a missionary is, according to Dennis, very difficult in Japan. The Japanese language is very difficult and often missionaries become discouraged. Too, the cost of living is very high. Gasoline is $3.50 per gallon and roast beef can be purchased for $68 per pound. Travel is also expensive.

Still, in Karvazawa, there is much to see and do. There is a ski resort, a 72-hole golf course and a large national park. In addition, Mt. Asama, an active volcano, is in the area. But Petsch didn't have that much time to "fool around." He was kept very busy with painting and general cleaning up around KCC, which is now ready for full-time operation.

And, Dennis Petsch lived an experience he will never forget. Too, he found out that missionaries are regular people, just like himself.

Guide to Independent Colleges Published

A guide to Michigan's independent colleges and universities has been published by the Association of Independent Colleges and Universities of Michigan (AICUM).

The 96-page book, which devotes two pages to each of AICUM's 38 member institutions, is being distributed to all high school and community college guidance departments and to every public and school library in Michigan, according to AICUM President John L. Gaffney. The two-year guide will serve as a resource for students thinking about college this year and during 1982-83.

"The book was developed to help familiarize high school and community college students who plan to continue their education with some of the different colleges and universities they have to choose from," Gaffney said.

"The pages about the individual colleges were prepared by the institutions themselves so they include information which each feels should be of most interest to students."

The book also features a special section explaining the availability of financial aid and how students can qualify for it. Other sections explain why and how students should apply to independent colleges. A curriculum chart in the book shows more than 70 general degree classifications of programs offered by the 38 colleges and universities.

Gaffney said Michigan's independent colleges and universities offer "a number of important benefits" for students who attend them.

"This means that classes are smaller. Students have considerable access to their professors and are treated as individuals. Our statistics show that these colleges are doing an exceptional job of career education and preparation for graduate school, as well as in the area of job placement after graduation."

Copies of Michigan's Independent Colleges and Universities are available by writing: AICUM, P.O. Box 10186, Lansing 48901.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. Editor:

I grew up in Chelsea, but I live and work in New York City. It's an entirely different lifestyle, but I still like to keep up with what's going on in my hometown. I've had a subscription to The Standard for almost three years now and it's a welcome surprise in my mailbox. But, even though I enjoy your paper as a whole, there is one thing about it that bothers me.

Millie Warner's letters.

Now, by no means am I trying to offend, ridicule or belittle someone's contribution to his or her community. If more people were as concerned, we all might live a little better. So yes, Millie's heart is in the right place. It's also in the paper every week.

I always thought that the Letters to the Editor column served the purpose of allowing members of the community to speak out. The voice of the people, if you will. It's true, she seems to be very concerned about the Chelsea community. That's good, so am I. But why do I get the feeling every time I read one of her letters that Millie is running for religious office? I wish God would tell her she won the election.

But then I say to myself, "Okay, Kathleen, if you don't like it, don't read it." Well, it's not that simple.

I'm obsessed with it. Every week, I have to see if Millie wrote a letter. It's a game. And I'm losing. Whenever I turn to this column, I am conditioned, much like Pavlov's dog, to look to the bottom of the page whenever I see a long letter with a lot of quotes. It always seems to be signed by Mrs. Millie Warner, even when it isn't. And if, after a second glance, I find there is no letter from Millie at all—I just assume she is out of town.

But I have an idea, Mr. Editor. What is the possibility of Mrs. Warner getting her own weekly column? She prepares so thoroughly for a simple letter to the Editor, imagine how elated she would be to have her own space on Page 2. You could call it "Warner's Corner" and put it next to Uncle Lew from Lima.

Kathleen Daniels.

To the Editor,

I am responding to comments made by a fellow Chelseaite in the April 13, 1982, issue of the Standard. This person's opinions were expressed in the comments section of a feature article entitled "Local Concerns A Mirror of the Nation (Chelsea Report Card)."

Being a graduate of Chelsea High School, I see these comments as being drastically blown out of proportion. While I was editor of the school newspaper, I kept up on the happenings around school and not once was I aware of abortions in the restrooms. It seems hard to believe that a person not involved in the school on a day-to-day basis would have such knowledge. As I walked the halls between and after classes, never once did I notice pill containers along the way.

Respect is something that should be taught in the home and brought to the school. Let's give the teachers a break.

Speed reading may be O.K. for the above average students but what about the average and below average students who have a hard time reading and comprehending? Should they be left behind? As for calculators, this is the 20th century, the age of the computer. The world is very competitive and our students might have a hard time keeping up with a pencil and scratch paper.

After finishing many of the suggested college preparatory courses offered at Chelsea High, I found myself adequately prepared for the academics of college.

Although I have been away from Chelsea schools for close to two years, I can't imagine it changing as much as this person suggests. The administrators do a fine job for what they have to work with. With funds decreasing and costs increasing, anyone that can make ends meet should be commended. As for the staff, there are good and bad alike but the good greatly outweigh the bad.

The Chelsea School District has its share of problems with discipline, alcohol use, drugs and sex but what school system doesn't in this day and age. Making all the students out as hoodlums is hardly fair.

Most of the comments expressed in this article were constructive criticism. As for the one I have been commenting on, it was hardly constructive and very derogatory.

Jamie Atkinson,
Class of 1980.

Dear Editor,

On April 1, 24 participants in the World Peace March stayed overnight in the Chelsea area, hosted by 14 local families from four of the major Chelsea churches.

It is very gratifying to know that these families opened their homes and their hearts to total strangers, not knowing ahead of time even from what countries their guests would come.

Some of us had American Indians, some Japanese, some Swedish or Swiss or Costa Rican, and more. Some guests were Buddhist monks or nuns. But we all soon learned that beneath obvious differences in dress, beneath differences in custom or tradition, all of us, guest and host alike, share one common concern: the concern for world peace.

We support the group's desire for a world where the threat of nuclear catastrophe can be eliminated; where humans or any country realize that humans born by accident behind a man-made boundary in another country, are also praying for world peace and disarmament.

As the co-ordinator for these marchers while they were in Chelsea, I offer deepest thanks to everyone who offered their home and hospitality, whether needed and used or not. Chelsea can be proud of its people and their contribution!

Jim Hoffmeyer.

Sheriff Names Officer for Community Relations

Sheriff Thomas R. Minick announced today the creation of a new, part-time position specializing in community relations.

Citing the social impact of the current economic problems, the Sheriff noted that it is now more important than usual to keep the channels of communication open between the Sheriff's Department and the community. It will be the job of the Community Relations Officer to inform the public not only about the operation and organization of the Sheriff's Department, but also about the many other county and community services available to citizens who need assistance.

Specifically, the goals of this part-time position are: (1) To meet with and inform the public regarding the organization and operation of the Sheriff's Department; (2) To meet with and inform the public about those county and community services to which deputies may direct the public for assistance; (3) To open a special channel of communication between the Sheriff's Department and the youth of the community; (4) To address the concerns of any individual or group of individuals regarding the operation of the Sheriff's Department in the community, and to communicate these concerns to the property authorities within the department.

Reports from

Education Cuts Are Unacceptable . . .

In his budget proposal for the fiscal year beginning this October, President Reagan has proposed that funding for education programs be trimmed from the current $12.9 billion figure to $9.9 billion. Significantly, this figure is not only a $3 billion decrease in just one year, but also represents a 32 percent cutback in funding for the same programs funded in the 1980 fiscal year. In short, these proposed reductions in education are unacceptable.

In recent weeks, I have formed a group of Republican freshman members of congress who share my beliefs and feel changes are necessary. Calling ourselves the Coalition Against Reductions in Education (CARE), we have written a letter to President Reagan to express our concerns and requested a meeting with him to voice our opinion.

The 21 members of CARE have supported efforts to trim the federal budget and believe continued reductions in federal spending are necessary to bring the federal budget under control.

But we do not agree with the spending priorities set forth in the proposed 1983 budget. Specifically, we believe that education has taken a disproportionate share of cuts and that the reductions are unfair in relation to allocations in other budget areas.

The education of our nation's young people should be among our most important priorities. The future of our country will depend largely on the ability of these young people to distinguish themselves as leaders during these increasingly complex times. We cannot afford to deprive young people the opportunity to get the best possible education.

With these feelings in mind, members of CARE have expressed their opposition to the proposed elimination of graduate and professional students from the Guaranteed Student Loan program. We also oppose further cutbacks in the Pell Grant program for poor and lower middle-income students. In addition, we are against proposed cutbacks in elementary and secondary education programs that aid poor, disadvantaged and handicapped students, as well as other elementary, secondary and higher education programs.

Members of CARE believe that Republicans are concerned about maintaining the integrity of our educational system within the realm of fiscal responsibility. We want to put that belief into concrete actions.

March of Dimes Walk America Set for April 25

Exercising has become the national answer for fitness and well-being. Sunday, April 25, every man, woman and child can take part in a healthy and worthwhile effort by joining in the March of Dimes Walk America.

The walk is truly a national event, taking place on the same week-end throughout the country," says Tom Minick, March of Dimes board member.

We expect more than 2,000 residents to put on their walking shoes to help support the March of Dimes in its efforts to prevent birth defects," Sheriff Minick adds. Other walkers will include teams of International Lions Clubs from Washtenaw and Livingston counties, McDonald's, AAA and Mothers of Twins are among the teams participating.

As you know the Washtenaw-Livingston walk has usually been on Saturday. This year we decided to try for a better "Family Walk" and move the day to Sunday and we changed the registration time (10:30) to enable the families to attend church before the walk.

Birth defects are the nation's most serious child health problem. Each year more than 250,000 infants are born with mental or physical damage. Goal of the March of Dimes is to protect the unborn and newborn and to give every child born the best possible chance for the healthiest possible life.

Walkers will begin their 20 kilometer trek at 11 a.m. from the Travis Pointe Country Club off Saline-Ann Arbor Rd. The pledges they collect will assist March of Dimes programs of research, medical service and education, according to Minick. In the Washtenaw-Livingston area, funds will be used to support medical service grant at the U. of M. on genetic counseling and care for the high-risk mother and child.

For more information, contact the March of Dimes at 121 Huron View, Ann Arbor 48103 or call 761-6331.

Cadet Neal Vorus Has Highest Grades in Military Academy

Headmaster Richard Piper of Howe Military School, Howe, Ind., in announcing those on the honor roll for the past six-week marking period, reported that a 3.75 out of a possible 4.0 average was the highest grade point average in the Upper School. There were only five cadets with this grade average—two freshmen, two sophomores and one junior. Cadet Neal Vorus, son of Professor and Mrs. William Vorus of North Lake, was the only member of the junior or senior class to attain this high mark.

Neal is a member of Howe's two honor societies, the National Honor Society and Alpha Delta Tau. The latter requires that members maintain grades of 3.25 or better with no academic grade less than "B-" for three consecutive six-week periods.

Vorus holds the rank of sergeant and the position of squad leader.

Outside academics, Neal's other interests at school include running, weight-lifting and music. He plays the electric violin in a jazz-rock combo at Howe.

Washtenaw Ducks Unlimited Chapter Plans May Banquet

The Western Washtenaw Chapter of Ducks Unlimited will be holding its second annual fund-raising banquet at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Dexter, on Thursday, May 8. The cash bar opens at 7 p.m. and dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m.

Unlimited membership, are available at The Loft Frame and Art Gallery in Chelsea, the Village Frame Shoppe in Dexter, True Value Hardware in Ann Arbor and Gould's ARCO station in Dexter.

Numerous wildlife prints will be offered as door prizes as well as a number of items to be auctioned.

Four well-known artists have been invited as special guests of the chapter for the fund-raising banquet. Two local artists who have achieved fame and recognition and will be on hand are Kathy McClung and Harry Curtis. Gijsbert van Frankenhuzen, better known as "Nick," who is the art director of the DNR "Michigan" magazine and this year's winner in the State duck stamp competition, and Rod Lawrence of Kalkaska will also be present. Each artist has donated one of their works of art.

Ducks Unlimited was founded in 1937 to help restore and rehabilitate prime waterfowl breeding grounds in Canada, where more than 70 percent of North America's waterfowl are hatched. These grounds were nearly destroyed as a result of the sudden and massive westward expansion of civilization after WW-I and the subsequent draining and cultivation of the land. The severe drought of the 1930's also contributed to the decline of continental waterfowl populations.

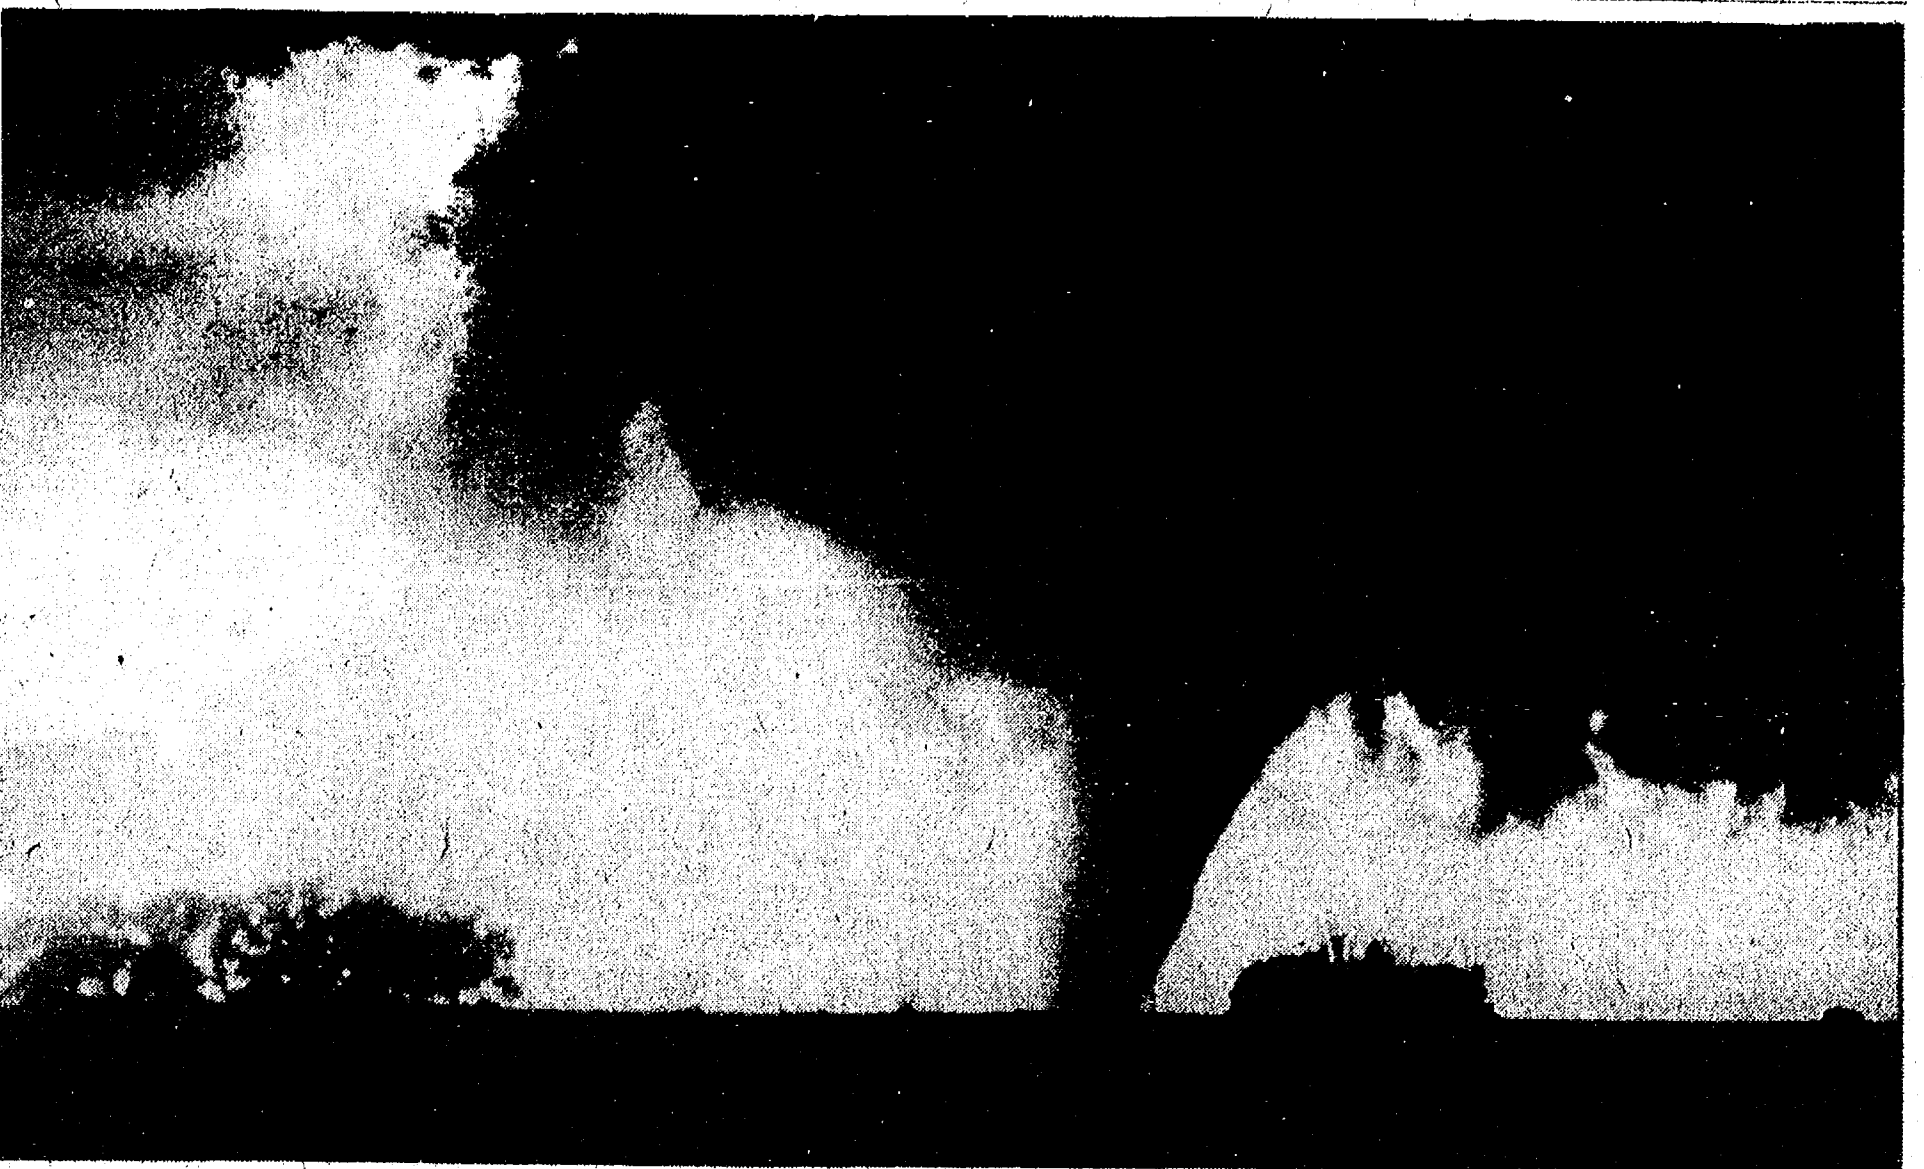

Since its inception, Ducks Unlimited has completed more than 2,000 restoration projects. These projects have benefited man as well as by creating a stabilized water supply for agriculture, industry and municipalities. More than $134 million has been raised in Ducks Unlimited's 43-year history, nearly $100 million of which has been spent on wetland improvement and management. This (Continued on page 13)

IT'S TORNADO TIME: Striking more than 600 times each year nation-wide, tornadoes make their ugly appearance in Michigan nearly 20 times each season. Occurring during April, May, June and July, most tornadoes originate in the southwest in the late afternoon and evening hours, usually between 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. The Chelsea Communication Club works in co-operation with the National Weather Service and area authorities to report, spot and transmit emergency weather reports as a part of the Skywarn network.

Arrival of Spring Brings Threat of Violent Weather

Despite last week's last hurrah for Old Man Winter, record breaking snowfalls and chilling winds, it looks as though spring has legitimately sprung and not one day too soon. But, with the coming of spring, and temperatures fluctuating from hot to cold, so comes the threat of tornadoes.

Considered the most destructive child of a thunderstorm, the tornado is a violently rotating column of air which descends from the thunderstorm cloud system. They strike across the United States approximately 600 times each year and, in Michigan alone, tornadoes make their destructive appearance an average of 17 times annually.

Most tornadoes come from the southwest during the months of April, May, June and July. They typically strike during the late afternoon and evening hours, usually between 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. Tornadoes typically rotate counter-clockwise with wind speeds that vary from less than 100 miles per hour to nearly 300 miles per hour. The average path of a tornado is about one quarter mile wide and a few miles long. Still, some are of considerably greater size.

During a threat of tornadoes, familiar thunderstorm clouds are present. An hour or two before a tornado strikes, topsy-turvy clouds appear sometimes bulging down instead of up. The clouds often have a greenish-black color. Rain and frequently hail, precedes a tornado. A heavy downpour is typical after it has passed.

A tornado's violent winds can uproot trees, destroy buildings and can create serious hazards from objects blown through the air. Differences in air pressure can also lift automobiles and cause buildings to collapse.

Locally, emergency procedures and precautions regarding pending tornado-like weather are provided through the Arrow Skywarn Net, an amateur radio public communications system designed to inform communities and local authorities in Washtenaw county of severe weather conditions that could cause damage to property and lives, and to advise the National Weather Service of adverse conditions within this county through the Sheriff's Department. Skywarn is a relatively new element in the community tornado preparedness program of the National Weather Service and part of the U. S. Commerce Department's Nationwide Natural Disaster Warning system. The Chelsea Communications Club plays an intricate role in this mode of severe weather monitoring.

On receiving official tornado or severe thunderstorm watch information, members of the Chelsea Communications Club notify authorities within the village who, in turn, notify others of the nature of the watch and its duration. At that time, a decision is made regarding the blowing of the fire whistle to warn citizens. If the decision is affirmative, three one-minute blasts of the fire whistle are made at 10-second intervals.

The Chelsea Communications Club then monitors weather conditions west and south of Jackson. If severe conditions develop in the Jackson area, the possibility of dispersing members of the Chelsea Fire Department to strategic weather monitoring areas arises.

A severe thunderstorm watch or tornado watch bulletin usually identifies an area about 140 miles wide by 200 miles long. Although the watch bulletin states approximately where and for how long the severe local storm threat will exist, it does not mean that severe local storms will not occur outside the watch area or time frame. The watch is only an indication of where and when the probabilities are highest. Persons within 75 miles of the watch area should also be on the alert for threatening conditions.

The watch bulletins are transmitted to all National Weather Service offices. Designated offices prepare and issue a redefining statement which specifies the affected area in terms of counties, towns and locally well-known geographic landmarks. These messages are disseminated to the public by all possible means, and are used to guide the activities of local government, law enforcement agencies, severe local storm reporting networks, and emergency agencies in preparing for severe weather.

Watches are not warnings and, until a severe thunderstorm or tornado warning is issued, persons in and near watch areas should maintain their normal routines, but watch for threatening weather and listen to radio or television for further severe weather information.

A severe thunderstorm warning or tornado warning bulletin is issued by a local office of the National Weather Service when a severe thunderstorm or tornado has actually been sighted in the area or indicated on radar. Warnings describe the "downstream" area that could be affected. This area is determined from the location, size, direction and speed of movement of the severe thunderstorm or tornado. Since tornadoes are not always indicated by radar or observed by severe storm spotters, a warning (Continued on page 16)

Girls Track Team Opens Spring Season This Week

The Chelsea girls track team is scheduled to open its season this week with dual meets at Manchester on Tuesday and Jackson Lumen Christi on Thursday.

The Bulldogs go into the season with the unenviable task of replacing three of last season's top five scorers and completely rebuilding in the shot put and discus where Mary Boylan and Lorrie Vandegrift competed so successfully over the last four years. And they have to do it with only nine proven scorers on the 27-girl roster.

On the bright side are a group of distance runners which Coach Bill Bainton calls "the best we've ever had." This group consists of seniors Nancy Hastings and Lisa Vandegrift, juniors Sandra Frame, Sharon Guinan and Kristin Thomas, sophomore Wendy Wolfgang and freshman Mary Ann Richardson. Sophomore Carol Warren, last season's top half-miler, will drop to the 400 to replace graduated Kathy Honbaum. Freshmen Rachel Schnell and Stephanie Grant should contribute to the shorter distances.

The top returnee is senior Tracy Bohlender, third in scoring and state qualifier in the 200 hurdles last year. Bohlender is the team's best high jumper as well and is also planning to run the 100 hurdles this year. "The two hurdle races are a lot different, but Tracy is a good athlete and we think she can make the adjustment," said Bainton of the move.

Another athlete moving to the hurdles after a brief try in them last year is Beth Heller. Newcomers Pam Spayd and Lisa Hurd could help in these events.

Junior Carolyn Chandler and sophomore Sue Young are the top sprinters. Other in the sprints are junior Laura Beckwith in her first year and sophomore Kay Bauer. Dawn Borders and Liesel Culver are sophomores from the swimming team who should help in the dashes or 400.

Sue Young, who had a fine freshman season, is the team's best long jumper and has her sights set on a school record there this year. After her, the event is a big question. The long jump has suffered most from the bad weather this spring.

The high jump is the most solid field event with Bohlender, Warren, Spayd and juniors Claudette

Bucholz and Christiana Sommers all jumping consistently well in indoor practice.

The throws are the real problem with two all-area shot putters and the top four discus throwers all graduated. Senior Kathy Waldyke is the early leader in the shot and senior Lisa Vandegrift and sophomore Kay Bauer could be the top discus throwers. Others who could come on strong in these events are sisters Nora and Shannon Morseau and sophomore Sandy Young.

Distance Runners Dominate SEC

The girls Southeastern Conference track outlook points to a three-team race for the championship. This is the year of the distance runners in the league.

Milan's Big Reds appear very solid. Tracey Early is the league's best sprinter and senior Jennifer Pratt leads a group of excellent distance runners.

Dexter's Kelly McKillen, Lisa Goltman and Sarah Pepples are the nucleus of a group of distance runners that were state cross-country champions. Add a group of good young hurdlers and you have the base of a powerful team.

Tecumseh's Indians sport the best group of throwers in the league. State hurdles champion Martha Hans makes the Indians contenders. They also have good distance runners but not the equals of Dexter or Milan.

Saline lost two all-area performers by graduation but have long jumper Julie Weirick and some good sprinters back. Like Chelsea, the Hornets will probably be rebuilding early.

The Lincoln Railsplitters' program fell apart last year but could come on fast behind sprinters Marlene Cox and Karen Wade.

Western's Heather Good is one of the better distance runners in the league. The Panthers were young last year and had some good quarter-milers. They should be improved.

Paraplegics Plan Chairathon To Aid Paralyzed Vets

Two paraplegic athletes from the Michigan Chapter of the Paralyzed Veterans of America will spend two weeks pushing their wheelchairs from the Ohio/Michigan border to Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan this summer.

Terry Sutton and Lee Doser are calling their 400-mile trip the "Two for the So" Chairathon. And they are inviting everyone to participate by pledging money to the Michigan Chapter of the Paralyzed Veterans of America for every mile they travel.

Although the Chairathon will not begin until July 6, pledge cards are now ready and available. They may be obtained by writing to Michigan PVA at 30406 Ford Rd., Garden City 48135, or by calling (313) 525-5626.

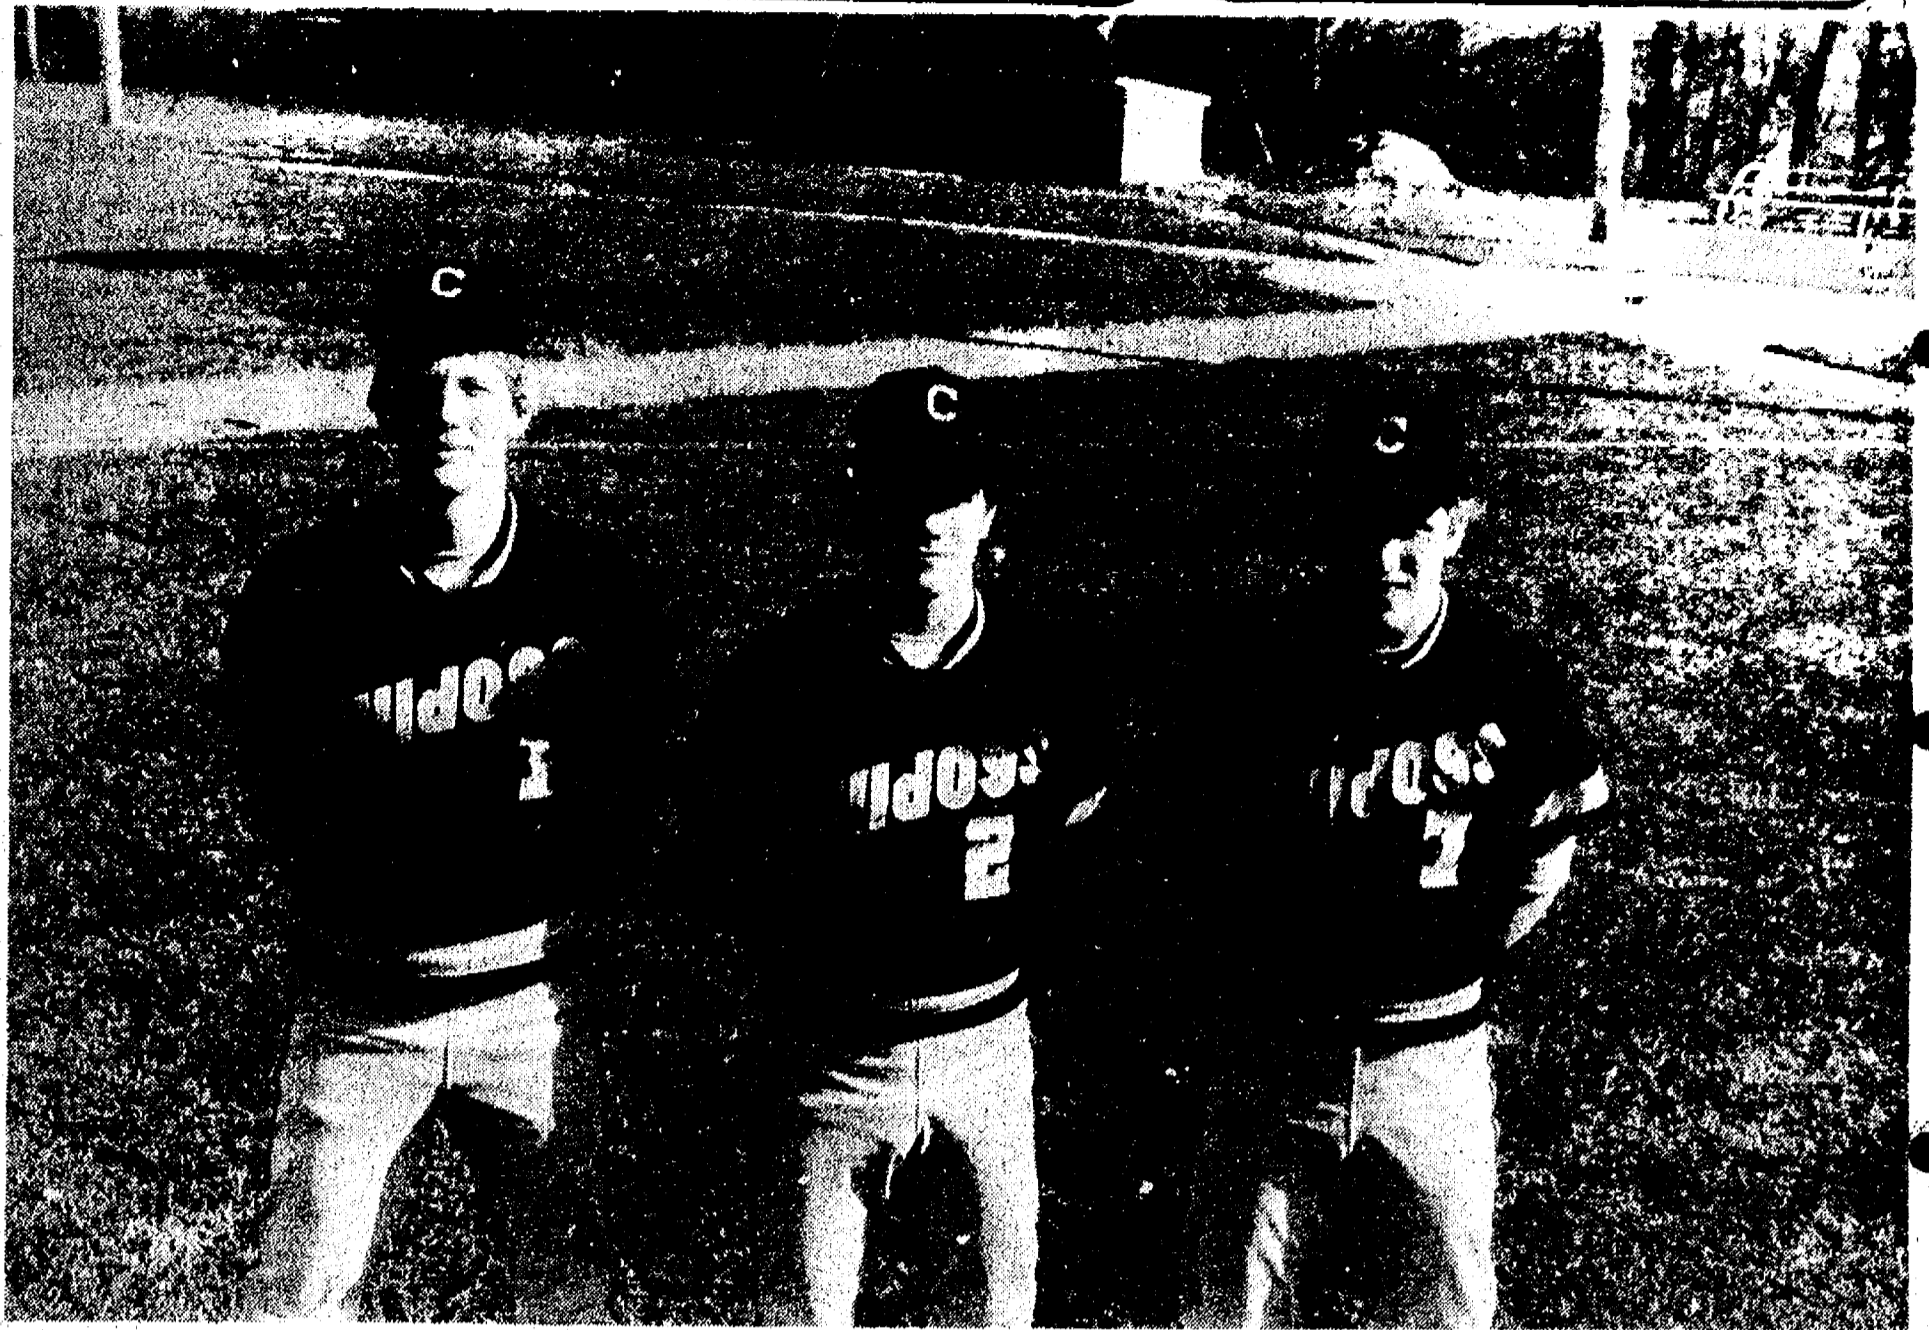

Pinckney Youth in Training Unit At Army Infantry School

Pvt. Robert P. Olsen, son of Roberta L. Olsen of 435 Coleman, Pinckney has completed one station unit training (OSUT) at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

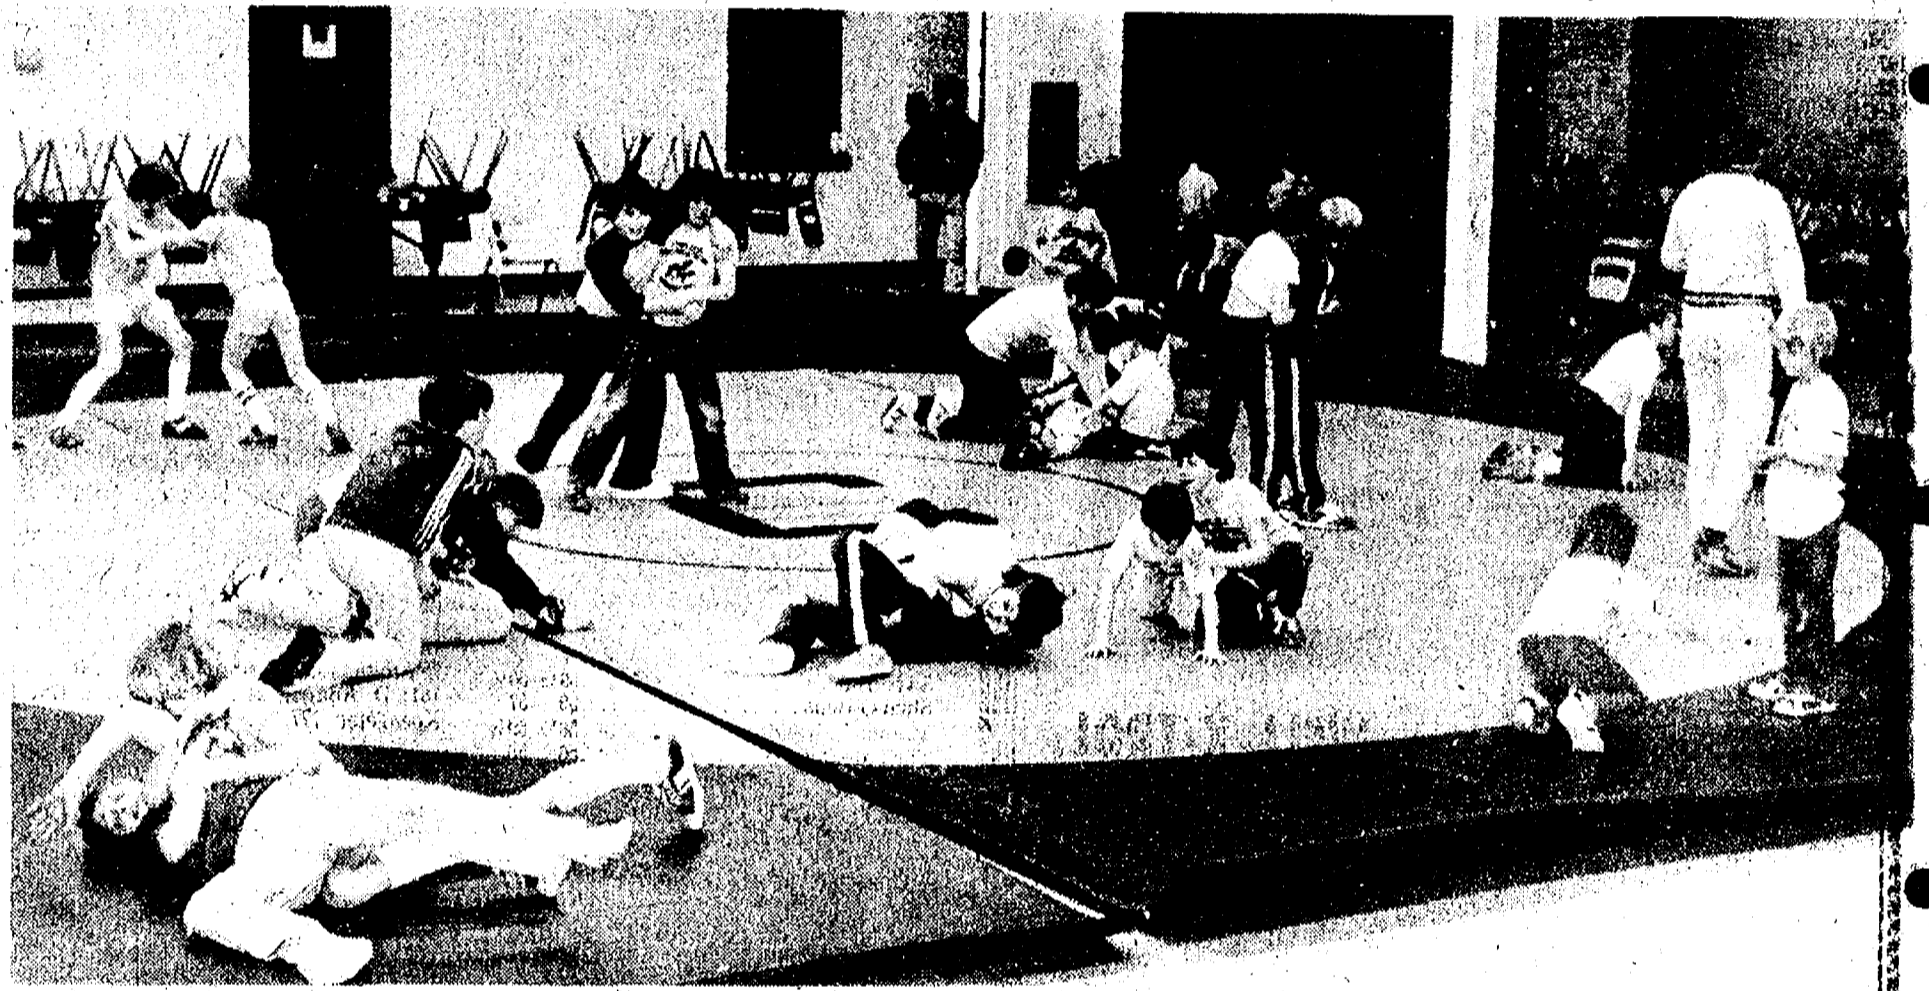

OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training.

The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. Completion of this course qualifies the soldier as a light-weapons infantryman and as an indirect-fire crewman.

Soldiers were taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad.

ALL SIZES, SHAPES AND POSITIONS characterize a practice session of the Chelsea Wrestling Club which meets each Thursday evening in the Beach Middle school cafeteria. More than 60 participants, ranging in age from 2½ to 20, gather on the mats weekly in preparation for competitive week-end wrestling meets.

Waterfowl Identification Planned at Nature Center

Snow may still be on the ground and ice on the lakes when we first hear the honking of Canada geese as they return from their winter haunts. Many species of migrating waterfowl use Michigan's numerous marshes and ponds as convenient rest stops on their long trek north to the Canadian plains where they breed. Migrating waterfowl travel at speeds of 40- to 60-miles-per-hour and may fly at altitudes ranging from several hundred feet to an extreme of 20,000 feet. It appears that altitude is linked to migratory flight time. The longer the flight, the higher the altitude.

When identifying waterfowl, there are several cues to look for and habitat is one. So-called puddle ducks prefer fresh, shallow

ST. MARY'S CONFIRMATION CLASS, made up of 106 middle school students and 14 adults, celebrated their confirmation into the Catholic church on Sunday, March 28. The mass was celebrated by the Right Rev. Kenneth Povish, Bishop of the Diocese of Lansing, the Rev. Fr.

St. Mary's Confirms Class Of 120 into Catholic Church

On Sunday, March 28, St. Mary's parish of Chelsea celebrated the confirmation of 106 middle school students and 14 adults into the Catholic Church. This celebration took place at St. Mary's Catholic church during a Mass celebrated by the Right Rev. Kenneth Povish, Bishop of the Diocese of Lansing, the Rev. Fr. Philip DuPuis of St. Mary's, and the Fr. Louis, St. Louis school. They were assisted by Richard Cesarz, deacon.

Sister Patricia Weigand, St. Mary's Religious Education Co-ordinator, and Brother Thomas Glumanta from the diocesan office in Lansing, had developed a curriculum for confirmation preparation which involved students, parents, teachers and other members of the faith community.

The curriculum was implemented in January with two training workshops for the CCD teachers. Parents were then summoned to help their child make a stole to be blessed and worn on confirmation day. The stole being decorated with symbols of the gifts of the Holy Spirit.

Basic student responsibilities were regular participation in weekly classes at St. Mary's school, the completion of a service project in the community, and researching, writing and then studying a specially prepared workbook containing the principles of Catholic Church doctrine.

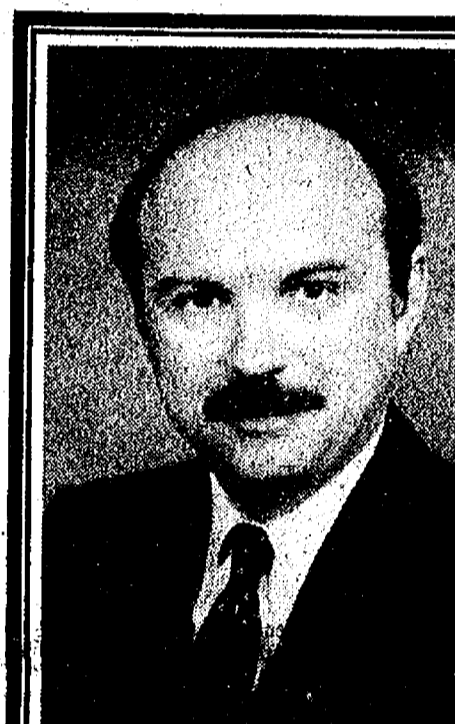

After eight weeks of intensive work, study and prayer, the confirmation candidates were given a written test. Brother Tom then returned to Chelsea to present an overview of the Christian commitment.

As a final event, all students gathered on Saturday, March 27, to participate in a Retreat Day, conducted by Sister Patricia, second heads Gay Bolanowski and Patti Schick, and the CCD teachers. Retreat activities included films, film strips, discussion groups, an art project and prayer groups. Topics covered were the signs and symbols of confirmation, witness, gifts of the Holy Spirit, Christian commitment and prayer forms.

After the confirmation ceremony on Sunday, Bishop Povish met with those confirmed, their families, sponsors and friends for coffee and doughnuts.
