Real Ale Co. Hopes To Start Suds Flowing in Few Weeks

For quite a few months now you've probably been hearing strange reports and perhaps asking a few questions about that alleged brewery in the Clock Tower building. Just who are those hairy strangers ambling up and down Main St. or rattling by in those ridiculous decrepit vehicles? Can these, you ask in horror, be the alleged brewers? What are they doing? And when will they ever get started?

Someone's going to have to step forward and give some answers to these questions pretty soon, and since Ted Badgerow is the president and assistant bottlewasher of The Real Ale Company, Inc., he's the one to do it.

These foreign strangers are Ted Badgerow and Gordy Averill and they are the men who will own/operate the brewery. Doing almost everything imaginable, they will begin their brewing

What will this brewery produce? The initial brewing schedule is geared to producing 650-700 cases of dark ale, porter and stout per month, bottled in 12-ounce brown bottles.

Stout is a very dark, rich, strong ale brewed from wellroasted malted barley. It's of Irish origin. Porter was once the most popular beer in the world; it's a combination of pale ale and

These products are nothing like Bud, Schlitz or Stroh's. The Real Ale Co., unlike other brewers, does not pasteurize its brew. They add none of the parabens, orthophosphates, peptons, dextrin, sulphates, heading agents, stabilizers, or other chemicals, preservatives and additives commonly used in most American lager beers. They brew with malt, hops, wather and yeast only, so the product doesn't taste like anyone else's product. Instead, the taste is stronger, richer, maltier, hoppier, sweeter,

Despite the close proximity and the eagerness of locals to take a look at the process, there will be no tap room or public consumption on the premises. And, in an effort to keep from competing with local businesses, The Real Ale Co., will sell only with a minimum order of five cases. But, that does not mean that won't spend 40 percent of its budget for advertising like competitors. No jingles or promotional schemes featuring happy jocks and old baseball has-beens and taste tests. In fact, it looks ale all sold before it is brewed. There will be quite a waiting list.

Waiting list! Well, the Village of Chelsea has been waiting eight months for the stuff already. Will it even hit the market by Christmas? The answer to this question is maybe even by the Fourth of July.

the owners do not want to deal! Last week Badgerow and approval from the federal Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Michigan inspector will be out The Real Ale Company, Inc. soon. But hey, don't think all this gets done overnight—there have been bonds and maps and applications, balance sheets and business plans, investors, renovation, equipment shopping and installation, label laws and like the firm will have all of its approvals, carton designs, ingredients orders, water analyses, gas and electric hook-up, zoning

Senate Agency Sees Little

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

Revenue Increase, More Cuts An updated 1962-83 forecast by the Senate Fiscal Agency forsees revenues only 4.3 percent higher than current year general fund spending and noted significant cuts will have to be made to current services to produce a balanced budget.

The estimates presume a moderately-paced economic recovery beginning this summer.

Projections by Ted Ferris. milliken. director of the agency, are $310 million below those of Governor

MIRROR

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

They say in politics you never know how you look til you git your picture took. You primp fer office a few months and overnight the voters show you your picture. Americans had their ever-10-year picture took in April 1980, and I see by the papers where we're just now seeing some shapshots. That's what they're calling information coming from the census. It took a awful long time to develop the film.

I saw one piece that claimed billions of dollars is being wasted because the Census Bureau didn't git the picture sooner. Because they're having to use 1970 numbers on where the needs are, Guvernment agencies are missing the sores with their salve. One Congressman said the problem was that cutbacks in funds cost the Census Bureau 500 computer operators in three data processing centers at a time when they was needed the most. If that's the case, Mister Editor, it looks like that perticular cutback was penny wise and billions of dollars foolish. Somebody else explained that the Census Bureau had to use all the staff just to count folks in time fer congressional reportioning, then they had to go back and dig out all the stuff about income, housing, education and such needed to find the sores that need the salve.

I brung up snapshots at the session at the country store Saturday night, and Zeke Grubb allowed Idaho and Massachusetts ought to swap pictures. Zeke has saw where Massachusetts had started "workfare" at the same time Idaho was cutting back to a four-day week. One state is putting welfare folks to work, and the other is putting workers on welfare. What Idaho really is doing, Zeke reported, is trying to live within her means by shaving a day off the workweek for 5,000 state employees. Massachusetts wants to save money paying folks to work instead of do nothing. If the two states could see one another's snapshots, Zeke said. they could let the welfare folks loaf in Idaho and the workers work in Massachusetts, and everbody could keep on doing what they're use to.

Practical speaking, Ed Doolittle said, the two states would be swapping problems and adding the cost of transportation, the kind of thing that usual happens when Guvernments try to cut back anywhere on anything. Fer instant. Ed said he had saw some figgers on the growth of the population and the growth of Guvernment in this country. Between 1816 and 1980, Ed said, the population multiplied 25 times, from nine million to 225 million. During the same time, the federal bureaucracy was miltiplying 567 times, from 4,837 to 2.8 million civilians on the taxpayer's payroll. From 1959 to 1980, Ed went on, the number of Guvernment employees doubled, while private jobs increased 43 percent.

If there's going to be a snapshot swapping, Ed said, let them Guvernment agencies trade with one another. They'll probable see some of the same faces, since it looks like we'll soon have more people on Guvernment payrolls than we got people.

Yours truly, Uncle Lew.

William G. Milliken's $4.98 billion general fund estimates made in January while, revenue forecasts for the School Aid fund are $72 million less than those of

A later March "consensus" forecast agreed to by the agency, the Department of Management and Budget and the House Fiscal Agency, had already reduced the original estimate by $130 million.

Ferris said the lowered forecasts are due to a slowerpaced economic recovery and the reduced revenues for the current year, which he said are $40 million below the March consensus figures.

He is projecting a beginning of real growth in the state economy by the third quarter of 1982, due to federal tax cuts, low inflation and lower interest rates.

Although in part, using the econometric model of the University of Michigan's Research Seminar in Quantative Economics, the SFA forecast takes a less optimistic view of the state's dominant industry-8.5 million auto sales in 1962 compared to 9.5 and 10.4 million in 1983 compared to 11.8 million.

If the more optimistic forecasts are used, Ferris said, revenue estimates could be boosted $140 million above his latest numbers.

Although his revised forecast of revenues in 10.2 percent above revenues for the current year, he said spending could increase only 4.3 percent because of the distortion caused by the temporary, $300 million income tax increase this year.

The forecast allows only $193 million more to be spent in 1982-83 than during the current year. Ferris said he is still putting together a "current services" budget, but added it is clear the limited additional revenues will not support those services.

But if cuts are made to match the new revenue forecast, he said, "I believe we will have adopted a budget which is realistic, consistently-based and far less subject to revision than the current year's budget."

Following the forecast, a special Senate committee set revenue and target spending figures for fiscal 1982-83.

Revenue estimates were set at $4,646.4 million (plus $26.6 million in already appropriated state building authority rent) while the spending targets for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1 were set at $4,646 million.

The special committee, comprised of Senate leaders, members of the Appropriations Committee and the chairman of the Finance Committee-did not reach total harmony on the spending targets as Republican members called for additional cuts in the social services budget.

The target budget resolution establishes spending in five general categories. They are human services at $2,339.6 million; education at $1,305.3 million; general government at $359.4 million; law enforcement at $416.6 million and business and industry at $224.9 million.

Gary Packard, Jr. Graduates from Air Force Academy

The United States Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo., is the youngest of all U.S. military academies, being completed in 1955. Women cadettes were admitted just eight years ago, and, as of now, 14,800 cadets have completed their military training and achieved their 2nd Lieutenant commissions there.

This year's graduation week there held special interest to the Chelsea area family and the friends of Gary A. Packard, Jr., Squadron No. 6, at the Academy as he received his commission as 2nd Lleutenant, with a bachelor of science degree in behavioral Leaving the Academy after four years, he will be stationed for a year in Oklahoma for further pilot training. He will be on leave for a month prior to reporting there for duty.

Many activities were planned each day for this year's graduation week at the Academy. They included the baccalaureate services at the A.F.A. Chapel, organizational parade ceremonies, dinner dance, military ball, graduation buffet and entertainment by the Air Force band. Also, the Academy's entire enrollment of 40 Squadrons drum and bugle, drill team, rifle team, chorale and the air show of glider planes and parachutist demonstrations made the graduation week exciting.

Graduation was held Wednesday, June 2 at the Falcon Field Stadium where more than 22,000 invited spectators witnessed the ceremony. U. S. Vice-President George Bush gave the graduation address and the presentation of a special moon mission American flag was made by Mr. Beggs, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Center, to the class of 806 cadets. At that time, a "fly-by" by 19 Air Force operational aircraft including four F-16s from New Mexico, A.F.B; four T-38 Talons and four T-37s from Arizona, two KC-135s from California and one U-2 from California honored the cadets. Each was manned with a former graduate of the Academy.

Twenty area residents attended and witnessed these honorable military affairs. Those using vacation time to travel by car. plane and mobile homes were Mr. and Mrs. John Miller of South Carolina, formerly of Chelsea; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Packard, Sr., son John; Mrs. Judy Radant and children Steven, Michael and Melinda; Nadine Packard, Tylene Greenleaf, Mrs. Eulahlee Packard, Norene and Bob Aeillo, Deann Collins, Sandy Young and Mr. and Mrs. Don Noye and children Krista and Darrel from Ann Arbor.

> In Jonkoping, Ann lives with her father who is in the carpeting business and has a sister who is studying at a Swedish police academy.

> In her first trip to the United States, the very independent Ann. who has traveled extensively through Europe, has visited California, Florida, Niagara Falls and Chicago and exhibits a real passion for big city life, venturing to Ann Arbor and Detroit at every opportunity. She will return to Sweden July 15.

W: Germany sent Chelsea a very interesting Christiana Sommer who comes from Hamburg where she lives with her sister and parents. Her father works for the W. German Financial Ministry and teaches classes while her mother works part time in a jewelry store.

Seventeen-year-old Chris is a member of the Charles Montgomery family and, like Ann, gets to Ann Arbor whenever possible. She has traveled to Kentucky and to northern Michigan since her arrival last summer and plans a trip to Toronto this month.

Despite her extensive European travels, Chris has never visited the United States and has found her visit fascinating.

Though she studied as a junior at Chelsea High school this year, Chris was given the opportunity to be considered a senior in order to participate in commencement exercises with her American classmates and new found friends.

She will return to Hamburg on July 14, Chelsea High school diploma in hand and will hope to see her American mother, Linda Montgomery later in the summer when the latter takes a two-month program in German there. Lindy van Reesema arrived from Adelaide, Australia in December, taking her aunt and uncle up on their request to visit the United States, 16,000 miles from her home. According to Lindy, it has been an excellent experience and everyone has been exceptionally friendly.

At age 18, Lindy is the youngest of five children. Her father is a businessman while her mother is a receptionist.

In her first trip to the U.S., Lindy has had the oppportunity to visit Washington, D.C., Florida and Chicago. Upon her arrival home, via a stop in Europe, Lindy will travel with her brother through the top of Australia before beginning her university studies of business administration. All unique and exceedingly friendly, Chelsea's new-found students, all of whom took part in Sunday's graduation ceremonies, have become a part of the lives of the families with whom they've lived during the past year.

With interests all their own, and educational systems different than those in this country. each expressed a liking for the academic choices they were given in Chelsea though the courses were not as difficult as those with which they were accustomed. MODES OF EXCHANGE: Bringing with them a host of ideas and traveling home with ideas acquired in this country is a quintet of foreign exchange students who have attended Chelsea High school this year. Among them are Lindy van Reesema of Australia, Ann Carlson of Sweden. Paivi Pato of Finland and Roberto Castillo of Mexico. Also taking part in the exchange program but not present for the photograph was Christiana Sommer of W. Germany.

Five Exchange Students Complete Year in Chelsea

Chelsea High school has had the opportunity to take four foreign exchange students under its wing this year as a part of an international exchange program of the organization Youth For Understanding. This quartet-Paivi Pato of Finland, Roberto Castillo of Mexico, Ann Carlson of Sweden and Christiana Sommer of W. Germany-was joined by Dr. and Mrs. Frederick van Reesema's niece, Lindy van Reesema of Australia, in January when she arrived to meet her American relatives and take a semester of classes here.

Paivi Pato has been a part of the Donald Smith family and is a native of a small town in Finland. She was the subject of a feature story earlier this year.

Roberto Castillo, a member of the Richard Lee family, is a native of Monterrey, Mexico, located near Laredo, Tex. He comes from a family of five brothers and his father is a banker in Monterrey.

This is not his first trip to the United States. In fact, at age 17. Roberto has made numerous trips to both Texas and Califor-

Since arriving in Chelsea last summer. Roberto has been involved in soccur and IV basketball here. He has enjoyed a bit of traveling and comments that people's values are different here as compared to his homeland.

He will head back to Mexico on June 20, being driven by the entire Lee family who is eager to meet the Castillo family. On Aug. 1, Roberto will begin his college studies at Monterrey Tech where he will study electronics systems or computer engineering.

His only major complaint about Michigan? Winter.

Ann Carlson is a native of Jonkoping, Sweden, a large city education system, are unheard of in their native lands.

Those students from large European cities expressed a longing for big city life while those accustomed to small town living were totally content.

Nevertheless, on their Chelsea School District-sponsored trip to Detroit with guidance counselors Gene La Fave and Chris Dimanin late last month, each was given a different impression of the "Renaissance City." As diverse economy. In fact, for the first as any city, Detroit was toured by the group, from beautiful skyscrapers and unique features including the Renaissance Center, the Detroit Institute of Arts and New Center Area and Belle Isle, to the slums bordering on such posh neighborhoods as Indian Village.

Chris Sommer, for one, commented on the close proximity of nice neighborhoods to the ghetto. something she said is "foreign" to her. Lindy van Reesema thought that the Renaissance Center was beautiful and she'd never been anywhere like Greektown. Roberto Castillo, who has become a Tiger baseball fan; enjoyed the city as a whole, especially Tiger Stadium. And, Paivi Pato and Ann Carlson, loveditallique i haloen adomini.

La Fave and Dimanin have taken other groups of exchange students to Detroit in the past, making a conscious attempt to show them the sites, both good and bad, ranging from high rises demolitions, neighborhoods to ghettos. cultural centers to ethnic variations. Both familiar with the metropolitan Detroit area, their personally-guided tour of the Motor City ran the gamut and provided each foreign visitor with a generally positive feeling about Detroit, Michigan and the United States.

It is not surprising that the correspondent ("My name is legion". 6/1) refused to sign his/her name. There is no evidence to support the writer's assertion that: 1) the unwanted pregnancy becomes the abused child; 2) abortion will prevent or reduce the incidence of child abuse. William A. Nolan, M.D., writing in the defense of abortions states, "All this nonsense about 'unwanted' babies ending up as 'battered children' is just that: nonsense. I have never seen any figures to demonstrate conclusively that even a minimal correlation exists." He then quotes three authorities on child abuse to support his statement.

A pamphlet published recently by the National Committee to Cost 50 cents per person (free for Prevent Child Abuse (NCPCA). asks. "Do abusive parents hate their children?" and answers, "No, they usually love their children."

In a source closer to home. The High/Scope ReSource, Ypsilanti, Spring 1982, we read, "... we believe that the popular conception of teenagers (parents) as potential child abusers is . . . greatly exaggerated."

If abortion prevented child abuse, surely the 12,000,000 legal abortions reported since 1973 would have brought about a reduction in child abuse cases. Yet the statistics show the opposite is true. "One million children are abused each year with a possible 5,000 deaths. If every case was reported the figures probably would be considerably higher." (NCPCA)

The grisly discovery of 2,000 aborted fetuses in Los Angeles is truly "right up there with a photo album of Auschwitz"-not in springtime but in the ghastly desolation of death. Dear Mr. Editor:

I find it amazing how worked up people are getting over Millie Warner's letters. Each letter is so controversial, of course people are going to disagree-don't you think that's why she writes?

You could argue for years over the topics Mrs. Warner chooses. There are no right answers, just everyone's own opinion. Who's to say which opinions are right?

Honestly, aren't there enough problems in the world to worry about without losing sleep over

Caroline Enderle.

Dear Editor:

I bet you think that this situation with Millie Warner is pretty funny. While printing her ridiculous and totally unnecessary ravings, you've also brought some people out of the closet who were suspected dead. "Legion" made a startling comeback from beyond, the world's only (hopefully) "Concerned Teen" made a brief, but unintelligible, appearance, and even a letter by the Vasectomy of the Month Club (whose ties were thought to have been cut off long ago) graced your humble pages—and all in response to Warnergate. (Incidentally, did you know that if you say "Millie Warner. Concerned Parent" backwards, it comes out "I am a fugitive from a chain gang"?)

People have asked, even pleaded, with you to stop printing her statements, or at least bury them with good old Uncle Lew, but that would have taken all the fun out of it. So if you aren't going to reveal the key to stopping the running of these letters, I will: all of Millie's readers should send letters to The Standard, and sign them "Yours truly, Millie Warner." This way, Mr. Editor won't know which letters to print!

As for my feelings on the abortion issue, they are best put forth in the cartoon I have enclosed. Please sign me.

Not Legion, Not Concerned, Not Millie, Just little old me, Underdog.

I think they deprive humans of their rights to happy and useful lives. Abortions should be made federal crimes with strict sentences!"

To the Editor!

Our family has lived in Chelsea for nearly 13 years and have enjoyed reading "The Chelsea Standard" for almost all that time. We love reading local news, finding out local information, seeing what is happening at the various schools—all this makes us feel even more a part of Chelsea.

Now that our children are involved in school, we are even more avid fans-have even sent a subscription to the grandparents out-of-state. (They say they read "The Standard" before other newspapers!)

Thank you for a fine community service. You need a compliment every now and again!

Sexual Assault Series Slated at Chelsea Hospital

The subject of child sexual assault is the theme of a two-hour presentation to be held at Chelsea Community Hospital.

Entitled "Protecting Your Child from Sexual Assault," the program is designed to provide factual information about the prevalence of sexual assault, to correct common myths about child sexual assault, and to identify "symptoms" of sexual abuse.

Provided with this information, parents will be better equipped with practical ways to protect their children from sexual abuse.

In response to a need expressed by the community, this program, which was first presented in March, is being repeated.

The program will be conducted by Marilyn Terrill, PhD, a psychotherapist from the Humanistic Psychotherapy Center of Southfield. She also has an office in Ann Arbor. Dr. Terrill works with adults and adolescents as well as children but specializes in counseling children, families, and sexual abuse/incest victims.

The program is open to the public and will be held Tuesday, June 22, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the main dining room at the hospital. There is no charge for the pro-

A tornado was the cause of a major fire June 2 that left four people dead and 13 people injured after an electrical transformer burst into flames and a fire broke out in a local plant.

Disaster struck the town of Chelsea that Wednesday, and you probably never heard of it, right? Right. You weren't supposed to. The "disaster" was simulated and the fire and the deaths never actually occurred. They were all part of a county-wide disaster drill that the Chelsea Fire Department and other area agencles decided to join in on and test out their preparedness for such a calamity.

If you were listening to police radio that day, you might have tuned in to the "emergency," because the test was part of the Washtenaw County Mutual Aid Association's annual test of coordinating radio communication in the event of such a disaster. The Association is a group of area igencies including fire departments from across the county.

"We have never had such a drill," said Dan Ellenwood, a firefighter and one of the plan-ners of the drill."We thought it was about time we had one."

The scenario Ellenwood and committee members created for the drill included using the tornado theme the county was using for its drill and an old, populated building that could catch fire after a tornado hit and would call the department into action.

"We used the old Rockwell International plant on East St.," said Steve Jaskott, another volunteer firefighter who was called to the scene. "The victims were supplied mostly by the (Chelsea Community)hospital."

Beside the hospital, other area agencies involved in the drill included Chelsea police and auxiliary, Huron Valley Ambulance Co., Jackson Emergency Medical Services ambulances and the Dexter Fire Department.

Firefighters were called to the scene at 6:45 p.m. that evening and found 17 victims scattered in the building with tags attached to each one of them; the tags describing the injury.

Jaskot said they encountered various problems, mostly organizational and tactical ones, when all eight of the fire units arrived at the building. "We were laying people with broken arms next to dead people," said Jaskot, "We had to imagine the scene without actually having it in front of us."

Ellenwood said the problems they encountered gave the group good practice if such a thing were to really occur.

"It (drill) opened up some eyes," he said, "we were not as prepared as we thought we were."

The disaster became a learning experience for the whole Ellenwood family. In addition to Dan, his wife Sandy is also a firefighter and their children Danny and Mike were used as victims.

Firefighters said they are planning another disaster drill this

My Fair Lady' Is Theatre's Biggest Musical Hit in History

"FAIR" COUPLE: Becky Smouse as Eliza and Ric Foytik as Henry Higgins rehearse the memorable and exhilharating "The Rain in Spain' for the Chelsea Area Players' upcoming production "My Fair Lady" slated for a July 15-18 run.

"My Fair Lady," the biggest musical comedy hit in world theatrical history, will be presented by the Chelsea Area Players at the Chelsea High school auditorium from July 15 to July 18.

Section 2

The Alan Jay Lerner-Frederick Loewe musical, adapted from "Pygmalion," Bernard Shaw's straight comedy of 1913 about a guttersnipe who was turned into a lady by a haughty phonetics professor to win a bet, achieved the most striking popularity of any stage attraction of the mid-20th century. It ran in New York for six and one-half years, from March 1956 to Sept. 1962, and its road-tours throughout the United States and its runs in foreign countries, were similarly fabulous and unprecedented.

Among the millions of words of enthusiastic comment by drama critics throughout the world on the subject of "My Fair Lady," a considerable share have dealt with the cleverness by which Alan Jay Lerner wrote the libretto and the song lyrics for this hit, on the basis of Bernard Shaw's famous 40-year-old comedy. He not only remained pretty faithful to Shaw's original text, but also used it as a source for the songs that carry on the plot.

squad maintained its unbeaten status last week by defeating two teams with late inning rallies, keeping them out front in the league race by three games.

The wins over Brewer's Gulf of Ann Arbor, 6-5, and Wolverine Supply, 10-9, puts Big Boy's record at 8-0 and sets up a confrontation Tuesday, June 15 with Central Cafe, the second place team in the league.

Big Boy preserved their perfect record Tuesday with a rally in the top of the seventh inning to give the team its first win of the week in the men's major fast pitch circuit. Big Boy opened the scoring against Brewer's Gulf with a run in the second inning and another in the third. The Brewer's got a run back in the third to make score 2-1.

The score remained the same until the sixth inning when Big Boy increased the lead with a pair of runs on Wayne Welton's single which drove in two baserunners. Big Boy then led 4-1. The Brewer's came back with a four-run rally and led, 5-4, going into the final inning.

A major effort to involve private attorneys in the providing of legal assistance to indigent residents of Washtenaw county has been announced this week.

A letter signed by a number of prominent local attorneys as well as every judge in the county will be released this week urging lawyers to voluntarily commit a maximum of 12 hours or two cases per year to the provision of free legal aid under the plan administered by Legal Services of Southeastern Michigan. LSSEM Executive Director

Roger Chard points out that this is one of the few ways to restore some of the services lost through federal budget reductions, and he is hopeful that it will also bring some organization to the supplying of legal help for the poor by private attorneys which has often been quite random and, therefore, unevenly distributed. He is particularly appreciative of the support shown for the idea and for the help in formulating the plan given by Peter Darrow, John Kirkendall, Melinda Morris and Sally Rutzky-all members of the standing committee of the Bar for this project.

The support of William Anhut, president of the Washtenaw County Bar Association, and many others has been very valuable. Chard states, and we hope now that the biggest beneficiary of all will turn out to be the low-income residents of this county.

Curtis Farley Earns All-A Record At Eastern Kentucky

Five students from Michigan have been named to the Dean's List for the 1982 spring semester at Eastern Kentucky University. Among them was Curtis M. Farley of 153 Van Buren St., a student in the College of Business, He earned a grade point average of 4.0. Dr. John D. Rowlett, vicepresident for academic affairs, said the list totaling 933 students, included 236 who earned perfect 4.0 grade point averages. To be recognized, a student must earn a scholastic average of 3.5 or better for 14 or more graded hours in a semester.

Wayne Man Dies Tuesday In M-52 Crash

A one-car accident on M-52 and Waldo Rd. in Sharon township Tuesday, June 8, claimed the life of a Wayne man and was the 10th recorded fatality in Washtenaw county this year.

Sheriff's deputies said the dead man was identified as 22-year-old Donald C. Bennett. Officers said the vehicle was northbound on M-52 when it careened to one side of the road for 200 feet and then crossed the road, went down a small embankment and flipped Bennett was a passenger in a car driven by William Dimick, 43, of Detroit, who was injured in the accident. Dimick was treated at Chelsea Community Hospital.

Officers said that the fatality count for area highways stands at four less people compared to last year's count of 14 at this time of the year.

Others Present: Richard Steele, Joyce Schneider, Lloyd Schneider, Ishmael Picklesimer. Ron Bollet, Keith Boylan, Emmett Hankerd, Sergeant Lenard McDougall, Fred Harris, Mary Harris, Fire Chief Hankerd, Civil Defense Director Schantz and Superintendent of Electric and Water Department Hafner.

A public hearing was held, pursuant to a Notice in the May 25, 1982 edition of The Chelsea Standard, and in accordance to Act 5. P. A. of 1982, on increasing the 1982 property taxes, Mr. Ron Bollett, representing Dana Corporation and Joyce Schneider, representing Federal Screw Works, commented on the economic hardships a tax increase could cause their respective firms. Both Mr. Bollet and Mrs. Schneider asked several questions. Mr. Keith Boylan spoke of economizing rather than raising the millage. President Merkel requested Mr. Bollet and Mrs. Schneider to file a letter with the Village Council prior to June 8, 1982 listing the effects a tax increase would have on their respective firms. The Council authorized Superintendent Hafner to proceed with modernization of the 440 volt circuit feeding the downtown business and in-

President: Merkel: requested Fire Chief Hankerd to attend the meeting June 9, 1982 at Dexter.

President Merkel requested Police Commission to contact the owners of Big Boy, A & W and McDonald's for possibility of posting signs for truck parking in rear of said businesses.

Ishmael Picklesimer complained to Council on various traffic problems on North Street. Mr. Picklesimer stated that if he were to park where no parking is posted on North Street he would be ticketed, but semi trucks are not ticketed or prohibited from parking in no parking areas even when they park in front of no parking signs and park on the opposite side of street. Mr. Picklesimer also complained of clear vision being obstructed by a fence and building display where cars turn off of North Street onto Main Street. Mr. Picklesimer also suggested E. North Street be renamed. President Merkel announced to Mr. Picklesimer that his complaints will be investigated.

Curb and gutter along the southerly 182 feet (plus or minus) of the east side of Taylor Lane as requested by the adjoining property owner was discussed. It was Council's decision to inform the property owner that this project would be feasible during our next fiscal year provided the property owner would share fifty percent (50%) of the cost and further provided that adequate right-of-way be dedicated to the village for a minimum width street.

Eliza: (the former flower girl whom phonetics professor Higgins has taught to speak in cultured accents, and unintentionally taught to love him, but who is on the point of leaving him forever because he seems to have no more use for her after proving his linguistic experiment) I don't care how you treat me. I don't mind your swearing at me. But I won't be passed over. I can do without you, don't think I can't.

Higgins: I know you can. I told you you could. Eliza: I know you did. You wanted to get rid of me.

Higgins: You never asked yourself, I suppose, whether I could do without you.

Eliza: Don't try to get round me. You'll have to do without me. Higgins: I can do without anybody. I have my own soul, my own spark of divine fire. But I shall miss you, Eliza. I have learned something from your idiotic notions. I confess that humbly and gratefully. And I have grown accustomed to your voice and appearance. I like them, rather.

From this short passage, Lerner drew the words for two of the loveliest songs in "My Fair Lady"-"I Can Do Without You," with such lines as "There'll bespring every year without you, England still will be here without you, There'll be fruit on the tree, and a shore by the sea, without you" and Higgin's ruefully lyric soliloquy "I've Grown Accustomed to Her Face," with such lines as "I've grown accustomed to the tune she whistles night and noon. Her smiles, her frowns, her ups

Taylor Man Drowns In Huron River at Hudson Mills Park

A 25-year-old Taylor man, Kyle Matthews, drowned in the Huron River Saturday, according to Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department. He was pronounced dead on arrival at University Hospital after his canoe overturned at Hudson Mills Metro Park and he was caught in a whirlpool while attempting to swim to the east bank of the river, 60 yards south of North Territorial Rd. in Dexter township.

According to authorities, a companion attempted to help him but the current was too strong.

and downs, are second nature to me now. Like breathing out and breathing in."

As with any good song, all the famouse songs of "My Fair Lady" appear to sing themselves. They flow so spontaneously, so hinevitably, that they seem always to have been there, and couldn't possibly have been different-something like the law of gravity. They give no sign of having been squeezed and pummelled and shaped by means of anyone's sweat and effort. But Alan Jay Lerner, author of the book and lyrics of this incomparable musical has admitted that the words he wrote for its songs, that sound so perfectly unstrained for, resulted from sheer drudgery. It took him more than six weeks of hard work to write the blithe first-act number, "Wouldn't It Be Loverly?"—two weeks on its last line alone. This, apparently, is the kind of toil it takes to achieve a hit.

Chinese Nurse Executive To Visit Chelsea Hospital

Chelsea Community Hospital has invited a senior nurse executive from the People's Republic of China to spend four months in Chelsea.

While here, she will work closely with the Chelsea Community Hospital Director of Nursing and be involved in a variety of activities which will give her insight into the over-all planning, coordination and evaluation of the Chelsea Community Hospital Nursing Department. Concurrently, she will participate in activities and educational experiences which will facilitate her understanding of the role of the nurse and how nursing care is delivered in the United States. This educational nursing project is the first of its kind between the United States and the People's Republic of China. A senior Chinese nurse executive has never participated in a program of this nature.

The Chinese nursing executive is expected to arrive some time in August. The Minister of Health is in the process of selecting the
