Planning Commission Rejects Site Plan For Pump & Pantry

Gallup-Silkworth does plan to come back to the planning commission with another plan for renovating their station at 295 S. Main, even though their controversial original site plan was denied for traffic safety reasons at the commission's Sept. 14 meeting.

"The building is just too close to the sidewalk at the proposed exit," said commission chairman Phil Hume, "and this would create a blind spot at the sidewalk for cars entering Orchard St."

The proposed plan would funnel traffic to the Pump 'n Pantry from Main St. past the library, and behind the station, exiting onto Orchard St. The old car wash at the back was to be torn down. Because there are not setback requirements in the central business district, the building was constructed right by the sidewalk.

Both Gallup-Silkworth and James Hoffmeyer, a Gallup-Silkworth customer and resident of 148 Orchard St., submitted traffic studies of the site.

Hoffmeyer counted cars using the Pump 'n Pantry and noted their direction of exit from 4:28 to 4:58 p.m. Friday, Sept. 10. During that 30 minutes, 30 cars left the site, and 25 of them headed north on Main St.

The increased traffic on Orchard, if all these cars had to exit there, concerned him, he said. "It's nice to have the business there, but traffic and pedestrian safety is more important."

"The site is just too small for both a store and a gas station," he said, "and that doesn't count the traffic generated by Chelsea State Bank."

Hume, who said both surveys were "inconclusive," agrees that it's a small site, with the building in an awkward spot. "I don't think they can do what they want to do with the building where it is."

The firm would like to add more gasoline pumps, and have on-site parking, not required in this central business district. Their dilemma is that the front of the building is both remodeled and much better built than the car wash.

"We need to have a better-looking business there," said Charles Gallup, owner of Gallup-

Silkworth, "or we won't be able to compete with other businesses."

"We want to make that site easier to get into and out of, which will improve that property."

"Since we want a change," he said, "we'll keep trying."

Hoffmeyer of Orchard St. was pleased with the site plan denial, he said. "Getting the citizens involved and at that meeting helped."

Having more heads together to work on a problem or look at a plan is a help, said Hume of the planning commission. Commission members will listen to concerns expressed, when making decisions and keep them in mind.

New Fire Truck Arrival Delayed Again, By Wreck

The fire department used to just have a lemon; the new truck delivered in July to replace an 18-year old truck, one of the department's nine trucks, needed a lot of changes because it wasn't what Chelsea ordered.

Now, they have a squashed lemon.

An employee of West Shore Fire Equipment ran the newly-repaired truck into a gravel hauler Sept. 3, while he was driving the truck to Chelsea for its proposed next-day debut in the fair parade.

So instead of meeting the truck in Kalamazoo, fire chief Bud Hanked got a bad-news phone call instead.

The truck cab's frame was bent with the force of the collision, so that now the whole truck has a shallow vee-shape, along with miscellaneous damage such as a bashed-in hood and broken windows; total damage is in the "several thousands of dollars, at least," said assistant fire chief Larry Koch.

They are still getting estimates on repairs, he said. The fire department would like the truck's chassis replaced, but the different repair companies disagree about how to best repair the $50,000 truck.

West Shore and the Chelsea fire department disagree about whose insurance should cover the repairs, said Koch. Chelsea had paid for the truck, made by Emergency One, a company based in Ocala, Fla., but a West Shore employee was driving it.

"Bud has spent so much time on this truck," said Koch. "First he had to get it the way we wanted it, and now he's trying to get it fixed."

The fire department wanted a truck that would pump water and move at the same time, with a hydraulic winch on front, which is loaded with cable and a hook, and is used to pull cars out of ditches, or pull a car from a tree.

They got a truck which could pump or move, but not both at the same time, and with only a one-way winch.

They compromised on a pump-and-move truck with a two-way winch, which Hanked got his employer, the Dana Corp., to help design, said Koch. This truck was (Continued on page ten)

CPR Classes Being Offered By Hospital

Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) classes will be given at Chelsea Community Hospital on Wednesday, Sept. 22 and Wednesday, Sept. 29, from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Upon successful completion of the class, participants will receive CPR certification.

Classes are open to the public and are free of charge; however, registration is necessary. To register, call Cindy Bear at 475-1311, Ext. 354.

Planners Table Oil Firm's Site Plan

The site plan for North American Exploration's one-story, 5,850 square-foot office building across from Pierce Park on S. Main St., was tabled at the planning commission's Sept. 14 meeting, until more complete information on drainage is submitted.

Surface water on the 2.09 acre lot was to drain northwest across the lot into a retention pond near South School, now an open area of land where children play.

"We need more information about the drainage on the site," said planning commission chairman Phil Hume, "but there is nothing more exciting than a new business coming to town."

North American Exploration is a two-year-old oil and gas exploration firm now based in Manchester. The proximity to I-94 is what attracted them to this parcel.

The planning commission voted unanimously to table the site plan until a better plan for drainage is submitted; the type of lighting in the parking area is indicated on the plan; the type of sign to be installed is shown; and a decision made about whether a sidewalk is to be constructed.

Water Main Project Gets Recommendation

The village of Chelsea received a favorable recommendation for its water main project by the Regional Clearinghouse Review Committee (RCRC) of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) at its meeting Sept. 10.

A start-up project grant for $6,000 was given a favorable review by the RCRC. Nancy Davis, Ann Arbor township supervisor, proposed the motion, which was voted unanimous approval by the RCRC. The project is a water main along Sibley Rd. in Chelsea; the start-up monies, if approved, will be used to survey, make soil borings, and prepare plans and specifications for the project.

The RCRC recommendation on the project will be forwarded to the state's Office of Community Development, which will consider funding for the project under its U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development Block Grant allocation from the federal government.

The RCRC is composed of elected officials from throughout southeast Michigan, chosen by SEMCOG's General Assembly to serve as an area-wide clearinghouse for state CDBG application review and for contested state and federal grant applications and development projects outside the CDBG process.

SEMCOG is a voluntary association of counties, cities, villages, townships and schools in the seven-county southeast Michigan region. The council's principal functions are short and long-range planning for housing, transportation, land use, public safety, recreation and open space, and the environment.

Fair Week Quiet for Police Dept.

Fair week was quiet for the Chelsea Police Department. They only issued one ticket that week for furnishing a minor with intoxicants and arrested one drunk driver, an arrest which wasn't really related to the fair, said police chief Robert Aello, quite a drop from last year's 12 tickets and six arrests.

"It was one of our best fairs," said Aello, as far as police problems are concerned.

Criminal complaints have been steadily dropping in the past few years, he said, which he attributes to more police coverage. The Chelsea Police Department had 15 officers at the fair-grounds Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, and either eight or twelve the other nights, two-thirds of which are reserve or auxiliary officers.

The police at the fair were busy, said Aello, especially with lost children, but not with criminal complaints.

Fire Dept. Gets 31 Calls In August

Chelsea Fire Department made 31 runs in August, the majority of which were personal injury accidents and rescue runs.

Total calls for the 1982 year are 219, compared to 194 calls last year at this time. Last August the fire department made 23 calls, eight less than this August.

This August the fire department made 10 rescue runs, seven personal injury accident runs, four car fire runs, three house fire runs, three grass fire runs, one auto alarm, one muck fire, one tent trailer fire, and one road wash down.

Sylvan township had nine calls and 129 man-hours. Chelsea had seven calls and 80 man-hours. Lyndon township had six calls and 191 man-hours. Dexter township had four calls and 31 man-hours. Lima township had three calls and 43 man-hours. Waterloo had two calls and 97.5 man-hours. Total paid man-hours were 871.5. An additional 97 hours were (Continued on page five)

Suspects Arrested On B & E Charges

Last week the county sheriff's department arrested and arraigned two suspects, believed to be responsible for the rash of break-ins in this area since July.

The front door of a home would be kicked in, and small items such as tools, jewelry, and coins would be taken, before a hasty departure.

John Michael Hainer, age 32 and of Detroit, was arrested Wednesday, Sept. 15 in Detroit, and arraigned in night court Saturday, Sept. 18 on one count of breaking and entering an occupied dwelling. His bond was set at $10,000.

Jay Morris Coleman, also of Detroit and in his mid-twenties, was also arraigned at that time on one count of breaking and entering an occupied dwelling with an intent to commit larceny. His bond was also $10,000.

Hainer, a July escapee from Jackson Prison, is under questioning by law enforcement officers from Washtenaw and Livingston counties, Plymouth, Canton, and Livonia.

Law enforcement officers knew a yellow 1973 Volkswagen, a stolen blue Ford pick-up, and stolen silver van were being used for these break-ins.

Hainer was under surveillance in Detroit, and was arrested as he stepped into a silver van. He was being held in Canton, and a yellow Volkswagen was seen leaving the parking lot by law enforcement officials, arriving to question Hainer.

County detectives Paul Wade and Frank Combs, assisted by the Livonia and Canton police departments, followed the car, and arrested Coleman, after he left a home he allegedly had broken into on North Territorial Rd., Salem township.

Preliminary examinations for both men are set for Sept. 28.

Home Meal Service Needs Volunteer Drivers

The Chelsea Home Meal Service, which delivers noon-day dinners to homebound persons, badly needs more volunteer drivers — both regulars and substitutes — according to spokesperson Mary Ann Merkel.

Drivers pick up the meals, prepared and packaged at the Chelsea Methodist Home, at 11 a.m. and deliver them to clients of the service. Normal time involved is about an hour each day.

Volunteers for regular runs are especially needed on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, and substitutes on all days.

Drivers use their own cars and receive no pay. However, their gasoline expenses are tax deductible.

The service, which includes special diet meals for those who need them, is operated entirely by volunteers. Clients pay $2.40 a meal if they can afford to, less if they cannot. The service receives financial assistance from the Chelsea United Way.

Mrs. Merkel emphasized that the home-delivered meals are very important to the people who receive them and urged area residents to volunteer as a community service. Only a small amount of time is required, and the work is easy with no heavy lifting.

Persons interested in volunteering are asked to call Mrs. Merkel during the day at 475-8621 or Barbara Branch evenings at 475-7644.

George Palmer Elected To Head New Civic Foundation

The first officers and directors of the new Civic Foundation of Chelsea were elected at an organizational meeting of Founding Members on Monday, Sept. 13, at Chelsea Community Hospital.

Take Care at Werkner, M-52 Intersection

Watch out for the intersection of Werkner Rd. and M-52.

"Although that corner has 'good visibility,'" said Sgt. Jim Abrams, in charge of the sheriff's department traffic division, there have been four accidents there in August.

One of those was just carelessness, he said, and one was because of intoxication. The other two were not severe.

A lot of traffic both day and night moves through that intersection, he said, so one should be careful there.

Officers elected include George Palmer, president; William Nuffer, vice-president; Ronald Olmsted, treasurer; and Shirley Schaible, secretary.

Directors elected are James Brown, Charles Cameron, Arthur Dils, Peter Flintoff, Howard Holmes, Willard Johnson, Helen Lancaster, Robert Merkel, William Nuffer, Ronald Olmsted, George Palmer, William Rademacher, Shirley Schaible, James Stirling, Maxwell Sweet, and Raymond Van Meer.

Taking over the podium from Art Dils, chairman of the Foundation's Temporary Steering Committee, President George Palmer announced that he would name committees in the next few weeks and set Oct. 20 as the first regular meeting of the Foundation's Board of Directors.

The Civic Foundation of Chelsea will raise funds to finance projects and programs in the greater Chelsea area which are not fundable from existing sources.

GEORGE PALMER, newly-elected president of the Civic Foundation of Chelsea, told the Founding Members meeting Sept. 13 at Chelsea Community Hospital, that he would name committees soon. The foundation, which has been recruiting members all summer, will raise funds to finance projects in the greater Chelsea area.

The Chelsea Community Fair set a new record of fair income, $15,000. They can pay off their final indebtedness, the final payment on the cattle barn, and be out of debt for the first time. Herman Koenig, fair board president, attributes the success to high livestock prices, 77 cents-per-pound for the grand champion steer, and popular events such as the farm and garden tractor pulling, the largest midway yet, the horseshoe contest, and the parade, which all attracted persons to the fairgrounds.

Fred Klink, Jr. delivered his own son yesterday. He and his wife already had three daughters and a son, but Dr. Stubbs was unable to get to their home before the baby.

The Chelsea Bulldogs beat the Stockbridge Panthers, 19-7, last Friday the 13th, in their season opener. They set the pace of the game with a first quarter 63-yard touchdown pass-play from Craig Houle to Jim Wojcicki.

The Chelsea High junior varsity football team also defeated Stockbridge, 13-7. Both teams scored on first possessions, but Chelsea again scored from the one-yard line in the second quarter to win.

Nearly 1,000 Chelsea residents attended the Dwight Beach school dedication Sunday. Student leaders gave tours through the new building.

WHAT IS THE NURSE'S ROLE?

The last days in a terminally ill patient's life present the nurse with one of the greatest, most difficult challenges in her nursing career, according to nurses Claire Hoffman, Gladys Lipman, and Ella Thompson in their book, "Simplified Nursing."

The nurse, in fact, may well be the person who gives the last comforting services to the dying patient and be a source of great comfort to his family as well.

She knows and recognizes the needs of the patient and learns to anticipate his requirements for comfort (i.e., a change of position, etc.). She is also alert to sense a patient's wish to talk to the clergyman or particular family members.

She is schooled in dealing with the emotional stresses the patient (and family) is undergoing, and, like the doctor, the clergyman and funeral director, is a very important member of the care-giving team. Very often she takes special study classes in the care of the very ill for the sake of the patient and her own well-being.

Agencies Call for Increased Drunk Driving Penalties

The Office of Substance Abuse Services and the Office of Highway Safety Planning have urged stepped up punishment for drunk driving offenses.

In a report to Governor William G. Milliken, the agencies called for a system of legal deterrents which provide for more arrests, quicker trials, less plea bargaining and increased prevention.

Meanwhile, the Legislature is considering a series of bills to increase penalties on persons convicted of driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs. The bills have already been passed by the Senate and await action in the House.

Among the 37 recommendations made to Milliken were legislation making illegal the .10 blood alcohol level, rather than simply presuming that level constitutes drunkenness and legislation imposing immediate driver license sanctions for drunk driving convictions.

Other recommendations include providing an automatic civil infraction for drivers under age 21 whose blood-alcohol level is under .08 and a law permitting a prosecutor to decide whether a person driving under influence is to be charged with a civil or criminal offense, except a criminal charge must be entered if the blood-alcohol level is over .20 percent, if the driver had a prior conviction in the past seven years or if recklessness was involved.

Milliken said he would seek comments from the State Police and the Office of Criminal Justice before submitting his recommendations to the Legislature.

The two state agencies said their recommendations reflect a philosophy that deterrents and corrective measures should be targeted to various types of offenders—first-timers vs. chronic offenders, social drinkers vs. problem drinkers or alcoholics, and younger vs. older drivers.

The recommendations also include provisions for use of preliminary breath testing equipment and civil penalties for refusal of drivers to submit to the test and permits tests to be administered on deceased drivers for admissibility in court proceedings.

The agencies also recommended individual police departments determine the merits of using checklanes during likely times of high drinking, that video tapes be permitted in court proceedings as evidence of intoxication, that restricted licenses be explained on the license itself and in the Law Enforcement Network, and that the governor establish a drunk driving task force for further action.

They urged further study on adopting a civil infraction for low blood-alcohol level drivers, developing a means of detecting other drugs which may impair driving ability and developing a streamlined arrest process.

Prison Overcrowding Emergency Order Rescinded
Upon the recommendation of the Corrections Commission, the governor has rescinded a declared prison overcrowding emergency that reduces sentences by 90 days to bring the population down to 95 percent of capacity.

The commission reported the population was under the 95 percent mark, thus ending the requirement for the early release.

The state of emergency was first declared May 19 after the 13,261 inmate capacity had been exceeded for 30 days. At that time, 90 days were subtracted from prisoner sentences and when the population did not fall to 95 percent of capacity by Aug. 16, another 90 days were subtracted.

Police Report Busy Month For August

The Chelsea Police Department made three felony, eight misdemeanor and four juvenile misdemeanor and four juvenile they made in July.

They assisted the county sheriff's department on seven injury/accidents and assisted with one arrest. Four of those accidents were at M-52 and Werkner Rd. They only had one county assist last month.

They made 531 property checks, way above average, but not unusual for heavy vacation season.

They made 287 radio runs, filed 30 case reports, filed 9 accident reports, issued 65 traffic violations and 92 parking violations, made 165 traffic stops, impounded 2 vehicles, assisted 25 motorists, made 34 bar checks, made 11 bank escorts, 7 funeral escorts, and logged 3,038 miles on car 1, and 5,295 on car 2.

Six of the 17 assorted felony complaints were larcenies, and four of the 12 misdemeanor complaints were also larcenies.

Suspicious person complaints totaled 38; suspicious vehicles totaled 22, and suspicious incidents totaled 24. The next leading category of general complaints was civil with 11.

Six 1981 Gridders Will Be Inducted into Hall of Fame

Six football players from the 1981 team will be inducted into the Chelsea High school football Hall of Fame during half time of the home football game against Pontiac Northern Friday, Sept. 24.

The six players who will receive certificates are Jeff Lantis, Todd Sprague, Ross Murphy, Rick Poljan, John Preston, and Craig Olmsted.

The hall of fame was conceived and founded by the football staff in the fall of 1980 to honor outstanding football players on the basis of contributions in leadership and ability. There is no limit to the number of players inducted each year.

The first year 35 players from the 1970s were inducted, and the hall of fame now totals 45 former players.

Each name is painted on a large board, which is in the varsity locker room.

John Preston, the son of Robert and Barbara Preston, was Chelsea's first 1,000-yard season rusher. He holds the school record for career rushing yardage with more than 2,300 yards. Preston was first team all-league twice, an all-area performer, and team co-captain. He is now training to be in the U.S. Army military police.

Ross Murphy, the son of Dan and Carol Murphy, was an all-league cornerback, team co-captain, and outstanding leader. He is now attending Clemson University.

Jeff Lantis, the son of Charles and Marianne Heard, is the Chelsea record holder in virtually all pass catching categories. Lantis was a first team all-stater on everyone's 1981 team, and is now playing football for Hillsdale College.

Rick Poljan, the son of Richard and Kay Poljan, was an all-state tackle, and an outstanding two-way tackle. He developed a great deal through hard work and is now playing football at Central Michigan University.

Todd Sprague, the son of James and Marian Sprague, was the team's inspirational leader in 1981. He was an outstanding linebacker, one of the finest hitters on the team, and a member of the all-league team. He is attending Ferris State College and is going out for track there.

Craig Olmsted, the son of Ron Olmsted, was a fine two-way player. He caught 30 passes as a senior and did an excellent job at cornerback. He is now attending Western Michigan University.

Choirs, Bands, Orchestras Form Music Boosters

The Choir Boosters and the Band and Orchestra Boosters voted to combine all music department parents of the Chelsea School District into the Chelsea Music Boosters.

The Boosters approved by-laws, which had been drafted by boosters from all three groups, at the general membership meeting in May. At that meeting the following persons were elected to serve on the executive board and to represent their specific programs in the music department: Gay Dalton, band; Marge Wiedmayer, orchestra; and James Stirling, choir. The three representatives will join previously elected officers to serve during the 1982-83 school year: Phyllis Muncer, president; David Wolter, vice-president; Miriam Klemer, secretary; and Gerri Sullivan, treasurer.

The newly-formed Chelsea Music Boosters then awarded scholarships. Funds for these are generated through fund-raising activities sponsored by the Music Boosters and are awarded through application and/or audition.

Recipients of 1982 scholarships totaling more than $1,000 were Randy Hafner, Dawn Wikman, Amy Wolter, Laura Koepele, Shawn Quilter, Marie Sullivan, Carolyn Chandler, Tim Weir, Kristen Muncer, Marjorie Rawson, Carrie Parkins, Bill Merkel, and Jeff Martin.

The boosters also discussed the purchase of a trailer to be used in connection with fund-raising activities.

The objectives of the Chelsea Music Boosters are: to develop and maintain an enthusiastic interest in the various phases of the music departments of the Chelsea Public schools; to lend all possible support and financial assistance to the music departments of the schools; to provide assistance to the directors of the music departments and the school; and to build and maintain an organization which will help promote the activities of the music departments in the schools.

Parents and guardians of students currently enrolled in the music programs are voting members of the Chelsea Music Boosters.

Meetings are held 7:30 p.m. the second Thursday of each month in the high school band room. In a continuing effort to support Chelsea's quality music programs, the Chelsea Music Boosters extend an open invitation to the community to attend all music program functions.

★Declining Enrollment...

Chelsea schools, like most public schools, are experiencing declining enrollment in their day school programs. The decline in the birth rate has been evident primarily in the elementary school enrollments. The middle school and high school have been subject to some enrollment decline. The rate of decline at Beach Middle school and Chelsea High school will be more noticeable in the next few years, as smaller classes of students enter these schools.

The State of Michigan requires, each year, an official Fourth Friday student count which is subject to audit. Recent Fourth Friday enrollments are as follows:

1978 - 2,571
1979 - 2,426
1980 - 2,420
1982 - 2,359

Oct. 1 has been established as the official Fourth Friday for 1982, and our projected enrollment is approximately 2,270 students.

As enrollments decline, they impact on other areas of the school operation—essentially, the amount of state aid received and the number of employees required. Declining enrollment is sporadic; appearing across all grade levels and subjects, from kindergarten to 12th grade, this makes staff reductions more complex. Since 1978 the Chelsea School District has reduced its teaching force by 10 teachers. Teachers who have retired or have left the system have not been replaced. Their classes and students are being redistributed among other teachers. Three bus routes have been eliminated to adjust for the enrollment decline. It appears, from kindergarten enrollment the past two years, that our enrollment has stabilized in the elementary schools.

Since July of 1978 the Chelsea School District, through its newly instituted community education program, has expanded its role as an educational institution to service the academic and enrichment needs of the entire community. Programs are now available in the Chelsea schools for three-year-olds through senior citizens. More than 100 adults will continue to work on their high school diploma, 250 adults will be enrolled in Washtenaw Community College classes in Chelsea, and many other adults will register for special enrichment classes.

Both Cross Country Teams Defeat JCW

Both the Chelsea boys and girls cross country teams beat Jackson County Western Sept. 16 at Inverness golf course.

The boys team won a squeaker, 27-28, and the girls team won, 25-30.

This was an important Southeastern Conference early season win for the boys team, said coach Pat Clarke. Chelsea was led by Mark Brosnan, who had the best individual time of the day, 16 minutes, 32 seconds (16:32).

"We managed to hang on for a lucky win," said Clarke, "even though a few varsity runners were out with injuries."

"We still have a long, long way to go," he said, "if we are to be competitive this season."

Senior captain Sandra Frame won first place in the girls race by more than two minutes over her closest rival. Her strong performance, said Clarke, really paced the team.

Three of the girls varsity were out with injuries, said Clarke. Junior Wendy Wolfgang and freshman Laura Damm ran "exceptionally well" to pull out a victory for the team.

Individual times for the boys team are: Mark Brosnan, 16:32; Allen Cole, 17:18; Dave Kies, 17:42; Eric Green, 18:01; Jared Bradley, 18:33; Craig Maciag, 19:08; Kevin Richardson, 19:09;

Damon Creffield, 19:26; Kyle Kemmish, 19:29; and Steve Hunn, 19:35.

Individual times for the girls team are: Sandra Frame, 20:37; Wendy Wolfgang, 22:54; Mary Ann Richardson, 22:54; Laura Damm, 23:06; Kathy Degener, 24:26; Shanda Friday, 24:49; Jill Schaffner, 25:13; Crystal Porath, 25:37; Kim Fenton, 26:52; and Sue Young, 26:54.

Girls Basketball Team Wins First After 3 Losses

After three straight losses including a humiliating 87-32 defeat at the hands of powerful Ann Arbor Pioneer, the Chelsea girls varsity basketball team got on the winning track with a 36-35 victory over Michigan Center Sept. 16.

The away-from-home victory pleased both Coach Jim Winter and the eight-member Bulldog squad. "It felt good to win," Winter said. "The girls have been working very hard and have shown a lot of improvement from game to game and practice to practice. Now we know what the rewards of winning are."

The triumph over Michigan Center did not come easily. Chelsea was never behind, but was never very far ahead either, and had to fight down to the final buzzer to preserve the victory.

In the end, free throws made the difference in a tightly officiated contest. Chelsea made good on 16 of 27 tries from the foul line while Michigan Center was putting down only 7 of 17.

"The officials were calling everything," Winter said. "Even though we were ahead, 22-18, at the half, we were in trouble because three of our starters had three personal fouls each. When you have only eight players, that is a problem."

Concerned about fouling, Chelsea scored only two points in the third quarter, and Michigan Center pulled into a 24-all tie. The Bulldogs then fashioned a five-point lead with three minutes left in the game, and hung on to win.

Beth Unterbrink led Chelsea with 13 points and three assists. Colleen Clark and Missi Lazarz each chipped in seven, and the latter came up with eight rebounds, a remarkable number for a 5-6 forward.

The Sept. 14 home game against Ann Arbor Pioneer was a mismatch. "Two years ago we could have handled Pioneer, but not this year," Winter said. "They are an awfully good team. The great thing about the game was that our girls never quit, even when they were 50 points down. They kept digging and scrambling right up to the end. They really weren't any standouts on our team; they all played hard but were overwhelmed by a much more talented squad."

Beth Unterbrink again led Chelsea with nine points. Chelsea's next game is at home against Eaton Rapids Sept. 21.

JV Girl Cagers Post 3-1 Record

The Chelsea junior varsity girls basketball team extended their record to 3-1, with a 44-35 loss to Pioneer Sept. 14 and a 38-13 win over Michigan Center Sept. 16.

"We could have beaten Pioneer since we played them even most of the game," said coach Paul Terpstra, "but we couldn't hit foul shots, and short shots at the end of the game."

Chelsea sank three of 20 foul shots, only 15 percent.

Chelsea was down by three at the half, and played a close game until the end, when shots weren't falling. Last year Chelsea lost by only two points, so they continue to be fairly even opponents, although Pioneer is a Class A school.

Anne Weber scored 9 points; JoAnn Tobin, Tina Paddock, and Samantha Collinsworth each scored 6 points; Kelly Hawker had 5 and Michelle Easton had 3.

Hawker was the leading rebounder with 14, and Tobin and Paddock each had 7.

Chelsea led Michigan Center 14-0 at the end of the first quarter, and just dominated the game, said Terpstra, even though they took off the press early and liberally substituted.

Chelsea shot its best field goal percentage of the year, 35 percent, and had 17 steals. Several Chelsea girls got their first playing experience, also.

Hawker scored 10; Weber had 8; Tobin, Collinsworth, Paddock, and Kristi Headrick had 4 each; and Jenny Cattell and Kris Mattoff each had 2 points.

Tobin was leading rebounder with 8.

The team's next game is Tuesday, Sept. 21 at home, against Eaton Rapids. The Sept. 23 game is away against Dundee.

Workshop Offered On Cooking Meals Without Meat

"What, No Meat?" is the name of a workshop being offered on Saturday, Oct. 2 through Chelsea Community Education.

Delicious and nutritious main meal dishes may be prepared very economically without using meat, and are usually much lower in sodium and saturated fats. Cutting down on sodium and saturated fats is recommended as an important way to help prevent high blood pressure and heart disease. Healthful grains, beans, nuts, and seeds may be mixed and matched to provide high quality protein that is equal to that found in meats. Workshop participants will learn how to use these basic foods and will sample a few of the free recipes.

The workshop will be taught by Teresa Freed who writes and publishes "The Foodletter." This fun-to-read newsletter shares sound nutritional information and basic techniques for using whole foods in your kitchen. Copies will be available to workshop participants.

You may register for the workshop by calling the Chelsea Community Education Offices (475-9830). The fee is $6.50 per person and the workshop will meet from 9 a.m. to noon at the Chelsea High School Home Economics Room.

Many Friends Assist St. Louis School Boys In Car Wash Project

On Saturday, Sept. 11, under sunny skies, 12 exceptional boys from St. Louis School along with Jeff Toms, and Eric Eiles, their counselors, with a lot of help from their friends, held their second annual car wash at Great Lakes Federal Savings & Loan parking lot. Not only muscle, but heart as well went into washing of patrons' cars. McDonald's furnished food to all who labored.

Friends of the boys who gave of their time and energy were: Diane Kurgan and girls, from Garden City; Tina Kenny and girls, from Chelsea; Homer Allen had many for eyes that day; Mary Beth Detling was co-organizer with Millie Warner.

The group's theme was "I Can," and they will again next year.

Fair Livestock Auction Proves Successful

Ryan Nixon, Bill Ball and Matt Grau came out as the big winners in the livestock auction during the hugely successful Chelsea Community Fair which recorded an all-time high attendance of more than 35,000, thanks to ideal weather and great public enthusiasm.

Nixon's Grand Champion Steer sold for $2 a pound to Lloyd Bridges. The animal weighed in at 1,154 pounds. Reserve Champion Steve Grau's 1,150-pound steer was bought by Polly's Market for $1.90 a pound.

Ball's Grand Champion Hog tipped the scales at 236 pounds and was bought by Polly's Market for $2.20 a pound. Jack Schlaff purchased the Reserve Champion, exhibited by Paul Quigley, for $1.85 a pound.

The Grand Champion Lamb sale proved unusual in that the winner was bought twice. Grau's winning 118-pound lamb was first claimed by Fred White at $10 a pound, then sold to Polly's Market at $8 a pound. White donated his purchase price to the fair when he turned the animal back to be sold again.

Reserve Champion Lamb honors went to Judy Bareils, whose 109-pound lamb was sold to Wolverine Bar for $3.75 a pound.

Curved Dash Olds Convoy Stirs Auto Pioneer Memories

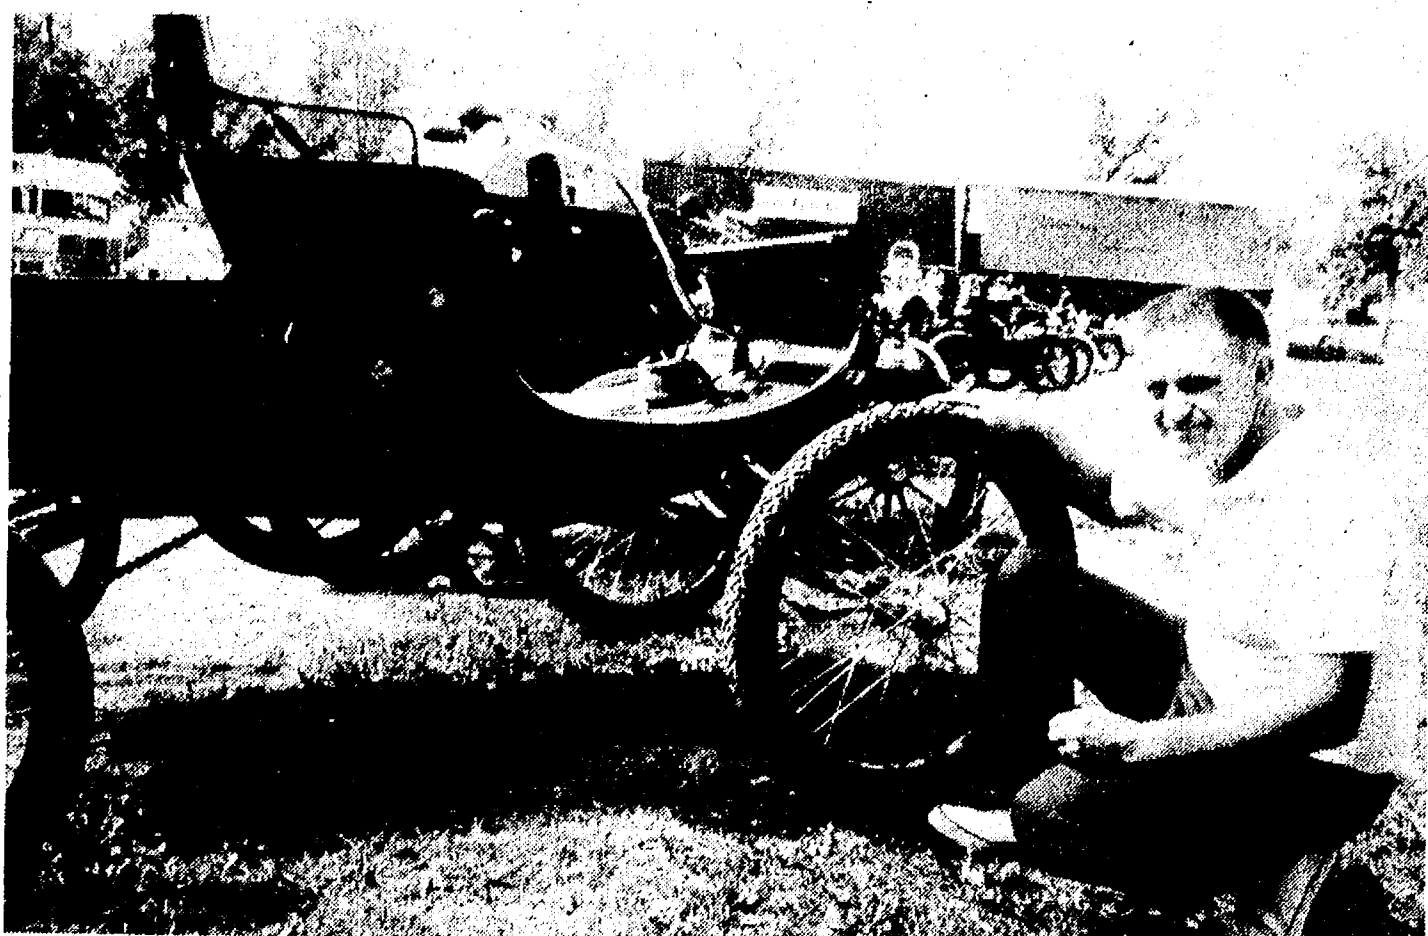

About 30 Curved Dash Oldsmobiles, relics of America's and Michigan's automotive past, stopped at a Stockbridge home and a Chelsea area restaurant during a nostalgic tour on Sept. 10.

If viewers of the antique car parade were startled by the sight, they had reason to be. Very few automobiles more than 70 years old are still running, and to see a big bunch of them moving in convoy is unusual indeed.

Curved Dash Oldsmobiles were built by automotive pioneer R. E. Olds at his Lansing factory between 1901 and 1907. Powered by one-cylinder engines of less than 10-horsepower with a top speed of 18-25 miles per hour, the cars were distinguished by a curved front dashboard designed like the horse-drawn buggies of the day.

Collectors of the prized relics have painstakingly restored them and formed a club. Members got together in Lansing for a series of events, then drove to Greenfield Village to take part in an old car festival.

Enroute to Dearborn the ancient Oldsmobiles and their much younger drivers stopped for coffee at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Lamkin, 207 Main St.,

PROUD OWNER Bob Nydum of Crete, Ill., shows off his Curved Dash Oldsmobile in the parking lot of the Little Rooster Restaurant on North Territorial Rd. Nydum's car was manufactured in 1902, and its engine bears the serial number 640. Note the distinctive curved front dashboard from which the model got its name.

Stockbridge, and also halted for lunch at the Little Rooster Restaurant, North Territorial and Dexter Town Hall Rds.

Girls Cross Country Team Wins Major Meet

The girls cross country team won their first major invitational ever, the nine-team New Boston Huron Invitational Saturday, Sept. 18, and the boys team took fourth, out of 12 teams.

Senior captain Sandra Frame set a new course and meet record of 20 minutes, 25 seconds (20:25) for the 5,000 meter course, as did Bulldog harrier Mark Brosnan, 16:09.

"The girls team is improving daily," said coach Pat Clarke, "and I'm very proud of them."

Chelsea finished with a low score of 37, followed by St. Mary's Academy, 44; Riverview, 83; Gross Isle, 122; Erie Mason, 127; New Boston, 147; Flat Rock, Redford St. Mary's and Riverview Gabriel Richard did not finish.

Sandra Frame had the fastest time; Wendy Wolfgang finished fifth, 22:23; Laura Damm was eighth, 22:43; Mary Ann Richardson was 10th, 22:45; Kathy Degener was 13th, 23:10; Stephanie Grant was 15th, 23:42; and Shanda Friday finished 25th, 24:24.

"The first three boys team finishers ran extremely well," said Clarke, "but we desperately need to get all the runners healthy."

It was an over-all improvement from last week, he said, and the team finished much closer to Saline, than they did at the West Bloomfield Invitational.

Belleville won with 45 points; Ypsilanti had 59; Saline, 69; Chelsea, 70; Lutheran East, 148; Aquinas, 185; Monroe CC, 198; Riverview, 218; Southgate, 224; Milan, 270; St. Mary's Redford, and Monroe did not finish.

Mark Brosnan had the fastest time; Allen Cole finished fifth, 17:06; Dave Kies finished 13th, 17:31; Eric Green finished 24th, 18:19; Kevin Richardson finished 27th, 18:30; Ernie Bristle finished 30th, 18:38; and Darnon Creffield finished 32nd, 19:01.

Open Monday Nights

The 12 businesses participating are Chelsea Hardware, Chelsea Pharmacy, Chelsea Woodshed, Country Craftique, Dayspring Gifts, Gables, Garnett's, Heydauff's, Merkel's, This 'n That, Village Bakery and Vogel's & Foster's.

Chelsea Pharmacy will be open until 9 p.m. and Chelsea Woodshed until 10 p.m. The others will close at 8:30 p.m.

The special evening hours are intended to accommodate persons who work on weekdays and are too busy with personal activities on weekends to shop.

NOT THIS TIME! Back during the early 1900's pioneer automaker R. E. Olds drove one of his Curved Dash Oldsmobiles up the front steps of the State Capitol in Lansing to demonstrate the vehicle's ability to perform. Something has gone out of driving the old cars during the 70 years since. Earlier this month two owners of restored Curved Dash Oldsmobiles tried to duplicate the feat but had to give up after negotiating only three steps.

Two Fellowship Baptist Pastors Share Duties

Fellowship Baptist church has two new part-time ministers, the Rev. Roy Harbison of Saline and the Rev. Larry Mattis of Ann Arbor, who will share pastoral duties here, while they continue at their respective churches. The Rev. M. Keith McIver has accepted a call to Galilee Baptist church in Saranac.

Mattis, age 58, has been the pastor at Briarwood Baptist church in Ann Arbor for eight years. He graduated from Baptist Seminary in Grand Rapids, and has been in the ministry for 29 years.

He has served churches in Portage Lake, Manchester, Lansing and Grand Rapids, and his specialty is founding new churches and ministering to senior citizens.

Harbison, age 46, has been pastor at Saline Baptist church for three years. He graduated from the Irish Baptist College in Belfast, where he grew up. His churches in his 15 years of ministry prior to Saline have been in Canada; the most recent was in Grand Prairie, Alberta. He also had a church in the Thunder Bay area of Ontario.

His special interest is in youth ministry, he says. "I want young people to get a good start to their lives."

The two men will rotate preaching, but both be present at 3 p.m. Sunday services at the Chelsea church, which meets at Rebekah Lodge Hall on S. Main St.

Apple canning can be a lot easier with an appliance like "The Dazey Stripper." It automatically peels apples and other firm fruits and vegetables, including potatoes, cucumbers, turnips, peaches, pears, lemons and oranges. It's already a popular item in many kitchens throughout the country.

Free Methodists Sponsoring Box Social Luncheon

On Wednesday, Sept. 29, at 12 noon to 2:30 p.m. the Chelsea Free Methodist church located at 7665 Werkner Rd. will be sponsoring a community wide Share, Care, and Prayer Women's Luncheon. The luncheon will be a "Box Social" in which each woman in attendance brings a "Decorated" box lunch to exchange and then she will feast on another's handiwork and goodies. Beverage will be provided.

Vibrant testimonies will be shared by some dynamic Christian women as to what God is doing in their lives. There will be a time in which each one will have an opportunity to share her prayer concerns if desired.

The luncheon is open to the community and limited nursery facilities are available for children. Children are asked to bring a sack lunch.

Call for reservations to 475-1391 in the morning and 475-8953 in the afternoon.

In 1981, there was increased attention on the need for cooperation between management and labor to overcome serious problems with productivity and to meet the challenge of a changing workforce demanding a greater voice in workplace decisions. This area falls within the jurisdiction of the U. S. Labor Department's Labor-Management Services Administration.

Small Game Season Beckons Hunters

It isn't very noticeable yet, but Michigan's fall hunting season has opened. In western Washtenaw county and elsewhere in the southern Lower Peninsula, squirrels, ruffed grouse (partridge) and woodcock became legal game on Sept. 15. Hunting of some kind will be open through March.

Last week's opener drew relatively little attention from sportsmen, most of whom prefer to wait until temperatures cool and leaves fall. However, a few cars were seen parked next to good-looking covers in the Waterloo, Pinckney and Sharonville areas, and scattered shots suggested the early enthusiasts were finding some targets.

The Department of Natural Resources has forecast normal crops of squirrels, grouse and woodcock this fall, which means that good hunting is in store for sportsmen who favor those species. Until the leaves drop, however, sightings will be few and shooting mighty difficult. All three critters are adept at hiding and at using the greenery as escape routes.

First really big day of the fall hunt will be Friday, Oct. 1, opening date of the bow-and-arrow deer season. West Washtenaw's combination of a large deer herd and lots of public land brings out archers in large numbers every year.

Another excellent deer season is predicted, for both archers and gun hunters. Firearms users must wait until Nov. 15.

Not nearly as big as it used to be, unfortunately, is the Oct. 20 opener on pheasants, which have all but disappeared from these parts after peaking in the 1950's. Persevering hunters with good dogs can still find an occasional ringneck, but the good old days of lots of birds and fast action apparently have gone. State game specialists are flatly predicting the "worst ever" pheasant season in modern times.

Exceptions to the gloomy pheasant outlook are the state-owned "put and take" areas where pen-reared birds are released several times a week. Nearby put-take sites include the Dansville, Gregory and Sharonville game areas, and the Pinckney recreation area. The season is open, the special rules and licenses apply. Those interested should inquire at the hunting area headquarters.

Also opening Oct. 20 is the season on cottontail rabbits, by far Michigan's most popular game species as measured by numbers harvested year after year. This fall looks to be another good rabbit season.

Again this fall a reminder: there is no open season on quail. Southern Michigan's bobwhites still haven't recovered from a series of severe winters that knocked their numbers down to the point where full protection is necessary to insure survival.

Fall Events Scheduled at Nature Center

Approach of fall weather sets the stage for a schedule of events offered by the Waterloo Nature Center, located north of I-94 midway between Ann Arbor and Jackson. Visitors should take the Pierce Rd. exit to Bush Rd. and follow signs. All walks, for which a 50-cent admission fee is charged, begin at the center.

The schedule follows:
Oct. 3—Bog walk, 1:30 and 3:30 p.m.
Oct. 9 and 10—Movie, Birds in Migration.
Oct. 16—Bog walk, 1:30 and 3:30 p.m.
Oct. 17—Fall edible wildplants walk, 2 p.m.
Oct. 17—Bog walk, 1:30 and 3:30 p.m.
Oct. 23—Bog walk, 1:30 and 3:30 p.m.
Oct. 24—Sandhill crane watch, 1:30 p.m.
Nov. 7—Sandhill crane watch, 1:30 p.m.

small and fast, so it could start cooling down a fire, until the heavier, slower trucks with greater pumping capacity could get to the scene.

The fire department doesn't know, said Koch, how long it will take for the repairs from the accident to be completed.

Now all they have are slides of their truck, which make it look like the front end is going uphill, while the backend is going downhill.

Rod & Gun Club Promotes Conservation, Fair Play

Chelsea Rod and Gun Club is looking for new members. Men who are at least 21 years of age and in good standing in the Chelsea area are eligible to apply for membership.

The club was established in 1936 by a group of men who were interested in conservation of natural resources and good fellowship. It still promotes conservation, as well as the principles of fair play and sportsmanship, and strives to educate young people in the principles necessary for the maintenance of these ideals.

The club is a non-profit corporation governed by a board of directors elected by the members. Meetings are on the second Tuesday of each month, with a social period from 7 to 9 p.m., when members may visit with one another, play cards, or generally enjoy one another's company. Business is conducted at 9 p.m., followed by a light lunch prepared by the kitchen committee.

The Rod and Gun Club owns a clubhouse on Lingane Rd., surrounded by land on which members have planted pine trees to provide cover for the wildlife that inhabit the property. It is not unusual for members to sit in the clubhouse and see deer browsing on the hillside.

Members are privileged to use the grounds, which comprise a picnic area, nature trails, and a game habitat. Also on the grounds are a rifle range, an archery range, and equipment for regulation trap shooting.

Chelsea Rod and Gun Club sponsors Boy Scout camping, offers classes in hunter safety, and pays for boys and girls to attend the Michigan United Conservation Clubs summer camp. Children and relatives of members are given preference in selection. The club holds trap shoots in the fall and leases hunting lands for members to use.

Members of the local rod and gun organization are also members of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs and receive its monthly magazine and conservation information.

Persons interested in joining should get in touch with any member or call George Padgham at 475-8812.

Stockbridge Ambulance Offers Basic EMT Course

Stockbridge Area Ambulance, Inc. will offer a basic emergency medical technician course beginning 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 5 at the Stockbridge Ambulance Headquarters, at the town hall, 125 S. Center St., Stockbridge.

The course will meet Tuesdays and Thursdays for 21 weeks (with a holiday break) and be taught by David Glover, an advanced EMT and an EMT instructor-coordinator.

The physician-advisor for the course will be John T. Wright, director of Chelsea Community Hospital's emergency room, and the text will be "Emergency Care & Transportation of the Sick and Injured."

EMTs work in commercial and volunteer ambulances, rescue and fire services, to provide a specialized level of care at the scene of the emergency. They provide prompt and efficient care to victims of accidents, disasters, or acute illness. With these skills, the EMT is in a position to save lives, prevent permanent disability, and alleviate or prevent suffering.

Professional responsibilities include recognition of the type of emergency, administration of effective emergency care, proper utilization of equipment, efficient communication with base stations and hospital emergency rooms, and safe driving of the ambulance or other emergency vehicles.

This course, which has been taken by members of the Chelsea Fire and Police departments and by Chrysler Proving Grounds personnel, has the approval of the Michigan Department of Public Health-Emergency Medical Services Division. Those successfully completing the course will be eligible to take state and national basic EMT licensing examinations.

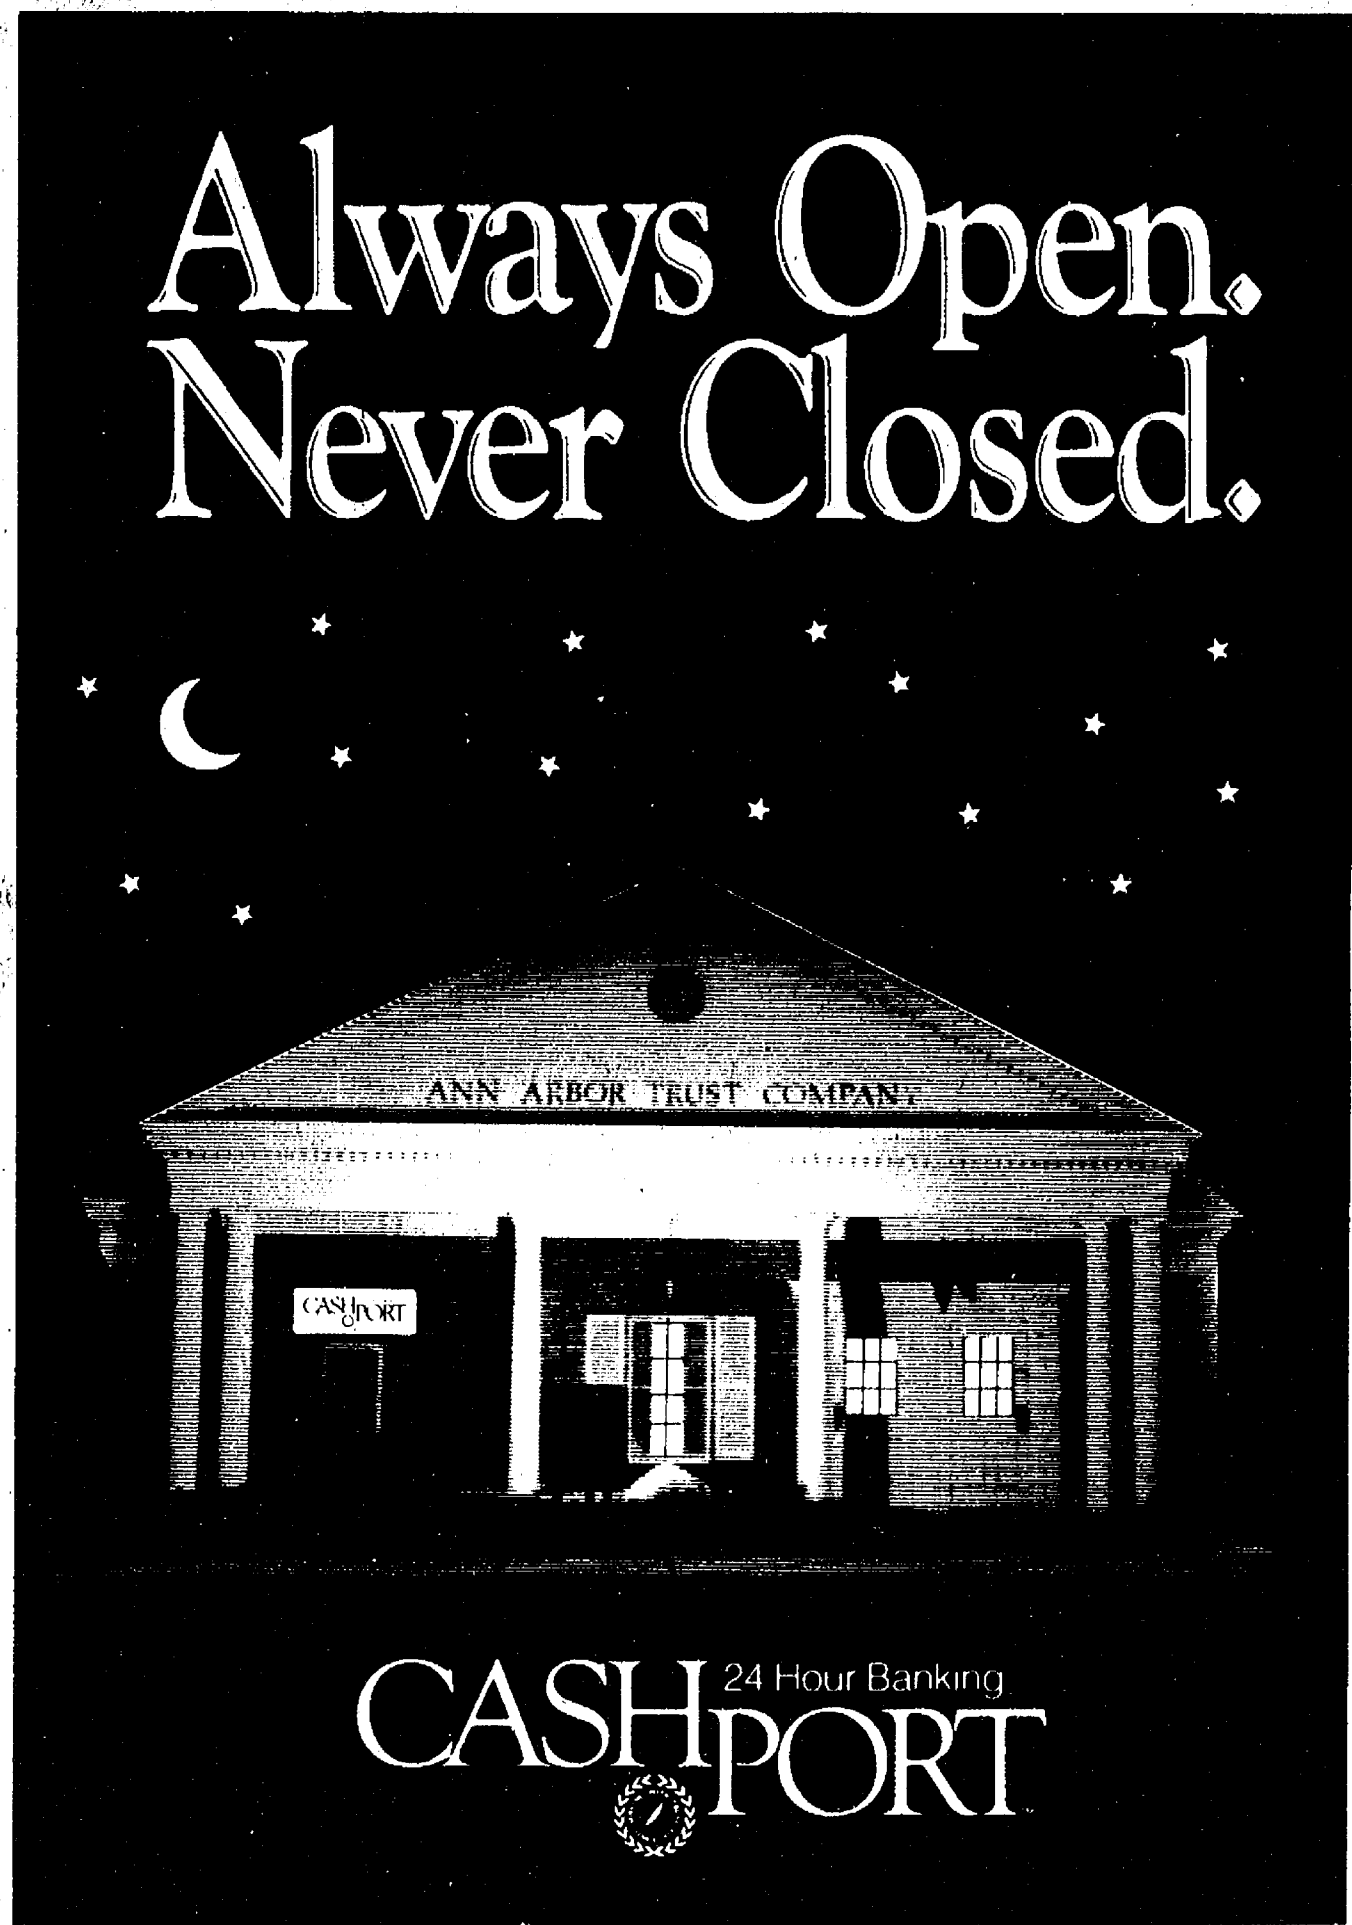

The course will involve 160 hours of class lecture and practical work and at least 10 hours of emergency room and emergency ambulance observation.

The only prerequisite is that one be at least 17 years of age and be in good physical and mental health. Previous first aid and cardio-pulmonary resuscitation instruction is most helpful, but not mandatory.

For more information, call (517) 851-7943 on Monday and Friday mornings and ask for Dave Glover. Anyone interested should register before Oct. 1, since the course will be limited to 12 persons. The course will cost $75, which is payable Oct. 5.

Firemen Answer Three Calls

The Chelsea Fire Department had three calls this week, but no major fires.

Sept. 15 at 10:57 a.m.—A fire alarm malfunctioned at Chelsea Milling Co., so lots of noise but no fire.

In route to Chelsea Community Hospital via Huron Valley Ambulance, she stopped breathing. Chelsea fireman Ron Lentz and personnel from the ambulance company administered cardiopulmonary resuscitation. She was still in the hospital and was in unstable condition as of Monday, Sept. 20.

Sept. 17 at 10:59 a.m.—A passerby saw smoke at the 12000 block of Dexter-Chelsea Rd. and the fire department responded. But it was just someone in his back yard burning rubbish.

Fair Board Happy Over '82 Success

The 1982 fair was better in all ways than the 1981 fair, said John Wellnitz, former fair board member. The fence got built in time for the fair. The carnival was clean and good; the boosters collected more this year, as did the rides. The steer tickets also sold better.

The final work bee of putting away the ticket booths, moving gates, storing things and a business meeting were held Thursday, Sept. 16 at the fair grounds. Harold Eiseman supervises the storage. The ditch should be tilled and covered before winter.

Fair board president Jerry Heydlauff called the meeting to order about 8:30 p.m. The secretary's report was read and accepted. Another officer gave the treasurer's report. Thank-you letters from organizations and superintendents were read.

A few complaints were made, said Wellnitz, but many compliments were made too. In general, people liked the 1982 fair. Dates for the 1983 fair have not yet been established.

Those present included: Jerry Heydlauff, fair board president; Maryann Guenther, fair board secretary; Lloyd Grau, fair manager; fair directors, Archie Bradbury, Richard Bollinger,

Understudy Hintzen Lifts Bulldogs to Big Win over JC Western

A favorite fairy tale in the world of show business tells about the understudy who comes onstage to replace the star who has suddenly gotten sick, and blossoms as a star in his own right.

Something of the sort happened at Niehaus Field last Friday night as unheralded halfback Mike Hintzen stepped into the spotlight and led the Chelsea Bulldogs to a 22-14 win over visiting Jackson County Western.

With his roster of running backs riddled by injuries, Chelsea Coach Gene LaFave inserted Hintzen in the key left halfback position. The 5'11", 161-pound senior had been used mostly on defense during his varsity career and had carried the ball only half a dozen times.

To say that Hintzen rose to the challenge is to understate his accomplishments. His night's work included scoring 20 points while gaining 161 yards on 29 carries. No understudy could have performed better when thrust into a starting role. To add frosting to the cake he intercepted a pass on defense to set up Chelsea's first touchdown.

It was a surprisingly well played contest considering that rain began to fall half an hour before the kickoff and continued throughout, varying in intensity from drizzle to downpour. The 1,000 or so spectators on hand got thoroughly wet, as did players, coaches, officials and the Chelsea High School band which put on an excellent show despite the miserable conditions.

Chelsea opened with a rush and appeared on the way to a rout, scoring on their first two possessions of the game. Hintzen intercepted Mark Cardwell's pass on the first scrimmage play, giving the Bulldogs the ball on their own 49-yard line. Six plays later Hintzen broke over the left side of the line and scampered 15 yards into the end zone. The two-point conversion attempt failed.

Jackson failed to move the ball after the kickoff, and a short punt gave Chelsea excellent field position on the Panther 44. It took the Bulldogs eight plays to go the distance, with Hintzen getting the score on a three-yard burst up the middle. Key play in the drive was a 23-yard pass completion from quarterback Dave Wojcicki to split end Marty Steinhauer, which gave Chelsea a first-and-goal at the Jackson 8. Hintzen scored on a fourth-down play.

Wojcicki added two points on a quarterback sneak, and Chelsea appeared to be in full control with a 14-0 lead with less than eight minutes gone in the opening quarter.

The visitors from Parma weren't rolling over and playing dead, however, and struck back with their only sustained drive of the game, a 69-yard march capped by Steve Ludlow's 24-yard touchdown run during which he broke several tackles. The conversion try failed.

Chelsea had chances to increase its lead during the second quarter but couldn't capitalize. One promising drive just before half-time was halted by Jim Shaw's interception of a Wojcicki pass on the Panther 10.

What turned out to be the decisive drive of the game occurred after Chelsea took the second-half kickoff and went 87 yards in 10 plays with Hintzen doing most of the heavy duty. He scored on a straight-ahead plunge up the middle on a fourth-and-two situation, then came back with the same play to put two more points on the board.

The Bulldogs got the ball back on an interception and started to move, but lost momentum when Wojcicki was ejected from the game for allegedly throwing a punch during a roughing incident that few spectators even saw, much less understood.

Coach LaFave protested the ejection bitterly and, although he had no comment for the record, was heard to exchange heated words with the officiating crew after the game. Exactly what happened remains obscure.

Matt Villemure took over at quarterback for the Bulldogs with instructions to maintain ball control, try nothing fancy, and preserve the 22-6 lead.

The game would have ended that way but for a bad center snap in a Chelsea punting situation which gave Jackson the ball on the Bulldog 6. Cardwell promptly lofted a scoring pass to Ludlow for the touchdown, then hit Chuck Garrison for two more points, to tighten the score to 22-14.

With only 28 seconds left on the clock the Panthers tried an on-side kick to get possession for one last try, but Villemure fell on the ball to preserve the Chelsea victory as time ran out.

Actually, the game was not as close as the final score. The statistics tell a story of Chelsea domination. The Bulldogs had 12 first downs to their opponents' 6, and led in total offense, 284 yards to 111. Chelsea's running game accounted for 239 yards, with Hintzen getting about two-thirds of them. Wojcicki completed 6 of 12 passes for 53 yards, a good showing considering the rain and slippery ball.

Hintzen didn't do it all, of course. The offensive line blocked well to open the holes he needed. La Fave singled out Thom Headrick, Mike Niebauer, Chris Gallas, Glenn Prinzing and Dave Kiel but noted that "everybody up front did a good job, we dominated the line of scrimmage when we had the ball."

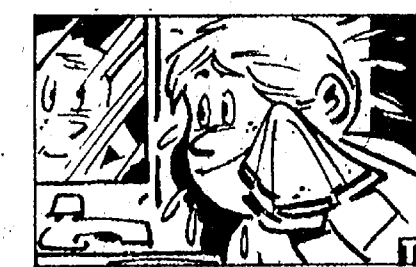

Chelsea's defense was a solid team effort, reflected by the fact that Jackson gained only 65 yards rushing and another 46 through the air. There weren't a lot of solo tackles but many assists as the Bulldog defenders moved with the flow and ganged up to bring down ball carriers.

For Jackson, Scott Hanson had an outstanding defensive game, coming up with several tackles to stop potential long gains.

Chelsea emerged with no serious injuries to add to an already long list of players nursing hurts. Jackson's Shaw was taken to Chelsea Community Hospital after taking a hard hit in the ribs, but was released after x-rays proved negative.

"Our kids were hungry to win after the opening loss to Novi," LaFave said in summing up the contest. "We played well, considering the conditions. The weather took something away from both teams, especially in passing. Our defense is solid, and we blocked well on offense."

Chelsea's next game will be at home against Pontiac Northern on Friday night, Sept. 24. Kickoff will be at 7:30 p.m.

CHELSEA HALFBACK MIKE HINTZEN, head down and ball cradled securely in his arms, bucks toward the goal line on his way to his third touchdown during the Bulldogs' 22-14 win over Jackson County Western. Hintzen scored 20 points and gained 161 yards in his first major ball-carrying role. This play, on which Hintzen took an inside handoff from quarterback Dave Wojcicki, clinched the contest for Chelsea.

JV Gridders Look For Way To Win

Chelsea's junior varsity football team is still looking for its first win of the season following a 16-6 loss to Jackson County Western Sept. 16 at Parma. The week before the JV's played to a 6-6 tie with Novi.

In the Western contest Chelsea fell behind early, 16-0, and couldn't catch up although dominating play for the final three quarters. Jackson scored touchdowns on its first two possessions and added two-point conversions after each.

Both scores came on sustained drives, one of 79 yards and the other of 87.

Following that early outburst by Jackson, the Chelsea defense adjusted to their foe's wide-open double-slot offense and kept them in check the rest of the way. However, the 16-point deficit proved too much to overcome.

Chelsea got within a foot of the goal line as time ran out in the first half, but couldn't get off the one last play needed to score. The Bulldogs finally got on the board early in the third quarter after recovering a fumble. Halfback Dan Fenton scored the TD on a four-yard run. A two-point conversion try failed.

Thereafter, the game turned into a comedy of errors as both teams exchanged fumbles and pass interceptions until time ran out. Chelsea got to the Western nine-yard line late in the fourth quarter, but lost the ball.

"We had our chances," Coach Ken Sullins commented, "but we just couldn't capitalize on them. Western got the big plays early and built up a lead that we couldn't overcome. We made too many mistakes, but you have to expect that from young, inexperienced players. They are all sophomores and are still learn-

Ducks Unlimited Chapter Plans Annual Banquet

The Ann Arbor Chapter of Ducks Unlimited, a privately financed organization devoted to waterfowl conservation, will hold its fifth annual banquet beginning at 6 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 6, at the Sheraton University Inn in Ann Arbor, chapter chairman Griff McDonald announces.

The banquets are fund-raising events which help to bring in the money that DU uses to carry on habitat conservation and restoration work to benefit wild ducks and geese. Some $30 million was contributed last year.

The money is spent in Canada, where 70 percent of North America's waterfowl are produced. These birds migrate through the United States, providing hunting and bird-watching opportunities for U.S. citizens.

Tickets to the banquet are $30 each and include a one-year membership in Ducks Unlimited plus a subscription to the organization's magazine. Interested persons may call Walter J. Brown at 761-4700 during the day or 475-7634 evenings and week-ends for further information.

Ducks Unlimited has raised more than $164 million for waterfowl conservation work since it was founded in 1937. "Anyone interested in the future of North America's waterfowl should consider attending our Oct. 6 banquet," McDonald said.

Frosh Gridders Dump Milford, 22-6

Chelsea's freshman footballers got off on the right foot with a 22-6 win over Milford last Thursday in a game featured by a 99-yard touchdown run by the Bulldogs' Rob Beckwith.

Beckwith's dash is believed to be a record for Chelsea freshman football and possibly for all levels of gridiron play at the school. As Coach Jim Tallman put it, "You just can't run much farther than that from scrimmage on a football field."

The record-setting run came after Chelsea recovered a fumble on its own one-yard line late in the third quarter. On the very next play Beckwith took a hand-off, broke through a hole on the right side and simply outran everybody to the end zone.

"It was an outstanding effort," Tallman said. "It looked like they had him cornered, but he turned on the speed and left the defenders behind. Beckwith is a fine athlete, and you will be hearing more about him as he goes through high school."

Beckwith's touchdown was the clincher in a game which saw Milford score first, early in the first quarter, to take a 6-0 lead, only to have visiting Chelsea come charging back and control things the rest of the way.

The Bulldogs moved ahead early in the second period on a 60-yard sustained drive capped by Mark Mull's three-yard touchdown run. Beckwith ran for the two-point conversion, giving Chelsea an 8-6 lead which stood up at halftime.

Early in the third quarter Mull made an outstanding play by recovering a fumble on a Milford punt attempt and scampering 20 yards for a touchdown. Beckwith again converted for two points, setting the stage for his later long run that iced the game.

Tallman was pleased with the performance of his first-year griders. "We played very well considering it was an opening game," he commented. "We had a lot of penalties and some other mistakes, but overcame them."

"Our offense was sluggish at first but picked up later in the game, and our defense was on the whole excellent."

Defenders drawing high marks from Tallman included linebacker Chuck Downer and ends Fred Esch and Steve Wingrove.

The Chelsea freshmen next play Milan at Milan on Tuesday, Sept. 21.

VARSITY GRIDDERS OF THE WEEK are senior defensive end Kipp Bertke, 81, and senior offensive guard Vaughn Mills, 50. Bertke, one of the most improved players on the team, said coach Gene LaFave, is a really solid defensive performer. He worked hard off-season lifting weights, and is an excellent student aiming for one of the military academies. He is the son of Mr. and

Mrs. Robert Bertke of 1311 N. Freer Rd. Mills, the son of Fred and Anita Mills of 228 Washington, is a two-year letterman, and has played for six years with the Chelsea football program. He is an excellent practice player, said LaFave, because he practices with the same intensity that he has game night. He is a solid student, and has excelled on football special teams.

Golfers Lose to Hot Saline Team

Chelsea High school's varsity golf team ran into a buzzsaw in match against Saline Sept. 14. The host team shot a school-record 146. Three of Saline's golfers fired personal bests of 36 on the rather short and wide-open par 35 Brookside course, and a fourth added a 38.

All that proved too much for the Chelsea team, which put together a creditable 158 score but couldn't match the hot stroking of their opponents.

In other action during the week the varsity golfers defeated South Lyon, 160-165, and lost to Jackson County Western, 160-175. Their record at the end of four matches is 1-3, 0-2 in Southeastern Conference competition.

The junior varsity golf team is doing a bit better with 3-1 over-all and 1-1 in conference play. The JV's defeated South Lyon, 181-198, lost to Saline, 158-179, and beat Western, 181-186.

In high school golf six players on each team tee off and play nine holes, and the best four scores on each side are officially recorded. The lowest four-person total wins.

Chelsea scores were: Varsity against South Lyon (match played Sept. 13 at Inverness Country Club, and won by Chelsea, 160-165) — Jim Ritter, 38; Doug Otto, 38; Mike Carignan, 42; Eric Shaffner, 43; Curt Eisenbeiser, 48; Doug Pagliarini, 49.

Junior varsity against South Lyon (match played Sept. 13 at Inverness Country Club and won by Chelsea, 181-186) — Bill Merkel, 44; John Mitchell, 45; Chris Tarasow, 50; Rick Boham, Varsity against Saline (match played Sept. 14 at Brookside Golf Course, and won by Saline, 146-158) — Otto, 38; Carignan, 40; Ritter, 40; Schaffner, 40; Eisenbeiser, 43; Pagliarini, 47.

Junior varsity against Saline (match played Sept. 14 at Brookside Golf Course won by Saline, 158-179) — Tarasow, 44; Merkel, 45; Boham, 47; Mitchell, 47; Mark Porath, 51; Brian Ackley, 52.

Girls Tennis Team Loses Two Matches

The girls tennis team lost to both Howell and Saline last week, 6-1.

The girls played well, said coach Terry Schreiner, even though the scores do not reflect this.

The experience they have gained in the past two years of the team is beginning to pay off, she said, but they still need more time building team depth to begin winning.

Carolyn Chandler took the lone point against Howell. She played an inspired match against senior Leslie Shields, going three sets, 6-1, 5-7, 6-4.

Mika Kidoaki also had a long three-set match, but couldn't pull it out in the third, losing 6-1, 5-7, 4-6. Margaret Merkel played a good match, said Schreiner, but lost in a tiebreaker, 6-4, 7-6. Chris DeFant, a team newcomer, lost to Lisa Brosch, 6-1, 6-4.

The doubles teams still lack experience, said Schreiner, and although they played well, they lost.

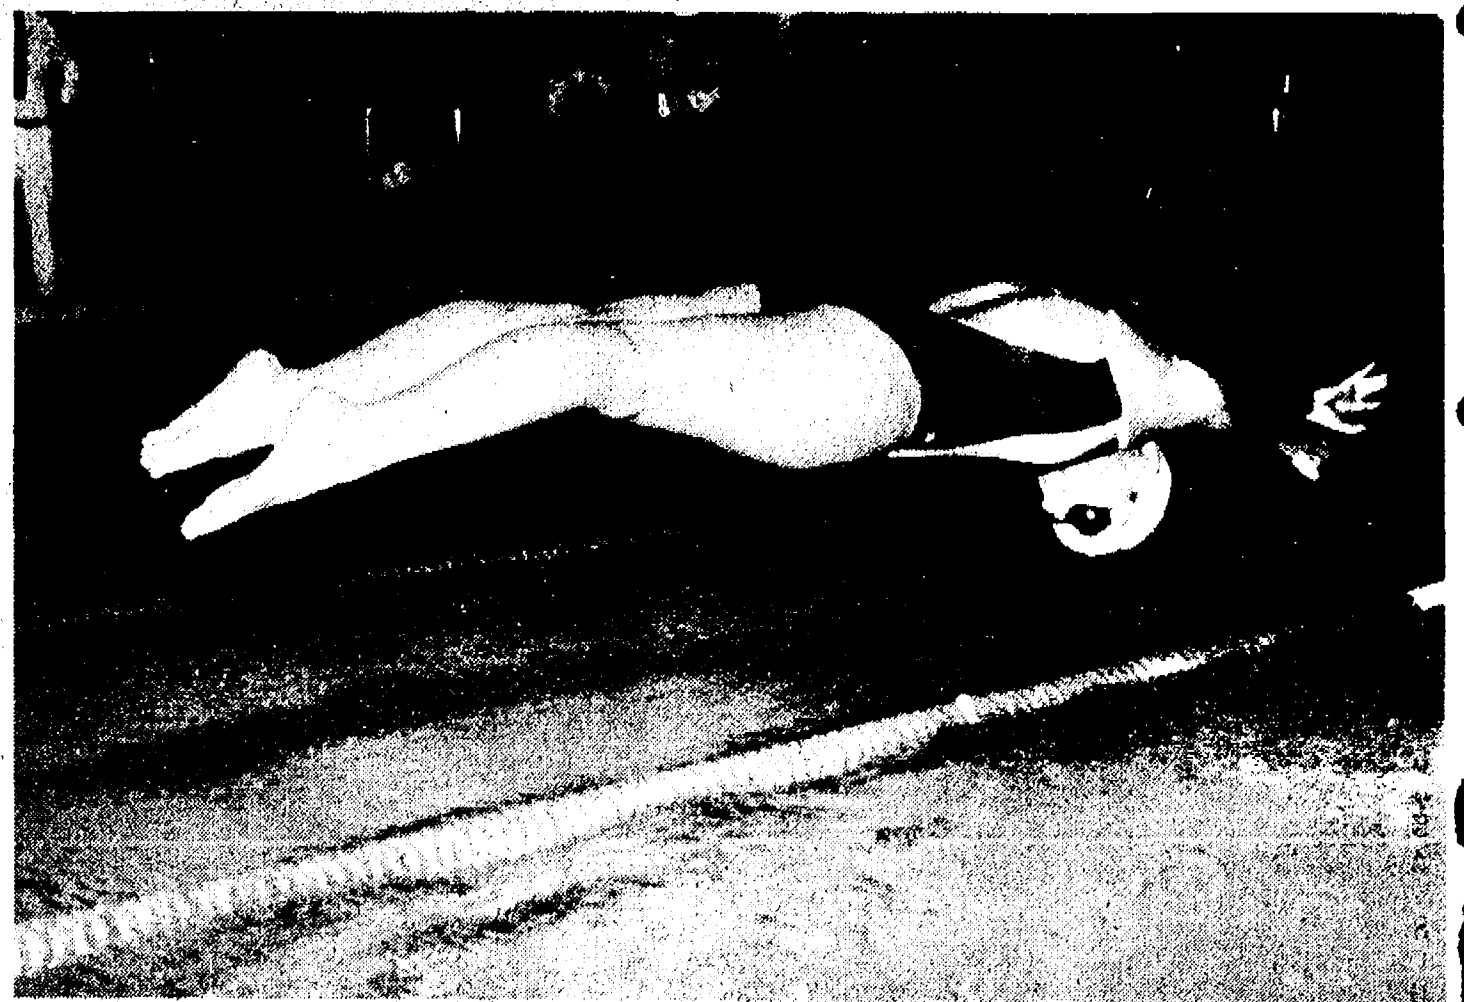

Margaret Merkel won the point in the Saline match in third singles, her second win of the season. She beat Holly Knepper, 6-3, 6-3. Carolyn Chandler, playing first singles, lost to Ann Boettcher, 7-5, 6-3, in an exceptional match, said Schreiner. Mika Kidoaki lost a tough match to Eileen Corrigan, 6-0, 6-0.

The number two doubles team of Carrie Parkins and Jane Wood played a good match against Saline's Jackie Fountain and Kim Pearsall, but lost, 6-3, 6-3.

Junior varsity against Jackson County Western (match played Sept. 16 at Burr Oak Country Club and won by Chelsea, 181-186) — Porath, 44; Tarasow, 45; Pete Eisle, 45; Ackley, 46; Boham, 47; Mitchell, 50.

Sept. 14. The relay took second place, but still qualified for the state meet in December. Liesel tucks her hand down that way on the start, to protect her goggles from filling up with water.

Girl Swimmers Qualify Seven for State Meet

The Chelsea High school girls swimming team's 88-36 season-opening loss to Okemos, the defending state champs, Sept. 14 wasn't all bad news, since five girls qualified for the state meet quite early in the season.

Girls swimming isn't organized into leagues and regions. The only post-season event is the state meet in December, for which swimmers must qualify with time standards. If they qualify early in the season, they can resume intensive workouts, and peak for that December meet.

The 200-yard medley relay team of Dawn Borders, Kristin Thomas, Marji Rawson, and Liesel Culver qualified with a time of 2:05.53.

Freshman Paula Colombo qualified in the 500 freestyle with a time of 5:40.28. The 400-yard freestyle relay team of Borders, Colombo, Thomas, and Culver qualified with a time of 4:05.23.

Colombo was four-tenths of a second from qualifying in the 200 free with a time of 2:07.00, which was a varsity and freshman record along with her 500 free time. Thomas was 4 second from qualifying in the 100 butterfly.

Coach Von Acker says he wanted both relays and swimmers in four individual events to qualify in this first meet. Three of those goals were met; two were very close, and the other individual was slowed down by illness.

"The girls really pulled through the team at this meet with their spirit," he said. "They really egged each other on."

Two other freshmen really "shone" at the meet, said Acker. Paula Kuzon's times in the 50 free and 100 breaststroke, and Amanda Holmes' split of 1:06.7 for 100 free in the B free relay, were good times.

The 200-yard medley relay took third, and the 400 free relay took second.

200 free—Colombo won, 2:07.00; Becca Lee took fourth, 2:26.52.

200 IM—Missy Young took third, 2:57.08; Rawson was disqualified.

50 free—Culver took third, 28.14; Kuzon took fourth, 29.52.

100 fly—Thomas took second, 1:05.70; Holmes took fourth 1:30.6.

100 free—Young took third, 1:09.3; Heather Grenier took fourth, 1:20.63.

500 free—Colombo took second, 5:40.28; Lee took fourth, 6:32.27.

100 backstroke—Borders took third, 1:11.02.

100 breaststroke—Rawson took third, 1:20.48; Kuzon, 1:27.62.

Diving—Vicki Harrell took second, 126.2 points.

The B 400 free relay of Holmes, Young, Kuzon, and Lee took fourth, 4:36.02.

Local Poet Tom Eisenbeiser Exhilarated By Wanderlust

As the birds begin their migration, so does local poet Tom Eisenbeiser.

He isn't sure where he's going this year. First stop—New York, where he will meet with his editor for his soon-to-be-released third volume of poetry.

Next stop? Will it be Europe or Japan? Although he calls being away from Chelsea "exile," it's a seasonal longing within him—this feeling that "It's time to roll." And its awareness of new places which stimulated him to become a poet 10 years ago.

Eisenbeiser, age 36, spends his summers with his parents, Leslie and Darlene Eisenbeiser of 20618 Island Lake Rd., and the rest of the year he is a nomad.

He gets "a kind of exhilaration" from the insecurity of his wanderlust, he says. Sometimes it's a trouble or bother, but the reward is the stimulus for his poetry, which he considers his real profession.

His poetry collections, "Rites," 1979, "Crafted," 1981, and "Nudes," the tentative title for his next volume, not yet released, reflect those places. Each entry has a name such as Atlantic City, Norway, Paris, and Coral Gables beside it.

He didn't pick poetry as his profession in high school; he was too busy playing football and soccer, and discovering girls. It was something that just happened after getting a bachelor's degree at University of Michigan in literature and philosophy.

Eisenbeiser, who was raised on a farm where hay and corn were grown, and cows and sheep raised, found the urbanity of Ann Arbor strange at first, that feeling of exile again. When he first began visiting Europe, he couldn't stand being in the cities. He would always visit the farms where he felt more comfortable.

Yet being in these places made him aware of being alive, he says, like one feels when one sees new things on a vacation, and he became more sensitive to the little miracles around him.

He travels light, meaning if the coat he carries has two pockets for toothbrush, passport, and notebook, he has enough room.

He replenishes his basic needs of food and clothing as he goes, supporting himself by doing construction work. Now he's hanging drywall for his friend Don Brooks, a Chelsea carpenter, and he occasionally teaches.

He has friends in the different cities he visits, who also visit him in Chelsea, so he's not alone. He just keeps moving.

"But I always have this fundamental doubt," he says. "Can I only work with perpetual novelty?"

He worries that he will lose his poetic sketches with all the moving around. He makes carbon copies, and puts them in different briefcases, but sometimes his quest to find a "safe" place, means he finds a spot so secure, he can't remember where it is.

He scatters his notebooks around with his friends, and sends his poems via letters to others.

Although he has a moment of exhilaration when he finishes a sketch, or turns in a manuscript, when he finally holds a new volume of work in his hand, he says, the feeling is more of relief—relief that the months of editing and pouring over printing galleys for typos are over. By this time too, he has moved on to new poetic problems.

He has received complimentary letters from well-known contemporary poets, he says, but he has yet to be reviewed. Possibly, it is because his books are small editions of about 400 books, and the original presses for these elegant volumes are out of business.

"Crafted" is one of those books with good cotton-rag paper, delicate line drawings, and a sense of being a work of art itself. Eisenbeiser likes the aesthetic qualities of his books, even though it puts a hefty price tag on these paperbacks. ("Crafted" sells for $11.95 at Dayspring Gifts.) He always works on a volume in conjunction with an artist.

Although he respects experimental forms of poetry, he says, they often abandon the sentence, which is a form he respects.

"Some poets try to write with no form at all. It's like trying to go into the wilderness without a compass, and make a map, without even looking at the positions of the sun and stars."

LOCAL POET TOM EISENBEISER works construction when he needs money to support his writing. This September while he was on his annual summer stay in Chelsea, he helped his friend Don Brooks, a Chelsea carpenter, put up drywall in what will be the new offices of Keusch and Flintoft at the site of the former Chelsea Restaurant on Main St. His part of the job is now finished, so he will abandon his hammer for a trip to discuss the printing of his third volume of poetry with an editor in New York.

His stimulus comes from the traditional forms of the classical poets such as Wallace Stevens, Joseph Brodsky, Robert Hayden, or the Irish poet Seamus Heaney.

The major concern of his profession, he says, is "the inadequacy of words," since poets must say much with so few words.

One senses that while talking to him. He will say something, and delete that word, searching for a more accurate or expressive way to put it. He's constantly seeking the right image.

"Settling down" has a certain mystique for him, he says. Constant travel isn't really all that glamorous. It can be a real bother.

His sister is married "and all that," and he won't discount the possibility that he will someday want "all that."

But he is content, he says. "It feels like it's going to be this way for a while."

High School Completion Registration Extended

Registration continues until Oct. 1 for the morning and evening adult high school completion program, although classes began last week.

The future of this Community Education-sponsored course depends on how many people pursue it, said Jackie Rogers, director of Community Education.

Before a student begins classes, he has a conference with Community Education personnel, she said, and they evaluate one's experience and responsibilities in work, the military, the home, and evaluate test results, so that one may be closer to a diploma than one thought with these extra credits.

Anyone 16 years of age or older is eligible for these classes, which are held different weekdays either 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. or 6:30 to 10 p.m. at the high school. Adults need not be residents of Chelsea School District, but students enrolled in any day school must have a written permission slip from the day school principal before registering.

Tuition and books are free to Michigan residents taking credit subjects who meet certain requirements.

To register, call the Chelsea Community Education Department at 475-9830.

Marching Band Plans Grid Shows

The Chelsea High school marching band uses a style of marching called "free form," which better interprets the flow of music with movement, said band director Bill Gourley, but which is more difficult to teach and perform.

Some bands march in straight lines, or use the yard line markers as guidelines, said Gourley, but in free-form, a band member must gauge his position to the whole, instead of to a particular spot or line.

Curved lines, flowing lines, and arcs are advantages of free-form, said Gourley, and would be more suited to a ballad like "Send in the Clowns" than rigid lines.

College bands which use this style are Central Michigan University and Western Michigan University, he said, and Michigan State's band is moving in the free-form direction.

The band has 105 members this year, and is led by senior drum major Tim Dmoch, who was also drum major as a junior. Symphonic band members are required to be in the marching band. The band also has 14 flag carriers taught by English teacher Phil Jones.

The band presents a mini-concert at ball games, said Gourley, to give their program crowd-appeal. They play music ranging from the classical "Pictures at an Exhibition," to a percussion feature from the Nutcracker Ballet, "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers," to jazz, to ragtime, and to "Still," from the rock charts.

The band marched in the fair parade, will be at home football games, in the homecoming parade in early October, and will perform at the marching festival 7 p.m. Monday, Oct. 11 at Ypsilanti High school, and at some Saturday home football games for Adrian and Olivet colleges.

Students attended band camp the week of Aug. 23 from 1 to 9:15 p.m., and practiced, ate dinner together, and had a pool break. The percussion and flag teams came in at 10 a.m. for extra practice.

Morse L. Brown, District Conservationist

New Director Now Serving Soil Conservation District

The U. S. Soil Conservation Service has a new district conservationist for this area. He is Morse L. Brown, and he replaces Clark A. Eacker, who was promoted in August to a regional assignment in western Missouri. Brown and his staff serve the soil conservation districts of Washtenaw, Wayne, and Monroe counties, a jurisdiction of 1,873 square miles.

Before coming to southeastern Michigan, Brown served as district conservationist in Muskegon. He earned his B. S. degree in agriculture education from Alcorn State University in Lorman, Miss.

The U. S. Soil Conservation Service, which is a branch of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, advises landowners to take advantage of soil surveys to protect their land and derive the greatest benefits from its use. For example, a developer may want to know if land for a proposed housing development is suitable for septic systems or whether it is in a flood plain. The soil conservation service can help him make these assessments. Or perhaps a county government is planning a new park or building a new road. The soil conservation service can help determine which land is best for these uses. Home buyers, farmers, and municipalities may all take advantage of the soil conservation service to determine the suitability of the land they plan to use.

The soil conservation service advises farmers on new methods of tillage. Brochures are available for farmers to consult in planning their crops.

One method the service promotes is "no-till" planting for corn and soybeans. No-till is considered the purest form of conservation tillage because it disturbs the soil the least. Farmers who use the no-till method plant their crops without preparing the soil before planting, and they plant through the undisturbed residue from the previous crop. Those who employ this procedure can reduce soil loss up to 90 per cent compared to conventional tilling methods.

For more information on farming practices or advice on the use and management of soil, visit the U.S. Soil Conservation Service at 6101 Jackson Rd., Ann Arbor, or call 761-7621.
