ONE HUNDRED-THIRTEENTH YEAR—No. 18

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1982

18 Pages This Week

THIS AERIAL PHOTO, taken last winter, shows the property presently occupied by the Chelsea Milling Co., and also the Chelsea Lumber Co. land which the Jiffy Mix firm has purchased as the site for a new mixing and packaging plant to be built next year. The lumber company's offices and sheds (center foreground) will be razed. Chelsea Lumber will stay in business at a new location. In background are Chelsea Milling's silo-shaped wheat storage towers, and at right is the company's present manufacturing plant, which will continue in use. Main St. runs along the left side of the picture, and North St. across the bottom.

Chelsea Milling Plans New Modern Plant on Lumber Company Site

A 22-year old dream will come true for Howard Holmes late next year when the Chelsea Milling Co. which he heads will occupy a new, modern manufacturing plant to be built on land now occupied by the Chelsea Lumber Co.

The lumber firm will move to a new site at No. 1 Barn Circle.

The milling company has purchased the Chelsea Lumber property, adjacent to its existing facilities at Main and North Sts. in Chelsea, and will take possession in January. The lumber yard buildings will be cleared away, and construction on the new Chelsea Milling building begun in the spring. It is expected to be completed about this time next year.

Because the new plant's design has not been finished, Holmes declined to estimate its cost but said it will be in the hundreds of thousands of dollars. Some increase in the company's present work force of 270 is anticipated, Holmes said, but it is too early to speculate how many employees might be added.

The new plant will house the company's mixing and packaging operations. Chelsea Milling markets a variety of ready-mixed dry ingredients for biscuits, brownies, muffins, cakes, pie crust, frosting and is right now introducing a pizza crust mix. It is presently producing more than a million boxes of mixes a day.

The existing plant will remain in use, Holmes said. The company plans to get into the business of preparing mixes for institutions such as hospitals and restaurants, which buy in larger quantities than the family-size packages that Chelsea Milling now produces under the Jiffy Mix label.

Holmes, whose twin brother, Dudley K. Holmes, is also a principal owner in the business, said he began thinking about building the new plant back in 1960 and is "a little embarrassed" that the idea has taken 22 years to materialize. A combination of favorable market conditions and site availability is making the project possible now.

"Our present plant really isn't suited for what we do," Holmes commented. "It was designed as a flour mill. We have managed to get along by adapting and shoe-horning, but we badly need this new plant and have for a long time."

The new building will have a total floor space of about 130,000 square feet. It will be approximately 225 feet long, 125 feet wide, and from 70 to 90 feet tall depending on whether it is four or five stories.

Design details will remain inexact until the lumber company buildings are cleared and soil borings made on the site. The underground is suspected to be boggy but exact conditions won't be known until holes are drilled.

Whatever its final exact size and shape, the plant will be designed around a gravity flow system. Raw materials—flour and other ingredients—will be elevated to the top and mixed at successive lower levels. The mixes will be stored in ground-floor bins for packaging and shipping.

Chelsea Milling was the first company in the United States to get into the business of marketing packaged baking mixes. Its first such product, a biscuit mix still being made, came out in 1930, a time when so-called "convenience foods" were virtually unknown. The product line has gradually been expanded and diversified over the years in response to consumer demand and approval.

The firm traces its history to 1802, when the first of six generations of Holmeses opened a small flour mill. As recently as 1900 there were about 1,200 such flour mills in Michigan, Holmes said. Today there are only eight, but they together produce more flour than the 1,200 once did. Chelsea Milling is one of the three largest.

The company quit marketing plain, ordinary flour in 1958, but still mills about 1.75 million bushels of wheat a year for its own use. Almost all of the wheat is bought in Michigan, Holmes said.

Other ingredients—cornmeal, sugar, fruits, leavening agents, and others—are purchased from outside sources. The company makes its own packages from flat cardboard stock and buys its labels.

Holmes credits the company's success to its philosophy of "value"—high quality at a low price. Jiffy Mixes sell in grocery stores for considerably less on a per-ounce basis than competitive brands, an important consideration for today's cost-conscious shoppers.

"Actually, the low prices are sometimes a problem for us," Holmes said, "because people assume we must be skimping somewhere on quality to cut costs. We don't. Our quality is at least as good as anybody else's. We hold our manufacturing and marketing costs down but we don't sacrifice on ingredients."

To convince skeptics that the low-priced Jiffy Mixes are on a par with more expensive brands, the company does a lot of face-to-face promotional selling in supermarkets. Those efforts are intended to get persons to try a Jiffy product and see for themselves.

Also a marketing advantage for Jiffy Mixes, Holmes said, is its small packages intended for the small family. "We know that two out of three households in this country today consist of three or fewer persons," Holmes noted, "so we sell them a package small enough that they can eat the prepared cake or whatever before it gets stale."

The Jiffy Mix brand name originated with Holmes' mother, Mrs. Mabel (White) Holmes. Mrs. Holmes remembered that her own mother used to promise that lunch would be ready "in a jiffy" when her husband came home at noon, and suggested that "jiffy" would be a good word to describe Chelsea Milling's then new biscuit mix.

"The truth is that baking took a lot of work in those days," Holmes noted. "Those lunches may have taken half the morning to prepare. Packaged dry mixes make baking quick and easy. You just add liquids, stir or beat, and put them in the oven."

United Way Volunteers Attend Kick-Off Dinner

The Chelsea United Way campaign is in full swing after its annual kick-off dinner for volunteers Wednesday, Sept. 29 at Chelsea Community Hospital.

The goal this year is $50,000, up from last year's $47,850 goal. This week volunteers will call on light industry and small businesses. Formal presentations to large businesses in town will be held throughout October, before they start their own in-house campaigns.

One can follow the progress of the fund drive, whose theme is "Thanks to you, it works for all of us," by watching the campaign thermometer in front of the post office. The United Way banner will again decorate Main St.

Michael J. Farrell, executive director of Jackson County United Way, urged the more than 60 volunteers at the kick-off dinner, said Robert Porter, campaign chairman, to "tell the United Way story and money will come in."

Farrell has spent most of his adult life working for causes, such as the Salvation Army, the Red Cross, and the United Way of Michigan. He graduated from the Salvation Army college.

Each of the United Way board of directors, agency representatives, and volunteers received souvenirs such as personal care products from Chelsea Drug Store, frisbees from Dana Corp., pens from Great Lakes Federal Savings, pop savers from Ann Arbor Trust Co., and Jiffy Mix recipe books and mixes.

Chelsea Greenhouses donated the floral centerpiece, and the hospital donated the roast beef dinner.

Paul Mann is this year's honorary chairman of the campaign. Serving as officers on the board of directors are Mary Ann Merkel, president; James Stacy, vice-president; Laura Schieb-Biedron, secretary; and Maxwell Sweet, treasurer.

Also on the board are William Bott, Pat Sober, Donald Peck, Carol Flintoft, Scott Tanner, John Cox, Virginia Albrecht, Clare Warren, William Wescott, Calvin Summers, Robert Porter, Veretta Whitaker, James Brown, Barbara Haist, Barbara Brown, and Sandy Mayer.

Robert Porter is the campaign chairman, and Pat Sober is in charge of the mail campaign. Barbara Brown is in charge of gathering contributions from churches, unions, and civic and fraternal organizations; Laura Schieb-Biedron is taking pledges from the offices of lawyers, dentists, and physicians; and Carol Flintoft is gathering donations from Chelsea merchants.

Fred Mills, assistant superintendent of schools, is taking pledges from school district employees, and Mark Taylor, personnel director of Chelsea hospital, is in charge of pledges from hospital employees.

Chelsea United Way's funds will be distributed among 25 state United Way groups and 14 agencies in Chelsea and the county: Chelsea Area Transportation Service, Chelsea Recreation Council, Chelsea Social Services, Chelsea Home Meal Service, Salvation Army, Catholic Social Services, Huron Valley Child Guidance, Washtenaw Association for Retarded Children, Child & Family Service, Cystic Fibrosis, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Amer-

Promotional Brochure Prepared by C. of C.

Chelsea Chamber of Commerce will meet Oct. 6 with county planners and village officials on the Chamber's new economic/industrial brochure to send to businesses or families considering moving into this area.

The Chamber plans to have this and another map brochure about Chelsea out before the new year.

The economic brochure will list service groups, churches, schools, businesses, and give contacts and phone numbers for them. Now when Sam Johnson, the chamber president gets a call, he has to assemble all that information for each specific call, instead of having a general resource.

Electric, water, and sewer rates, which particularly interest developing businesses, will also be given.

Chelsea had such a brochure in the past, said Johnson, but it hasn't been updated recently. This new brochure will be put on a word processor, so it can easily be changed, and will be loose-leaf, so sections of it can easily be copied.

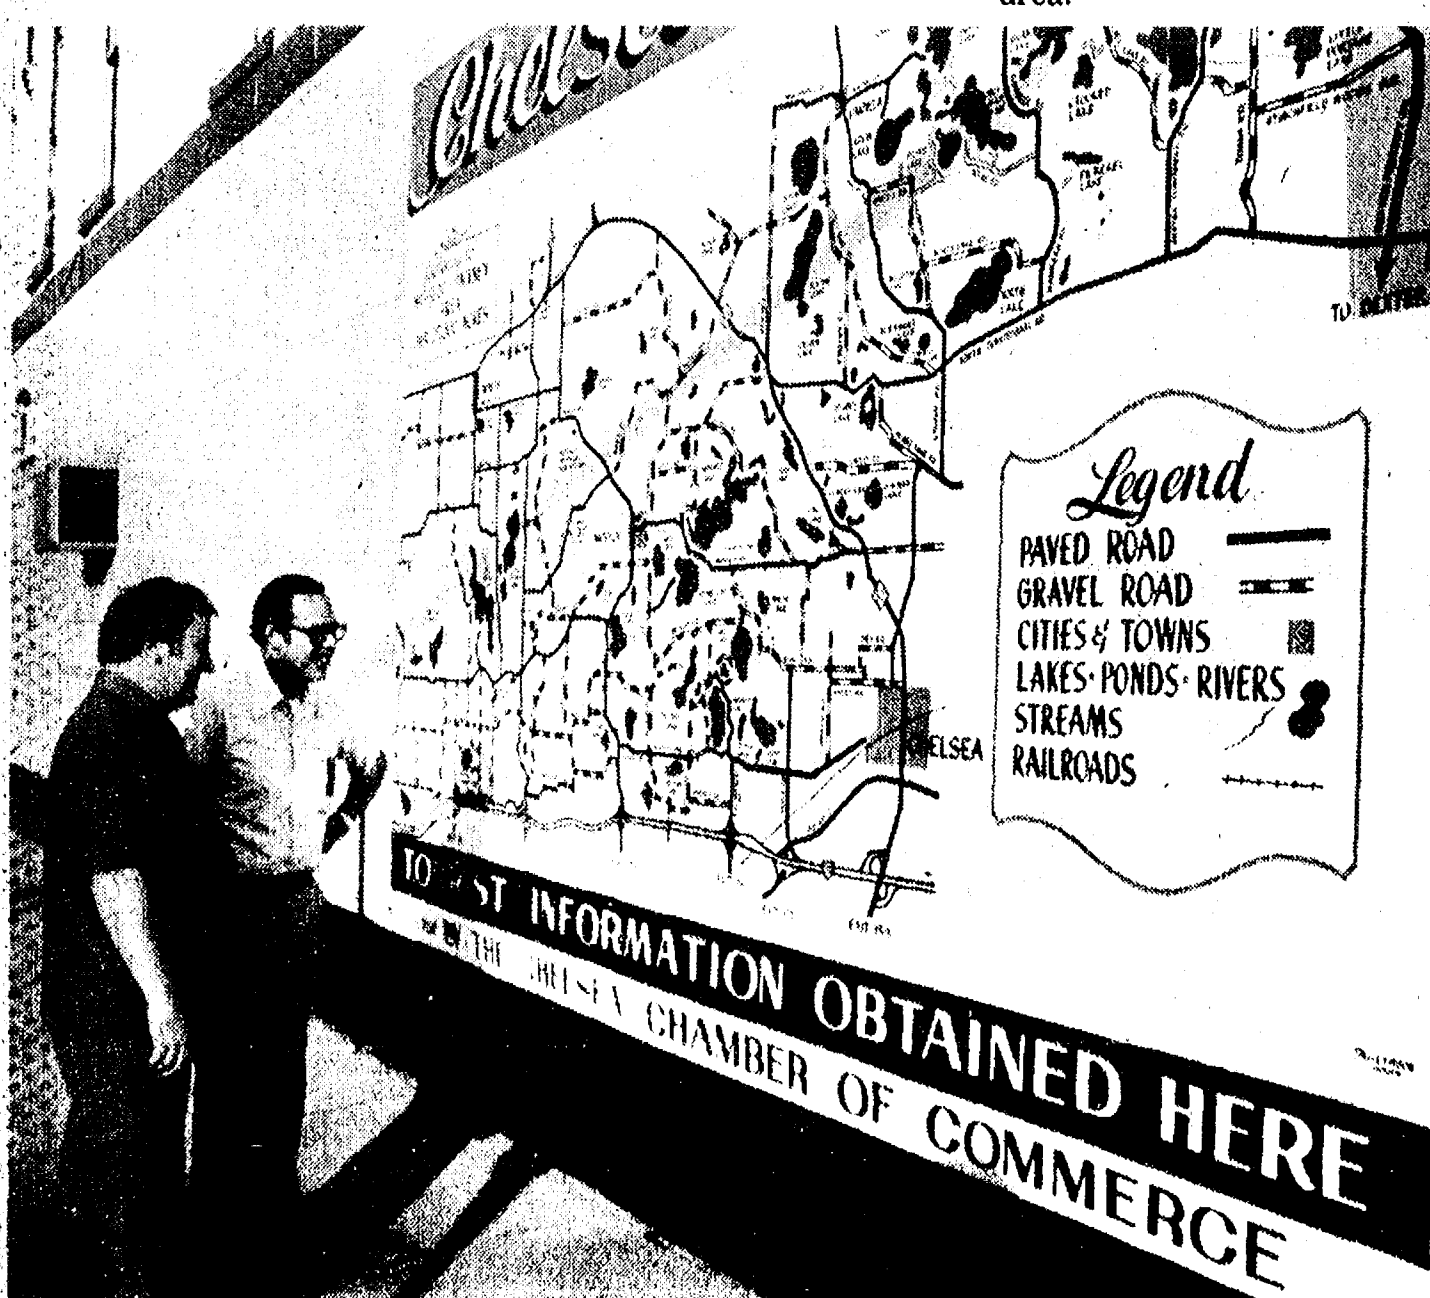

Art work will accompany it, he said, but photographs of the town turned out to be too expensive to include.

The other brochure, which is co-sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, will contain maps of the village and school district. Points of interest in the area will be marked on the maps, similar to the sign on the side of Chelsea Drug Store.

Open House Slated for Fire Prevention Week

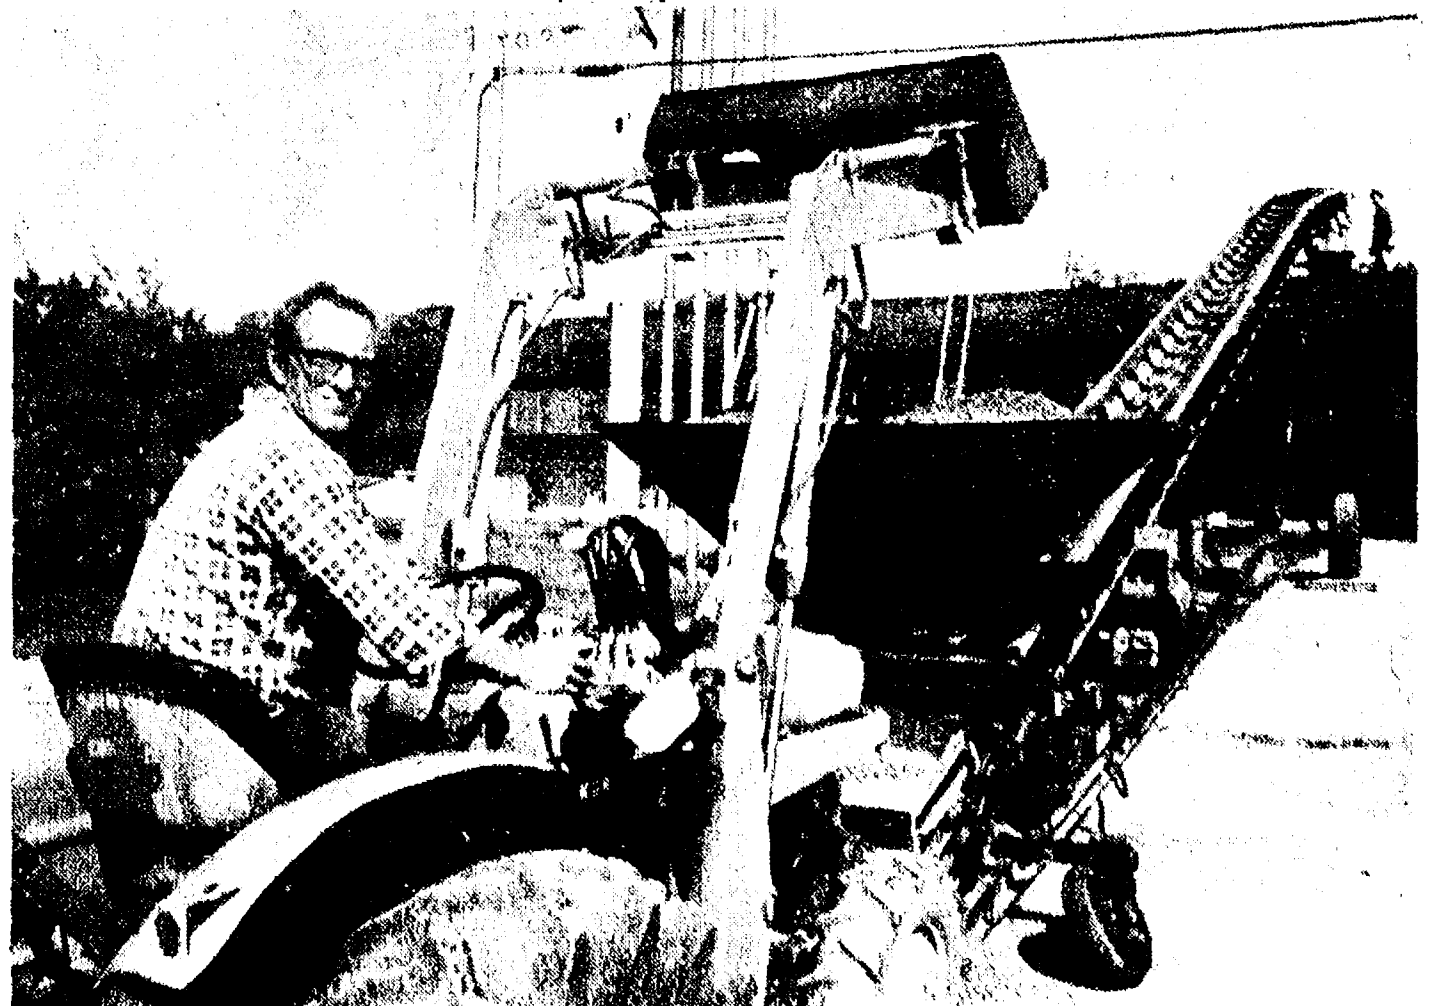

The Chelsea Fire Department will have an open house 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 9 in honor of Fire Prevention Week.

Equipment will be demonstrated and displayed along with fire safety pamphlets. A 15-minute film on the use of fire extinguishers will be shown at intervals during the day.

THE NEW AREA MAP, double the size of the old sign on the Middle St. side of Chelsea Drug Store, was installed mid-September to be ready for fall color and cider visitors. Roads have been updated, the area to the north, east and west enlarged, and scenic attractions added, such as the Waterloo Farm Museum, Sackrider Hill, and the German Lutheran Church, which was founded in 1841. Frank Turson of Jackson, who has painted some of the former signs, also did this one, which Dan Murphy, left, owner of the drug store, and Sam Johnson, president of the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce, are admiring.

ROOF REPAIRS ON THE B WING OF BEACH MIDDLE SCHOOL are part of the school district's annual maintenance, supported by the original maintenance millage passed in 1978 and added to in June, 1982. The roofs at Beach, North, and Chelsea High schools have recently been repaired by Gundrum Roofing Co. of Ann Arbor. Energy savings, such as adding insulation, said Fred Mills, assistant superintendent, are also done at the same time.

Legislature Completes Bill Controlling Strip Mining

During the final hours of the hectic budget session, the Legislature put the finishing touches on legislation placing strict control on strip mining activities in Michigan.

The action follows the letting of leases by the Department of Natural Resources to mining companies on hundreds of thousands of acres of land in mid-Michigan.

The bill, presented to Governor William G. Milliken for signature, would strengthen state laws which officials in the department called the weakest strip mining act in the country.

The state has an estimated 400 million tons of coal, located mainly in the southeastern half of the Lower Peninsula.

While there has been no mining currently, several companies are interested in beginning facilities in Michigan.

Under the measure, a mining company would have to get a permit before beginning work and the permit would have to include plans for reclaiming the area to be mined.

Land would not have to be reclaimed to exactly its former state, but would have to be restored to a productive, compatible use. For example, pasture land could be restored to crop land.

The bill further gives state authorities the power to examine former mine sites for damage brought on by mining and can acquire land damaged by mining in order to have it reclaimed.

An abandoned mine reclamation fund would be created, consisting of application fees, donations and specifically appropriated monies and the funds will be used for reclamation projects and the protection of public facilities, such as roads damaged by mining activities.

Under the bill, coal companies would have to pay up to 25 cents for each ton mined to the state to help administer the mining regulations and each coal company would have to provide a bond to cover the costs of a reclamation project.

Opposition Surfaces to State Police Staffing Proposal

Warning that Proposal B, which guarantees minimum staffing levels for the State Police, could also mean unchecked police powers for the agency, a group called Concerned Taxpayers for Law Enforcement has formally announced opposition to the constitutional ballot proposal.

Gus Harrison, chairman of the group and former lottery director and Department of Corrections director, said the group with little money, would try to educate voters on what they saw as the full impact of the proposal.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers got to talking about talk during the session at the country store Saturday night, and they was full agreed that perditions of television killing conversation is working exact opposite. The old man and the old lady may not talk to one another, Ed Doolittle declared, and they may be even more bored with TV, but fer sure they'll listen to the radio while perfect strangers talk the ears off one another.

Ed said he has final give up on TV complete, and the football strike didn't have nothing to do with it. He said television is like the long-winded politician that can cram a five minute speech into a hour and a half. No matter what you watch, he went on, you see they run out of ideas five year ago and they've kept going. Ed said he is turning more to the radio for entertainment, and he is tuning in late night call-in talk shows where callers tell everybody that wants to listen stuff about their lives they wouldn't think of telling their own Ma. The thing about the radio, Ed said, is that you don't have to look at it. You can look over the paper, eat supper, even pass the time with the old lady and the radio don't git in the way of everything else, was the way Ed put it.

The fellers were general agreed that talking ain't gone out of style, and that they will keep doing their best to permote it. Clem Webster said he has noticed, though, that person to person talk really means telephone to telephone. Clem said he has been special interested in all the dialing deals you can git into. Fer instant, he had saw where Norfolk, Va. has set up "Dial-a-Atheist" fer folks that need reassurance of what they don't believe. But they called the service a "hot line" and scared everybody away, and now "Dial-a-Prayer" is getting more calls than ever.

Ever now and agin, Ed said, these kinds of mistakes work out fer the best. He recalled the report some years back where a county tax office run out of tax bills and started using "second notices" fer the first one. They had to bring in extra help to handle all the money they were collecting from folks that normal don't give first notices a second thought. More recent, Ed went on, a little girl in Indiana wrote to Cracker Jack and complained that her box of candy popcorn didn't have a toy in it, and she managed to git more good will for Cracker Jack because this big company showed it cared enough to give her a free box of candy and a letter of apology.

Personal, Mister Editor, I don't think conversation is a endangered species because we have a natural need to share feelings and ideas with one another. I was special pleased recent to see Grit say there was nothing to reports of it being in poor health. This 100-year-old paper has give Cloverine salve to millions of us and bicycles to thousands of its young salesmen, but even more important it keeps telling us ever week that fer all her technology and change, this country still is filled with folks just like us whose lives are more interesting than we think.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Chelsea Child Study Club Hears About Hospice Services

The Chelsea Child Study Club heard Ingrid Deininger talk about hospices at the club's Sept. 28 meeting at Anne Steinaway's home.

This kind of caring for the terminally ill, said Deininger, emphasizes care given in the home. A hospice will have staff on-call 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Hospice care focuses on intensive caring for physical symptoms, she said, as well as emotional and spiritual support.

Following the program, co-hostesses Gail Feldman, Bobbie Jacobus, and Neta Mills served a delicious dessert to the 23 club members and one guest.

Ruth Dils, club president, called the business meeting to order, thanking the hostess and co-hostesses. Anne Comeau, club treasurer, presented the yearly budget, which was accepted.

Club members also approved giving a donation to the Pleasant Lake Day Treatment Program for special education students with emotional problems.

The club's Oct. 12 meeting will be at Anne Comeau's home. A psychic consultant, who specializes in reading auras, the colors around a person, will speak—a fascinating and fun evening for all.

Woman's Club Members Shown Quilting Stitches

The Woman's Club of Chelsea opened their year Tuesday, Sept. 14 with a pot-luck dinner hosted by Joyce Vogel at her Werkner Rd. home.

A silent auction followed a short business meeting.

This year the club has a new president, Mrs. Jo Spade. The club hopes to bring in new members and have a full calendar of interesting programs.

Guest speaker, Jenne Hemmingsway of Country Craftique, demonstrated different types of quilting at the club's Sept. 28 meeting at McKune Library. She explained the log cabin pattern, and showed a beautiful jacket made with it. Several members brought their quilts for display.

Guests for the evening were Mary Ellen Pierson, Debra Hack, Janice Glazier, Linda Cole, Lillian Gregg, and Louise Likaved.

Hostesses for the evening were Joan McKenzie, Marge Travis, and Mary Turcott.

The Woman's Club will meet at 8 p.m. the second and fourth Tuesday of the month at McKune Library.

Senior Citizens Plan Mackinac Island Trip

Chelsea senior citizens will make their annual trip to Mackinac Island Oct. 11 - 13. They will travel by bus, and take a ferry ride to the island from Mackinaw City.

During their stay at the Grand Hotel, they will dance to the hotel orchestra; compete in cards, bingo, croquet, horseshoes, golf, and golf putting tournaments; see movies; have a champagne reception; go on a carriage tour of the island, and enjoy a special "Western Night" dinner.

They will leave from the school bus garage 7:30 a.m. Monday, Oct. 11, and return on Oct. 13, at a time which is determined by departure boat assignments from the island.

Space was limited on the trip because of the number of buses allotted each senior citizen group.

★ Conserving Energy ...

An energy conservation program was undertaken by the Chelsea School District in July of 1978. Posted in classrooms and offices throughout the district is an energy conservation memorandum which speaks to the conservation of energy. The plan has been reviewed with maintenance and custodial personnel and with teachers.

In July, 1980, we made applications for an energy conservation matching-funds grant from the federal government. We were awarded a $85,730 matching grant, which meant that we had a total of $171,460 to appropriate for energy conservation measures. The $85,730 matching funds for our school district came from a specially earmarked maintenance millage which was voted in June, 1978.

To date we have expended funds for the following energy conservation projects: additional insulation for roofs that are being repaired, reduction of glass and the installation of insulated panels, proper-fitting doors, entrance air locks, caulking, repair of heating and ventilating controls, and weatherstripping.

The bids for work came in lower than estimated; the bids totaled $111,300, leaving us with $60,160 of unused funds. The original grant had no provision for unused funds or for additional projects. Recently we submitted another request to the federal government, seeking to use the unallocated funds for additional energy conservation projects. It is our desire to purchase a console computer which will monitor all pumps, water temperatures, and office and classroom thermostats. The console computer has the ability to be multi-programmed which, in part, allows us to reduce heating in areas that are not being used. The computer also has the capability of monitoring malfunctioning switches or controls which, if left unattended, allow for energy waste.

"If not in use, turn off the juice" is a slogan which is prominently displayed in all classrooms and offices throughout the school district. Students and employees must continue to be cognizant of the fact that we must conserve energy usage due to the continued escalation of costs. The schools also practice a pattern of periodical "lights out" on bright sunny days. The "lights out" procedure is turning off office and classroom lights where exterior windows allow sufficient light from the bright sun. The energy conservation program is aimed at reducing energy costs so that those dollars can be diverted to the educational program.

Long Ballot Necessitates Homework

If you are not registered to vote in the state general election Nov. 2, it's too late now. Deadline for registration was yesterday, Oct. 4.

Michigan laws require that voters register at least 30 days before election day.

The November ballot includes contests for state executive offices including governor, the Michigan Legislature, U. S. Congress and Senate, and various other offices. Exactly what choices must be made among candidates depends on where you live.

In addition, there will be six state referendum proposals on the ballot, plus local propositions. Prospective voters would be well advised to do some "homework" before Nov. 2. The list of decisions to be made is long and complicated, and it will help to have some advance knowledge when going into the voting booth.

HOOPSTERS OF THE WEEK, coming off a decisive league win over Jackson County Western Thursday, are seniors Amy Poljan, left, Mary Klink, and Missi Lazarz, with the ball. Poljan, a 5'7" starting forward and senior co-captain, is playing her second year on the varsity. She contributes steadily in rebounding and scoring, said coach Jim Winter. "We have to have her there for the team to play well. Klink, the tallest player at 5'9", plays center on her first year on the varsity. She plays good defense, snagging rebounds, said Winter. She is improving a great deal and is a tryer. Co-captain Missi Lazarz, a 5'8" starting forward, is a real competitor, said Winter. She strained her knee badly and has had tonsillitis and strep throat since the season started, but has only missed one game. She's not large, but doesn't let taller players intimidate her. Nobody on the team works harder than she does.

Livestock Brands In Michigan May Be Registered

Beginning Oct. 1, Michigan cattlemen and farmers may register livestock brands with the Michigan Department of State.

According to Secretary of State Richard H. Austin, Public Act 52, approved by the Governor in March of this year, permits individuals who own cattle, horses, hogs, sheep or goats to register brands with the Department of State.

Purpose of the law is to provide uniform identification for livestock. Fee for registering an original brand is $50.

Applications for registering brands will be available at the Michigan Department of State, Livestock Brand Registry, P.O. Box 30330, Lansing 48909. The Registry telephone number is (517) 322-1469.

7th Grade Girls Learning Basketball Fundamentals

For many girls, seventh grade basketball is their first organized competitive sport, said Ann Schaffner, the seventh grade girls coach, and afternoon physical education teacher at Beach Middle school.

It's the only fall sport for girls in middle school, she said, and the first time most of them have ever represented their school in sports.

First thing to learn? The rules of the game, she said. They have some trouble with that three-second rule in the lane for offensive players.

They are also learning the basics—dribbling, shooting, and passing. Some have played intramural basketball in sixth grade, she said, but they have a lot to learn still.

All 23 girls who came out for the team will play, she said, but since the team only has 18 uniforms, five girls will rotate not dressing for the game.

"We want to win," she said, "but at the junior high level, it's also important for everyone to play."

Members of the seventh grade team, whose heights range from 4 feet 9 inches to 5 feet 7 inches, include Kim Allen, Ann Brosnah, Sharon Colombo, Amy Dmoch, Alisha Dorow, Shannon Dunn, Leah Enderle, Karen Grau, Peggy Hamerschmidt, Wendy Hunn, Meredith Johnson, Katie Kelly, Beth Kenney, Kelly Kuzoh, Anna Munier, Jenny Pichlik, Deanna Rouse, Alison Thornton, Laura Torres, Dawn Weatherwax, Sarah Weis, Andrea Worthing, Deanna Zangara.

Cross Country Teams Down Milan

The Chelsea girls cross country team scored an upset victory over Milan, last year's regional champions, last Thursday by a single point, 27-28. It was only Milan's second at-home loss in six years.

Chelsea also defeated Monroe St. Mary's Academy, 19-38. The meets were run together.

The girls are now 3-2 for the season and have a league-leading 2-0 record in the Southeastern Conference.

"I was extremely pleased with the girls' effort," Coach Pat Clarke said. "The girls are starting to come around."

The boys cross country team also had a good outing against Milan, winning, 15-48, and pushing their record to 3-1 overall and 2-0 in the conference. Coach Clark said the team "ran pretty well after a hard week of workouts."

For the girls, Sandra Frame placed first against Milan with a time of 20:28. Other Chelsea placers and their times were: Wendy Wolfgang, 4th, 21:46; Mary Ann Richardson, 6th, 22:13; Laura Damm, 7th, 22:22; Stephanie Grant, 9th, 23:12; Shanda Friday, 11th, 23:48; Kathy Degener, 12th, 24:14; Jill Schaffner, 13th, 24:53; Debbie Tift, 14th, 25:06; and Kim Fenton, 15th, 25:49.

Mark Brosnan again led the boys with a first place time of 16:33. Others were: Dave Kies, 2nd, 17:41; Allen Cole, 3rd, 17:53; Eric Green, 4th, 18:09; Craig Maciag, 5th, 18:35; Kevin Richardson, 7th, 19:25; Steve Humm, 8th, 19:35; Jared Bradley, 9th, 19:48; Damion Creffield, 10th, 19:50; Mark Spayd, 11th, 20:00; and Randy Krichbaum, 12th, 20:02.

CONGRESSMAN CARL PURSELL and Mrs. Elizabeth Hammer of Chelsea display the award of appreciation presented to Pursell by the Michigan Association for the Academically Talented. Mrs. Hammer is president of the association.

Academically Talented Assoc. Honors Pursell

U. S. Congressman Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) has received an appreciation award for his support of special service for school students with special gifts and talents.

The award was presented by Mrs. Elizabeth Hammer of East St., Chelsea, president of the Michigan Association for the Academically Talented.

A former state senator, Pursell sponsored the legislation which supports services for gifted students at the state level. During his first term in Congress he authored a similar law at the federal level, and later was instrumental in doubling the amount of federal funding available for the program.

Pursell represents the Second

Congressional District, which has been expanded to include Chelsea and vicinity in west Washtenaw county. He is running for reelection. His Democrat opponent is George W. Sallade of Ann Arbor.

Persons wishing more information about programs available for gifted and talented students may contact Mrs. Hammer at 475-1828, or Mrs. Judy Radant of 17325 Waterloo Rd., 475-1457. Mrs. Radant is president of the Association for Creative and Academically Talented Students.

Cong. Pursell Can Also Repair Typewriters

Once a typewriter mechanic, always a typewriter mechanic. So says Congressman Carl Pursell, who paid part of his expenses while attending the University of Michigan with a part-time job repairing typewriters.

Pursell dropped into The Chelsea Standard office last week while on a walking tour of the village, which has been newly added to his Second Congressional District as a result of reapportionment following the 1980 census.

An old but still very good Underwood manual typewriter caught his eye. The machine was temporarily out of service and in need of repair.

Congressman Pursell quickly looked the typewriter over and found the problem. And he would have fixed it then and there except that he didn't have the right tools with him.

"That Underwood is one of the best typewriters ever built," Pursell said, adding that "it will run forever if you treat it right."

A few days later a repairman fixed the machine and confirmed that the congressman had been right in his diagnosis of the trouble.

Fall Color Show Reaches Peak Soon

The leaves are turning, and fall color touring time is close. Nature's most spectacular outdoor display in Michigan is rapidly taking shape.

You don't need to go up north to view the eye-pleasing mix of reds, yellows, browns, purples and other hues which decorate the wooded countryside at this time of year. Southern Michigan has fall color aplenty.

West Washtenaw county offers abundant opportunities for color tours. The Waterloo and Pinckney Recreation Areas are prime places because of their large acreages of trees and shrubs, but any rural road will serve, whether through public or private land.

The Michigan Travel Bureau in Lansing and the Automobile Club of Michigan offer color tour maps. However, it is easy to "do it yourself" with the aid of a county road map.

Pick a bright, sunny day if possible. Sunlight reflecting off the painted leaves brings out their colors. Take along a camera and color film if you like to record pictures and preserve memories of special events. A picnic lunch eaten amid the colors of fall can be a memorable experience in itself.

The leaves are coloring early this year, probably because of the dry weather during late summer. Staghorn sumac bushes, always the first to change, already are brilliantly scarlet. Some maple trees are also tinted yellow or crimson, depending on their species.

Other trees will follow, according to their species and location. It is an ever-changing panorama, with new scenes greeting the viewer each day along the same route.

Most color tourists drive, but hiking is also a good way to take advantage of southern Michigan's fall scenic splendor. A fall walk along the marked nature trails in the state recreation areas has many rewards besides exercise.

With the cold and snow of winter coming on, fall represents the last chance for all but the hardy to enjoy Michigan's outdoors until spring arrives.

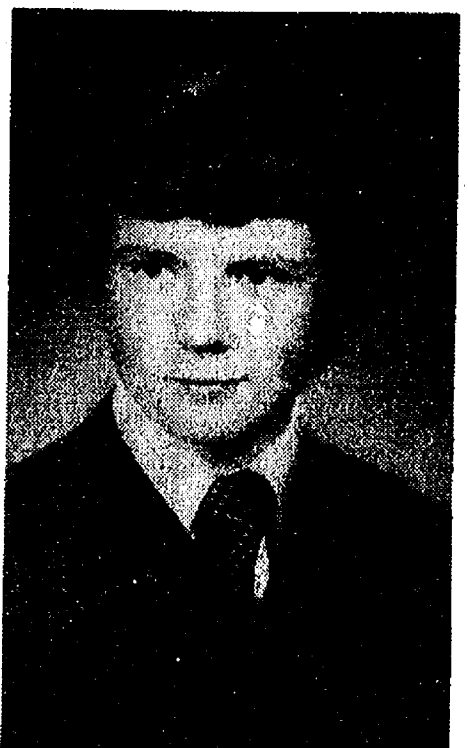

This coming week-end and the next likely will see fall color in west Washtenaw at its peak, although that could vary according to the weather. Watch the trees in your own and your neighbors' yards for clues to the best time. Unfortunately, the color season doesn't last long, so take advantage while you can. (Note: Trees in town generally turn color a little later than those out in the country.)

From a scientific standpoint, what you see when you look at fall leaves are their real colors. The green of spring and summer is a kind of mask produced by chlorophyll, the chemical substance which enables trees to manufacture their own plant food. When fall comes and the trees no longer need to "eat," the chlorophyll dissolves and the true leaf colors emerge. Those bright red maple leaves were really red all the time, but you just couldn't see it because of the overlying green.

In a sense the leaves undress themselves in the fall to let their natural splendor show.

DIVER OF THE WEEK is the girls varsity swimming team's one and only diver, senior Vicki Harrell. That height she has comes from a dive from the 1-meter board. She is handling the pressure, said swimming coach Von Acker, of-ing depended on to always do well as the team's only diver. She has improved her diving score 10 points each meet of the season, so she is looking very competitive in the league. She began diving with the Chelsea Aquatic Club.

Frosh Gridders Rip Milan, 32-0

Chelsea High school's freshman football team ran its season record to 3-0 last Tuesday with a 32-0 win over Milan, the same team it had defeated, 44-6, the previous week.

"It was another good game for us," Coach Jim Tallman reported. Our kids are coming together and starting to play well as a team. I'm happy about their progress.

"I'm especially pleased with our defense, which has developed into a strong unit. They allowed just one touchdown in each of the first two games, and got a shut-out this time. They have developed a lot of pride."

The Chelsea defenders stopped several Milan drives short of the goal, including one that ended on the two-yard line on the last play of the game to preserve the shut-out.

Once again it was halfback Rob Beckwith who provided a big part of Chelsea's offensive display. He scored three touchdowns and a two-point conversion to account for 20 of his team's 32 points.

Beckwith put Chelsea on the scoreboard in the first quarter with a nine-yard touchdown run, and later raced for TD dashes of 26 and 28 yards.

Mark Mull had a 40-yard return of a pass interception for a Chelsea score, and Chris Herter got the other one on a 28-yard run.

As in the first game against Milan, Tallman was able to give everybody on the Chelsea squad a chance to play, and that pleased him. "It's good for morale," he noted, "and it's a good teaching experience. There is no substitute for playing time."

From here on out the frosh football schedule gets stickier. Arch-rival Dexter is this week's opponent, and the game will be played on the Dreadnaught's home field. Saline, Adrian and Mason follow. "Those will all be tough games," Tallman said. "We'll find out how good we really are. I think we are up to the challenge. So far, we have been improving every week, and that's a good sign."

Small business' share of the Gross National Product (GNP) declined from 43 percent in 1963 to about 38 percent today.

Community Ed. Dept. Courses Build Self-Esteem for Women

Chelsea Community Education is sponsoring three new courses on women's concerns, job hunts, and self-image this fall.

The Future Woman Seminar, to be offered 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 16 at the high school, will show how to initiate change in one's life through exercises, information, support and encouragement, in a non-threatening atmosphere. It is one of the Seminars on Self series.

Effective communication, building a positive self-image, knowing one's potential, achieving goals, setting priorities, and eliminating "time wasters" will be covered by seminar leader Louise Hubal.

Those attending should bring a bag lunch. Coffee will be provided. Register by calling Community Education at 475-9830 before Oct. 13. The cost is $35.

Skills for Homemakers II, which will meet weekly 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Thursdays beginning Oct. 28 to Nov. 18 at the high school media center, will cover the basics of writing a resume, reviewing how to complete a job application, preparing for a job interview, and other job search techniques.

This course will cost $20, and one can register by calling the Community Education office.

"No Strings Attached," a women's group with no formal attachments to any club or service group, is a new organization in Chelsea, which will meet the second Monday of the month from 7 to 10 p.m. beginning Oct. 11 at the high school media center.

Its goal is to provide women with an opportunity to meet on an informal basis, and offer each other support, reinforcement, acceptance, and an opportunity for growth.

It was founded by Louise Hubal, a housewife-mother-consultant, and the club's format will be lectures, discussions, guest speakers, sharing, and support. Hubal will lead exercises designed to expand personal growth.

All women in the community are invited to attend. Each meeting will have a specific topic appropriate for both homemakers and women who work outside the home.

Hubal has considered starting the group for some time. She teaches other classes and discovered, she said, that the groups wanted to continue meeting long after the class ended to share common concerns.

One way to get a more positive self-image of oneself, she said, is to recognize the negative conditioning and thinking in one's life and replace it with positive habits and attitudes.

It's time to explode the super-woman myth, she said, and a woman's feelings of guilt because she can't be one.

There may be small dues for items such as coffee. Anyone interested may call Hubal at 475-8260.

In fiscal year 1981 the Labor Department's Women's Bureau, working to increase apprenticeship training for women, sought to establish apprenticeship training for women held in State correctional facilities.

Cross Country Teams Both Win at Manchester

Both Chelsea cross country teams were winners in the 14-team Manchester Invitational Meet last Saturday.

The Bulldog harriers beat out Onsted in the boys' meet, which was run class-against-class (seniors running against seniors, juniors against juniors, etc.)

Mark Brosnan finished first among seniors with a time of 16:09. Dave Kies was seventh at 17:32.

In the junior run Allen Cole was sixth at 17:32, Eric Green ninth at 17:45, and Mark Spayd 28th at 19:54.

Steve Hunn was 13th in the sophomore race at 18:50. Other Chelsea placers and times were Jared Bradley, 17th, 19:06; Darrion Creffield, 20th, 19:09; and Kyle Kemmish, 23rd, 19:12.

In the freshmen race Craig Maciag turned in the best time of his career to win at 18:17.

Team placements were determined on an over-all comparison of times. On that basis Chelsea finished first, followed by Onsted, Vandercook Lake, Stockbridge, Napoleon and Saline.

The Chelsea girls beat second-place Vandercook Lake 51-68. Saline was third with 72 points.

Sandra Frame led the Bulldogs with a second-place finish at 20:17. Other placers for Chelsea were Mary Ann Richardson, seventh at 22:03; Wendy Wolfgang, eighth at 22:10; Laura Damm, 15th at 22:44; Stephanie Grant, 19th at 22:55; and Kathy Degener, 24th at 23:25.

Commissioners Adopt '83 Budget Of $31.9 Million

The Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners has adopted a 1983 county budget totaling $31.9 million, an increase of $30.6 million over this year. The county tax rate of 5.89 mills will stay the same.

The higher dollar figure represents extra revenue expected to result from assessment changes on some existing properties and new construction in the county. Whether or not individual tax bills go up will depend on whether assessed valuations have been raised.

County Administrator David G. Hunscher described the 1983 budget as one designed primarily to maintain continuing levels of existing services and programs. There will be very few improvements and additions.

Of the 5.89-mill levy, 4.88 mills are earmarked for county government operations. That represents an increase of .12 mill, realized by an internal funding transfer. The .12 mill has been collected in recent years to pay off construction bonds, but will not be needed for that purpose next year. The $400,000 thus freed up will be shifted into the operating budget.

Higher local tax collection from assessment increases and new construction will be offset in part by declines in anticipated revenues from federal and state sources.

Hunscher warned the commissioners that the trend to lower federal and state grants is expected to continue, and that it therefore may not be possible to maintain county government services at present levels in 1984 without a tax increase.

County taxes account for about 10 percent of all property taxes collected in Washtenaw county. School districts receive about 60 percent, and the remaining 30 percent goes to other local governmental units.

The 1983 county budget was adopted by a 9-3 vote of the Board of Commissioners. Among those voting in favor was Commissioner George A. Merkel of Chelsea.

The three dissenters sought to have the budget cut because of the current bad economic situation in Washtenaw county and all of Michigan.

Farm Museum Pioneer Day Slated Sunday

Waterloo Farm Museum's Pioneer Day celebrates harvest time Sunday, Oct. 10, from 1 to 5 p.m. The museum, located at 9998 Waterloo-Munith Rd., 2 miles west of Waterloo, becomes a cornucopia complementing fall.

The 138-year-old Realy house, a Victorian home authentically furnished in period artifacts, is open for tours at a minimal cost.

The farm's many outbuildings will contain artisans demonstrating pioneer crafts and activities. Of particular interest will be the log house, a close facsimile to the one the Reals lived in when arriving from Germany in 1844. Spinning will be done before the mammoth fireplace while a kettle of soup steams over its hot coals.

In the milk cellar, butter will be churned and tasted. The brick oven in the bakehouse will provide warm, crusty molasses cookies and baked beans. The forge in the toolshed is fired for horseshoeing.

Beneath startling maples on the grounds of the museum, craftspeople demonstrate their talents. Wood crafters — both carvers and the use of an antique treddle wood lathe—a bee extractor, musket loaders, and an individual using a hand cider press will ply their trade. Hand-crafters doing spinning, quilting, rug hooking, bobbin lace, and corn husk dolls will create works for display and sale. Over open fires wool dying and soap and candle making may be seen. The first Michigan Civil War Encampment will be set up on the museum's grounds.

Tables will be spread across the grounds bearing home-made bread, pies, cookies, jellies, jams, and relishes. Donuts and cider are served. Fall produce — squash, gourds, pumpkins, and beets — clutter another table.

Parking and admission to the grounds are free.

The Waterloo Farm Museum's Pioneer Day offers the opportunity to experience pioneer living and to enjoy autumn's splendor in a rural setting.

Dewey school, a restored, one-room schoolhouse, will be open for tours on Pioneer Day.

OUT IN THE OPEN

By BILL MULLENDORE

Last week I wrote about Michigan's fastest growing outdoor sport, bow hunting for deer. This week's subject — duck hunting — is a turn-about. Duck hunters have diminished in numbers from a high of about 150,000 during the 1960's to around 60,000 today.

The duck season in southern Michigan opens next Sunday, Oct. 10. Geese will be legal game on the same date. Duck and goose shooting began up north last Friday, as the state adopted a split-season format from the options offered by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service which sets the broad pattern for waterfowl hunting regulations nationwide.

Why have Michigan hunters turned off from ducks and geese, especially ducks?

As usual, the answer isn't simple and involves several factors, but a couple stand out:

1. Waterfowl hunting is a costly, time and energy consuming sport.

2. There aren't as many shooting opportunities as there used to be, especially for ducks.

If you want to hunt waterfowl in southern Michigan, you must buy $19.50 worth of federal and state licenses and stamps, which leaves mighty small change from a twenty-dollar bill.

You can go on from there, depending on your inclinations and the extent of your pocketbook. It's possible to hunt ducks and geese by walking through marshes or sneaking up to lakeshores and riverbanks, in hope of jumping a bird within gun range. Or, you can stake out a stand on a flight route and hope that something will fly by. Neither method works all that well.

If you want to get into waterfowling seriously, you need a boat and motor, several dozen decoys and assorted other paraphernalia including heavy-weather clothing. You really should have a special shotgun that isn't of much use for any other kind of hunting. My own rather modest duck-hunting outfit would cost more than $1,500 to replace at today's prices, and I could easily add another $500 worth of stuff.

You also need to build blinds or carry a portable hideout that must be set up and taken down, get up very early in the morning and stay out late into the evening, and do a lot of other things that are just plain hard work.

Only a dedicated duck hunter is willing to put up with all that expense and effort. It's a specialized sport that doesn't appeal to everybody.

It particularly hasn't appealed in recent years because the supply of waterfowl in Michigan has decreased rather drastically.

Geese have held up well, thanks to management efforts by the Department of Natural Resources. In particular, the DNR's effort to establish resident goose flocks and to attract migrants to resting and feeding areas have paid off. There probably are more good places and chances to shoot geese in southern Michigan than there were 30 years ago.

Similarly, so-called "local" ducks — mostly mallards but also including blacks, wood ducks, and baldpates (widgeon) — have held up and even increased under DNR management. These birds, which nest and rear their young in Michigan, provide most of the early-season hunting in this part of the state.

So far, so good. Now comes the bad news.

Most of Michigan's duck hunting potential derives from Canadian migrants which fly through the state on their way south to spend the winter. These flight ducks include mallards, black and baldpates, but more importantly consist of deep-water diving ducks — lesser scaup (bluebills), greater scaup (broadbills), ringnecks, goldeneyes, redheads and canvasbacks.

Except for redheads and canvasbacks, which have been shrinking in numbers and are in serious trouble on a continent-wide scale, diving ducks remain in good supply. However, for some unexplained reason, most of the birds have been flying through Michigan non-stop in recent falls, instead of pausing to rest, feed, hang around and give this state's hunters gunning chances. Waterfowl biologists just scratch their heads and mumble when asked why this change in duck habits has occurred. Unfortunately, nobody can ask the birds.

If the history of recent past years repeats, there will be a few good days of hunting for local ducks right after the season opens Oct. 10, and then not much doing for the rest of the period which ends Nov. 28. There is always the hope, of course, that the Canadian birds will revert to their former migratory habits and stop over in Michigan. If so, this could be a good hunting season because summer production in Canada has been good.

Those of us with large investments in waterfowl hunting gear certainly wish that will happen.

Stockbridge School Head Resigns Post

Stockbridge School Superintendent Patrick Decker has resigned to take a new job as business manager of the Holland Public Schools. His successor has not been appointed, and he will remain in Stockbridge temporarily while the Board of Education works on filling the vacancy.

Although the Stockbridge schools have been plagued with budget problems because of the millage election failures, Decker said he was not leaving for that reason. The Holland position is a step forward in his career as a school administrator, he said.

Decker has been superintendent at Stockbridge for two years after having previously served as assistant superintendent and elementary principal.

Voters in the school district will go to the polls Oct. 14 for the third time this year to decide millage issues. Three separate proposals will be on the ballot. One is for renewal of a basic 21-mill operating levy. The other two, for one-quarter of a mill and three-quarters of a mill, would reinstate certain programs eliminated in past budget squeezes.

Homecoming Hi-Jinks Happening Everyday

If your teenager seems schizophrenic this week—one day scrounging through closets for old bobby sox, another day hunting for pink and green sweaters, and then taping safety pins to his/her cheek and wearing pointy-toed shoes Thursday—relax, it's just homecoming spirit.

The four classes at Chelsea High school are having a week-long contest, with points given for the different dress-up days, the winners of the powder-puff derbies, the Volkswagen stuff, and "hush days," when members of the opposite sex try not to talk to each other.

The class winner will be announced at the Friday afternoon pep rally before the 7:30 p.m. homecoming football game against arch-rival Dexter.

The parade from the municipal parking lot to the school was yesterday, followed by the senior vs. sophomore powderpuff football game, a tug-of-war, tricycle race, and junior vs. freshman powderpuff. Dress for the day was the 1950s look.

Today is western dress. The powderpuff finals will begin at 6 p.m. at the school with pep bands blaring. Halftime features the VW stuff and a waterballoon toss.

Wednesday, or Preppie Day, is girls' hush day. Each girl will wear a pink-ribboned pin. If a boy gets her to talk to him, he gets the pin.

The tables turn Thursday, punk rock dress day. The girls try to get the blue-ribbon pinned boys to talk to them.

The boy with the most pins Wednesday, and the girl who snags most pins Thursday, get free passes to the homecoming game, and the homecoming dance. Those who successfully keep their pins, get a 50-cent discount at the dance.

Friday is blue-gold day, of course. Class contests continue during the afternoon pep rally with pyramid building, who can get the most pennies from a bag of sawdust, and a speed dressing contest. Boys will try to put on cheerleaders' outfits as fast as they can, and girls will try to put on football uniforms as fast as they can. The class winners will be announced.

The homecoming queen, who was chosen during the week, will be announced and crowned at half-time of the game. Senior class candidates are Sandy Sundling and Venus Roberts. Junior candidates are Shelley Wheaton and Sue Young.

Sophomores are Tami Schanz and Tonya Vost. Freshman candidates are Cindy Kvarnberg and Chandy Hurd.

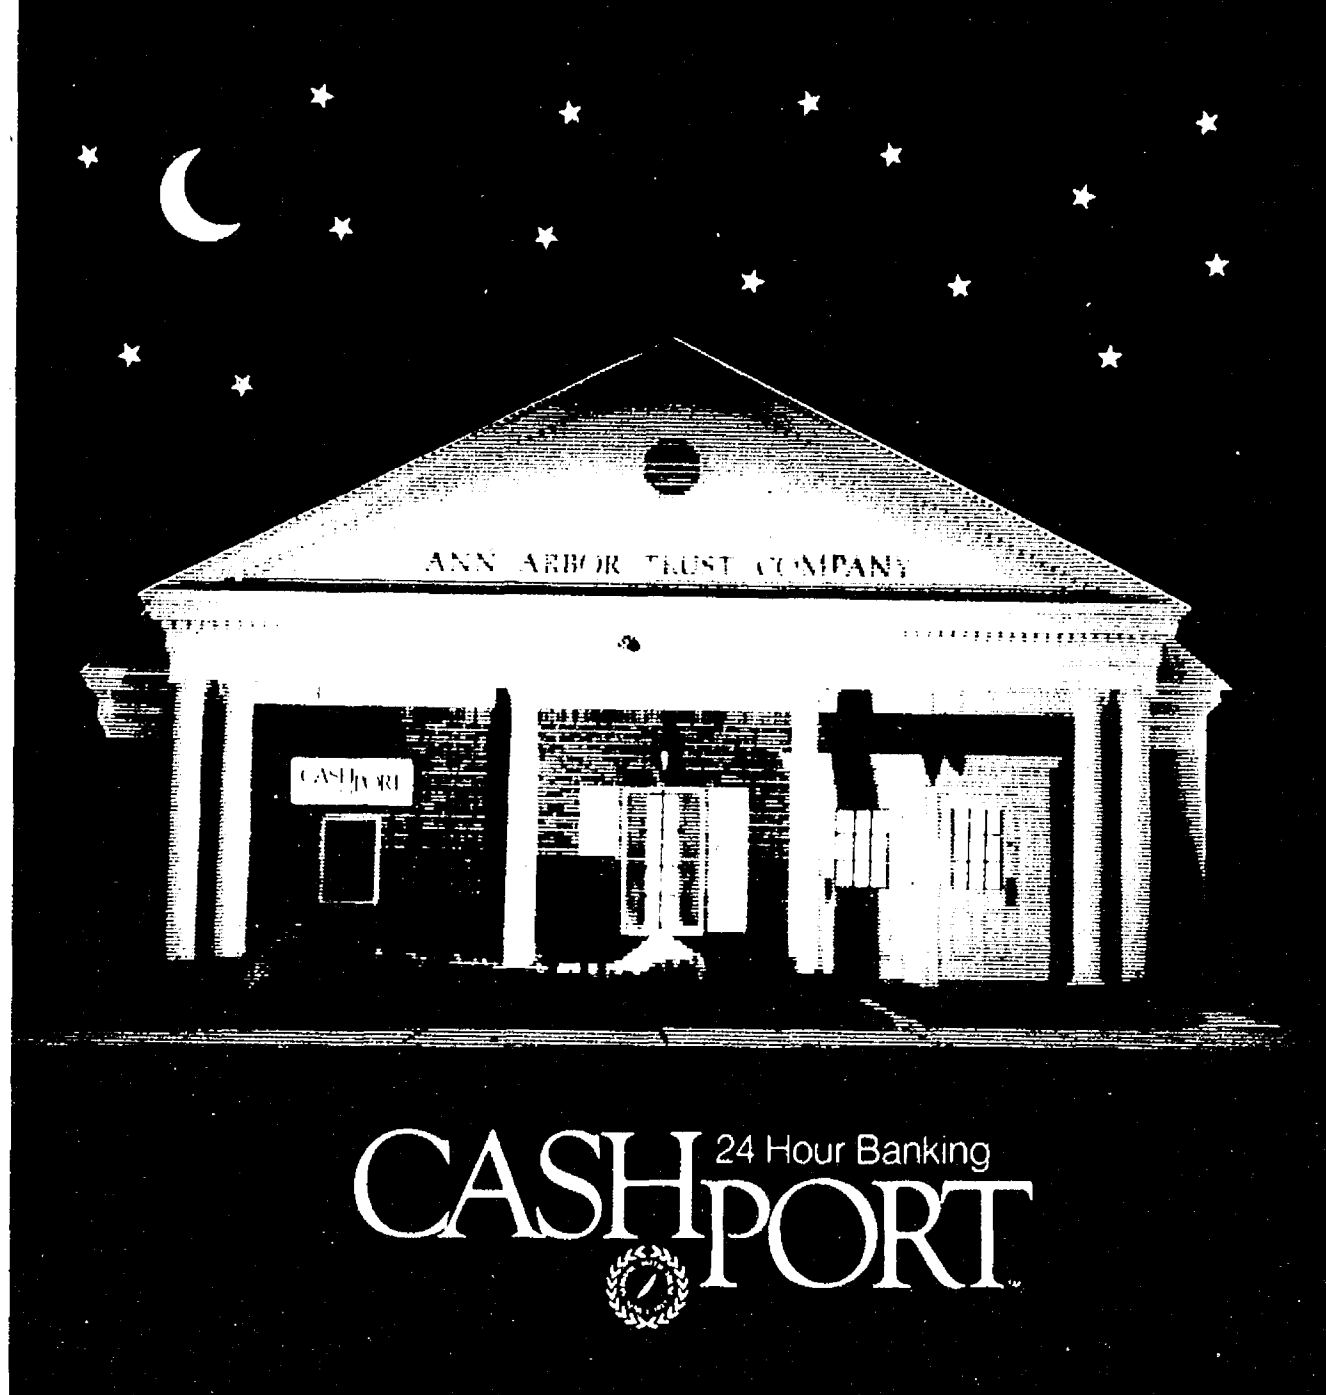

The dance in the gymnasium will begin after the game and continue until midnight. A Toledo disc jockey will provide music. A ball game coupon, which will be given out at the gate, will entitle one to half-price at the dance.

Alumni, who may attend the dance free-of-charge, can gather after the game in the school cafeteria for coffee and cookies.

The number of small businesses has increased annually almost without exception during the last 30 years. Even in 1981, a year of unusual obstacles, the number of new small businesses increased. For example, incorporations of new businesses during Fiscal 1981 (the year ending Sept. 30, 1981) totaled about 575,000—10 percent higher than the previous fiscal year. The bulk of such incorporations represented small firms.

Extra Strength Tylenol Withdrawn After Deaths

Chelsea and Dexter merchants have joined firms throughout Washtenaw county and the nation in taking Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules off their shelves following the revelation that at least seven persons have died after consuming capsules tainted with deadly cyanide poison.

Spokespersons for Chelsea Pharmacy, Polly's Market and Schneider's Grocery in Chelsea said they had withdrawn Extra-Strength Tylenol from sale pending further developments and assurances that the drug is safe to sell.

Representatives of the Dexter Pharmacy, McLeod Drugs and Dexter IGA, all in Dexter, said they had taken similar action.

At least two batches of the medicine have been recalled by Johnson & Johnson, the manufacturer, after capsules containing cyanide were located. Police investigations indicate that someone involved in the manufacturing or distribution processes took the capsules apart, put in the poison and then reassembled them. All seven deaths occurred in Illinois.

Cyanide is one of the deadliest poisons known. It takes only a few grains to kill.

Tylenol is a non-prescription, pain-relieving drug used mostly by persons whose systems are upset by aspirin. Extra-Strength is a stronger formula often taken by arthritis sufferers.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has advised that no one should take Extra-Strength Tylenol until all the cyanide-poisoned packages have been tracked down and the person responsible is apprehended. Regular Tylenol is considered to be safe, and is still being sold.

Home Meal Service Still Needs Drivers

Chelsea Home Meal Service still desperately needs volunteer drivers to deliver noon-day dinners to homebound persons, Mrs. Mary Ann Merkel says.

Drivers are especially needed for Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. If enough volunteers respond, drivers may have to work only every other week.

"The Home Meal Service is completely dependent on volunteer drivers," Mrs. Merkel stressed. "We cannot maintain the service without them. The people who receive the service really need it, and would suffer without it. They are house-bound and often with no family members nearby to help them out. They can't shop for themselves and in many cases can't cook properly for themselves."

Drivers pick up the prepared meals at the Chelsea United Methodist Home at 11 a.m. each day and deliver them to clients of the service. Normal time required is about an hour a day. Drivers use their own cars, and gasoline expenses are tax-deductible.

Persons interested in volunteering may call Mrs. Merkel during the day at 475-8621 or Mrs. Barbara Branch evenings at 475-7644.

Bulick, Richard Cesarz, Ed Comeau (handing over keys), Mary Kay Weber and the Rev. Fr. David P. Dupuis, pastor of the church.

St. Mary's Fall Festival Reported Very Successful

The Fall Festival held last week-end by St. Mary's Catholic church of Chelsea is thought to have been a financial success, although the exact amount of money raised will not be known until all the bills are in.

The three-day event attracted a large attendance and heavy receipts for a raffle in which a new automobile was first prize.

Besides raising money to help finance parish activities, a major purpose of the festival—first ever sponsored by the church—was to draw the parish into a more tightly knit community, said the Rev.

Fr. David P. Dupuis, pastor, and that objective was achieved.

Barbara Bacon of Gregory won the new Ford Escort, first prize in the raffle. Other raffle winners were Armin Zinke of Chelsea, color television set; Bob Foster of Chelsea, side of beef; Leone Weber of Ann Arbor, reclining chair; Kim Harvey of Chelsea, portable radio, and Sue Stein, Fred and Laura White, George Merkel, Ella McMillan and David Brennan, portable head-set radios.

Richard Cesarz served as Festival chairman. The raffle committee consisted of Ed Comeau, Mary K. Weber, John Bulick and Shirley Bruck.

Bulldog Gridders Let Milan Snatch Victory In Second Half Rally

Defeat is never easy to accept, but some setbacks are harder to take than others. Chelsea High school's varsity footballers found that out last Friday night at Milan as they lost to the Big Reds, 13-12, in a game they seemed to have under full control at half-time but then let get away.

The Bulldogs dominated the first half, taking a 12-0 lead into the locker room on touchdown runs of 6 and 13 yards by workhorse halfback Russell Harris. Both came at the end of long drives featured by Harris' running mixed with key pass completions by quarterback Dave Wojcicki.

Running play tries for two-point conversions were stopped after each Chelsea six-pointer, but it didn't seem to matter much at the time. The Bulldogs had controlled the ball on offense and shut down Milan on defense. The Big Reds hadn't come close to scoring.

Whatever Gene Huber, who is in his first year as Milan's head coach, said to his players during the intermission ought to be recorded and put into a handbook on how to make comebacks. The turn-around in momentum began to take shape on the second-half kickoff as Milan's Dallas Holzer made a nifty return to the Milan 41. From there the Big Reds marched 59 yards to score on a six-yard run by halfback Jeff Sabo.

Then occurred what turned out to be the key play of the game as Bernie Saja booted the extra point, only the second such successful effort by Milan in the past two seasons. His kick barely made it over the crossbar, but it was good and it provided his team's eventual winning margin.

Chelsea launched a promising drive of its own after taking the next kickoff, but lost the ball on downs at the Milan 26. The Big Reds promptly went 74 yards for the winning touchdown.

Key plays in the victory march were two fourth-down pass completions by Milan quarterback Kraig Westfall, one a 24-yarder to tight-sized flanker Bill McCloud (5' 3", 135 pounds) to keep the drive alive and the second a five-yard pitch into the end zone to split end Bob Horvath. Both were exceptional catches.

Chelsea blocked Saja's conversion try this time, but it was too little and too late. Milan had the lead, 13-12, and made it stand up.

With 6:22 left on the clock Chelsea got two more chances to retake the lead and win. The first wound up with negative yardage on two incomplete passes and a quarterback sack followed by a punt.

The second almost got the job done. Chelsea took possession on its own three-yard line where a Milan punt was downed. Needing to go 97 yards in less than three minutes, the Bulldogs got 88 of them on a series of Wojcicki passes including long gainers to halfback Jay Marshall and split end Marty Steinhauer, achieving a first down at the Milan 9.

There the drive petered out, and with no timeouts left and only 10 seconds to play Wojcicki attempted a 27-yard field goal. His kick was wide to the right, and that ended things.

A delighted Milan homecoming crowd of perhaps 500 went away happy, while about half that many Chelsea rooters drove home in a state of shock.

JV Gridders Jilted As Defense Falters

After scoring only 18 points in its first three games, the Chelsea junior varsity football team got its offense in gear against the Milan JV's last Thursday. Trouble was that Milan was also in a scoring mood, and the result was a 42-22 victory for the visiting Little Reds.

Chelsea Coach Ken Sullins was philosophical about the result. "We emphasized offense in practice all week because we didn't move the ball well in our first three games, and maybe we overdid it. The defense had been playing very well, and so we kind of took it for granted. The score shows what happened."

Actually, turnovers did Chelsea in. Milan scored once following a pass interception and twice after recovering Bullpup fumbles in good field position. Another Milan touchdown came on a 74-yard kickoff return.

Chelsea got outstanding offensive efforts from Scott Miller who rushed for 108 yards in 27 carries, and Dan Panton who picked up 91 yards in 12 attempts. Panton scored two touchdowns, one on a 42-yard run.

End Jon Carey had three pass catches for 30 yards and one touchdown.

Dean Boote got on the scoreboard by tackling a Milan ball carrier in the end zone for a safety, and quarterback Evan Roberts also earned two points with a successful conversion run after a Chelsea touchdown.

On defense, nose guard Ed Brosnan had 13 tackles and strong safety Jim Toon had 11. Under the Chelsea defensive concept players at those two positions are expected to do most of the tackling.

Sullins noted that the JV team had several players out with injuries, including regular starting quarterback Tony Hamersmidt. None of the hurts are believed to be serious.

"We just plain did not play well," Sullins summarized. "Milan took it to us, and they embarrassed us. I hope we learned something from the experience."

The JV team is now 1-2-1 for the season. Its next game is against Dexter there on Thursday.

Chelsea held a substantial edge in the statistics with 344 yards total offense to Milan's 226. Wojcicki completed 11 of 18 passes for 202 yards, and Harris picked up 80 yards on 19 carries.

For the Big Reds, Westfall was 10 of 16 for 98 yards in passing, and Sabo led all rushers on both teams with 83 yards on 23 tries.

After the game a disappointed and subdued Chelsea Coach Gene LaFave was groping for explanations of his team's second-half downfall.

"We didn't score, and we played poor defense in the second half, after playing well both ways in the first half," LaFave said. "We gave up too many big plays. We had everything going our way in the first half, and then we lost it. I don't know why. It was like there were two different ball games played out there."

Chelsea, now 2-2 on the season and 1-1 in Southeastern Conference play, will host Dexter in a Homecoming contest here next Friday night. Following its upset of Saline a week ago, Dexter lost to Erie Mason last Friday in a non-league game. The Dreadnaughts are 1-3 so far, and 1-1 in the conference.

CHelsea HIGH SCHOOL'S freshman football team, undefeated in three games this year, goes through some practice drills under the eyes of Coach Jim Tallman at left. The frosh have beaten Milford once and Milan twice, all by lopsided scores, and were to play Dexter today.

Girls Varsity Cagers Bounce Back After Loss to Adrian

A pooped Chelsea team, which had lost to Adrian, 56-24, Sept. 28, bounced back to win their first league game in style, 40-34, against Jackson County Western Sept. 30 at home.

Adrian revenged three years of losses by outplaying Chelsea. They shot 26 of 63 field goals for 40 percent, while Chelsea shot 8 of 37 for 21 percent.

Adrian was also bigger, faster, and "a step ahead of us all night," said coach Jim Winter. Chelsea had only seven players dressed, (Missi Lazarz was sick.) and the team's fatigue really showed in the second half.

Adrian was hot from the start, outscoring Chelsea 14-0 at the outset. Although Chelsea played them even the rest of the half, said Winter, even wasn't good enough.

Chelsea did better them in foul statistics, only committing 12 compared to 15 for Adrian. Chelsea also shot better from the charity stripe, 8 for 13, while Adrian shot 4 for 10.

"Boy, if this were just a game where we could shoot free throws!" said Winter. "We'd do all right then."

Golf Team Places 5th in Invitational

The Chelsea High school golf team shot their best tournament score in two years to finish fifth out of 12 teams at the Lakeshore Invitational Saturday, Oct. 2 at the par 72 Hampshire Country Club in Dowagiac.

Lansing Sexton, the state's number-1-rated Class A school, won the tournament with 311. Jackson Lumen Christi, a regular winner of the Class B state championship, took second, and Chelsea shot 336, only four strokes from third place and four from their best tournament score ever, 332.

High school golfers play nine holes in dual meets and 18 holes in tournaments. Three Chelsea golfers shot lower scores in their second nine than their first, which pleased golf coach Ken Larson.

"It's a lot tougher to play well over 18 holes than just 9," he said. "We had a good day."

Doug Otto, who was sixth place medalist, took scoring honors for the Bulldogs with 79. Kurt Eisenbeiser shot a 44 for his first nine, but came back with his best round of the year, 37, to finish with 81. Eric Schaffner bettered his first nine-hole total of 44, with a 43 to finish at 87. Mike Carignan shot an 89 to account for the top four scores, which make up the team total.

8th Grade Gridders Drop Pair to Milan

Chelsea's eighth-grade football teams dropped a pair of games to their Milan counterparts in their first competitive action of the season last Tuesday.

The A squad lost, 14-0, and the B squad was defeated, 28-6.

Coach Bert Kruse of the Beach Middle school was not discouraged by the losses and sees better things ahead for his fledgling football players.

"We weren't quite ready to play yet," Kruse said, "and that is understandable considering that our boys are just starting to learn tackle football. It was a new experience for them, and they weren't as intense as they should have been. We're working at correcting our mistakes and developing more intensity, and hope to make a better showing next week."

Kruse was pleased that the A squad showed the beginnings of a good passing attack. Jeff Harvey completed five passes before suffering a knee injury that will keep him out of action this week.

Dwayne Pate caught five passes and also played a strong game at defensive end.

The Chelsea eighth graders were to travel to Lincoln today for games there.

SWIMMERS OF THE WEEK are three of the team's five freshmen. Amanda Holmes, left, swims sprint freestyle and butterfly events. She just started competitive swimming this summer, said coach Von Acker, and is improving quickly. Her asset, he says, is her great strength, combined with co-ordination, and the desire to work hard. She got her flip turns down over the summer, and now swims the 100-yard free on the A or B 400-freestyle relays. Paula Kuzon, center, swims the 200 individual medley and the 100 breaststroke. She swam with the Chelsea Aquatic Club for several years, but being on the varsity, said Acker, has really motivated her. She surprised her teammates with her hard work, and now she's seeing the benefits of it in her times. Paula Colombo, a year-around swimmer, has already qualified for four events at the state meet. She sets high goals for herself, said Acker, and has blossomed into a team person. She leads off the older girls' sets at workout now. She began swimming when the pool opened in 1976, said Acker, and that background shows.

Girls Tennis Team Loses Two Matches

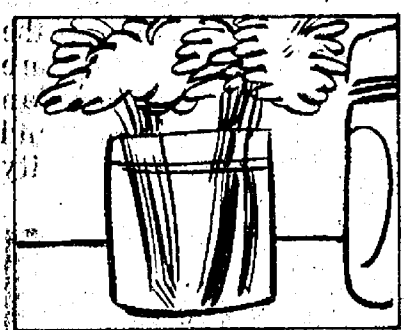

The girls tennis team lost two tough home matches this week, to Saline, 7-0, Sept. 29 and to Adrian,

Gridders of the Week

VARSITY GRIDDERS OF THE WEEK are senior defensive back Eric Buckberry, 42, and senior end and halfback Thom Headrick, 86. Buckberry, a really "hard-nosed" football player, said coach Gene LaFave, can play defense anywhere the team needs him. He worked out with weights in the summer, and is both aggressive and very coachable. He is the son of Hugh Buckberry of 9100 Beeman, Lyndon township. Headrick, a three-year starter, is one of the finest players on the team, says LaFave. He is very quick, has good catching hands, and is an excellent blocker. Headrick, the son of Don and Sally Proctor of 121 W. Summit, loves the game and worked out with weights over the summer.

JV Cagers Defeat JC Western, Adrian

Chelsea girls junior varsity basketball team outscored Adrian 30-11 in the second half Sept. 28, to win, 41-19.

Although they played sluggishly in their first league game against Jackson County Western Sept. 30 at home, they managed to pull out a 32-23 win with a full-court press Western couldn't handle.

Chelsea stole the ball 18 times against Adrian, (mostly in that crucial third quarter) setting up easy baskets.

Adrian led, 6-2, at the end of the first quarter, but Chelsea caught up, and led, 11-8, in the half. Chelsea really opened up a lead in the third quarter, said coach Paul Terpstra, with good shooting and aggressive defense.

Chelsea shot 32 percent from the floor, and 50 percent of their free throws.

Kelly Hawker was the leading scorer with 13; Samantha Collinsworth, 10; JoAnn Tobin and Kris Mattoff, 6; Anne Weber, Tina Paddock, and Jenny Cattell, 2 each.

Hawker was the leading rebounder with 13, and Tobin had 7.

Chelsea and Western were tied, 6-6, at the end of the first quarter. Chelsea led, 11-8, at the half, and 20-16 at the end of the third quarter.

Western started turning over the ball in the fourth quarter, when they had trouble with

SEC ROUND-UP:

Lincoln Leads Conference; Chelsea, Dexter Close Behind

Lincoln sits alone atop the Southeastern Conference football standings following last Friday's round of games. The Railsplitters, who defeated Ida, 14-0, in a non-league contest, are 2-0 in the SEC.

Bunched in a four-way tie for second place are Chelsea, Dexter, Saline and Milan, each with 1-1 conference records. Milan upset Chelsea, 13-12, while Saline was romping over Jackson County Western 25-0. Dexter lost a non-league game to Erie-Mason, 21-8.

Winless Jackson County Western Brings up the rear at 0-2.

Lincoln 14, Ida 0

Lincoln High posted its third straight shutout with a 14-0 victory over Ida, holding Ida to just 101 yards in total offense. No team has gotten inside the Railsplitters' 25-yard line in 12 straight quarters of play.

Syrray Cannon accounted for both Lincoln touchdowns on runs of 6 and 10 yards. For the game the small but speedy Cannon has 126 yards on 20 carries. Second-string quarterback Ken Zander, playing in place of Darrell Federer who had to leave the game early in the second half with a knee injury, ran for two points after Cannon's second TD.

Erie-Mason 21, Dexter 8

Perhaps a letdown was inevitable for Dexter after its surprise win over Saline the week before, but in any case the Dreadnaughts lost a home game to Erie Mason, 21-8, in an error-filled contest.

Both teams took turns fumbling the ball away and making other mistakes, but previously winless Erie Mason proved to be the better opportunists.

The Eagles scored a touchdown and a safety by blocking two Dexter punts. Other TD's came on a 21-yard pass to climax a 71-yard sustained drive, and a one yard run after a fumble recovery.

Dexter's only touchdown was scored on a 75-yard dash by halfback Brad Kokmeyer just before the end of the first half. Wilfred Nonnenmaker added two points to make the half-time score 15-8, but the Dreadnaughts couldn't get anything going in the second half while Erie Mason was adding a clinching touchdown.

Saline 25, Western 0

Hurting over the previous week's upset loss to Dexter, the Saline Hornets took their frustrations out against Jackson County Western with a 25-0 win made easy by Western mistakes. The game was played at Jackson.

Saline recovered five Western fumbles and turned three of the turnovers into touchdowns. The Panthers fumbled all five times they had the ball in the first half.

The Hornets scored on short drives of 20, 27, and 15 yards after falling on fumbles and took a commanding 18-0 lead at the half. Their fourth score came on the game's only sustained drive, a 64-yard march following the second-half kickoff.

Chris Evans (two-yard run), Dave Detting (two-yard run), Craig Rathfon (22-yard pass from Larry Swanson) and Dan Pekrul (three-yard run) got the Saline touchdowns, and John Goodale added an extra point.

Defensive tackle Dean Balrattar recovered four fumbles for Saline.

8th Grade Girls Showing Improved Basketball Skills

Girls are starting to play driveway, backyard basketball, said Cheryl Vogel, eighth grade girls basketball coach, so they aren't coming in stone-cold to the Beach Middle school program.

Vogel, a former varsity coach who has taught the eighth grade team four years, says the 20 girls coming out for the team now have more discipline and expect to be pushed harder than when girls sports began.

It may be because they have more chances to play summer league softball or swim on a team, since Cameron Pool opened, she said, or it could be the influence of having older sisters and friends as role models.

Most of the girls played on the seventh grade team, so they are working now on patterned offenses, along with improving basic skills.

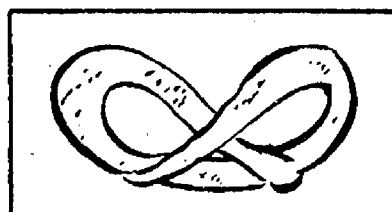

Everyone should get a chance to play, she said, although with 20 team members, not everyone may be able to play in every game.

"You learn more in a game, because you have to play at someone else's speed," she said, "instead of setting up a rhythm at practice."

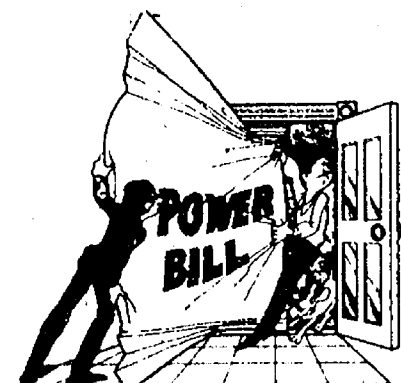

Saline will and always has been a tough opponent, she said. Chelsea plays them Oct. 13. After opening with Lincoln yesterday, the Bullpups will play Dexter 4 p.m. at home Wednesday, Oct. 6, and Milan away Oct. 11.

Members of the eighth grade team, which is a tall team for eighth graders, she said, include Alison Chasteen, Jodi Keezer, Kris Zerkel, Mary Lazarz, Kathryn Morgan, Sallie Wilson, Karen Weber, Kelly Ghent, Cindy Stirling, Pam Brown, Kim Ferry, Karan Kerby, Donna Guinan, Wendy Cavadas, Cris Hiltz, Tylen Greenleaf, Trisha Mattoff, Angie Defant, Wendy Harden, and Heather Parmen-tier.

GIVE ME A B! The Beach Middle school football cheerleaders got to yell hard and shake their pom-poms this week, as the middle school teams started their season. Michigan cheerleading squads are forming more creative, on-ground formations like these girls are doing here, since pyramid-mount cheers were banned from post-season tournaments.

Middle School Cheerleaders Develop Group Timing Skills

The skill the Beach Middle school cheerleaders work on the most is group timing, said Bullpup cheerleader advisor Sue Starkey, because that's a skill one wouldn't develop on one's own.

The eighth grade cheerleaders try out in the spring with a group cheer, an individual cheer, and a jump. They cheer at both home and away games, and work on basic skills such as arm movement and jumps for sideline cheers for the crowd to cheer along with, and for field and floor cheers, which are show cheers for the crowd.

They also help the seventh grade cheerleaders with their basic skills. All seventh grade girls who go out can be seventh grade cheerleaders. They make their own uniforms and concentrate on learning chant cheers. They do cheer at one game at the high school, but don't travel with the team.

Both squads of cheerleaders will attend an October clinic, which is put on by the Eastern Michigan University cheerleaders, at Chelsea High school.

Members of the eighth grade football cheerleaders are Chris Guard, Debbie Trinkle, Lynn Schaefer, Deana Slusher, Kris Michaud, Arne Kuenzel, Jackie Konwinski, and Heidi Apostol.

Members of the seventh grade cheerleaders are split into four squads for the four flag football teams.

Marilyn Hafner Earns Renewal Of Scholarship

Marilyn Hafner, a junior at Adrian College and a former Chelsea resident, was awarded the Adrian College Dean's Scholarship for the third year.

For the past three years, 16 students from each freshman class have been chosen on the basis of having an A- or better high school average in college preparatory subjects beginning with 10th grade, and having a 28 composite on the ACT or a 1200 total on the SAT college entrance exam.

Scholarship amounts vary according to academic qualifications and financial need, with the amount increasing each year of the four-year award.

Hafner is the daughter of Vincent Hafner of 19600 Cavanaugh Lake Rd. and Willetta Hafner of 127 Orchard.

Japanese Exchange Student Finds Tennis Best Link

JAPANESE EXCHANGE STUDENT MIKA KIDOAKI serves in her match against Adrian Sept. 30 at home. She is an avid tennis player, and played for two years in Japan. She is a very coachable player, said tennis coach Terry Schreiner. "She can even hit to a player's backhand, when you tell her to." Kidoaki learns more English every day, but after a hard day of trying to follow fast-paced lectures, she says, tennis practice is a real outlet.

She's learning English, but perhaps the best language Japanese exchange student Mika (Mee-ka) Kidoaki speaks in Chelsea is tennis.

This summer she wrote Marvin and Charlene Dewitt, with whom she would be living during her year-long stay here, that she was interested in playing on the school team. She had taken lessons at a Japanese club and competed for two years.

She spoke little English when she met the Dewitt family Sept. 1 at Metro Airport, but she quickly shared the number one singles spot on the Chelsea High school girls tennis team with Carolyn Chandler.

She rooted for her favorite players, Chris Evert Lloyd and John McEnroe, when she watched the U.S. Open on the Dewitt's television, and like most tennis players, she says her forehand is better than her backhand.

She is one of three Youth for Understanding exchange students in the Chelsea area. Hans Timmer, from The Netherlands is staying with Richard and Sharon Sundling's family, and Gabreilla Meier of Switzerland is living with the Tom and Marilyn Lewis family.

The Dewitts specifically requested an Oriental student, when they applied for a Youth for Understanding student several years ago. Marvin, a Mill and Cedar Lake park ranger, had done military service in Korea, and was intrigued by the Orient.

They also expressed a preference for someone who would accompany them to First United Methodist church services. Kidoaki, 18, is a Buddhist, but says she does want to learn about other religions.

The host family must provide room and board for the student, said Joan Carr, area representative for Youth for Understanding, and the students provide their own spending money.

Although the host family doesn't necessarily have to have children, she said, most students express a preference to have brothers and sisters during their stay.

Language structural differences between English and Japanese do make communication more difficult for Kidoaki and the Dewitts, than perhaps European students whose native language is more closely related.

But Kidoaki has an English-Japanese dictionary, which she keeps close by for a quick flip through. Charlene Dewitt, a former elementary school teacher who teaches evening adult education, also reassures Kidoaki, when the talking gets tough, with a pat on her knee or squeeze of her shoulder.

Each day Kidoaki learns more words—sometimes rather painfully as with her fiction class. They are studying Joseph Heller's "Catch-22," a novel which is confusing to even a native English speaker, since it bounces back and forth between the present and past tense.

She tapes her U.S. government lectures, so she can study them again at night. But algebra is easy for her, she says, since she had that in elementary school in Japan.

She's had to get used to homework, since that isn't done in Japan. But there she went to school six long days a week, and here she has a two-day week-end.

Her parents live in a Tokyo suburb, Chiba, a steel town of 375,000.

The open land and sky around the Dewitts' 4700 Bush Rd. home, seemed to startle her, said Marvin Dewitt. One clear night she seemed so amazed by the stars one could see in the countryside, since Chiba has "dirty sky."

One night while he worked in the family garden on the potatoes, she came out to watch him, a bit amazed at having enough land around one's home to grow vegetables for canning. She and her mother shopped for groceries daily.

She grew up eating fish as her only meat in Japan, but came back for seconds of rabbit, when the family had that, said Dewitt. She hasn't been too keen about red meat such as beef, though.

One evening she cooked a Japanese meal for them, a chicken bouillon-based custard dish, that even the Dewitts' sons Travis, 7; Paul, 5; an Philip, 2, liked, which is a minor miracle, he said.

Charlene Dewitt says she likes having a girl in their home for a change, and both she and Kidoaki were surprised to learn they did dishes differently. Water is abundant in Japan, so she is used to rinsing more, while Charlene does more scrubbing.

Both Charlene and Marvin say they enjoy having an older child in the home too, along with the benefits of sharing cultures.

Kidoaki says everyone she has met in Chelsea, students, teachers, and tennis players have been very friendly. But a girlfriend of hers who is staying elsewhere in Michigan, has experienced anti-Japanese feeling.

The Dewitts say they sense it may be lonely for Mika here, because of the language barrier and the homesickness she feels after getting a letter. But even after a hard day of Joseph Heller, Kidoaki can always look forward to tennis practice.

She may not understand the Chelsea-Saline rivalry that tennis coach Terry Schreiner tried to describe to her, while the team traveled to their match there.

"But you can tell she loves the game," said Schreiner. "She looks like she's having such fun out there."

Fire Dept. Responds to Four Calls

Chelsea's fire department made four runs Tuesday through Saturday of last week.

Two calls were logged on Tuesday. One involved a car fire at Hankard and Noah Rds., the other a truck fire on I-94 near the Kalmbach Rd. exit. Neither was serious.

On Wednesday the department was called on an ambulance run to 215 W. Summit St. to transport a person to the hospital.

A small grass fire on the north side of I-94, three-quarters of a mile east of the Fletcher Rd. exit, brought firemen out on Saturday morning.

"Feel the dignity of a child. Do not feel superior to him, for you are not."

MRS. EMILIE POLENS, co-director of the Waterloo Nature Center, drives a trail-marker stake in preparation for Saturday's Hike-A-Thon which will raise funds to support the center's activities.

The two "eyes" on the tree are another type of trail sign. The Hike-A-Thon will cover a scenic 20-mile trail from Big Portage Lake campground to the Nature Center.

Hike-A-Thon Will Benefit Waterloo Nature Center

Persons who want to take a long but fun walk for a good cause can do it on Saturday, Oct. 9, when the Waterloo Nature Center will stage a 20-mile Hike-A-Thon as a fund-raising project.

The center, located on Bush Rd. in the Waterloo Recreation Area, depends entirely on private financing. The Michigan Department of Natural Resources, which formerly operated the center, dropped its funding support two years ago because of the state budget crunch.

A non-profit organization incorporated as the Waterloo Natural History Association now keeps the center going with income from memberships, donations and small service charges. It is a touch-and-go, almost day-to-day operation, and the Hike-A-Thon is intended to help make ends meet.

"We hope to raise several thousand dollars from this event," said Mrs. Emilie Polens, co-director of the center. "It all depends on how many hikers come out and what they obtain in the way of sponsorship."

Co-operating with the Natural History Association in putting on the Hike-A-Thon is the Huron Valley Chapter of the Sierra Club, an organization devoted to protecting the environment and maintaining natural ecosystems.

As of late last week more than 75 persons had indicated interest in going on the hike, which will begin at the Big Portage Campground off Seymour Rd. and wind eastward for 20 miles to the Nature Center. The route is scenic but rugged, with many hills to go up and down and considerable sand to traverse. It is especially attractive during the fall color season.

Participants are asked to find sponsors who will pay an agreed-upon rate for each mile that the hiker covers. All the money will go to support the nature center. Hikers are responsible for collecting pledges and turning in the proceeds.

Mrs. Polens emphasized that it isn't necessary for walkers to complete the full 20 miles, which is a long distance that only experienced hikers in good physical condition should attempt to do in one day.

There will be checkpoints manned by Sierra Club volunteers every 3 to 4 miles along the well-marked trail, and a tired hiker may call it quits at any one of them. Transportation back to the Portage Lake Campground will be provided from any of the checkpoints as well as from the end point at the nature center.

Water will be available at the checkpoints, but hikers must carry with them any food they plan to consume enroute. Lightweight high-energy foods—candy bars, granola, gorp (a mixture of dried fruits and nuts) and the like—are recommended. A light poncho or windbreaker is also suggested. Food, extra clothing and other sundries are best transported in a small daypack.

"The Waterloo Trail isn't known to very many people," Mrs. Polens said, "and one of the Hike-A-Thon's purposes is to get more people acquainted with it. It's an excellent trail, at least as good as those up north which hikers from down here have to travel a long way to get to."

She also hopes that more people will become interested in and support the Nature Center, which last year provided outdoor education experiences for more than 9,000 school children.

For those who participate in Saturday's Hike-A-Thon there is a prize incentive. Everyone who completes the full 20 miles will receive a Waterloo Nature Center tee-shirt. Ann Arbor merchants have donated prizes of camping equipment for hikers who bring in the most money from sponsors.

There will be no prizes for early finishers. "This isn't a race," Mrs. Polens emphasizes. "We want people to take their time and enjoy the walk." Even so, a couple of marathon runners have expressed interest in trying to run the whole route, which will not be easy because of the terrain and footing.

Hikers may start from Portage Lake any time between 8 a.m. and 10 a.m. and should plan to finish their walk, at either the Nature Center or some intermediate checkpoint, by 5 p.m.

In case of rain the event will be postponed to Oct. 16. Postponement information may be obtained by calling the Nature Center, 475-8069, on Saturday morning.

Persons interested in making the hike or sponsoring a hiker should call either the Nature Center number or Mrs. Polens at her home, 475-7840.

"...We Never Talked About That..."

Almost everyone, in the course of making funeral arrangements says something like this: "Oh, I wish I knew what he would have liked. We... we never talked about it and... I just don't know..."

It isn't necessary that those left behind be burdened with this added agony of indecision. The thoughtful, sensible thing to do, is to record your wishes in advance of necessity.
