Boy Dies No Election Worries for In Crash Unopposed Comm. G. Merkel On I-94

A 12-year old boy was killed and a 22-year-old man seriously injured when their pickup truck ran off eastbound I-94 two-tenths of a mile east of the M-52 interchange early Saturday morning and hit a disabled van parked on the shoulder.

Pronounced dead at the scene was David H. Turner, of 20093 Kinyon St., Taylor, who was a passenger in the truck driven by Clarence D. Murray of 10933 Baraga St., Taylor. Murray was taken to Chelsea Community Hospital and then transferred to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor, with two broken bones in his neck.

The accident occurred during darkness at 6:55 a.m. There was no one in the van at the time. It had been abandoned at 5:30 a.m. after breaking down. Both vehicles were demolished.

Trooper Robert Ezinga of the Jackson State Police post said Murray and Turner had been hunting raccoons all night and were returning to their Taylor homes. Several coon hounds in the bed of the pickup truck were unhurt.

The M-52 exit of I-94 east was closed for about two hours while the wreckage was cleared away.

While almost all other candidates in today's election were out doing feverish wind-up campaigning last week, George A. Merkel was helping his wife conduct a yard sale at their 142 Van Buren St. home.

And while others will be hovering around telephones tonight, awaiting word of the latest returns, Merkel plans to be attending a party, "maybe one given by some of my Democrat friends."

Merkel, incumbent 1st District County Commissioner and a Republican, is a rarity among candidates in this or any other election. He is running unopposed. That means he may well be among the more relaxed and calm people hereabouts when the voting ends sometime after 8 o'clock tonight.

"I know I'm going to win," Merkel said. "The only question is how many votes I get, and that really doesn't matter. I suppose there may be a few write-ins against me, but I'm not going to worry about them."

Merkel had his hands full in the August primary, when he won a squeaker victory in a three-way race for the Republican nomination in the newly drawn and apportioned 1st District which includes 10 townships in west Washtenaw county.

After a recount he was declared an 18-vote winner over James R. Spears of York township. Donald E. Limpert of Manchester ran third, not too far behind.

"I probably didn't campaign as hard in the primary as I should have," Merkel second-guesses. Reapportionment added considerable new territory to his district, including some down toward Milan where the Merkel name is not as well known as it is in the Chelsea area. "I guess I should have worked a little harder, but it came out all right, even though 18 votes is too close for comfort."

For the general election Merkel admits that he hasn't done anything except to remind friends that his name is on the ballot. He has spent no money, put up no signs, taken out no ads, attended no meetings for candidates.

"I just didn't see any reason to spend time and money when there was no need to," he says.

The redrawn 1st District is expected to be as heavily Republican as its predecessor, which means 2 to 1 or better. That is why no Democrat was willing to challenge for the seat on the Board of County Commissioners. It is a hopeless prospect.

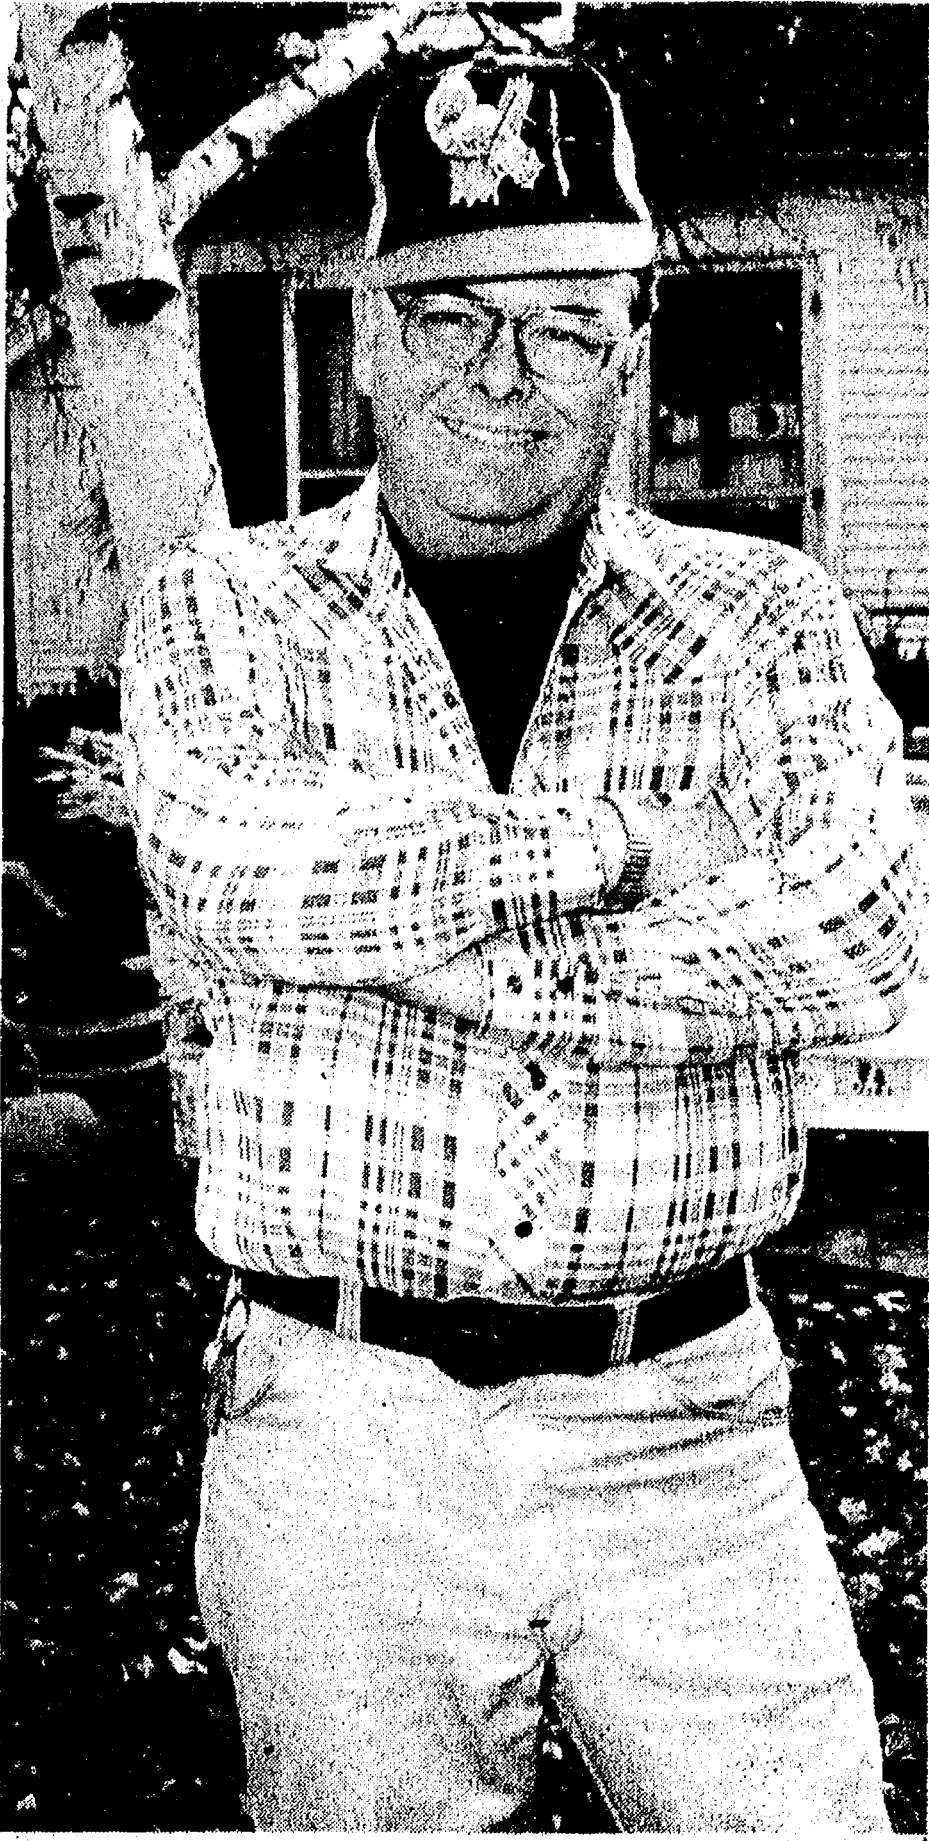

Merkel is happy that he hasn't had to campaign this fall and, instead, has been able to attend to his business interests which include work as a building maintenance contractor, ownership of the Sylvan Hotel and management of a group of gas wells.

"I'm not a real politician anyway," he explains. "I don't have any ambitions beyond being a county commissioner, and I sure don't want to work at politics full time like some people do."

When his election is officially confirmed, Merkel will represent 10 townships with a combined population of 25,000. His old district included seven townships. He will be starting his fourth term as a commissioner.

"I don't intend to do anything much different on the board than I have in the past," Merkel said. "I think I have a pretty good sense of what people out here want and expect of me as their representative. Even though it's bigger, the district really hasn't changed much."

A good guess is that a lot of other office-seekers who will be biting their fingernails tonight as the returns come in envy George Merkel. He's got it made.

GEORGE A. MERKEL was about as relaxed as a person can be when this picture was taken late last week. Running unopposed as the Republican candidate for County Commissioner from the First District, Merkel was helping his wife with a yard sale while most other candidates in today's election were out scrambling for votes.

Rezoning May Bring Party Store

The Chelsea Village Council has approved rezoning of a parcel of property on N. Main St., almost directly across from the Sir Pizza restaurant, from industrial to commercial.

An unconfirmed but reliable report is that the site, which includes a yellow cinder block building and some adjacent lands on both sides, will be developed into a convenience store.

The Standard's attempts to contact Thomas C. Eisele, who is believed to be at least a part owner of the property, were unsuccessful.

The building was at one time a small manufacturing plant and in more recent years had been used for storage by Central Fibre Products, located immediately to the south. The former Central Fibre premises are now controlled by a development group of which Eisele is a principal along with Drs. Michael Papo and James H. Botsford.

The rezoned building has been reroofed and repainted, and is apparently intended to house the convenience store.

Whether the business will include gasoline pumps is undetermined. The site is considered a logical place to put a gas station, because there presently are none on the north end of town. Motorists coming into Chelsea on M-52 from the north have to drive through the central business district before finding a service station.

Oil Firm Building Delayed for Winter

Since winter is closing in, no date has been set for construction of North American Exploration's one story office building across from Pierce Park, said Henry Merkel, vice-president of the firm and former Chelsea resident now living in Brooklyn.

The firm had their site plan approved by the Chelsea Planning Commission Oct. 12. The 5,850 square-foot building will be brick, with a copper flashing and a hand-split cedar shake-shingled roof, said Merkel. The billboards and Associated Builders white-frame structure now on the two-acre lot will be removed, and trees will line Main St. along the lot.

The firm employs seven persons now, some of which are part-time geologists and land men, he said. When the firm expands to the Chelsea office, there may be new jobs created in support staff.

The two-year old firm chose the site, he said, because of its proximity to I-94 and because it is a centralized location for the partners: himself; Martin Merkel, secretary, of 13228 Chelsea-Dexter Rd.; and Russell Hilden, president, of Livonia. The firm is now leasing office space in Manchester.

The discovery of the Niagara formation in the early 1970s really stimulated oil and natural gas exploration in the lower peninsula, said Merkel. The belt formed by glaciers extends in a crescent from Detroit to Stockbridge, New Holland, Manistee and Alpena.

8 Deer-Auto Crashes in Area For 6-Day Period

Be on the lookout for deer while you are driving.

In six days last week, there were 10 automobile accidents in the western part of the county, and eight of those involved deer, according to sheriff's department reports.

Two of those accidents occurred during the middle of the day, so use caution at all times but especially from twilight to dawn.

Accidents haven't just been on back roads, but on I-94, M-52, and North Territorial also.

Moderate to Heavy Vote Expected Today In General Election

This is Election Day. The polls will be open until 8 p.m., and anyone in line at that time will be able to vote.

Voter turnout is expected to be moderate to heavy for an off-year election in which the U. S. presidency is not at stake. The election is viewed nationally as a referendum on President Reagan's economic policies, which have resulted so far in lower inflation and interest rates, and higher unemployment.

In Michigan, interest focuses on the race for governor between Republican Richard H. Headlee and Democrat James J. Blanchard, both seeking to replace William G. Milliken who is retiring after serving longer than any previous holder of the post.

Democrats sense a good chance to regain the governorship after more than 20 years of Republican rule, and that is expected to spur a higher than usual showing of Democrats at the voting booths. Historically, the Democratic turnout has been light in off-year elections.

Also being contested at the state-wide level is a race for the U. S. Senate seat now held by Democrat Donald W. Riegle, who is being challenged by Republican Philip E. Ruppe.

Likewise up for grabs are the state posts of attorney general and secretary of state, but the races have not generated a great deal of interest as measured by pre-election publicity and media coverage.

Underlying the campaigns for governor and senator has been the theme of who can do the most to bring Michigan out of its severe economic tailspin characterized by depressed automobile sales and unemployment rates of more than 15 percent.

On the local level there are several spirited contests.

Republican Carl D. Pursell is seeking re-election to the 2nd District Congress seat which has been reapportioned to include west Washtenaw county. His opponent is Democrat George W. Sallade, a veteran politician with a lot of moxie but very little money for campaign purposes.

Democrat Lana Pollack and Republican Roy Smith are slugging it out for the 18th District State Senate seat presently held by Smith. On election eve their race was rated as a toss-up.

The most bitterly fought contest in the west Washtenaw area has been that between Republican Margaret O'Connor and Democrat Henry J. Flandysz for State Representative from the 52nd District. The two are poles apart philosophically, and their respective campaigns represent perhaps the most clear definition between candidates that the local ballot has to offer.

Incumbent 14th District Court Judge Thomas F. Shea faces a strong challenge from Walter K. Hamilton. Judicial election campaigns are usually gentle, but this one has not been.

As usual, contests for membership on the State Board of Education, University of Michigan Board of Regents, Michigan State University Board of Trustees, and Wayne State University Board of Governors have attracted little voter interest and attention. Winners generally ride in on the coattails of whichever party happens to prevail in the more visible races.

Nor have judicial races, except that for 14th District Court, created much excitement. Two Michigan Supreme Court justices are to be elected from among four candidates including incumbent Blair Moody, Jr. John H. Gillis and Myron H. Wahls are certain to be returned as Court of Appeals judges because they are running unopposed. There is a choice between Geraldine B. Ford and Roman S. Gibbs for another Court of Appeals post.

William F. Ager and Henry T. Conlin have no opposition for re-election as Circuit Court judges, and neither has Rodney E. Hutchinson as Probate Judge.

There is a race for two positions on the Washtenaw Community College Board of Trustees, with four candidates running.

George A. Merkel of Chelsea is certain to retain his position on the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners, representing the 1st District. He has no opponent.

Of the seven referendum proposals on the ballot, the only one that has generated much public discussion is E, an advisory vote on a nuclear weapons freeze between the United States and the Soviet Union.

At the tail-end of the ballot is a proposition to renew a one-mill special operating tax levy for Washtenaw Community College. Supporters are concerned that voters will be so tired after making the other 34 required decisions that they will either ignore the issue or vote no out of anger at the long ballot.

Richard Schaules Retires From Postmaster Position

Richard E. Schaules, 62, retired last Friday from the position as Chelsea postmaster he had held since 1965, terminating a 28-year career in the U. S. Postal Service.

Schaules, who lives at 14450 Island Lake, Rd., plans to continue living at that address where his wife, Alberta, operates an antique store.

"I'll be getting more into the antique business while relaxing a little bit and doing some odd jobs around the house that I've had to put off," Schaules said. "We like the Chelsea area and definitely plan to stay in it. We won't be moving south."

He will also pursue his golf and bowling hobbies and otherwise "just plain keep busy."

Schaules, a native of Detroit, worked there with his father for several years in the tile and linoleum business following service in World War II. Tiring of life in the big city, he moved to Chelsea in 1953 and spent a year as a traveling salesman.

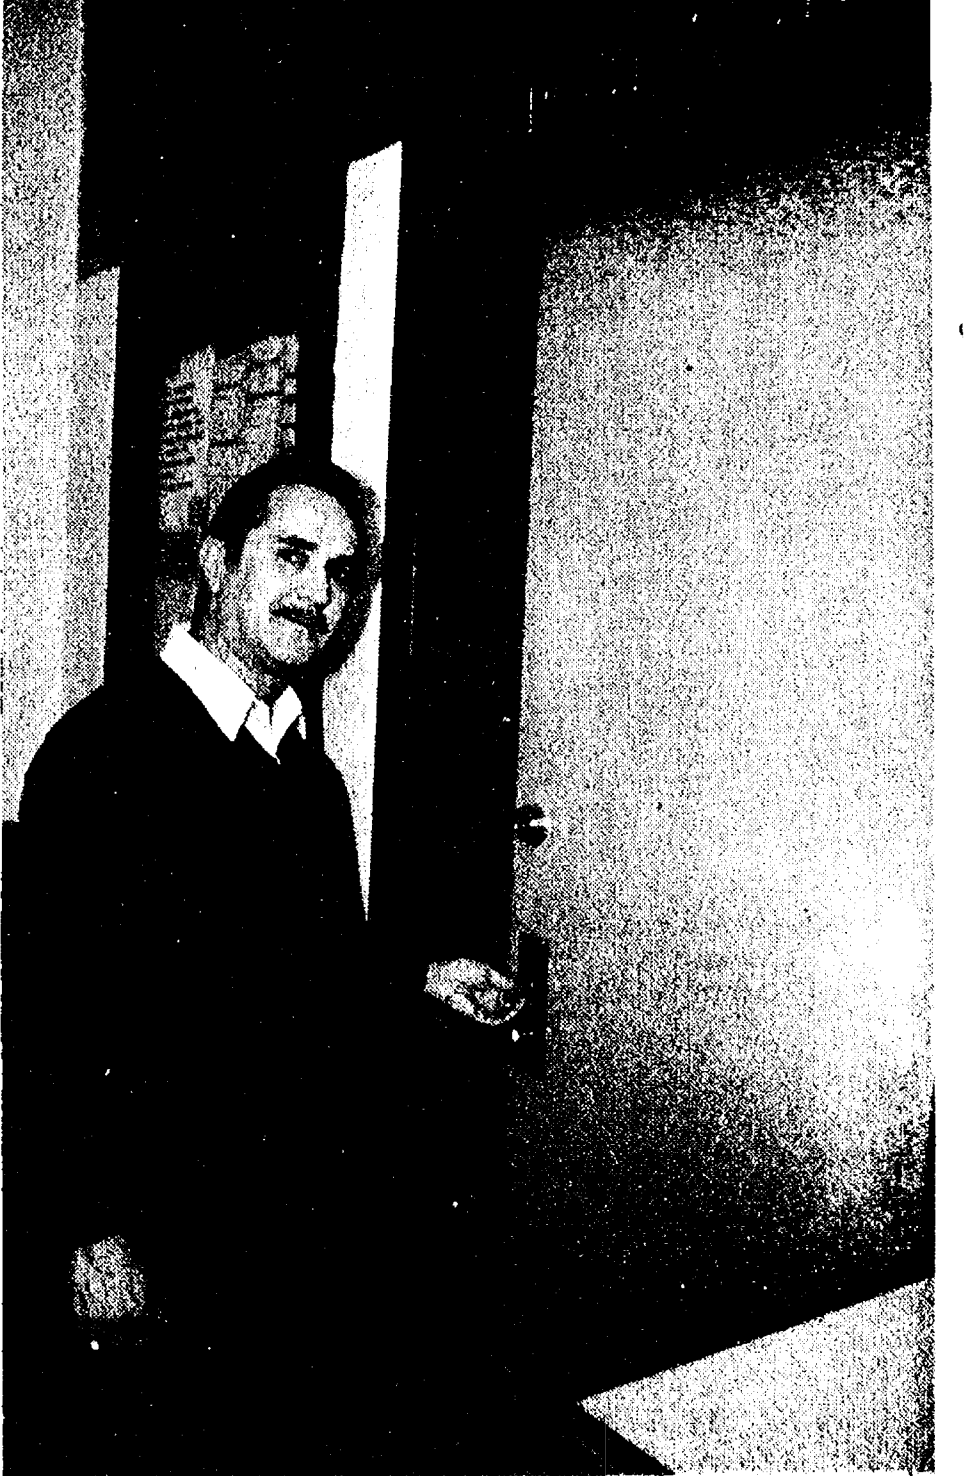

"One day my wife suggested to me that maybe I should try for a civil service job, because I was getting mighty tired of being on the road," Schaules recalls. "I applied to the state and the federal government. I had interviews for several different jobs, and finally took one as a substitute mail carrier in Chelsea."

His rise through the ranks of the Postal Service was rapid. He became consecutively a regular carrier, a clerk, and assistant postmaster.

When the postmastership became open in 1965, Schaules applied but without much hope. Lyndon B. Johnson was president, and it was assumed that a deserving Democrat from outside the area would be appointed to the job in this then and now heavily Republican locale.

Schaules got the appointment, somewhat to his surprise, and has held it since. He was officially named by John Gronowski, U. S. postmaster-general in the Johnson administration.

There have been "lots of changes" over the years, Schaules notes. "When I started, we had 3 1/2 mail routes. Now we have eight. That tells you something about how the area has grown. People have moved out here because they like the area, just like I do."

CHELSEA POSTMASTER Richard E. Schaules turns the key in his office door upon retiring last Friday after 27 years on the job. His successor has not been appointed.

Mail handling has steadily become more mechanized and computerized over the years. "We don't sort or cancel outgoing mail any more," Schaules said. "We just batch it and ship it into the Detroit Sectional Center, where all that work is done."

Incoming mail is still hand-sorted, routed and delivered to Chelsea postal patrons much as it used to be, he added.

Schaules thinks the changes, particularly the introduction of the zip code system, have been for the better in terms of moving today's much higher volume of mail.

While acknowledging that there has been considerable public criticism of the Postal Service in recent years, Schaules said he has received relatively little in Chelsea.

Mr. and Mrs. Schaules have two children, Richard L. Schaules and Gayle Murphy, both of Chelsea.

No announcement has been made as to who will succeed Schaules as Chelsea postmaster. The job will be put up for bids under a new system which has replaced the old political appointment process.

Schaules has recommended Larry Williams, his assistant for the past 11 years, as his successor, but expects that a temporary officer-in-charge will be named while final audits and other procedures are completed.

Visiting Nurse Comes to CCH From China

Li Xue-Zeng, a nurse from Peking, China, has arrived at Chelsea Community Hospital to begin a three-month stay while she participates in the operation and management of the hospital's nursing department.

Her visit to the United States is believed to be the first of its kind anywhere in the nation for a nursing representative of the People's Republic of China.

While in Chelsea, she will live with Carol and Gordon Shaff of 345 Washington St. Mrs. Shaff is secretary for rehabilitation services at the hospital.

Li Xue-Zeng is editor of the Chinese Nursing Journal. Her visit to the United States and to Chelsea was arranged with the assistance of Mrs. Leonard Woodcock, wife of the U. S. ambassador to China.

Players Seek Talent for 6 Paid Positions

Chelsea Area Players would like to get local talent for the six paid positions in their 1983 summer musical, "Kiss Me Kate."

Those positions are artistic director, musical director, technical director, choreographer, costumer and rehearsal pianist.

Cole Porter wrote the lyrics and music for this lively show, which includes the famous songs, "So In Love," "Another Opening, Another Show," and "Wonderbar."

Anyone interested in the six positions should send a resume to Chelsea Area Players, 12470 Trinkle Rd., Dexter 48130 by Nov. 11. After that date the Players will broaden their search to Jackson and Ann Arbor. Call 478-9576 for more information.

Halloween 'Tricks' Are Mostly Minor

Chelsea police made 17 runs last Saturday night, the traditional "devil's night" before Halloween.

Although most of the incidents were minor—involving leaf fires, egg-throwing, window-pecking and the like—there was one serious instance of malicious property destruction at the home of LaFave, Chelsea's head football coach, 430 S. East St.

Two cars smashed the front and rear windows of a 1980 Toyota automobile parked in the LaFave driveway. Police Chief Robert Aeillo said an investigation is continuing.

Halloween itself was "very quiet," Aeillo said. There were no reported incidents of tampered candy or anything similar. About 70 persons took advantage of a service offered by Chelsea McDonald's and ran candy collections through a metal detector made available there.

WHAT EMOTIONAL STAGES ARE THERE FOR THE SURVIVORS?

In her widely-read books on death-and-dying, noted psychiatrist Dr. Elisabeth Kubler-Ross discusses many perplexing aspects of coping with terminal illness . . . from the point of view of the patient, the medical professionals and the families involved.

Her studies indicate that the stages of denial, anger, bargaining, depression, and acceptance of death are common to most terminally ill patients.

Some of these stages are common, too, with the survivors of the deceased. Survivors, too, may experience a denial of the death of a loved one. They may also experience anger, depression, and finally, acceptance . . . and then begin rebuilding the pieces of family life without the deceased.

Relatives and friends all interact and find strength in communicating and sharing each other's strong points, thus making the adjustment less difficult and prolonged.

For more information on how to cope with these stages, stop by for suggested reading material.

Democrats Lose Reapportionment Battle in U.S. Supreme Court
 Democrats have lost their challenge of the recent legislative reapportionment plan in the U.S. Supreme Court but said they will be looking to a Democratic governor and control in the Legislature to rewrite the plan.

The nation's highest court turned down an appeal, 7-2. Four justices were needed to even bring the question before them for consideration.

Only Justices John Paul Stevens and Harry Blackman said they would hear the appeal while the majority, in standard language, said the case did not involve a "substantial federal question."

Justice Sandra Day O'Connor had previously refused to upset the reapportionment plan for the 1982 election.

The plan was drawn under guidelines established by the state Supreme Court which required Senate and House districts to respect county boundaries while permitting a maximum population spread between the largest and smallest districts of 16.4 percent.

The plan is generally believed to favor Republicans, but Democrats are looking to regain the control of the Legislature on the heels of continued recessions in the national and state economies.

With a Democratic Legislature coupled with a Democratic governor (should James Blanchard win the general election) for the first time in 20 years, the reapportionment plan could be redrawn by the new Legislature and put in place before the 1984 general election.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:
 Zeke Grubb come to the country store Saturday night ready to make a case for lawyering as the world's oldest profession. He told the feller he allus had heard it was so, because where else could the void and darkness upon the face of the deep in the beginning come from. And Zeke said he knowed for a fact that two lawyers can git rich in a town where one would starve, so there's never been a problem about the being fruitful and multiplying.

What's worrying him now, Zeke went on, is that lawyers is multiplying to fast fer anybody's good. Furthermore, he said he took note that how many festering problems a country has got, and how few goods and services it is turning out is tied direct to how many lawyers is keeping everybody straight. Fer instant, he had saw where the U.S. has more lawyers per capiter than any country now or ever, and we got 127,530 more in training. This piece Zeke read our production of lawyers is up and production of everything else is down, and in Japan it's the exact opposite. The piece quoted a Japanese industrialist as saying fewer laws and fewer lawyers cleared the way fer work, where in the country legal weeds clogged up the rivers of commerce.

Actual, Zeke said, what had got him on lawyers was this item where three state appointed lawyers fer six children in Indianapolis want $5 million in fees. The children sued the state school system and won, so this means taxpayers of Indiana will be paying lawyers that beat em, then paying their lawyers that lost. The children's lawyers are asking $384 a hour fer their work where $100 is the going rate because they say they had to deal with "novel and complex law." Besides, they took the case on a contingent base, which means they wouldn't git anything if they had lost. Zeke said the novel and complex part is that lawyers have turned justice into a crap shoot they can't lose and the public can't win.

Clem Webster was strong agreed with Zeke. He had saw where a woman had sued the University of Minnesota fer some kind of civil rights, and she had got $100,000 from the state. Her lawyer was give $2 million by the state fer doing such a good job at only $240 a hour spread over 755 days of gitting ready and working through a 11-week trial. It ain't no wonder so many bright young people are going into law, Clem

A. Robert Kleiner, Democratic co-chair of the now defunct Commission on Legislative Reapportionment, said "I am really shocked to see (the Supreme Court) depart from one-man, one-vote standards.

"It makes the election this year even more important to elect a Democratic Senate, House and governor. That will assure we can adopt a new reapportionment plan closer to equal population."

He said he was surprised the appeal was not supported by Justices Thurgood Marshall and William J. Brennan, Jr., who are considered two of the most liberal members of the court.

Republican Party Chairman Mel Larsen called the action good news, but disagreed with Kleiner's assessment.

"I don't think they're saying as much about one-man, one-vote as about the state's rights. The (state) Supreme Court outlined very carefully their rationale for deviating from that standards—county lines, integrity of local boundaries, etc. There's not much reason to find a flaw."

He also suggested the Legislature would have a very difficult time drawing a new reapportionment plan, because the Supreme Court retained control.

The court declared the apportionment commission unconstitutional, because it was not controlled by standards for drawing districts.

It adopted a plan drawn under its standards after the Legislature failed to agree to plans. It said its plan would apply to this election, but Justice Charles Levin and John Fitzgerald, in supplemental opinions, also said allowed, the question is what are we going to do about such as keeping the cows milked and the corn growing and the trains running when the whole country is divided into clients and lawyers? Speaking of lawyers, broke in Ed Doolittle, is like speaking of policemen, you never speak kindly of one til you need him. Ed said he can't help but wonder if lawyers ain't behind the advance of most knowledge. Fer instant, would the world ever have learned that the Burger King Whopper really has 43.6 percent more fat the McDonald Big Mac if one hadn't sicked their lawyers on the other and told em to find out on a contingent base?

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

the Legislature would be controlled by the standards used in drawing the adopted plan.

Both Republicans and Democrats will be closely watching the upcoming election results, not only for their most immediate interests, but also for who has control to retain or change the current reapportionment plan drawn after the 1980 census.

CONGRESSMAN CARL PURSELL

Leadership

FOR THE 2nd DISTRICT.

The Chelsea area has been added to the 2nd Congressional District. While the district's boundaries are new, the leadership of Congressman Carl Pursell remains. Carl has represented the 2nd District for 6 years. He's a member of the influential Appropriations Committee . . . a first-rate legislator who is known for exceptional service to the people he represents.

FOR AGRICULTURE

The major change in the new 2nd District is the greatly increased agricultural territory. Carl is already hard at work on this part of his partnership with the district's people . . . meeting with farmers throughout the district . . . examining the commodities exchange and its impact on farm prices . . . talking with farm families about the economic squeeze facing America's farms.

Carl has already earned the endorsement of the Farm Bureau.

He recognizes two important truths:

1—The real experts on agriculture are those who make their living at it . . . so he listens to them.

2—Farmers are business people in one of the toughest businesses around, with problems similar to those of other business people. As a former small business owner, Carl understands those problems, and is sensitive to farmers' concerns.

The knowledge of local farmers, combined with Carl's legislative skill, can make a great partnership for 2nd District agriculture.

Congressman Pursell doesn't promise miracles. He does promise to listen, to learn, to help.

For long-range economic development, Carl is working on modernization of the St. Lawrence Seaway. That would make Michigan more competitive in national and world trade, and open new markets for our agricultural and industrial producers.

FOR ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

A lot of people talk about economic development. Congressman Pursell works at it.

He was a leader in getting more defense supply contracts for high unemployment areas, and convinced President Reagan to support his plan. He was a leader for a new rehabilitation tax credit to encourage business to stay and expand in Michigan.

FOR SENSIBLE FINANCIAL POLICY

Congressman Pursell voted to reduce your taxes. His vote helped cut your personal tax 5% last year, another 10% this year, with another 10% cut coming next year.

Carl has been on the front lines of the effort to control runaway government spending, and has helped to cut the rate of spending growth about in half. He believes in a balanced budget, and that spending controls must extend to all departments.

★ Chelsea's Management System . . .

The Chelsea Board of Education has adopted the philosophy that a school system is created to accomplish common purposes. This philosophy holds that a school district should be a goal-seeking mechanism; that is, an agency dedicated to the realization of stated objectives. Therefore, the Chelsea Board of Education has adopted a management-by-objectives system approach to educational management, in which goals and objectives are important starting points and give direction and meaning to the management process. This process involves the formulation of objectives, winning commitment of personnel to them, providing resources for the achievement of objectives, and managing to obtain the desired results.

The Chelsea model requires a great deal of "team management" involving the Board of Education, the administration, and the teaching staff. Also, as the model illustrates, the community, the staff, and students must be involved in the establishment of goals that the school district should be striving to obtain. They should also be involved in evaluating the performance of the schools in the current attainment of these goals. After district goals have been established and the evaluation of current attainment of these goals has been completed, the needs of the district should be determined.

The final, and most important, phase of this system involves a translation of established needs into school programs or curriculum. Workshops to set annual goals have been held the past five years. The goal workshops were originally held with administrators and Board members. Since 1978, teacher representatives, non-certified personnel representatives, and student representatives have taken part in the goal-setting workshops. These primary goals serve as a basis for the annual evaluation of the Superintendent of Schools.

Co-operatively, an evaluation instrument was designed and implemented for the evaluation of the Superintendent during the 1978-79 school year. The Superintendent is evaluated by the Board of Education and in accordance with the terms of the Superintendent's contract with the Board of Education.

Other district administrators are also evaluated on the basis of their attainment of goals and objectives that are established in a co-operative manner with the Superintendent of Schools. These goals and objectives are based upon specific areas of responsibility as established in their job descriptions. All district administrators are evaluated in writing by the Superintendent of Schools. The annual evaluations are reviewed orally with the Board of Education each April.

The Chelsea School District administrative staff, since 1978, has evaluated each teacher annually. The purpose of the evaluation of personnel is to identify strengths and weaknesses. If weaknesses are denoted, a remedial process is immediately put into effect to hopefully strengthen all identified weaknesses. It has now become practice that all teacher evaluations are placed on file for Board of Education review prior to the Board's necessary approval of continued tenure or continued probationary status.

Over-all, there has been an emphasis to be more thorough in the evaluation of all district personnel. Job descriptions for all non-certified personnel (secretaries, maintenance/custodial/cafe/cafeteria personnel, and bus drivers) have been reviewed and revised. It has been demonstrated that personnel will accomplish more if they have an exact knowledge of what it is they are expected to accomplish.

The management-by-objectives system is a road map for better productivity at all levels. We will demand more of ourselves as we seek excellence in education for our youngsters.

Recreation Council Budget Relies on United Way Funds

Chelsea United Way's contribution to Chelsea Recreation Council, almost 20 percent of the council's budget and the only large private donation, helps keep that ever popular summer softball, after-school roller skating, and newly developed gymnastics programs going in Chelsea, said Paul Bunten, president of the council.

More than 1,107 participated in these and other 1981 programs such as soccer, tennis, volleyball, biddy basketball, cross country skiing, and cheerleading.

Since the council's budget has historically been tight, United Way, which is nearing the end of its annual fund drive, has softened the blow of rising administrative costs such as liability and participant insurance, payroll, and any legal fees, said Bunten. (The council has found that paid referees are more dependable than volunteers.)

Programs are offered which have a "future," he said, such as being fun, educational, and that will attract enough participation to make reasonable overhead expenses worth it.

United Way

Although the council considered hockey at one time, he said, they found costs of maintaining an outdoor rink staggering. One program that has attracted much interest recently is gymnastics, which can be offered at already existing facilities, the high school gymnasium.

Development of the Dana fields at Vet's Park is good news for the tightly scheduled summer softball program, he said. Interest in softball has skyrocketed nationally because of both the fitness craze, and coed leagues, which make softball a social event for couples. Ann Arbor even rents fields in Ypsilanti for their softball program.

He would like to have enough field space to offer both a coed program and an adult women's softball league in Chelsea. "Until those fields are finished," he said, "we do not have enough space to do what we want to do."

Bunten, who umpires little league, says it's so gratifying to see the kids having fun and learning out on the field. One boy, who would always get out on strikes at the start of the season because he didn't have the confidence to swing the bat, was hitting homers by July and August. Another, who had real trouble fielding, was discovered to have bad eyesight. With glasses he was catching pop flies.

Besides being fun, and healthy for adults and children to have a recreation league, it also keeps children, who would otherwise have time on their hands, especially in summer, busy, he said. Bunten, an Ann Arbor policeman, appreciates this aspect of the program, he says, because idle time is potential for children getting into trouble.

Participation in the council's programs has increased every year since Bunten moved to Chelsea in 1973, he said, even though costs for some teams have increased because of inflation.

United Way is the largest private donation to the council, he said. The village of Chelsea, townships and other villages in the area also financially support the program. Chelsea school district provides office space and facilities.

A contribution to Chelsea United Way is a contribution to Chelsea Recreation Council, Chelsea Social Services, Chelsea Home Meal Service, Chelsea Area Transportation Service, nine other county agencies and state-wide programs.

Council Transfers Funds To Pay for Street Resurfacing

The Chelsea Village Council last week approved a transfer of $28,438.25 from the General Fund to the Local Street Fund as the village share of the cost for resurfacing a portion of Freer Rd. The work has been completed.

The village portion matched a payment of state funds made to Chelsea from gasoline and weight (license plate) tax revenues.

Benefit Banquet Will Help Fund 'Faith in Action'

A benefit banquet will be held at the Chelsea Community Hospital beginning at 7 p.m. Nov. 8 to help provide funding for Faith in Action.

Faith in Action, Inc., a non-profit corporation, began as a part of the community outreach of St. Barnabas Episcopal church and has grown to become an organization supported by most Chelsea churches. The group is non-denominational, with its officers and advisory members coming from all walks of community life and from almost every church.

It provides emergency assistance to people living in the Chelsea School District, along with others on a "special needs" basis.

Among its services are distribution of short-term food supplies, clothing, emergency funds and referrals to other agencies. These services have to date been funded entirely by contributions from the Chelsea churches and the generosity of Chelsea citizens.

The benefit banquet will enable Faith in Action to carry out its service to the community and enlarge its programs.

The Rev. Canon James McLaren, director of Crossroads-Detroit, will speak at the banquet. Crossroads, starting in one room at St. Paul's Episcopal Cathedral in Detroit, now serves the Detroit community from two locations. It provides many services including counseling, lunch programs and substance abuse assistance programs.

Tickets at $20 per person may be obtained from the clergy of Chelsea churches. Contributions are tax deductible.

IRS Has New Program On Understanding Taxes

The Internal Revenue Service has announced a major redesign of its "Understanding Taxes" program for 1983.

"Understanding Taxes" is a complete, free educational package, which teaches high school juniors and seniors important aspects of the Federal tax system. Approximately five million students used the course last year.

After a year long study, the new "Understanding Taxes" curriculum will include more information and skill development than ever before, the IRS said. The materials will now be presented in a "modular" format, permitting teachers greater flexibility when scheduling and teaching "Understanding Taxes."

The curriculum will include a line-by-line explanation of the Form 1040A and a discussion of a basic 1040 and Schedule A for itemized deductions. However, new chapters will also cover such information as the economics of taxation, tax legislation and facts and fallacies about the IRS.

Student course books, teachers' manuals, special training visual aids and audio-visual materials are supplied free by the IRS. Teachers do not have to be skilled in tax law to teach this course, said the IRS.

Because of the changes in the program, the IRS has also developed a workshop to instruct teachers on the many uses of the "Understanding Taxes" curriculum.

The IRS advised high school administrators, teachers and parents interested in learning more about offering "Understanding Taxes" program to contact the tax agency at 1-800-482-0670.

"...We Never Talked About That..."

Almost everyone, in the course of making funeral arrangements says something like this: "Oh, I wish I knew what he would have liked. We . . . we never talked about it and . . . I just don't know . . ."

It isn't necessary that those left behind be burdened with this added agony of indecision. The thoughtful, sensible thing to do, is to record your wishes in advance of necessity.

Girl Scouting in Chelsea Observes 50th Anniversary

More than 150 present and former Chelsea Girl Scouts gathered at St. Mary's school Sunday, Oct. 21 to celebrate a double occasion—the 50th anniversary of Girl Scouting in Chelsea and the birthday of the founder of American Girl Scouting, Juliette Gordon Low, who was born Oct. 31, 1860. Joining in the festivities were officers and executives of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council.

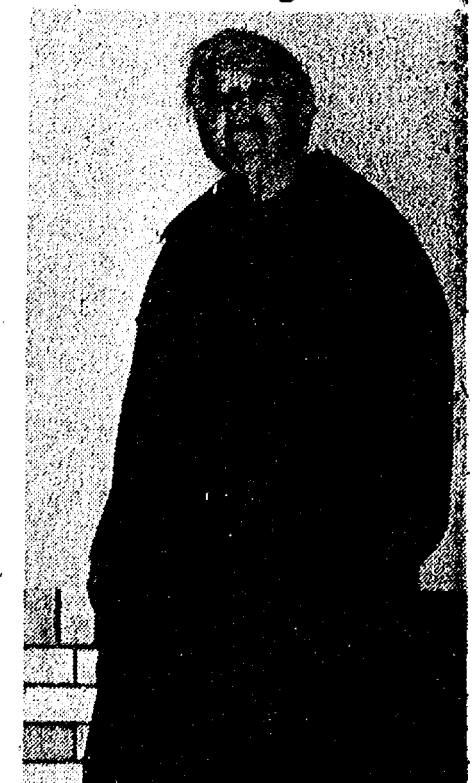

A highlight of the event was a fashion show of 1914 to 1979 Girl Scout uniforms from the collection of Connie Amick. The earliest uniforms were modeled by Beulah Jones, 91, and Emily Finch, 85, members of Troop 777, a senior troop centered in the Chelsea Methodist Retirement Home.

Former scouts in the fashion parade were Kathleen Morris, Laurie Heller, Trina Mindykowski, Debbie Morris, Nancy Heller and Kristen Muncer, while other uniforms from the rare collection were modeled by scouts Stephanie Harms, Tami Harris, Karen Pausell, Kristie Jachalke and Cathy Hoffman, as well as Janice Manning, leader of Troop 58, and Intertroop Chairman Lynda Longe.

Narrator of the unusual fashion show was Teresa Hoffman, a former member of Troop 689. An ensuing sing-along was led by Sue Williams. Lee Tremper, a former Girl Scout leader, delivered the keynote address: "Lose Your Spirit of Scouting? Never!" The Chelsea Historical Society, which furnished the refreshments at the celebration, received a special award which was accepted by society president Jean Storey. Will Connelly, a Chelsea publisher, also received an award for news assistance in the anniversary celebration.

EMILY FINCH, 85, a Girl Scout for five years in Senior Troop 777, and resident of Chelsea United Methodist Home, models a Girl Scout uniform from 1918 for Chelsea Girl Scouts 50th Anniversary Celebration. The uniform is olive drab serge and the tie is navy blue.

BEULAH JONES, 91 a resident of the Chelsea United Methodist Home, and four year member of Senior Troop 777, models a Leader's uniform from 1914, for the Chelsea Girl Scouts 50th Anniversary Celebration. Material and buttons were purchased from the National Girl Scout Headquarters at that time and Girl Scouts made their own uniforms.

SPOOKIEST COSTUME at the Kiwanis Halloween costume contest and parade Oct. 31 was won by a rather gruesome hospital group, Brady Murphy, Casey Murphy and Rob Thorn. The witch, Jennifer Bliss, took second place, and the monster, Jay Marentay, took third.

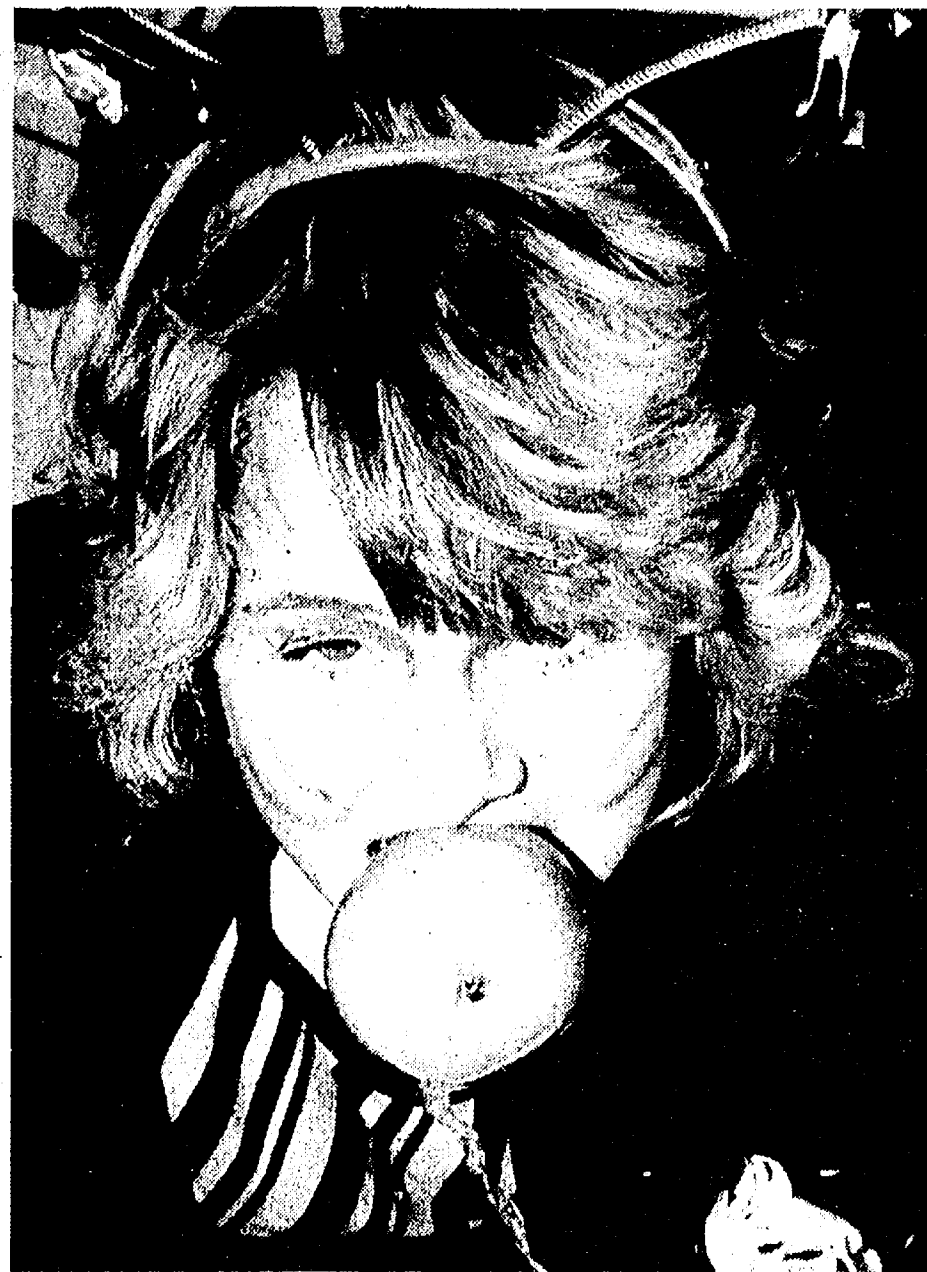

Chelsea Shows Off Halloween Highlights

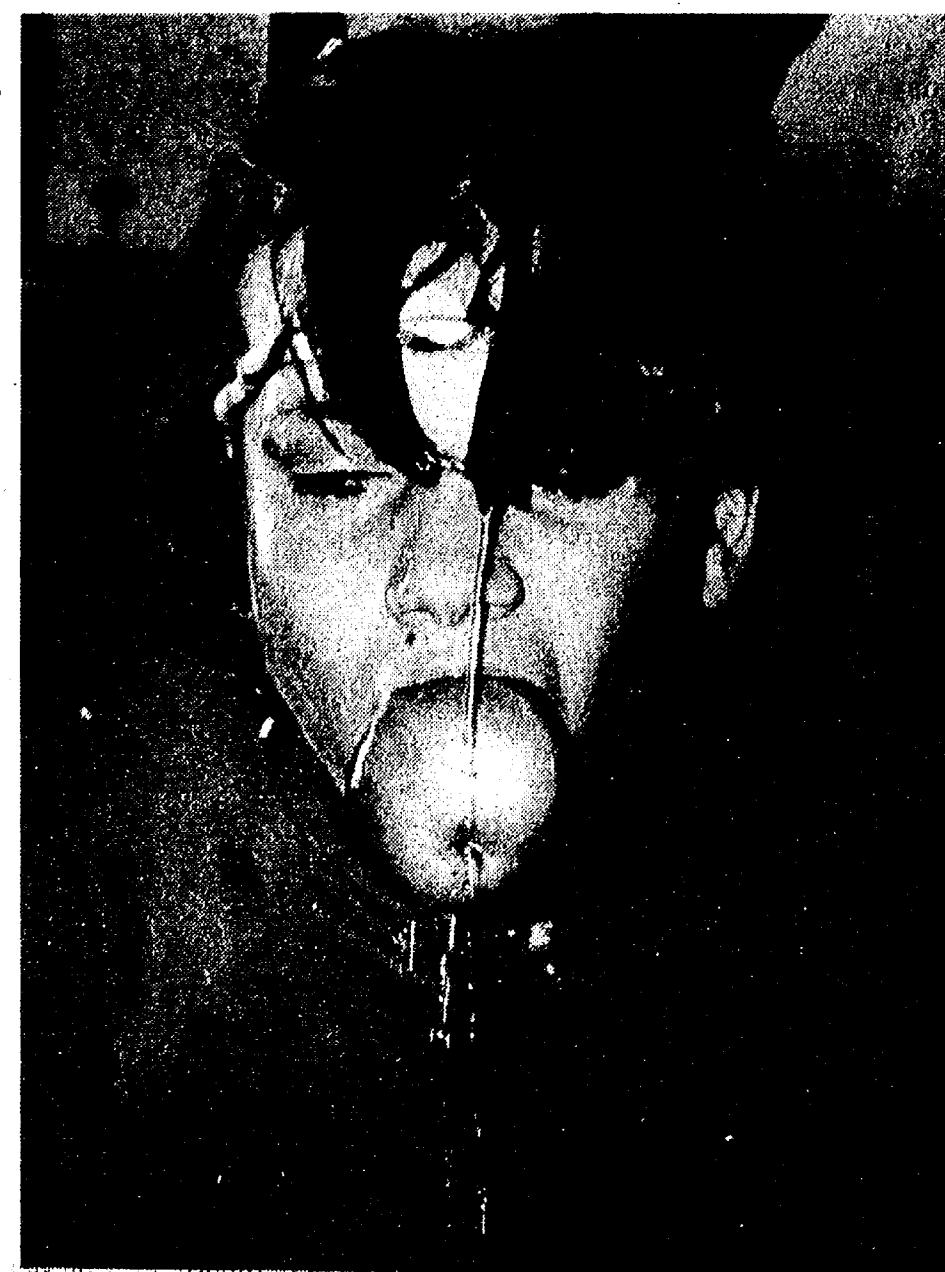

A FRIED EGG, Mindy Ryan, won most creative award at the Kiwanis Halloween costume contest and parade Oct. 31. Pac Man and Blinky, Michael and Kevin Long, took second, and a dinosaur, Peter John Holske, took third.

PUMPKIN DRUMMER, Tim Myer, with his "Chillsea One Bum Band" drum, won most traditional category at the Kiwanis Halloween costume contest and parade Oct. 31. Cinderella and Mouse, Rochelle and Rianne Jones, took second place, and clown, Melanie Hava, took third prize.

BOBBING FOR APPLES IS DRIPPY BUSINESS as Arlene Clark's fifth grade students Amy Thomson, with the antennae, and Jennifer Burnett, with the headband, can testify. North school had a parade Oct. 29 in the neighborhood for kindergartners in the morning and the upper grades in the afternoon. Children changed into their costumes before the parade and kept them on for in-class Halloween parties such as this one.

NORTH SCHOOL has a traditional parade through the neighborhood on the last school day before Halloween. Kindergartners marched in the morning, and these creatures from the upper grades at 2 p.m. Oct. 29. Theresa Lewis of McKinley Rd. is the old man on the left. The cheetah is Andy Hafner of W. Middle St. Carol Benedict is the bee, and her husband, Bob Benedict, North school principal, is the bee keeper. Shana Vosters of Waterloo Rd. is the clown; Matt Francis of South Lake Rd. is the soldier; and Andy Darwin is General Patton.

TWO FROGS, Heather and Gretchen Dehn, won funniest costume category at the Kiwanis Halloween costume contest and parade Oct. 31. Duckling, Layla Rosario, took second, and two ladies of the night, Bob Cianciolo and Don Marshall, took third prize.

Ghosts, Goblins, Pumpkins On Parade

PUMPKINS WITH A PURPOSE: Several departments at Chelsea Community Hospital created Halloween designs using pumpkins as a way of raising money for the hospital's child care center. Their handiwork was put on display outside the hospital dining room, and passersby were invited to select "winners" by putting coins into collection cups placed beside each entry. As may be seen in these pictures of two of the entries, a lot of effort and imagination went into the contest. Under the circumstances, there could be no losers.

JV Girl Cagers Win 2 During Week

Chelsea girls junior varsity basketball team stole their way to another winning week. Several fourth quarter steals were the key to their 35-28 win over Jackson County Western Oct. 28 away, and they stole the ball 19 times from Tecumseh, winning, 39-25, Oct. 28 away.

Chelsea and Western were tied, 10-10, at the end of the first quarter, in a game which was close the whole way. Chelsea barely led, 15-14, at half-time, and 25-24, going into the final quarter.

Chelsea finally got a 4 to 5 point cushion during the last two minutes of play.

The team had 18 steals, made 15 of 32 free throw attempts for 47 percent, made 10 of 38 field goal attempts, and had 33 rebounds, just one less than Western.

Kelly Hawker had 11 points; Anne Weber, Samantha Collinsworth, and Tina Paddock had 6 points each; Jenny Cattell, Kristi Headrick, and Kris Matloff had 2 points apiece.

The Bulldogs were "fired up" for their Tecumseh game, said coach Paul Terpstra, because they had lost badly there last year and wanted to redeem themselves.

The win was also gratifying, he said, since Tecumseh was such a big team; they have three players taller than 5'11".

Chelsea led, 12-8, at the end of the first quarter, and 22-12, at half-time. Although the Bulldogs had a 26-22 lead going into the fourth quarter, Tecumseh had closed the gap to two points during the third quarter.

The Bulldogs had 19 steals, which made them one ahead of themselves, said Terpstra, since they had 18 turnovers, which were mostly in the beginning of the game.

The team made 17 of their 56 field goal attempts for 30 percent, a good field goal percentage for the team, said Terpstra. They hit five of their 12 free throw attempts.

Hawker led the stats with 15 points, 13 rebounds, and 4 steals. Paddock had 10 points, 9 rebounds, and 4 steals. Cattell had 8 points; Collinsworth, 4; and Weber, 2.

After their home game against Milan today at 5:30 p.m., the Bulldogs play Dexter, the only league team they have lost to, Nov. 4 away.

7th Grade Girl Cagers Win Over Dexter, Milan

Fans of the Bulldogs seventh grade girls basketball team probably don't have any finger nails left. The Bulldogs had a double overtime win Oct. 18; then they took the lead from Dexter with less than two minutes left to win, 26-21, Oct. 25 away, and won a jump ball tip with less than 11 seconds to preserve a 21-19 win over Milan, Oct. 27 at home.

Dexter led, 8-2, at the end of the first quarter, 14-2, at half-time, and 14-12, going into the final quarter.

Chelsea just did not play well during the first half, said coach Ann Schaffner. Dexter, a bigger team, outrebounded the Bulldogs, who were also having trouble with passing.

But the Bulldogs, who shot 24 percent of their field goal attempts for the game, blistered the nets in the fourth quarter, said Schaffner, shooting 59 percent and playing more aggressive defense.

"We've had a good year so far," said Schaffner, "and that helps give the girls the confidence you need to come from behind."

Kelly Kuzon's 12 rebounds, most in that crucial second half, said Schaffner, was the outstanding individual statistic.

She also scored six points, as did Dawn Weatherwax and Beth Kenney.

Milan never led in Wednesday's game. Chelsea led, 9-5, at the end of the first quarter, 12-6, at half-time, and 18-12, going into the final quarter.

But Milan had several chances to tie the game during the last minute, said Schaffner. Kuzon won a jump ball near the Milan basket with less than 11 seconds left and tipped it down court to eat up time. That was the last play of the game.

Schaffner was pleased, she said, with the way the team passed the ball down court and got the ball to someone open. The Bulldogs also tried a press for the first time against Milan. That's a coaching gamble, she said. Junior high players are usually not confident ball handlers, so a pressing defense can rattle the opposition. But if a player "beats the press," the defense is lagging behind down court.

Kuzon led scoring with 7 points; Weatherwax had 6 points and 6 rebounds.

Alisha Dorow and Andrea Worthing had good defensive games, said Schaffner, with four steals apiece.

The team ends the season this week with an away game yesterday against Saline and an away game tomorrow with Dundee.

Varsity Cagers Lose Two Close Contests

Chelsea girls varsity basketball team lost two close games last week, 32-28, to Jackson County Western Oct. 28 away, and 42-37, to Tecumseh Oct. 28 away.

Team morale is a bit down now, said coach Jim Winter, because they have had a seven-game losing streak with several close ones recently—but he hopes they can put it behind them and perk up like they did earlier in the season.

Chelsea led most of the game against Western, 8-4, at the end of the first quarter, 15-8, at half-time, and 20-16, going into the crucial final quarter, when Western outscored them with a lot of outside shots, 16-8.

Western tied the score, 28-28, with less than 30 seconds in the game, and went ahead for the first time with an outside shot. They scored their last points at the buzzer.

The Bulldogs had trouble getting into their offense, said Winter. Chelsea only took 13 shots in the second half, although the Bulldogs had 17 offensive rebounds in the game to Western's 8.

Western began a pressure defense in the second half, a defense that has hurt Chelsea throughout the season, said Winter. The team is not particularly quick this year, but they could deal better with a press if they had more confidence.

Beth Unterbrink blocked 5 shots, had 6 steals, 9 rebounds and 7 points for the game; Missi Lazarz had 7 points and 6 steals; Mary Klink had 6 offensive rebounds and 10 rebounds total; and Carol Warren had 5 points.

Tecumseh, a mid-season entry into the league, got the lead from the Bulldogs in the third quarter and maintained at least a three-point cushion after that. Chelsea had led, 10-8, in the first quarter, 20-19, at half-time and got the first two baskets of the third quarter, before a rest-of-the-quarter scoring drought.

Although Chelsea outrebounded, outscored the ball, was even with Tecumseh on turnovers, and had a hot streak at the foul line, 11 of 16 free throw attempts for 69 percent, said Winter, Tecumseh led in the most important statistical category—points.

Unterbrink won the Bulldogs stats race with 18 points, 5 assists, 5 steals, and 7 rebounds. JoAnn Tobin scored 9 points, and had 6 rebounds. Lazarz had 7 rebounds.

The Bulldogs play Milan at home today after the junior varsity's 5:30 p.m. game. They play Dexter Thursday, Nov. 4 away.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,

Just an observation, which I have had the pleasure to make each morning, for the past few months as I approach the north end of Chelsea at Sibley Rd. I'm proud of the construction of the new softball park that has been built by the Village street department crew. The donation of the land by Dana and the efforts of the Village Council, present and past, helped to make this addition to the Village recreation facilities possible.

This addition is just another "plus" that has been made available to present residents and help attract future interest in Chelsea. Without much effort, one can see the activities that will be a benefit to the area for years to come.

Good luck to the committees that will be spending time this winter in organizing the formal dedication of the park, and scheduling its use this coming year. George P. Frisinger.

Psychology Award

Last week's recipient of the Chelsea High school psychology award, to motivate and reward performance, goes to Lisa Hurd, a senior and daughter of John and Mary Hurd of 16380 Roe Rd.

Lisa was chosen by her classmates on the basis of her interest in psychology, her scholastic ability, and her class participation. The class, taught by Paul Terpstra, is currently studying personality theories.

Lisa is president of the Spanish Club, involved in Key Club, is a two-year member of the National Honor Society, plays flute in the band and competes on the track team in spring.

She plans to attend Kalamazoo College next fall and may major in psychology.

Energy Management System OK'd

School light switches, thermostats, and hot water pumps will soon Go Computer to save energy costs. Performance specifications for an energy management computer system will be issued soon by the Chelsea school district.

The federal government approved the purchase of the computer from unused funds in the school's 1980 energy conservation grant in late September, and the approval was announced at the school board meeting Oct. 18.

The computer will control thermostats by zone, so that the heat will go down shortly before school is dismissed and warm up again in the early morning to be ready for students.

The computer can be week-end coded too, said Fred Mills, assistant schools superintendent, so the heat won't come on Sunday morning at 7.

All the light switches in the district could be controlled by one location too, he said. The hot water pumps can also be put on a work-rest cycle to save electrical costs.

He will also request a system, he says, that will also have the capability to expand to fire and burglar security in the future. engineers have estimated the The computer will be bought system could pay for itself by from $65,000 in unused 50-50 holding the line on energy costs in matching grant funds. Mills says about 16 months.

NEW BUSINESS IN TOWN: Palmer Motors of Chelsea has become an agent for National Autofinders, a new idea in buying and selling of used cars. George Palmer, owner of the Ford dealer-ship, and Don Poppinger, manager of the used car lot at 1445 S. Main St. where the Autofinders operation is carried on, are standing in front of some of the vehicles being offered for sale.

Palmer Acquires Franchise For National Autofinders

Palmer Motors, Chelsea Ford dealer, has become an authorized agency for National Autofinders, a new concept in marketing used cars. The operation is located at the Palmer used car lot, 1445 S. Main St.

According to agency owner George Palmer, National Autofinders allows a new car dealer to help customers sell their cars in the same way that a real estate company helps people sell their homes.

National Autofinders started in 1978 when two Kansas automobile salesmen discovered that people went through a lot of hassle when selling their cars.

From a small beginning in the back of a real estate office, National Autofinders has grown to more than 250 franchised dealers across the country.

Here's how the system works. You take your car into a National Autofinders dealer, and arrive at an agreeable selling price. You pay a $25 listing fee, and the dealer places your car on his display lot, advertises it, shows and demonstrates your car, makes the deal, sells the car, takes a trade-in, if necessary, does all the paper work, and delivers you a check.

The dealer, acting as a broker in the transaction, gets a fee for his services.

Many experts agree that this type of transaction in the automotive field is the concept of the future and most used cars will one day be transferred this way.

Palmer said that, in addition to the vehicles listed through the Autofinders system, his firm will continue to stock its used car lot with the same variety of cars and trucks as in the past.

What To Do With Left-Over Pumpkins?

What happens to all the pumpkins left over after Halloween? Most of them just rot away.

There is little or no commercial market for pumpkins raised in Washtenaw county, except for purchase as jack-o-lanterns, according to Bill Ames, county agricultural extension agent.

In fact, there is not much of an alternative market for pumpkins anywhere. Canned "pumpkin pie" mix is mostly squash with seasonings added, and would be more properly called "squash pie" mix. Some manufacturers do put in a bit of pumpkin to justify the name on the label.

Pumpkins are difficult to prepare and process for cooking, either at home or in a canning factory. Squash is easier, and the end product is about the same in terms of color and taste.

Every fall there is a large over-supply of pumpkins harvested, Ames noted. They are easy to grow, most commonly by planting seeds in cornfields and letting nature take its course. No special care is required. Pumpkin vines do best in shade, and the corn plants provide that.

Growers sell what pumpkins they can from the large numbers harvested, and then convert the leftovers into organic fertilizer. It's not a really big business, but it does add up to a sizeable, though impossible to estimate, total cash income.

In recent years pumpkin seeds have found a small but growing market among devotees of so-called "natural foods" and vegetarians. The kernels are high in protein, much like sunflower seeds and soybeans. They may be eaten either raw or roasted, like peanuts. Pumpkin seeds might be more popular if an easier way could be found to extract the kernels from the hard, tough outer shells which have to be cracked open to get at the edible portion inside.

Braille Menu Returns to McDonald's

McDonald's restaurant in Chelsea has reintroduced braille and large-type menus to better serve blind and visually impaired customers.

The special menus, produced by McDonald's in co-operation with American Council of the Blind and its local affiliates are displayed near the counter at Chelsea McDonald's.

Laura Oftedahl, public affairs director of the American Council of the Blind, Washington, D.C., expressed appreciation for McDonald's provision of this service for blind and visually impaired customers who represent a significant portion of the U.S. population.

Chelsea McDonald's owner, Al Felhauer, said, "McDonald's is committed to serve all segments of the population. Our efforts to accommodate the needs of the blind and visually impaired customers represent an important goal — to add to the quality of life in the communities we serve."

Girls Swim Team Breaks Two Oldest Varsity Records

Chelsea girls varsity swimmers competed against themselves in 10 of the 11 events in their 80-45 win over Willow Run Oct. 28 at home, and broke two of the oldest varsity records, the freshman relay records.

But that 11th event—it was a seven-minute duel between Chelsea's Heather Grenier and Willow Run's Lucy Geidner for third in the 500-yard freestyle that hoarsened the fans waving on Grenier. Friday laryngitis was worth it. Grenier had that extraumph left for the last two lengths, which tells the difference in this, the longest race for high school girls.

The freshman relay records are among the oldest, said coach Von Acker, simply because there have seldom been four freshmen on the team.

Paula Colombo, Amanda Holmes, Paula Kuzon, and Grenier began trying for the record after early-season qualifying for the December state meet. They got within one-hundredth of a second of one record at an earlier meet.

While Holmes was on the block for her 50 freestyle anchor of the 200 medley relay, Acker looked at the clock.

"We need a 28," he screamed over the fans' shouts. She and the rest of the relay delivered, a new record of 2:15.30, two seconds better than the old record.

Colombo was anchorman for the 400-yard freestyle relay. She had to break a minute for four lengths, a psychological barrier for girl freestylers. When she finished, Acker turned to the timer, who said the magical "4:21.21."

"You got it," said an obviously pleased coach.

Colombo had broken a minute. Grenier began swimming during the summer. She has a beautiful stroke for such a new swimmer, but every time she did a flip turn in the 20-length race, Geidner gained on her. Grenier would gain again but lose on the next turn.

Chelsea's Liesel Culver, who won the race, was way ahead of the second place Willow Run swimmer, so everyone watched The Duel.

Grenier finally led at the 11th length, but not by much. She only had a body length advantage going into the final two lengths, and was breathing on her right side, so she wouldn't be seeing Geidner on the final length. One could only judge by the stroke who was getting tired. Grenier's nice stroke was slowing, and Geidner's blustery stroke was getting choppy.

Grenier was the one who had a sprint left in her, and won with a sure two-second advantage, dropping her previous best time by more than 30 seconds.

Kristin Thomas, senior captain of the Bulldogs, won the 200 freestyle by almost a pool length swimming butterfly, a real endurance contest against herself. She wanted a 2:00 fly time, said Acker for college and as an AAU time. "It's her senior year—she deserves to have some fun, which is often forgotten as important in swimming."

The 50 freestyle event, won by the Bulldogs' Marji Rawson, took longer to start than to swim. The Bulldog swimmers often go down late on starts and lean precariously on the blocks. Rawson got called for a false start, although all competitors went into the water.

The starter had to call the swimmers back to a standing position several times, before he again shot the gun. Rawson had a lousy start, landing dead in the water, but caught up quickly.

The next two weeks are "the scariest time of the season for a coach," said Acker, because he will find out if he tapered the workouts too soon or too late at the Nov. 18 Chelsea Invitational, the team's next home meet. The state meet is Dec. 3-4, so those swimmers going will have a mini-peak for the invitational.

The Bulldogs face Ypsilanti next Tuesday, and Riverview Nov. 11. Yesterday they had a meet against St. Mary's.

VETERANS PARK is being expanded and renovated under a joint federal-state-local construction and remodeling program. Projects include replacing rotting timbers in the "ship" at the front of the park. The repairs show up as the light-colored wood which had not been stained to match the older lumber.

ON LAND DONATED BY DANA CORP. two new softball diamonds are taking shape on the west side of the present Veterans Park. Dana gave the village 5½ acres of land with stipulations that part of it be used for softball and that the parcel be fenced. Fence posts (foreground) are in place, and the wire will be installed shortly.

Veterans Park Softball Fields Construction Near Completion

Veterans Park is coming along well, and the remodeling and expansion program now under way will be completed before the Dec. 31 deadline, says Village Administrator Frederick A. Weber.

Weber, who has been a "working" executive on the project in recent days, said work should be completed in about a month. He and other village employees are performing most of the labor on the job.

The park is located on the west side of M-52 (N. Main St.) at the north edge of Chelsea.

The $63,000 worth of construction is being financed with a $39,000 grant from the federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, supplemented with local funds.

It all began when Dana Corp. gave the village 5½ acres of land west of the existing small park, with the stipulations that it be fenced and that softball diamonds be provided as part of the development program.

Two diamonds are nearing completion, including screen backstops which are in place. The infield surfaces were prepared by excavating up to four feet of muck and back-filling with a mixture of sand, soil and agricultural lime. The outfields were seeded, and the grass is growing nicely.

"These will be excellent playing fields," Weber said. "We copied them from an outstanding playground down at Milan, and we think ours will be just as good and maybe better."

Also under construction is a small concrete block building with a wood roof, adjacent to the ball diamonds. The building will house restrooms and space for a concession stand, plus storage area.

While they were at it, village crews cleaned out debris from Letts Creek, which flows through the park, did some bank stabilization work, and reseeded the south bank. Also reseeded was the strip of grass adjacent to the parking lot.

Finally, the "old ship" replica at the front of the park has been repaired with new wood to replace rotting timbers.

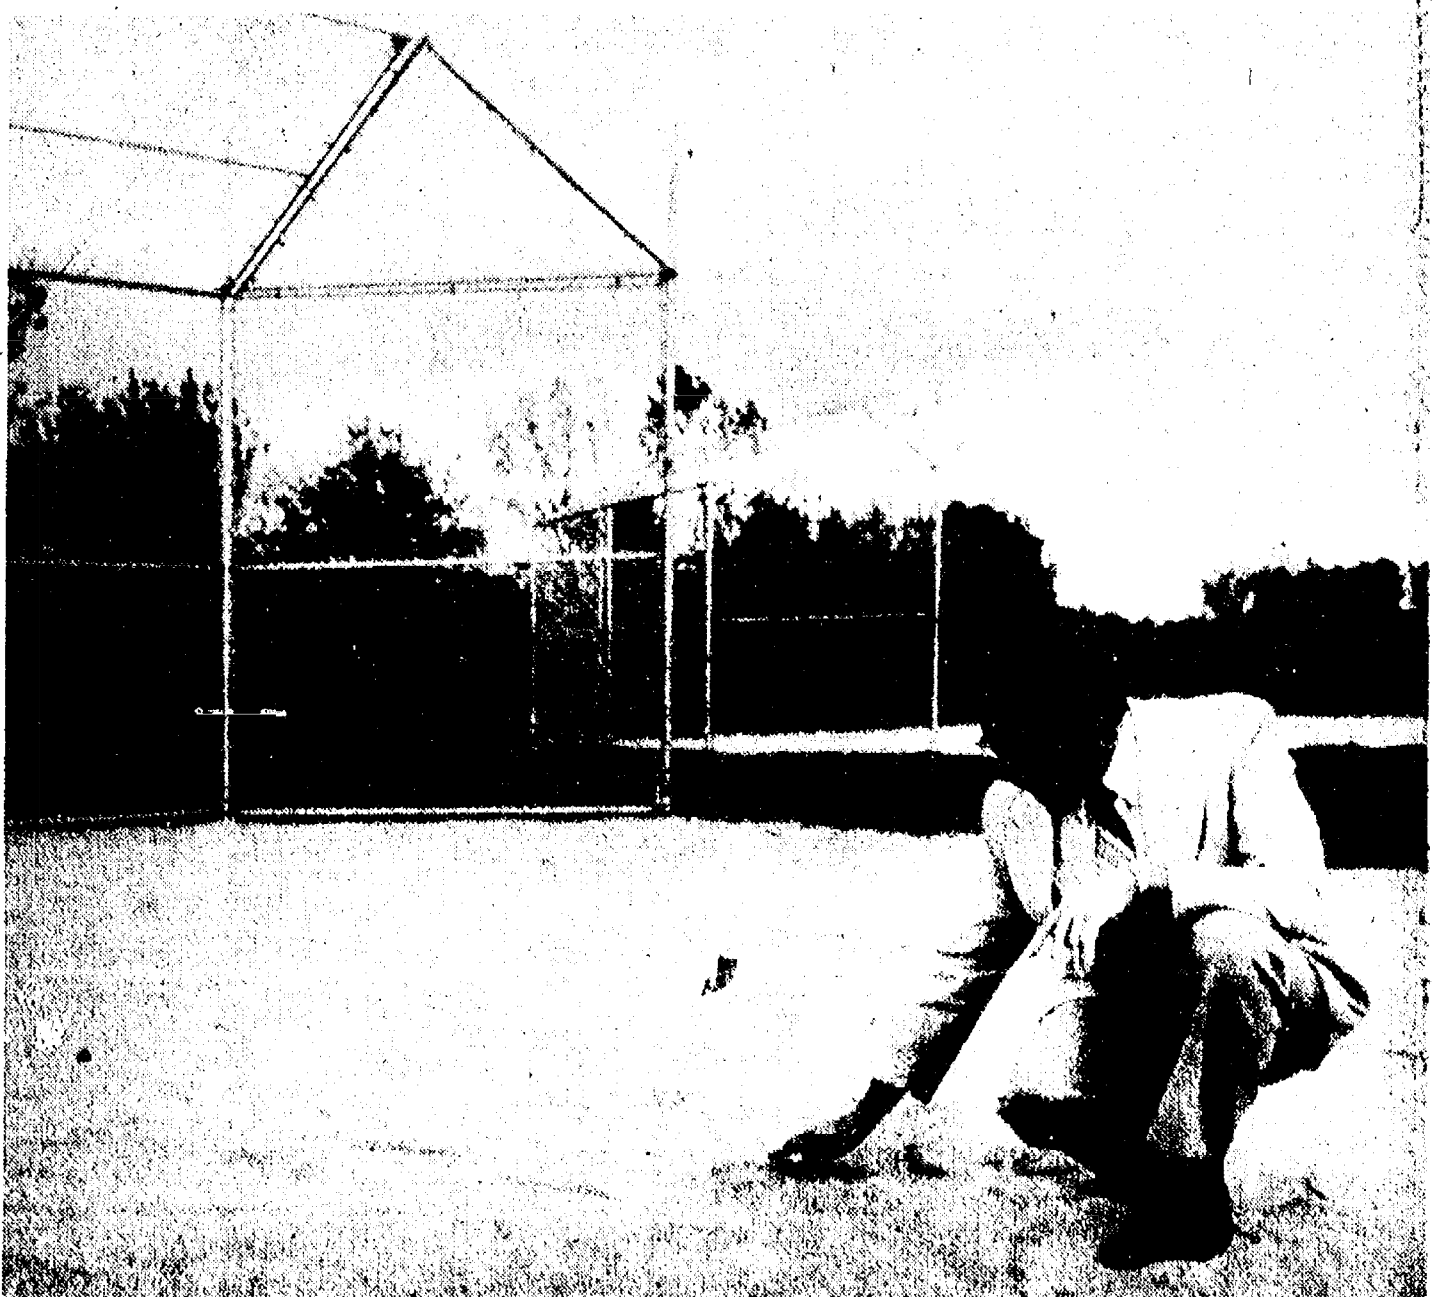

All of the work has been done by village employees except for excavating and asphaltting, Weber said. The village lacks the equipment to do those jobs, which were contracted out.

"We should have everything finished in a month, and that puts us comfortably ahead of the federal grant deadline which expires Dec. 31," he added.

Weber is now looking at two acres of low, brushy village-owned land just south of the developed part of the park. The tract includes two small, year-around ponds which Weber feels could be made into attractions if the area were cleared and the ponds cleaned up. Picnic sites and winter ice skating are possibilities. It's conceivable that fish might be planted in the ponds to help keep down weeds and algae.

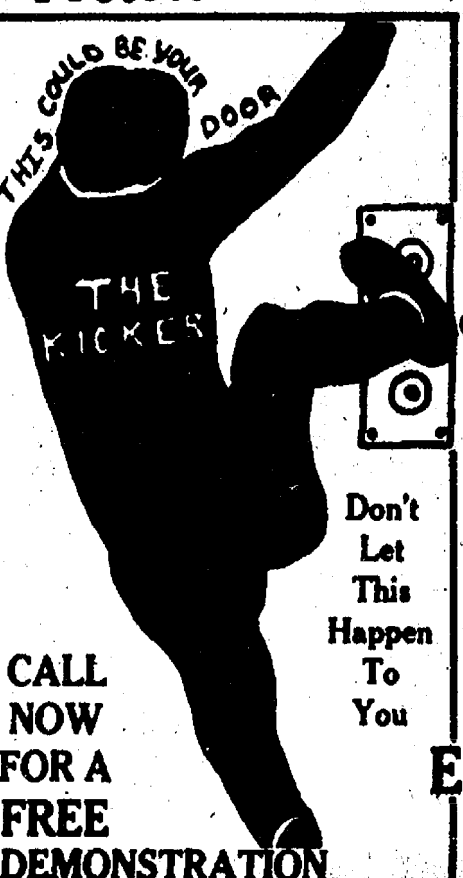

Diabetes patients are more than twice as prone to coronary heart disease and stroke than non-diabetics, have an almost 40-fold higher amputation rate, and represent nearly 20 percent of all end-stage renal disease patients entering dialysis.

FREDERICK A. WEBER, Chelsea village administrator, checks the surface of the new softball diamonds at Veterans Park, which will be ready for play next season. Backstop screens are in place, outfield grass has been seeded and is growing, and a special mixture of soil, sand and lime laid down in the infields. It promises to be an excellent playing surface.

Mason Shuts Down Chelsea's Running To Take 16-6 Victory

Chelsea ran into a more tenacious and determined bunch of Bulldogs at Mason last Friday night and came home hurting in both pride and body after absorbing a 16-6 licking.

Mason's Bulldogs got the job done with a smothering defense which shut off Chelsea's strong running game and forced quarterback Dave Wojcicki to throw 41 passes. He completed 20, but couldn't string enough of them together to sustain scoring efforts.

Statistics are often deceiving, and they were in this case. Chelsea held a substantial edge in total offense, gaining 340 yards to Mason's 250, but Mason moved the ball when it had to and put the ball into the end zone on the only two sustained drives it mounted all night.

Chelsea, meanwhile, was frittering away opportunities, losing chance after chance on penalty calls and other miscues.

The defeat became a little easier to take in the wake of Saline's 7-6 victory over Milan. The outcome gave Chelsea sole possession of first place and the undisputed championship of the Southeastern Conference.

Still, it was not at all a happy night for Chelsea. As predicted, Mason played an extremely physical brand of football, putting a substantial size advantage to good use in dominating the scrimmage line whenever Chelsea had the ball.

The Mason defenders did a lot of stunting and cross-charging which Chelsea's offensive line simply could not adjust to.

"They did some things we weren't expecting and weren't prepared for," Chelsea Coach Gene LaFave said afterward. "And they beat us up physically, especially in the second half."

The Chelsea defense played well enough to win, stopping Mason on all but the two touchdown drives and repeatedly giving the offense the ball in good field position. Trouble was, the offense couldn't capitalize.

A sign that Chelsea might be in for a bad night came early when the local Bulldogs failed to score on their first possession, as they had in their previous six games.

Mason broke open a tight defensive struggle midway through the second quarter as halfback Kirk Denney took personal charge, accounting for all of the 57-yard touchdown drive. A two-point running play put Mason up, 8-0, at the half.

Whatever LaFave said to his team during the intermission worked, as Chelsea took the second-half kickoff and marched 74 yards, with Wojcicki getting most of them on outstanding individual running efforts.

Russell Harris banged over from the five, and Chelsea appeared to be back in business, even though Wojcicki was smothered on the conversion try. Mason put the game away midway through the fourth quarter, taking over on its own 22 after a penalty had stopped a promising Chelsea drive. Key play was a picture-perfect pass from quarterback Rick Hanover to John Dillingham, good for 53 yards. Kenney broke loose around the left side for the final 15, and another Hanover to Dillingham pass made it 16-6. That was it for scoring.

Bright spots for Chelsea were few. One was Harris' touchdown, which gave him 102 points for the season. However, Harris was held far below his normal game rushing output, picking up 69 yards in 14 carries, as Mason's defense keyed on him.

Forced to pass against a determined rush which pulled him down for losses several times, Wojcicki turned in an excellent game despite adverse odds. Among other things, he had to go without split end Marty Steinhauer, who separated a shoulder in practice last week, and tight end Thom Headrick, Chelsea's most reliable receiver who suffered a knee injury early in the second half and sat out the rest of the game. Jay Marshall and Matt Villemure picked up a lot of the receiving slack, but couldn't do it all.

If Chelsea were looking for excuses, it had a big one in the quality of the officiating, which was as weird as Halloween is supposed to be. Chelsea drew 15 penalties for 95 yards, but that wasn't the whole story. What hurt was the timing of the calls, which probably cost Chelsea two touchdowns.

A long third-quarter run by Mike Hintzen deep into Mason territory was nullified by a clipping call on what was obviously a legitimate block, and the referee tacked on another 15 yards when LaFave protested too vehemently. Counting the length of Hintzen's run, it amounted to a 60-yard reverse.

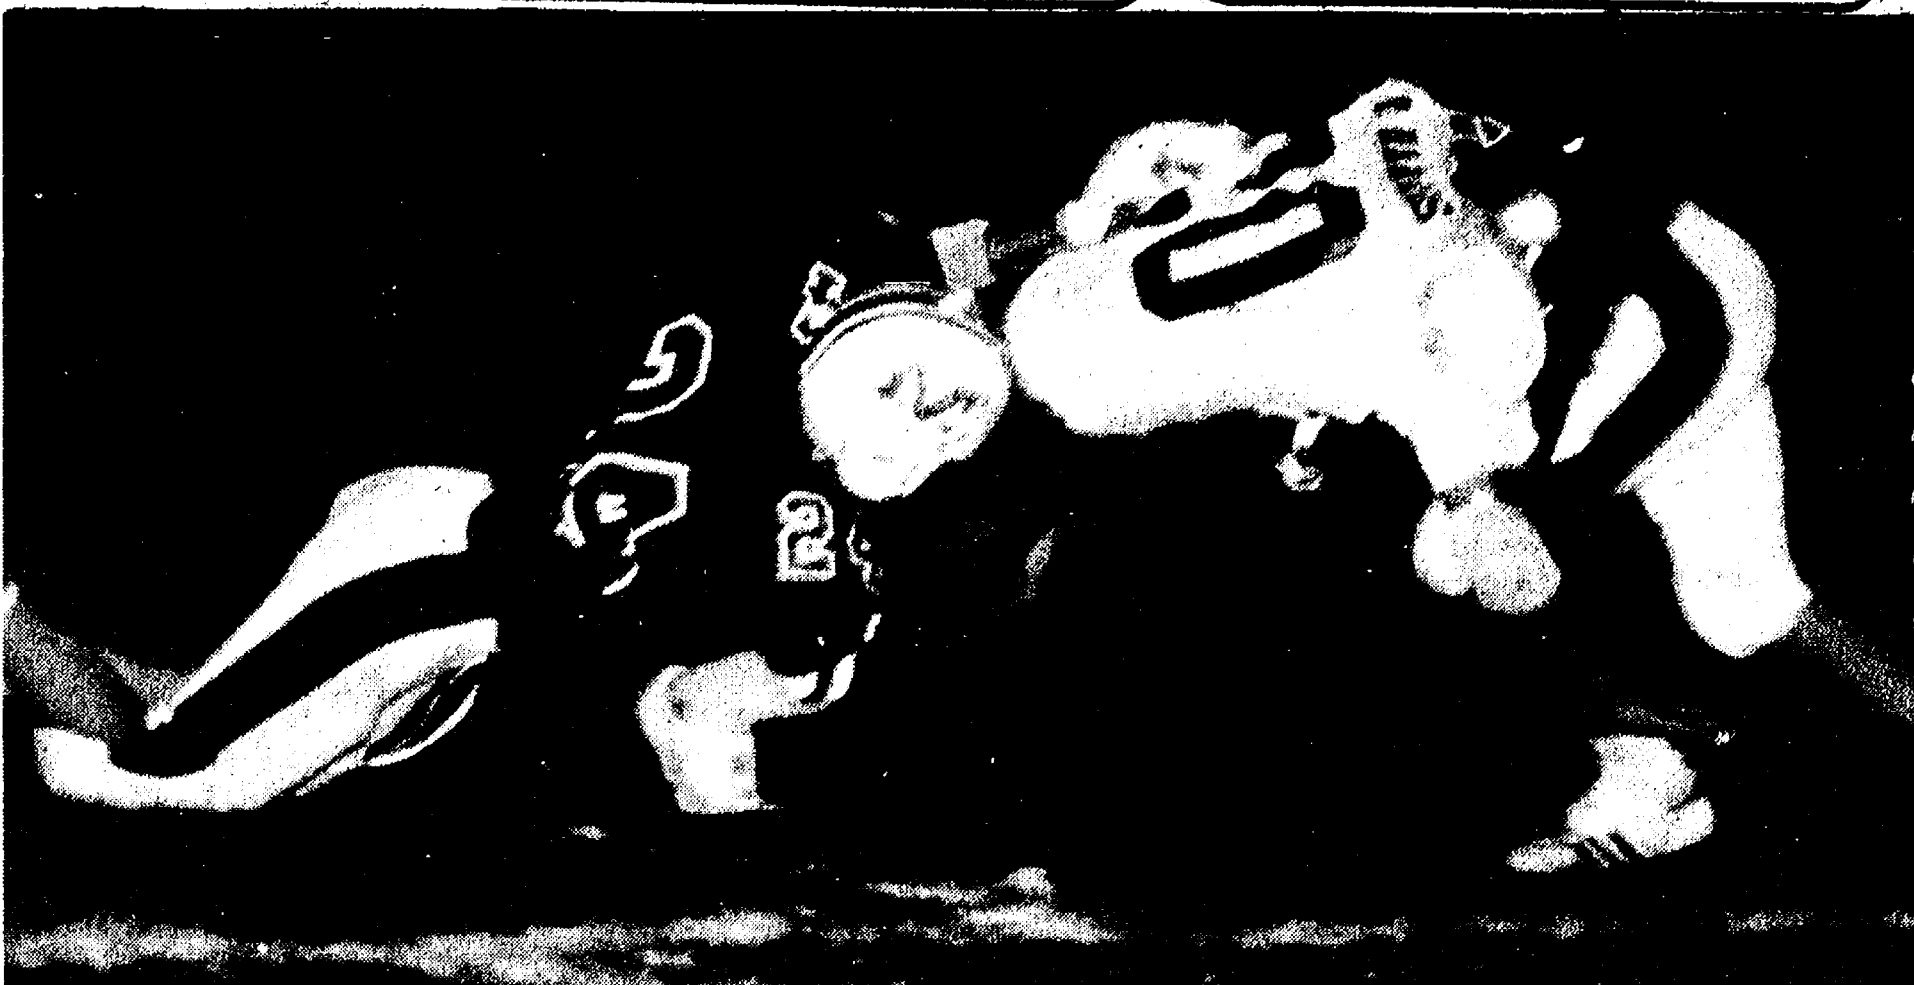

In the fourth quarter a brilliant Wojcicki run that would have put the ball inside Mason's 10 was whistled back for a below-the-waist block, an infraction that can be called on just about any play. That one took the wind out of Chelsea's sails, and Mason scored its second touchdown after taking over the ball.

All of that is not meant to take anything away from Mason, which also received some strange penalties, although not in as crucial situations. In the end Mason won by playing superior defense against the run, which is how most football games are decided.

Chelsea will close out its season Friday night in a home game against Pinckney which lost to Brighton last week, 28-0.

SQUEAK SQUEAK

Fresh peas should squeak when the pods are rubbed together. Store them unshelled in your refrigerator.

OVER THE CENTURY MARK: Chelsea halfback Russell Harris was stopped far short of his usual output in last Friday's 16-6 loss to Mason, but he showed his determined nose for the goal line in this five-yard plunge which produced the Bulldogs' only points. The touchdown earned Harris 102 points for the season, with one game still to play.

BROKEN UP: Arms outstretched, Chelsea's Jay Marshall (44) waits in vain for a pass broken up by a couple of Mason defenders. Bulldog quarterback Dave Wojcicki attempted 41 throws and completed 20 during the game, after Chelsea's running attack was stymied, but was thwarted in key situations. Marshall had an excellent night as a receiver, but there were some, like this one, that he had no chance to catch, thanks to Mason's alert defense.

Manchester To Join New Conference

Manchester High school is leaving the Lenawee County Athletic Association at the end of this year to join the Cascades Conference, composed mostly of Jackson county schools.

Lower travel costs were cited by Athletic Director Bill Scaletta as the reason. The average distance between Manchester and the schools it plays will be cut from 30 to 18 miles. Scaletta also hopes that, as new rivalries develop, gate receipts will improve.

The Cascades Conference will be divided into two divisions for football and basketball, to provide a more even level of competition, but all 11 teams will play one another in other sports.

Manchester will compete in the so-called lower division in football and basketball. Other division members are Hanover Horton, Grass Lake, Vandercook Lake, Michigan Center, East Jackson and Napoleon.

JV Gridders Rally To Defeat Mason

Chelsea's junior varsity football team came from behind in the fourth quarter last Thursday night to defeat Mason, 21-13, and wind up its season on a high note with a 4-3 record.

JV Coach Ken Sullins was bubbling over with praise and enthusiasm for his team, which overcame early season adversity, had to struggle all fall, and then came on strong at the end to post a winning mark.

"Our players showed their character," Sullins said. "They have developed into winners, and I'm really proud of them. Most of them have potential to help the varsity next fall. We have had some disappointments and some surprises, but the surprises have far outnumbered the disappointments."

Sullins called the contest with Mason "a heckuva good ball game," with spirited, hard-hitting play on both sides. It was a pivotal contest for both teams, with the victor assured a winning season. "They went at it like it was a championship game,"

Sullins said, "and in a way it was."

Chelsea scored first on a nine-yard run by Scott Miller after Marty Fletcher had recovered a fumble at the Mason 10. The situation was set up on a fine punt by Chelsea's Jason Pierson which went out of bounds on the Mason seven. Jim Toon kicked the extra point, his first of three for the game.

Mason came back on drives of 53 and 52 yards to take a 13-7 lead at half-time.

The third quarter was scoreless, and things looked bleak for the Bulldogs when they got the ball on their own two-yard line early in the fourth period. They showed their character by grinding out a 17-play, 98-yard drive, with Miller finally going over for the last yard.

A key pass interception by Dan Fenton broke up Mason's next march, giving Chelsea the ball on its own 39. On the next play Miller broke loose and raced 69 yards for the clinching touchdown.

Mason made one last try to tie things up, but Dean Boote ended that with an interception, and Chelsea ran out the clock.

Sullins praised his team's defensive effort, especially Mark E. Bentley and Rod Satterthwaite with 11 tackles each and Ed Brosnan with 10.

Miller compiled 153 rushing yards on 21 carries to lead the offense, with the help of a hard-charging line which opened the holes for him.

Frosh Gridders Lose to Mason

Chelsea's freshman footballers ended their season on a sour note last Thursday night, losing to Mason in a 24-22 contest which Chelsea Coach Jim Tallman said "we could have won if we had been playing real well."

The loss closed out the schedule for the fresh with a 5-2 record. They won their first five in a row, then dropped their last two.

"The boys just may have relaxed a little bit after those five victories," Tallman said, "and gotten the idea that winning is easy. It isn't, and I hope they have learned that. We had a chance for an excellent season. Instead, we just had a good one."

Despite the disappointing end to the season, Tallman believes there are "six or seven" players on the freshman team who have a shot at making the varsity roster next year as sophomores. He doesn't expect all of them to get there, but feels sure some will. "There is quite a lot of talent on this freshman squad," he said. "It's going to be up to the individuals."

In the Mason game, Chelsea fell behind early as the visitors scored a touchdown and two-point conversion on their first possession. Chelsea came right back on a 22-yard TD pass from Dan Bellus to Mark Mull and a two-point by Rob Beckwith to tie it up.

Another Bellus to Mull pass, this one good for six yards, and a conversion run by Beckwith put Chelsea ahead, 16-8, but Mason tallied again just before half-time on a 30-yard return of an intercepted pass and added two points, making it 16-16.

Mason moved in front to stay early in the third quarter on a 40-yard touchdown pass and two-point conversion. A 65-yard pass and run play, once more from Bellus to Mull, put Chelsea back in contention in the fourth quarter, but a two-point run attempt that would have tied the score fell short.

A late-game drive by Chelsea was stopped by the clock as time ran out.

Gridders of the Week

GRIDDERS OF THE WEEK are juniors Marty Steinhauer (10) and Chuck Hager (84). Steinhauer plays split end on offense and safety on defense, and has been a regular at both positions. He is being groomed at quarterback as a possible replacement for senior Dave Wojcicki next fall. Hager is an end who hasn't gotten to play too much this season because of Chelsea's exceptional amount of senior talent at that position. Among other things, he does the kicking-off for the Bulldogs, and his strong left-footed boots regularly travel deep into opposition territory.

GRIDDERS OF THE WEEK are juniors Chris Gallas (66) and Jay Marshall (44) who have both contributed mightily to Chelsea's successful season this fall and are looking ahead to even better things next year. Gallas sees regular two-way duty as an offensive guard and defensive linebacker, and has performed with excellence in both positions. Marshall has played mostly as a defensive back but is also listed as a running back and has seen spot duty on offense. He is expected to be a strong contender for a starting halfback role in 1983. His play on defense this season has been outstanding.

8th Grade Gridders Finish 1-3 Season

Both of Chelsea's eighth-grade football teams closed their seasons on losing notes last week. The B squad, playing a Dexter team that is not divided into two groups according to age and size, lost, 39-0. The A squad dropped an 18-14 decision to Brooklyn Columbia Central.

For the year both squads posted 1-3 records. Coach Bert Kruse, while disappointed with the won-lost record, was not overly worried about it. "I'm sure we have talent on both squads and that it will show as the boys grow up and move into high school," he said.

"They have a lot to learn, including what winning is all about. At this stage it is not easy to identify those who will eventually become varsity football players and those who won't. It depends a lot on individual attitudes and dedication to the game.

"Even though they probably should have done better than they did, I wouldn't rule anybody out right now."

JV Cagers Down Lincoln, Northwest

Chelsea girls junior varsity basketball team stole the ball 24 times, pulling away in the second quarter to beat Lincoln, 37-17, Oct. 19 at home. They extended their record to an enviable 12-2 over-all with a last-minute-gasp win over Northwest, 31-29, Oct. 21 away.

Both Lincoln and Chelsea had first quarter doldrums—the score was only 2-2 at the end of that quarter. Chelsea began stealing the ball with their press in the second quarter, said coach Paul Terpstra, pulling ahead, 18-5, at half-time with some help from Lincoln's 14-minute scoring drought.

Chelsea continued their dominance, leading, 27-13, at the end of the third quarter.

Chelsea made 16 percent of their field goal attempts, and 52 percent of their free throw attempts, a good foul shooting percentage for the team, said Terpstra.

Samantha Collinsworth, Kelly Hawker, and Kristi Headrick, who made her first three shots, scored 8 points each. Anne Weber, Jenny Cattell, and Michelle Easton had 3 each. Tina Paddock and Amy Wolfgang scored 2 each. Collinsworth was leading rebounder, 9; Hawker, 8; and Headrick, 6.

The game against Northwest was close the whole way, said Terpstra, because the teams were evenly matched. Chelsea unfortunately had less steals, 11, and more turnovers, 25 than against Lincoln.

The Bulldogs led, 8-4, at the end of the first quarter; the score was tied, 15-15, at the half; and Lincoln led, 26-23, at the end of the third quarter.

Chelsea made 39 percent of their field goal attempts, and 50 percent of their free throws.

Headrick had her best game of the season, said Terpstra. She was 4 of 5 from the line, and 4 for 7 from the floor for a 12-point total and also had six rebounds. Collinsworth had 10 points, 5 rebounds; Hawker, 4 points; Paddock, 3 points, 5 rebounds; Weber, 2 points.

The team has two away games this week, against Jackson County Western Oct. 26 and against Tecumseh, a late entry into the conference, Oct. 28.

Boys Cross Country Team Qualifies for State

The Chelsea boys cross country team qualified for this Saturday's state meet by placing third in last Saturday's regional at Brighton, as Mark Brosnan successfully defended his individual title.

Chelsea's girls did not qualify for the state meet as a team, but Sandra Frame and Mary Ann Richardson won the right to compete as individuals.

In the boys regional, Chelsea finished third in the 18-team field, behind Dearborn Divine Child and Holly, and had three runners in the top 10. Brosnan was first with a time of 15:58. Dave Kles placed sixth and Allen Cole 10th. All three made the all-region team.

Other Chelsea finishers were Eric Green, 28th; Craig Maciag 40th, Kevin Richardson 63rd and Ernie Bristle 76th.

The girls just missed qualifying as a team. Needing to be no worse than third in the 13-team group, they came in fourth. Dexter did make it to the state meet, finishing second to Hartland. Dexter's Kelly McKillen lost a race for the first time this season, being edged out by Livonia Ladywood's Jennifer Rioux.

Chelsea's best individual showing was by Frame, who came home fifth to earn all-regional honors. Richardson was 18th, good enough to qualify for the state.

Other placers were Laura Damm, 28th; Wendy Wolfgang, 30th; Shanda Friday, 49th; Debbie Tiffit, 60th, and Kathy Degener, 67th.

8th Grade Cagers Lose Two

Although the eighth grade girls basketball team lost to Dexter, 27-24, Oct. 25 away and to Milan, 24-14, Oct. 27 at home, they more than doubled their scoring output of the previous week.

Chelsea had to play catch-up against Dexter, said coach Cheryl Vogel, and the team wasn't shooting well enough to do that.

The score was tied, 6-6, at the end of the first quarter; Dexter had a 17-9 lead at half-time and a 23-17 lead going into the final quarter.

Dexter only scored on free throws in the final quarter, said Vogel, but Chelsea wasn't scoring on shots taken right under the basket.

But although the team panicked a bit, she said, they did quadruple their scoring percentage of the previous week's games.

Mary Lazarz, Trisha Mattoff and Pam Brown led the scoring with 6 points each; Kris Zerkel, 3;

Karen Weber, 2; and Kathryn Morgan, 1. Zerkel was leading rebounder with 9.

The Bulldogs started making baskets in the fourth quarter against Milan, scoring 10 of their 14 points and holding a quick Milan team to 2 points. But the scoring drive was too late.

Milan led, 18-4, at half-time, and 22-4, going into the third quarter.

Milan had good defense under the basket, said Vogel, so although the team shot a higher field goal percentage than usual, they only took 34 shots instead of their usual 50-some.

Karan Kerby and Jodi Keezer both had a good, hustling fourth quarter, said Vogel. Kerby had 6 steals and Keezer shared scoring honors of 4 points each with Sallie Wilson and Kelly Ghent, who had a good all-around game.

Zerkel was leading rebounder again with 9.

The team finishes their season this week

OUT IN THE OPEN

By BILL MULLENDORE

Don Boyer's multitude of friends in west Washtenaw county will be pleased to learn that he is happy, well and thriving in retirement at Port Richey on Florida's Gulf Coast. Don visited the area recently to renew a long-time pheasant hunting partnership with Prosecutor Bill Delhey and found time to chat with several old acquaintances, including me.

For those of you who may not know, Boyer lived in Chelsea for more than 25 years while serving as a Conservation Officer for the Department of Natural Resources. His territory included all of the county west of Ann Arbor. During the early 1970's he moved to the DNR's Pontiac Lake Office as District Law Supervisor, and retired two years ago. I was privileged to be a speaker at his retirement dinner.

I guess I have known Don about as long as anyone around here except members of his family, having met him on the day in 1946 when he walked into the old County Jail in Ann Arbor and introduced himself as west Washtenaw's new CO. I was a cub reporter covering the police beat for the Ann Arbor News and had not given so much as a thought to branching out into outdoor writing. Don had something—quite a bit, in fact—to do with my getting interested and active in a field of work that has earned me a lot of satisfaction and a few dollars over the past 36 years.

It didn't take Boyer long to make his mark as something more than just another fish and game cop. He was, in fact, an excellent law enforcement officer, a man who earned a justified reputation as a tough but fair policeman of the outdoors—diligent, determined, intelligent, persevering, and any other adjective you choose to use to describe a man who was both dedicated to his job and very good at doing it.

What distinguished Don from most CO's was his ability to get to know people and enlist their help and support: I was one of his early enlistees. Upon finding out that I was a hunter and fisherman, he helped persuade me to start contributing to the News outdoor page and eventually become its editor. He saw to it that I had plenty of things to write about. His sense of news was as good as that of most professional journalists, and he applied it to my advantage as well as his own.

When he found a judge in Ann Arbor's municipal court who was in the habit of handing down token sentences for serious game and fish law violations, Boyer took the time to befriend and educate the man. Within a year that same judge was prescribing jail terms for shooting pheasants out of season and similar criminal acts.

It is no accident that Bill Delhey is a long-time Boyer friend. Bill was a young assistant prosecutor when Don picked him out as a person likely to go places. Having a staunch ally in the prosecutor's office is a handy ace in the hole for a law enforcement officer to have.

However, Don did not "use" his friends. Never in my experience did he even suggest that I slant the news to do him a favor, and I suspect the Ann Arbor judge and Bill Delhey would say the same. He just educated us to the problems faced by a Conservation Officer charged with patrolling 12 townships all by himself, and asked us to help him when and as we could.

When I deserted newspaperwork and joined the DNR in 1964 as an information specialist, I soon found out that Don Boyer was held in very high regard indeed by his fellow officers and his supervisors. He was a man against whom other CO's were measured.

During the late 1960's the Safari Club International began a program of naming a "Wildlife Officer of the Year" in all 50 states. The selection process and rules were such that the choice was (and still is) made by popular vote among the active CO's in each state. Boyer was Michigan's first recipient of the award, and I have been told the choice was virtually unanimous. That tells you something about the man and his abilities. If your fellow workers consider you to be better than they are, you probably are.

Another measure of Boyer's rare ability to win friends and influence people was a "Recognition Night" dinner given in his honor years ago by a coal-tion of Washtenaw county sportsman's clubs. The large hall was filled, and among those who bought tickets and attended were several men whom Boyer had arrested at one time or another. I know, because I was there, and he pointed them out to me. Talk about earning respect!

Don dearly loved Chelsea as a place to live and raise his family, and west Washtenaw as a place to work. He turned down at least half a dozen promotional opportunities which would have involved leaving Chelsea. Had he pursued the path of ambition, he just might have risen to become the DNR's law chief.

His at-last move to Pontiac Lake was dictated by financial considerations. Boyer was approaching retirement age, and state pensions are based on the last five years of earnings. A promotion meant money, not only then but also later.

Although normally talkative, Don doesn't say much about his years as a District Supervisor. DNR

Policy of Honesty

Pays . . . and Pays and Pays!

Once a good and honest Conservation Officer, always a good and honest Conservation Officer, even if retired and a victim of his own honesty.

When Don Boyer, who lives in Florida, went to buy a small game hunting license at a DNR office, he was told by a clerk that he was eligible for a resident permit because he still owns property in Michigan.

"No, I'm not," Boyer replied, and then showed the clerk the section of the law which defines residency for license purposes. To qualify for a resident license a person must live in Michigan at least six months of the calendar year. Absentee ownership of property is not a factor.

A resident small game license costs $7.25, a non-resident permit $35.25, a difference of $28.00. Boyer gave the clerk $35.25—and a lesson in the law.

District 14 (Pontiac Lake) is kind of a zoo to work in. The district office serves the Detroit metropolitan area, half of Michigan's population. It is a squirrel-cage of telephones ringing off the hook, people running in and out, pressures of every kind bearing in from every direction. The DNR is very poorly organized to serve this major segment of the state's people.

Everything I have heard from sources I know, and can trust indicates that Boyer discharged his duties well, but finally got fed up to the point where he opted for early retirement, an option being selected by more and more DNR employees (including me) these days.

He and his wife, Trill, are both fine, thank you, and their grown-up children are doing well. Don plays golf several days a week in Florida and gets in a lot of fishing time. Several other retired Conservation Officers live nearby. Don is tanned and fit, and I'm sure could take off on the trail of a poacher if he got a call—and arrest and convict him. Among Don's attributes as a CO was that he lost very few cases. When he took a violator into court, he had the evidence he needed.

There is an ironic note in Don Boyer's career: he almost didn't get to be a Conservation Officer. Back when he was hired, the DNR imposed strict height and weight requirements. Don was barely tall enough to qualify, and just may have had to rise up on his toes a bit to meet the measuring stick. What a shame and a loss it would have been had he not made it.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BILL MULLENDORE

Regardless of what happens in Friday's final game against Pinckney, this has been a good football season for Chelsea. The Bulldog varsity is guaranteed a winning record and is the undisputed champion of the Southeastern Conference. The junior varsity got its act together late in the year and finished as an over-all winner. The freshmen stumbled in their last two games but wound up at 5-2.

For the varsity it could have been a great year except for a couple of key letdowns. A record that will be either 6-3 or 5-4 could easily have been 8-1, matching last year's. A spot in the state playoffs was not beyond the realm of possibility.

The opening game loss to Novi was simply a case of Chelsea's not being quite ready to play against a team that good. The season's worst disappointment had to be the Milan game, which Chelsea had in hand at half-time and should have won, but didn't. The turn-around in momentum was one of those inexplicable things that make football the fascinating game it is.

The Mason defeat is perhaps understandable, even if not excusable. Mason was trying to get back on a winning track and put together a respectable season record. Chelsea had already clinched a share of the SEC title, with three straight "must" victories over conference rivals, and a letdown may have been inevitable.

It all goes to help prove the old saying that football is primarily a game of emotion and motivation. Truth is, there is not all that much difference in physical ability among football teams, at any level of play.

Chelsea quarterback Dave Wojcicki has gotten a lot of publicity which could lead to all-state honors—and he deserves it—but the selectors certainly should not overlook halfback Russell Harris when the time comes to make their choices.

Despite missing part of one game and all of another because of injuries, Harris had at the time this was written (before last Friday's Mason game) gained 761 yards rushing in the equivalent of five games. A fancy average of 6.3 yards on his 120 carries. He had 10 pass receptions for another 131 yards, giving him 892 yards on the season.

Harris' standout statistic is his 96 points scored. He has 15 touchdowns and 3 two-point conversions to his credit. He is the bread-and-butter ball carrier that Coach Gene LaFave and quarterback Wojcicki call on when the Bulldogs get into touchdown territory, and he has almost always delivered. He has also turned in several long-gaining big plays.

Harris works at a corner linebacking spot on defense and has been a steady, consistent performer there.

All of which would be a super showing for a player in top physical shape. What has made Harris' play all the more remarkable is that he has been nagged by a series of injuries which, while not severe enough to put him on the shelf, have certainly hampered his efforts. You have to wonder what he might have done otherwise.

Unfortunately, those who make all-state selections tend to ration them one to a customer (or to a team, in this case). Let's hope that pattern is broken and that both Wojcicki and Harris get the recognition they have earned.

You don't too often see football players wearing eyeglasses on the field, but Chelsea defensive end Matt McCallum is one who does, and the "handicap" doesn't bother him a bit. Week in and week out he has been one of the Bulldogs' defensive standouts.

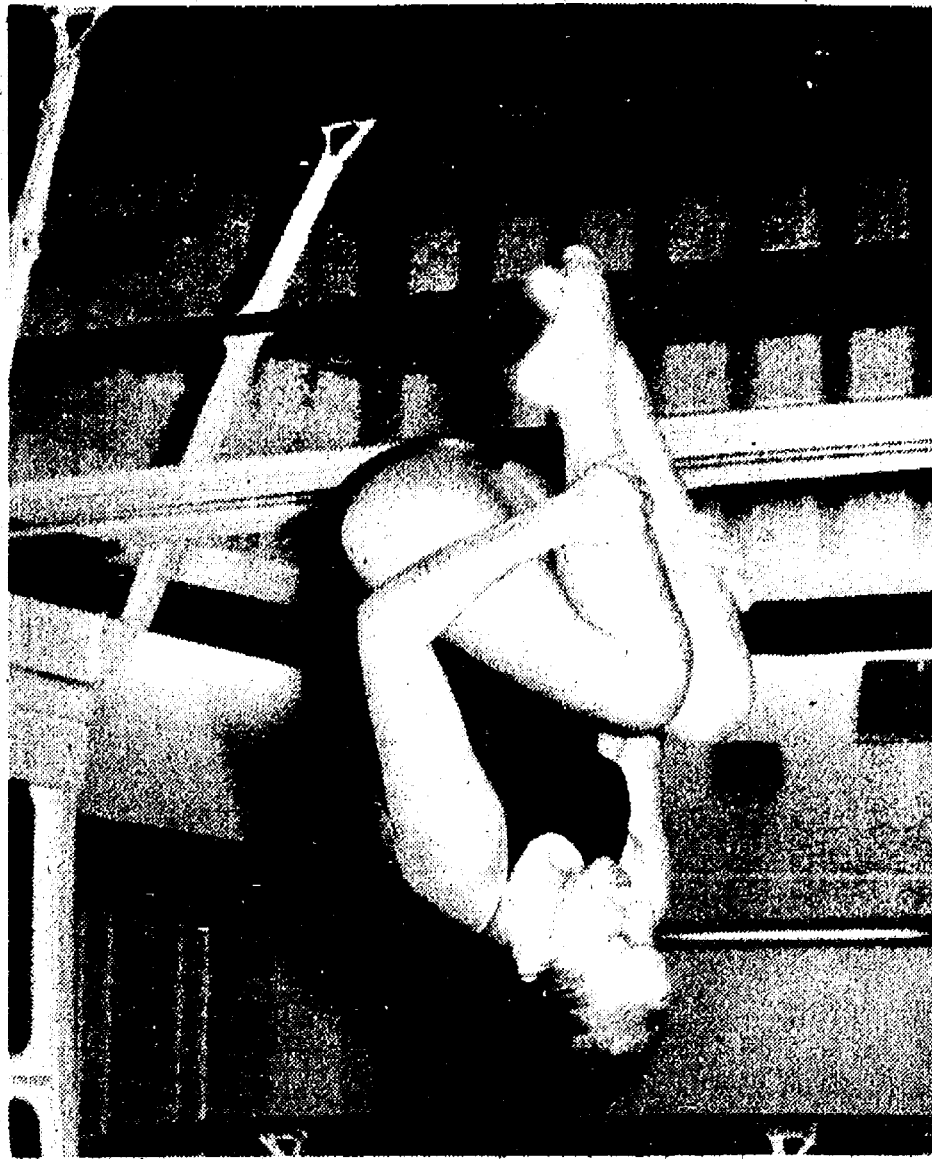

Most athletes with vision problems serious enough to require correction while playing wear contact lenses. (Wojcicki is one who does.) However, contacts are not for everybody, and McCallum is one who prefers spectacles.

His specially designed helmet face mask protects his plastic-lensed glasses against breakage during the rough-and-tumble, often violent game of football. They haven't been damaged yet.

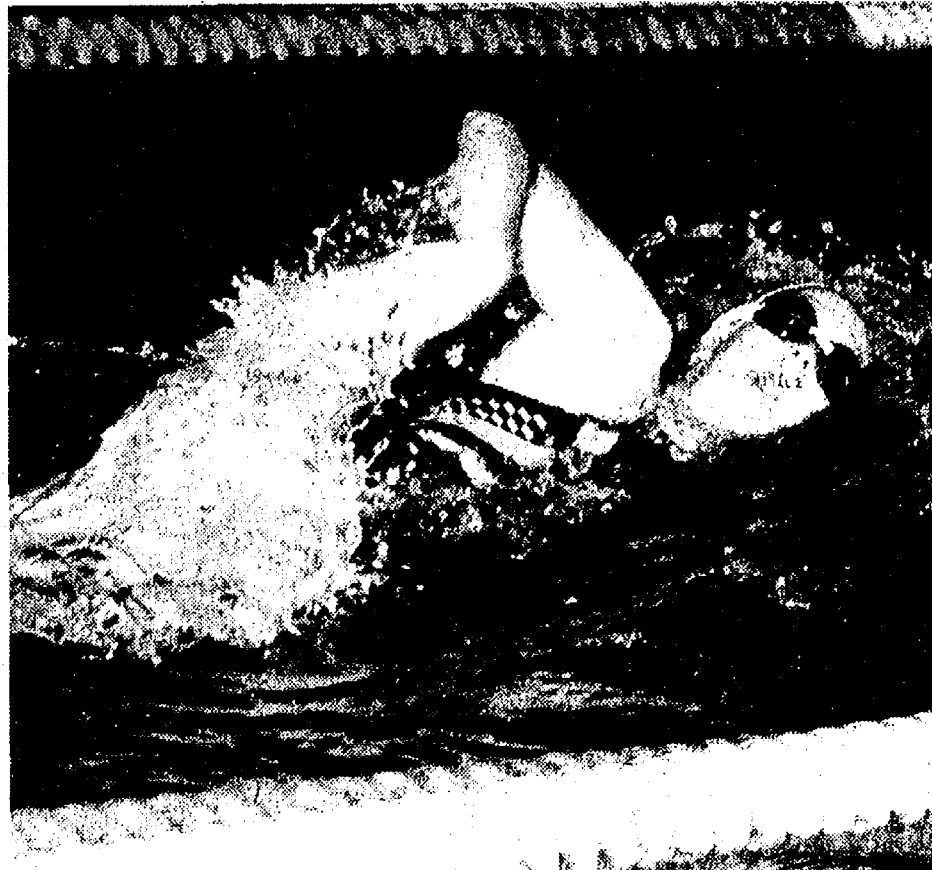

McCallum's glasses may be an advantage, at that. If you have watched very many football or basketball games, you have seen timeouts called while players searched for contact lenses which had popped out during the action. They are devilishly small and hard to find, even on a varnished hardwood basketball floor, let alone the turf of a football field. Replacements are expensive and may take weeks to obtain.

Having praised Chelsea High school's athletic program and facilities in recent columns, and meant it, honesty compels me to add a sour note. Niehaus Field is poorly lighted. Athletic Director Ron Nemeth confirmed as much when he told me that light on the field measures 10-15 foot-candles, as compared to the regulation 30. He hopes to do something about the situation before next season.

Besides correcting the bad lighting, the school needs also to improve its method of marking yard lines on the field. The present sideline markers are inadequate, even if they could be read under the dim light. Most of what few there are are kicked over by the end of the first quarter. The same machine that paints yard stripes can be used to put yard line numbers on the grass. All it takes is a set of stencils, which probably could be made in an industrial arts class.

VICKI HARRELL, diver on the Bulldogs girls varsity swimming team, tucks in one of her six dives from the one meter springboard against Willow Run Oct. 28 at Cameron Pool. She took second with 136.10 points to Lucy Geldner of Willow Run. Harrell, a senior, is the team's only diver. Swimmers Heather Grenier, Paula Colombo, and Dawn Borders alternate as second-string diver.

SWIMMER OF THE WEEK is sophomore Tammie "Chatta" Mullaly, swimming the 200 freestyle in last week's meet with Willow Run. She took fourth in the event. Mullaly was recruited by another team member and began swimming during the summer with the Chelsea Aquatic Club. She is at that point of spiraling improvement when she can drop 6 seconds off her 50-yard freestyle time in a week—she likes swimming, she says, "because there is no such thing as a plateau." Although the girls varsity team is small, only 12 members, she says it's an "enthusiastic, close" team.

Jackson Depth Wins Over Girls Swim Team

Chelsea girl swimmers, tired from rough workouts and not able to afford a mid-season peak, lost the numbers game in their 69-57 meet against Jackson Oct. 26 away.

Scoring changes in dual meets make small teams such as Chelsea, which has 12 swimmers, more competitive in dual meets, said coach Von Acker, as long as they win most of the events.

But the Bulldogs won only five events, so they lost on depth to Jackson, a team with 31 swimmers. Two events were close, though; the Chelsea swimmer just got touched out at the wall, said Acker.

The team is peaking for the Chelsea Invitational Nov. 18 and the December state meet, said Acker, so they did not taper their workouts and rest up for the Jackson meet, which showed in their times.

The 400-yard free relay did swim a state meet qualifying time, however. They had already qualified in previous meets.

200 medley relay—Dawn Borders, Marji Rawson, Kristin Thomas, Becca Lee, second, 2:09.41; Amanda Holmes, Paula Kuzon, Missy Young, Tammie Mullaly, fourth, 2:26.06.

200 free—Paula Colombo, first, 2:08.76; Lee, third, 2:09.49; Heather Grenier, sixth, 2:51.20.

100 IM—Rawson, first, 2:28.30; Lee, third, 2:44.81.

50 free—Borders, second, 27.56; Kuzon, fourth, 29.59; Young, sixth, 30.60.

Diving—Vicky Harrell, third, 159.60.

100 fly—Thomas, first, 1:04.72; Young, fourth, 1:17.19.

100 free—Liesel Culver, second, 1:00.34; Holmes, fourth, 1:02.75.

500 free—Colombo, first, 5:59.45; Lee, third, 6:30.81.

100 back—Borders, second, 1:12.28; Grenier, fourth, 1:33.39; Mullaly, sixth, 1:47.44.

100 breast—Rawson, second, 1:20.73; Kuzon, fourth, 1:25.66.

400 free relay—Holmes, Colombo, Thomas, Culver, first, 4:02.57.

Saline Downs Milan To Give Chelsea Undisputed Crown

Despite a poor performance in a non-league game against Mason, Chelsea emerged as undisputed football champion of the Southeastern Conference, thanks to Saline's 7-6 upset of Milan last Friday night.

While the Bulldogs were being thumped by Mason, 16-6, in a game that didn't count in the SEC standings, Saline was doing Chelsea a favor in a game that did count.

With the SEC schedule completed, Chelsea stands on top at 4-1, having lost only to Milan. Milan and Saline tied for a second at 3-2. Improving Dexter moved into a tie with Lincoln for fourth place by beating Jackson County Western, 24-13. Dexter and Lincoln each finished at 2-3 in the SEC. Western trailed at 1-4.

SOUTHEASTERN CONFERENCE STANDINGS (FINAL)

Chelsea	4	1
Milan	3	2
Saline	3	2
Dexter	2	3
Lincoln	2	3
Western	1	4

Saline 7, Milan 6

Bernie Saja's magic foot, which won a pair of one-point SEC victories for Milan earlier in the season, wasn't quite enough to put the Big Reds over the top against Saline, as the Hornets won a 7-6 decision which kept Milan out of a share of the SEC championship.

Saja kicked two field goals to account for Milan's six points, but Saline scored a third-quarter touchdown on Chris Evans' five-yard run. John Goodale then booted the decisive extra point. The personal kicking score was Saja 6, Goodale 1, but Goodale's single point was the one that counted most.

Milan had two chances to pull out a late-game victory, but was thwarted by Saline pass interceptions.

Tough defense keynoted the contest. Both Saline and Milan finished with less than 200 yards total offense.

For Saline the victory was sweet revenge for last year's loss to Milan, which prevented the Hornets from winning the SEC championship outright.

Dexter 24, Western 13

Dexter finally got its offense cranked up last Friday night and defeated Jackson County Western, 24-13, to give the Dreadnaughts two victories in SEC play and three for the season, their best showing in several years.

Dexter, which had scored only four touchdowns all season, got three against Western, coming from behind twice to beat the Panthers. The Dreadnaughts took maximum advantage of their TD's by adding two-point conversion after each.

Western got off to a 6-0 half-time lead with a second-quarter touchdown, but Dexter came back with a three-yard plunge by Brad Kokmeyer and a two-point conversion by Wilfred Nonnenmacher to open the second half.

The Panthers went back out in front, 13-7, early in the fourth quarter, but the combination of Kokmeyer and Nonnenmacher earned another eight points and put Dexter ahead to stay.

The Dreadnaughts then clinched things by recovering a fumble on the Western one-yard line. Quarterback Ryan Doletzy, who had completed several key passes earlier in the game to keep Dexter drives alive, sneaked for the touchdown, and Tim Clark added two points.

Dexter played its basic power ground game on offense, but mixed in enough passes to keep the defense honest and earn the victory.

Dundee 11, Lincoln 6

Lincoln continued to slide downhill, after an excellent season start, by losing a non-league contest to previously winless Dundee, 11-6.

Dundee didn't score a touchdown, but used three field goals and a safety to gather its 11 points. Lincoln got on the board in the fourth quarter on a two-yard run by Syrron Cannon.

The Railsplitters put on a promising drive in the waning minutes, but stopped themselves with a fumble at the Dundee 35.

Special Olympian Hockey Team Wins Over High Point

Chelsea's Special Olympian, poly hockey team won a close and exciting 9-8 victory over High Point on Oct. 22.

Paul Knott scored three Chelsea goals, including the game-winner. Jay Curry also had three, Kenny Smith two and Dawn Stancato one. Theresa Carlson had an assist. Goalie Walt Lewis did an excellent job, as did defenders Marcus Miller, Donald Ellery and Linda Miller.

Aquatic Club Hosts Diving Invitational

Chelsea Aquatic Club divers competed against divers from Milan and Brighton Oct. 24 at the first Chelsea Diving Invitational, one of three tri-meets scheduled for this year.

Team totals were not kept. For some of the divers this was their first competition, so it was intentionally a low-key meet.

Chelsea diving coach Chris Seufert was "really pleased" with how the kids performed, she said. Diving is a nerve-racking sport, anyway, but it takes time to get used to the pressure of being in the limelight—"having everyone in the pool area quiet and looking at you."

The CAC age-group diving program has 25-30 children from Chelsea, Dexter and Ann Arbor participating. The youngest diver is six years old, and the oldest are high school age.

9-10-year-old boys, four dives—Patrick Burke, first, 54.00 points.

9-10-year-old girls, four dives—Shelly Parsons, second, 97.90; Nicole Balcom, third, 76.40; Gabriel Hansen, fourth, 62.20.

11-12-year-old boys, five dives—Ward Maklinski, first, 140.40.

11-12-year-old girls, five dives—Heather Ross, first, 140.65; Mary Burke, second, 105.05.

Two Pickups Stolen in Area Over Week-End

Two pickup trucks were stolen over the week-end in this area.

The sheriff's department suspects two recent escapees from Waterloo Camp in Jackson county may have hot wired the first dark green Ford pickup truck, taken sometime Friday night from the 17000 block of Kalmbach Rd., Sylvan township, and abandoned it on Old US-12 near Rank Rd. when it stopped running.

A second dark green pick-up, this time a 1969 Chevrolet, was taken sometime since 4:30 p.m. Oct. 30 from a home in the 17000 block of Old US-12, Sylvan township. It had yellow and white fog lights, damage to the driver's side door, and a rototiller in back. It has not been found.

Funeral Homes Offer Bereavement Service

Burghardt-Cole and Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Homes have announced an expansion of their services for area families. "Bereavement Outreach" is designed to give grieving individuals and families support and help in understanding their grief and learning how to cope with it after the funeral. Coordinator of this program for both funeral homes is Mrs. Joy Stacey.

Mrs. Stacey has been a Chelsea resident for 11½ years. She is a college graduate and is presently taking further studies in Social Work at Eastern Michigan University. Mrs. Stacey has been a direct care team member and manager at Hospice of Washtenaw for almost two years, and she is a leader of the New Beginnings grief support group at the Family Practice Center. She has helped begin other grief support groups in other communities.

"Bereavement Outreach" is offered to clients of both funeral homes. The program includes home visits, phone contact as needed, and introduction to other helpful resources. Mrs. Stacey will hold office hours at Burghardt-Cole Funeral Chapel (475-1551) on Wednesdays, 9-11 a.m. and at Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home (475-1444) on Mondays, 9-11 a.m. People who have not been recent clients of the Chelsea funeral homes may contact either funeral home for more information about this service.

Churches Asked To Help Support Hospice Group

Terminally ill patients can be cared for at home, receiving excellent quality medical care and support services in a comforting environment. This is the message Hospice of Washtenaw has asked local clergy to deliver to their church members.

Hospice helps ease the pain and relieve the stress of terminally ill patients and their family members. Home care is emphasized. Teams of professionals and volunteers address physical, emotional, social and spiritual concerns. Practical assistance is provided through respite care, transportation and help with errands and chores.

During the week of Nov. 7, church members will be asked to contribute to a special collection to help support the goals of Hospice care for patients and families. Hospice of Washtenaw is partially funded as a member agency of the United Ways of Washtenaw, Manchester and Chelsea. The Hospice concept depends on community support and involvement. The Hospice Sunday and Sabbath activities are part of a national effort to gain community understanding and support.

Diabetes Detection Testing Scheduled

Free blood tests to help detect diabetes will be offered by 180 Michigan hospitals and health centers during Diabetes Detection Week, Nov. 7-13. The statewide testing program is co-sponsored by the American Diabetes Association, Michigan Affiliate and is open to persons over 18 years of age who have not previously been diagnosed as diabetic.

An estimated 240,000 persons in Michigan have diabetes and don't know it. Persons who run a high risk of developing diabetes are over 40, overweight, and related to diabetics. They should be checked once a year for diabetes, advises Dr. Nancy Caputo, detection chairman.

Diabetes is a serious disease that is a major cause of heart attack, kidney failure, blindness and death. The symptoms of diabetes, when present, may include frequent urination, abnormal thirst, unusual hunger, rapid weight loss, itching, fatigue, blurred vision, and slow healing of cuts and scratches.

For best results, a meal high in carbohydrates with large amounts of starches and sugars should be eaten two hours before the test. Breakfast could be fruit or juice, cereal with milk and sugar, two slices of buttered toast with jam, and coffee or tea. A person planning to take the test after lunch could have soup, a sandwich, cake or pie, and a glass of milk. The meal should be eaten within a 15-minute time period and nothing else except water should be taken before the test.

If the test indicates that a person may have diabetes, he will be advised to see his own physician for further evaluation.

This screening test and the recommended high carbohydrate meal are not appropriate for persons who have been told that they have diabetes.

In this area, test sites and hours are as follows:

Beyer Memorial Hospital, 135 S. Prospect St., Ypsilanti, Tuesday, Nov. 9, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.; Wednesday, Nov. 10, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.; Thursday, Nov. 11, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Chelsea Community Hospital, 775 S. Main St., Chelsea, Monday through Friday, Nov. 8-12, 2 p.m. to 8 p.m.

St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, 5301 E. Huron River Dr., Ann Arbor, Wednesday, Nov. 10, 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.; Thursday, Nov. 11, 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. ADDITIONAL COMMENTS: Tests will be performed in the Professional Office Building in the Ambulatory Care Area, Suite 1B10 at the east end of the hospital.

UP HILL AND DOWN DALE: This photo of Chelsea High school cross country runners in practice gives you an idea what the sport is all about. Steep hills and equally steep downslaps are standard on cross country courses. Chelsea's boys team has qualified for the state meet to be held later this week, and two Chelsea girls will race for individual honors although their team barely failed to qualify. Lions Club Reports Recent Projects

The Chelsea Lions Club has been actively expanding its efforts in a number of different community and state-wide service projects in recent weeks, according to Lions President Dave Prohaska.

"Residents of the Chelsea community have been very generous in their support of our Lions projects, and we would like to thank them and let them know where their contributions are going. Current activities being sponsored or conducted by the local Lions, in addition to the traditional sight conservation programs, include citizenship, health, and social services," Prohaska said.

During November, the Lions will be sponsoring a Diabetes Education Month. Literature will be available to the public at a number of locations in the community. More than 40% of those with diabetes are not yet aware that they have it and are not receiving medical attention. Diabetes is the third leading cause of death in the United States.

The Lions recently hosted a "Meet Your Candidates" forum in which all aspirants for state senate and state representative from this district participated. It was the largest turnout to date for a debate among those candidates.

Pumpkins were donated to each resident of the St. Louis School for Exceptional Boys which enabled them to enjoy a pumpkin face carving contest and brighten their Halloween.

America's Economic Hangover Persists

After the nation's unemployment rate edged over 10 percent, the newspapers were full of pictures of dejected-looking job seekers. For a person who wants to work — and the vast majority of us do — there is nothing worse than being unemployed. Even if you can cope with it financially — and few of us can — it is a severe blow to one's self-esteem.

Some of those newspaper pictures of the unemployed look like pictures of someone suffering from a hangover and, in reality, that's what's happening. America is suffering from an economic hangover, caused in part by years of excessive federal spending.

In the past, we could imbibe and perhaps suffer only a mild recession, but this time it's different. This recession has been severe. President Reagan himself has said that we have the choice to put American back on the right track or, in his words, "slide backward into another economic binge like the one that left us with today's pounding economic hangover."

Excessive federal spending, especially on the so-called entitlement programs, robs a nation of the money it needs to save and invest. Transfer payments create current consumption but they do nothing to build America's business, industry and agriculture. It is estimated that it takes $70,000 of capital investment to create one job in this country.

But... Congress has served notice on us that it intends to do virtually nothing about bringing federal spending under control. Most recently, it failed to pass the constitutional amendment requiring a balanced federal budget. But the necessary votes were found to pass a $98 billion tax bill and to override the president's veto of a $14 billion supplemental spending measure.

Braille Transcribing services in Jackson, Leader Dog School for the Blind, and Welcome Home for the Blind located in Grand Rapids, a state-wide retirement home for blind persons.

Prohaska concluded by saying, "It is important to note that all funds raised by Lions go to assist sight projects and other worthwhile community programs involving the handicapped and needy. No public money is used for club administrative costs and no professional fund raisers are employed by Lions. We are very proud that our community stands behind us in our efforts."

Church Calendar Notes Due on or Before Thursday

Changes for The Standard's Church Services calendar need to be submitted to the office in writing by 5 p.m. Thursdays for the next Tuesday's paper.

The calendar runs from Tuesday to Tuesday. Churches who submit monthly calendars often find it convenient to submit a weekly schedule for the week when the month changes, because the paper needs the information before the monthly calendars are finished.

Some churches prefer submitting a calendar weekly; others like to turn in a monthly calendar. Please include the name and phone number of the person in charge of the calendar as a contact person.

FREE HEARING TESTS

Chelsea — Free electronic hearing tests will be given on Monday, Nov. 8th thru Thursday, Nov. 11th from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M. at Beckord's Hearing Aid Center.

A hearing aid specialist will be available to give these free tests at 2922 Wildwood Ave., Jackson.

The tests have been arranged for anyone who suspects they are losing their hearing. Such persons generally say they can hear but cannot understand conversation. Testing with the latest electronic equipment will indicate whether it can be helped electronically.

Everyone, especially those over 60, should have an electronic hearing test at least once a year. If there is a hearing problem, a free electronic hearing test may reveal that newly developed methods of correction will help, even for those who have been told in the past that a hearing aid would not help them.

For those wishing a free test but want to avoid waiting, an appointment for a specific day and time may be arranged by phoning (517) 782-5724.

These free hearing tests are given for the purpose of making selections and adaptations of electronic hearing instruments.

Available for inspection on the test days will be the NU EAR All-In-The-Ear hearing aid which is especially designed for nerve deafness.

Reservations Due By Mid-November for Senior Citizen Trips

There is still room in the Chelsea senior citizens' two December trips, to a performance of the Nutcracker Suite ballet Dec. 18 or 19 in Ann Arbor, or to Chicago by train Dec. 1-2, but reservations need to be made by mid-November.

Seniors would travel by bus to the ballet, leaving the school bus garage at 12:30 p.m. to get to a matinee performance at Power Center. Dec. 18 is the preferred date.

Amtrak will make a special stop on its Chicago run 9:40 a.m. Dec. 1 at the depot, and seniors would return to the depot at 10:24 p.m. Dec. 2.

Sightseeing includes a natural history museum, a Chinatown dinner, and a Chicago After Dark tour. The Palmer House Hotel is close to both the Art Institute and downtown stores.

Study Started on Dana Water Main

The Ann Arbor engineering firm of Ayres, Lewis, Norris & May is at work on plans and specifications for expanded water service to the Dana Corp. plant on Sibley Rd.

There was a short delay in getting the engineering started because of "paper work" problems connected with the $6,000 Small Cities Program grant under which the study is being done.

The engineers will come up with a plan, including cost estimates and bid documents, Village Administrator Frederick Weber said. The village will then apply for a state construction grant to pay part of the project's cost.

Goal is to supplement the water supply to the Dana plant, which is now served by a single main, and so lower the company's fire insurance rate.

Weber pointed out that the new water main, if installed, will serve considerable vacant property and thus enhance its development potential.

Free Diabetes Screening Tests Offered

As part of Chelsea Community Hospital's and Chelsea Medical Center's promotion of Diabetes Detection Week, free blood tests will be provided in the Surgical Center of Chelsea Community Hospital on Monday, Nov. 8 through Friday, Nov. 12 from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Julie Say, R.D., community nutritionist, stressed the importance of eating a high carbohydrate meal, one with a large amount of starches and sugars, two hours before the test. A person planning to take the test after lunch could have a bowl of soup, a sandwich with two slices of bread, cake or pie for dessert, and a glass of milk. A person planning to take the test after supper could have a serving of meat, fish, or poultry, 1 cup mashed potatoes or a large baked potato, a hot vegetable, salad if desired, cake or pie for dessert and a glass of milk. The meal should be eaten within a 15-minute time period to assure an accurate test. After the meal, nothing else except water should be taken before the test.

The free blood tests are meant for people who are not known diabetics. An estimated 200,000 persons in Michigan are diabetic and don't know it. Persons who are at high risk of developing diabetes are over 40, overweight, and related to diabetics.

If you have any questions regarding the blood tests, contact Carmelita Lovett, chief technologist, 663-0645, or Julie Say, R.D., community nutritionist, 475-1311, extension 369.
