Police Report Shows Quiet November

Chelsea Police Department activity in November was up a bit over October, Chief Robert Aello reported to the Village Council last week, but it was still a relatively quiet month.

Bad checks and drive-aways from self-serve gas stations without paying continued to lead the list of criminal activities.

Police made 275 radio runs in November, up from 253 the previous month. There were 15 accidents, all minor, 32 traffic tickets issued and 101 parking violations. Thirty-four motorists in need of help were assisted.

The department ran 378 property checks and 38 bar checks.

Criminal complaints included seven instances of malicious destruction to property, six larcenies, and one case of cruelty to animals.

Fire Dept. Calls Jump In November

Chelsea Fire Department's monthly report for November records 29 runs, 13 more than in the same month last year. For the year the firemen have answered 51 more calls than in the first 11 months of 1981.

Ambulance calls accounted for 19 of last month's responses. There were three house fires, two chimney flare-ups and one garage fire.

Department personnel put in a total of 452.5 paid man-hours on fire calls, and donated another 43.5 for such tasks as repairing the fire hall, hanging Christmas wreaths, participating in a Veterans Day parade at Manchester, and attending a class on aircraft crash fires at Ann Arbor.

Hospital Patients May Have Guest For Christmas Day

Chelsea Community Hospital will try to make Christmas as much a family day and as traditional as it can be for persons who are hospitalized over Christmas.

Chamber of Commerce Elects New Officers

Dudley Holmes, Jr., has been elected president of the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce.

Holmes is employed by Chelsea Milling Co.

Holmes succeeds Samuel Johnson, who completed a one-year term as president.

Other officers elected are William Bott, president-elect, and Ronald Oimsted, treasurer.

New members of the Board of Directors elected are Mark Woydauff, Jerry Ashby, and Gus Stager.

CHRISTMAS BABY IS 95: Otto Hinderer, who will be 95 years old on Christmas Day, displays a poinsettia plant in his home at 204 Jefferson St., where he lives alone and takes care of virtually all his own needs. He and his brother, Wilbur, formerly owned a grocery store on N. Main St. He was born on Dec. 25, 1887, on a farm in Lima township and has lived in Chelsea most of his life.

Chelsea's Christmas Baby Observing His 95th Birthday

On Christmas Day in 1887 a baby boy was born on a farm near Lima Center. On Christmas Day, 1982, Otto Hinderer will celebrate his 95th birthday.

He lives alone in his home at 204 Jefferson St., Chelsea, remains active and healthy for a man of his years, and takes care of almost all his own needs.

On the day that a reporter from The Standard visited him, Hinderer's home was spotlessly clean and as neat as the proverbial pin, bright and cheerful, and so was its occupant.

He had baked a batch of chocolate chip cookies that morning and mailed a box of them to his only son, Roger, in Little Rock, Ark. The reporter sampled the cookies and can testify they were good, perfectly prepared and baked.

His voice is slightly whistery, he's a touch hard of hearing, and those are the only outward signs of his venerable age. He has no trouble carrying on a conversation, and his recollection of both past and current events is remarkably sharp.

His eyesight isn't as good as it used to be, he says, but it doesn't keep him from reading, watching television and writing letters to family members and friends. He especially enjoys writing letters, because he likes to read the replies he gets.

"I keep busy," he says, "and that's the important thing."

Keeping busy includes doing virtually all his own housekeeping, including the laundry, assisted only by a cleaning woman who comes in once a month to do some of the heavier chores. He prepares his own breakfast and supper but does receive a daily noon dinner from the Chelsea Home Meal Service.

"I could get along without it (the delivered noon meal) if I had to," Hinderer insists, but adds that it's a helpful service which he appreciates.

Hinderer rents out a separate apartment in a portion of his house that he doesn't use himself. Part of the arrangement is that the tenants take care of the yard, shovel snow and do similar routine maintenance. Otherwise, he is self-sufficient.

In nice weather he walks up-town to see how things are going in the Main St. business section where he once occupied a prominent spot as co-owner, with his brother Wilbur, of a grocery store in part of the building which now houses Gambles.

He sold out to his brother in 1952 and retired at age 65. Wilbur Hinderer died two years ago, long after the store had disappeared from the village scene.

Otto Hinderer moved to Chelsea in 1912 when his father sold the Lima township farm. He had completed nine grades in a one-room school at Lima Center, and that was the extent of his formal education.

"My father didn't have the money to send me into town to board and attend high school," Hinderer relates, "and that was the only way a youngster from the country could go to high school back then."

His first job in Chelsea was as a clerk in a general store on the corner of Main and Middle Sts.,

where Chelsea Pharmacy now is. "We sold groceries, wallpaper, paint, hardware, a whole lot of things," he recalls. "It was a typical general store of the time."

On June 23, 1915, he married Mildred Cook of Chelsea in the parsonage of the Congregational church. The marriage lasted more than 64 years until Mrs. Hinderer's death on Jan. 22, 1980.

The Hinderer brothers opened their own grocery store in 1924, and it took some nerve because there were already four other groceries in town, including big ones like Kroger's, A & P, and C. F. Smith.

P. Schumann Dies Saturday In Auto Crash

An 18-year-old Chelsea resident, Paul Charles Schumann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Schumann of 687 Washington St., was killed early last Saturday morning in a head-on crash on M-52 near Frost Rd., about three miles south of Webberville. The other driver also was killed.

Schumann was on his way home from Michigan Technological University at Houghton for the Christmas holidays. He was alone in his car, after having dropped off a fellow student at the latter's home in Webberville, when the collision occurred at about 12:20 a.m.

The other victim of the crash was Robert A. Fullerton, Jr., of Webberville, driver and sole occupant of a pickup truck. Both vehicles were demolished.

A spokesman for the Ingham County Sheriff's Department at Mason said the accident is still under investigation, but that it

PAUL SCHUMANN apparently occurred in the south-bound lane where Schumann would have been driving.

Fullerton's truck was headed north, the spokesman said.

Swim Team Shocked By Friend's Death

The waters of Cameron Pool will be still today, a memorial to Paul Schumann, former varsity swimmer and tri-captain of the boys team who died in an automobile accident Saturday.

Practice yesterday was serious and quiet, said coach Larry Reed, who had coached Schumann since he was in seventh grade. Most of this year's team and former swimmers home for the holidays had visited the Schumann family. They plan to sit together at today's funeral. Former teammates Jon Oesterle and David Mason will be pallbearers, and Reed has been asked to speak about Paul.

Schumann left a legacy to the team, that of the athlete who lacked natural talent but whose hard work paid off, said Reed. His only stroke was freestyle, and he was not a sprinter. He swam long distance events where guts and work mattered more than talent.

His four-year goal on the high school team was qualifying for the state meet, said Craig Wirtz, a former diver and team captain with Schumann.

His senior year he finally qualified in the 500 free, but he went further than just qualification. He placed 11th and scored points for his team. His teammates chose him as Most Improved. (Continued on page seven)

Friday. Monday 17 fourth-graders sang Christmas songs such as "Jingle Bells," "Frosty the Snowman," and "Silent Night" at the community sing at Sylvan Township Hall. Ron Harris, elementary school music teacher, directs the combined third grade classes, and Mrs. Harris played the piano.

Chelsea Village Council approved a conditional use permit for Chelsea State Bank Dec. 19, so the bank could add drive-up windows to their site plan for their proposed branch at M-52 and Old US-12. Battle Brewing Over Supreme Court Appointments Governor William G. Milliken, who has only a few days left to serve in a term that will place his tenure at 14 years, has invited a constitutional battle by appointing Appeals Court Judge Dorothy Comstock Riley to a vacancy on the state Supreme Court replacing the late Justice Blair Moody, Jr., who died in late November.

The Milliken administration maintains the appointment will be good until Jan. 1, 1985. To serve beyond that date, Riley would have to win election at the November, 1984, general election.

The governor also appointed Lieutenant Governor James Brickley to the court for a term effective Dec. 27 and also running until Jan. 1, 1985. That appointment carries no controversy. Brickley will replace retiring Justice Mary Coleman.

The complicating factor of the Riley appointment comes from the fact that a new governor—Governor-elect James Blanchard—will take office at the same time that a new term for Moody would have commenced had he lived. Moody was re-elected to a new eight-year term last November, only days before his death.

Milliken, in making the Riley appointment, said it was evident through discussions with his staff and the staff of Blanchard that no agreement could be reached on which governor has the authority to fill the vacancy.

He said research by his staff and outside counsel convinced him that he had both the authority, and the "legal obligation to make the appointment."

He added he expected a court challenge to the appointment and said he told Blanchard he would do everything he could to expedite consideration of the question—which will ultimately be the state's highest court itself.

Conrad Mallett, Jr., Blanchard's legal advisor, said the incoming governor would proceed with a Supreme Court appointment after Jan. 1.

Mallett said the Riley appointment was "extremely regrettable" as the constitution does not permit a Supreme Court appointment to run into the next term.

Milliken said a reading by his staff and outside counsel of the constitution shows only one person is to be appointed to serve when a vacancy occurs and that person is to remain in office until voters select a successor in the next general election.

He cited an 1861 case when a probate judge appointment was made under similar circumstances and the Supreme Court ultimately struck down an attempt by the incoming governor to make a second appointment.

Mallett said he would expect

Attorney General Frank Kelley to initiate action to resolve the dispute. He said the attorney general is authorized to file a quo warranto action in the Court of Appeals to resolve important public questions, and would expect such a case to be moved directly to the Supreme Court.

Kelley has since announced he would initiate such a proceeding when a Blanchard appointment is made.

The Milliken appointment has heightened a dispute between the two governors over appointments to various boards and commissions.

The Blanchard administration has urged the governor not to continue to make appointments as the appointees would serve well into and sometimes beyond the full four-year term of Blanchard.

They argued Blanchard should have the right to make his own appointments as his swearing-in is so near.

Milliken, meanwhile, argued he was still governor until Jan. 1 and the appointment process would continue.

Those appointments pale in comparison with the one for the vacancy on the state's highest bench.

Those involved said that the feud is being waged outside the area of politics but the Supreme Court appointment does not allow either party to ignore the fact that politics are involved.

The battle will rage between the two camps probably making the transition from Milliken to Blanchard less smooth, opening wounds that may take years to heal in those left in important positions in state government.

Strawberries are one of Michigan's most popular pick-your-own crops. An estimated 17,600,000 pounds were harvested from 2,700 acres in 1981, up more than 5,000,000 pounds over the previous year, to rank Michigan fourth in the nation. Fresh sales accounted for much of the $8,296,000 crop value.

Christmas candles actually derive from Saturnalia festival of Rome

Candles at Christmas...their warm, welcoming glow an indispensable part of the festive holiday scene. And the many customs that surround them add color to the magic aura of the Yuletide.

Wax tapers were offered as gifts at the Roman festival of Saturnalia. To the Christian community, the lighting of candles has the additional symbolic meaning of Jesus as the Light of the World.

A beautiful custom, still observed in Europe, is that of Christmas candles burning in windows, particularly on Christmas Eve.

And, in the years of suppression in Ireland, candles appeared in the windows of certain houses so that priests would know where to celebrate Midnight Mass.

• Candles are easier to light if you char the wicks first.

is appropriate. The Hungets' home and almost all their possessions were lost in a fire six weeks ago, but they have managed to rebuild and move back in on the same site.

Tax Guide Offered Free For Farmers

A free publication, designed to explain how tax laws apply to farming, is available by writing the Internal Revenue Service, the IRS said.

IRS Publication 225, "Farmer's Tax Guide," contains 20 chapters covering such topics as farm income, farm business expenses, tax credits, certain farming tax shelters, and soil and water conservation expenditures.

Written in easy to understand language, the guide can be a valuable resource at tax time as well as a handy reference all year. It contains a sample return with step-by-step directions on filling out not only Schedule F, "Farm Income and Expenses," but also 11 other forms and schedules dealing with tax situations common to most farmers.

Hunget Family Grateful For A Merry Christmas

Christmas will be merry at the Jerry Hunget home in Freedom township, and that's hard to believe unless you know the Hunget family and their story.

Their house and all its contents except for a few items in the basement were destroyed by fire on Nov. 17. The almost total loss was uninsured.

Six weeks later there is a partially built new home resting on the foundations of the old one at 3820 Rentz Rd., and the Hungets—Jerry and Barbara, Tom and Kerry—are living in it.

It's not a fancy place, just a small two-bedroom home almost exactly like the one that burned. But it's snug and warm and cheerful, and the Hungets are happy to be in it for Christmas.

The furniture—all of it donated by relatives, neighbors and friends—is adequate for a family of four, although certainly not fancy. A trimmed and lighted Christmas tree sits in one corner of the combination living room-kitchen-dining area, and there are tinsel garlands on the walls.

The wood-burning furnace had pushed the inside temperature to an almost too warm 75 degrees on the chilly evening that a reporter visited them.

The house is completely closed in and weather-tight, although by no means finished. Siding remains to be installed on the outside, and there are lots of other final exterior touches to be completed.

Inside, Jerry Hunget is putting up dry wall as fast as he can acquire the money to buy it. Some walls and ceilings are covered, while others show only insulation packed between studs and joints.

The Hungets remain firmly adamant in insisting on "paying as we go" to purchase the materials needed to complete the dwelling. While they have been willing to accept donations of work and money to help them get back on their feet, they refuse to consider the idea of obtaining a loan to hurry things along.

"We'll do it as we can afford it," he insists.

They can't afford a whole lot at a time. From his modest salary earned on his job as a mover for the University of Michigan, Hunget puts aside $30 every two weeks to buy his building supply needs. For instance, $30 will purchase 10 sheets of dry wall at $3 each, so he obtains 10 sheets at a time and nails them up.

Last weekend he was going to sell some hay and straw from his small farming operation that supplements the family income. Money from that was to buy, among other things, some plumbing items so the bathroom shower can be turned on. (The tub works, as do the toilet and lavatory bowl.)

That's the way it will go for as long as it takes to complete the dwelling.

There are still reminders of the fire. The side rails on the basement stairs are badly charred but strong enough to support the steps until new lumber can be bought. The basement itself smells strongly of smoke.

Tom, a junior at Chelsea High school, sleeps in the basement and insists he doesn't mind the odor. His sister, Kerry, a Beach school sixth grader, occupies the smaller of the two upstairs bedrooms.

Getting the house far enough along so they could move into it before winter was the Hungets' immediate goal after the fire. They have achieved that, with a lot of help that they are extremely grateful for.

"We could never have done it all by ourselves," Barbara Hunget says, "and we'll never be able to thank people enough for all they have done for us."

Having a roof of their own over their heads is Christmas gift enough for the Hunget family, and reason in itself to be merry this Saturday.

EDWIN MINIX had his last day of work at Federal Screw Works Friday, Dec. 17, retiring after 32 years. Minix, center, holding the Bible the union gave him, repaired large automatic screw machinery and was known for "always having a smile on his face," said Jerry Doer, who is holding the plaque the company presented to him along with a wristwatch. Fred Hoffman, left, Mark Sieger, and Richard Scrippler joined the retirement ceremony. Minix, 62, will now have more time for his hobbies, fishing, hunting, and working his Stockbridge area farm.

South School Classes Host Xmas Parties

Several South school classrooms put on Christmas plays for their parents last week. Gena Klink's first grade class put on "The Night Before Christmas" with a narrator and actors. All 24 students participated in the play which they had worked on for three weeks. Afterwards each child put on a letter card spelling out Christmas greetings and told the parents what their letter stood for, such as M for mouse in "We wish you a Merry Christmas."

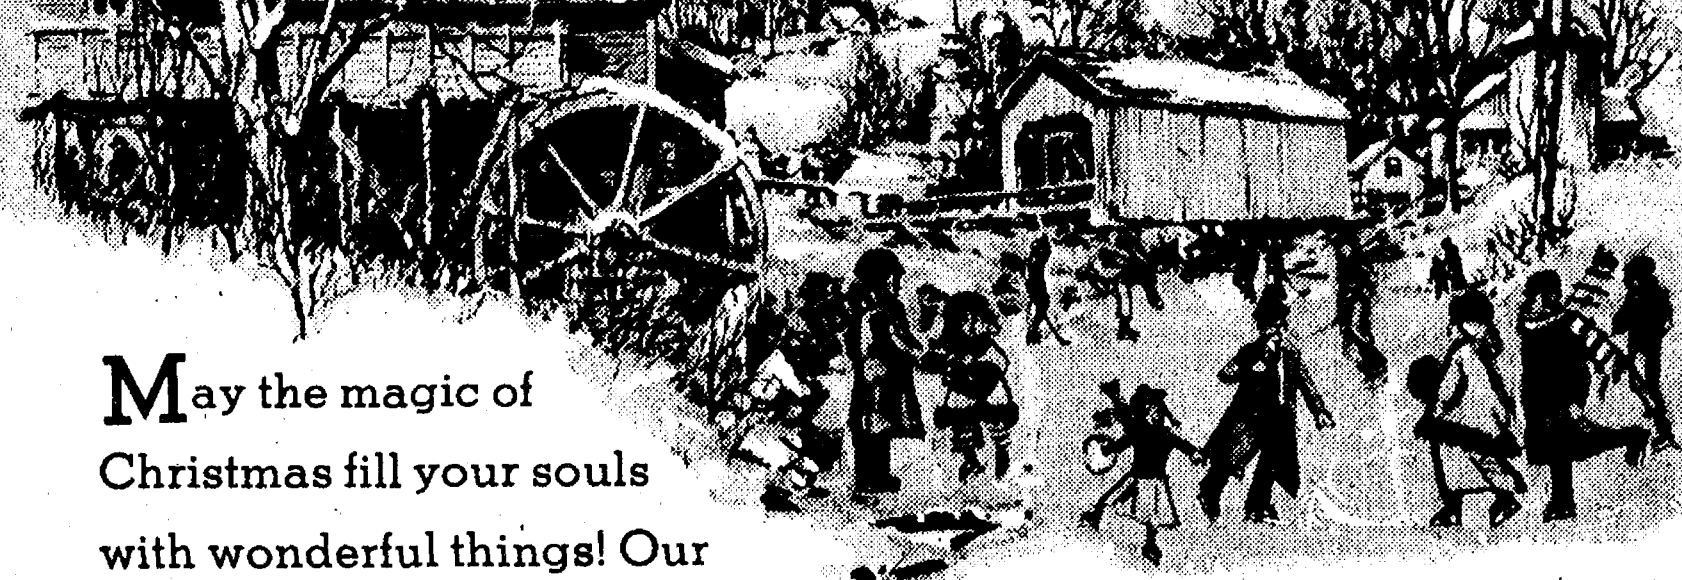

Suzanne DeVries' fourth grade class and Sandra Hamilton's third grade class combined to perform "Christmas Customs Around the World" on Wednesday and Thursday. Their play explored how Santa Claus is represented in different cultures, such as Russia, Yugoslavia and France, said Miss DeVries.

They sang carols in German, Dutch, Hungarian, Japanese and Spanish and did Hungarian and German folk dances. The 50 students had explored the unit during the month of December.

After the play they served their parents cookies they had made from different cultures.

ed Swimmer for the 1981-82 season.

Schumann was majoring in electrical engineering at Michigan Technological University, said Reed, and had not gone out for the team there so he could concentrate on his studies his freshman year.

When he swam at the alumni meet Thanksgiving Eve, his teammates teased him about his "freshman beer belly," said Wirtz, a freshman at Ferris State. That meet was the last time his swimming friends saw him.

Schumann, Wirtz and Dave Mason were the "terrible trio," during their middle school years on the Chelsea Aquatic Club, said Wirtz. "I don't remember how we got to be friends. It just happened."

They skipped practice together with their eighth grade girlfriends and haunted the bakery. They got fussed at on buses to away meets, because they wanted to sit on the side of the bus with the girls.

The terrible trio never tripled dated together during high school, said Wirtz, because all three didn't have girlfriends at the same time. "I wish we had done that for the prom now."

Although Schumann did not make the state meet his junior year, he joined his teammates for the traditional head shaving in March, said Wirtz, and had "battlefield knees" just like everyone else on the team shaving their legs for the first time.

Schumann was closer to the younger swimmers on the team than the other captains, said Wirtz, because he practiced in their lane more and was having just as much trouble with difficult workouts. He also was beaten by sophomores and freshmen as a senior, "which must have been tough on him."

Wirtz felt the same as probably everyone in Chelsea hearing of the sudden death last week-end. "I wasn't ready for it."

The 1982 Commemorative Mint Set contains 20 issues—17 single stamps and three blocks of four stamps—a total of 29 stamps and individual plastic mounts which help protect each issue. The set includes a random stamp from the 50 State Birds and Flowers issue.

The 1982 Commemorative Mint Set is the most recent in a series of annual sets released by the Postal Service each year prior to the holiday season. The cover of the $6.50 Mint Set features a montage of artwork related to the commemorative stamps issued during 1982.

The new full-color ninth edition of "The Postal Guide to U.S. Stamps" is on sale and is priced at $3.50, the same as last year's book, which was titled "Stamps & Stories." QUESTIONS ABOUT KIDS

By Mary Westhoff, M.D.
Pediatrician

Q: When my child is vomiting, how do I know if it is serious? What do I do for him at home?

A: Vomiting is a common occurrence with children. Some kids seem to vomit with very minor or no illness and others only do so when they are seriously ill, so the answer to this question is quite complex. I will try to give you some general guidelines, though.

Often vomiting is caused by a viral infection and may be accompanied by fever and diarrhea. This is known as viral gastroenteritis and is best treated by allowing the stomach to rest. If the child is older than two or three years, do not offer anything, even water, by mouth for several hours. After an hour or two, the vomiting usually stops and in four to six hours, you may offer small sips of clear liquids. Clear liquids include anything through which you can read a newspaper—Kool-Aid, Jell-O water, diluted apple juice and soda pop allowed to stand at room temperature are usually accepted. You may also use Pedialyte and Infalyte which contain sugar and salts and may be purchased at the drug store. Some children seem to do better when given ice chips or popsicles rather than liquids.

The important point is that very small amounts must be offered at a time—one half to one ounce every half hour is tolerated. By this time, the child will be thirsty and may demand more to drink, but large amounts are almost always vomited. If he keeps down several small doses of fluids, offer slightly larger amounts—say 2 oz. every 30 minutes. Gradually increase the amount given if there is no further vomiting, and in a few hours, with this regimen, children can usually be given all they would like to drink.

Children from six months to two years can usually be safely managed at home with the same treatment, except that the period during which nothing is given by mouth should be shorter—one to two hours at most. When clear liquids have been well tolerated and the child has had no vomiting for 24 hours, he is ready to have his diet slowly increased until he is back to his usual foods. At first, he will probably prefer bland things such as rice, cereal, crackers, toast, bananas, and applesauce. Within a day or so, he should be completely recovered and eating normally.

If the treatment outlined above fails and the child continues to vomit for more than 24 hours, it is best to consult his doctor. The younger the child is, the more likely he is to become dehydrated, and this is especially true if there is diarrhea as well as vomiting. For this reason, it is wise to seek medical advice right away whenever there is persistent vomiting—more than two or three episodes in infants under six months—or when there is diarrhea accompanying the vomiting in children two years old or older.

There are many other reasons for vomiting besides gastroenteritis. Usually these are self-limited and get better with the same fluid therapy. There are some signs and symptoms, however, that may signal more serious illness and should prompt you to call the doctor early. Severe abdominal pain and blood in the vomitus are two signs that usually alarm parents and, although they may be part of family benign conditions, require examination of the child by his physician. When vomiting follows head injury or abdominal injury, the child should also be taken to his doctor.

Persistent vomiting, accompanied by changes in behavior—lethargy, confusion, irritability or combativeness—occasionally are caused by Reyes syndrome. Early recognition of this syndrome has saved many children's lives. This constellation of symptoms may be caused by other serious diseases as well as Reyes syndrome, and so home treatment should never be attempted without consulting your physician.

Sometimes regurgitation in young babies is of great concern to their parents. Many babies regurgitate with almost every feeding throughout the first year. Usually this is entirely benign and merely a sign of an immature system. Of course, you will want to discuss it with your infant's doctor to be certain that your baby has this benign type of vomiting. If your child is growing and gaining weight well, the doctor will reassure you that the baby will "outgrow it." Thickened feedings and propping the baby in an infant seat after feeds may partially stop the vomiting. Of course, if there is a more serious reason for the vomiting, your child's doctor will discuss appropriate treatment with you.

I would like to say just a few words here about the use of medication to stop nausea or vomiting. These drugs should seldom be used in children. They do not work with vomiting caused by viral illnesses which, as I said earlier, are the most common cause of vomiting in youngsters. In the second place, they can have serious side effects in kids. If the simple measures outlined above do not solve the problem, the child requires medical attention to determine the reason for the vomiting. Use of drugs to stop the symptom may delay diagnosis of the underlying disease.

If you have a question about your child's health, development or behavior you would like answered in this column, send it to Mary H. Westhoff, M.D., Chelsea Pediatric Center, 445 A.D. Mayer Dr., Chelsea 48118, telephone 475-9175.

Pinckney Area Youth Completes OSUT Course With Army

Pvt. Thomas H. Sternbergh, son of Charles E. Sternbergh of 4373 Monks Rd., Pinckney, and Florence Stenske of 32 Fox Trail Court, Clearwater, Fla., has completed one station unit training (OSUT) at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training.

The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. Completion of this course qualifies the soldier as a light-weapons infantryman and as an indirect-fire crewman.

FIRST-TIME BLOOD DONOR Carl Pate, a senior at Chelsea High School, bared his arm Dec. 14 at the high school's blood drive, scheduled during the busy holiday accident season when the blood supply is dwindling. He was squeezing a wad of paper in his hand to make his arm work and the blood flow into a tube taped to his arm. The tube leads into a plastic blood bag. He was one of 59 students and faculty who donated. Ten persons were deferred for reasons such as weight, medication, or recent ear piercing, but they could still be counted towards the school's goal of 60 units. Colleen Clark, one of the health careers students sponsoring the drive, said the students learned a lot by interviewing prospective donors, and watching Red Cross volunteers pack and label blood. Even with the age limit set at 17, the drive was such a success the class is considering another drive in spring.

Special Olympians Compete in State Meets

Athletes from Washtenaw county Special Olympics returned home recently after competing in the state Special Olympic wrestling and poly hockey tournament held at Michigan State University. The 21 athletes had qualified for the state tournament by competing in the local tournament held at Eastern Michigan University in October. The tournament provided a high level of competition for the athletes who had been training in these events since the beginning of September. For some of the athletes it was the first time they had stayed away from home for two days.

The 12-member poly hockey team battled hard but were defeated in two close games, 6-5 and 12-8. Although tired and worn each member of the team had big smiles earned through the satisfaction of playing as well as they could.

The wrestling team coached by EMU physical education-major Russ Justice fared better with seven of the nine athletes winning medals. The wrestlers took home two first-place, two second-place, and three third-place medals in addition to two sportsmanship awards.

Katrina Stewart, director of Washtenaw County Special Olympics, has now turned her attention towards planning the annual winter games to be held at Huron Hills Golf Course on Jan. 15. Athletes will compete in skiing, ice skating, broom ball and other events.

For additional information on how you may become involved in the Special Olympics call Katrina Stewart at 994-8111 after 2 p.m. weekdays.

MITTENS, MITTENS, AND MORE MITTENS (72 pair this year) may have made a name for Doris Fuhrmann, but it's not the only knitted gift in her repertoire. She makes mittens as Christmas presents for St. Louis school for Exceptional Boys. She knits hats, scarfs, tv socks, and just about anything she else she can find in a two-needle pattern, better for blind knitters such as herself, she says. Only a few of those 72 pairs, several grocery bags full, are shown on the table at her South Lake home, which her parents built.

Doris Fuhrmann Continues To Knit Despite Blindness

When Doris Fuhrmann goes to St. Louis School for Exceptional Boys' annual Christmas party, she hears the boys' appreciation for the pair of mittens she has made each one—but doesn't see it.

Severe complications from diabetes made her totally blind four years ago and she began knitting as therapy.

"But what do you do with 50-60 scarves?" said Mrs. Fuhrmann, 62, of South Lake. She had known of the school on Old US-12 and called to see if they could use the scarves. Yes, they could. That was more than 180 pairs of mittens ago.

If she didn't knit, she said, she's afraid she'd doze in her chair too much. She also does household chores such as cooking vegetables, stirring Christmas cookie batter, and keeping up all her family's correspondence.

Since she's losing her sense of touch in her fingertips, another diabetic complication, her husband Chuck taped grains of rice to the placing keys on her electric typewriter, so she can feel she's in the right place and doesn't have to ask anyone.

The typewriter was her gift when she retired in the 1970s as Lyndon township clerk, a job she held about 10 years.

Losing her sense of touch was one reason she never learned Braille, she said. She has a "talking" clock and listens to records and talking books, and knows where her food is on her plate by "vegetables at 3 o'clock, meat at 6, and bread at noon."

Each January she starts on her next batch of Christmas mittens. Last year the school needed only 50 pair, so she thought she was in good shape with 32 pair when she went on vacation in July with her husband in their travel home.

"I've knitted my way around the country," she said, "all 50 states and to Florida twice!"

Come September she discovered they needed 72 pair instead. She made her needles fly.

She uses two-needle instead of the usual three needle mitten patterns, she says, because it's easier for her to keep track with rows instead of spiral knitting. Nancy Jackson, an Ann Arbor friend, stays on the look-out for such mitten, TV socks and hat patterns. Mrs. Fuhrmann has them tape-recorded.

She buys large quantities of bright colored yarn, which "boys like more" and sets aside two colors when she begins each pair. She asks her husband or mother to check out the combination before she starts.

Once she got her skeins scrambled and thought she had knit a pair of green mittens, but when her family saw that

"green" pair, they told her one of them was yellow.

She had to quickly make two more mittens, one of each color, to have two matching pairs.

Although she doesn't knit patterned mittens, she does the cuffs in a different color from the hand, so each pair is more distinctive. She doesn't sign the mittens, but considers her "signature" an occasional dropped or purl stitch, which give the mittens a nice texture and distinctive look.

When she first went blind, she said it felt "like the end of everything."

But her mother, Mrs. Nettie Hall, says Mrs. Fuhrmann is now more independent than ever before.

She's got lots of mittens left in her yet, she says.

Now how many snowballs at St. Louis school have been and will be thrown with Fuhrmann mittens?

Fair Board Meets Under New Head

Art Stelnaway, new president of the Chelsea Community Fair board, presided over the board's meeting Dec. 16.

Several board members will attend the annual fair convention Jan. 13-15 in Dearborn. A ditch project through the grounds and culvert installation near the south gate were discussed and planned for spring. The new treasurer, Debbie Stapish, will be bonded and membership dues were set. Several board members stayed later for informal discussions about procedures during fair week, Aug. 30 to Sept. 3.

A printed agenda helped speed up the meeting. The secretary's report was approved, correspondence read, and the treasurer's report approved.

Those present included Stelnaway, Jerry Herrick, the new vice-president; Maryann Guenther, secretary; and Debbie Stapish, the treasurer; board members, Jim Dault, Harold Gross, Earl Heller, Jerry Heydlauff, Gary Houle, John Klink, Reuben Lesser, Jr., Mark Stapish, Bill Stoffer, Harold Trinkle, Bill Nixon, a new director and John Wellnitz, reporter. Those absent were Archie Bradbury, Richard Bollinger, Robert Heller, Charles Koenn, Jeff Layher, Ralph McCalla, Joe Merkel, III, Kay Poljan, Richard Poljan, and Lloyd Grau.

Only Minor Damage Found on 3 Fire Calls

Chelsea village firemen did considerable running around last week, but none of the alarms turned out to involve anything really serious.

On Monday evening Dec. 13, firemen put out a grass fire at the Chelsea Greenhouse on Lingane Rd. About 10 acres were involved.

Last Wednesday night the department rolled out most of its trucks and manpower to what turned out to be a false alarm along M-52 near Lyndon Town Hall Rd. Assistant Chief Doug Eder said somebody saw lights shining through a heavy fog and thought it was a house on fire.

A response to a truck fire report on eastbound I-94 near the Kalmbach Rd. exit on Thursday ended with a set of burned-out brakes but no other damage.

Early yesterday morning firemen went to a home at 19850 Old US-12 where an overheated furnace motor had caused a smell of smoke.

Christmas 'Baby'

Throughout their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Hinderer lived in the house on Jefferson St. which had belonged to her father. One of their favorite hobbies, which they continued right up to her death, was making hooked rugs together. The house displays several of their brightly colored, intricately patterned creations.

"She figured out the designs, and I did most of the hooking work," Hinderer describes the process. "We bought old woolen coats for materials. We made dozens of rugs, I don't know exactly how many, and gave most of them to our family and friends."

Without his wife's help to figure out the designs, and also because of his dimmed eyesight, Hinderer doesn't hook rugs any more but wishes he could. "It passed a lot of time and gave us a lot of pleasure," is the way he puts it.

If Hinderer has any regrets it is that all the members of his immediate family—which includes three each of grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren—are so far away. One grandchild, Dr. Drew Hinderer, lives in Midland. The others are all outside Michigan, and he doesn't get to see them often.

However, he has several nieces and nephews living in the area and says he probably will spend his Christmas birthday with one of them, although his plans were uncertain as of late last week.

He seemed unconcerned that little more than a week before the holiday, he didn't know how he would spend it. "I get along pretty well," he summed up, "and people have always been good to me. I'll be all right."

Official number of farms in Michigan in 1981 is estimated at 67,000, 1,000 more than 1980, the first increase since 1933. Acreage of land in farms also increased 200,000 acres to 11.5 million. The definition of a farm is "a place that sells or normally would sell $1,000 or more of agricultural products."

Appeal Made for Motorists To Not Mix Drinking, Driving

Although Michigan's new drunk driving law does not go into effect until April, 1983, Secretary of State Richard H. Austin today appealed to all motorists to drive over the year-end holidays as if the new law were in effect now.

Among other provisions, the new law permits roadside breath tests on suspects and makes it illegal to operate a vehicle with a .10 percent blood alcohol level or more. Refusal to take a breath test can result in the suspension of a driver's license for six months and six points on the offender's driving record. Repeat offenders face license suspensions of up to five years.

Of the 53,000 drivers involved in accidents in Michigan, in December, 1981, 4,900 had been drinking. In addition, 4,777 arrests for drunk driving were made that month. Under the new law, arrests are expected to increase substantially.

"Christmas and New Year's this year are a good time to get used to Michigan's tougher drinking law," Austin said.

In 1981, alcohol was involved in more than half of the 1,589 highway deaths and 51,205 accidents.

It is estimated that one out of every two Americans will be involved in an alcohol-related accident in their lifetime.

Michigan produces more dry edible beans than any other state in the nation. An estimated 719,800,000 pounds of dry beans were harvested from 650,000 acres in 1981 in Michigan. Value was $190,747,000.

In 1981, Michigan growers extracted an estimated 118,000 pounds of spearmint oil, sixth largest production among the 50 states. Farmers received $1,829,000 for the crop grown on 3,800 acres.

Pump 'n Pantry Owner Rejects Planners Decision

Spring building season could bring the Chelsea Planning Commission either a court suit or a revised site plan for Pump 'n Pantry, said Charles Gallup, owner of the convenience store chain in a telephone interview Friday.

Gallup-Silkworth sent a letter mentioning possible legal action to the commission which was read at their Dec. 14 meeting.

This fall Chelsea Planning Commission rejected the first site plan, which called for cars to enter from Main St. and exit onto Orchard St., for traffic safety reasons, said Phil Hume, chairman of the planning board. The edge of the building would be right on the sidewalk so car drivers would have a blind corner to pedestrians on that sidewalk.

Gallup says he knows this was the "excuse" they gave at the meeting, but says the commission was influenced by the objections of "a handful of people."

The site plan met every ordinance requirement, he said, and objections were voiced only after several meetings.

If Rick's Market reopens or if another convenience store opens north of downtown, he said, all those traffic objections would be less valid, since Pump 'n Pantry would lose business.

He was "not optimistic" about getting approval for another site plan, he said. The company feels their plan was the best design for the site, and that the design was not the real problem.

"We feel we have a case," he said. "We were not treated fairly."

They may try for a court-ordered building permit closer to building season, he said.

Hume was "not surprised" by the possibility of a suit, he said, although if it does happen it would be a first for the planning commission in the five-plus years he has been on it.

Village council acts as the board of appeals to planning decisions, he said, so Gallup-Silkworth does have an alternative to court action.

Safety was the reason the plan was rejected, he said, not because Orchard St. residents objected.

When Gallup-Silkworth submitted its plan, he said, no one on the commission had heard of a proposed convenience store north of the clock tower.

That had "nothing" to do with the commission's rejection of the Pump 'n Pantry plan, said Hume.

Holiday Lights Fire Put Out

Chelsea firemen arrived in time early yesterday afternoon to put out a fire at 55 Chestnut St. which could have caused serious damage.

A string of holiday lights, intended for indoor use but put out outside, shorted out and set fire to an evergreen shrub at the corner of the dwelling. The shrub burned, and metal siding up the side of the house was scorched.

The firefighters got there before the blaze could burn its way into the interior of the house, and confined the damage to the outside.

CHRISTMAS CARING: Chelsea High school senior class has as its theme, "We care," said Bud Janich, class advisor. The students will spend this year giving to the community which has given them so much during their school years. Students raised money to buy 12 turkeys for Chelsea Social Services clients. The actual turkeys couldn't be put in the holiday boxes packed Thursday at Sylvan Township Hall, (they will be distributed later) but class officers, Sandy Sundling, left, vice-president; Amy Poljan, treasurer; and Jon Bentley, president, helped Linda Ormsby, social services director, pack candy and nuts into the boxes.

Social Agency Reports Great Response for Christmas Help

"Bad times bring out the best in people," said Linda Ormsby, director of Chelsea Social Services as she looked around at the community donations to the needy accumulating in Sylvan Township Hall Thursday.

Each year social services gives a holiday box to each client family with non-perishable food, paper products, clothing and toys for children.

Although social services had more client families, 35, she said, they also got more donations from the community. This year was also the first time they had ever gotten walk-in donations the day they were packing boxes, something which made each box more special.

Chelsea Milling Co. gave boxes of brownie, biscuit, cake, frosting, and muffin mix. Bill Coelius, a Chelsea High school teacher, donated more than 20 wooden toys, which he makes as a hobby. The high school's senior class raised money for 12 turkeys, which will be picked up at a later time.

Chelsea Kiwanis Club donated oranges from their citrus sale. Seva Foundation of Chelsea donated food stuffs given to them, which they had no way to distribute locally.

St. Mary's Catholic church "adopted" 17 children. Social services provided them with a list of the children's needs and sizes, ages and sex—but no names to keep it confidential. Parishioners then split up the list and bought clothing and toys. St. Paul United Church of Christ adopted five families; Rockwell International adopted one family, and one local family adopted another family, filling a huge box with presents.

Many others slipped into the door at the township hall, quietly leaving things, such as bags of candy, wonderful furry hand puppets (which social services employees wagged at each other before putting in boxes), mitten-hat-sock-sets, and boxes of disposable diapers.

Although everyone makes a special effort for the children, community members remembered their mothers too, with what Mrs. Ormsby called "Momma's gifts," slippers, bath powder, and brightly colored kitchen towels.

Social services board members and employees purchased paper products for each holiday box. One woman board member, who Mrs. Ormsby says is "great at shopping," bought the children outfits from local merchants that any child would be proud to wear.

"She has great taste," said Mrs. Ormsby, holding up maroon slacks and white knit top with maroon edging and embroidery.

The dolls outfitted by local women from Great Lakes Federal Savings' Dress-A-Doll contest will be given to eight to 12-year-old girls this week. Mrs. Ormsby and Jacqueline Reithmiller have the difficult job of deciding which girl gets which doll, trying to match tastes and ages.

Families picked up their holiday boxes, a gift from the Chelsea community, Friday.

In 1902, a 2-month strike of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union (AFL) was settled by providing preferential union hiring, a board of grievances and a board of arbitration. This laid the foundation for the "impartial chairman" method of settling labor disputes, according to a publication of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Bulldog Cagers Lose to Dexter In Overtime

It wasn't a classic basketball game that Dexter and Chelsea played last Friday night in the Dexter gym, but it sure was exciting.

Dexter won it finally, 60-57, as the visiting Bulldogs ran out of gas down the stretch in a contest with so many turning points that it would take a full page to recount them all.

Both teams played fast and furious, hustling basketball all the way. Both put on a swarming show of defense that forced a total of 55 turnovers and a whole bunch of bad shots. Both battled on the boards.

What made the difference in the end was that Dexter shot better from the floor, sinking 23 of 45 attempts while Chelsea was putting in only 21 of 55 (including a miserable 7 of 27 in the first half when the basket seemed to have a lid on it.)

Neither team did very well from the foul line, where either could have put the game away in regulation time. Dexter made 14 of 22, Chelsea 15 of 26.

But when it came down to the wire free throws decided the outcome as the Dreadnaughts canned three to put up their only points in the overtime period while the Bulldogs were being shut out. Bob Haggerty iced the game for Dexter with a clutch foul shot in a one-and-one situation with 27 seconds left.

The first half was Dexter's. The aggressive Dreadnaughts just plain out-hustled Chelsea all over the court to lead 16-12 at the end of the quarter and 36-23 at the half. The Bulldogs couldn't buy a basket, while Dexter was having good success working the ball inside for high-percentage shots.

Chelsea Coach Robin Raymond changed some things at half-time, and the Bulldogs came storming back with one of their patented third-quarter rallies. Dexter hung on to a narrow 44-42 lead at the end of the period and seemed to be on the ropes. Chelsea moved out front by a point, 45-44 early in the fourth quarter, but then it was Dexter's turn to get charged up and fight back.

Still scrapping with an intensity not all that often seen in the full course of a game, the two teams traded points and turnovers during the rest of regulation time. Chelsea had a chance to win at the buzzer, but Dave Wojcicki's mid-court shot that could have gone in bounced off the rim instead.

The overtime period was a scramble affair. Neither team managed to get off a decent shot from the field, but Dexter drew three fouls from an exhausted Chelsea bunch and made the free throws that counted.

A jubilant coach Jim McCormack figured his young, Dexter team matured under the second-half and overtime pressure and predicted that his Dreadnaughts "will not be easy to beat" when the season resumes after the holidays.

McCormack was especially happy with the play of sophomore guard Dan Schlaff who drew the unenviable assignment of defending Chelsea's all-league standout Wojcicki and held him to just eight points, far below his average.

Schlaff and his backcourt partner, Phil Gumucio, combined to do something else that Dexter had to do — shut down Chelsea's running game. The Bulldogs scored only three field goals off the fast break.

Chelsea Coach Robin Raymond, though naturally disappointed by the loss, was not as unhappy as he might have been.

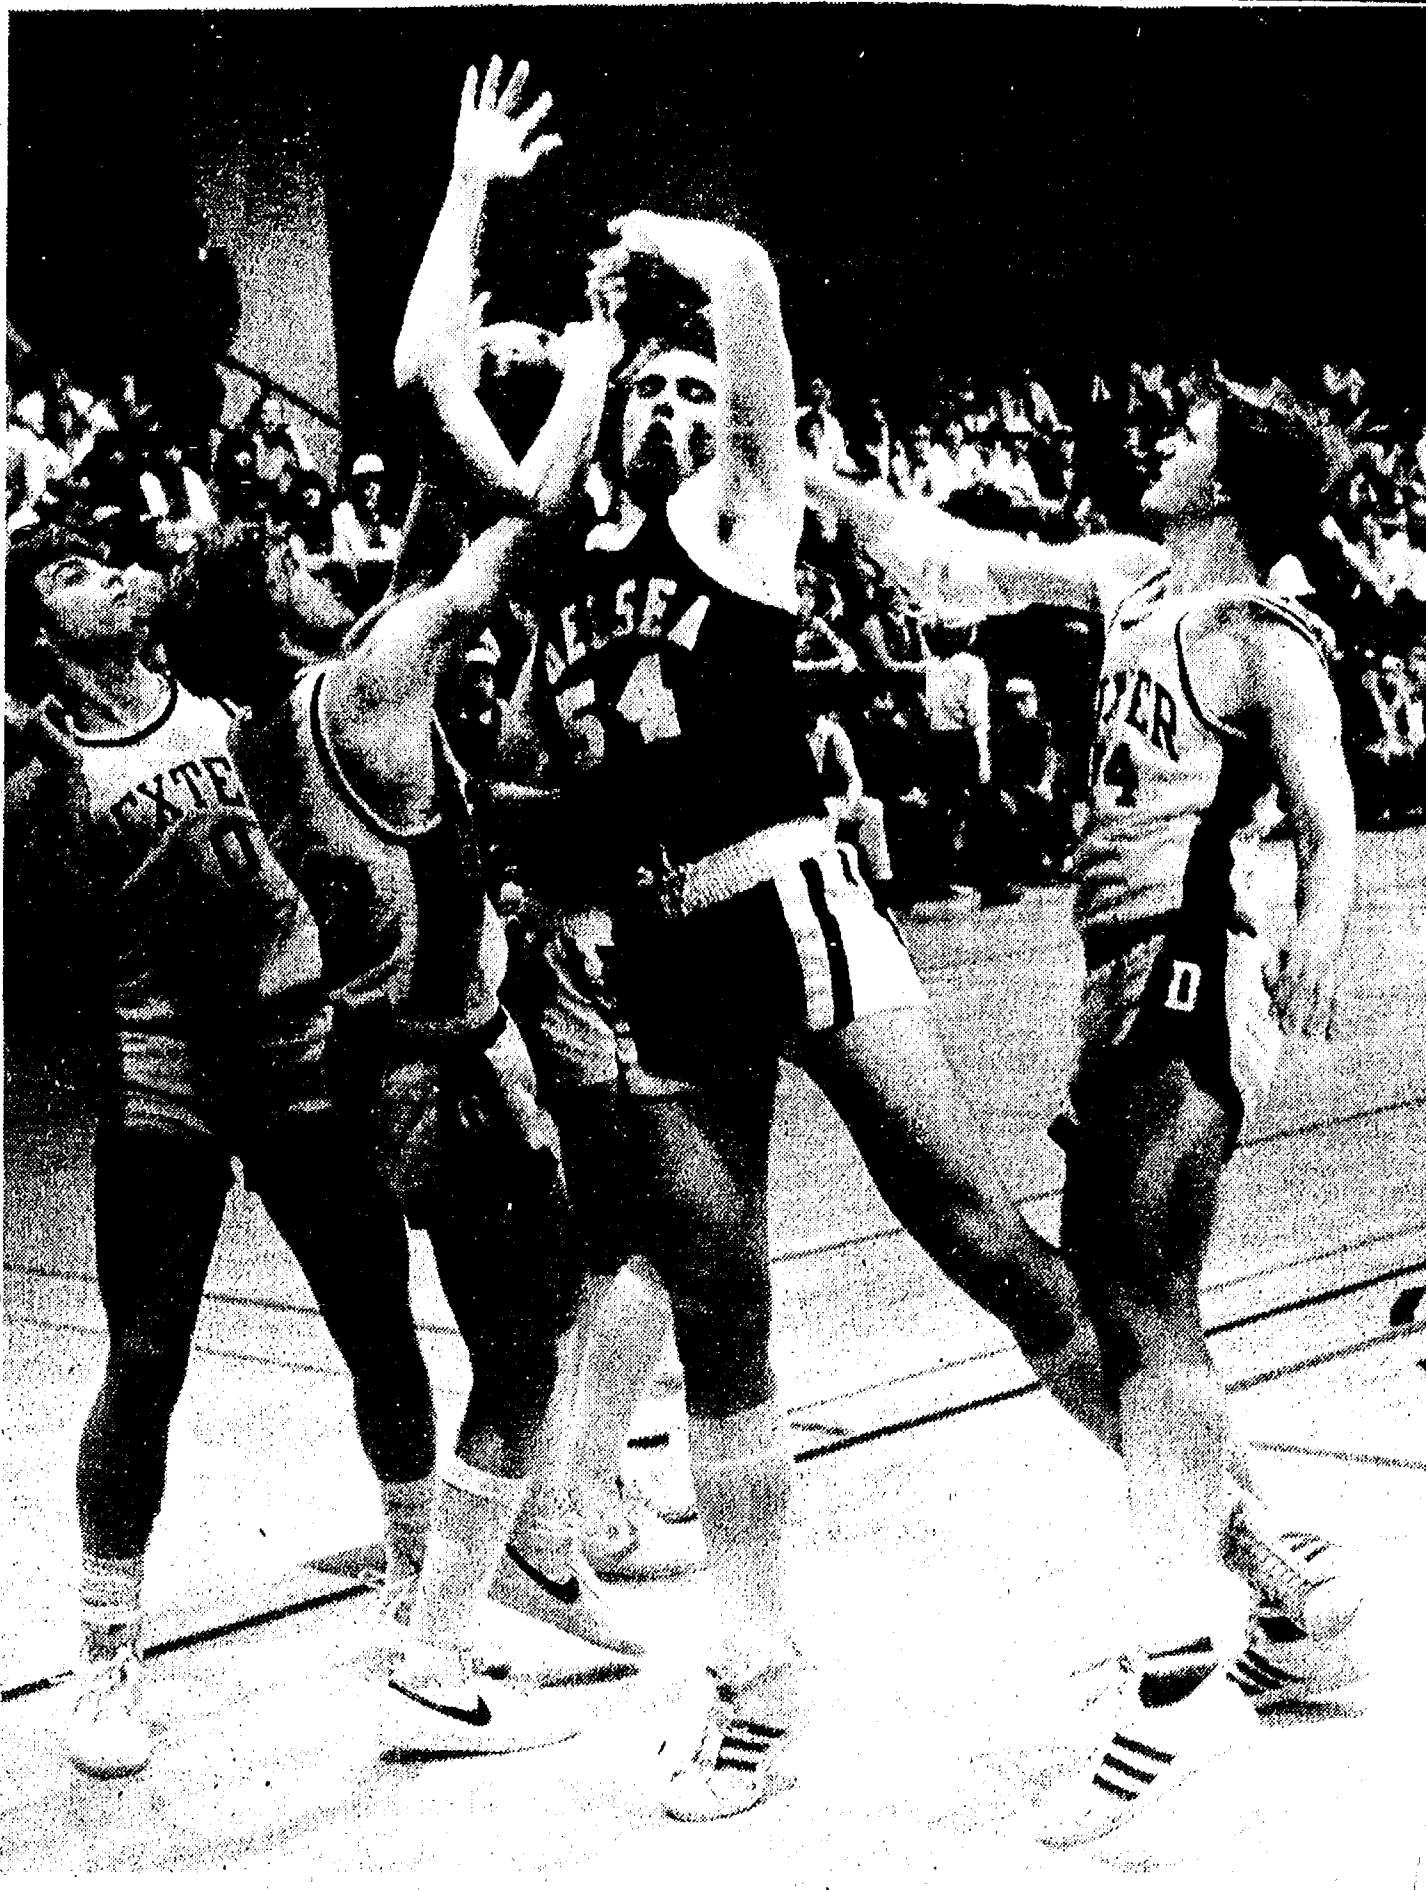

"We played a poor first half, and we didn't shoot well during the whole game even though we are a good shooting team from both the floor and the foul line," a somewhat puzzled Raymond said. "But I liked the way we came back to make a close game of it when it looked like we might be blown out."

Gumucio paced Dexter with 13 points and had five assists. Haggerty and center Eric Sing had 12 points each.

David Kiel led Chelsea's offensive effort with 18 points and also pulled down a game-high 13 rebounds. Carl Pate came off the bench to put in 16 for the Bulldogs.

Dexter made it a clean sweep for the evening by winning the junior varsity game, 47-37. It was the first win of the season for the Dreadnaught JV's after four straight losses, and it was the Bulldogs' first defeat following three consecutive victories.

What made the difference was a 1-2-2 zone defense put on by Dexter. The Chelsea squad had not seen anything of the sort before and could not find a way to crack it open.

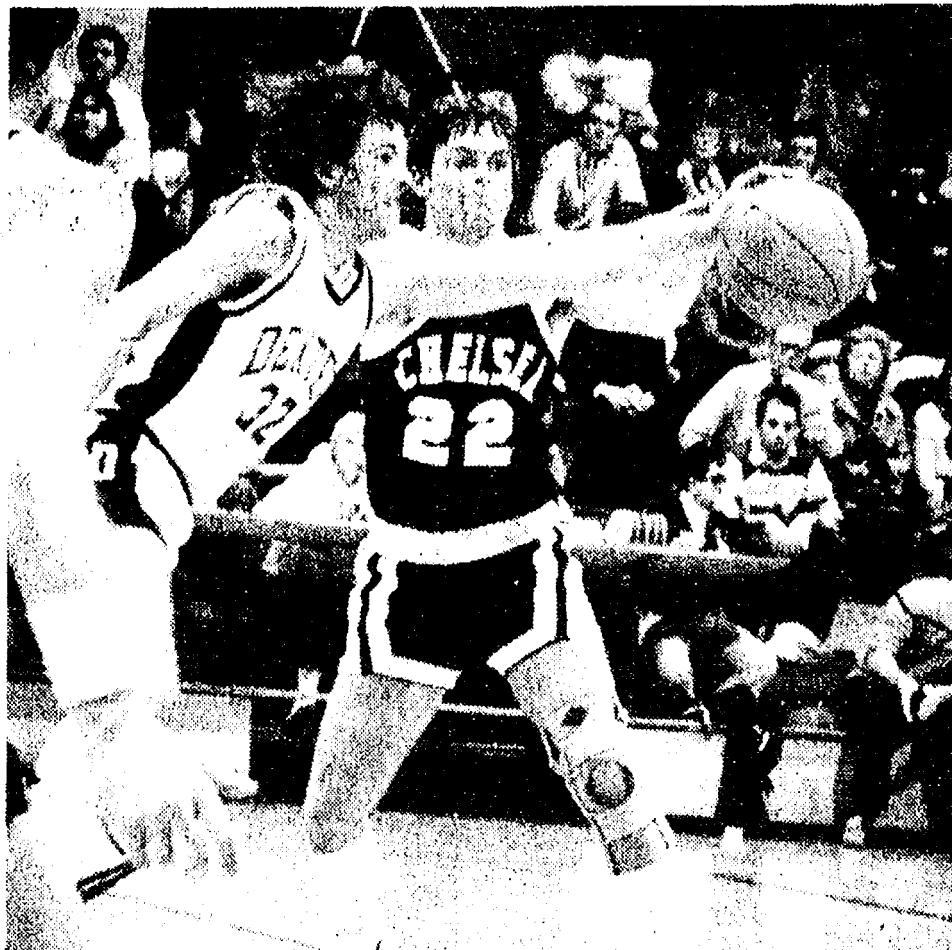

FOUL! It was rough under the boards in the battle for rebounds, as Chelsea's David Kiel (54) found out on this play where he was hit simultaneously in the arm, jaw and back of the neck. Dexter's No. 40 is Niles Mayrand, who sat out most of the game with an ear cut sustained in a collision shortly after this action took place.

Grass Lake Woman Killed in Burglary

Three men have been arrested by Jackson county sheriff's officers in connection with the slaying of a clerk in a Grass Lake party store clerk Dec. 13.

Cindy Williams, 27, of Grass Lake was killed by hold-up men who entered the Country Corners Party Store in Waterloo Township, forced her to lie down on the floor, and then shot her while robbing the store.

A customer who came into the store parking lot during the robbery followed the get-away car long enough to obtain a license plate number and notify the sheriff's department.

STEAL! Assigned to guard Chelsea standout Dave Wojcicki, Dexter sophomore Dan Schlaff (32) did an excellent job, as exemplified by this steal of the ball during the Dreadnaughts' 60-57 overtime victory in the Dexter gym last Friday night.

Chelsea Wrestlers Win Over Tecumseh

Chelsea's varsity wrestlers evened their Southeastern Conference record at 1-1 with a tight 42-34 victory over Tecumseh last Thursday.

It was a dual meet featured by pins on both sides, with the Bulldogs scoring heavily in lower weight classes and Tecumseh trying but failing to catch up in the heavier weights.

The key individual match was in the 167-pound division, in which Chelsea's John Bowdish scored a pin at 5:23 to insure the team win.

Other Chelsea winners were: Pete Hanna (98) pounds — pin in 1:07.

Mark Rosentreter (105) — forfeit.

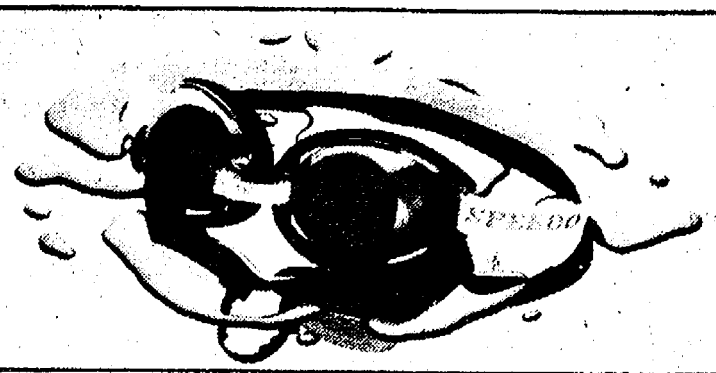

Bill Hanna (112) — pin in 1:35.

John Wilson (119) — won by default on an illegal body slam.

Jeff Morgan (126) — pin in 1:28.

Travis Rudd (138) — pin in 3:31.

Frosh Cagers Split Two in Past Week

Chelsea's freshman basketball team split a pair of games last week, defeating Stockbridge, 72-67, last Monday and losing to Adrian, 55-41, two days later. Their season record is now 2-1.

The Stockbridge game turned into a free throw shooting contest as 49 fouls were whistled in what Chelsea coach Paul Ash called "a very physical affair." Chelsea took 45 charity shots and Stockbridge 26.

"They are bigger than we are, and we had to box them out to keep them off the boards," Ash said, "and things got pretty rough. We showed a lot of class in the fourth quarter to keep the game under control and get the win."

Chris Tarasow's five last-period free throws helped keep Chelsea in front. He had 12 points for the game. Dan Bellus was 10 of 14 from the foul line and added three field goals for 16 total points. Ken Martin also had 16 and Kevin Maynard 13.

The loss to Adrian was according to Ash, mostly a matter of his team's "running out of gas" late in the game. Injuries and illness depleted the Chelsea ranks to the point where Ash had to start three guards and move Bellus to center from his natural forward position.

Still, the Bulldog frosh kept things close for three quarters, trailing at one point by only three before tiring and falling behind. Bellus, described by Ash as "an outstanding athlete who is very coachable," had 16 points in his unfamiliar center spot.

The freshmen will be idle until Jan. 4, and Ash said the long break "will do us good because we can get everybody healthy."

Swimming Team Completely Dominates Powerful Okemos

That "thriller" Okemos-Bulldogs swimming meet Dec. 14 turned out to be "not even a good workout," said coach Larry Reed.

Chelsea won, 81-45, "trying to give them places." Okemos had been and was expected to be a Class B swimming powerhouse this season. But last minute coaching changes, (their coach Jeff Romig, the former Lincoln coach, was only hired a week ago) meant the swimmers were not in good condition.

Of their top three swimmers, one was sick; one didn't go out for the team, and the one at the meet, who is the best returning distance freestyler in the state, couldn't last the distance against Chelsea's Sean Oxner, who beat him badly in the 200 and 500 free.

Reed changed his line-up after the pre-meet conference to try and avoid a blow-out and let some junior varsity swimmers get firsts.

Although the meet itself wasn't a heart-stopper, Reed was excited about two swims. Freshman Scott Pryor could still psych himself up, even with a 50-point team lead, to drop 1.2 seconds from his 100-yard butterfly time, and Craig Miller and Dan Degener had a fun rivalry in the 100 backstroke.

IM, 500 free, 100 backstroke; John Drew in the 50 and 100 free; Dave Nicola in the 50 free and 100 butterfly; and a combination of Nicola, Oxner, Drew, Hoffman, Brent Bauer, and Don Skiff for the 400 free relay.

Most likely no coach will describe Chelsea swimmers as "out-of-shape" this season, especially after their 10-miles a day "holiday" workouts.

The team's next home meet is at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 11 against Fenton.

200 medley relay—Miller, T. Merkel, Bauer, Ramsey, first, 1:53.5; Colombo, Cox, Pryor, Noll, third, 2:04.128; Freyre, Ryan, Hoffman, Ahrens, fourth, 2:22.5; Robbins, Dmoch, Carrigan, R. Hampton, fifth, 2:32.3.

200 free—Oxner, first, 1:51.9, state qualifying time; Skiff, third, 2:03.7, career best; Degener, fourth, 2:05.3, career best.

200 IM—Nicola, first, 2:18.3; Fowler, third, 2:34.1, career best; Carrigan, fifth, 2:43.4.

Wojcicki Donates Lots To Eastern Michigan

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Wojcicki of Chelsea have donated two lots in Sumter township, Wayne county, to Eastern Michigan University. The gift, was an appraised value of $21,620, was accepted last week by the EMU Board of Regents.

Wojcicki, who is principal of South Elementary School, is an Eastern Michigan graduate. He said the property has been in the family for a long time and that he had no personal plans for it.

"Because it is about 30 miles

50 free—Drew, first, 23.6; Ramsey, second, 25.1; Timmer, fourth, 25.6.

Diving—Leach, first, 223.40; Hampton, third, 183.75, career best; Brown, fourth, 178.55; Westhoven, sixth, 141.30.

100 fly—Colombo, first, 1:06.1, career best; Pryor, second, 1:08.0, career best; Skiff, third, 1:08.2.

100 free—Ramsey, second, 56.1, career best; Noll, third, 58.7; Merkel, fourth, 1:00.7.

500 free—Oxner, first, 5:06.1, state qualifying time; Fowler, third, 5:44.6; Robbins, fourth, 6:10.8.

100 back—Hoffman, first, 1:04.6; Miller, second, 1:08.1; Degener, fourth, 1:15.2.

100 breast—T. Merkel, first, 1:09.2; Colombo, fourth, 1:14.9; Cox, sixth, 1:21.5.

400 free relay—Degener, Pryor (career best), Robbins, Miller (first, 4:11.9; Skiff, Ahren (career best), Cox, Hampton (third, 4:45.5).

from the Eastern campus, my guess is that the university will eventually sell it and place the money in its endowment fund," Wojcicki said.

WRESTLER OF THE WEEK is John Bowdish, whose win by a pin in last week's dual meet with Tecumseh secured victory for the Chelsea High school wrestling team. Bowdish wrestles at 167 pounds.

Cager of the Week

Junior High Cagers Each Win 2 Games

Chelsea's junior high basketball program moved along nicely last week as the seventh and eighth grade teams each registered two victories in as many starts. Both are now 3-1 on the season.

The seventh-graders defeated Dexter, 34-20, and Manchester, 42-21, and their year-old counterparts won over the same two schools, 30-22, and 50-27. Both Chelsea coaches were pleased by the results and especially happy that, once again, everybody got a chance to play.

"That's the most important thing we can do in junior high basketball," eighth grade coach Jim Tallman stressed. "It's nice to win, and we try to. But our main job is to give the kids playing time and the opportunity to develop into future varsity players."

Seventh grade coach Ron Lazo said much the same thing. "We've got a bunch of team players who really work hard. You can't tell at this stage who will be the stars of the future, but they are all out there trying, and I'm happy about what they have done so far."

For the seventh grade team Clay Hurd put up a total of 20 points in the two games, and Tim Anderson had 14. Others who got onto the scoresheet in one or both games included Kevin Flanigan, Matt Monroe, Greg Boughton, Chris LaMarre, John Cattell, Chris Acree, Bob Clouse and Shane Hutting.

Lazo liked the play of his team so much that he will take them to the Michigan-Florida A & M game in Ann Arbor's Crisler Arena Dec. 27 to watch how the "big boys" do it on a large court.

Tallman's eighth graders were led by Todd Starkey and Matt Steinhauer with 16 points in the two games. Duane Pate came off the bench to score 14 against Manchester, suggesting he may be cut in the mold of his older brother, Carl, the varsity's "sixth man" this season.

Matt Bohlander, Drew Hubal, Jeff Harvey, Jeff Stacey, and Randy Hafner all turned in solid performances.

"Frankly, we were a lot better than Manchester, and I didn't want to embarrass them by running up the score," Tallman said. "I kept our 'regulars' on the bench for all but the first minute of the second half. It worked out. Our other boys got time to play, and they did very well. Our first stringers understood why they weren't playing. We've got a good group of kids, and I'm very happy with them."

In 1920, the Women's Bureau was established in the Department of Labor by an act of Congress.

Fence Viewer Post Filled

William Eisenbeiser, Dexter township clerk and teacher at Dexter High school, has just gotten another job that he probably will never have to do, gets no pay for, and which he will be forgotten as holding—township fence viewer.

State law requires townships to fill the position, he said, which is a holdover from old farming days. The fence viewer settled disputes over who would maintain fences separating different parcels of land.

That is the only kind of fence dispute a fence viewer settles. He does not get involved with restrictions over fence heights, locations and materials.

Eisenbeiser has been involved with township government more than 10 years and doesn't remember the fence viewer settling a dispute during that time. The position is so low-key, Eisenbeiser didn't remember, he says, who the last fence-viewer was.

BROOKE McARTHUR must have been a good girl this year because Santa gave her a present of a mouse and mouse house at North Lake Co-op Nursery's Christmas party Dec. 15. The other members of her afternoon four-year-old class also got presents from him. What requests are "in" this year? Dolls, cars and dress-up suits. Brooke, the daughter of Warren and Judy McArthur of 115 E. Summit, wore a red dress that matched Santa's suit.

May your Christmas be filled with laughter,
And may you be happy,
ever after!

What's Cooking In Michigan

By Margaret G. McCall
Michigan Dept. of Agriculture
Say Yes to the Good Things
Growing in Michigan when you think of last-minute gifts for Christmas, especially for those people who take pride in our state.

Nearly 50 agricultural commodities are produced each year in our state, including meat and poultry products, vegetables, fruits and dairy products, according to the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

I suggest one of MDA's "Taste of Michigan" calendars as an inexpensive gift to please neighbors. The calendar, containing 16 tear-out recipe cards, is available from MDA's Marketing division, P.O. Box 30017, Lansing 48909, at $3 each.

Check your area for Michigan fruit packers who assemble beautiful gift boxes of Michigan apples. There are several Michigan processors who have available unique gift items such as Michigan jams and jellies which tell your friends that you are proud of Michigan's fine quality products.

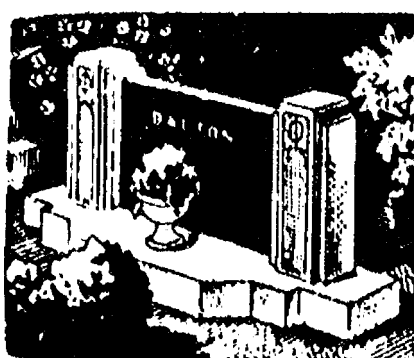

One example is Rocky Top Farms at Ellsworth where Michigan fruits are transformed into gourmet preserves and packaged in Michigan cedar boxes, so the entire gift becomes a testimonial to Michigan's importance in food and fiber production.

Natural food enthusiasts will enjoy gifts of Michigan maple syrup and honey, two of nature's natural sweets. Addition of Michigan beet sugar makes it a sweet trio.

A juice pitcher with several cans of Michigan juices, such as apple, grape and tomato, makes a thoughtful family gift.

Holiday giving need not end with your Christmas list. Invite friends and relatives to an all-Michigan dinner. Or, serve a holiday brunch of cheese fondue, breads, and ham or beef tidbits.

Michigan appetizer, dinner and sparkling wines are welcome gifts.

Veterans Park Project Gets Finishing Touches

Village workers are putting the final finishing touches on the Veterans Park expansion project to beat the Dec. 31 deadline when a $39,000 federal grant will expire.

"All the fencing is in place, and we are doing the last little things on the new building, like putting in counter tops and completing the wiring and plumbing," Village Administrator Frederick A. Weber said.

The building, adjacent to two new softball fields, will house restrooms and a concession area, and will have some storage space besides.

Total cost of the project is $63,000. Dana Corp. donated 5 1/2 acres of land for installation of two softball diamonds which will be ready for play next spring. Some additional "fill" for the softball area has been stockpiled at the site and will be spread early next year after the ground has thawed and settled.

"It's going to be a very fine facility," Weber said. "I don't know of any other community our size with anything comparable. I hope to get some DNR (Michigan Department of Natural Resources) people to come over from Lansing and look at it, just to see what we've been able to do with the $39,000 they approved for us."

The "pass-through" grant came from the federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation but had to be approved by the DNR, which is the administering agency at the state level.

Cassidy Lake Library Is Sadly Lacking

An assessment team headed by JoAnn Walters of Chelsea's McKune Memorial Library has checked out the library at Cassidy Lake Technical School and found it sadly lacking.

The evaluation of Cassidy Lake's library was part of a state-wide study of libraries in all 12 of Michigan's correctional (prison) institutions.

Participating with Mrs. Walters in the Cassidy Lake assessment were Jeanne Thomas, librarian at the Phoenix Correctional Facility, Plymouth, and Elizabeth Lindsey of the State Department of Education, Lansing.

Their report, dated Feb. 11 of this year but just released, found Cassidy Lake school's library shelves fill with "dog-eared, tired, dated books" that "are not arranged or classified in any order of placement."

The team also found that the library lacks supervision, is not open during hours when inmates can conveniently use it "and bears the scars of administrative disinterest."

The average drunk driver arrested on the highway has a .20 blood alcohol concentration (BAC) level, double the level for presumed intoxication in most states; that's 15 drinks of 86 proof in four hours for a 180 lb. man or 11 beers in four hours.

Pick-Your-Own Farm Directory Seeks Listings

The Michigan Department of Agriculture is updating its listing of pick-your-own farms and farm markets for publication in the 1983 edition of Michigan Country Carousel. The free directory also includes wineries, cider mills, Christmas tree farms and maple sugar bushes.

More than 1,000 farms and markets are listed in the Carousel, alphabetically by county. Last year about 150,000 copies were distributed by the department, the Michigan Travel Bureau, co-operative extension offices and market owners.

Listings include name of farm or market, directions to the site, products available, dates open and telephone number. Growers who wish to be listed should contact MDA's Marketing Division, P.O. Box 30017, Lansing 48909 for information.

Dial-A-Garden Topics Listed

Dial-A-Garden, the system of pre-recorded daily gardening tips, is sponsored by the Washtenaw County Co-operative Extension Service. The system is in operation 24 hours per day, seven days per week. Interested persons are invited to call 971-1122 at their convenience and receive timely, up-to-date gardening information.

Michigan Assessment Test Results Are Encouraging

School-wide testing is like a ruler. If it is calibrated in inches, it should measure inches—instead of guessing at centimeters with it.

The Michigan Assessment tests given to Chelsea district fourth, seventh, and tenth graders in October were designed to measure two things, said Sue Carter, district testing co-ordinator and high school counselor—individual performance, how many questions did this child get right the day the test was given, and how did students at each school do.

Chelsea students mostly scored in the top category, or were clustered near that top level by getting between 75-100 percent of the answers right on a test evaluating both mathematics and reading skills.

The number of students getting at least 75 percent of the test right were: North school, reading, 80.9 percent; South school, 86.7 percent; Beach Middle school, 90.0 percent; and Chelsea High school, 85.6 percent; North school, mathematics, 72.3 percent; South school, 85.3 percent; Beach Middle school, 84.5 percent; and Chelsea High school, 72.2 percent.

If less than 75 percent of students were in that top category, such as North school and Chelsea High school in mathematics, the school was listed as having "moderate" needs for remedial instruction in that area.

Comparing this year's percentages to last year's or the 1980 scores, is not really valid, said Sylvester Wojcicki, South school principal. This Michigan test is not made like the Scholastic Aptitude Test. That test and its scores are designed so a 1977 score can be compared to one in 1971 or 1982.

He uses the Michigan test to evaluate how the children are doing compared to the state average. In the past Chelsea children have scored way above that average, which has not yet been figured for this October test. From the preliminary results, Mrs. Carter assumes that is again true.

Reading trends into these scores and percentages is difficult. Sample sizes are small, only 47 students at North and 75 students at South took the test. Each year the test itself changes as does the student population taking it.

Students in this district are tested from kindergarten through 12th grade, but for different reasons and by different companies. That means before and after comparisons are difficult or impossible to make.

Children take Metropolitan Reading Readiness in kindergarten and first grade, the California Achievement test, algebra readiness in eighth grade, the Gates-MacGinitie reading test in ninth grade, and pre-college testing such as the A.C.T., P.S.A.T. and the S.A.T. in high school. Certain tests are repeated at different grade levels such as the achievement and Michigan assessment test, but varying factors such as family background, different teachers, and maturity rates make conclusions between results of even similar tests questionable.

No test is infallible. In Chelsea fourth grade students work with computerized answer sheets. Any student who has used these knows the horror of discovering he missed a line and has put 15 answers in the wrong place. So a good student may do poorly and a weaker student do well.

Even with its limitations, the Michigan assessment test is a way to show the district how they are doing compared to the rest of the state, said Wojcicki. If an individual child does not do well on the test, the school may learn about problems he's having that are harder to see on a day to day basis—but it could have been just a bad day too.

Any parent who has questions about their child's test results is encouraged to get in touch with Mrs. Carter at the high school, 475-9131, extension 42.

For many parents and teachers in Chelsea, these test results offer a chance to do some back patting.

TV Sets Stolen In Lodi Township

Burglars hit two across-the-road neighboring houses on Waters Rd., Lodi township, over the weekend, and stole a color television set from each. The break-ins were reported at 4484 and 4487 Waters Rd. Each TV was valued at more than $400. The sheriff's department is investigating.

Every year, 708,000 persons are injured in alcohol-related crashes; 74,000 of those people suffer serious injuries.

Businesses, Offices Closing for Holidays

Christmas-New Year season is a time for families. We at The Standard ask your help in meeting our deadlines the next two weeks, so we may have a special holiday time too.

The office will be closed Saturday, Dec. 25, Sunday, Dec. 26, Saturday, Jan. 1 and Sunday, Jan. 2. The classified ad deadline will be at noon Thursday preceding the Tuesday edition you wish your ad to appear. The display ad deadline will be the usual, 5 p.m. Thursday. Church calendar changes need to be submitted in writing by noon, Thursday.

We would appreciate getting club news, social news, and other articles you submit as early as possible in the week. That's a big help to us since we must have the paper nearly ready before we leave Friday.

Happy holidays!

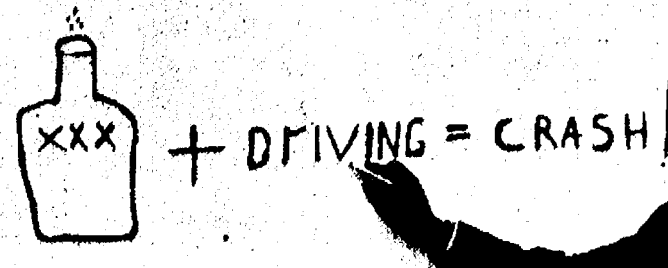

The post office will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday, Dec. 24 and Friday, Dec. 31, but it will be closed both Saturdays and Sundays.

Chelsea village offices will be closed both Friday, Dec. 24 and Friday, Dec. 31. There will be no change in the refuse collection schedule.

Secretary of State office will be closed Dec. 23, 24, 25, 30, 31, and Jan. 1.

The senior citizen nutrition site will be closed both Friday, Dec. 24 and Friday, Dec. 31. The senior activity center will be open both Fridays from 1 to 4 p.m. depending on demand.

The school district's main office will be open week-days from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Gymnasium facilities will be open for scheduled activities. During the holiday, Secretary of State Richard H. Austin gives a lesson in drinking and driving for National Alcohol Awareness Week (Dec. 12-18). In 1981, in Michigan, alcohol was involved in 51,000 accidents and more than half of the State's 1,589 highway deaths.

the school's floors will get a major cleaning, stripping and waxing. Fred Mills, assistant superintendent, says the office will probably be open some time during the day both Fridays, but you may want to call in advance. 14th District Court 3 will be closed both Friday, Dec. 24 and Friday, Dec. 31.

THE TALKING MACHINE: Pam Crowe and Kathleen Anderson, speech pathologists at Chelsea Community Hospital, display a machine recently purchased by the hospital which produces human voice sounds. It can be programmed to "talk" for persons who have lost their speech.

Chelsea Community Hospital Gets New 'Talking Machine'

The Speech Pathology Department at Chelsea Community Hospital recently purchased a machine that produces synthesized voice.

Called "Vocaid," the machine is designed for people who have either permanently or temporarily lost their speech. Buttons are pushed which are pre-programmed to say such things as "I would like to have medical help," and "I am hungry." The machine may be used for basic communication over the phone and at bedside.

In addition, by switching a word grid on the machine, a speechless person can participate in leisure activities such as card games and chess. If a desired word is not pre-programmed into the Vocaid, individual letters may be pressed and the machine will spell the word.

While synthesized voice has been available in the past on very expensive machines, the Vocaid by Texas Instruments is much more affordable at $150.

The Chelsea Community Hospital staff is pleased to be among the first in the area to have this machine for use by patients.

For more information, call the Speech Pathology Department at 475-1311 Ext. 351.
