ACCIDENT SCENE: Rescue workers strive to free Jody Klink, 17, of Grass Lake from the wreckage of a car involved in an accident at M-52 and Werkner Rd. last Wednesday. It took about 20 minutes to move her out of the car and into an ambulance. The operation was conducted very carefully after it was determined the victim probably had broken bones but was in no immediate life danger.

Another Crash at Werkner, M-52 Intersection Injures One

A young Grass Lake woman, Jody Klink, 17, of 15810 Gorton Rd., suffered a fractured pelvis and head injuries last Wednesday when the car in which she was a passenger was hit broadside by another vehicle at M-52 and Werkner Rds.

She was taken to the Chelsea Community Hospital emergency room and later admitted for treatment.

Sgt. Don Wenk of the sheriff's department said that Miss Klink was riding in the right front seat of a car driven by her mother, Lynn Klink. The Klink car, going south on M-52, was hit in the right front by a car operated by Richard G. Lee of 7860 Coyle Rd., Whitmore Lake.

Wenk ticketed Lee for failure to stop at the sign-posted intersection.

"I can't understand why we have so many accidents at that crossing," Wenk said. "It doesn't look dangerous. There is a clear view in all four directions. We may have to consider asking for a blinker light there in view of the accident record."

Attempted Break-in Frightens Family Near Cassidy Lake School

"The state should either do something to keep the inmates inside or close it down. A prison doesn't belong in a recreation area in the first place, and the way this one is operated is a disgrace."

Those were some of the comments of a young housewife who lives near the Cassidy Lake Technical School after she and her two small children were terrorized last Friday night by two inmates who attempted to break into their home while her husband was away at work.

The woman asked that her name and address not be revealed for fear of reprisals and/or future break-in attempts by prisoners who walk away from the institution, which is not walled or fenced and relies on periodic "head counts" for security.

"This is the second time it (a break-in by Cassidy Lake walk-aways) has happened to us," she said. "We feel like sitting ducks."

The woman and children were in their home at about 10 p.m. last Friday when she heard footsteps on the wood deck outside the house. Moments later there was the sound of breaking glass in a ground-floor window.

"We have a neighborhood watch set up, and I telephoned a neighbor. He came running over. Then I called the sheriff's department emergency number. I also did some loud screaming, and so did my little boy. All the commotion must have scared them off."

The neighbor arrived in time to fire several shots toward the fugitives and hasten them on their way.

Detective Paul Wade of the sheriff's department took some boot prints at the scene, went to the Cassidy Lake school, and matched up the prints with the shoes of two residents who had been reported missing and had then come back after an apparent absence of about 20 minutes.

One of the suspects, whom Wade identified as Jack Hewitt, 20, of Ferndale, serving a term for auto theft and larceny, admitted his role in the incident and was arrested on a warrant charging escape, Wade said. The other refused to talk, and his name was not revealed.

"I have the evidence," Wade said. "It's just a matter of going through the legal technicalities and getting a warrant authorized."

Both suspects were jailed pending further legal proceedings.

"They apparently were looking for liquor," Wade said. "At least that's what I was told. I honestly can't understand Hewitt's case. He was scheduled to be released on parole later this month. It seems like he should have been willing to wait a couple more weeks to get a drink."

"Those people (the victims) are unhappy," Wade continued, "and I don't blame them a bit. They shouldn't have to live in fear just because their home is located close to the prison."

"Unhappy" is actually a mild word to describe the reactions of the victimized woman and her husband, who was irate when he learned about the happening.

"We're going to get something done about this situation," he said. "It's dangerous, and it's ridiculous besides. If they won't put a wall around the place and take other security measures, they should close it down."

"They tell us that, if a wall goes up, Cassidy Lake won't be a 'minimum security' prison any more and that it will be open to all kinds of inmates, not just young

Theatre Workshop Planned

Chelsea Players will sponsor the Children's Theatre Workshop June 20-July 8 at the high school auditorium.

The workshop is directed by Joy Stacey and taught by Brian Myers, Doug Foreman and Phil and Patrick Powers. It will run Monday through Friday, except July 4, from 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. All registration is through the Community Education Office.

These aspects of theatre will be taught: actor's techniques, lighting, script interpretation, skit and ad lib work, and scene analysis. All students will perform in one of four short plays to be performed on July 8. All children entering second through ninth grade are welcome.

Each child must bring a bag lunch and drink each day, or exact change for cold pop.

Regional Softball Tourney Saturday In Oak Park

Chelsea will play in the first game of the softball regionals at 10 a.m. Saturday, June 11 in Oak Park.

The second game will be played at 12:30 p.m., and the finals at 3 p.m.

Since many of the district tournaments were rained out, information on the competitors, tournament and site is incomplete.

One team in the second game is L'Anse Creuse of Mt. Clemens, which upset Bishop Foley.

Ron Nemeth, Chelsea athletic director, said he expects the site to be the same park where the Bulldogs played last year.

His directions for fans are to take M-14 east to I-96 to take the Southfield Expressway. Go north on the expressway to the equivalent of 9 1/2-mile road (it has another name and is at a traffic light) and go right. The road should deadend at the ball park.

Schools Face Critical Millage Requests in Election Next Monday

"What it comes down to is that, if Chelsea is going to continue to have the kind of school system that it has built up and supported over the years, the people who live in the district will have to do it themselves. The state isn't going to bail us out."

That is how Fred Mills, veteran assistant superintendent of the Chelsea school district, summed up the issue of next Monday's election at which two millage proposals will be decided.

"Nobody from outside the community is going to help us," Mills emphasized. "It's a local decision that the school district voters will make. We hope we have done our job of informing them about the options and alternatives."

The polls will open at 7 a.m. Monday, June 13, at Beach Middle School, and remain open until 8 p.m. Only registered voters may cast ballots.

Absentee ballots may be applied for until 2 p.m. Saturday, June 11. The administration building at the high school is regularly open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. week-days and will also be open from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday.

Absentee ballots may be returned by mail or in person before election day, or by another person on election day.

Emergency absentee ballots are available to voters who become ill or must be away from Chelsea because of family sickness or death. Such emergencies must arise after 2 p.m. Saturday, and applications may be made until 4 p.m. on election day.

Voters will find three items on the ballot:

1. An election to fill a vacancy on the Board of Education. Incumbent Arthur E. Dils is the only candidate whose name will appear on the ballot. Write-in votes may be cast for other persons.

2. Renewal of a special half-mill levy for five years (1983-87) to provide extra funds for maintenance, repair and improvement of school district facilities. This would continue a tax that has been collected for the past five years.

3. A proposal to increase the district's operating millage by 2.9 mills, to make up a projected $600,000 deficit and thus keep school district programs operating at present levels.

The last one is the most critical, by far.

"I hope people realize that this (2.9 mill) proposal won't add anything to our program, it will only keep us even and allow us to continue what we are already doing," Mills said. "The additional dollars that we would receive will be eaten up by rising costs for supplies, employee benefits and insurance."

"It's a stay-even, hold-the-line proposition."

Mills defended the list of proposed budget cuts, should the 2.9 levy not pass, as "entirely realistic."

Rather than singling out some major program, such as athletics, to be axed, the Chelsea Board of Education identified reductions across the broad spectrum of school offerings.

"The board made an honest and sincere effort to insure that Chelsea will continue to have a sound basic educational program no matter what," Mills commented. "The board members are all taxpayers, and they are concerned about education. I am sure their judgments can be trusted."

"We have good kids, a good staff and good employees in the Chelsea school system. Our students do well in all tests that measure academic achievement. We are competitive in music, art, athletics, you name it. We want to maintain that standard of excellence, and that's what the millage vote is all about."

Mills emphasized that the recent state income tax hike and increases in county and village tax rates "will not help the school system one bit. We won't get an extra dollar from any of those. It's unfortunate that all of those things had to happen all at once. We certainly didn't plan it that way."

Actually, none of the property tax increases—for the county, the village or the schools—would have been necessary had the state refrained from playing political games with the State Equalized Valuation (SEV), the base on which taxes are assessed.

By lowering the SEV, the state put pressure on local units to raise tax rates in order to collect the same amounts of revenue as in past years. The county and the village are permitted under law to increase their rates without voter approval. The schools have to hold elections, and that is what will happen in Chelsea next Monday.

Commencement Slated Sunday for 216 Seniors

Chelsea High school will graduate 216 seniors at commencement ceremonies at 3 p.m. Sunday, June 12 at the high school gymnasium.

Featured speakers are two seniors, a boy and a girl, who were chosen by a senior vote. They are Sandra Sundling and Matt McCallum.

The students also elected four faculty escorts who will be June Winans, Marian Williams, Patrick Wade and James Bechtelheimer. Roderick Janich is class advisor.

Both summa cum laude and cum laude graduates will wear red cords on their gowns. Summa graduates will be recognized during commencement.

The program begins with the procession of graduates to the familiar strains of "Pomp and Circumstance." The invocation will be given by the Rev. John Morris.

The high school band and Contemporaries vocal ensemble will provide music. Seniors in these groups will join them to play.

IT RAINED on Chelsea's Memorial Day parade last Monday, as it did on just about all holiday events and outings all over the state. A sudden shower drenched the Beach school band as they turned the corner onto E. Middle St. enroute to Oak Grove Cemetery, but they kept on marching as their reflections were mirrored on the wet pavement. Band director Warren Mayer is at right.

Matching funds for the proposed Mill Creek Metropark were turned down by the Department of Natural Resources and Michigan Department of Agriculture last week. The park, which was to ease the strain on metroparks closer to Detroit, would occupy 3,500 acres of land in Freedom and Lima townships. Land acquisition would cost $6.9 million. The proposed conversion of farmland to parkland was deemed "an unnecessary and inappropriate conversion of a vital resource" by both state agencies. The 1.7 mill increase for operating funds for the Chelsea school district was turned down at the school election Monday. Only 24 percent of the 4,700 eligible voters cast ballots.

Talking it Out

HOW CAN A "MEMORY BOOK" HELP MY CHILD?

When a child's father (or mother) dies, talking about the child's concerns and relieving his anxieties about the loss are important in working-through the grief experience. The "Memory Book" is an effective device for this.

It is a scrapbook-and-keepsake in which the children may write down their memories of their parent or, if the children are too young to write, have the parent write as the children "talk it out."

The "Memory Book" helps because, in it, the children openly relate their shared experiences, feelings and remembrances. The remembering and talking about the deceased parent offers the proper outlet for grieving . . . and understanding and accepting the fact of the loss.

Photos of the parent may be put in the book, especially if the pictures include the children, thus aiding recall and discussion. The activity, itself, is important. It puts everything out in the open and into family talk. It will assist in providing good and stable remembrances of the deceased parent as the children grow up.

Expansion of Jobs Training Partnership Act Urged

Michigan State AFL-CIO executive vice-president Sam Fishman has urged an increase in federal funding and an expansion of the programs of the federal Jobs Training Partnership Act.

Addressing a field hearing of the Northeast-Midwest Congressional Coalition, Fishman urged assistance for food, shelter and clothing.

"It will be almost impossible to train a laid off worker in the intricate details of a new career if that worker is preoccupied with hungry children and finding a place to live," Fishman told six Michigan congressmen who took testimony from an invited panel on the problem of workers displaced by plant closings and on programs to meet those worker's needs.

Fishman cited a seven-point program recently endorsed by the national AFL-CIO executive council as a blueprint for meeting the needs of displaced workers and for creating new jobs.

The program includes community development supplemental jobs with 100 percent federal funding and measures to prevent substitution for regularly employed workers, accelerated public works to provide jobs and infrastructure for private investment.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers didn't rise to the President's bait a few weeks back when he called for more good news, but they saw some hope Saturday night at the country store, now that flooding and freezing and assorted miseries are behind us for the summer, and even late gardens are showing promise. Ed Doolittle said first off the President ought to take his own advice and announce he is going to enjoy the retirement he's earned, but Clem Webster said Reagan not saying if he's going to run again is good news for the Democrats because it keeps the Republicans from gitting their ducks in a row.

Clem went on to say all news is good news if you report it right. When lightning struck the big tree the dairy herd was huddled under in the rain, the bolt didn't as much kill four cows as 83 cows escaped injury. More than 1,000 jetliners moved people safe all over the country yesterday, and air travel maintained a record of only .002 fatal accidents per million passenger miles in spite of the small commuter plane that failed to clear a mountain peak near Denver.

The fellers picked up the mood. Bug Hookum looked on the bright side of that windmill on a mountaintop near Boone, N. C. After spending $10 million on an electricity generating idea that never worked, the Federal Government sold the contraption the other day for a high bid of $51,600. Bug said the windmill now ought to go to Washington and be set up across the street from the Capitol. Congress can blow enuff hot air to turn the 100 foot blades, and the honorables will have only to look out the window to see which way the wind is blowing.

Farthermore, broke in Zeke Grubb, there's good news on the fiscal front. He had saw where the Federal Government spent only $250,000 on a study to learn that poor folks rather work than be on welfare. In 1981 when income rules were changed 237,000 families lost welfare because some members worked. They could of quit their jobs and got back on, but the study found that only 15 percent was drawing welfare now, and this is the same percent of them that don't work, ain't never worked and git back on welfare as quick as they can ever time they're kicked off.

And, Zeke went on, Buffalo, N. Y. is showing concern for folks out of work. The city recent got a $1.9 million Federal grant to help the unemployed. Buffalo spent $1.2 million on retraining workers, and $700,000 on studies of how to spend any more Federal aid it might git.

Taxpayers got good news from the Pentagon last week. Zeke reported where the Navy has agreed to put standard furniture in captains quarters of new ships and to stop using custom items like $14,000 sofas, $94 a yard carpet and $930 brass telephone stands.

Meanwhile, Mister Editor, I saw where the Navy said a average 66 percent profit for private shipbuilders is not out of line because of their high quality work, which is good news if it means the more the military spends the better defense we git.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

GETTING RID OF CORNS

The best management for corns is to avoid them. Since they are usually caused by ill-fitting shoes, be sure that your shoes do not rub against your toes in any way. Usually, the small and large toes are the ones affected by corns because pointed shoes pinch these toes in. Always be sure you have enough room for comfort.

Cutting corns away, however, only provides temporary treatment if you are determined to continue wearing the same shoes that caused them in the first place. The key is to find out what causes the corn in your particular case. It may be caused by a tight shoe, or by a foot that is off balance. A skilled foot doctor can give you the help and advice you need to prevent the recurrence of painful corns in your future.

If it is too late and you already have painful corns on your feet, they can still be cared for. The age-old method of treatment is to cut the corn away, to shave off the dried, horny skin and excise the eye with a scalpel. This removes the pressure and relieves the pain. It is still a good treatment, but it should only be done by a podiatrist.

Chinese Cookery Workshop Slated By Extension Service

The old days when Chinese cooking was synonymous with chop suey are gone. Now, as we turn increasingly to ethnic food for new taste experiences, our tongues glide smoothly over names like Szechuan, Mandarin and Cantonese.

June's Corner on the Kitchen a monthly series sponsored by Co-operative Extension Service will feature a journey into the heart of Chinese cookery. The lecture-demonstration will be held June 9 at 1 p.m. and again at 7:30 p.m. at the County Service Center in the Co-operative Extension Service building, Christine Liu, a dietitian and local author of two cookbooks, will tell of her travels in China and the distinguishing features of the cuisine.

Her talk will cover the basics of Chinese cookery and its contribution to health. The use of small amounts of red meat, the wide use of a variety of vegetables and the short cooking time of Chinese cooking is in step with the latest dietary recommendations for a healthful diet. Three dishes will be prepared and sampled; one with red meat, one with fish and one with poultry. There is a $2 charge for the program; call 973-9510 to reserve a place.

Kresge House Marks 2nd Anniversary

More than 400 graduates of the Chelsea Community Hospital Substance Abuse Program have been invited to a second anniversary celebration for Kresge House on Sunday, June 12. These 400 people have completed Chelsea Hospital Substance Abuse Program since Kresge House opened its doors in May of 1981.

Included in the day long celebration will be a pie throw in which alumni will be invited to throw pies at the Substance Abuse Staff.

The Chelsea Community Hospital Substance Abuse Program espouses the disease concept in its treatment of the substance abuser. The critical role of the family in the maintenance of or change in abuse behavior is also recognized. The short-term, intensive treatment program is viewed as a beginning in the life-long process of remaining free of drug and alcohol dependence.

Treatment is provided by a multi-disciplinary team consisting of physicians, psychiatrists, psychologists, social workers, substance abuse therapists and nurses. Recreational and occupational therapists as well as a nutritionist and a child care specialist provide services to the program. Participation in Alcoholics Anonymous, Alanon and Alateen is also an important aspect of the program. Emphasis is on well-planned and co-ordinated treatment for each individual.

A major phase of the treatment program takes place at Kresge House, a home-like non-medical facility located on the hospital campus. Individual therapy and more intensive group therapy continue here. Treatment in this phase encourages and supports self-responsibility and the development of new social and adaptive skills in preparation for return home.

KATHY MORRIS, daughter of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. John Morris of 3060 S. Fletcher Rd., Chelsea, has been selected by the United States Achievement Academy as a national award winner in business education (accounting). She is a senior at Chelsea High school. Kathy will enter Capital University at Columbus, O., this fall and will major in accounting.

TV SHOW IN MAKING: Sid Siegel (behind camera) and Michelle Prater of Detroit TV Channel 2 film a shot of restaurateur Guy Silvers as part of a feature on Dale Fisher's heliophoto art to be aired June 30. Two of Fisher's prints are in the background.

Fisher To Be on TV 2 Special

Photographer Dale Fisher, who recently moved his studio and gallery from Chelsea to the Airport Plaza in Ann Arbor, will be featured in a special feature on Detroit TV Channel 2's PM Magazine Thursday, June 30.

Part of the filming was done at Stivers restaurant, where several of Fisher's heliophoto prints are on display.

"If time means anything, it should be a pretty good show," Fisher said. "The camera crew spent all of one day working to get 5 1/2 minutes of programming."

Fisher said he plans to return to the Chelsea area to live later this year, but will keep his business headquartered in Ann Arbor.

Orphaned Fawns Rescued After Doe Is Killed By Auto

Conservation Officer Craig Wales, who patrols the west end of Washtenaw county, has a problem on his hands—actually, three problems.

He rescued triplet fawns born to a doe killed by a truck on M-52 north of Chelsea two weeks ago, and took them home. He, his wife Debbie, and children, Tracey and Dirk, are trying to keep the little animals alive and thriving until they can be released into the wild.

Wales' problem is that he and all other conservation officers and wildlife biologists in the Department of Natural Resources preach constantly to the public against picking up "orphaned" baby animals, especially deer fawns which are born at this time of the year.

In almost all cases a fawn found by itself is not an orphan. The mother is nearly always close by, watching helplessly while her young one is kidnapped by a well-meaning but ignorant human who decides that the fawn has been abandoned.

Does hide their fawns while going off to feed, but stay within their eyesight distance. The problem arises because deer can see about eight times better than people.

This instance was a rare one in that Wales knew the three fawns definitely were orphaned. Their mother was dead alongside the road. The babies, born about two weeks prematurely in the aftermath of the accident, would have died within a few hours if not cared for.

Wales took them home and, with the help of his family, began an around-the-clock feeding project using enriched cow's milk. Deer milk is richer than cow milk, and a fawn would starve on what a cow yields if the fluid were not fortified.

The Wales family will try to rear the three fawns to the weaning stage where they can forage for themselves, and then release them into the wild where they belong.

"Deer and other wild animals do not make good pets," Wales emphasized, "and it's against the law to possess them except under special permit. This is a special case, and I hope the public understands that."

June 10 is the median date for birth of fawns in this part of Michigan. Twins are usual and triplets not uncommon in this area where deer suffer no winter food pinch. Quadruplets are rare, but do occur.

Motorists are again reminded to be on the lookout for deer crossing roads, especially during the hours from dusk to dawn. A deer-car collision at this season can result in the death of more than one animal if victim is a doe nursing fawns.

Wheelbarrow Stolen

A wheelbarrow valued at $51 was stolen off the rear loading dock at Chelsea Hardware last Tuesday night, the sheriff's department reported.

Recall Blanchard Rally Scheduled

A Recall Blanchard rally will be held at 33000 Civic Center Dr., Livonia, on Sunday, June 12, at 2 p.m.

Civic Center Dr. is just off 5 Mile Rd., east of Farmington Rd. John Lauve, head of the recall movement, will be speaking, and petitions will be available.

For more information, call John Scherer in Ann Arbor at 761-3388.

Charms Compete in Miss Majorette Contest

Nine members of the Chelsea Charms competed in the "Miss Majorette of Michigan" contest held at Temperance on May 14.

They were Michelle Graflund, Susan Schmunk, Kori White, Minfa Van Reesema, Richelle Jones, Chrissy Dunlap, Laurie Honbaum, Amy Weir and Brooke Quartermaine.

Michelle, Chrissy and Kori were runners-up for the title in their respective novice age classes. Brooke placed third in the intermediate division.

Other Chelsea entrants included Deana Hagerty, Jackie Crawford, Kate Steele, Nichole Schultz, Heather Wynn, Christine Burg, Laura Turner, Becky Vetter, Vicky Niethammer, Sarah Schwarm, Tracey Wales, Brandi Kenney, Kristen Roberts, Josie Krzeczowski, Kristen Clark, Amy Scibor, Danielle Rosen, Sarah Schick, Danielle Clark, Melinda Burchett, Betsy Schmunk, Elizabeth Taylor and Becky Kern.

The Chelsea "Sugar Shakers" group won first place in the tiny tot dance twirl.

In other news of the Chelsea Charms, a quilt donated by Norma Graflund of the group's Baton Boosters Club was won by Marti Jo Mosier of Union, Mich., in a drawing held April 30 at the high school gym. Proceeds of the raffle were to be used toward buying uniforms for the Charms.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,
June 13 is fast approaching. For a change I'll get a chance to vote on something that affects my pocketbook. The Chelsea Board of Education is asking me to approve two millage increases, 2.9 mills for operation and .5 mills for maintenance.

I'd love to vote no, since Governor Blanchard just finished ramming a big income tax increase down my throat. Voting against a local millage because I'm angry at the Governor doesn't make sense, however. Better to sign a recall petition. Then I'll be assured of getting a chance to deal directly with him later.

There are a number of questions I'd have to ask before I make my decision. Does the Chelsea School District really need the money? They are going to lose $500,000 because of property devaluation. The assessment on my home went down for the first time in 10 years! Many of my neighbors got the same good news. Unfortunately, our gain is the school district's loss, and half a million dollars is a lot of money to eliminate without making cuts.

I hate campaign slogans that say "vote yes for quality education." They don't tell you what you're voting on, or what will happen if the millage fails. In a recent article in The Chelsea Standard the School Board outlined specifically what will have to be cut.

I don't agree with all their proposed cuts, but the programs that are important to me and my children aren't necessarily the same ones valued by families with different interests. I think the School Board has been fair in spreading the cuts around so everyone shares equally the loss of services. I also feel I've been provided the information I need to make an informed decision.

I'm willing to support any program that provides my children with a good education. The results of the California Achievement tests recently published in The Chelsea Standard show Chelsea students performing at or above grade level. The majority of my children's teachers have been excellent. They have motivated them to work hard and get good grades. Of course the system isn't perfect, and there is room for improvement. I've never found anything in life that was absolutely perfect.

I'm going to pay about $1,400 in school taxes this year. Some people pay more, some less. That comes to 97¢ per school hour (including bus time) to educate all three of my children for a year. I pay a baby-sitter more than that, she doesn't teach them a thing, and I have to pick her up and take her home.

This request will cost my family 10 trips to McDonald's, or an equivalent number of Thompson's Pizzas. I think this is a sacrifice we can afford.

After reviewing the facts, I feel these requests deserve my support at the polls. If the rest of the voters will put these proposals in proper perspective, we should not have to be facing program cuts in the fall. I could sign this as a school supporter, but that's not the name on my birth certificate.

Tom Hodgson.

To the Editor:

I am presently a substitute teacher at Chelsea High school for three months, and am enjoying the experience. At first, it was very stressful and difficult. All your children are beautiful young people; however, all together in one classroom can at times be a trying situation. I began to appreciate the difficult job the teacher must do each day of the school year. This is by far the hardest job I've ever experienced, and I have worked in hospitals, restaurants, etc., at some period of my life.

As a registered medical technologist, I decided I wanted a less stressful job as I began to get older—well, I had quite a surprise when I started teaching! I wish I could really convey to you how hard your teachers work—all the hours of preparation for lecture, grading papers, etc. Of course, I am best acquainted with the science department (I am teaching biology and physical science).

In my opinion Chelsea High school has an outstanding science department, one that all residents in Chelsea should be proud of. Also, at lunch time I hear remarks from teachers in other departments at Chelsea High school, and I am impressed with their dedication and caring attitude for all the students. They care about, and want what's best for your children. For some time, I've been concerned about parental attitudes toward the teachers. This is one of the reasons I'm writing this letter to the paper.

The other reason is to urge all the residents to vote for the in-

THE OLD FASHIONED BARN DANCE to be held Saturday, June 18 at the Trinkle farm, 9631 Trinkle Rd., Dexter, will benefit Special Olympics. Chelsea special olympians hold soccer, basket and soft balls, which are examples of some of the sports featured at the state championships. Chelsea athletes and members of the barn dance committee helping with preparations are Dick

Trinkle Barn Dance on June 18 Will Be the Last

The Old Fashioned Barn Dance, which will be held Saturday, June 18 at the Trinkle farm, 9631 Trinkle Rd., Dexter, has been an annual event since 1974.

The 1983 dance will be the last one, however, said Diana Eyster, who is helping with this year's crease in millage being asked for. I, like everyone else, hate high taxes, especially if I feel there is waste involved, poor planning, unnecessary materials, and general mismanagement. I have seen absolutely no evidence of this—the money is needed! I am a parent, although my children are now grown and do not live in the area. I still feel an obligation to all the young people in Chelsea to support their fine schools. I feel it would be so unfair to our younger generation to cut any programs that could help them to prepare for future jobs—especially with the unemployment picture in Michigan. They need all the skills and knowledge that we can give them.

I hope that all of you will remember that it takes very special people to teach your children, and I urge you to support your children and vote "yes" for the increase in millage.

dance. Organizers realized it had to end sometime, and a decade seemed a nice round figure.

The 1974 and 1976 dances benefitted the Dexter Sesquicentennial and the Bicentennial committees, respectively. In other years, the dance has raised more than $9,200 for special olympics.

Since the first dance was based on a sesquicentennial theme, the last one will also feature old-fashioned dress. Men are encouraged to wear vests, bow ties, and top hats. Suggested attire for women is long full skirts or dresses, bonnets and shawls. Best-dressed man, woman and couple will win door prizes. The grand prize is a two day week-end at Weber's.

In 1974 Dexter celebrated its 150th anniversary with parades, bake sales, caravans and other activities. Several couples in the neighborhood formed sesquicentennial booster groups such as "Lima Liberty Belles" and "Brushkateers" to get to know one another better, raise money for the anniversary celebration and, in general, have a good time.

Fran and Don Alber suggested a barn dance for a money-making project. Charles Trinkle, a well-known farmer with some of the largest barns in Lima township (seven barns plus a milking parlor), agreed to let the group use two of his pole barns.

His farm has proved to be an ideal setting for a dance, because the grounds and barns are spacious enough to hold everyone without crowding and crimping their dancing style. For most of the year, the barn where the dance is held houses hay, straw and 800 hogs.

Before the dance, the Trinkles must rearrange equipment and about 150 dairy cows in another barn to make room for the hogs. Because of the transfer of animals from barn to barn, the dance is always scheduled in June.

During the past decade, there have been two fires at the Trinkle barn and a 300 percent increase in hogs and a fifty percent increase in cows—800 hogs now and 180 dairy cows. It's difficult for a working farmer to plan a barn dance around his livestock and hay business.

Trinkle begins moving animals, hay, straw and machinery to other barns about two weeks ahead of time. The use of a sweepster-broom is donated, and volunteers use shovels and brooms to clean the barn about six days in advance. The piglets stay in the barn throughout the dance, since they are often small enough to get through the gates.

Luke Schaible of Manchester and his band, who have provided music for every dance, play round and square dance music in one barn. Couples may either kick up their heels or sit on bales of straw to watch.

The other barn is for more sedentary or hungry folk. Beer, pop, popcorn and sausage are served, and there are tables for sitting or talking.

The dance benefits special olympics, athletic events for mentally impaired persons from ages six to 60. Events include soccer, wrestling, basketball, volleyball and bowling. This year's state meet is June 2-5 at Central Michigan University.

Each year the dance is a little bit different, because the organizers have changed, too.

Of the original group of 70, the following persons are still on the dance committee; the Charles Trinkles, the Keith and Archie Bradburys, the Coys, the Dettings, the Flinns, the Grosses, the Hollises, the Kilbreaths, the Rettigs, the Tomshansys, the Harold Trinkles, the Dennis Trinkles and the Doug Trinkles.

Yet even if the dance changes, the fundamentals stay the same—uniting persons to work towards a common goal and providing a fun evening.

BRENDA LEWIS, daughter of Troy and Lola Lewis of 233 Hoppe Rd., Sylvan township, has been named a national award winner in business education by the United States Achievement Academy. Brenda is a junior at Chelsea High school, and earns the honor for excellence in typing.

As of 1980, over 44 percent of women 60 and older were widows.

Suzuki Music Teaching Method To Be Explained

Many people have seen television shows of small children playing violins very proficiently and being taught according to the Suzuki method of instruction. This method of teaching music has grown in popularity because of positive results achieved by children of all ages, but especially because of the advancement of very young children.

On June 15, parents in the Chelsea-Dexter-Manchester area will have the opportunity to learn more about the program which is available to their children.

For the past few years Pat Stirling has been teaching Suzuki cello lessons and Betty Rasmussen has been teaching Suzuki piano. Now in addition to these teachers, Keynote Music is bringing Deborah Stanton, a recent University of Michigan graduate, who will be teaching the beginning violin classes. Miss Stanton, who is currently teaching in Plymouth and Ann Arbor will be coming to Chelsea twice a week to teach at the Keynote Music studio soon to open at 526 N. Main St. in Chelsea.

The meeting on June 15 at 7 p.m. will be held at St. Paul Church on Old US-12 in Chelsea, and will give parents the opportunity to meet the teachers, ask questions and decide if their children would benefit by this program. Children as young as Center, the third Wednesday of every month from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., located at North Elementary school, Chelsea. For further information, call Julie Say, R.D., community nutritionist, 475-1311, ext. 369.

Players Have New Low-Cost Membership

Chelsea Area Players' board has announced a new $5 annual membership for senior citizens and students. The low-cost membership is intended to make participation in community theater possible for more Chelsea area residents.

Chelsea Area Players members can participate in theater no matter what their interests. Many talents are necessary besides those of performing musicians, singers, dancers and actors. Costumes require repair and alteration. Help is needed with makeup, lighting, sound, set construction, painting and props. Programs, posters, ticket sales, concession, promotion and publicity need organization. Plays and musicals must be read and selected for next year's productions. Members are needed now for assignments being made for the July 21-24 production of "Kiss Me Kate."

Checks for new or renewal, tax deductible memberships may be sent to the Chelsea Area Players, 14239 Hay Rake Hollow, Chelsea 48118.

Other membership categories include friends, $10; Associate Members, $25; and Patrons, $50. Members as of July 7 will receive first choice of seats to "Kiss Me Kate" and will be acknowledged in the program.

A quarterly newsletter keeps members informed of Chelsea Area Players' activities, which include the summer Children's Theater workshop, donating theater equipment to the schools, and developing an inventory of costumes for school and CAP productions.

Another Walkaway At Cassidy Lake

Another walkaway from the Cassidy Lake Technical School was reported over the weekend. Brian K. Crum, 20, of Detroit, was found missing after a headcount taken at 11 a.m. Sunday. He was serving concurrent sentences of 2-10 and 2-4 years on convictions for larceny.

Kathleen Daniels Graduates at Fordham

Kathleen Treado Daniels was graduated cum laude from Fordham University, New York City, on May 29. The ceremony was held in Avery Fischer Hall at the Lincoln Center Campus. Mrs. Daniels, a 1977 graduate of Chelsea High school, is the daughter of Robert and Daphne Hodder, of Chelsea, and of the late Howard Treado, Jr.

FLOWERS PLANTED AT PIERCE PARK: Members of Girl Scout Troop 719 planted four flats of petunias and marigolds at Pierce Park last week. Looking over their handiwork are (in rear) troop leader Judy Osinski, park supervisor Fred Petsch and project co-ordinator Janet Grenier.

Members of the troop include Sonya and Heather Osinski, Cory Tremper, Martina Grenier, Jennifer Bliss, Sharon White, Jeanne Rossi, Christina Hughes, Ann Welner, Jennifer Payne, Melanie Cavadas and Jamie Nelson.

first offenders. That is pure nonsense. What difference does a wall make?

"The facts are that all the men sent to Cassidy Lake have been convicted of felony crimes, and they deserve to be locked up and secured while they serve their sentences. The idea that the prison should be some kind of a 'camp' is a joke."

"I just wish my neighbor had shot more accurately. Those two guys should be dead as far as I'm concerned."

His wife added that she has a gun, knows how to shoot it "and will the next time something like this happens."

"We're fed up," the husband said. "I don't think we should have to give up our home and move away. I think the prison should move. It doesn't belong here and should never have been established here. If the state insists on keeping it here, then the state should guarantee the safety of nearby residents by taking

Some people believe that Blacks don't get much cancer. It's not true. That's a myth. Black people have higher rates of some kinds of cancer than Whites. Part-Time Officer Resigns Police Dept. For Full-Time Post

Frank Kornel has resigned from the Chelsea police department to accept a patrolman's position in Eaton Rapids. Kornel was working part-time here. His new position is a full-time job.

"He is a very fine young police officer," Chelsea police chief Robert Aiello said, "and we're sorry to lose him. He wanted full-time work, and we weren't in position to offer it to him."

Vo-Ed Students Awarded Honor

Six Chelsea High school students have earned awards for excellence in vocational courses conducted by the South and West Washtenaw Consortium, a grouping of five school districts including Dexter, Manchester, Milan and Saline along with Chelsea.

The consortium is a joint effort to provide educational opportunities which the separate districts might not be able to afford individually because of low enrollment or lack of funds.

Chelsea honorees, their fields of study and their instructors include:

Lisa Beeman, health careers, Karen Ruhlrig.

Cindy Lauer, food service, Louise Rohrkemper.

Darrin Buss, Andy Fletcher and Alan Roderick, auto mechanics, Bud Janich.

Winners were nominated by their fellow students and confirmed by the instructional staff.

About 72 percent of non-farm small businesses are sole proprietorships, eight percent are partnerships and 19 percent are corporations. In 1980, 80 percent of the sole proprietorships and more than 50 percent of the partnerships had receipts of less than $50,000.

SE Michigan Summer Travel Guide Available

Putting more fun into your summer is easy according to the Southeast Michigan Travel and Tourist Association. Simply order a copy of their new guidebook to the close-to-home Southeast Michigan region entitled, "Summerfun."

The new guide, just off the press, is a complete description of the travel attractions and accommodations of the 11-county region, and contains a wealth of information on things to see and do for the entire family.

"This is a vacation and recreation guidebook, but contains information of interest to business travelers as well," said Sindy L. Baker, president of the Association.

Printed in four-color, the guidebook contains information on regional activities of all kinds, from festivals and fairs to special races, boating, camping, park areas, dining, cultural attractions, history and much more.

Summerfun is free to persons visiting our office at 64 Park St. in Troy, Baker said, "and also at various travel outlets throughout the region and state. Or it may be ordered by sending $1 to cover postage and handling to P. O. Box 1590, Troy 48069."

TOOTSIE ROLL DRIVE A SUCCESS: The Chelsea Knights of Columbus collected nearly $2,800 in their annual Tootsie Roll sale to benefit retarded children. Left to right are: Joe Wesolowski, drive chairman; Mark Manning of Stockbridge, representing Area 8 of the Michigan

Special Olympics; Nancy Cooper, Chelsea High school special education teacher; Gerald R. Gondek, Grand Knight of the Chelsea K. of C., and Fr. Emilio Rezzonico, assistant director of the St. Louis School for Boys.

K-C Tootsie Roll Drive Benefits Special Education

The Chelsea Knights of Columbus report that the Tootsie Roll drive held March 25 - 27 was a success. Grand Knight Gerald Gondek said that the state-wide total this year was more than $820,000. The Chelsea Council collected $2,784.44. Both totals are all-time records in the drive's eight-year history.

Gondek said that 80% of the net income from donations is distributed to local groups to assist the mentally retarded. The other 20% is forwarded to the state council of the Knights of Columbus to meet program expenses and to make donations to the mentally retarded in behalf of all 70,000 Knights in Michigan.

Chairman of the local campaign for 1983 was Joe Wesolowski, who said, "I know that the benefiting agencies are grateful for the generosity of so many people. Through the gifts of the contributors, many mentally retarded persons will have services and equipment available to make their lives more rewarding."

This year the Chelsea council is making contributions to the following agencies with their Tootsie Roll funds: Chelsea Special Education Program, which sent 12 special education students on a camping trip to Mears State Park on May 23-27;

St. Louis School for Exceptional Boys, which will use the funds to help pay for furniture for the students' play and living area at the school; Stockbridge Special Education Program which used their funds to send some of their students to the Special Olympics.

According to Wesolowski, Stockbridge does not have a local K. of C. council. Members of the Chelsea council solicit funds in Stockbridge, and those funds are distributed back to Stockbridge.

Faith in Action Benefit Dinner Raises $650

Faith in Action held a fund-raising dinner at the Chelsea Community Hospital, May 23. Entertainment was provided by the high school Contemporaries and Pat Spicer, humorist. Door prizes awarded included a haircut at Ricardo's, dinner for two at the Wolverine and The Woodshed, and a week-end for two at Weber's.

The $650 raised at the dinner will provide emergency financial assistance to Chelsea school district residents in need. Such help would include assistance on heat, medicines and prescriptions, shoes, etc.

Faith in Action is grateful for the support provided by the Chelsea community.

New summer hours for the FIA House began June 1 and will extend through August. The house is open between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Volunteers are on duty during those hours. Services available through FIA include food and clothing, limited financial assistance (one-time emergency basis), information and referral, parent to parent program (in-home support to families with young children), and Chelsea Parents Anonymous.

A new service is in the planning stages. Faith in Action is working with the Chelsea Community Hospital Emergency Room to provide a free one-day-a-week health clinic for Chelsea residents who cannot afford to see a doctor.

In April, Faith in Action elected the 1983 board (Operating Committee): president, the Rev. Fr. Jerrold Beaumont; vice-president, Deacon Richard Cesarz; treasurer, the Rev. Erwin Koch, house managers, Jo Ann Carruthers and Margaret Radloff, and volunteer coordinator, Betty Check.

Besides the board, an Advisory Committee meets twice a year to discuss FIA business. This committee is open to anyone interested in helping FIA. Meeting dates are posted in The Standard or interested persons may call any member of the board for further information.

OPEN MONDAY EVENINGS UNTIL 8:30

If you are interested in dreary statistics, here are some. There have been 22 weekends so far in 1983. It has snowed or rained during 18 of them. Since March 21, the official first day of spring, the score is 9 out of 10. As this was written last Friday afternoon with rain coming down and more predicted during the next 48 hours, it seemed a safe bet that the tally would go to 10 out of 11. It has not only been an unusually wet spring, with more than 10 inches of rain and snow recorded during April and May (yes, it snowed in April, twice) it also has been abnormally cold as well. Temperatures ran about three degrees below normal on average, and on some days dipped as much as 10 degrees. May 15 is supposed to be the date on which you can quit worrying about frost in these parts. There were four killing-frost mornings after May 15, as gardeners who tried to get an early start learned the hard way. Those same upper air patterns which kept snow and cold away from Michigan during the winter months—causing the mildest, most snow-free winter in Michigan since records have been kept—have changed their course and brought on a truly nasty spring which may set some records of another kind. The low pressure storm cells which produce precipitation and cool temperatures have been moving across Michigan with a regularity that is getting monotonous. A new one comes in about every third day, just as its predecessor is clearing out to the east. The result has been one spell of bad weather after another in an almost continuous pattern.

diamonds; village president pro-tem Jerry Satterthwaite; Phil Boham, former Dana personnel director and still an active softball player; Weber; Tom Green, Dana plant manager; Jackie Schiller, Chelsea recreation director, and Grant Shepler of Dana Corp.

Dana Softball Field Dedicated Friday Despite Steady Rainfall

Despite a steady rain which dampened but did not discourage those involved, the Dana Field softball complex adjacent to Veterans Park was dedicated late last Friday afternoon as participants took turns throwing out "first balls."

Perhaps most significant was that games were able to be played on the two new diamonds despite a steady all-day downpour which would have made most fields unplayable.

"I think this shows how well this facility has been constructed," enthused village administrator Frederick A. Weber, who has been a prime mover in the project. "We may still have a few wet spots in the outfields that need some more work, but the infields are dry despite all the rain. I don't think there is a better softball facility anywhere in the state."

The complex includes a small building which houses a concession stand and restrooms, and is completely fenced. Parking spaces have been marked off with yellow pavement paint on the Veterans Park lot, and they were pretty well filled with cars for the opening ceremony despite the nasty weather.

As a 13-team tournament continued on Saturday morning, a parking jam developed with vehicles spilling onto Sibley Rd. where the shoulders are narrow and a traffic hazard could develop unless more off-road parking is provided.

Dana Corp. donated 5½ acres of land, valued at $39,000, toward the project. That made the village eligible to apply for and obtain a matching $39,000 grant from the federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation for the construction work, which was done by village employees to keep costs below what contracting would have cost.

Representing Dana at Friday's dedication were plant manager Tom Green and personnel director Grant Shepler. It was a kind of special day for Phil Boham, who was Dana personnel director when the project began, and is still an active softball player. Boham played in the first game on one of the two new diamonds.

Also on hand were village president pro-tem Jerry Satterthwaite, recreation council president Paul L. Buntin and recreation director Jackie Schiller.

Everybody got a little wet, but nobody seemed to mind very much. Softball is big in Chelsea, as proved by the fact that all 13 teams in the opening-weekend slow-pitch tournament were from the village.

Truck Trailer Heisted from Wolverine Plaza

There may be more valuable items stolen in Washtenaw county this year, but there won't be many, if any, larger than the 42-foot semi-truck trailer heisted from the Wolverine Plaza at I-94 and Baker Rd. last weekend.

The sheriff's department reported that somebody apparently backed up a truck tractor to the empty trailer, which was registered in Tennessee, hitched it up and hauled it away.

Chelsea Girls Softball Team Victors in District Tournament

The district softball tournament Saturday was a bit of a heart-stopper, but the Bulldogs are on their way to the Oak Park regional Saturday, June 11. They will play the winner of the Oak Park district tournament.

Chelsea's close game at the Carleton Airport districts was a 3-2, eight-inning win over Saline. Saline led, 2-0, until the bottom of the sixth, when the Bulldogs tied the game. Donna Popovich, the winning pitcher, scored the game-winning run in the bottom of the eighth on a sacrifice bunt by Jane Verway.

It's tough to beat a team three times in a season, said coach Charlie Waller. The Bulldogs had mercied the Hornets in their first two games, and he thought Saline didn't think they would win.

The Hornets started making mistakes in the final innings, and Chelsea capitalized on them, he said.

In both the Saline game, and the 7-1 win over Willow Run in the finals, the Bulldogs were "very steady," he said, playing some of their best ball of the season. The defense was good and hitting adequate. They bunted very well against the Flyers.

Chelsea never "killed" the ball, he said, but did what they had to do at the plate.

Popovich pitched "very well" against the Hornets, said Waller. She had four strike-outs and gave up five hits and two walks. Amy Hume played "outstanding" defense and made several nice catches.

Beth Unterbrink had a single and a double which brought in a runner in the sixth inning. Anne Weber also had an RBI hit in the sixth. Hume, Popovich and Cathy Doll had two hits each.

The Bulldogs watched Willow Run defeat Carleton Airport, 8-2, in the semi-finals, and learned a lot about the Flyers' pitcher, said Waller. She didn't throw a lot of strikes. Airport tried to hit balls and didn't have much success with that strategy.

In the finals, the Bulldogs were more selective and waited for strikes, he said. Celeste Powell had two hits, and the rest were spread around.

The Bulldogs bunted a lot, he said, and never really got a chance to hit hard.

Popovich had 10 strike-outs and gave up three hits.

Unterbrink, Indiana Lose in College World Series

Chelsea's Amy Unterbrink lost the big one last weekend as her Indiana softball team was eliminated from the Women's College World Series, 1-0, by Texas A&M, but it wasn't her fault.

Unterbrink gave up an unearned run in the first inning on a single, a sacrifice, a passed ball and an error, and that was all the Texas team needed as Indiana was stopped cold at bat and couldn't get the run back.

Unterbrink ended the season with a 20-3 record and a ranking as one of the nation's top women's collegiate softball pitchers.

POKER-FACED PITCHERS: There is a good reason the Bulldog softball pitchers are expressionless on the mound. If they show their emotions—how the game is going to them—the other team will use pressure tactics on them. Junior varsity pitchers are Jill

Chelsea Continues To Produce Excellence in Softball Pitchers

By PEGGY PAGE
Every year the Bulldog softball program comes up with another fine pitcher. This year it is Donna Popovich, a senior. Last year it was Amy Unterbrink, who is now pitching for Indiana University. Before them came Anita Powell, who played for Ferris State for a year. Nanette Push, number-one pitcher for Eastern Michigan University, and Sue Heydlauff in 1977.

The future of the tradition looks safe, too. The varsity team has Marji Rawson, a southpaw junior, and Beth Unterbrink, a sophomore. The junior varsity team has so many pitchers, five, coach Bill Wescott says he can't give any one of them enough game pitching time for their proper development.

One begins to wonder if there is something in the local water supply or a superior pitching gene pool. Wescott, the former varsity coach, and Charlie Waller, the varsity coach now and former junior varsity coach, say that isn't the answer. Hard work is.

Good pitchers are made, said Waller, they don't just happen. All of Chelsea's great ones have really wanted it for themselves and worked hard for the skill.

The two coaches set their strategy in 1977 when they both joined the program. Pitching was the heart of the game, and they had to develop a good one every year.

That's what the game of softball is "all about," said Waller, but it has taken other teams a while to catch on to that idea—they had depended on the occasional superior pitcher and gotten used to off-years.

Pitching classes are held in winter for middle school students, and potential pitchers also develop in summer recreation leagues.

Since underhand throwing is a much more natural motion than baseball pitching, said Wescott, a coach also doesn't have to worry about over-throwing a girl or starting her before the age of 15. Many pitchers get better as a game goes on and thrive on weekend tournaments.

Waller says he believes in the numbers theory, the more young pitchers one has, the better the chance that one will develop into a great pitcher by her senior year.

Because it is so personally demanding to become good, (300 pitches daily is a practice rule of thumb) both coaches say there is a natural attrition rate from the pitching ranks from freshman to senior years.

when there is only one senior pitcher.

Girls Softball Team Downs Monroe in Pre-District Game

Chelsea's girls softball team came off a 13-0 win over Monroe Jefferson in a pre-qualifying game to enter last Saturday's district tournament at Carleton Airport as the favorite and, therefore, the team to beat.

"I'm sure they will be shooting at us," said Bulldog coach Charlie Waller. "We were state champions last year, and everybody wants to beat the champ."

The only surprise in the game against Monroe Jefferson was the fact that it went the full seven innings. Chelsea was on top all the way but didn't score enough early runs to end the contest under the mercy rule.

Donna Popovich pitched a two-hit shutout and was in complete control throughout. Kim Forner drove in three runs with two key hits. Jane Verway was three-for-three, and Lori Anderson had a pair of safeties.

Chelsea was to go against Saline, which the Bulldogs defeated twice during the regular season, in the opening game of the district tournament, with Popovich scheduled to take the mound.

"I'm worried about that game," Waller admitted. "Saline is very competitive, and it's going to be tough to beat them three times in a row."

The Bulldog girls won undisputed possession of first place in the Southeastern Conference race with a 14-4 romp over Jackson County Western. That win gave Chelsea an 11-1 record in league play. The only defeat was a 1-0 loss to Tecumseh in a game decided by a controversial umpiring call.

"We're good, but we have some weak spots," Waller said in summing up his team's regular season. "Everybody is going to have to play at her best if we want to repeat as state champions."

Howdy Holmes Places 6th in Indy 500 Race

Howdy Holmes of Ann Arbor went the distance and wound up a very creditable sixth in last week's Indianapolis 500. He was one of only 13 out of the starting 33 drivers who were still running at the finish.

Holmes is the son of Howard K. Holmes, president of Chelsea Milling Co.

Starting in 12th position, Holmes moved up toward the front early in the race and was among the top five most of the way. He got into third place a couple of times but couldn't overtake the front-runners.

A veteran racing observer who relayed a report of the 500 to this reporter said Holmes' car appeared to have as much straightaway speed as any in the race, but did not handle as well on the turns, forcing him to slow down and lose ground on the corners.

That is not surprising considering that Holmes' car was new this spring. It usually takes at least a year of fine-tuning to de-bug a new Indy racing machine and achieve its peak performance.

Holmes missed fifth place by less than half a lap around the 2½-mile Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Holmes gave his fans two bad scares. Late in the race he narrowly missed colliding with a car that had hit the wall and was spinning out of control across the track. A skillful piece of driving averted a crash as Holmes veered sharply to the inside and passed safely.

At the end of the race Holmes got out of his car and collapsed, apparently from exhaustion, but was quickly revived and walked off the track waving to the crowd.

Holmes was two laps behind winner Tom Sneva. Sneva's victory pace was 162.117 miles per hour. Holmes was clocked at 160.347.

JV Softball Team Mercies Opponents

Chelsea's junior varsity softball team closed out an excellent 16-2 season last week with a pair of mercy-shortened victories over Lincoln, 16-3, and Jackson County Western, 23-2. Each game went the minimum five innings.

"We had a very good year," coach Bill Wescott summed up. "The girls played well, and they improved as the season went along. We have some fine prospects for next year's varsity team."

Coaches are never completely satisfied, and Wescott all but apologized for the fact that his team lost two games this year after dropping just one in 1982 and going undefeated the year before.

Asked if it's possible that some other schools are beginning to try to catch up to Chelsea's outstanding girls softball program, Wescott said that could be, and added that he hopes so.

"Good competition makes things better for everybody," he commented. "It's really not all that much fun to win a mercy game, for the players or the coach. "We're very fortunate here in Chelsea to have a sound athletic program that is well supported by the community. We've managed to build a winning tradition in softball, and I'm confident we will keep it up."

Joann Tobin was the winning pitcher in the Lincoln game. She was relieved by Jill Schaffner in the last inning, not because Tobin needed help but rather to give Schaffner a chance to exercise her arm.

Chandy Hurd, Kelly Hawker and Chris DeFant had two hits each as the Bulldog girls socked the ball hard for 14 safeties. Both of DeFant's blows were triples.

The victory over Western was a walkover in more ways than one. Chelsea collected only seven hits but received 16 bases on balls. Hawker started on the mound and got credit for the win, with Schaffner again coming on in late relief for the experience. Hawker struck out nine in her four innings of work. Chris Mattoff was the only Bulldog to get two hits.

Saline Demolishes Opposition To Claim District Baseball Title

Watching Saline demolish Tecumseh and New Boston Huron while winning the district baseball tournament played at Chelsea last Saturday, you had to wonder how the Hornets ever managed to lose a game all season. (They were 16-8 over-all, 9-3 in Southeastern Conference play, good for second place.)

Saline put together a combination of power hitting, tough pitching and good defense which, if they can keep it up, could result in a state championship. "They have a lot of talent," said an impressed Chelsea varsity baseball coach Wayne Welton who served as official scorer for the tournament. "If they can go on playing like they did here Saturday, they could win it all."

In bombing Tecumseh, 12-2, and New Boston Huron, 10-0, the Hornets banged out 27 hits, 13 of them for extra bases. Most impressive was that they faced about every kind of pitching there is—right-handed, left-handed, fast, off-speed, overhand, sidearm—and hit it all impartially.

Meanwhile, pitchers Kevin Garcia and Dan Pekrul gave up a combined total of three hits in the two games and would have had a double shutout but for one bad pitch served up by Garcia to Tecumseh's John Harter who slammed it for a two-run homer.

On defense the Hornets committed just two errors and came up with some fine plays to snuff out potential scoring threats.

The rules of the tournament required that a home-run fence be put up around the Chelsea field, and Saline's John Tilt lost no time finding its range, belting a three-run round-tripper in his first turn at bat, a 360-foot drive to right-center.

To prove that was no fluke, Tilt hit one about as far to left-center in the second game, also good for three runs. He wound up the day with five hits and seven runs.

batted-in in seven trips to the plate.

New Boston Huron got into the final game by coming back from a 6-1 deficit to defeat Monroe Jefferson, 7-6. Monroe was the team that knocked Chelsea out of district play.

The real heroes of the day were the members of the ground crew that got the field into playable shape following a 24-hour rain which had left it a muddy mess.

Bulldog athletic director Ron

Nemeth, Welton, assistant coach, Akel Marshall, and varsity co-captains Doug Pagliarini and Rod Robeson, and Rick Boham labored for five hours beginning early Saturday morning to overcome what looked like an impossible situation.

The tourney's start was delayed three hours to allow extra drying-out time. Once play began, there were no problems, a tribute to the excellence of the emergency repair work.

FIELD FENCED: District high school baseball tournament rules require a home-run fence, and so snow fencing was erected around the Chelsea field for last Saturday's tourney. Five balls were hit over it during the three games played. Chelsea athletic officials consider such fencing dangerous to outfielders, and so don't use it during regular season play.

Pagliarini Hurls No-Hit Shut-Out To Close Out Season Fourth in SEC

"They didn't come close to getting a hit."

That is how coach Wayne Welton described senior pitcher Doug Pagliarini's no-hit shut-out of Jackson County Western in a game which closed out the Chelsea varsity baseball season with a 10-0 victory.

The contest ended after six innings under the mercy rule.

"In a way I wish we hadn't scored quite so many runs so that Doug could have gone the full seven innings and gotten credit for a complete-game no-hitter," Welton said. "He pitched extremely well in his last appearance for Chelsea."

Working with four days rest for the first time since the start of the season, Pagliarini was sharp. His curve ball was breaking down low over the plate, and his fast ball had a lot of zing. He struck out seven and walked two. His season record was 6-3.

The Bulldogs got the only run they needed in the second inning on three straight bunts, the last one a perfect suicide squeeze laid down by Ron Dunn. They scored four in the third and then plated five in the sixth to bring on the mercy rule.

Chelsea rattled out 10 hits and also took advantage of 10 bases on balls. Rich Boham had two safeties. Eric Stofflet had a double and hard-hitting Mike Neibauer a triple.

The win gave the Bulldogs a 13-10-1 record for the season in 24 games played. The "1" was a scoreless tie with Brighton in the second game of a season-opening doubleheader which was called because of darkness after five innings.

Chelsea wound up at 6-6 in the Southeastern Conference race, good for a fourth-place tie with Tecumseh, behind Milan, Saline and Dexter.

The final standings were:

	W	L
Milan	11	1
Saline	9	3
Dexter	7	5
Chelsea	6	6
Tecumseh	6	6
Lincoln	2	10
JC Western	1	11

Despite its outstanding league record, Milan was knocked out of contention for the district championship by upstart Tecumseh, which defeated the Big Reds, 5-2, in a pre-tournament qualifying game. Joining Tecumseh in the "final four" of district play were Monroe Jefferson, New Boston Huron and Saline. The tourney was held at Chelsea last Saturday. (See story elsewhere on this page.)

In summing up the Bulldogs' season, coach Welton paid tribute to the six senior team members—Pagliarini, Rod Robeson, Neibauer, Ken Nadeau, Matt

JV Baseball Team Finishes 2nd in SEC

Chelsea's junior varsity baseball team completed its season last week with a win over Jackson County Western and a divided double-header with Brighton.

The two victories gave the JV's a 13-6 record, 8-4 in the Southeastern Conference. The Bulldogs wound up second in the SEC race behind Saline.

Chelsea defeated Western, 6-4, by jumping out to a 3-0 lead in the first inning on extra-base hits by Eric Schaffner, Evan Roberts, Chuck Downer and Mark Mull. The Bulldogs got three more in the fourth on safeties by Downer, Charlie Koenn and Rich Conner. Conner's clutch base hit drove in the two runs that proved to be the difference. Biff Bunton also had a single.

Western came back with three runs in the sixth and one in the seventh, but Schaffner managed to shut the gate and earn the pitching victory to raise his season mark to 6-1.

The Brighton double-header was a free-hitting affair with Chelsea winning the opener, 9-7, and losing the nightcap, 16-5.

The first game was tied, 2-2, after three innings, but Chelsea put on a big fourth to score seven runs and lock up the win even though Brighton came back to make the score close.

The big hits in that game included triples by Schaffner and Roberts, singles by Mull and Keith Neibauer, and a suicide squeeze bunt by Bunton which ended up with two runs scoring while Brighton threw the ball around trying to get somebody out.

Downer pitched six innings to earn the win, and Mull came on in the seventh to shut off a rally and get credit for a save.

The second game was something of a disaster for Chelsea. "I just plain had no pitchers left," coach Ken Larson said, "and I had to use some boys who had never pitched in a game before."

Brighton jumped out to a 10-0 lead after three innings. Chelsea came back to score five, but Brighton got six in the fifth inning to end the game under the mercy rule.

"We had a successful season," Larson said. "We have at least seven players who are varsity prospects for next year, and there could be a couple more."

Certain to be given a good look by varsity coach Wayne Welton are Schaffner, Roberts, Downer, Mull, Brian Farley, Neibauer, and Koenn.

Softball Team Celebrates With Ice Cream 'Bust'

The major leagues celebrate with champagne. Bullpup girls softball team celebrated its fifth consecutive league championship with "horrendous" quantities of ice cream, said coach Charlie Waller.

The league title was theirs with an 11-1 win over Jackson County Western May 26. That score was also their league record.

Chelsea softball players have lost three league games in five years. The 1979, 1980 and 1983 records were 11-1; 1981, 11-0; and 1982, 12-0.

The score was 2-1 until the top of the fifth inning when the Bulldogs got nine runs.

Donna Popovich was winning pitcher and struck out three, giving up two hits and one run. Marji Rawson pitched the fifth inning, and had two put-outs.

THEY MADE THE TOURNAMENT RUN: It took a lot of doing to get the Chelsea baseball field ready for last Saturday's district tournament, and a whole lot more work to keep things running smoothly once the games got started. The crew which did yeoman duty as groundskeepers, scorers and public address announcers included Akel Marshall, Ron Nemeth, Rod Robeson (back to camera), Wayne Welton and Doug Pagliarini.

Villemure and Chris Seitz.

"The seniors provided leadership to a young team which did not have much depth of experience in varsity baseball," Welton said. "I think the results of their efforts will carry over into next year when we will have nine veterans returning."

Pagliarini, Robeson and Neibauer should earn all-SEC honors. When Pagliarini wasn't pitching, he played an excellent shortstop and did a good job with the bat. Robeson is as fine a defensive catcher as there is around, and hit consistently all season long. Neibauer hit for distance and was especially tough with men on base in scoring position, while playing more than adequately in right field.

Varsity Thinclads Win 18 Medals at Honor Meet

Members of the Chelsea boys track team brought home a total of 18 medals from the Honor Roll meet held May 31 at Jackson Northwest, with three Bulldogs taking first places in their events. There was no team championship.

Mark Brosnan, Eric Buckberry and Matt McCallum each earned firsts. Brosnan took the 800-meter run in 1:59.7, Buckberry the pole vault at 13'6", McCallum the 110-meter high hurdles in :15.5—all fine performances.

Other Chelsea medal-winners were:

800-meter relay (Kevin Richardson, Mike Hintzen, Scott Miller, Randy Krichbaum), second in 1:32.7.

400-meter relay (Dan Fenton, Richardson, Hintzen, Krichbaum), third in :44.9.

1,600-meter relay (Hintzen, Brosnan, Richardson, Scott Cooper), third in 3:31.5.

300-meter low hurdles—Hintzen third, :40.2.

300-meter low hurdles—Spayd fifth, :40.8.

200-meter dash—Krichbaum sixth, :23.6.

Pole Vault—Darin Rowe sixth, 11'6".

"The boys did real well," coach Pat Clarke said. "For many of them it was their last meet of the year. Mike Hintzen won four medals, which is quite an accomplishment. He does everything."

MIKE HINTZEN was named "most valuable" member of this spring's Chelsea High school boys track team. Mike competed in the sprints, hurdles and shot put, and ran on relay teams.

Mike Hintzen Named 'Most Valuable' in Track

Senior Mike Hintzen was named "most valuable" member of the Chelsea High boys track team at the annual awards banquet held last Wednesday.

A versatile athlete, Hintzen ran in sprint and hurdle events and on relay teams, and also competed in the shot put, scoring points in all of them during the season.

Pole vaulter Eric Buckberry, also a senior, was honored as "most improved" during the season. Buckberry capped his career by winning the pole vault at the Southeastern Conference meet, capturing the Bulldogs' only first place. He also filled in capably on relay teams during the season.

Varsity letters were awarded to the following:

Four years—Mark Brosnan, Matt McCallum, Dave Wojcicki. Three Years—Allen Cole, Mike Hintzen, Scott Cooper, Eric Green, Kevin Richardson.

Two years—Jared Bradley, Eric Buckberry, Gar DeYoe, Russell Harris, Kyle Kemmish.

MARK BROSNAN ran a career best and set a Chelsea High school record of 4:17.9 in placing eighth in the 1,600-meter run at last Saturday's state Class B track meet.

School Record Time Only 8th in State Meet

When a time of 4:17.9 in the 1,600-meter run gets you no better than eighth place, you know that there were some awfully good runners competing in the state Class B boys track meet at Caro last Saturday.

Mark Brosnan set a Chelsea High school record with his clocking in the 1,600, which would have been good for second place in the Class A meet held at Jackson the same day.

Eric Buckberry was the only other point-winner for Chelsea, finishing in a seventh-place tie in the pole vault at 12'8". The winning height was 14'4".

Mike Hintzen turned in a school record time of :38.9 in the 300-meter low hurdles, but didn't place in the finals. Neither did Matt McCallum with a :15.3 in the 110-meter highs.

"It was an unbelievable meet," Chelsea coach Pat Clarke said. "New state records were set in almost every event. I've never seen anything quite like it in all my years of coaching.

"Lincoln had an excellent track team, but they only scored 19 points while finishing ninth. That gives you an idea of the caliber of the competition."

Flint Beecher piled up 91.2 points with an overwhelming display of talent and depth, placing in almost every event to win the meet.

Clarke announced that Brosnan will attend Eastern Michigan University this fall on a partial academic scholarship. "I expect Mark will get some measure of athletic scholarship aid later on," Clarke said. "I honestly believe he could have been a state champion this year if he hadn't gotten sick at the beginning of the season. He worked awfully hard, but he couldn't quite make it all the way back into peak condition. He can be an outstanding runner at Eastern."

Girls Compete In State Track Meet

Although the Chelsea girls didn't score any points at the Class B state championship track meet June 4 at Caro, it was a good experience for them to compete, said coach Bill Bainton, and a nice reward for their hard work throughout the season.

As one girl told Bainton, it's an honor just getting there.

The 1600 relay of Wendy Wolfgang, Carol Warren, Amy Wolfgang and Laura Damm had an unofficial time of 4:11.0, which is a new school record.

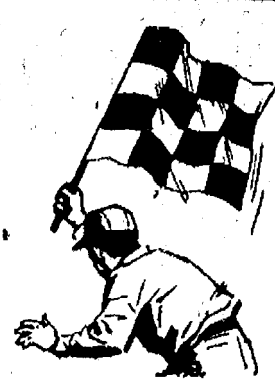

It was the team's best chance to place, said Bainton, since the relay was seeded 14th, but it placed about the same as its seeding.

The 800 relay of Warren, Carolyn Chandler, Amy Wolfgang and Sue Young had a time of 1:52.4.

Amy Wolfgang, the only individual qualifier, had a time of :49.2 in the 300 hurdles.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BILL MULLENDORE

It isn't every day that a sports writer goes to a baseball game and comes back with information for a column on track and field, but it happened to me recently and here are the results.

Between innings of the ball game I got to talking with Bill Bainton, Chelsea girls track coach, and the conversation centered on the astounding improvements in track and field times, distances and heights achieved during the 40 years since I last participated in the sport.

I recalled that a teammate of mine broke five minutes for the mile back in the 1943 state Class B meet and set a record which stood for several years. His time, which was headline news then, would not earn a point in most dual meets today.

The world record for the mile was somewhere around 4:05, and athletes, coaches and physiologists were united in proclaiming that a four-minute mile was impossible, beyond the limit of human achievement. Today there are meets in which half a dozen runners come in under four minutes.

Dexter's Kelly McKillen runs a mile far faster than I ever could and will, I am confident, one day turn in a better time than that of my old teammate, if she keeps working at it. She is a remarkably gifted runner, a joy to watch.

Girls are running and jumping as well or better than the boys of my day, and that is no put-down of the girls. Considering that track and field is a relatively new sport for women, they have made enormous progress and have steadily narrowed the performance gap between themselves and men. I can foresee a day when women and men will compete on equal terms at the longer distances such as the marathon, where endurance and conditioning are more important than muscle strength. Other things equal, a well-trained woman athlete has less weight to move than a man, and that is an advantage in a distance run.

Back to my talk with Bainton. I asked him how he accounted for the dramatic advances in track and field records, for both men and women at all levels of competition, that have occurred over 40 years. You have to look at a long time span, because year-to-year changes are generally measured in fractions of seconds and inches. You don't realize what has happened until you stand back and take a look from a considerable perspective of time.

Bainton cited better running surfaces as an important reason for improved times in track events. "You can just plain run faster on modern synthetic tracks than you could on the old cinder tracks," he said. "The footing is better, and so is the cushioning. You get more bounce, and you can move your feet faster."

The improved tracks made it possible to give up spiked running shoes which dug in at every step and had to be lifted out with an effort that took its toll of time. Today's track shoes are marvels of efficiency in providing sure footing without slowing the runner down.

The most remarkable improvement in equipment has been the flexible pole now used in the pole vault, which allows vaulters to catapult themselves over the bar. In my time the 14-foot vault was thought to be impossible. Today the best vaulters are clearing 20, and a lot of high school kids top 14.

Another factor, Bainton said, is simply that today's athletes are better physical specimens than their predecessors. Thanks to modern nutrition and health care, they are bigger and stronger from the day of birth on, and it shows in performances in all sports, not just track and field. The last generation of athletes probably could not compete with this one.

(I recall the answer that the late Fritz Crisler gave when asked a couple of years ago how his 1947 University of Michigan football team—the best of its era—would have fared in modern play. Fritz, who never minced words, replied, "They couldn't win a game. Today's football players are so much bigger and better physically that there is no basis for comparison.")

Bainton suggested that the most important reason for improvement in track and field performance is that today's athletes are a more dedicated lot and work at their sport the year around, even in high school.

"Track used to be something you did for a couple of months in the spring," he said, "and then you forgot about it until next year. Not any more. These kids train all the time. They follow prescribed exercise programs, lift weights, stay on diets, and run, run, run. I like to think that coaching is better than it used to be, and I'm sure it is, but the big thing is that today's athletes are motivated to improve and excel, and bring out the best that's in themselves. The desire comes from within, and these kids have it. They work at their sport 12 months of the year, and their records show it."

Amen.

Summer Basketball Camp To Open Here on June 20

Robin Raymond's summer basketball "camp" will open June 20 at Chelsea High School and run for four weeks, ending July 13.

Raymond, who is Chelsea's varsity cage coach, said the fee will be $15 and that youths who sign up in advance will receive a tee-shirt. Registration may be made at the high school office.

The camp, which is part of the Chelsea community education and recreation program, will be held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday mornings, and will be divided into two sessions:

8:30-10 a.m.—Next fall's 9-12 graders.

10:30-noon—Next fall's 6-8 graders.

"We will stress fundamentals—passing, ball-handling, shooting, defense," Raymond said. "We will provide a lot of individual attention and instruction. I will have two assistants from last winter's varsity team to help me teach techniques."

Raymond added that competition will be a major part of the camp program, with contests in free throw shooting, floor shooting, ball-handling, one-on-one, three-on-three, and five-member teams.

"One thing that young players need to learn early is that basketball is an extremely competitive game," Raymond said. "It is also a team game. We try to teach those lessons and put them together."

Winners in the various competitions will receive trophies at the end of the camp.

Raymond makes no secret of the fact that part of his purpose in conducting the camp is to identify and bring along players for the future of the Chelsea schools' basketball program. He is dedicated to the idea of making Chelsea a power in basketball.

"We are offering for $15 a program equal to one that would cost many times that much in other, privately run summer basketball camps," he said. "Obviously, we are not in it for money. We want to promote basketball and develop players who are interested in improving themselves."

Raymond expects between 60 and 70 youths to register for the camp, and emphasized that it is open to anyone with a desire to learn how to play better basketball.

Big Boy 3-0 in Fast-Pitch League

Chelsea Big Boy's fast-pitch softball team is off to another quick start in the Ann Arbor Major Circuit. Big Boy is 3-0 after two weeks of league action.

Big Boy has defeated Brewer's Gulf, 3-2, Wolverine Supply, 12-5, and Brewer's again, 7-5, to account for their victories.

This year the major fast-pitch league has four teams playing a 21-game schedule. Each team will meet their three rivals seven times throughout the year.

In Big Boy's 3-2 victory over Brewer's Gulf, Al Cohen went the distance to get the win. Randy Brier, Mike Lauerman, Craig Houle, Len Kozma, and Roger Bourne generated most of Big Boy's offense. Bruce Wagner, Bob Moffett and Al Augustine made good defensive plays.

Everybody in Big Boy's line-up got into the act for the 12-5 victory over Wolverine Supply. Brier hit a mammoth home run to highlight a four-run sixth inning. Lauerman and Moffett had fine games also. John Strong went the distance for the win.

In Big Boy's 7-5 come-from-behind win over Brewer's, Robert Bourne delivered a key two-run single to spark a three-run fifth inning to get Big Boy in front. Strong came in to save the win for starting pitcher Cohen.

Big Boy's roster includes John Strong, Jim Strong, Al Cohen, Craig Houle, Bruce Wagner, Randy Brier, Roger Bourne, Bob Moffett, Mike Lauerman, Todd Orbring, Bob DeCarolis, Len Kozma and Wayne Welton.

Frosh Baseball Season Closes With 8-9-1 Mark

Chelsea's freshman baseball team ended its season last week with a victory, two losses and a tie to wind up with an 8-9-1 mark for the spring.

The Bullpups split a double-header with Howell, losing the first game 4-1 and coming back to win the second, 6-4. They lost a tough 4-3 decision to Adrian in the opening tilt of another twin-bill and battled back to a 4-4 tie in the nightcap that was called because of darkness.

"We had very creditable pitching in all four games," coach Phil Bareis said. "Dan Bellus, Kevin Maynard, Mike Ball, and Rob Beckwith all pitched well. Our hitting didn't quite match our pitching."

In the win over Howell, Bellus got credit for the pitching victory and contributed two hits to his own cause. Jeff Larson had a key double.

The tie with Adrian was accomplished when Beckwith hit a sixth-inning triple with the bases loaded to bring Chelsea back from a 4-1 deficit. Beckwith pitched the last two frames of the eight-inning game to preserve the deadlock.

Summing up his team's season,

Bareis noted that the freshmen had a 2-7 record at one point, and came back to play winning baseball the rest of the way.

"I think that shows improvement in both skills and attitude," Bareis said. "Early in the season some of the boys tended to be 'spectators' on the field, standing around and waiting for something to come their way. That changed. They learned that they had to be a part of the game on every pitch. That was probably our most important area of progress."

Bareis declined to speculate on which, if any, of his freshmen might make it to the varsity next year. "Even though many of the boys came along well, they all have a lot yet to learn," he commented.

DNR Surveying Fish Population In Area Lakes

Independence and Big Portage lakes in Washtenaw county are being surveyed by Department of Natural Resources fisheries biologists this spring to determine fish populations and prescribe possible remedies if problems are found.

The surveys are made by setting nets to determine which species of fish are present and in what numbers, combinations and size ranges.

Both lakes support typical warm-water populations of largemouth bass, pike, bluegills, sunfish, perch, carp, bullheads, and forage species of minnows.

If a problem is found—as, for example, an over-abundance of stunted panfish—chemical treatment or netting might be prescribed to restore a biological balance.

Girls Track Team Posts 4-1 Record

Bullpup girls track team had a fine season, took second at the Jackson County Western Invitational, and had a 4-1 dual meet record.

Because of the potential and progress made in the middle school track program this year, the future looks very promising for the high school girls track program.

Several of the eighth graders on the team should contribute immediately to the high school team, said coach Ann Schaffner. Eighth grade team members are: Cherie Alexander, Heidi Apostol, Alison Chasteen, Kim Clutter, Angie DeFant, Marla Feldman, Melanie Flanigan, Tylen Greenleaf, Chris Guard, Edie Harook, Trisha Mattoff, Robin Mock, Kathryn Morgan, Chris Neuman, Carol Palmer, Denise Pratt, Beth Paddock, Amy Richardson, Karen Weber, Sallie Wilson and Chris Zerkel.

Seventh graders who will return to the team next year (if the mileage passes at the June 13 election—if not, middle school sports teams will be dropped) include Kim Allen, Kasey Anderson, Cathy Barham, Chris Basso, Sarah Bentley, Ann Brosnan, Shannon Dunn, Kim Degener, Alisha Darrow, Shannon Durrussell, Sharon Colombo, Leah Enderle, Tami Harris, Cathy Hoffman, Meredith Johnson, Katie Kelly, Beth Kenney, Heidi Knickerbocker, Traci Modzejewski, Anna Muncer, Jill Penhallegan, Jenny Picklik, Kristen Roberts, Jennifer Ross, Michaela Scripper, Kelly Stump, Ada Tai, Arlene Tai, Alison Thornton, Laura Torres, Minta van Ressema, Sarah Weis, Angie Welch and Deanna Zangara.

Ann Arbor Trust Co. Reports 33% Increase In Deposits for Quarter

Ann Arbor Trust Co. reported net income for the first three months of 1983 of $215,522, or $1.03 per share. This is a decrease of 9.1% from the $237,104, or $1.13 per share earned in the first three months of 1982.

Total assets at March 31, 1983 were $128 million, compared to $99 million in 1982, an increase of 30%. The sharp growth in assets is attributable to the concurrent increase of 33.5% in deposits. Deposit growth has been primarily in the new "Money Market Savings Accounts."

George H. Cress, the bank's president and chief executive officer, expressed satisfaction with these results and remains confident of an earnings increase for the year. He said, "We are pleased with the community's response to the introduction of the bank's new Money Market Savings Account. The bank, as well as the Ann Arbor community, will benefit as we deploy these deposits in sound loans to local individuals and businesses."

The poverty rate for Michigan's 60-plus citizens was estimated at 12.2 percent in 1980 and at 13.5 percent for persons 65 years or older. Eleven point zero six percent (11.06%) of persons 60 or older had incomes below the poverty level. For a single person 65 or older, the poverty threshold was $3,479 per year and $4,389 for a couple.

OUT IN THE OPEN

By BILL MULLENDORE

Reports out of Lansing say that the list of nearly 200 candidates who applied to replace Howard A. Tanner as director of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources has been pared to seven who will be called in for interviews by the Natural Resources Commission. The job is now officially vacant. Tanner's forced resignation took effect June 1.

Those same reports say that aides to Gov. James Blanchard looked closely over the shoulders of the commissioners while they were doing the screening. It is obvious Blanchard intends to call the shot when it is eventually fired. My educated guess is that the selection has already been made, and that the interviewing process will be a formality of going through motions to make everybody look good.

Of the seven finalists, four are present DNR employees, two are from New York and one from Alabama. I don't know any of the three outsiders, but am well acquainted with the quartet in Lansing—Jack Bails, Jim Cleary, Charlie Guenther, Keith Wilson. If I had to pick a favorite from among those, it would be Wilson, who has clean skirts, is fast on his feet politically and supports the "right" (in this case Democrat) party. A lot of people felt Wilson should have been appointed to the job instead of Tanner back in 1973.

Wilson has the advantage of having administered a popular and relatively non-controversial program—Waterways—which is pretty much self-funding and so has largely escaped the hassle of cutting budgets, laying off employees and reducing services. He is savvy, and knows his way around the Capitol.

Bails, Cleary and Guenther are all controversial for one reason or another, and I question whether any of them could pull the department together.

That all may be by the way, because the deliberately planted rumor persists that Blanchard wants to bring in someone from out of state. If so, the two New Yorkers and the Alabamian have the inside track. Not knowing any of them, even to the point of recognizing their names, I will not venture a prediction except to note that New York's natural resources agency is similar in scope and organization to Michigan's, is much larger as befits a state with twice as many people and is at least as difficult to run. It is a little hard to imagine someone from Alabama coming in to direct Michigan's DNR.

What is worrisome is that Blanchard has thus far ducked the hard questions, which go to the heart of how state programs for resources and the environment will be organized and administered. He and his staff have waffled around all over the place, leaving the impression that they have no clear concept of what needs to be done, much less how to go about doing it.

Simply changing bodies in the DNR director's office will not, by itself, accomplish anything. Tanner had his drawbacks as an administrator, but he probably did about as well as could be done with the cumbersome, unwieldy structure he had to deal with. He told me when he first took office that he believed the DNR to be unmanageable, and time proved him right.

When I left the department in late 1981, it was responsible for more than 300 separate programs, all of them important to the well-being and livelihood of Michigan's citizens. More have been added since.

As a public information specialist I was supposed to know all about all of those 300-plus programs. I never came close to any such understanding, and neither did Howard Tanner, who is a more intelligent, better educated man than I am. The director's job as presently prescribed defies doing.

The idea of bringing all of state government's natural resources management and environmental protection functions under one huge umbrella tent is fine in theory, but it has failed badly in practice wherever tried. The bundle is just too darned big to handle. Whoever the new director turns out to be, he should insist, as a condition of employment, that something be done to whittle the job down to manageable size.

Blanchard and staff at first mumbled a bit about splitting off some of the DNR's environmental functions and scattering them back among the agencies from which they were gathered 10 years ago. It was obvious from their comments that they didn't know what they were talking about. Later they did a 180-degree turn and mumbled about placing more responsibility on the already overburdened department, an even worse idea.

The solution is simple and in plain sight for anybody who wants to open his eyes and see it. There should be two agencies—one for resources management, one for environmental protection. That arrangement is possible both legally and constitutionally and, most important, politically. Blanchard has the votes to get anything he wants from the Legislature, as he proved by ramming through the 38 percent state income tax increase and the bill that bankrupted the Recreation Land Trust Fund.

Separating the two broad areas of responsibility would not eliminate the basic conflicts between them but would at least get them out from under the same roof and end the infighting that has torn the DNR apart. Each agency would have to stand on its own feet, marshal its own body of support, and handle its own interests in the political arena. Both would be easily identifiable to the public, something that the present DNR is not.

More than that needs to be done, of course, but splitting the department into two entities of manageable size and compatible objectives is an essential first step. Anything else will be window dressing.

Aluminum Canoe Reported Stolen

An aluminum canoe valued at $400 was stolen from a home in the 500 block of Chandler St. last week, the Chelsea police department reported. The canoe had been put on the ground beside the garage, police said, and was not secured.

EVEN THOUGH he has a severe vision problem, junior Ron Dunn batted .300 for the Chelsea varsity baseball team this season, spraying hits to all fields, while playing as an outfielder and designated hitter. One reason for his success is his picture-perfect stance at the plate—with hands high, wrists cocked and weight back on the left foot ready to stride forward into the ball.

GALLAS PICKS ONE UP: Chelsea third baseman Chris Gallas charges toward the plate to pick up a slow-hit ground ball, which he has in his hands although you can't see it.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank my friends, neighbors and relatives for the cards, gifts and visits while I was in the hospital and since my return home. Also thanks to Dr. Charles Krause, the Rev. Ervin Koch for his prayers and the nursing staffs in Chelsea Community Hospital and St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for the excellent care I received.

Lena Koch.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks and gratitude to all who have helped during my recent illness and extended hospitalization. A simple thank-you seems so inadequate to express how we really feel toward our friends and relatives, Dr. Webb, Dr. Peggs, the Chelsea Hospital staff, and the people of Covenant Church. We appreciate all the expressions of love, prayers and best wishes extended to us. It is our prayer that God may bless each of you.

Special Ed Students Survive Camping Trip

By Nancy Cooper

Special Education classes from Chelsea and Dexter High had some real excitement on their recent camping trip. The kids called it excitement, the chaperones called it disaster.

The bad news started last Monday, the day the group left Chelsea. It took 4 1/2 hours to get to Muskegon because of bus problems. The bus was only getting three miles per gallon and wouldn't go over 45 miles per hour, even slower on any kind of an incline.

The two classes played Muskegon county in softball and lost, 12-8, despite some fine pitching by Brian Shinnault and great hitting by Jay Curry and Bryan Santore.

All went well while setting up camp at Mears State Park near Pentwater. Tuesday was spent riding dune scooters at Silver Lake and hiking the dunes. The disaster came Tuesday night in the form of a thunderstorm off Lake Michigan. Three of the four tents collapsed in deep puddles. Everything was soaked, clothes and sleeping bags. The group was cold and wet. It was only 35 degrees outside. Even worse, the bus was dead and wouldn't start to warm the kids up.

At that point it was time to get help. Some fishermen tried to assist and got their four-wheel drive truck stuck in the sand. It was fast becoming a comedy of errors. Finally, the local police came and helped get us to a church where we could sort out all the wet clothes. One teacher spent eight hours at the laundry drying wet sleeping bags and clothes.

On Wednesday night the frost was coming, so the group elected to sleep at the local Catholic church, St. Vincent's. It was warm and dry. The Chelsea-Dexter group became local celebrities. We were interviewed by the Ludington paper and the Oceana County News.

People bent over backwards to help us. Different churches offered places to stay and even dinner, but all the group needed was to be warm and dry.

Whitmore Lake Alternative Education Plan Proposed

Plans are underway to open an alternative education program in the Whitmore Lake area for the 1983-84 school year. The initial program would involve K-4th grade students, expanding to the 8th grade level within the next three years.

The multi-age program would emphasize mastery learning in the areas of math, writing and reading. Mastery learning theory requires proficiency and accuracy of a skill before the student advances to the next skill level. Once a skill

NEAL VORUS
Cadet Neal Vorus Wins Scholarship At Military School

Gen. Eugene Scott, superintendent of Howe Military School, Howe, Ind., announced at the academy's Baccalaureate Parade on May 22, that the David D. Dunning Memorial Scholarship has been awarded to Cadet Captain Neal Vorus, son of Prof. and Mrs. William Vorus of North Lake.

The scholarship is awarded annually to the Howe senior who evidences the greatest all-around achievement as a cadet. Grades, SAT and ACT scores and military leadership and expertise are the criteria taken into account.

The memorial "recognizes the ability of a Howe cadet to effect high achievement in a brief span and challenges all Howe cadets in perpetuity to strive to be all they can."

Neal will use the scholarship next fall when he will enter the University of Michigan's College of Engineering.

Tried all the diet fads without success? Find yourself tired, moody, & nervous? Now try the Biblical approach. Presenting Drs. James & Dianna Reid at Chelsea Full Gospel Church (Lima Twp. Hall) Beginning June 1st every Wed. at 7:00 p.m.

Dr. James Reid, born in Scotland, was healed from cancer at the age of 16, under the ministry of Smith Wigglesworth. Dr. Reid was pastor of several Baptist churches in New Zealand. Then in 1958 he decided to devote all his time to the divine healing ministry of Christ. While in the U. S. he has enjoyed the experiences of bringing Christ's healing to people through a daily radio program and many pastoral activities.

Dr. Dianna Reid, founder of weight a way, has taught Physical Education and counseled in high schools for 12 years. Then for 11 years enjoyed conducting teaching & healing meetings with her husband in New Zealand and Australia. Dr. Reid lost 63 pounds and learned an effective way of losing weight plus maintaining a balanced beauty for Christ. She continues to help people lose weight and grow in faith in Jesus Christ.

Come and learn how to change fat cells into healthy ones through Christ control and not by the denials through diets. Find out why God's word mentions certain foods to abstain from. See why Christ called Himself "the bread of life," and why the word of God is likened to milk. Then watch yourself grow shapely, healthy, & spiritually. No fees or dues like "Weight Watchers". 12 week classes given on free will donations. For further information call Pastor Chuck Clemons at 475-9497 and remember "all the fat is the Lord's," Lev. 3:16.

VOLUNTEERS SOUGHT: The Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home is looking for volunteers of junior high and high school age to serve in the home's Activity Aide program. Julie Harrison (center) of 5460 Conway Rd., a senior at Chelsea High school, has been working in the program since last February.

Youth Volunteer Program Set for Methodist Home

Residents of the Chelsea United Methodist Home are looking forward to the return of junior high and high school students this summer.

The Activity Aide program, a summer student volunteer program at the home, will begin June 15.

Youths provide many important services to home residents, and help sponsor many activities, games, and events with residents.

This is an opportunity for young people to serve during the summer in a fun and interesting activity. The best part of the program is the way the old and the young are brought together.

The Activity Aide program is made possible by a grant from the Vocational Intern Program of the United Methodist Church. Julie Williams, a student at Adrian College, has been hired to co-ordinate the program. The Home Residents Association also contributes to the program. Any junior high or high school student is eligible to join by calling the home, 475-8633.

Acne—A Marvelous New Treatment

Editor's Note: Charles N. Ellis, M.D., a dermatologist at Chelsea Community Hospital and assistant professor of dermatology at the University of Michigan, is a medical researcher into the causes and treatment of acne (pimples). In this report, he discusses a brand new therapy for acne as well as general information on the subject. Dr. Ellis may be consulted at Chelsea Community Hospital by appointment by calling 475-1311 ext. 340.

By Charles N. Ellis, M.D.

A marvelous new treatment for severe acne recently became available under a doctor's prescription called Accutane. This new medication is a pill that resolves the cysts and nodules of very bad acne in most instances.

Before going into further detail, let me explain acne. Acne comes in various shapes and sizes. Most of us are familiar with pimples, the hallmark of acne. Pimples are usually called whiteheads or blackheads. Blackheads represent the visible plug seen in the opening of oil glands (the pores) of the face.

The dark color is caused by dried out oil and color from the skin. It is not dirt and can't be washed away. Whiteheads are similar but a little swollen tuft of skin over the pore gives the white color. Some acne sufferers have a lot of whiteheads or blackheads and some have only a few.

Another type of acne pimple has a lot of pus in it, the pus is trapped beneath the surface of the skin. These are called papules and pustules by doctors. They go by many different names among teen-agers.

The worst kind of acne occurs when large collections of pus become walled-off into large compartments under the skin. These are called cysts and nodules and represent very severe acne.

The larger acne lesions may cause scarring. Scars are permanent and can only be removed by surgery or other special techniques. Smaller acne pimples do not usually scar. However, picking acne pimples with the fingernails usually makes the pimple larger and then it could scar. Picking also increases the risk of an infection of the skin. Therefore, people with acne should not pick at their skin.

Nobody knows what causes acne. The hormones of the body that increase during adolescence play an important role. That is why acne is usually a teen-ager's problem. However, younger and older people can have acne or similar rashes. When the hormone level increases, the pore gets smaller and can get plugged, causing acne. Many people believe acne is an infection but this is not true. Acne cannot be given from one person to another. Many times, though, bad acne will run in a family because there is a genetic (familia) trend. For some people, certain foods make acne worse. But most people's acne is not affected by their diet. During times of emotional stress or during the menstrual period, acne may flare dramatically.

Most teen-agers can take care of their acne without a visit to the doctor. There are excellent non-prescription medicines available. The ones that work best contain benzoyl peroxide. Your pharmacist can suggest some favorites. No matter what treatment is used, it must be used consistently. Acne therapy is designed to prevent pimples, so the treatment must be used regularly over all the skin that gets pimples. For some people this includes the back or chest as well as the face.

With any treatment, acne may get a little worse before it gets better. Improvement may not occur for up to a month so the acne sufferer must be patient and continue to use the treatment. If the therapy doesn't work after a good try, a physician should be consulted.

A dermatologist is a medical doctor (M.D.) who has taken three years of special training in disorders of the skin. We usually treat acne with antibiotics and "peeling agents." While it is not completely understood how these therapies work, the excellent results are well-known.

So-called peeling agents include prescription forms of benzoyl peroxide and a vitamin A-like drug called Retin-A. Both are applied to the skin and help to open the pores and prevent the blockages that cause pimples.

Antibiotics may be taken by mouth (like tetracycline) or applied directly to the skin (such as topical erythromycin). These medicines seem to cut down the redness and pus that are often a part of acne.

The latest treatment for acne is a pill called Accutane. This A. Vitamin A is dangerous when taken for long periods of time at high doses. Accutane has some risks but usually is effective over a several month period. In fact, many patients continue to get better even after the treatment is stopped. Currently the medication is restricted to patients who have very severe acne composed of nodules and cysts and who have not been helped by traditional therapies. The drug is expensive and patients taking it

PETS NEED VETS

Like children, pets need regular medical attention to stay healthy and they depend on grown-ups to see that they get it. Your professional veterinarian has the skill and education to help your cat or dog lead a long and healthy life. The veterinarian, like all health-care professionals, would rather prevent disease than cure it. He or she can give you valuable advice about diet, inoculations, spaying and neutering, and other health matters vital to your pet's well-being. Decide today to make a veterinarian part of your family health care team. For a list of veterinarians in Washtenaw County, call your Humane Society at 662-5585.

The popularity of baked potatoes is clearly illustrated by the number of fast-food restaurants specializing in baked potatoes with a wide variety of toppings. When you bake potatoes at home, choose Michigan Russett Burbanks, which are excellent for baking and frying.

Our state's farmers harvested more than 850 million pounds of potatoes last year. The Michigan Department of Agriculture values the crop at $56 million, and reports that Michigan ranked 11th among the states in production.
