Liaison Council Wants Screening of Prisoners

Ron Olmsted, head of the "Fence It Or Close It Committee" is not happy with the reaction of Perry Johnson, director of the State Department of Corrections, to a recent list of recommendations by the Cassidy Lake Liaison Council.

"He completely rejected all of the primary recommendations the council had made," Olmsted said.

Mary Beth Dettling, chairperson of the liaison council, declined to comment until the full council meets to discuss Johnson's response. She added that members of the executive committee of the council are scheduled to meet with Johnson early next week to further discuss the matter.

In an Oct. 3 letter, Johnson addressed each recommendation made by the liaison council late last month.

The council had asked that the screening procedure for new prisoners include scientific and psychological testing.

Johnson said that currently psychological tests are not able to predict escape potential. However, he said the Department of Corrections is currently researching the type of individual who is likely to walk away from a minimum security prison.

Johnson also said in his response that removing all individuals who have committed assault crimes, as the council recommended, would not significantly contribute to the solution of the walkaway problem.

The council had also asked that no convicted drug users or dealers be lodged at Cassidy Lake.

"This group of offenders probably poses the least risk to the community," Johnson said. "Contrary to public perception, they are normally non-violent."

Johnson said the commission could receive a quarterly report on population and the number of escapes from Cassidy Lake. He also detailed improvements which have occurred at the prison in recent months, including: increased staffing during late evening hours and on Sundays; increased prisoner counts; a new inmate initiation program in a closely supervised area; a new radio system and added foot and car patrols around the perimeter of the prison grounds.

Johnson presented his response last Wednesday during a meeting of a senate subcommittee on corrections chaired by Sen. Lana Pollack. Olmsted, Dettling and Chelsea Chamber of Commerce Secretary Dudley Holmes, Jr., also attended the meeting.

Olmsted said Johnson's reaction to the recommendations was "unresponsive and clearly uncaring about the people of the Chelsea area."

"He seemed to think the number of walkaways is no big deal when the people here are frightened to death."

Paul Ash Named Interim Varsity Basketball Coach

Paul Ash will coach the Chelsea High school varsity basketball team this winter. His appointment was approved by the Board of Education last Monday night on recommendation of athletic director Ron Nemeth.

Ash will replace Robin Raymond, who resigned to accept the head basketball coaching job at Ann Arbor Pioneer High School. Ash tutored the Chelsea freshman cagers to a 9-3 record last year in his first experience as a coach.

"This is a fantastic opportunity for me," a jubilant Ash said, "the kind that very few people of my age and experience are offered. Believe me, I'm going to work my tail off. I see a lot of potential for this year's Chelsea basketball team, and will do my best to bring it out."

Ash, 26, lives in York township near Milan and is employed by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. A graduate of Eastern Michigan University, he played three seasons of varsity basketball there. His father coached basketball for 41 years.

"I've lived around basketball all my life," Ash said. "The game is in my blood. All I can tell you is that I'm delighted by this unexpected chance to coach a good team at a good school, and I'm going to give it my best shot. I can hardly wait to get started."

Among other things, Ash is recognized state-wide as one of the best young basketball officials to come into the game in recent years. "I think officiating is terribly important to the integrity of high school basketball, and it definitely needs to be upgraded," Ash said. "I've worked hard at improving myself and encouraging others to improve."

Ash will not have a teaching contract at Chelsea High School, and will be a "commuter coach." He will be paid according to the salary schedule for coaches at his experience level.

"It's not a lot of money," Nemeth said. "Actually, by the time he pays his commuting expenses, Paul will be doing the job as kind of a labor of love for the game."

Ash does not have a teaching certificate and would have to return to college and take several more courses to earn one. "That's certainly a possibility to consider in the future," he said. "We'll see how things go this year and then decide."

Nemeth said he selected Ash over other candidates "because he knows our program, our system and our kids. He's not going to come in here and turn everything upside down."

Other things equal, Nemeth would have preferred to select a coach from the ranks of the high school faculty, but no one qualified was available and interested. "I'm sure that Paul understands our thinking on that score," Nemeth said. "There definitely is an advantage to having faculty coaches, in terms of closer relationships with the athletes, but you can't always do that."

"At this point Paul is an interim coach on a one-year contract. We will evaluate the situation at the end of the year and decide where to go from there."

Nemeth is also looking for a junior varsity basketball coach to replace Paul Terpstra who has resigned, and a freshman coach to replace Ash. Those appointments are expected to be made later this week, and may also involve non-teachers.

Raymond, meanwhile, will likewise be a commuting coach. He will continue to teach mathematics at Chelsea while handling his basketball duties at Ann Arbor Pioneer, at least until a suitable teaching position opens up for him in Ann Arbor.

For some unknown reason Raymond's Pioneer appointment has never been officially announced by the Ann Arbor Board of Education, although that is considered to be a formality. The Ann Arbor board has been preoccupied with a teachers' strike and selection of a new superintendent.

Raymond is passing along to Ash considerable material to work with. Seven veterans will return from the Bulldog team which was 14-3 last season, shared the Southeastern Conference championship, and lost in the district finals to Jackson

Lumen Christi on the latter's home floor.

"Robin certainly isn't leaving the cupboard bare," Ash said. "We've got some fine players coming back, and some more coming along. It's going to be up to me to accomplish something with them. Like I said, I can hardly wait to start."

School Board Votes Against Summer Tax Collection This Year

Residents of Chelsea school district won't be asked to pay summer taxes in 1984.

The Board of Education voted Monday night not to levy the July collection next year. However, the issue may resurface in 1985.

The board decided against a summer levy on the recommendation of the finance committee and Fred Mills, assistant superintendent for finance.

The issue met with opposition from several township supervisors, who said a summer collection would be costly and prove a hardship for area residents, during a Sept. 19 public hearing on the matter.

Bike-A-Thon Scheduled for Next Sunday

St. Jude's Childrens Hospital is the largest childhood cancer research center in the world. Currently more than 4,000 children are under treatment at St. Jude's Hospital. These life saving programs cost an estimated $126,000 per day according to sources.

St. Jude's Childrens Hospital needs the support from the community of Chelsea to help continue this research. Riders with sponsors will ride in the "Wheels for Life" Bike-A-Thon on Sunday, Oct. 23 from 12 noon until 5 p.m. at the Chrysler Proving Grounds.

Prizes for the top money raisers will include a 10-speed bike, stereo/cassette recorder, walkman radio, AM/FM headphones, backpacks along with St. Jude T-shirts and tote-bags.

Superintendent Ray Van Meer said that the board was acting on the behalf of local citizens when making its decision.

"We examined the issue and decided not to make a collection in deference to the community," he said. "Another day there may be some other decision."

The Manchester board of education also decided Monday night not to levy a summer tax in 1984. Eight other districts in the county have voted to hold the tax collection next year, Van Meer said.

United Way Campaign Seeks $59,000

The contribution goals are in—now Chelsea United Way volunteers hope they are fulfilled.

The goal for the 1983 fund drive, now in its third week, is $59,000. Individual goals have been set for factories, organizations, schools and other groups. The breakdown is:

- Heavy industry, including BookCrafters, Chelsea Milling, Chrysler, Dana and Federal Screw: $19,500.
- Commercial: $10,000.
- Residential mail campaign: $8,000.
- Washtenaw United Fund: $6,000.
- Chelsea Community Hospital: $4,000.
- Chelsea area schools: $4,000.
- Detroit United Fund: $3,500.
- Professionals: $2,500.
- Area organizations: $500.
- Miscellaneous: $1,000.

Bob Porter, area chairperson for the drive, said this year's over-all goal, while $13,000 more than last year, should be attainable.

The majority of the money raised through the drive will benefit five local agencies; the Chelsea Home Meal Service, the Chelsea Social Service, Chelsea Area Transportation Service, Chelsea Recreation Council and the Parent to Parent Program.

The Parent to Parent Program, part of the Faith in Action program, was accepted as a United Way member this year, Porter said.

The general purpose of the program is to prevent unhealthy parenting strategies and to work with families who have abused or feel they have the potential to abuse their children. Parents are visited in their homes and instructed in child development, parenting skills, the use of community resources and parent/child relationships.

The United Way drive will run through the end of the month.

Football Field Ready for Home Games

Barring major catastrophes the Chelsea Bulldog gridgers should be playing on home turf Friday night for the first time this season.

Athletic Director Ron Nemeth was optimistic that the dark cloud which seems to have been hovering over the football field has passed and that this week's game with Milan and next week's Homecoming game against Mason could be played here.

With the light poles and scoreboard erected and operable and the football field needing only "patch work" Nemeth said only a "massive catastrophe" could change plans now.

PRIZE PUFFBALL: Walking through the woods can be beneficial. Steve Robbins of Chelsea found this 4 pound, 3 ounce monster puffball while on a trek through a wooded area in Lima township last week.

Governor Outlines Program For Economic Growth
Governor James Blanchard recently outlined 20 areas that constitute his framework for long-term economic growth in Michigan.

In announcing his program to a joint session of the Legislature, the governor said his program, most of which was first raised in conceptual form in last year's election campaign, will help to "pioneer the economy of the 21st century by building and rebuilding, moving Michigan ahead."

None of the initiatives are yet complete enough to be discussed in specifics, aides said, but Commerce Director Ralph Gerson said they would be released in "excruciating detail" in the weeks and months ahead.

Gerson said all the programs—about three-fourths of them require legislative approval—would be introduced yet this year, but the governor does not have a timetable for their enactment.

Blanchard said his plan represents "a three-part formula for rebuilding our state's competitive strength." That includes investment in job training, public facilities and businesses; a commitment to quality and efficiency; and a commitment to co-operation, he said.

The governor said Michigan must respond to challenges not just from other states and regions, but from all over the world. "The challenge that is Michigan's is the challenge of America—to meet and beat the competition in the marketplace of the world," he said.

The governor's program, which aides said amounts to putting his agenda into a "conceptual framework," includes, among other things, an announcement this month to turn welfare spending into a "workfare investment" offering work as an opportunity, not punishment.

Other proposals include securities regulation reform to make it easier for business, particularly small and emerging ones, to raise capital; the removal of legislative barriers to make it easier for franchisors to come to Michigan in part by shifting the franchise fee from those entities which operate in the state to the out-of-state franchising company; the in-progress work to streamline the processing of worker's compensation cases.

Because of structural changes in the state economy, the governor's plan covers efforts for diversification including a proposal for aiding forest products industries, assistance for food processing and to encourage auto suppliers to locate and expand in Michigan, sponsoring a state-wide tourism conference and working with business and environmental groups to cut the cost of complying with environmental regulations while maintaining standards.

Gerson said although the governor in drawing together those ideas has not really said much that is new, the economic program reflects the governor's conclusions, following summer-long discussions, as to which areas can best be targeted for growth.

Aides said the details of the programs will be announced in several steps, frequently in appearances before groups which have helped develop the proposals.

Peter Plastrik, director of the governor's cabinet council on jobs and economic development, said the range of proposals represents the second phase of the governor's economic development program, following the short-term summer jobs and public works program begun earlier this year and the Strategic Investment Fund Proposal now being developed in the Legislature.

Man Charged With Indecent Exposure

A Manchester man is awaiting arraignment on charges of indecent exposure following two recent incidents involving Chelsea elementary school students.

Chelsea Police Chief Robert Aello said officers spent several days trying to apprehend the suspect after two complaints regarding a man in a pick-up truck.

In the first incident, reported Sept. 29, Aello said a nude man in a truck honked his horn at two children walking home on E. Summit St. from South Elementary school. The second incident, which took place near Chandler and Garfield, was very similar, he said.

Police officers waited in the area as school was let out for several days, hoping to apprehend the suspect. On Friday, Oct. 7, the mother of one of the children involved in the incidents told police she had seen the suspect in the area. He was taken into custody a short time later. The suspect was nude from the waist down when apprehended, Aello said.

He was lodged briefly in the Washtenaw County Jail but is now out on bond. His name is being withheld pending arraignment.

The decline in the number of persons who worked part or all of 1982, coupled with the continued growth of the population of working age persons, brought about a further drop in the proportion of the population with some employment during the year, according to the annual work experience survey reported by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

ON YOUR FEET

FOOT SWELLING DURING PREGNANCY

Because your feet will probably swell occasionally while you are pregnant, special care should be taken in selecting comfortable shoes that allow for this. They should fit snugly at the heel for stability in walking, but the leather across the top of the shoe should be loose enough to ripple as you roll your finger across it. Make sure the shoe is not too small, and avoid plastic, patent leather, or reptile shoes. They lack flexibility and are not porous enough to allow for sweating and "breathing." Your best choice is a soft lightweight leather, suede or fabric in an oxford style shoe with rubber heels. For dress-up occasions you might want to select a low-heeled step-in shoe, but the important thing to keep in mind is stability. You want to avoid any chance of falling. You also want to avoid any foot problems that may cause discomfort and other health problems during pregnancy. Maintaining good foot function not only increases your comfort but helps maintain proper circulation in your feet, legs, and throughout your body.

FUNERAL HOME

WHAT OFFICIAL INFORMATION ABOUT ME MIGHT I EVER NEED?

When accurate information is needed to fill out forms and announcements, it is often hard to locate or remember. You need all sorts of information when you marry, buy insurance, apply for credit or a job, and yes, even when death occurs.

It is wise to prepare such a total record now and keep it in a safe place . . . not in a safety deposit box because they are usually locked until after the funeral, but rather in a locked drawer of your desk. Do, however, inform your spouse of where this information may be found.

Information most often needed includes: 1) full name, address, Social Security number, armed forces serial number, 2) birthdate and place, 3) blood type, 4) employer records, 5) name of father's and mother's birthplace and date, 6) names of organizations and publications to be notified, 7) location of important documents, 8) any special funeral preferences or pre-arrangements, 9) pre-arranged donation of eyes or body organs, 10) names and addresses of all persons to be notified of your death.

Home-Made Soup Workshop Offered

Hearty home-made soups are not only warming and satisfying, but can be a delicious contribution to a healthy diet. Best of all, they are the ideal way to use up all of those odds and ends that are left over from normal cooking. Chelsea Community Education is offering a three-hour workshop called "It's Soupl," which will focus on making flavorful soup bases. The workshop will meet on Saturday, Oct. 29 in the home economics room at the Chelsea High school.

Teresa Freed, editor of "The Foodletter," will help participants make a large pot of stock and several types of vegetable based soups. Participants will learn how easy it really is to create a thick flavorful soup, and will find that it is much healthier and more economical to make home-made soups rather than to rely on overly processed canned soups.

You may register for the workshop by calling the Chelsea Community Education offices at 475-9830. The fee is $7 per person, and recipe reprints will be included.

The Committee To Fence Or Close Cassidy Lake Prison

NOT GOOD NEWS.

The Department of Corrections has rejected most of the Cassidy Lake Community Liaison Council recommendations. The Liaison Council had recommended to have at Cassidy Lake only offenders whose committed and convicted crimes are non-assaultive and non-drug related; to improve psychological screening; to rescreen all prisoners now at Cassidy Lake. The Department of Corrections rejected all of these recommendations. Thanks to Senator Lana Pollack, Corrections Director Perry Johnson will meet with the Liaison Council this week to further discuss problems.

This rejection is damning proof of how the Department of Corrections feels about the people of the Chelsea area. They think they don't have to care!

We have to make them care! The issue is that there must be MINIMUM security prisoners at Cassidy Lake and they must be KEPT there. And this is realizable.

Senator Lana Pollack is being very responsive. At her invitation, several of us testified before her Senate Appropriations Sub-committee on Corrections on October 12th. A good if not disturbing session.

At that meeting, Corrections Director, Perry Johnson, admitted that fencing Cassidy Lake would not necessarily change the kind of prisoner there or raise it to a medium security facility. At last some non-scare tactics. Again, thanks to Sen. Pollack.

Corrections Director Perry Johnson didn't seem to be too concerned about the number of walkaways. Again, the whole business of playing percentages with the people of the Chelsea area.

We need to make Perry Johnson concerned.

We must continue writing letters and clipping news articles. It will work. We've got their attention. Now we must convince them to be responsive.

Write and Clip! Just because you get a form letter reply doesn't mean they don't hear you. Your views count!

Write and keep writing! Once won't be enough!

COMMITTEE TO FENCE OR CLOSE CASSIDY LAKE PRISON

P. O. Box 43 - Chelsea, Michigan 48118

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

Bill Mullendore

How much government regulation is too much?

That's a delicate question which may never be answered perfectly because it involves value judgments which just about every person makes differently.

The issue has arisen in Chelsea because of differences over how the village zoning code should be enforced. It came to a head following a protest by BookCrafters that the planning commission was placing unnecessary obstacles in the way of a new parking lot that the printing firm wants to establish. That wrangle has been going on for several weeks and is still unresolved.

There were rumblings before that, and there will be more to come.

The village enforced its zoning laws rigidly earlier this year and as a result lost Tregets Tool & Engineering Co., which moved out of town to Jackson rather than continue to press its fight for rezoning of a site on Old US-12 at the west edge of the village.

The proposed development of a multiple-dwelling housing complex on the Salter tract east of Wilkinson St. is certain to be opposed by citizens who fear an increase of vehicle traffic that they believe would jeopardize their peace of mind and property values.

A wholesale produce firm has put out feelers on locating in Chelsea's new industrial park, but indicates the enterprise would involve movement of 40 or so semi-trucks through the village daily. People are not going to like the idea of adding to the already very heavy traffic on M-52 (Main St.).

At the Oct. 4 council meeting, the suggestion was made that the village should throw out its "green book," the two-inch-thick volume of compiled zoning ordinances that has been accumulated since 1966 and, in effect, let anything happen that will.

That won't occur, but the council and the planning commission did schedule a special joint meeting last week to discuss what can be done to loosen up the strings on development while still maintaining some control over it.

A part of the problem is that the zoning ordinances were established during prosperous times, when Chelsea enjoyed a healthy industrial economy and seemed destined to go on growing forever. During the years since, the village has lost much of its industry base, along with 1,200 jobs, and is just now waking up to the fact that it needs to act vigorously to save itself.

It is easy—too easy—to make the zoning code a scapegoat. The local zoning laws aren't what drove industry out of Chelsea. Industry left for a variety of economic reasons, most of them having to do with Michigan's unfavorable business climate as compared to advantages offered by other states.

Zoning is a necessary evil, and that perhaps is the most charitable way to describe it. Its virtue is that it preserves the integrity of neighborhoods and therefore the values of property. Unrestricted business and commercial development without zoning curbs can create some ugly messes. As examples, take a look at W. Stadium Blvd., E. Washtenaw Ave. and Jackson Rd. in Ann Arbor. They are zoos, eyecore monstrosities that should never have been permitted to happen.

Nor are zoning ordinances of any value if every request for a variance from them is routinely granted. The pressure to do just that is strong right now in Chelsea as it grasps to regain its economic health.

I could argue a case that Chelsea is, in some ways, over-regulated. The foremost example I can think of is the requirement that a public hearing has to be held every time some such organization as the United Way, Community Fair, service club or church wants to stretch a banner across Main St. to advertise an event. That is ridiculous. If decisions of that routine sort can't be made administratively, then there is something badly wrong with the village's system of government.

The procedures for approving site plans for new developments and improvements to old properties unquestionably need to be streamlined and speeded up. It takes the village government far too long to deliver a decision. Too many delays have been built into the system.

It would be a mistake, however, to junk the zoning code and try to proceed without an established body of rules and procedures. That would inevitably lead to undesirable development to be passed on for future generations to regret and try to correct.

There is a happy medium somewhere, and it's up to the council, planning commission and village administrators to seek it out. That won't be easy. There aren't any hard and fast rules, only judgments.

Charlie Koenn Attends 4-H Dairy Conference

Charlie Koenn, son of Charles and Margot Koenn of Hayes Rd., Chelsea, attended the 29th annual National 4-H Dairy Conference at Madison, Wis., Oct. 4-7. He was among some 200 4-H'ers from 30 states and Canada participating. Charlie was sponsored by MMPA (Michigan Milk Producers Association). He was one of seven chosen from over 100 high school candidates. They (the finalists) were chosen by a process of testing and personal interviews based on their knowledge of milk marketing and dairy farming plus their 4-H dairy projects, to represent the state of Michigan.

Delegates attended workshops and sessions on dairy topics such as production, marketing, promotion and nutrition. In addition, workshops focused on computers, farm management and financial planning, group dynamics and interpersonal relationships.

Special guest speaker at the conference was 4-H alumnus

Charlie Plumb, journalist and former Vietnam prisoner of war.

Participants also toured Hoard's Dairyman magazine and farm, American Breeders Service, Inc., and World Dairy Expo. A highlight for Koenn was when he was chosen to sit at the head table and lead the pledge at one of the dinners.

Parking Meter Violations Usually Paid Promptly

Chelsea Police Chief Aello has stated that the fines for meter violations and parking violations are different. Meter violations tickets fines are $1 and in Chief Aello's report of September to the village council on Oct. 4, 334 meter violation tickets were issued and 312 had been paid by Sept. 31. Meter violations fines have 95% prompt payment and the remaining 5% are usually collected with late payments.

Parking violation ticket fines are $5 or $10 and are issued for improper parking on streets, crosswalks, parking in wrong directions, parking in "no parking" zones, etc.

Parking violation fine issued for handicap parking area is $50. To park in handicap area your automobile or vehicle must have a permit sticker on the license plate which has been issued by the State of Michigan or your home state permit sticker.

Rodney Grames Rescues Two from Drowning

Rodney Grames heard the shouts of "Help! Help!" about 50 yards on North Lake and saw two swimmers coming to shore shouting that their canoe overturned and there were two more under the canoe almost frozen and could not swim.

Rodney, with assistance of his father, ran behind his cottage for his boat they had stored away for the winter, and carried it on their shoulders to the lake. There Rodney quickly rowed out in the dark about 8:30 p.m. Saturday night, Oct. 8, and found two victims frantically holding onto the canoe.

Rodney, 200 lbs. and strong, grabbed the one 24-year-old and pulled him up into the boat. He was later identified as Mark Logan, son of Dr. Robert Logan (Santa Barbara, Calif.) and grandson to Dr. R. Logan. Next, Rodney pulled out of the water. Mark's girl friend, name unknown. Both of their breathing was shallow, and both were cyanotic and numb.

Rodney quickly rowed them to his cottage, where he carried them into the cottage and got blankets for them, covered them warmly, and his parents made them warm coffee. About one hour later, Grames drove them back to the cottage of their grandfather, Dr. R. Logan on North Lake.

On Sunday, Oct. 8, parents of Mark, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Logan came to meet Rodney and his parents. They stated they were back to attend the U. of M. 25-year medical reunion from their home town in California and wanted to thank Rodney and his parents for saving their son's life.

About an hour later, Mark Logan, also stopped into Webb's Apple Orchard as he was going back to Medical School in Cleveland and he also hugged Rodney and his parents. He was so grateful to Rodney for saving his life. He told him he would never forget him. Rodney gave Mark a large bag of Red Delicious apples to take back with him to college.

Rodney Grames, 18 years old, is the son of Lester and Joyce Grames, owners of Webb's North Lake Apple Orchard. Rodney is a senior in high school and plans to enter college next year. He stated that this was the happiest and most rewarding experience of his entire life.

Letters to the Editor

Editor's Note: The following letter has been sent to Gov. Blanchard, Sen. Pollack, Rep. O'Connor and Corrections Dept. Director Perry Johnson.

Dear Governor Blanchard:

The enclosed news articles have prompted me to write this letter. I have recently purchased land north of Chelsea and intended to build a home there. The content of the articles really has given me second thoughts about the safety of my family, should I build as planned.

I have been aware of the Cassidy Lake facility for a long time, and in years past, I have even played softball and basketball against the residents. I was always under the impression that the inmates were not hard-core criminals, but rather teens who committed a not-so-serious crime and were sent to Cassidy Lake so as not to be exposed to the hard-core elements at Jackson Prison.

The recent rash of escapes or walkaways as the media tends to say, has me very upset. Not only is the facility over-crowded, but it is housing the more serious criminal types. I am sure the original idea of a minimum security prison like Cassidy Lake was well intended, but now that the harder-core criminals are being housed there, the ease and frequency of escapes is terrifying. Sooner or later someone is going to be seriously hurt or killed. Whether it is a prisoner because the people living in the area are scared to death or an innocent citizen because the criminal knows he has nothing more to lose. It is still a death.

I urge you to seriously consider tightening the security of Cassidy Lake by fencing it and by providing armed guards to help prevent these escapes. Continuing to operate Cassidy Lake as it is now can only result in a needless tragedy. I urge you to act now and initiate the processes to make Cassidy Lake a secure institution for the inmates and to provide the kind of continuing security that will give the residents of the surrounding areas, present and future, the peace of mind to want to live there.

It is much wiser to take informed preventive action now than to make hasty reactions after a needless tragedy.

Sincerely,
Dudley K. Holmes, Jr.

To the Editor,

As parents of a medical student who very nearly drowned in North Lake Saturday evening we would like to express gratitude to Rodney Grames and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Grames.

Rodney fetched a boat from across the road and quickly rowed out in the dark to rescue our son, Mark, and his nurse friend, Natalie Jones, who were clinging to a capsized canoe. They were too weak to swim or call for help after over 20 minutes in the water.

Lessons to youth:

1. Wear life preservers at all times.
2. Don't necessarily stay with the boat in icy cold water.
3. Shout for help immediately, don't wait until you're desperate.
4. Find a family with a hot fire and blankets and compassion to rescue you!

We worshipped Sunday morning at your lovely North Lake Methodist church. We sang "I Would Be True for There Are Those Who Care." We said a special prayer of thanks for the reality of this song.

Hospital Children's Center Yard Sale Was Successful

The yard sale held at Chelsea Community Hospital Children's Center last Thursday was a success! Shoppers found many bargains; families got rid of extra items and enough money was raised to add a slide to the Center's new playground structure.

The new wooden climbing structure, complete with tire swing, was made possible through other fund-raising events held during the past year. Handy volunteers from St. Paul church, where the center is located, constructed the climber in two evenings. Watch for the new slide to be up soon!

Colleen Arnold, Carol Bacon, Mary Ellen Miller and Renee Warren and the Children's Center enthusiastic staff helped at the yard sale.

Those helping build the new climbing structure included Julius Blaess, Don Curtis, Don Keezer, Erv Koch, Ray Knickerbocker, Norm and Erma O'Connor, and Mel Seitz. Bill Wetzel and Leroy Laubengayer helped with the planning. Chad Janicevic and crew and Patty Kubany from Chelsea Community Hospital also helped.

VFW Auxiliary Notes . . .

VFW Auxiliary No. 4076 held the regular monthly meeting Monday, Oct. 10, with 11 members in attendance. Hospital chairman Lucy Platt reported on the annual picnic held for the VA Hospital patients last August. A halloween party will be held at Ypsi State Hospital Oct. 25, and a party is scheduled at the VA Hospital on Nov. 29.

National Home chairman reported four more cottages have been reopened at the Eaton Rapids facility. There are now 92 children in residence.

A total of seven citations and merit awards were received by the local auxiliary at the sixth district meeting held in September. Two were received by Lucy Platt for her participation in volunteer work at the VA Hospital.

Because of resignations of officers, elections were held for a conductress, and two-year trustee. Following elections past president Eulahee Packard installed Dorothy Lentz as secretary, Marien Johnson as conductress, and Joan Taft as two-year trustee.

The group voted in lieu of passing out candy for tricks and treats, as in past years, a check for $35 was allowed for St. Louis school for their use.

The health and happiness quota was allowed for department at $2 per member. This money is used for the children at the national home.

A complete flag set is to be purchased in co-operation with the Post for the Washtenaw County Jury room, also three Cub Scout troops are to receive flags in the local area. Legislative chairman Norma Seyfried reported a representative of Senator Carl Levin will be present in Chelsea at the village office on Nov. 19, from 4 to 5 p.m. This visit will be for input as how the public feels about the shooting down of a Korean airliner killing 269 men, women and children, as to punishment, and on how the country should handle the situation.

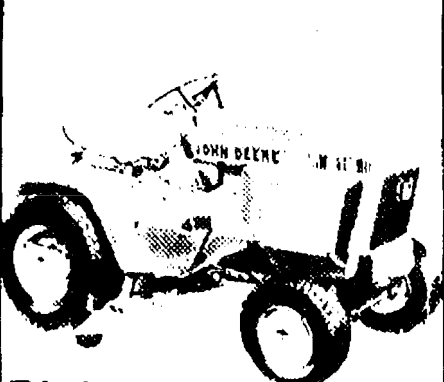

The president, Mary Erskine, announced the Nov. 14 meeting will be an Auxiliary inspection meeting with all officers and chairman who are to be present by 7 p.m. with notebooks. The Auxiliary's annual bazaar will be held on Nov. 18, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The next regular meeting will be in the VFW Hall on Nov. 14.

Cancer Institute Confirms Findings of Chelsea Doctors

New reports from the National Cancer Institute back up recent findings and guidelines dealing with detecting breast cancer presented by Chelsea physicians Dr. Carole Tsou and Dr. Sarah Fox at an assembly of Michigan physicians in July.

The two local physicians, from the U. of M. Family Practice Center, presented their findings in Traverse City at the Annual Scientific Assembly of the Michigan Academy of Family Physicians.

The Cancer Institute published its findings, which coincide with those of the local physicians, in the July/August issue of the Journal CA.

The guidelines are: monthly breast self examination starting at age 20; physical examination of the breasts by a physician every three years between 20 and 40 and once a year thereafter.

A baseline mammogram between the ages 35 and 40 followed by annual or biennial mammograms from ages 40 through 50 and annual mammograms thereafter.

The new recommendations come at a time of a rising incidence of breast cancer, according to Peggy L. Alford, administrative assistant at the Dept. of Family Practice. Seven years ago one in thirteen women developed the disease during her lifetime. Today, one in eleven will develop the disease.

Although the rate of incidence has increased, the mortality rate is expected to decrease because of recent improvements in breast cancer treatment as well as early detection, she said.

Mammography is now highly recommended because radiation doses used have been dramatically reduced in recent years, Alford said. Experts agree that the risk of developing breast cancer from mammography itself, is negligible, she added. It is considered the most effective method of detecting early breast cancer in younger women.

Dr. Tsou is in her final year of residency at the Family Practice Center. Dr. Fox is an instructor in behavioral aspects of medicine at the Center.

School Board Gives Special Recognition

Three people and two organizations were given special recognition by the Chelsea Board of Education Monday for their outstanding contributions to the school district.

"We hope to make the recognition a regular part of our board meeting whenever it is possible," Superintendent Ray Van Meer said. "We have students and staff members doing neat things and this is just our way to say 'thank you.'"

South school third grade teacher Sandy Hamilton was one of the people honored Monday night. Hamilton was recognized for her work organizing Hobby and Craft Day in June. In addition she recently organized a school-wide balloon project, in which every student released a helium balloon with their name and address attached, hoping to receive letters from whoever finds the missives.

Judy Irwin, a South school mother, was recognized for painting the playground equipment at

Chelsea Student Involved in NMU Stage Production

Mary Markle, daughter of James and Patricia Markle, 17476 Cavanaugh Lake Rd., was the assistant director of the Forest Roberts Theatre production of "The Real Inspector Hound" at Northern Michigan University.

Markle is a sophomore majoring in theatre at NMU and has been involved in two previous NMU productions.

"The Real Inspector Hound" is a melange of mystery and mayhem. This play-within-a-play is the second production of the 1983-1984 season at the Forest Roberts Theatre. The play ran through Oct. 8.

Helicopter Helps Search For Woman

A tragedy was averted recently when members of the Chelsea Police Department were aided by the Washtenaw County Sheriff's department helicopter in finding an 87-year-old woman reported missing from the Chelsea Methodist Home.

Chelsea Police Chief Robert Aeillo said the operator of the helicopter located the woman lying in tall weeds west of the home at about 10:14 p.m., Sept. 29, a little over an hour after she was reported missing.

Because of the height of the weeds, police officers from Chelsea and the sheriff's department who were searching the area around the home probably would not have been able to see the woman, Aeillo said.

"We appreciate the assistance from the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, and everyone else involved in searching for her," he said. "We could have had a tragedy on our hands if she hadn't been located."

Aeillo said the woman appeared confused but was physically unharmed.

During fiscal year 1982 the Women's Bureau of the U. S. Labor Department updated two statistical fact sheets—"20 Facts on Women Workers" and "The Economic Responsibilities of Working Women." Another major effort during the year was the updating of the Handbook on Women Workers, according to the department's annual report.

HOUSE RAZING: This was the scene recently as the house south of Palmer Ford, Inc., on Main St. was torn down to provide additional auto display space.

Historic House Demolished

The recently demolished old Main St. home, located just south of Palmer Ford, Inc., had a lot of history within its walls.

The house was built in 1886 by 24-year-old Lima township resident Charles E. Whitaker. On Nov. 4 of the same year he married local resident Anna Clark.

Whitaker, a traveling salesperson for a Detroit hardware company, and his wife lived in the house all of their married lives. He died in 1910 at age 48. His wife continued to live in the house until her death at age 92 in 1946.

In subsequent years the building housed apartments as well as a restaurant.

It was recently purchased from Richard Kolander by Palmer Ford.

British Genealogy Workshop Slated

Eakle, M.A., professional genealogist from Salt Lake City, U. The workshop will be held from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at Weber's Inn, 3050 Jackson Rd., Ann Arbor. Ms. Eakle will also lead a Beginners' Genealogical Workshop, Friday, Oct. 28, 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m., at the Ann Arbor Public Library.

Ms. Eakle, holder of an M.A. in British History, is a past president of the Association of Professional Genealogists, and president of the Genealogical Institute in Salt Lake City. She is a noted lecturer and author whose most recent publication, co-authored with William Thorndale, is Section 1 of "The Source: A Guidebook of American Genealogy."

Topics featured at the British Workshop will be "Getting your British research data from the comfort of your own home;" "How to search basic British sources;" and "How to find your British ancestors' specific places of origin." The Beginners' Workshop Friday evening is designed for those who need precise direction in starting research on their family trees, organizing data, and compiling a finished, properly documented family history. Ms. Eakle will also advise more advanced genealogists who seem to have reached a "stone wall" in their research.

Registration fee for the British Workshop is $20. (Price of luncheon is included.) Fee for the Beginners' Workshop is $5 ($3 for those attending the British Workshop). Send registrations with checks payable to the Genealogical Society of Washtenaw County, to: Anne Holland, 111 Golfview Lane, Ann Arbor 48103. Farm Bureau Asks ABC for Equal Time Calling ABC's Nightline presentation of the migrant farm labor problem "outrageously one-sided," American Farm Bureau Federation President Robert Delano has asked the network for the opportunity to respond on behalf of 700,000 farm employers, "99% of whom are honest and fair." Delano told the program's producer that "to represent the shoddy operation of one farm labor contractor as typical of thousands of others is shoddy journalism."

Marching Band Earns Top Rating

"The Pride of Chelsea" marching band has reason to be proud. Of 12 schools competing in a recent marching band competition, Chelsea was one of only two bands to receive straight First Division Superior ratings. The other band to receive only First Division scores was Class AA John Glenn High school.

Chelsea performed four numbers in a 10-minute show at the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association District 12 Marching Band Festival, directed by William Gourley said. They were judged on showmanship, the design and performance of the show; marching and their choice of music.

HUNTING SAFETY—In a safety lecture at the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club, Jerry Craft holds an unloaded shotgun under one hand and a box of shells far apart in the other hand as he emphasized the importance of always storing the gun and its ammunition in well-separated places.

Rod & Gun Club Lists Gun Safety Rules

- With the approach of the Michigan deer hunting season, every hunter should faithfully review the basic rules of gun safety even though he has done so 20 times before. Jerry Craft, who heads the gun safety program of the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club, offers this advice, and adds the reminder that most gun accidents happen in the home.
- As part of the club's community-wide education program Craft repeats the famous "Ten Commandments of Hunting":
1. Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded firearm.
 2. Watch that muzzle! Be able to control the direction of the muzzle even if you should stumble.
 3. Be sure the barrel and action are clear of obstructions and that you have only ammunition of the proper size for the gun you are carrying.
 4. Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger; know identifying features of the game you hunt.
 5. Unload guns when not in use. Take down or have actions open; guns should be carried in cases to the shooting area.
 6. Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot; avoid horseplay with a firearm.
 7. Never climb a fence or tree or jump a ditch with a loaded gun; never pull a gun toward you by the muzzle.
 8. Never shoot a bullet at a flat, hard surface or water; at target practice be sure your backstop is adequate.
 9. Store guns and ammunition separately—beyond the reach of children and careless adults.
 10. Avoid alcoholic beverages before and during shooting.
- In addition, Craft repeats tips on responsible hunting which are advocated by the Washtenaw Soil Conservation District, the Michigan DNR and the Michigan United Conservation Clubs:
- Have written permission to hunt on private lands.
 - Respect the landowner, his land and property.

Bulldogs Play Well in 29-14 Victory Over Tecumseh

Chelsea's chances for a winning varsity football season took a sharp turn for the better last Saturday night as the Bulldogs soundly whipped Tecumseh, 29-14, in the last of the "home" games to be played at Dexter this fall.

It was by far the best over-all performance for the Bulldogs this season as they piled up more than 400 yards in total offense against a scrappy and tough Tecumseh team, scored four touchdowns and lost a fifth because of a penalty, and were scored on only because of a couple of mistakes.

Getting better with every game, quarterback Marty Steinhauer had an excellent night as he completed 14 of 22 passing attempts for 205 yards and two touchdowns and ran for 24 more, three times turning apparent sacks into gains by scrambling at the right time.

Wide receiver Dave Walter caught five passes, including a 44-yard touchdown bomb. David Steinhauer, Marty's brother who plays at tight end, had a TD reception. Running backs Jay Marshall and Scott Miller accounted for the other two six-pointers, and Rich Slater was three-for-three on extra-point attempts.

The victory evened the Bulldogs' season record at 3-3, including 2-2 in the Southeastern Conference. While Chelsea has been mathematically eliminated from the race for the SEC title, which it shared with Milan in 1982, it has the opportunity to improve on last season's 5-4 over-all record with wins in the final three games. A 6-3 mark would not be at all bad for a team that has had to struggle for respectability and has achieved it.

For the first time this fall Chelsea jumped out to an early lead after Matt Smith recovered a fumble on the Tecumseh 48 late in the first quarter. Marty Steinhauer and Rob Beckwith contributed key first down conversions to keep the drive alive, and Marty drilled a perfect 10-yard pass to David for the touchdown. Slater's PAT made it 7-0.

Having grabbed the lead, the Bulldogs promptly gave it away. A pass interception and fine run-back turned the ball over to Tecumseh on the Chelsea 31, and the Indians were quick to take advantage of the gift. Tecumseh hadn't made a first down to that point, but the offense suddenly came alive and scored in just three plays, the last one a 17-yard burst up the middle by Eric Hoffman while the Bulldogs more or less stood around and watched. Hoffman converted for two, the Indians led, 8-7, and it began to look like it could be another one of those "might have been" games for Chelsea.

The Bulldogs weren't about to blow it, however, as they returned the ensuing kickoff to their own 34, and put together a nice blend of running and passing to march 66 yards. Marshall got the last one with just 16 seconds on the clock, and then ran for two points to make it 15-7 at the half.

The Bulldogs put up a quick score early in the second half on Marty Steinhauer's long bomb to Walter, and Slater widened the lead with an extra point to raise the tally to 22-8.

That should have put it away, but didn't, as Chelsea made another mistake which Tecumseh converted into a touchdown. Hoffman broke through to block a punt at the Bulldog 14, and teammate Tracy Clemons grabbed the loose ball and took it into the end zone. A two-point attempt was stopped, but it suddenly was anybody's ball game at 22-14.

It was the fifth punt Chelsea has had blocked in six games, and brought an expression of wonderment from coach Gene LaFave. "We've made all kinds of mistakes on punts," he said, "mostly breakdowns in blocking assignments. We're a good blocking team, but we have problems in punting situations for some reason."

The Bulldogs finally wrapped up the game after recovering a fumble on their own 45 on the last play of the third quarter. Marshall got 20 yards on a screen pass to the Tecumseh 35, then cracked up the middle to the 12. Miller took it in from there on a fine run behind good blocking on the left side. Slater again converted.

Chelsea should have had one more touchdown, and it would have been nice had Marshall scored it. He has come close to breaking a big play several times during the season, and finally did after taking a pass in the left flat and scampering 45 yards with some nifty running. The effort went for naught because of a clipping infraction that occurred five yards behind him as Marshall was crossing the goal line, nullifying the prettiest play of the game.

Despite the errors which gave

Tecumseh two touchdowns and cost Chelsea one, LaFave was happy with the result.

"We're a much improved football team over what we were at the beginning of the season," he said. "We've gained some experience and have gotten some of our injured players back. We have more weapons and can do more things. I just wish we could go back and play those three (losses) all over again."

A sour note was the loss of sophomore halfback Rob

Beckwith (see separate story) who ran brilliantly in the first half until injured and added a dimension of quickness to the Bulldog offense. Beckwith is done for the season with a broken collarbone.

Chelsea entertains Milan here Friday night in the first game to be played on the Bulldogs' "new" football field. The sod is down and rooted, the lights are up and working, and all is "go" on what should be the area's finest grid facility.

Beckwith Sidelined for Season With Injury

Rob Beckwith will remember his sophomore season as a varsity football player, but the memories will not be happy ones.

After having set all kinds of school records last year as a freshman running back—including two 99-yard scoring plays—Beckwith moved up to the varsity this fall, one of three to make the jump from frosh to varsity without going through the intermediate junior varsity experience.

Beckwith is small. He is listed in the program at 5-8 and 160 pounds, but doesn't look that big. He is strong for his size, exceptionally quick, and has learned how to hit the holes and run to daylight.

Chelsea coach Gene LaFave admits he doesn't like to use sophomores at the varsity level. "Most of them just plain aren't ready physically to play against the older kids," he explains.

"There are exceptions. A few kids grow up quickly, and are physically mature as sophomores. Mark Mull is an example. He has the size to handle himself against boys one and two years older."

LaFave brought Beckwith

along slowly, using him as a defensive back during the early part of the season.

During the third game Beckwith took a hard hit to the head and suffered a concussion which forced him to sit out the next two. Cleared by his doctor to play last Saturday night against Tecumseh, he made his real debut as a varsity running back and sparkled, gaining 91 yards in 10 carries and almost breaking a couple of all-the-way runs.

Somewhere along the line there was another hard hit, and another hurt. It was a shoulder this time. Beckwith said nothing about it for several plays but finally had to leave the game with a broken left collarbone. He is through playing football this fall.

"Maybe it was my fault," LaFave reflected. "Maybe we tried to do too much too soon. Rob is going to be an excellent football player. He's going to grow and put on some weight. He works very hard at building his body. I'm guessing that next year he'll be an inch taller and 10-15 pounds heavier, and that will make a lot of difference."

Saline Clinches Share Of Conference Title

Saline has clinched a share of the Southeastern Conference varsity football championship and can win outright by beating Lincoln Friday night.

The undefeated Hornets were held in check for a half by a tough and determined Dexter defense, but exploded in the second half to rack up a convincing 33-0 victory. Saline's defense, which has yielded just 20 points in six games, held Dexter to a meager 18 yards in total offense.

Dexter ace halfback Brad Kokmeyer tried to play despite a separated shoulder but was ineffective, carrying the ball just seven times. He normally is called on 20-25 times a game.

Dexter couldn't have won with a healthy Kokmeyer but could have made the game closer, said Chelsea athletic director Ron Nemeth, who watched the contest. "It was an excellent football game for a half, and Dexter played them just about even," Nemeth said. "Saline came on strong in the second half, controlled the line of scrimmage, and just plain wore Dexter down. Saline has an excellent football team, very well coached. They made the adjustments they had to make at half-time."

In other conference action Chelsea beat Tecumseh, 29-14, and Lincoln won its first game of the season with an impressive 39-8 rout of Milan, suggesting the Rainsplitters may not roll over and play dead against Saline.

Improving with every game, Chelsea put on by far its best offensive display of the fall in a victory that wasn't as close as the score. The Bulldogs dominated all the way but made a couple of mistakes that Tecumseh converted into easy touchdowns.

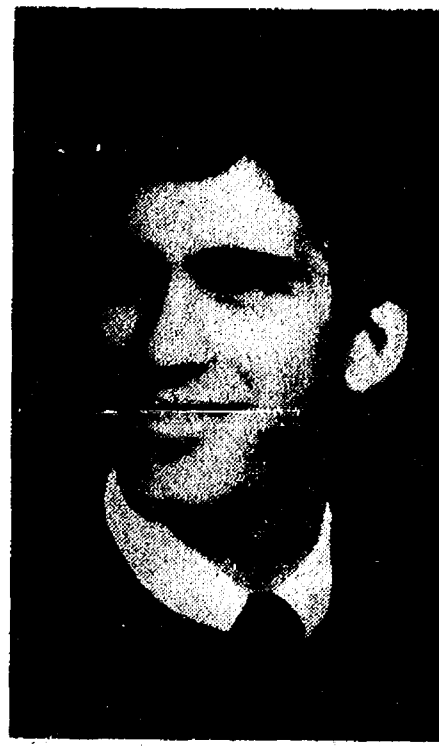

Bulldog quarterback Marty Steinhauer had an excellent evening with more than 200 yards in total offense and two touchdown passes, by far his best performance of the year.

Lincoln hadn't won a game before but looked like champions against Milan, scoring on each of their first four ball possessions to blow out the Big Reds, who are having an unaccustomed bad year. Lincoln sophomore quarterback Jeff Sloan passed for two touchdowns and ran for another.

Seven Selected For Fame Hall

Seven former Chelsea High school football players will be inducted into the school's "Hall of Fame" during half-time festivities Friday.

Each of the young men showed character and leadership as well as outstanding athletic ability while playing football at Chelsea, Jim Tallman, freshman football coach said. They join approximately 50 other former players who have been awarded the honor since the Hall of Fame was initiated four years ago.

Those who will be inducted are: David Wojcicki, currently attending Hillsdale College on a football scholarship; Matt McCallum, who is presently in the army; Rodney Robeson, now attending Grand Valley State College; Russell Harris, currently attending Graceland College in Iowa on a football scholarship; Matt Villemure, now attending Michigan State University; Thom Headrick, who is attending Northwood Institute in Midland on a football scholarship and Mike Neibauer, now attending Ohio Northern University on a football scholarship.

Each former player will receive a certificate during half-time of the Chelsea-Milan game and will also have their name placed on a plaque in the Chelsea High school varsity locker room, Tallman said.

"It's an honor for them to achieve and something to be remembered for at the high school," he said. "The Hall of Fame is beneficial for the whole school as well as for the individual kids."

JV Cagers Drop 2 in 4th Quarter

It was a disappointing week for the junior varsity girls basketball team as they lost to Pinckney, 44-30, and Milan, 44-29.

In both matches it was good scoring by the opponents during the fourth quarter that settled the game, coach Paul Terpstra said.

In last Tuesday's game with Pinckney, the team outscored Chelsea 20-11 in the fourth quarter.

Top scorer was Jenny Cattell with 10 points. She was followed by Kris Mattoff with 7 and Cris Zerkel with 5. Mattoff and Zerkel were also top rebounders with 7 and 6, respectively.

Milan also outshot Chelsea 8-2 in the fourth quarter of that game. Chelsea shot 24 percent from the floor and 22 percent from the foul line.

Cattell, with 15 points, was high scorer. Michelle Easton had 8 points. Kris Mattoff and Laura Anderson each had 11 rebounds. Zerkel stole the ball 5 times and Cattell had 4 steals.

SPORTS
NOTES

BY BILL MULLENDORE

What difference does size make in football?
A lot, obviously, provided other things are equal, but they usually aren't.

I thought about that after the Sept. 16 Chelsea-Jackson County Western football game. Western had what I honestly believe to be the biggest high school grid team that I have ever seen, in terms of sheer size. Those boys were huge.

It happened that I found myself in the middle of the Panther squad as I walked off the field after the game. At 6-1 and 180 I'm not exactly a midget, but felt dwarfed by the bodies around me.

Yet, Chelsea won the game and did it by establishing physical supremacy over kids who were much larger. How come?

Science was not one of my long suits in school, but I remember a principle which stated that force is a multiple of mass times velocity. In other words, to make weight mean something, you have to get it moving—the faster the better.

A smaller person moving quickly can exert as much force as a bigger one moving slowly. And so it happened that 180-pounders were knocking 230-pounders back on their butts and dominating the line of scrimmage.

Quickness and speed—they aren't the same—are probably more important than size in football. Quickness is the ability to get off the mark and accelerate to full speed in a step. Speed is the ability to maintain a fast pace after having accelerated. Of the two, quickness is the more important to a football player. Nobody cares much how fast a grader can run 100 yards, the length of the field, because it seldom happens that anybody needs to run that far. Footballers are timed at 40 yards and at 10 yards. Those are the crucial distances in the game.

I remember David Wojcik, Chelsea's two-time all-state quarterback, telling me last fall: "Look, I can beat just about anybody at 40 yards, and just about anybody can beat me at 100. I start fast, but people catch up and pass me. I'm quick, but I'm not really fast."

Wojcik is an unusually intelligent and perceptive young man who will do well playing football at Hillsdale College if his coaches use him right. He has "quick feet," which means he can reach his full speed in a step. Some "fast" runners need four steps to get into high gear.

When I think of the importance of weight plus quickness in football, my mind drifts back to Les Bingham, the legendary middle guard of the Detroit Lions during the early 1950's when the Lions were the dominant team in professional football.

Bingham weighed about 350 pounds. The word "about" is used advisedly, because there wasn't a scales around that could record his poundage. They all stopped at 300. He was put on a truck scales a couple of times, and that is where the 350-pound estimate came from.

On a squad that included the likes of halfbacks Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy and Bob (Hunchy) Hoernschmeyer, who were both very fast, Bingham could beat everybody in the 10-yard dash from a standing start. He also had great lateral movement. He could run sideways faster than most men can go forward.

Result was that opponents finally gave up trying to run up the middle against the Lions, because Bingham invariably caught them at or behind the line of scrimmage. He couldn't be moved out of the way, and he couldn't be kept from getting in the way. He once explained to an interviewer his way of playing defense: "When I see a play coming at me, I just gather up everybody—blockers and the ball carrier—and then sort them out until I find who has the ball, and then I fall on him." Being fallen on by Bingham was an experience that few running backs wanted to have very often.

Bingham was perhaps the finest combination of mass times velocity that the game of football has ever seen. Unfortunately, his story had an unhappy ending. He retired, cut his weight in half at the order of his doctors, and still died prematurely, probably the result of carrying all that bulk in such excessive bursts of quickness. He was something else as a football player, truly one of a kind.

Girls Swim Team
Defeats Dundee for Season's First Win

Coach Von Acker calls his Chelsea swim team "The Quality Kids," since they always swim well even though they never seemed to win. That all changed last Thursday when the girls triumphed 47 to 36 over Dundee.

"The Quality Kids finally got their first victory of the season," Acker said. "We needed this win more than a week of practices."

The team won nine of 11 events against Dundee. Two Chelsea swimmers, Susan Schmunk and Laura Stephens took firsts in three events. Schmunk finished first in the 100 free, 100 breast and as a member of the 200 medley relay team. Stephens was first in the 200 and 500 free events and as a member of the 400 free relay.

Missy Young assured the team of a win with her second place finish in the 100 breast, Acker said.

Earlier in the week the team dropped its meet with Ypsilanti, 93-67. Although the team swam well, the Class A school "was more than we could handle," Acker said.

"We just couldn't go against their speed and numbers," he added. With Ypsilanti behind them, the win over Dundee was welcome relief.

Following are the scores of Chelsea swimmers in the meet with Dundee:

200 medley relay—The team of Schmunk, Young, Dawn Borders and Becca Lee, first, 2:15.3.
200 free—Stephens, first, 2:21.1 and Tammi Mullaly, fourth, 2:41.2.
200 I.M.—Paula Colombo, first,

2:28.5 and Lee, third, 2:47.7.

50 free—Borders, first, 27.5 and Mullaly, fourth, 33.6.

Diving—Amy Oxner, third, 128.5.

100 fly—Young, first, 1:18.3 and Oxner, fourth, 1:46.8.

100 free—Schmunk, first, 1:01.3 and Mullaly, fourth, 1:12.3.

500 free—Stephens, first, 6:20.8 and Anne Albrecht, fourth, 8:21.9.

100 back—Borders, second, 1:10.4 and Colombo, third, 1:11.2.

100 breast—Schmunk, first, 1:19.7 and Young, second, 1:33.7.

400 free relay—the team of Mullaly, Lee, Stephens and Colombo, first, 4:23.5.

OUT IN THE OPEN

By BILL MULLENDRE

Dressing out a deer is one of life's less pleasant experiences. As butcher Gene Shoemaker said to me a few days ago, "I'd rather cut up 10 cattle than one deer." He should know. He handles about 300 deer a year as an adjunct to his main business of carving steers, hogs and lambs into salable pieces.

Deer blood is heavy and sticky, and doesn't smell very good. It builds up on your hands as you work at the dressing-out chore. When it comes to the stage of cutting the carcass into usable and storable chunks, deer seem to be all bones and tendons.

I'll never forget the first time I had a deer down on the ground, about a mile away from anywhere or anybody where some help might come from, and faced the task of reducing it to something that I could drag out and eventually turn into edible meat.

I had a knife, which turned out to be terribly inadequate to the task. A deer's hide is very, very tough, and a blade that will cut through most things will barely make a dent in it. You need a really sharp edge on a knife with a heavy blade and a handle that you can grip with your full hand to make that initial slash down the belly.

If you aren't extremely careful, which I wasn't, you will cut into the abdominal cavity and cause its contents to leak all over everything, and that makes a real mess. The odor is enough to drive you out of the vicinity. The instruction that tells you to hold the hide up away from the belly while you cut should be scrupulously obeyed.

There comes the delicate task of removing the bladder without emptying the fullness of what it holds. Every deer that I have dressed apparently had not urinated during the past 24 hours and was carrying about a pint of fluid, which also smells to high heaven if you are so unfortunate as to break the sac.

After the bladder and you have finished a good part of the hind quarters, cutting out the sex organs of a male deer is another interesting experience. They don't smell very good, either, and they are surrounded by very tough tissue. Nature obviously didn't intend that they should be removed without a fight, possibly a protection to insure perpetuation of the species.

It's amazing how much guts a deer has, about a bushel basket full. Once you start to roll them out onto the ground, as the guidebooks tell you to do, they just keep coming and coming and coming until you are knee-deep in them while trying to get out the last few odds and ends.

Then there's the business of cutting away the heart and liver from the rest of the mess, getting rid of the diaphragm, yanking out the windpipe, and clawing out the lungs.

At last you have a dressed-out deer. If somebody advises you that the process can be accomplished in five minutes, don't believe him. It may be possible with a whole lot of experience, more than anybody except a butcher or an illegal market hunter can possibly gain in a lifetime.

Then comes the business of dragging. There just plain isn't any easy way to do it. A dead deer is an awkward object, and it doesn't move readily. By all means take the animal head-first. If at all possible, get somebody to help you. Two strong bodies are definitely better than one in this instance, and three or more are even better.

When you get the carcass to a vehicle that can haul it, all you have to do is heave it aboard—again help is a decided advantage—take it into camp or wherever, hang it (another interesting adventure) and finish the clean-out job.

There are two schools of thought on that final touch-up process. One says you should use water to cleanse the inside of the animal, and one says you shouldn't. My preference is for a nozzled garden hose followed by blotting with paper towels to dry up the moisture.

If the temperature is not close to freezing, get the carcass to a locker as soon as possible, unless you want all of your work to go for nothing. Meat spoils quickly at 40 degrees or higher.

A better way is to take the whole animal to somebody like Gene Shoemaker as soon as you can after dressing it. He doesn't charge much, and he can save you an awful lot of grief and turmoil.

Girl Runners Do Well at Brandon

The Chelsea girl cross country runners stole the show at the Brandon Invitational Meet last Saturday. The "A" team won decisively, and the "B" team came home a strong fourth among the nine squads entered.

The boy harriers were fourth in a 10-team field and could easily have been second but for a couple of unexpectedly slow individual times.

Robin Mock, Mary Ann Richardson and Kim Collins all were timed at 21:16 over the demanding 5,000-meter Brandon course, and were placed one-two-three in a rare sweep of the top places in a multi-school meet.

"Robin was clearly first by about half a step," coach Pat Clarke said, "and Mary Ann and Kim were right behind her, one on each side. It was too close for me to call. It looked like a dead heat. I don't know how they picked the places."

The "A" girls blew out second-place Saline, 22-71. Monroe St. Mary was third with 97, and the Chelsea "B" team fourth at 125.

Allen Cole paced the Chelsea boy harriers with a fine time of 17:04, good for fifth place among individuals. Saline's Mark Pogliano was first with an outstanding 16:15.

Saline won the team score with 45 to second-place Linden's 79. Corunna was third at 87 and Chelsea fourth at 91.

Chelsea times and places:
Girls "A" team—Robin Mock, Mary Ann Richardson, Kim Collins (1,2,3), all at 21:16, Amy Wolfgang (5) 21:25, Laura Damm

(11) 22:02, Melanie Flanagan (12) 22:02, Stephanie Roberts (13) 22:11.

Girls "B" team—Stephanie Grant (8) 21:42, Wendy Wolfgang (15) 22:12, Crystal Porath (28) 23:28, Chris Neuman (32) 23:43, Cathy Burkel (42) 24:33.

Boys—Allen Cole (5) 17:04, Scott Cooper (15) 17:54, Jared Bradley (19) 18:02, Craig Maciag (22) 18:09, Steve Hunn (30) 18:34, Eric Greene (37) 18:58, Damion Creffield (56) 19:59.

JV Footballers Win at Tecumseh

Tack another one on the scoreboard for the junior varsity Bulldogs gridders. The team won its match with Tecumseh last Thursday, 9-6.

Coach Ken Sullins attributed the win to solid playing of offense and defense.

"As a team we played pretty well," Sullins said. "There was not a lot of offense, but we had people who hadn't played well before who played well."

Chelsea had a good start in the first quarter when Dan Bellus kicked a 24-yard field goal.

The touchdown, set up by Dan Bellus with a 39 yard pass to Tim Bowditch in the fourth quarter, came from Steve Wingrove. Wingrove was also lead rusher

Netters Score In Regional Competition

It was raining and about 45 degrees on Friday, not the best weather for playing tennis.

Under those circumstances, and with a disheartening season behind them, coach Terry Schreiner thinks the Chelsea girls tennis team should be commended for their performance at the regional competition held at Monroe. While Chelsea scored only one point, Schreiner said all of the players performed well.

Earlier in the week, the team scored a win over Columbia Central, 6-1, but lost to Howell, 7-0.

Schreiner said final results from Friday's regional competition are not yet completed.

The doubles team of Jane Wood and Carol Nix scored the team's sole point, scoring over a Columbia Central team, 6-0, 6-0 but then losing to a team from Ladywood school in Livonia, 6-1, 6-3. The rest of the team played well but could not get by the first round of play.

In the match with Columbia Central Sara Wenk won over her opponent 6-7, 6-2, 6-2. Jackie Boosey also won, 6-2, 7-5. Chris DeFant lost, 1-6, 2-6.

In doubles competition the team of Dawn Olson and Carrie Perkins won, 6-4, 7-6. Wood and Nix also won, 6-1, 6-2. Ann Acree and Karen Killea were also victorious, 6-1, 6-2.

Chelsea Golfers Win SEC Meet To Share Championship

Chelsea's varsity golf team won a share of the Southeastern Conference championship by finishing first in the SEC league meet, beating out co-titlist Milan by three strokes over the very tough Radrick Farms course in Ann Arbor.

The Bulldogs were runners-up to Milan in dual meet competition during the season. The championship is decided on the basis of both dual play and the league meet.

Chelsea's winning team score in Monday's league meet was 344 to Milan's 347. Tecumseh was third at 355. Others were Saline 356, Dexter 386 and Lincoln 410.

Mike Carignan led the Bulldogs with an 84, good for a tie as medalist. Eric Schaffner turned in an 86, and Doug Otto and Jim Ritter each fired 87. Kurt Eisenbeiser shot 92.

"Those scores may seem high," Chelsea coach Ken Larson commented, "but they are actually very good considering the course and the conditions. The course is long and full of trouble, and the greens are very slick. And it didn't play easily last Monday."

In dual matches last week, Chelsea defeated Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard, 155-166, and Tecumseh, 162-167, then lost to Milan, 147-154.

Individual scores against Gabriel Richard: Otto 35, Schaffner 39, Carignan 40, Ritter and Brian Ackley 41.

The JV linksters beat Gabriel Richard, 177-190. Chelsea scores were John Harris 40, Rob Murrell 41, Steve Kropf 44, Rob Longbehn 52 and Brad Doan 58.

The victory over Tecumseh was especially sweet because it marked the first time that a Chelsea golf team has ever won a dual match there. Scores were Otto 38, Ritter 40, Carignan and Schaffner, each 42.

The JV's likewise won, 174-184. Harris had a 40, Chris Tarasow 43, Tom Roth 43 and John Mitchell 46.

Against Milan the varsity linksters posted individual scores of Otto and Carignan 37, Ritter 39 and Schaffner 41. The difference in the meet was that one Milan entrant shot a brilliant 33, a school record.

Chelsea's JV's also lost, 163-176. Scores included Roth 41, Scott Jones 44, Rick Boham 45 and John Harris 46.

Golf Team Going to State Competition

Chelsea golf coach Ken Larson was happy Saturday.

For the first time in more years than anyone cares to remember his team is going on to state competition.

Edging out Saline by only two points, with a score of 336, the team qualified for state competition at regionals held Friday at Hickory Hills in Jackson.

"It is quite a boon for our golf program to do this," Larson said. "The state champions for the last 10 years have come out of these regionals."

Chelsea finished third of 16 teams in regionals, following Jackson County Western, the number two ranked team in the state, which finished first and Jackson Lumen Christi, the number one ranked state team, which finished second.

"These are probably the toughest regionals in the state," he said. "You have to be quite good to qualify."

Scores from Friday's regionals are: Doug Otto, 83; Mike Carignan, 82; Eric Schaffner, 85; Jim Ritter, 86 and Kurt Eisenbeiser, 93.

"It's quite a thing for the kids," Larson said. "It's the first time in 10 or 15 years that the team has qualified."

Chelsea will travel to Saskatoon Golf Club in Alto, outside of Grand Rapids, for state competition on Saturday.

Larson hopes he will be even happier this Saturday.

PAULA COLOMBO (left) took first place in the 200 I.M. in last week's meet with Dundee as well as first in the 500 free when the Chelsea swim team met Ypsilanti. Dawn Borders, captain of the team, took first in the 100-yard backstroke against Ypsilanti and the 50-yard free against Dundee.

Kristi Headrick Sparks Win Over Pinckney

Chelsea sophomore Kristi Headrick, who was moved up to the varsity basketball squad last Tuesday, was high scorer in that evening's 50-47 win over Pinckney and in Thursday's 60-48 loss to Milan.

With 23 points and 12 rebounds, Headrick was instrumental in the win over Pinckney.

Coach Jim Winter said the close contest "was like two different games. The first part was Pinckney's and the last 11 minutes were our game."

Pinckney led until half-time, Winter said.

"We were just not playing well and our defense wasn't getting the job done."

But the team managed to catch fire in latter part of the game, scoring 21 straight points in the fourth quarter.

Chelsea won the contest in the last seconds with two successful free throws.

Winter said Headrick had an outstanding game. Beth Unterbrink also had a good night with $30 for extra bag.

Mr. Rubbish $84,000,
$10 for extra bag.

A proposal bond, as specified in the "Notice and Instructions to Bidders" was furnished by Diamond D, Len's Rubbish and Mr. Rubbish.

Motion by Satterthwaite, supported by Radloff, to enter into a contract with Diamond D Rubbish in the amount of $78,000.00 for a two year period and $30 per extra bag. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried.

Fan Vocal Support Helps Aquatic Club Win Over Ypsilanti

A little screaming and yelling goes a long way according to Chelsea Aquatic team coach Von Acker. At the very least, it seemed to help the team in its 422-334 win over Ypsilanti last week.

Acker said that, after last week's loss to Ann Arbor Y, the coaching team gave instructions to yell loudly during a meet.

"Yelling is a little thing, but it gets the blood flowing," Acker said. "The whole pool was roaring Wednesday night. We had some close races early in the meet and all the swimmers, parents and coaches were yelling, you couldn't even talk to the person next to you. We won the close races and that just snowballed into our win."

The team took a number of first place honors during the meet.

"Winning isn't the important part of the Chelsea Aquatics Club, but swimming faster each meet and showing good sportsmanship make winners of everyone involved," Acker said.

Damon Mark

Damon Mark Chosen for Hillsdale Tennis Team

Damon Mark played very good tennis in high school—and it paid off.

He is the first alumnus of the Chelsea tennis team to be chosen to play college tennis in almost a decade.

The 18-year-old Hillsdale College freshman was chosen for that school's team amid stiff competition.

Jane Belser who played tennis at Kalamazoo College in the early 1970s was the last Chelsea player to move on to college competition, said then coach Sam Vogel.

Mark began playing tennis at Chelsea soon after he picked up a racquet for the first time, according to his mother, Marilyn Mark.

He played fourth singles during his first year of competition and ended up with a somewhat less than remarkable record.

But with intense practice supplemented by lessons from a pro at the Liberty Racquet and Fitness Club in Ann Arbor, Mark steadily improved.

Last year he was captain of the Chelsea tennis team and also received the most valuable player and most improved player awards. He and his first doubles partner Rod Worthing led the team throughout last season with a 15-2 record and took second place in regional competition in Monroe in May.

Chelsea tennis coach Terry Schreiner said she was very happy about Mark's accomplishment.

"I'm very pleased about it," she said. "I think it is just great." Mark is the son of Marilyn and David Mark of Chelsea.

8th Grade Cagers Win 1 of First 4

The Chelsea eighth grade girls basketball squad won only one of its first four games, but coach Jon Schaffner is hoping with hard work and inherent talent the team will improve.

"I think we have some talent here, but we can't score baskets," he said. "Hopefully we'll begin doing that soon."

The Chelsea team did beat Milan, 22-12, Oct. 5. Schaffner said the team's defense was much improved but said the players still made mental mistakes. Top scorers in the game were Leah Enderle, Laura Torres and Shannon Dunn, each having 4 points.

Top rebounders were Peggy Hammerschmidt with 11, Dunn with 10 and Torres with 7. Dunn and Jennifer Rossi each had 3 steals.

Prior to the Milan game, the young Bulldogs had dropped matches with Jackson Northwest, 13-14, Lincoln, 26-29, and Dexter, 20-31.

Top scorer in the opener with Jackson Northwest was Beth Kenny, who scored 6. Other high scorers were Torres and Karne Grau, each with 2. Kelly Kuzon was top rebounder with 6, followed closely by Leah Enderle and Torres, each getting 4 rebounds. Leading with steals was Kuzon with 6.

In the Lincoln game Kenny, Kuzon and Hammerschmidt tied as top scorers with 6 points each. Kuzon had 14 rebounds. Kenny and Kuzon each stole the ball 4 times.

Torres was high scorer in the game against rival Dexter, scoring 8 points. Kuzon had 5 points and was also high rebounder with 14. Kenny and Andrea Worthing each had 3 steals.

Semester Exams Period Shifted in School Calendar

The calendar for semester exams at Chelsea High school has been changed due to an imbalance between the number of days in the first and second semesters in the original schedule, principal John Williams said.

Semester exams for the first semester will now be Jan. 25, 26 and 27 instead of Jan. 18, 19 and 20. With the original calendar their were 86 days in the first semester and 94 days in the second semester. Williams said the eight day difference would make it difficult to cover the same amount of material in both semesters.

Moving exams back one week results in a difference of only two days between the first and second semesters.

Marking periods and all other dates on the original calendar will remain the same, Williams said.

Nature Center Hikers Earn $3,500 in Benefit

The weather was rainy and cold, but it didn't deter 64 hikers, ranging in age from 6 to 80, from taking part in the Waterloo Nature Center Hike-A-Thon, Saturday, Oct. 8.

Of the hikers, 45 traipsed the entire 17-mile course. The youngest hiker to complete the walk was Lars Haapala, 6, the son of Nature Center volunteer Krys Haapala. Verna Soule, who is in her 70s, was the oldest person to complete the walk. The oldest hiker to walk was Chelsea resident Millie Smith, 80, Haapala said.

Hikers began walking between 7:30 and 10 a.m. The first person to finish was Terry Ellenwood of Chelsea. Ellenwood started walking at 8:50 a.m. and finished the hike at 2:37 p.m. Haapala said the average person took approximately eight hours to complete the hike.

While official figures won't be known until next month, Haapala estimated the hikers earned about $3,500 dollars for the Nature Center. That figure is substantially higher than last year when hikers brought in $2,000.

Part-Time Legislature Petition Drive Ready

A part-time legislature petition drive has been organized by a group of Michigan legislators and business leaders.

Constitutional amendments are proposed to reduce sessions of the legislature from 12 months to four months and cut legislative pay from the current annual salary of $31,000 to an annual income of $15,000.

In addition, the present $6,200 annual allowance for expenses would be changed to $60 per actual session day.

The newly formed Part-Time Legislature Committee plans to collect 350,000 citizen signature by July 1984, qualifying the amendment proposal for submission to voters in November of 1984.

Michigan is one of six states with a 12-month legislative session length. The other 44 states have sessions lasting from one to nine months' duration.

Under the committee's proposals, legislative pay and expense allowances would be frozen until Dec. 31, 1988, and compensation would no longer be set by the State Officers Compensation Commission. Any pay or expense increases in the future would have to be voted by a two-thirds majority in both House and Senate.

As proposed by the amendments, legislators would be eligible to receive health insurance and regular State of Michigan auto mileage for one round trip home each week that the legislature is in session. Since

Michigan would return to a part-time legislature if the reform is adopted, there would be no further retirement, pension, or annuity benefits for legislators.

Another key amendment, to open up the citizen legislature idea, would provide a leave-of-absence to protect a part-time legislator's full-time employment in his or her regular job.

High School Open House Set Monday

Chelsea High school will have its annual Open House, Monday, Oct. 24 from 7 to 9 p.m.

The Open House will begin with a general meeting in the auditorium. A new feature this year will be a filmstrip presentation about Chelsea High school and the Chelsea School District. The film has been adapted from a slide show compiled by faculty members Bill Chandler and Sherrill Pryor for North Central Visitation last year. This will be the first time it has been shown to the public.

Following the meeting, parents may visit with teachers, administrators, guidance personnel and media center personnel. Students are encouraged to attend the Open House with their parents.

Due to a lack of time and the structure of the Open House, the school asks that Parents not attempt to have individual conferences with teachers. Individual course descriptions describing content of classes and classroom rules will be available for parents.

Alumni Band Forming For Homecoming Show

As Homecoming 1983 approaches, former graduates of "Pride of Chelsea" High school band are forming an Alumni Band.

Under the direction of William Hurley, the band will perform the first time during half-time of the Homecoming game, Friday, Oct. 28.

An organizational meeting has been scheduled for 4:30 p.m. Oct. 19 in the high school band room. Practice will begin at 5:30 p.m. Alumni must be at practice in order to participate in the half-time ceremony. Participants are asked to wear dark pants and a white shirt or sweater with long sleeves. Uniform overlays will be distributed, but alumni should be prepared to bring their own instruments.

There will be a $5 annual registration fee to cover gate charge for the game and the cost of a pizza party following the game. The party will be held in the high school cafeteria following the alumni meeting which will be held after the game. Each alumnus may bring one guest at a charge of $3.50. Awards will be given to various alumni.

Class representatives will be calling alumni. Anyone who is not notified should call Gay Dalton at 475-8678. Volunteers are also needed to serve as representatives for some classes.

Class representatives at this time are: Shelly (Lazarz) Weber, class of 1978; Michelle Alexander, class of 1981; Karen Miller, class of 1982; Jennifer Gibb, class of 1983 and Jill Dunlap, 1961-1977.

Parent to Parent Program Offered

A young mother comes home with her new baby and she is alone. She has no job and few things for the baby. The baby cries a lot and the mother doesn't know why. She has no one close to talk to and doesn't know where to go for help. She feels anxious about herself as a new mother.

—Both husband and wife have been unemployed for over a year. They feel depressed and useless without their jobs and they have noticed that their children have become hard to manage which adds to their frustration. They have also noticed that they have been yelling at the kids a lot lately. That makes them feel worse, but they don't know what to do about it.

—A child in second grade has suddenly developed behavior problems at school. He does not do his school work and fights with other children. The mother is at a loss as to why this is happening and doesn't know what to do.

These are some examples of families in which stress and anxiety are causing problems in the home. The parents feel overwhelmed and at a loss; they need someone to talk to, someone to share their concerns and problems.

The Chelsea Parent to Parent Program does just that. Volunteer home visitors receive 30 hours of training in child development, listening, communication and sensitivity skills. Home visitors use developmentally based activities and focus on child development, parenting skills, parent/child relationships and use of community resources based on their experiences as parents and training received. Home visitors also provide emotional support, educational knowledge and materials about child development and other issues, helpful suggestions and referrals, alternative coping techniques as well as building up self-confidence and self-worth.

Home visitors provide a non-threatening, friendly and caring relationship to families with young children who feel they are having difficulty coping, feel isolated or who need a friend. Volunteers visit in the home for an hour each week for up to 12 months.

Training of volunteer home visitors has been completed and referrals are now being accepted. Families may refer themselves or referrals are accepted from other agencies or organizations. Call Jo Ann at 475-3305 in the afternoon. To insure confidentiality if the program supervisor is not available, leave only your name and phone number.

Homecoming Set For Next Week

Homecoming 1983 is a time to celebrate at Chelsea High school. And, aptly, the theme for homecoming week activities this year is "Celebration!" the title of a recent hit song. Each day during the week is named after a song title with activities corresponding to that song.

The schedule for Homecoming week activities is:

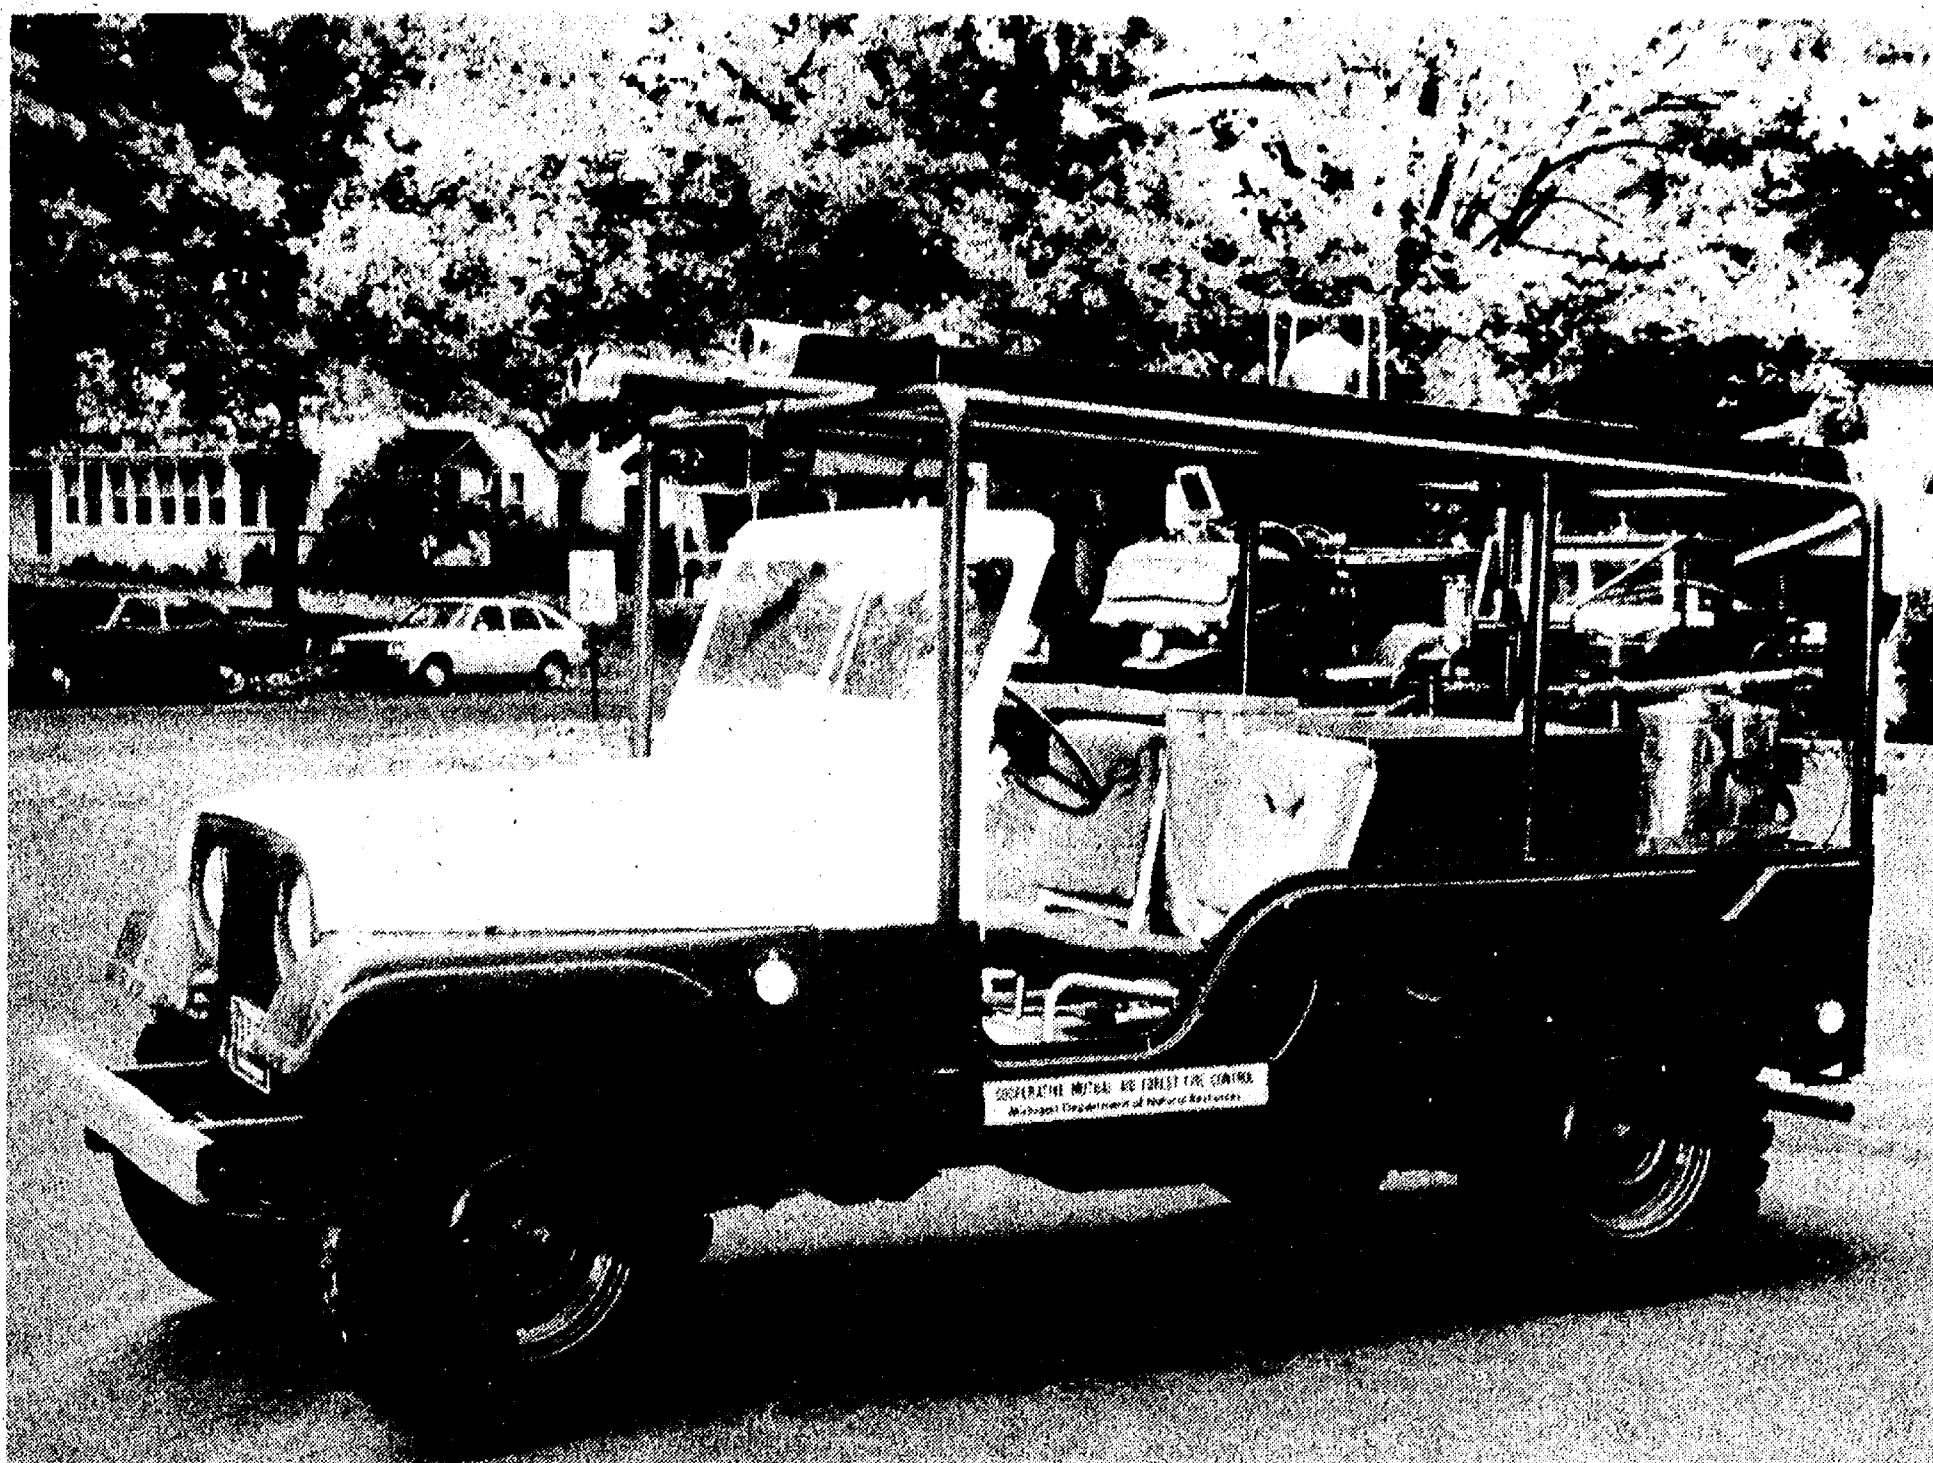

Monday, Oct. 24: "The Distance." Sweat shirt dressing is still chic and students will drag out all their Norma Kamali favorites. For students who snub designer sweat togs, old sweats and gym clothes are perfect for "Sweats Day."

Tuesday, Oct. 25: "Gangs in the Street." Al Capone and James Dean they're not, but students at Chelsea will be dressing in pin stripe suits, leather jackets and greaser attire for "Mafia or Gang Day." Seniors will play sophomores and juniors will play freshmen in a powderpuff football game at South Elementary school. Powderpuff cheerleaders (male students) will be judged on their performance during half-time.

Wednesday, Oct. 26: "Surfin Safari." It's "Beach Bum Day" and students will be dressing in beach attire other than bathing suits and halter tops. Students will also vote on queen candidates during lunch hour. During the evening the winners from Tuesday night's powderpuff game will compete at South Elementary. Half-time activities will include a wagon race and egg toss.

Thursday, Oct. 27: "Jukebox Hero." Students will dress as their favorite rock stars.

Friday, Oct. 28: "Chelsea High ... Blue and Gold." Halls will be decorated by each class and there will be a pep rally to prepare for the game with Mason. The parade will begin at 6 p.m. with the game beginning at 7:30 p.m. The Queen contest will be held during half-time. Following the game there will be a gathering for Chelsea alumni in the high school cafeteria. Coffee and doughnuts will be served.

THE NEWEST ADDITION to the fleet of firefighting vehicles owned by the Chelsea Fire Department is this rig equipped to fight grass fires. The truck, a military surplus vehicle, was donated to the department by the state. Firefighters also donated their time to outfit the vehicle with parts from a truck which has been taken out of service.

Helicopter Flies Injured Stunt Man

A 34-year-old stuntman performing at an open house at the Chrysler Proving Grounds Sunday, was seriously injured when he was crushed between two cars.

He was taken to Chelsea Community Hospital and stabilized in the emergency room before being transported by the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital helicopter to U. of M. Hospital. It was the first time the helicopter was used by the local hospital, said Ron Olmsted, director of public information.

Larry Kramer, a member of the Hell Drivers stunt team, was injured while performing as a clown in an act staged for an open house and family day at the Proving Grounds. Olmsted said he sustained injuries to his head and chest and was in critical condition when he was transported by ambulance to Chelsea Community Hospital.

Kramer was listed in fair condition Tuesday at U. of M. Hospital.

Friendly Agreement Settles Issue With St. Louis School

Three years after controversy erupted over who should be responsible for the education of students at St. Louis School for Exceptional Boys, officials of the private school and the Chelsea school district say a "gentleman's agreement" has settled the issue.

The terms of the arrangement are simple and mutually understood, Chelsea Superintendent Ray Van Meer said. The Chelsea School District educates students at the St. Louis School who have been placed there by a public agency. The private school is responsible for the education of private students who attend the school at the decision of their parents.

"Basically we feel that the problem has taken care of itself," said Hank DeYoung, director of special education for region five, of which Chelsea is a member. Father Joseph Rinaldo of the St. Louis School agrees.

"A gentleman's agreement is a very good way to explain it," he said.

The Chelsea School District currently provides auxiliary services, including speech and language classes and psychological evaluations of all St. Louis students, DeYoung said. In addition students placed at the school by public institutions are educated either at Chelsea or transported to High Point Center, in Ann Arbor, for training. Currently about 30 St. Louis students take part in High Point classes, DeYoung said.

Students placed at St. Louis school by their parents are educated at the school, he added. "We had no problem educating the publicly placed kids. They were sent here (St. Louis school) because things were so bad someplace else," Van Meer said. "What we objected to, as a school district, was having to educate privately placed students. We couldn't see a family in, say, Livonia sending their child here to be educated when they have a whole high school district in their own hometown."

The controversy began in May 1978 when the Washtenaw Association For Retarded Citizens filed a complaint with the state department of education saying students at St. Louis school were not given individual evaluations or individual educational plans prior to placement.

The district, feeling the financial burden of educating all of the St. Louis students as well as the overload of classes would be too great, took the matter to court, saying privately placed students should not be considered residents of the district, Van Meer said. The court disagreed.

"It was hard to do," he said. "We felt like we were doing something against students, and the board has always been a
