Depot Association Buys Historic Building After 4 Years of Negotiating

The 105-year-old Chelsea rail depot has been sold by Amtrak to the Chelsea Depot Association, Inc. Signing of the agreement took place last week in the office of Rep. Carl D. Pursell of the 2nd District of Michigan. The congressman was instrumental in bringing about the agreement which had gone through various stages of negotiation for nearly four years.

The agreement to the property transfer was signed by Tony DeAngelo, assistant vice-president, real estate, for Amtrak, and Will Connelly, president of the Chelsea Depot Association. Pursell was present during the signing ceremonies.

Land for the Chelsea station was donated in 1848 by James and Elisha Congdon as an incentive to the Michigan Central Railroad to establish a depot in Chelsea, but it was not until 1880 that the land was actually used for its donated purpose. Architects for the structure were Mason & Rice of Detroit and construction was performed by Adams & Rogers. According to Eric Hirsimaki, an authority on the subject, "The Chelsea Depot is a true representation of the high point in American railroad station design, definitely distinctive from those usually found in small country towns."

The station has not been in use since Amtrak eliminated passenger service to Chelsea in 1981. The building is in a state of neglect and in need of structural restoration. Organizers of the Chelsea Depot Association plan to rehabilitate the building, faithfully preserving the original exterior architectural design. Plans call for rehabilitating the interior with a 19th century decor altered only as necessary to provide the convenience of modern plumbing, heating, insulation and lighting. Plans include a wheelchair entrance ramp with guard rails.

Public participation will be sought in the planning, restoration, financing and ultimate use of the historic building. Present thinking envisions the west end of the station as a permanent MARK HEYDLAUFF was named the first chairman of the Downtown Development Authority. He spearheaded the establishment of the DDA, whose main function will be to keep the downtown area vital by suggesting and implementing projects for the downtown district.

DDA Names First Officers

Mark Heydlauff was appointed the first chairman of Chelsea's Downtown Development Authority, as the DDA met officially for the first time Dec. 4.

Heydlauff, of Heydlauff's, Inc., was the driving force behind the establishment of the DDA.

Also named were the DDA's other officers. Dr. Ron Biedron, a Chelsea dentist, is vice-chairman. He will automatically become chairman next year. Bill Bott, vice-president and branch manager of the Chelsea branch of Citizens Trust bank, is secretary. Bob Merkel, of Merkel's Home Furnishings, is treasurer.

Board members were also appointed to terms of varying lengths, according to guidelines set up by Michigan law. Serving one-year terms are Jerry Ashby, Chelsea insurance broker; Jack Winans, of Vogel's and Foster's; and Marty Tobin, planning commission member. Serving two-year terms are councilman Joe Merkel; Laurie Smith, owner of Dayspring Gifts; and Bob Merkel. Serving three-year terms are John Mitchell of Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home; Paul Frisinger, of Frisinger-Pierson Realtors; and Bott. Serving four-year terms are Biedron, Heydlauff, and Judy McArthur of Chelsea Cleaners.

Also on the board, by law, is Village President Jerry Satterthwaite, who will oversee the DDA's actions. The DDA is, by law, ultimately responsible to the village council. Without the council's consent, the DDA can actually accomplish very little.

However, with council's consent, the DDA can raise money in a variety of ways, including tax increment financing, assessing a two-mill tax on businesses within the downtown development district, issuing bonds, and acting as a landlord.

The downtown development district is essentially defined as the downtown business area.

Santa Suit Stolen From Front Porch Christmas Display

Someone is having a little problem with the Christmas spirit this year.

A Santa suit, complete with a wig and a beard, was stolen from a front porch at 622 S. Main St. sometime in the early morning of Dec. 14.

The suit was valued at $75.

Trinkle Rd. Flooding Problem Near Solution

The Trinkle Rd. flooding problem may be corrected by Christmas, and the road reopened shortly thereafter.

That's the hope of Fletcher Desautels, chief engineer for the Washtenaw County Road Commission.

The road commission has been grappling with the flooding problem since August, when a small section of the road between Fletcher and Freer Rds. disappeared under several feet of water. Two tries to correct the problem have not worked. That two-mile section of the road has been closed to through traffic since September.

The flooding problem has been blamed on the clogged Palmer-Baldwin drain, which handles much of the storm water from the eastern part of the village.

The new solution will involve improving on the most recent previous try.

In October the road commission dumped several tons of wood chips into the muck, sandwiched between layers of a black, geotextile fabric. The fabric was about 300 feet long and slightly wider than the road. About 30 tons of gravel was spread over the fabric. Over the following week-end, the road sank again in the middle. Officials said that putting too much weight on the road too quickly was the cause of the failure.

This time, according to Desautels, the county is cutting the brush away from the sides of the road and filling those areas in with wood chips out about 15 feet. More geotextile fabric will be placed over those chips, and the new fabric will be fastened to the old fabric. A "wedge of gravel," will then be put over the top of the fabric on each side of the road. The idea behind the wedges is for their weight to act as counterbalances, so that the middle won't sink again.

Finally, four inches of a lightweight "slag," a product of a blast furnace in Detroit, will be put on top of "the failed area," in the center of the road, followed by another four-inch layer over the entire 300 feet.

"We estimate the work is going to take us about 10 days, but we haven't been able to work on it full-time because of the weather," Desautels said. "When the weather is bad, we have to take men off that project so they can do other things. Right now our major concern is to get the road opened up for traffic. If you can tell me what the weather is going to do, I can tell you when the project will be done."

Desautels said about one or two days of the work has been completed. He also said the road will remain closed for a few days after the work is complete so "we can monitor it to see if there's more settlement."

Desautels said there are no plans to install guard rails once the work is complete.

THREE PEOPLE ESCAPED SERIOUS INJURY Monday afternoon in a two-car accident on M-52 near Clark Lake Rd. Chelsea Fire Department was called to the scene at approximately 3:40. According to Deputy Larry Thayer of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, a car driven by Kristen Todd Waters, 20, of Stockbridge, heading north on M-52, attempted to pass another vehicle. However, upon seeing an automobile approaching in the opposite direction, Waters tried to maneuver back into his lane and lost control of his vehicle on the snow-covered, slippery road. Waters' vehicle collided with the approaching vehicle, driven by Tammy Marie Lalonde, 17, of Gregory. Waters' automobile ended up in the ditch, foreground of the photo. Lalonde, and passenger Steven Edward Galway, 17, also of Gregory, in the auto in the center of the photo, were listed in good condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital on Tuesday morning. Waters was treated and released at Chelsea Community Hospital, and issued a citation for violation of the basic speed law. Thayer said none of the passengers were wearing seat belts, and that there was no evidence of alcohol or drug use.

Chelsea's novice debate team attended the novice State Championship Qualification Tournament held at Ferris State College, Big Rapids, Saturday, and won the right to compete in the finals by finishing third of 65 competing teams.

Novice debaters Donna Clark, Jennifer Lane, Carol Fairbrother and Jeff Sprague compiled a 7-1 record for the day, as did the other three first-ranked teams. Final places were determined by speaker ratings.

It was tight—Chelsea trailed by five points with four minutes left in the game, but in those last four minutes, four players converted eight straight free throws, and Chelsea came from behind to defeat Saline, 63-61, in their first home game of the season.

Governor Signs

Branch Banking Bill

Governor James Blanchard has signed into law sweeping legislation opening Michigan to state-wide branch banking and interstate bank ownership.

The signing of the bill ends years of struggle of many of the state's banking interests to permit state-wide branch banking.

The new act is "the most significant banking legislation enacted in Michigan during the past 45 years," the Governor said during bill signing ceremonies in Dearborn.

This legislation brings Michigan's banking structure into the 1980's and positions our state for future economic gains. The legislation benefits Michigan consumers, businesses, the banking community and our entire state," he said.

The bill is substantially similar to one vetoed last year by the Governor.

The new version, however, was the product of agreements worked out by members of the Department of Commerce, key legislators and officials of both large and community banks.

The act would allow full reciprocal interstate banking rights with Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, and Minnesota in 1986. Beginning in 1988, reciprocal banking rights nation-wide would be authorized.

Additionally, state banks would be allowed to create up to six regional banks that could create state-wide branches.

A bank holding company creating a newly capitalized bank would have to operate for at least two and a half years before establishing that bank as a branch.

In addition, banking companies could not create a new branch in the municipality where another bank has its home office.

The bill would also prohibit out-of-state banks taking over Michigan banks, or Michigan banks taking over institutions in other states, from importing the interest rates from those states on consumer loans made in Michigan, except on credit card transactions.

Blanchard said the legislation would clear up consumer confusion by allowing them to transact their banking business with state-wide branches.

It would also protect consumers from out-of-state usury rates and help provide adequate assurance that any out-of-state bank that acquires a Michigan bank will adequately serve the credit needs of local communities.

Environmental Protection

Agreements Signed With Ontario

Blanchard and Ontario Premier David R. Petersen have signed a series of four agreements to protect environmental quality in the two jurisdictions, including one that will promote a co-ordinated response to toxic spills such as the one recently identified in the St. Clair River at Sarnia.

The agreements result from the first "summit" between the two chief executives since Petersen, a liberal, took office in June.

At the summit, the Governor and Premier agreed to pursue further agreements spanning a variety of issues, including tourism and economic development and to expand the Ontario-Michigan partnership in the coming months.

The toxic spills agreement established an "early warning system" between Michigan and Ontario in the event of a sudden or accidental spill of toxic substances into the Great Lakes or connecting waters.

It creates a system for notice and consultation between the jurisdictions, including review by both parties of proposed cleanup plans.

Other environmental agreements approved by the Governor and Premier are a plan to develop cleanup actions at existing Great Lakes pollution hotspots, a transboundary air pollution control agreement, and a general letter of intent on environmental quality.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The only difference between men and boys, somebody said, is the price of their toys. I won't say a couple of fellers are in their second childhood, but from their show and tell at the session at the country store Saturday night I got to question if they qualify as full grown men.

First there was Zeke Grubb with the key finder his old lady got him through the mail. This electronic wonder don't so much find your keys as it helps you find em. A doodad is hooked to the keys that lets out a beep when you clap your hands. So if you're careful to lose your keys where the gadget can hear you clap and you can hear it beep you're in business. But, Zeke said, only if you clap just right. He laid his pickup key on the floor and told Bug Hookum to clap his hands together. Bug did and nothing happened. Then Zeke explained that you got to clap twice within a second and a half. Zeke did and, sure enough the keys beeped.

Personal, Bug declared, he could see ever bit as much use for a key finder as he could a automatic card shuffler and a electric fruit ripener, which means Zeke's new plaything is bound to be a hot item this Christmas. Actual, Bug went on, what a feller really needs to get in the beeping business is the False Alarm. He had read about em and he had picked up one in town at a radio and TV shop where he went for a hearing aid battery.

The False Alarm is like pagers doctors and policemen use, Bug said, you turn it on and in 20 seconds it starts beeping. Everybody figures you got to go somewhere, so you go wherever you want. It's fine for escaping political speeches where not many will know you, Bug said, but it won't work more than once in long sermons where everybody does. He first was going to take it along when his old lady drags him to another Christmas arts and crafts show, Bug went on, but he couldn't come up with a reason that would work with her. So he's going to try it at a deacons meeting. Bug said the deacons know he won't have anywhere to be, but he's going to tell em the beep is his old lady paging him that its time to take his heart pills he left at home.

The fellers were general agreed that the key finder and the False Alarm are useless enough to be big sellers. Clem Webster said the same fellers that had themselves paged at airports and baseball games is bound to want one of them False Alarms to impress their men and wimmen friends.

From show and tell the discussion moved to unusual reports all over. Clem came with word that Myrtle Beach, S.C. is spending $4.5 million for 50,000 truckloads of sand to spread on the beach, and Clem said this gives new meaning to the saying about bringing coal to Newcastle. Clem had another clipping where Killington, Vermont is planning to make skiing snow from what comes out of its sewer treatment plant which he allowed gives new meaning to what is purer than the driven snow.

Furthermore, broke in Ed Doolittle, more progress has come to vending machines. Ed had saw where a outfit in Iowa started selling boxes of fishing worms in coin operated machines. The idea spread quick to Oklahoma and now 24-hour bait machines are popping up on rivers and lakes all over so early fishermen don't have to worry if they'll get the worms.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

The ability to establish a DDA was granted by Michigan law. It is, generally speaking, a tool with wide-ranging abilities to correct and prevent deterioration of the downtown area, and, ultimately, preserve the tax base.

Heydlauff said that although the DDA is still just getting off the ground, there has been talk of a "spring project" for the group, which might include some landscaping, so people "can see what the DDA is all about." He also confirmed that the DDA could become involved in helping the village buy land behind the 14th district courthouse on Main St. The purchase of that land is necessary in order for the planned $295,000 renovation and restoration of the courthouse to proceed.

All successors to the board members will serve four-year terms.

Some last minute gift suggestions

There is still time to give just a few more things in the real spirit of Christmas. And all they cost is a little of you. You can probably think of many more, but these are just a few suggestions to start with.

- ★ Ask someone who's far from home (or has no home to share your Christmas dinner
- ★ Use your mistletoe generously
- ★ Say thank you a lot
- ★ Take one of your favorite presents to that kid in your class you suspect Santa might miss
- ★ Take a thermos of hot chocolate to your school crossing guard
- ★ Pick someone up and take them with you to Christmas services
- ★ Put out bread crumbs for the birds and nuts for the squirrels
- ★ Pull out your mother's chair for her when she sits down to dinner
- ★ Offer to say 'grace' yourself
- ★ Invite someone who has no fireplace over to enjoy yours
- ★ Help the little kids in your neighborhood build their first snowman (if there's snow)
- ★ Tell someone you love them

Woman's Club Holds Annual Christmas Party

Chelsea Woman's Club had its annual Christmas Dinner at Chelsea Community Hospital Tuesday, Dec. 10.

Present at the dinner were 25 members and four guests, Ann Botterell, Jinny Johnson, Becky Schoenberg and Debby Powers.

Linda Cole lead the group in a table prayer.

After a delicious buffet dinner, three new members, Ellen Batzdorfer, Sylvia Gilbert and Dorothy Montgomery were inducted into the club by Cheryl Schoenberg, membership chairperson, who presented each one with a yellow rose.

A gift exchange was enjoyed by all members as each displayed their gifts.

Punch and hors d'oeuvres were served by board members.

Beautiful candle-light centerpieces were donated by Joyce Vogel, with unique reindeer table favors created by Linda Cole.

The next meeting will be Tuesday, Jan. 14 in the Woman's Club Room at McKune Memorial Library.

For further information about the club, contact Cheryl Schoenberg at 475-7273.

Richelle Jones Captures Twirl-Off Champion Title

Moving out of the beginner division with a grand finale, 9-year-old Richelle Jones defeated all first- and second-place winners in two contests to take the Beginner Twirl-Off Champion title in Petersburg Saturday.

The Twirling Unlimited contest was one of the largest held during 1985, and Richelle's victory included girls and boys from all the age divisions. She also placed third in modelling and first in twirl to capture a third-place over-all win in the "Miss Holiday Majorette" pageant. Richelle is the daughter of Phil and Sherry Jones.

Chrissy Dunlap, 12, regained her winning stature by taking first in both intermediate solo and advanced military strut. She placed second in intermediate fancy strut.

Kari White, 8, took the advanced solo division and placed second in intermediate fancy strut while Winston Howard, 5, placed second in advanced solo, first in boys solo and second in advanced military strut.

State champion Heather Wynn, 10, took first in novice military strut and her dance twirl team the "Electro-Shockers" captured yet another trophy for team champions. The team consists of Heather, Kari, Chrissy, and Richelle.

Linda Schaffer, 9, became the 23rd Chelsea Charm to win basic twirl solo, thus qualifying her to compete for the TV camp scholarship at a future contest. Linda was fifth in modelling from a field of 19.

Dani Clark placed first in beginner military strut and fifth in beginner solo, while Yvonne Scaggs captured a first in both basic twirl solo and special beginner solo. She placed second in beginner military strut.

Other charms placing in various divisions were:

RICHELLE JONES

Novice solo—Rianne Jones (2), Kate Steele (3).

Special beginner solo—Amy Feldkamp (2), Whitney Hampton (2), Melany Owens (3), Jennifer Genung (5).

Basic twirl—Amy Feldkamp (3), Rianne Jones (4), Whitney Hampton (3), Tiffany Scott (2), Jennifer Genung (2).

Intermediate solo—Laurie Honbaum (3).

Beginner basic strut—Rianne Jones (2), Kate Steele (6).

The Chelsea Charms intermediate dance twirl team, performing to "Great Balls of Fire," captured a second-place trophy. The team consists of Linda Schaffer, Amy Feldkamp, Kate Steele, Tiffany Scott, Danielle Clark, and Whitney Hampton.

Chelsea Child Study Club Meets for Christmas Party

Members of Chelsea Child Study Club were treated to a festive Christmas evening at the home of Kathy Frisinger Tuesday, Dec. 14.

The evening began with punch and hors d'oeuvres followed by a dinner catered by Pat Whitesall. The holiday mood was further enhanced by the music of the Madri Guys, who presented several selections for the group's enjoyment.

The party concluded with an exchange of home-made gifts and desserts.

Daniel Peter invented chocolate milk in Switzerland in 1876. He and several others, including Henri Nestle found they had surplus milk. They mixed it with dark chocolate to balance the rough flavor.

Red Cross Plans Open House for All Volunteers

On Friday, Dec. 20 at 3 p.m., the American Red Cross, Washtenaw County Chapter, will hold a Holiday Open House for all volunteers. Those who are active now, as well as those who have been active in the past are invited.

Marian Fogelson, director of volunteer services has extended a welcome to anyone who may be interested in becoming a Red Cross volunteer. The need for volunteers is great. All skills and expertise would find their niche within the many programs and services which the Red Cross provides. Skills ranging from clerical to medical are all welcome at the Washtenaw County Chapter. If you are unskilled, it is also a good place to gain some.

The Holiday Open House will be at the American Red Cross Washtenaw County Chapter at 2729 Packard Rd., near Eisenhower, in Ann Arbor.

WINDSHIELD FLUIDS

Ever wonder why your windshield washer fluid isn't up to par? Hot weather can rob the fluid of its alcohol-cleaning component which means the container can be full but the windshield is getting smeared, not cleaned. Tip from the Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association: Periodically, run the wiper fluid till the bottle is dry, then refill with fresh solvent so you'll be ready for grimy days' driving.

Dudley Holmes, Blood Bank chairman, reported four people were identified who qualified for the "gallon club" after the clinic. Mrs. Holmes is herself a member of the club, and she and Dr. Botsford said the newest candidates were Charles Cameron, Chelsea school superintendent, and three employees from Rockwell-Standard Corp., Chelsea Spring Division: Fremont Boyer, Edward Blacklaw and Stephen Clark.

George Heydlauff has recently been elected honorary captain of the junior varsity football team at Western Michigan College, Kalamazoo. Heydlauff was out of the games for the season after sustaining a broken jaw in the first game of the fall schedule.

Another large load of steel for the new elementary school building was delivered to the Maywood-Pierce site Monday of this week. School officials estimate this brings the total amount now on the grounds to approximately three-quarters of the grand total needed for the entire building.

When the full amount is here, contractors will send special construction crews to put up the structural steel framework and building operations can proceed in earnest.

Construction work will not be held up because of the season, as work continues throughout the winter, school officials have stated.

Chelsea and vicinity was about as frigid a spot as could be found in lower Michigan the past few days, official reports listing only Ionia and a small village near Mount Pleasant with lower temperatures than Chelsea.

Chelsea temperature was nine below zero, but the Dorr Whitaker farm thermometer read 12 below zero.

VFW Auxiliary Reports Christmas Season Activities

The VFW Ladies Auxiliary meeting was held Dec. 10 at the Post Home, 105 N. Main St.

A report on the Christmas potluck and Santa's visit there was given. There were 35 members and children who enjoyed a chance to visit with Santa and sit on his lap (regardless of age).

It was voted to send $50 to the VFW National Home for VFW children, in Eaton Rapids, to help them have a better Christmas.

Draping of the charter was performed by the chaplain in memory of past member Juanita DeFant.

Hospital chairman reported on the joint auditorium party at the VA Hospital in Ann Arbor, Nov. 22, stating 60 patients enjoyed the bingo, and prizes awarded. A lunch was served them, and apples passed out to each one.

The auxiliary is responsible for a coffee hour and treat, each Friday morning for the patients on the 7E floor ward, at VA Hospital in Ann Arbor.

A report was given on the need of a white cane, for a life member to the VFW Post who had his stolen. This request was then turned over to the Lioness Club who had asked them for any way they could help someone in need.

A report on the District 6 meeting held at Newport, Dec. 1, was read by the delegate. The mid-winter conference will be held in Lansing, Jan. 24-25.

The president of District 6 announced that a memorial will be built just off the I-94-Monroe exit in the spring, and the needed donations from various groups are being received very fast to complete the Vietnam Memorial plaque.

The next District 6 meeting will be held at Brighton Post, Feb. 2. A light lunch was served after the meeting to celebrate Christmas together.

Next auxiliary meeting will be the second Monday in January.

Senior Citizens Treated to Program By Kindergarteners

Chelsea senior citizens were treated to a music program of Christmas songs presented by the kindergarten classes of South and North schools on Tuesday, Dec. 10.

The children sang, "Jingle Bells," "Ten Little Angels," "Deck the Halls," "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer," and "Santa Claus is Coming to Town." They also sang nursery rhymes, and September and October songs.

Mrs. Klink, Mrs. Bower, Mrs. Carlson, and Mrs. Plank coordinated the program.

Chelsea historical museum and the east end of the building as a public meeting place and visitors reception center.

Basic sale price of the station and 0.84 acres of land was $15,000. Several times that amount will be needed for structural reinforcement, roofing, painting, plumbing, electricity, heating and air conditioning as well as interior restoration.

The depot association plans to share in the acquisition and restoration of the old depot by selling donor certificates.

Annual support for operation of the building is anticipated through agency membership in Chelsea United Way.

Auditors Give Manchester Schools Excellent Ratings

David Haffey, from the accounting firm of Curtis, Bailey, Exelby & Sposito recently discussed the results of the annual financial audit of the Manchester Schools with the Board of Education.

Haffey's report stated that the financial position of the Manchester Community Schools as of June 30, 1985, and the results of its operations for the year then ended are in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Haffey again commended the work of Mrs. Maxine Frey and Mrs. Joan Berry in the business office as well as the general administrative supervision of the financial affairs of the school district.

The school district operated for the 1984-85 school year on a budget of approximately $3,600,000. Haffey's report indicated that the objective of the audit is to provide assurance that assets are safeguarded, transactions are authorized and are recorded properly.

In concluding statements Haffey remarked that the school district was operating on a "razor-thin financial edge."

Superintendent Gene Thompson commented, "We take the management of the district's financial resources very seriously. I consider this responsibility to the taxpayers of the school district to be one of the most important duties I fulfill. Mrs. Frey and Mrs. Berry do an excellent job of providing me with the information the administration and board needs to make decisions regarding business matters. I couldn't agree more with Haffey's statement that the district is being operated on a "razor-thin" position."

STEVE SMYTH HAS JOINED OUR SALES FORCE

We are pleased to announce that Steve, a life-long Chelsea resident, has joined our Sales staff. Steve, his wife, Leslie, and their four-month old son, Steve, reside at 13288 Noah Road.

Steve has worked with us for several months now, and has shown remarkable aptitude in the automotive sales field. His ability to meet the wants and needs of car buyers is an asset which is difficult to find in most sales people.

Over the last two years, we have expanded our Used Vehicle operation a great deal. Working from a large, well-balanced inventory consisting mainly of area new car trade-ins, Steve will be able to offer value-priced used cars at small-town prices and extremely competitive bank rates.

We at Palmer Ford/Mercury proudly welcome Steve to our Sales Department. We further suggest that you contact Steve when in need of a good quality, value-priced used vehicle. He will not disappoint you.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

By Will Connelly

Now that we own our venerable Chelsea Depot, what comes next? The first step, of course, is to save the building which has been standing in a state of neglect ever since it was deserted as a passenger station in 1981. We must have an architect look into the foundation and tell us if reinforcement is needed for continued support of the aged building. He must also examine the station in terms of structural integrity and recommend what needs to be done.

It may require a new or repaired roof. Heaven knows it needs a professional coat of paint in the station's traditional colors.

This done, we will have preserved an architecturally unique treasure, worthy of historical recognition by State and Federal governments.

Interestingly enough, this exterior restoration within two years of the date of purchase is a requirement in our contract with Amtrak—the company that didn't give a darn while it owned the depot! Why should they care after the sale? Because the contract provides that if Amtrak ever restores passenger service to Chelsea, they will be entitled to partial use of the building.

In the opinion of many observers, the chances of restored rail passenger service to Chelsea are as likely as a blizzard in hell. It took years for Amtrak to agree to sell the station and the first real signs of life became apparent only after Carl Pursell, our Second District Congressman and a member of the House Appropriations Committee, let Amtrak know that he cared. This resulted in a verbal agreement to sell us the depot. From this point on, it took seven months to pass the contract through 14 ranks of railroad bureaucracy. With all this strung out experience behind us, we signed the contract in September without changing a comma and mailed it back to Washington. It then took Amtrak two more months to decide that they really meant it. Finally—oh wow—they agreed to meet me on Dec. 11 in Rep. Pursell's office for the signing of the papers.

When this date for the closing had actually been established, I had an emotional impulse, a sort of vicarious loyalty, to go to Washington by Amtrak. I learned to do so I must first go to Chicago by coach and then take a sleeper to Washington. Travel time? Twenty-one hours vs. 75 minutes via Republic Airlines from Detroit Metro to Washington National!

For reasons of this sort, members of the Chelsea Depot Association don't expect rail passenger service to be restored ever for short trips in competition with the automobile or long trips in competition with the jets. If, however, the miracle of restored Amtrak passenger service to Chelsea should come to pass, it might attract some patronage provided a trip to Detroit didn't involve a change of trains at Kalamazoo.

Enough of this. Let's get back to the restoration and use of our depot. What about the inside? In the past year hundreds of people have queried members of our historical society about the future of the depot. A consensus of viewpoints goes like this: Restore the inside as nearly as possible to its original appearance. Redo the inside with a 19th century atmosphere but with 20th century conveniences. A restoration committee will be established by the Chelsea Depot Association to receive public input and to agree on plans for the future utilization of the building. An accompanying sketch shows one scheme of space utilization.

The cost of rehabilitating the depot inside and out has been estimated by local construction specialists at between $40,000 and $100,000. This is a ballpark figure and nothing can be determined precisely until a careful architectural inspection of the opened building has been completed. This estimate, in turn, will have to be based upon reasonably definitive plans for interior remodeling. Whatever the financial goal may be, a fund-raising campaign will probably center around the public sale of certificates representing donations toward the cost of acquiring and restoring the property. The depot association members hope there will be widespread participation in the station evidenced by certificates which families can pass from generation to generation.

You will remember that people of the Chelsea School District once raised $50,000 over a week-end to save the school's athletic programs. I believe there is powerful public support for the Chelsea depot. What is more, the money is not needed in three days. The restoration will have to be done step by step and will lend itself nicely to pay-as-you-go financing.

Ever since the depot project began within the Chelsea Area Historical Society, sparked by Lynda Longe, people have talked of using the depot as a historical museum and a public meeting place. The historical society will probably supply volunteers to keep the museum open on week-ends and holidays. The use of the station as a meeting center could be scheduled on a latchkey basis by the depot association. Groups making use of the meeting room would be responsible for doing their own cleanup or paying a cleanup fee.

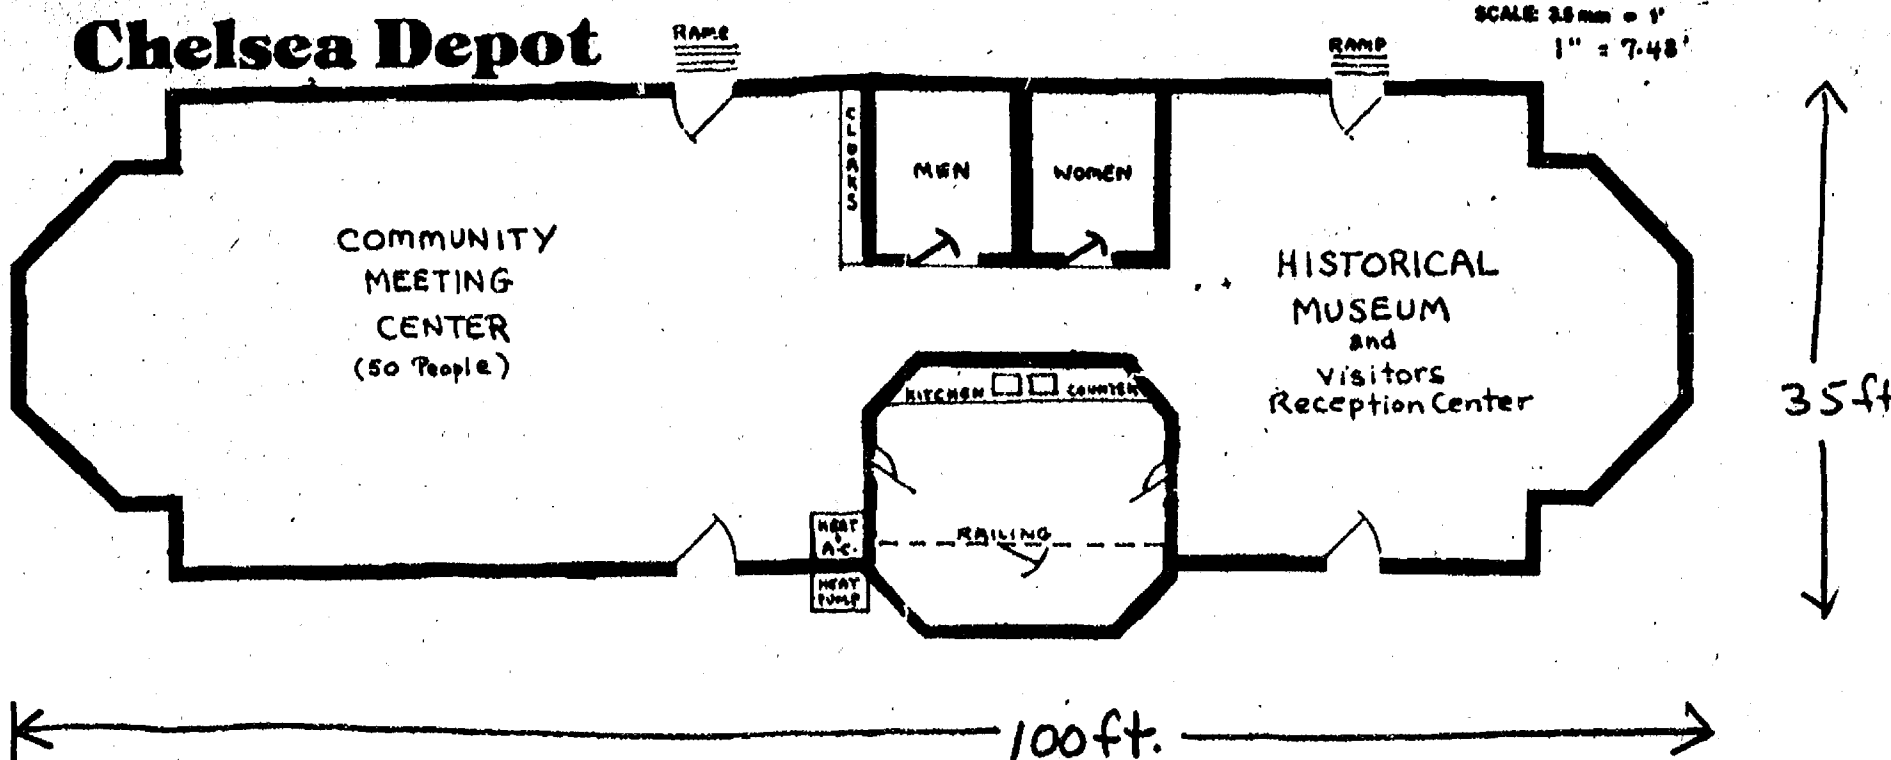

This partial use of the building would nevertheless require a plan and a budget for the year 'round operation. There would be insurance, heating and air conditioning, lighting, maintenance and part-time custodial services. I would estimate these at around $12,000 a year and believe that the depot, as a non-profit Michigan Corporation, would qualify for annual support as an agency of Chelsea United Way.

Eventually, the depot could become a multiple purpose civic center with support from a number of civic organizations so that the building could be staffed with one full-time employee, several part-time employees and a dependable roster of volunteers.

Having a historic, active rail depot with good parking close to the business district will provide an added incentive for visitors to sightsee, shop and dine in Chelsea. This same presence of a unique 19th century railroad station can lead to regional and national publicity for the community.

Beginning in these first hours of our community ownership, many decisions about our depot, its restoration, its use and maintenance lie ahead. I have never known of any village area where the people work together as well as we do in Chelsea. We'll make our depot work.

Band Boosters Try New Fund-Raiser

Chelsea's band boosters for the first time are using a raffle to make money. Band candy might become a thing of the past if the raffle works out.

The raffle works like this. Each raffle ticket costs $20, and 1,000 will be sold, grossing the boosters $20,000 at the outset.

Twice each month, on the second and fourth Thursdays at Citizens Trust, 12 tickets will be drawn for cash prizes, 10 worth $20 and two worth $50. After the drawing, the winning tickets go back in the hopper. Theoretically, someone could win all 26 times the drawings are held.

Ticket purchasers also receive a pocket calendar.

When it's all over, the band booster should raise about $12,000.

According to band director Bill Gourley, the money will be used to fund music scholarships, visiting instructors, the music library, uniform maintenance, medals and awards, and the annual band trip, among other programs.

"If this program's successful, we hope we can eliminate selling band candy and some other fund-raising efforts," Gourley said.

CHINA AND ITS CULTURE was the topic of a talk at Beach Middle School by Chelsea's Jason Eyster, who recently spent two months touring China, Japan, Indonesia, Japan and Thailand as executive director of Princeton in Asia. The presentation, to Jim Hoeft's and Barbara Brown's seventh grade bloc classes, included an explanation of the origin of the written language, which Eyster is explaining in the photo above. The talk highlighted the children's study of China, which has been occupying their time for several weeks. Eyster, the husband of local attorney Diana Newman, spent his time in Asia trying to find jobs for college graduates and finding ways to export Michigan agricultural technology.

Need for Blood Critical During Holiday Season

The holiday season is traditionally a time for giving. A time for providing loved ones and friends with the gifts they want or need the most.

However, for Red Cross Blood Services, the holiday season is a critical time. Why? Because most organizations that the Red Cross depends upon to sponsor blood drives, such as schools, factories and other businesses are closed during the holiday season. And during this busy season, regular blood donors often forget to give the most important gift of all—blood.

Although these sources of blood collection temporarily decrease during the holiday season, the demand for blood and its components does not decrease. In fact, just the opposite occurs. The need for blood sharply increases during the first part of January as people undergo elective surgeries which were postponed until after the holidays.

To help offset low blood collections during this holiday season, the Southeastern Michigan Red Cross Blood Services will sponsor "Save-A-Life Sundays" blood drives at all donor centers. "Save-A-Life Sundays" will be observed on Sunday, Dec. 29, and Sunday, Jan. 5. All donor centers will be open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on both Sundays.

This year include something on your shopping list that won't cost you anything—blood. Your donation will help avoid blood shortages, and the community will be assured of an adequate blood supply throughout the holidays and during the post-holiday surge of elective surgeries.

Blood can be donated by any healthy person between the ages of 17 and 70 who weighs at least 110 pounds. The entire process, including donation and refreshment, takes less than an hour and can save up to four lives. Donating blood is simple, safe and risk-free. There is absolutely no risk to the donor of contracting any infectious disease. A new, sterile needle is used for each donor and then discarded.

For more information on where to give and to make an appointment to donate blood during "Save-A-Life Sundays," donors may call 971-1500.

Readers Share Their Favorite Holiday Recipes

The staff of the Chelsea Standard had to loosen its collective belt last week, thanks to three local culinary experts who consented to share their favorite holiday recipes with us.

When this little project began, we had no idea that everyone of these bakers would practically force feed us. Esther Noah was first, with her wonderful traditional lebkuchen and springerle cookies. She also proved to be a most entertaining hostess, with delightful stories about her family and friends. The reporter went back to the office with a couple of dozen cookies, not to mention the four or five he ate with coffee as Esther spun her stories.

Chelsea councilman Jim Finch handed the reporter an entire rum raisin ring cake that WAS STILL WARM. That was almost too much to stand. If a knife had been available in his car, the reporter would have had the first slice long before it ever reached the office, which was all of a half a mile away. For an instant, he thought of tearing it apart with his bare hands, but decided that would be an uncivilized thing to do. The reporter admits that around Christmas time, he has almost no control.

Jean Satterthwaite made a sinfully rich pumpkin loaf. It was made much like a big jelly roll, with the pumpkin portion of the delicacy rolled around a no-calorie cream cheese frosting, perfect for holiday dieters. Her creation had the consistency of one of those heavy carrot cakes that is almost impossible to stop eating once you've started. We were thankful she only gave us one.

This was a wonderful experiment, and the Standard would like to thank Esther, Jim and Jean for showing off.

As the reporter polished off the last of Jean's pumpkin diet-buster last week-end, he wondered if anyone in the community had recipes for George Washington's birthday, Valentine's Day, St. Patrick's Day, Easter, Memorial Day, Columbus Day, the first day of baseball season. . . . Anyone who wants to show off on any of those occasions, just call the Standard. Or, any other time, for that matter.

JEAN SATTERTHWAITE made two pumpkin rolls and gave one to us. An ideal holiday dessert.

JEAN SATTERTHWAITE'S SOMETHING FOR YOUR PUMPKIN CAKE

"This pumpkin roll recipe is a new one that a friend brought to our 'Garbage Can' dinner in August," Satterthwaite said. "I brought two of them into work last week and they went immediately. Everyone wanted the recipe. I only make pumpkin recipes in the fall for some reason."

3 eggs
1 cup sugar
¾ cup flour
¾ cup pumpkin
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon lemon juice
2 teaspoons cinnamon

Frosting:
8 ounces cream cheese
¼ cup softened butter
1 cup confectioners' sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

- 1 — Line a 7x11 inch pan with foil. Butter foil.
- 2 — Mix ingredients together and pour batter into prepared pan. Bake for about 25-30 minutes in a preheated 350 degree oven.
- 3 — Have powdered sugar towel ready. Place cake out on towel and remove foil. Roll up tightly in towel. Put on rack to cool.
- 4 — When completely cool, carefully unroll roll, frost and roll up again. Frost with a mixture of the frosting ingredients beaten until smooth and of spreading consistency.

ESTHER NOAH has been making her lebkuchen and springerle cookies for a lot of years. For her springerle, she uses no leavening agent, but she beats the eggs for half an hour.

AN ANTIQUE MOLD makes Esther Noah's springerle cookies as delightful to look at as they are to eat. The mold has been in the Noah family for nearly 100 years.

ESTHER NOAH'S SPRINGERLE

4 eggs
1 lb. confectioners' sugar
Sprinkle salt
Short pound cake flour
Anise seed
1 — Beat eggs for 30 minutes on low then combine with sugar, flour and salt.
2 — Roll out and cut dough with favorite cookie cutter.
3 — Bake on well-oiled cookie sheet with anise seeds at 275° for 25 minutes.

ESTHER NOAH'S LEPKUCHEN

"We have used this recipe for years given to us by a German lady," Mrs. Noah reports.

¾ pound brown sugar
1 quart molasses
1 pint sour cream
½ cup buttermilk mixed with 2 teaspoons soda
1 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon pepper
1 pound currants, washed
1½ pound hickory or pecan nutmeats
1 pound mixed citron, orange and pineapple
4 pounds flour or as much as you can stir in

- 1 — Mix ingredients. Let sit overnight or longer.
- 2 — Roll out, cut and bake at 375 degrees.

JIM FINCH'S rum raisin cake was still warm as he handed it over to the reporter. Back at the office, it didn't last long. For those looking for a sweet, but not too rich, holiday dessert, we highly recommend Jim's concoction.

JIM FINCH'S RUM RAISIN RING CAKE

Jim suggests, "While the cake is baking, make yourself a drink with the leftover juice, rum and vodka."

1 (20 ounce) can crushed pineapple juice.
1½ cups sugar
½ cup butter, softened
3 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2½ cups all purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon allspice
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup dark rum
1 cup raisins
1 cup chopped walnuts
Rum Glaze:
3 tablespoons dark rum
3 tablespoons reserved pineapple juice
2 tablespoons softened butter
3 cups confectioners' sugar
1 — Drain pineapple, pressing out 1¼ cups pineapple juice; reserve ¼ cup for cake and 3 tablespoons for icing. Cream sugar and butter. Beat in eggs and vanilla. Combine flour, baking powder, soda, allspice and salt. Beat in flour mixture in thirds, alternately with reserved ¼ cup pineapple liquid and rum. Stir in pineapple, raisins and nuts.

2 — Spoon mixture into a well greased 10 inch bundt pan. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 50-55 minutes or until wooden pick inserted comes out clean. Invert on wire rack to cool completely. Prepare rum glaze and spoon over cool cake.

3 — To make glaze, beat the rum, reserved pineapple juice, softened butter and confectioners' sugar.
Cake serves 16.

Manchester School Board Organizes Standing Committees

Manchester Board of Education has continued its practice of forming two standing subcommittees. These committees are labeled Executive and Finance, respectively.

Members of the Executive Committee are president Kent Talcott, secretary Tom Golding and trustee James Samonek.

The Finance Committee is made up of treasurer Jeff Schaffer, trustee Bill Broucek and trustee Gary Davis. Vice-president Earl Horning is the alternate to both committees.

Each committee meets monthly with the superintendent to review the status of district programs, budget and to review concerns. The Executive Committee primarily concerns itself with developing the monthly agenda and providing direction to the superintendent. The chief concern of the Finance Committee is the budget and fiscal matters of the school district.

Superintendent Gene Thompson stated, "The committee system enables us to do much more work than could be accomplished in just one regular board meeting a month. This way I literally get to listen to every board member each month, to hear their concerns and ideas. In a small district such as this it is absolutely essential that we use the skills of every person involved. For example, Bill Broucek's advice regarding banking and investments has been invaluable as we have attempted to streamline procedures and to improve our investment revenues over the years."

FULL SERVICE BANKING!

Banking Houses, the leader in the money field years ago, took care of your most basic financial transactions . . . and today's banks are still doing the job and are still the finest financial institutions in the world.

The financial field, however, is getting a little crowded with businesses that don't deal exclusively in full service banking. Businesses that offer just a minimum of banking services. We pride ourselves on having kept pace as the financial world has changed and grown. Meeting the needs of the people we serve with innovative and creative banking services is our goal.

We've introduced many new programs designed for good healthy investment growth and expanded banking services for the convenience of our customers. We insure all our customer's funds with the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

If you're shopping for a financial institution, go with a leader, the first on the money scene, a full service bank, that's us!

★ Survey Report Pertaining to Athletics

The following report is the second in a series of three that focus on curriculum issues. The survey question covered by this report dealt specifically with the area of athletics. Table I shows the opinions of survey respondents toward emphasis on athletics.

TABLE I
Opinions Regarding Athletic Emphasis by Level of School Attendance of Child

Athletic Ranking	Elementary Age	Percent	Middle School Age	Percent	High School Age	Percent
More.....	27	20	18	8	18	6
Less.....	65	23	55	24	85	27
Same.....	192	67	154	68	208	67
Total.....	284	100	227	100	311	100

1. There is no significant difference between parents of elementary, middle school or high school-age children toward emphasis on athletics.
2. Approximately two-thirds of the parents, regardless of level their child is attending school, feel the emphasis on athletics is about right. (This represents a higher satisfaction than for any area analyzed: math, reading, writing, computer instruction, and drug/alcohol education.)
3. Slightly less than 10% of the respondents feel more emphasis should be given to athletics. The percentage is a little higher at the elementary than the high school, but the difference is not significant.
4. Approximately 25% of the respondents at each level feel athletics should be emphasized less. There is a slightly higher percentage at the high school level than at the elementary, but the difference is not significant.

The opinions of survey respondents with school-age children toward athletics are in marked contrast to the opinions from the same group toward emphasis on the basic academic areas. By comparison, there is more satisfaction with the level of emphasis on athletics than on basic academic areas. However, about 25% of the respondents feel that athletics should be emphasized less, where virtually no one felt the basic academic skill areas should receive less emphasis.

TOYS FOR NEEDY CHILDREN are being collected by the Chelsea Jaycees at three locations in town, Chelsea Office Supply, D&C Store, and Gambles. The Jaycees are asking for donations of new toys in their original containers, which will be turned over to Chelsea Social Services. The boxes, like the one shown above, will be on display throughout this week. In the photograph, from left, are Nancy Benjamin of the Jaycees, Donna Alber, an employee of the D&C Store, and Fred Model, owner of Chelsea Office Supply.

Chrysler Employees Help Needy Families

An annual event at the Chrysler Proving Grounds has just come to a close. Each year the employees gather funds to help needy families at Christmas time. This year a record $5,500 was collected to help several needy families in surrounding communities.

Contributions this year came from 15,000 pop can deposits. The cans are from vending machines in the plant. The remainder came from donations from the plant's 650 employees. Polly's manager, Mike Kennedy, co-operates each year in redeeming the pop cans.

This project has been going on for more than 15 years. Employees have distributed over $20,000 to nearly 100 needy families in employee's communities.

Names of needy individuals came from plant employees and efforts are co-ordinated by Plant Guard Workers Local No. 35 president Elmer Schulte, UAW Local 1284 president Dave McAllister and plant personnel manager Bill Mitchell.

WCC Classes Offered at Chelsea High

Chelsea residents can attend Washtenaw Community College through the college's extension center at Chelsea High school. Registration for the winter term, which begins Jan. 6, will take place Wednesday, Dec. 18, from 7 to 9 p.m.

WCC offers a variety of courses at the high school, including economics, basic mathematics, algebra (introductory and intermediate), occupational math, blueprint reading, Spanish, business management, finance, speech and western civilization 1600-present—to name a few.

For information about registration and course offerings, call (313) 973-3548 or 973-3408. Registration on the campus in Ann Arbor takes place from Dec. 16-24 and Jan. 2-6.

Most school children can tell you two negatives make a positive, but few can name the man who first said so. It's said to have been John Lowth who first laid down that rule of grammar in 1762.

Bomb Threat Received at School Office

Chelsea schools were evacuated last Friday afternoon after a man called district offices twice saying a bomb was planted in one of the school buildings and was set to go off.

Chelsea police were notified after the first call at approximately 10:20 a.m., according to superintendent Ray Van Meer. The buildings were searched and nothing was found.

After the second call, all four school buildings were evacuated according to fire drill procedures. A subsequent search also turned up nothing.

Van Meer said the caller was a young, adult male. The man said a building was "gonna go boom," at noon.

"We have well-defined procedures for handling these kinds of things," Van Meer said.

Making a bomb threat is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of up to $100 and 90 days in jail.

Police are continuing their investigation of possible suspects.

BATTERY MAINTENANCE

The modern battery, dating back to around 1979, is sealed and requires no fluid replacement. However, you probably should check and periodically clean the terminals, says the Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association. Be sure to disconnect the negative terminal first because you could create sparks by touching the positive terminal with a tool when the negative or ground cable is connected. Also, remove rings or other jewelry because the touch of metal against the battery post could cause a burn. A piece of sandpaper or a baking soda solution are good battery cleaning materials.

Academic Games Team Competes At Denby High

Chelsea's Academic Games team went to Denby High school on Saturday to compete in their third tournament. The team scored a total of 76 points. The competition once again was very tough.

The team practiced very hard on the way to the tournament and just before the competition started. Once the games started, the group was split up according to the difficulty level of the game.

The team will not be having their bake sale on Saturday, but they are still taking orders for personalized Christmas stockings. You may place your order by calling 475-7977.

Police Dept. Gets Color TV, VCR for Training Films

The purchase was authorized by the village council at its Dec. 3 meeting.

Christmas Concert Slated Thursday At High School

The annual Christmas concert by Chelsea High and Beach Middle school bands and other music groups, is Thursday night at 7:30 in the high school gym. It is free and open to the public.

The concert will feature both Christmas music and other arrangements. A main attraction of the evening will be a narration of "The Night Before Christmas," by Pastor John Morris of Zion Lutheran church.

The center of attention will switch around throughout the concert, as the high school band, junior high bands, brass ensemble, Madri Guys, Contemporaries, concert band and choirs will alternately be in the spotlight.

Some of the featured music for the evening will include, "Greensleeves," by the high school band, "Jingle Bell Rock," by the Beach choir and orchestra, "Alleluia," by the concert choir, "O, Tannenbaum," by the Madri Guys, "Do You Hear What I Hear?" by the brass ensemble, and "We'll Dress the House," by the Contemporaries. There will also be a Christmas sing-along to conclude the show.

Varsity Cagers Defeat Saline, 52-51, With Jumper in Final Second

Senior guard Ken Martin nailed a 10-foot jump shot with one second left to give Chelsea a stunning 52-51 upset of the Saline Hornets last Friday night in the Chelsea gym.

In other action last Tuesday, the Bulldogs stopped Onsted, 56-39.

Martin's game-winner came after forward Mark Bareis missed a short jumper from the wing and the ball careened over everyone out to the foul line. Martin put the ball up without any hesitation and, as the line goes, hit nothing but net. Bareis' shot was a designed play called during a time out with just 13 seconds to play.

Chelsea had tied the game at 49 on a short jumper by Dan Bellus. Seconds later, Martin made a clean steal but was fouled as he attempted a lay-up. He made one of the two shots, to give the Bulldogs a one-point lead at 50-49. After Saline missed a shot, Bellus had a chance to give the Dogs some breathing room when he was fouled when going for a rebound. It was called a flagrant foul, and he missed both shots.

The next trip down the floor, on an in-bounds play, Martin went for a steal and fouled Mark Pear-sall, who coolly made both ends of a one-and-one. That gave the Hornets a one-point lead, setting the stage for Martin's heroics.

"I think we caught them at the right time because a lot of their players were on the football team and they had a long season this year—and I think they were a little over-confident going into the game," said Chelsea coach Rahn Rosentreter.

"They started their second string. I think we were out-manned at every position except one. That's no cut of our boys. They can bring mooses in off the bench and when I look at our bench I see boys 5-10 and 5-11. But our philosophy is 'defense wins games,' and when we can hold a team to 50 points or less we can find a way to win. Friday we found a way."

The Bulldogs could have given themselves a little cushion had they shot respectfully from the foul line. They missed more shots than they made (18-37), and several of those misses were on the front ends of one-and-one situations. Chelsea was in the bonus situation the entire second quarter and much of the second half.

Perhaps the most telling statistic of the game was Chelsea's dominance on the boards. The Bulldogs collected 18 offensive rebounds to the Hornets' seven, an amazing fact considering that the Hornets had a severe height advantage at center where John Jedele gave up a good four inches and nearly 50 pounds in bulk. Man-for-man, Saline was taller and beefier.

The Hornets, who also shot 50 percent in the first half, enroute to a 33-28 lead at half-time, only made four of 17 shots in the second half, and one of 10 in the fourth quarter.

Chelsea, on the other hand, only made nine field goals in the second half, three in the fourth quarter.

"We weren't what you'd call impressive," Rosentreter said.

"We only had three guys who made field goals. We did not do what we are capable of doing."

Martin, who took command of the game in the second half, led the Bulldogs with 23 points on seven field goals and nine free throws. Bareis connected for 16 points, with seven field goals. After that, the scoring dropped off considerably, with Bellus hitting for seven points, and Jedele and Todd Starkey each making three free throws each.

In the Onsted game, Chelsea outscored their guests, 35-19 in the second half after holding a slim three-point lead at half-time, 21-18.

"Onsted was bigger than us, but their big guy had three fouls by half-time and was on the bench a lot," Rosentreter said.

"(Jeff) Harvey, Bareis and Jedele played a strong game inside, and Marty Poljan came in and had a couple of rebounds and a blocked shot, which helped out a lot. It was just an enjoyable team effort."

Chelsea seemed as though they might squander the half-time lead as they threw the ball away on each of their first three possessions in the third quarter.

"We called a time out immediately and told them a few things we wouldn't want to have repeated, but we essentially told them to wake up and play like they're taught to play," Rosentreter said.

"That seemed to be the thing they needed because from there they went on a tear."

Bareis and Martin led the scoring with 15 and 14 points, respectively. Jedele followed with nine, Starkey had eight, Harvey had four, and Bellus, Ray Spencer and Matt Steinhauer each had two points.

OFFENSIVE REBOUNDING was one of Chelsea's strong suits against the favored Saline Hornets last Friday night, as the Bulldogs nipped the Hornets at the buzzer, 52-51. Above, center

John Jedele (partially hidden) attempts to tip the ball out to Mark Bareis (right), while Dan Bellus (12) looks on.

Varsity Swim Team Has Hectic Week

Chelsea's varsity boys swim team had a hectic week last week, losing their first meet to Ypsilanti, 92-80, winning their second meet on Thursday over Okemos, 101-71, and taking sixth place in the Eastern Michigan University Relays on Saturday.

In the Ypsilanti meet, Chelsea won first place in nine of 11 events, but Ypsilanti's depth proved to be the deciding factor of the meet.

The results of Chelsea swimmers in the Ypsilanti meet follow.

7th Grade Cagers Defeat Saline, Milan

Chelsea's 7th grade cagers came together on their home court Tuesday to defeat Saline in a thrilling game with a score of 22 to 21. There was never more than a three-point margin throughout the entire game.

The climax of the game came with Kerry Plank shooting one-and-one from the free throw line with the Bulldogs trailing by one point. Kerry sank both free throws which gave Chelsea the winning margin. Kerry also led the team with a total of 13 points, followed by Jude Quilter with nine points. Tucker Steele, Vince Dunn and Jeremy Stephens had many assists and handled the ball extremely well.

The Bulldogs traveled to Milan on Thursday, Dec. 12 to continue their winning streak by out-scoring Milan, 33 to 17.

The Chelsea team played very poorly the first half of the game and found themselves trailing Milan, 13-7, at half-time. The cagers came back in the second half with a full court press and good team work to out-score Milan, 26-4. Leading scorers for the Bulldogs were Kerry Plank with 12 points, Jude Quilter 9, Tucker Steele 6, Alex Hamerschmidt, Chris Haugen and Jeremy Stephens each adding 2 points.

The Bulldogs will travel to Lincoln Tuesday the 17th and will host Dexter on Thursday the 19th.

JV Cagers Defeat Saline at the Buzzer

John Cattell scored only two points for the Chelsea junior varsity basketball team against Saline last Friday, but he made them count. Cattell hit two clutch free throws in the final seconds of the game to give the Bulldogs a 46-45 victory over the highly-regarded Hornets.

In other action last week, the Bulldogs were ripped by a good Onsted club, 63-42, on Tuesday.

In the Saline contest, the Bulldogs fought back from a 22-17 half-time deficit, hitting 11-22 field goals in the second half.

"We finally got our offense together in the second half, and we were scoring much better from the inside," said Chelsea coach Ted Hendricks. "Plus, we rebounded a lot better. I thought we might catch it after the way we played against Onsted on Tuesday. I was real proud of the kids for re-grouping like they did."

The game wasn't necessarily a thing of beauty, although it had its share of excitement at the end. The Bulldogs committed 27 turnovers for the game, too many to win most other games. However, Saline reciprocated with 29 turnovers of their own.

Chelsea also shot less than 50 percent from the foul line until Cattell sank his shots. Over-all the Dogs made 10 of 19 from the line.

Matt Monroe led a balanced Chelsea attack with 12 points, 10 from the field. Forward Tim Anderson contributed 10 points, eight from the field. Four points came on two of his three offensive rebounds. Freshman Junior Morseau, starting his first game at guard, had nine points, and center Greg Boughton had eight. Rounding out the scoring were Clay Hurd with five points and Cattell with two.

Anderson led the team in rebounding with seven, and Boughton, Morseau, Monroe and Hurd each had four.

"This is really a good shot in the arm for us," Hendricks said. "Going into the game, I thought Saline had the best JV team in the league."

In Onsted, the Bulldogs ran into a team that "was much quicker than we were," which showed up in the second quarter as the guests outscored Chelsea 24-6, essentially putting the game out of reach at half-time, 42-14.

"They just got hot in the second quarter and there wasn't much we could do about it," Hendricks said. "They made all seven field goal tries in the quarter, and they weren't lay-ups."

Onsted was hot most of the night, hitting 30 of 58 field goal tries, but only three of 13 free throw attempts.

Chelsea helped the Onsted cause by committing 38 turnovers, 22 in the first half alone.

"The turnovers just killed us," Hendricks said. "But they were a very good team, and we couldn't do much to stop them. I was pleased by the fact that we outscored them by seven points in the second half. The boys did a super job just sticking in there and putting forth the effort even though they were so far down."

Cattell led the team in scoring with 18 points. Morseau and Anderson each scored seven, Phil Thomson had six, Robert Clouse had five, and Hurd, Kevan Flanigan, Scott Gelitzen and Boughton all checked in with two points. Jeff Doering had one point.

The split gives the Bulldogs a 1-2 record on the season, after the previous week's opening 59-51 loss to Brooklyn Columbia Central. Monroe and Hurd led the scoring in that game with 19 and 13 points, respectively.

LEARNING HOW TO SEW will be boys at St. Louis School as the Lioness and Lions Clubs of Chelsea, and the Viking Sewing Center of Ann Arbor, teamed up to make a gift of a $500 sewing machine to the school last week. Using the machine will be a new experience for the boys, as all the sewing they had done was by hand. The machine will be used by classroom 106, headed by

Students Select Gifts for Parents at Santa's Workshop

There was hustle and bustle at North school last week as all children shopped for Christmas gifts for family and friends at "Santa's Workshop."

PTN, the parent group at North school, provided the service, co-chaired by Shauna Mote and Jan Lane.

Gifts were priced for children's budgets with parent "elves" on hand to assist in choices and do the wrapping.

Christmas music and decorations added to the excitement as children made their purchases.

Chelsea Student In France for Fall Semester

Chelsea resident Diane Moller, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Moller, Jr., 14148 Hay Rake Hollow, is spending the fall semester in Grenoble, France as part of the Off-Campus Studies program at Albion College.

Moller is a graduate of Chelsea High school and is majoring in French and economics at Albion. As part of the semester abroad, students have an opportunity to travel independently and with other students. Grenoble, an industrial city located at the foot of the Italian Alps is home to nine Albion students this fall. While they live with host families in Grenoble, Albion students study at the University of Grenoble's language school for foreigners.

Albion College, founded in 1835, is located in the south central Michigan town of the same name. A private, co-educational, liberal arts college, Albion has over 1,500 students from 30 states and 11 foreign countries.

Chocolate is a favorite behavioral tool. Parents often use M & M's for toilet training or a hot fudge sundae to reward a good report card.

THE PTN CHRISTMAS BAZAAR at North school last week enabled youngsters to buy presents for family and friend at a reasonable price. Above, parents Stephanie Hafner, center,

last week. Presents, fitting a child's budget, were available, as parent "elves" helped them make the purchases.

JEANNE QUINLAN, a teacher at St. Louis School for Boys, gives a lesson on the sewing machine to Chris Pariseau. The machine was donated to Quinlan's class as a combined project of the Lioness and Lions Clubs of Chelsea, and Viking Sewing Center of Ann Arbor.

Judo is believed to have been developed in the 1880s by a Japanese, Jigoro Kano, a little man who wanted to defend himself against bullies.

Old Newsboys Short $145,000 in Christmas Fund

Old Newsboys Goodfellows Fund of Detroit is $145,000 short of reaching its goal of $625,000. The money is needed to provide Christmas packages to 45,000 needy children between the ages of 5 and 13 years.

"We provide packages for one out of every three school children in the city," said Goodfellow Fund president Conrad Koski. "We try to make sure there is no kiddie without a Christmas."

The packages contain a pair of jeans, underwear, socks, a hat, gloves, a sweatshirt, a game or toy, a puzzle or book and some candy. Girls between 5 and 8 years also receive a beautifully dressed doll.

Goodfellows is a unique organization in that all money raised goes toward helping children. Administrative costs are provided for out of member's dues.

People wishing to make a tax deductible contribution may send it to The Old Newsboy's Goodfellow Fund, P.O. Box 32702, Detroit 48232.

THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE A CAT'S HOME for this possum, which made itself comfortable in the home of Ed GreenLeaf's cat.

WHAT BEGAN AS A CAT HOUSE has turned into a possum house for the GreenLeaf family on S. Main St. Above, Eddie and Heather GreenLeaf wonder what to do with the intruder.

Friendly Possum Takes Over Cat's Residence

The Ed GreenLeaf family of S. Main St., Chelsea, recently discovered that not only do cats like cat food, but opossums like it too!

They also discovered that not only do opossums like cat food, they like the cat's house as well.

The GreenLeaf cat "Hummer" was run out of house and home by a friendly opossum who decided "Hummer's" spacious cat house located just outside the GreenLeaf home was better than a tree any day of the week.

It was all discovered innocently enough one day when Ed reached in to pet "Hummer", but the fur didn't feel quite right—it was a little coarser, a little stiffer, and he felt a cold wet nose and remarked to his son, Eddie who was standing beside him, that Hummer had a really cold nose.

Eddie replied "Hummer isn't in his house he is right here beside us."

Ed tried all methods he could think of to get the passive opossum out of Hummer's house. Not knowing exactly what to do he called the police department and the Department of Natural Resources. They didn't want to fool with it either.

So Ed loaded Hummer's house, with opossum still inside in his truck and put it down in back of Ed's place of business the Chelsea Lanes, no short walk to his home.

Next morning the opossum was no longer in the cat house, so Ed took it back home to its rightful owner.

Four days later, Heather, the GreenLeafs' daughter, went outside to see Hummer. There Hummer was, this time inside his house watching the opossum just outside eating Hummer's food.

RESOLUTION REQUESTING MPPA PROJECT STUDY OF INDIVIDUAL & INTEGRATED POWER SUPPLY NEEDS AND RESOURCES-PHASE II

WHEREAS, the Village of Chelsea, Michigan (the "Participant"), is a member of the Michigan Public Power Agency (the "Agency"), an agency formed to meet the future electric needs of its member municipalities; and

WHEREAS, it is anticipated that the expenses of the Agency will be met in the following manner:

1. General administrative expenses will be paid from dues to be received by the Agency from all members of the Agency.
2. Project costs will be paid by members of the Project Committee.

WHEREAS, Project Study Costs, such as engineering fees, legal fees, financial consulting fees, travel costs and others must be incurred by the Agency to investigate the desirability of a suggested project; and

WHEREAS, Project Study Costs must be paid by the Agency whether or not a project is finally acquired; and

WHEREAS, the Agency, on December 13, 1984, accepted an Engineering Report—Power Supply Study (the "Report") dated October 31, 1984, completed by R. W. Beck and Associates on behalf of the Agency; and

WHEREAS, the Report indicated, among other things, that:

1. There appears to be sufficient generating capacity among MPPA's members to meet their combined needs until the year 2000.
2. There are substantial savings to MPPA's members from a combined dispatch of the resources of Agency members; and

WHEREAS, certain Agency members have expressed an interest in having the Agency continue to study the feasibility of an integrated operation and to negotiate the agreements necessary to accomplish this integration, with the goal of obtaining dependable power resources for the future and significant economic benefit to the members; now

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, by the Village of Chelsea as follows:

1. The Participant herein requests membership in the Power Resources Study Committee—Phase II.
2. The Participant herein agrees to pay the Agency $12,272.53, being the Participant's share of the project costs through October 1985.
3. The Participant herein agrees to reimburse the Agency on a regular basis for its share of Phase II—Study Costs incurred after October 1985 as determined by the Project Committee up to a maximum of $7,000.00.
4. The Participants herein understand and agree that these project costs, above mentioned, will not be reimbursed by the Agency at a later date, unless the Project Study results in a revenue generating project of the Agency.

Motion by Fulks, supported by Radloff, to adopt the above resolution as read. Roll call: Ayes—Steele, Finch, Fulks, Radloff, Merkel and Kanten. Nays—None. Motion carried. Resolution adopted.

Act 386, P. A. of 1985 regarding Fire Insurance Escrow Account was discussed and will be acted upon at a later meeting.

Motion by Radloff, supported by Steele, to appoint Campbell, Kusterer and Walraven as auditor for the fiscal period ending February 28, 1986. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried.

Motion by Radloff, supported by Fulks, to elect Jerry Morford of Grayling, Bruce K. Potthoff of Milford, Michael P. Tyler of Berkley,

Mary Ann Zielinski, of Centerline as Directors to the Michigan Municipal Liability and Property Pool for two (2) year terms beginning January 1, 1986; and Carlyle Kitson of Sturgis for a one (1) year term beginning January 1, 1986. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried.

Motion by Kanten, supported by Steele, to adjourn. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried. Meeting adjourned.

Evelyn Rosentreter, Secretary.

Manchester Schools Tell Severe Weather Procedure

With the severe weather season here once again, Manchester schools have reviewed the procedures for advising parents regarding the conditions of roads and the status of school closings.

Whenever possible, the school district attempts to make the decision regarding school closing on the prior evening. Generally, however, snow and wind conditions do not make this procedure possible.

In order to determine the conditions of the road, Rusty LeFurge, transportation supervisor, begins to personally examine known troublesome locations by 4:30 a.m. He also places a call to several bus drivers who live in various areas of the school district in order to gather additional information. LeFurge is scheduled to arrive at the bus garage no later than 5:45 a.m. He once again contacts several drivers and the County Road Commission before calling Superintendent Gene Thompson to discuss the situation. The decision regarding school closing is made before 6 a.m.

Manchester Community Schools work with the Michigan Department of State Police, the news media, the national weather service and the law enforcement information network (LEIN) to provide information to parents. By 6 a.m. the schools have contacted the LEIN police agency using a code number. Strict security precautions prevent unauthorized persons from making calls to disrupt school operations. The police LEIN operator will not accept the call unless the code number is used.

Many area radio stations then pick up the LEIN message, among them, WJW-AM, WJR-AM/FM, WABX-FM, WOMC-FM.

In addition, individual calls are made to WPAG, WAAM, and WEMU.

Following calls to the various radio stations, individual administrators are contacted so that they can begin fan-out calls to their staff members.

Parents are urged to listen to the radio stations which have been listed in order to obtain the latest information regarding school closing.

"I admit that I am a chocoholic," begins the Chocoholic Code written by Dr. Wilson. "I am unable to control the voice within me that says 'truffle'. I promise to endure a never-ending quest for the perfect fudge and will continue to criticize restaurants who do not put chocolate on the menu. I will never criticize a fellow chocoholic who may like it dark, though I like it milk; and I will always look sideways at a friend who orders vanilla ice-cream. Finally, I pledge to hold my head up high when I dunk Oreos into cocoa and say, 'I am a chocoholic and I am proud'."

Consumer's Guide to Phone Service Offered

It seems like everywhere you look (and listen), there are ads for long distance telephone companies. "Save money . . ." "No monthly fee . . ." "Compare prices . . ." "Top quality . . ." And now people are being told that as part of the break-up of AT&T, they have to choose a long distance company. For most people, this is a new process. They are not sure what questions to ask, nor how to compare services, nor even which companies handle long distance calls.

A new, free booklet called A Consumer's Guide to Telephone Service will help you learn more about long distance, what the choices mean for your service, and how you can compare the options from different companies. It also has a great deal of information about local telephone service. Published jointly by the United States Office of Consumer Affairs, the Bell Atlantic Telephone Companies, and the Consumer Information Center of the U.S. General Services Administration, A Consumer's Guide to Telephone Service is available free on a first-come, first-served basis when you send your name and address to Consumer Information Center, Dept. 618N, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

Up to now, you have been able to reach Aunt Hattie clear across the country by dialing 1, the area code, and the number—a total of eleven digits—and you could use either a rotary or tone phone. Then new long distance companies began to offer their services, and to reach Aunt Hattie, you had to dial the computer, your access code, the area code, and the number—as many as 24 digits—if you had a tone phone to communicate with the computer that would place your call.

About a year ago, phone service changed again. Now most consumers will be able to make a long distance call using whatever long distance company they choose without having to dial any extra digits, and they will be able to use a rotary or tone phone. This is called "easy dialing" or "equal access." Easy dialing is being introduced gradually, but most people will have to choose a primary long distance company by September 1986. If you don't choose one, one will be assigned to you.

In the meantime, here are some suggestions from A Consumer's Guide to Telephone Service to help you decide whether a long distance company will meet your needs:

1. Analyze your long distance habits. Your phone bills for the past few months will tell you where you called, how long the calls lasted, and what time and which day of the week they were made. They will also tell you whether you made operator-assisted or credit card calls. Put together a sample bill that represents the past few months.
2. Call the long distance companies that interest you. Ask them to quote a price for one of your sample bills. Give them all of the information. A Consumer's Guide to Telephone Service has a worksheet to record the answers so you can compare them. Also ask for the information to be sent to you in writing. Ask about any special needs you may have for operator assistance, access in cities other than your own, cost of long distance information, minimum charges, etc. Find out if you can try a call or two with the company to make sure the quality is what you want.

3. Using the information on your worksheet from A Consumer's Guide to Telephone Service and the information the companies have sent you, make your choice. You will have a primary long distance company (there will be no cost for picking the first company) and you may select as many others as you wish to establish accounts with.

Then it is a good idea to go through this process about once a year to make sure the long distance company you chose is still the best for you. It may cost you to switch, but it could still be worth it. To learn more about local service, how to choose a long distance service, and to get the worksheets to simplify these choices, send for a free copy of A Consumer's Guide to Telephone Service. At the same time, you will also receive a free copy of the Consumer Information Catalog. Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the U.S. General Services Administration, the Catalog has more than 200 other free and moderately priced federal booklets on a wide variety of subjects.

You can credit the Aztecs of Mexico for the invention of chocolate. They learned to roast the beans and mix them with water and cinnamon to make a cold, bitter cocoa-like drink they called cachaulli. In 1519, the explorer Hernando Cortes improved the mixture with cane sugar, vanilla, adapted its Indian name, chocolati, and later took the beans and the recipe back to Spain. At first only royalty was allowed to drink it, but word eventually spread throughout Europe. It got to be a favorite drink in English coffee houses in the 1600's.

CHARLES STONER was named Chelsea Mason of the Year.

Charles Stoner Selected Chelsea Mason of Year

Members of the Chelsea Masonic organization have selected as their Mason of the Year, Charles Stoner, of Gregory.

Stoner entered Masonry in Fort Wayne, Ind., in 1952, then moved to the Chelsea area, where he has lived, with his wife, Marilyn, since 1969.

Stoner is active in the Ann Arbor White Shrine, as an officer. He has been the head of all the Masonic orders in Chelsea. He is a 32nd degree, in the Scottish Rite Masons, as well as York Rite, and was very involved in the Boy Scouts, for many years. His son, Michael, is still active, in scouts, as well as being a member of the Armed Forces. There will be a special presentation made to him at the annual Masonic Banquet in February.

French Canadians, believing that it is unlucky if a cat meows in the house on Christmas Eve, feed their cats especially well on December 24.

RONNIE JOHN COLE, 3, had a chance to whisper his holiday wishes to The Jolly One last Saturday as Santa made his second appearance in the vicinity. Ronnie, the son of Ron and Elizabeth Cole of Pleasant Lake in Jackson Co., is the great-grandson of Dudley Foster of St. James and the late Angie Foster, formerly of Chelsea. The Lions Club and Chelsea merchants brought Santa from the North Pole.

MSU Offering Regional Horse Shortcourses

People interested in learning the basics about buying and caring for a horse will find substantial information in a series of four regional shortcourses offered by Michigan State University.

The series begins the second week in January and contains five sessions on how to select and maintain a sound horse, control of horse diseases and parasites, equine nutrition, first aid and emergency care, and breeding and foaling.

The shortcourse fee is $25 per person, which includes notebook and materials, or $20 per person without a notebook. Advance prepaid registration is requested. Make checks payable to Co-operative Extension Service, and forward to the appropriate county extension office listed below. Registrations will also be accepted at the first meeting if space is available.

Registration will be held from 6 to 6:45 p.m. before the first session. Each program session will run from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

The program will be held at the following locations:

Kalamazoo Valley Community College, Kalamazoo, Jan. 13, 20 and 27, and Feb. 3 and 10. Contact the Kalamazoo County Co-operative Extension Service, at (616) 383-8830 for applications and program details.

Milford High School, Milford, Jan. 14, 21 and 28, and Feb. 4 and 11. Contact the Oakland County Co-operative Extension Service, (313) 858-0880, for applications and program details.

Frankenmuth Middle School, Frankenmuth, Jan. 15, 22 and 29, and Feb. 5 and 12. Contact the Saginaw County co-operative Extension Service; (517) 790-5291 for applications and program details.

Cadillac Community School Auditorium, Cadillac, Jan. 16, 23 and 30, and Feb. 6 and 13. Contact the Wexford County Co-operative Extension Service (615) 779-9480, for applications and program details.

JUMP STARTING

To jump start a car, here's a list of helpful steps from the Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association:

1. Pull the two cars nose-to-nose but not touching.
2. Make sure—ignitions off, accessories off, gears in park or neutral, parking brakes on. Batteries same voltage—these days that's probably 12 volts.
3. Use approved jumper cables. Attach red clamps to the positive (+) terminals on both cars. Then attach black cable to the positive terminal in booster car and to any metal bolt or bracket on the engine of the disabled car.
4. Start booster car, start stalled car.
5. Remove clamps in reverse order.

INTRODUCING THE NEW JOHN DEERE 100 SERIES

The $115* you don't spend this year will buy a lot more lawn tractor than last year

New John Deere 100 Series tractors offer you a lot more than last year's 100 Series...and, in most cases, for a lot less.
Five models in the brand new line sell for $1149 to $1770 less and two models sell for the same suggested list prices as their 1985 counterparts.

What's new for '86? Virtually everything. Sleek styling with new hoodlines and sporty 2-spoke steering wheel. Fully enclosed 9 to 17 hp engines for quieter, more powerful performance. Full pressure lubrication for better productivity and longer engine life.

Choose 5 speed gear drive. Or no clutch, one lever hydrostatic drive. Either way, the mowing is easy with sector and pinion steering, light 21 to 23 inch turning radius and 30, 38 or 46 inch mowing deck. Set us today. And get a real run for your money with a new John Deere.

*Average model suggested list price of $1599.00. See the new line complete in the back pages of this issue. Dealer price may vary by state. Nothing Runs Like a Deere®

KELLY KENTALA, right, celebrated her fifth birthday by presenting a poinsettia she had made to Ruby Stanhope of Chelsea Methodist Home, after the concert given by the Chelsea Public Schools morning kindergarten classes from both South and North elementary schools. Kelly is in Mrs. Carlson's class at North school and lives at 6640 Clear Lake Rd., Waterloo township and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Kental.

Kindergarten Classes Present Concert at Methodist Home

All the public school morning kindergartners in Chelsea showed up to present their annual Christmas Music Concert for residents of the Chelsea Methodist Home at 805 Middle St. on Dec. 10.

The 85 students from Mrs. Klink's and Mrs. Bower's South school classes and Mrs. Carlson's and Ms. Plank's North school classes presented a variety of songs for the pleasure of the residents. Songs were divided into months, starting with those learned in September and ending with December's Holiday favorites.

Old standbys such as "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star" brought smiles from the audience. Ties tapped to a lively rendition of "Over the River and Through the Woods." The audience joined in to sing "Deck the Halls" and "Santa Claus Is Coming to Town."

Mrs. Mouilleseaux accompanied the singers on the piano and the students used sleigh bells and other rhythm instruments as well as hand-made reindeer puppets to enhance the performance. After singing 30 songs, the tiny students gave gifts of poinsettias they had made to their delighted audience and stopped to chat.

Marlow McMellen and Nele Lorah, who both said that they had not been Chelsea residents long, thoroughly enjoyed the performance and Marlow pointed out the importance of having young people in your life. Margaret Brochman taught school for many years and was pleased with the songs as well as the memories and good feelings the children brought back.

She went on to say that she understands and appreciates the work and care that goes into such a performance by teachers and students.

With a twinkle in his eye, Harold Hotchkiss spoke about his grandchildren ranging in age from two through college, and how proud he is of his family. Another resident talked of closing her eyes to remember being bundled in a blanket and riding with her father in their horse-drawn sleigh as she listened to "Jingle Bells."

Elenore Rowe, 90, grew up in a large family "in the hills" and although her failing eyesight made it difficult for her to see the children, the music "made my heart sing." Ruby Stanhope was impressed with the good behavior and how well the many songs were presented.

Activity director Bill Champion explained that the presentation has been done annually for many years and was always looked forward to and appreciated.

Swimming . . .

400 freestyle relay: 1. Chelsea A, 3:43.74; 3. B, 4:04.11.
Diving: 1. Westhoven, 193.71; 3. Lewis, 173.85; 4. Lulick, 121.75.

The EMU relays featured many of the area's best swimmers.

The only Chelsea team to take a first place was the backstroke relay team of Miller, Doan, Degener and Nemeth in 1:48.8.

Bulldogs who finished in the top six received medals. They included the 200 medley relay team of Miller, Degener, Pryor and Nemeth, 1:45.8, good for second place; 200 freestyle relay team of Doan, Birtles, Girard and Pryor, in 1:38.6, good for fifth place; diving relay team of Westhoven and Tyler took second place; and the 400 freestyle relay team of Nemeth, Girard, Degener, and Pryor.

"I was very pleased by the times that were turned in this week," said coach Mike Keeler. "We have a young team, but the guys are very hard-working."

"The game was good from the viewpoint that we were able to get a lot of playing time for the bench," noted coach Quilter. Dave Adams, Mike Kushmaul, Loren Keezer, Jason Overdorf and Scott Saliman all played very well defensively. I believe this will help us further down the road because playing time helps build a kid's confidence and team confidence in each other," said coach Quilter.

"The team has worked hard so far, as long as they keep working hard and developing we should be alright," said coach Quilter.

Monday's game is away, against Brooklyn Columbia Central, and will be the last game till after Christmas break.

Stolen Cadillac Recovered Here By Chelsea Police

A 1981 gold Cadillac reported stolen on Dec. 10, was recovered by Chelsea police Dec. 12 in a field 50 yards off the end of Brown Rd.

Police said the vehicle belonged to Jeff King, 6600 Portage Lake Rd., Munith. The car was initially seen by a Washtenaw County Road Commission employee who was driving to work.

Police said the car was "pretty well banged up," from hitting numerous small trees in the field, and probably left the road at a high rate of speed. They said the interior was not damaged, and no keys were recovered.
