Agreement Possible in Teacher Contract Talks

Chelsea school district teacher contract negotiations were scheduled to begin last Sunday and end yesterday after the Standard's deadline, if expedited bargaining arrangements were successful.

According to Jim Bechtelheimer, local spokesman for the teachers, the teachers and district had reached tentative agreement "on other issues classified as minor," before the expedited bargaining began. He said those agreements had not been ratified, and he would not say what those issues were.

"I'm optimistic that we'll get an agreement this month," Bechtelheimer said. "I think both sides are optimistic."

Members of the teachers' bargaining team include Jim Winter, Marcia Quilter, Bert Kruse, and Dave Stafford of the Michigan Education Association.

In a related issue, the school board is expected to pass a formal budget resolution at next Monday's regular meeting. That means the board will have to decide just how much additional millage to ask for in the June 9 elections.

The State Equalized Value of property within the district is expected to fall about $1.5 million, which translates to a loss of $53,000 in revenues, adding to the district's financial woes. Most of that drop is expected to be in the value of farmland.

The district's operating millage (one mill is $1 for each $1,000 of assessed value) has been 35.62 since the 1983-84 school year. That year the expedited bargaining took place in August.

Between 1982 and 1983 property values plummeted more than $10 million, from more than $183 million to about $173 million. That year voters approved a 2.9 mill hike for three years. No additional millage has been asked for, or approved since. However, property values are not back to their 1982 levels.

The Chelsea district is an out-of-formula district, which essentially means it is on its own as far as revenues are concerned. A district which meets the state's formula receives additional state money.

Home Meals Service Needs More Drivers

Chelsea Home Meals Service needs substitute drivers. Meals are delivered seven days a week to the ill and the elderly in the Chelsea area. Many people could not remain in their own homes without this service.

Drivers pick up meals at the Methodist Home at 11:15 a.m. and deliver, using their own car. The approximate time involved is one hour.

Any person wishing to serve as a back-up driver may obtain more information by calling Joyce Manley, 475-2785.

N.Y. Times Microfilm File Offered As Gift

Chelsea school district has the chance to become the recipient of a $95,000 educational tool that would put it in the elite of high schools in the world.

University Microfilms of Ann Arbor has offered to give the district a complete collection of the New York Times, on microfilm, from 1851 through 1985, for the cost of shipment from New York. The district would also have to buy a microfilm reader. Total estimated costs are $3,000-$5,000.

Kenneth Tillman, vice-president of newspaper publishing at University Microfilms, and a Chelsea school district resident, made the offer in an extensive letter to the school board recently.

"There are probably only 25 to 50 schools in the world that have the entire collection," Tillman said.

"It's a very unusual set of circumstances that have made this collection available. The Times has an extra set and in effect they wanted to give it back. I thought about it and thought we could put it to better use."

University Microfilms contracts with newspapers all over the country, including the New York Times, to put their back issues on microfilm for easy reference and storage, as one part of their business. They also microfilm periodicals, theses and other written works.

Tillman said that this would be the first time his company has donated such a collection, and that if Chelsea declined to accept the gift, it would be offered to another school district.

The collection, Tillman said, would fill about four large cabinets, but the actual newspaper would more than fill Chelsea High school.

Although it is up to the school board to accept the gift, superintendent Ray Van Meer said he is optimistic the district won't pass on it.

"I see this gift as one that would be used not only by the high school, but by the entire community," Van Meer said.

"I can see a lot of great possibilities." The collection could be updated yearly for around $800, Tillman said.

"There are so many assignments that could be given in just about every subject area," Tillman said.

High school principal John Williams and media specialist Sherrill Pryor have been looking into how to use and set up the collection.

"We don't want to accept a gift like this without a commitment to use it," Van Meer said.

Tillman said that the Hill School, an elite private school in Pennsylvania, purchased the collection through a matching grant from the Ford Foundation. He said he thought Chelsea civic organization might be interested in helping out with the cost if it presented a problem for the school district.

Camp Helpers To Meet

Parents who are involved with helping out with this year's sixth grade camp should meet tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at Beach Middle school.

Village Storm Sewer Repair Work Begins on Section of W. Middle St.

The village will begin rebuilding 900 feet of storm sewer this week on W. Middle St., and some streets in the area will be closed to through traffic, according to Assistant Village Administrator Lee Fahrner.

Beginning tomorrow, Grant St. from South St. to W. Middle will be closed, along with the portion of W. Middle St. from the fire station west to Hayes St. Those streets will be closed to through traffic until July 1.

"The existing sewer has collapsed in two or three places along W. Middle St.," Fahrner said. "It's causing a big run-off problem on the vacant lot adjacent to 330 W. Middle St."

The construction is projected to cost approximately $100,000, Fahrner said. Village labor will be used to dig up the street and replace the sewer, and the rest of the job will be contracted out, with bids likely to be reviewed at the May 6 village council meeting.

Fahrner estimates that 800 manhours of public works labor will be required to finish the project, and about $23,000 of materials will be required to rebuild the sewer.

The street will have to be dug up, the sewer removed and replaced, and the street and curb rebuilt.

Local traffic to the area will be maintained, Fahrner said, until the very end of the project, when local residents might have to park away from their homes for a couple of days.

The project was included in this year's street repairs budget, Fahrner said.

Exterior Repair Work Underway on Depot

One hundred six years after its construction, carpenters have returned to the Chelsea rail depot to repair and restore the exterior of the building.

Under the direction of Bob Bauer, Chelsea building contractor, all boards and external wood structures that have aged beyond repair, or suffered damage, are being carefully removed and replicated. Broken or damaged parts of the ornamental woodwork—the "gingerbread" of 19th century architecture—are also being duplicated by local craftsmen.

All of the woodwork repairs will have been completed by the end of May. Painters employed by Charles Shiver will then begin removing the old exterior paint. Windows and transoms will be replaced with new double-paned insulating glass.

Three layers of paint exactly matching the Michigan Central station colors of the 1880's will restore the Chelsea depot to its original stateliness. A few barely noticeable improvements along the west and south walls are necessary to comply with modern building codes, aid ventilation or enable access by handicapped visitors.

Now that the work of restoration is actually under way, the property is eligible for insurance and this has been arranged through the Springer Agency. The building is insured for $15,000 and this coverage will be steadily increased as improvements are brought to completion. The liability policy is for $500,000.

All contributors who have enabled the Chelsea Depot Association to purchase the building and rehabilitate the exterior have received handsomely lithographed donor certificates suitable for framing.

Registered and numbered certificates of the same series will be awarded to contributors in the forthcoming campaign to refinish the interior. Subscription cards may be obtained by writing the Chelsea Depot Association, P.O. Box C, Chelsea, or phoning 475-7332.

Rod & Gun Marks 50th Anniversary

A gala dance open to all adults in Chelsea and its vicinity is to be held Saturday night at the Chelsea Rod & Gun Club. Chet's Combo from Jackson will provide music of any sort desired by the celebrants who will begin dancing at 8 p.m.

The special event takes place as the Rod and Gun Club marks its 50th anniversary. There will be hors d'oeuvres and service at the club's soda bar. Guests may also bring beverages of their own.

The club, at 7103 Lingane Rd., has ample parking and may be approached from the south via Bush Rd. or by Waterloo Rd. from the north. Tickets are $14 per couple.

Guests will be welcome by clubmen and by members of the women's auxiliary.

TIMBERS DAMAGED at the southwest corner of the depot roof are being removed by Jim Bauer (top) and Jerry Barth. Damage was believed done by a truck with an extra high trailer.

BOB BAUER, Chelsea building contractor, supervises his crew of carpenters as they remove damaged woodwork on the exterior of the Chelsea depot. Craftsmen will replace the removed parts with exact replicas.

ROD SWEENEY, on scaffold, removed metal piping that was used as a conduit for electrical wires from underside of the roof. The pipe could not have been part of the 1880 building since Thomas Edison had invented the incandescent electric lamp just the year before.

Rash of Burglaries Reported in Area

A rash of burglaries has occurred in the Chelsea-Grass Lake area recently outside the jurisdiction of the Chelsea Police Department.

The Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department has said the crimes may have been committed by the same person or persons. They were almost all committed during working hours when the residents were not home.

However, in one case last Wednesday in the 4900 block of Chelsea-Manchester Rd., a resident walked in on the intruders and was subsequently tied up with nylon stockings and put on a bed while the thieves continued their work, according to Deputy Lee Collier. She was also threatened with a screwdriver and knife. She later cut herself free using a pair of scissors, Collier said.

The woman described the thieves as two young white men. Missing was a television, stereo, computer equipment, microwave oven, miscellaneous coins and about $75 in cash, totaling about $2,500.

The woman called police from the Chrysler Proving Grounds because the thieves pulled the telephones out of the wall, Collier said.

Collier said the thieves probably entered the home through an attached garage at the back by breaking a window.

The day before, Tuesday, April 8, someone stole an assortment of cash and merchandise from a home in the 17000 block of Fahrner Rd. between 9:30 a.m. and 2 p.m.

According to Collier, no one was home at the time of the theft. Reported missing were a television, jewelry, a videocassette recorder, ladies luggage, $280 in cash, $60 in change, a 16 gauge shotgun, and two shotguns.

In recent weeks, a similar theft took place at 4025 Kalmbach Rd. while the residents were on vacation.

The Jackson County Sheriff's Department has also reported two burglaries in the 4000 block of Willis Rd. in Grass Lake since the end of February.

On Feb. 28, between 7:30 and 10:30 p.m., someone stole a videocassette recorder, two color televisions, a cassette deck, stereo equipment, jewelry and (Continued on page five)

JILL SCHAFFNER has been entered by Chelsea High school into the state competition for a national award sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution. The award is based on leadership, dependability, service and patriotism. The senior class selects three students, and the high school faculty selected Jill from the group. As part of the process, Jill also had to take a rigorous examination on government.

Joyce A. Scott, secretary to R. A. (Gus) Steger, CPA, of Chelsea, has been named Secretary of the Year by the Huron Valley Chapter of Professional Secretaries International. PFI, founded in 1942, is a non-profit, professional association uniting its members for the purpose of upgrading the standards of secretarial performance by means of continuing education.

Dennis Petsch recently spent two months with an evangelical missionary in Japan, northwest of Tokyo to teach English and work on construction repair of a Christian camp in Karizawa. Dennis found Japan "a different place." He found the language difficult, materials expensive and no street signs in English—but, most important, the Japanese were very friendly. The cost of living was high. Gasoline was $3.50 per gallon and roast beef could be purchased for $68 per pound.

The Waterloo Natural History Association was named this year's outstanding non-profit organization for environmental achievement by the Michigan Audubon Society. The award was presented to Emilie Polens and Carol Strahler, co-directors of the Waterloo Nature Center, at the Michigan Audubon convention in Grand Rapids April 3.

PSC's Fermi Order Includes record Hike, Largest Disallowance
 A delayed $403.8 million phase rate increase for Detroit Edison's Fermi 2 nuclear power plant was recently approved by a unanimous Public Service Commission, which also disallowed as imprudent expenditures $397 million of the plant's cost.

The increase and the disallowance for the first nuclear plant to be put into operation since 1979 were the largest ever authorized by the PSC.

Commissioners said the order was only $6 million less, and virtually identical to the one the PSC was prepared to issue Sept. 9 when Governor Blanchard abruptly removed former Chairman Eric Schmiedewind, who was serving an extended term, to prevent its approval at that time.

Following the vote, Commissioner Edwyna Anderson said, "This now brings to four the number of commissioners who believe this is an appropriate order."

The 15 percent rate increase will be effective only when the plant achieves a generating output of 90 percent of its 1,130 megawatt capacity for 100 continuous hours, and will be spread over five years to both ease rate shock and to reflect when the additional generating capacity will be needed.

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission has licensed the plant only for testing up to 5 percent of its capacity, and PSC staff said it was uncertain when operations would reach the level to qualify for the rate hike.

The first year increase will raise Edison revenues 2.99 percent, or about $77 million a year, and boost rates for average residential customers by $1.30.

Those customers will have increases of about $6.50 when all five increments of 20 percent in each of five years is implemented.

The $403.8 million hike at the end of the five years compares to $556 million requested by Edison in 1983.

The rate structure was recommended by the Association of Businesses Advocating Tariff Equity, representing the state's largest industrial customers.

A commission statement said, "Adequate supplies of energy are vital to Michigan's economy. Yet rates that are too high can place Michigan businesses at a competitive disadvantage. The PSC feels confident that by adopting the major ratemaking recommendations of our state's largest industries it has put in place a rate structure that will allow Michigan's economy to continue to grow."

Commission Chairman William Long said he was comfortable with the order, which is expected to be challenged in court.

The disallowances for 16 specific items represent 12.9 percent of the $3.075 billion cost of the project as listed in filings before the PSC, although continuing overruns have subsequently boosted the price to nearly $4 billion.

Long said in many cases they represent management decisions that were imprudent or provided no benefit to ratepayers.

The biggest disallowance for problems the commission said were related to "indecisive management and technical overkill" is $121.9 million for project delays.

Also included is $17.3 million for purchase of a foreign turbine generator; $27.4 million for modification of a radiation waste system costing as much as a new system; $96.8 million for excessive rework, repair and poor management of piping; $26.5 million for excessive redesign and rework of electrical systems; $15.7 million for overbuilt cooling towers; $17.9 million for costs related to a shutdown of the project from 1974 to 1977 and $11.2 million for refurbishing following the shutdown; and $47.8 million for imprudent management of the design of engineering.

Michigan Citizens Lobby Executive Director Joseph Tuchinsky said he was disappointed with the action, and said the organization is nearing completion of a petition drive on a proposal that would forbid rate hikes to cover costs of plants unless a determination is made the energy is needed.

He said the order requires ratepayers to pay "a $400 million per year for power we don't need for power we won't need in this decade, and would be obtainable for cost far lower than you are allowing today."

Saul Waldman, Edison's vice-president for public affairs, said the rate hike is "digestible. It keeps rates well within reason and competitive."

He said the company believes all the costs incurred in building the plant were justified, but said it is too early to say if the utility would challenge the PSC's disallowed costs.

He said the utility is at least a month away from the NRC approval to restart testing of the plant after it was shutdown for several problems, including diesel generators, security and NRC criticism of management.

In another energy related matter, a new study by the Rand Corp. predicts that Michigan's electricity consumption could increase by up to 3.9 percent per year for the next eight years, confirming other projections that additional electrical generating capacity will probably be needed by 1994.

The 18-month study was commissioned by the Bechtel Power Corp., one of the world's largest designers and builders of power plants and major contractor for the stalled Consumers Power Midland plant.

William Henry, Bechtel vice-president and Ann Arbor office manager, said, "Michigan's rate of electricity consumption could increase between 1.0 percent and 3.9 percent per year.

The Public Service Commission staff has estimated a 1.2 percent average growth in overall demand through the year 2000.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Of all the wonders of this wonderful country, the biggest must be the taxpayer. He just keeps giving away his hard earned money. Together, Ed Doolittle said at the country store Saturday night, American taxpayers go to the trouble to fill out the forms, and even pay to have em filled out so they can send billions upon billions of dollars somewhere year after year forever and ever amen. Oh, a few cut corners. Ed told the fellers, and feller said flat out steal from everybody else by keeping more for themselves than the rules allow. But these make the papers because they are the exceptions, not the rule, and that's the wonder of it all, he said.

Why do nearly all Americans pay all their Governments everything they ask? They gripe about their Federal Government giving millions of their dollars to Marcos so he can put New York City in his wife's name and put the change in Swiss banks in his number. They moan about their tax burden, they wait til the last minute to pay it, and then they figger they've gone crazy because they feel better fer it. Why?

Ed answered his question by declaring that in spite of everything to the contrary, Americans believe in America. They know a good deal when they see one, Ed said, they know they git what they pay fer and down deep in their bones they know they git their tax money back with interest. Ed said he knew that was strange talk coming from him, but he had saw where better brains than his operate on the same notion. Ed had a clipping where General Motors officials said one reason they picked Spring Hill, Tenn. to build a car plant was that the town had recent raised taxes to improve schools and provide more public services.

Three year ago, Ed went on, some hospitals in this country were bragging about their low rates. Now many of them have suffered fatal financing and closed, or been took over by others that charged twice as much then, met their payrolls and put money back to put up buildings and buy equipment they got to have now to keep up with the state of health care. The future belongs to them that's willing to pay fer it in advance, was Ed's words.

Ed and the rest of the fellers was suprised to hear a yea vote on that motion from Clem Webster that has trouble agreeing with Ed on the day of the week.

Clem said the case can be made that taxes are this country's best bargain, especial on the local level. When city folks come out here to settle, Clem said, they start out wanting the best of both worlds. They want their low taxes, they want their garbage picked up, they want a fire truck by the time they hang up the phone and they want their kids bused to the best schools money can buy. It ain't long, Clem said, before they're trying to talk the rest of us into begging fer higher taxes.

Bug Hookum wasn't buying any. He said the only reason folks pay taxes like sheep going to slaughter is that they ain't organized, so their Governments can pick em off one by one. Same with farmers, Bug said. The Federal Government don't mind if agriculture fails one farmer at a time, but if General Motors was agriculture it would git bailed out at the first hint of trouble. You can bet your 1040 we'd git attention if all them forms and all that money sudden dried up, was Bug's words.

Yours truly,

Uncle Lew.

While chili isn't by any means the only product of chile peppers, it is certainly the most popular. Chiles are also used in cocktail and hot sauces, salad dressing, processed meats, burritos, huevos rancheros, guacamole, and even martinis.

Sesqui Certificate Seminar Slated

The State of Michigan is celebrating the 150th anniversary of its statehood in 1837. Anyone directly descended from a Michigan resident of 1837, or before, is welcome to apply for this permanent remembrance of their family history and the Michigan Sesquicentennial.

To help in this endeavor, the Genealogical Society of Washtenaw County is holding a seminar on Saturday, April 26, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon at Washtenaw Community College, 4800 E. Huron River Dr., Ann Arbor. The seminar will be held in the College Theatre in the Liberal Arts Science Building.

Natural History Assoc. Offers School Programs

During the past year, naturalists from the Waterloo Natural History Association have been kept busy presenting interpretive programs to more than 3,000 school children who have visited the Waterloo Recreation Area.

While programs are offered throughout the year, spring is the busiest season. After spending a long winter in the classroom many teachers look forward to sharing an outdoor educational experience with their students.

Some schools, including Beach Middle school, have established camp programs which enable children to experience the outdoors for extended periods. Other schools visit Waterloo just for the day, packing picnic lunches and enjoying what nature has to offer.

Waterloo's trails meander through varied terrain including upland oak-hickory forests, lowland beech-maple woods, old fields and even a sphagnum bog. These diverse habitats offer an excellent opportunity for children to become acquainted with a variety of distinctive plants and animals.

Some of the more popular spring programs offered by the WNHA include:

A Visit to the Quaking Bog—A place where children get to feel the ground shake underneath them, get a peek at insect-eating plants, learn about glaciers and inland lake formation and hear stories about the "boogie man".

Critters of the Spring Pond—As the woodland ponds come to life children use jars, nets and their hands to capture both microscopic organisms and frogs and salamanders. Microscopes and hand lenses are used to examine minute aquatic creatures from fairy shrimp to the one-eyed cyclops. The web of life and the importance of wetland ecosystems are discussed.

Reptiles and Amphibians—Children get a hands on experience of the many snakes, turtles, frogs and salamanders which inhabit the woods and ponds of the Waterloo Area. Can turtles crawl out of their shells? How can snakes eat food bigger than their heads? Differences between the two groups are discussed.

Feathered Friends—Study skins are used and children examine feathers, bills and feet of many different species. The concepts of competition and habitat utilization are discussed. Binoculars are used to identify some of the more common birds.

Wilderness Survival—Group participation and co-operation is stressed as children learn about the importance of shelter, water and food in a survival situation. Program includes construction of a crude shelter.

Programs are offered from pre-school through 12th grade.

For scouts who need to fulfill badge requirements leaders may request a special program and the naturalist will design a program to suit their needs.

Program fees are $1 per student per program, with a $15 per program minimum. Each program lasts about 90 minutes but may vary with the age and attention span of the group. To obtain a complete listing of programs or to make reservations, teachers should contact program coordinator, Carol Strahler at 475-9444.

The group follows the first three steps of the Al Anon program. Parents will have an opportunity to share their frustrations and successes with the group and learn more about the disease of chemical dependency.

Huron Oaks is a residential chemical dependency treatment facility on the campus of Catherine McAuley Health Center, 5301 E. Huron River Dr.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

By Will Connelly

It is my conviction that the United States and Canada will never see the day when the Communist flag will fly over Washington or Ottawa. On the other hand, this land area from the Rio Grande to the North Pole could possibly become the only island of freedom and free enterprise remaining in this world. If this sounds unbelievable, consider that the Soviet dominated Communist nation of Cuba is only 80 miles from Florida.

Using Marx as the caricature and Lenin as the distributor, Communism has spread like cancer, leading to the enslavement of billions of human beings and vast land masses of the world. For the moment, the Soviet Union has been choking on its effort to swallow Afghanistan but it will probably succeed. If the Communists are subsequently successful in retaining their foothold in Central America, Communism may metastasize north through Mexico and south to the Straits of Magellan.

Agents provocateurs preaching the gospel of Marxism go among poor populations urging them to overthrow the capitalist owners of farms and factories and seize them for their own. Not a bad idea if you're in Afghanistan with a per capita income of $168, or China with $566, or Honduras with $590. When sufficient popular support for overthrow of the capitalists is developed by Red propagandists, a small, trained and tightly disciplined organization of Red commandos contrives control of the armed forces, TV and radio stations while government officials, priests, business executives, civic leaders and educators are rounded up and massacred by firing squads.

Resistant pockets of population in victim countries are eliminated by genocide, frequently by means of starvation. Stalin and Krushchev starved more than five million non-communistic farm people in the Russian Ukraine.

The Communist movement has been the most successful system of conquest in human history. The United States government is resisting it and slowing it in places but it is not stopping it because too many American politicians simply do not understand the seriousness of the danger presented by Communism.

Recently Representative Carl Albert had the common sense and courage to vote several times in favor of American aid to the fighters who are trying to save Central America from Communism. The Ann Arbor cell of Communist sympathizers decided to stage another publicity event by invading Pursell's office on Eisenhower Parkway. In a recent effort they succeeded in having one member arrested and dragged to jail—smirking happily into the camera all the way. The picture made the front page of Ann Arbor News, as the so-called activists intended from the beginning.

Last week they had yet another stunt, a civil disobedience sit-in at Pursell's lobby. I think a bit of civil disobedience by the Ann Arbor police would have been appropriate: taking the Commies one by one and giving them a spanking with a hairbrush in front of the Ann Arbor News cameras. Also, perhaps, some mouth soapings for the language they use.

Certainly, if one of those brats in their anti-America pro-Communist demonstrations had been one of my children, I would have stopped his or her allowance, as well as tuition, and let the kid earn his or her own living by working for a capitalist imperialist employer.

As a nation, we are strong enough to permit the American Communist Party to maintain offices in New York and for the Communist Party to run candidates in American elections. They always fail miserably.

Had a group of students (oh yes, and professors) staged a similar demonstration at the gates of the Kremlin protesting Soviet support of the Commie Sandinistas, they would not have been charged with civil disobedience. They would have been seized, tortured and murdered in the nearby Lubyanka prison.

It is my belief that we are, and have been, at war with the Soviet Union since Vladimir Lenin seized control of Russia in 1919. At issue is world freedom versus world slavery.

The government of the United States has enough money, power and technology—civilian and military—to defeat the takeover of Europe, Africa, Central America, South America and other lands threatened by Communism.

In addition, we have enough money and power to mount a world-wide exposure of the lies, deceptions and disgusting crimes of Communism.

We also have enough money and power to reach inside the Soviet Union and show the victim populations how they can use Leninist tactics to overthrow their Red captors.

The above repeated statements that we have enough money for defense against the spread of Communism may make you wonder if I have lost my marbles. Our 1986 national government intake is close to one thousand million dollars. In next week's Clock Tower, I will present the reasons why we can maintain our strength as a world military power, reduce annual deficits, pay off our entire national debt and, in time, reduce the fraud of Communism to rubble. My arguments will not only be based on my own brief involvement in government, but the viewpoints of such inner insiders as budgeteer David Stockman and Bill Simon, former Secretary of the Treasury.

To cite just one of two possibilities, we could well afford to distribute millions of copies of American mail order catalogs, printed in several dozen languages, into various Soviet republics as well as captive nations in western Europe. Think how the readers would respond to the wonderland of necessities, conveniences and luxuries available by mail in America! We could also air-drop meat and food advertisements of American stores (translated into other languages) throughout the communist world.

Through other means, especially in radio transmissions, we could create major unrest in the Soviet empire with its KGB control of personal and family life so that internal distractions within the USSR would seriously limit their appetite for conquest elsewhere.

Out of every dollar of U. S. government income, 6 cents goes for our world system of defense. Out of all Soviet government income 25 percent goes for military and naval purposes.

Let's force them to spend more just to maintain control at home.

And, by the way, don't let Mikhail Gorbachev's velvet manners and Saville Row clothes mislead you. He is simply the new, improved front man for the worst gang of slave traders and murderers the world has ever seen.

Last Wednesday, the same kind of merchandise was stolen from another residence in the same block, according to Sgt. Tom Corwin. Details of that crime were not immediately available.

"I would think the same people are responsible for both (crimes)," Corwin said. "We have quite a bit of evidence, and we have a couple of suspects. In the meantime, we've beefed up our patrol in the area. Collier said, "These things run in peaks and valleys and apparently we're at one of the peaks. ## This Week's Thought

DONALD A. COLE

Lots of people are planting gardens these days. Want an idea on how you can plant the finest garden of all—even indoors?

First, plant five rows of Peas . . . Presence. Preparation. Promptness. Purity and Perseverance . . . Next, plant three rows of Squash . . . squash Gossip; squash Criticism; squash Indifference . . . Then, plant four rows of Lettuce . . . Let us be Faithful to Duty; Let us be Unselfish and Loyal; Let us be True to our Obligations and Let us Love One Another . . . And then plant Turnips: Turn up for important meetings; Turn up with a Smile; Turn up with New Ideas; Turn up with Determination to make everything count for something and Be Worthwhile.

Plant the seeds. It's easy. Try it. You'll have a fine garden with less effort than you can imagine. In fact, this sort of P. S. L. T. garden is always guaranteed to grow with guaranteed satisfaction—quickly!

Nature Workshop Offered Sunday in Waterloo Rec. Area

A nature workshop, "It's a Small World," will be held Sunday, April 20 in the Waterloo Recreation Area.

The world of insects and their relatives will be studied during a stroll along the nature trail. Holly Hartman will lead participants, who should bring a magnifying glass and jar, if possible.

The walk begins at the Nature Center parking lot at 1:30 p.m. A vehicle permit is required for the Waterloo Recreation Area.

According to National Wildlife Magazine, it was an argument over the speed of a golden plover, a hunted game bird, that led to the birth of the Guinness Book of World Records more than 30 years ago. Among the sportsmen engaged in the argument was Sir Hugh Beaver, then the managing director of Guinness Breweries. Since then, the book has been responsible for sparking the eating of the biggest tree by a human (an 11-foot birch), the most prolonged kiss (417 hours) and the most non-stop leap-frogging (108,463 leaps covering 602 miles).

Gregory Man Charged in Beating of Boy

A Gregory man has been charged with assault and battery in connection with the beating of a Chelsea boy at Pierce Park in the late afternoon of April 7.

According to Chelsea police, James P. Samek, 18, of 747 Noah Landing, Gregory, allegedly beat a 15-year-old W. Middle St. youth during an argument in which Samek accused the juvenile of stealing money from his parents' home.

According to witnesses, Samek struck the boy with a stick, rammed his head against a picnic table, and forced the boy into an automobile. Witnesses said Samek then drove the youth to Dexter, stopping along the way to beat on him some more.

According to Chelsea police, the boy notified the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department from Dexter, where he had allegedly been let out at a gasoline station.

Witnesses to the incident included two Chelsea minors, a boy and a girl, Heidi Ratzlaff, 17, and Scott Burkhalter, 18, both of Chelsea. Danny Darrow, 19, was also a passenger in Samek's automobile.

Police said there was insufficient evidence to charge Samek with the abduction of the minor.

School Board Notes

Present at a regular meeting of the Chelsea Board of Education Monday, April 7 were Schumann, Dils, Grau, Comeau, Feeney, Redding, superintendent Van Meer, assistant superintendent Mills, principals Williams, Stielstra, Benedict, Wescott, assistant principal Larson, community education director Rogers, athletic director Reed, curriculum director Bissell, guests.

Prior to the regularly scheduled meeting, the Board met at 7 p.m. in a public work/study session to review the topic of parental requests for specific teacher assignments for their children. Letters were presented representing parents' views, administrative views, and board members' views. The board advised the administration to draft a procedure which would be the same for both elementary schools, and acknowledged that the procedure at the middle and high schools would be different.

Regular meeting called to order at 8 p.m. by president Schumann.

Board approved the minutes of the meeting of March 17.

Entered as official communications were: letter from Beach school teacher Alice Steinbach commending North school teacher Eric Smith for his presentation to elementary teachers about science education; letter from Maggie Szymke, assistant director of nursing at Chelsea Community Hospital, commending the Chelsea High school students on their attentiveness and awareness of health issues during the recent Wealth of Health Day activities; a letter from Katie Chapman expressing her appreciation for the March 17 See for Yourself program; a letter from Kenneth Tillman, vice-president of University Microfilms International pertaining to a donation of a microfilm collection of the New York Times covering the years 1851 through 1985; a letter from Mike Burns, board member of the Harvard Club at Eastern Michigan University, extending an invitation to board members to a presentation by George Hanford of the College Board; a letter from Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Trinkle pertaining to eligibility of their son for admission to the Chelsea School District.

President Schumann presented certificates of appreciation to North school teachers John Capper, Janet Rossi, Eric Smith, Sue Walton, and Alberta Stein, all of whom organized the recent talent show at North school. North school parent Gerri Cole, who also participated, was unable to be present at the meeting.

Superintendent Van Meer presented a legislative update. He discussed the recent Michigan Supreme Court ruling that while reductions in general state school aid are not prohibited by the Headlee Amendment, the state must maintain the 1978-79 level of state funding for specific programs mandated by state laws and rules. It is Van Meer's feeling that the mandated special education and driver education programs have been under-funded. He indicated that the State Board of Education had approved the rule changes for special education.

Building principals reported that teacher evaluations have been completed and are available for review by board members.

The board set the date of May 31, at 9 a.m. (in the Board Room) for the Board Goals Workshop to establish goals for the 1986-87 school year.

Superintendent Van Meer reported that at one of the May meetings a recommendation will be made for the appointment of someone to the WISD Special Education Parent Advisory Committee.

The board certified the school board candidates for the June 9 annual school election. The candidates are as follows: Barbara F. Cherem, Raymond Gorton Coulter, Tom Flynn, Pamela I. Holloway, Roger A. Katakowski, Robert Kinel, Leonard K. Kitchen, Rochelle Martinez-Mouilleseaux, Robin J. Raymond, Barbara Rose, Craig L. Wales. Board secretary Anne Comeau suggested that some community organizations might like to sponsor a "Meet the Candidates" night because of the large number of candidates running for the school board.

The board authorized the administration to contact all the townships regarding tax collections. The board wishes to state publicly that co-operation has prevailed, and they will not seek interest from 1985 tax collections; however, they would like a timely once-a-week transfer of collections to be put into practice for 1986 and subsequent years.

The board adopted a resolution to borrow $2,990,000 in anticipation of operating tax collection for the year to end June 30, 1987, due and payable Dec. 1, 1986, to pay operating expenses for the 1986-87 school year. Notes are to be dated June 2, 1986, and payable April 1, 1987. The board authorized the appropriate board officers to sign all necessary forms and notes and authorized assistant superintendent Mills to file all necessary forms for approval.

The board accepted, with regret, the resignation of Anita Daniels, South school teacher, effective June 11.

The board adopted the curriculum philosophy statement as proposed by the Central Curriculum Committee.

Clockwise, from left, are Clay Hurd, Chris Acree, Kevan Flanigan and John Cattell. The pointing has to do with a part of their performance, although we'll have to leave it up to our imaginations as to which part.

Radar Detectors Reported Stolen

Two radar detectors were stolen in separate incidents on Wednesday, April 9, Chelsea police reported.

One, belonging to Susan Renee Molton, of Jackson, was stolen from her vehicle in the BookCrafters parking lot sometime between 3:30 and 4 p.m.

Police said the passenger side window was broken out. Value of the detector was placed at $200.

The second detector was stolen from a pick-up truck belonging to Jerry LaFontaine at 216 Harrison St., sometime in the early evening.

Police said the driver's side window was damaged. Police said the value of the detector was $189.

Gasoline Siphoned From Parked Van

Someone siphoned approximately 45-50 gallons of gasoline from a van parked in the parking lot of Polly's Market sometime during the early morning of April 4, Chelsea police reported.

Police said Helen Morgan, of Grass Lake, an employee of the store, was the victim of the crime.

Another store employee became suspicious when he saw the wrappings from a siphoning kit laying next to the van.

The gasoline was worth approximately $45, police said.

Cyclist Charged With Drunk Driving

A Hamburg boy was charged with drunk driving after wrecking his motorcycle while trying to turn onto Jackson St. from East St.

According to Chelsea police, the boy, 16, also had a 25-year-old Chelsea woman as a passenger when he tipped the motorcycle over on March 30.

Police said the boy failed a standard sobriety test, the one-leg stand test.

The United States imports more oil from Mexico than from any other country.

Historical Society Program Features Early Map Making

The story of the exploration and making of early maps will be told in a slide show, "Mapping the Great Lakes," at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, April 24, at the Washtenaw County Historical Society meeting at Clements Library, 909 South University, Ann Arbor.

Every school child today knows Michigan is shaped like a mitten and, if he wants to go someplace, maps to guide him are available at every gas station.

The early explorers, of course, didn't have any such help and some started to make their own. Some of these 17-19th century maps are among the treasures housed in Clements Library.

The speaker, David Bosse, Clements map curator, will show slides of maps in the library collection, including Michigan maps.

Among explorers influential in mapping the Great Lakes were Pierre Francois Xavier de Charlevoix and Jonathan Carver, the first Englishman to do on-site mapping and map Lake Superior.

The meeting is open to the public free of charge. Parking will be allowed on the north side of the street in front of the library from 7-10 p.m. Free parking also at Forest Ave. carport after 6 p.m.

Refreshments will be served.

Steering committee for the camp includes Joe Beard, Sue Beard, Nola Borders, Barbara Brown, Pat Coelius, Judy Irwin, Margaret Koch, Pauline Koski, Connie Marshall, Joanne Masters, Judy Radant, Maryanna Robertson, Clara Smith, Helen St. Louis, Alice Steinbach, Darcy Stielstra, Linda Turok, June Warren and Don Young.

K. of C. Fish Fries 'Successful' During Lent

Chelsea Knights of Columbus and their Auxiliary held six successful Fish Fry dinners at St. Mary's School Hall on Congdon St. which were attended by at least 400 people from the Chelsea and Dexter areas each week during Lent this year.

Many desserts were donated and other volunteers worked extra hours waiting tables and helping in the kitchen, in addition to scheduled Knights of Columbus members. Thanks to all this support, these Fish Fries were a tremendous success.

Profits from these dinners and many of the K. of C. endeavors will be channeled back into the community and St. Mary's parish.

Chelsea Charms Sponsoring Baton Contest Saturday

4-H Club Members Helping To Bring Back the Bluebirds

Bring Back the Bluebirds! Members of the 4-H Highlights are assisting with the program which is a co-operative effort of Dahlen Environmental Education Center in Jackson, the Michigan State University Co-operative Extension Service, Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Nongame Wildlife Program and the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, as well as thousands of Michigan residents who donated to the Nongame Wildlife Fund on their state tax forms.

The fund was created to provide protection and management of wildlife species not hunted or trapped. The survival of more than 500 wildlife species are keyed to the Michigan Nongame Wildlife Fund.

Dexter area 4-Hers, under the leadership of Frances Baldus and Mary Ann Jaworski, have begun a project which will include studying the habits of bluebirds and many other common songbirds, establishing birdhouses in which the bluebirds (and several other birds) may inhabit to raise their young during the warm months ahead, and observing the birds' habits over a period of time.

Seven girls from the club met at Hudson Mills Huron-Clinton Metropark, Saturday, April 12, with park naturalist Steve Horn.

The girls are Heather Kapp, Jenny and Julie Jaworski, Shana Miller, Tracy, Kellie and Katie McMahon. One additional girl, Laura Shope, will be working with the group as they check periodically through the coming spring and summer months the park sites where the birdhouses were put up.

The naturalist told the group the bluebird is a grassland species. Ideal bluebird habitat includes large yards, pastures, open fields and meadows. Mowed or grazed areas where grass is short or areas where ground vegetation is sparse are especially attractive to the bluebirds. Scattered trees to provide good hunting perches for the adult birds as well as protection from predators for newly fledged young encourage bluebirds in choice of a site in which to build a nest.

Other birds may decide to nest in the houses constructed for the bluebirds, reminded the park naturalist. Many of these are compatible with the bluebird families. One such bird is the tree swallow, naturalist Horn told the girls.

"Beware the house sparrows, however," warned the expert. Those house sparrows build very messy nests and they should not be encouraged to nest in the homes meant for bluebirds—in fact, the house sparrows should not be tolerated!

Tear out the house sparrow nests, warned the naturalist. Those birds will puncture eggs of the bluebirds and generally drive songbirds from the area, in addition to providing a lot of noise and clutter to the area. "House sparrows are tenaciously persistent and you need to be firm and consistent in your efforts to oust them," said the naturalist. He told of removing house sparrow nests from a small house built for martins in his yard last year. For quite a lengthy period, he took down the birdhouse each day, cleared out the nest built by house sparrows and returned the birdhouse to its post once more. Finally, he decided to board up the martin-house until the following season.

During this discussion, leader Mary Ann Jaworski pulled a bird identification manual from the depths of her handbag and opened to pages showing photos of the birds about which the group spoke. She passed the book around so each girl could take a good look at the bird pictures.

The bluebird was described by the naturalist as being related to the robin, and having an orange breast.

The park naturalist explained to the girls that bluebirds arrive back in Michigan from mid-March to mid-April, although some bluebirds do remain in the state throughout the winter months.

Michigan has only two other birds which are blue, the blue jay and the indigo bunting.

Mated bluebird pairs seek out tree cavities, hollowed or rotted fence posts, or artificial nest boxes for nesting sites. The boxes which the Dexter area girls erected at Hudson Mills Metropark on Saturday were constructed by Jim Jaworski, father of two of the girls. His wife is co-leader of the 4-H Highlights Club.

Jaworski made a total of 14 boxes, assisted by his daughters. He used 1" by 6" pine in a six-foot length for each box, following a pattern on the reverse side of a bluebird poster available from DNR offices upon request.

Most of these boxes were placed at Hudson Mills Metropark as naturalist Horn worked with the girls on Saturday morning.

Each girl will be responsible for returning to the park grounds to observe habits of the birds which settle in the boxes during the next few months.

The naturalist said bluebirds will seek caterpillars, grubs, grasshoppers and other insects as food during the nesting season, for themselves and their young. The bluebird hunts from an elevated perch, said the park man. Watching the area below its nesting box, the bluebird monitors insect activity. When an insect is located, the bluebird flies down and captures it.

As fall migration begins, bluebirds subsist primarily on wild berries, Horn added.

Bring Back the Bluebirds is the first phase of a broader Homes for Wildlife program aimed at improving habitat for many wildlife species.

Members of the 4-H Highlights Club sought and received a grant to cover expenses in their project to help the bluebirds.

From now until as late as August, the girls will be making trips to the park to check both the boxes for nesting and the inhabitants. They will be listing their observations during the visits. In July, when the Washtenaw County 4-H show is held, the club will present their efforts as a group project for the 4-H Highlights Club.

Meanwhile, they look forward to a spring and summer full of challenge and exciting new knowledge about Michigan's bluebird population.

Softball Team Starts Season By Winning Two Double-Headers

Goodness, what a start to the softball season.

Coach Charlie Waller's team looked to be in mid-season form as they won back-to-back double headers against Webberville and Novi last Saturday in Dana Park. Webberville fell 11-1 and 2-1, while Novi was shut out, 10-0 and 5-0.

Some highlights of the games, played in nearly ideal conditions, were:

A sparkling no-hitter by junior Pam Brown in her first varsity start.

Two wins by senior hurler Chris DeFant.

A clutch single by third baseman Karen Weber in the bottom of the eighth inning against Webberville, knocking in Cathy Burkel for the win.

Four hits by Trish Mattoff, including a couple of bunt singles, in the first win over Novi.

Generally solid defense played by the entire team.

The first two wins came without four key juniors, who were taking the American College Test.

"It is a great way to start," Waller said.

"We haven't practiced all that well lately, but the kids got their concentration and played with good intensity. Sometimes when you come off a season like we had last year, you don't take your first opponents seriously. That didn't happen."

In the first contest, DeFant gave up just two hits and one run in a five inning game.

Meanwhile, the Bulldogs pounded out 14 hits, including two each by Burkel, Chandy Hurd, Michelle Easton, Kris Mattoff, and Kelly Ghent. One of Easton's hits was a triple, while Weber and DeFant each had doubles. Weber's shot scored two runs, as did Easton's three-bagger.

Chelsea took a 4-0 lead in the first inning and were never seriously threatened from then on. The Bulldogs picked up one run in the second, five more runs in the third inning, and the final run in the fifth inning.

"I wish we could hit like that every game," Waller said.

In the second contest, West Point-bound Jill Schaffner scattered six hits to lead the Bulldogs to their second win.

Again, the Bulldogs hit fairly well, but they had trouble closing the deal in the late innings.

"We had the bases loaded twice but didn't score," Waller said.

"Webberville played some pretty good defense." One of those defensive plays was a shoestring catch by the left fielder on what appeared to be a sure game-breaker in the sixth inning.

"Webberville is a very young team, but they're well-disciplined and well-drilled," Waller said.

Brown's pitching stole the show in the first game with Novi, as she struck out seven of the first nine batters, and pitched to the minimum 18 batters in the six inning contest. Only two errors kept her from a perfect game.

Chelsea picked up three runs in the fourth inning on singles by Trish Mattoff, Hurd, Jenny Cattell, DeFant, and a fielder's choice to Michelle Easton.

The game ended with a mercy rule win after the Bulldogs scored seven times in the bottom of the sixth inning, sending 12 batters to the plate. Five had singles, four others walked.

In the final game, Kelly Stump, DeFant, and Brown combined for the shutout as the three allowed just one hit.

Stump relieved starter DeFant in the fourth inning, and Brown came in to record the final out of the game.

Chelsea took a 2-0 lead in the first inning on hits by Hurd and Cattell, and added two more runs in the second. The final run was scored in the fifth. Chelsea managed only five hits in the final game as "we were kind of run down," Waller said.

DeFant smacked two triples in the game and Cattell had two singles.

The Bulldogs play Friday and Saturday at Fowlerville and Belleville.

SHOWING HER NO-HIT FORM is junior Pam Brown, who nearly pitched a perfect game in her first varsity start. The Bulldogs also hit well behind her in the 14-0 win.

COACH CHARLIE WALLER gives a little free batting advice to one of his players during last Saturday's action against Webberville. Waller had his team up and ready to play as the girls won four straight games.

JV Softball Team Clobbers Novi Twice

Chelsea JV softball team got off to a strong start last Saturday with two lopsided victories over Novi at Dana Park.

Chelsea pitching yielded only one hit in the two games combined as Jenny Pichlik pitched a one-hit, 18-0 win in the opener, and Peggy Hammerschmidt tossed a no-hitter in an 11-1 win.

In the opener, Chelsea bombed Novi for 12 runs in the first inning, keyed by a bases-loaded double by Hammerschmidt.

Over-all, Bulldog swingers hit safely nine times, including three hits by Pichlik, two of them doubles, and two hits each by Alisha Dorow and Leah Enderle. Kim Easton also contributed a double.

Pichlik struck out 10.

In the second game, Chelsea again grabbed an early 4-0 lead in down.

DeFant smacked two triples in the game and Cattell had two singles.

The Bulldogs play Friday and Saturday at Fowlerville and Belleville.

DeFant smacked two triples in the game and Cattell had two singles.

the first inning, and added five in the second inning as Novi never really had a chance against the 11 strikeout pitching of Hammerschmidt.

Keying the Bulldog attack were Leah Enderle, Chris Basso and Pichlik, who each had two hits. Pichlik's hits were both doubles, and Enderle had a two-base hit. Angie Miller and Laura Torres also added singles.

"The JV girls played well for their first two games of the season," said coach Pat Clarke. The JV's have a 2-0 record.

SAFE AT THIRD is a sliding Kris Mattoff as she barely beat the throw. If the Bulldogs had one weakness in Saturday's four games, coach Charlie Waller said, it was the Bulldog base running.

KAREN WEBER, wearing the bat, is congratulated by teammates after rapping a game-winning single against Webberville in Saturday's second game. The hit gave Chelsea a 2-1 victory in the bottom of the eighth inning.

JV Baseball Team Splits With Pioneer

Greg Boughton and Randy Ferry combined for a four-hit shutout as the Chelsea JV baseball team won its first game of the season, 4-0, over Pioneer High school last Saturday in Chelsea.

In the second game, Pioneer earned a split with a 7-2 thumping of the Bulldogs.

Boughton pitched six innings for the win in the first game, and Ferry pitched the seventh inning.

The Bulldogs picked up two runs in the first inning thanks to a hit by Clay Hurd and a couple of wild pitches and a passed ball. Brian Coy also picked up an RBI with a ground-out.

In the fourth inning, hits by Rob Lyerla and Dwayne Elkins, along with two walks and a couple of errors, gave the Bulldogs their runs.

It proved to be enough of a margin, although Ferry made a key defensive play at first base by making a diving catch of a line drive.

In the second game, Chelsea had problems driving in base runners at second and third with less than two outs. That allowed Pioneer to slowly build their lead, and they had scored seven runs by the fourth inning, with two in the first and third, and three in the fourth.

Scott Baker had a double and an RBI for Chelsea, and Coy and Jordan Gray each picked up two hits in the Bulldogs' eight-hit attack.

Scott Lindsay pitched the first three innings, Scott Geitzen relieved him in the fourth, and Bobby Clouse began his relief appearance in the fifth.

The JV's have a 1-1 record on the season.

Kelly Hawker Has 4 Consecutive Wins for Wayne

Former Chelsea softball pitcher Kelly Hawker continues to make a name for herself in her freshman year at Wayne State University as she recently lowered her earned run average to .50 with four consecutive wins.

Hawker earned a 2-1 win over Aurora and a 5-1 victory over Indiana-Purdue, both in the Southern Indiana Tournament.

She later pitched a three-hitter over Southeast Missouri State in a 5-1 win in the championship game of the Cougar Classic. Earlier in the tournament she blanked Missouri-St. Louis, 1-0, while giving up two hits and striking out eight. Both were ranked teams in their previous regional polls.

Through the first week of April, Hawker had a 6-6 over-all record.

Frosh Softball Takes Two from Webberville

Chelsea freshman softball team gave up only one hit in two games as the Bulldogs whipped the Webberville JV team 12-2 and 7-4 last Saturday at Dana field.

In the first game, Jenny Smith fired a no-hitter while striking out 10.

Catcher Kim Easton rapped three of the Bulldogs' hits. Smith added two safeties, including a double, and Anna Harden and Kim Price contributed to the attack.

In the second game, Laura Unterbrink tossed a one-hitter while striking out six in a game that should not have been as close as it was.

Webberville took a 4-1 lead through three innings before the Bulldogs scored six times in the fourth started off by Kelly Dale's lead-off double down the right field line.

Chelsea managed only three hits, but took advantage of four Webberville errors for the win.

The freshmen have a 2-0 record.

Fisheries Researchers Eye Popular Walleye

Michigan's walleye population is making a comeback, after reaching a record low in 1975, and Michigan State University researchers are helping to find out what the resurgence means for the state's sport fishery.

Last year, the State Department of Natural Resources produced and planted a record four million walleye fingerlings in Michigan lakes and rivers. The DNR's restocking program is aimed at bringing the walleye population back to where it was before a decline began in the late '60s, according to DNR district fisheries biologist John Trimmer.

"The walleye is the most popular game fish with inland anglers in Michigan," Trimmer says. "The DNR is responding to the demand for more walleye."

The DNR collects eggs and sperm from walleye during their upstream spawning run in the Muskegon River and three Upper Peninsula locations. Fertilized eggs are incubated and hatched at two state hatcheries. Walleye "fry" are placed in rearing ponds that have been well stocked with food. When they reach the fingerling state—two to three inches—the walleye are released into natural habitats.

MSU researchers recently joined DNR biologists at the Croton Dam on the Muskegon River to tag, weigh and measure 1,000 adult walleye. Charles Liston, an MSU associate professor of fisheries and wildlife, and graduate assistant Bob Day have embarked on a study to find out what the walleye's restocking program means for the development of both walleye and other sport fish.

"Nobody has studied planted walleye in Michigan from the time they are released as juveniles until they reach adulthood several years later," Liston says. "We're interested in their movements, their food habits and their interactions with other fish."

The researchers want to find out whether juvenile walleye compete for food with other valuable sport fish, such as northern pike, bass, yellow perch and sunfish. Day will watch juveniles develop this summer in Muskegon Lake, which the scientists refer to as a "nursery."

Michigan anglers will be offered a reward for returning tags from adult walleye and providing information on the date and location of their catches. Tagged adult walleye that return next spring to the Croton Dam will be weighed and measured to determine growth rates.

The basic biological information on walleye being gathered by MSU researchers is expected to be useful for future scientific studies and also for the DNR restocking program, as new fish planting sites are considered.

The research is funded by a grant from the Muskegon Sport-fishing Association and by the MSU Agricultural Experiment Station.

A TRIBUTE TO ART - DAD - PA - GRANDPA

ARTHUR EDWARD WEBER, the 6th of eight children of Simon and Frances Weber, was born in Chelsea on September 8, 1895. He was married to Marie Leone Egan (Ma) for 54 years. He was the father of five children—Jim, Doris, Frank, Mary and Vi. He was the grandpa to 19 grandchildren and three—soon to be a 4th—great-grandchildren.

Arthur—Art—Dad—Pa—Grandpa was a man of 90 years. Rather small in stature, thin white hair, a little bent, big hands, and a huge heart. A successful businessman—farmer, retired many years, enjoyed a full life. A hard worker. A limited traveler, but he savored his balloon and helicopter rides. A great gardener with beautiful crops—year after year. The blue polyester suit, white shirt and tie you saw was not his dress. Best known were his bib overalls, blue denim shirt, boots and a straw hat. The plow and the hoe were his tools.

Sundays were his day; he looked forward to the visits from his family. Peeling potatoes, carrots and apples was his self-appointed chore. "Got enough?" he'd say. "I can always peel more." Christmas was special for Pa. He looked forward to a great gathering and a rather big mess. When asked what he wanted, he'd say, "Don't get me nothing," but I could use Grandchildren, great-grandchildren and candy were his weakness. Grandpa had an overwhelming love for each—especially the kids. He knew them and they knew him. Always a spot on his lap, always a hug, and always a kiss. "Let's play, Grandpa," and still at 90 he'd get down on the floor and fumble with the building blocks. Grandpa was not an educated man, but he had a doctorate degree in philosophy. He knew life—He loved it—and HE lived it!

Arthur—Art was a GOOD man, a faithful, loving and good husband, a loving and caring brother, an EXTRAORDINARY father, and the best grandpa in the world.

He was a farmer, a gardener, a husband, a dad, a grandpa, a buddy, a nutcracker.

His time with us has lapsed—but his memory will always live on in our hearts. Our tears today should not be of sorrow, but of joy for surely, through his goodness, love, faith and charity, GRANDPA is enjoying the PROMISE.

A couple of weeks ago, a walk through the lane with a grandson—today, a walk with Christ to eternal life.

ARTHUR, ART, DAD, PA, GRANDPA—"we love you and we will miss you!" —John Farrell

ADJUSTING HIS FACE MASK during the training exercise, Saturday, April 5, for firefighters of several departments, Pittsfield township junior firefighter David Andrews prepared to enter the burning farmhouse near Chelsea in which several room-fires were set prior to burning the structure to the ground. Training in various phases of firefighting was provided members of several departments.

BRICK CHIMNEY'S READY TO COLLAPSE as the heat intensified on the roof of the house burned in a fire training exercise, Saturday, April 5, on North Territorial Rd. near the village of Chelsea. Firefighters from many departments participated in the multi-level training. Chelsea's Dan Ellenwood supervised the burn, with assistance from several of the Michigan Firefighters Training Council instructors. Tankers from several departments conveyed water supplies throughout the day.

Outdoor Report

From DNR District Office in Jackson:

General Weather:

Supposed to be turning rainy and cold this week. Remember, April showers bring May flowers and it has been unseasonably warm and dry.

Wildlife:

Spring migration of waterfowl is in full flight. Not only ducks, geese and swans, but also loons are being observed on area lakes. Birds are adorned in their brightest colors called "breeding plumage."

Males and females are already starting to segregate into pairs and set up territories. Canada Geese are early nesters and some nests have already been reported.

One of the most productive observation areas in the district this spring is the Winneconna Flooding. The impoundment is about one-fourth full of water after a two-year drawdown. Food is plentiful and waterfowl have been using the open water areas heavily.

Woodcock are performing their annual spring mating flights. This activity, called "peenting" normally occurs in an abandoned field with some low or wet areas nearby. Just about twilight the males will make a nasal sound (peent) and jump off the ground. They fly upward in a long spiral, then return rapidly to almost the exact spot they started from. This entertaining performance lasts about 30-40 minutes each evening. It is truly one of nature's greatest shows. The performance has no admission charge and is a lot more fun than staying home watching television.

Fisheries:

We concluded our purebred muskellunge egg take project on Lake Hudson in Western Lenapee county last week. Almost 14 quarts of eggs at 50,000 eggs per quart were taken from the ripe female muskies. The eggs were taken to the Wolf Lake Hatchery near Kalamazoo and used to produce purebred northern muskies and tiger muskies which are a hybrid cross between purebred muskies and pike.

A total of 131 muskies were taken during the 1986 netting project. However, 41 of these muskies were small fish from the 1985 plant. Lake Hudson is under special musky broodstock regulations to protect these important fish. The muskellunge size limit on Lake Hudson is 38 inches. Also, the lake is closed to spearing.

Designated Trout Streams: At this time of year, we receive many calls concerning designated trout streams. Streams which are designated trout streams are open to any fishing only from the last Saturday in April until Sept. 30. However, trout fishing in non-designated streams is open all year. Also, spearing in designated trout streams is illegal. Spearing for suckers, carp, gar and bowfin (dogfish) is legal in non-designated streams south of Highway M-46 during the months of April and May. Spearing of trout, bass and most other gamefish is illegal at all times in all waters. Please see your 1986 Michigan Fishing Guide for additional information.

FINISH OF A SUCCESSFUL BURN and three fire investigators in the county agreed the day's activities provided no major stumbling blocks. Fire departments throughout Washtenaw county and one outside county boundaries participated in the giant training exercise held on North Territorial Rd., just outside Chelsea, Saturday, April 5.

Windbreaks Help Wildlife

Nearly all windbreaks consist of trees or shrubs and provide habitat for wildlife, particularly birds. Windbreaks, regardless of their size, are valuable to birds and animals, especially in areas of intensive agriculture. These "woodland islands" are sufficiently heterogeneous to permit the co-existence of several nesting species at reasonable high densities.

The single most important factor influencing the use of windbreaks by birds is area, the larger windbreaks are used by a greater number of birds. Birds and animal diversities may be greater and more stable if a windbreak is relatively long and narrow.

Well developed (tall and dense) rows of shrubs adjacent to taller trees in a windbreak with a grassy understory will increase wildlife use. Wildlife benefits in windbreaks can be strengthened by considering fruiting characteristics, density and height of plant species. Fruit-producing shrubs such as autumn olive, tatarian honeysuckle, silky dogwood, gray dogwood and crabapple planted with appropriate hardwood and conifer trees will provide food as well as nesting, winter and escape cover for various species of wildlife.

Windbreaks do more than reduce wind erosion, trap blowing snow, conserve moisture and protect crops. They are excellent homes for birds and other types of wildlife. Windbreaks for erosion control become more acceptable when they are designed to provide wildlife, aesthetic and other attributes.

The Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District is accepting tree and shrub orders through April 14. Stop in and plan your wildlife-windbreak with one of the conservationists in the Ann Arbor Field office. They are located at 6101 Jackson Rd., Ann Arbor. Telephone: (313) 761-6721.

Medical researchers at the University of California at Irving say parents should be more aware of the quality of air their children breathe, both indoors and out, reports National Wildlife magazine. Children are far more sensitive to air pollutants than older children or adults. The reasons: children need more air per unit of body weight to maintain proper metabolism and body temperature, and their smaller air passages collect more pollutants.

CONFIRMATION for nine members of St. Barnabas Episcopal church took place March 23, Palm Sunday. Two other members were also received into the church. Those confirmed were Janet Phipps, Alan Fromm, Jenny Schatz, Derek Thiery, Pamela Thiery, Erika Thiery, Dwight Heeter, Laura Heeter and Arthur Cadley. Those received were Kathleen Heeter and Larry Phipps. Above, Bishop William James Gordon signs a prayer book for Larry Phipps, left, Erika Thiery and Jenny Schatz. Bishop Gordon, of Midland, is assistant bishop of the Diocese of Michigan and district head of the Huron District. In 1947 he was elected Bishop of Alaska by the House of Bishops, and held that position for 25 years. He was given the Christian Citizenship Award in 1963 and is in the Alaskan Hall of Fame. Bishop Gordon and his wife, Shirley, visit Chelsea often as the guests of the Rev. Jerrold and Marjorie Beaumont.

ReflectORIZED License Plates Opposed

Michigan Farm Bureau has gone on record in opposition of a bill that would require two license plates—front and rear—on Michigan vehicles. The bill, H.B. 5319, would also require that both the plate numbers and background be reflectORIZED.

"The implementation cost is estimated at $27 million," said Robert E. Smith, Michigan Farm Bureau legislative counsel. "$1 would be added to the license plate fees—$2 per vehicle—to defray the cost. There would also be added cost to car owners who would have to have a front bracket installed."

Great debates have been waged over what constitutes authentic chili, and only the presence of chile peppers is undisputed.

Smith said the bill is also opposed by the secretary of state. "Support for the legislation comes from various law enforcement agencies and the maker of the reflective material," he said.

Large truck tractors would be exempted from the law.

Although the nation's 50 million working women represent 44 percent of the total labor force, in 1984 they accounted for 16 percent of all physicians and lawyers and 6 percent of engineers, 5 percent of machinists, 3 percent of mechanics and repairers, and 1 percent of plumbers, according to "Meeting the Challenges of the 80s," a publication of the Women's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor.

Sacred Music Concert Slated at Free Methodist

Orem Trickey will present a concert of sacred music at the Chelsea Free Methodist church, 7665 Werkner Rd., Chelsea, on Sunday, April 20 at 6 p.m.

Orem represents Spring Arbor College as part of its Outreach Ministries. An accomplished professional in her own right, Orem brings a balance of spiritual maturity and refreshing candor to her repertoire of contemporary Christian music.

Orem is an active member of Calvary Temple in Ft. Wayne, Ind. Following her graduation from Spring Arbor College in 1986 she plans to be ordained and continue her ministry to teens through music.

A nursery will be provided and everyone is welcome. For more information, please call 475-1391.

Gospel Concert Is Coming to Grass Lake Church

The Royal Way Trio will be singing and ministering at the Federated Church of Grass Lake, 519 E. Michigan Ave., Grass Lake, on April 19 and 20. The Saturday meeting will be at 7 p.m., and the Sunday service will be at 10 a.m.

The Trio, from Pittsburgh, Pa., a family ministry of Lee, Charmaine and Heather Harrihy, has been traveling full-time for four years. They have ministered in 22 states and Canada during that time.

Their spiritual training was with Kathryn Kuhlman, and they, like Miss Kuhlman, love to pray for the needs of the people. Many of their musical selections involve the people.

Sandra Peterson Awarded CEW Scholarship

Sandra Peterson, 705 S. Main St., will be awarded a scholarship by the University of Michigan Center of Continuing Education for Women next Tuesday, April 22.

She will be among 40 women so honored. Her scholarship will come from the Best Products Foundation, one of 10 awarded to women who show "a clear potential for outstanding contributions to excellence in elementary and secondary classroom teaching, teacher training or administration," according to the center.

One of the eligibility criteria is that the applicant must have experienced at least a two-year interruption in her education. There were 274 applicants. Peterson is studying reading education.

The CEW scholarships program, started in 1970, is entirely supported by voluntary contributions to the center. The awards range from $500 to $3,000.

Pinckney Man's Son Completes Navy Recruit Training

Navy Seaman Apprentice Sean E. Mahan, son of Bernard J. Mahan, Jr., of 11865 Algonquin, Pinckney, has completed recruit training at Recruit Training Command, San Diego, Calif.

During Mahan's eight-week training cycle, he studied general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic fields.

Mahan's studies included seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in Physical Education and Hygiene.

A 1983 graduate of John F. Kennedy Senior High school, Sacramento, Calif., he joined the Navy in December 1985.

Chili peppers like tomatoes, corn, potatoes, and tobacco were a gift to the rest of the world from native Americans.

Dairy Herd Buy-Out Determinations Told

Some important details of the dairy herd buy-out program of the 1985 Farm Bill were announced today by the Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block in order to give dairy producers additional time to begin analyzing the program.

Under the farm bill—the Food Security Act of 1985—a participating dairy producer would terminate milk production and sell for slaughter or export all dairy cattle (cows, heifers, and calves) in which the producer has an interest, the Secretary emphasized. The new act requires the Secretary to implement a milk production termination program by April 1, 1986.

"Although similar in some aspects, many provisions of the regulations being developed for this program will be quite different from the earlier milk diversion program," Secretary Block said.

The Secretary said dairy producers interested in participating in the program will submit a cow-for-milk bid based on their period milk marketings. If the bid is accepted, the producer will be required to stay out of dairying for five years and not use or allow the use of his facilities for milk production for the same time period.

To be eligible to bid, a producer at the time the bid is submitted must be actively engaged in the production and commercial marketing of milk.

Secretary Block stressed that any change in the composition of the dairy herd of a producer may affect eligibility for the program. He also emphasized that additional program determinations and implementing regulations will be announced at a later date.

Garden Guidelines

★ Plants for Every Window . . .

Whether your windows face north, south, east or west, you can fill them with colorful flowering and foliage plants that will grow and thrive. The key to growing attractive houseplants is to select plants that will thrive in the amount of light you have available.

Most plants won't die the minute they are placed in a window that is too dark, but without the light they need to produce food they will literally starve to death. Such plants will slowly lose old leaves and produce smaller new ones, and as time goes on will become tall and spindly. If you match the plants you grow to the amount of light you have available at your windowsill, and observe a few basic cultural practices, you will be well on your way to a windowsill garden that will grow and thrive not only from month to month, but from year to year.

The first step in deciding how much light your windowsill garden receives is to determine which way the window faces. Use a compass if necessary. North-facing windows receive the least amount of light, south the most. East and west windows receive roughly the same amount, although west windows tend to be hotter than east windows.

You must also consider how much actual light finds its way through your windows. The glass itself cuts down on light, even when the windows are sparkling clean. If your window is heavily shaded by trees, curtains, nearby buildings, or a porch roof or awning, the amount of light will be reduced considerably. Curtains, even sheer ones, can effectively turn a west window into "north" one.

If you have an unusually dark window, or a dark corner that cries for a plant, consider purchasing two identical plants recommended for a north window. Rotate the plants between the dark spot and a bright window on a weekly basis.

Supplemental lighting is another solution. Suspend a fluorescent fixture over the spot where you want the plant, and use one cool-white and one warm-white tube to provide a wide spectrum of light. Attach a timer so it will turn on and off automatically. Most plants will appreciate at least 12 to 14 hours of supplemental light per day.

Another way to provide additional light is to reflect it onto plants. White walls will reflect more light than dark ones, and a well-placed mirror can reflect a great deal of light onto plants in a room.

The amount of light available to a plant diminishes quite rapidly as you move away from a window. Place plants as close as possible to a window without touching it. If they need to be more than two feet from an east or west window, choose a species recommended for a northern exposure. Avoid placing plants directly on top of radiators or heating ducts.

Dust on leaves cuts down on the amount of light a plant receives. The misting used to raise humidity levels around a plant doesn't wash off much dust. A better solution is to regularly give your plants a brief shower. For large plants, tie a plastic bag around the pot, covering the soil as much as possible (so it doesn't wash away), and set the plant, pot and all, in the shower under a gentle stream of tepid water for several minutes. Small plants can be rinsed in the sink. In the summer, plants can be moved outside and sprayed with a gentle stream from the hose.

Regular showers also help with insect control by washing away insects before an infestation gets started. Most can be washed away with a gentle rub. Use a soft brush for hairy-leaved plants. If you see evidence of an infestation, wash the leaves with a weak solution of white soap (one or two tablespoons to a gallon of water) with a soft sponge. Be sure to allow enough time for plants to dry off completely before nightfall, however, to avoid disease problems.

Select your plants according to the amount of light you have available, don't neglect the basics of good culture—proper watering, humidity levels, fertilizing and soil conditions—and you will be well on your way to houseplants you can enjoy for years to come.

Here are some examples of houseplants that prefer light from the NORTH—

Asplenium nidus (bird's nest fern)

Maranta leuconeura (prayer plant)

Zebrina pendula (wandering jew)

Dieffenbachia sp. (dumb cane)

EAST—

Nephrolepis exaltata (Boston fern)

Oxalis (shamrock)

Cissus rhombifolia (grape ivy)

Clivia minnata (kaffir lily)

SOUTH—

Pelargonium sp. (geranium)

Aloe barbadensis (medicinal aloe)

Crassula argentea (jade plant)

Brassia arboricola (Hawaiian shefflera)

WEST—

Ficus elastica (rubber plant)

Monstera deliciosa (cut-leaf philodendron)

Saintpaulia sp. (African violet)

Chamaedorea elegans (parlor palm)

Nature from Your Backdoor

By Glenn R. Dudderar

When the temperature drops well below zero, the winds begin to howl and local radio and TV stations advise pet owners to bring their animals indoors so they don't freeze, I get questions from people thinking about the wild animals that have no option except to stay outdoors and wondering how animals manage to survive that kind of weather.

The first step is for them to get out of the wind. No animal will survive a below-zero night exposed to the wind. If possible, animals seeking shelter from the wind will also try to find some kind of enclosed space that will trap heat from their bodies. Keeping this heat near them can actually raise the temperature of the air around them.

For instance, familiar backyard birds—such as cardinals, blue jays, mourning doves, goldfinches and pine grosbeaks—typically take cover in dense evergreens around the home. Pfitzer junipers, yews, red and white cedars, and spruce and fir trees have dense foliage that shields the birds from the wind. Often dead needles will accumulate in pockets inside the trees. The birds will get into these pockets, where the needles will insulate them and help them conserve their body heat.

Chickadees, titmice and woodpeckers will look for cavities in trees, birdhouses and other similar shelters. Chickadees, especially, will huddle there in groups of up to a dozen individuals.

House sparrows, starlings and pigeons will often find shelter in or around the house—in the ventilating louvers, in a bird feeder, under roof overhangs or inside the house or attic, if they can find a way in.

Birds willing to roost on the ground—such as song sparrows, chipping sparrows and juncos—will take shelter under a tuft of tall grass half-buried in the snow, bent to form a little tentlike structure, or leaning against the stem of low branches of a tree or shrub. An insulating layer of snow turns any of these into a snug hideaway that shields the occupant from the wind and helps trap body heat to warm the air under it.

Rabbits may take cover in grass tents or, more likely, in heavy piles of brush or woodchuck burrows. They will also squeeze into any kind of space that will protect them against the wind and trap body heat—in the space between two woodpiles, under the floor of a shed or in a hollow log, for example. Raccoons, opossums and skunks may likewise hole up in similar spots, as well as in tree cavities.

Cavities in trees are, of course, the winter home of the tree-dwelling squirrels—the gray, red, fox and flying squirrels. They're always opportunists, however, and they will take advantage of any chance to move into a cozy attic, if they can.

Chipmunks and meadow mice are active in the winter, but during severe weather chipmunks will be deep in their underground burrows, and meadow mice will be under the grass under the snow. They'll stay there until the weather moderates.

All of these animals have excellent insulating coverings of fur or feathers, and they will curl up or fluff up to better conserve their body heat. To generate that heat, they need fuel in the form of a bellyful of food or plenty of body fat to burn to get through a bitterly cold night, even with good shelter.

When severe weather continues for several days, most of these animals can and do stay put in their hideaways. Cold temperatures combined with high winds, and heavy snow mean it takes more energy for the animals to go out and find food than they get from the food.

How long animals can last under these circumstances varies a great deal. Some—the bobwhite quail, for example—can go no more than three or four days like this. (That's probably one reason why there are so few quail in southern Michigan; and none in the north.) The gray squirrel could easily stay in its den for two to three weeks, sleeping through bad weather. Some of the smaller songbirds are thought to have less than a three-day limit, even if they can slow down their metabolism rate to conserve their bodily resources.

The truth of the matter is that most wild animals perish in winter. The ones that do survive are those that were smart enough, curious enough, strong enough and lucky enough to find food and explore places that might provide winter shelter. Though it seems grim by human standards (not many people would advocate that kind of wintering among the human population), it's a system that tends to cull the animals less well suited to surviving so that the best are left to reproduce and assure the survival of the species.

Unfortunately, in areas where all hollow trees are removed, where all grass is mowed and where all trees and shrubs are severely pruned, not even the best can survive. For those of us who enjoy nature from our backdoor, this is the grim situation.

Since 1900, there have been over 423 million motor vehicles produced in the United States. Of these, 337,413,772 were cars and 85,808,332 were commercial vehicles, according to the Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association.

'Miracle Cure' Claims Are Usually Fraudulent

Just send $20 and you will receive your first dosage of Dr. Miracle's Wonder Cure, guaranteed to cure aches and pains in your head, in your back, even in your big toe, and at the same time it will help you lose weight and "clear up your acne!" It sounds too good to be true, doesn't it? And of course it is. Yet every year Americans spend billions of dollars on so called "miracle cures" like this one. However, not all advertisements for medical products are false, in fact the majority of them are not.

How can you recognize quackery? Sometimes it's easy, but sometimes it is not. To help you out, the U. S. Food and Drug Administration has a pamphlet designed to help you realize whether or not that "miracle cure" is legitimate. For your free copy of Quackery: The Billion Dollar Miracle Business write to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 538P, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

Exactly what is quackery? Simply put, quackery is health fraud. It is the promotion of a medical remedy that doesn't work or hasn't been proven to work.

Not only does quackery cost money, it also can steal your health and in some cases even your life. Quackery is dangerous because people who are ill, will often try a quack cure rather than getting effective medical help. When they waste time with bogus cures, their illness could progress beyond the treatable stage.

Today's quacks offer cures for many ailments, but there are certain areas they seem to target. One is arthritis. Fraudulent "miracle cures" for this, as yet incurable disease range from snake venom to lemon juice, from the harmless milk of vaccinated cows to the dangerous use of steroids. Many people believe these drugs are effective because of the nature of the disease. Arthritis will often spontaneously disappear temporarily, giving the impression that the fake drug worked.

Quack cures that promise to cure cancer are probably the cruelest and most expensive forms of quackery. Quack cancer treatment centers are often located just outside the United States. In order to avoid the U. S. authorities. Truthfully, there is no one device or remedy capable of diagnosing or treating all types of cancer.

Two other target areas for quacks are the fitness and weight loss areas. With today's "body conscious" society, a lot of people are looking for ways to lose weight and tone up without dieting or exercising.

Probably the best advice for detecting quackery is to read all advertisements carefully. Beware of testimonials that sound too good to be true. If it sounds that way, it probably is. Be careful of "special," or "secret" formulas, available only through the mail and only from one supplier. You should also watch out for "breakthroughs" or "miracle cures" that have been held back or overlooked by the medical community. Check with your doctor before buying any suspect product or treatment. You can also call your better business bureau, your local consumer office and/or your nearest Food and Drug Administration office to check out a product.

To get the facts on quackery, how to recognize it, and how to protect yourself against it send for Quackery: The Billion Dollar Miracle Business (538P, free). At the same time you will also receive a free copy of the Consumer Information Catalog. The Catalog is published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the U. S. General Services Administration and it lists more than 200 federal consumer publications on a wide variety of subjects.

JUNIOR MARCUS FLETCHER was Chelsea High school's only nomination to spend a week this summer at the Summer Institute for Arts and Sciences, sponsored by the Michigan Department of Education. Just 400 students state-wide will be selected for the program, which will take part on various college campuses throughout the state. Students will have the opportunity to study a particular topic of interest to them if chosen to participate. The Washtenaw Intermediate School District will make the next round of local selections.

Financing Elementary, Secondary, K-12, Public School Education

How Are Public Schools Financed?

Public Schools in Michigan are funded by a combination of local property taxes, state aid, and by a small amount of federal aid. Property tax revenues have become an increasingly large part of the monies spent on K-12 education, providing more than 60% of the $6 billion spent on Michigan schools.

Local Support for Public Schools

Over the past 20 years, local property taxes have been providing a greater proportion of funds for the state's K-12 schools. The shift of burden from state to local sources is the result of many factors. Many school districts, because of increasing property values in the area, have become "out-of-formula" districts, meaning that the local effort to finance schools has exceeded the amount the state guarantees per pupil to the district. The district, therefore, no longer receives funds from the state. Currently, 31% of the state's 574 school districts are out-of-formula, and are financed almost entirely by local property tax revenues.

State Aid to Schools

The State School Aid Fund (SSAF) will distribute $2.4 billion to local school districts in the 1986-87 school year. Sources of revenue for the SSAF include 60% of the state sales tax, two cents from every pack of cigarettes sold, excise taxes from liquor sales, transfers from the General Fund, and the net revenue from the Michigan State Lottery (total revenues less money used for prizes).

Two types of aid are distributed through the SSAF. Membership Aid is distributed on a formula basis. The formula is designed to equalize funding among school districts in the state, and is adjusted annually by the Legislature. For 1985-86, the formula guarantees each Michigan school district a per-pupil amount equal to $303 plus $68.50 for each mill of operating tax levied. The local effort (the district's ability to raise revenue from the property tax) is then subtracted from this amount.

MEMBERSHIP AID FORMULA STATE EFFORT—Per Pupil Amount plus Guarantee per Mill x Operating Mills per district minus.

LOCAL EFFORT—SEV/pupil in District x Operating Millage equals State Aid.

If the state guarantee is greater than the local effort, the district will receive the difference as membership state aid. If the local effort exceeds the state guarantee, the district is "out-of-formula" and will receive no membership aid.

Out-of-formula schools may receive some state aid through Categorical aid. Categorical include special programs for underachieving students, transportation, bilingual education, special education and professional development for teachers. The state funds categorical programs by paying a portion of either total or added costs of the estimated or the actual amount by which special program costs exceed comparable costs of regular programs. In other cases, funds are allocated on a flat amount.

Many people believe that the state lottery should eliminate the need to raise taxes to fund K-12 education. Actually, revenues from the state lottery constitute only about 4% of the total dollars spent for K-12 public education. Net lottery revenue for 1985 only contributed $356 million to the approximate total of $6.4 billion spent on public K-12 education in that year—enough to run K-12 programs for a mere 9 1/2 days.

Federal Funds to School Districts The federal government has traditionally provided between 4% and 6% of the total support for public K-12 education. However, due to federal budget cuts mandated by the Gramm-Rudman Balanced Budget Act, the state's schools may see fewer federal education programs. Michigan received $272 million in federal aid in 1985 for such programs as Title I compensatory education, special education for the handicapped, and school lunch and nutrition programs.

Right To Know Law Signed By Gov. Blanchard

Michigan Farm Bureau is generally pleased with the provisions of the new Right to Know Law signed this week by Gov. James Blanchard, according to the organization's local affairs specialist Ron Gaskill.

"One of the key components of the law for agriculture requires farm employers to make information available to farm employees about hazardous chemicals in the workplace," Gaskill said. "This information must also be available to the Michigan Department of Health upon request and to local fire fighting units in the area."

Gaskill said provisions of the Right to Know law will be of benefit to farm employers as well as farm employees. "By providing information to the employees, they can fully understand the hazardous materials they are working with and how to deal with the material should an accident occur," he said.

Vocational Education Gives Choice with Future

A Choice with A Future is the National Vocational Education slogan for the 1986 school year. Vocational Education assists in preparing students at many levels for a vocation. Students learn through hands-on experience entry level skills pertaining to their choice field. All area vocational programs simulate the industry in equipment and businesslike atmospheres that are concurrent with each field.

Students in Vocational Education have the opportunity to experience occupational areas prior to graduation. This experience gives students a choice.

Academic areas of math, science, basic reading, basic writing, business, technical education and computers are a part of every vocational program. The learning in these vocational education areas has a purpose in sight. Many high school graduates rely on their high school education to prepare them for the future.

Although progress is being made in moving women into jobs once virtually closed to them, the term "women's work" is not yet outdated. The top 10 jobs for women are secretary, cashier, bookkeeper, registered nurse, waitress, elementary school teacher, nursing aide, sales worker, sales supervisor/proprietor and typist, almost all relatively low paying jobs, according to "Meeting the Challenges of the 80s," a publication of the Women's Bureau of the U. A tremendous number of medicinal values have been attributed to chilies. People believed chile peppers relieved gas, eased childbirth, removed warts and pimples, healed stings, and prevented cavities. In fact, chilies are a good source of vitamins A and C and it is thought that regular chili consumption might be helpful in regulating cholesterol levels in the blood. True chili lovers need no scientific validations; they know that true chili induces a sense of spiritual and physical well-being that transcends analysis.

Today's Investor

By Thomas E. O'Hara
Chairman, Board of Trustees
National Assoc. of Investors Corp.

Q. After a person has invested their $2,000 per year in an IRA for 15 years, at age 65, what will their monthly return be and what is the best method of drawing their investment?

A. The answer to your question depends on how you invest your IRA and the kind of return earned by the securities you buy.

The government gives you a wide range of ways you can invest your IRA money. One of the most widely used procedures is to invest it at your bank in Certificates of Deposit issued by the bank. At this time, the annual interest on such funds ranges roughly between 6½ and 7½ percent. The bank may guarantee that rate for three years or so, but it will be difficult to get an interest rate guaranteed for the 15-year period in which you plan to make contributions. At the present time the trend seems to be for interest rates to fall. This suggests that as time goes on the return received from this kind of investment will be less. If your funds earn 6½ percent, your money will double in a little over 11 years.

You could invest your funds in a money market mutual fund, but you must realize that the return being earned today will change with interest rates. Here again, the trend seems to be to a lower return in the future.

In both of the two cases mentioned above, your principal is relatively secure and your risk is small.

You may also invest your IRA in government or corporate bonds. You will probably get a little higher rate of return, but bonds are subject to being refinanced and the rate of return could tend lower as time goes on.

Many individuals are investing IRA funds in mutual funds of various types. Currently mutual funds which invest in stocks are showing very high earnings rates for the last two or three years. You should not expect these 25-35% per year returns to continue, but a well-managed mutual fund invested in common stocks could exceed over the long term the 9.6% the Standard and Poor's Index has averaged over the last 60 years.

Increasingly, individuals are putting IRA funds directly in common stocks of their own choice. Probably the prospect for the highest earnings is in this area, but the results will depend on the individual stocks selected.

Some individuals are putting IRA funds in real estate partnerships. The return depends upon the success of the piece of property in which the partnership has invested. It should be kept in mind that while you can only put $2,000 a year in an IRA, you can invest in more than one type of investment. You can do this in one account if you use a self-managed account, or you can open different accounts using different types of investments. You can thus combine investments where the potential for gain is greatest with those where the risk is lowest.

Farmers Seek Health Insurance Tax Deduction

Gaining support for legislation that would allow self-employed taxpayers to deduct one-half of their health insurance premiums as a business expense will be a goal of 130 Michigan farmers during their three-day visit to Washington, D.C. this week. The delegation of farmers, led by Michigan Farm Bureau President Elton R. Smith, will fly to the nation's capital on Tuesday, April 15, and return home on Friday, April 18.

"Many taxpayers are hurt by rising health care costs, particularly those in hazardous occupations such as farmers who pay higher premiums because of higher risks," said Al Almy, Michigan Farm Bureau's director of public affairs. "A deduction would help provide equity and reduce the burden of high health insurance which can cost self-employed taxpayers several thousand dollars per year."

"From an equity standpoint, the federal government is subsidizing health care for taxpayers receiving employer-financed health insurance at the expense of two other groups of taxpayers who cannot take advantage of current tax code provisions—self-employed sole proprietors such as most farmers, and employees who must buy their own insurance coverage," he said.

Bills have been introduced in both the U.S. House and Senate which would permit self-employed persons to deduct one-half of their health insurance premiums as a business expense, Almy said. The House bill has 186 co-sponsors, including 13 Michigan congressmen. Senator Levin is among the 26 co-sponsors of the Senate bill.

Will Rogers called chili "the bowl of blessedness." He believed that more Pilgrims would have survived that first winter of the Cape if they would have had chili as part of their diet.

Head Nurse Named at Family Practice Center

The University of Michigan Family Practice Center at Chelsea has announced the addition of Cynthia Bower to its staff. She will be the co-ordinator of nursing services at the Family Practice Center. Ms. Bower has a Bachelor of Science in Nursing obtained from D'Youville College and a Master's of Science from the University of Rochester.

Ms. Bower's educational program included much concentrated work in the area of family health and family therapy. She also has an extensive background as a pediatric nurse practitioner.

"There are many physical and social factors within a family unit that contribute to the state of health of a family," Ms. Bower states. "Because of this, the family is the greatest single influence on the health of the individual. It is important for families to be informed of new developments concerning common health related issues."

To help enhance the health of families in the Chelsea area, Ms. Bower along with the nursing staff at the Family Practice Center, will write a monthly health column for The Chelsea Standard. This column will include such health issues as health in the work place, summer hazards, systolic hypertension, chicken pox vaccination, and many more.

The Family Practice Center hopes this information will provide the Chelsea community with current information, treatment, and methods of prevention of illness. Comments and questions on any of the articles published would be welcomed.

Health-O-Rama Stated at Hospital

Anyone 18 or older will be able to take advantage of free health screening tests as Chelsea Community Hospital participates in Project Health-O-Rama, Saturday, April 26 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Project Health-O-Rama is being sponsored by Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan, WXYZ-TV of Detroit, and the United Health Organization. There are also four other sites involved in the program throughout the month.

Free services available include medication counseling, health screening summary and counseling, woman's health education, oral and dental screening, hearing testing, blood pressure testing, height and weight measurements, glaucoma screening, vision testing, and pulmonary function testing.

For a $2 charge, a colo-rectal cancer screening kit can be purchased, which can act as an early warning for ulcers, cancer and colitis.

For an $8 charge, blood panel chemistry will be performed, which checks for signs of kidney disease, liver disease, cholesterol, diabetes, bond disease, gout and more.

No advance registration is required. For more information call 475-1311, ext. 401.

Dairy Herd Buyout Hurts Prices

Livestock producers are receiving less for their animals because the U. S. Department of Agriculture is ignoring legal guidelines in a hasty effort to eliminate 10% of the nation's dairy herd, according to Michigan Farm Bureau commodity specialist Kevin Kirk.

The whole herd dairy buyout program, mandated by the 1985 farm bill, calls for the slaughter of 1.5 million head of dairy stock, spread proportionately over the next 18 months to minimize the impact on livestock prices. However, statistics released by the USDA show approximately two-thirds of the animals will be removed from herds within the first five months of the program. Following announcement of the program details, prices for live cattle declined by the limit for several days at the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, Kirk said.

"Farm Bureau has called on USDA Secretary Richard Lyng to take immediate steps to limit the adverse effects the program is having on the livestock industry," Kirk said. "We urged Lyng to distribute the dairy slaughter as evenly as possible over the three slaughter periods and to increase government pur-

Faith in Action Benefit Dinner Very Successful

The Chelsea Faith in Action 4th annual Fundraising Dinner held at Chelsea Hospital Friday, April 11, was a great success. More than 100 people attended the dinner and $3,275 was raised toward providing emergency services to area needy.

Entertainment was provided by the Chelsea High School Honors String Quartet consisting of Dena Stevens, violin, Maryam Bramkamp, violin, Karen Grau, viola, and Kathy Jorgenson, cello. These are the top four players on their instruments in the Chelsea High School Orchestra that is directed by Jed Fritzemeier.

Keynote speaker of the evening was the Rev. Fr. Lloyd Thiel of the Capuchin Community Center in Detroit.

Door prizes were donated by the following merchants in Chelsea: Dayspring Gifts: Biblical Trivial Pursuit, won by Katherine Eisele; Heydlauff's: Sanyo radio-cassette player, won by Frances Stirling; Merkel's: Oak mirror, won by Helen Doering; Weber's Inn: Week-end for two, won by Eva Horodeczny; Woodshed Restaurant: Five dinner certificates, won by Ron Demkowski, Eldean Eisele, Esther Nicolai, Bev. Ross, and Doyle Ross.

Faith in Action expressed their appreciation for the fine cooperation and support. Walt and Sandy Zeeb of Chelsea Greenhouse donated flowers.

Cavanaugh Lake Store Robbed By Lone Gunman

A man who robbed the Cavanaugh Lake Store last Wednesday was pushed out of the store by a woman employee just before he made his getaway, according to the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

Fire Dept. Has 48 Runs For March

Chelsea Fire Department made 48 runs in March, up eight runs from March of 1985, according to the department's monthly report.

Over-all, the department has made two more runs than at the same time last year, with a total of 99.

Sylvan and Lima townships accounted for 12 runs each, or half the total. Lyndon township had eight runs, the Village of Chelsea, seven runs, Dexter township, three runs, Waterloo township, two runs, and Sharon and Freedom township, one run each. In addition, there were two mutual aid runs.

Total man hours spent was 745, with a high of 237 in Sylvan township.

Of the 48 runs, 22 were for grass fires, nine for rescues, six for personal injury accidents, and four for chimney fires.

Deputy Larry Thayer said a man described as in his mid-20s, clean-shaven, well-dressed and well-mannered, entered the store at approximately 2:30 p.m. and asked where the lunchmeat was. He picked up a prepared sandwich, put it in a microwave oven, walked around the counter, announced the hold-up and showed a handgun, Thayer said.

The man took $107, Thayer said. However, in the middle of the hold-up, a customer entered the store and made a purchase. The employee, Mary Ann Walz, of Munith, whispered to the customer, "He has a gun." The customer promptly left the store.

The man then told Walz, "I heard what you told him." Walz then reportedly responded, "I want you out of the store," and pushed him outside, Thayer said.

Thayer said the man paced in front of the store a few times, then headed east on Cavanaugh Lake Rd. to Kalmbach Rd. Customers who apparently tried to follow the man lost him at that point.

Thayer said the man left the sandwich in the microwave oven.

If your yard's soil is heavy and clay-like or lacks the nutrients vital for strong, healthy plant growth, you need Peters Professional® Plant Food and Soil Conditioners. Peters® Plant Food, used by 3 out of 4 professional greenhouse growers, is pure and safe. And because it's totally soluble, all the ingredients penetrate to feed your flower and vegetable plants. As soil conditioners, Peters Professional® Vermiculite and Perlite create natural passageways for aeration and drainage. Vermiculite is ideal for moisture and nutrient absorption; Perlite, for loosening clay soils. Ask for Peters Professional Plant Care Products. The pick of the pros.
