Historic Site Marker For Welfare Building Dedicated Saturday

A marker designating The Welfare Building a state historic site was unveiled at a dedication ceremony Saturday afternoon at the building.

The building, originally constructed as a recreation facility for employees of the Glazier Stove Co., the dominant Chelsea industry at the turn of the century, is the home of The Chelsea Standard. It became the first historic building in town to be officially recognized with a marker.

A crowd of about 60 people, including Chelsea Village President Jerry Satterthwaite, Jerry Roe, of the Michigan Historical Commission, Walter and Helen May Leonard, publishers of The Standard and The Dexter Leader, Chelsea Area Historical Society members, and several descendants of stove company founder Frank P. Glazier were on hand.

Roe, who travels all over Michigan to marker presentations, said The Welfare Building is "one of the most unique buildings in the state."

"The only bad news I have is that the marker comes from Ohio."

Roe also took the opportunity to announce that a state library and archives is being constructed in Lansing.

Kathleen Chapman, president of the Chelsea Area Historical Society, welcomed guests.

Bradley Glazier, great-grandson of Frank Glazier, recounted some of the history of the building, including Glazier's bankruptcy, saying "my great-grandfather would be proud that the building had been recognized as historical site."

Dan Glazier, another great-grandson of Frank P., was on hand with his children, Julie and Brian.

Audrey Harris, a lifetime Chelsea resident, recalled playing basketball for a girls team on the upstairs court in the building.

Former historical society president Marge Hepburn was recognized as being the push behind the drive to have the building recognized as an historic site.

Mary Ann Burgess and David Hoffman performed the formal unveiling. They are the children of Otis Titus and Paul Hoffman, who along with Britten Graham were active members of the historical society, collected (Continued on page four)

JERRY ROE, of the Michigan Historical Commission, called the Welfare Building "one of the most unique in Michigan," during ceremonies last Saturday afternoon dedicating an official state marker for the building. Roe represents the commission at dedication ceremonies throughout the state.

WELCOMING REMARKS for the dedication of an historical marker for The Welfare Building, now home of The Chelsea Standard, were made by Kathleen Chapman, president of the Chelsea Area Historical Society.

New Phone System Promised For Chelsea Late Next Year

Michigan Bell will install $1.7 million of new equipment by late next year, according to Kathleen Chapman, president of the Chelsea Area Historical Society.

The announcement comes in the wake of numerous recent complaints about the inadequacy of the local phone system, especially for businesses who rely heavily on the system.

"The installation of the new equipment is one of a series of improvements Michigan Bell has initiated to enhance the quality of local and long distance service for Chelsea customers," according to Marcia Buhl, Michigan Bell's local corporate affairs manager.

Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce has arranged a public forum on the local phone service on Aug. 21 at 9 a.m. in the Chelsea Milling Co. auditorium. The forum will feature a representative of Michigan Bell and perhaps a representative of the Michigan Public Service Commission.

Buhl said questions about the new services, as well as other concerns, will be addressed at the forum.

In addition to touch-tone dialing, the new service will enable customers to order:

- Call forwarding, which automatically transfers an incoming call from one phone to another
- Call waiting, which lets a phone user know there is a second call waiting
- Speed calling, which allows a customer to use special codes when dialing frequently called numbers
- Three-way calling, which enables a caller to add a third party to the line.

According to Buhl, it's highly unusual for Michigan Bell to announce changes in phone service so far ahead of their actual implementation. She said that normally a community will not be told until 60 days before.

"It's a process of education," Buhl said.

"When changes are made, sometimes the dial tone changes, for example. It's easier to educate the public when we know exactly what those changes will be. But because of the amount of concern and discussion about the service, I could not see us waiting until next year to announce it."

Buhl said the enhancements "have been on the books for some time." She said final approval for the new equipment should arrive.

"With our improvements, every other business, it's a matter of dollars and cents," Buhl said.

"Chelsea is not the only community that wants this enhanced service. We have to re-evaluate where it makes good business sense."

In talking about the over-all phone service, Buhl said that long-term planning for Chelsea has presented special problems.

"The growth in dial-direct long distance dialing traffic in Chelsea has been astronomical," Buhl said.

"There was as much growth in the first six months of 1986 as there was in all of 1985. When you look at a community of Chelsea's size, it's difficult to plan."

Buhl said the growth has been due to companies like BookCrafters, Inc., which rely heavily on telemarketing.

Buhl said that in order to meet the demand for long distance service, the company has had to add more lines and equipment to the system.

"I'd be very surprised if people were still having problems with long distance service," Buhl said. "If they are, I want to hear about it."

In addition, in April the company added 192 lines to handle local phone traffic, Buhl said.

CHS Class of '77 Meeting To Plan 10-Year Reunion

Chelsea High School Class of 1977 will meet at Pierce Park Sept. 5 at 6 p.m. to start plans for their 10-year reunion.

Any questions, call Robert Swanberg, (517) 784-7915.

School District To Buy Modern Phone System

Chelsea School District will spend nearly $67,000 over the next five years to upgrade its antiquated rotary dial phone system early this fall.

By changing systems, the district anticipates saving nearly $18,000 over the five years, according to Assistant Superintendent Fred Mills.

Chelsea School Board approved the purchase at Monday night's regular meeting.

The AT&T Merlin System will be installed sometime in the next six to eight weeks, Mills said. He said it will offer the district a variety of features the current system does not have.

Mills said the district will use a lease/purchase plan so that it will own the system outright at the end of five years. Total cost over the five years including the maintenance agreement will be $66,421.80. That compares to a total cost of $84,000 over five years for the existing system.

AT&T's bid was the lowest of three submitted. Communications Inc. bid $66,936.60, Magna Communications bid $73,672.20.

Mills said that he originally wanted to have the system installed over the summer, but "it took a little longer than I thought to write on the specifications."

One of the specifications required that the system be American-made, which ruled out a number of companies.

Mills said he was particularly concerned that the chosen company would "still be in business 10 years from now."

One of the features of the new system is that both North and South Elementary schools, and Beach Middle school, will have their own telephone numbers. Currently all calls are routed through the main switchboard in the administrative offices.

Other features of the system will allow conference calls, call waiting, call transfer and return when there is no answer, paging, speed dialing, transmission of data and voice over the same line, and restriction of long distance calls to certain telephones.

The system is also capable of handling 130 phones system-wide, including 70 at Chelsea High school, and 20 each at the elementary and middle schools on the current software (the system is computer-controlled). Currently the district has 82 phones and there are plans to add three phones at the outset.

Chelsea Chamber of Commerce, for the second time in one month, hosted 22 major area employers at a breakfast meeting featuring the Chamber's Board of Directors and a Michigan Bell Telephone Co. spokesman and a discussion on the future of Chelsea's telephone service. Concerns were regarding the closure of the Chelsea Bell office, maintaining quality service, continued postponement of capital expenditures to improve the capabilities of the 475-exchange.

19 showmanship caliber animals entered this year's Washtenaw County 4-H Youth Fair in a very popular new event, animal decoration. A green-and-orange polka dotted space put, a baseball playing goat, and a dog wearing a green top hat were some of the unusual entrants. This year's fair, with 60 years of history, featured more than 2,000 exhibits.

In Little League action last week, Bruce Hansen's Blazers' bats were doused as they fell to Stan Morseau's undefeated Indians 6-0. Home runs were the key to Ken Larson's Tigers' victory over Fred Zachke's A's, 14-11. Larry Nix's Angels gave two hits to the Tigers, then Larry Nix pitched for the Angels and shut down the Tiger bats, 1-0. Phil Weiss' Yankees nearly defeated the red hot Indians. Bill Huettner and Dave Adams struck out seven Indian batters. Jr. Morseau came in in the fifth and sixth innings to shut down the Yanks, 9-8. Stan Morseau's Indians went all the way in another contest, Indians 9, Tigers 7 to boost their record to 10-0.

Chelsea's festive 15th annual Sidewalk Sales are planned for this Friday and Saturday. The current series of sidewalk sales began in October, 1967, but the month for the sale was gradually moved forward by year's end to offer shoppers greater bargains on summer items.

Shoppers who work nights and hate to get up early to do the weekly shopping may take advantage of July's new hours which began July 25. Manager, Dick Sutherland says Pohl's is following the trend in the supermarket business and remaining open all night.

Blanchard To Appear

Mackinac Bridge Task Force

A new task force, will be established to make recommendations on future operation and management of the Mackinac Bridge, including establishment of a "commuter pass" for frequent bridge travelers, Governor James J. Blanchard announced recently.

The announcement follows repayment earlier this month of the bonds that financed construction of the structure.

Blanchard said the Mackinac Bridge Authority will continue to operate the bridge in the meantime.

"The bridge authority's main responsibility was fulfilled with the retirement on July 1 of the last $88.8 million in revenue bonds that paid for the bridge," he said. "The authority still is needed, however, to manage the bridge at least until questions involving bridge fares and other financial matters are resolved."

The six-member authority, which is appointed by the governor, is a quasi-independent body attached to the Michigan Department of Transportation.

Blanchard said he will ask the task force to look specifically at establishing a "commuter pass" to provide reduced tolls for frequent bridge travelers and ensure that bridge tolls do not discourage residents on one side of the bridge from working on the other.

Although the bridge bonds have been paid off, the bridge authority is required by state law to pay back about $75 million in subsidies from state gas tax revenues and license plate fees.

They are shared by the state, counties and the municipalities and are used for highway, road and street construction and maintenance.

The subsidies, which began in 1967 and have totaled nearly $4 million annually since 1969, enabled the authority to reduce bridge fares from $3.75 to $1.50 for autos.

About $5 million in fares is collected annually, while bridge maintenance and operation cost are some $3.2 million a year.

N.R.C. Approves Reorganization Plan By Geyer

A reorganizing of the Department of Natural Resources, including a collapse of its four existing bureaus into two and the elimination of the assistant director, was adopted unanimously by the Natural Resources Commission.

Department director Gordon Geyer, who just recently was given a two-year term in his job, urged approval of the reorganization as the first step in implementing the recommendations of his Action Team advisory group.

"I would like to see these changes take place without splitting the department into separate resource and environmental agencies," Geyer said.

The new structure creates a Resource Management Bureau and Environmental Protection Bureau, each headed by a deputy director reporting to Geyer, and elimination of the chief assistant director position. Also eliminated is the chief of staff.

Three regional supervisors would be given expanded roles and converted to deputy directors, reporting to the director. "The deputy directors for the regions will have a key role in maintaining a balance in the field structure by approving the assignment, appointment, or transfer of field personnel in the respective Regions," Geyer notes.

The bureaus replace four existing bureaus, each headed by deputies: Recreation and Enforcement, Environmental Protection, Resources and Management Services.

Geyer said plans are not complete on which functions will be transferred to which new bureau.

The initial phase also calls for the creation of an office of Compliance, Health and Safety to ensure compliance of environmental laws by the department itself, and a chief administrative officer to co-ordinate legislative affairs and the budget.

Geyer said the second and third phase of the Action Team report will be initiated as soon as the new administrative team is in place, and will address the issues of division structure and program priorities and budget needs.

Dave Dempsey, the governor's environmental specialist, said the proposed internal changes will restore the agency's credibility and effectiveness.

"We should get a leaner and meaner DNR and a more responsive department," Dempsey said. "As a result, there should be quicker and more defensible decisions by the department."

Buhl said it is a misconception that Chelsea's current phone switching equipment is in bad condition.

The equipment is fine, it just doesn't provide the enhanced services."

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Television has been called the boob tube, moving wallpaper, chewing gum for the eyes and a heap worse. What it ain't been called is out. It's here to stay as long as what it does best, space and sports, are here. We got home movies on TV, and I hear tell pretty soon we can vote and shop on the TV. So it's just a question of how it will change with the times.

Ed Doolittle told the fellers at the country store Saturday night that one way is that TV now is watching us. He had saw where BBC is doing a study of how the English watch the tube. To do this they have set up cameras in the sets that come on and show who's in front of the set whenever it's on. They have learned that after a few hours folks forget they're being watched and they do what they allus do when the TV is on. It turns out they do just about everything but look at the screen. Having the TV on is like looking the cat on your lap. It's somepun to do until you come up with somepun to do.

Practical speaking, what this tells BBC is that it's got to keep doing things to get attention from folks sitting around reading the paper and shelling peas. For sure, Ed said, our networks are way ahead of this game. They know they got most of us in prime time and they got some of us in the daytime soaps, so they fill up the rest of the time trying to get all of us. Ed said he ain't turned the set on more than a dozen times fer ball games since the season opened, but he's willing to bet they're filling time telling new and improved everthing coming this fall.

The fellers were general agreed that TV is entertaining and the last thing an entertainer needs is to be ignored, but, Clem Webster said TV news allus is going to be like the blind feller examining the elephant. We got to read to get the big picture, was Clem's words, and he sees no way to change that.

Speaking of change, Zeke Grubb stood foursquare fer changing another American institution, the office of sheriff. If there's a word that means a bigger mistake than deinstitutionalization in our society, Zeke declared, it's politicize. We have turned sick people out of hospitals and into a world they can't handle in the name of deinstitutionalization, he said, and we have politicized sheriffs out of law enforcement altogether. Worst, he went on, running fer sheriff in most places is more like running fer homecoming queen than fer political office. It's got so qualifications have less to do with sheriff than with beauty contests because at least you expect the queen to be pretty, was Zeke's words.

Zeke had saw where a sheriff that was a undertaker died sudden in a North Carolina county, and his political party had picked a radio disk jockey to take his place and run fer the office in the fall. The party chairman assured citizens the joke was on them by saying the radio feller was chose because his qualifications for the office were ever bul as strong as the undertaker's. It is clear in this country that what folks want is no sheriff at all and they are coming as fast to that as they can.

Personal, I see no problem with a sheriff as long as he don't mess in police business. Some counties have rural police and let the sheriff staff be paper servers fer the courts. This is a better backup than we got in the courts where federal judges are judges ferever, even in prison.

Yours truly,

Uncle Lew

Baby Yourself

What new mothers need most is time. Time to rest. Time to get acquainted with the new baby. Time for yourself.

As a member of McAuley Health Plan, you can have that time with the new Family Care Program. With the Family Care Program, you and your baby can go home within 24 to 48 hours after delivery. Home, where you're most comfortable.

A registered nurse specially trained in maternal and child care will make home visits to check on you and your baby's progress and answer your questions.

The Family Care Program also includes the services of a home health aide to help with your household chores: laundry, grocery shopping, even meal preparation.

And that's not all. When you arrive home with your baby, McAuley Health Plan will arrange for complementary meals for you and your family, delivered right to your door.

Let the Family Care Program baby you and your baby.

To learn how you can participate, call 572-4200 and ask for Member Services.

Senior Citizens Will Enjoy Picnic Birthday Meeting

Chelsea Senior Citizens will have the opportunity to enjoy a picnic Friday, Aug. 6, beginning at 12 noon at Veterans Park for this month's special activity.

A picnic luncheon will be served followed by a variety of group games, and senior citizens with August birthdays will be guests celebrating their birthdays at the park during the picnic. This event is cosponsored by the Senior Nutrition Center and the Senior Citizens Activity Center, and a donation of $1.25 is suggested for participants.

Birthday reservations may be made in advance by calling the Senior Center, 475-9242.

The bride's gown was chiffon with re-embroidered and chantilly-type lace. The skirt had lace tiers flowing into a chapel train.

Helena Emmons of Munith, friend of the bride, was matron of honor. Rachel Schmell, sister of the bride, and Doreen Vleck, friend of the bride, of Manchester were both attendants.

John Whitaker of Battle Creek, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. John Porter of Munith, and Eric Engelmeier of Ypsilanti, both friends of the bride and bridegroom were ushers.

Kimberly and Aaron Schmell of Chelsea, sister and brother of the bride, were flowergirl and ringbearer.

The bridegroom and ringbearer were dressed alike.

A reception immediately followed at the Chelsea Fair Service Center. Robin Richter-Whitaker, sister-in-law of the bridegroom of Battle Creek, attended the guest book. Dawn Olsen and Tina Paddock, friends of the bride, were cake attendants.

The newlyweds departed for a honeymoon at South Haven. They are now residing in Chelsea.

Botanical Gardens Offer Docent Training Course

Friends of the Matthaei Botanical Gardens is sponsoring a docent training course on the outdoor areas at the gardens. The course, meeting four to six weeks during each of the four seasons will feature seasonal highlights and techniques for giving outdoor tours. Several outdoor interpretative experts will be guest lecturers.

Classes will be held Monday mornings beginning Sept. 8 from 9:30 to 12:30. The class is open to anyone interested in sharing nature and the outdoor gardens with people of all ages.

Persons who have successfully completed the entire course will be qualified outdoor docents at the gardens. Being a docent involves a three-year volunteer commitment to giving tours. This three-year commitment includes class time.

For additional information and application please phone the gardens, (313) 763-7088.

Flynn Family Enjoys Reunion Held at Cavanaugh Lake

The Cavanaugh Lake home of Tom and Mary Ann Flynn was the setting for a reunion June 18-21 that was attended by 20 members of the Flynn family.

Flynn's from the Cleveland and Chicago areas took advantage of warm sunny weather to enjoy boating, skiing and sailing.

Jim Flynn of suburban Cleveland acted as entertainment chairman and made sure that special surprises were in store each day. He also presented home movies, dating from 1957 that were transferred to videotape for convenient viewing during the evenings.

Family trivia was the top of a special version of "Jeopardy," played one evening by family members at sunset while floating on a pontoon boat on the lake. The boat was courtesy of George and Marion Elliot.

A sing-along highlighted the reunion's final evening, and awards were presented the following afternoon before family members returned home.

Chelsea memorabilia, and began the move to have the building dedicated.

The two-sided marker gives a brief account of the history of the building from its construction in 1906, through its brief period as home of the Lewis Spring & Agie Co., manufacturer of the Hollier Light automobile, to its current incarnation as home of The Standard.

In addition, Boy Scout Troop 476, who earlier in the day set up the tent in the parking lot, which came in handy during a pre-dedication rain storm, performed the opening flag ceremony.

Chelsea resident Donald Eversberg played guitar and sang, "This Land is Your Land," and "America The Beautiful."

The 50" by 60" marker was erected on Friday afternoon by Chelsea village employees with help from inmates of Cassidy Lake Technical School.

The historical society provided refreshments at the Chelsea Depot after the ceremony.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir,

All year long the working people of Michigan work their heads off then on Labor Day have a barbecue. But some people have no right to join in the fun. I mean the welfare cheaters who are too lazy or stupid to get a job.

What a mess! The working people should be richer but in truth they are no better off than the welfare cheaters. After taxes and bills what little money is left the working people spend on beer and meat. But the welfare cheaters do not have to pay taxes and bills so they have just as much money for beer and meat. And who do they get the money from? You guessed it, the working people.

It makes me sick to think my tax dollars buy beer and meat for bums. Call me a racist but that is what it is, bums. You can see them on Channel 7 news when there is a murder or drug bust in their neighborhoods. Most of them need dental work but they buy beer and meat instead.

Barbecues should only be for the working people, not the welfare cheaters.

Casimir Wojciechowski.

Dear Editor,

Your last edition included an article about Morgan horses, a breed named after the horse "Justin Morgan." Evidently some people really love Morgan Horses.

In the same edition of your newspaper, under the birth announcements, is a newborn daughter named Morgan, who has a brother named Justin.

Tim Fitzer, Dexter.

Dear Editor,

In all the excitement surrounding the recent Chelsea Mud Bog, one issue has been overlooked. Activities like the mud bog bring in people from outside of town. Many spend money in our local establishments. But others just litter and cause trouble. Did anyone besides me see the big fight in Polly's parking lot the night of the mud bog?

Some people who visit Chelsea become enchanted and never want to leave. Who can blame them? But when they do not have jobs or education, what good are they?

We have to be careful of outsiders. There are enough of us already.

Harcourt Brace,

Dear Editor,

If the Lord Jesus Christ has anything to say about it (and you can bet he does!), the current Tennessee "monkey trial" concerning anti-Christian material in school textbooks will alert parents in Chelsea and outlying areas to the objectionable ideas their own children must endure in the name of educational freedom.

For example, it is a known fact that several area teachers (you know who you are!) show their students Real Life Adventure movies like "Bear Country" as rewards for good behavior. How would you like to be a Christian child and feel obliged to laugh along with your classmates, many of them pagans, at the furry, four-legged stars of these movies, who steal food from campers' picnic baskets? Teachers should know better. There is nothing funny about such blatant violations of the Fifth Commandment!

But they are only bears, you say. Has anyone ever wondered why Walt Disney was so fascinated by animals, why he consistently gave them human qualities in his cartoons and Real Life Adventures? To my mind, there is no doubt he was a closet evolutionist. Some say he gave acting jobs to Jews and other admitted liberals.

The content of his movies aside, Mr. Disney is also believed to have had himself frozen after he found out he had cancer. This ill-advised attempt at earthly immortality will only earn him a one-way ticket to Burning Hell once the doctors turn his temperature down. Oh, he will live forever, all right, but who wants to spend eternity in a deep fryer?

To his credit, Mr. Disney was not a Communist. Yet many of the rides at Disneyland (Mr. Toad, Pirates of the Caribbean, etc.) suggest a decided interest in the occult. Do teachers consider this when they run "Son of Flubber" on the video deck?

And why should teachers show movies, anyway? A better reward for good behavior would be to allow students to sing hymns or have target practice. Preparedness is the key to fighting Third World invaders.

If there is no room for Jesus in our classrooms, there should be no room for Real Life Adventures, either.

Dwayne Purdy, Manchester.

Dear Editor,

Brian Hamilton, your sports writer, thinks Little League coaches should be more positive with the kids. What's there to be positive about? My kid struck out four times in one game. He probably cost his team the championship.

Kids need to learn about the real world. Someday they will have bosses yelling at them, maybe even the law. Little League coaches can get the ball rolling, so to speak. They have a responsibility to holler at the kids.

Phil Pipino.

To the Editor,

We would like to thank Mr. Morones for getting the Farm League tournament together and Larry Nix for being head umpire and all the people who helped us. We feel this was a good experience for our children. A big thanks to the Chelsea Merchants for their donations.

The Oriole Coaches, Team and Parents.

To the Editor,

The new school year is just about with us again. School buses will be going up and down McKinley as usual.

I would think it a good idea if the Chelsea Police would have the "no parking" signs replaced, that have come up missing this year.

I'm sure the intention of the "no parking" areas, on McKinley, are for school buses and large trucks coming off Dewey onto McKinley and going south. They have to make wider turns than cars do. Then, you have a small curve to the left, which can become tricky with cars parked on the west side of McKinley.

There's always been "no parking" signs on the west side of McKinley St., for the whole block, for as long as I can remember. Where did the "no parking, at anytime" signs go?

Have the "no parking" regulations been changed for parking on the west side of McKinley or has someone removed the signs for their own convenience? I'm sure it was the latter, making it more dangerous.

If the "no parking" signs have been removed, they should be replaced and added by, especially prior to the school year starting. It would make it that much safer for the bus drivers and all concerned.

A Chelsea Resident.

Public Meeting Set To Discuss Phone System

A town meeting to discuss the Chelsea telephone system has been arranged by the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce and will be held Aug. 21, 9 a.m., at the Chelsea Milling Co. auditorium.

The chairman of the Public Service Commission and the manager of corporate affairs from Michigan Bell will be present to discuss the current situation and answer questions. Also, the results of the recent local business survey regarding telephone problems will be available.

The Chamber has had excellent response and co-operation from the Public Service Commission and Michigan Bell in arranging this meeting. Initially, the Chamber intended to initiate an attempt to improve the quality of service in our area. Now it appears that the meeting will be largely informational since Michigan Bell has been and will continue to work on solutions to our problems.

All interested parties are invited to attend the meeting. Please call the Chamber office, 475-1145, if you plan to attend.

A further announcement regarding the agenda will be published before the meeting.

Rep. M. O'Connor Sueks Ruling on Right-To-Know

State Representative Margaret O'Connor (R-An Arbor), a vocal opponent of the county Right-to-Know law, has asked for an Attorney General's opinion on the matter.

"The state Right-to-Know law clearly says that it supersedes any local Right-to-Know ordinance. Yet the county persists in planning for the enforcement of such a local ordinance—an ordinance that would adversely affect the farmers of the county," Mrs. O'Connor stated.

The Attorney General's Office has completed a rough draft of an opinion, and it is now before the Labor Division attorneys for editing and approval. When that step has been completed, it will go to Attorney General Frank Kelley for his final editing and approval.

RING AROUND THE BASEMENT: Backed up sewage filled nearly five feet of the basement at Chelsea Lanes last week after the village's lift pump failed and the alarm system didn't go off.

Chelsea Lanes Is Knee Deep After Sewage Pump Falts

It's hard to believe a faulty 80 amp fuse could cause nearly five feet of sewage to back up in the basement of Chelsea Lanes.

But that's exactly what happened.

Last Thursday afternoon, Chelsea Lanes owner Ed Greenleaf asked a couple of his employees to take a look at the basement. They opened the basement door, descended a few steps and thought they were the victims of a practical joke.

The scene on the top of the sewage reflected the light so clearly that they thought Greenleaf had filled in the basement with glass or a mirror.

"I'm just glad they didn't fall in," Greenleaf said.

As it turned out, what happened was the lift pump that moves sewage from the south part of town broke down due to a faulty fuse. As of last week, Assistant Village Manager Lee Fahrner said he wasn't sure how the fuse went bad or why the alarm system didn't go off.

"We have to take a look at the circuitry and see what happened," Fahrner said.

But the faulty fuse caused one awful mess. The sewage from Chelsea Big Boy, Taco Bell, McDonald's, Chelsea A&W, and every other business south of Chelsea Lanes all ended up in the Chelsea Lanes basement. That's because Chelsea Lanes is at the low point in the system. All that sewage flows downhill and has to be pumped back uphill into the system. If the pump doesn't work, the sewage backs up.

In Greenleaf's case, the sewage backed up through the basement toilets until it filled up 4' 8" of his basement. All of Chelsea Lanes' business records dating back to 1959 were destroyed, along with a bar, banquet tables and chairs, food and carpeting.

"I called the IRS and they told me to take photographs and throw all the records in the dumpster," Greenleaf said.

"When I first went down there, the methane gas was so bad it would just about knock you out." Chelsea Lanes was apparently the only business that suffered any damage due to the pump problem, Fahrner said.

No one is sure how the question of liability will work out. Does the village pay for the damage or does Chelsea Lanes?

Greenleaf said he has an idea, but didn't elaborate. He had enough on his mind cleaning out a basement that smelled like the worst toilet you can imagine.

Radar Detector Stolen from Auto

A radar detector valued at $150 was stolen from an automobile while it was parked at the Paris Peddler store on M-52.

Police said the theft occurred between 8:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. on Friday, Aug. 1.

Police said the detector belongs to Richard Van Egges, of Jackson.

Students Chosen for Future Leaders Seminar

Businesses and schools working together, educating students on the real life operations of the business world.

That's the objective of the fourth annual Future Business Leaders Conference (FBLC), a one-week program organized by the Ann Arbor Area Chamber of Commerce and sponsored by Washtenaw county businesses for high school juniors.

The program introduces students to business planning, communication, economics and the impact of high technology.

Chosen to represent Chelsea High school at the conference are Angela Alvarez, Kimberly Clutter, Sara Noah, Carol Tassarini, and Christen Zerke.

"Our program is designed," said Rod Benson, president of the Ann Arbor Area Chamber of Commerce, "to give high school students an opportunity to meet and interact with business leaders and to obtain a better understanding of the business community and how it works."

The FBLC began in 1982 with 23

students and 41 businesses taking part. This year, 52 students and 45 businesses will be represented in the four-day program.

This year, students participating in the Future Business Leaders Conference will tour a number of companies, learn about entrepreneurship and attend a special luncheon with business leaders. The program will include speakers from the Ann Arbor Transportation Authority, JP Industries, and KMS Fusion, Inc. The FBLC will also include a computer session where students will have the opportunity to operate their own business.

Conference planners say the 1986 Conference should prove to be the best so far. "The program has grown tremendously over the past several years," said Kathy Horner, FBLC co-ordinator. "This year we have received an overwhelming response from the students and business community. I think both groups learn from each other. That's the unique feature about our program."

Collins, DeSmyther Win Chrysler Scholarships

Kim Collins and Dianne DeSmyther of Chelsea have been chosen two of 104 winners of the Chrysler Corporation Fund Scholarship Program.

Collins, daughter of James Collins, plans to study biomedical engineering at Michigan State University. Her father is employed at Chrysler Proving Grounds.

DeSmyther, daughter of Gale DeSmyther, plans to study nursing at Northern Michigan University. Her mother is also employed at Chrysler Proving Grounds.

Funded by the Chrysler Fund, the scholarship program is designed to provide financial aid to employees' children age 21 and under who are enrolled or planning to enroll in a two or four-year college, university, or approved vocation/technical school.

James F. Tolley, vice-president of public affairs, who serves as president of the Chrysler Corporation Fund, said the 104 winners demonstrated outstanding scholastic performance, career aspirations and goals, and leadership aptitude.

"Competition for the awards was very tough," Tolley said. "It is not easy to pick so few winners out of hundreds of potentially qualified applicants."

Catherine McClung Lends a Brush to Conservation Cause

Wildlife painter Catherine McClung, who is poised for the biggest exhibit of her career—calls her frequent opportunities to observe wildlife as "a luxury."

To help preserve that luxury, she sets aside "a good portion" of her prints for the fund-raising activities of conservation groups. She is preparing for her role as featured artist in the 1987 Michigan Wildlife Art Festival, to be held next April 3-5 at Southfield Civic Center. Prints of her painting "Morning Sponder" will go on sale for $150 beginning next January, and will continue on sale through the festival dates, with proceeds going to the foundation's habitat restoration efforts.

It's the biggest thing to happen to my career," said the Toronto native, whose 11-year-old daughter, Melissa, attends Dexter's Willie Middle school. Her husband, Mike McClung, is the third member of the family. They have lived in the secluded woods of Webster township for seven years.

Catherine's close attention to nature has made her aware of "how much we have done to destroy the habitat for birds and animals." A similar awareness has led to attempts by others to preserve wetlands, where the natural aging process has been accelerated by man. The Lansing-based Michigan Wildlife Habitat Foundation—which spent $150,000 in 1985 to undertake projects—has such a group, she said.

She attributes the resurgence in the practice of nature painting to a renewed awareness of and concern for wildlife. Artists turned to abstract subjects after two world wars because reality was so ugly. But discernible changes in the environment in her own lifetime encouraged her to focus on natural subjects.

The self-taught artist who "got serious eight years ago and painted every day" favors songbirds as subjects.

"That's what rings my bells," she said.

A 1973 graduate of Eastern Michigan University, she paints at home between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. and tends to business each evening in her computerized office.

She is currently working on a poster design commissioned by Ann Arbor's Matthaei Botanical Gardens, and a poster for the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, which will conduct a program to increase public awareness of how to landscape a yard for wildlife.

With a growing national reputation, she is constantly preparing for gallery showings around the country. This year, she has exhibited in South Carolina, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

A list of recent awards includes:

- 1986 Artist of the Year, Ohio Ducks Unlimited.
- Five-time finalist, Michigan duck stamp competition.
- Third place, 1983 Ducks Unlimited Artist of the Year.
- Best of Show, 1982 Midwest Art Show, Pointe Mouillee, Mich.
- Second place, 1983-1984 Michigan Wildlife Artist of the Year competition.

Catherine's most distinctive technique is her pioneering use of acrylic watercolor, an innovation she links to having bypassed formal training. One commentator says of the practice: "Layer upon layer of glazes are used to create the transition between the precise shapes of the foreground to the soft blur of the distant leaves."

She conducts much of her research right at the family's home in the woods. She feeds birds—"If you don't have what they want, you'll never see them"—and studies road kills that people alert her to and that she holds state and federal licenses to collect and possess.

The close observation of birds would seemingly lead to a recognition on their individual calls, but Catherine plays down her abilities here. "The more birds I learn, the more confused I become," she said.

Among her local favorites are the ruby-throated hummingbird and the evening grosbeak. She hangs fuchsia and a feeder to attract the former, and enjoys the latter because of its peculiar personality.

"They spend more time bickering with each other than eating. It's like watching a soap opera."

Although she is generally content with the offerings of Michigan, she has traveled to Florida's Everglades and South Carolina to study wildlife. She also hopes to visit and observe in Alaska and Africa. That, she says, would be the ultimate journey.

VFW Post, Auxiliary Members Visit National Home at Eaton Rapids

Chelsea Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 4076 and its Ladies Auxiliary, wish to thank all those members who participated in the fourth annual Michigan Day celebration, on Sunday, July 6, at the Veterans of Foreign Wars National Home, Eaton Rapids, which was sponsored by the Department of Michigan Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Ladies Auxiliary.

There were plenty of activities for all ages and lots of wonderful food.

The day started with both Chelsea Post and Ladies Auxiliary having their flags and banners represented in the aisle of colors. There was worship service for all to attend, tours of the campus and homes, a six-pitch softball game, horseshoe tournament, canoe and rowboat races, moon walk, tennis courts, swimming pool, wagon rides to tour the farm, firetruck rides, bingo, game booths, raffle drawings, waterball fights, fishing and even a musical play presented by the VFW children of the home for all to enjoy.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars National Home grew from an idea advanced by a young woman named Amy Ross. In 1922, she had a dream. She wanted to find a way to provide jobs for the thousands of unemployed Veterans of World War I. Although she did not live to see the product of her dream, it was through her efforts that millionaire cattleman, Corey Spencer, contributed the original acreage near Eaton Rapids. In 1924, the idea of the Veterans of Foreign Wars National Home was approved by the National Council of Administration of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. This was a major step toward fulfillment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars pledge to "honor the dead by helping the living." In 1925, a Veteran of Foreign Wars widow and her five children were admitted to the Home, allowing the Veteran's family to remain together and grow as a family. Since this time, the home has grown to the extent that 180 children may be cared for. There are now 35 homes on the 36-acre campus and no dormitories. All live in middle-income American homes. A gymnasium, pool, library, fire department, grocery store and guest lodge, with restaurant facilities for visitors, is available.

For every Buddy Poppy sold, the National Home receives one cent which amounts to about 15% of the Home's annual operating income. The money is used for the upkeep, care and education of each child.

Anyone wishing more information about the Veterans of Foreign Wars National Home or Life Membership, may contact Joan L. Taft, National Home chairperson at 475-3669 or any member of the Post or Ladies Auxiliary.

Three Inmates Still at Large

Three inmates who walked away from Cassidy Lake Technical School late Sunday were still at large as of press time, according to school officials.

Bradley Darryll Etchison, 20, described as black, 5' 9", 180 pounds, with a scar on his cheek, was serving one to two and one-half years for attempted larceny from an automobile. He is from Albion.

Alan Wayne Pilachowski, 20, described as white, 5' 8", 150 pounds, with a mustache, was serving one and a half to 10 years for larceny from a person. He is from E. Detroit.

William Floyd Bowers, 20, described as white, 5' 9", 140 pounds, with a mustache, was serving one to two and a half years for larceny from an auto. He is from Quincy.

HERMAN KOENN, Washtenaw County Road Commission vice-chair discusses Lima Center Bridge Project with Rez Roberts, Heavy Equipment Foreman. The bridge has been reopened to traffic after being rebuilt by Road Commission crews.

Lima Center Bridge Over Mill Creek Opened to Traffic

Washtenaw County Road Commission recently announced the re-opening of the Lima Center Bridge over Mill Creek in Lima township.

This bridge, along with the Liberty Rd. bridge over Mill Creek in Lima township, and the Feldkamp Rd. bridge over the Saline River, were closed on Jan. 4 by the Road Commission.

All three bridges were determined to be structurally inadequate in the Road Commission's most recent bridge inspection survey, and the Federal Highway Administration had notified the Road Commission that all of their federally funded projects would be suspended until the Road Commission closed the bridges.

Since federal and state funds were not available to reconstruct the bridge the Road Commission agreed to finance the replacement of these bridges. Road Commission crews fabricated the steel sub-structure during the winter months, then trucked them to the bridge site.

The bridges were designed with wood decking and standard guardrail. The concrete headwalls at the Feldkamp and Liberty Rd. bridges were reused, but the support headwalls at the Lima Center Rd. bridge were totally replaced, which added to the time Lima Center Rd. had to be closed. The new bridges have a clear width of 18 feet and have a design weight capacity of 30 tons. The previous structures were extremely narrow and had load limits of three tons.

The bridges could be disassembled if federal and state funds were to become available for full replacement. The construction approach used for these bridges may be used elsewhere in the county in the future on low volume gravel roads.

The County Road Commission currently maintains 106 bridges, many of which have significant restrictions because of their age.

Chelsea Connie Mack Team Wins League, Loses Tourney

Chelsea's Connie Mack softball team finished up a successful season last week by winning the league championship and making an appearance in the Connie Mack World Series tournament.

Chelsea won the league outright with a 4-2 win over Comerica of Ann Arbor.

The competition proved a little tougher in the World Series tournament, however, as Jackson won the first game 5-0 and Stein & Goetz eliminated the local boys 13-4 in the second game.

Tuesday's game with Comerica not only decided the league championship but was the rubber match between the two teams. They had split a pair of games earlier.

Greg Haist pitched a shutout and struck out four for the win.

Chelsea's defense faltered in the first, giving Comerica a 1-0 lead without the benefit of a hit.

Comerica held the lead until the third inning when Chelsea scored twice on three singles and an error.

A double by Jeff Stacey in the sixth inning won it for Chelsea, who had walked.

Chelsea held a 3-2 lead in the seventh inning when they picked up their final run.

Roo Murrell led the hitting attack with two singles, while Mark Barres, Matt Bohlender and Greg Haist added a single each. Stacey's double brought the total to six hits.

The team ended regular season play with a 9-1 record.

The first game of the double-elimination tournament was held last Thursday at Huron High school.

Perhaps showing a case of the jitters, Chelsea gave up two runs in the first inning without allowing a hit. A hit batsman and two errors provided the momentum.

By the fifth inning, Jackson held a 4-0 lead.

Chelsea's Matt Vell Jackson's total in hits with five, but couldn't get the key ones. They repeatedly had runners in scoring position. They stranded a runner at third in the second inning, left the bases loaded in the fourth inning, and stranded runners at first and third in the fifth.

Barres led Chelsea hitters with two singles, while Bohlender, Haist and Chris Acree each had a single.

"Jeff Harvey pitched the game and actually deserved the win," said Chelsea coach Akel Marshall.

"He gave up only one earned run because we committed four errors."

Harvey walked four and struck out four.

"It was another frustrating

Chelsea Team Wins Jackson Bicycle Race

Chelsea was represented by HeartBeat Technique Center in the Corporate Challenge Bicycle Race at the Jackson Hot Air Balloon Jubilee in Ella Sharp Park on Saturday, July 25.

Each of the six teams consisted of five members, two females with one over 30, and three males, one over 35, to keep the competition fair and square.

Members of the HeartBeat team started out strong and kept the lead through the entire nine-mile race as observers and other members cheered them on. Their impressive finishing time of 22 minutes, 5 seconds was the sum total of each member's lap.

Pam Kampf, co-owner of HeartBeat Technique Center and race participant, accepted the first-place award for the team. Valerie Smith was team organizer.

loss," Marshall said.

Gave us two hits in the right situation and the story would have been different. We could have beaten them."

In the second game, played last Friday, Chelsea jumped out to a 3-0 lead on a couple of errors.

"We would have scored more, but a fine play on a smash by Larry Nix stopped us," Marshall said.

However, Stein & Goetz came right back with four runs on an error and five walks.

After four innings, Chelsea was down 8-4. Their opponents put the game away with five more runs in the fifth inning to complete an eight-run, mercy-rule win.

Once again, the failure to get a clutch hit hurt us again," Marshall said.

"We hit into two double plays with the bases loaded."

Haist had two hits to lead

Chelsea's five-hit attack. Harvey, Ferry and Acree each added one hit.

"We hit the ball good and only struck out three times, but Stein & Goetz made some outstanding defensive plays," Marshall said.

Barres started the game but was relieved by Junior Morseau in the first inning. Haist and Ferry also pitched later.

Chelsea pitching gave up seven hits and 13 walks.

"It was a very good summer," Marshall said.

"The kids really co-operated and had a fine year. Hopefully we learned from our mistakes and it will help out next spring in the varsity season. Our brightest spot was pitching. We had some outstanding pitching. The kids got some valuable experience that will only make them better players."

T-BALL RESULTS

The following are the results of the final week of action of t-ball baseball for 1986 in the Chelsea Recreation Department.

Expert Pistol Shooting Demonstration Slated

The public is invited to a free pistol shooting exhibition of "the fastest guns in Michigan." The demonstration of expert pistol shooting will take place on the pistol and rifle target range of the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club at 7103 Langane Rd. David Watson of the International Practical Shooting Confederation (IPSC) will lead the exhibition team which will start firing at 6 p.m., Tuesday, Aug. 12.

Members of the team will not only exhibit and explain their pistol equipment; they will also give practical demonstrations of shotgun marksmanship.

Watson is a rising star in practical shooting competition and recently competed in the National Shoot in Texas, competing with more than 300 qualified IPSC shooters.

According to Dave Rank of the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club, this event, open to the public, should be considered a must for serious members of all shooting disciplines.

For more information, call Dave Rank at 475-1437.

Langane Rd. lies between Waterloo Rd. and Bush Rd. It may be reached from either direction. The Chelsea Rod and Gun Club can be identified by its red brick clubhouse standing atop a hill. The pistol range is a few feet north of the clubhouse and will be prominently marked.

FARM LEAGUE RESULTS

The following are the results of the final week of Farm League baseball games played the week of July 28. The games were played in a league organized by the Chelsea Recreation Department.

Cubs	10	2	1
Orioles	10	3	0
Dolphins	9	4	0
Wildcats	8	5	0
Indians	8	5	0
Tigers	2	9	2
Angels	2	9	2
Clippers	1	11	1

Dolphins 7, Angels 4—
Dolphin leading hitters in the game were Ben O'Connor, Kevin Coy, and Jason Dunahoo. Tom Payne and Scott Colvin were standouts on defense. Angel hitters were led by Evan Knott and Tom Barkum. Jesse Petty had a good game on defense.

Cubs 20, Tigers 5—
Tiger hitters were led by Ryan Dunlap, Greg Rickard and Andy

Frost. Jeff Montange, Nathan Hallett and Rick Hower played good defense. For the Cubs, it was a total team effort.

Cubs 13, Wildcats 5—
Jeremy Bradbury's two home runs paced the Cubs. Nick Kramer also had a good day at the plate. Jason Rosentreter and Matt Tuttle played good defense for the Cubs. Wildcats were powered by Craig Leonard's home run. Randy Hurst, Gary Farmer and Nathan Young led the Wildcat defenders.

Orioles 11, Clippers 3—
Brad Jedele hit a three-run homer for the Orioles. Other top Oriole hitters were Bryndon Skeiton, with a home run, and Jamie Policht. Clipper hitters were led by Jeffrey Branch, Tom Irwin and Jason Brown. Defensively, Raymond Hatch, Brad Jedele and David Beeman played well for the Orioles while Ron Carter, Jeffrey Branch and Justin Navin led the Clipper defenders.

Indians 15, Clippers 10—
Indians had a good day at the plate. K. C. Harr hit a three run home run and Matt Cabanis and Calvin Poe each tripled. Mike Meyer, Robert Gonzales and Justin Navin paced the Clipper offense.

Angels 9, Wildcats 5—
Top Angel hitters included Ryan Ludwig, Eric Bergman, Evan Knott, Willie Hewitt and Jesse Haken who each had two hits. Matt McVittie and Jesse Petty had good defensive games. For the Wildcats, Nathan Young led the hitters and Jeremy Muha, Matt Delong and Gary Farmer were the top defenders.

Dolphins 10, Orioles 7—
Best game of the year for the Dolphins Dolphin offense was led by Casey McCalla and Scott Colvin, who hit home runs, and Jason Dunahoo. Tom Payne and Jeremy Feldkamp. Scott Colvin, Casey McCalla and Kevin Coy made good defensive plays. For the Orioles, David Beeman hit a home run, and Keith Howe and Bryndon Skeiton had key hits. Keith Howe, David Beeman and Brad Jedele played excellent defense.

Parks Naturalist Offers Nature Program At Independence Lake

Come cool off with us! The dog days of August can be relaxing, but there is respite! Join Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Commission's Naturalist Matt Heumann on Sunday, Aug. 17 at Independence Lake County Park for a nature program called "Shoreline Hunt." See the plant and animal aquatic life along the shoreline, learn about adaptations, as well as the importance of shoreline maintenance.

The walk goes rain or shine, but please come prepared with shoes or boots for wading.

The program is scheduled to begin at 10 p.m. from the parking lot at Independence Lake County Park, five miles north of Ann Arbor. Use the North Territorial Rd. exit and follow the signs. The program is free but there is a $2 park admittance fee per car.

Penalties for Unlawful Snagging of Fish

Under new legislation, it will be illegal to possess or sell multi-pointed hooks, commonly referred to as "silver spiders" or "M-60s," used for snagging fish.

Beginning Sept. 1, Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Conservation Officers will begin enforcing Public Act 189 which was passed in early July. Amending the Michigan Sport Fishing Law, the Act dramatically increases the penalties for unlawful snagging in the four snagging areas. These include the Sable River below Hamlin Dam, the Pere Marquette River near Scottville, the Big Manistee River below Tippy Dam, and the Muskegon River below Croton Dam.

Persons found guilty of possessing or selling these devices may be imprisoned for up to 90 days and/or fined up to $300. Second or third offenders will face even stiffer penalties.

Multipointed hooks have always been illegal to use in Michigan, but their possession or sale was not controlled. The new legislation, in effect, declares these devices now to be contraband and prohibits their possession or sale.

For hot, buttered corn, fill a large quart jar with hot water and sticks of butter. When butter melts and floats to the top, dip in the cobs and pull out slowly.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

Some poor soul has my old telephone number. As you may recall, last winter I switched to an unlisted phone number after receiving some late-night, nasty reviews of my work. Apparently, people are still trying to call me at that number. And some of them aren't being real pleasant about it.

I found out about this all innocently enough. An old friend, whom I hadn't seen in several years, tried to reach me at my former number.

"Yes, he has this number, too, but he's not here," my friend was told.

I feel sorry for the poor family with my old number. If they're new to the community, they probably think a bunch of jerks live here.

I occasionally used to get calls that started like this:

"How could you say that about my daughter?!! You are the sorriest, most pathetic..."

Sometimes, they began like this:

"God... You son of a... lyin' mother.....!"

Never once did I get a call that went like this:

"Thank you, Mr. Hamilton, for making my son sound like an all-American football player even though you and I know he couldn't block out my cackler sponiel."

A couple of days ago I talked to the man with my former phone number. He confirmed that, yes, he had received a few strange calls and that he appreciated me explaining the circumstances to him.

But I can't understand for the life of me why the phone company re-assigned my former number so quickly. It took less than five months.

Even more baffling is this. When I changed numbers, I told the telephone company man the reason—I was being harassed. So what do they do? Not only do they give this poor unsuspecting guy a number that's likely to draw harassment as well, they don't even wait until the new phone book comes out so that people can see my name's not in it anymore. (At least it better not be.)

Isn't wonderful to deal with a company with so much common sense?

I have heard more stories about youth league baseball and softball this year than ever before.

And the theme to most of them would be, "Parents Run Amok."

Story number one was well publicized in last week's edition in the Letters section. Apparently there were some problems with the Farm League baseball tournament.

In one of the games, one team won the game either by one or two runs, depending on which score book was consulted. However, it resulted in a forfeit for the winning team when an argument ensued about the correct score and the coach of the winning team couldn't stand the bickering anymore.

There were a lot of hurt feelings as a result of the incident.

Since I wasn't there, I don't know exactly what happened or what was said.

It doesn't really matter, either. All I know is all the arguing was on the part of the ADULTS, not the kids. The kids simply abided by the decision. They didn't have any choice. The tournament was being run by the big people for them.

Or was it? If the tournament was for the kids, why was it necessary for adults to haggle and scream and yell about the final score and otherwise make fine examples of themselves by their conduct?

What does it say to the young boys when parents get out of hand about something so meaningful as a baseball game where the kids are too young to even pitch to themselves?

The truth is, some parents can't tolerate the thought of their kids losing and will go to all sorts of extremes to prevent it. And, in that sense, the child's game becomes their own. When they try to manipulate the outcome, no matter how well-intentioned (We were cheated!), it takes one more element away from the kids.

If a mistake is made in the scoring, umpiring or playing, so what? Kids are going to run into incompetence all their lives. Why should recreation baseball be any different?

The trouble begins when parents start trying to rectify every little problem. It usually only makes the situation worse.

There was another situation last season when a parent in the stands became upset at an umpire's call. The parent, in a voice loud enough for others to hear, accused the umpire of being on drugs. Just what he thought that would accomplish is not clear.

Not to be outdone, the umpire, a boy in his late teens, turned around and called the parent a drunk. He suggested the man go to one of the local watering spots. I've heard various reports as to how the conversation degenerated from there.

The final chapter from "Parents Run Amok," involves the story of a mother and her son.

Apparently the young boy tried to field a ball and erred. That's pretty common in youth baseball.

The mother, probably figuring the youngster hadn't been humiliated enough, when out onto the field, shook the kid and told him never to do it again.

That may have solved the problem. The boy may never pick up a baseball again.

Most parents have reasonable attitudes about their child's sports. But the ones who don't can be royal pains in the Bomb.

Conservation Reserve Program Signup Slated

Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng has announced that signup for the 1986 Conservation Reserve Program will take place Aug. 4-15 at Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service county offices.

According to Lyng, farmers may volunteer highly erodible cropland for entry into the Conservation Reserve Program, under a provision for the Food Security Act of 1985.

"We are pleased with the response from farmers during the 1986 signup," said Lyng. Now that producers are aware of the other provisions of the Act, such as subsoiler and conservation compliance, we expect even more interest by producers in the Conservation Reserve Program this year."

Producers wishing to put land into the program are eligible for cost-share payments of up to 50 percent of the eligible costs to establish a cover crop. The annual rental payments are for 10 years.

The total amount of rental payments for any fiscal year may not exceed $50,000, or its equivalent if in-kind payments are made.

Lyng said producers will be allowed to harvest their 1986 crop before the contract becomes effective, if necessary.

Common Science

By Joe Jeffers, PhD

Do you wish your ability to remember was better? Most of us do. Some people cannot seem to remember the name of a person who was just introduced. Others routinely forget meetings. Students may have difficulty remembering facts and concepts for a history test.

Sometimes the things we remember are very vivid; other times they are quite vague. Why this difference? In part it depends on the intensity of the learning experience. We remember mental pictures, facts and skills. The average person who watched a college football game on television last New Year's Day probably does not remember any specific play. On the other hand the game winning play of a championship contest involving one's own favorite team will probably remain in memory for a lifetime. Similarly, one may not remember the license number of his own car, but if he witnesses a robbery, jots down the license number (fact) and reports it to the police, he will probably never forget it. Emotional signaling like these examples can occur anytime a memory is associated with a stimulus that arouses emotion.

Research indicates that memory traces are laid down by structural changes in the brain. The strength of the memory trace varies according to the degree of learning. Strong traces usually have strong associations with the learning experience. That does not mean one has to get emotional to remember. Repetition or other associations can also work well. Almost everyone in this country over the age of eight knows that George Washington was the first president of the United States. That knowledge is the result of years of emphasis from first grade plays to high school history courses. People with good memories usually have a way of associating information they learn so they are not learning isolated bits of information. For example, a person who learns the meaning of the word travesty is much more likely to remember it if he encountered it in a magazine article and looked it up than if he just looked up the word because it was in a vocabulary list. The context of the article provides an association for the word.

What are these structural changes in the brain that affect memory? Current theories suggest that memory operates at the level of nerve cells of neurons. Each neuron has three parts—a cell body, dendrites, and an axon. The cell body fires an electrical signal down the axon. Separating the axon of the firing neuron from the dendrites of the receiving neuron is a gap called a synapse. Chemicals cross this gap to transmit a message from one neuron to another. There are data to suggest that increased communication across these synapses to form a sort of a neural road map is responsible for memory. In recent studies on rats the brains grow larger and heavier if the rats live in a cage with any objects to stimulate them (rich environment). The brains develop more synapses and show an increase in dendrites as compared to those of rats kept in cages without such stimulation.

One area of the brain, the hippocampus, has been shown to be involved in certain types of memory. If the hippocampus is surgically removed or damaged, organic amnesia results. In organic amnesia, one has no trouble remembering events that happened before the hippocampus was altered but cannot remember new facts. Still organic amnesiacs have no trouble learning skills, suggesting that skill memory occurs in some other part of the brain.

Memory traces do decay as time goes by. Some go very rapidly. One may keep a phone number in memory for a week or so as long as it is being used. A couple of weeks after, it can no longer be remembered. This loss of memory can either be due to the decay of the neural pattern itself or the neural pattern is retrieved from storage.

FLAG CEREMONY before the dedication of the marker for the Welfare Building was performed by Boy Scouts in troop 478. The boys on the left are Alex Hamerschmidt and Steve Martin. The boys at the flag, clockwise from left, are Adam McArthur, Mike Hinderer, Bryce Hansen and David Sayer.

UNVEILING THE OFFICIAL HISTORIC MARKER for the Welfare Building were David Hoffman and Mary Ann (Tina) Burgess, whose fathers were active in the Chelsea Area Historical Society and did much of the initial research about the building. Their research was instrumental in having the building dedicated as an official historic site.

VILLAGE WORKERS erected Chelsea's first official historical marker at the former Welfare Building, now home of The Chelsea Standard. The dedication ceremony for the marker took place Saturday afternoon.

The part of the title page of books with the date, place, printer and edition is called the "colophon." Early books had it at the end of the volume. The word comes from the German Kolophon meaning the top or summit.

NEW DEPOT SIGN is admired by Charles Shaver shortly after he and assistant erected it. It is an exact duplicate of the original sign erected in 1880. In its wings are the exact mileages from Chelsea to Detroit and Chicago.

SOD WAS PLANTED around the Chelsea Depot in time for the Sidewalk Days festival. An open house was held at the depot on Friday and Saturday as people had a chance to see just how far the restoration project has come.

COUNTRY FRESH PRODUCE, a new store at the corner of Werker and North Territorial Rds. is owned by the Policht family. The store has many fresh fruits and vegetables, along with specialty foods like Amish cheese, and grains, pasta and honey. Also sold is tackle and live bait.

New Produce Store Opens, Offers Special Foods, Bait

Country Fresh Produce, a new store specializing in fresh produce, specialty foods and bait and tackle, has been opened by Brian and Joyce Policht of Chelsea.

The Polichts have done a considerable amount of renovation to the building that stands at the corner of Werker and North Territorial Rds. The inside has a clean, open feel to it, and the Polichts are good at making people feel welcome.

Brian, who works full-time at Chrysler Proving Grounds, will be spending a lot less time at the store than Joyce.

The store will specialize in seasonal foods. Currently customers can buy fresh vegetables, including sweet corn, and fruits, honey, some dairy items including Amish cheese and cheddar, grains, nuts and pasta.

Also for sale are windmills made by local resident Bob Fitzsimmons, and live bait, along with some basic fishing supplies.

"We'd like to have ice cream next year," Brian said.

"We're going to work at specializing in fruit baskets and we'd like to have a line of baked goods. Once the fresh vegetables are out of season, we'll switch over to some arts and crafts."

Brian said they are intentionally trying not to compete with North Lake store, which is more like a convenience store. He said he hopes the businesses will attract customers who will shop at both places.

Produce comes from the Grand Rapids area. The store will be open from May until the first of the year.

A FAMILY ENTERPRISE put together Country Fresh Produce, a new business at the corner of Werker and North Territorial Rds. opposite North Lake Store. Brian Policht, and his wife, Joyce, plan to stock the store with seasonal foods, along with specialty foods, bait and tackle, and some crafts.

Swimmer Killed By Boat At Half Moon Lake

A 20-year-old New Mexico woman was killed last Thursday, July 31 when she was struck by a motor boat as she was swimming with two companions at Half Moon Lake.

Lisa Ann Gallardo, who was visiting relatives in Westland, was killed almost instantly when the boat's propellers tore through her back and damaged vital organs.

According to the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, the driver of the boat, a 27-year-old Garden City man, will be charged with either manslaughter or negligent homicide.

Police said the boat was pulled out of the water and a skier. They speculated that both the driver and the observer were watching the skier at the time of the accident.

Police said Gallardo, of Clovis, N.M., was swimming near buoys on the perimeter of the swimming area. Boats are prohibited within 100 feet of the buoys.

Gallardo's body was not found until more than three hours after the accident. Chelsea Fire Department, sheriff's deputies, and University of Michigan Hospital Survival Flight responded to the accident. The search was hampered by murky water.

Gallardo and her 11-year-old child were visiting relatives in Westland. Her sister and a friend were also swimming with her.

Richard Proctor Chosen 'Work Ambassador'

Richard Proctor of Chelsea was one of 20 young Michigan men and women chosen as "work ambassadors" in the first youth worker exchange program between the United States and the Netherlands.

The 20 workers, from the Michigan Youth Corps and the Michigan Civilian Conservation Corps, will participate in the program, sponsored by AFS International/Intercultural, from Aug. 16 to Sept. 13.

"This program goes beyond the usual benefits of the Youth Corps and Conservation Corps programs by allowing youths to gain knowledge, understanding and first-hand experience about their counterparts in another country," Gov. James Blanchard said.

"They will also have a chance to represent our state and showcase their talents and skills to the residents of the Netherlands."

The participants will work on a variety of projects involving repair and maintenance of cars and bicycles, gardening, retailing and furniture refinishing at youth and cultural centers, garages, parks and small companies.

The exchange is being funded by the United States Information Agency and the Dutch Ministry of Culture, and is being administered by AFS.

Proctor, and the other work ambassadors, from 18 Michigan communities, were chosen by interview panels in six regions throughout the state comprised of employment and training and education professionals, business leaders, and AFS, MYC and MCC staff.

Twenty workers from the Netherlands will work in Michigan from Sept. 27 through Oct. 25 at various locations throughout the state.

The MCC provides jobs to 500 18- to 25-year-old public assistance recipients who work on conservation-related projects in 16 counties.

The MYC is a summer jobs program for unemployed 18- to 21-year-old men and women.

Bus Grant Application To Be Sent This Month

If all runs according to schedule, Chelsea could have bus transportation to Ann Arbor by next spring.

That's the word from Perry Schechtman, assistant executive director for the Ann Arbor Transportation Authority (AATA).

Schechtman said he anticipates approval from the AATA board this month to apply for the state grant that could make the service a reality. The board meets Aug. 20.

In the meantime, Schechtman said, the state has been notified the grant application is on its way and all necessary paperwork is being completed.

The grant will come from the New Small Bus Services Program, which is funded by state weight and gas taxes.

Schechtman said it would probably be 90 days before AATA gets a response, and another four to five months before there is a definite contract.

Schechtman said a different bus route is being explored than any that have been recently discussed. He said a likely route would have the bus leave Chelsea down Jackson Rd. It would continue to Baker Rd., where it would switch to I-94 and run express to downtown Ann Arbor.

"There are a lot of businesses in that Baker Rd. area, as well as a mobile home park which could take advantage of the service," Schechtman said.

True Grist Scores Hit With 'Damn Yankees'

By Ross Ogden
Free Lance Drama Critic
and Professor at EMC

Back up another win for the terrific "The Grapes of Wrath" at the True Grist Dinner Theatre for an excellent, fun-filled "Damn Yankees," scored with directorial tenderness by Tracey Adams with complementary choreography by Cynthia Horne.

Losing is a specialty of the Washington Senators, especially when competing with the New York Yankees. The past season has followed the losing line again. But this year a Devil's Advocate in the person of Applauded tenor Joe Hardy, a middle-aged retired baseball player, is returning to a successful season of a younger age, playing for the Senators in the upcoming season.

Hardy sells his soul to the devil but insists on an escape clause in his contract, which expires the day before the end of the season. Hardy's soul becomes the property of the devil and under the auspices of the Washington Senators, giving an award-winning performance. Joe's faithful wife is left with her neighborhood cronies, providing some side-splitting support humorously to the seemingly deserted and confused wife, Meg.

To make sure that Hardy does not walk out, the contract the devil makes forth one of his evil female was in the form of Lola to provide the social merriment to Joe Hardy. But Lola fails at this due to Hardy's undying love for his homebound wife. The Senators win the pennant, New York is beaten, and Joe Hardy's wife has a returning sympathetic but happy middle-aged baseball player who used the escape clause.

Scott McGowan as Joe Hardy belts out performing home run after another with his extremely strong singing voice and compatible acting especially with the songs "A Man Doesn't Know" and "Near to You." "Damn Yankees" is McGowan's show.

from riotous beginning to the hilarious end.

As the evil Lola, Mary Bills could have used a little more seasoning of naughtiness in her role. Her singing and dancing were impeccable, however, and her belting of "Whatever Lola Wants" and the musical "A Little Brains, A Little Talent" were indeed melodious but raucous show stoppers.

Gail Betts-Trader presents a most attractive appearance and gives one of her finest and most sensitive acting performances as Meg, Joe Hardy's wife, in this True Grist hit.

Douglas Coon fits well into slinky, not-to-be-trusted, Applauded and steals many a scene with his low-keyed performance. He wins high honors with his singing of "Those Were the Good Old Days."

Lastly, the Pritchard Productions have been hiding a new supporting player by the name of James Allen Baker. Never has so much energy and raw brilliance escaped from the True Grist Stage than from this young actor as a member of the cast and a harmonious Washington Senators baseball team. Baker's "You Got To Have Heart" with fellow team members is an absolute harmony blast. Baker is a stage talent deserving of many plaudits.

"Damn Yankees" holds forth at the True Grist Theatre in Homer until Aug. 24 when "Butterflies Are Free" is ushered in as the first production of the fall season from Aug. 27 through Sept. 7.

For reservations for "Damn Yankees"—a musical home run delight—call the True Grist Dinner Theatre at 517-568-4151. Performances are Wednesdays through Sundays with times and information available at the 517 number.

Portage-Base Lake Owners Group Reviews Local Road, Marine Patrols, Wastewater Management District

Annual meeting of the Portage-Base Lake Owners Association, held Saturday, July 19, centered about three topics of vital interest to the township this year: effectiveness of additional police protection for the Portage Lake area, efforts to beef up Marine patrols and plans for a proposed Portage Lake wastewater management district.

As in past years, the annual meeting was held at Inverness with an estimated 75-80 area residents attending.

During the meeting, Sergeant Harley B. Rider of the Washburn County Sheriff's Department gave an update on patrol coverage by deputies assigned to the Portage Lake area.

Township residents were pleased with WCSO efforts to curb disturbances in the section along McGregor Rd., previously a concern to people living in, or driving through, that area.

A new ordinance, effective July 31, should prove helpful in enforcing "no stopping, standing or parking" along the Portage Lake side of McGregor Rd., in the area of the access site.

Concerns of the members of Glenbrook Association at Half

Moon Lake were discussed.

Although funds from marine craft registration have increased, the monies allocated for local marine patrols has not kept pace.

A private shift will be sought at the state level so that more marine protection will be available for area lakes and streams.

Plans for a proposed wastewater management district for the Portage Lake area of Inverness township were discussed at the annual meeting.

The township has an option on 120 acres of land, state along Starfield Woods Rd. and hopes to proceed with a plan which would provide a wastewater treatment plant for the township, possibly an additional 100 property sites located in Hamburg township.

BOY SCOUT TROOP 476 and friends helped put up the tent that was used for the marker dedication ceremonies at the Welfare Building last Saturday, Aug. 2. The tent came to good use as a late afternoon shower tried to put a damper on the ceremonies.
