Community Fair Called 'Very Successful' Despite Rainy, Cold Weather

Despite cold, rainy weather at the beginning of the week, and a general fall chill in the air until the week-end, attendance at the 1986 Chelsea Community Fair was, "pretty close to what we've had in the past," according to fair board secretary Maryann Guen-ther.

The mud bog competition on Thursday night was largely responsible for balancing out Tuesday evening's low attendance, as the stands were packed for what promises to be an annual event.

"The mud bog brought in a lot of extra people," Guenther said.
"I think it's here to stay unless attendance drops. The superintendent (Don Bollinger) and his crew worked well and very diligently to set up the mud bog and fill it back in. We were very

There were no exact attendance figures available, although officials said there were probably fewer people than last year's record total of 37,000.

Guenther said one problem that will have to be resolved before next year was the lack of an eating facility. This year the kit-chen in the Fair Service Center was not in operation.

"We couldn't come to an ade-curte agreement with an organquate agreement with an organ-ization to provide the service,"

Guenther said.

At age 77 Benjamin Franklin, a wealthy stagesman and scientist, was delighted as a schoolboy to winess the ascent of human beschoolboy to writess the ascent of human beings in a free balloon. A Parisian at the historic even shrugged at the Mongolfier balloon and mutered, "Of what use is it?" Franklin eyed him tolerantly and replied, "Of what use is a newborn baby?"

His may believe the state of the s him tolerantly and trolled. "Of what use is a newborn baby?"

His own babyhood and boyhood were spent in a crowded and not-too-prosperous home. He was the 15th of 17 children sired by Josiah Franklin, a maker of candles.

Insisting on an education for Benjamin, Josiah required Ben to attend school from ages eight to ten—all this before being set to work in the family shop cutting candlewicks and filling molds. The work hid not appeal to the boy and at 12 he apprenticed himself to his older brother. John, and began to learn the trade of printing. He also became a lifetime reader of fine literature, using the master works to develop a writing style of his own.

Ben and John parted company, and the younger brother found employment as a printer in Philadelphia. By age 24, he was the sole owner of a print shop and publisher of the weekly Pennsylvania Gazette. In this same year, 1730, he martied Deborah Read, a devoted and cheerful wife who bore him three children.

Ben worked hard, saved faithfully and made a fortune out of his business. He became the State Printer for Pennsylvania, then New Jersey. Delaware and Maryland.

In 1732 he began the publication of "Poor Richard's Abmanac." It was an annual, containing the calendar, weather foftecasts for the four seasons, stories and jokes, It was especially fained for philosophical sayings which, by today, are bromides.

"Early to bed and early to rise makes a man healthy, wealthy afid wise."

"Three may keep a secret if two of them are dead."

"Three may keep a secret if two of them are dead."

Fish and visitors smell in three days." (Anyone with guests for two weeks knows what Poor Richard meant.)

He disobeyed his early to bed rule and was a nightowl who studied scientific books in English, German and French, plus translations of the Greek and Roman philosophers.

In addition, he was busy in civic affairs, establishing the first public library in America, the beginnings of the American Philosophical Society and an academy which later became the University of Pennsylvania.

As a public official in Philadelphia, Franklin established the first fire company, improved the methods for paving and lighting streets, and invented a way of suppressing the smoke from chimneys.

Throughout his business and private career be careed positions.

Throughout his business and private career he earned positions and promotions in the postal service of the country, first in Pennsylvania, then in all the colonies, and finally as the first Postmaster General of the United States. In a mail service which sometimes took months to deliver a letter, he cut the time down by weeks.

He was the greatest inventor of the colonial period, never altempting to maintain a monopoly on his inventions and never charging for their use by others.

As a boy, Ben was an excellent swimmer, but to improve his performance he made hand paddles to increase the power of each stroke. Today, swimming paddles made of plastic are often used at Cameron Pool. Franklin was the inventor of bifocal glasses, a god-send to mature readers. He also invented the Franklin stove with a grate that extended into the footic, casting blessed warmth in all directions.

grate that extended into the footh, easing blessed warmth in all directions.

He devised and demonstrated his theory that discharges of lightning were actually electricity, and this led to his invention of the lightning tod. A kite was sent up in a thunderstorm. At the end of the kite string was a key from which Franklin was able to draw sparks. (Ben was lucky. Others since have been electrocuted doing that.)

origie kite string was a key from which Franklin was able to draw sparks. (Ben was lucky. Others since have been electrocuted doing this.)

As a scientist. Franklin received honorary degrees from Harvard. Yale and the College of William and Mary. In Britain he was elected to the Royal Society of Scientists in London and in France, to the Royal Academy of Science.

Franklin retired from his printing business in 1748, a wealthy man at age 42. He did not know it when he bought his 300 acre "retirement" farm, but he was only halfway through his life. In no tirise at all he was neck deep in scientific and public affairs.

These included 14 years as a member of the Pennsylvania Assembly which overlapped with numerous public appointments in Paris and London. Toward the end of his life he spent more than 25-years serving his country on diplomatic missions to Europe.

His first involvement in international affairs occurred at home with the outbreak of the French and Indian War. French hunters began to invade the colonial Ohio River valley, aided by American Indians, and Britain took up arms against them. The British troops which first landed in Virginia were sorely in need of wagons, horses and supplies. Official funds were lacking and Ben Franklin pledged his personal credit to Pennsylvania farmers for the needed supplies. In the end, the French were beaten.

For five years, Franklin represented Pennsylvania in England and had considerable success in getting Parliament to abolish the hated colonial Stamp Act. To prevent war with the Grown, he tried urgently to secure independent status for the colonies while temaining under British rule.

In 1775, recognizing the furlity of achieving peace with King George III. Franklin returned to America to assist in the war for independence. He was one of the drafters and signers of the Declaration of Independence and his words in Congress echo to this day: "We must all hang together, or assuredly we shall all hang separately."

During the war, a widower since 1774, Franklin sailed to Paris and enlisted the tremendously valuable aid of France in our war against Britain. In 1781 he returned, accompanied by two envoys, to work out the Treaty of Paris in which Britain made peace with the United States of America. It was formally signed in 1783.

The French people were so fond of Benjamin Franklin that they would rem windows from landlords just to see the great man ride by in his cartiage:

When the statesman, scientist, philospher, humorist returned to America in 1785 he was greeted in Philadelphia with a weeklong celebration—ceremonies, cannon fire and bell ringing.

Benjamin Franklin died at age 84 in 1790 and more than 20,000 people paid homage to this illustrious American patriot at his funeral.

As a general rule, you wouldn't think a jar of mustard or a bottle of hot sauce is something to get too exited about. However, there are exceptions to every rule and Michigan-made Mucky Duck mustard and Clancy's Fancy hot sauce are certainly exceptional.

The names alone should tell you that these two condiments have got to be in a class by them-selves—and they are. Mucky Duck mustard was cre-

Mucky Duck mustard was created by Michele Marshall of Franklin and went on the market in May, 1983. Michele describes Mucky Duck as an English pubstyle mustard, a delightful blend of sweetness and tanginess that complements just about anything. It contains no salt or preservatives and contains only four simple ingredients; vinegar, sugar, ground mustard seed and eggs, plus Michele's special wizardry in putting them together. It makes an excellent glaze for ham, salmon, ribs and other meats, is a great dip for egg rolls and serves an ordinary sandwich and an ordinary sandwich and icrus an ordinary sandwich into a culbary experience.

The origin of the Mucky Duck name comes from England, where many pubs and taverns bear the name "White Swan." "Mucky Duck" is the British slang expression for these popular watering holes. Speaking of water, that's the first thing I grabbed for after a taste of another Michigan-made condiment.

But Clancy's Fancy is more But Clancy's Fancy is more than just hot sauce. It is also a marvelous combination of herbs and flavors, that unite the culinary traditions of many cultures, and it is still made the oldworld way—by hand. One taste of Clancy's Fancy will change hot sauce skeptics into flaming fans.

The creator of this incendiary condiment is another of Michigans and the condiment is another of Michigans.

condiment is another of Michigan's emerging female entrepre-neurs—Colleen Clancy of Ann Ar-bor. According to Colleen, she concocted her own tasty hot sauce in 1978 and used to take it sauce in 1978 and used to take it to pot-luck suppers. Soon, people began asking for the "fancy sauce that Clancy makes," and the name—and the business—were on their way.

Clancy fanciers have found countless ways to use this unique sauce. Chances are you will discover some of your own. While spicing up your oatmeal with a touch of Clancy's may be going a bit too far, you could try Clancy's Fancy to liven up casseroles, omelettes, burgers, tilps, soups and stews. A word of caution however, a little—very little—goes a long way.

Mucky Duck mustard and Clancy's Fancy hot sauce—once you've tried them, you'll be a fan you've tried them, you'll be a fan for life.

So let's keep making it—and tasting it—in Michigan!

Bulldog Basketball To Turn Up Heat

Featuring a pressure defense and a running offense, the Chelsea varsity girls baskethall team swings into action this

Coach Jim Winter's team will be trying to improve on a last year's 5-16 record although the heart of last year's team, Kristi Headrick, Kris Mattoff and Jennifer Cattell, has graduated.

Although Winter's team may have less experience than he would like, it has far more height and should have fewer problems posting up than last year, which was one of the team's biggest downfalls

"Height-wise, we look like a basketball team this year," Winter said. "We should have a better game

"We should have a better game inside than we did last year. but it's going to be hard for us to shoot better from the perimeter than we did last year. Peggy Hammerschmidt will get a lot of time in the post off the bench. Right now, Leah Enderle is our best outside shooter."

The added strength inside should help with the team's transition game as the Bulldogs figure to pull down more rebounds. Winter said he wants his team to push the bail up court to bounds. Winter said he wants his team to push the bail up court to score off the fast break.

Good Fall Salmon Runs Expected in Michigan

Salmon fishing—which netted Michigan's economy approx-imately $190 million in imatery $190 million in 1985—should provide anglers with a strong, although not record-setting season, reports AAA Michigan. Biologists at 14 State Department of Natural Resources ment of Natural Nesources fisheries across Michigan predict 1986 salmon catches will be as good as 1985, but will not equal the record 1984 season. Salmon were first planted in the Great Lakes in 1967.

Great Lakes salmon runs— both chinook and coho—should peak through mid-September as the fish begin to school before moving into spawning streams. From mid-September to mid-October, the best action should be in the 40 streams listed in AAA Michigan's 1986 Salmon Fishing Approximately 8.5 million saimon are planted annually in the Great Lakes and about 20 per-cent, or 1.7 million fish, survive for spawning runs. Nearly 50 percent of those plants are in Lake Michigan, with 41 percent in Lake Michigan, with 41 percent in Lake Huron, 8 percent in Lake Superior and about 1 percent in the Huron River near Detroit.

Chinook will generally run from 5 to 25 pounds but can reach 35 pounds. Coho average 6 to 8 pounds.

All salmon and trout anglers now are required to purchase a general fishing license, a major change since last fall's runs. Spouse permits no longer are sued free.
The annual resident license and the trout/salmon stamp cost $7.25 each. The non-resident general license is $20.25. For license is $20.20. For senior citizens, a husband and wife can still fish for $1 annually. According to the Travel, Tourism and Recreation Resource Center at Michigan State University, nearly 30 per-cent of all non-resident anglers who come to Michigan, fish for salmon. The average salmon angler will spend $258 per trip including travel and preparation.

The average salmon trip lasts five days. Lake salmon action reaches its peak when fish begin schooling peak when fish begin schooling near parent streams. Salmon start schooling when the water temperature reaches 60 degrees, but chinook and coho feed at 54 degrees where alewives and other forage fish are found. Many anglers, including charter captains, use a graph or depth finder to locate schools of fish. The graph also can help spot the thermocline, the oxygen-rich strata of water between a warm water upper layer and a cold water lower area which is a good place to find salmon. Trollers will find chinook by running bait 10 to 15 feet off the lake bottom. Coho success is best in the upper 30 feet within 10 miles of shore. Both chinook and coho will go deeper as the water temperature rises and they will scatter in inclement weather

Best trolling baits are North-port Nailers, Huron Herrings, J-Plugs, Canadian Plugs, Squids, Sparkle Flies, Dodgers, Flutter hucks and Zippers. For stream fishing, Mepps Spinners, Little Cleos, salmon flies and spawn work well.

Great Lakes charter fishing is dreat takes charter tusning is becoming increasingly popular for salmon fishermen and the number of registered charter boats has swelled more than 500 percent since 1978. Some 239,000 persons took charter fishing trips for all types of fish in 1985 and and approximately $1.38 million paid approximately $13.8 million in charter fees.

in charter fees.
Salmon snagging with artificial baits or unweighted hooks is legal on parts of four West Michigan rivers from Sept. 10 through Oct. 5. They are the Big Manistee, Pere Marquette, Muskegon and Sable rivers. Snagging is not permitted this year on the Au Sable River in East Michigan. The DNR's 1986 fishing guide lists the liberalized areas for each liberalized areas for each

From Sept. 10 through Oct. 31, the Ocqueoc River is closed to fishermen from Lake Huron to

The Michigan Department of Public Health says that contami-nant levels in Great Lakes fish have dropped in recent years, but children and pregnant or nursing women should be discouraged from eating salmon. Others should refrain from eating more than 26 pounds of salmon from Lakes Huron or Michigan or Saginaw Bay in one year.

Mothers raising children by hemselves often receive no sup-port from the absent father. In 1983, only about half of women with dependent children were awarded child support or had an agreement to receive it, according to a fact sheet on working women published by the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Some thoughts about the Chelsea Buildags as they begin the 1986 football season this Friday at Brooklyn Columbia Central—

The Bulldags were billed by one of the Detroit newspapers as having the best shot at upsetting the Saline Hornets for the Southeastern Con-

Doesn't that sound familiar?

That's exactly what was said last year, a season that didn't quite live up to its promise for Chelsea fans.

it's too bad the teams have to meet in their second game of the season, but at least the game's on home turf. Let's forget about what they did to us last year in Saline.

The Bulldags need a good, injury-free season from the seniors in order to have much chance at a conference championship. Beyond the seniors, there isn't a lot of depth.

I hope the Bulldags won't do what I have just done—look past this week's opening game with BCC to the Saline game and the rest of the SEC

A win could go a long way in setting the tone for the season, and the Buildogs need all the momentum they can get.

The Bulldags have the capacity to be very good or very bad, depend-

How well Todd Starkey can adjust to being a quarterback and runner, rather than a receiver; How quickly sophomore quarterback Larry Nix adjusts to the complexities of varsity football, which could put Starkey back where he belongs;

Whether senior runner Curtis Heard has shaken his problems with shin splints. Heard has the ability to be one of the league's best; Whether senior Marty Polian can live up to his potential as one of the league's top tight ends; How well the defense can eliminate last year's tendency to give

How well the detense can eliminate last year's rendency to give up the big play. This will be especially important since the Bulldogs are not likely to have a big play offense. Last year I always felt the Bulldogs could come back from a 14 or 20-point deficit. This year it might be lights out if they get that far behind. There's little doubt the Bulldogs will again be an exciting team to watch, although the excitement is more likely to be generated by 20-yard runs than 60-yard pass plays.

That's because, so far, there's nobody to throw the ball with any great degree of reliability. The last two years, LaFqve has been able to rely on dead-eye Dan Bellus. No more. And, since Starkey has been moved to quarterback for the time being, Chelseo has also lost its best Fortunately, Starkey is likely to be a top-knotch option quarterback even though he hasn't played the position for a few years. He has all the ingredients. He's quick, he's very smart, he's well co-ordinated, and, by all reports, has a great attitude. However, he does not have Dan Bellus' Not many kids do.

Starkey also has a host of solid running backs, headed by Heard, who showed flashes of brilliance last year while playing with nagging injuries. Junior Morseau, who dominated play at the freshman level last season, should also see a lot of action, along with Joe Eassa and Scott Starkey and Heard are the fastest guys on the team, although they do not have exceptional, breakaway speed. They are quick, however That probably means they won't win too many open field sprints to the goal line, but should have a bundle of 10-20 yard gainers.

LaFave said his starting offensive line is solid. That's olways nice to for a running game. It shapes up to be an interesting season.

After looking over photographs taken at football picture day recently, it's apparent that Polian wins this year's award as Meanest Looking with senior Leo Durham a distant second. itially I didn't even recognize the guy due to his state-of-the-art crew cut. It's too bad his helmet will cover most of his thugliness.

Crew cut. It's too bod its reinlier will cover mast of its intigritiess.
My prediction from last year still stands. Polian will be one of this year's finest players who will probably deserve more credit than he gets. If there is a solid passing game, Poljan will be right in the middle of it.

The only pre-requisite for joining a study group is an interest in the Bible

The coffee hour will not only acquaint interested persons with the concept of Bible study, but will also be an encouragement to those members of existing groups. All community women are invited. Child care will be provided at the K. of C. Hall across from the fair building. For Neighborhood Bible Studies is a non-profit, non-denominational organziation, begun in the state of New York in 1960 by two homemakers, Marilyn Kurz and Catherine Schell. ### Purple Martin Survey Needs Public Help Again 50-percent decline in numbers over the last 20 years. In southwestern Lower Michigan,

With Michigan's summer populations of purple martins expected to start winging their way for Brazil any day now, reports of their southbound migrations are needed from all corners of the state to help blueprint many happy returns for the birds in nesting seasons to come, reports the seasons to come, reports the Department of Natural study in action.

Those sightings of martin migrations are being requested by Ann Arbor researcher Richard Wolinski, who recently launched a five-year study aimed at helping stem the birds' nose-dive in numbers on Michigan's outdoor scene.

The study is one of some 30 field projects sponsored by the Nongame Wildlife Fund this summer to help bald eagles, piping plovers, lake sturgeon, bluebirds, sandirill cranes, timber wolves, endangered snakes, and a wide variety of rare and precious plants. The fund is made up en-tirely of public donations. Nearly all of them come as checkoff con-tributions on state income tax Wolinski can already count on hearing from 335 citizen co onerators who, since last spring, operators who, since last spring, have answered his call to serve as the eyes and ears of his project throughout the state.

Those volunteers, using survey forms supplied by Wolinski, have recorded when purple martins returned to their areas this spring and the number of hirdburge.

returned to their areas this spring and the number of birdhouse compartments they occupied in each active colony. This month, they will be keeping tabs on the birds' departure dt s for southern climets.

Wolinski's latest appeal for citizen help is designed to fill out his project's survey coverage. In seeking volunteers last spring, he came up empty in a number of counties, notably those in the mid-section of the Lower Peninsula.

The survey project has failed to draw any co-operator in Bay, Arenac, Midland, Isabella, Clare, Arenac, Midland, Isabella, Ciare, Mecosta, Lake, Wexford, and Missaukee counties. It is also looking for its first volunteers to report on purple martin comings and goings in Benzie, Leelanau, Otsego, and Montmorency counties of northern Lower Michigan that Clinta Language and Brook Citata Language and Brook Lan plus Clinton, Lapeer, and Branch counties in the southern third of the state.

In any event, "landlords" or active martin colonies in any of Michigan's $3 counties are urged to get in touch with Wolinski. He may be contacted by writing to: Purple Martin Project, 2450 Baker Rd., Dexter 48130. Wolinski terms cittzen support as the key for laying the groundwork to help pull purple martins out of their decline.

Seconding his thoughts is Bob Hess, in charge of DNR's Nongame Wildlife Program. He explains:

"The information coming from co-operators over the next few years will hopefully help us deter-mine the real answers to why the birds' populations have gone down so much. More importantly, their reports will help us focus on what needs to be done and also make it possible for us to pinpoint our management emphasis in our management emphasis in those local parts of the state where the birds need help the most."

Weber's Inn Receives 4-Star Award

Weber's Inn of Ann Arbor has been awarded the Mobil Travel Guide's 1986 Four-Star Award The Four-Star rating means that rded the Mobil Travel Weber's is "outstanding--worth a special trip," according to Ar-nold J. Fury, Mobil's manager of travel services. The Mobil Award given annually is one of the most respected in the lodging and dining industry.

Weber's Inn was one of only seven establishments in the State of Michigan to receive a Four-Star rating. Other hotels include the Hyatt Regency in Dearborn, the Westin Hotel in Detroit, and the Arnway Grand Plaza in Grand Rapids. The Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island and the Grand Traverse Resort Village were also among the winners. The London Chop House in Detroit wan the only exclusive restaurant to receive the award.

The Mobil Travel Guide staff than 21,000 the countels rated more than 21,000 establishments across the country this year. Only 509 hotels, motels, and resorts, inns, and restaurants in the United States

"Mobil Travel Guide's standards are the strictest in the indent of Weber's Inn. "This is the dent of Weber's Inn. "This is the 14th consecutive year that we have qualified for their award but we have to earn it over again every year," Weber added.

"To qualify for four stars lodging establishments must have a gracious over-all decornd luxury guest rooms," said Mobil's Fury. "Furnishings and appointments must be of top quality and carefully maintained. There must be an excellent restaurant on the premises," he added.

Every year we have introduced an improvement or major upgrade in Weber's Inn," said Weber. "This year we have added 35 new poolside rooms in a totally new Presidential Wing. from the provisions of Section 4.1, C-2-c of the Zoning Ordinance. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion car-

Letters to the Editor

The Chelsea Standard, Wednesday, September 3, 1986

When time ran out on our merry-go-round adventure, my two children and I headed for the adjacent ice cream stand and waited in a slow moving line of Chelsea. Fair patrons.

The midway game parked next to the ice cream trailer featured to the ice cream trailer featured four female torso figures, dressed in "stylish" androgenous underware with inflated balloons forming the bustline. It seemed that the point of the dart throwing game was to pierce a balloon and win a prize. The offensive game became even more so when the carnival hawker called each tor-so by name-indeed, each figure featured a name tag where the head should be. INDEED!

reatured a name tag where the head should be. INDEED!
Faceless names, inflated bream, the sure path of a pointer dart.
A short time ago, a Chelsea reader expressed in a letter to The Standard such an outrage the standard such an outrage when her husband was found out passively reading soft porn. But this game is active; it is symbolic; it is one point of a triangle formed along with a merry-go-round and an ice cream stand.

To my utter dismay . . . . Janis A. Syrevy.

What Does 'Chance of Rain' Really Mean?

Travel & Tourist Association (TTA) President Sid Baker is asking the question, "What does 30% chance of rain mean?" Aside from husting the outdoor.

Aside from hurting the outdoor Aside from hurting the outdoor tourist business, no one really knows. "The problem is," said Baker, "that in trying to be more informative to the public, some weather forecasters are giving out statistics that are confusing and misleading. Does a 30% chance of rain mean that it may rain hard all day or does it mean you can expect a light 20-second sprinkle to occur? I ask the weather forecasters to be more weather forecasters to be more possibility of rain without predicting the possible intensity and duration of that rain."

Baker points out that outdoor activities such as parks, golf courses, resorts, theme parks, campgrounds, beaches and even some batels and words suffer at some hotels and motels suffer atsome notes and motes state ac-tendance drops when a chance of rain is predicted. The general public, he feels, needs greater details when planning family outings.

"Of course," said Baker, "If there is a good chance of hard thunderstorms or lengthy rain showers, the public should be in-

When we asked for contributions to our new hospital, we didn't just ask for money.

We also asked over 3,200 of our patients and visitors how the 125,000,000 cubic feet of new space should be used. Because the right atmosphere can be vital to the healing process, we considered it vital that the patients themselves have a hand in creating that atmosphere. The majority of the suggestions accumulated through our patient and visitor participation program are now part and parcel of the new University Hospital. Some are big ideas, parking and the elimination of wards. Some changes are so subtle, you may never realize how much they contribute to your comfort and well-being.

Big or small, the chances are the original idea came from a patient just like you. The new University Hospital may be one of the pre-eminent teaching hospitals in the world today.. but that doesn't mean we still can't learn a thing or two.

The stands were packed for the event, which replaced the fair's long-running rodeo. Considering the crowd, the mud bog may have been the most popular event at the fair.

According to Bollinger, there were nearly 100 entries in the five classes. Classes were determined by the type of tires.

First place in the first two classes won $125; second place, $100; third place, $75; fourth place, $50; fifth place, $25; and sixth place, $15.

In the final three categories, the first five prizes were increased by $25, and sixth place was raised $10.

Four-wheel-drive vehicles from all over southern Michigan were entered in the first Mud Bog ever staged at the Chelsea Community Fair, and when it was all over, most of the prizes were won by people outside of the area.

The mud bog was held last Thursday evening in the main arena abut by Friday morning the arena was in perfect shape for the remaining tractor pulls, thanks to the work of superintendent Don Bollinger and his crew.

The crew dug out a pit in the main arena and filled it with mud from the pit used for a mud bog a couple of months ago behind the south stands. The mud had to be trucked to the main arena.

Dexter Area Youth Completes ROTC Challenge Camp

Challenge Camp

Christopher R. Byrum, son of Kathleen Kibble of 1481 N. Parker, Dexter, has completed training in fundamental military skills at the Army ROTC Challenge camp formerly Badic camp, at Fort Knox, Ky.

The Challenge camp is designed to give college juniors and sophomores who have not taken ROTC courses the chance to enter the program. The camp also qualifies high school graduates for the ROTC program at any of the nation's six military junior colleges.

During the encampment, cadets received training in bests rifle marksmanship, military drill and ceremonies, communications and individual and small unit tactics.

Byrum plans to enter the ROTC program at Michigan Technological University Houghton program at Michigan Technologi-cal University, Houghton.
