Area Churches Plan Special Holy Week, Easter Worship Services

Chelsea-area churches are planning special Holy Week and Easter services marking the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ.

Area pastors affiliated with the Chelsea Ministerial Fellowship met on March 27 to co-ordinate worship services for Good Friday this Friday.

A Community Good Friday Service will be held from 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Chelsea Christian Fellowship church, 337 Wilkinson St.

Preachers for the service will be the Rev. Leland Booker of the First Congregational United Church of Christ and the Rev. Chuck Clemons of the Chelsea Full Gospel church.

The Rev. Booker will speak on the passion of Christ from the Gospel of John. The theme for the Rev. Clemons' sermon will be "God Has It Under Control."

Music will be provided by the Rev. Ed and Sandra Lang of the First Assembly of God and Susan Wescott of the First United Methodist church.

The offering for the service will help support the chaplaincy program at Chelsea Community Hospital and the Chelsea Ministerial Association.

Other area Good Friday services will be held from noon to 3 p.m. at St. Barnabas Episcopal church, Our Savior Lutheran church, and St. Mary's Catholic church. Zion Lutheran will hold a 1:30 p.m. service as well. Chelsea Free Methodist church will have a 7 p.m. "Reflections Upon the Cross" service. North Lake United church will feature a Tenebrae Service, extinguishing of the candles, at 7:30 p.m.

Many area businesses will be closed from noon to 3 p.m. Friday to allow employees to attend the service of their choice.

Other Holy Week services include the following.

St. Barnabas Episcopal will hold a 7:30 p.m. mass tonight (Wednesday). For Maundy Thursday, a 7:30 p.m. Mass and Laying Bare the Altar will be held. At 7:30 p.m. Saturday, The Great Vigil of Easter will take place. And on Easter morning at 10 a.m. Mass of the Resurrection will be held.

Chelsea Free Methodist church will begin Easter Day celebration at 8 a.m., combining morning services, including the Sunday School hour. Breakfast will be at 9:30.

"A Living Will" will be the theme of Maundy Thursday service at St. Paul United Church of Christ at 7:30 p.m. It will feature parents of the 1990 Confirmation Class, and the Chancel Choir. The Old and New Covenants—the Ten Commandments and the Law of Moses and the new commandment of love—will be highlighted. Following Holy Communion, the church will be darkened, lit only by candles, with a silent recessional ending the service.

St. Paul's Chancel Choir will sing at the community Good Friday service. St. Paul church will be open for a Good Friday Prayer Vigil from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m., and the church will be lit only by candles. There will be no formal service and the church will be open to the community.

Two Sunday services will be held at St. Paul UCC, the first at 8 a.m., which will feature the children's Chapel Choir. The second will be at 10:30 a.m., featuring the Chancel Choir. Holy Communion will be served at both services. The Rev. Erwin

Lack of Full Council Delays Two Major Votes

Chelsea Village Council postponed the appointment of a village trustee to fill out the remaining year of the seat vacated by village president Richard Steele.

No action was taken at the April 3 meeting. Steele, who's former seat became available when he was elected president last month, told council he'd like to see the person with the fourth highest number of votes appointed to the seat. That is former village president Charles Ritter, who was in the audience and commented on a number of subjects during the course of the meeting.

However, trustee Frank Hammer suggested the appointment be delayed until a full council is present. Trustee Stephanie Kanten was absent.

A majority vote of council is required to make an appointment official.

Action on the evening's other controversial issue was also delayed for the same reason, although Hammer made an official motion to re-join the Washtenaw Development Council. However, no one seconded the motion after the lack of a full council was again made an issue.

The village has been asked to re-join the Washtenaw Development Council for a year. The village had been a member since the group organized in the early 1980s, but voted in November to back out.

Membership will cost the village about $2,200. WDC's charge is to re-

Manchester Stamping Seeking a New Location

One of the Manchester-area's largest employers is apparently looking to relocate its entire operation after township voters over-rode a township board decision that would have allowed the company to expand in its current location.

Manchester Stamping Co. Co-Owner and President Wayne Hamilton says his company has begun talking to communities outside the Manchester area, including a couple in Jackson county, about finding a permanent home for his company. The company produces metal stamped products for the automobile industry.

Against the recommendation of the Manchester Township Planning Commission and the Washtenaw County Planning Commission, the township board voted to change the zoning of a 30-acre parcel from recreation/conservation and light industrial to general industrial. The planning boards said the parcel is in a groundwater re-charge area, which makes it abandoning Manchester. If they want to talk, we'll listen."

Hamilton said the opposition ran "a dirty campaign," full of "falsified information and lies." He also said the company offered to extend sewer lines, which would have "cleaned up the operation even more." The company is now on a septic field.

Manchester Stamping now employs 82 people, but by 1995 could have as many as 200, Hamilton said. He anticipates growth of 35 percent next year and 50 percent by 1993. He said his company now pays about $80,000 annually in taxes and that total could have swelled to nearly $400,000.

"I don't really understand why they'd want to give up that kind of tax base," Hamilton said.

Hamilton said the company has few options left in its current location.

"I just know we're out of room and we're landlocked," Hamilton said.

"We have contracts we have to fill plus we have some new products that we've been working on that have been accepted. We don't have to do anything in six months or a year, but we've got to get the process started and find some place we can locate our entire operation."

Of all area communities, Hamilton said "Chelsea would be perfect for us," partly because many of the company's employees are from the western part of the county and the Jackson area. However, as of Monday morning he had not talked to village representatives. He was scheduled to meet with the Washtenaw Development Council Monday. He said he has talked to people in Saline and Milan.

Manchester Stamping was established 27 years ago. Hamilton and a partner purchased the company 12 years ago.

Easter Eggs, Yes, Fireworks, No For Harold Allen

For the second year in a row, Chelsea resident Harold Allen and his family will sponsor the annual Easter Egg Hunt at the Chelsea High school football field.

The hunt, which is actually more like a two-minute mad scramble for colored Easter eggs, will begin at 11. As usual, there will be several different age categories and there will be at least one special prize in each group for the child who picks up a specially-marked egg.

Polly's Market has offered to donate 120 dozen eggs for the event.

Allen and his family and friends will color the eggs. However, Allen said he wasn't sure whether he would ask for donations of the prizes.

"This is something I want to do every year," Allen said.

Allen's pet project for the last several years, the Fourth of July fireworks, is apparently a thing of the past as far as he's concerned.

"I'll never do the fireworks again," said Allen, who fell far short of his monetary goal in contributions last year. Liability insurance costs, as well as the cost of fireworks, have skyrocketed over the last few years.

Whether another organization will step forward to sponsor the event remains to be seen.

In the meantime, if your children plan to attend the egg hunt Sunday, they'd be well advised to wear a pair of running shoes and carry a big bag or basket.

Search Begins for New Assistant Manager

The village plans to look for an engineer or planner to replace assistant village manager Tom Warstler, who resigned his position last week.

Warstler has accepted a planning position in Escanaba.

Some members of village council seemed to prefer the village have an engineer on staff. However, village manager Robert Stalker said it's not likely the village can find a civil engineer in the $29,000 to $36,000 salary range.

Stalker agreed to follow trustee Jack Myers' suggestion to "at least try" to find an engineer. Myers said he was concerned about the cost of consulting engineers. Consequently, advertising will appeal to both types of professionals.

Warstler told council that he supported the idea of a planner, partly because the village has decided to devise an area plan as well as re-work its zoning ordinance. Those are areas in which a planner can make a great impact.

A May 14 application deadline has been set. So it's not likely the village will be able to have someone on staff until the middle of summer. Warstler is leaving in late May.

"It looks like I'll be the Lone Ranger for a little while," Stalker said.

Camp Waterloo Inmate Escapes

A Camp Waterloo inmate was reported missing from the prison on Sunday at 6:10 p.m.

According to Chelsea police, Isaac T. Merritt of Pontiac, described as white, 5'10", with brown hair and blue eyes, was serving 4-6 years for felonious assault.

more sensitive to pollution because contaminants could flow directly into the groundwater.

However, a petition drive placed the issue on the ballot and township residents voted 232-145 to over-turn the board's decision.

"I have no problem with the vote," Hamilton said Monday.

"However, I think if I had been on the township board, I would have thrown support out for Manchester Stamping Company. Before the election, they didn't even stand behind their own decision. I don't see them wanting to keep us, so we're going to explore other possibilities. We're not

In a repeat of 1986, 11 people have declared themselves candidates for the Chelsea Board of Education elections on Monday, June 11.

Incumbents Barb Cherem and Craig Wales have both decided not to seek re-election. It was the same situation in 1986 when Wales and Cherem were elected as both incumbents that year decided not to run. Two four-year seats are available this year.

Deadline for nominating petitions was Monday at 4 p.m.

This year's candidates include: Dona L. Baird, 615 N. Freer Rd.; A. Marie Colombo, 18550 Cavanaugh Lake Rd.; Jane Faist Dising, 14359 Forest Ct.; Roger A. Dymond, 3097 Chisholm Trail; Jason Eyster, 1025 N. Fletcher Rd.; Elin G. Gutierrez, 2000 South Lake; Conrad A. Knutson, 211 E. Middle St.; Richard R. McCalla, 209 Jefferson St.; Roderick A. Powers, 12930 Scio Church Rd.; Janet M. Roberts, 11506 Jackson Rd.; and Mary Kathryn Weber, 233 Adams St.

A RATHER TALL EASTER BUNNY made an early visit downtown last Saturday. He docked in and out of businesses on Main St. but really didn't have much to say. The Easter Bunny is likely to make another appearance this Saturday for Chelsea's annual Easter Egg Hunt at Chelsea High school.

CHELSEA POLICE OFFICER Mike Foster, left, became Sgt. Foster this month as the six-year veteran of the force was promoted to fill a vacancy created by the departure of Frank Kornexl. Above, chief Leonard McDougall makes the promotion official by pinning on the new badge. Foster started out as a reserve officer and has handled most duties with the exception of dispatcher.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

With April Fool's Day in mind, Democrat Clem Webster told the fellers at the country store Saturday night that the more he reads behind the Bush Administration the more he sees that the campaign promise of no new taxes has proved ever bit as good as all campaign promises. That's good enough for taxpayers to know they've been made fools of again and the joke's on them.

Where we were told to look for 1,000 points of light we are getting 1,000 points of pain, Clem allowed. Where we use to get eat by sharks in a few big gulps, he went on, we are being nibbled to death by nats. The folks in high places that have worked out this sick joke figger we can digest a tax pie cut up bite size easier than we can swallow the same pie in four slices, was Clem's words.

Clem said what got him on his high horse was reports where a swarm of nats called VATs is drawing Congressmen like flies to honey. This is where some Government gits a value added tax bite at ever step in the making and selling of ever product. On top of that, he declared, the Bush bunch is pushing for a lot of little taxes called fees for everything. If the Administration gits its way, Clem said, a airline ticket will be loaded down with $2 and $5 fees from the parking lot to the airplane toilet and the landing gate, and the President can keep telling travelers to read his lips.

Furthermore, Clem said, all Congressmen that can git to a microphone are making a bad joke of what they want us to think was Sen. Moneyham's bit of temporary insanity a few weeks back. The senator come right out before God and everybody and said we didn't need to raise Social Security taxes this year. Worse, he said we ought to quit using the Social Security trust fund to make the Federal deficit look better. Everbody in elected office high and low pegged his words as political heresy, Clem went on, when ever one of em knows he's right.

Practical speaking, Clem said, election years makes strange politicians. Fer one thing, their spots and stripes change to suit the season, and he will be surprised if they don't come out with a way to hold up on the Social Security hike and pick up the difference with a new batch of fees and VATs.

Clem said a ray of hope showed up the other day when he saw members of Congress are taking off a long Easter holiday to rest up from their labors of voting aid to save most of South America and all of Eastern Europe. Fer sure, whenever they go home they are reminded they long since voted away the crop and are voting away the seed corn. It allus takes a while after a layoff to git back up to full voting speed, was Clem's words.

Natural, Republican Ed Doolittle was disagreed. Taking credit and placing blame is no respecter of parties, Ed said. The Republican White House can draw up a shopping list, he said, but if Democrats in Congress could agree on anything but their name they could control what actual goes through the checkout line. Obvious, Ed said, nobody causes problems and nobody solves problems, so everybody is caught in the middle.

The truth is, Ed said, the engine that drives it all is the folks that vote all the rascals in. And these are the same folks that feel betrayed by their elected representatives if their big payroll military base that serves no military purpose is targeted for closing.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Nearly half of all energy used in our homes is wasted, out the window, or through the attic, cracks or other leaks. Every winter, the energy equivalent of all the oil that flows through the Alaskan pipeline in a year leaks through American windows. If every gas-heated home were properly caulked and weatherstripped, the natural gas saved annually would be enough to heat about four million homes.

State Ban on Corporate Election Spending Upheld

In a case closely watched by the federal government and 20 other states with similar laws, the U.S. Supreme Court has affirmed a Michigan law banning direct corporate spending in candidate election campaigns.

The ruling, reversing the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals, rejected arguments by the State Chamber of Commerce that the ban violates constitutional rights of free speech as well as equal rights because unions are exempt from the ban.

"This is the single most significant campaign finance and political activities case decided by the Supreme Court in a number of years," said Attorney General Frank J. Kelley, whose office defended the law.

"Allowing corporations to spend unlimited amounts of money to support or oppose candidates for public office would create gross unfairness in the political arena," he added.

The state had contended the ban is necessary to avoid undue influence from corporations that may not be fully identified in the advertising and to prevent corporate profits from "buying" the election playing field.

Robert Labrant of the Chamber of Commerce expressed disappointment in the ruling, saying, "Frankly, we're a little surprised to see that for the first time the court upheld the suppression of free speech. This is a real watershed as far as the Supreme Court is concerned that it upheld direct suppression of direct expenditures for the first time in history."

Labrant said the opinion means the Michigan political landscape will not change, but acknowledged the Chamber was prepared to run independent ads for candidates this year.

He would not specify that those plans would have included the gubernatorial race, saying only the focus had been on legislative races and no decisions had been made on which candidates would have been aided.

Labrant said the corporate dominance is not evident in the 30 states which permit corporate spending.

Richard McLellan, attorney for the Chamber, predicted the decision could affect activities by a host of other groups, such as the National Organization for Women, Greenpeace and the Abortion Rights Action League which incorporated.

He said because it, for the first time, restricts free political speech by a particular kind of group—as distinguished from limiting its contributions or expenditures—the case will be one that will be used to guide those who want to impose further restrictions.

Justice Thurgood Marshall, writing for the 6-3 majority, said, "Corporate wealth can unfairly influence elections when it is deployed in the form of independent expenditures. We therefore hold that the state has articulated a sufficiently compelling rationale to support its restriction on independent expenditures by corporations."

The court said the ability of corporations to express political views through separate segregated funds where contributors understand that money will be used solely for political purposes serves to validate the state's interest in banning direct spending from the corporate treasury.

The court majority distinguished this case from an earlier ruling involving a Massachusetts corporate group which solicited voluntary contributions to support its political activities.

In rejecting denial of equal protection claims, the court noted union members may withhold the portion of their contributions that go for political activities while retaining their membership, while corporate members of a group such as the Chamber of Commerce may find the benefits of membership too great to jeopardize by withholding their dues.

Justice Antonin Scalia's dissent described the majority decision as endorsing "the principle that too much speech is an evil that the democratic majority can proscribe. That principle is incompatible with the absolute central truth of the First Amendment: that government cannot be trusted to assure, through censorship, the 'fairness' of political debate."

The State Chamber challenged the law in federal district court when it wanted to run newspaper ads on behalf of Republican Richard Bandstra when he won a special election to the House in 1985.

The Chamber's position had been supported by, among others, NOW, Greenpeace, the American Medical Association, the ACLU, the National Association of Realtors, and the American Insurance Association.

The Federal Elections Commission and Common Cause had submitted arguments supporting the state's position.

State law permits corporations to sponsor Political Action Committees from which contributions to candidates may be made subject to limits. Direct corporate spending on ballot issues is permitted, subject to a $40,000 limit.

Wednesday, April 10 1986—

A rash of burglaries occurred in the Chelsea-Grass Lake area outside the jurisdiction of the Chelsea Police Department. The Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department said that the crimes may have been committed by the same person or persons. They were almost all committed during working hours when the residents were not home. However, in one case in the 4900 block of Chelsea-Manchester Rd., a resident walked in on the intruders and was subsequently tied up with nylon stockings and put on a bed while the thieves continued their work, according to Deputy Lee Collier. She was also threatened with a screwdriver and knife. She later cut herself free using a pair of scissors, Collier said.

One hundred six years after its construction, carpenters returned to the Chelsea rail depot to repair and restore the exterior of the building. Under the direction of Bob Bauer, Chelsea building contractor, all board and external wood structures that had aged beyond repair, or suffered damage, were being carefully removed and replicated. Broken or damaged parts of the ornamental woodwork—"The gingerbread" of 19th century architecture—were also being duplicated by local craftsmen.

Chelsea school district had the chance to become the recipient of a $95,000 educational tool that would give it in the elite of high schools in the world. University Microfilms of Ann Arbor offered to give the district a complete collection of the New York Times, on microfilm, from 1851 through 1985, for the cost of shipment from New York. The district would also have had to buy a microfilm reader. Total estimated costs were $3,000-$5,000.

Thad Bell, a Chelsea-area resident played the part of Clive in the British comedy, "See How They Run," a production of Jackson Community College's theatre group. Bell was last seen as Eeyore in the Ann Arbor Recreation Department's production of "Winnie-the-Pooh." He also helped choreograph the Chelsea High School production of "Annie Get Your Gun."

"The track team's number one goal is to repeat as Conference Champions," remarked Chelsea High school girls track team coach, DIAnn L'Roy, as she spoke of the team's ensuing season. The Chelsea girls were the first girls track team in Southeastern Conference history to take the championship title last year. According to Miss L'Roy, the girls looked strong in the sprints, hurdles and middle distances. They were hoping, she said, to "improve our consistency in field events and to improve in the distance events." The track team got their first taste of the season when they traveled to Jackson for the Jackson High school Viking Indoor Invitational. All seven CHS track team members won ribbons in the event held at Jackson Community College Fieldhouse.

Chelsea was to be represented in an all-state high school band when it performed at Western Michigan University. Known as the Revell All-Star Band, the 120-member ensemble consisted of the finest musicians representing more than 50 high school bands from throughout the state of Michigan. Selected to play in the band from Chelsea were senior Linda Jennings on the flute and junior Kim Brown on the French horn.

Playing the part of Johnny Brown in the Central Michigan University's production of "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," was Jeff Daniels, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Daniels of Washington St. The 1980 Meredith Willson-Richard Morris musical was to be presented by the University Theater and the Music Department at CMU.

When Chelsea High school senior Mike Kozminski learned he had been named the local 1978 Betty Crocker Family Leader of Tomorrow, his first reaction was "Well, that's great, but I don't exactly fit the stereotype." Mike won the honor by scoring high in a written knowledge and attitude examination administered to high school seniors here and throughout the county. I just took a test and answered logical questions that had nothing to do with baking cakes," he commented. He said that most of the questions concerned balancing a budget, etc. I you took some time to think about them, the questions were not difficult, and they were not female oriented," he continued.

Michigan Farmers
Are Benefitting from
Free-Trade Agreement

A Farm Bureau analysis of the U. S.-Canada free trade agreement shows that in the year since it took effect agricultural imports from Canada have increased by about $500 million—but U. S. farm exports to Canada have jumped only $200 million.

Despite that difference the export figures show some positive trends for Michigan farmers, according to Michigan Farm Bureau economist Bob Craig.

"What we are seeing are some trends in certain areas, particularly increased exports of horticultural products as well as red meats," Craig said. "I personally believe increased exports in these areas benefit our growers here in Michigan, because we have such a competitive advantage in dealing with those commodities."

Craig thinks that competitive advantage will increase as the free trade agreement is fully phased in over the next nine years.

However, WDC has been criticized for not acting vigorously enough on the village's behalf, especially concerning the selling of the industrial park, which hasn't had a new tenant in several years.

The village has also been criticized for not having an active WDC representative during most years it has been a member. Local realtor Mark McKernan, who listed the park, has been representing the village at WDC meetings for the last year.

One thing is for certain, however. Rarely does the proposed expenditure of $2,200 cause so much concern on council. It has been one of the most divisive issues in the last several years.

The village, however, may be on the verge of signing two new tenants, says the WDC. Both village manager Robert Stalker and assistant village manager Tom Warstler have said they'd like to see the village re-join.

Michigan Farmers Support Sugar Program

Farm Bureau testified recently in Washington in support of the current federal sugar program. Michigan Farm Bureau public affairs director Al Almy said the organization told a House Ways and Means subcommittee that U.S. farmers are efficient producers of sugar and can offer a steady supply of a quality product.

"We also pointed out that in the absence of a program similar to the one that is now in place for sugar, that the United States would sacrifice much of this productive capability to foreign producers whose advantages may only be highly subsidized government programs rather than to any real productive offerings by producers," he said.

Almy said many of the problems in world sugar trade are caused by the European Economic Community which pushes subsidized excess sugar production onto the world market.

NANCY PONTZ and her dog, Chelsea, sold Tootsie Rolls last Saturday at the corner of E. Middle and Main Sts. to benefit the mentally retarded in the community. Her efforts were part of the annual Knights of Columbus drive.

In grateful recognition . . . of all those people who helped us "re-build" following our February 14th fire . . . Thank-you to:

Chelsea Fire Dept.: who did an outstanding job of containing the fire; those firemen who stayed through the night and supplied lights enabling us to close-up the greenhouse,

Dick McCalla who opened up Chelsea Lumber in the middle of the night so we could get lumber to close-up the greenhouse,
Art Paul, Roger Schrottenboer and Steve Toth who worked long hours to close up the building to keep our stock from freezing,
Michigan Bell and Consumers Power Co. for the expedient help, Warden Bill Grant for sending a crew of men from Camp Waterloo, and officer Scott for his help and supervision.

A most special thank-you to Earl Heller of Heller Electric who sent out his entire work force and worked diligently until dark to get us back in business the next day. Heller Electric has done the work for us in our new building and we give them an unqualified recommendation. Thank you Earl, Kay, Lyle, Duane, John, Harold and Ronnie.

Those great guys, Jim, Mark, Bill and Rod of J. W. Dault Construction Co. who worked through long hours and inclement weather to assure us a building by Easter; you did it and we are most grateful,

To all of you out there for your love and concern for your cards, letters and phone-calls of support. You were a great source of inspiration in our hours of frustration and indecision.

Last but not least, a special thank-you to our wonderful employees for their long hours of work, their loyalty and dedication to us. Ginny P., Dorothy, Ginny N., Jan, Nancy, Dinah, Kim, Diane, Loy, Jack, Ed, Rico and Terry, you will always be special to us for being there when we needed you most.

We feel not anywhere but Chelsea could all of this have taken place in such a short time. Our most sincere thanks to all. We wish all a happy and joyous Easter.

THUMBSUCKING CAN ALTER JAW DEVELOPMENT

Q: I have a five-year-old child who still sucks his thumb—mostly at night. Should I be concerned or will he stop sucking by himself?

A: Sucking begins as normal, healthy, infant behavior. In the toddler years, sucking continues to be common and essentially harmless. As the child grows older, though, you should be more concerned and should discourage the habit.

The most visible consequence of thumbsucking is altered facial appearance. A daytime sucking habit also may adversely affect social development, speech, and physical health. Most children can benefit from parental intervention in sucking habits by age five.

An older child who still sucks regularly on a thumb or fingers is faced with a kind of addiction similar to adult oral addictions like smoking, drinking, and over-eating. Generally, children should not use pacifiers after age 3 or be sucking fingers after age 5.

In order to break a sucking habit the child must be motivated to do so and he will need lots of encouragement and positive support. A daily calendar with rewards for going a certain number of days without sucking might be helpful. Reminder devices like a bandage or popsicle stick taped to his thumb, or a sock or mitten worn on the hand at night has also been effective.

Ask your dentist or family doctor about other ways to alter behavior in a sucking child. If allowed to continue too long the child could require braces or even jaw surgery to correct the deformity caused by the sucking habit.

Fitness Expert Will Talk to Elementary School Group

"Surviving As a Parent in a Pop-Tart, Potato Chip, and Pepsi Generation World" will be the subject of a talk on Monday, April 16, by nationally known aerobic fitness researcher Dr. Charles Kuntzleman. The talk will be given at the PTS meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the South School cafeteria.

Kuntzleman was the principal investigator in a study, "Feelin' Good," which the Chelsea School District participated in from 1980-83. In the study, randomly selected students acted as experimental subjects for 13 weeks. The students participated in four 30-minute aerobic exercise sessions and two 30-minute classroom sessions per week. In the classroom sessions, children learned the elements of a "heart healthy" lifestyle. The children's health parameters were monitored during the period. At the conclusion of the study it was found that the children had significantly decreased their dietary fat content, times in the mile run, total blood cholesterol levels, and sodium and simple carbohydrate intakes compared to children who had not participated.

Kuntzleman's program aims to reduce risk factors in children while they are still developing their behavioral patterns.

Kuntzleman, a Spring Arbor resident, has written more than 70 books and 200 articles on fitness and health. He is the national director of the Feelin' Good Program and of Fitness Finders, Inc., a health promotion consulting firm.

The talk is free and open to the public.

Methodist Home Corrects Problems from State Inspection

Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home was found to have some deficiencies in its nursing care program in a Feb. 14 inspection by the state department of public health.

However, a return inspection made about 45 days later found the problems had been corrected, according to state officials.

The deficiencies could have caused the facility to lose its state certification had they not been taken care of. James Batten, administrator of the facility, said the main problem was "inconsistency in care," caused partly by staffing problems.

"What they found was that on one hallway, everything was being done exactly right, but on another hallway, there were some infection control problems," Batten said.

"We agreed with them. What we had to do was observe our staff more closely and educate them."

Batten said that the fact that the facility was able to correct the problems so quickly shows that there was not a basic problem.

The state agreed with Batten's assessment. It also said that there were some problems with patient restraints in that restraints were not being loosened often enough. Those problems, as well, have been corrected.

"We believe our level of care is good and we are continuing to improve," Batten said.

In another area of concern, Batten refused comment on security measures that have been adopted since a man was arrested for the attempted rape of a nursing care patient recently.

"You can assume that we have increased our security," Batten said.

The U. S. Department of Labor was first established in 1888 without cabinet status, according to "Labor Firsts in America," a U. S. Labor Department publication.

DONALD A. COLE, Director

"Jesus said 'I am the resurrection and the life; He that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live' . . ."

—John 11:25

The promise of eternal life, voiced by the Son of God, is the core of Christian faith. By itself, it is vastly significant for believers but subject to the doubts of skeptics.

The resurrection of Jesus on that first Easter dispelled all doubt. His return from death provided incontrovertible proof of His own divine origin. It also demonstrated that all of us, through faith, may achieve immortality. Without Easter, the Christian faith is but another philosophy.

Easter means the promise of eternal life. We wish you a joyous and significant Easter, whatever your faith or denomination. Attend the church of your choice this Easter.

TV station WOOD of Grand Rapids was preparing a documentary on UFO's and was in Dexter interviewing Police Chief Taylor; Officers, Robert Hunawill and N. J. Lee, and Frank Mannor. The telecasters also visited Hillsdale where sightings were also reported. Chief Taylor said the documentary was to be shown on Channel 8 out of Grand Rapids but arrangements were being made by station WOOD to have it shown over a local station.

The complete line of Sweepster Brooms was selected as Dexter's Product of the Year. The brooms, manufactured by Jenkins Equipment Co. were selected after careful consideration and review by Dexter's Michigan Week Awards Chairman, Joseph A. This Dexter product, Sweepster Brooms, is literally 'sweeping' the country and is now being promoted nationwide."

Wednesday, April 12, 1956—Chelsea Implement Company was broken into sometime Wednesday, and eight outboard motors, valued at a total of nearly $2000, were stolen. It was the second break-in at the Manchester road firm that year, thieves having made off with only a small amount of cash but damaging two safes in attempting to open them in the earlier break-in. Entry was gained by forcing open a rear window in the building. This same window was smashed in a previous break-in.

At the Kiwanis club meeting, an announcement was made that the local club was taking on the responsibility for building a cabin at the Boy scout camp at Bruin Lake. Construction was scheduled to begin within 30 days and was to be completed in time for fall activities at the camp. The cement block building, as planned, was to be 24x36 feet in size and was to cost approximately $2,500.

Edward W. Frederick of Ann Arbor was elected chairman of the Board of Supervisors at Tuesday's session. He had served as vice-chairman the past year. He replaced Elmer R. Mayer of Sharon township. William Scheel of Salem township was named vice-chairman.

Chiropractic Health Care

Dr. J. Nicholas Koffeman

In our recent discussion on why so many people, including world class competitive athletes, are turning to chiropractic for their health care needs, certain facts were brought to light. This week we continue in that discussion as the evidence supporting chiropractic mounts.

State workers' compensation records studied in California and Oregon revealed that chiropractic care for work related injuries cut the time and cost in half compared to medical care. The studies were conducted by medical doctors.

In a clinical study of 100 patients conducted by AV-MED, the largest HMO in the southeastern United States, 17 patients were medically diagnosed as having "slipped discs." Twelve of those were told they required surgery. All twelve disc cases were corrected through chiropractic adjustments. No surgery was required. AV-MED saved an estimated $250,000! In this study 80% of the patients were "medical failures" who had seen an average 1.6 M.D.'s without results. 86% of this group had their problems corrected within three weeks.

A Canadian medical journal published the results of Dr. David Cassidy, a chiropractor who cared for 177 chronic low back sufferers. These patients had endured an average of seven years of suffering. The study showed that 87% returned to normal within three weeks after chiropractic adjustments. On follow-up they were still without pain a year later.

If you would like more information or have questions or comments please write to: Dr. J. Nicholas Koffeman, 138 East Middle Street, Chelsea, MI 48118 or call (313)475-2088.

Chelsea resident David Prohaska was named Lion of the Year at the annual convention of the Lions Clubs of District 11B1 in Coldwater on March 24 and 25. The award is presented each year to a Lion who has demonstrated outstanding leadership and made significant contributions to Lionism through his local club and through the district. There are 1,750 Lion members in the 51 clubs throughout District 11B1 which extends from Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, and Blissfield on the east to Battle Creek and Coldwater on the west.

In addition to holding a perfect attendance award for his 12 years as a member of the Chelsea Lions Club, Prohaska was president of that group from 1982 to 1983. He served as Zone Chairman for Washtenaw county during 1985-86 and as Deputy District Governor from 1986 to 1989 with responsibility for the 13 Lions and two Lioness clubs in Washtenaw and Lenawee counties.

Prohaska has received the Lions International Key Member Award for membership development and currently serves on his district's membership committee. In addition, he is chairman of the district Constitution and By-Laws committee.

Prohaska, who is self-employed as a small business assistance consultant, has been active in other community service organizations and was an officer and board member of the Chelsea United Way and the Washtenaw County Chapter of the American Red Cross. He is currently on the village planning commission and served for six years on the county Emergency Medical Services Commission. He is married to Helen Prohaska, a teacher with the Chelsea School District, and has two adult children.

The Shrine Circus Coming to Ann Arbor

Few people know that the world's first Shrine Circus was conducted in Detroit during the winter months of 1906. Its title was "The Mystic Shrine's Yankee Circus in Egypt," and it was presented as a one-ring performance in a downtown armory.

Included in the performance were horses, dogs and a trained bear. The band consisted of members of the Shrine Temple and Temple Nobles also performed as clowns.

The circus was well received and within five years there were literally dozens of Shrine Circuses throughout the United States. By the middle 1920's Shrine Circuses had established themselves in just about every major city and since then their numbers have continued to grow.

The Shrine Circus is far different than that first seen in 1906. Today the Shrine Circus is presenting the very cream of circus talent from around the world. In this year's performance, produced by Tarzan and Elizabeth Zerbini, you will see everything that makes a circus a circus.

See the all-new Shrine Circus produced by Tarzan Zerbini when it comes under the big top to the Ann Arbor Airport Grounds, Friday, April 13 and Saturday, April 14, with performances Friday at 4:30 and 7:30 and Saturday at 11 a.m., 2 and 7 p.m.

And what does the future hold for the Shrine Circus? There will be continued growth and improvement. As other forms of entertainment have come and gone, the Shrine Circus has remained strong. Attendance has annually increased, and today, the Shrine Circuses of America are collectively the largest circus in the world. They play more days, to more people for a greater part of the year than any other circus.

Advance tickets may be purchased at Zal Gaz Grotto, Sears at Briarwood Mall, Hospital Health Service Credit Union and Ypsilanti Area Federal Credit Union. On showdays tickets will be available at the circus ticket wagon on the showgrounds.

The first labor organization in the building trades appeared in Philadelphia in 1724 as house carpenters created the Carpenters' Company of the City and County of Philadelphia to establish a "book of prices" for paying for their work, according to "Labor Firsts in America," a U. S. Labor Department publication. Its "Rules of Work" called for "A price scale bearing a proper proportion to the price of labor with due regard to the increase cost of living." It was at their meeting house, Carpenter's Hall, that the First Continental Congress met in 1774.

MCRC Continues Terms for Board Members, Officers

The 25th annual meeting of the Mill Creek Research Council was held at the Lima Township Hall on March 27. Council chairman, Wally Fuslier, presided. Current board members were all re-elected for new terms. Also, all current board officers were re-elected during a brief executive session held immediately after this annual meeting. Officers elected are Wally Fuslier, chairman; Charles Arnold, vice-chairman; Margaret Sias, recording secretary; Betty Messman, corresponding secretary, and Bill Chandler, treasurer.

During the "new" business portion of the meeting the major concern was the listing of our locality as one of the potential sites being considered for a seven-state low-level hazardous waste dump, where the townships of Lima, Seio, Freedom, and Lodi corner together. Disappointment was expressed that Lima town officials had not accepted the MCRC's offer of March 1989 to pay $300—towards the $600—needed for a year's SEMCOG dues. It was felt that it is very important to maintain contacts beyond our town's borders. As a part of this effort, those present on March 27 voted for the MCRC to join the Michigan Lakes and Streams Association organization for two years. (The town residents present March 31 at the Lima Township annual meeting voted to accept the MCRC offer and to rejoin SEMCOG.)

Although it would seem unlikely that a dump site so close to such a high population area could ever be given serious consideration, it was pointed out that 30 percent of those seven-state wastes is generated in Michigan with much of that coming from the Ann Arbor area.

Because this was the 25th annual meeting, some time was spent reviewing past happenings, especially the huge turn-outs at some meetings and special events.

Finally!
A safe, easy way to eliminate urine-generated horse stall
odors.

HOW IT WORKS: Sweet PDZ is an all-natural crystalline hydrated sodium aluminosilicate mined from the earth. Each granule of the product contains thousands of microscopic crystals that trap water and ammonia molecules through a chemical process called ionic bonding. Once trapped inside the crystalline structure, the ammonia and its associated odor are no longer present. Sweet PDZ does not cover up ammonia's odor with another odor—it completely eliminates the offending odor.

- Simple, easy to apply. No mess. No waste.
- Completely safe for horse and human. You can handle it safely with your bare hands.
- 100% all-natural product. No caustic chemicals. No irritating or harmful additives.
- Eliminates need to replace urine soaked earth. Reduces stall dampness and fly attracting odor.
- Extends bedding life up to twice as long and works with any type of bedding—shavings, straw or sand.

Earth Day Poster Contest

Friends of the McKune Memorial Library, together with the Waterloo Natural History Association, the Department of Natural Resources, and the Village of Chelsea are sponsoring a poster contest to help recognize the 20th anniversary of Earth Day.

Young people in our community are invited to help celebrate by designing a poster that illustrates activities that will conserve energy, save water and encourage recycling.

The posters must contain the words "BE A FRIEND TO THE EARTH." The poster should be no larger than 18x24 inches. Use of recycled materials is encouraged. Judging is based on creativity, artistic skill and how well it illustrates the theme.

Entries may be submitted to the McKune Memorial Library or the Gerald Eddy Geology Center between April 11 and April 18. Entry forms are available at the Library and the Geology Center.

A $20 gift certificate from the Geology Center's gift shop will be awarded for first place, an Earth Day T-shirt for second, and a special conservation patch for third in each of three divisions, K-3 grade, 4-6 grade, and 7-12 grade. Prizes will be awarded at the McKune Library on Saturday, April 21, at noon.

Chelsea Sports Teams Fighting The Weather

If the weather co-operates, Chelsea sports teams will hit the ground running this week as an assortment of contests has been scheduled. The varsity baseball team has nine games scheduled for the first seven days of the season.

Chelsea varsity softball team had its first games of the season cancelled due to the weather last Saturday as the Bulldogs were scheduled to play in a competitive tournament in Webberville.

Coach Pat Clarke voluntarily withdrew his team as one field was unusable and his players said they were having problems holding on to the ball. In addition, the Chelsea team had the shortest distance to go, so Clarke said it made sense for the Bulldogs to bow out.

As of press time, it was uncertain whether any Chelsea teams would be able to play last night's contests.

The varsity softball team was scheduled to play its first home game, with Jackson Lumen Christi as the opposition.

The varsity baseball team had a journey to Fowlerville on tap for its season opener.

If those games were lost to the weather, both teams are scheduled to open their season at Pioneer High school tomorrow.

The softball team's next home game is two weeks away, April 26 against Lincoln.

The Chelsea-Manchester Baseball Invitational is scheduled for this Saturday. The Bulldogs will play three games that day, starting at home at 10 a.m. against Jackson County Western.

Both teams open their Southeastern Conference season next Thursday at Saline.

Boys and girls track teams open their dual meet season against Stockbridge at home next Thursday. Their first meet, scheduled for last night against Fowlerville, was cancelled.

Varsity tennis team was scheduled to open at Brooklyn Columbia Central last night. They open their home schedule next Monday against Williamston. Chelsea tennis fans will have to wait until May 3 for the next home match, but the netters play almost the entire rest of the season at home.

Girls golf team was also scheduled to begin their season last night, at Pinckney. They host Saline tomorrow.

CHelsea BULLDOG BASEBALL TEAM hosts the Chelsea-Manchester Invitational this Saturday and will face Jackson County Western in their first game at 10 a.m. Doug Wingrove, right, will get the first start on the mound, pitching to starting catcher Steve Emmert, left. Emmert and Wingrove, along with Kyle Plank, are the team captains this spring.

Young Wrestlers Win Medals at Stockbridge Meet

Chelsea Wrestling Club took part in a tournament at Stockbridge last Saturday, April 7.

Brent Young and Jeremy Feldkamp took first place in the 11-12 age group, while Cameron Farmer was second. In the 13-14 age group, Tim Westcott placed first and Dan Alber took second place.

Others who participated included Ben Vogel, Kevin Bloemsaat, Mike Alber, Gary Farmer, and Paul Taylor.

Club member John Bobo wrestled at Eastern Michigan University the same day and took a first place medal.

This week-end the club will take part in the district tournament.

Young Runners Take Top Spots In Fun Run

Four young Chelsea runners placed at the Spring Fun Run sponsored by the Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Commission on Saturday, March 31. The race covered five kilometers or 3.1 miles.

In the 14-and-under age group for boys, Zac Eresten, 11, took first place in 20:33 and Michael Schultz, 9, took second place in 20:39.

In the same age group for girls, Val Bullock placed first in 21:42 and Lauren Sparaco was second in 21:53.

The first labor organization was formed by the Boston shoemakers and coopers (barrel makers) guilds in 1648, according to "Labor Firsts in America," a U. S. Labor Department publication. Partially because of protesting local rural artisans, who believed the guilds hindered free trade, the guilds' charters were not renewed.

Jenni Smith Pitching at WSU

Jenni Smith, last year's number one pitcher for the Chelsea Bulldog softball team, is a member of the Wayne State University softball team this spring.

In the team's spring brochure, Smith is listed as "another in a long line of excellent pitching prospects produced by Chelsea High school coaches Charles Waller and Patrick Clarke." Most recently, former CHS pitcher Kelly Hawker was the number one thrower for the Tartars.

According to the brochure, Smith will also see spot duty at first base. Smith is attending WSU on a National Merit Scholarship and is majoring in criminal justice.

Sandra Young Earns Degree

Sandra Young of Chelsea received a bachelor's degree in social science and elementary education in commencement exercises at Spring Arbor College on Jan. 20.

Spring Arbor College is a private, four-year Christian liberal arts college seven miles west of Jackson.

The first significant labor lobby in Washington, D. C. was established in 1868 by the National Labor Union, according to "Labor Firsts in America," a U. S. Labor Department publication.

WEDDINGS — PARTIES REUNIONS — SPORTS

WILLIAM COELIUS OWNER

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

The longer I cover the Chelsea sports scene for The Standard, the shorter the school year gets.

Just when one season seems to get cranked up, another one pops up. Here we are at baseball season already, although many of you consider it golf, track, tennis, or softball season. It seems like yesterday that I was freezing at Tyrone Hills Golf Course as Lisa Monti crossed the finish line at the state cross country meet. Basketball and wrestling season disappeared in a flash, which is usually what happens when you're having fun.

(One bit of unfinished business remains from the basketball season that should appear in print.)

We all know that it could have just as easily been Chelsea that won the district and regional titles. And we all know that Chelsea, just as easily as Tecumseh, could have gotten crushed by Detroit Country Day in the first round of the state tournament. Wouldn't it have been great to say you lost to the state champions?)

So here we are in the spring, traditionally a season of success for Chelsea sports teams.

This year, though, I don't know quite what to expect, unlike years past. Wayne Welton, as usual, is optimistic about his baseball team's chances. But Welton could have a team full of social deviants and he'd find something positive to say, such as "I like the way we attack the ball."

As we all know, Welton does not have a team of social misfits, but in fact has some good, smart athletes. If I had to guess, I'd say they'll be a pretty good defensive team, perhaps even an exceptional one if Welton can find an everyday catcher who can do even half the things that Junior Morseau did last year. That has to be the biggest question mark of the season.

The team may not have much power, but they may not need it. Speed, and lots of singles, doubles, and sacrifices, a St. Louis Cardinals/Houston Astros kind of attack, may do the trick.

The pitching staff, led by seniors Kyle Plank and Doug Wingrove, should be solid. Those two, as shown in their winter sports of basketball and wrestling, are athletes who can perform in the tough situations. They're also getting a little extra help this year from McKune Memorial Library Board member Fred Holdsworth, who in a previous life was a Detroit Tigers pitcher. (Yes, you can read about him in the new Tigers Museum at Domino Farms, although I never did find his baseball card.) Holdsworth happened to be vacationing in Florida a few miles from the Bulldog training camp, one thing led to another, and, well how can you say no to someone whose name is in a museum? Welton said that Holdsworth's rapport with the team is probably just as important as his knowledge of the game.

Anyway, I picture the Bulldogs as a team that will have a rough time if they get very far behind and need to score a bunch of runs, and, likewise, a team that will be able to hold onto leads. But I could be all wrong.

Pot Clarke's softball team is a giant question mark. Lots of youth, lots of speed, lots of potential. And for the first time in an eternity, no Unterbrinks. They will see one, however, when the Bulldogs play Milan, coached by Amy Unterbrink Poljan.

The Bulldogs may hurt so much that the opposition elects to go with seven or eight infielders.

Anyway, expectations are probably somewhat lower than they have been in past years, which may work to Chelsea's benefit. The Bulldogs may be involved in some high-scoring affairs this year.

But I could be all wrong.

The track teams should have several excellent individual performers, but how they fare as teams remains to be seen.

The girls team may get eaten alive in the sprints, but dominate the distance runs. The boys team may struggle in most events, with the exception of a few of the field events and the distance and middle distance runs.

Jon Royce should break his own high jump record. By the time he's a senior, he may be one of the few Chelsea athletes ever to set and break a school record four years in a row.

But, I could be all wrong.

Before we know it, however, it'll all be over, and we can turn our attention to the NBA play-offs. That's one season that never ends.

KIP MILLER of Lansing, right, was awarded collegiate hockey's most prestigious honor by being named winner of the Hobey Baker Award. Miller is the third brother from the Miller family of Lansing to play the game for Michigan State University: Kevin, left, is now with the New York Rangers, and Kelly, center, is with the Washington Capitals. They are the grandsons of Eleanor Slane Holmes, a Chelsea native and 1938 graduate of Chelsea High school.

Hobey Baker Award Winner Has Local Roots

By David L. Lane

On Sunday, April 1, Lansing's Kip Miller, the grandson of Eleanor Slane Holmes, a Chelsea native and 1938 Chelsea High school graduate, received the Hobey Baker Award. This prestigious award is given to college hockey's most outstanding player. This recognition is hockey's equivalent of football's Heisman Trophy.

Kip's uncles, the Slane brothers, were outstanding athletes in Chelsea during the 40's. During the 80's Kip and his two older brothers, Kelly and Kevin, helped place Michigan State University in the national hockey spotlight. Kelly (1982-1985) is with the Washington Capitals and Kevin (1985-1988) is with the New York Rangers.

Michigan State hockey coach Ron Mason, who coached all three, has said that Kip has more offensive skills than his older brothers, Kelly is the best defensive player, and Kevin is considered a combination of the two. During this past season, Kip reached a career high 48 goals and 53 assists earning him the NCAA scoring title.

In the very near future Kip will join his two brothers in becoming the first U.S. brother trio ever to play in the National Hockey League.

Grass Lake Man Arrested For Theft

A Grass Lake man has been arrested in connection with the theft of video equipment from Chelsea High school last winter.

Donald W. Harr, 17, of Gorton Rd. in Grass Lake, was arrested by Chelsea police on Monday, April 2. Harr was a passenger in a car stopped by police near Brown Dr. and was subsequently taken into custody. According to police, as of the morning of Monday, April 9, Harr was still in jail.

According to Chelsea chief Leonard McDougall, an investigation by officer David Dettling led to Harr's arrest.

The equipment was stolen from the high school's mock radio station, WCHS. Insurance claims totaled nearly $10,000.

Harr was also wanted on charges of failure to appear for sentencing and malicious destruction of more than $100 worth of property.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,

It is unfortunate the Chelsea village manager chose to misrepresent the cost of electricity produced by Consumers Power Co. in a recent story in The Chelsea Standard, ("Village Electric Rates Raised 16.5 Percent for Residential Users," Feb. 28, 1990).

The village manager is quoted as saying that "Consumers Power could raise its (electric) rates nearly 50 percent by 1993." That is untrue. The fact is that we voluntarily reduced the cost of our electricity by 5 percent recently due to early payment of long-term debt.

This month, due to purchase of badly needed electricity from Midland Cogeneration Venture, our typical customer will pay an additional 3.8 percent, bringing the bill for 500 kilowatt-hours per month to $34.18, well below the $41 per month charged by the Chelsea municipal utility cited in the article. Future rate increases for Consumers Power are expected to be consistent with the rate of inflation, not the 50 percent rise cited in the story.

We are proud of the fact that Consumers Power's electric rates are approximately 25 percent below rates charged by other major Michigan electric utilities.

Easter Season At St. Barnabas

The message of the Easter Season is one of sacrifice, love and salvation for all.

- Sacrifice for us by God who cares so deeply that He gave His Son to bear our sins even to the death of the cross.
- Love so deep that Christ willingly died that we might live.
- Salvation for us in our sins being forgiven and in the promise of life eternal in the Risen Lord.

It is a very special Season. Accept God's great gifts for you, gifts unearned yet freely given.

Heaven: Not The Home of The Righteous (part 3)

There is one colossal scriptural contradiction that the belief of heavenly dwelling for the righteous presents: it negates the necessity for the resurrection of the dead. When Jesus Christ returns not only will there be a resurrection for the wicked out of the sleep of death, but so also will the righteous receive a resurrection into life. Acts 24:15 emphasizes this by saying "And have hope toward God, which they themselves also allow, that there shall be a resurrection of the dead, both of the just and the unjust." If we were to view a general chronological order of events that will transpire at the Second Coming of Jesus Christ it would appear as follows:

1. Resurrection of the dead, John 5:28.
 2. Judgment of every man, Rom. 4:12.
 3. Disbursement of reward (eternal life) or punishment (death), Rev. 22:12, Rom. 6:23.
 4. Establishment of the Kingdom of God upon the earth, Rev. 21:1-3.
- The traditional belief that the just ascend to heaven upon death to dwell for eternity proves to be invalid when compared to scripture for three reasons. First, if the just are already in heaven there is no need for Jesus to return and resurrect them from the dead; they were resurrected immediately following death. Secondly, this belief comes in to direct contradiction of the pallid teaching that the Kingdom of God will be established upon the earth BEFORE our inhabitation. And finally, it places the distribution of rewards and punishments before the actual day of judgment. If the traditional teachings are true there is no need to hope for the Second Coming of Christ, for the resurrection, judgment and sentencing will have already taken place for all who have fallen asleep in death.

Nature from Your Backdoor

By Glenn R. Dudderar
I'm often questioned about how winter affects wildlife but rarely about how spring affects wildlife. In fact, spring can have a pronounced effect on whether animals survive and how well they reproduce.

April is a good month to illustrate that because it is the beginning of spring and can be a critical period for wildlife.

You can see it in your own backyard if you are engaging in the latest trend in bird feeding—feeding orioles. The best time to begin feeding is in April, and the three most popular feeders are those that hold half an orange, those that dispense grape jelly from a tilted jar, and those that dispense sugar water. The latter is similar to a hummingbird feeder but bigger—oriole sized.

Those most likely to succeed in attracting orioles are those who have their feeders up when the orioles arrive back in Michigan. In southern Michigan, that's generally sometime in the last two weeks of April; in northern Michigan, the first two weeks of May. At that time, natural food supplies are low and orioles seem to find the feeders more attractive than they might later in spring, when insects become more abundant.

If southern Michigan residents wait until mid-May to start trying to attract orioles, they're likely to find that the orioles simply don't use the feeders.

This difference in feeding behavior at different times illustrates the relationship between the bird and the weather and weather's effects on available food supplies and feeding practices.

Food is not the only thing that might attract orioles to your yard, however.

Bird enthusiasts have also found that stuffing an unused suet feeder with string, fine scraps of cloth, hair or other potential nest materials can attract female orioles—and other birds as well—to a site where they can be seen easily. This is a case where knowing what the animal is doing and responding accordingly can lead to a chance to see the animal and observe its behavior.

Of course, making a nest, laying eggs or even hatching young is no guarantee that the oriole parents will succeed in raising their brood. The oriole, like many birds, often loses its first nest in the unsettled weather of May and June. A spring storm with high winds and heavy rains can destroy that first nest and any eggs or young in it.

In short, spring weather can have considerable effect on the adult birds' survival and their reproductive success. Because orioles are common visitors to Michigan backyards with large trees, they provide a good opportunity to observe the relationship between birds and weather.

You might have noticed that I've been referring to this bird as "the oriole." Officially, its name is now "northern oriole," which is actually much more accurate than its old name, "Baltimore oriole." It was given that name back in colonial times because its colors are the colors in the coat of arms of Cecil Calvert, the second Lord Baltimore and founder of the Maryland colony. The ironic truth of the matter is that orioles are far more abundant west of the Appalachians. A better name perhaps would be "midwestern oriole." People coming here from the Atlantic coast states are surprised to see how common a backyard resident the oriole is here.

As a scientist and an educator, I have to agree that "northern oriole" is an appropriate name. But having grown up in Baltimore, I will always think of this bird as the Baltimore oriole. I'm not too uncomfortable holding onto that name. After all, the African violet isn't a violet, the crayfish isn't a fish and the walleye pike is a perch, not a pike, and people happily use these names every day without a second thought.

For me, backyard experiences over half a continent have dramatically illustrated ecological relationships like those we've described here using the oriole. The Baltimore oriole—the traditions you grow up with die hard, even when your teacher is nature from your backdoor.

Dexter Student Teacher Honored With State Award

Sheri Duffey Cicirelli, who served as student teacher for Stephanie Bell's fourth-grade class at Bates Elementary school, learned she had been awarded honorable mention in the 1989-90 Michigan Association of Teacher Educators (MATE) Student Teacher of the Year competition.

In an April 2 letter from Joyce A. Eckard at Oakland University, Ms. Cicirelli was notified of the award and invited to attend a reception, planned for Tuesday, May 1, on the campus of Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti.

Please Notify Us of Any Change in Address

In her letter, Ms. Eckard explained, "It was a challenge for the judges to select the winner from among the exciting performances submitted. Your entry, a lesson plan and 30-minute video tape on Christopher Columbus, was selected by the judges as deserving of merit in the semi-final round of competition. We offer our congratulations and best wishes in your most promising teaching career."

Ms. Cicirelli was graduated with the Class of 1981 from Chelsea High, and completed requirements during 1989 for her bachelor's degree in elementary education at Eastern Michigan University.

KIDS FROM CHELSEA, DEXTER, represented the Awana Clubs of Dexter Gospel church at the Awana Olympics, held Saturday, March 24, at Oakland University, Rochester. The Dexter Gospel church entered two teams in the Class C competition. Both the boys and girls teams in grades 3-6 were victorious, qualifying for first-place banners, which will be displayed in the church. Each team member was presented an Awana Olympic patch to wear on his/her uniform. Participants included team members from the Guards, Katie Morse, Chrissy Morse, Rebecca Green, Kristen Ludwig, Angie Lamb and Beth Holly. The Chums included Leah Bell, Jennifer McKenzie, Amanda Berg, Jenny Perez, Lisa Rinesmith and Angela Ramsey. The girls were coached by Laura Southwell and Linda Laraway. The Pals/Pioneers (boys, grades 3-6) were James O'Dell, Billy Cipponari, Adam Morse, Robby Murphy, Charlie Valentine, Mike Litzinger, Nicholas Greenwood, Alan Anderson, Scott Schuyler, David Aseltine, Jim Matthews and Jason Chishan. The boys teams are coached by Jim Wisner and Dennis Morse. The annual Awana Olympics is the highlight of the club year. It gives club members a chance to compete with each other in 10 separate events, unique to the AWANA program. Awana is an international youth organization which offers a Bible-centered program for boys and girls, grades K-8. The Awana program at Dexter Gospel church operates during the school year, September-May. It's open to children of all faiths, regardless of denominational affiliation. Anyone wishing information about the Awana program may contact Awana Clubs commander Ivan Laraway at the church office, 428-4915 during business hours.

The Second Most Common Infection Known to Human Beings

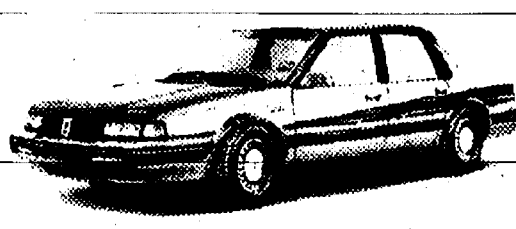

After respiratory infections, urinary tract infections are the most common infections in the human body. They are responsible for more than eight million visits to doctors each year at a cost of about $400 million. Research supported by your National Kidney Foundation is uncovering information about these infections that may ultimately lead to ways of preventing them. If you have symptoms of a urinary tract infection... cloudy, bloody or foul-smelling urine; burning on urination; more urgent need to urinate... see your doctor. For more information about urinary tract infections, contact the National Kidney Foundation of Michigan at 1-800-482-1455.

Systematic Stress Management™ teaches you to control stress, changing it from a negative experience into a positive motivator. The techniques are easy to master, and they have a dynamic effect on your ability to cope with day-to-day events. Committee Formed To Oppose Recall Move

John Tandy, a long-time resident of Dexter township and former township supervisor, announced today a committee to fight the proposed recall campaign of two officials of Dexter township.

Countering the recall petition drive being pushed by Joe Boltach, a rental property owner in Dexter township, who opposes the proposed sewer project at Portage Lake, John Tandy has mailed a letter to all voters in the township to expose what he calls the real agenda of the recall campaign to disrupt the planned sewer project for their own selfish purposes.

Tandy noted that although he is not personally affected by the sewer project, he is heading up the campaign for retaining the township supervisor, Jim Drolett and township trustee, H. Doug Smith, because they have been responsible public officials. "A few screwballs aren't going to foul up the good government we have in Dexter township," Tandy stated.

In announcing the committee, Tandy noted that over 115 community leaders in the township are being mobilized to assist in the campaign to retain responsible government. "The willingness of people to stand up and be counted has been most gratifying," said Tandy in announcing the committee.

Sensible Weight Loss Tips Offered

By Linda Warren, R.N.
Chelsea Family Practice Center
Being overweight is a common American health problem. Millions of Americans are dieting and exercising in an attempt to achieve their "ideal" weight. But for those who are able to lose the unwanted pounds, many will not be successful in keeping off those pounds.

There are no diets, drinks, or pills that give a 100 percent cure, although product advertisers would like us to think so. A basic principle in losing weight is to remember that the body needs a certain amount of calories, or energy, to maintain its current weight. If the current weight is higher than the "ideal" weight, the body needs less calories, an increase in energy expenditure or a combination of both.

There are many books about dieting in bookstores. Many claim a new secret or a new discovery about successful weight loss. Some contain diets that are variation of a balanced, but limited calorie diet. If all four food groups are contained in the diet, it may be safe for long-term use. If food groups are eliminated or if a food group is strongly emphasized, the diet may not be safe and could be dangerous to the body's health.

Sensible eating habits using a variety of foods in smaller than normal amounts, combined with more exercise is considered to be an effective and safe way to lose weight successfully. The exercise can be mall-walking, aerobic workouts, swimming, or any physical activity that is repetitive or rhythmic, and uses the large body muscles. Begin with easy exercises and progress to more demanding exercise. For many people, exercise has the advantage of decreasing the appetite as well as providing a pleasant emotional feeling of health and wellness.

Losing weight is possible by sensible eating and good exercise habits. Lasting weight loss is not an endeavor for a week or for a month. It takes a lifetime.

Chelsea Hospital Offers Easter Meal For Patients, Guest

Farmers Sponsor Tour Seeking To Save Prime Farmland

Farm Bureau on March 9 took direct action on member-developed policy that calls for protecting prime farmland from being used as the site for a low-level radioactive waste facility.

Michigan Farm Bureau and the Lenawee county Farm Bureau jointly sponsored a tour and press conference to highlight concerns about locating the waste facility in Riga township.

In co-operation with Riga township officials, Farm Bureau spokespersons detailed the negative impact of siting the waste facility in one of the top 10 most agriculturally productive townships in the state.

"We consider prime agricultural land to be a major natural resource," said Jack Laurie, president of Michigan Farm Bureau. "And whether it's in Riga township or anywhere in the state it's of the same importance."

Laurie noted that there are many unanswered questions about the development of a waste disposal site. "One of the issues that we have given emphasis to in Farm Bureau is to ask the federal government to continue their efforts to determine if the chosen number of disposal sites is the right number, or whether it could be something less than that."

Farm Bureau is also supporting legislation sponsored by state senator Norman Shinkle (R-Lambertville) to encourage the reduction of the number of waste facilities to the minimum number necessary to safely manage the nation's low level radioactive waste.

Waterloo Golf Course Purchased By Flint-Area Golf Professional

Waterloo Golf Course has been purchased by a Fenton golf pro who would eventually like to expand the public course from nine to 18 holes.

Keith Haglund, who has been the resident pro at the private Spring Meadows Golf Course in Linden, south of Flint, recently purchased the Waterloo course from Bill and Marian Siegrist.

"I've been looking for a course for about three years," says Haglund, who said the course will be very much a Ma and Pa run enterprise.

"When we saw the Waterloo course, we fell in love with it." The 28-year-old course is on a hilly 60 acres about a mile east of Mt. Hope Rd. on Trist Rd., about three miles north of I-94.

Haglund, and his wife, Charlene, have three children, Keith Jr., 19, Kent, 16, and Karyn, 12, who will probably all help out in one capacity or another.

Haglund began his golf career as a pro's assistant in Lima, O. in 1965. In 1971 he moved to a course in Grosse Ile, where he worked for two years before landing the job in Linden.

Haglund says his most immediate change will be to consolidate the clubhouse with what will become his family's home about a quarter mile west. It's currently the Siegrist's home. Once that change is made, he plans to build a driving range and a putting green next to the home. In the next few years, if he can swing it, he'd like to add another nine holes to the west of the home on 57 acres.

"We're going to do an accurate study and see how much play we get to see whether an 18-hole course will work out," Haglund says.

Haglund is encouraged by the turnout so far this year. In March, he says, about 50 golfers teed off.

Haglund says he also plans to do a lot of advertising aimed primarily at the Chelsea area east to Ann Arbor. Last year 14,000 rounds were played, and he'd like to get that up to 17,000 rounds.

He plans to start a Junior Golf Program during June and July in which a student can purchase a lesson and a round of golf. In addition, he wants to promote a women's morning league and group lessons.

Leagues start in May. "We've got a lot of things we want to do that we can't get done in a year," Haglund says.

The club has carts, clubs, and electric carts available for rent. Cost of nine holes is $5 for everyone on the week-end. Adults play for $4.50 during the week, and senior citizens over 62 and students can play for $3 during the week.

Keeping a gallon of water in the refrigerator for drinking purposes saves water. Letting the tap run until the water is cold wastes as much as a gallon of water.

KEITH HAGLUND is the new owner of Waterloo Golf Course on Trist Rd. in Jackson county. Haglund was most recently the golf pro at Spring Meadows Golf Course near Flint.

Washtenaw Community College Receives Job Training Grant

Washtenaw Community college is one of 16 colleges to receive a portion of the 1989-90 Job Training Retraining Investment Fund (JTRIF). JTRIF is a competitive grant program for which 29 community colleges in Michigan submit proposals.

The $13,000 grant will be used to purchase up-to-date copier and fax equipment to train laid-off workers through WCC's Job Training School. It will supplement the school's current copier service technician program with fax machine repair training, which will better prepare laid-off workers to return to the workforce. The grant will cover a one-year period.

Laura Gerhardt, director of the job training school, is quite happy with the grant. "We're very pleased to receive the grant because it enables us to train our students on up-to-date equipment which is being used in the business world," she said.

Chelsea Milling To Build New Tower Next to Tracks

Chelsea Milling Co. is seeking a variance in order to construct a 91-foot tower adjacent to the railroad tracks just west of N. Main St.

The new tower will be used to store by-products of the milling operation. It will feature a conveyor belt that will allow the company to load the material easily onto railroad cars.

According to village zoning inspector Rosemary Harook, the variance is needed because of the height of the tower. Village ordinances allow a height of 35 feet. The current milling company towers are 120 feet high.

The company calls the structure a midds and bran loadout, which Harook translates as a holding tank and conveyor.
