ONE HUNDRED-TWENTIETH YEAR—No. 4

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 20, 1990

SOME OF THE MOST DRAMATIC vandalism damage at Beach Middle school last week was in the teachers lounge. The drink machine in the rear was torn apart, the refrigerator next to it was damaged, and empty cans and coffee grounds were spread all over the floor.

BEACH MIDDLE SCHOOL PRINCIPAL Darcy Stielstra records the damage in the school library caused by vandals early Friday morning. Eleven students, including Nona Giebel, Mark Wallace, Jessica Flintoft, Steve Straub, Aric Dougherty, Gabe White, Jim Bergman, Nathan Hallett, Peter Straub, Michelle Mast, and Nick Kramer volunteered their time to put books back on the shelves.

School District Plans Overhaul of Bus Garage

Chelsea School District has decided to spend about $75,000 to renovate the district's bus garage, now called the Elmer Lindow Service Center, with new underground storage tanks, pump island, and outside lighting.

The school board has been wrestling with the problem since it pulled a leaky storage tank out of the ground last winter. Contamination turned out to be minimal, but it caused a lot of discussion about potential liability issues associated with contaminating soil and possibly groundwater.

"It was really a tough call for us," said superintendent Joe Plasecki.

"We strongly considered digging up all the tanks and fueling the buses off-site because of the (liability) problems. However, when we thought about the problems of running the buses into town to get fuel, as well as the extra money we'd have to pay bus drivers, we decided it would be in our best interest to do it on-site."

Plasecki said he also got a lot of conflicting advice about the best course of action to take. One professional suggested simply relining the old tanks, and that option was considered.

The district has decided to go with two 10,000-gallon, double-wall fiberglass tanks, which Plasecki said are considered "state-of-the-art." It is essentially one tank inside another with a pocket of air between them.

In addition, a monitoring system will be installed to detect any leakage.

"We hope this will take the district at least another 30 years before we have to do any work," Plasecki said.

Design of the actual fueling system will be left up to a consultant, The WBDC Group, which the board officially hired Monday, June 11. A cap of $3,000 was placed on consulting fees.

The district plans to have the work completed before school starts this fall.

Farmers Market Set To Begin Saturday in Chelsea Depot Lot

Chelsea first farmer's market in many years is set to begin this Saturday, June 23 in the Chelsea Depot parking lot.

Village council gave official approval for the event at their regular meeting June 8.

The market has gotten the unanimous support of Chelsea's Downtown Development Authority, as well as an enthusiastic endorsement by village council.

Organizers E. K. Leonard and Greg Raye, owners of Farmer's Supply who have donated their time to organize the market have been taking reservations from farmers, artisans, crafts makers, and others who want to sell their products from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Each parking space is being rented out for $5 per day although the Farmer's Market is a non-profit activity. Money is being used to cover costs of holding the event, which is seen largely as a way to draw people downtown on the week-end and to give local farmers and craftsmen an outlet for their wares.

As Leonard and Raye have discovered, there is far more to holding a farmer's market than simply signing up potential merchants.

Among the things they have discovered are that anyone can sell raw produce directly to customers without a license. However, anyone who sells baked goods must be licensed by the state, which means they can't use their family ovens to produce the goods.

However, non-profit groups can sell baked goods without a license but they must be able to identify the person who produced each item.

Raw honey can be sold without a license.

Arts and crafts sellers must have a Michigan Sales Tax License. License applications are available at Farmer's Supply, 123 Jackson St.

Anyone who sells eggs must have them graded and sized.

All producers of processed items such as jams and jellies must be licensed.

Shoppers will use the brick depot sidewalk to move between stalls.

The market will use spaces beginning at Main St. As it grows in size spaces may eventually be rented out on the east side of the depot as well.

Each seller will be responsible for picking-up debris from their rental spaces. Additional clean-up would be paid for through booth rental money.

Initial expenses will be covered by the DDA, but the idea is to quickly make the market self-sustaining. The organizers plan to use advertising to recruit both sellers and customers.

A sign-up sheet for sellers is posted at Farmer's Supply opposite the depot. Rent must be paid in advance, with checks made out to the DDA.

The previous Chelsea farmers market was held briefly in the Municipal Parking Lot.

Village Seeks Candidates for Planning Spots

Three Teen-Age Boys Vandalize Beach School In 'Worst Case Ever'

Three 14-year-old boys went on a rampage through Beach Middle school early last Friday morning and caused an estimated $30,000 to $40,000 worth of damage in vandalism, according to Chelsea police.

The three boys, all ninth graders this fall, have confessed to police. They cannot be identified because they are minors. They did not give officers Richard Foster and Scott Sumner, who investigated the case, a reason for their actions, according to police chief Lenard McDougall. The first confession began Friday afternoon.

Police are seeking felony charges of breaking and entering, and malicious destruction of property.

In addition, a fourth boy, who was not at the scene, may be charged with conspiracy for providing the three boys a key.

McDougall said it was the worst case of vandalism he has seen in the schools. Assistant superintendent Fred Mills said, "there hasn't been anything even close."

The extent of the damage was not immediately apparent at the front door. But once inside, it didn't take long to realize the extent of the damage as there was glass on the floor in virtually every hallway, and fire extinguisher dust was all over the front office and in many of the hallways.

According to a list supplied to police by Beach principal Darcy Stielstra, the boys broke 18 windows, inside and out, using an iron mallet similar to a small sledge hammer, used or broke 14 fire extinguishers, smashed nine speakers and other parts of the public address system, and smashed 10 wall clocks and two telephones.

They also overturned three large bookcases in the library, broke off faucets in a science room, which caused flooding, ransacked the teacher's lounge, tearing the door and insides out of a drink vending machine, and damaging a refrigerator, overturned chairs, damaged desks, typewriters, a copy machine, an adding machine, and file cabinets and generally scattered supplies throughout many rooms. Computers, which were not damaged directly, may have been ruined by fire extinguisher dust.

"It was bad, but it could have been much worse," said McDougall.

At least two school employees who were called in to help clean up and assess damage last Friday commented that the boys must have been music lovers because an entire row of stringed instruments in the library were left untouched.

Stielstra called the incident "a sad situation" and several other employees said they felt sick after they saw the mess.

McDougall said the boys, who were apparently staying overnight at one of the boys' homes and sleeping outside, entered the west side of the building with a key between 12:30 and 1 a.m. Friday. He said police are still investigating how the boys obtained the key.

McDougall said the boys first went to the principal's office, where they stained Stielstra's chair, and caused relatively minor damage.

From there they went to the nearby teachers' lounge and the major damage began in earnest.

In all, damage was noted in the front office, two teachers lounges, a science room, library, cafeteria, work room, two block classrooms, a custodian's room, a home economics room (where a stove was also turned on), and the B and C hallways. The pool was not damaged.

Theft was apparently not a motive, police said, because only minor objects were missing, such as a box of suckers. The library reported a missing yearbook.

Insurance adjusters were scheduled to arrive Tuesday, Mills said. He said its likely the district's insurance carrier would seek reimbursement from the boys' parents.

The incident, in combination with the theft of thousands of dollars in video equipment from Chelsea High school earlier this year, may cause the district to reassess its security system in buildings, according to both superintendent Joe Plasecki and Mills.

McDougall said he urges the district to install a monitoring security system, not just one that sounds an alarm.

"Dexter has them, and many of the other districts east of us have them," McDougall said.

School officials in the past have not been anxious to install such a system because the policy here has been to make school buildings as available to the public as possible. Off hours access would require the presence of someone to turn a security system on and off.

DDA Consultants Outline Tentative Beautification Project for Downtown

Consultants for Chelsea's Downtown Development Authority described their initial ideas about specific improvements for the downtown business district in a meeting at the Chelsea Depot Monday night.

The consulting team, which include Howard Deardorff of Lansing, Pat Jackson of Charlevoix, and Jeffery Corbin of Traverse City, discussed a beautification program that included some ideas that have been talked about locally for a number of years, as well as new ideas, some of which may not be politically feasible or even affordable. Costs were not discussed.

They were careful to present their proposals as tentative ideas that could be adopted, scrapped altogether, or modified.

The most dramatic suggestions included areas around McKune

Memorial Library, the Municipal Parking Lot along Park St., and the vacated lot opposite Chelsea Industries that used to be the home of Chelsea Lumber Co.

Deardorff called McKune Memorial Library a "key" building downtown (both architecturally and as a major draw of people downtown) and suggested creating a kind of cultural center around the building, using older homes that could be moved to create more parking. He showed drawings of what the area might look like with the deteriorating Hop-In building gone.

"I'm not saying we should kick people out of their homes," Deardorff said.

"But you need to have an idea what you want to do over the next 10 years. McKune is a key building downtown."

As a complement to the cultural center near McKune, he envisions an entertainment center near the proposed Garage Theater on Park St., what he said would substitute for a village square, which many other small towns have. That space, however, was purchased recently by the village for a new village office complex. He discussed building the "world's smallest parking deck" out from the sidewalk, with a small gazebo in the center. He said the deck could easily be blocked off for small-scale entertainment, even for the showing of movies outside.

The team showed modifications to both the north and south entrances to the village, with the north entrance gaining the most attention. The old lumber company lot would be fenced in with an attractive shortened brick wall. (Continued on page six)

ONE OF THE INTERESTED PEOPLE who attended Monday night's presentation by DDA consultants takes a look at some of the drawings showing the downtown and suggested improvements. The meeting was attended by an assortment of government officials, business people, and interested citizens.

Maple trees were planted in Pierce Park, but the people planting them, didn't start from scratch. The seedlings two of them, were grown by the DNR from seeds taken from maple trees planted 100 years ago near Niles in commemoration of the nation's centennial. Taking part in Chelsea's Bicentennial Tree Planting ceremony were the Village President, the superintendent of Chelsea Public Works Department and several on-lookers.

"You can help!" So said Jean Jones, Chelsea's local chairman of a Michigan Jaycee Auxiliary project to purchase equipment for Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor. According to Mrs. Jones and her committee, Elsie O'Dell and Bonnie Meadows, Gerber Baby Food Company offered to pay one-fifth of a cent for every label from Gerber baby food, cereal or juice in an amount up to $15,000. For each additional $1,000-worth collected, a $50 bonus was to be assessed. The money was to be used to purchase an "Echo Cadlograph" to monitor the heart and chest cavity functions without surgery or catheterization.

Robin Mock, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mock, was to appear on the Children's Variety television program. Robin was to perform in a baton recital along with two other Jackson children to the bicentennial theme of "Footprints on the Moon." A student at North school, Robin had studied baton for one year, taking lessons from Lana's Dance and Baton in Jackson. The studio arranged her television appearance. Robin's interest in baton twirling began when her cousin in Saline became involved in baton competitions, participating in both state and national contests. The Children's Variety show was to be Robin's first major baton performance.

Mrs. Duane Weiss, cafeteria manager at Chelsea High school, in her report compiled at the end of the school year noted that a total of 92,500 meals were served from September, 1965 until June, 1966. This number included the number of noon lunches prepared and served to high school students and those prepared at the high school cafeteria and served at both North and South Elementary schools. Students paid 35 cents for their lunch at the high school, and an additional 15 cents if they wished second helpings.

Sea Scouts who camped at Bruin Lake were in something of a predicament. Mrs. Gene Schutz, who brought the Scouts' laundry into Chelsea, overlooked one washer full of navy Sea Scout uniform trousers when she left the building at 10:40 p.m. When she went back at 8:00 the next morning, they were not there.

Chelsea's $2,200,000 school bond issue was approved by the decisive vote of 574 "yes" and 324 "no." A total of 918 ballots were cast, 17 being void. In addition to a new high school building program, the bond issue would provide eight additional class rooms for elementary use. Four rooms would be added to the North Elementary school and four to the South Elementary school.

Commencement Held For WCC Graduates

Washtenaw Community College students graduating in December 1989, April 1990, and June 1990 were recognized at commencement exercises Saturday, June 16, at 9:30 a.m. in the WCC Community Park.

December and April graduates (June graduates will be named at the end of June) from the Dexter area include: Jerry Cramer, December 1989; Abdel-R Farha, December 1989; Kelly Kroske, December 1989; Kathryn Zionskevitz, December 1989; Jeanne Barry, April 1990; Jess French, April 1990; D. Bradley Greenfield, April 1990; Ronald Swap, April 1990.

Increased Funding Urged To Provide Faculty, Accessibility

Faculty shortages and prohibitive tuition rates will pose an increasing threat to Michigan's higher education system if the state continues to rank 32nd nationwide in state funding per student, Glenn Stevens, of the Presidents Council of the State Universities of Michigan, said in urging more appropriations to move the state up in the rankings.

"We are trying over the next five or six years to gain more support for university operations," Stevens said. "We may not reach 15th (the council's goal) but at least the top third or so is our goal."

Oakland University has proposed a 7 percent tuition hike, while some universities are trying to maintain the same levels as last year. Most are considering 6-7 percent hikes or higher, he said.

Under the council's proposal, state appropriations for higher education would increase by the rate of inflation, plus by 3.5 percent over the next five years, adding about $100 million to the universities.

While not ruling out a tax increase, Stevens said funding sources for the plan may not be specified until the council monitors the state's economy the next few months and reviews findings of a House task force on state education spending.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

There's no end to tales, most of em tall, that men tell about dealings with women. The feller that runs the country store commented during the session Saturday night that a hardware salesman that calls on him mentioned recent that he has been happy married two year and tied to the same woman 25 year. The salesman said they hadn't been married a year when he got so mad with his wife he give serious thought to killing her.

"It's a good thing you didn't," the store feller told him, "you could of got 20 year in prison."

"Yeah," the salesman said, "but I'd be out now."

And then there's the item in the paper from High Point, N.C., where a man said from his hospital bed that when he was trying to talk his wife in to marrying him he told her he was one in a million, and now he had proved it. He had been hit by lightning the day before, and his doctor told him that happens to one person in a million. His wife was kind enough to tell the reporter she knew she's a lucky woman, and that she was glad her husband survived, even if he didn't know enough to come in out of the storm.

The subject got on the agender after Ed Doolittle took note of Mother's Day, and he said old fashion wedded motherhood still is going strong in spite of all the statics to the contrary. He said the papers are as full of June weddings as ever, which means love is still blind as ever, or young folks just ain't paying attention to studies and surveys of the chances of two totally different people making one life together. One definition of a bachelor is a feller that ain't never made the same mistake onct. Ed said, but it's one not very many men take to heart.

Usual, the fellers give their old ladies a hard time when they're out of their hearing, but Saturday night you would of thought the discussion was being videotaped for showing at the next church program on family relations. Sweetness and light were everywhere on the domestic front, and when Zeke Grubb's preacher stopped by fer his pipe tobacco there was no mental health services staged a rally at the Capitol, declaring "war" on the Blanchard administration for failing to provide adequate programs.

The demonstrators, cheering speakers who decried a series of cuts in services, dropped cards at Governor James Blanchard's office demanding restoration of budget cuts, elimination of waiting lists for services and increasing payments to providers.

"Enough is enough. We are declaring a state of war with the administration," said Lewis P. Vescio, president of the Michigan Alliance for the Mentally Ill.

Vescio said the un-met needs in the state would cost another $280 million. Various speakers said mental health needs to be given a higher priority in the budget.

The Michigan Association of Community Mental Health Boards said the governor's 1990-91 budget recommendations are $84.6 million short of what is needed to maintain existing services.

Mental Health Director Tom Watkins said the need is tremendous but said the $600 million added over the past several years to the system does reflect a high priority.

And, he said controversial decisions such as closing the Traverse City hospital did not cut mental health costs, but paid for increased services in community programs.

"We're committed to finding ways to enhance services," Watkins said, adding traditional programs are being broken down to provide new services.

Sen. Doug Cruce (R-Troy), chair of the Senate Appropriations subcommittee on Mental Health, said the demonstration would help educate legislators and the general public on the need for mental health services.

The department is being spared the across the board cuts inflicted on other departments to keep the current budget balanced, but that still means the agency has to absorb about $15 million in overspending.

Watkins said that is being done with an assortment of economies and a hiring freeze.

Environmental Council Recommends Review Panel

The Council on Environmental Quality has recommended establishment of a state panel to review controversial environmental proposals, including an analysis of the impact of two major pulp and paper mill proposals in northern Michigan.

The Council also urged the development of a system to help consumers identify environmentally sound product packaging and a phaseout by 1995 of the use of ozone-depleting substances by state government.

The panel would be created by an executive order and would serve as a public forum and co-ordinate the state's environmental review of state agency projects and selected environmental permit actions.

It would include eight members appointed by the governor and a chair representing the Council.

The packaging recommendations support funding of research and education projects to advance the design and implementation of environmentally sound packaging and a voluntary logo system which manufacturers could use for identification on their packaging.

On the ozone depletion, the Council urged Blanchard to direct a complete phaseout of chlorofluorocarbon use by state agencies by the year 1995. Proposed national and international initiatives would phase out its use by 2000.

Resolutions Oppose MX in Michigan

House and Senate legislators rallied behind resolutions asking the U.S. Congress not to fund rail-based MX missiles in Michigan. Public hearings in Lansing and the Detroit area and passage of the resolutions are not expected until fall, however.

"With all the changes in Eastern Europe, this costly program runs counter to the apparent meltdown of tensions," said Rep. David Gubow (D-Huntington Woods), who introduced HCR 799 and HR 713, signed by 57 other representatives.

While the 10-warhead nuclear missiles may provide strategic gains, they would cost the state with a negative impact on human safety and the environment, Gubow said.

"After opposing the dumping of low-level radioactive waste in Michigan, how can we support transporting something as dangerous as this on our rail system," said Sen. Lana Pollack (D-Ann Arbor), who has identical legislation ready to be introduced in the Senate, with 11 co-sponsors.

More than 65 citizen groups, including the Michigan Coalition to Stop the MX and the Ann Arbor City Council, also supported the resolutions.

Opponents of the MX rail garrison said railroad accidents or terrorist acts could cause propellant fuels to leak and possibly kill up to 50 percent of the people within 2,000 feet of each spill.

They also cited U.S. Air Force reports that protected wetlands would need to be filled and some forest habitat would be lost if the missile is transported by railroad.

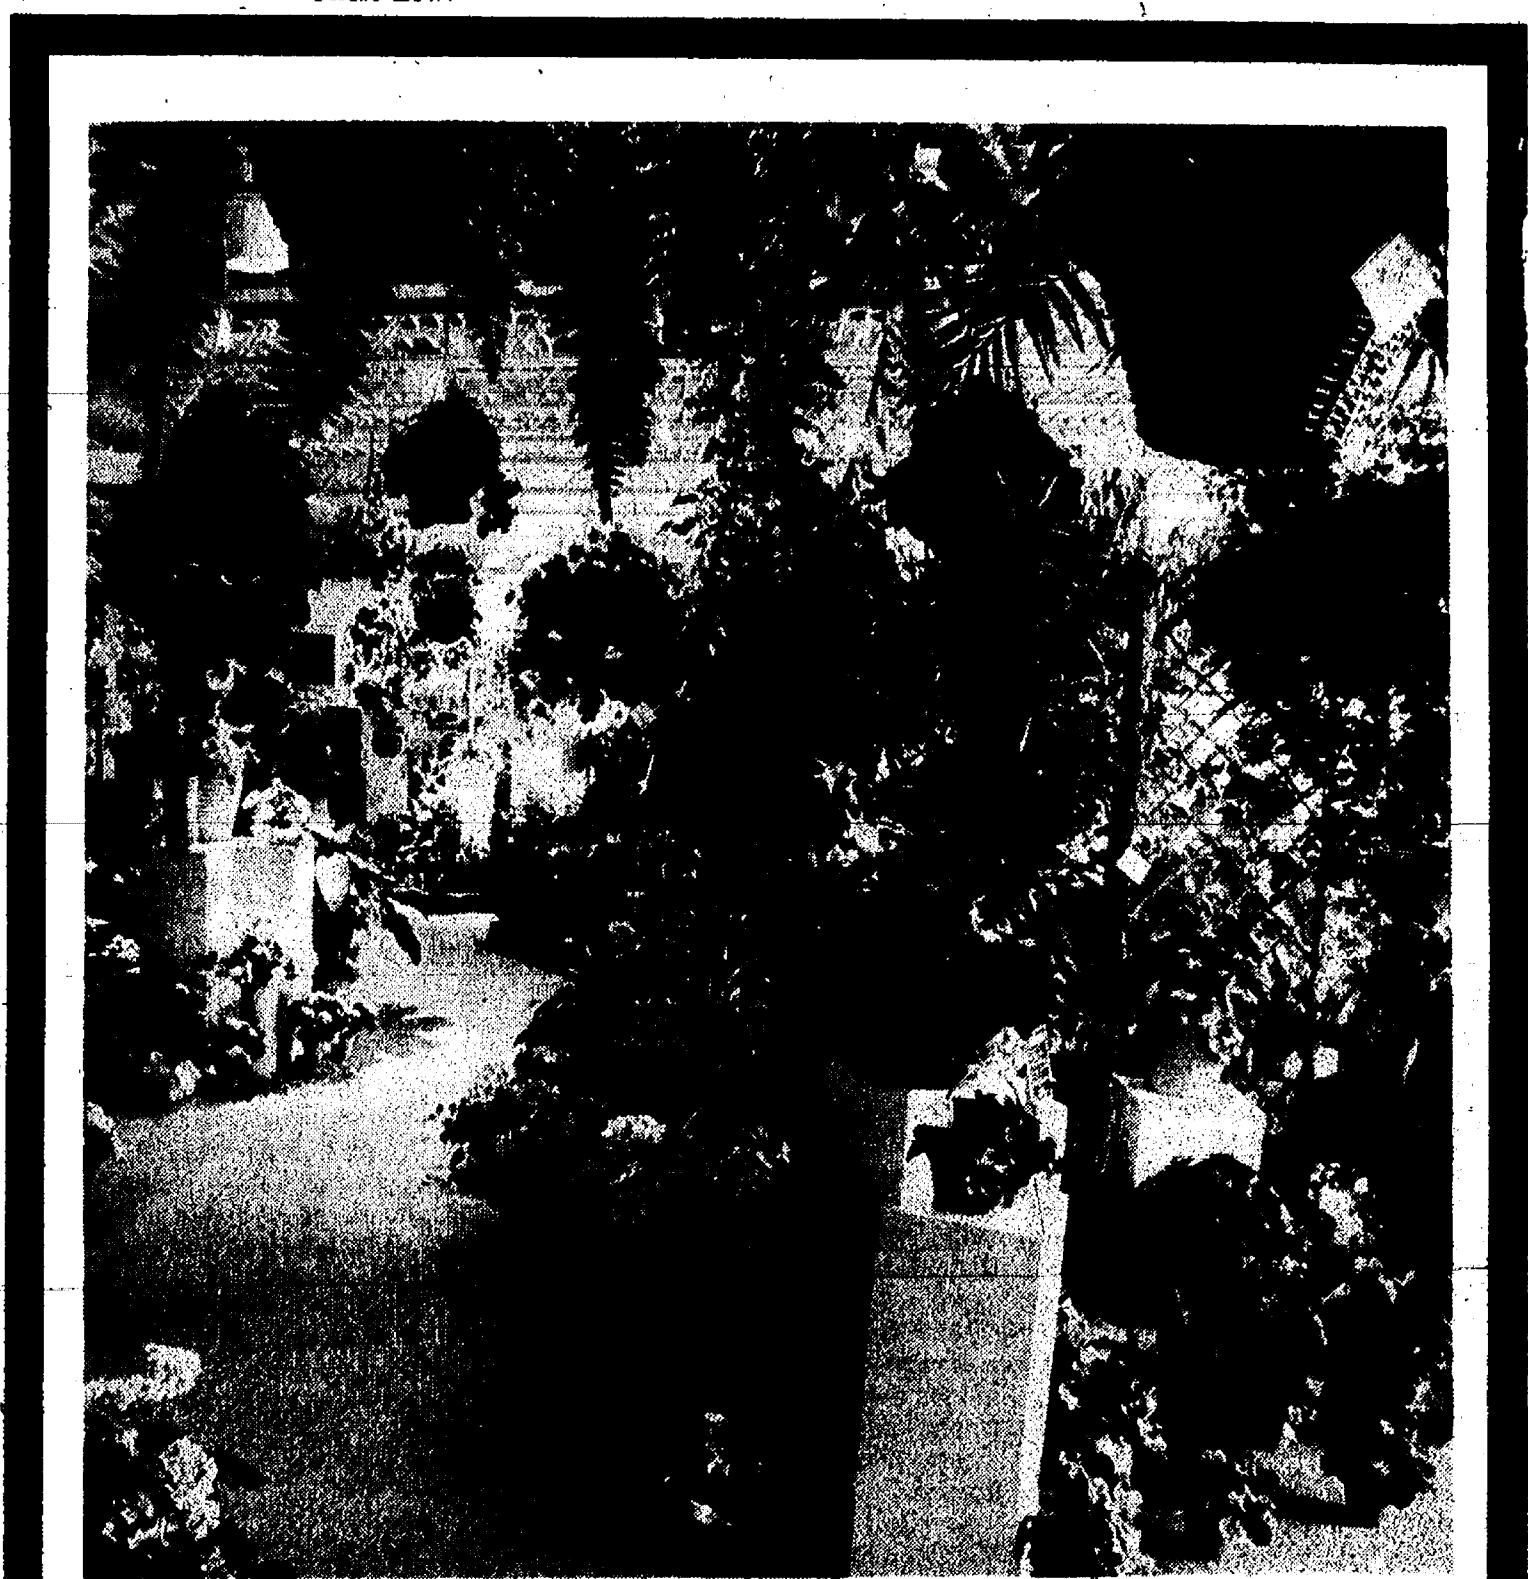

In 1988, there were 38 spills of toxic chemicals transported on Michigan's railroads. The almost 200,000-pound missiles are expected to cause four times as much stress to the tracks as normal railroad cars, according to the resolutions.

The U.S. Air Force selected Wurtsmith Air Force Base in Oscoda last November as one of seven sites where the rail-based MX missile system would be deployed.

While a rail route for the missile has not been made public, the Air Force's Draft Environmental Impact Statement from June last year lists potential deployment lines in Ann Arbor, Detroit, Grand Rapids, Flint and Saginaw.

Lima Extension Members Visit Bookhaven Manor

A caravan of cars from Lima Township Hall to Brookhaven Manor was the start of Lima Extension's June 13 meeting hosted by Elsa Ordway. Twenty members enjoyed the tour of the manor showing the conveniences and pleasant atmosphere of the home. Even fresh-cut flowers greeted guests at Elsa's door!

During the delicious luncheon of many food choices in the beautiful dining room, Russell's Dress shop sponsored a style show with ladies from the home as stylish models. After the style show a June meeting was conducted in the social room on the second floor. Elsa was thanked for having us at her lovely new home and the summer picnic was planned for Aug. 8, 12 noon, at Olive Wiseman's. Blanch Feldkamp will bring some craft ideas for the group to consider as a September meeting lesson at her home Sept. 12.

Walking Program Available to Seniors

The next "Walk Michigan/Walk for Wellness" is scheduled for Tuesday, June 26 at 7 p.m. Meet at Chelsea High school.

"Walk Michigan/Walk for Wellness," a series of 10 walks this summer is sponsored by Chelsea Community Hospital Senior Health Connection in co-operation with Chelsea Senior Citizens and Chelsea Community Education.

The walks are open to any person in the community and are 1 1/2 to 2 miles in length. Locations, dates, and times for the walks will vary in order to give everyone an opportunity to participate some time this summer. Transportation will be provided for walks located outside the village of Chelsea.

All walks will take place as scheduled with cancellations only in the case of severe weather warnings.

Further information about the Walk Michigan/Walk for Wellness program may be obtained by calling Chelsea Community Hospital Education Department at 475-3935.

The bride wore a Cinderella wedding dress and carried pink and white roses.

Maid of honor was Sheryl Johnson, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Lois Hodgen, sister of the bridegroom, and Betsy Elkins, Jodie Pinix, and Angie Stevens, all friends of the bride.

Melissa Marcum, niece of the bride, was a junior bridesmaid. Heidi Brown, niece of the bridegroom, was the flowergirl.

Groomsmen were Chuck Elkins, Tony Shonney, and Doug Schutz, all friends of the bridegroom, Paul Brown, brother of the bridegroom, and Tim Brown, cousin of the bridegroom.

Michael Johnson was the candle.

ONE OF THE 18 WINDOWS that was damaged by vandals at Beach Middle school last week. Chelsea Glass Co. crews were on the scene Friday morning to repair the damage. The three suspects used a key to enter the building.

CHELSEA OFFICER Richard Foster checks for window damage in the home economics room at Beach Middle school last week. Foster and Scott Sumner investigated the vandalism and by mid-day had located their prime suspects, three young teen-age boys.

TEN CLOCKS at Beach Middle school were smashed by vandals last week. Damage was extensive at the school.

FAUCETS in a science room at Beach Middle school were torn off, which caused water to shoot into the air and flood in the room. Three boys, all eighth graders last year, broke into the school early last Friday morning and did an estimated $30,000 to $40,000 worth of damage.

Reports from

Sheriff's Department

Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department (WCSD) deputies were dispatched to the South Lake access site early Sunday morning, June 17, following the report of a burned truck discovered partially submerged in the lake.

Both the interior and the exterior of the 1986 Toyota four-wheel drive vehicle were burned.

The incident was determined to be arson, and the truck's owner had not yet realized the vehicle was missing.

Deputies Calmes and King had originally been dispatched to the area after a loud party and disturbance were reported.

On arrival at the site, they were unable to locate the loud party, but a white vehicle with a blown tire was observed in the area.

Information was given to officials at the Livingston County Sheriff's Department, with whom the WCSD's detective bureau will work to further investigate the incident.

Boat Larceny

Deputies Steele and Neitling were dispatched to a Lyndon township site, where a boat larceny was reported by Robert R. Steiner of Waterloo Rd., Chelsea, Wednesday, June 13.

Steiner told deputies his 14-ft. aluminum rowboat and its wooden oars were missing from the place he had secured it on June 2.

The articles had an estimated value of $400.

Home Ownership is Possible Just Ask Us!

Having several options available for home financing is just common sense. People have different incomes, different reasons for buying real estate, different needs. That's why we offer different ways to buy a home. It's not because we're trying to be different. We just think giving people a choice makes a lot of sense. Stop by our loan department... we will talk mortgage financing with you.

Chiropractic Health Care

Pediatric
Care
Con't.

Dr. J. Nicholas Koffeman

Over the last couple weeks I've talked about chiropractic care for children. I discussed headaches, scoliosis (a side-ways curvature to the spine) and how children usually respond very well to spinal adjustments.

Today I am going to discuss a very common problem (in both children and adults), namely allergies.

Allergies and intolerances to chemicals are increasing in society today. The reasons are many and will be addressed some more in the future.

Allergies can be behind many health problems that are not thought to be allergic in nature. Examples?

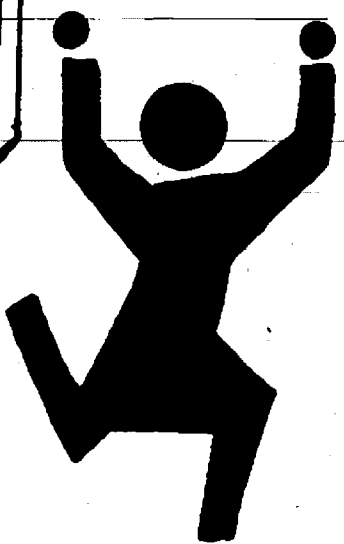

Chronic infections, especially ears, throat, sinus and bladder can be due to allergies that weaken these systems.

Chiropractic adjustments raise tissue resistance to allergies and infections. Many times nutritional therapy and dietary restrictions are also needed.

Please address all questions and comments to Dr. J. Nicholas Koffeman, 138 E. Middle St., Chelsea, MI 48118. (313)475-2088.

I would like to give a special thanks to all who supported my election to the Chelsea Board of Education. I will work hard for quality education in our schools for the next four years.

Thank You.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor and Ms. Graflund:
I am writing this letter to you because I understand you are active in the Chelsea Area Players and your address was in the directory. I would like for you to pass this letter on to Mr. Joe Diederich.

When I read the cast of the upcoming play "Lil' Abner," I was disappointed to see that Joe Diederich was not among the cast. I assume that even the most dedicated performers need to take a summer off or perhaps he was not interested in this particular play. Whatever the reason, he will be sorely missed this summer.

I have enjoyed watching his performances since I had the opportunity to see him for the first time in "South Pacific." I would like him to know how much he has given to each show he is in and how much he is appreciated by the audience. Whether he is a drunk, a part of a quartet, a movie star, a director, or a King, he is noticed and appreciated by those watching. I'm sure it will be a long time before people forget that last note he sang in 42nd Street and the ripples it created up the spine.

It is inspiring to know that such talent is a part of the small community of Chelsea. I understand that Joe has moved to Ann Arbor, but he lived in Chelsea when he took the stage in Chelsea for the first time, so that makes him a Chelsea person. Chelsea develops and encourages talent and that makes me proud to be a Chelsea person also.

Many will miss the presence of Joe Diederich on the Chelsea stage this summer and we all hope he will return next summer to share himself with us again.

Thank you, Joe Diederich, for all your many characters and songs that you have brought to life on the Chelsea stage.

A Chelsea Person.

CHELSEA BOY SCOUT TROOP 478 traveled to Mackinaw City over the Memorial Day week-end. The 19 boys camped at the Kenneth Hurst home while the parents camped at nearby Wilderness State Park. Activities included a trip to Old Mill State Park, above, and an outing at Fort Michilimackinac, below, where scouts had the chance to try out the "stocks." They also saw the 28th annual re-enactment of the capture of the fort by the Indians. Today's Investor

By Thomas E. O'Hara
Chairman, Board of Trustees
National Assoc. of Investors Corp.
& Consulting Editor, Better Investing

Q. I have three different IRA's in which I have put money. One was called a self-directed plan and it gave me the privilege of choosing whatever investment I wanted the money to be invested in. I chose to put the money in Westinghouse Electric and Philip Morris stock. Both are now nearly three times what I paid for them. I recently received a letter from the bank that has been the IRA custodian that it will no longer be an IRA custodian and keep my account. It did give me the name of another bank that handles these accounts.

I am very disappointed if I have to sell these stocks and put the money somewhere else. I will also have to pay tax on the profit and lose a lot of my retirement money in taxes. Would you have any suggestions as to how I could avoid realizing the profit on these stocks?

A. I have received a number of letters like yours. There seems to be a lot of misunderstanding about these self-managed IRA accounts which are often set up through brokerage firms with banks serving as custodians.

First, you don't have to liquidate the account unless you want to. If you liquidate the account, you will have a penalty to pay for early withdrawal, unless you are older than 59½, and the total withdrawal becomes taxable income. To be tax free and to continue the account, all you need to do is turn the account over to another custodian. The bank which is dropping your account has actually made arrangements with another bank to do this for you. That is what the papers they have sent you are all about. All you really have to do is sign the papers the bank has sent you and return them.

Your account will continue just as it has in the past except that another bank will serve as custodian.

For the individual who wants the advantage in his IRA account of the possible superior performance of his own selection of securities, these accounts are excellent. They normally can be opened directly with your broker with very little paperwork. You can deposit funds into the account directly with your broker and make purchases and sales of securities with him. Your broker clears all the items through the bank so it can serve its purpose as custodian.

Mr. O'Hara welcomes your questions and comments but will answer them only through this column. DONALD A. COLE, Director

"I do the very best I know how, the very best I can and I mean to keep doing so until the end..."

—Abraham Lincoln

The perspective of time has revealed Lincoln to have been one of the greatest Presidents. He was a man guided by principle, even when following his own ideas of right versus wrong resulted in unpopularity.

We can't all be enshrined in the memory of our country as Lincoln is but we can all obtain satisfaction from doing the best we know how, the best we can, until the end... just as Lincoln did.

We have no second-class services. Whatever price you choose to pay, you are entitled to the utmost consideration of which we are capable.

Manchester Area Man Completes Marine Recruit Training

Marine Pfc. Jeffery R. Spurr, son of William Spurr of 11308 Hieber Rd., Manchester, has completed recruit training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif.

During the 13-week training cycle, Spurr was taught the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills including first-aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

He joined the Marine Corps in January 1990.

John W. Poulter Graduates from Air National Guard Academy

John W. Poulter was commissioned a second lieutenant upon graduating from the Air National Guard Academy of Military Science, McGhee Tyson Airport, Knoxville, Tenn.

Poulter is a member of the Michigan Air National Guard and is assigned to the 191st Fighter Interceptor Group at Selfridge Air National Guard Base.

He is the son of James A. Poulter of 13174 Riker Rd., and Marilyn J. Poulter of 345 Elm St., both of Chelsea.

The lieutenant is a 1985 graduate of Chelsea High school.

Consultants Unveil Initial Downtown Plan

fence, and trees would be-planted to soften the current eyesore.

A comprehensive sign program and village logo was discussed at length. The tentative logo essentially uses the clock tower, while the sign program utilizes a very small portion of the top of the tower that the consultants felt represented the Victorian character of the village. Signs would be located in numerous places, both inside and outside the village, directing people downtown, to parking, to the schools, and other areas of general interest. Also, motorists would be alerted to the downtown with large entrance signs at the corner of M-52 and Old US-12 and just north of Veteran's Park.

A billboard would also be placed on I-94 advertising the village to the general public.

The consultants also discussed numerous ideas for improving Main St. downtown. Many of those ideas dealt with separating the pedestrian areas from the roadways. Pedestrian lighting, adopting elements of old style lighting as well as the contemporary shape of the tower, would be placed at the edge of the sidewalk at 40-foot intervals. Attached iron grillwork fencing, perhaps with small trash receptacles and flower planters, was also suggested.

The consultants also want to move most of the overhead wiring underground, which would also involve replacing most of the sidewalks on Main St. When the issue of snow removal was discussed, Fritz Belsor suggested the sidewalks incorporate an electric snow removal system, which has been installed in much of downtown Holland. The consultants agreed that would be a feasible, although more expensive proposition.

Other ideas for downtown included "bumping out" some of the curbs at the major intersections to give people more room to stand at the corner, as well as give a place for trees to be planted and the use of paving bricks or other ways to set off various areas. For example, consultants suggested setting off the area in front of the village offices on E. Middle St. (for festive occasions), the area on Park St. in front of the proposed entertainment center, and the cross walks on Main St.

Deardorff suggested tearing down the front portion of the Longworth Plating building on Main St. that is now used primarily for rummage sales. He said it would help connect the depot parking lot with the rest of downtown, as well as open up the Sylvan building to public view.

The audience was urged to make their views about the suggestions known to the consultants. Although there were some specific questions from audience members, there was almost no outright criticism of the ideas in the presentation.

The next step for the public will be another meeting in August to discuss refinements to Monday's proposals. The sign program will progress more rapidly than other parts of the project because DDA wants to have signs in place this fall.

Village president Richard Steele, one of several members of village government in attendance, called the evening, "a good exchange of ideas."

The stated goals of the beautification project include preserving the historic character of Chelsea, attracting people downtown to keep the business climate positive and help people enrich their lives, provide a focal point for the area, and make the downtown easily accessible.

Fourth of July holiday fatalities last year increased 20 percent on July 3 and 37 percent on the holiday itself and 12 percent on the following day.

EarthWords

By the Ecology Center, Ann Arbor

On April 22, more than 100 million people around the world celebrated the 20th anniversary of Earth Day out of concern for the environment. Perhaps you thought that Earth Day 1990 had come and gone, but it was really just the beginning of the Environmental Decade. Environmental issues will be in the public eye more and more in coming years.

So, dust off your recycling bins, clean the toxics out of your basement, and get ready to contact your congressional representative. And, welcome yourself to this new column, Earthwords. Earthwords is a clearinghouse for the latest information on the local environment. In it, we will answer questions from readers and print facts on current issues. It will be written by the staff and members of the Ecology Center, based right here in Washtenaw county.

To introduce ourselves, the Ecology Center is the largest community-based environmental organization in the state. We are known throughout Michigan for our work promoting clean air, clean water, and alternatives to toxic substances and solid waste problems. Locally, we are best known for our energy conservation program, called Energy Works, our recycling program, called Recycle Ann Arbor, and our public lending library.

We are frequently asked for ways to reduce the use of pesticides. Our first week's question deals with this issue:

What Is the Environmentally Sound Way To Keep Carpenter Ants Out of My Home?

First of all, don't panic: carpenter ants are not termites, and they would rarely pose a threat to your house. Carpenter ants are large, black ants, usually between 1/4 and one inch long, with three distinct body parts and elbowed antennae. Termites have only two body parts. Unlike termites, carpenter ants do not eat wood. Rather, they build their nests in it and invade houses in search of food. They are unlikely to bite, and, if they do bite, their bite is harmless.

Second, don't immediately reach for the spray can or for the telephone to call an exterminator. All insecticides are toxic substances, and should be used only as a last resort. Children, senior citizens, and ill persons are especially vulnerable to pesticides.

Instead, find the source of your problem. Carpenter ants will nest in wood chips, lumber, or trees outside of the house or in damaged wood inside your house. Identify their route of entry, and, if they are living outdoors, you can prevent them from taking over your house by removing likely entry routes and suitable nest sites. Try any or all of the following steps to remove the environments in which carpenter ants thrive:

- Plug up their entry routes with caulk or weatherstripping.
- Fix structural defects and weather-damaged wood.
- Store firewood and lumber away from the house.
- Prune trees so they don't touch the house.
- Clear away wood chips adjacent to your house.
- And, keep sweet foods securely packaged.

If, however, the ants have nested inside your house, then control measures may be necessary. For a small infestation, a sponge soaked in sugar solution will attract ants. By periodically rinsing the sponge in soapy water, you will remove and kill the ants. Any damaged or colonized wood will need to be replaced to ensure against a re-infestation.

Persistent problems deserve stronger control measures, and we recommend baits and desiccants. Boric acid baits, such as Blue Diamond Magmatic Roach Food, is very effective and contained. Be sure to place all baits out of reach of children and pets. "Desiccating" dusts dehydrate and kill ants, and are effective for as long as they remain dry. These dusts can be blown into voids through small holes drilled into the walls. Sample desiccants include "diatomaceous earth" and "silica gel," and are sometimes mixed with pyrethrum, which is a botanical insecticide. Revenge, which contains pyrethrins and silica gel, is available at local garden stores. Another "less-toxic" control measure uses boric acid dusts, in such brand products as Roach Pruf, which can be applied as a light dust film where ants travel.

If you have further questions about carpenter ants, pesticides, or other environmental issues, call the Ecology Center at 761-3186. We are open Mondays through Thursdays 9:30 to 5 p.m. and Saturdays 9:30 to 1 p.m. We look forward to your Earthwords Questions, too; please mail them to "Earthwords," c/o the Ecology Center, 417 Detroit St., Ann Arbor 48104. And, remember, in the 1990s, every day is Earth Day.

★ Cholesterol-Fighting Fiber Cuts Fat, Calories in Ice Cream

By Matt Bosisto

Worried about fat and cholesterol? If you like to eat ice cream, no problem. A new oat product cuts the fat and calories in America's favorite dessert and also lowers blood cholesterol.

An oat-bran extract, called oatrim, can be used to prepare low-fat frozen dairy desserts, bakery products, yogurt, salad dressing and other foods without affecting their taste, texture or appearance, according to a U. S. Department of Agriculture scientist.

"What we have is a new ingredient made from soluble oat fiber," says George E. Inglett, a chemist with USDA's Agricultural Research Service. "That's why it reduces cholesterol. And because we substitute it for most of the saturated fat in ice cream, it turns ice cream into a low-calorie, low-fat dessert that's good for you."

While oatrim will not likely be on the market for two or three years, six companies already have expressed an interest in producing it.

A 4-ounce serving of vanilla oatrim frozen dessert has 135 calories, less than 1 gram of fat and 4 milligrams of cholesterol. By comparison, a similar serving of premium vanilla ice cream has 286 calories, 22 grams of fat and 85 mg of cholesterol, says Inglett of the agency's Northern Regional Research Center in Peoria, Ill.

Oatrim contains beta-glucan, one of the active components in lowering blood cholesterol. Tests with 10-day-old chicks at Montana State University showed an oatrim diet reduced over-all blood cholesterol 17.8 percent and low-density lipoprotein, the "bad" cholesterol, 47.4 percent.

At the same time, it elevated the chicks' high-density lipoprotein, the "good" cholesterol, 17.7 percent.

In a taste panel test rating flavor intensity, oatrim frozen dessert scored comparably well against premium vanilla ice cream. On a scale of 0 (bland) to 10 (strong), the sweetness of ice cream was given a 7.3 score while oatrim scored 6.6. For vanilla flavoring, ice cream scored 6.5 and oatrim 5.5. Creamy taste was scored 7.6 for ice cream, 4.3 for oatrim.

"Some panel members preferred the lighter texture of oatrim to the heavy cream taste of premium ice cream," Inglett says.

Once licensed by a company, he says, oatrim may require approval of the Food and Drug Administration for use in food products.

Concerts-in-the-Park To Start a Week Later

Chelsea's Concert-in-the-Park series, originally scheduled to start Sunday, July 1, has been delayed one week due to scheduling difficulties.

The delay may also give Chelsea Rod & Gun Club volunteers the opportunity to finish the Pierce Park pavilion in time for the first show.

Linke and McCants, a country-bluegrass band, will play the July 8 show. Boogie-woogie piano player Mr. B will play July 22. The Chenille Sisters of Ann Arbor, a popular and critically-acclaimed vocal group, have been hired to replace Maxton Bay on Aug. 5. And Al Townsend & The Ambassadors will play the final show Aug. 19.

Waterloo Historical Society Organizing Young Pioneers

Who and what are the Young Pioneers?

They are a special group of third through fifth graders who have an interest in history and their Michigan pioneer heritage.

For the second year the Waterloo Area Historical Society is offering local kids a chance to learn about their pioneer history.

Every Thursday afternoon from July 5 to Aug. 2 your children are invited to become Young Pioneers. Each week they will learn something about how the pioneers actually lived in the 1800's through talks, games, and craft projects.

The registration fee is $5 per child. This fee covers all supplies and entitles your child to a one-year membership to the museum.

Sessions begin at 2 p.m. on July 5 at the Waterloo Farm Museum. Each session will last for one hour and parents are strongly encouraged to stay and share this experience with their children.

If you are interested in registering your child please contact Liz Maurer in Chelsea at 475-1766 or Denise Falk in Munith at 596-2856 as soon as possible before June 22. Please act quickly as spaces are limited.

Steven Forshee Slated for Early Promotion in Air Force

Steven Forshee has been specially identified for early promotion to senior airman in the U. S. Air Force.

The airman was awarded the new rating ahead of other Air Force members by a "below-the-zone" promotion board which considered job performance, military knowledge, bearing and self-improvement efforts.

Forshee is an electronic communications and cryptologic equipment systems specialist in Japan, with the 1962nd Communications Group.

He is the son of Bruce E. and Janet L. Forshee of 6839 Ann Arbor Rd., Dexter.

The airman is a 1985 graduate of Dexter High school.

Education, Support Programs Are Offered at Chelsea Hospital

The Challenge of Parenting: A Series of Lectures on Parenting Issues continues with "Children and Abuse" to be held Thursday, June 28 from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at the Faith in Action House. For more information, call 475-4030.

Ongoing programs held at Chelsea Community Hospital include "Children are People," a chemical dependency prevention program for children ages 5 to 12 years. This program is offered by the Substance Abuse Department and is held on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings from 6:45 to 8:15 p.m. at Chelsea Community Hospital Kresge House. For registration or additional information call Betsy Beckerman at 475-4100.

"Cardiac Rehabilitation - Outpatient Program" is designed to provide rehabilitation for people who are recovering from a heart attack or heart surgery. Sessions are individually scheduled by calling 475-3951.

"Speech and Language Therapy for Children - Outpatient Program" offers comprehensive, individualized evaluations and therapy programs for youngsters with delayed speech or language development. For more information, call 475-3962.

The "Outpatient Diabetes Education" program is designed for people with diabetes and their families. Sessions are individually scheduled by calling Pat Parr, R.N., B.S.N. at 475-3955.

With "Individual Nutrition Counseling" a registered dietitian will work with you to create a meal plan that is nutritionally adequate and easy to follow. When your physician has prescribed a special diet for you, contact your nutrition counseling service at 475-4026.

The "Individual Supermarket Tour" is held at the supermarket of your choice within a 20 mile radius of Chelsea and is led by a registered dietitian. Tours are scheduled by appointment.

Individuals who have a bladder control problem, referred to as incontinence, are sometimes reluctant to seek medical assistance. If you or a loved one experiences incontinence or other uncomfortable urinary system problems, there may be a simple medical solution. "The Continence Clinic" can answer your needs. Call 475-4019 for more information.

"Toastmasters International" is an organization that helps individuals master the art of public speaking through practice and evaluation by other members. The Chelsea Toastmasters Club provides an enjoyable forum in which to learn these skills. They meet on the first and third Fridays of each month from 12 to 1 p.m. in Woodland Room "B" at Chelsea Community Hospital.

The "Children's Center" of Chelsea Community Hospital has expanded its program to offer more quality day care. Child care is available for children ages 2½ weeks to 12 years. For more information contact Kathy Young, 475-3922.

Pre-registration is required for all classes.

Fair Queen Program Looking for Girls

Chelsea Community Fair Queen Program has begun its search for candidates for this year's event.

As an incentive, this year the queen will receive a $500 college scholarship.

Deadline for entry is Saturday, June 30.

The basic rules are as follows. Girls who will attend either Chelsea or Dexter High school this fall are eligible to enter.

Each candidate must be sponsored by a high school class or community club or organization.

Each sponsoring organization must provide a float for the queen to ride on during the Chelsea Fair Parade. Failure to have a float may result in disqualification of the candidate.

Girls will be judged on talent, poise, appearance, and a personal interview with the judges. Each girl's talent presentation is subject to prior approval by the Fair Queen Committee.

The program will be held on Friday, Aug. 24 at 7 p.m.

For more information, contact program organizer Sally Heil at 475-5149.

Open House To Feature New Recycling Program

Anyone interested in the village's total waste management program can find out all the details at an open house at the village's wastewater treatment plant on Saturday, June 30 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The village is using the opportunity to show off and explain the details of its curbside recycling program that is scheduled to begin in July. It's anticipated that Washtenaw county officials will also be on hand. The program will be the first of its kind in the county in a small community.

Residents will either be able to pick up the recycling buckets or will be able to sign up for them at the open house.

The village will have sample buckets on hand, as well as the new pull-behind recycling trailer that will be used to pick up the materials.

In addition, a representative of Zero Waste Recycling, the company that will recycle old vehicle tires, is scheduled to be there.

Another part of the program will focus on the village's composting program, complete with the composting trailer.

Village officials also plan a display on the landfill, with an explanation about what is happening there.

There are also likely to be tours of the treatment plant itself. Residents will be able to see the water that comes from the plant, which village manager Robert Stalker said "looks just like drinking water."

Balloons for the kids, as well as light refreshments will be available.

"We want to make this a fun event for the people so they'll enjoy being there," Stalker said.

Four Asst. Manager Candidates Selected for Second Interviews

Four candidates have been selected for second interviews for the job of assistant village manager.

Village manager Robert Stalker said none of the four is from the Chelsea area. One candidate is an engineer, two are community planners, and another candidate has an administrative background.

The candidates are from Jackson, Brighton, Fenton, and Detroit. Three are men and one is a woman. The woman was a finalist last year when Tom Warstler was eventually hired, Stalker said.

The next step, Stalker said, is for the candidates to meet the village's personnel committee.

Salary range for the position is $29,000 to $36,000.

Stalker said he hopes to make someone an offer by the end of the month.

Warstler took a planning job in the upper peninsula after working in Chelsea for less than a year.

The first pension was established by the Plymouth colony for disabled soldiers in 1638, according to "Labor Firsts in America," a U.S. Labor Department publication.

Colleen Scharphorn on All-State Softball Team

Chelsea Bulldog junior Colleen Scharphorn was named to the Class B All-State Softball Team.

Scharphorn, called "the finest outfielder I have ever coached," by former head coach Pat Clarke, played centerfield, had a batting average of .489 as the clean-up hitter, had 38 RBI and scored 32 runs.

Scharphorn led the Bulldogs in RBI, and extra-base hits with 11, including two home runs and three triples.

Her other statistics included 33 singles, two sacrifices, 14 walks, 11 stolen bases, and 16 put-outs, and 24 assists for a fielding average of .947. She also struck out just three times in 92 at bats.

Scharphorn was also Chelsea's number two pitcher with an 8-2 record and 1.20 earned run average.

Chelsea second baseman Sara Musolf also made the all-state honorable mention team.

Scharphorn also made the All-Region First Team, and the All-District Team.

Bulldogs joining her with all-region honors were second teamers Scharme Petty and Musolf, and honorable mention selection Amy Thomson. Petty was the Bulldogs' number one pitcher and most valuable player. Thomson was the starting catcher.

Musolf, Petty, and Thomson also made the All-District Team. Honorable mention went to sophomore shortstop Christine Burg and junior outfielder Shawn Losey.

Finally, All-Southeastern Conference First Team honors went to Petty and Scharphorn. Petty finished with a 1.62 earned run average and a .509 batting average. She was a unanimous choice.

Thomson, Burg, and Losey were each named to the second team, and Kelly Bellus, who played third base, was named to the honorable mention team.

Anderson Named To Academic GLIAC Squad

Kasey Anderson of Chelsea was named to the GLIAC Academic At-Large Teams.

The GLIAC chooses separate academic squads in volleyball, football, men's and women's basketball, baseball and softball.

Anderson, a unanimous choice, competes in both cross country and track and carries a 4.0 grade point average as a chemistry major.

During the season, Anderson won the 3200 meter run at the GLIAC Championships in 10:10.06. She also earned All-America honors by finishing fifth at the NAIA National Meet in 10:12.06.

Lansing Man Sentenced in Attempted Rape

A Lansing-area man has been sentenced to two simultaneous prison terms for the attempted rape of an elderly woman in the Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home in January.

Michael C. Burt, 29, was sentenced by Washtenaw County Circuit Judge William F. Ager, Jr. to a 10-15 year term and a 3-5 year term after Burt pleaded no contest to the charges.

The woman testified that after taking a sleeping pill she woke up to find a man on top of her trying to have sex.

Burt reportedly told the court that he has a drinking problem and that the prosecutor was trying to make him "seem like an animal."

In return for Burt's no contest plea, prosecutors dropped a charge of habitual felony based on a past conviction for first-degree sexual conduct.

The first national black labor organization was the Colored National Labor Union, formed in 1889, according to "Labor Firsts in America," a U.S. Labor Department publication.

Nature from Your Backdoor

By Glenn R. Dudderar

There's a wild creature that you're just as likely to encounter in a Detroit suburb as in the north woods. Chances are that you won't see it, however, and even if you did, you might not recognize it.

It's the gray tree frog. Over the years, and especially this year, I have had a lot of people ask what the animal is that they can hear trilling day or night. Various people liken it to a cricket's song or the sound a baby raccoon makes or the call of a flicker (the large woodpecker with a white rump)—whichever sound they're familiar with.

The gray tree frog's trilling is high-pitched, unchanging in tone and loud, and its willingness to sing at any hour of the day or night from May through-out the whole summer means that people don't always find it an agreeable sound.

Often someone hearing the tree frog's trill will want to find out what's making the sound. Someone who hears it and mistakes it for something else may go rushing out to find the baby raccoon or woodpecker. Others don't care what's making the noise outside their bedroom windows—they just wish it wouldn't sing at 2 a.m.

It can be singing outside almost any bedroom window on a warm, humid, late spring or summer evening because the gray tree frog needs only trees and a spring pond to survive. Unlike the larger aquatic frogs, such as the bullfrog and leopard frog, the gray tree frog doesn't need a permanent body of water. A pond or ditch or small wetland that provides water from March through the end of June is all it needs for reproduction. Any neighborhood that can provide water in the spring and trees can have a frog population.

Even though the gray tree frog is very common, it's rarely seen. For most people, their acquaintance with the gray tree frog remains an audible affair. The main reason they don't see the frog is that it can change its color to match that of its environment.

Like the much better known chameleon, the gray tree frog can turn charcoal gray, cement gray, apple green, blue-green, very pale yellow or brown, as well as mottled mixtures of these colors to blend into its surroundings. It is very effective camouflage.

It's too bad that it's stuck with such a dull name as gray tree frog. I've seen only one that was pure gray, and that's because it had climbed a chain link fence to catch insects drawn to a light. All the others I've seen over the years have been the color of tree bark, dirt or leaves or some combination of these—anything but gray!

It's also too bad that, even though it's a very common amphibian, very few people know of the color-changing tree frog. But there's hardly a school child that hasn't heard about the chameleon, even though true chameleons occur far away—around the Mediterranean and in Africa—and the tree frog is right in our backyards. (Anoles, which are frequently sold as chameleons, live in the southern United States and Central and South America.)

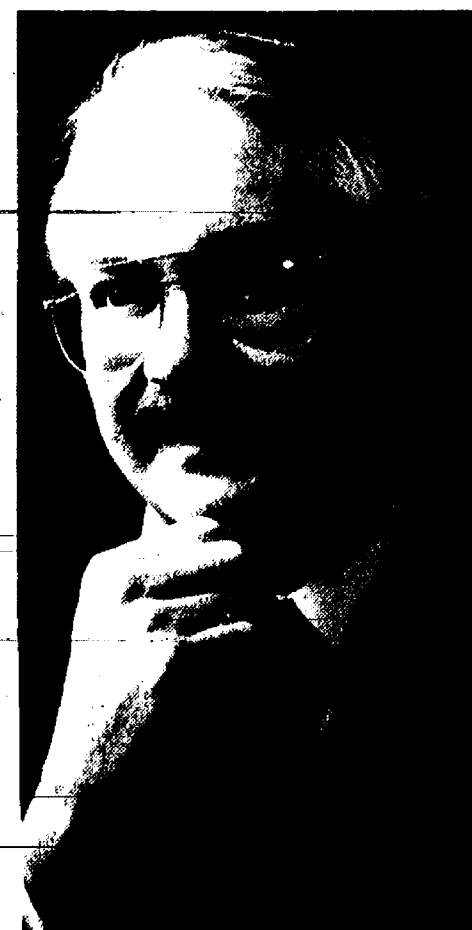

Maybe this says something about human nature and what we value. If an animal or product comes from far away, it's somehow special and worthy of note. But if it's from right around home, it's nothing special to the point where it's ignored or even unknown.

Focusing on the nearby and the common, as we so often do in this column, can reveal some fascinating sights close to home, as well as some insights into ourselves, our attitudes and our values. The fascinating, the illuminating, even the unsettling are as close as nature from your backdoor.

The first federal government pension was established to assist wounded and disabled Revolutionary soldiers in 1776, according to "Labor Firsts in America," a U.S. Labor Department publication.

CLOWNING AROUND: Kiwanis Club of Dexter will host a free clowning program for boys and girls in the Dexter community on Friday, June 22 at 10:30 a.m. at Wylie Middle school cafeteria. Skeeter, a clown with the Kelly-Miller 3-ring circus will entertain Dexter youngsters in a 30- to 45-minute performance. During this period Skeeter will show how she applies make-up, tell what it's like to be a professional clown, make up three volunteers from the audience, and answer any questions the young people may have about clowns. Skeeter is a clown with the Kelly-Miller 3-ring circus which the Kiwanis Club will host in Dexter on Monday, June 25. Advance tickets are available at a reduced price from many Dexter merchants or any Kiwanian.

VACATION CHURCH SCHOOL students at St. Paul United Church of Christ built an ark as part of the day's activities on June 15 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. A total of 50 children attended the day's rainbow of activities. The ark was one of the projects. It was built from three pieces of plywood. Bob Gerrisch and Gary Zenz supervised the children and Bart Bauer designed the ark. Melody Reifel was chairman of the day's activities.

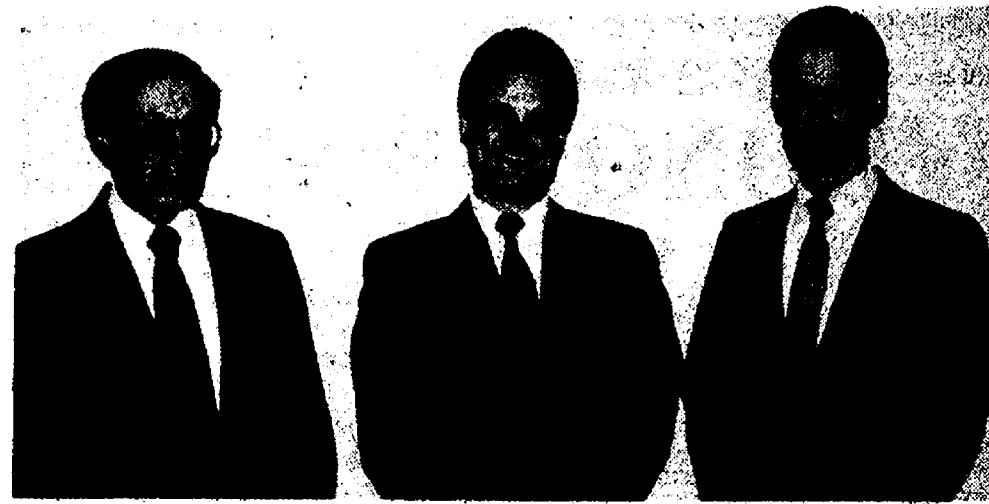

Amateur Radio Club To Test Emergency Skills

Chelsea Amateur Radio Club will be among the participants this week-end at the annual American Radio Relay League Field Day emergency preparedness test.

This week-end thousands of amateur radio operators in the United States and Canada set up their machines in the open using only emergency power sources and portable antennae. The object is contact as many other radio operators as possible using many different types of radios and equipment, including amateur satellites. The tests are designed to help hams refine the operating skills necessary during disasters and times of emergency when normal channels of communication are disrupted or unavailable.

Hams monitor and report severe weather, and provide communications for civil defense and the American Red Cross in times of distress, such as the recent flooding in Texas and Arkansas.

Fourteen members of the Chelsea club will set up at Park Lyndon South Saturday morning. They'll use tents, campers, and one member plans to build a tee-pee, according to civil defense director Robert Schantz.

DONALD A. COLE of Chelsea, left, was recently installed as president of the Michigan Funeral Directors Association, District 2. The district includes Lenawee, Hillsdale, Jackson, and Washtenaw counties, as well as part of Wayne county. For the past two years Cole has served as secretary-treasurer and vice-president of the district. In the photograph with Cole are vice-president Jeffrey Rupp of Monroe, center, and secretary-treasurer David Hammel of Ann Arbor, right. Other board members include Gary Couture of Tecumseh and David Brown of Belleville. Cole is owner-director of Cole-Burghardt Funeral Chapel.

Greta Picklesimer in Ireland On Evangelical Work Project

Greta Picklesimer of Chelsea will be traveling and working with Teen Missions International in Ireland this summer.

TMI is an inter-denominational evangelical mission. Picklesimer, 25, will first go to Merritt Island, Fla. to a "boot camp," to receive training with 34 other youths in evangelism, and bible study, as well as building skills such as cement block laying.

In addition to hard work, the camp also involves physical training with an obstacle course, rope swings over a moat, a 25-foot Jacob's ladder, and the scaling of a 12-foot wall.

Eventually she will fly to London, travel to Wales, and end up in Navan, Ireland to spend 35 days converting a stone building into a dormitory for World Missions Fellowship. They'll spend Sundays in local churches giving personal religious testimonies.

After completing the project, Picklesimer's team will meet other TMI teams in London for a debrief.

Picklesimer is a 1982 Chelsea High school graduate.

Farm Bureau Wants General Funding Of SARA, Title III

A bipartisan task force of state legislators and others has been meeting recently to discuss the Superfund amendments and Reauthorization Act Title III (SARA), also known as the Emergency Planning and Community Right To Know Act of 1986. That's the federal law that requires farmers to inform local and state officials about the types of chemicals on their farms, and provide notification when those chemicals are ever accidentally spilled or otherwise accidentally released into the environment.

Howard Kelly, legislative counsel for Michigan Farm Bureau, said one unanswered question at this point is: who is going to pay for administering SARA? "We've got pretty strong policy opposing a fee system to pay for the administrative costs of the SARA program," he said. "We feel that the SARA funding should come from the general fund and through the regular appropriations process on an annual basis."

Farm Bureau also supports a pre-emption clause so that farmers are not subject to different SARA rules enacted by various local governments.

EDUCATION RESEARCH

Prepared by the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASPP), Reston, Va.

★ Education Essential to U. S. Interest Says James Baker ...

Reston, Va.—As nations grow closer and closer together, the United States' education system will have an increasingly important role in preparing Americans for the challenges ahead, according to U.S. Secretary of State James A. Baker.

"Ours is an increasingly interdependent world, where developments beyond the borders of the United States affect the lives of American citizens," Baker wrote in a recent issue of the NASPP Bulletin, a monthly journal published by the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASPP).

"A well-informed citizenry will support an intelligent and forward-looking policy that advances American interests. American schools have an important role to play in preparing the next generation's leaders by educating students about the world's geography, foreign cultures and languages, and international issues."

Baker outlined recent international changes and predicted additional challenges in the 1990s, including recently-established democracies reverting to authoritarian governments, protectionist economies and rival trading blocks, the need for international co-operation to combat such dangers as drug trafficking, continued multilateral reduction of arms, and close co-operation with our allies.

"In meeting these challenges, the United States must rely on three basic principles: leadership, realism, and bipartisanship," wrote Baker. Having an educated citizenry is essential if the USA is to continue to be a world leader, according to the Secretary of State.

"To maintain our international competitiveness and enhance our productivity, the United States must pursue a number of domestic policies. One of these is improvement of the American educational system in order to enhance the skills of our citizens. Education and training embodied in United States workers account for an estimated three-quarters of the total United States stock of productive capital.

"American leadership in the world also depends on the knowledge of the world that American citizens have," he wrote. "We are entering a new 'age of information' in which institutions, technologies, and patterns of thought are changing. As America's destiny becomes more entwined with that of other nations, it becomes increasingly important for us to understand what is happening beyond our borders."

Baker urged principals and teachers to help students develop an appreciation of the principles of leadership, realism, and bipartisanship.

"The battles that you (as educators) fight every day against apathy, illiteracy, and drugs are just as important as the struggles in which diplomats are engaged," he concluded. "All of us have the opportunity to help fashion a better and safer future for our descendants and for people everywhere."

Resumes Sought for Volunteer Appointments to Mental Health Board

Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners will, on July 11, make two appointments of members to the Community Mental Health Advisory Board for three-year terms expiring Dec. 31, 1993.

One-page resumes should be addressed to Carol Hampton, County Administrator's Office, P. O. Box 8845, Ann Arbor 48107. Those resumes received by Friday, June 29, will be submitted to the Board of Commissioners for their consideration on July 11.

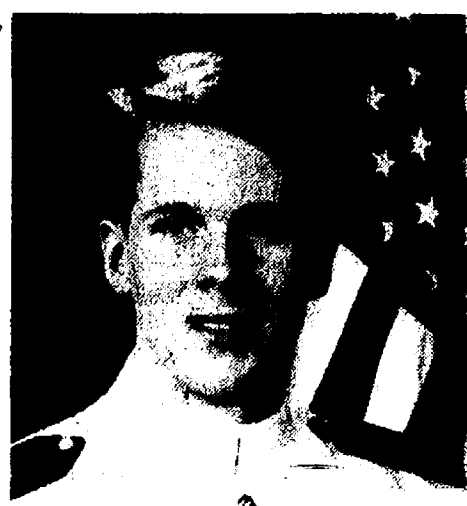

Midshipman Pletcher Returns To Buy U.S. Auto in Chelsea

U.S. Naval Academy midshipman first class Marcus B. Pletcher returned home to Chelsea in order to purchase a U.S.-made vehicle from a local dealer. Pletcher, who recently finished his third year at the Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md., shopped for vehicles in that area but found that he could get a better deal from Palmer Ford-Mercury right here in Chelsea.

Pletcher said he didn't give much thought to purchasing a foreign vehicle due to the patriotism instilled in him during his three years at the Naval Academy and by his father who was a navy commander. Also, he wanted to do what he could to help put the unemployed U.S. auto workers back to work.

Pletcher has been awarded the marksman and expert (the best) medals for proficiency in pistol firing, two Marine Corps marathon medals for running the grueling 26-mile marathon twice in Washington, D.C., silver wings for qualifying in parachuting from a fixed wing aircraft and is now parachuting from helicopters to qualify for his gold wings. He has had training on navy surface ships, submarines, aircraft, and with the marines at Quantico, Va.

He was scheduled for training in aircraft carrier take-offs and landings aboard the USS Constellation out of San Diego last summer, but the carrier caught fire shortly after leaving port. Pletcher, who had not previously received any training in fire fighting, volunteered to fight the fire. He was assigned to man a fire hose with several others. Due to the intense heat in one compartment, the lead man on the hose could only stay in that compartment 20 seconds before he had to rotate positions with the others manning the hose or his boots would become vulcanized to the deck. The fire was eventually extinguished but the ship had to cancel the aircraft training and return to port for repairs. From here Pletcher will report to

Midshipman Marcus B. Pletcher

Panama City, Fla., for scuba diving training, then back to the Naval Academy where he will serve as sub commander for the plebes (newly appointed midshipmen), then to Jacksonville, Fla., for training in carrier take-offs and landings.

He will then return to the Naval Academy for his final year of class work, and is looking forward to seeing Chelsea high classmate Sam Eisenbeiser, who will attend the U.S. Naval Academy this fall as an exchange student from the U.S. Coast Guard Academy.

Marc is the son of David W. and Valeta N. Pletcher of 991 Ridge Rd., Chelsea, a 1987 graduate of Chelsea High school, and a member of the Chelsea Christian Fellowship church.

Pets of the Week.

Pet of the Week is a weekly feature of this newspaper. Pets shown are available at the Humane Society of Huron Valley, 3100 Cherry Hill Rd., Ann Arbor.

• Cost of a pet is $26 plus a sterilization fee.

• Sterilization fees are $20 for a male cat, $30 for a female cat, $25 for a male dog under 40 pounds, and $35 for a female dog under 40 pounds.

• If you already have a pet, you must provide proof of current vaccinations.

• Landlord approval is necessary if you rent your residence.

• Pets can be adopted seven days a week from 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Visiting hours end at 5 p.m.

• For more information, contact the Humane Society of Huron Valley at 682-5585.

PETS OF THE WEEK are Speckles, a young male pointer, and Silas and L. A. Law, a pair of male cats. Speckles is a "very sweet" liver and white, young adult, short-hair dog, about 40 pounds. Silas is a neutered, domestic short-hair adult who was hit by a car. However, he was all fixed up by the humane society clinic. He is a large cat. L. A. Law is a domestic, medium long-hair adult, another large, former stray. He's been groomed by the humane society.

Retiring EMU Professor Ogden Is A Favorite Among Students

Eastern Michigan University's Dr. Russell Ogden, professor of business education, absolutely loves his students, and that's why he's retiring next month.

"It's going to kill me—leaving the students—because that's my life," said the 66-year-old Ogden, "but I had to ask myself two things: 'Am I here for the students or are they here for me? And am I giving them the right stuff?' I find that I just don't have the energy to give them anymore."

Ogden said he was taking a walk one day, "and I don't walk very often," when he added four to his 66 years and realized he was approaching 70. "I said, 'Oh my God!' because when I was a kid, 40 was old. I decided I wanted to be a teacher when I was 12 years old and I have never changed my mind, but it's time (to retire). When you teach 60 kids in a class, they pull the energy from you and you're exhausted."

It could be that Ogden gets more exhausted than some professors because he puts so much of himself into his teaching. When he leaves his last class in June, after 34 years at EMU, one of the student body's most well-liked professors will be stepping down. And, Ogden managed to become a favored professor while also gaining a reputation among students as a tough professor.

"I had one student who's still around and very active in the alumni who took me six times in accounting before he finally passed," Ogden said. "When I advised him I would say, 'For Lord's sake, take somebody else!' but he didn't want to."

While Ogden is a task master who expects hard work from his students, he said he also always tries to develop a close relationship with them so they'll remember college as a place where people cared about them. "If you're a student in my class, I'm concerned about you in totality. You're not just a face out there," he said. "I try to get my students to bare themselves a little bit and let me know what's going on in their lives because they may never have that chance again, to talk to people like that."

Early on in his career Ogden took the trials and tribulations of his students so seriously that he had a heart attack in 1964. "I worried about them and often times I took their problems home with me," he said. "I had the heart attack as a result of that and the pressure of working on my doctorate."

Ogden came to EMU in 1956 as an accounting professor and moved on to specialize in personal finance. He spent much of his classroom time, however, teaching students the social graces that would help them move comfortably in the professional world.

"At the University of Michigan, the people come from wealthier families by and large and have been taught manners or how to dress and they are much more socially polished than EMU kids," he said. "I'm very concerned about EMU kids because they have the same brain power as those students at U-M but many are the first generation in their families to go to college and they don't have those additional factors. I tried to teach them things like what to talk about when they meet a complete stranger in any social situation."

Ogden said his "social lessons" started out slowly, but began to take on a life of their own as students asked more and more questions. "Part of the (personal finance) course developed into helping students get that first job, then we moved on to the choices they would make with the money they earn. There is no personal finance if there isn't a job," Ogden said. "I started by talking about how to dress for a job interview, then I got into manners, then resumes. The subject matter of personal finance can be boring so I have to get the students into it emotionally."

One way he does that is by asking each of his students to do something during the semester that they have never done. For many of the students, that means attending the theater and Ogden hosts several trips each year to Detroit-area performances; for others, however, it could be a sporting event.

"If I have a strictly academically oriented student, I'll say, 'Why don't you go to a Pistons game?'" he said.

"It's the last thing some students would do and when they write me a report about it, I tell them I want to know how it felt in their hearts to be there."

Ogden's love of the theater is legendary and he claims it provides a vicarious thrill because what he'd really like to do is act, but he discovered early on that he can't memorize lines. "I'm really, really shy—extremely shy—and I once thought (acting in a play) would be interesting, but while I can lecture for hours in class, I can't remember specific words," he said.

For his students, however, Ogden believes the theater provides much more than entertainment. "It gives us a commonality for conversation, something to talk about," he said. "And the theater's one of the last places where you can express ideas. On the job that's getting more and more difficult because people take it as an affront. I tell my students to go to the theater because while they'll like some things and hate others, it will usually cause them to think and rubbing against different kinds of people socially helps you learn a great deal."

Thinking—about all sorts of things—is something Ogden demands of his students. Sometimes in the middle of a lecture, Ogden will stop, point to a student, and say, "Talk to me about anything but this class."

"Usually they say something about the weather and I say, 'Forget the weather, talk to me about something else.' It challenges them to express themselves," he said.

Challenging students, Ogden said, is the hallmark of good teaching. "I would hope that professors at EMU will hold exceptionally high standards for their students and attempt to get them to higher levels," he said. "If any professor moves a kid one notch as far as his career is concerned, I think that professor has performed a miracle. Even if it's one kid out of 100, it's a miracle."

Ogden admits that his unorthodox teaching methods sometimes caused him to clash with superiors, but his strong commitment to teaching was always evident so he stayed out of trouble.

"Teaching is the best profession in the world, above a doctor, above a dentist," he said. "It's corny I know, but teachers are people who have this urge to help people and that's very real. Interviewers make fun of it when students say they want to help people, but I think in the '90's that will become more important (in the job market). It's going to be a warmer world."

Ogden plans to spend his time in that world organizing theater trips and continuing the freelance writing he has done for several years. "I take people on trips to Toronto and Chicago, but my student market will disappear now," he said. "There are a lot of other people out there, though, who are just waiting for someone to arrange something for them."

An Ypsilanti resident, Ogden also contributes theater reviews and other pieces to the Jackson Citizen-Patriot, Chelsea Standard, Dexter Leader, Saline Reporter and occasionally the Ann Arbor News, and plans to start writing about the elderly for local publications.

DIABETES AND THE EYES

Diabetes is a very complex disease. In addition to the elevated blood sugar levels, diabetes can cause many other alterations in our body chemistry. There is also a tendency to accelerated "hardening of the arteries", a process which plugs blood vessels and leads to problems with heart, kidneys - and the eyes.

The occurrence and severity of diabetic eye complications varies greatly from patient to patient. One diabetic may have severe problems after only a few years, while the next may get by for many years without complications. After having diabetes for twenty years, about 75% of patients will have eye problems.

The eye complications are termed "diabetic retinopathy" because the problems occur in the retina, inside the eye. The blockage of small blood vessels in the retina causes hemorrhages and swelling of the retina, which blurs vision. In later stages, massive hemorrhages inside the eye may occur, and the retina can be pulled off by scar tissue, causing a blinding retinal detachment.

Before the introduction of laser therapy, little could be done about diabetic retinopathy. Now, most blindness can be prevented particularly if complications are recognized and treated early. Laser treatments "cauterize" the retina and dry up damaged, leaking blood vessels. Advanced cases may require vitreous or retina surgery. It is very important for all diabetics to have their eyes checked yearly, even if their vision seems normal, to detect diabetic retinopathy before it affects their vision.

THANK YOU

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the many, many acts of kindness, messages of sympathy, and the beautiful floral displays, and the Memorial gifts, from friends, relatives and neighbors, following the tragic loss of our loved ones. A special thanks to the Holmes family, and to the employees of the Chelsea Milling Co. for the wonderful tribute they paid to Evona. Special thanks to the Stockbridge Area Ambulance, and the para-medics Crews, to the Baptist church, the Legionettes, and the American Legion. Thanks to the Rev. Groty for her comforting words and the Rev. Jay Thibout for his part in the lovely funeral service. God Bless you all.

The Cobb and Prescott Families.

THANK YOU

I wish to express my "thanks" to all my friends and relatives who have shown so much care and concern during my accident and recovery. A special thanks to the Chelsea Fire Department rescue unit for their rapid response, the Chelsea Community Hospital emergency room staff, Dr. Krause, the Rev. Erwin Koch, Mission Club of St.
Paul's and the members of

MORTGAGE SALE—Default has been made in the terms and conditions of a certain mortgage made by MARK D. HOLLY and TERESA A. HOL-LY, his wife, Mortgagee, to Standard Federal Savings and Loan Association, n/a/a STANDARD FEDERAL BANK, a federal savings bank, Mortgagee, dated September 6, 1978, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Washtenaw and State of Michigan, on September 19, 1978, in Liber 1872, on Page 816, of Washtenaw County Records, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date hereof the sum of Fifty-Three Hundred Fifty-Three and 37/100 ($53,373.37)
Dollars;

And no suit or proceedings at law or in equity having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof. Now, therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute of the State of Michigan in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Thursday, July 12, 1990, at ten o'clock a.m., local time, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale at public auction to the highest bidder, at the West entrance to the Washtenaw County Building, in the City of Ann Arbor, Washtenaw County, Michigan, (that being the building where the Circuit Court for the County of Washtenaw is held) of the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due, as aforesaid, on said mortgage, with the interest thereon at ten percent five percent (10.25%) per annum and all legal costs, charges and expenses, including attorney fees allowed by law, and also any sum or sums which may be paid by the underlined, necessary to protect its interest in the premises,
which said premises are described as follows:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the Township of Augusta, in the County of Washtenaw, and State of Michigan, and described as follows:

Commencing at the Northwest corner of Section 11, Augusta Township, in the City of Ann Arbor, in the North line of the section for a place of beginning; thence South 383 feet; thence East 123.03 feet; thence North 383 feet; thence West 123.03 feet in the North line of the section to the place of beginning, being part of the Northwest 1/4 of Section 11, Town 4 South, Range 7 East, Augusta Township, Washtenaw County, Michigan.

During the six months immediately following the sale, the property may be redeemed except that in the event that the property is determined to be abandoned pursuant to MCL 560.603a, the property may be redeemed during the 30 days immediately following the sale.

SALE ON EXECUTION

THE PERKINS CORPORATION, et al. v. BETTY
G. DAVIS, et al. Case No. 88-38111-CK
PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that a Consent Judgment was entered in the above matter on May 22, 1990, wherein various liens were assigned to the judgment against the defendant, Betty G. Davis, for a total amount of $334,158.45, and adjudging each lien claimant to have a valid and proper construction lien in the amount of their respective claims against certain real property owned by Betty G. Davis which is described hereinafter.

It was further ordered that the above property shall be sold at public auction to satisfy the judgment amount.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT on July 19, 1990, at 10:00 o'clock a.m., the undersigned will immediately inside the West entrance to the County Building, in the City of Ann Arbor, Michigan, cause to be sold at public auction to the highest bidder the property hereinafter described to pay the amount awarded in the consent judgment and secured by the valid construction liens, and the costs and expenses of such sale. Said premises to be sold are situated in Ann Arbor, Washtenaw County, Michigan, and described as follows, to wit:

Commencing at an iron pipe marking the northeast corner of Section 11, T3S, R10E, Washtenaw County, Michigan; thence S88°33'00"W along the north line of said Section 11, 1326.89 feet for a PLACE OF BEGINNING; thence S00°00'00"E 635.18 feet; thence S88°33'00"W 104.33 feet; thence N09°21'00"E 859 feet to the place of beginning of Section 11; thence N88°33'00"E 18.15 feet to the Place of Beginning, being a parcel of land in the East 1/2 of the West 1/2 of the Northeast 1/4, Section 11, T3S, R10E, Township of Pittsfield (now City of Ann Arbor), Excepting and reserving from and above the west 33 feet to be used for highway purposes (Cherry Tree Lane). ALSO excepting the North 33 feet thereof (Packard Road Right of Way) containing 2.89 acres (Gross) and 1.73 acres (Net) of land more or less.

(Said premises may be redeemed until August 20, 1990, at 5:00 p.m. However, if the sheriff's sale and confirmation by the Court have not occurred prior to that time, then the period of redemption shall expire ten (10) days following said sheriff's sale and confirmation by the Court.)

Board
Notes

Present at a regular meeting of the Chelsea Board of Education Monday, June 11, were Comeau, Redding, Satterthwaite, Wales, Feeney, Cherem, Eisenbeiser, superintendent Piasecki, assistant superintendent Mills, principals Mead, Stielstra, Benedict, Wescott, assistant principal Rossi, community education director
Rogers, curriculum director Bissell, special education director DeYoung, athletic director Welton, guests.

Entered as official communications were (1) thank-you's from Kathy Arnett and Lois Moore for the retirement luncheon; (2) copy of a complimentary letter to curriculum director Laurie Bissell from North Central Association regarding her recent participation in the accreditation process; (3) letter from a fifth-grade student expressing unhappiness with the change in starting time of school; (4) letter from a high school student regarding the band's upcoming trip to Cedar Point; (5) thank-you letter from parents of four students who participated in Nancy Cooper's apartment-living project.

Beach school teacher Jim Hoff-meyer was present at the meeting, on behalf of the CEA and the buildings' parent support groups, to present "Earth" flags to each building. His prepared statement indicated that the flags symbolize survival on a planet that is threatened by many things, including ecological concerns, and he expressed the hope that the flags will serve to remind students and visitors of the importance of global cooperation.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO CHELSEA VILLAGE ZONING ORDINANCE

Notice is hereby given that the Chelsea Village Planning Commission will conduct a public hearing, as the statute in such case provides, for the amendment of the Chelsea Village Zoning Ordinance (Ordinance No. 79). The requested change would revise the zoning map from PUD in the area hereinafter described.

The area to be rezoned is Quiet Creek Condominiums Phase II, described on the attachment hereto:

The proposed amendment is to amend the Planned Unit Development designation granted in September 1988 for Quiet Creek Condominiums from attached single family units to detached single family units on a proposed site condominium.

No site plan has been filed and no site plan review will be undertaken at the public hearing.

QUIET CREEK CONDOMINIUMS - PHASE II

BARBARA BOYLAN LEWIS, a nurse and certified enterostomal therapist at Catherine McAuley Health Center, was recently one of six hospital employees to receive a Professional Achievement Award at the hospital's annual Employee Recognition Banquet June 5. The awards have been given annually since 1986 to honor employees who have made exceptional contributions to the health center. Lewis began her career as a staff nurse and three years later earned certification in enterostomal therapy. She began serving and educating inpatients and outpatients. She is an active member of the International Association of Enterostomal Therapists and the Ann Arbor Ostomy Association. Lewis, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Boylan of Chelsea, holds a bachelor's degree in nursing from Michigan State University and a master's degree from Eastern Michigan University. She also attended Roswell Park Memorial Institute School of Enterostomal Therapy. She and her husband, Steven, have two children, Joyce and Thomas.

ORDINANCE NO. 79-III

Amendment To Chelsea Village Zoning Ordinance No. 79 Amending 15.613 B. BANNERS

An ordinance to amend Chelsea Village Zoning Ordinance (Ordinance No. 79) as follows:

Section 1. Delete 15.613 B. Banners and add in its place and stead the following provisions:

15.613 B.1. BANNERS - SPECIAL EVENT BANNERS

Special Event Banners announcing any annual or semi-annual, charitable, educational or religious special event or function, shall be permitted in the Village along M-52 (North and South Main Streets) on designated lamp post hangers with the approval of the Village Zoning Inspector or the Village Administrative Services Coordinator.

An application (letter) shall be submitted to the Village a minimum of seven (7) days before the applicant wishes to display the banner(s). The letter shall include the name of the organization sponsoring the event; the event or function to be advertised; the nature of the special event or function to be advertised; the writing and/or printing that will be displayed on the banner(s); and finally the location(s) where the applicant intends to erect the banner(s). Attached to the application (letter) shall be a copy of a current certificate of liability insurance.

The Village Zoning Inspector of the Village Administrative Services Coordinator shall then review the application (letter) for completeness as well as the appropriateness and suitability of the banners.

Upon the approval of the Village of Chelsea Zoning Inspector or the Village Administrative Services Coordinator the special event banner(s) may be displayed up to fourteen (14) days prior to the event or function and shall be removed no more than seven (7) days after the conclusion of the same.

15.613 B.2. ADVERTISEMENTS/DISPLAYS COMMERCIAL/INDUSTRIAL DISTRICTS

Search lights, twirling signs, sandwich board signs, sidewalk or curb signs, balloons, or other gas filled figures are prohibited, except at the opening of a new business in a commercial or industrial district, for a period not to exceed fourteen (14) consecutive days.

Banners and pennant displays shall be permitted in commercial districts only to call attention to a sale or promotion. Said permitted display shall not exceed a period of thirty (30) consecutive days. No more than three (3) banners or pennant displays shall be permitted for any one business during a period of three hundred sixty-five (365) days.

Section 2. All other provisions of Ordinance No. 79 and any amendments thereto, be and the same are hereby reaffirmed and ratified.

Section 3. This amendment shall take effect twenty (20) days after passage and publication.

ROADSMART

Presented by Huron Valley Traffic Safety Committee

Q. What's the biggest problem with driving after drinking?

A. Alcohol affects your judgment, and you can't drive safely and you don't even know it! You need judgment to determine speed of your car and others; to determine distances; to determine passing times; to judge where to turn; and to know when to stop.

Gus Steger and Katherine Steger of Chelsea, and Mrs. R. A. (Susan) Johnson of Ann Arbor, attended the funeral service.

Irene I. Kent

805 W. Middle St.

Chelsea

Irene I. Kent, 805 W. Middle St., Chelsea, age 91, died Friday, June 15, 1990 at Chelsea United Methodist Home. She was born Aug. 18, 1898 in Chicago, Ill., the daughter of Charles N. and Emma (Walter) Schuler.

She married the Rev. Charles S. Kent in Chicago on Oct. 20, 1928 and he survives.

Mrs. Kent was a member of the First Presbyterian church of Ann Arbor where in 1940 she joined the staff and retired as senior secretary. She had also served Congregational churches, with her husband, in Maine and Michigan. They also served in interim ministries after retirement. She was a graduate of the University of Michigan class of 1928 and was affiliated with AM Chapter of the Sigma Kappa.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Robert (Rosemary) Glenn of Marquette and Mrs. William (Charlene Margaret) Thompson of Chicago; six grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Sunday, June 17, 2 p.m. at the Cole-Burghardt Funeral Chapel with the Rev. James Simmons officiating. Burial followed at Oak Grove Cemetery, Chelsea.

Memorial contributions may be made to Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home. Arrangements were handled by the Cole-Burghardt Funeral Chapel.

Mae P. Luick

Phoenix, Ariz.

Formerly of Chelsea

Mae P. Luick, 74, of Phoenix, Ariz., formerly of Chelsea, died Saturday, June 9, 1990.

She was born Aug. 7, 1915 in Chelsea, and lived here until 1969 when she moved to Arizona.

In 1941 she married Gerald Luick, and he preceded her in death in 1960.

Survivors include a daughter, Nancy Carr, of Downingtown, Pa.; a son, Kenneth, of Livonia; five grandchildren; and a brother, Harley Prudden, of Rochester Hills.

Mrs. Luick was a homemaker and was a former secretary for the Village of Chelsea Light and Water Department.

No funeral services were held.

The body constantly produces new cells for the purpose of growth and repair—about 500,000 daily.

ANN FEENEY, acting secretary of the Pierce Park Pavilion, displays one day's envelopes, checks and subscriptions for the Pavilion campaign.

Pavilion Contributions Near Half-Way Mark

Foundation work has begun on the Pierce Park Pavilion. At the same time, first results from the fund-raising campaign reflect a strong start. Saturday morning the envelopes were counted even though the contents had not been examined by the treasurer. The Saturday count brought the total number of subscriptions to 256. Since $10 is the minimum subscription, the total of public giving so far is estimated at more than $2,560.

The Pavilion Committee estimates that those who have not subscribed will contribute an equal amount or more during the campaign. This will not only take care of complete construction costs, it will provide for landscaping and other finishing touches.

By the time this issue of The Standard is published, names to go on the Pavilion Plaque will exceed 300. The number is expected to pass 600 and may reach more by the closing date July 18.

Contributions should be sent to Pierce Park Pavilion Fund, P.O. Box 94, Chelsea.

CHELSEA 1995, the recently formed futuring group for the village, was recently given a cash contribution by the Chelsea Civic Foundation, represented by Dr. David Swan, right. The group was organized to keep Chelsea thinking about the future and what direction it wants to take to remain vital. Left is consultant Barbara Rose, who is the beneficiary of the check. Center, from left, are Chelsea 1985 members Laurie Gravelyn, Neta Mills, and Lenore Matloff.

Hospital Emerges Unharmred in Dispute Between Dr. Papo, Bank

A dispute among Chelsea Community Hospital, Dr. Michael Papo, and First of America Bank-Ann Arbor over an 8.7 acre parcel of land has been settled with no monetary outlay by the hospital, according to hospital president Will Johnson.

The hospital recently found itself in the middle of a dispute between Papo and the bank as First of America attempted to collect $369,600 from Papo for the parcel when it called a mortgage due.

The parcel happens to contain the Kresge Substance Abuse Treatment Center and the Faith in Action building.

The problem came to light when the hospital attempted to purchase three clinic buildings, which are leased to the University of Michigan Family Practice Center.

Eventually the parcel appeared in a legal advertisement for a notice of foreclosure sale.

Johnson said, "I never realized how many people read foreclosure sale advertisements."

However, the sale never took place. Johnson negotiated directly with the bank and managed to get the matter resolved. The bank has since discharged the mortgage.

"The matter was resolved amicably," said Johnson, who declined to comment on the specifics of the negotiations.

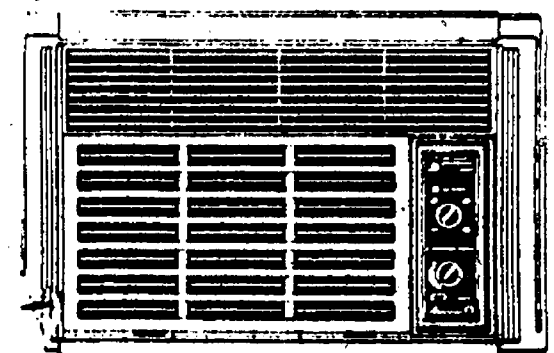

"It was just an unfortunate situation."

The hospital did manage to complete the purchase of the clinic buildings as well.
