FALL CAN'T BE FAR BEHIND when high school football starts. The varsity Chelsea Bulldogs began practice Monday at the high school, with the first few days devoted to conditioning. All varsity sports state-wide were officially allowed to begin practice this week.

Van Riper Wins, Pratt Ousted; Drolett, Smith Survive Recall Attempt

A long-time Chelsea-area farmer is likely to become the new Lima township supervisor, and the Dexter township supervisor and a trustee withstood a recall election in key results of last Tuesday's primary election.

Bill Van Riper easily out-distanced water scientist Wallace Fusilier in the Republican primary for supervisor in Lima township, 291-115. Unless someone mounts a substantial write-in campaign in November, Van Riper will be the new supervisor. About 31 percent of the township's electorate voted.

Dexter township supervisor James Drolett and trustee H. Douglas Smith also easily withstood a recall attempt. The vote was 663-351 against recalling Drolett and 649-357 against recalling Smith. Nearly 40 percent of the township's registered voters turned out.

The vote, while still lopsided, was substantially closer in precinct I, where voters voted 381-279 against Drolett's recall and 369-284 against Smith's recall. In precinct II the vote was 282-72 for Drolett and 280-73 for Smith. Precinct I covers the Portage Lake area.

The recall drive was linked to Drolett's and Smith's support for an $8 million sewer system for Portage Lake.

In another key election in western Washtenaw county, incumbent district I county commissioner Ellis Pratt of Manchester was defeated by Manchester-area potato farmer Michael DuRussel, 816-715.

DuRussel will face Democrat Marcia Hancock of Milan in the November general election.

Van Riper, a local dairy farmer whose family has farmed in the Chelsea area for generations, ran an aggressive campaign with signs and advertisements, while Fusilier's campaign primarily amounted to a mailing about property tax assessments.

Van Riper's life has been dedicated to farming and agricultural matters, which apparently more than suited voters in the predominately rural township. He has worked with the Washtenaw County, Farm Bureau, Farm Council, MABC, and has served in several superintendent positions with the Chelsea Community Fair. He was Outstanding Young Farmer in 1960 and won the Farm Manager of the Year award from Michigan State University in 1981. He's currently associated with the Southeastern Michigan Farm Focus Group and the Michigan State University Telford Study Group on computer interfacing.

Van Riper also served for 17 years on the township planning commission and was one time its chairman. He's now a member of the township's Board of Review.

For Fusilier, it marks the second time he has lost in a primary for supervisor.

Drolett and Smith had each been charged, among other things, with contempt toward the public and disregard toward the rights of township residents. However, Drolett and Smith and their supporters charged dirty politics and a vendetta by a few people opposed to the sewer.

Lima Changes Stance, Joins Other Townships In Landfill Dispute

What seemed like an almost insurmountable problem to the Lima township interim supervisor last week turned out not to be such a big deal after all.

Last week interim supervisor Carol Steffenson said Lima's change of supervisors, plus deadline problems, essentially forced the township to seek its own legal representation regarding a cost-sharing agreement for more than $700,000 in Chelsea village landfill expenses. As of Monday the township had no representation whatsoever.

However, less than 24 hours after her explanation at the township board meeting on Monday, Lima agreed to join Sylvan, Lyndon, and Dexter townships in joint legal representation. Steffenson presented Sylvan township supervisor Don Schoenberg with a copy of a signed agreement at Tuesday's village council meeting. Schoenberg said he was taken completely by surprise by the turn of events.

A letter from Schoenberg announcing Lima's decision to go alone was on the village council agenda. However, when the item came up, Schoenberg said the letter was no longer accurate and "as of 7:30 tonight we have a four-township agreement."

Under the original proposal by the village, the village would pay 40 percent of the expenses and the four townships would share the remaining 60 percent based on each township's use of the facility.

Chelsea Community Fair Opens Tuesday Featuring Events for Everyone

The 53rd annual Chelsea Community Fair, the largest community event of the year, opens next Tuesday, Aug. 21 and winds up Saturday, Aug. 25.

Between Tuesday and Saturday there are days and events designed to appeal to everyone.

The fair is the largest community fair in Michigan.

As usual, fair organizers have not tinkered much with a good thing. The traditional events will give the fair the same feel it has had in recent years.

Physically, however, there are two major changes. The Fair Service Center has been expanded to provide more seating in the dining room and more office space. In addition, a brand new pole barn has been constructed for the agricultural exhibits which in recent years have been in a tent near the Merchants Barn. The new barn was constructed near the Old Manchester Rd. gate and next to the Livestock Barn.

There are several minor changes as well. Bud Janich is providing the food for the fair center dining room, which will also be open for breakfast this year. Chelsea Community Hospital has handled the food operations in recent years.

The 1990 Fair Queen will, for the first time, receive a $500 scholarship provided by the fair board.

Although the fair officially opens on Tuesday, some exhibits may be entered as early as Sunday afternoon. Check the fair premium book for details.

A new act, Grampa Cratchet, will be strolling the fairgrounds with his free entertainment three or four times daily. He features slap-stick humor, ho-

1989 CHELSEA FAIR QUEEN Holly Koscielnik will be making many public appearances during fair week beginning next Tuesday. Her reign will end next Friday evening when a new queen will be chosen.

Tuesday Is for Kids, Demo Derby Fans at Community Fair

Children's Parade, Kids Day events, and the opening night of the Cavalcade of Thrills Demolition Derby highlight the opening of the Chelsea Community Fair next Tuesday.

The Children's Parade, traditionally considered the opening event of the fair, starts at 5:30 p.m. in the Municipal Parking Lot.

Superintendent Sam Vogel asks that parade participants arrive at the parking lot by 5 p.m. in order to be judged for their originality in decorating themselves, as well as their tricycles, bikes, wagons, and other vehicles. No horses or motorized vehicles are allowed.

The parade route runs from the parking lot to the fairgrounds.

First place in each age group will receive $5, second place $3, and third place $2. Age groups are 3-5, 6-8, 9-12, and mixed ages.

Following the parade, Kids Day events get underway in the Main Arena.

Chelsea Children's Co-op Nursery is sponsoring the Tricycle Pull. Children age 3-5 are welcome to participate. A ribbon and a ride ticket will be given to each participant.

Games for children will include a penny hunt for ages 4-5, an egg toss for children age 6-7, three-legged race for children age 8-10, and sack races for children age 4-10. Prizes will consist of midway ride tickets.

The Cavalcade of Thrills Demolition Derby begins at 7:30 p.m. in the main arena with three heats and feature, plus the Powder Puff heat for women.

Despite a problem finding enough drivers, as of press time the derby

Police Department To Get New Heating, Cooling System

The police department side of the village offices will get a new heating and cooling system for $4,935 this summer.

Council accepted the bid of Brian Koch Heating & Cooling of Chelsea for a gas furnace and four-ton air-conditioner.

was still scheduled to continue. It is annually one of the most popular events of the fair and early arrival is advised for spectators who want a seat.

Despite the name, the Powder Puff heat has some tough competitors who fare extremely well against the men in the feature.

The winner is the last car moving under its own power.

Any American-made hard top car or station wagon, except Chrysler Imperials, are allowed to compete.

A Jackson prison camp escapee was suspected of stealing at least two automobiles, one of them from a Chelsea dealership, as he made his way to Detroit. According to the Chelsea police, shortly after Kevin Bowles, 24, walked away from a Jackson prison camp, a 1975 AMC Pacer was reported as stolen. That car was later found outside the Faust-Morrow Buick, Olds and Chevy dealership on M-52. Also, police discovered that another car, a 1983 Delta 88, had been stolen from the dealership. According to police, the thief apparently used a junked engine cam shaft to break a window service area door to gain access to the garage where the car, with the keys in the ignition, was in the process of being serviced. Police said the thief apparently drove through a second closed garage door to leave the premises. Police said the auto was later found in Ann Arbor.

Two people were seriously injured in a collision on M-52 at Clark Lake Rd., just north of Chelsea on Aug. 16. Deputies Joe Marshall and Joseph McAllister of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department filed an accident report which indicated Loretta Clark was driving one of the automobiles involved in the collision, and Carol Bryson, a passenger in the second vehicle, were transported by Huron Valley Ambulance to Chelsea Community Hospital following the crash. The report related two vehicles were travelling northbound on M-52 when Loretta Clark had signalled a left turn into her driveway. The second vehicle driven by Alan Bryson of Mason, started to pass her, pulling into the oncoming lane. The Clark car pulled in sharply, and the driver, thrown left, attempted to activate the brake with her hand, but hit the accelerator instead—her vehicle powered into the ditch, came back on the road and struck the left rear of the other vehicle before it coasted back to the driveway.

A Chelsea policeman broke out a pick-up truck's vent window in order to save three cats who were in danger of dying of heat prostration. According to Chelsea police, Laura Cassell, of Ann Arbor, who was visiting Lane Animal Hospital on M-52, accidentally locked both her cats and keys in her car on Aug. 16, at a time when it was 80 degrees outside. After officer Michael Foster was unable to get the car open, a futile attempt was made to call a locksmith. That's when Cassell asked Foster to break the window. Although a little hot, the cats were in good shape when they were released, police said.

Units and procedures developed for response to a "Hazardous Substance Emergency Disaster" in Washtenaw county were put into operation at Pittsfield Township Hall. A simulated disaster was conducted with police, fire and emergency medical services personnel responding as they would to a real disaster situation. According to the disaster script, the following situation existed in the mock disaster: "At approximately 4:55 p.m. on Aug. 13, a tanker truck carrying about 6,000 gallons of a pesticide attempted to make a turn in the Pittsfield Township Hall parking lot. While the tanker was attempting the turn, a vehicle struck the tanker causing a minor rupture in the tank and subsequent leaking of material. The vehicle which struck the tanker ignited, also igniting the pesticide which leaked from the tanker. A meeting was in progress at the township hall with 90 people attending. The hall is directly adjacent to the parking lot. At the sound of the collision, a majority of individuals opened the door from the township hall to observe the incident. They were immediately overcome by fumes emitted by the burning pesticide. Of the group, a large percentage of victims appeared to be exhibiting severe respiratory distress."

An accident on the north side of the railroad crossing at Main St. in Chelsea on Aug. 9 resulted in what appeared to be a broken right ankle for Harlan Hughes of Stockbridge, a Con-Rail trackman working on the railroad tracks at the time. Police reports state Donal Leatherman of Jackson was backing a motor truck when the rear wheel hit a railroad tie, causing it to flip up and land on Hughes' ankle.

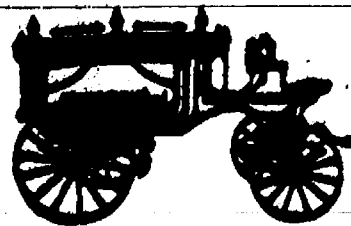

James M. Hanner of Detroit, was arrested by Chelsea Police on charges of carrying a concealed weapon and kidnapping following a truck driver's CB radio alert to police. According to police reports, McDougall received the trucker's CB call "requesting a Smoke" to look out for a drunk driver westbound on I-94 near the M-52 overpass. Approaching the vehicle McDougall asked the driver for his license and registration. While Hanner, the driver, fumbled for his license, a 13-year-old girl jumped out of the vehicle and ran back to McDougall's patrol car. She told police she had been abducted and assaulted in Detroit then taken to the

Senators Sue Governor
For Line-Item Vetoes

Republican Sens. Dan DeGrow of Port Huron and Harry Gast of St. Joseph are challenging Governor James J. Blanchard's line-item vetoes in the 1989-90 supplemental budget bill (HB 5278, PA 180). Calling the vetoes unconstitutional, they filed a lawsuit in Ingham County Circuit Court. Blanchard's vetoes included a $4 million reduction in the Youth Corps summer job program and $1.8 million cut by the Legislature for computers in the classroom. The governor touted these programs in his State of the State address and gubernatorial campaign.

The vetoes, for restoring funds, increased the cost of the supplemental by $5.8 million in general funds, to $29.7 million. Calling it a "separation of powers" issue, Senate Appropriations Committee Chair Gast said, "Are we the body that appropriates or is the governor?" DeGrow said "The point of this lawsuit is to find out if the governor has the right to increase spending with line-item vetoes."

Senate Republicans expressed concern that the computer purchases would be used for campaign advantages by the governor against opponent Senate Majority Leader John Engler (R-Mt. Pleasant). A House-Senate agreement had left just $200,000 for the computers in the classroom program and prohibited release of grants until after Nov. 15. The governor vetoed language in the 1990 budget postponing grant release for computers.

The governor's aides rejected arguments the vetoes illegally increased spending, saying they only restored original budget levels. Blanchard Assistant Chief of Staff Bill Kandler contends the governor did not increase spending by vetoing reductions in appropriations approved by the governor and Legislature in the 1989-90 budget. "The legal issues are purely subterfuge," Kandler said. "We've got two senators who are concerned a very good program (computers) will give the governor some credit."

According to Senate Majority Counsel Lucille Taylor, who is representing the senators, Michigan courts have not addressed line-item vetoes of a "negative appropriation" nor has there been a formal Attorney General's opinion. Other states have set precedent favoring cases similar to theirs.

Attorney General officials have informally said a veto of a negative supplemental is consistent with constitutional provisions authorizing the governor to "disapprove any distinct item or items appropriating monies."

Recreation Bond Fund Produces $14 Million for Local Agencies
More than $14 million in grants from the Recreation Bond Fund — created by voters in 1988 — will go to local park and recreation agencies to fund some 138 separate projects this year.

According to the Department of Natural Resources, approving a second year of funding will make $14.45 million available to 138 cities, villages, townships, counties and other units of government for development projects. Natural Resources Director David Hales said the grants address urban parks, which are in dire need of rejuvenation and restoration.

The 1990 projects approved include community centers, ballfields, fishing piers, environmental education facilities, tennis and basketball courts and renovation to existing park structures. There are 17 of these projects located in the Upper Peninsula, 18 in the upper Lower Peninsula and 94 in the southern Lower Peninsula. Six regional parks and three former industrial sites were also funded under the program.

Office Established To Co-Ordinate Nursing Home Enforcement
The Department of Public Health is establishing a special Office of Nursing Home Compliance. Director Raj M. Wiener said the centralized office will co-ordinate all nursing home enforcement activity. While it is still in the process of being established, operation is expected to be completed before the end of the summer.

Wiener said the office will be responsible for the development and co-ordination of all nursing home compliance actions, licensure, civil fines, correction notices and certification actions under both Medicaid and Medicare. The office also will house a special field survey team to back up regular survey teams in complex enforcement cases. This move allows the department to concentrate on major violators without jeopardizing patient protection activities.

The announcement follows recent news accounts criticizing the state's nursing home system that includes some 450 homes and over 80,000 patients. Previously Wiener placed an immediate ban on admissions to nursing homes where there has been reported abuse, neglect or criminal activity.

Wiener has requested Attorney General Kelley dedicate two additional full-time attorneys to nursing home enforcement cases with funding coming from the state health department. The health department director said the goal of the office will be to assure that effective state and federal guidelines are developed and put into action in a timely and consistent manner.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Change was the big item on the agenda during the session at the country store Saturday night. Ed Doolittle came with a clipping where a new kind of cooking out is catching on, and the fellers took the bait and run.

Ed had saw where links are fast being added to a chain of 30 restaurants that leave the cooking to the customers. The Melting Pots don't have kitchens or chefs, but ever table has a stove built in a tile top, Ed reported. Diners shop for groceries from a menu, their waiter brings the makings of the meal to the table, they cook it and eat it. From what he read, Ed said, the only change over eating at home is that the customers don't have to wash the dishes.

Bug Hookum said he'd take a pass on The Melting Pot and save the gas, and he was giving canned ice coffee a thumbs down for the simple reason that God made coffee to be drunk hot in a cup. Bug had saw where surveys tell coffee companies that young folks drink soda pop all time of day and they ain't getting hooked on their morning coffee. So the coffee market experts are trying to win em over with drinks they're use to, cold in a can.

For a yes to change, Bug Hookum took note of what is being called tender politics in Georgia. He had saw where Earl O'Neal is running for the state legislature in Rockdale County. He recent took out a ad and took up all the space bragging about his old lady. It use to be said in politics that you can't build yourself up by tearing the other feller down, but Bug noted that advice went by the boards long since. Maybe we're coming to a time when men and wimmen candidates can campaign by showing they had the good sense to pick great mates, was Bug's words.

Another entry on the plus side come from Zeke Grubb's word that he final had found his kind of music. He had read where sacred harp choruses are springing up all over the country. This singing that goes back to the early 19th century is based on the democratic idea that everybody can sing. It's like checkers, Zeke explained. The game is so simple everybody can play, and it's so complicated nobody can master it. The happy result, Zeke said, is that sacred harpers git together and sing as long, as loud as their hearts desire, and never mind such trifles as keys, parts and harmony.

Actual, Clem Webster allowed, if sacred harp is 150 year old it sounds like recycled singing to him. But Clem voted for Zeke's music on democratic grounds. He said when the Good Book says make a joyful noise unto the Lord he takes that to mean everybody, and he's never let niceties like notes stand in the way of his version of any hymn.

As for recycled change, Clem reported that the rain barrel has been reinvented on the Florida West Coast, where the ground water table is dropping. He had saw a item where a young feller there, Matt Spriggs, figured out if you catch water coming down you don't have to pump it up, and rain you don't catch goes into ditches and storm drains.

So Spriggs built himself a wooden rain barrel to water his yard and garden. Then he built barrels for his neighbors and one barrel led to another. Now he's setting up a plant to make em for everybody that wants one $189 worth.

With recycling, reinventing and dwindling oil, Clem declared, don't be suprised if the buggy whip factory makes a comeback.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

ALL SEASON COMFORT BUILDING on W. Middle St. apparently has a good chance of becoming the next home for handicap access to the building would be completed. the Chelsea Secretary of State office. Village council

Village Makes Guarantees To Secretary of State

The village took action last week that it hopes will keep the Secretary of State office downtown, although not in the same building.

All Season Comfort owner Tom Bowling has offered to lease his W. Middle St. building.

However, the state needs a guarantee that the building can be made handicap accessible. And that's where the village comes in.

Village council voted last Tuesday to provide that guarantee. However, council is not expecting to foot any bills for the project. The indication last Tuesday was that the Downtown Development Authority would pay for any improvements in the public right of way to meet accessibility standards.

Village manager Robert Stalker said the accessibility issue appeared to be the major hurdle to keeping the office downtown. The office draws people from all over the area and is seen as a key to keeping downtown businesses vital.

Other details about renovation of the building were also being discussed between Bowling and the state. However, DDA chairman Sheridan Springer said it was likely those issues could be resolved.

Adequate parking, however, apparently isn't a major concern as there is a parking lot across the street next to Harper Pontiac.

The first federal legislation requiring administrators of health and pension funds to file financial reports annually to the Secretary of Labor was the Welfare and Pension Plans Disclosure Act passed in 1958, according to "Labor Firsts in America," a U.S. Labor Department publication.

Weight Loss Pill 'Baffles' Scientists

WASHINGTON—Scientists are baffled by a new weight loss formula that causes people to lose weight even though they don't change the way they normally eat.

Studies published in respected scientific journals such as The British Journal of Nutrition say that cymopolis tetragonolobus, an ingredient often used to thicken ice cream, can cause permanent weight loss without dieting or exercise. Although several explanations for the weight loss are suggested, the most likely according to scientists, is that the ingredient seems to "trap" high calorie fat particles, decreasing their absorption in the intestines.

Scientists at National Dietary Research, an organization committed to the research and development of nutritional solutions to world-wide health problems, have successfully isolated and incorporated cymopolis tetragonolobus into an improved formula that greatly enhances the potential for weight loss over the ingredient alone. Called Food Source One, the revolutionary new formula provides a three-way scientifically designed process to help prevent calorie absorption.

The mechanism by which Food Source One works to decrease body weight is a complicated process called nutri-bonding. When chewed and swallowed immediately before meals, high calorie fats are replaced with lower calorie nutrients, thereby providing optimum nutrition and a minimum number of fat calories as explained in an instruction sheet that accompanies the tablets. The instruction sheet should be followed for optimum results.

Food Source One is unlike any other product on the market and is available immediately because it is not a drug and only contains natural ingredients already known to be safe. Physicians and pharmacists are praising Food Source One as a natural, drug free alternative for the treatment of obesity.

JULIE WARREN

Julie Warren Attends Journalism Workshop At Ball State U.

Julie Warren of Old U.S.-12 in Chelsea, who will be a senior at Chelsea High school this fall, attended a two week journalism workshop in July at Ball State University campus in Muncie, Ind. All the students were housed in Schmidt Hall dormitory.

This was the 25th year that Journalism Workshops have been held for junior and senior high school students from across the country who have been working on their school newspapers and school yearbooks.

Approximately 300 students attend each of the four one-week sessions. Julie attended the computer design session and the yearbook editor session.

Classes were held in morning, afternoon, and evening sessions with projects due throughout the week. Ideas were shared by students who bring their previous year's publications, photographs, and yearbooks with them.

Recreation included swimming, running in relay races, volleyball, euchre, talent shows, and dances.

Julie's tuition was partially sponsored by Chelsea High school whose yearbook advisor is Phil Jones.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,

I am writing this article in hope that the citizens of the Village of Chelsea will fully realize how free they are.

My name is Betty Navin and I have been a resident of the Village of Chelsea for 40 years.

To the best of our knowledge Mr. Navin and I have been law-abiding citizens.

I am sure that the present council and councils in the past can attest to the fact that we have attended very few council meetings.

As of Aug. 20, 1990 the Village of Chelsea (for whatever their reasons are) have given carte blanche to one individual to bypass any and all of their laws concerning where we live and as to zoning that provides the type of operation in an area zoned RS2, Residential.

Mr. Navin and I have tried for 32 years to get along with Mr. French. None the less he has continued from July 1987 until this date to make our life absolutely miserable.

Many council (members of past councils) and the present council as well as the village attorney Peter Flintoft can explain to the taxpayers why they have continued to spend taxpayer's money in order to protect one individual.

We exhausted every avenue open to us before going into court over this issue.

Let me ask anyone, would you live with your property under constant surveillance by camera and lights that cover most of your property? Would you tolerate your life being endangered, along with small children age 6 mos. and up who are unable to understand the danger they are in.

Yet this individual has driven a large tractor on the back lot onto our and plotted property without warning. Police would simply state "We can't do anything except ask Mr. French to act responsible with the tractor."

Might I note to the Police Dept., there are laws that protect children. You choose not to enforce this.

To our zoning inspector, Mrs. R. Harook, it is my opinion that Mrs. Harook is very incompetent in her job.

Mr. French was allowed to install a chain link fence 6 ft. and over. This part extended into the front yard. Mrs. Harook testified she made a mistake when she called this a fence.

We have proved that this fence is on our property by survey — cost $1,050. I clearly pointed this out to Mrs. Harook and to Mr. Flintoft.

I attended council meeting on two occasions and was told that I had wasted their time by coming there. We have a tape of council meeting, also deposition of Mr. French. We had three people here — Mrs. Harook, Mrs. S. Kanten and Chief of Police L. McDougall.

Never once did council ask to see proof of what I was saying was the truth.

Mr. Flintoft is arguing that decorative fence in Mr. French's front yard is not a fence.

We have proven everything that was stated from beginning. Yet the village and attorney Peter Flintoft continue to drag this out.

In my opinion they are still saying the same as council did (you do not count).

We have already spent $30,000 in attorney fees and at this point it is still the same as in the beginning.

So as citizens of the Village of Chelsea you should realize that six people rule you — whether they go by laws that are clearly written or as they choose them to be.

Mrs. Harook's qualifications as zoning inspector are that she cleaned for lumber company and operated the cash register. Since that time Mrs. Harook has had two seminars in zoning. Maybe Mrs. Harook should be informed of the meaning of the word "Civil Right."

Might I also point out there is a great difference between a government by the people and government by political dictatorship.

To Council — "Why are people treated with such disrespect when they appear before you"? People that elect to serve on council are sworn to uphold the written laws and to protect the citizens of our village.

In my dealing with council I was met with an arrogant attitude by some. Unwanted by others, (including Mrs. Harook) if I did not like their decision I could sue them.

I would like to know how much it has cost taxpayers in unnecessary lawsuits.

I don't think I have to point out the crisis our village is in.

Progress is fine — but with that goes responsibility and it will take qualified people to fill positions in village.

What I have come to learn over the past three years is mayor (past) and council is completely out of touch with the electorate.

My final question is maybe somewhere someone can answer the question when you have a problem and you go to every official in our village for help and in turn have the door slammed in your face, where do you go then?

We did all of the above before ever going on with a law suit.

Maybe my congressman or state rep. can answer me.

At this point and time trial will be held in Chelsea before Judge Bronson. I have complete proof that everything that we have said is true.

That seems to play a very small part when dealing with all parties.

I hope that anyone that reads this will realize you are in our opinion a captive society. One because we have all chosen I suppose to relinquish our freedom.

Be aware if and when you do protest in order to preserve your rights, be prepared to pay a dear price.

Maybe sometime someone will inform Mr. Navin and me what we did to start this entire matter.

Betty Navin.

To the Editor,

My, My. Bug Hookum defendin' (well sort-a) Maplethorpe's right to produce an' our choice of lookin' or not lookin' (Chelsea Standard - Uncle Lew from Lima Says: Aug. 8, 1990). Talk about that there Berlin Wall comin' down. Mercy! Right here in River City folks, we got more'n just pretty faces. Thank you Uncle Lew, an' ya'll keep up the good work, ya' hear.

Thomas J. Zieziul.

To the Editor:

Because I could not attend the meeting in the council chambers on the evening of Aug. 7, pertaining to the limousine business on Flanders St., I find it necessary to comment on that meeting. I understand the attorney representing the limousine business read my name from a list of names supporting the business. He had no authorization to do that. My position is that the limousine business or any other business in a residential area must conform to the village ordinance. Being a resident of this area for 30 years, I have found it to be a very nice place to live under the present ordinance as written.

Arthur Schiller.

QUOTES

DONALD A. COLE, Director

"It cannot be denied that outward accidents conduce much fortune, but chiefly the mold of a man's fortune is in his hands . . ."

—Francis Bacon

We like to attribute our own successes to our skill and hard work while the achievements of others are apt to be called lucky breaks. Bacon, a contemporary of Shakespeare, put the matter into better perspective. Accidents or lucky breaks certainly play a part in our lives, he said, but for the most part we make our own fortune.

Some successful men say that they make their own lucky breaks but this is the same thing as working hard and being prepared to take advantage of such luck as fate may send us.

You can be sure your wishes are carried out when you take advantage of our pre-need arrangement plan. Let our trained counselors explain the details and advantages.

Village Votes to Participate In Area Planning Commission

Village of Chelsea has become the first area governmental unit to formally embrace the concept of creating an area planning commission in western Washtenaw county to create an area master plan.

Village council passed a resolution supporting the idea proposed by village planning commission co-chair Bill Bott.

The next step will be to have similar motions passed by Sylvan, Lima, Lyndon, and Dexter townships, the other areas that have been targeted to have representation. The western half of Dexter township would be the portion included. Bott wrote that under state law it is not required for all four townships to formally participate in order to create a regional planning commission under Act 281. However, he said he has informally approached all the townships and they all seem to be in favor of the idea.

The village, as well as several of the townships, have discussed updating their general development plans, and their zoning ordinances. Bott essentially wants the governmental units to work together so that growth can be managed on a regional basis as well as providing the necessary "infrastructure" for that growth.

"Up to now, the stakes haven't been high enough for a developer to challenge local zoning laws in western Washtenaw county," Bott wrote in his proposal.

"But large parcels of land under single ownership and available for sale will raise this ante." He said more people are becoming aware that Chelsea to Ann Arbor is only a 20 minute trip.

Bott cited a case in which a developer successfully challenged a zoning ordinance because it was based on an outdated master plan.

Bott said the master plan is only the first step as each participating government must update its zoning ordinance and land use policies to reflect the plan's goals.

The plan, he wrote, could take about 18 months to complete and cost from $30,000 to $50,000, which would be divided among the participating units over two fiscal years. Much of the money would be used for professional consulting fees.

A survey of 8,121 workers in Oregon, conducted by Portland State University, found that the fathers and mothers whose children cared for themselves were the workers most affected on the job by missed days, lateness, interruptions, and early departures, according to the U. S. Labor Department. In fact, the highest absenteeism rate for all employees was for men whose children were in self-care.

BEHIND THE HEADLINES:

Why We Are Losing The Trade War

By Philip C. Clarke

Some curious trade statistics showed up in Washington the other day. In a 12-month period ending last March 31, a total of 9.5 million square meters of wearing apparel entered the United States from Kuwait, Oman, Bahrain and Qatar.

What's unusual is that none of the four Persian Gulf countries has any apparel industries. Obviously, Kuwait, Oman, Bahrain and Qatar were used to trans-ship textile goods manufactured in other countries to get around U.S. import controls—controls that many critics resemble a sieve.

The statistics on the Persian Gulf wearing-apparel caper were revealed at a June hearing in Washington by Republican Senator Jesse Helms of North Carolina, a strong defender of the U.S. textile industry against unfair foreign competition.

The Senator is raising new questions about U.S. foreign policy, as well. Why, Helms asked at the hearing, is the Bush administration allowing Chinese textile imports to flood into this country when, he says, some of these goods are being produced in the communist regime's prisons and slave labor camps? Stephen Mosher, an Asian studies expert at California's Claremont Institute, testified that some 3,000 of these forced-labor facilities produced more than $800 million worth of goods for export in 1988 alone.

The administration, for its part, defends its go-easy approach toward Beijing, despite the June, 1989, massacre in Tiananmen Square and the regime's continuing harsh repression. While deploring Beijing's violation of human rights, the White House has supported China's "most favored nation" status, which lowers tariffs and other restrictions on Chinese imports. U.S. policy toward Beijing, said Richard Solomon, who heads the State Department's East Asian and Pacific desk, "seeks to encourage reform and human rights through a considered mix of engagement and sanction."

So far, however, the administration's "mixed" policy has failed to mollify China's aging, hardline rulers. And the policy has come under heated attack in Congress and elsewhere. As the Greensboro, North Carolina, News & Record's David Miltenberg suggests: "Doesn't the thought of indentured Chinese competing with (U.S.) textile workers—or any workers for that matter—send shivers up your spine? Isn't that a moral sell-out?" In Senator Helms' words, "There are many evil regimes in this world today, but none more deserves to be overthrown by its people than the one in Beijing."

China, of course, is not the only country to take advantage of lax U.S. import controls. For example, even though Japanese auto makers now produce more than a million cars and trucks a year in the U.S., most of the parts of these vehicles still come from Japanese manufacturers. And although Japan's auto makers have repeatedly promised to buy U.S.-made parts, they are still dragging their feet.

Another problem is the so-called "dumping" of foreign-made goods in the U.S. This is the practice by which imports are sold to American consumers at prices lower than they sell for in their home markets. As noted by Williams Gill, president of the American Coalition for Competitive Trade, or ACCT, this practice is illegal under U.S. trade law.

Limousine Service, Car Washes Lose at Tuesday Council Meeting

It was a big night for zoning matters last Tuesday as village council, also known as the zoning board of appeals on some matters, ruled on cases involving a limousine service, two car washes, and a piece of land for two proposed homes that has no street frontage.

Much of the standing-room-only crowd in the council chambers came to discuss Royalty Limousine Service of 747 Flanders St., which the zoning board ruled is in violation of the home occupation definition in the zoning ordinance.

Gene Haab, owner of the business, lives in the Flanders St. home.

However, three drivers employed by the company are not "inhabitants" of the home and that was the source of the violation, the board ruled. Zoning ordinance allows home occupations with several conditions, one of them being that no one outside the home works for the business.

The business came to the attention of zoning inspector Rosemary Harook after neighbor Bud Hankerd complained of late-night noise caused by drivers dropping off the cars, getting into their own cars, and driving away. Other neighbors supported the complaints, saying they wanted the residential nature of the area preserved.

However, the owners had many people speak on their behalf, including individuals and businesses who use the service. In addition, an attorney for Haab discussed previous court cases, and trends in home businesses, especially as they related to limousine services. Someone even mentioned that village president Richard Steele had used the service for his daughter's wedding.

Harook said after the meeting that Haab could apply for a variance, but wouldn't guess whether the attempt would be successful.

In the battle of the automated car washes, the zoning board refused to grant a variance for one proposed operation next to Chelsea Big Boy and refused to rule on a zoning text amendment for another proposed next to Parts Peddler.

Daniel Hagen of Grass Lake petitioned for a 20-foot variance from the 100-foot frontage requirement to build a car wash next to Big Boy.

The strip of land, which leads to a larger parcel in the back, was originally approved as a driveway for the now-defunct Arbogate Motel. The variance would have allowed the car wash to be built in the strip close to M-52.

In the other car wash business, council refused a text amendment to allow a car wash in a C-4 district. They are now allowed in C-3.

The business, proposed by Dick Kolander, would have put an automatic car wash next to Parts Peddler at the former business address of Charles Wilson & Associates. A business representative argued that a car wash, the self-serve next to Chelsea Lanes, is already in the district. However, that business predated zoning.

Chelsea Village Planning Commission had already recommended against the request.

Finally, in a complex case, the board granted a variance to former village president Jerry Satterthwaite to allow the construction of two homes off McKinley St. on a 1.5 acre parcel owned by Satterthwaite.

However, the only access to the property is what was referred to as the "North St. extension," which is bordered by residences owned by Joan Hoffmeyer and Don Piersoh.

The variance was granted because Satterthwaite does not have the necessary frontage on a public or private road. However, it was granted contingent upon Satterthwaite being able to work out legal access to the property.

An attorney for Hoffmeyer said the North St. extension legally belongs to the adjoining property owners because the village failed to dedicate it within a reasonable time, in this case 135 years.

Jim Hoffmeyer said his residence would not meet setback requirements if Satterthwaite is allowed to build a driveway or road through to the property. That could cause problems should Hoffmeyer ever try to sell the property. Consequently, council included a provision in the variance that Hoffmeyer would automatically be given a variance should the access be constructed.

Library To Seek Another One Mill

McKune Memorial Library plans to ask voters to approve an additional one mill in operating millage in the village March elections.

If approved, the two-mill library levy would be the largest allowed by law.

In a letter to village council, library board president Anne Belser said the millage would be used for book purchases, salaries as the staff grows, building repairs, and building expansion.

She said book prices have increased while library funds for purchasing books have been used for other essential demands. She said increased use of the library has put a severe strain on the staff and that an addition will soon become a necessity. She also said the library building is old and is in need of many repairs.

Top Readers Earn Prizes

McKune Memorial Library's Summer Reading Program drew 299 area children. A total of 5,997 juvenile books were checked out in the six-week program.

One hundred ninety children were challenged to read 15 books through the summer and they were awarded "super reader" pencils and sundae donated along the way by McDonald's restaurant. Eighty of the 111 children who read 15 books took part in a bowling party at Chelsea Lanes last Thursday, Aug. 9.

Sixty children won paperback books in the weekly drawings held at the library.

In addition, 109 pre-school children read in the "Batches of Books" Read-to-Me program. They were awarded bookmarks and sundae from McDonald's. Ming The Magnificent performed at the library for the children who completed the program. "The children made this one of the best summer reading programs we've ever had," said librarian Shelley Weber.

Children from households whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free and reduced-price meals or free milk.

Application forms are being sent to all homes with a letter to parents or guardians. To apply for free or reduced-priced meals, households should fill out the form and return it to the school. Additional copies of the application form are available at the principal's office in each school. Households should answer all questions on the form. An application which does not contain all of the following information cannot be processed by the school: (1) the total household income AND the amount and source of income received by each household member (such as wages, child support, etc.) OR the household's food stamp case or AFDC number if the household is on food stamps or receives AFDC; (2) names of all household members; (3) social security numbers of all household members 21 years of age or older, or the word "none" for any adult household member who does not have a social security number; and (4) the signature of an adult household member.

FOOD STAMPS/AFDC HOUSEHOLDS: If you currently receive Food Stamps or "Aid to Families with Dependent Children" (AFDC) for your child, you only have to list your child's name and Food Stamp or AFDC case number, print your name and sign the application.

The information provided by the household is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility and verifying data. Application may be verified by the school or other officials at any time during the school year.

If children are approved for free or reduced-price meal or free milk benefits, the household must report to the school increases in household income over $50 per month ($600 per year) and decreases in household size.

Households may apply for benefits at any time during the school year. If a household is not currently eligible but has a decrease in household income, an increase in household size or if a household member becomes unemployed, the household should fill out an application at that time.

In most cases foster children are eligible for these benefits regardless of the household's income. If a household has foster children living with them and they wish to apply for free or reduced-price meals or milk for them, the household should contact the school for more information.

Under the provisions of the policy the building principal will review applications and determine eligibility.

Parents or guardians dissatisfied with the ruling of the official may wish to discuss the decision with the determining official on an informal basis. The household also has the right to a fair hearing. This can be done by calling or writing the following official: Fred A. Mills, Assistant Superintendent, Chelsea School District, E. Washington St., Chelsea, Michigan 48118, Ph. (313) 475-9131. Each school and the Central Office have a copy of the complete policy, which may be reviewed by any interested party.

In the operation of the child feeding programs no child will be discriminated against on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, sex, or handicap. If any member of a household believes they have been discriminated against, they should write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Fire Damages McKinley Rd. Home Aug. 6

A fire of undetermined cause gutted the upstairs of a house on McKinley Rd. last Monday, Aug. 6.

Twenty firefighters were on the scene and prevented the fire from burning the roof off.

"They did a good job putting that one out," Harker said.

There were no injuries in the blaze, which was reported by a neighbor.

Damage was estimated at $45,000, Harker said.

School Board Notes

Present at a regular meeting of the Chelsea Board of Education Monday, Aug. 6, were Satterthwaite, McCalla, Eisenbeiser, Feeney, Diesing, Redding, superintendent Piasecki, principals Mead and Benedict, assistant principal Rossi, curriculum director Bissell, community education director Rogers, guests.

Meeting called to order at 8:00 p.m. by vice-president Satterthwaite.

Board approved the minutes of the July 16 meeting.

Entered as official communications were (1) newsletter update on Project Outreach personnel, (2) Hospital Newsbreak newsletter wherein mention was made of the Chelsea Community Hospital/Chelsea School District partnership (Employee Assistance Program), and (3) letter of request for consideration of soccer as a future sport in the Chelsea schools.

Board members had received the final written evaluation of the inclusive education project at North school. The evaluator will be present at the Aug. 20 meeting to answer questions of board members and interested audience participants.

Principal Mead reviewed with the board a proposed philosophy statement for the upcoming Student Assistance Program, and proposed policies dealing with substance abuse. Mead also reviewed student handbook revisions/additions which were developed by a committee composed of parents, students and faculty members. All of these issues will be action items at the Aug. 20 meeting.

In action items, the board:

1. appointed Theresa Moore to a 3/4-time teaching position at South school (kindergarten/Young Fives),
2. approved the contracting of services of Osteopathic Surgery Associates to meet the training needs for the 1990-91 school year,
3. approved a change in the 1990-91 and 1991-92 school calendars,

Chelsea area. "He has a gun," the report quoted the girl as whispering to McDougall. McDougall called for help from Washtenaw County Sheriff's Police and returned to the stopped vehicle to investigate the girl's report that Hanner was concealing a gun. Following the girl's instructions, McDougall found the revolver under a seat cushion. The weapon was not registered.

Because of a break-in at the Scio township offices on Aug. 12 when burglars rifled files and desks and attempted to break into the vault, the regular board meeting was changed. The thieves couldn't get into the fireproof vault, but did a good job in damaging the door. Only records are stored in the vault, and no money is ever kept there, notes an official.

Thursday, Aug. 18, 1966—Mike Funderburgh, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Funderburgh of Chelsea, had been selected to play the trumpet in the Honors Band at the Michigan State Fair. The selection was based upon auditions in an attempt to obtain the finest high school musicians in Michigan.

The Portage Lake (Huron River)

lake level control dam, located just off McGregor Rd., in Dexter township, was dedicated Aug. 28. The dam, financed by a local special assessment district, was the largest lake level control dam built in the State of Michigan. This unique dam consisted of five under-flow control gates and a boat lock. The lock allowed the passage of boats up to eight feet in width, and was manually operated by the boat operator.

The U.S. Air Force was organizing a new approach to investigations of reports of unidentified flying objects, according to a news story appearing in The New York Times. The story commented that the new approach was "in obvious response to public disquiet regarding recent 'flying saucer' reports." The explanation that sightings near Dexter and Hillsdale were "swamp gas" touched off a storm of controversy throughout the area.

Myron C. Clark in Lyndon township, reported that an intake manifold and a four-barrel carburetor valued at $65 were taken from his garage over the week-end, according to the Washtenaw County Sheriff's office. Prowlers attempting to enter property owned by Frank Zwingman at Portage Lake over the week-end were apparently frightened off when a burglar alarm sounded. The prowlers had cut through a screen and glass door and the alarm sounded when they opened the inner door.

Wednesday, Jan. 1, 1956—Franklin J. Shepherd, an Ypsilanti attorney, defeated Mrs. Alice F. Filie for the Democratic nomination as U.S. representative from the Second Congressional District, after it had appeared that Mrs. Filie was the successful candidate in the Aug. 7 primary. Mrs. Filie had 1,903 votes in Shepherd's 1,615 in Washtenaw county but lost by 433 votes when the returns came in from Jackson, Monroe and Lenawee county. Her total was 3,553 to Shepherd's 4,086.

WCC Enrollment Increases Over 1989

Preliminary enrollment figures for the 1990 Spring/Summer term show an almost 5 percent increase over 1989 eighth-day head count and credit hour statistics. If the trend continues, WCC could realize a significant enrollment increase this fall.

The over-all statistics show a promising gain. Over 5,180 students enrolled in 23,856 credit hours, an increase of 8.7 percent and 8.9 percent, respectively (figures are through June 6). Students also registered for an average of 4.56 credit hours, an increase of .2 percent.

More students used telephone registration this spring than ever before. Over 2,600 students, a 40 percent increase over last year, phoned in their course schedule. They also registered for more credit hours, over 12,760, for an increase of 36 percent over last year.

Help Kids Celebrate Grandparents Day

Kids who want to celebrate Grandparent's Day this year, Sept. 9, are being given a helping hand by the Michigan Commission and Office of Services to the Aging (OSA) and the Michigan Association of Foster Grandparents.

"For the first time," says OSA director Olivia P. Maynard, "a Certificate of Recognition to any Michigan elementary school-aged child is being provided to give to that child's grandparent in recognition of National Grandparent's Day."

Adds Herschell T. Masten, president of the Michigan Association of Foster Grandparents, "the child may wish to order the certificate for a biological grandparent or just an older adult whom they've adopted as someone special in their lives. We expect many of the children served by the state's more than 1,200 Foster Grandparents will want one of these certificates to give to that special older person who works with them 20 hours per week. 'Foster Grandparents,' explains Masten, "are a part of a federal and state-funded volunteer program that provides personal attention to youngsters in a variety of settings, including hospitals, schools, institutions, juvenile detention facilities, domestic violence shelters, day care centers and private homes."

The certificates come with a space provided for the youngster to write in the name of the recipient and the date presented. "Because Grandparent's Day is just around the corner, children will want to order their certificate now," says Maynard. "We will be sending out the certificates to the youngsters as quickly as the requests are received."

"Because older adults give so much to young people, through their wisdom, their nurturing, their tenderness, patience and love," says Masten, "it's nice to provide an opportunity for kids to say thank you. We hope that lots of youngsters will take advantage of this opportunity to present one of these certificates this year. It could be a bright spot in that older person's life. And, it could just as easily be a bright spot for the young person who comes to know the joy that is found in giving."

Certificates will be mailed free of charge while supplies last. They may be ordered by writing Grandparent's Certificate, c/o Michigan Office of Services to the Aging, P.O. Box 30026, Lansing 48909 or by calling 517-373-8230.

Break-ins Reported to Sheriff's Dept.

A home owner reported at 6:18 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 7, intruders had entered his residence on Jacob Rd. in Sharon township, sometime between the hours of 7 a.m. and 4 p.m. on that date and pilfered an assortment of automotive parts, including two heads for a 350 Chevy short-block, an intake manifold, valve covers, an oil pan, and a Holley carburetor.

Deputy D. Steele of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department filed the report.

In another breaking and entering incident, reported at 5:16 p.m. Friday, Aug. 3, Lyndon township residents explained to WCSO Cpl. J. J. Marshall, the investigating officer, that a 19-inch Goldstar color television, purchased just two weeks earlier and valued at $220, was among the items missing from their home.

The culprits damaged an aluminum door frame during their brief stay, and smashed a window to gain entry, resulting in approximately $100 damage altogether.

Other items missing included a 20-inch ladies' 18-kt. gold Italian necklace valued at $300, and an 18-inch ladies' Italian neck chain, fashioned of 18-kt. gold.

Two Who Rescued Boy From Lake To Be Honored Today at Parke-Davis

Don Wood, an employee of Warner-Lambert Company's Parke-Davis Pharmaceutical Research Division in Ann Arbor, and Danny Massengale, both Chelsea residents, will be honored today (Wednesday) for their life-saving rescue of Michael Campbell from Cavanaugh Lake's frigid waters on April 23.

Both men will receive the Civilian Life-Saving Award from the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department. Ronald M. Cresswell, Ph.D., chairman of the Parke-Davis Pharmaceutical Research Division, will also present the Warner-Lambert Employee Recognition Award to Wood. Ceremonies will begin at 9 a.m. at the company's world-wide pharmaceutical research and development headquarters at 2800 Plymouth Rd. Michael and his mother, Dawn Campbell, will attend.

The boy and his father were fishing on Cavanaugh Lake off a pontoon boat when Michael, then three years old, slipped into the icy waters. His father, Glenn, jumped in to save him but succumbed to hypothermia. His body was not found until the next day.

Upon hearing the commotion, Wood and Massengale rowed to the accident site and found the boy face-down in the water, not breathing. They pulled him to safety and applied resuscitation techniques that doctors later credited with saving the boy's life.

Washtenaw County Guide to Child Care Newly Published

The search for child care for young children while their parents work, look for work, or go to school can be frustrating and exhausting.

Finding the setting that will fit the criteria of location, hours, cost, and age of children is the first step.

The second is discovering if the center or centers that fit the initial criteria have the space available, and if the philosophy of child education and care fits your family values.

To assist in this search, Kim Christofferson, in collaboration with the Rev. Carol Morrill Brock, executive director of Child Care Coordinating and Referral Service, Washtenaw County 4C, has recently published the handbook for parents, "Washtenaw County Guide to Child Care."

This 1990 edition lists every licensed child care center in Washtenaw county. It features expanded information about specific centers. The book is part of the services of CCCRS.

CCCRS has an extensive data bank that lists 750 licensed settings in the county, as well as all licensed settings in Monroe, Jackson, Hillsdale and Lenawee. The book is on sale at local bookstores and may be ordered at CCCRS, 2454 E. Stadium Blvd., Ann Arbor 48104.

For more information, call Kim Christofferson at 483-2542, or Carol Brock at 971-5460.

Summer Baseball Team Wins Five Straight To End Season

Chelsea summer baseball team won their fifth game in a row as they swept Dexter in a double-header to end the season last Tuesday, Aug. 7.

Chelsea finished the night with 20 hits and 29 runs as they won by scores of 12-0 and 17-1.

Chelsea pitching allowed only three hits.

In the opener, Dexter's lead-off hitter singled to left but was promptly picked off. That was Dexter's last hit in the game. They had only four baserunners in the contest.

Chelsea, however, scored in every inning.

In the first, Jude Quilter led off with a triple and Kerry Plank's sacrifice fly brought him home.

Chelsea added three runs in the second without a hit as five walks and two errors helped the Bulldogs along.

Five more Bulldogs scored in the third, and three more in the fourth. The mercy rule stopped the game after five innings.

Quilter led Chelsea with three hits, Kerry Plank rapped two doubles, Jake Rindle tripled, and Kyle Plank, Mike Eder, Steve Grau, and Dennis Clark each added a single.

Craig Perry pitched the first four innings and gave up the only hit. Emmert came on in the fifth.

Chelsea played well defensively, committing only one error.

In the second game, Dexter scored a run in the first, but Chelsea rallied and again scored in every inning.

With two outs in the first, Chelsea rallied for three runs, keyed by Grau's two-run single.

Chelsea scored four times in the second and five times in the third, followed by a five-run fourth inning.

Once again Chelsea stroked 10 hits, including two singles by Grau and Eder, and a single each by Rick Clouse, Emmert, Jeremy Stephens, Kerry Plank, Kyle Plank, and Jake Rindle.

Rindle pitched the first four innings and Adam Taylor worked the fifth. They combined for three walks and 10 strikeouts.

Chelsea finished with a 6-7 record.

"It was a good way to end the season," said Chelsea coach Akel Marshall.

"We made only one error in the double-header and finally hit the ball like we know we can. Hopefully we can keep it going next spring."

This weeks column begins with a look at health care costs. We'll examine this subject from many different aspects.

This is an important topic. The estimates for total health care cost for 1989 is 600 billion dollars. This includes costs of tests, treatment, time lost from jobs, disability payments, etc.

All sectors, public and private, need a way to reduce costs. From industry to family, every segment of society is feeling the pinch.

Why? Because the system has failed. It's created a monster due to a medical monopoly that until now had no reason or desire to hold costs down. But this is changing, and rapidly. As people can't afford insurance premiums, as hospitals across the country fail, as General Motors pays more for health care than steel, the changes are coming.

In the weeks ahead we'll look closely at this subject and show numerous way individuals, as well as industry, could greatly reduce costs and at the same time improve the health of the nation.

Please address all comments and questions to Dr. J. Nicholas Koffeman D.C., 138 E. Middle St., Chelsea, MI 48118 (313)-475-2088.

Nature from Your Backdoor

By Glenn R. Dudderar
If you take even casual notice of the critters in your backyard, you've probably seen most of the animals we've talked about in this column. Some of the likely visitors to rural or suburban backyards you are very unlikely to see, however. One of those is the weasel.

Michigan's largest weasel, found throughout the state, is the long-tailed weasel, which reaches a length of about 10 inches. Its smaller cousin, found in the Upper Peninsula and northern lower Michigan, is the short-tailed weasel, or ermine, which measures about 8 inches. The least weasel, about 6 inches long, occurs throughout the southern part of the state.

For several good reasons, even though these animals may be frequent visitors to your backyard, it's unlikely that you'll see them.

First of all, weasels work the night shift. They do most of their moving around and hunting at night.

Second, they travel by slipping under, squeezing between and gliding over obstacles. Slender, agile animals, they most resemble a snake in the way they slink around your yard.

It's this mode of travel that's given rise to the use of the term "weasel" to describe people who are sly and devious and secretive, and "weasel out," meaning to sidestep or circumvent an obligation or situation. Likewise, a "weasel word" is one chosen to avoid making a direct or forthright statement.

Anyone who has seen a weasel on the hunt knows that evasion or avoidance of direct action is not the weasel's way when there's prey to be had. Weasels attack ferociously and fearlessly, and if cornered, they will put up a fierce defense.

A third reason that weasels can come and go unseen is their color. In the summer, their coats are a rich brown except for the underside from throat to pelvic area, which is a creamy yellow. As they move through tall grass and weave their way around shrubs in the dark, they blend right in to the deep shadows. In winter, they turn white except for the black tips of their tails. So, in a snowy winter, they are so well camouflaged that you are even less likely to see them than in the summer.

Also, it's easy to confuse a large long-tailed weasel with a small mink, especially if you don't see the buff underbelly of the weasel. Mink, however, are larger and usually darker brown, and they have only a small white streak under the chin and on the throat.

Many people find out weasels are in the neighborhood when they try to raise poultry or rabbits in the backyard. A determined long-tailed weasel can kill an adult chicken or a rabbit, though either would be too big for it to drag away or consume entirely. The first sign that a weasel has visited the chickens, then, is likely to be a partially eaten carcass and a pile of feathers discovered one morning.

If you don't raise weasel food, your yard may still provide it in the form of mice, moles, ground squirrels and chipmunks. You may not know the weasels are there, however, unless you find paw prints in bare earth or snow, or unless the family dog or cat happens to catch a weasel or one gets caught in a mole trap. (Least weasels frequently run along mole tunnels to hunt the moles.)

In spite of the time I spend observing wildlife in my backyard, I have never seen a weasel there. I know they come visiting, however, because I've seen their tracks. I have also seen them run across the road at night, and I've encountered them in forest and field.

It's too bad that we don't see the weasel more often. But perhaps its secretive nature is part of our fascination with it. Except when it's killing small livestock, it's basically on our side in the continuing battle against rats and mice. People with backyard chickens and rabbits who eliminate the weasels that take an occasional chicken often find out that the rats take up where the weasels left off, and in greater numbers, thanks to the elimination of a voracious predator.

A better strategy would be to weasel-proof the chicken or rabbit quarters with sheet metal or hardware cloth as needed to prevent weasels from digging, climbing or chewing their way in. This will also keep the rats out and help discourage larger predators such as dogs, foxes, raccoons, skunks and domestic cats. And it will help to maintain an amiable relationship between you and the wildlife, which is a basic part of enjoying nature from your backdoor.

MARC TUTTLE of Chelsea set three state records at the Michigan Hershey Track and Field Youth Program in Howell July 13. Tuttle, competing in the physically challenged category for boys 9-10, set records in the 50 dash, softball throw, and club throw. He is the son of Tom and Janet Tuttle.

Three Boys Suspended For Beach Vandalism

Three 14-year-old boys who were involved in the extensive vandalism at Beach Middle school this summer were suspended from the Chelsea School District for the coming year.

A special meeting of the board of education was held Monday to deal with the issue. Part of the meeting was closed and part of it was open.

Each boy may be eligible to return after a semester based on a report from his caseworker, said superintendent Joe Piasecki. In addition, the boys will have to be able to blend their coursework at whatever school they attend with the courses they would enroll in at Chelsea High School.

Even then, Piasecki said, they have to petition the board to be re-instated. "I met with all the parents a couple of weeks ago and told them the board may consider everything from a two week suspension to permanent suspension, and that they should be prepared for all possibilities," Piasecki said.

Piasecki said that it's possible the boys may be able to enroll in another public school, but said private school was the most likely option.

Piasecki said he would do "whatever I can" to help the boys enroll in whatever school they choose.

An increasing number of working parents have elder care problems, according to the U. S. Labor Department. A study by the Travelers Insurance Co., found that 28 percent of its employees provided care for a friend or relative aged 65 or older.

Isn't it funny how the view of your home from a backyard lawn chair on a pretty sunny day points out so many needed home improvements before Winter arrives.

So the roof shows buckling, windows need caulking or replacement, the foundation could use some repair and you really never got around to insulating or painting your home, as yet. It's not too late!

Make arrangements now to implement as many improvement projects as possible to tighten-up the home front. Old Man Winter will hit you harder than any monthly home improvement loan program we offer and you'll gain the benefit of lower fuel bills!

Former Exchange Student Visits Resident Of Methodist Home

On July 8 Mrs. Annie Morlock, resident of the Chelsea Methodist Home, entertained Volker Heinrichs from West Germany.

In 1959 and 1960 Volker Heinrichs, as a boy of 18, came to the home of Mrs. George Morlock and her late husband. He graduated from Monroe High school and returned to Germany in late August of 1960 to finish his education in Germany and France. Volker is married and has four children (three girls and one boy). The two older girls (17 and 18) have come to America for six months in the Monroe High school. Volker and wife (Ingrid) are both school teachers in Germany. He is very happy that the Berlin Wall is down as it makes traveling to his parents' home in West Berlin much easier as there are no more check points in the 300 miles. His schoolmate, Charles Choate, of Boles Harbor, Mich., accompanied him. Volker Heinrichs and Annie Morlock enjoyed a very good talk for a few hours.

"GOD OWNS MY BUSINESS"

A Color Motion Picture

Stanley Tam, a Lima, Ohio, businessman, walked into his attorney's office one day and said, "I want you to draw up a document making God the complete owner of my corporation." The unprecedented decision, which annually nets Tam's divine benefactor profits running well into six figures, became the basis for a best-selling book titled, "God Owns My Business" and has now been put into a color motion picture with the same unique title. The film will be shown on at 6:00 p.m.

at the

Chelsea Free Methodist Church

7665 Werker Rd., Chelsea.

In a day of rising secularism, when many churches and religious agencies must curtail programs for lack of funds, the Stanley Tam story speaks with virulent contemporary relevance to both churchmen and concerned citizens. Everyone is welcome. For further information please call (313) 475-1391.

THE NEW CELL at the village landfill is finally being filled. However, the delay in obtaining a landfill license has caused the village to fall far behind on tipping fees budgeted for the year. Consequently, village council voted to increase the amount of garbage coming into the landfill by 300-500 yards per week, which will increase revenues a minimum of $3,600 per week. The extra fill will come from commercial haulers, which breaks a long-standing village policy of allowing only the village's commercial hauler to use the cell.

Before/After School Child Care Provided

The Project Outreach opinion survey conducted in November 1989, by the Chelsea Community Education Program identified a severe need for before- and after-school care for children in the Chelsea School District. As a result, the Chelsea Community Education Department was charged with the responsibility of developing a program for the 1990-91 school year. Because Chelsea Community Hospital has successfully provided quality child care to the community for several years, discussions were held with the Hospital to determine its interest in co-operatively developing a program for the community.

As a result of these discussions, the Chelsea Community Hospital/Chelsea School District School-age Child Care Program has been developed and licensed by the Department of Social Services to begin providing before- and after-school care on Aug. 27.

The program will be housed at North Elementary school, providing care to Chelsea School District children entering grades first through fifth, from 8:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. and 2:40 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Registration and informational packets are available through the Chelsea Community Education Department. Call (313) 475-9830 for a packet.

Village To Demolish Part Of Public Works Garage

The village will apparently have to tear down at least part of its public works garage on Buchanan St. in order to adequately clean up gasoline which leaked into the soil from old underground storage tanks.

Tests by consultants indicated that contamination in the soil is high and that the soil is too permeable to allow a less costly type of clean-up that would satisfy the Department of Natural Resources.

"We had hoped for the presence of impermeable soil which would disallow the leaching of contamination and therefore create the possibility of the soil remaining in its current location," village manager Robert Stalker wrote in his report to council.

Soil beneath a portion of the building is contaminated. Engineers determined it wouldn't be financially feasible to excavate underneath.

Stalker has been authorized by council to find a site for a new building, as well as determine how big the building should be, how it should be used, and how it can be financed. There was some discussion that it could be located near the wastewater treatment plant.

The vehicle maintenance garage, which is in the other end of the complex, will likely be outfitted with a new exhaust system this fall. It will not have to be torn down.

The garage has had problems exhausting carbon monoxide, which nearly killed a garage worker several years ago, superintendent Dave Bulson told council Tuesday.

The only bid received as of last Tuesday was for $5,100. Council decided it wanted more bids before making a purchase.

Village To Make Changes in Recycling Procedure at Landfill

The village plans to make a change in the way recycling is monitored at the landfill on Werkner Rd.

Since the village purchased its pull-behind recycling trailer several weeks ago, the village has been content to let township residents use it for their recycling while it is parked at the landfill. The long, green Washtenaw county recycling bins were not being used but are still at the landfill.

However, now the village wants township residents to use the county bins. Township use will be tracked and when the county bins are filled the county will be called to haul them away. In turn, the townships will be billed for that cost based on their percentage of use.

Village residents will still use the pull-behind trailer, even if they choose to recycle at the landfill rather than at curbside on Wednesdays.

Implicit in the proposed change of policy is that residents of townships who choose not to share in the cost will not be allowed to recycle at the landfill, said village manager Robert Stalker.
