IT TOOK ABOUT A DAY for demolition crews to tear down the former Pump 'N Pantry building at S. Main and Orchard St. last week. Chelsea's Downtown Development Authority wants to move an old village home to the site to serve as an addition to McKune Memorial Library (building in the background). Otherwise it's likely to become a small park. In the meantime, soil contamination at the site has to be cleaned up to the satisfaction of the Department of Natural Resources.

THE FORMER PUMP 'N PANTRY building at the corner of Orchard and S. Main Sts. was finally demolished last week, much to the relief of Chelsea's Downtown Development Authority. The corner is an integral part of the DDA's downtown redevelopment and beautification plan.

Village Buys Trash Truck For Recycling Program

Village Council has authorized the purchase of a used garbage truck in order to expand its milk jug recycling program and institute a cardboard recycling program for local businesses. It may also be used in the fall leaf pick-up.

Council voted to spend $9,500 on a particular trash truck that was available in Mt. Pleasant. Village mechanics said they checked out the truck and found it in surprisingly good condition.

The truck contains a hydraulic compactor. That will enable the village to smash large quantities of milk jugs, as well as cardboard, which will smooth the preparation of the materials for market.

The truck may also allow the village to get into the garbage hauling business for village residents. However, there are no immediate plans to use the truck that way, said Frank Hammer, chair of the village's Solid Waste Committee.

This spring the village plans to place several more milk jug collection sites around the village, including one at the Chelsea Depot. That will make it easier for area residents to participate. The only place milk jugs are collected now is at North and South Elementary schools on Thursday mornings before school.

It would be foolish to get rid of the school program, Hammer said, because the youngsters are enthusiastic about recycling and the program helps educate them about it.

Hammer said about 18 Chelsea businesses have indicated they would be willing to participate in a cardboard recycling program. The truck would be used to pick up cardboard at each business. The businesses would finance the purchase of storage bins by donating money based on how much they would save in a year by keeping cardboard out of their trash.

Some businesses, Hammer said, stand to save a sizeable amount of money. He said Chelsea Community Hospital generates 12 yards of cardboard per week. Others, he said, have indicated that as much as 75 percent of their garbage consists of cardboard.

"Chelsea Milling Company was part of the inspiration for this," Hammer said.

"I think they got into cardboard recycling more as a convenience but they found out that by recycling they were able to totally pay off the cost of a baler in nine months. They were amazed at how beneficial recycling ended up being."

Chelsea Milling markets all of its Jiffy Mix products in cardboard boxes, which produces a sizeable amount of unusable boxes over the course of the year. The company, however, will continue its own program and not participate in the village's plan.

Rally To Support Troops Set March 10

A rally in support of U.S. troops in the Middle East has been scheduled for Sunday, March 10 at 2 p.m. in downtown Chelsea.

The rally is being organized by members of a support group that meets every Saturday morning at Faith in Action.

The Rev. Mearl Bradley said if the Persian Gulf crisis is over by the 10th the rally will become a "Welcome Home Rally." He said the goal is to have 500 participants.

Rally participants will assemble at the Chelsea Depot at 1:30 p.m. The parade route will take them down Main St. to Van Buren St., to East St., to Washington St., to Madison St., to Mayer Dr., and into Beach Middle school.

At the school, marchers will hear speeches and take part in other activities beginning at 2:30.

Village council approved the rally at their regular meeting last Tuesday. Volunteers are being sought to provide music for the parade and rally. Anyone who would like to participate may contact Gary Speer at 475-2017.

Council Meetings Not Changed Yet

Chelsea Village Council meetings in March will be held at the same time and same place as usual.

Meeting are on the first and third Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m.

The village is anticipating moving its meetings to Sylvan Town Hall soon.

First Estimates Given Show School Building Will Be Costly Program

A first draft of estimates for proposed projects in the Chelsea School District's planned building and renovations program was received last week from a Grand Rapids architect.

The preliminary numbers, in a 30-page report from Greiner, Inc., covered a new elementary school and renovations at North and South Elementary schools and Chelsea High school.

"The numbers boggle everybody's mind, but they are not all that unusual," said assistant superintendent Fred Mills.

"The estimates are probably within 10 percent of the actual costs."

Some of the proposed projects will almost definitely be pursued, Mills said. Those include renovations at North school ($2.4 million), renovations at South school ($2.1 million), and a new elementary school ($7 million).

Estimates for all renovations proposed at the high school came to $14.8 million, although some of the projects may not be pursued. The architect looked at costs for an auxiliary gymnasium, eight new classrooms, a 3,000-square-foot band room, four special education classrooms, conversion of an area for an early childhood center, the addition of 1,500 seats and a press box to the football field, renovations of physical education locker rooms, construction of storage areas, among other projects. The architect estimated the high school needs an additional 63,000 square feet in all.

"The architect proposed a number of things for the high school that may or may not be approved," Mills said.

"The board is struggling with all the options open to them. They are obligated to provide the best facility they can for the program that's been approved. We are in a growth mode and we don't see any let up. If anything, it may become faster and more furious."

So district voters may be asked in September to approve a building program somewhere between $11 million and $25 million. Mills said a $20 million project would probably translate to an increase of six mills in property taxes.

"The thing about this project is it is so major and involves all areas," Mills said.

"It's certainly the biggest decision in terms of construction that any Chelsea school board has ever had to make."

The current high school, Mills said, is still "in pretty good shape," for a 32-year-old building.

Mills said the district will probably not simply build a new high school. Estimate for that is $29 million.

North and South schools were built in the 1950s and were designed for a curriculum that was dominated by books and blackboards. Most of the rooms have only two duplex electrical outlets.

"We'd like to eventually have a large number of computers in each classroom, and right now there's no way to do that," Mills said.

"We'd also like to be able to take advantage of technology and have on-line television and let each room have access to a central media center."

The schools also need other major mechanical renovations, Mills said.

A new elementary school will almost certainly be built, although what age students it will serve has not been determined.

Mills said he is not pushing for the building to be located on school-owned property next to the district bus garage.

"It's my personal opinion we ought to save the property for a new high school if we need it later," Mills said. "It's the only place in the village we could put it."

Mills said there are several other sites for a new elementary school in the village or close enough to it that the land could be annexed and use village utilities.

Mills said final decisions will have to be made in May in order for a bond issue to appear on the ballot in a special election in September.

DDA Plans Fundraiser, Works To Finalize Details Of Revitalization Effort

Chelsea's Downtown Development Authority is planning to launch a major fundraising drive next month for the completion of its planned downtown revitalization project.

DDA recently sold bonds totaling $995,000 at an interest rate of 6.44 percent as the major component of its fundraising effort.

Bill Bott, a fundraising consultant for the DDA, and a member of the Village Planning Commission, said an additional $230,000 has already been orally pledged by downtown merchants themselves.

"This is unique in my experience," Bott said.

"Businesses downtown are putting up some heavy money and for the smartest reason, as an investment for the future."

DDA recently received its tax-exempt status, which means donations will be tax deductible.

DDA has estimated the entire project could cost up to $1.7 million if all components of the plan are completed.

However, many aspects of the plan have not been finalized and as DDA chair Mark Heydlauff told village council last week, "We have a lot of decisions to make in the next six weeks."

The program has three basic components: construction of a parking lot from South to Middle St. behind the Main St. businesses; creation of an addition to McKune Memorial Library or a "library plaza" at the corner of Main and Orchard Sts.; and the downtown streetscape itself.

Bott said he is high on the parking lot and library plaza because "they are benefits that will stay in the community for the rest of our lives."

"A lot of communities spend money on streetscape but that doesn't solve anything by itself."

DDA wants to send the project out for bids by April 1. However, in order for that to happen, DDA has to know exactly what it wants to do. Bids would be due back in late April, the contract would be awarded in early May, and construction would begin by mid-May.

One detail did become final last week, however. Council approved a swap of lots with Harper Pontiac dealer Sumner Oesterle. Oesterle gets the paved lot next to his building on W. Middle St., which is now a village parking lot, and the village gets the gravel used car lot across the street, which will become part of the village's new parking lot. Oesterle also gets $23,500.

No final decision has been made as to whether the Esaudes home behind the 14th district courthouse on South St. will be moved to the corner of Main and Orchard Sts. as an addition to McKune Memorial Library. An architect, with a background in libraries, is studying the feasibility of the project. The house may not be suitable or may be too expensive for the library to maintain on a long-term basis. (Continued on page five)

Eight-Foot Flag Stolen from Church

An eight-foot American flag affixed to the front of the Chelsea Free Methodist church on Werkner Rd. was stolen Monday night, the Rev. Mearl Bradley reported.

The Rev. Bradley leads a weekly support group for area residents with relatives in the military or the Persian Gulf. His son, Jared, is in Saudi Arabia.

The Rev. Bradley said the flag was placed on the church to show support for the troops in the gulf area.

"It really sickens me," Bradley said.

Bradley said he was told by the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department that other flags in the area were stolen the same night.

The flag was easy to reach because the sides of the church are partly covered by an earthen berm. The thief could have walked up the side of the hill and pulled the flag down.

ROY OESTERLE was one of the many hits at last Friday's Old Time Fashion Show at the Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home. Oesterle, who is retiring after 11 years as a maintenance worker at the home, showed how a golfer might have looked early this century.

Three representatives from Chrysler visited Chelsea to present the award.

Following some extraordinary surgical work and loving care at Lane Animal Hospital, an eight-year-old golden retriever, Tracy, was back home enjoying farm life. Tracy was struck in the head by a car. Her skull was fractured and her entire snout was broken off. Tracy's owners, Bill and Sandy Thomas, thought that she was dead. When they discovered that she was still breathing, they called Lane Animal Hospital, and a few minutes later were met there by Dr. Bowers. After getting Tracy stabilized, Dr. Bowers, with the assistance of his son, performed the initial three-hour surgery to re-attach the snout. This type of major reconstructive surgical procedure had been performed only rarely by veterinarians before, and it required that Dr. Bowers reassemble the bone fragments and wire the jaw back together. The long healing process was completed, and Tracy was home with her family. "This was an extraordinary veterinary job," the Thomases said. "We did not think that Tracy could be saved. We feel very fortunate to have such highly competent veterinarians here in Chelsea."

Chelsea High school freshman Pat Taylor became the Bulldogs' lone entry in class B state wrestling meet by taking fourth place at 105 pounds at the regional meet in Tecumseh. Senior co-captain Ron Bogdanski, at 126 pounds, was the only other Bulldog to reach the regionals, was knocked out via two one-point decisions to tough opponents. "Pat's now in the top 16 in his weight class in the state," said Chelsea coach Kerry Kargel. "It's a fine accomplishment and quite an honor to go to the state meet, especially as a freshman."

Members of Chelsea High's FFA Parliamentary Procedure team captured the regional title in the 1977 FFA Leadership Contest at North Adams by defeating Litchfield and Onsted. The victory marked the third consecutive year in which Chelsea competitors had won the regional honor, and qualified the group for competition in the state finals at Michigan State University. Those on the team were Kent Bollinger, Tim Welshans, Shelly Hatt, Mark Lesser, Bob Ball, Cindy Welshans, and Becky Bollinger. Chelsea High FFA advisor was Dave Nicewicz.

Engler Rescinds Prison Layoffs; Selzes Rainy Day Funds

Gov. John Engler, saying he acted under extraordinary authority required by a federal court order, rescinded all 2,118 Department of Corrections layoffs that he had earlier ordered by expropriating $139 million from the rainy day fund.

The action will keep 1,785 prison guards at work, averting what Engler said would have been an unacceptable threat to safety.

House leaders of both parties praised the order made late in the day after the House failed to take any action on a Democratic alternative, although they questioned the governor's authority to take the rainy day money.

Another 300-400 layoffs in other state departments will go forward as scheduled, part of the 5,018 layoffs are still planned unless the Engler administration and Democrats reach an accord on a budget-balancing package that means fewer worker reductions.

Most of the eventual layoffs—2,419 in mental health in 1,793 in social services—will not take place until March 1.

"Faced with layoffs, a court order and the threat of further court orders, I must take action to defuse the situation. My decision will avert a crisis, assure the public's safety and assure the men and women who work in our state's prison system that staffing will remain strong," Engler said.

Democratic House Spokesperson Steve Serkalian said House Speaker Lewis Dodak (D-Montrose) "is delighted" the governor rescinded the layoffs. And while expressing concerns about the basis for the move, Serkalian said it is too early to say if the use of the rainy day fund is illegal.

Minority Leader Paul Hillemonds (R-Holland), a severe critic of the House's failure to deal with the governor's requested appropriations measure said that Engler "did the right thing. It sounds to me like he had no choice." But he added, "I am troubled by the grey area (of using the rainy day fund) but the layoffs would have been an absolute disaster."

Engler said his goal is still to work with the Legislature to pass the Corrections Supplemental and to resolve other budget issues to reduce total state layoffs to about 3,381.

Senate Majority Leader Richard Posthumus (R-Alto), who said the governor has the responsibility to deal with the safety issues in prisons, said Corrections is the only one that needs to be addressed in the next 24 hours. "We have two more weeks to deal with the other budget areas," Posthumus said.

Engler said the steps he took solves the Department of Corrections problems for the remainder of the fiscal year, but urged the House to finalize legislative action appropriating the $139.7 million from the Budget Stabilization Fund for the department.

Engler said he believes he has authority to take the money because of the order by U.S. District Judge Richard Enslen earlier this week prohibiting layoffs of guards at six prisons, including three at Jackson.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Clem Webster brung a clipping to the country store Saturday night that showed the Internal Revenue Service aims to please. Clem told the fellers the IRS has come out with a no math income tax form it is trying out on 3,000 Texas taxpayers.

These folks were mailed regular forms and the new ones and ask to use one. The angle is, them that choose the new form must be single without dependents, can't have more than $50,000 income and no deductions. They just sign the form and send it in with the W-2 forms. Clem said it looks to him like the IRS has invented a no math form that fer folks with no math income tax. What he can't see, Clem allowed, is why it waited so long to have a idee whose time must of come the same day income tax was invented.

Practical speaking, Clem went on, this is the least the IRS ought to do fer everybody. Nobody had ought to be made to pay CPAs and lawyers to do the paperwork fer them to send money to the Government. It has got to where all the form we need is one that says "A, list income," and "B, send A."

Bug Bug Hookum said he had read about the new form to, and Clem had showed agin that he never learns anything because he understands everything to quick. When the IRS gets the no math form it does the figgering and sends the taxpayer a bill or a refund. This is the good news, Bug said. It moves the math from the CPA to the IRS computer. If taxpayers don't have to hire help to fill out the form, and if the IRS can do the work without hiring more people everybody comes out ahead, was Bug's words.

It is flat amazing what computers can do, declared Zeke Grubb. From what he reads about these store bought brains, Zeke said, it's a good thing we're gitting more no math operations because all school children know is pushing buttons. They all have battery powered gadgets that can do higher rithmetic instant than they can learn in all of high school, was Clem's words.

Furthermore, button pushing is hitting the older heads hard. Clem said the last time he turned off a interstate to get gas the station had pumps where you push buttons fer cash or credit card and then push your choice agin to make the pump work. On top of that, the feller inside said the pump computer figgered the discount fer cash, and if a credit card user is behind in his bill the computer keeps the card til he settles with the gas company.

Zeke went on to recall when the feller at the store took your grocery list, rounded up everthing himself and added up your bill in his blue lined notebook. Nowadays the cash register technicians pass everthing over a light and the computer spits out the sad tale of the tape.

Fer all the technical wonders, Zeke said, the vanity value of the fax machine even puts the car phone in the shade. A office today without a fax number to run in their ads is a office in the dark ages, and he had saw where the latest wrinkle is the chain fax.

Zeke had this clipping where a chain fax has been organized to protest what the Federal Government's failure to help the homeless. The piece said if the chain ain't broke in two hours, Zeke said, 200 million people can fax their gripes.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

He said the rainy day fund was the only money available and said advice from Attorney General Frank Kelley "gave me no choice."

However, Kelley's letter only told Engler he had to comply with the judge's order, which was limited to the prisons under federal court jurisdiction, but did not tell him how to comply.

The Budget Stabilization Fund law makes money available for state spending when certain economic factors are met—the total estimated to be triggered is $187 million this year—but the constitution prohibits payments by the state treasury unless authorized by an appropriations by the Legislature.

"There is inherent executive authority to act in this way," Engler declared, although acknowledging the policy should also be decided by elected legislators.

Lucille Taylor, the governor's legal advisor, said the basis for taking money from the rainy day fund without an appropriation rests in part on actions to comply with other court orders—such as school desegregation—in the state's history.

William Kandler, executive assistant to Dodak, said there is no question the governor has no authority to use the money without an appropriation, but added he did not want to be too critical because Engler did act to avert the crisis that would have resulted with the prison layoffs.

Under transfers approved by the two Appropriations Committees, no accounts would have run out of money for at least two weeks, and the department would not have faced major shortages until about August. But aides said the governor is seizing the rainy day fund money now to avoid another budget cliff-hanger at the time.

Management and Budget Director Patricia Woodworth said she and Treasurer Doug Roberts will set the increased spending necessary to keep the prison guards and other employees on staff. She said the money will be used to comply with the court order and "to assure compliance with similar orders anticipated in the near future in other lawsuits."

Engler said rescinding all layoffs was required to avoid equal protection violations of employees at prisons not covered by the Enslen order.

Bill Whitbeck, director of the Office of State Employer, said about 200 Corrections employees will still be laid off, but new notices will be required to initiate that process.

Change Slight in Amount of Toxics Found in Fish

The Department of Public Health's annual river and lake fish consumption advisory indicated little change from last year, with levels of some toxic contaminants in sport fish continuing to decline.

"The public still needs to be aware of the most current advice in order to make informed decisions on the safest fish to eat," said Public Health Director Vern Davis-Anthony, who added eating smaller fish, removing the skin, trimming as much of the fatty tissues as possible and cooking fish to allow the oils to drip away from the portion eaten minimize possible health risks.

Lower levels of polychlorinated biphenyls (PCBs) were found in lake trout from Lake Superior and Lake Huron and in coho and chinook salmon from Lake Michigan, suggesting pollution control efforts are becoming more effective, Davis-Anthony said.

But six local areas of contamination, where special caution is advised in 1991, were added. The advisory warned against high PCB levels in carp from Black River in Van Buren county, White Lake in Muskegon county, Thunder Bay in Alpena county, Cheboyganing Creek in Saginaw county; dioxin in large, older carp in Menominee River near Quinnesec; and high mercury levels in walleye and northern pike from Net River in Iron county.

"The department will be expanding its efforts in 1991 toward informing those populations who may be at greatest risk about the potential health threats from eating fish from any areas of contamination," Davis-Anthony said, adding women of child-bearing age and young children are the most susceptible.

TAKING CARE OF YOUR EYES

A chemical burn to the eye is one of the most severe eye injuries that can occur. Common household items such as cleaners, solvents, and detergents contain chemicals that are very toxic to the eye.

The two most damaging chemicals to the eye are the acids and alkalis. Acids, such as hydrochloric acid, are commonly used in industry. Alkali, such as lye, are found in many household cleaners.

Correct treatment of a chemical burn to the eye can prevent loss of sight. Flood the eye with water immediately, using your fingers to keep the eye open as wide as possible. Hold your head under a faucet or pour water into the eye for at least 15 minutes; then seek medical help.

County Lacks Funds For Bridge Repairs

A bridge over the Huron River on North Territorial Rd., just east of Dexter-Pinckney Rd., slated by the state for repair or reconstruction this year won't be fixed because the county does not have the required five percent in matching funds.

Federal funds pay for 80 percent of the cost, the state contributes 15 percent, and the local agency, in this case the Washtenaw County Road Commission, pays five percent.

Bob Polens of the road commission said the five percent local share is misleading because outside sources do not pay for testing, inspection, and a number of other costs associated with bridge repair. He said in most bridge projects local share generally comes to about one-third of the total cost.

Polens said the federal and state money is being reserved for the project and there is no deadline to use it. He also said other projects identified by the state in previous years are ahead on the list of projects to be completed.

Each year the state allocates $5 million for its Critical Bridge Program. The bridge was one of 108 state-wide determined to be "critically deficient" by the Michigan Department of Transportation.

Polens said the North Territorial bridge is still sound, although the concrete railing looks bad.

The road commission said it was faced with the prospects of lower state and gas weight tax revenues as well as higher expenditures.

Other bridges on the state list in Washtenaw county include Bell Rd. over the Huron River and Huron River Dr. over Honey Creek. They will also not be repaired this year.

Most bridge projects take about two years of planning before construction can begin, Polens said.

The commission's budget does not include any wedding overlay or sealcoat program and only modest capital equipment purchases. It said maintenance budgets were held at the same level as last year to accommodate projected five to eight percent increase in costs.

The budget does include money for six federal aid projects, including Ford Blvd. between Forest and Holmes; Golfside Rd. between Washtenaw and Clark; Baker Rd. between Jackson and Dan Hoey Rds.; Plymouth Rd. between US-23 and Dixboro Rd.; Rawsonville Rd. between Oakville-Milan and Willow; and Airport Dr.

Canadian Pork Producers Pig-Out On Michigan Markets?

A Michigan Farm Bureau livestock expert said that the U.S. International Trade Commission, in a follow-up to a January ruling by the U.S. and Canada trade dispute settlement board, has ruled that imports of Canadian pork are not harmful to the domestic pork industry.

Kevin Kirk, commodity specialist for Michigan Farm Bureau, said the ruling was based on an investigation of the entire United States market. He said that although the study found that Canadian imports affected only three percent of U.S. pork consumption, he believes imports hit Michigan much harder than that.

"Canadian pork imports have a bigger impact on our state pork industry than they do on the national scene," he said. "Canadian pork comes in through Port Huron and the ports of Detroit, and actually takes over some of our markets here in Michigan." Because of the ruling, Kirk said, the countervailing duty will be removed from Canadian pork imports and Canadian pork exporters will be refunded about $15 million in duties paid.

McKune Memorial Library Historical Room opened a weekly exhibit of memorabilia from Chelsea's past. In addition to this type of display, a photograph album compiled by Harold Jones would also be available. It contained photos of village houses and of persons significant to Chelsea's growth and development, such as members of the Congdon family.

Thursday, March 2, 1967—

The hot-shooting, fast-moving Chelsea Jaycees team captured the 1967 state Jaycees basketball tournament trophy at Clawson. They claimed there wasn't a sore muscle in the crowd, but the team played five games to clinch the championship. Members of the state championship team are Terry Pokela, Don Joseph, Bob Pursel, Jack Patrick, Fred Mills, Jim Myers, Don Neff, George Staffan and Don Proctor.

McKune Memorial Library would celebrate its 35th anniversary March 3 with an open house given by Chelsea Woman's Club and Friends of the Library. Mrs. George Walworth, who had been a librarian for 30 years had also contributed many volunteer hours to the library. The library was founded in 1932 by the Chelsea Woman's Club.

Two Brighton women were killed and six other persons—including five children—were injured when an Ann Arbor Railroad train hit a car. State Police said the car carrying the eight people skidded at the crossing and hit the front of the engine which was pulling a freight train from Toledo, O., to Frankfort. State Police said the crossing was marked, but had no flashing signals.

An industrial advertising campaign executed for Fortune Industries of Chelsea was among the displays shown by LesStrang Advertising Inc., of Ann Arbor in an exhibit of "Successful American Advertising" in Stockholm, Sweden. The purpose of the exhibit was to show Swedish advertisers what marketing techniques were necessary to sell products or services in America.

Donald Alber was presented with the Junior Chamber of Commerce Distinguished Service Award. The presentation was made by J. Vincent Burg, II, general chairman of the awards committee. It was the first time the local Jaycees have made the award. Recipients must be between the ages of 21 and 35 years, in addition to meeting other qualifications, including outstanding community service and evidence of business or personal progress. It is planned to make presentation of the DSA an annual event.

Barbara Jean Collings was chosen as the recipient of the "Good Citizen" award at Chelsea High school. Each girl selected is awarded a DAR "Good Citizen" pin and is invited to the state DAR conference which was held at Grand Rapids.

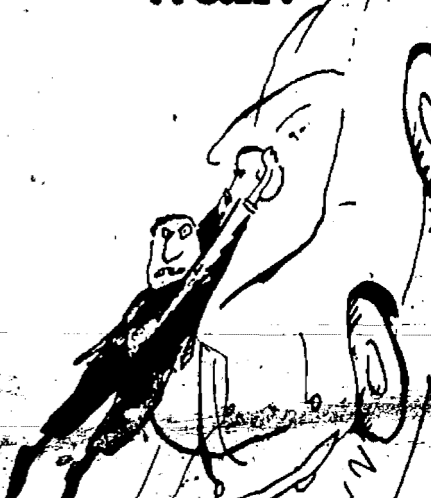

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Huelsberg, who recently bought the Hatt, farm suffered a disastrous loss when their 40x100 foot barn and more than 200 hogs were destroyed by fire. Also destroyed was the modern equipment for feeding the hogs in preparation for marketing; a grain elevator; a number of small farm tools, hay, oats and feed.

Mrs. Lewis Bermath, who had been serving as acting librarian at Chelsea Public Library since the resignation of Mrs. George Walworth had been appointed head librarian.

Single mothers have the highest unemployment rate of all mothers, according to the U.S. Labor Department's Women's Bureau. At 22.1 percent, their unemployment rate is nearly double that of widowed mothers (11.6 percent) and almost five times that of married mothers (4.6 percent). Since 1978, however, the labor force participation rate of single mothers increased from 41.7 percent to 51.8 percent in 1988.

The first strike by journeymen occurred in New York City in 1788 as 20 journeymen printers refused to work unless they received "three shillings and six pence per day with diet," according to "Labor Firsts in America," a U.S. Labor Department publication.

AN INFANT'S VISION

How well does your baby see? Often a young mother will wonder how well her baby can see. Does the baby recognize you by seeing your face or by the sound of your voice?

At birth the eye is still developing, and is only about two-thirds the size of the adult eye. The retina is immature, and a newborn's visual acuity is only about 20/800, good enough to see the outlines of objects but no details. Within the first month of life the infant should be able to fix their vision on an object and follow it as it moves.

Measuring vision in a baby is difficult because of lack of cooperation and inability of the infant to verbalize their visual perception, and generally, an infant's vision cannot be measured precisely.

Most methods of measuring an infant's vision use techniques to attract their visual attention to smaller and smaller patterns, until the pattern is so fine they don't perceive it. These tests indicate that a child experiences a rapid improvement in vision during the first year of life. Within the first few months of life your baby can recognize you, and sometime around the age of one year the child should be able to see about 20/100, good enough to differentiate small objects.

Signs indicating possible eye diseases in an infant include crossing or other misalignment of the eyes, whiteness or other discoloration of the pupil, continuous jerking movements of the eyes, or inability to fix vision on an object.

Free Tax Help Available from IRS Centers

"I want to remind Michigan taxpayers that free federal tax assistance is available right in their own neighborhood through our Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) and Tax Counseling for the Elderly (TCE) programs," said IRS district director John Hummel. "We have sites located in community centers, libraries, churches, and other convenient locations throughout Michigan," he said.

According to the IRS, these programs are designed to help older, handicapped, non-English speaking, and other taxpayers complete Forms 1040EZ, 1040A, or the basic Form 1040. Volunteers who prepare the returns receive special training from the IRS and are particularly alert for commonly overlooked deductions, such as the earned income credit or the tax credit for the elderly.

"Taxpayers need to bring to the VITA or TCE site all relevant information about their income and expenses, as well as the tax package received in the mail (if available)," said Hummel. "Locations of the sites are available by calling our toll free information number, 1-800-829-1040," he said.

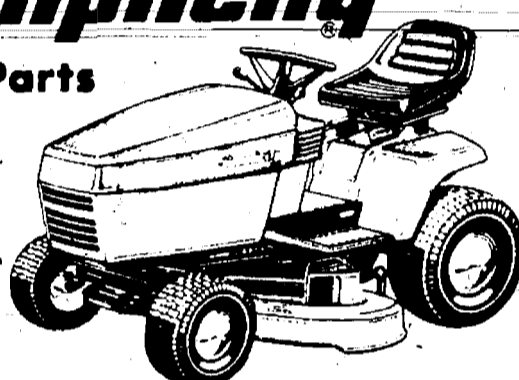

"Taxpayers should file now to avoid the last minute rush and to make their taxes less taxing," Hummel added.

Recycling Group Hires Attorney To Create Bylaws

Western Washtenaw Recycling Consortium has hired an attorney to draw up bylaws that can be used to set up a Solid Waste Authority involving 10 units of government.

The consortium, consisting of the Villages of Chelsea and Manchester, as well as the townships of Sylvan, Lima, Lyndon, Dexter, Manchester, Sharon, Freedom, and Bridgewater, hired Don Keim of Miller, Canfield, Paddock, & Stone to come up with the governing rules.

According to Frank Hammer, chair of the Village of Chelsea's Solid Waste Committee, the consortium wants to organize in such a way that the authority could one day handle all solid waste issues, not just recycling.

The consortium was formed to administer a $330,000 state recycling grant, which has been approved by the Department of Natural Resources. Money is scheduled to arrive this fall.

The grant will enable the 10 units of government to handle recycling on a regional basis. Fifteen recycling stations will be scattered throughout the area and a processing center will be built at the Chelsea landfill.

More Budget Cuts Coming Next Year

The dust hasn't even settled from the current battle over state budget cuts, and already department directors are being told to prepare for a further 15 percent budget reduction for the next fiscal year that begins in September, according to Michigan Farm Bureau legislative counsel Ron Nelson. He said the Michigan Department of Agriculture should continue to protect food safety and weights and measures inspection programs.

"Other areas in the department may have to be cut," he said. "We don't want to see that, but when there are limited dollars you have to make tough choices."

Nelson said Farm Bureau also wants to make sure that the Department of Agriculture is not singled out for budget cuts that are larger than those being imposed on other state departments.

WINNING ENTRY in the Michigan Wildlife of the Year Contest was this painting of a drake wood duck. The winner is Jon LaBeau of Grand Rapids.

Wildlife Artist of the Year Chosen by MUCC

A 27-year-old draftsman from Grand Rapids has been chosen Michigan's Wildlife Artist of the Year for 1990 by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC). Jon LaBeau used a photographic approach with acrylics to achieve exceptional realism and take first place honors with his drake wood duck.

This is the first time LaBeau has won this prestigious art event although he placed fourth and second in previous years and three times in the Michigan trout stamp contest. According to LaBeau, his winning prize, "Undercut—Wood Duck," shows his concern for wetlands and wild places. He chose his topic because he has always enjoyed nature and working with waterfowl.

LaBeau will receive a check for $2,000 from MUCC and the winning print will be featured on the cover of the April Michigan-Out-of-Doors, MUCC's monthly magazine. It will also grace the cover of MUCC's 1992 Wildlife art calendar available in October. In addition, MUCC will promote the wood duck print by issuing a limited edition of 750 prints, each signed and numbered by the artist.

LaBeau isn't discouraged easily. He entered the contest five times before being judged best in the field of 57 entries throughout the state. A Grand Valley State University graduate, LaBeau holds a fine arts degree in painting. Although he has been painting seriously for about five years he said, "I feel like I've just worked a lot of the bugs out." What's his next project? LaBeau said he is "still throwing paint around," and "doesn't want to get typecast." "If I see opportunities to market some things in the wildlife scene, I'll do so," he added.

Other artists taking honors this year include:

- 2nd place to John Martens of Rochester, pair of cottontails,
- 3rd place to Pat McManus of Mount Clemens, white-tailed deer,
- 4th place to Michael Glenn Monroe of Brighton, common loons,
- 5th place to Tim Widener of Haslett, bald eagle.

This was MUCC's 11th annual contest. Prints are being offered for $75 plus $9 for tax and shipping. Orders should be sent to MUCC, Box 30235, Lansing 48909. Proceeds from the sale of the prints help support MUCC's conservation and environmental programs.

MUCC is the largest non-profit state-wide federation of conservation clubs in the nation and is dedicated to the wise use of our natural resources.

National Dairy Policy Goals Set for 1991

Farm Bureau has told the U.S. Department of Agriculture that national dairy policy in 1991 should focus on two primary goals.

"Any dairy program should help to return a balance between dairy production and demand," said Michigan Farm Bureau dairy specialist Kevin Kirk. "Second, and just as important, is a consideration of the impact that any program's implementation would have on producer income both in the short term and the long term."

Kirk said Farm Bureau is opposed to any mandatory supply management program. And he said the organization believes the long term viability of the dairy industry depends upon being able to adapt to change and to bring in new producers. "Dairy farmers should not be inhibited from improving their income and efficiency in the future," he said.

Let's Go Bulldogs!

Late Move Clinches State Heavyweight Title for Terpstra

Chelsea junior heavyweight Mike Terpstra reversed his opponent with 21 seconds left to win a 4-3 decision and take a class B state championship at last Saturday's state wrestling meet in Battle Creek.

Bulldog senior Karl Wikman placed second at 112 pounds and senior Jim Hassett finished eighth at 145 pounds.

Terpstra, starting from the down position in the fourth quarter, used what coach Kerry Kargel called a turn-in to gain his final advantage over sophomore Rolie Ferris of Delton-Kellogg.

"At the end of the match, Mike didn't know he had won," Kargel said. "He knew it was close, but the scoreboard was directly overhead. He looked at us on the side and we said 'you won.' Then there was a burst of energy when he realized what he had done."

Terpstra scored three consecutive pins to reach the finals.

In his first match, Terpstra stopped John O'Connor of Ludington (36-1 record) in :56. His second opponent was Brian Elder of Lakeville (36-3), whom he pinned in 2:40. In the semifinals he stopped Eric Beckman of Kenowa Hills (35-3) in 1:30.

Ferris was 44-3 while Terpstra finished the season at 38-4.

Terpstra finished third in the regionals the previous week.

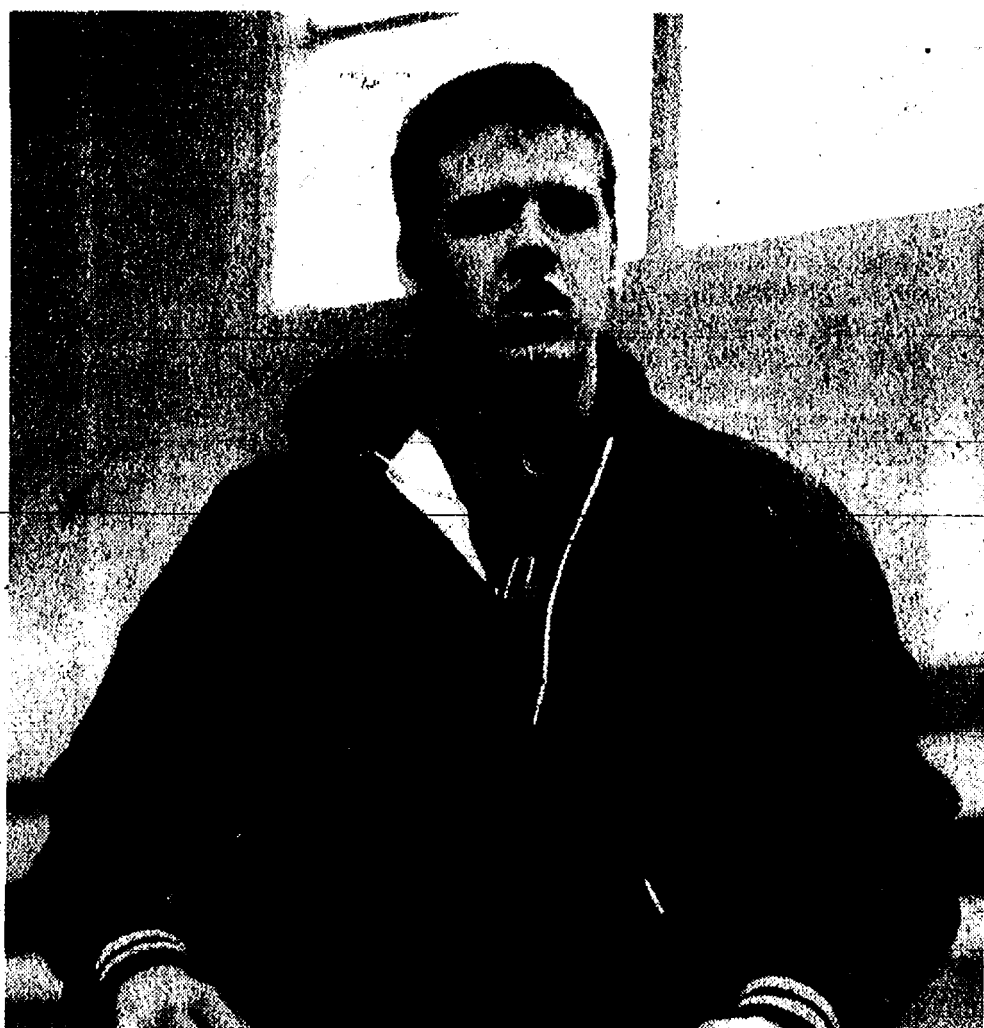

Wikman, gunning for his second straight state title, fell two points short and lost in the finals to Richie Collins of Jackson Northwest, 6-4.

Collins got the early takedown, but Wikman eventually reversed him to tie the score at two. Collins took the down position in the second period and scored an escape and a takedown to take a 5-2 lead.

Wikman, down in the third period, scored a reverse to narrow the gap to 5-4. Collins escaped to reach the final two-point margin.

Kargel described Collins as a big 112-pound wrestler. Collins was also a three-time state qualifier.

Wikman beat Collins twice last year when they both wrestled at 103 pounds and Wikman became the state champion.

MIKE TERPSTRA won the class B state heavyweight title last Saturday in Battle Creek.

"Karl did an excellent job at the state level," Kargel said.

"When you move up a weight it's a totally different story than trying to defend at the same weight."

Wikman, who finished at 39-6, opened with a 15-6 victory over Bruce McGrath of Montrose Hill McCloy. He followed with a 13-7 decision over Greg Mahlich of Ionia. Chris Morgan of Haslett became Wikman's third victim in an 8-4 decision.

Haslett, wrestled in the tournament's toughest weight class, Kargel said. There were four undefeated boys.

"All the kids Jim lost to this season finished in the top four at state," Kargel said.

"Any other season it wouldn't have been so tough for him. In the end, he placed about where he should have."

Haslett won his first match over Derek Eilers of Monroe Catholic Central, 7-4. In his second match he met Andy Heintzelman of Belding (51-0) and was pinned in 1:05. Haslett's third opponent was Bill Erwin of Mt. Morris, whom he beat 12-0. Haslett was eliminated in his fourth match when he was beaten 8-5 by Brian Wheeler of Bridgeport (42-0).

Haslett finished the season at 37-8-1. For Chelsea it was the second consecutive year Chelsea wrestlers have finished first and second in the state. Wikman was last year's champ and teammate Pat Taylor was second at 125 pounds.

Terpstra also became the fifth state wrestling champion in Chelsea history.

Dave Brinklow, swimmers Mauricio Bara, Joe Huetteman, Dirk Colbry, and Von Acker, and head coach Dave Jolly.

Bulldog Tankers Place Second in First SEC Meet

Milan Big Reds dominated Saturday's first annual Southeastern Conference Championships in Chelsea and won the meet easily with 423.5 points.

The Chelsea Bulldogs finished a distant second with 236 points. Pinckney Pirates were third with 191, Lincoln Railsplitters fourth with 143, Tecumseh Indians fifth with 142.5, and Dexter Dreadnaughts sixth with 118. Saline does not have a team.

"It was an outstanding effort for us and every member of the squad contributed," said Chelsea coach Dave Jolly.

"What is nice is how the kids train all season for their one big chance and then it all pays off."

Out of 45 preliminary swims, Chelsea swimmers recorded 36 season-best and career-best times.

"That kind of success is what swimming is all about," Jolly said.

In the 200 freestyle, Justin Rausch swam a 2:32, eclipsing his previous best time by six seconds. Henry Alvarez also dropped five seconds to finish at 2:04.97. David Brock dropped two seconds and broke the two minute barrier at 1:59.84. Joe Huetteman finished third in 1:53.32 in one of the most exciting races of the meet.

In the 200 individual medley, Steve Brock placed seventh with a time of 2:16.97. Matt Fischer placed fourth in the event at 2:15 with what Jolly called "some strong swimming." Mauricio Bara placed second in 2:08.74. Other Chelsea competitors were Matt Montagne at 2:32.22, Adam McArthur at 2:41.08, and Mike McEachern at 2:45.72.

Von Acker paced Chelsea in the 50 freestyle with a second place time of :23.82. Acker's time in the preliminaries, :23.37, set a conference record. Dirk Colbry placed third with a time of :23.87.

"Dirk had the best meet of his career," Jolly said.

The 100 butterfly was supposed to be dominated by Milan. However, Bara won the event with a new conference record of :56.11. Acker placed fifth with a time of 1:00.81 and Fischer took the consolation in 1:10.96.

Colbry won the 100 freestyle with a time of :51.01, good for a new conference record. It also qualified him for the state meet.

"Dirk's time puts him among the top sprinters in the state," Jolly said.

In the 500 freestyle, Huetteman led Chelsea with a third place time of 5:13.19. David Brock placed seventh in 5:25 and Alvarez took 11th with a time of 5:53.89.

Steve Brock was Chelsea's lone placer in the 100 backstroke. His time of 1:03.82 was his best by more than two seconds and it placed him fourth.

Geoff Ostling placed 10th in the 100 breaststroke in 1:12.17. Montagne swam season and career-best times with an eighth place finish of 1:09.19.

Chelsea's 400 freestyle relay team of Huetteman, Acker, Bara, and Colbry placed second in 3:30.29 and qualified for the state meet.

State championships are slated for March 8-9 at Eastern Michigan University.

Indians Stop Bulldogs In Final Home Contest

Tecumseh Indians had too many weapons for the Chelsea Bulldogs last Friday and won Chelsea's final home game of the season, 78-68.

Freshman Cagers End Season With Losses to Western, Lincoln

Chelsea Bulldogs freshman basketball team lost their final two games of the season last week to finish with a 5-13 record.

On Monday, Feb. 18 the Bulldogs lost to the Lincoln Railsplitters, 59-48. "We made three runs at Lincoln and got their lead down to five points but never could catch them," said Chelsea coach Dave Quilter.

"All year we've had the problem of falling behind in the first quarter then playing even or better the rest of the game."

Lincoln held a 21-12 lead at the end of the first period and a 34-22 advantage at half-time.

Quilter said David Stimpson, Jason McVittie, and Nathan Mackinder played a strong game for the Bulldogs.

Chelsea scorers included: Gabe Bernhard 10, Cory Brown 10, Stimpson 9, McVittie 8, Mackinder 7, David Seitz 2, and Ed Greenleaf 2.

Mackinder had 11 of Chelsea's 43 rebounds.

The Bulldogs had 32 turnovers. They shot 33 percent from the field and 54 percent from the line.

On Tuesday, Feb. 19 the Bulldogs were beaten by Jackson County Western, 56-32.

Chelsea had a 6-4 lead after the first quarter but fell behind by half-time, 25-12.

"The first quarter was the best defensive quarter we played all year," Quilter said.

"However, our horrible shooting from the field took us completely out of the game."

Brown supplied most of the Chelsea offense with a 17-point performance. Other scorers included Seitz 5, Bernhard 3, Paul Lopez 3, McVittie 2, Stimpson 1, and Greenleaf 1.

Chelsea was out-rebounded, 42-25. They shot 15 percent from the field and 65 percent from the line.

In other action, the freshmen beat their fathers in their annual game last Saturday.

7th Grade Spikers Win Two Matches

Beach Middle school seventh grade volleyball team rallied after losing the first game to knock off the Tecumseh Indians on Tuesday, Feb. 12.

Chelsea lost the first game, 6-11, but won the last three games 11-6, 11-2, and 11-1.

Top servers were Kyle Kentala with 10 points, Amanda Kivi with eight points, and Jill McKinnon with seven.

On Feb. 21 Chelsea won three straight games over Saline, 11-5, 11-2, and 11-5.

Chelsea had a serving percentage of 86, their highest of the season. Erin Baird, McKinnon, and Suzy Steele each served six points, and Tracy Dufek served five.

FRESHMAN PAT STEELE makes a strong move along the baseline during Chelsea's junior varsity victory over the Tecumseh Indians last Friday night. Chelsea took revenge for their only Southeastern Conference loss. They'll play for the league JV title this Friday at Pinckney.

JV Cagers Avenge Early Loss to Indians

Chelsea junior varsity basketball team blew most of a 19-point half-time lead but ended up winning by five points over Tecumseh last Friday, 57-52.

Chelsea was up by 38-19 at the half but scored just five points in the third quarter.

"We really wanted to win because they beat us in January," said Chelsea coach Lonnie Mitchell.

"We worked hard all week practicing against their offense and that frustrated them in the first half."

Chelsea was led by Pat Steele's 16 points, while Tom Poulter scored 14. Other Chelsea scorers included Ed Waller 11, Erik Brown 7, Nick McCalla 6, Dana Schmunk 2, and Colt White 1.

Poulter grabbed 17 rebounds. Waller played a good game off the bench, Mitchell said.

Chelsea plays Pinckney Friday for the SEC championship.

In other action last week, the Bulldogs dropped a non-conference game on Tuesday to Jackson Northwest, 48-45.

The teams were tied at half-time at 17. Northwest outscored the Bulldogs 18-10 in the third quarter and held on to win.

Steele led Chelsea with 13 points. Other scorers included Schmunk 11, McCalla 9, Poulter 6, White 4, and Brown 2.

Chelsea is 15-3 on the season and 10-1 in the SEC.

Chelsea Spikers Rally for Win Over Railsplitters

Chelsea Bulldogs varsity volleyball team won a hard-fought match with the Lincoln Railsplitters on Monday, Feb. 18, 15-11, 15-11, and 15-10.

After Chelsea built an 8-0 lead in the first game, a missed jump-serve by Chelsea marked a shift in momentum, according to Chelsea coach Dan Montgomery. That allowed Lincoln to rally.

In the second game, Chelsea trailed 0-5 when strong serving by junior Jenny Bobo put Lincoln at a disadvantage and the Bulldogs went on to win.

In the third game, Chelsea mounted a strong attack and led the entire way. The offensive efforts by Chelsea for the night included sophomore Gretchen Knutsen, who served 13 of 14 for 10 points and four aces; junior Tara Roehm, who served 12 of 12 for eight points and three aces; and junior Amanda Nimke, who served for 11 points and four aces.

Top spikers were Nimke, who attacked 17 of 19 attempts with 10 kills, junior Jennifer Petty, with 14 of 18 for nine kills, and Roehm, who went 15 of 18 with eight kills.

The defensive effort, which Montgomery said frustrated Lincoln the entire match, was led by sophomore Gretchen Knutsen, Petty, and junior Leah Hadley. Other good defensive performances were turned in by Roehm, Jen Teare, Nimke, Bobo, Danielle Taylor, and Melissa Thiel. Chelsea's Southeastern Conference record is 3-8.

Easier Reporting Procedure Proposed For Hazardous Spills

Under legislation approved recently by the House Conservation Committee, a 24-hour hotline that farmers could call to report hazardous spills would be established, according to Vicki Pontz, legislative counsel for Michigan Farm Bureau.

"Basically what it means is that when a spill of a hazardous substance occurred on a farm, there would be one phone number to call," Pontz said. "Under current regulations, several different agencies have to be called to report a spill."

But Pontz said that before the hotline goes into effect, the legislation has to pass the House and Senate and then be funded by donations or appropriations.

CHELSEA SENIOR Kerry Plank tries to shoot over Tecumseh's Andy Poppink during last Friday's final home game. Plank scored 19 points, including two on this jumper, to lead all scorers in the game. However, the Bulldogs lost 78-68. Plank and Poppink are perhaps the two best all-around players in the Southeastern Conference.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

There is a new theater in Chelsea, but theater is not new to Chelsea. There have been theater productions for many, many years in Chelsea and they have offered a great deal of entertainment to audiences while giving training to aspiring theater people.

I am speaking of the fine productions of the High School and the Chelsea Area Players. The Purple Rose Theater Company is new and exciting to the Chelsea community and appears to be off to a great success. It takes a great deal of time, talent and hard work to put on any production. My congratulations to this theater group.

I have worked at theater and worked at acting for nine years with the Chelsea Area Players and have had an opportunity to work with some of the people who are now involved with the Purple Rose Theater Company. Several of them have worked on the high school plays and in the Chelsea Area Players productions before becoming a part of this new theater group. This shows that being a member of one group does not exclude from working with another theater group of Chelsea just as being in the audience of one does not mean you cannot attend the others.

There is a great deal of theater going on in Chelsea over the next few weeks and all of it is fantastic. The High School is presenting "Once Upon A Mattress" on Feb. 28, and March 1-2. Chelsea Area Players are presenting "You Can't Take It With You" on March 14-17, and the Garage Theater is performing through March 24.

All of these productions involve people who want to entertain an audience and demonstrate their talents whether it be through acting, set design, costume design or directing. They have worked long and hard to offer the very best that they can and their main reward comes from the audience. Show your support to all the theater of Chelsea, for they are all worthy and deserve to be applauded.

Norma Graflund.

To the Editor,

About that "Yellow Ribbon" tradition, it's older than your contributor thinks. Christmas 1899, their first year of married life, my father, Geo. E. Van Houten, gave my mother a little book published by Artemus Wasdond titled "The Bow of Orange Ribbon." It contained the song: "Around her neck she wore a yellow ribbon, whether making bread or mowing hay. She wore it for her lover who was far, far away. Far away, far away, she wore it for her lover who was far, far away."

In this little book the story was told how New Amsterdam became New York in the seven years war and the Dutch military sailed away. My ancestors, the Van Houtens, were part of the remaining settlers in the change over. In life-long protest, great-great grandmother continued to speak only Dutch.

Dear Editor:

I am thoroughly disgusted with all this to-do about sex education in public schools. The bible tells us that we are "conceived in sin and born in iniquity." So we advocate teaching the kids to sin safely—even provide the necessities in some cases to assure their safety. If I had children in school today I should certainly rebel. If you want to teach our children to "sin safely" go all the way—teach them to rob banks, steal, murder, rape, etc., safely.

We were all created by a Holy God who is "Our Father" and he gave his son to die for our sins. Instead of sex education, why not put the Holy Bible and the Lord's Prayer in our schools so that our children might learn how to live decently in this beautiful world our Lord has given us.

Children are taught to respect and honor the American flag in school—we had to salute the flag in school—no doubt they still do, but after we had attended to that, the teacher would read a passage from the Bible. Believe me, it didn't hurt one of us. Today a Bible in school is a "no, no." Why not a Bible in school? Because we have all races and nationalities in our schools and we can't force our religious beliefs on anyone else. I'm not talking about forcing our "beliefs" on anyone. I'm speaking about "God, our Heavenly Father's book of laws which he has given to us as a guide to salvation and Heaven at the end of our lives."

You'll find your sex education in the Bible. You don't have "to force your religion" on anyone but EVERYONE should learn there is only ONE way of salvation and that is the cross of Calvary. You might have Hindus, Jews or all the other classes but ALL were created by the same GOD and ALL will be judged by Him, no matter your color, race or creed. Don't FORCE it if you don't want to, but present it and let children learn it the same as they learn everything else.

If our children were taught what sin is and to abstain from it our police and prisons and hospitals wouldn't be so busy. Give the kids God's Holy law in schools and you won't need sex education.

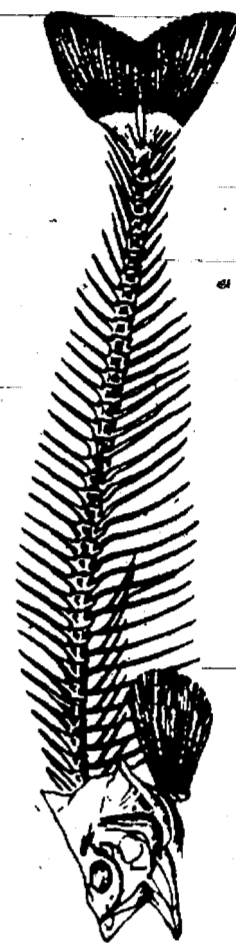

The Bible also says "spare the rod and spoil the child." After you have taught your children that sex is a sin (outside of marriage) and catch them at it—the Bible also says "spare the rod and spoil the child!" Anyone agree with me?

ONE OF THE HIGHLIGHTS of Winter Carnival festivities at Chelsea High school last Friday morning was the air band competition. Above, the senior band of lead singer Jeremy Stephens, right, and backup singers Kerry Plank and Chris Haugen, left, perform a spirited rendition of "Duke of Earl," complete with gyrations that would have made Elvis Presley blush.

WINTER CARNIVAL at Chelsea High school last week had a "western" theme and one of Friday's activities was a steer-roping competition. This lasso hit the mark, although the activity proved to be difficult for the competitors.

JUNIOR JEFF HOLZHAUSEN (in cowboy hat) was chosen Winter Carnival King last Friday by students at Chelsea High school. The selection was announced at half-time of last Friday's basketball game. Escort Dana Durst applauded the announcement while Von Acker and Carrie Flintoft looked on.

- (2) Washtenaw Engineering Company of Ann Arbor wants to have the northerly 25.68 acres +/- of a total parcel containing approximately 73.29 acres re-zoned from A-1 to R-2 in order to have these acres consistent with the rest of the parcel and to permit development of a low density subdivision. ENTERPRISING YOUNG MEN on Boyce Rd. used the recent big snowfall to create this authentic looking igloo at their home. Anthony Franklin, left, and John Franklin, right, along with Joseph Franklin and David Foster even crushed charcoal and used the powder to create the ice brick lines. Their mother reports the boys had fun with the project, but she stopped short of letting them build a fire inside.

Today's Investor

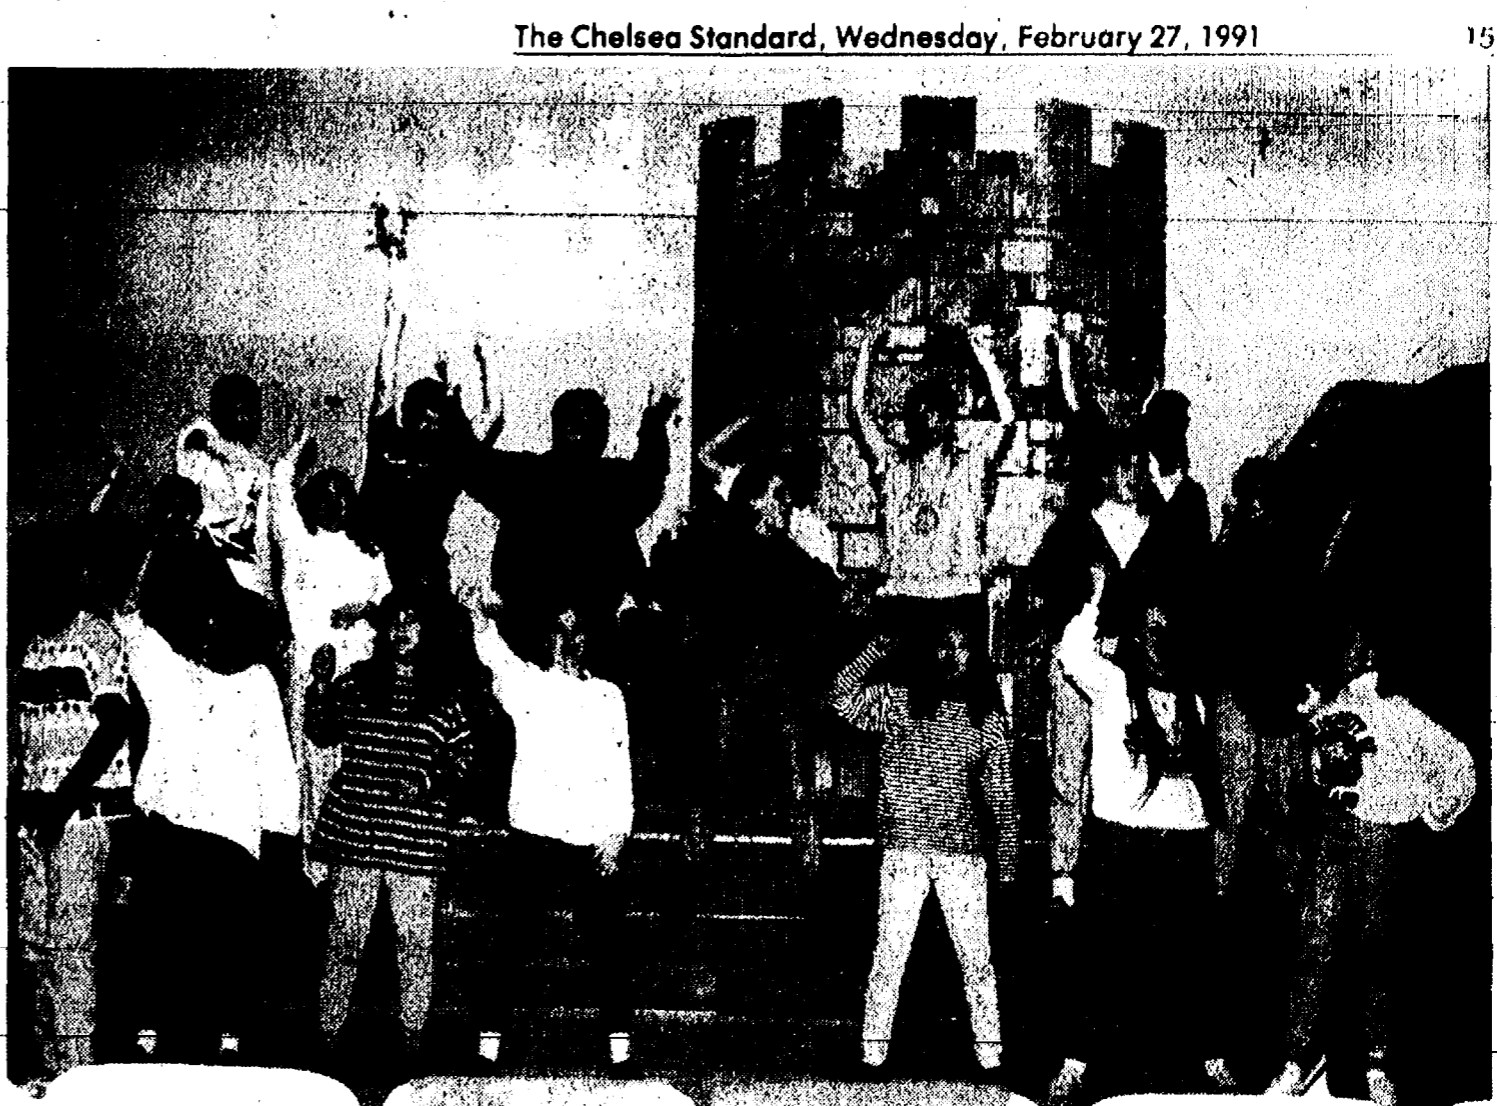

By Thomas E. O'Hara

NAIC Investor Advisory Service

Q. Currently we have $100,000 in an IRA account in a savings bank. We are looking for a way to increase the interest yield on these savings. Can you help us?
A. An IRA is a tax deferred account so it is not prudent to take above-average risks in order to attempt to achieve above-average yields.
Currently interest rates are down sharply from mid-1990. The Federal Reserve has shifted gears from fighting inflation with tight money and high interest rates to battling the recession with lower interest rates. Investors can do no more about interest rates than they can affect the weather. One has to adjust.

We have several positive and negative suggestions. If fixed income investments are selected, stay with short-term maturity, as interest rates are expected to rise with a return to a growth economy.

- 1. Consider a 2 1/2 year U.S. Treasury Bond. An August 1992, 7 1/4%, U.S. Treasury Bond, selling at 100 8/32, provides a 7 percent yield-to-maturity.
2. Avoid the temptation to invest in high-yield junk bonds or junk-bond mutual funds. The risk is too great of potential loss of principal.
3. Consider a high-quality corporate bond. The Mobil Corp. 8 5/8%, due 7/1/94, priced at 100.583, yields 8.4 percent.
4. Over the long term, common stocks provide a total return (yield plus appreciation) of about 9-10 percent. The total return from stocks outperforms fixed-income securities. The portfolio should be divided between stocks of 10 different industries to provide adequate diversification.
A good quality no-load mutual fund can provide adequate diversification for those who do not feel comfortable in selecting reasonable value among high-quality stocks. You could try five percent of your money in RPM, which we mentioned at the beginning of this column.

An Investment Idea
RMP, Inc., is a stock which has been rewarding Today's Investor with increases for 43 consecutive years. For a company with a 43-year record of growing earnings and increased dividends, RPM has a pretty dull list of products. About 60 percent of the company's sales go to the industrial market and consist of such things as roofing and other coatings which help in waterproofing, general maintenance and corrosion control. The other 40 percent go into the consumer market where they perform many of the same functions.
For the past 43 years, the stock of RPM has increased in value by about 80 percent in each five-year period. The dividend has increased by about 59 percent each five years. This has produced outstanding results for the investor. The big question for Today's Investor is, "Will that rate of growth continue for the next five years?" We believe growth of this nature is produced by management.

ONCE UPON A MATTRESS will be presented by Chelsea High school this Thursday, Feb. 28 and Friday, March 1 at 8 p.m. The musical comedy features court ladies, a queen, prince, princess, and wizard and tells the story of marriage in an ancient kingdom. Tickets are on sale at Chelsea Pharmacy.

State Rules Should Be No Stricter Than Federal Rules

A Michigan Farm Bureau Labor expert said the farm organization's policy opposes state regulations that are stricter than federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) standards.
Howard Kelly, legislative counsel for Michigan Farm Bureau, said that the Engler administration is in negotiations with House and Senate Democrats in an effort to make major changes in the administration of occupational safety and health rules.
"On the federal level the rules generally do not apply to the real small businesses, like small farms with less than 10 employees," he said. "But in Michigan we make them apply to all businesses, even those with only one employee. That's somewhat of a burden on most of the small farmers."
Kelly says that it is also essential that agriculture be represented on the various agency commissions that administer safety and health rules in the state.

Bamboo is not a tree. It's a grass.

YOU & YOUR PET

By Linda Reider
Director of Education
Humane Society of Huron Valley

★ Spaying and Neutering

I always found it hard to grasp the extent of the pet overpopulation problem in our nation. But recently I read a statistic that I can understand, and I'd like to share it with you now. "For every child born in the United States, 15 dogs and 45 cats are also born." Since few of us own 60 pets, at least 90 percent of these animals will never have a home. They will be abandoned on roadsides and at humane shelters. Our excess pets fill the graveyards of unwanted animals—dumpsters, freezers, and gas chambers.

The situation is tragic, but more tragic yet is the fact that we can prevent pet overpopulation. We just don't think ahead enough to do so.

How many of us forget to have our pets spayed and neutered before that first litter? Pets should come complete with alarm clocks that go off with loud buzzers at age six months! Perhaps then we would remember to call the vet.

However, for some people, it is not a matter of memory. Too many pet owners choose not to spay or neuter their pets. While some are indeed professional purebred breeders, many others are misled by common neutering myths. Let me dispel those now.

1. Your pet will not get fat and lazy due to spaying or neutering. Obesity is caused by overfeeding.

2. Your pet's personality will not change after the surgery.

3. Your pet will not be unhappy due to missing out on sexual activity. Sex for pets is different than it is for humans.

In addition, pets that are neutered or spayed have several distinct advantages. Dogs and cats of both sexes that are sterilized around age six months have lower incidences of certain types of cancer. Spayed females will not go through annoying heat cycles, and neutered males may roam less because they are no longer driven to seek mates.

If I've convinced you to look into your pet's surgery, take my advice and do it now! Pets are mostly warm-season breeders (especially cats) and will be coming into heat in early spring. Call your local veterinarian for an appointment, or, if you find the operation cost-prohibitive, contact HSHV's low-cost spay/neuter clinic in Ann Arbor. Recovery from spaying and neutering is usually quick (seven to ten days), complications are rare, and results are permanent.

I'd like to close by discrediting a common fairy tale about puppies and kittens. How often have I heard, "But I can find homes for my pet's babies so easily!" Please remember, every home is already more than spoken for with the massive population of puppies and kittens right here in our own county. Every home you use up on one of your animals means that one of the HSHV shelter dies in its place.

Next Week: "Selecting a Veterinarian."

Milk Price Drop Hits Farmers Faster Than It Does Consumers

Milk prices, which have plummeted on the farm level, are going down much more slowly in retail outlets, according to Kevin Kirk, dairy specialist for Michigan Farm Bureau.
"Dairy processors contend that higher margins are needed to make up for losses incurred when milk prices on the farm went up in 1989 and the first part of 1990," Kirk said. "In addition, processors say that they must cover higher costs such as transportation."
Kirk said farm prices of milk have declined 32 percent from December of 1989 to December of 1990.
