LET THE CONSTRUCTION BEGIN: Downtown Development Authority's streetscape and parking lot project began Monday morning with the demolition of the former Harper Pontiac storage garage on W. Middle St.

The lot is scheduled to be graded and the house in the background moved to another lot on W. Middle St. on June 12.

Long-Awaited Downtown Streetscape Project Gets Underway Monday

Chelsea Downtown Development Authority's streetscape and parking lot construction project began Monday as workers started demolishing sidewalk on the west side of Main St. from Orchard to South Sts.

The four and one-half month project is scheduled to be completed by Oct. 15. It should substantially change the look of downtown Chelsea.

Flat Rock Contractors met with downtown merchants and property owners last Wednesday to discuss the project schedule. Essentially, construction will proceed from Orchard to North Sts. on the west side of Main St., then will move across the street and proceed from the railroad tracks back to Orchard St. It should have minimal impact on the Sidewalk Festival and the Chelsea Community Fair Parade.

The specific schedule is as follows: West side of Main St.: Orchard to South St., June 3-10; South to W. Middle St., June 10-July 20; W. Middle St. to North St., July 22-Aug. 10; railroad to E. Middle St., Aug. 12-Aug. 31; Middle St. to Park St., Sept. 2-28; and Park St. to Orchard St., Sept. 30-Oct. 15.

Work on the side streets will be conducted as the crews are working on those areas of Main St. closest to them.

The South St. to W. Middle St. portion is the longest because it also includes construction of the parking lot behind the Main St. businesses. There is also a substantial amount of sidewalk to be replaced on Main St.

New permanent directional signs are scheduled to be installed this week in many locations throughout the village. Visitors to town should be able to find any school, parking lot, the police station, the hospital, or any other frequently-visited site without guesswork.

One of the new old-style, two-globed light fixtures has been installed between Merkel's Home Furnishings and McKune Memorial Library for public inspection. It is a sample of what will be installed at corners where the curbs are "bumped out." Other single-globed lights in the same style will be installed between blocks, essentially from Veteran's Park to Orchard St.

The former Easudes house behind the 14th District Courthouse on South St. is scheduled to be moved June 12 to its new resting place on W. Middle St. The move has to be co-ordinated with

Village, Teamsters Agree on Contract for Full-Time Employees

Village of Chelsea has approved a new three-year contract for full-time village employees.

The contract, negotiated for the 14 employees by the Teamsters union, calls for a four percent raise this year, and five percent raises each of the next two years.

Salaries now range from $7.44 per hour for an entry-level clerical employee to $13.21 per hour for an electric and water foreman with six years of experience.

The contract contains a no-strike clause but allows legal picketing.

For the first time, employees with eight or more years of service will receive annual longevity bonuses. Employees with at least eight years but less than 15 will receive $400 the first year, rising to $500 and $600 over the contract.

Employees with at least 15 years but less than 20 years will receive $650 the first year, rising to $700 and $750.

Employees with 20 or more years will receive $700 the first year, rising to $800 and $1,000.

For employees who work in non-desk jobs, there is a $50 annual boot allowance. Mechanics also get a $200 tool allowance.

Retroactive to June of 1990, retirees who are drawing pensions can continue in the village's group health insurance plan. The village will pay $100 per month or one-half the cost of an employee's premium, whichever is less.

Salaries and wages for employees not covered by the contract include assistant manager, $34,125; administrative assistant, $29,872; police chief, $38,765; electric and water superintendent, $36,729; wastewater plant superintendent, $33,789; wastewater assistant superintendent, $33,578; public works superintendent, $32,911; landfill operator, $32,911; part-time patrolman, $6.46 to $9.42 per hour; part-time dispatcher, $4.96 to $6.22 per hour; parking meter attendant, $5.72 to $5.98 per hour; crossing guard, $6; other part-time, $3.84 to $7.06 per hour; zoning inspector, $100

Area Voters To Choose School Board Member, Decide Millage Issue

Chelsea School District voters will choose a new school board trustee and help decide whether a county-wide millage issue passes in next Monday's June 10 annual school elections.

The millage involves a permanent 1.5 mill request from the Washtenaw Intermediate School District for the "Education for Employment Program." The idea is to create a strong link between schools and businesses to graduate students who are prepared to go into the workforce immediately, whether or not they intend to continue their education. The program would include increased use of technology so all schools in the county can benefit from courses co-ordinated by WISD, as well as summer internships for vocational students, and other programs.

Candidates for school board include Janet Roberts and Conrad Knutsen, both of whom ran last year. Incumbent Ann Feeney decided not to seek re-election.

The candidates have different opinions on major issues in the district.

Roberts, 11506 Jackson Rd., is a trustee in the Chelsea Education Foundation, is co-ordinating this summer's Waterloo Area Recreation Project, is a member of the Senior Citizen Housing Task Force, the school district's facilities committee, the early childhood education coalition, Huron Valley Council of Co-operative Nursery Schools, Chelsea Children's Co-operative Preschool Board, and chairs the Christian Education Committee.

Roberts supports the full proposed $23.75 million school-bonding proposal that will be voted on in September.

However, she said at first she was hesitant to support $14 million in work at the high school because the facilities committee was primarily concerned with building a new elementary school and renovating the existing elementary.

"I really had to have a lot of questions answered about the high school since it is still a sound building," Roberts said.

She said she decided to support the whole proposal because it addresses all of the school district's long-term needs based on predicted population trends.

"People don't like to be asked for money over and over again," she said.

Roberts said she "has mixed feelings" about the Washtenaw Intermediate School District's 1.5 mill request for the Education for Employment Program.

"I still don't have enough answers," Roberts said.

"Technical education sounds like a wonderful idea, but I wonder if corporations are contributing their share."

As a member of the school board, Roberts said she'd like to work on alternative funding for schools.

"I'd like to see the county and state boards become more effective lobbyists," she said.

Another of Roberts' concerns is how Chelsea's slow change from a rural to suburban community might affect students.

"Policies that have been spoken in the past need to be written," Roberts said.

"We need a more defined set of rules for students."

Knutsen, who works in medical research at the University of Michigan, said he supports the general concepts of the $23.75 bond proposal but would rather see voters get a choice on the ballot. For example, he said, there could have been one proposal covering the new elementary school and renovations at North and South schools, and another proposal that included that work along with work at the high school.

"I've been really up in the air about this," Knutsen said.

"My daughter is active in sports and band so the new gym and music room seemed like a good idea," he said.

But I don't want to risk losing the elementary school work for the sake of the high school. I think the clear first priority is renovation and space for the elementary kids. School funding is such a mess and there are many retired people here who can't afford higher taxes. Having two proposals would have given voters a choice. As we've seen recently, the athletic facilities don't seem to be related to the success of the program."

Knutsen said he would like to have seen a co-operative effort between the recreation council and the school district to obtain land for fields that could be used by both programs.

Knutsen said he is against the county-wide millage issue on Monday's ballot.

"Everything I know about education says that the main criticisms are kids can't read, can't write, and can't do math," Knutsen said.

"That's something that should be taught in the lower grades through high school. I can't see where the program addresses those questions. I

Village Millage Rises Despite Seniors' Protests

They lost the war, but they appear to have won at least one small battle.

For the first time in many years, a few village residents turned out to express their displeasure about a proposed rise in village property taxes.

When last Tuesday's public hearing was all over, however, village council levied 10.94 mills in operating millage, a rise of .34 mills over last year. It was the suggested rate going into the meeting and represents the maximum the Headlee Amendment will allow without a referendum.

However, after zoning inspector and self-admitted village taxpayer Rosemary Harook questioned why council had to purchase six new chairs for $1,900, calling it a low-priority purchase, council backed off and decided to "re-visit" their motion, or continue to study the purchase. Meanwhile, council members will continue to use their green-upholstered, wooden chairs. The original purchase decision was made after council adjourned from a closed session earlier this month.

Several senior citizens told council they are having a tough time making ends meet on fixed incomes. The millage rate translates to a rise of $17 for a house with a market value of $100,000. However, as the seniors mentioned, the rises in property values makes the boost even greater.

Others in the audience questioned why the village needs more money than last year.

Village president Richard Steele said the construction of a new electric and water building and major sewer work are two items that account for much of the increase.

"We'll get some of that money back, but it won't be for 10 months or so," Steele said. The electric and water funds operate on a self-sustaining basis on revenues from the sales of electricity and water. Those departments will pay for the construction from revenues.

Steele also said, when questioned, that as far as he knows the village will

In an effort to cut down on the amount of garbage taken to the Chelsea landfill, the village raised its rates for commercial haulers by 50 percent. Cutting the amount of garbage coming into the landfill would help to extend the life of the landfill, projected to be about five years.

A Waterloo township man filed a civil complaint against Waterloo township and a Battle Creek company to stop the development of a gravel pit near Clear Lake Rd. The gravel pit, which had already been approved by the township planning commission, would be on land owned by Clare Wahl who wanted to sell the gravel by the ton to Cole Brothers Gravel Co. Wahl's neighbor, Gust Norman, wants to stop him because "they don't want to follow the regulations of the township," Norman said. According to Norman, the township adopted an ordinance regarding such enterprises and "they want to have many deviations from it."

Elsie Paul, known in the neighborhood as "grandma Paul," turned 85 on June 3. A Chelsea resident since 1924, she moved to Summit to begin her married life 63 years ago. Her birthday was celebrated with a neighborhood block party attended by over 70 friends, neighbors, and relatives.

In what was probably no surprise to anyone, Chelsea senior, Todd Starkey was named the baseball team's Most Valuable Player at the team's banquet. Starkey, a pitcher and centerfielder, was also the captain of the team. Starkey was also a co-winner of the Pitcher of the Year Award, along with junior lefty Greg Boughton. Senior Karen Weber was named the Most Valuable Player on the Chelsea Bulldog varsity softball team. Weber played third base and had a fielding average of .938 the highest on the team. "She has poise and confidence and kept the team together," said head coach Charlie Waller.

Fiscal Agency Finds Revenue-Boosters Flawed

Without corrective action on a package of revenue-enhancing bills awaiting the governor's signature, the state will continue to face a deficit of $801.2 million according to Senate Fiscal Agency Director Gary Olson.

But if agreement can be reached to fix the bills, including giving them immediate effect, the deficit would be shaved to $184.7 million, he added.

Olson, in a report to members of the Senate Appropriations Committee, said the situation will become even worse if the legislature does not reach agreement by June on revising the business tax where a court ruling on the Capital Acquisition Deduction (CAD) potentially adds $338 million to the deficit.

The ruling is also putting a huge strain on the state's available cash, with business tax payments already down by over $100 million.

The $749 million package of bills intended to cover most of this year's deficit was approved by the Legislature two weeks ago and is awaiting action by the governor.

Senate Democrats refused to give the bills immediate effect after budget talks between the governor and House Democrats broke down.

Without immediate effect, the bills do not take effect until 90 days after sine die, about April 1, 1991, or six months after the end of the current fiscal year.

Olson said the auditor general does not consider the bills applicable to this fiscal year without immediate effect. But Management and Budget Director Patricia Woodworth said she understands from conversations with the auditor general the funds can still be credited to this year's books and the only item needing repair is a $55 million transfer from the escheats fund (HB 4104).

That bill was the only one in the package that did receive immediate effect, but Olson said it is snarled because separate legislation is required before the transfer can take place.

However, another $103 million through school bond refinancing (HBs 4136 and 4137) is in jeopardy because of the immediate effect issue, with the state's two largest districts saying they could not begin the program until next year.

And, the language in the bills is faulty which the Senate had been prepared to correct two weeks ago before deciding to send them to the governor without returning them to the House.

Woodworth said she would support any necessary corrective language if the House and Senate agree to act on the bills but did not think the House would be willing to give them immediate effect.

Another bill (HB 4150) in the package, allowing for the use of $22.5 million from the Budget Stabilization Fund, as well as add $366 million to the budget by revisions in accounting for homestead property tax credits, may also have problems in addition to the need for immediate effect, because of concern over how $75 million of it will be spent.

Woodworth plans to take $75 million from the Budget Stabilization Fund to pay for an out-of-court settlement with hospitals and nursing homes that sued the state for inadequate Medicaid reimbursement.

Olson said that according to the auditor general, the Management and Budget director has authority to pay for a lawsuit without having the money appropriated by the Legislature but she must take it out of the general fund, not the BSF.

Woodworth said she does have authority based on Attorney General Frank Kelley's opinion supporting the governor's BSF withdrawal to avoid layoffs in the Department of Corrections earlier this year. She said no money is available from the general fund. "This is the same authority to meet federal court action," Woodworth said.

If the CAD is not resolved by June, Treasurer Doug Roberts will have to come up with a new strategy to pay local governments and meet state payroll and other bills, Olson said. The state has already set up a schedule of deferring those payments.

Olson said the state cannot borrow more money to meet its cash obligations, not only because of a likely downgrading of its credit, but because it would probably default on the loan due to a lack of available funds in September if the problem is not resolved.

The Senate approved business tax changes last week to replace the CAD and protect the revenue the state now receives, but large business groups oppose it and House leaders are offering only a temporary solution to the cash problem before taking away the benefit and using it for property tax cuts.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

It says here that research in Australia has come up with peel off wool. Instead of clipping sheep in the hormone experiment, ranchers pull off the wool like taking apart two pieces of Velcro. I don't know about sheep, but I passed this item along at the country store Saturday night for what it might be worth, which was not much.

Bug Hookum was quick to turn my report to fear that the Aussies showed the world a way to take more of the pain out of fleecing. Watch out, Bug allowed, for them hormones to show up in American taxpayers diet. And from some of the hospital bill horror stories he's been hearing, he went on, don't be surprised when a side order of hormones comes with the patient's breakfast to avoid a relapse at checkout time.

Usually, the fellers perk up to scientific breakthroughs, special in agriculture, but Bug was ready to move the agenda along. As for cutting back on pain, he had read where a new career has opened up to help deal with layoffs and firings from the slowdown in sales and manufacturing. It is called out-placement consultant, and what he does is tell bosses how to fire workers and tell workers how to deal with getting fired.

It is said that diplomacy is the art of telling a feller to go to Hell in such a way he looks forward to the trip, Bug reminded, and he was of a mind that the out-placement consultant has got to have that kind of skills. His clipping said the key to firing and getting fired is being prepared for it. The firer has got to understand the feelings of the firee, and he's got to accent the positive of severing pay and benefits.

The firee needs to know losing a job ain't the end of the world, and fer him to focus on moving ahead with his life.

General, the fellers weren't buying the new career field. Zeke Grubb figured them that go into it have got fired and can't find work. Farthermore, Zeke said, it sounds to much like a good news-bad news joke. Putting a positive spin on getting fired is like the feller that ask his preacher if there is golf in Heaven. The preacher said he'd check. He got back to the feller and said the good news is, Heaven is full of great golf courses. The bad news is the feller had a 9 a.m. tee time the next day.

Actual, Zeke went on, there's a heap of these unusual spins around. He had read this piece about this feller that works closest to former President Carter in Habitat for Humanity. The feller said they were nailing shingles on a roof one day when Carter ask about his politics. When he said he was a Republican, Carter kidded him about why he was involved in a liberal cause like building houses fer poor folks.

The feller told the former President that he's a "conservative Republican with a social conscience." The feller said Carter laughed and said that was one of them ox morons, like "honest lawyer" and "holy war."

Final, Clem Webster picked up on the ox moron to note he had saw a new way to explain fast food. He had saw where a recent study shows that the average item of food in this country travels 1,200 miles before it gets eat. This means, Clem said, that our food gits around more than we do.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

New Manager Gets Three-Year Contract

Chelsea Village Council approved a three-year contract with new village manager Jack Myers last Tuesday.

The contract calls for Myers to be paid $41,000 for the first year. The figure is about $2,000 more than former manager Robert Stalker was earning. He will also have use of a village car.

The basic contract is the same as former manager Robert Stalker's. However, one change was made, reflecting the village's experience with Stalker's departure.

If Myers is forced to leave his job, he will get six months severance pay. However, if he secures a new job within that six months, severance pay will stop. Stalker collected six months pay and had a new job within a few weeks of leaving here.

Myers, who already owns a home on Wilkinson St., is also required to live in the village.

Myers' vacant village council seat is scheduled to be filled next Tuesday.

Thomas E. O'Hara, Chairman,

Q. I recently changed jobs. My former employers had a retirement program and I have received notice that I have a sum totaling $37,200 accumulated there. They have given me three options. I could take an insurance policy that immediately gives my estate a guarantee of $50,000. If I leave it on deposit and do not die, 6% will be added to the $37,200 and accumulate earnings each year until I reach age 65 when I can have the lump sum or an annuity. I am now 38 years old. I also could take an annuity at this time with payments based on my life expectancy, or I could take the amount in cash.

I also have my own self-directed IRA plan which I have had for several years. It is invested totally in common stocks and has done well. The first option sounds very good, but I'm intrigued with trying my luck, taking the cash and adding it to my IRA. Do you think that would be wise? Do you think by retirement age I could be ahead of option 1?

A. Since you have done well with your self-directed IRA plan, the answer is obvious. Take the $37,200 and roll it over into your IRA plan.

The returns from common stocks, over a long period of time, have averaged 9% to 10% a year. You should look at the real rate of return of investments. That rate of return is the stated rate minus the rate of inflation. Recently inflation has been running at about five percent a year. At a six percent yield, the real rate of return is only one percent a year. High quality growth stocks should provide a much higher rate of return.

There is also the factor that annuities are no safer than the financial strength of the insurance company. A well diversified portfolio of stocks depends on the financial strength of a number of companies.

ENGAGED: Lawrence and Patricia Williams of Munnith have announced the engagement of their daughter, Christine K. Corson to Richard C. Olsen of Grand Rapids, son of Charles and Alyce Olsen of Lake Geneva, Wis. The bride-elect is employed by the United States Postal Service and the bridegroom elect is employed by Kimberly-Clark of Grand Rapids. They plan to be married Oct. 19 in Chelsea, at the First United Methodist church.

various utilities so lines may be moved all at once. The former Harper Pontiac lot on W. Middle St. will be graded so the house can be moved behind the businesses out to W. Middle St. First, however, an old Harper garage has to be torn down, and the garage and a porch on the Easudes property have to be demolished.

In other DDA news, last Tuesday, village council approved a temporary parking plan devised by DDA and government officials. The plan changes some long-term parking to short-term.

Trustee Stephanie Kanten, who cast the lone dissenting vote, criticized the plan as too confusing. She advocated free, unlimited parking in the village throughout the construction.

The village is supposed to install temporary signs to show people what kind of parking will be allowed in various places.

The major features of the plan are: 14 spaces along the east side of the fire station driveway on W. Middle St. will be converted from long-term to two-hour parking; two handicap spaces behind the fire hall will be eliminated; two-hour spaces will be created on Main St. in front of the old Hop-In site; and four spaces in the Municipal Parking Lot to the south of spots reserved for village vehicles will be changed from long-term to short-term parking.

Village Millage

not raise electric or water rates this year.

One member of the audience suggested the village levy 10.95 mills to force a referendum.

"I don't think you'd get it," the resident said.

Said Steele, "I don't think we need that much."

A resident objected to the coincidence that the maximum millage the village can levy is indeed exactly as much money as it needs.

Total village levy will be 16.04 mills. Other components of the total include 1.85 mills for McKune Memorial Library, and 3.25 mills for debt retirement on the wastewater treatment plant.

The village could have levied 9.8 mills without a public hearing. Last year the village could have levied 11.26 mills with a public hearing but chose to levy 10.6 mills.

The millage funds a $1.65 million budget for 1991-92, the largest budget in village history.

Mr. and Mrs. Tim Dunavin

Sandy Havens, Tim Dunavin Speak Vows at Methodist Church

Sandy Havens and Tim Dunavin exchanged marriage vows before the Rev. Lee Penzien in a 1 p.m. ceremony at the Dexter United Methodist church, Saturday, March 30.

The bride is the daughter of Charles Smith of Grand Ledge, and the late Jo-An Smith.

Parents of the bridegroom are Marge Wylie of Dexter, and the late John Dunavin.

For her wedding, the bride chose a floor-length gown of white silk organza.

The scalloped neckline was accented with lace overlays, and she wore a single strand of pearls.

Her floral arrangement included white carnations, roses and baby's breath, with white ribbon streamers. A headpiece adorned with tiny silk roses and pearls secured the bride's elbow-length veil of silk illusion.

Darlene Andrews of Pinckney and Doug Schiaff of Dexter were the couple's honor attendants.

Bridesmaids were Denise Guilford, the bride's sister-in-law, and Tina Lamotte.

Stacey Havens, daughter of the bride, was the junior maid of honor.

The bride's attendants wore teal-length gowns of ruby silk, and carried bouquets of pink and white carnations.

The bridegroom's mother was gown in pink silk.

Ushers included Randy Wheeler, cousin of the bridegroom, Tim Orbring, the bride's brother Ron Smith, and Danny Schiaff.

Following the wedding, a reception honoring the newly-married couple was held for approximately 200 guests at the Chrysler UAW Hall, Chelsea.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunavin reside in Gregory.

also think it would have been wiser for them to ask for a millage for a specific period of time rather than a charter millage, which will be hard to take back.

Generally speaking, Knutsen said he'd also like to see school district policy be formulated with the benefit of the students in mind.

"If it means more work for teachers or administrators, that's beside the point," Knutsen said.

Another problem Knutsen wants to work on as a board member is teenage drinking and drug use. He supports stricter policies to send the right message.

Finally, Knutsen said he'd like the district to devise a way to evaluate high school students to see whether they can actually "read, write, and compete when they leave school."

Knutsen is vice-president of the Chelsea Recreation Council, a member of the Kiwanis Club of Chelsea, has organized ski trips for students, is involved with coaching summer ball, and is helping to organize a summer softball clinic and camp.

Polls will be open Monday from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at Beach Middle school.

At the Girl Scout Court of Awards Cynthia Klingler was presented with the coveted Curved Bar award, highest in Girl Scouting. She is believed to be the youngest girl ever to receive the award in this area. At the same time she also received her first class Girl Scout award, completing a list of 17 awards she has received.

Susie Parker was severely bitten on the top of her head by a neighbor's dog. The mishap occurred as the child was leaving the neighbor's yard to return home. The dog, a collie, was tied at a barn door. No one witnessed the incident. The neighbor, Mrs. Welton Bohne, heard the child's cries and went to her assistance. Mrs. Parker started for Foote hospital, Jackson, with the child in her car and was met on the road by an ambulance which took them the rest of the way. The dog was kept under observation for 10 days for possible rabies infection.

At the band concert, four band members were honored by being presented with music scholarships. Three of the scholarships were presented by the Chelsea Band Boosters organization and one by the Kiwanis club of Chelsea. The Band Boosters awards were presented to Sharon Smyser, a ninth grade student who played the clarinet; Ruth Prentice, an eighth-grader who plays the flute; and Byron Pearson, eleventh grade cornet player. Carol Reddeman, who plays a tenor saxophone, received the Kiwanis scholarship award. She was in the eighth grade.

U-M Campus Maps Guide Walking Tours

In Michigan, lovers of nature don't have to look far to find unusual trees, shrubs and flowers. The University of Michigan's Ann Arbor campus offers an array of greenery.

For those who have never taken a botany class or leafed through a tree-identification book, two new U-M campus walking-tour maps take the mystery out of marigolds. The maps give specific details about the University's plants and about buildings that form the backdrops for the greenery.

From the Chinese ginkgo tree at the front entry of Michigan Union on Central Campus to the Japanese Zelkova tree in front of the U-M president's house on S. University, the U-M grounds offer numerous botanical diversions.

The self-guided tours were planned by eight U-M School of Natural Resources graduate students. The walking tours take about an hour each and wind through Central Campus, the Medical Campus and Nichols Arboretum. Tour designers said that they picked trees and shrubs to feature that are interesting in winter as well as in other seasons.

Maps are available for 12 cents each, printed on recycled paper, from U-M Business Operations, 5010 Fleming Administration Building, Ann Arbor 48109-1340. Proceeds cover reprinting costs.

Why I Support JANET M. ROBERTS CHELSEA SCHOOL BOARD

"I am currently serving with Jan Roberts on the Chelsea Education Foundation as an executive board member, and have found Jan to be a very enthusiastic, organized and dedicated member, who would serve the School Board with the same dedication and organization for the benefit of our children and community."

David C. McLaughlin

"I met Jan Roberts several years ago when I became a member of Chelsea Children's Co-op Preschool. We have since worked together on several committees, executive boards, fund-raisers, etc., as well as public school and community related activities. I am always impressed with how much time she invests in these projects and what a hard worker she is. She clearly demonstrates the very characteristics that I am seeking in a potential school board member: she is devoted to kids and the issues facing their education; she possesses an abundant amount of energy for a cause she believes in and also is able to work with different personalities in a committee setting and accomplish the set goals."

Debra E. Arend

"Jan is an excellent listener. She is thoughtful and open-minded in her approach to problem solving. Her commitment to public service has been aptly demonstrated. Our community has been enhanced by the work Jan has done."

Amy Heydlauff

"I am endorsing Jan Roberts as a candidate for the Chelsea School Board. I feel she is a responsible candidate because she studies and researches an issue before forming a complete opinion about it. She is an impartial person and considers all sides to determine the most beneficial outcome of an issue. I know that she is dedicated to a good education for our children."

Debbie Weirauch

"Jan Roberts is an excellent candidate for the Chelsea Schools Board of Education. My experience working with Jan on the Chelsea Education Foundation Board of Trustees has shown her to be innovative, dedicated and clearly a kind-spirited individual. Jan always follows up and attends to the details of a project, giving it that extra touch important to quality educational management decisions. While serving as committee chair for CEF, Jan has demonstrated excellent skills... necessary for meeting objectives of the foundation. She always maintains a key concern for the children of the Chelsea area. Most importantly, Jan fosters a collaborative spirit that lends itself to shared decision-making essential to quality decisions. I highly recommend her as a new board member of the Chelsea Schools."

Barbara Rose, President, Corporate Communications

"When I first moved to Chelsea four years ago, Jan Roberts was the first person I met and I have continued to admire her ever since. Her first concern is children, her own and others, and she would always have their best interest at heart. She is an intelligent, experienced, hard-working and dedicated person whom I feel would do an excellent job as a Chelsea School Board member."

Sue Gillikin

"I have served with Jan Roberts as an executive board member of Chelsea Children's Co-operative. Jan is very focused, intelligent, insightful and organized, a woman on whose word you can depend. She has an uncanny ability to quietly keep discussions on track and blend opposing views. I feel very strongly that she would be an impressive asset to the School Board. I hope you join me in supporting her."

Kathy Lixey

"We are proud to have been asked to write a letter of reference for Jan Roberts promoting her in a bid for a seat on the Chelsea School Board of Education. We became acquainted with Jan through our mutual membership in Zion Lutheran Church. We have found her to be dedicated to the care and welfare of our children in her position as chairperson of the Christian Education Committee... she has researched, proposed and implemented new programs broadening the scope and learning for our children. She is enthusiastic about joining the school board and we are excited at the prospect of having a woman of her calibre dedicating time and talents to the benefit of our children and thus to our community."

QUOTES

DONALD A. COLE
Director

"It is a great evil, as well as a misfortune, to be unable to utter a prompt and decided No"

—Charles Simmons

Simmons' observation, voiced in the first half of the 19th Century, is as applicable today as it was then. The inability to say "no" is usually based on a reluctance to disappoint someone and is, to that extent, commendable.

However, when we merely postpone the inevitable with an evasive or equivocal response, we raise false hopes in others and subject ourselves to needless stress.

Fortunately, we never find it necessary to say "no" to anyone who comes to us for help. We can provide a beautiful, comforting funeral service within the means of any family.

Gun Club Gets Five-Star Award

Chelsea Rod & Gun Club was recently the recipient of the Tracks Five-Star Award, given to clubs who have sponsored the children's nature magazine, "Tracks" for at least five years.

The magazine is published September through May by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs. It features articles on animals, conservation, and ecology.

About 80 percent of the 72,000 people in Michigan and 19 other states who receive the magazine are sponsored by sportsmen's groups, conservation organizations, civic groups, and individuals.

MUCC is the state's largest conservation group, with about 140,000 members. It is the Michigan affiliate of the National Wildlife Federation.

The Chelsea club is one of 14 sponsored this year who received the award. They purchased the magazine for schools in the Chelsea area.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

The intent of the National Honor Society, as stated in the 1990-91 CHS Student/Parent handbook, is "to develop character, promote leadership, create enthusiasm for scholarship, and stimulate desire to render service." The prerequisite for membership is "a career GPA of 3.15 or above as of junior year." Teachers are then asked to recommend students with this GPA on the basis of character, scholarship, service, and leadership, giving equal consideration to all four.

In light of the supposed purpose of the Society, the fact that the first standard for membership is purely academic is ludicrous. It not only makes no distinction between a student on the advanced track and a student with a full six hours of "gut" courses, it also operates under the misguided assumption that if a person doesn't have a high grade point, they cannot possess qualities of character, leadership, or service.

Experience with human nature proves this false, as do several glaring examples in CHS:

—The editor of the Bleu Print, and president of Student Council, has been on the advanced track for her entire high school career, and is not a member of NHS. Her GPA falls a few tenths of a point below the cut-off.

—Treasurer of her sophomore class, president of the Junior class, single-handedly organized a benefit dance for victims of a car accident last year, and is not in NHS. Her GPA falls a few tenths of a point below the cut-off.

It would be difficult to argue that either lack of leadership or service, and neither possess marked flaws in character. However, teachers weren't given the opportunity to evaluate them on these traits, supposedly three-quarters of what a student is to be judged on, simply because they didn't fulfill one-quarter of the total.

The reasons for using an academic cut-off are understandable. Teachers are very busy people, and the advisors of NHS take their own time to co-ordinate and organize the group. But with the discrepancies that exist in the membership of NHS today, the general student population does not respect it, and the members don't take as much pride in it as possible. Very few would describe membership as a meaningful facet of their lives.

This means that the objectives of building character, doing service, encouraging leadership, and supporting academics are not really being met. This affects the rest of the school all the way up through the faculty, who have to deal with students who, for the most part, take no pride in academic achievement, to the general student population, who don't see any evidence of leadership from NHS members, to the community, which could benefit from the service projects that an active NHS would do.

The problem could be solved if NHS membership policies are changed in two dramatic ways:

1) A weighted GPA must be developed to account for honors courses, such as physics, chemistry, biology, elective history, advanced math, and advanced English classes vs. the easier mainstream classes.

2) Teachers need to be given a list based on this adjusted GPA, but should also be given a list of students involved in Student Council, holding leadership position in other organizations, or doing outstanding things in community service, for evaluation. Teachers should also be given the flexibility to suggest students who work exceptionally hard for the grades they receive or demonstrate superior qualities of character.

This new system would initially be more time consuming for faculty and advisors, but the end result would be well worth the extra effort. A new NHS would emerge, active in the community, proud of its academic achievements, and providing leadership for the rest of the school. Teachers would benefit from better attitudes in students which would make their jobs easier.

NHS has great potential. With these changes, the Society can live up to it, and the school and community will reap the benefits they should be receiving already.

Concerned CHS Student.

Safe Boating Week Is Being Observed

With the goal of making pleasure boating a safer and even more enjoyable recreational activity in the southeastern Michigan area, members of Ann Arbor Power Squadron regard National Safe Boating Week, June 2-8, as a special opportunity for each boat owner to make sure his boat and its equipment are safe and that his personal boating practices and habits make him a safe boater.

"Safe boating is no accident," is the national slogan for Safe Boating Week, said Squadron Commander Dick Schaefer. He urges boat owners to check, or have checked, the condition of their boats. Hull, engine, steering, electrical system, everything, should be inspected to make sure the boat is seaworthy and safe. Needed repairs and service should be obtained promptly.

A careful examination of all safety equipment by the boat owner is strongly recommended to be certain that all required items are aboard in working condition and capable of providing the safety and protection for which they are designed.

To determine if a boat and its equipment meet federal requirements, each boat owner should request from his or her local Coast Guard Auxiliary unit a free Courtesy Motor Boat Examination.

O'Connor Bill Will Make Pension Benefits Tax-Free

Private industry retirement pensions would be exempt from the state income tax under legislation introduced in the Michigan House by state Rep. Margaret O'Connor, R-Lodi township.

All city, county, state and federal retirees are allowed to deduct pension benefits from their adjusted gross income before calculating their state income tax. House Bill 4809 allows the same exemption for private retirement and pension benefits.

"It's a question of parity," O'Connor said. "Why should the private sector be excluded from certain financial benefits government employees enjoy? If we are going to be fair, either all pensions should be taxed or none should be taxed. Since reversing the former is unlikely, we need to enact the latter."

O'Connor is a long-time advocate of reduced state spending and more prudent expenditures.

"State government cannot be or provide all things to all people," the lawmaker said. "However, it does have an obligation to be fair, which is what my legislation attempts to do."

The bill has been referred to the House Taxation Committee.

The probability of being involved in a motor-vehicle injury accident during a 75-year lifetime is higher than 86 percent.

Parent-Child Talks Was Topic for Tuesday Meeting

Brighton Hospital's current Community Education Program on Tuesday, June 4 was devoted to helping parents improve their skills in talking with their children about a variety of issues, including healthy self-esteem. The title of the program was "Communicating With Our Children."

Dennis Hinze, a family therapist at the hospital's Adolescent Center, led the discussion, fielded questions from the audience, and pointed out some strategies that parents can use in communicating with teenagers and preteens.

A free copy of the helpful booklet "About Self-Esteem" was made available at this session. The publication is also available directly from the hospital's Community Relations Department.

On Tuesday, June 18, Brighton Hospital will also host "Alcoholism as a Disease: The Signs and Symptoms," part of a series aimed at people who are in relationships with chemically dependent people, who were raised in chemically dependent homes, or who are themselves chemically dependent.

The June 18 program is a joint effort of Livingston Counseling and Assessment Services and the Women's Resource Center.

Both sessions begin at 7 p.m. in the hospital's chapel. The programs are free and open to the public. Reservations are not required.

Brighton Hospital is located on E. Grand River, just off exit 151 of the I-96 expressway.

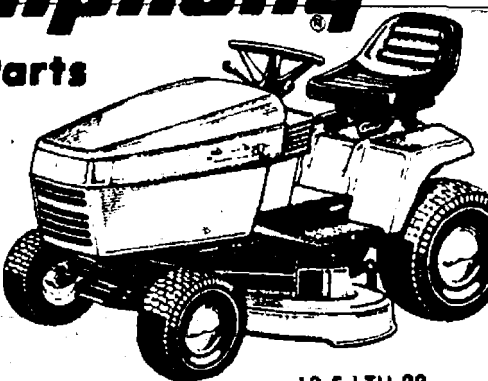

For additional information, contact the hospital's Community Relations Department on week-days between 8:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. at (313) 227-1211, ext. 276.

Automated Phone System Speeds Sheriff Dept. Calls

Sheriff Ronald J. Schebil is advising Washtenaw county citizens of the new technology recently installed at the Sheriff Department. Coinciding with the county-wide activation of Enhanced 9-1-1, the new system is known as the "automated attendant," and its purpose is to handle all incoming business calls received at 971-8400. The system was officially activated on April 22, and provides the caller with a menu of choices designed to route a call in the most efficient manner by use of a touch tone phone.

In the past, due to the large number of contacts made to the Sheriff Department, many non-emergency callers would have to be placed on hold while operators handled crisis calls on another line. Now, a caller can direct his or her own destination by touching the appropriate two-digit number for a specific individual and/or section of the department. The system will then automatically route their call to that selected location.

According to Sheriff Schebil, learning to operate the automated attendant is easy, and once you have used it and have noted the two-digit code(s) of the party(ies) you wish to contact, you may enter that number as soon as the attendant message is activated. You will be connected immediately with that individual or the department section of your choice.

Of course, other options are available for those who would prefer to by-pass the automated system. The agency is part of a comprehensive Centrex telephone system, therefore each individual and/or department section has their own seven-digit number which can be dialed directly.

The following is a brief list of direct-dial telephone numbers for the agency:

THE GYM WAS PACKED Sunday afternoon for the annual Chelsea High school Commencement program. The program was originally scheduled to be held outside, but rain into the early afternoon forced a change of plans. The gym was hot and muggy, but for the most part parents, friends, and relatives didn't seem to mind too much.

Class Night Honors High School Seniors

Support Group Wants Names of Soldiers in Gulf

Chelsea's Operation Desert Storm Support Group is trying to find out if there are still any Chelsea-area service personnel still serving in the Persian Gulf.

The group would like to continue its support of those personnel. Anyone with information is asked to contact the Rev. Mearl Bradley at the Chelsea Free Methodist church or The Chelsea Standard.

BRETT SALAMIN'S ADDRESS to the senior class at Sunday's Chelsea High school Commencement had people laughing out loud at some of his observations. The state forensics champion delivered one of two student addresses. The other was by Sarah Gegenheimer.

Theatre Workshop Begins Next Monday

Chelsea Area Players Theatre Workshop program begins Monday, June 10 at Chelsea High school for students who are currently completing 2nd through 8th grade.

"This is a terrific opportunity for students to be exposed to the world of theatre," says director Shelley Wheaton.

The program includes 2½-hour sessions for three weeks about acting, stage make-up, set building, properties, theatrical games, and stage movement. Students are divided by age for these specialty classes.

There will be a final performance of original plays written by teachers, who this year are: Ward Beauchamp, Ken Beauchamp, Dierdre Sheets, Bill Coelius, Jeremy Beauchamp and Becky Pryor. Auditions are conducted for these plays to give the students the experience of the audition process.

There is a maximum capacity of 125 students with some openings still available.

Registration information may be obtained through the Community Education Office at Chelsea High school, 475-9830.

Discounts are offered for members of the Chelsea Area Players.

Let's Go

Twice as Nice!

Bulldog Softball, Baseball Teams Take District Championships

THE BULLDOGS run on to the field after Rob Clem retires the last Dexter batter in Chelsea's 6-0 victory last Saturday in the first round of the district tournament.

Two pitching masterpieces by senior Rob Clem and junior Jake Rindle last Saturday in the district tournament propelled the Chelsea Bulldogs into the region tournament this Saturday for the second straight year.

Clem shut out Dexter in the opening game, 6-0, and Rindle took a 9-1 win in the championship game over the Milan Big Reds.

The Bulldogs play Coldwater in the opening game Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in Monroe. The winner is likely to meet Dearborn Divine Child, the state's top-ranked team, in the finals.

"We played well in every phase of the game," said Chelsea coach Wayne Welton.

"We gave up four hits in the two games and played great defense."

Clem and Rindle each gave up two hits in his respective game.

In the Dexter contest, Chelsea set the tone in the first inning when Jude Quilter walked, stole second, and scored on a misplay of Craig Ferry's grounder to shortstop.

Two walks and a double by Adam Taylor in the second inning gave Chelsea their second run.

The Bulldogs scored three times in the third as Ferry was hit by a pitch, Rindle tripled, Jeremy Stephens singled, and Tucker Steele hit a sacrifice fly.

The final run came in the sixth as Kerry Plank singled, stole two bases, and scored on Rindle's single.

The shutout gave Clem a scoreless streak of 22 2/3 innings and a streak of 27 1/3 innings without giving up an earned run. He improved his record to 9-1 and has an ERA of 1.10.

In the second game, Rindle improved to 10-0 as the Bulldogs rapped 10 hits on their way to their 29th win of the season.

Chelsea 9, Milan 1

Chelsea scored three times in the second inning as Rindle singled and came all the way around on a misplay at first on Stephens' bunt. After Ben Hurst walked, Quilter lined a triple into the right centerfield gap.

Milan scored in the fourth on a double, steal, and sacrifice.

But the Bulldogs came back strong with six runs in the fifth. Ferry was hit by a pitch, and Rindle, Stephens, Clem, and Steele all singled. Hurst and Quilter each walked with the bases loaded, and Taylor smacked a two-run double.

Rindle struck out six, walked two, and improved his ERA to 1.87. He also has a team-high .517 average.

Coldwater has a 14-14 record this season.

"Anybody who has gotten this far has at least one solid pitcher," Welton said.

In other action last week, the Bulldogs beat Manchester, 14-3, in five innings behind the six-hit pitching of Ferry.

Plank and Rindle were each 3-3 and scored three runs. Plank stole three bases and Rindle tripled.

Chelsea is 29-3 on the season, the best Bulldog record ever.

JEREMY STEPHENS looks for a sign from third base coach Wayne Welton during Saturday's district tournament game against Dexter. Chelsea won, 6-0, behind the two-hit pitching of Rob Clem.

CHELSEA'S JAKE RINDLE holds the Dexter runner on base during the closing innings of Chelsea's 6-0 win over the Dreadnaughts in the first game of the district tournament in Ypsilanti last Saturday. Rindle and the Bulldogs later defeated Milan for the district title.

For the first time since 1985, the Chelsea Bulldogs will make an appearance in the region softball tournament as they square off against Jackson Northwest this Saturday in the opening game.

The other two teams in the tournament are Thurston High school from Redford township and Monroe Catholic Central, Chelsea's perpetual thorn in the side.

Chelsea earned the right to play in the regionals with a 9-2 victory over Dexter and a 4-2 win over Milan in the finals at Willow Run High school last Saturday. Chelsea has played Northwest three times this year and has a 2-1 edge.

"We played exceptionally well defensively in the first game," said Chelsea assistant coach Charlie Waller.

"In the second game, we didn't hit, but defensively we were very good and got a super pitching performance from Colleen Scharphorn."

The championship game was tight all the way as Chelsea scored two runs in the top of the fifth inning to take the victory. A walk, and hits by Christine Burg and Kelly Bellus loaded the bases. Jenny Bobo followed with a pop-up that was ruled an infield fly, although the ball dropped behind second base, almost in the outfield. In the meantime, Burg scored the go-ahead run from third. Chelsea added an insurance run on Theresa Hurst's hit.

Scharphorn gave up seven hits but struck out 10 batters, which helped take the pressure off the Chelsea defense.

Chelsea had four hits, two by Hurst. Senior Sara Musolf pitched a four-hitter in the opener and struck out six.

Chelsea held a 2-1 lead after four innings as Burg's triple to left field scored the go-ahead run in the third inning.

But the Bulldogs broke loose for five runs in the fifth as Bobo's two-run, bases-loaded double was the big blow. Scharphorn doubled home two more runs in the sixth.

Chelsea got two hits each from Shawn Losey and Scharphorn in their 10-hit attack.

In other action last week, Chelsea mercied Stockbridge twice on Tuesday, 18-0 and 11-1.

In the first game, six Chelsea hits and six Stockbridge errors combined with Scharphorn's two-hitter for the win.

Burg and Hurst each had two hits. Three girls up from the junior varsity pitched the second game and the trio tossed a no-hitter.

Chelsea scored six runs in the first inning to put the game away early.

Burg, Jennifer Teare, and Hurst each had two hits. Teare hit a triple. Chelsea is 34-7 on the season.

The first practical phonograph was invented in 1877 by Thomas Edison.

COLLEEN SCHARPHORN had a big day in the district finals against Milan last Saturday as she struck out 10 batters in leading the Bulldogs to a 4-2 victory.

CHRISTINE BURG slides in safely with a triple during the first district tournament game with Dexter last Saturday. The Bulldogs went on to take the district title.

COLLEEN SCHARPHORN has to dive back into first with Dexter. Scharphorn and the Bulldogs went on to win base during Saturday's first district tournament game the district title.

Monti Sets Two Records, Dogs Take Fifth in State

Chelsea Bulldogs girls track team scored 27 1/2 points in Saturday's Class B state meet at Wyoming Park High school in Grand Rapids, and finished fifth over-all.

Otisville Lakeville was state champion with 62 points, Detroit De Porres runner up with 38, Petoskey third with 33, Flint Beecher fourth with 30, and Dearborn Heights Robichaud sixth with 26. It was the girls' most points and highest finish ever in the state. The previous best was a tie for eighth in 1986.

Lisa Monti became the first Bulldog girl to win an individual state track championship by winning the 3200 run over defending champion Laura Bell of Lakeville. The two dualed for seven laps, with Bell leading for most of the race, then with just over half a lap to go, Monti burst past to take the lead. Bell tried to keep up, but Monti pulled away in the final 150 to win in a school record, 11:06.4. Bell had an 11:14.4. The same two girls had faced off earlier in the day in the 1600 run. In that race, Bell held off Monti's sprint in the final 100 to win in 5:04.2. Monti's second place time was 5:04.5, also a school record.

"Lisa had a tremendous day," said coach Bill Bainton.

"She ran very smart races, letting others set the early pace and patiently picking them off as the race went on, then coming on strong at the end. We were all very proud and pleased for her."

It is an interesting footnote that both Monti's and Bell's times in the two races were better than the winning times for even the class A schools.

Monti may have been the biggest star, but she was not the only star of the day for the Bulldogs. She combined with Sarah Henry, Sarah Brosnan, and Beth Bell for a season-best 8:49.4 and fifth place in the 3200 relay. All four girls had splits at or near their best times.

Charity Allen established a Chelsea junior record in the 300 hurdles as she finished in an unusual tie for sixth. Allen and Kathy Shoon of Fremont had identical 46.90 times but were in different heats, hence the tie.

"Charity ran a fine race, but struggled with one hurdle," Bainton said.

"At that level, even a little error can be the difference in a place or two." Allen was .20 second from fourth.

Jeanene Rossi concluded a successful senior season by placing sixth in the high jump at 5'3". Rossi had a muscle injury in her back at the league meet, and had been able to practice her approach, but hadn't taken any jumps since then.

"Her performance is a credit to the dedication and determination she has shown this year," Bainton said.

In addition to the placers, Laura Paton ran a 1:03.0 400 in her first appearance at a state meet, and combined with Bell, Allen, and Jessica Holton for a 4:15.0 1600 relay.

"The team was excited and happy about our finish. They deserve a lot of credit for being physically and mentally prepared, and then for performing at their best as they have done all season," Bainton said.

Girls Track Team Shows Well in Honor Roll Meet

Last Tuesday, May 28, runners from the Chelsea Bulldogs girls track team participated in the Selby Honor Roll meet at Jackson Northwest. Bulldogs were entered in 10 events and made some fine showings.

In individual races, Lisa Monti cut a tenth off her school record to win the 1600 in 5:14.5.

Laura Paton was fourth in an exceptional 400 field with 1:02.6.

Beth Bell ran her best 800 of the season, finishing second at 2:24.9.

"Beth has really come on at the end of the year with some fast, solid races," said coach Bill Bainton.

"We were pleased to see her do so well in this meet."

The Bulldogs had a team quality in all four relays. The best performance came in the 3200 relay as the team of Sarah Henry, Monti, Sarah Brosnan and Bell tuned up for the state meet by winning in 10:01.4.

The 400 relay of Leah Hadley, Leisa Schiller, Renae Skelly and Theresa Royce equaled a season-best of :53.1 to finish fifth. Chelsea entered the event with the eighth and final entry time.

The 800 relay of Paton, Schiller, Hadley and Royce was sixth in 1:51.4 and the 1600 relay of Paton, Jessica Holton, Henry, and Allen was also sixth in 4:17.5.

Royce Named Track Most Valuable

Junior John Royce was named the Most Valuable Runner on the Chelsea Bulldogs boys track team this season.

Royce, a high jumper, hurdler, and relay anchor, was an easy selection for coach Pat Clarke.

Most-improved runners were Dan Zatkovich and Jason Garrigus.

Chelsea Residents Take Tests for Black Belts

Two Chelsea Tae Kwon Do students tested for black belts on Friday, May 31 in South Lyon.

Ken Lindow tested for a first-degree black belt and Lisa Neda DeGryse tested for a second-degree black belt in front of Grand Master Sell and his board of masters of the Tae Kwon Do Chung Do Kwan Association. They are students of Michael Pozson.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

It's almost scary to consider the possibilities.

For perhaps the first time ever, the Chelsea baseball and softball teams are in the region play-offs at the same time. Chelsea baseball made it that far last season but was bounced in the first game by Riverview, 6-4.

It's been six years since the softball team has made it that far. That year, the Bulldogs won the whole shebang. There's a sign to prove it at the village limits.

In these kinds of situations, I've been accused of being a jinx, especially as far as softball is concerned. Type out the wrong string of words on this typesetter and bingo, the Bulldogs are good as shutout. What happens is, I write something nice, and just a little speculative, and Chelsea gives up one hit and loses in 25 innings.

So, I won't write much about them, except...well, no that's probably not a good idea either. Some way, somehow, it'll put the curse on them, no doubt.

Personally, I don't think coach Amy Poljan's team has a chance in creation of advancing past the first game. They have no pitching, no gloves, no hitters, and most of all, no coaching, although they do have plenty of Unterbrinks for support. Everywhere I turned last Saturday, there was an Unterbrink, almost like an invasion. Anyway, as my three-year-old would say, they're "dead meat" in the first game.

And with that said, there's probably no point in anyone from Chelsea making the trip to Monroe Jefferson High school, down I-94 to south I-275, to I-75 south, to watch them this Saturday at 1:30. Pure waste of time.

From here, things look just as bleak for Wayne Welton's baseball team.

They open with Coldwater, a team with a highly misleading 14-14 record, just as Chelsea has lucked into 29 wins this season. Coldwater has five likely major league draft choices on its roster, and three of them only start in the big games due to disciplinary problems.

If, by some chance Coldwater goes cold, hits an inopportune slump, the Bulldogs will probably face the state's number one ranked team, Dearborn Divine Child.

Now, as we all know, Catholic schools never lose a big game, unless they're playing another Catholic school. Has something to do with the spirit of St. Louis or someone like that guiding them through. Besides, a headline that reads "Bulldogs Chew Up Divine Child" or "Chelsea Outslugs Divine Child" sounds more like a crime story with religious overtones. Will never happen.

And what does the baseball team have? Well, all right, maybe their pitching is okay. Primarily, they have a bunch of seniors who just graduated and can't wait to get their own apartments so they can...just say they're distracted. And they don't have any Unterbrinks lurking around the dugout, although a certain assistant coach is about to marry one. Does that count?

Again, it's probably pointless to get off I-75 at exit 18, take a left on Nadeau Rd., go two miles, over the viaduct, turn left at the stoplight at Dixie Highway, and proceed to the school at the corner of Williams and Stony Creek Rd., and on to the high school ball complex. Absolutely pointless.

But I'll probably see you there.

Congratulations to sophomore Lisa Monti, one of the stars of last week-end's state track meet. She's a state champ in the 3200 and placed second in the 1600, both with school-record times.

Just imagine what kind of runner she could be by her senior year. Perhaps one of the best this state has ever produced.

When I first started covering sports for this newspaper, a couple of long-time coaches here kept telling me to keep an eye on the seventh graders, that they'd be something special.

I watched those seventh graders graduate Sunday afternoon in the sweltering high school gym. It's hard to imagine those six years have gone by so fast. There are probably 150 sets of parents saying the same thing to themselves this week.

Those coaches were right when they said special. There are so many class acts among this senior class that I won't even begin to try to name them. They've been a pleasure for me to watch these last six years. They've conducted themselves admirably on the court, field, and pool and have represented the school well.

I never would have believed it. I left the gym a little choked up Sunday. Among those seniors are many kids whose names I have written almost weekly for the last six years. In some ways, they've become characters in my own weekly diary, characters who will be there no longer. I will miss them, as I'm sure you will too.

Aquatic Club Workouts Start Next Monday

Chelsea Aquatic Club has announced the hiring of a new head swim coach. Kara Klabaugh, a Wisconsin native, will begin her duties when the summer swim season opens June 10.

Kara started swimming at the age of 5 in a local swim club in Eau Claire, Wis. Through the years, she received eight MVP awards, made national cuts, and participated in state swimming meets. She attended Creighton University in Omaha, Neb., on a swimming scholarship and received the Most Valuable Swimmer award her freshman year. Kara is currently attending Eastern Michigan University.

stated. "Swimming to be fun, not just laps, and I hope to incorporate some different activities into my workouts to keep it interesting for the kids."

This summer Kara will be in charge of swimmers 12 and under. She will also be assisting Dave Jolly, Chelsea High school head coach, who will be in charge of ages 13-17. Workouts begin the morning of June 10 with ages 13 and up at 8, 9-12 years at 9:30, and 8 and under at 10:30. There will be six swim meets on Saturday mornings in June and July and ending with championships the last week of July.

Divers are also needed for the summer season. Eric Burris is starting his fourth year as CAC's diving coach.

"No prior experience in diving is needed to participate. We will be teaching basic dives including proper approach and diving safety. During open swim, diving is one of the most popular activities for the kids and learning some diving techniques will only enhance that," Burris explained.

Diving practice will be held at 3 p.m. Monday through Wednesday and Thursday at 9:30 a.m.

Registration for diving and swimming will be available at the pool on June 10 or at the Chelsea Community Education office during regular office hours.

TUCKER STEELE collected four hits in two games for Chelsea last Saturday as the Bulldogs defeated both Dexter and Milan for the district baseball title.

JV Softball Team Ends With Loss to Panthers

Chelsea Bulldogs junior varsity softball team lost to Stockbridge last Tuesday, 23-9.

All scoring took place in the first three innings as Stockbridge took an 8-4 lead in the first inning and extended it to 17-8 in the second.

"We put the ball in play as we had only two strikeouts but their pitcher made several excellent plays to stop potential big innings," said Chelsea coach Ken Sullins.

"Myra Musolf and Sara Smith did okay for their second trip to the mound. Again, key misplays and errors on our part made huge innings for Stockbridge."

Chelsea had 10 hits for the game, including a 4-4 performance by Joni Thrush and a 2-2 performance by Jamie Collinsworth. Thrush and Nicki Plasecki each hit a triple.

Chelsea finished with an 18-9 record.

'Pathfinders' Achieve Goal of Finding Liaison People in DNR

Chelsea's Pathfinders group took their act to Lansing last Friday to look for state support for their proposed 9.7 mile "linear park" in Chelsea.

It was literally an act. The students performed comedy skits and otherwise gave officials from the Department of Natural Resources the same presentation many groups around town have witnessed in the last few months. The emphasis was on showing officials the linear park, commonly called a bike path, would be fun.

The children were looking for help. They wanted help establishing a timetable for the Chelsea Recreation Department's developing Five Year Plan, a necessary element for the Pathfinders to obtain a state grant.

Deadline for the grant application is April 1.

Mike McDonald of the DNR agreed to help with the timetable. Philip Wells of the DNR's recreation division will help the Pathfinders, the local adult group helping the children, will help with the Five Year Plan and the grant application.

Other state officials who attended the presentation included James Woods, program co-ordinator for grant management at the DNR's recreation division, and Roger Storm, director of the state-wide Rails to Trails project.

Fred Barkley, director of the Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Department and a member of the village planning commission, played a key role in getting the students an audience in Lansing.

Much of the linear park would be constructed on less busy village streets. However, much of it would be constructed in areas that are now fields, woods, and other natural areas.

The children plan to give their presentation to village council next Tuesday. They want to convince trustees they should strongly consider the project, perhaps with some financial aid.

MICHELLE HOLLO was awarded a $250 scholarship from the Chelsea Knights of Columbus at the K. of C. Baccalaureate Breakfast on Sunday, May 28 at St. Mary's Catholic church. Grand Knight Ken Unterbrink made the presentation.

SARA MUSOLF was given a $250 scholarship from the Chelsea Knights of Columbus on Sunday, May 28. Auxiliary chair Ellie Unterbrink made the presentation. Left is school superintendent Joe Plasecki, the featured speaker at the baccalaureate breakfast. Breakfast co-ordinators were Joe and Denise Yekulis, Bob and Sally Hell, Larry Kranick, and Shirley Brown.

Q. What improvements will be made at North school with the passage of the bond issue election in September?

A. All classrooms will be renovated, the gym will be renovated, the corridors will be renovated, the infrastructure for technology will be provided, the electrical distribution will be improved, windows will be replaced, and improvements will be made to the drives and parking lots and the playground. The cost for all of the aforementioned items is $1,500,000.

Q. What improvements will be made at South school?

A. All classrooms will be renovated, the gym and cafeteria will be renovated, the corridors will be renovated, the infrastructure for technology will be provided, the electrical distribution will be improved, ventilation will be improved, obsolete windows will be replaced, and improvements will be made to drives, parking lots, and the playground. The cost for the aforementioned items is $1,425,000.

Q. Why the extensive renovation and repairs at North and South?

A. The original sections of North and South schools were built 40 years ago. If we hope to have them last for many years past 2000, repairs and updating need to occur now. Plumbing, electrical, heating, ventilation, parking lots, playgrounds, and preparing for technology will all be addressed in this bond issue. The comprehensive nature of this issue will assure facilities that can be used for many years to come.

Q. What will be done to Beach school?

A. No building renovations will be done at Beach School. The infrastructure for technology will be provided, improvement and expansion of parking will take place, and the improvement of Mayer Dr. will occur. The cost for the projects at Beach will be $610,000.

Michigan No-Fault Insurance Law: "Coordinated Benefits"

The Michigan No-Fault Insurance Act allows an injured person to recover reasonable and necessary medical and rehabilitative expenses. There is often a misunderstanding regarding payment of these expenses. Who pays the medical and rehabilitative expenses, the survivor's health insurance or automobile insurance company?

The answer generally depends upon the type of automobile insurance coverage that was purchased prior to the accident, either "coordinated" or "uncoordinated benefits." "Uncoordinated" means an automobile insurance carrier pays for medical and rehabilitative expenses, such as hospital and doctor services, medicine, orthopedic devices and medically necessary equipment, in the event of personal injury from a motor vehicle accident. "Coordinated" benefits means the automobile insurance carrier is no longer the primary source of benefits but the injured person's health insurance company is primarily liable. The automobile insurance company then pays whatever the health insurance company does not pay in benefits.

If you have any questions, please contact Randy Musbach at our office. In order to assure proper legal representation we accept a limited number of personal injury cases resulting from automobile, pedestrian or other accidents. A special emphasis is placed upon representing closed head (traumatic brain) injury victims and their families.

ANN FEENEY, left, long-time member of the Chelsea Board of Education, was given a plaque last Wednesday in recognition of her years of service to the district. Feeney, whose term expires this month, decided not to seek re-election. Anne Comeau, right, president of the board, made the presentation.

Campaign Seeks Safety in Highway Construction Zones

State police and highway engineers will add more tools this year in their "Give 'Em a Brake" campaign efforts to persuade motorists to slow down in highway work zones.

License plates of some speeding vehicles will be photographed and the owners will be advised in a letter from State Police that a radar device detected the driver exceeding the posted speed limit in a work zone.

The Michigan Department of Transportation (M-DOT) will field test a lighted, radar controlled sign that displays the speed of vehicles approaching an area where highway work is going on. The department aims to have more than half a dozen of them in service by next year.

Both new devices are designed to reduce the number of work zone accidents, which killed 15 people and injured 1,471 others last year. The fatalities included several highway workers.

State Police also will continue their tough enforcement efforts. They include the CZAR (Construction Zone Accident Reduction) program which stations radar equipped troopers in orange highway trucks at construction sites. Speeding motorists are ticketed by another trooper stationed beyond the construction zone.

Leading the 1991 "Give 'Em a Brake" campaign to increase public awareness are State Transportation Director Patrick Nowak, Col. Michael Robinson, State Police director, and Larry Grennell, president of the Michigan Road Builders Association.

The campaign includes posters, bumper stickers and billboards. In the light approach to a serious problem, a new rap music television and radio public services announcement (PSA) featuring "The Cone Crew," animated orange work zone cones that sing and dance a safety message will be distributed to broadcast outlets. A longer MTV-style music video also will be distributed to every driver education site in the state, promoting work zone safety.

"Our message to motorists is clear—SLOW DOWN in highway construction areas," said Nowak. "The number of accidents declined to 4,122 last year from 4,889 in 1989 and 5,689 in 1988, and we believe our enforcement and public awareness efforts are having an impact. But the numbers are still far too high."

"Safety in construction zones is a problem that cannot be solved by law enforcement alone," said Col. Robinson. "It takes the co-operation of those who drive the roads, those who repair the roads and those who patrol the roads."

Chelsea Village Council Proceedings

Regular Session.

Tuesday, May 14, 1991

The meeting was called to order at 7:30 p.m. by President Steele.
Present: President Steele, Clerk Morrison, Assistant Village Manager Kuehn, Administrative Assistant Fredette.

Trustees Present: Kanten, Merkel, Steele, Hammer, Myers, Dorer.
Absent: Anderson (until 7:40).

Others Present: T. Osborne, T. Summers, M. Wonderly, B. Bauer, P. Newhouse, Sr., K. Chapman, J. Kugler, L. McDougall, B. Hamilton.

The first order of Business was Public Participation. Mr. & Mrs. Ken Bauer requested permission to erect a chain link and wooden fence on their property located at 528 Wilkinson Street.

Motion by Myers, supported by Merkel, to allow Mr. & Mrs. Ken Bauer permission to erect a fence. The fence is to be erected as a wood fence along Old US-12 with a 12-foot gate covering the area which is currently an easement, for easy access by village equipment and officials. As well as a chain link fence across the back of their property to tie into the neighbor's existing chain link fence. The existing easement is considered an obsolete placement—25 feet onto the property. Ayes: Myers, Dorer, Merkel, Steele, Hammer, Anderson. Nay: Kanten. Motion carried.

Council directed Mrs. Harook, Zoning Inspector, to notify other property owners, in this area, with fences crossing legal easements that they should have gates in order to provide emergency access. If there are not gates, they may be subject to loss of their fencing during an emergency.

Council also stated that this fence is crossing an easement not being erected on an easement.

Motion by Hammer, supported by Dorer, to approve the Consent Agenda. All Ayes. Motion carried.

Police Chief McDougall presented his monthly report for Council's review. Paul Newhouse reported that:

- 1) The Flag Pole at the Chelsea Depot has been installed,
- 2) The lightning rod has been taken care of at the Sibley Road property, and
- 3) The street light on Arthur Street has been installed.

Trustee Hammer reported that the fund raising for the cardboard recycling project is moving ahead. The committee has received bids for containers, they are looking at trucks and other miscellaneous items. Beginning June 1, 1991, payments from pledges will be made on a monthly basis for the cardboard collection equipment. Next May all money should be collected. Trustee Hammer also reported that there will be three, eight-yard containers for milk jug collection. One will be placed at South school, one at North school and one placement has yet to be decided.

Motion by Hammer, supported by Myers, for the Village of Chelsea to pay the difference between current cash and cost of containers to be repaid within 12 months. The amount is approximately $5,200. All ayes. Motion carried.

Assistant Manager Kuehn reported that she has received communication from Mr. Gary L. Zimmerman, Executive Vice President, Michigan Municipal Electric Association. Mr. Zimmerman reports that our suggested amount of contribution to the Legal Defense Fund is $1,000.

Motion by Hammer, supported by Myers, to pay the Michigan Municipal Electric Association Legal Defense Fund $1,000. All ayes. Motion carried.

Motion by Anderson, supported by Merkel to adopt the attached Resolution granting the Chelsea Downtown Development Authority the use of two vacant Village lots located on the north side of West Middle Street for the relocation of the Easudes House currently located on South Street with a correction to item number 5. Item number 5 should read:

5. The house will be moved and sold, as is, at market value. Upon sale of the house, the Village will reimburse the Chelsea Downtown Development Authority for costs related to moving of the house and the balance remaining will be applied to the cost of the land.

All ayes. Motion carried. Resolution adopted. (Resolution attached as Appendix A.)

The Village Council reviewed temporary parking recommendations from the Chelsea DDA. The Council suggested that Item No. 8 should include the Fire Chief. Items 1-8 will be placed in a Resolution for adoption at the next regular meeting.

Mr. Mark Heydlauff reported that the Chelsea DDA has an agreement with the Masonic Temple for purchase of their rear property. The Masonic Temple will keep 12 feet behind their building, however, the Chelsea DDA will pave up to the building. Attorneys will draft the final agreement.

Mr. Heydlauff also reported that the agreement with Mr. Tom Bowling will be firm up this week. The Chelsea DDA is waiting for the titles on the Village and Oesterle lots—which should be completed this week. The light fixtures are on budget and the Chelsea DDA will be looking at three types.

By 10:00 a.m. May 14, 1991, 11 bids had been received for the streetscape project. Flat Rock Contractors were within budget, as well as the lowest bid. The Flat Rock Contractors performed the work on Main and Liberty Streets in Ann Arbor last summer. Mr. Heydlauff will verify that all necessary work is included in the bid and anticipates that everything will be set within the week.

Mr. Heydlauff reported that once the general contractor is hired, a schedule will be set (regarding the moving of the house, etc.). The house mover is prepared to move the Easudes home the first week of June.

The Hospital fund raiser was a success. Mr. Heydlauff was recognized for his work with the Chelsea DDA and $438,000 of signed pledges toward their goal of $500,000 have been received.

In addition, the Chelsea DDA is concerned about the land adjacent to the McKune Memorial Library. Trustee Merkel will call Mr. Terry Conlin to verify whether or not grass seed could be planted on this property.

Trustee Kanten reported that it was brought to her attention the Ann Arbor Transportation Authority had notified Chelsea riders of discontinuation of service beginning August 1991, because the Council had elected not to support their request for funding. Trustee Kanten noted that the Council had asked Mr. Bolton for additional information before taking a vote, however, Council had not taken a vote. Village Assistant Manager Kuehn and Trustee Hammer will look into this matter.

Village Assistant Manager Kuehn was appointed as the temporary zoning inspector in the event Rosemary Harook needs to take a temporary leave due to the illness of a dear family friend.

Spring Cleanup was discussed by Council members and members of the audience. President Steele voiced his concerns that the land fill space is limited. Zoning Inspector Harook was asked to investigate how other communities are handling Spring cleanup.

Motion by Myers, supported by Merkel, to authorize Chief McDougall to accept bids on the 1984 Chevrolet. All ayes. Motion carried.

MOCK DISASTER AT THE JOHNSON FARM, where Liebeck Rd. dead-ends in Sylvan township. A helicopter crash was reported, Saturday, June 1. The mock disaster was planned by University of Michigan Survival Flight's three-person safety committee, J. J. Jorgensen, nurse Laura Terry, and Dave Davis, pilot. The exercise was conducted to test emergency procedures, and a few bugs surfaced. The initial portion of the mock disaster occurred at Stockbridge, where Stockbridge Ambulance and Stockbridge firefighters held an extrication demonstration, involving the Stockbridge of Students Against Driving Drunk (SADD). Designated injured people from the car-crash were to be transported to an Ann Arbor hospital by Survival Flight helicopter. Included in the mock disaster plans was an explosion aboard the helicopter, which left its pilot unconscious and passed the duty of shutting down the craft's engine to nurse Janet Burnett. A mock helicopter crash was scheduled on the Johnson farm, Liebeck Rd. in Sylvan township, where Chelsea firefighters were to assist, and a second helicopter was dispatched to relay the "designated injured" to a medical facility.

THREE INTERESTED OBSERVERS at the Mock Disaster conducted by Survival Flight, Saturday, June 1, include Craig Johnson, on whose farm the planned helicopter crash was staged, Chelsea fire chief Paul "Bud" Hankerd, and Jim "J. J." Jorgensen from University of Michigan's Survival Flight safety committee.

Survival Flight Tests Emergency Program

University of Michigan Survival Flight personnel decided to conduct a Mock Disaster to test the effectiveness of the agency's emergency procedures, as well as those of other emergency units, and such an event was planned for Saturday, June 1.

A simulated helicopter crash and subsequent rescue operation was planned.

The details were kept pretty much "under wraps" in advance of the exercise.

Survival Flight's three-member safety committee, Jim "J. J." Jorgensen, nurse Laura Terry and pilot Dave Davis, planned the exercise, which did unearth a few bugs in the system.

The Mock Disaster was initiated in Stockbridge, Saturday morning, where Survival Flight personnel agreed to co-operate by supporting efforts by Stockbridge Ambulance and the Stockbridge Fire Department in an extrication demonstration for the Students Against Driving Drunk (SADD) chapter at Stockbridge.

The "designated injured" from the mock crash were to be transported to a medical facility via Survival Flight.

Once the injured were in flight, the helicopter dispatched a "May Day" message, following a reported explosion in the craft.

Nurse Janet Burnett was charged with shutting down the helicopter's engine, after its pilot was designated "injured, unconscious."

She performed the task well.

Fire Chief Paul "Bud" Hankerd and the Chelsea firefighters were mistakenly dispatched to site at North Territorial and M-52, then later advised the crash site was on the Johnson farm, just off Liebeck Rd. in Sylvan township.

Chief Hankerd knew the true location of the simulated crash, but began the trek with his firefighters to the site indicated by dispatch.

The helicopter crash was to have been reported to a Survival Flight telephone, but was inadvertently relayed to "enhanced 9-1-1."

A second Survival Flight helicopter was immediately dispatched to the Liebeck Rd. crash scene, arriving within two minutes and preceding the Chelsea fire-rescue team, because of the diversion caused by the dispatch confusion.

In the original plan, the Chelsea firefighters were to have arrived prior to the second Survival Flight helicopter.

News of the reported crash was broadcast on WAAM's 11 a.m. news, and the WCSB reacted by sending at least two patrol cars to the site.

Somewhere in the confusion of the moment, a message relayed the previous day to officials at the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, advising of the mock-disaster exercise, apparently failed to trickle down.

Jorgensen advised a session is planned to critique the operation, including discussion of possible methods to avoid future bugs.

How not to get clipped on a mulching mower

INTRODUCING THE JOHN DEERE TRICYCLER

Seems like everybody is coming out with a mulching mower these days.

And that's great. For our landfill problems. And for the environment.

But is buying a dedicated mulching mower really the route to go?

At John Deere, we think not. Matter of fact, a Tricycler mower can actually give you a lot more options.

For instance, if you like the idea of recycling your grass clippings back into your lawn, put our mulch plug to the test. It works with our standard mulching blade to recirculate and recut your clippings, forcing shredded materials down between the grass blades. Giving your lawn a nitrogen-rich nutrient boost.

If you'd like to change to cut and blow, just slip in the side discharge chute and mow. For best results, mow often enough so that you never cut more than 1/3 of the length at a time. And let John Deere's deep aluminum die-cast deck design discharge clippings without clumping. Or if creating a compost pile is more your style, slip on John Deere's 25 bushel bagger and collect your clippings. It works great for fall leaf cleanup, too.

So if you're dedicated to a better environment, there's no need to buy a dedicated mower.

Come see us for all the facts on our new Tricycler lawn mowers.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our heartfelt thanks and appreciation to everyone who supported us during Doug's hospitalization and death. All of your visits, cards, flowers, food, prayers and offers of help meant so much at the most difficult time of our lives. We extend special thanks to Washtenaw 911, Chelsea Fire Rescue and HVA for their immediate response, Olive Lodge No. 156 F&AM, Chelsea, for the Masonic Service, American Legion Post No. 31, Chelsea, for the military honors and Joe Merkel, Women of Zion and Tekonsha Engineering for providing the luncheon food. Special thanks to Pastor Mark Weirauch for all the visits, prayers, words of comfort and the meaningful funeral service. Special thanks to Don Cole of Cole-Burghardt Funeral Chapel. At a time when even the tiniest decision seemed monumental, your concern and care eased the difficulty of making those final arrangements.

Also special thanks to Jan Roberts for all the phone calls on our behalf, Sharon Reed for doing laundry, Tom McNamara for waiting at our house and Nola Freysinger for getting mail. To our wonderful families an extra special thank you for standing by us during the last few months. During the good times and the bad, we always knew you were there and still are. For the shoulders to cry on, the ears to listen, for the muscles that moved us and will do so again, for the visits to Doug, the meals, packing, cleaning and for all your prayers and love. Also thank you to all who honored Doug with a memorial contribution to the American Heart Association.

On behalf of our beloved husband and father, also from us—may God bless every one of you.

JESSE CAMPBELL, owner of the original Mr. Rib in Ann Arbor, has brought his hickory-smoked barbecue to Chelsea. It is located in the former DB's Restaurant.

DB's Changes Owners, Becomes New Mr. Rib

DB's Restaurant, originally Debarino's, is being converted to the second Mr. Rib restaurant.

Mr. Rib owner Jesse Campbell, a friendly man with a perpetual smile, has purchased the store from Dave Botsford. He and partner Patty LeBeau will operate the business. Botsford will manage the store and retains an undisclosed interest in the business.

Mr. Rib, as the name implies, specializes in hickory-smoked barbecued chicken, beef, and pork. The meat may be seen cooking every afternoon in the portable smoker Campbell invented and has placed in front of the store. The original Ann Arbor store on N. Main St. near the railroad tracks has been featured in numerous publications, including Car and Driver magazine. Campbell took eighth place last year in the National Rib Cook-off.

Campbell, who grew up in Mississippi, first got into the barbecue business in Ann Arbor in 1976 with a store called BBQ King. He ran into hard financial times and went out of business. He opened Mr. Rib in 1985.

"The Lord was testing me and now I know he's with me," said Campbell of his previous business failure and rebound.

Campbell admits he'd like to make Mr. Rib "number one in the country" in barbecue. He believes his product, based on southern barbecuing techniques, is unusual enough that it could spread.

For now, though, his plans for the Chelsea store are plenty ambitious. The store will continue to sell ice cream, but that's about the only resemblance it will eventually have to DB's. Campbell plans to have a delicatessen, although it will lean heavily toward barbecue products, salad, Cajun-style gumbo, and southern fried chicken.

And, Campbell says, one of his big pushes will be a deep-pan barbecue pizza, which is says is big in the south. He is currently experimenting to get the perfect dough. The Ann Arbor store isn't big enough to allow him to try it there.

"Everybody is looking for good barbecue," Campbell said.

"And I'm confident if they try it once, they'll come back. It sells itself."

Kitten, Cat Care Class Offered By Humane Society

Is your cat demolishing your furniture with her claws? Is there a litterbox use problem in your house? Just what makes a feline tick?

These topics and more will be addressed at the Humane Society of Huron Valley's (HSHV) Kitten and Cat Behavior and Care class. The 2½ hour class will be taught by Dr. Mark Alsager of Professional Veterinary Hospital, and Julie Walker, HSHV Director of Community Education and long-time cat breeder.

Topics covered will include selecting and introducing a new cat, cat behavior, discipline, feeding tips, litterbox training, grooming pointers, and health care information.

The class will be held Sunday, June 9, at 2 p.m. at the Ann Arbor Dog Training Club, 1575 E. North Territorial Rd. The cost is only $2 per adult. Free identification tags and informational handouts will be available. The class is for owners only, do not bring your pet!

WRAP Environment Program Enrolls 62 For Summer Event

The Waterloo Recreation Area Project (WRAP), an environmental program to provide hands-on learning to students of all ages, is being sponsored by the Chelsea Education Foundation.

The week-long day program will take place at the Eddy Geology Center during the week of July 22.

Sixty-two students from grades K-12 are enrolled in the program.

An enthusiastic staff of teachers, community members and local experts will lead activities related to Natural History, Environmental Issues and Environmental Responsibility.

Students should come away from the experience with a better understanding of the natural areas in which they live and their relationship to the earth. A broader knowledge of the environment and their role in its care will be fostered.

Staffing the program for 1991 are group leaders, Beth Newmann, Janet Rossi, Pam Bullock, Bob Bullock; assistants, Debbie Gerstler, June Winans, Mary Ann Schwartz, Tracy Heydlauff, Eric Smith; co-ordinators, Dr. Emily Jessup and Jan Roberts; naturalist, Carol Strahler.

Other individuals involved in the program are: WRAP committee members (not mentioned above) Kathy Wurzel, Barbara Pruess, Laurie Bissell, Helena Robinovitz, Patrice Fahrner, Barbara Rose, Joseph Piasecki; Eddy Geology Center Administrator and Interpreter, Alan Wernette; Waterloo Recreation Area Director, Bob Vanderwahl; parent volunteers, nurse volunteers and a number of expert volunteers from the community. Some visiting experts will include a professional wildlife photographer, a sewage treatment specialist, a water quality expert, an air quality specialist, experts on Native American history and culture, a conservation officer, an environmental education specialist and an astronomer.

Program co-ordinators are still looking for people to lead workshops on the topics of soils and soil quality, agricultural issues and land-use planning, energy sources, zebra mussels, political activism, environmental organizations and careers, writing, drama, music, art, and living simply ideas.

Field trips are planned throughout the week, including a visit to the Environmental Protection Agency Motor Vehicle Emissions Laboratory in Ann Arbor and other key locations throughout the area.

The WRAP program is an ongoing project sponsored by the Chelsea Education Foundation. Members of this board are: Barbara Rose, Thomas Huetteman, Treva Winans, Kenneth Gietzen, Anne Comeau, Dr. Richard Ernst, Peter Flintoff, David McLaughlin, Helen Lancaster, James Merkel, Joseph Piasecki, Charles Skeleton, Amy Heydlauff, Mary Beth Rosenberg, Patrice Fahrner and Jan Roberts.
