EASTER BUNNY made an appearance Saturday afternoon downtown on behalf of the Chelsea Knights of Columbus. The bunny helped collect money and distribute Tootsie Rolls for the Knights' annual Tootsie Roll Drive to benefit the handicapped. Here he meets up with Matt and Mark Borders.

HUMANITARIAN OF THE YEAR AWARD was presented to Chelsea Milling Co. president Howard S. Holmes, right, by Bill Rademacher, chairman of Faith in Action. It is the first such award given by FIA but it will be awarded annually. Holmes has helped virtually every local charitable organization over the years. "Your abiding generosity and willingness to share with those of the community who for one reason or another have been less rewarded has been a continuing inspiration for all of us," Rademacher said. "You have enhanced the lives of all of us and this modest recognition is long overdue."

CHS Qualifies 13 for State Forensics

Thirteen members of the Chelsea High school forensics team have qualified for the state tournament in May with their performance in the regionals last week-end.

Regionals were held last Saturday in Battle Creek and 34 schools participated.

"It is probably the toughest regional in the state," said adviser Bill Coelius.

"The region includes most of lower Michigan."

Qualifiers included the duo of Rob Coelius and Scott Leeman performing "Author's Voice"; the 9-10 duo of Christine Koch and Jessica Cauffiel performing "Love and Torture"; the 9-10 duo of Colby Skelton and David Seitz performing "Babel Rap"; Becky Pryor in poetry; Becca Flintoft in extemporaneous speaking; and the multiple of Jason Adams, Eric Beeman, Jeff Holzhausen, Tara Roehm, and Rob Jaques performing "Secret Life of Walter Mitty."

The public can see the CHS forensics team in action at the annual Awards Showcase on Tuesday, April 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school media center.

Potential Lay-Offs To Be Revealed Monday At School Board Meeting

Chelsea School District administrators, teachers, and board members are still trying to sort out exactly how $634,000 in cuts next year could change how the district operates.

The board approved a list of cuts last Monday to respond to the effects of tax base-sharing, a 20 percent drop in state funding for special education, and the state-wide property assessment freeze, along with a general rise in operating costs. The district is also negotiating a new teacher contract. The cuts will go into effect only if voters do not approve a 1.95 mill hike in the June 8 elections.

One of the first orders of business is for the district to decide who will be laid off. Lay-offs will be revealed at next Monday's board of education meeting at the Chelsea Depot.

Identified for lay-off were four teachers at the elementary school level, including art, music, physical education and Enrichment Triad teachers. However, exactly who those teachers are depends on a number of factors including seniority and certification. For one example of how the process works, triad teacher Ruth Stielstra will have a teaching job in some other capacity due to her seniority and qualifications, said Superintendent Joe Piasecki. That means someone else in another teaching job with less seniority will not be as fortunate.

Others targeted for lay-offs include the substance abuse counselor, media aides at Beach Middle school and Chelsea High school, a half-time counselor at each Beach school and the high school, and $16,000 worth of administrative secretarial help.

Piasecki said the process of figuring out what to cut focused on programs and not particular people, and principals were heavily involved in the decisions. Art, physical education, music, and triad were determined to be less important, philosophically, than, for example, maintaining class size in any particular elementary school grade. In general, programs to be cut are those outside the primary mission of the school district to teach reading, writing, and arithmetic, Piasecki said.

"The substance abuse programs is one of the programs (identified to be cut) that I feel real bad about," Piasecki said.

"It's a program that a lot of schools don't have and we get excellent cooperation from Chelsea Hospital and other facilities. I think it is beginning to make a difference."

The process began, Piasecki said, by considering the cuts that were proposed several years ago when the district was faced with losses from the effects of the Headlee Amendment. The administration met several times and came up with lists of cuts of $600,000, $900,000, and $1.2 million, which largely reflected various state proposals regarding future state funding for schools. The decision was made to stick only with known factors, so the higher two lists were rejected. At a work session, the school board made some changes to the $600,000 list.

The entire effect of the lay-offs, as well as other budget cuts, probably won't be known until well into the school year. What is known is children at North and South Elementary schools would get half as much music, art, and physical education instruction as they do now, which is about 40 minutes per week. Media centers at Beach Middle school and Chelsea High school would be forced to close their facilities during lunch hour or at other times they can't be on hand. Students at Beach school would have 1½ counselors rather than two and high school students would have 2½ counselors rather than three. Substance abuse programs would continue, but the duties would be spread around.

"Will we continue to operate (the substance abuse program)?" Piasecki asked at the last school board meeting.

"Yes," he answered. "Will it be done as well as it is now? No." That's the general feeling among administrators about all the personnel cuts. In most situations, programs will continue but they will be less efficient and less comprehensive.

And then there is the Beach school aquarium as an example of the more subtle effects. The aquarium sits in one corner of the library, as it has for years. Maintenance costs of the aquarium come from overdue book fines, which are collected and tracked by the media aide. If that person is gone, it's likely fewer fines would be collected because that responsibility would fall on the media director, who would have other, more important duties.

The personnel moves also include making curriculum director Laurie Bissell and athletic director Wayne Welton half-time administrators and half-time teachers. It would be a tricky matter because the district cannot lay-off a teacher to give an administrator a teaching job.

With the absence of 7-8 grade sports, Welton would theoretically have less to do as athletic director. That, however, can't be said of the curriculum director. The curriculum-review process would have to be scaled back.

School Board Meeting To Be Held at Depot

The next regular meeting of the Chelsea Board of Education will be held at the Chelsea Depot at 7:30 p.m. next Monday, April 20.

The agenda will include the announcement of who could potentially be laid off next school year if voters reject a 1.95 mill increase.

IT WAS A FIRE that could have been much worse in the home economics building at Chelsea High school last Friday. Someone, police suspect a student, set fire to the paper towel holder, which eventually spread to the plastic trash can below. Most of the damage was caused by smoke. The fire was put out by a teacher using a fire extinguisher. Chelsea Fire Department and police were called to the scene around noon.

CHS Bathroom Fire Damages Building

A prank that could have turned to tragedy was discovered in time by an alert teacher who used a fire extinguisher to douse a fire in a bathroom at Chelsea High school.

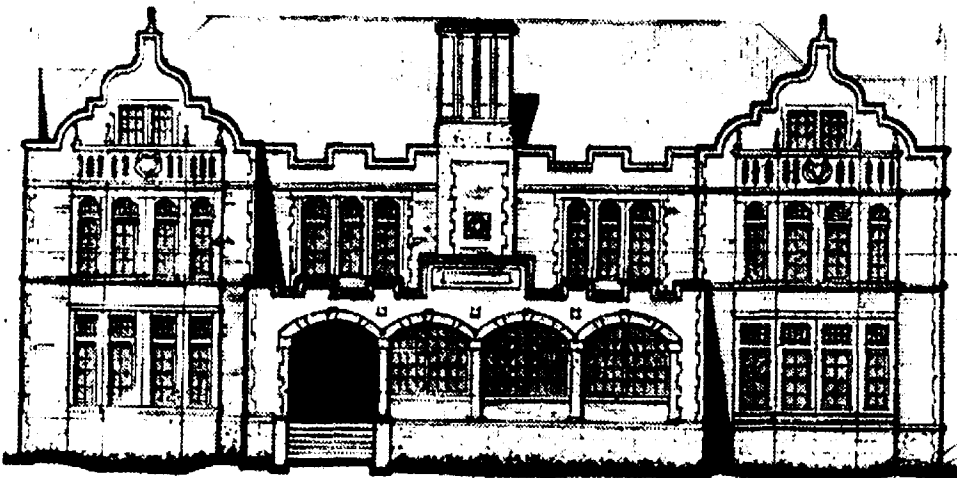

Chelsea police and firefighters were called to the home economics building shortly before noon after the blaze was discovered in the boys bathroom.

According to police, someone apparently deliberately set fire to a paper towel rack in the bathroom. The fire then spread to a plastic trash can underneath it. Black smoke from the burning plastic engulfed the building and made the fire look much worse than it was.

As of Monday, police had four suspects, three 15-year-old boys and one 17-year-old boy. Police said the bathroom was known to be a place where some students go to smoke. They said when the fire broke out a student, not realizing the seriousness of the situation, called for students to come and watch.

According to assistant superintendent Fred Mills, estimated cost of the clean-up is $7,100. Smoke coated ceilings, walls, and equipment, and some rooms in the building will need repainting.

Romney Files Amicus in D.N.R. Reorganization Appeal

The Ingham Circuit Court decision that struck down Governor John Engler's Department of Natural Resources reorganization order (1991-31) in January should be reversed as an unconstitutional infringement on the governor's powers, attorneys for former Governor George Romney said in an amicus brief filed with the Court of Appeals.

"The decision threatens to lock this state in perpetual administrative inefficiency without any effective means for the governor to exert his constitutional powers to respond to changing realities," the attorneys stated in Dodak v. Engler and Michigan Environmental Protection Fund v. Engler.

"This court should not substitute its judgment for that of the constitutional delegates and the people of the state of Michigan by creating artificial limitations on the governor's power which were not explicitly set forth in the constitution."

Romney, who issued the initial executive orders (1985-8 through 1985-28) that allocated responsibilities among the current 20 departments under the 1963 Constitution, and his Lansing-based attorneys Richard McLellan and Peter Ellsworth, argued the trial court's decision conflict with the express intent of the delegates who drafted the 1963 Constitution, which was ultimately approved by Michigan voters.

The delegates determined the benefits flowing from a strong governor outweighed the risks of creating such a broad authority, the brief stated.

"Its purpose was to dramatically enhance the power of the governor to reorganize, create and abolish administrative agencies, and to provide the governor with power co-equal to that of the Michigan Legislature in this specific area," they argued in reference to the constitution.

The Legislature and governor have authority to create and abolish principal departments, with both subject to the same constitutional restraints, the brief stated, adding Engler's order does not eliminate any statutory responsibilities or functions created by law.

"In Michigan, the separation of powers doctrine has not been interpreted to mean there can never be any overlapping of functions between branches of government," the brief stated.

If upheld, the court's decision would "seriously erode the constitutional authority of governors to manage the government and would represent a significant step backward in the

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Warren M. Hoyt, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

governance of this state," the brief continued, citing a 1951 Hoover Report that found the Legislature had failed to provide an integrated administration. "The (constitutional) delegates recognized the governor was in the best position to recognize and react to bureaucratic inefficiencies," the brief stated.

The attorneys also urged the appeals court to throw out the trial court's analysis of the separation of powers doctrine, which they argued is based on the erroneous notion that the governor may not modify a legislatively established organization scheme without violating the doctrine.

The brief also listed other branches of government having been authorized by the constitution to perform functions that would otherwise be exercised by another branch.

"That Article 5, Section 2 confers legislative authority on the governor is neither unusual nor inconsistent with the separation of powers doctrine. Rather, it is exemplary of the delicate system of checks and balances established by the constitution," the brief stated.

It also listed significant transfers of responsibilities and functions between departments that were allowed to stand when E.O.s 1973-2 and 1973-2a expanded Natural Resources' principal duties to include protection and conservation of natural resources.

"Under the circuit court's faulty logic, the governor would have been powerless to consolidate, organize and create these functions within the Department of Natural Resources in the first place," the brief argued. "This executive order leaves intact all air, water and land pollution controls adopted by the Legislature and signed into law."

The court had concluded that the power to abolish departments and create new ones would violate separation of powers because it would permit the abolishment of citizen boards and commissions. The brief argues the order merely transfers the responsibility for conducting public hearings from the board or commission to the director or his or her designee, retaining the function but changing the people who perform it.

The brief also notes the Legislature failed to challenge a similar executive order (1991-12) that abolished the Department of Corrections and the Michigan Corrections Organization through a Type III transfer which transferred all statutory authority, powers and duties to a newly created Michigan Department of Corrections.

"The appellees are inviting this court to effectively veto the governor's reorganization, even though the people have not voted on such an amendment," the brief stated.

Allison Horton, from Sierra Club Mackinac Chapter, expressed concern that filling additional amicus briefs could slow the court process, and the involvement of "attorneys close to the governor" could politicize the battle rather than keep it a substantive struggle over management of natural resources.

U.S. Supreme Court

The U.S. Supreme Court began hearing arguments recently in a case which may decide whether Michigan and other states will become responsible for the disposal of low-level radioactive waste.

The state of New York is challenging a 1985 federal law that requires each state to dispose of such waste within its borders.

For years we have said this law is flawed," said Dennis Schornack, acting commissioner of the Michigan Low-Level Radioactive Waste Authority. "It infringes upon state sovereignty, violates the constitution and has resulted in the development of far too many facilities across the country."

The attorney general's office has filed an amicus brief in support of New York's lawsuit. Schornack said he hopes the federal law, which was enacted to address a national crisis over disposal of radioactive waste from nuclear power plants, hospitals, industry, universities and research facilities, will be overturned in its entirety.

Nine interstate compacts and several individual states are involved in efforts to site and develop a waste facility. Under the law's "take title" provision, states unable to dispose of wastes by January 1998 must take title to and possess the waste, and be held liable in court for any damages caused by failing to do so, Schornack said.

"Three disposal sites have handled the volume of waste for the last two decades," Schornack added. "It doesn't make environmental sense or economic sense to force the development of 15 or 16 new sites."

SPEAR & ASSOCIATES
INC. REALTORS

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

This is the best of times outside, with the crack of the bat and other signs of spring that give fresh meaning to eternal hope. Inside, though, this is the worst of times for Americans slumped over the kitchen table, sipping cold coffee and struggling with income tax forms or trembling in front of their tax consultants bearing the bad news. There is no joy in Mudville, ordinary working American taxpayers have struck out again.

For any hint of hope they got to go outside. Inside they got to make arrangements to send all the money they're told to send or face all the wrath their Governments can bring down on their heads. Saturday night at the country store, Clem Webster told the fellows that the most depressing thing he has run across during all this suffering was a little item about Federal tax law changes. He had the clipping with him.

When tax legislation for next year was introduced in the House last year it run 96 pages, Clem said. It was revised to 206 pages, and improved again to 629 pages before it passed. Then it went to the Senate, where it was swole to 1,421 pages and revisions keep coming. There is no chance a ordinary taxpayer will understand all he must do to find favor in the eyes of the Internal Revenue. To add insult to injury, Clem added, we got to pay for advice we got to have to send the money we got to send without having any say so over how it's spent.

Bug Hookum said Clem's lament was pretty much on the money, but he pointed out taxpayers can earmark one of their dollars to help pay for Presidential campaigns, and that got him to thinking how being able to direct more tax would leave a better taste in everybody's mouth. For instant, Bug said, instead of 20 cent of every dollar going for defense, hold it to a dime. Put a nickel in transportation that now just gets a penny to patch up interstate highways that are being tore up a heap faster than they are being fixed.

The other nickel could be better spent on Federal and State parks that are being worn out like our roads and get even less attention. This way, Bug went on, maybe the U.S. Forest Service could quit selling lumber off Federal land with one hand while the other begs for more conservation of Federal woodlands for recreation use.

Actual, Bug declared, there's no end to ideas for more bangs from tax bucks that could come from one more page in the form. Every member of Congress is forever using free mailing to poll the folks back home on issues the Congressman thinks are in their best interest. Tax paying time is when these folks do their best thinking on how to cut Government cost, so make room on the form for them to speak their minds on their own issues, was Bug's words.

Practical speaking, Zeke Grubb agreed, a fellow trying to scrape up enough to pay his taxes is more likely to take cost cutting serious than the Congressman that spends everybody else's money like it was water and treats his own checking account deficit like it was the Federal budget's.

For starters on his blank page, Zeke went on, we get along without the $550,000 going to study the social habits of the Arctic goose, and we hold up on another $550,000 grant to research Hawaiian monk seals.

And for the mother of pork barrel giveaways, there's $1.8 million for a National Pork Research Facility in Iowa.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

U-M Accreditation Program Will Cease Operation in June

Michigan school districts were informed in March that the University of Michigan Accreditation Program will cease to operate effective June 30, 1992.

U-M has operated the program that accredits secondary schools in the state for 12 years.

One of the major reasons for termination of the program, says director C. Phillip Kearney, is that Public Act 26 of 1990 assigns responsibility for K-12 school accreditation in Michigan to the State Board of Education and the Michigan Department of Education.

Establishment and implementation of such a state-run system is currently underway, he explained.

"For the university to continue its program would result in redundant systems and inefficient use of scarce resources," Kearney added.

"A second major reason lies on the increasing budget pressures and consequent short-falls in general fund revenues which the university and the School of Education are currently experiencing," said Kearney.

He explained that all schools accredited in the 1992-93 school year, including Chelsea High School, will be carried on the U-M Accreditation rolls for the 1992-93 year, but no fee will be levied.

Kearney said he expects that the state accreditation program will be operational beginning in the 1993-94 school year.

Budget constraints have also led to the university decision to withdraw general fund support from the North Central Accreditation Program, which U-M has sponsored since 1986, Kearney commented.

The North Central program is seeking alternative funding and sponsorship in an attempt to continue its services to Michigan schools in 1992-93 and subsequent years, he explained.

The termination of the U-M Accreditation program and the relocation of the NCA program has also led to a university decision to close the Bureau of Accreditation and School Improvement Studies on June 30, Kearney said.

He added that "the bureau has had a long and proud history of service to the schools of Michigan. It is with regret, but also with a deep sense of accomplishment, that we move to close our doors."

"O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?"
—Bible, New Testament.

The anguish of bereavement would be almost intolerable if it were not for our faith in a life after death . . . where we will be reunited with our departed loved ones.

Easter, the most significant of Christian holidays, celebrates the triumph of Jesus Christ over death and the grave. That we, too, shall triumph over the grave, by the Grace of God who loves us, is the wonderful message of Easter.

Our hope is that people of all faiths will worship God in their own way on this Easter . . . with reverence and thankfulness.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor, and
Beach Middle School Parents,
I was very dismayed by a letter that was published in last week's Chelsea Standard. The implications of which are really frightening.

The letter seems to be one person's view that is being sold to Beach Middle school parents as an absolute truth, unbiased, and crystal clear. Perhaps it is more of a view of whether a glass is half full or half empty. It depends on your point of view.

Mrs. Kennedy is rallying parents to fight the "Conspiracy of Silence." Our schools, the target again. In her eyes, Chelsea administrators and teachers are ineffective disciplinarians, and our children are all slovenly, ill-mannered low lifes.

Boy, I've really missed something if that's true! I really like those kids. They're bright, intelligent, funny, and usually very truthful. I have always been treated with respect and I have always respected them in return. The more I read the angrier I got.

I began asking questions of my children and other Beach school students. The more unbelievable the scenario became. Unauthorized parents grabbing students in the halls for what they perceived were infractions of the rules. Parents spying on students both in and outside the building. Making themselves obnoxious, intimidating children, and demanding that the students give them their names and slyly threatening them with "I know who your mother or father is, what if I call them?" What right do you have to do this, and for what purpose?

This type of behavior is against all research on how to unite students to work together to create a better school community, if that was your intent. You are alienating these students by the droves. You are creating an atmosphere of distrust for adults at a time in these students' lives when bridges of trust are needed even more than ever before.

Your letter seems to be blowing things way out of proportion. There are exaggerations, insinuations, half-truths, some fanaticism, and some very hidden agendas.

Do you think our administrators and teachers just came in off the streets? They have been trained in their academic fields, and they have been trained in human growth and development, psychology, sociology, and dealing with the special needs of middle school students. They do it every day and for the most part they do it very well. If your group is looking for perfection from any system or student then you better start looking for perfection some place else. No system or person will be able to fit your bill.

Public schools educate all children in the community: the gifted, the exceptional, the average, the shy, the bilingual, the learning disabled, and the troubled child. Everyone deserves an education and along with that knowledge the school staff tries to help build their self esteem, work through their problems, give support, allow room for choice and growth, and they help them through their mistakes. THEY DO NOT ALIENATE THEM.

What is this "Chelsea Student Profile" your group is looking for? I understand that you want a lunchroom of 300+ students (ages 11-14) to eat so quietly that students can study in the lunchroom. Is that reasonable, better yet even desirable? This lunch hour is the only time that students can socialize for more than one minutes running between classes in the entire day.

I've been at Beach school during lunch. I know it's messy but so is every single place that serves very large groups of people that are eating. Look around at the Chelsea Fair, Chelsea football games, Tiger Stadium, Joe Louis. Large groups of people that are eating are messy! Shall we jail them? Publish lists of offenders' names in the paper, call their employers, blacklist them from joining any local organizations? No, we try and educate them to see the importance of the issue and unite them to help change things.

As for your manners issue, manners are relative and situational. They are relative to someone's upbringing and living conditions, and they always change with the situation.

My children are taught to be polite and respectful by ME! Not by my child's school. They are also taught to think and not accept authority blindly like robots. Perhaps you should focus your campaign on another audience. Our children are in the school environment for 12% of the year. Who teaches them respect, cleanliness, and manners? They are with their parents 88% of the time, need I say more. Our schools try to reinforce a code that parents should teach at home.

Beach Middle school has a discipline code. It was the result of careful efforts by many trained and qualified people thinking through all the issues of age, growth and development, the need for independence, self esteem, responsibility, codes of ethics, community values, and maturity just to name a few. Does it need to be updated? Perhaps. Perhaps a few people are not enforcing it. That is an issue that the staff at Beach Middle school should address. They're the true evaluators, and the true educators. They know these students. They know their problems and they CARE!

As a parent I am aghast at the Pandora's Box this group has opened. They have lumped all students into faceless, nameless, beings and labeled them in derogatory terms. This group has angered the student body at Beach Middle school and depressed the already difficult adolescent self image.

Questions

• What about Beach Middle school student's civil rights? Have you already violated them?

• What about adults targeting specific specific children because they don't like their background, dress, earrings, hair style, or background reputation from another school, or because they have a brief straying from our legal system.

• What about this "Big Brother" mentality that you've created and make sound normal. Parents patrolling halls, spying on children, invading privacy, forcing personal value systems, and making veiled threats.

• What about vigilante groups taking over public services to force their ideals on a population without their permission or knowledge.

• What about children feeling alienated, intimidated, and betrayed by adults.

These are by far more important to me than whether a lunchroom can be a study hall!

You wanted to rally parents, well you have one at least! I am an advocate of these children and your vigilante group has gone too far. If reform was what you really believed in then you had a procedure already in place to use. You chose not to. Why?

If you wanted to support and educate students to change their values then a positive approach would have increased your credibility with students, staff, and parents. Why did you choose to attack the entire system? What really has prompted this movement?

This school and its staff have done a great deal for our children. Has it done everything for everyone? No, but they do keep trying. Nothing is perfect, and as an educator that has taught preschool through graduate school I've seen it all. I don't see through rose colored glasses. I along with a lot of other parents and educators DO SUPPORT our schools, our teachers, and administrators and most of all OUR CHILDREN.

Mrs. Kennedy, you and your vigilante followers, roaming through our schools, need to leave immediately. The student body is upset enough with your labeling, name collecting, and intimidation. You have set a very poor example of how to change a perceived problem.

Let the professional staff at Beach now try and repair the damage you've caused.

I offer my apology as a parent and educator to all the students, staff, and administrators at Beach Middle school for having to learn, teach, and run our school under such traumatic conditions. I am also asking that you remove these people from the school immediately. My child is in school for an education, not interrogation and intimidation.

And to all of the 6th, 7th, and 8th grade students there are many, many, people that think very highly of you. They do consider you to be respectful, well-mannered, and law abiding citizens. I commend your restraint and maturity in a very difficult situation. Please don't let a few adults with limited vision of you discourage your trust in adults, or your respect for your school and teachers.

Mrs. Kennedy and friends, I am the tip of the iceberg!
Janice V. Martin.

To the Editor:

I retired five years ago after working for 18 years in the Beach Middle school office. During that time I found the students as a whole to be good kids, and well-mannered kids with only isolated individuals and incidents. It was a pleasure to work with the staff and the students.

The article by Debbie Kennedy, published April 8, was very disturbing to me. I believe it is important for parents to be involved and to know what their kids are doing. I urge parents to go to school whenever possible, and to try to make a positive difference. I also believe that behavioral training and discipline begins in the home.

Maryanna Robertson.

To Whom It May Concern:

We are in 7th grade at Beach Middle school. We are writing because we are concerned about the things Mrs. Kennedy said about our school.

Mrs. Kennedy says in her letter to the Editor that the behavior at the 7-8 grade Band Festival was very bad, and that you should have been there. Well, I am in the 7th grade band and was at the festival. I personally did not see anyone from our school doing any of the things she said we were.

Also, in the lunchroom we are not that loud. This is our time to be with our friends and talk. Also, our lunchroom is big with BRICK walls and a TILE floor, unlike Pinckney which has smaller lunchrooms with CARPETED floors. And at Pinckney, they HAVE to be quiet because it is a study period.

We have NOT heard any fellow students say "I will sue" except ONCE which was meant to be sarcastic.

Also we think that it was not fair that she only stayed at Pinckney for one day and at our school for one WEEK. Also when she was explaining things, she left out a lot of the IMPORTANT facts.

Concerned students,
Sarah Wilson
& Kristin Gaunt.

Dear Editor,

This letter is regarding to the letter that Mrs. Kennedy wrote last week. We agree that the behavior at Beach isn't the best, but the whole letter was about negative incidents that happen here. We do understand that it was to let parents know what happens at our school.

The letter made the entire school look like a bunch of troublemakers. We do know for a fact that there are many positive things at our school, that were not mentioned. Many students took the letter the wrong way. We are all concerned with some of the behavior here but we are not a juvenile delinquent prison.

Mr. Stielstra is handling the problems as well as he can, and we appreciate that he cares. Many students who have caused trouble in the past are sent to our school, and that should be taken into account. Please understand when you write about problems in our school it affects everyone, even the innocent.

In the letter Mrs. Kennedy stretched the situations farther than the truth. She and other parents have been visiting our school for two weeks now and she compared us to Pinckney she happened to visit for one day, the day after a high school student had been killed in an alcohol accident. What would you expect? If she wanted to compare us, why not a local school like Manchester, Dexter or Grass Lake? That way the students all come from similar backgrounds.

In conclusion, most of the kids at Beach school are well behaved students.

Respectfully,
Amy Oake
Kindra Weid
Anne Frederick.

Dear Editor,

Just recently a woman by the name of Mrs. Kennedy wrote you a letter about the conditions at Beach Middle school that deeply disturbed me. I myself am a student at Beach Middle school and I do not appreciate the way she put down our school. She has got some nerve coming into our school and telling us how it should be run. Most students have great pride in their school, only a small percent does the things she is complaining about.

Also with the millage trying to pass it will be even worse when people hear this stuff.

I also do not appreciate the fact that she visited us for weeks and only visited Pinckney for one day. Was she aware that on the day she visited Pinckney one of their classmates had just died. Any school would be extremely quiet if one of their classmates had just died.

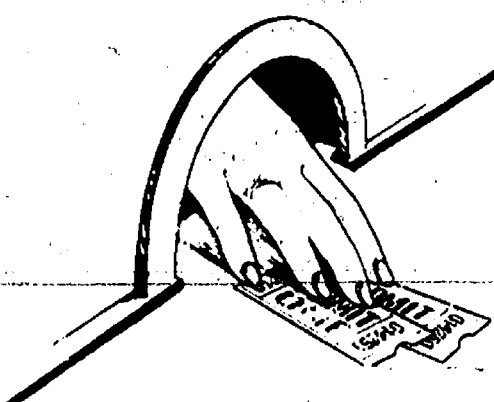

Also I would like to touch on the marijuana and butterfly knife incidents. These were not caused by the whole school. They were only caused by a small percentage of basically the same people. She shouldn't be giving the whole school a bad name because of one incident. I would also like to say that I myself am in B-lunch and from personal experience I can tell you that there was never any firecracker ignited during the lunch period. Even if I was not in the lunchroom, I asked around and no one said that there was one.

THEATRE R.e.v.i.e.w

"ARSENIC & OLD LACE"

A sparse audience more than filled the auditorium with laughter and applause Saturday afternoon as the Dexter Community Players outdid themselves on the classic comedy, "Arsenic and Old Lace." With Dave Adams' terrific artwork on the program cover for "Arsenic and Old Lace," the players acted out one of their finest community theatre productions that I've had the pleasure of seeing in Dexter since reviewing plays for The Dexter Leader and The Chelsea Standard.

Costuming by Kathy Ratliff and Joy Dennis was superb; the set constructed by David Laird, Bill Baldwin and Bill Casey (assisted with appropriate suggestions from Kathy Draper), and the set/lighting design by Joe Helton all assured us of forthcoming excellence as we viewed the stage.

Two little old pixilated women, namely Abbey Brewster (Mary Ann Stevenson) and Martha Brewster (Ann Van Demark), living comfortably in the Brewster home in Brooklyn, entertained many guests during their days there. However, if the words were expressed by a guest that he/she was lonely or all alone in the world, the sympathy gauge would come out with Abbey and Martha helping their "guest to no longer be lonely."

Their guests were "laid away" through the project of digging for the Panama Canal, so capably done by Teddy Brewster (Michael Szymanski), alias President Teddy Roosevelt. This basement cemetery in the Brewster Mansion became home for 12 "lonely guests" plus one uninvited interment by the name of Mr. Spinalzo (Chris Twigg).

Nephew Mortimer Brewster (Brian Cox), a drama critic for a New York newspaper, dearly loves his innocent capricious aunts who are invested with an inherited interest in first-hand homicide. He also has fallen for Elaine Harper (Ann Stevenson), the daughter of the Rev. Dr. Harper (Bill Baldwin), next door neighbors to the Brewsters.

Playwright Joseph Kesselring has provided us with a somewhat eerie setting, a family whose sanity ranges from outright to pure insanity. Into this relationship he brings forth policemen, rather than inquisitors they are members of this illicit murdering family. Officer Brophy (Bill Casey) and Officer Klein (Jason Maynard) habitually stop by the house for coffee during their daily runs.

However, two guests by the name of Mr. Hoskins and Mr. Gibbs are doomed for the Panamanian effort by Teddy. Two characters enter the plot by the names of Jonathon Brewster (Tom Underwood) and Dr. Einstein (Bob Carr)—Jonathon, returning to his childhood home.

On Broadway (at that time), Boris Karloff was asked to play Jonathon Brewster. Karloff appeared in almost all of the menacing movies as the villain. Even played the role of Frankenstein once. Jokes appear in the text about Jonathon looking like Karloff; with Karloff actually being Jonathon. Dr. Einstein was, in some productions, an imitation of another spook by the name of actor Peter Lorre. Brewster and Einstein have murdered victim—Dr. Spinoza—with them in their car and are searching for a place to dispose of him.

The two aunts do not like Jonathon but eventually put up with him because of menacing threats toward Teddy whom they love very much. Toward the end of this brilliant piece of comedy writing, Officer O'Hara (Jim Riethmiller) arrives, providing a non-stop talkative amateur playwright. Attempting to straighten out the bedlam is Lieutenant Rooney (Jeff Zupan) and soon-to-be-late Mr. Witherspoon (Bill Baldwin).

Mr. Witherspoon comes to the mansion to take Teddy Brewster to Happy Acres with the assistance of Mortimer Brewster, but not all of the quiet mayhem is figured out by these various visiting guests.

If you had been there, and it is a shame that you weren't, you would know the finish. But I'm keeping it a deep dark secret!

All members of the Dexter Community Players provided most competent performances on stage. Thanks to Vikki Fox and Darla Miller for producing the play, the special plaids for a well directed effort by Jimmy Dee Arnold. Nice work!

Several members of the cast, to me at least on Saturday afternoon, approached professional levels in their various interpretations.

Spring flowers must go to the lovely Mary Ann Stevenson and Ann Van Demark in convincing roles, plus tickets to a Tigers' ballgame to Bill Baldwin, Mike Szymanski, Bill Casey, Jason Maynard, Chris Twigg, the Rev. Alex Miller, and Jeff Zupan. You made the mystery comedy classic fly.

In my limited time of reporting for The Chelsea Standard and Dexter Leader, the Dexter Community Players' musicals have been a better product from the stage than comedies or dramas. However, their June 25, 26 and 27 musical interpretation of "Anything Goes" will REALLY have to be good to outdo "Arsenic and Old Lace."

WARNING: I'm well aware that Mary Ann Stevenson and Ann Van Demark are most respected members of the community. But I would avoid casual invitations to their respective homes for elderberry wine in the next few days. Some amateur actors forget to leave their roles on stage and carry them home with them.

See you in Dexter for "Anything Goes" in June!

Senior Health Notes

F-Foot Care . . .

Foot problems are among the most common health complaints. The American Podiatric Medical Association estimates that three out of four Americans experience problems with their feet at some time. Most problems are preventable or curable. Moreover, foot problems may indicate more serious conditions. So, don't ignore aching feet!

Feet are complicated structures with over 26 bones, 1/4 of the bones in the entire body! During a lifetime, they walk over 115,000 miles.

Feet are very important to your general health. For example, if your feet hurt, you are not likely to exercise. Aching feet may throw you off balance. This could result in a fall and broken bones. If walking hurts, you are more likely to refrain from activities such as shopping for groceries, mowing the lawn or going to church. Feet are your access to many other activities required to maintain physical and mental good health. Take care of them!

Common Feet Problems

Bunions, calluses, corns and neuromas—These may be caused or made worse by ill-fitting shoes. If you have any of these problems, do not attempt to take care of them yourself! Home remedies, self-appointed surgeons and drugstore pads may make the problem worse. Contact your podiatrist. He or she may suggest proper use of topical solutions and moleskin pads, or a change in footwear, the use of orthotic devices to be worn in the shoes or surgical remedies.

Fungal and bacterial infections—These cause itching, scaling, blisters, redness, and problems with toenails. Infections thrive on damp, dark, warm environments. To avoid them, keep feet clean and dry. Anti-fungal foot medications may help.

Swollen feet—This may indeed be due to walking too much on a hot day. Heart conditions, kidney disorders and diabetes can also cause feet to swell. If swelling does not go down once you stop walking and put your feet up for a period of time, consult your podiatrist.

Dry skin—Skin becomes more fragile and dry with age. Cracks and breaks may lead to infection. To prevent this, keep the skin supple with cream or oil. Massage into the feet at night, in the morning, or after bathing.

Taking care of Your Feet

As we grow older, feet tend to hurt more often. Problems caused by years of abuse may become apparent. Women have four times the problems with their feet as men, often due to years of wearing high-heeled, pointed-toe shoes. Health problems such as conditions of the heart or kidney and diabetes make older persons more susceptible to foot problems.

Your feet help you maintain your independence and keep your spirits high. Thus, as you grow older, taking care of your feet becomes more important.

Feet change shape over time. Be sure that your shoes fit properly, with the width of the shoe as wide as the widest part of your foot.

Keep your feet clean and dry—If shoes get wet, let them dry completely before putting them on. Change socks daily. Don't wear hosiery with tight elastic.

Bathe feet in warm, soapy water—It is not necessary to take a complete shower or bath; you can bathe them in a shallow basin that is easy to fill. Take care not to use scalding water that will burn.

Massage and exercise the feet—Poor circulation often caused by hypertension, heat condition or diabetes, may cause feet to be numb. A warm bath and a foot massage will increase circulation, help restore feeling and prevent more severe problems. Exercise helps good circulation. If traveling by plane, bus or car, get up and walk periodically to prevent your feet from swelling.

Trim your nails—Cut them straight across, not curved at the edges. Nails grow thicker as we age. They may crack and cause infection. For many older persons, thick nails are difficult to cut. This is particularly so if poor vision, arthritis and too much weight inhibit self-care. A family member may help.

Many beauty salons offer pedicures-manicures for the feet. As indulgent as this may sound, for $15-$20, a pedicure will make you and your feet feel great!

Professionals who can help with feet problems are physicians, podiatrists, nurses and home health aides. A podiatrist, or DPM (doctor of podiatric medicine), is a specialist in foot problems. Podiatrists are licensed health professionals and are allowed to perform surgery and prescribe medications. Nurses and home health aides can help you cut toenails and treat corns and calluses properly.

Watch for signs of problems with your feet: redness, cracks, swelling, sores, numbness. Whether they hurt or not, consult a podiatrist or your family doctor.

State Plans Work on M-52

The state plans to re-surface 6.8 miles of M-52 this year.

According to the Michigan Department of Transportation, the stretch runs from north of Koeper Rd. to the M-106 south junction in Washtenaw and Jackson counties.

Low bid for the project was $1.6 million. Work is scheduled to begin by the end of September.

The work is part of what the state is calling "the most ambitious highway construction program to hit Michigan in decades." The state plans to spend more than $5 billion on the state's transportation network over the next 10 years.

This year's program will focus on 800 miles of state highways and 100 state bridges. Last year the state worked on 500 miles of roads and 95 bridges.

They competed with 130 teams, representing the top 24 percent in the state. The state bowl is the culmination of a year-long program where students are taught to solve problems through

The state bowl had "land use" as its general topic. From left are teacher Mary Baker and students Erin Baird, Carrie Buss, Liz Holdsworth, and Stephanie Wesolowski.

Village, Townships Move Slowly on Pact

Village of Chelsea and surrounding townships are slowly moving toward a landfill cost-sharing arrangement, although there's no guarantee the whole matter won't wind up in court.

Sylvan, Lima, Lyndon, and Dexter townships have received the village's most recent offer and will likely consider it this month, according to Sylvan supervisor Don Schoenberg.

Both Schoenberg and village manager Jack Myers have confirmed that the sides are close to an agreement on how to split more than $700,000 in current accumulated costs. However, how much each side would pay has not been revealed.

The major sticking point is how long-term costs—those dealing with monitoring and any clean-up—would be distributed. The village wants help from those townships. The townships have not wanted to commit to the long-term. Myers guessed the long-term (30 years of monitoring is required by the Department of Natural Resources) expenses could reach $2.5 million, based on current monitoring costs extended 30 years, plus inflation.

Schoenberg said the village's most recent offer on long-term expenses was different in nature than any previous offer. He said it's likely the townships would make a counter-proposal. However, details remain confidential.

Let's Go Bulldogs!

JACOB RINDLE got his first start last Saturday and picked up his first win of the season in the opener of the Chelsea Invitational. Rindle helped the Bulldogs to a 6-0 victory in the finals against Manchester with a pair of two-run homers.

Dogs Look Like Champs As Baseball Season Opens

Chelsea's defending class B state baseball champions opened their season last week in championship form as they yielded just one run in their first five games and scored in double figures in their first four.

Chelsea opened the season with 24-0 and 10-1 victories over the Stockbridge Panthers on Thursday at home.

Chris White and Steve Grau pitched in the first contest. White struck out five and gave up one hit and Grau fanned seven and gave up a hit.

In the meantime, Chelsea held a 21-0 lead after the first two innings as they scored 15 times in the second.

White finished the game with three hits, including a pair of doubles, and five RBI. Grau had four hits with a double, and Rob Jacques, Ben Hurst, and Jacob Rindle each had two hits. Hurst and Gary White each had a double.

In the second game, Chelsea jumped out to an 8-0 lead in the first inning and cruised behind the pitching of Grau, Ken Slane, and Rindle.

The lone Stockbridge run came in the second inning.

Adam Taylor paced the Bulldogs with three hits and four RBI, while Rindle and Dunham each had two hits.

On Saturday the Bulldogs won the annual Chelsea Invitational with three straight shut outs.

The Bulldogs beat Manchester in the finals, 6-0, on the strength of Rindle's pair of two-run homers.

Rindle's first clout, in the first inning, went to straightaway centerfield. His second homer, in the third inning, easily cleared the leftfield fence.

Chris White tossed a five-hitter as he struck out nine and walked two. Manchester loaded the bases in the seventh and White went to a 3-0 count before retiring the final batter on a fly out.

In the first game of the tournament, Rindle got his first start and picked up his first win in a 12-0 victory over Jackson County Western.

The Bulldogs staked Rindle to a 4-0 lead in the first inning as Chris Dunham opened with a double and the Western pitcher experienced some wildness.

Rindle gave up one infield single and two walks to go with seven strikeouts.

"It was a good outing for him," said Chelsea coach Wayne Welton.

"But he's nowhere near as strong as he'll be later in the season."

Rindle and Dunham each had a pair of hits, and Rick Clouse added a double. Chelsea had scored all 12 runs by the third inning.

It was more of the same in the second game as the Bulldogs pisted Gabriel Richard 15-0. Gary White surrendered one hit, struck out six and walked no one as he threw just 50 pitches in a five-run contest.

"He pitched a brilliant game," Welton said.

Slane led the Bulldogs with three hits, including a pair of doubles and three RBI, while Rindle and Dunham each had two hits and Taylor hit his first homer of the season.

"We're playing hard and swinging the bat well right now," Welton said.

"But I'm not sure we've really been tested. Our schedule really gets tough over the next two weeks. I would like to have played Pioneer last week."

Chelsea's opener against Ann Arbor Pioneer was rained out. That game has been re-scheduled for May 28.

Chelsea opens the Southeastern Conference season tomorrow at Saline in what should be their toughest test so far.

Petty, Cross Help Dogs To Three Early Victories

Chelsea Bulldogs varsity softball team won three of their first four games last week in a warm-up for the beginning of the Southeastern Conference season on Thursday at Saline.

Chelsea hosted the Stockbridge Panthers last Thursday. Senior Jennifer Petty tossed a no-hitter in the first game in a 10-0 win and senior Kelly Cross pitched a three-hitter and smacked a two-run homer in the nightcap in a 12-1 victory.

Petty faced just 16 batters in the five-inning first game as she walked one and struck out 10.

Chelsea scored four runs in the third inning and six more in the fourth to put the game out of reach.

Petty had two hits, Liz Sager had three, and each had two RBI. Theresa Hurst and Gretchen Knutsen each had a hit.

In the second game, Chelsea scored in each of the first four innings, including seven runs in the second as Cross was stingy with her base runners. She walked none and struck out five.

Michelle Beeman matched Cross with a two-run homer and two hits. Nicki Piasecki, Cross, Hurst, and Beeman each had two hits, and Cross had four RBI.

"I thought we hit quite well in both games," said interim coach Joe Beard.

In a Saturday double-header at Gabriel Richard, Chelsea won the first game 7-1 but lost the second, 5-3.

Petty pitched a four-hitter in the opener, struck out three and walked one as she picked up her second victory.

Chelsea held a 1-0 lead until the sixth inning, when they scored five times to seal the win.

Cross, Petty, and Beeman each had two hits. Cross hit a two-run double.

In the second game, Erin Knott got her first varsity start, pitched three innings, and took the loss. Cross pitched the last three innings.

The game was tied 2-2 after three innings, but Richard broke loose for three runs in the fourth inning. One run was unearned.

"Erin got a little tired," Beard said.

Petty was 4-4 with an RBI, Beeman was 2-3, and Hurst and Piasecki each had an RBI.

"Over-all I thought we played pretty well during the week, especially on defense," Beard said.

"We had a few errors but the girls are still getting used to each other. We only have two girls who played a lot last year so basically most of our defense is new."

The Bulldogs were scheduled to play Jackson Lumen Christi last night.

JENNIFER PETTY opened the season for Chelsea by tossing a no-hitter against the Stockbridge Panthers. The senior was also one of the hitting stars of the week.

Varsity Netters Drop First Match

Pinckney Pirates defeated the Chelsea Bulldogs tennis team in Chelsea's opening match of the season last Thursday, 7-1.

"This match was one of the few times we have been outside since the beginning of the season due to the weather," said Chelsea coach Terri Curtis.

"Practicing inside on the wooden floor just isn't the same as being on an asphalt surface."

Tim Bowers and Jeff Gietzen picked up the only win of the day for Chelsea at first doubles. They stopped Matt Miller and Elaine Bennett in three sets, 1-6, 7-6, 7-5.

In singles matches, Nikki Bauchoff beat Scott Pacheco, 6-3, 6-1; Paul Goff defeated Ben Manning, 6-2, 6-0; Angelo Nardoni defeated Hooshmand Nightingale, 6-3, 6-0; and Gordie Silverthorn beat Matt Jachalke, 6-0, 6-0.

In other doubles play, Clint Fink and Bob Wahls defeated Ryan Girardi and Steve Harness, 6-2, 6-4; and Kevin Dubis and Dristian Stankiewicz defeated Chris Giebel and Dan Koenigter, 6-1, 6-1.

Chelsea's returning lettermen include Pacheco, Manning, Bowers, Gietzen, Girardi, Harness, and Jachalke. Nightingale was injured last year but should help out this season, Curtis said.

"We do not have enough upperclassmen to round out our roster and therefore we have three freshmen on the varsity squad," Curtis said. Freshmen include Mike Bainton, Koenigter, and Giebel.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

Quick. Can you remember the last time Chelsea lost a varsity baseball game? If you go back to last season, the Bulldogs have won 25 straight games, an almost unbelievable accomplishment. That's 20 in a row last year and the first five this season.

Statistically speaking, the first five this season might be the most impressive stretch of all those games. The Bulldogs have given up just one run, which also means they've won four games by shutout. And senior all-star Jacob Rindle didn't even pitch when it counted until the third game. The Bulldogs were ranked number one this week.

Lately it's taken about an hour to get through the first couple of innings because Chelsea has taken to whacking the ball all over the place. Opposing pitchers have also been generous with free passes.

With all the early success, it's awfully tempting to get carried away. I find myself recalling how much fun it was to watch the Bulldogs play in Battle Creek last June, long after most seasons are over. If the Bulldogs were 0-5, or even 3-2, I'm sure all those memories would come less often.

I've seen enough high school baseball to know it can all fall apart in an instant. Still, I can't help but wonder just how good this year's Bulldogs can be. None of the first four opponents was probably much better than an average team, maybe not even that good. Yet, if Chelsea is just an average team, certainly they would have stumbled somewhere in those first games, given up a big inning or two, wouldn't they?

It's fun to speculate, but we'll know a lot more about the character of this team by the end of the month when the Bulldogs get into the meat of their season. But don't be afraid to dream on, Chelsea fans, at least to yourselves. If nothing else, it helps keep the memories of last year's stretch drive alive.

The one thing I do know about this year's baseball team is Rindle is a man among boys. He really made catcher Adam Taylor's mitt pop with a resounding smack last Saturday, but coach Wayne Welton says Rindle isn't operating at nearly full-strength. Still, most batters seemed to wave rather than swing at his fast ball. I have the feeling young Tim Wescott will get a good workout at second base when Rindle is pitching, just because it'll be so hard for most batters to get a good swing. Fortunately, Wescott is one of the fine defensive prospects on the team, a kid with good instincts and knowledge of the game.

As I understand it, I should have been calling Rindle "Jacob" all along, and apparently Colt White wants to be called "Gary." Fair enough. But forgive me if I slip with a Jake or a Colt.

Varsity softball coach Joe Beard may be the most enthusiastic "interim" coach I've ever encountered. He is not only coaching with a couple of pretty lofty goals for this season, but he always seems to be thinking about what will be good for the program next year and the year after that. That, I would guess, is an unusual attitude for temporary help.

If the girls manage to play decent defense this year, there's no reason they can't win the Southeastern Conference and make a good showing in the post-season. I don't think you'll find two better all-around players anywhere than seniors Jennifer Petty and Kelly Cross. Each is an exceptional pitcher, fielder, and run-producer. Petty's fast, Cross has power. Both can dominate on the mound.

The rest of the team is the question. Beard's a little reluctant to go overboard with praise, at least until he believes they've earned it, although it's obvious he is optimistic about his team's chances. But if the team turns out to be a reflection of its "interim" coach, they'll do just fine and have a great time in the process.

READING OLYMPICS WINNERS: Mr. Knisely, 6th grade bloc teacher, enjoys pizza served to the sixth grade on March 27, as a reward for reading over 62,000 pages during the nine-week marking period.

Reading Olympics Winners Named at Beach School

For the winter marking period the students at Beach Middle school recorded the number of pages they read and advanced an "Olympic ski jumper" representing the total number of pages read by their class, down the mountain.

The winning "jump" was 62,126 pages read by the sixth grade class. On March 27 to celebrate their winning the gold, Mrs. Beard, media specialist at Beach, and Mrs. Kramer, media aide, served the entire 6th grade pizza from Cottage Inn. Silver medal winners were the 8th grade with 50,717 pages. They each received foil-covered chocolate coins from Sweet Nothings.

Bronze medal winners were the 7th grade with 42,258 pages. They received "Go for the Gold" pencils.

Top readers in each class were Chris Frayer, sixth grade, 4,787 pages; Joanna Houk, seventh grade, 4,186 pages; and Genny Humenay, eighth grade, 2,504 pages.

Mrs. Joann Swope tallied all the pages each week.

School Board Notes

Present at a regular meeting of the Chelsea Board of Education Monday, April 6, were Comeau, Satterthwaite, Dieing, McCalla, Knutsen, Eisenbeiser, Redding, superintendent Piasecki, assistant superintendent Mills, principals Mead, Stielstra, Stieber, Wescott, assistant principal Rossi, community education director Tracy, curriculum director Bissell, athletic director Welton, special education director DeYoung, guests.

Meeting called to order at 7:30 p.m. by president Anne Comeau.

Board approved the minutes of the March 17 meeting and the minutes of the special meeting of March 21.

Entered as official communications were (1) letter from The University of Michigan regarding the termination of the U.M. Accreditation Program (Public Act 25 has given the Michigan Department of Education the responsibility for K-12 school accreditation); (2) letter of resignation from North school teacher Bernice Packard; (3) letter from a Beach parent regarding discipline; (4) letter from a parent regarding special education services; (5) memorandum from special education director DeYoung regarding special education services.

Present at the meeting was a representative of Channel One (White Communications), who presented a video tape demonstration of the "educational network" available to the Chelsea schools at no cost. Board members will review handout materials to determine the district's interest in enrolling in the program.

After a brief discussion of a rough-draft mission statement, the board asked the mission committee to prepare a more definitive statement. The policy committee will subsequently meet to edit/revise and to prepare a recommendation to the entire board.

In action items, the board:

- accepted, with regret, the resignation of Bert Kruse, Beach school teacher;

- accepted, with regret, the resignation of Bernice Packard, North school teacher;

- accepted, with regret, the resignation of David Knisely, Beach school counselor;

(All of the above teachers will be retiring at the close of the school year.)

- adopted a resolution prepared by legal counsel calling for the Annual Election to be held on Monday, June 8, with the polls open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m., and the last day of registration to be Monday, May 11;

- adopted a resolution by legal counsel for the Annual Election: Proposition I, renewal of 28.0281 mills for 1 year with 0.8692 mills of this renewal to be specifically used for maintenance, repair, and improvement of facilities; Proposition II, 1.95 additional mills for 1 year; Candidates: John W. Eisenbeiser, Domingo Hermosillo, Joseph M. Redding;

- approved the reduction of expenditures in the 1992-93 budget by $634,021 because of a shortfall in revenue, and adopted the list of cuts recommended to balance the budget. (The passage of the additional millage recommended will cause the $634,021 to be added back into the budget and all cuts will be canceled.)

Prior to approving the election-related items above, Superintendent Piasecki reviewed with the board the potential areas of budget cuts (in the event of millage failure). He explained the reasons for the revenue shortfall and stressed the importance of a successful millage election on June 8 if the district's present programs are to be continued in the 1992-93 school year.

- approved a leave of absence for Amy Poljan for the remainder of the 1991-92 school year.

On behalf of the board, president Comeau expressed gratitude for the many years of dedicated service of the retiring teachers, and noted that their presence will be sadly missed by their colleagues and by the students.

I asked Jesus,

"Lord, how much do you love me?"

Jesus replied: "This much."

Then He spread His arms on the cross, and died for me.

Film on Moody Will Be Shown at Immanuel Bible

MOODY!, a dramatic motion picture produced by Quadras, is the unforgettable story of an ordinary man who changed the course of thousands of lives because of his extraordinary faith in the power of God. The film is based on the life of the 19th century evangelist and reformer who started the Sunday School movement, helped start the YMCA and founded several schools bearing his name, including the world-famous Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. An estimated one hundred million people heard D.L. Moody in person, both in the United States and abroad.

This inspiring and challenging film will be shown at Immanuel Bible church, 145 E. Summit St., on April 19 at 6 p.m.

This story, filmed on location in Chicago and Northfield, Mass., depicts highlights of Moody's remarkable career, featuring exciting scenes of the great Chicago fire, poignant episodes of Moody's self-doubts and heartaches, as well as his triumphs over tragedy.

Bill Rodgers, as Moody, ably portrays the evangelist and vividly exemplifies Moody's faith and convictions, his character and wit.

Farmer's Market Plans Progressing

Chelsea Farmer's Market is looking for vendors for the Saturday markets. The Farmer's Market is pending approval of the Chelsea Village but is continuing plans for the 1992 season. The Market would be held every Saturday from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. The Farmer's Market will again be held on Jackson Street, east of Main Street at the railroad. Vendors are being sought who produce their own products. Sue Rodgers and Sandy Barkman will be acting as Market Managers this year.

Potential Vendors may sign up in person at The Farmer's Supply, 122 Jackson St. (behind the railroad depot). A new attraction at the Market will be the addition of one weekly stall being designated for use by a community organization to provide visibility to the community for their cause. It is stipulated that any one organization not use the stall more than two weeks in a row.

Vendors from previous years and new vendors are urged to sign up soon. There will be weekly, monthly and yearly stall rental fees.

Psalm 1

Blessed is the man who does not walk in the counsel of the wicked or stand in the seat of mockers. But his delight is in the law of the lord, and on his law he meditates day and night. He is like a tree planted by streams of water, which yields its fruit in season and whose leaf does not wither. Whatever he does prospers.

WCC To Host College Plans, Career Day

Representatives from 35-40 college and universities, as well as professionals from a variety of health care, law, and travel careers will be on hand to answer questions during the Washtenaw County Counselors Association annual College/Career Day, Wednesday, April 29 at Washtenaw Community College.

The event is free and open to the public and a special invitation is extended to area high school students in the midst of making their career and college plans.

The first floor of WCC's Student Center Building will house a "college arena" where representatives from colleges and universities will answer questions about their institutions. All branches of the armed services will also be present. The arena will be open to visitors from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

The Student Center also will be the site of presentations by representatives from the University of Michigan, Michigan State University, and Eastern Michigan University.

Career representatives, meeting in the Liberal Arts and Sciences Building, will discuss such topics as the education required for their professions, personal experiences on the job, salary range and employment outlook. Professionals from health care, law, medicine and travel are expected to be involved.

Visitors are also invited to attend one or more of three information sessions. "How To Choose a College," "How To Pay for College," and "Careers for the '90s" are the topics for discussion.

The university presentations, career talks and information sessions are scheduled at half-hour intervals from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. As mentioned earlier, the college arena will remain open during this time.

College/Career Day is presented once a year by the Washtenaw County Counselors Association, in conjunction with the Admissions Office of Washtenaw Community College. The college is located at 4800 E. Huron River Dr., Ann Arbor.

For more information about this event, contact WCC Admissions Representative Bradley Hoth at (313) 973-3878.

Basic Rules Govern Consumer Affairs

By Debbie Barrow, Extension Home Economist
According to Esther Shapiro of the Detroit Consumer Affairs Department, some basic consumer complaints and questions repeatedly come in to her office. The answers reveal a few basic truths in the consumer affairs business.

1. You can't win a prize if you didn't enter a contest. The postcard that announces you have won a valuable prize, if you just call the 900 area code phone number, is nothing more than an attempt to lure you into making several hundred dollars' worth of useless purchases. A typical scam is to inform you that you've won a car worth $20,000. The only requirement is an $800 payment as a token of your interest. Say no more!

2. You cannot earn $40,000 a year working in your home in your spare time, addressing envelopes. Or be paid $5 for every book you read and review. Or earn $200 a day stuffing cute cloth animals. These are the saddest scams because they take advantage of housebound people with few skills, who are desperately in need of cash.

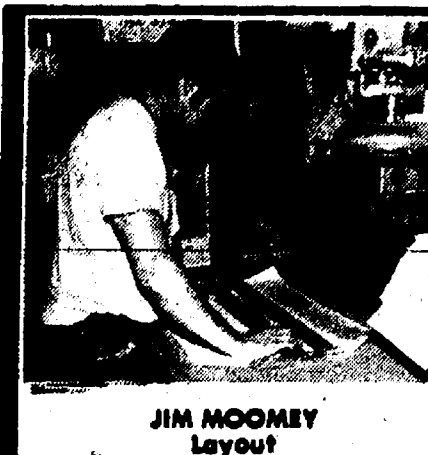

3. Retail merchants are not required to exchange merchandise or grant refunds unless the merchandise is defective or they have an advertised store policy. A lot of smart merchandisers have built their businesses by providing easy exchanges, but that is a service, not a legal requirement. There is no law mandating that a product may be returned.

4. If you think you can cancel any contract if you change your mind within three days, think again. That three-day cooling off period applies only to contracts signed in the home. Some sharp salespersons try to get around that provision by making a presentation in your home and then inviting you to the office to sign the contract.

5. What does "as is" mean in a sale? "As is" means what you see is what you get. In most cases, it applies to floor models that are slightly the worse for wear or slightly damaged without visible defects. Once you purchase something "as is," you cannot complain if it fails to live up to your expectations.

There are six ways that a batter can get on base without getting a hit in baseball: error, base on balls, catcher drops third strike, hit by pitch, fielder's choice, and interference by catcher.

Pinckney Voters Reject Two Millage Proposals

Two millage proposals were put before Pinckney school district voters last Saturday, and both were soundly defeated in an election featuring high voter turnout.

One proposal was for a $1.25 general operating millage. This rate is 2.91 mills more than the rate now levied, and was requested to cover increased operating expenses of current school programs in the coming year.

This proposal was defeated by a two-to-one margin, with 2,290 no votes and only 1,068 votes in support of the millage request.

The denial of the extra money that would have been generated at the $1.25 rate may force the district to cut about $800,000 in programs, or pare other areas of the budget, superintendent of schools Ted Culver said.

A separate 1.88 millage increase proposal was also defeated. This request went down by a three to one margin, with 2,549 voters turning out to say no and only 790 showing support for the increase.

The defeats are an indication of increasing voter frustration with higher tax bills, Culver says.

"There's no question that this reflects an anti-tax attitude," he declared. "There's controversy over higher taxes, people are tired of millage elections and the economy is in bad shape."

Culver said he believes that the defeat reflects voter anger at high taxes, but not a lack of support for area schools. "I know a great many of those voters still support the schools," he declared.

Pinckney school district voters will see another millage proposal on the annual school ballot on June 8, as school officials attempt to propose a tax levy that will cover expenses and be approved by voters.

The early defeat is reminiscent of the 1989 millage elections, when the school district had to go before the voters three times before getting a millage proposal passed.

Culver says he hopes it doesn't take until August to pass a millage this time. "We don't want to spend our summer doing this. We want to be educators, not sophisticated beggars," Culver exclaimed.

He anticipates that a special school board meeting will convene this week to discuss the millage defeat, and develop a new package.

"The board will have to develop new guidelines for curriculum, athletics and transportation and decide which areas are exempt from cuts and which are not," Culver said.

The school district must finalize the millage proposal package by May 7 in order to place the issue—or issues—on the June 8 ballot.

Culver insists that the defeat remains a result of angry voters who feel over-taxed and is not a reflection of a lack of support for area schools.

Education is going to face a long hard road when trying for tax-financing, "and it will be until the taxation system changes," Culver said.

Scholarships Offered By Hospital Auxiliary

Chelsea Community Hospital Auxiliary will present seven $500 and one $800 (Palmer) scholarship awards to qualified area students.

To be eligible for a scholarship a student must be enrolled full-time in a health career program for which certification is given or a degree is granted and must be a resident of the hospital service area.

Scholarship applications are now available at Chelsea Community Hospital and may be picked up at the information desk near the main entrance. Applications may be obtained between 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. The completed application should be returned as indicated on the form with the deadline being Monday, June 1.

After initial screening, personal interviews will be conducted for the candidates deemed most highly qualified. The awarding of the scholarships will be based on academic achievement and sincere interest to further education in a health-related field.

Chelsea Community Hospital has given over $23,000 in scholarships since 1979.

Monies come from projects such as the Home Tour, the Arbor Nook Gift Shop, cookbook sales, fashion shows, raffles, bazaars, and flea markets.

The truck to be used to service the drop-off stations and haul materials to market will be on display.

The public is encouraged to attend.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,

Last Thursday morning when I drove my two sons to North school I witnessed something that I thought could be potentially a very bad situation.

A woman and her daughter got out of their car and from the trunk brought out a rifle. It wasn't in a case or even wrapped or concealed in any way.

Being a newcomer to the area, a one-year resident, I didn't know the woman or her child and really couldn't, with a clear conscience, leave without finding out what was going on.

I went to the office and informed the secretary. She told me that she thought some classes were studying the civil war and that she'd ask Mr. Westcott—after announcements.

I wasn't at all pleased with this reply. I don't think that I was taken seriously.

I then walked around to my sons' classes, assuring myself that they were alright and left.

Arriving home I called the Chelsea Police. They looked into it immediately and within minutes assured me that the kids were studying the civil war and that this was really a very harmless situation.

I still have a few problems with this. What message is this sending to our kids?

They are forbidden to take toy guns to school. What makes this okay? With all the violent crime that happens in these United States on campuses, playgrounds and in the classrooms, why was this allowed to happen? If she had walked into our own area McDonald's would it have been okay?

Why was I and only one other parent concerned enough to report it?

I asked my sons if they were told by anyone that when this woman walked into their classroom they didn't have to hit the floor in fear of their lives because it was just a civil war artifact that happened to have killed a lot of people a long, long time ago.

My sons were not aware that it was in the building.

Couldn't a "picture have told a thousand words?"

How many children did see this weapon and feel upset?

Is North school the safe place Mr. Westcott says it is?

I am not an alarmist. Some things have got to change.

I have already moved my daughter from Beach Middle school, not knowing the extent of the trouble that is in these community schools, thinking that somehow we or she was to blame for the problems.

Reading last week's letter to the editor made me realize that it might not be all our fault.

What happens next week?

I guess I should have moved to Pinckney.

Susann Thrasher.

Outside the house, keep any organic debris away from the walls. This will help to keep insect populations away from the house. Install or repair screens on windows and doors.

Mrs. Kennedy, could you explain something to me? How do you say that we are not disciplined properly and then later in your letter you turn around and say that you are surprised that we have assigned tables at lunch? Could you also explain to me what inspired you to do this? Did you not have anything better to do with your life? Were you bored and needed a new hobby? Or did you just wake up one morning and say to yourself "Hey, I think I'll go in and observe the middle school today."

If you can not tell, I am very upset with what you have done and feel that you could have done something else with your time instead of making our school look bad. You may have had your reasons but frankly I don't care what they are. I don't think you put enough thought into what you were doing when you started it. If you would like to write a letter in your defense, since it seems that's all that you can do, feel free. But I doubt it will do a whole lot because almost everyone hates you. So I think that you should go over what you have done. Try going to visit Saline or another big school that has not just experienced a death and I believe that you will get drastically different results.

Disturbed Student
Beach Middle School

To the Editor,

I am sure that most people, like myself, read last week's article about the upcoming millage election and proposed cuts that the millage failure would bring, with a mixture of concern and dread. Concern that our community's children would not have the programs that we consider important, and dread that there will be more asked of us, tax-wise, in these already economically troubled times.

There is a temptation to look at the list of proposed cuts and say, "They don't sound all that severe, we all need to tighten our belts," or even, "I have to vote 'No' so I can send a message to the Michigan State Legislature."

But consider for a moment, the elimination of one art, one music and one phys. ed. position at the elementary level. That would allow for only one class of each every two weeks, only twice a month, this is very disturbing!

This particular cut also would bring the probable layoff of Steven Hinz, who teaches vocal music at all levels, elementary through high school, and whose talent and dedication has made possible the non-school funded and very popular Washington Street Show Choir. Any of you who have had the pleasure of attending one of the school choir concerts or a Show Choir concert have been witness to the remarkable level of music he has brought to Chelsea in just two short years. It would be a tremendous blow for this district to lose such a dedicated and inspiring instructor.

Another seemingly benign cut that has been proposed is the summer band and orchestra for a savings of $2,500. But that small savings would mean that our Chelsea Community Fair parade would have no band to play for them. Imagine! But it is the summer band program that insures that practice and organization time has been put in before school starts and in time for the parade. And there are other proposed cuts that would have just as devastating results.

As voters, we need our voices to be heard. If you disagree with the decisions the School Board has made, pick up the phone and tell them, or better yet, go to the next board meeting, April 20. If you want our state legislature to know that you are not going to put up with your tax dollars being sent to other districts, write them and let them know that their jobs are at stake. Send a message. But remember, the only message heard by a "No" vote, is that our community's children aren't worth a few dollars more.

Norma Huschke.

Cord of ThanksCARD OF THANKS

Our loved and missed mom was always there when we needed her. Her firm, yet gentle voice telling us to straighten up, she'd had enough. To us kids mom was everything, our friend, our doc, our teacher, our counselor, our tower of strength. To dad she was much more. She was a part of him. Someone special with whom he felt at ease, who was right on hand to cheer, help, and do her best to please. She was always quick to praise and very slow to blame. Mom gave us strength and power to do the things we knew that had to be done. She overlooked our faults and loved us all the same. Though she is no longer here on this earth, she will always be alive to us. In our dad we see the understanding, patience and gentle hand of guidance. We pray we have many, many days here with him. Mom is someone who will truly be missed, but in the hearts of each one of us she will live forever. We wish to acknowledge our special thanks to Chelsea Community Hospital, the staff of Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home, who treated us with kind and caring hands, the women of the Chelsea Free Methodist church and the Rev. Bradley, all of our friends and family. Warmest thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Scripser, Lena Behnke, Helen Walz, and to all those behind the scenes.

MemoriamHERMAN REED

In loving memory of Herman Reed, our husband, father and grandfather. One year has passed, our loss stays with us always. Doris, James and Ardyth and David and John.

CHELSEA FIRE DEPARTMENT was given the opportunity for a valuable training session Sunday when they burned the former Bernard Herrst house on Freer Rd. Beginning at 9 a.m., they ignited various parts of the house to simulate real fires, then proceeded to control the blaze, only to ignite another phase. About 2 p.m. they finished a complete burn-down and cleared the debris. Show above with assistant fire chief Dan Ellenwood, center, are firemen Mike O'Neill, left, and Ron Shelton.

Youths Survive Serious Crash

Thanks to the use of seat belts, two Chelsea boys are alive today after a one-car crash off US-23 near Brighton Sunday afternoon.

Chelsea High school juniors Chris White and Ed GreenLeaf III were returning home from a bowling tournament in Saginaw when White, the driver, apparently fell asleep and drove off the road.

According to police, the vehicle went airborne for about 100 feet, landed nose down and flipped onto its roof, eventually coming to rest about 280 feet from where it left the road.

A witness using a cellular telephone notified the state police.

Both boys were treated and released at McPherson Hospital. White apparently suffered an extensive head cut.

The Firebird was demolished. One seat came completely apart yet the seatbelt held its passenger. One officer said it was the best testimony for use of a seatbelt that he had ever seen.

GreenLeaf was also apparently asleep before the car left the road.

Friends of McKune Library Plan Birthday Celebration

McKune Memorial Library will combine a Birthday Party in honor of McKune Memorial Library's 60th birthday and their annual celebration of "Love Your Library Week." Theme for the week-long series of events, which will be held beginning April 25 to Saturday, May 2, is "Celebrate the Library: Discover What's In It for You."

On Saturday morning, April 25, a Birthday Party Open House will kick off the week-long series of events at McKune from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. The Birthday Party will continue in the afternoon when the Friends will hold a Volunteer Recognition Tea to honor all Library volunteers and Friends of McKune who have given their time for various Library projects from March 1, 1991 to Feb. 29, 1992, the Library fiscal year.

Diane Haskill, program chairperson and general member of the Friends of McKune Executive committee is planning these two events, assisted by Friends president, Mary Green.

A series of programs are planned for each day of the week which will feature local authors and other members of the community.

All of the events will focus on topics for which the McKune Memorial Library's adult's and children's collections are valuable educational, historic, cultural, economic, and recreational resources.

Manage Crop Residues for Compliance

Before tilling your cropland this spring, check your conservation plan.

According to Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District (SCD) chairman Steve Solowczuk, "It's important for persons who farm Highly Erodible Land (HEL) to maintain residue levels as agreed to in their conservation plan."

In Washtenaw county plans for over 40,000 acres of HEL were developed to meet the Food Security Act planning deadline of 1990. Of this total, approximately 75% requires some form of crop residue management. As Solowczuk noted, "In addition to helping one stay in compliance, practicing residue management saves valuable top soil."

According to Soil Conservation Service district conservationist Steve Olds, who assists the Washtenaw county SCD, factors such as last year's crop yields, weather, and tillage operations, influence crop residue levels. Olds said, "When a person is trying to manage for a specified residue level their best approach is to select the proper tillage methods and to limit trips across the field, in order to meet the desired residue level."

As listed in a "Crop Residue Guide" available at the SCD office, the following percent of residue levels left after tillage, could be expected when working corn or small grain ground: moldboard plow (0-10%); chisel plow with straight points (55-80%); chisel plow with twisted points (40-60%); and discing (45-60%). Residue levels remaining for soybean land are also included in the guide.

Olds also stated, "Because of the variability caused by crop yields, weather and tillage, it's a good idea to know how to measure present residue cover in the field."

If you have any questions concerning crop residue management, or would like a free copy of the "Crop Residue Management Guide," please call (313) 781-6722 or stop by the office at 6101 Jackson Rd., Ann Arbor.
