

Citizens to exercise democracy, choose leaders

By Angela Trotter
Staff Writer

As election day approaches and the American citizenry is inundated with political advertisements and literature, nervous candidates around the country simultaneously anticipate and dread the decisions voters will make on Nov. 5. In offices from the White House to Lima Township Hall, politicians are waiting for voters to deliver their fate for the next years of their lives.

In addition to the many heated and well-publicized races, there are many other state, regional and local contests that are not quite as obvious to voters.

Vying for the office of the presidency of the United States of America, voters will choose between Democrat incumbent Bill Clinton and running-mate Al Gore, and long-time Republican leader Bob Dole and running-mate Jack Kemp.

A slew of third-party candidates, Ross Perot of the Reform Party being the most well-known, will also ask voters to cast a ballot in their favor. Any third-party presidential candidate who receives at least five percent of the nation's vote will earn his or her party an automatic spot on the ballot in all 50 states in the year 2000's elections.

Michigan will select a senator to send to Washington, D.C. for the next six years. Voters will choose between incumbent Carl Levin, a Democrat from Detroit, and Ronna Romney, a Republican from Bloomfield Hills.

Vying for the U.S. House of Representatives for the 8th congressional district are Debbie Stabenow, a Democrat from Lansing and incumbent Dick Chrysler, a Republican from Brighton.

In a contest for the 52nd district seat of the Michigan House of Representatives, David Felbeck, a Republican from Ann Arbor, will challenge Democrat incumbent Mary Schroer, also of Ann Arbor.

In a major race for the State Supreme Court, two of seven candidates will be elected for eight-year terms.

The candidates, who have no party affiliations, are David Raafaub of Ann Arbor, Hilda Gage of Bloomfield Hills, James Brickley of Traverse City, Jerry Kaufman of Huntington Woods, Jessica Cooper of Beverly Hills, Marilyn Kelly of Bloomfield Hills and William Murphy of East Grand Rapids.

For Washtenaw County Prosecutor, voters will choose between incumbent Brian Mackie, a Democrat from Ann Arbor, and challenger Kirk Tabbey, a Republican from Saline.

In the race for Washtenaw County Sheriff, incumbent Republican Ronald Schebil will ask voters to favor him over Democrat Eugene Smith.

Both of these men are from Ann Arbor.

Peggy Haines, the current Washtenaw County Clerk and Register of Deeds, will look to win another four years. Haines, a Republican from Ypsilanti, will be challenged by Democrat Simone Lightfoot, also an Ypsilanti native.

In another Washtenaw County race, Lawrence Gass will be up against Catherine McClary for Treasurer. Gass, the incumbent Republican, is from Ann Arbor, and McClary is a Democrat from Whitmore Lake.

Voters will elect either challenger David Swartz of Ann Arbor or incumbent Richard Conlin, also of Ann Arbor, for District Court 14A judge. In an uncontested race for probate judge, Nancy Francis of Ann Arbor will tackle another six-year term.

Because the Dexter-Chelsea area is heavily comprised of Republicans, the August primary narrowed down the selection of candidates for the Nov. 5 general election, leaving many uncontested races in this area.

Webster and Dexter Townships are unique in that Democrats will face Republicans in two separate contests.

Democrat Burton Hoey will battle Republican challenger John Sdao for the supervisor's post. Sdao beat long-time supervisor Jim Drolett in the primary, causing a major po-

Youth remains in coma after car accident

A Chelsea boy was seriously injured and two passengers escaped with minor injuries in a one-car crash on Waterloo Road near McKinley Road in Dexter Township last Friday, Oct. 26.

Gary Ostrander, the driver of the General Motors utility vehicle, was ejected from the vehicle after it left the road and rolled over one time. Ostrander and passengers Cole Graves and Nathan Menge were on their way to Chelsea High School when the crash occurred shortly before 8:30 a.m. None of the three was wearing a seatbelt, police said. One other passenger was also ejected from the vehicle.

Ostrander, a junior at CHS, was in serious condition at University of Michigan Hospital as of press time. The other boys were also taken to U-M

Politicians create circus at fairgrounds

By Angela Trotter

The Chelsea Fairgrounds is known by residents to be a place of entertainment, relaxation and enjoyment. However last Thursday night, the fairgrounds became home to a unique, different type of entertainment in the form of a public meeting.

The meeting was sponsored by a group calling themselves the Bipartisan Committee to Eliminate Political Corruption in Lima Township. Andrew Adrian, Democratic challenger for Lima Township supervisor, Betty Messman, incumbent running for treasurer, and Harold Trinkle, an incumbent running for another term as trustee, comprised the core of the committee.

Adrian was the main speaker at the meeting, trying to outline for voters why he should be elected. Much to the chagrin of Adrian, William Van Riper, the incumbent Republican supervisor, showed up, along with a slew of supporters, to respond in person to questions and accusations concerning his years as an elected official.

About 35 residents attended the meeting, along with several youths who were in search of the Lions Club haunted house that was taking place elsewhere at the fairgrounds.

Adrian began the meeting by talking about his vision of how things in Lima Township should be.

"We would like to maintain a rural atmosphere, while listening to the concerns of every citizen," Adrian said. He asserted that the current township board and planning commission do not take public input garnered at meetings seriously.

However, Van Riper offered evidence to the contrary, pointing out that at every meeting of both the Lima Township Board and planning commission, there is a period

Writing in candidates a simple process

With elections just around the corner, many citizens are scrambling to narrow their choices down to the best possible person for the job. In many cases, the name of the person voters think is best suited for the job does not appear on the ballot.

One of the constitutional rights of citizens of the United States is to select whomever they think is the most appropriate person for the job, regardless of which names appear on the ballot. There are several active write-in campaigns going on in the Chelsea-Dexter area this fall. The process of writing in the candidate of a voter's choice is simple and easy.

If voting from a booth, electors wishing to write in a candidate must slide up the slot above the desired office and write the name of the candidate for whom they wish to vote above the name of the office.

If voting with a punch card, simply write the name of the desired candidate on the sleeve of the secrecy envelope, along with the office for which that person is to be elected and that person's party affiliation. Some candidates who run write-in campaigns will provide stickers containing this information, which can be placed on the secrecy envelope.

If voting on an optical scan, there is also a designated place for voters to write in the name of their favorite candidate.

Planning commission revises Lima's master plan

The amount of land designated for rural residential use along McKinley Road has been reduced by about one-half in the township's master plan by the Lima Township Planning Commission.

The master plan guidelines now return much of the area's land back to the agricultural class, although it leaves some land designated for rural residential use.

An area that is zoned for rural residential use can accommodate one house per every three acres. Land that is zoned for agricultural use can have one house on every 10 acres.

Marvin Carlson, a planning commission member, said this decision is a compromise between the wishes of area residents and the need to accommodate further development in the area.

"It will basically maintain the status quo in most of the area," Carlson said. "The difference is that on the Poljan farm (13000 block of McKinley Road) they will be allowed to rezone from agricultural to rural residential if they wish to do so."

Richard Poljan, who owns the land that can now be zoned for rural residential use, said the commission's decision made sense.

"We need to look into some sensible, low-density housing," Poljan said. "The nature of the area is not agriculture. It's unfair to ask me to leave my farm as agriculture."

Other residents, however, were not content with the commission's decision. Vincent Spade, a McKinley Road resident, said more than 70 percent of the area's residents want the area to be designated for agricultural use in the master plan.

"This is really about maintaining the character of an already established neighborhood," Spade said.

Andrew Zeigler, another McKinley Road resident, agreed with Spade's assessment.

"In the long term we will be facing some dramatic changes," Zeigler said. "I would like to see us maintain the visual character and quality of the area."

Village council grants abatement, awards contract

The Chelsea Village Council granted a tax abatement for both real and personal property to Frame Hardwoods, Inc. and agreed to a contract for the demolition of the water tower at its Oct. 22 meeting.

Frame Hardwoods is a manufacturer of hardwood moldings for the building industry. The company is constructing a new 21,000-square-foot facility for manufacturing purposes. The new facility is expected to allow for the consolidation of multiple locations into a single building, as well as providing needed expansion capacity.

This expansion will likely create about 10 new full-time jobs in the community within the next two years. Frame Hardwoods currently employs eight full-time and numerous part-time workers.

The abatement will come in the form of an industrial facilities tax. This tax is equal to 50 percent of the ad valorem tax otherwise due. It covers $659,400 in real property for 12 years and $452,000 in personal property for seven years.

In other action, the council agreed to hire Iceland Demolition, a company based in Michigan, to take care of Carlson said he expected this discontent from area residents, but he firmly believes this decision will best accommodate the long-term needs of the area.

Township supervisor William Van Riper said the planning commission's decision reflects the group's desire to preserve the area's agricultural land.

demolition of Chelsea's old water tower downtown. The project is expected to begin later this year.

Iceland was one of two companies that put in bids for the project. The other company, Pittsburgh Tank and Tower based in Kentucky, put in a bid for $2,000 less, but the council felt more comfortable hiring a Michigan company. The bid from Iceland demolition was approved for $23,300.

Drolett-campaign signs stolen

Dexter Township Supervisor Jim Drolett says his campaign signs are being stolen again and he's offering a $200 reward leading to the arrest and conviction of the thief or thieves.

Drolett is running a write-in campaign for supervisor in the Nov. 5 election. He was defeated in the Republican primary in August by John Sdao.

By Monday night Drolett said he had lost 35 signs valued at about $10 each or $350 total.

"They're disappearing about as fast as I put them up," Drolett said.

—Chance of a Lifetime—

Three Chelsea first graders and their families had the chance to meet the coach of the U.S. Olympic Gymnastics Team and gold medal olympic gymnasts on Sunday, Oct. 20 at the Palace in Auburn Hills after a performance. John Hancock Financial Services Corp. is the sponsor for the Gymnastics World Tour. Brian Keyes of Chelsea is sales manager for the company and was invited to a private reception. His daughter, Lindsey, right, also brought her friends, Kathryn Meldrum, left, and Anna Foley, center, to meet Bela Karolyi. The girls also picked up autographs from seven of the gymnasts.

Opening Remarks

By Brian Hamilton

Under the previous owners, The Chelsea Standard and The Dexter Leader never endorsed specific candidates. That policy will not change, at least for this year.

Politics has gotten so nasty this year at just about every level that it's difficult to feel good about many candidates.

At the national level, President Bill Clinton and former Senator Bob Dole have repeatedly bent the facts to attack each other.

Dole has lied about the "largest tax increase in history" and Clinton has lied about Dole's proposed cuts in the growth in Medicaid spending. Dole has harped on Clinton's lack of integrity, yet Dole is the one who's divorced while Clinton has been married to the same woman for 21 years.

Both men are marginal at best when it comes to protecting personal freedoms—take a look at Internet censorship for one example. Both supported the appalling "Defense of Marriage Act" when there was nothing to defend against.

Neither man has the answer to drug abuse except to say they want to put more people in jail, which has not worked and never will. Neither man will honestly address the growth in entitlement programs.

Egomaniac Ross Perot isn't the answer, either.

U.S. Rep. Dick Chrysler and Democratic challenger Debbie Stabenow have had their share of mudslinging. Chrysler has sent page after page of faxes accusing Stabenow of illegal fundraising. He's distorted her voting record while she was a state senator. Stabenow makes it sound as though our economy will crumble if Chrysler is elected and anyone making less than $30,000 will be out on the street.

The most civil high-profile campaigns have been run by state Rep. Mary Schroer and her opponent David Felbeck. Not much has been said by either of them. Felbeck, to his credit, pledged early in his campaign that he would not level personal attacks at Schroer.

Dexter Township supervisor election has, by far, been the most entertaining and vicious locally, but it's still impossible to support anyone on the ballot.

Long-time incumbent Jim Drolett, defeated in the primary, is waging a heated write-in campaign. His opponent in the primary, John Sdao, has no governmental experience. He rents property from a man who is being sued for defaming Drolett. Sdao is supposedly affiliated with two men who are suing the township over their forced hookup to a lake sewer project. Meanwhile, Sdao's supporters charge Drolett is one of the good old boys who favors his cronies and has no regard for township finances.

Then there's Democrat Bur-

Uncle Apollo

Well, the campaign trail is getting fast and furious now. As I write this, I'm travelling down the eastern seaboard on the campaign trail. I hope to make a pass through the south and west by next week, back up through Seattle and then home by the election. My legs are getting really tired, but it's probably good for me. A 10-foot-tall unicycle is a great way to attract attention when you're running a crash write-in campaign, believe me. My apologies to the editor if the handwriting is a little shaky, but I don't have time to stop.

One benefit of being up here at night when there aren't too many crowds is that you have time to think. Well, I've been considering all of these alphabet soup proposals and I thought up some of my own. I made them national in scope and the theory that what's good for Michigan has to be good for the rest of the country, so when I become president, I'll get them going. Here they are:

Proposal Z — Allows all Proposals to have two letters instead of just one.

Proposal BS — Allows bears to sleep in the woods.

Proposal LB — Limits the amount of facial makeup that presidential candidates wear to 1½ pounds.

Proposal CH — Allows cows to hang out over downtown sidewalks as long as they aren't causing a disturbance or disrupting traffic patterns or anything. This proposal would supersede all local zoning ordinances, which would solve a lot of problems, since local officials tend to treat these issues kind of like a hot potato and never change their ordinances even though they say they are going to.

Proposal CC — Makes Chelsea the capitol of the country. Lawmakers would have to be residents of the village to be elected. This would be a keystone in my plan for a balanced budget, since it would limit the size of government. It would also shake up the good-old-boy-and-girl network by limiting their involvement to the number of vacant properties available in the village. Also, it would save money and a lot of hassles since I wouldn't have to move.

Proposal NL — Makes it illegal for candidates to lie when running for public office. Since they seem to be so concerned about truth in advertising and all of that, it only makes sense that they would want this one. After all, this election is all about trust, isn't it?

These are only a few of the ways the Uncle will make your life better when you write him in on Nov. 5. Vote Uncle Apollo! Your Country needs you to vote and the Uncle to run it! Vote! Vote! Uncle Apollo! Yeah!!!!

Community needs to be more tolerant

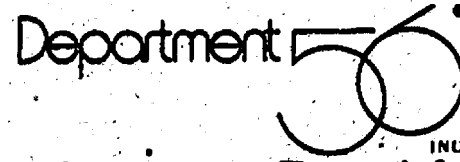

As parents who have children that attend a private school and that attend Chelsea Public Schools, we would like to address the issue of allowing non-public and charter school children that live in Chelsea School District to participate in school sport programs.

We appreciate and support Lucy Silverio's Letter to the Editor in the 10/17/96 edition of The Standard. We would, however, like to take issue with the Opening Remarks made by Brian Hamilton in the same edition. Mr. Hamilton states that "When a child who lives in Chelsea decides to attend school elsewhere, the family is essentially saying the district isn't good enough for them in some way."

The choice a family makes need not be framed in terms of good or bad, but is a different choice. We choose to have two of our children attend a private school because it offers a philosophy, teaching methods and a spiritual atmosphere which is not available nor would it be acceptable in a public school. We do not fault the public schools for not offering this type of education. We have simply made a different choice. We pay for our choice and we support the public school system.

PAID FOR BY COMMITTEE TO ELECT WM. VAN RIPER-SUPERVISOR

Letters to the Editor

The view that a family should sign on for the whole public school package or none of it is alarming to us. Does Mr. Hamilton really mean to portray such a black or white view? He makes many assumptions in his statements. Is it really an all or nothing package? We are trying to teach our youth to resist peer pressure, to be able to stand up for what they believe in and to find productive, positive ways to solve problems. Yet Mr. Hamilton seems to be saying that if you are not 100 percent with him that you are against him. He, along with the school board, is exerting community pressure for families and students to conform or not be a part of the system. Is this the example we want to set for our children?

This community, this world needs to be more tolerant of differences in opinions and philosophies and to find ways to live cooperatively with mutual benefit. The very few students that we are talking about have something to offer the Chelsea sports program. Diversity enriches a community. It can allow for growth and new perspectives that might not otherwise be available.

However, diversity must be tolerated and its value understood. Mr. Hamilton clearly has little understanding of what is involved in making a different choice in this community and what social challenges those children and their parents face. In the interest of his better comprehending the community he ton Hoey, who you might say is running on his record. There's also another write-in campaign being waged by someone with the improbable name of Jeff Howard Taft Davis.

Lima Township supervisor election has also gotten interesting and mean. The "Bipartisan Committee To Eliminate Political Corruption" is after Supervisor Bill Van Riper, although their charges sound more like disagreements in opinion than, say, pocket-lining. They held a public meeting at the fairgrounds the other night and Van Riper asked some of the questions. That may be a first for local politics.

Supporters of Andrew Adrian, Van Riper's challenger, haven't made much of a case for him. Their only argument seems to be to attack Van Riper.

Such is the year in politics. It's made me laugh and shake my head at times. But it hasn't made me want to jump on anyone's bandwagon.

One final note: it sure seems like there are many more yard signs in support of Democratic candidates this year than ever before. Does that tell us something about the changing nature of our community?

DON'T GET BAGGED DOWN

So you're leaving on a jet plane — are your bags packed, ready to go, as the song goes? Deciding what to take and how to transport it can be half the trouble of traveling. Here's some advice from frequent flyers to keep your bags from bogging you down. First, think twice before loading a large-size suitcase. If you really end up filling the case, it may be too heavy and cumbersome to manage on your own. Carry two smaller suitcases instead, or better yet, leave half of the contents behind. (You might be surprised what you can do without!) Practice carrying your empty cases around the house. If they feel heavy, it doesn't matter how spiffy the flip-down wheels or genuine leather looks, they're going to be a pain to travel with. Finally, check out carry-on limits before you leave home to avoid a nasty surprise at the gate when the attendant tells you your bag is too big to board.

We think travel agents should do more than just get you where you want to go. Getting you to your destination, with reservations and tickets at a good price, is a "must" for any travel agent. But when you go with UNIGLOBE CHELSEA TRAVEL, INC., we don't stop there. You'll quickly discover that you're getting something more. At 1070 South Main Street, we specialize in the "little things" that make travel a true pleasure, like ideas on efficient packing, special places to visit, and things not to miss. PH: 475-3110.

Several dozen Dexter Township residents have organized a write-in campaign to re-elect Jim Drolett to the township supervisor post.

Drolett suffered a 67-vote loss in the primary to Republican challenger John Sdao, a 30-year-old computer consultant. Sdao and Democratic challenger Burton Hoey, a self-employed contractor, will be on the November ballot.

Write-in organizers for Drolett are hoping to secure an estimated 1,200 votes needed for Drolett to win. They suspect, however, about half the number can return Drolett to office for another four years.

In this age of looking at educational alternatives, parents and schools are challenged to look carefully at their children and consider what style or type of learning environment will best suit their needs. Most parents choose to do this within the regular public school environment.

As taxpayers all of us who live in the Chelsea School District are eligible to receive public school services. Those parents who choose to home school or to have their children attend a private, religious or charter school do so at an additional cost (in time and/or money) to themselves. Is it fair that because they have chosen to not use one part of a service to which they are entitled that they are denied access to other parts? We hope that the school board will reconsider their decision.

Lima planning commission not listening

I am writing this letter to let the people of Lima Township know that the Lima Township Planning Commission is not acting in the best interest of this township.

Contrary to what commission member Marvin Carlson says, this commission is not paying attention to the people.

At the Oct. 24 meeting the commission voted to re-adopt the Master Plan of December 1995 with corrections and amendments. In regard to McKinley Road in the northwest section of Lima Township the commission voted to make the area rural residential (three acres per residence) ignoring the wishes of 70 percent of the residents that the area remain zoned agricultural (10 acres per residence) as it always has been.

At this same meeting another landowner on Dexter-Chelsea Road was requesting rezoning from agricultural status to rural residential status for part of his acreage. This landowner cited his proximity to the Village of Chelsea, already improved roads and village services as attractive factors in favor of the zoning change. These were the identical factors the commission stated as their reasons for rezoning McKinley Road from agriculture to rural residential. However, the commission denied this landowner's request.

This commission should start listening and hearing the residents of this township instead of outside consultants. This is our community. WE LIVE HERE!

Humane Society needs pet food donations

This is to let your readers know that the Humane Society of Huron Valley (HSHV) is in urgent need of food to feed its animals. The following is needed: puppy and kitten, cat canned and dry, dog, canned only.

Perhaps a school could do this as a class project. Due to the overwhelming amount of unwanted and strayed animals already brought in year to date—approximately 6,000 (up over the last two years)—the food supply has been greatly depleted and the food is urgently needed now.

Donations can be taken to the shelter at 3100 Cherry Hill Rd., Ann Arbor, 12-6 p.m. any day of the week. The HSHV does not receive any tax or government funding and relies on food and monetary contributions to keep the animals sheltered and fed. Please spray or neuter your pets to help stop pet overpopulation. Thank you very much for your support and donations.

Voters to cast ballots in November general elections

Dexter Township Treasurer Julie Knight has retained her post as treasurer; Bill Eisenbeiser will serve another four years as clerk; Harley Rider was re-elected as board trustee; and newcomer Libby Brushaber will replace long-time public servant Earl Dolezky on the board. All are running unopposed in the general election.

The only Democratic challenger in Webster Township is Lanny Dunigan. He will battle long-time trustee Paul Kleinschmidt and newcomer Dean Fisher, who beat out Dawn Pearson for the Republican nomination.

Webster Township Supervisor Don Zeeb faces no opposition in the general election. He beat out long-time board trustee Hugh Mosher to retain the seat he has held for the past 22 years.

Webster Township Clerk Wana Baldus and Treasurer Janis Keogh faced no opposition in the primary and will be re-elected in the general election barring a strong write-in campaign.

A slate of candidates in Scio Township face no opposition. Supervisor Robert Tickle, Clerk Gay Korschuh, Treasurer Donna Palmer and Board Trustees Charles Ream, Jim Cameron, Aaron Machnik and Jerry Schleicher are seeking re-election.

In Lima Township, political newcomer Andrew Adrian will be running as a Democrat for township supervisor against veteran incumbent William Van Riper. Arlene Bareis will run uncontested as a Republican for township clerk, while Betty Messman will run in the same capacity for treasurer.

In another contested Lima Township race, Robert Heller, incumbent, and Charles Schauer will be on the ballot as Republicans, facing incumbent Harold Trinkle, running as a Democrat, for two trustee positions. Trinkle has been on the Lima Township Board as a Republican, however he missed the deadline to run as a Republican in the primary. Trinkle managed to garner 36

Democratic write-in votes, enough to get him on the ballot as a Democrat.

Lyndon Township has a battery of uncontested Republicans on the ballot with Maryann Noah for supervisor, Janis Kneiper for clerk, Geraldine Reith for treasurer and John Francis and Barbara Roderick for trustees.

A similar situation in Sylvan township will leave voters without Democratic representation on the ballot. Jerry Dresselhouse will once again be running as a Republican for supervisor, along with Luann Koch for clerk and Arlene Grau for treasurer. Earl Heller and Reuben Lesser, Jr. will be running as Republicans for two trustee positions, along with Libertarian candidate James Hudler.

In addition to choosing the best candidates, voters will be faced with another challenge in finding their correct polling place.

Voters in precincts one and three of Dexter Township will go to the Township Hall, 6880 Dexter-Pinckney Rd. Citizens in precinct two are assigned to vote at the Inverness Club House, on North Territorial Road in Gregory.

All Lima Township voters are to go to the Lima Township Hall at the corner of Jackson and Lima Center Roads.

Those looking to cast ballots in Lyndon Township should go to the Lyndon Township Hall, on the corner of Territorial and Townhall Roads.

In Scio Township, voters in precinct one will go to the Dexter Community Pool, while those in precincts two and six are assigned to the Scio Fire Hall. Those in precincts three and four will go to Scio Township Hall, while their neighbors in precinct five will go to the Scio Farms MPH Clubhouse. Voters in precincts seven and eight can do their duty at Scio Community Church.

In Sylvan Township, voters in precinct one will go to the west side of the township hall, while those in precinct two will vote next door in the township hall's east side on Middle Street.

Voters in Webster Township can vote at the Township Hall on Gregory Rd.

Meeting livens up fairgrounds

(Continued from Page One) set aside for public input. At that time, anyone wishing to address the board with concerns, questions or comments is afforded the opportunity to speak.

The circus-like atmosphere of the meeting only intensified when Adrian contended that Van Riper has used his position of authority to get around obeying township ordinances. He also questioned Van Riper's honesty.

"The township ought to be fair to everyone and give everyone the same options," Adrian said.

Van Riper denied all charges of special treatment, and offered documentation as proof to back up his defense.

"You will never meet a more honest guy than this man right here," Van Riper said, pointing to himself.

One of this issues Adrian stressed most at the meeting was making all township records available to the public at Lima Township Hall. He said under current leadership, that is not the case.

Township clerk Arlene Bareis responded that although she and the other elected officials keep many of these records at home because it is more convenient, they have always gone out of their way to get whatever records are requested out as quickly as possible.

Although there were no official decisions made at the meeting, it gave voters a chance to address both candidates with questions, complaints and concerns. Adrian's lack of political experience was questioned, as well as both candidates' positions on preserving open space.

Overall citizens got few answers to their questions, heard many loud voices and accusations, and were treated to entertainment better than the rival haunted house.

EQUINE COLIC

A. W. Tremper, D.V.M.

R.C. Bowers, D.V.M.

What is colic? Specifically it is abdominal pain caused by distension of the stomach or intestines from an accumulation of gas, fluid or feed due to improper movement through the G.I. tract.

The most common (90%) cause of colic in the horse is parasitic obstruction and/or damage to the intestines or their blood supply. "Sand Colic" is due to the accumulation of sand in loops of intestine causing severe irritation or blockage. Sand may be picked up with grass roots or grain on sandy ground. "Spasmodic Colic" may be caused by anything which excites or unnerves a horse or by drinking cold water when the horse is hot after work.

When an obstruction goes unrelieved for a period of time, the fatigued muscles stop contracting and moving material through the tract. The horse may then be poisoned by its own intestinal contents (endotoxin poisoning) and/or suffer dehydration and electrolyte imbalance. Prolonged pain as well as the other consequences of obstruction can result in shock which is frequently the cause of colic deaths.

Colic is only one of many emergencies involving our pets and livestock which require immediate attention regardless of day or time of day. Clients of Lane Animal Hospital have emergency coverage available to them at all times by calling 475-8888.

Next week's column will deal with signs of colic, treatment and aftercare.

RETAIN LARRY GASS

Your County Treasurer

"I have worked diligently to restore the public trust in the Treasurer's office, while producing strong investment earnings and accountability. I pledge to continue to work for you, maintaining these high standards."

Larry Gass

Why is Larry Gass the best person for the job of County Treasurer?

Larry Gass has a strong background in the management of money, both in the private sector and as an employee of the County. Most importantly, he has proven himself an extraordinary Treasurer since he was appointed County Treasurer in January 1995 after the elected Treasurer resigned.

Larry has the skill, commitment, honesty and integrity which are necessary to hold this important position and to provide the best service to the taxpayers and residents of Washtenaw County.

In the short time Larry's been our Treasurer he has:

- Increased investment income over 100% - Making YOUR Tax Dollars Grow!
- Returned $93,000.00 of his budget to the County's General Fund - SAVING YOU MONEY!
- Reconciled accounts monthly, cash and checks are deposited daily, and all funds are placed into safe, legal, interest-bearing accounts working for the taxpayers.
- Reduced a cumbersome, and costly 167 bank accounts to an efficient 16 - and 80% of funds are now invested in our local County banks.

Historic Air Force museum seeks new members

By Joseph Cabadas
Heritage Newspapers

Step back in time and get enthused about flying.

That's the message the Yankee Air Force Museum is sending out to attract new members.

The Yankee Air Force was founded in 1981 by people who wanted to preserve historic aircraft. With the help of the Wayne County Road Commission, the museum later took over and restored a 1940s-era hangar at Willow Run Airport near Belleville.

Since then, the group has created "the best aviation museum in the state," member William Penland, 60, of Grosse Ile said recently.

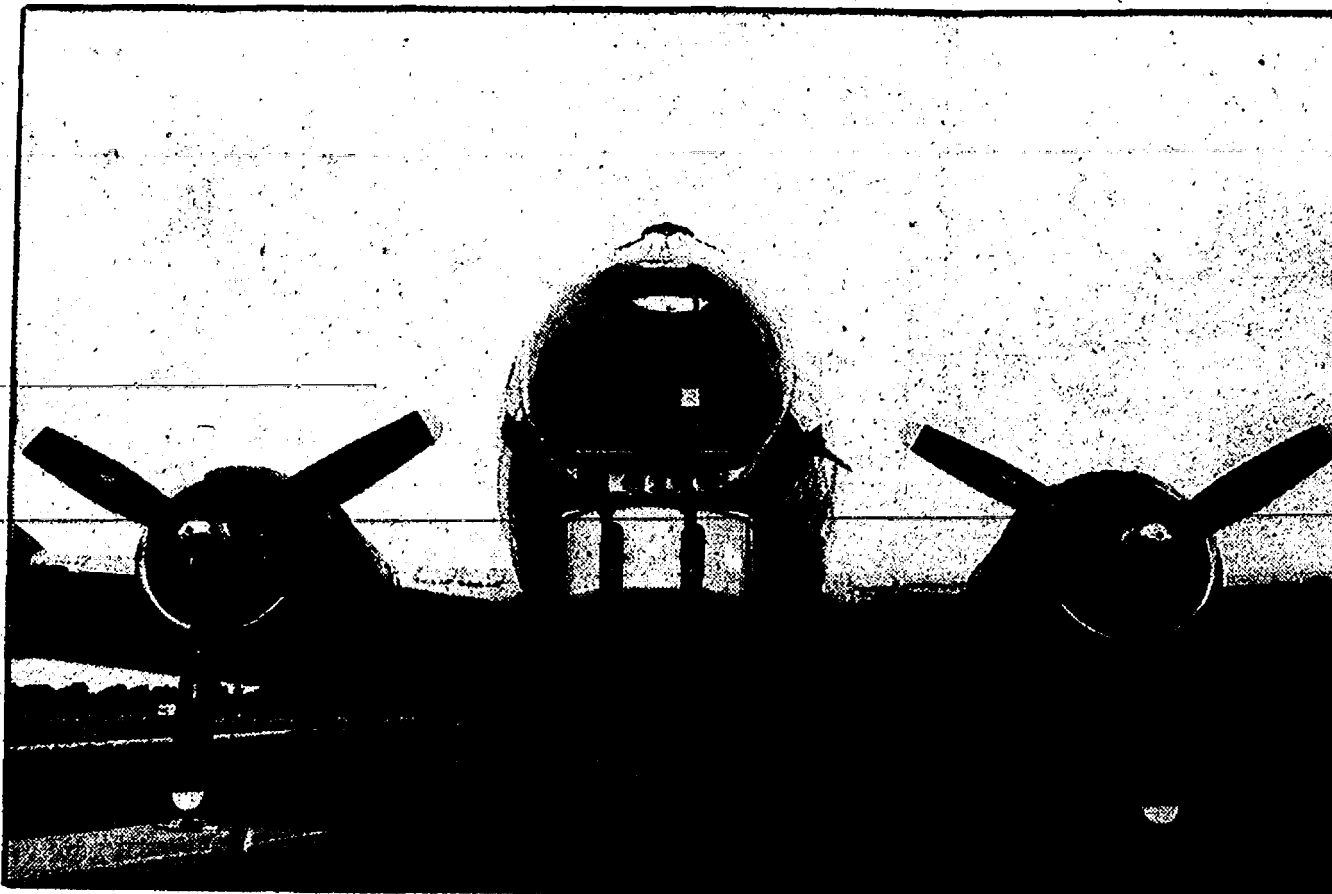

The museum displays more than 17 aircraft ranging from a working B-17 heavy bomber used in World War II to the Vietnam War-era F-4C Phantom fighter and B-52.

Additionally, the museum has several sections of historical aircraft from World War I to modern times and a library of aviation books.

Members say their museum is unique for its size for two reasons — volunteers run it and a number of its aircraft still can be flown.

Many of those who keep the museum going are like 65-year-old Lee Bassett of Romulus, who joined the Air National Guard in 1948 and served until 1989.

"It's an historical experience to fly a B-17," Bassett said. "There are only about nine still flying today. We have dedicated people working to restore these aircraft. It's a labor of love."

The museum displays more than 17 aircraft ranging from a working B-17 heavy bomber used in World War II to the Vietnam War-era F-4C Phantom fighter and B-52.

Bassett remembers many of the aircraft the museum displays. Even the smell of exhaust fumes brings back memories.

"You can tell what kind of aviation gasoline they are using from the smell," he said.

But such volunteer dedication can be a double-edged sword, members said.

"Burnout has been a big problem," said James Hanford, editor of the museum's magazine, Yankee Wings, and a 10-year Navy veteran. "Some people become so gung-ho about their work."

"I try to tell them to slow down and take it easy because they get burned out and you don't hear from them again."

That problem has affected the publication dates of the magazine, which comes out roughly six times a year.

Without the volunteers, the museum would not be where it is today, a number of members said.

The crew chief for the B-17 Flying Fortress, Norm Ellickson of Milan, said his people spent eight years restoring the aircraft. After World War II, it was used by the Coast Guard to locate icebergs then by a civilian firm as a "fire-bomber" — dropping chemical spray on wild fires — and an insect-control sprayer.

"There is a loosely knit group of us that swap parts to restore these aircraft," Ellickson said. "What we can't find, we fabricate. We have a set of 35-millimeter prints from the Smithsonian Institution to bring the B-17 back to (Federal Aviation Administration) standards."

"We must have spent 110,000 man-hours restoring it. It was a wreck when we got it and it took years to get rid of the chemical smell when it was used to fight fires."

Many companies donate the parts needed for the museum. Liability concerns have stopped the companies from doing the work on the planes. That's why the museum's volunteers are needed, members said.

The museum is open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays and from noon to 4 p.m. Sundays. It is closed Mondays and holidays. Admission is $5 for adults and $4 for children and seniors.

The museum is at Willow Run Airport, near the corner of Ecorse and Beck roads, between Belleville and Ypsilanti. Call 483-4030 for details.

VOTE to Re-elect Sheriff Ron Schebil.

Six proposals on Michigan's ballot await electorate's decisions Nov. 5

By Paula Evans Neuman
Heritage Newspapers

Six statewide ballot proposals ranging from bingo to bears will be before voters Nov. 5.

•Proposal A would allow bingo games and raffles to be used for charities, while prohibiting political parties from using bingo or raffle money for campaign funds.

Since 1972, the state has required bingo operators to be licensed. In 1981, the Legislature said political committees could join nonprofit groups as organizations allowed to hold bingo fund-raisers.

But in 1994, the Republican-majority Legislature approved a measure to remove the privilege from political committees again.

That was challenged in court by state Democratic Party Chairman Mark Brewer and is now, through a petition drive, on the ballot for voters to decide.

A yes vote would prohibit political parties from using bingo money. A no vote would allow it.

Those who favor Proposal A say political groups compete with charitable organizations for money raised through bingo games. Those against the measure say there's no reason to ban bingo as a political fund-raiser.

•Proposal B would amend the state constitution to require candidates for judicial offices to be licensed attorneys for at least five years before their election. Judges already in office would be exempt.

A yes vote would add five years' experience to the current constitutional requirements for judicial candidates — that they be registered voters under the age of 70 and licensed to practice law in Michigan. A no vote would keep the current requirements.

Proponents of B argue that judges who have never practiced law are too inexperienced. Opponents say lawmakers are dictating to the electorate who can or cannot be chosen for the bench.

Five Downriver judges participating in a recent News-Herald forum on court reform all supported the proposal.

"A person who runs for judicial office ought to have at least five years' experience," said 27th District Judge Lawrence Emmert of Wyandotte.

•Proposal C is a constitutional amendment that would protect the Michigan Veterans' Trust Fund so money could only be used to benefit veterans.

Any transfer or expenditure from the fund would have to have the permission of a majority of the fund's Board of Trustees.

The Legislature has borrowed from and repaid the 50-year-old fund since the late 1950s. The trust was created with $50 million to provide emergency aid to veterans from the interest it earns.

A yes vote would protect the fund from raids by the Legislature. A no vote would allow fund money to be borrowed.

Proponents of Proposal C say the measure would allow the fund to operate as it was created to operate. Opponents say the state's fiscal flexibility would be hampered by limiting access to the fund.

•Proposal D would limit the state's bear-hunting season and prohibit the use of bait and dogs to hunt bear. Proposal G would grant the state's Natural Resources Commission exclusive authority over the taking of all game, including bear.

The two proposals conflict, so whichever one gets the most yes votes will prevail.

A yes vote on D would stop hunters from using dogs and bait to hunt the 12,000 bears in Michigan. A no vote would maintain hunting laws as they are.

A yes vote on G would give

Gov. John Engler

Engler gives advice on proposals

Gov. John Engler explained his views on the six state ballot proposals Thursday during a News-Herald interview. He was in town stumping for Downriver Republicans.

Proposal A: I support it. It simply says that the veterans' groups and the church groups and the charities that were originally supposed to be the beneficiaries of bingo will now be the beneficiaries of bingo.

What they've found in communities all over Michigan is that they've run into competition from political parties. The parties themselves have opened up bingos, and in some cases made those into big businesses competing directly with the VFW Post or the Catholic Church.

That was never the intent. This (proposal) simply will transfer bingo and the intent of the law back to the charities.

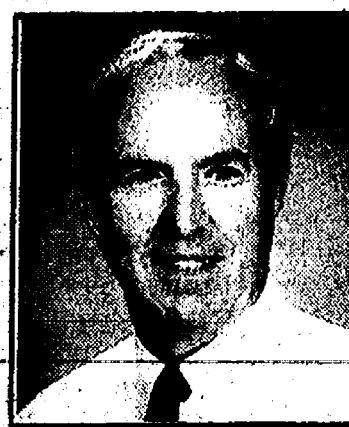

Proposal B: That is the one that requires five years' minimum experience as a lawyer

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE CITIZENS OF WASHTENAW COUNTY.

Who are these men vying for the chance to be called "Washtenaw County Prosecutor?" Why would they want this position. What motivates them to take on such a difficult, and often thankless, role in our county?

This much I know. Brian Mackie is the current Washtenaw County Prosecutor. I am forever thankful he was the man who held that position on December 16, 1993.

Brian Mackie did not know us nor did we know him, when my family and I were faced with the greatest horror of our lives, the murder of my husband, Joe.

The compassion, understanding and caring that came directly from Brian Mackie and his select staff, gently guided us through the very rocky road of the criminal justice system.

Mr. Mackie was, and still is, our human connection with this system. He gives freely of his time and energy, to assure all of us that our judicial system is being operated properly and fairly.

Most importantly, he is currently the honest, caring, talented and well qualified Washtenaw County Prosecutor, who gives that office the much needed experience and character necessary to meet the needs of our diverse communities.

Please vote to keep Brian Mackie as our Washtenaw County Prosecutor. If you have been, or ever will be a victim of violent crime in our county, you, too, will be thankful to have Mr. Mackie where he is today.

Most Sincerely,
Marlene K. Piasecki

exclusive authority over hunting to the seven-member Natural Resources Commission and require it to use "principles of sound scientific management" for making game decisions.

The commission also would have to hold a public meeting before issuing any orders regarding hunting.

A no vote would maintain the current system.

Those in favor of D say using bait and radio-collared dogs to hunt bear gives hunters an unfair advantage.

Opponents say hunting should be regulated based on scientific principles, and that the current bear-hunting methods help farmers control nuisance animals from damaging crops and property.

Those in favor of G say the NRC should make hunting decisions. Opponents say the present system works well.

• Proposal E would permit up to three casinos in any city of 800,000 or more residents that is located within 100 miles of another state or country where gaming is allowed and has had casino gambling approved by a majority of its voters.

Detroit is the only Michigan city that meets the criteria.

A yes vote on E would allow three casinos to operate in Detroit, establish a gaming control board to regulate casino gaming and impose an 18 percent state tax on gross gaming revenues.

Fifty-five percent of the tax revenues would go to Detroit for crime prevention and economic development. The remaining 45 percent would go to the state for public education.

A no vote would continue the state ban against casinos except on Indian reservations.

Proponents of E say it would raise money for Detroit and for state education, saving tax dollars for everyone.

"Detroit needs casino gaming to compete with casinos operating in Windsor, Ontario," Detroit City Council President Gil Hill said.

Those against the proposal say more casinos in the state would increase a wide range of social ills, including crime, prostitution and gambling addiction.

More casinos would hurt the state's lottery revenues, the opponents say. And they add that other American cities were able to rebuild without using gambling revenues.

(to become a judge). I think that is a very minimal requirement and a very easy yes vote. To my knowledge, there is no opposition to that.

I do think there's a benefit to saying to people that you ought to have some experience with the law before you can be a judge.

Proposal C: Again, an easy one. It's something that I'm for. The veterans' trust fund under other governors was used as a cookie jar. It was borrowed and that disrupted veterans' programs.

One of things that we've done because we have cut taxes and strengthened the economy is we paid all the bills off. The debt to the veterans' trust fund has been paid off in full and this (proposal) would constitutionally protect the fund to make sure it was used for veterans' programs in perpetuity.

Proposals D and G: I support G and I oppose D. G is the one that would continue a strong role for the Department of Natural Resources' professionals in managing wildlife and game.

I think that Michigan can be very proud of the fact that our resource base is such that we continue to have a national and international reputation, and we ought to protect that. We ought not to take certain game species, in this case, bear, and single it out and say now we're going to start making the policy in a different fashion.

And by the way, we're also going to have the indirect impact possibly on the deer season by saying that the bear and the deer seasons can't be overlapping.

There's also, in Proposal D, misleading information that is being publicized. It's already illegal today to shoot a bear cub or what they call the sow

Gas tax needed to fix roads

Michigan Farm Bureau is supporting a state gas tax increase of seven cents a gallon. The state's largest farm organization announced that it backs a plan that will increase the tax by five cents a gallon the first year and an additional two cents a gallon the second year.

A gas tax increase must be coupled with transportation system reforms, according to Michigan Farm Bureau Associate Legislative Council Tim Goodrich. "We support tort reform for the Michigan Department of Transportation and municipalities, performance audits of county road commissions, privatization of maintenance and repair projects and eliminating the restrictions on transfer of funds between local and primary roads," he said.

The Road Information Project, a Washington, D.C.-based highway research group, released a report that said 60 percent of state roads need repair. Michigan may need to spend an additional $5.4 billion over the next decade to bring roads and bridges up to standards. Poor roads cost state drivers an extra $121 a year and that Michigan ranks 43rd in the nation in road width.

— a female bear with cubs. That's impermissible today.

Proposal E: I oppose that. I do not think that gambling becomes the substitute for sound economic development policies.

Cities will succeed when you fix them up, when you take problems and turn those into opportunities, when you deal with the level of services and safety and security in the city.

I think mayors who tackle the problems that way are going to be more successful than mayors who say I'll overcome my problems because I can go get this gambling and that will fix everything. If that were the case, then how come Atlantic City hasn't been fixed? They've had gambling for a long time.

I also think it sends the wrong signal to kids. What we want to do today is reaffirm for our children that you do have to study, you have to stay in school, you have to prepare yourself, and that getting ahead in life isn't just a matter of luck.

(Proposal E) is just simply a bad bet for the future.

Dexter Township Assault and Battery

A 15-year-old girl reported being struck and kicked by a 16-year-old girl while baby-sitting at a home in Dexter Township. The victim said she was struck once on the left side of her face with a fist and was kicked in the abdomen when she was down. Officers were not able to see any visible signs of injury. The incident allegedly stems from the victim sleeping with the suspect's boyfriend. Other witnesses claim the victim made up the story about being assaulted, although there was a verbal confrontation.

Property Damage

A 29-year-old man reported equipment on a construction site on the corner of Dexter-Pickney and North Territorial Roads was damaged Oct. 26. The vandals put limestone into the fuel tanks and cranks of some of the machinery, causing an unknown amount of damage.

Chelsea Village Motor Vehicle Theft

A Chelsea woman reported that a maroon 1983 Honda Accord was stolen from her yard in the 400 block of W. Middle Street Oct. 24. The keys were left in the vehicle, and its doors were left unlocked. The vehicle was later recovered in Westland with the keys inside but no gasoline.

Breaking and Entering

A woman reported breaking and entering of a building in the 1000 block of Main Street Oct. 26. The woman arrived at her business in the morning and found that money was missing from her desk drawer. She then proceeded to the rear office and found the office had been ransacked. There was no evidence of forced entry, however it is possible that a screwdriver found on the scene was used to slip the rear door strikes. About $200 in miscellaneous bills was taken.

Property Damage

Malicious destruction of property was reported at Silver Maples Construction on Old US-12 Oct. 21. Yellow paint was thrown on equipment on the site and a window was broken on a grader.

Hit and Run

A hit-and-run accident was reported at the Amoco gas station, 1630 Main St. Oct. 25. A possible semi-tractor struck the light pole, causing the 18 inch diameter concrete/steel light pole to tilt at a 45 degree angle.

Freedom Township Suspicious Incident

A 25-year-old man reported he was driving his blue 1994 GMC 4X4 truck, and he lost control due to a problem with his steering. He managed to make it home, and found that the left tire's front lug nuts were all loose. The victim said he has no known enemies, and he doesn't know who would have done it.

Sylvan Township Suspicious Incident

A 37-year-old woman residing off Cavanaugh Lake Road reported that when she tried to use her telephone, her line was dead. She noticed the lines in her phone box had been rearranged. When the wires were put back in their proper places, the phone worked.

Scio Township Arson

Arson was reported Oct. 27 on the 6300 block of Park Road. A newspaper was set on fire in front of the door to a wooden tool shed that is attached to a large barn. A witness was walking in the area and saw smoke and flames. He alerted the homeowner, who put the fire out with a bucket of water. The newspaper was an Oct. 26 issue of The Detroit Free Press. This arson matched several others in the area. The case remains open pending follow-up.

Accidental Shooting

A 44-year-old Scio Township man reported accidentally shooting himself in the knee with a 357 magnum revolver Oct. 23. The man was cleaning his gun in preparation for deer season when he noticed it seemed to be malfunctioning. He knew the firearm was loaded, but while pulling the hammer back, it slipped out of his fingers and discharged. Initially the man thought the bullet had grazed his leg and didn't look at his leg. Two hours later when the pain got severe, he realized he had shot himself in the leg, and went to the hospital. Hospital personnel indicated that the wound was indeed self-inflicted.

NSF Check

A 45-year-old Scio Township woman wrote a check with non-sufficient funds in her account to the Epiderm Salon on Jackson Road in Scio Township. The business' personnel tried to collect the funds without results, and thus filed a police report Oct. 21.

Attempted Break-in Violation of a Controlled Substance Act

Police found two men stopped in an automobile to be in possession of cocaine, rolling papers, a drug pipe and a triple-beam scale on Park Road in Scio Township Oct. 19. One of the suspects was a 32-year-old Ann Arbor man, and the other was a 36-year-old Chelsea man. There was less than 25 grams of cocaine found between the men.

Larceny was reported at Scio Farms Estates Trailer Park Oct. 27. A man reported that overnight someone had stolen three hanging plants from his front porch, for an estimated total value of $30.

Property Damage

his 1994 Ford Mustang Oct. 27. The victim first noticed the damage when he heard a whistling sound while driving. The estimated damage is $1,000. A 18-year-old man reported malicious destruction to his vehicle after a confrontation Oct. 22. The man reported that a neighbor at a house he was visiting at Scio Farms Estates

ARE THERE DIFFERENCES BETWEEN THE TWO 52nd DISTRICT STATE REPRESENTATIVE CANDIDATES?

Absolutely!

Here are some of the differences that should be considered by every voter:

- David Felbeck has accepted no funding from special interest groups; all of his financing comes from private individuals. His Democratic opponent has so far taken at least $152,870.64 from special-interest lobbies and only a small fraction of her funds has come from private individuals. Her record shows that she has consistently voted the way the lobbies wanted.
- David Felbeck has worked all his life as a professional engineer, a small-business entrepreneur, and in teaching and research as a college professor. His opponent has worked for government in Lansing for the last 12 years.
- David Felbeck believes that we should further extend choices in our public schools. His opponent has voted consistently against most of these options.
- David Felbeck believes that individuals must be responsible for their own actions and decisions. His opponent's own brochure claims that it is "government's responsibility to help people succeed."
- David Felbeck believes that government should be smaller and taxes should be reduced even further. His opponent has said, "We need to end the reckless tax cuts..." (Apparently she has now forgotten that it is these same cuts that have led to Michigan's booming economy.)

The record is clear—vote for David Felbeck on November 5th.

trailer park struck his vehicle with a baseball bat, causing $100 in damage. The suspect said he was tired of kids hanging out at the house, making loud noise and drinking. He said he became angry when he asked if the subjects lived at the house and they said they did not, they were just visiting. The suspect said in order to make an impression on the subjects, he decided to break one of the headlights on the subject's vehicle. The suspect said he was surprised the subjects had called the police, considering the noise and disturbances they had created over the past year.

A 40-year-old Scio Township man reported two tires on his Jeep Wrangler were punctured at Scio Farms Estates trailer park Oct. 23. The total damage was $150.

Missing Person

A 34-year-old Scio Township woman was reported missing by her husband Oct. 25. The woman is diagnosed schizophrenic, and walked away from the Huron Oaks Mental Health Facility. The woman later returned, unharmed.

Felonious Assault

A 13-year-old Scio Township male reported being shot in the right leg with a B.B. gun Oct. 22. The boy said he was riding his bike when he saw the suspects, a 13-year-old boy and a 14-year-old boy with a B.B. gun, on the balcony of one of the boy's homes. He heard one of the suspects tell the other to shoot at him. He then heard a shot, and immediately felt pain in his leg. He kept riding his bike because he thought they might shoot him again. He rode to a friend's house down the road, and once there the victim received a telephone call from the suspects. The victim said the suspects offered him money to not tell anyone about the assault. The victim refused the offer and told his parents, who then called the police. The suspect said he did not intend to shoot the victim and was surprised to hit him.

Drunken Driving

A 53-year-old Scio Township woman was arrested for driving under the influence of liquor on Zeeb Road Oct. 27. Police pulled the woman over when they saw her make a left turn from the wrong lane and then run a red light. Once pulled over, as the officer was getting out of his vehicle, the woman began backing her car up toward the patrol car. The officer jumped back into his car and backed up. He reported the woman would have hit the patrol car had he not backed it up. When the officer approached the woman he detected a strong odor of intoxicants. When he asked her to get out of her car to perform field sobriety tests she fell down. The woman said she had consumed a few glasses of wine at a friend's house. She blew a .22 on the breathalyzer test, which is more than twice the legal limit.

A 56-year-old male was arrested for operating a vehicle while impaired on Parker Road Oct. 25. A deputy was on the scene of a drug raid when he saw the suspect driving slowly through the area. An officer instructed the deputy to locate the car and check the driver's reason for driving by so slowly. When the deputy located the man he was traveling 60 mph in a 55 mph zone. The man failed the field sobriety tests and had a .08 percent blood alcohol level on the breathalyzer test.

Threats

A 40-year-old woman reported that while she was at work, someone wrote in yellow chalk "Smile, you are not dead yet" next to her car door Oct. 23. The woman, who is a doctor, had a patient who recently fired her and also had recent disputes with a neighbor.

Runaway

A Scio Township man in the 900 block of Wagner Road reported that his 15-year-old son had run away from home Oct. 22. The boy had packed up his bags and left, and later telephoned his father to tell him that he would not be coming home.

Found Property

A woman in the 4600 block of Loch Alpine Drive reported finding a bicycle on her property.

Taking a cue from McDonald's, Burger King and Wendy's, bagel companies across the nation are waging war over consumers' food dollars. Three bagel chains across the nation are buying up competitors and building more stores in a battle to win the palates of Americans. More than half of farm households consider farming as their primary occupation. But even for this majority, off-farm employment is an important source of income. Thanks to Michigan's booming economy, many of our farmers and their families have ready access to off-farm employment opportunities.

Food scientists are making progress on a new food processing technique that helps

VIEWS ON DENTAL HEALTH

GARY GOCHANOUR, D.D.S.

INFANT'S FIRST HOME CLEANING

Home dental care should really begin before baby has a single tooth. Plaque can form on the gum pads just as it forms on the teeth. While mother cleans her baby from top to bottom every day, she sometimes forgets that juice, formula, cereal, milk and so on, leave debris in the mouth. A piece of gauze can be used to wipe the gums after the last feeding of the day, and this may help to reduce gum inflammation which is especially important as the child begins teething.

Many dentists feel that plaque-caused inflammation of the gums is a factor in teething difficulties, and if plaque is removed regularly, the teething process will be more comfortable. The cleaning, of course, is to be continued after the first teeth appear.

One technique that has been used successfully is for the parents to sit on chairs facing each other, and while one parent supports the legs, the other holds the child's head softly in his or her lap and gently wipes the teeth with gauze from behind the head.

A VOTER'S BRIEF ON PROPOSAL C

The Michigan Legislature created the Michigan Veterans Trust Fund in 1946. This trust uses invested funds to create income for emergency and tuition assistance programs. The invested money was intended to remain untouched.

Twice in its fifty year history, the Michigan Veterans Trust fund has been liquidated, or "borrowed" by the legislature and later repaid. This cycle of loan and repayment costs Michigan additional tax dollars and threatens the future existence of this honorable benefit to our veterans.

Throughout our nation's history we have chosen men and women to protect and defend our freedom. Repay that honorable service with your vote to protect and defend their Michigan Veterans Trust Fund (MVTF).

Your Vote YES on Proposal C

- aids our war era veterans and their families.
- carries no hidden tax cost to you.
- preserves the MVTF for its original purpose.

People urged to care of their diabetes this month

With the national human and economic costs of diabetes totaling over 178,000 deaths and $100 billion annually, the 16 million Americans with this disease and their health care providers have more reason than ever to become more proactive in diabetes care.

Advances in technology, new treatments, and a transforming health care system have made it a national priority for the American Diabetes Association to inform those with diabetes how to take charge of their care and alert health care providers to the latest advances in diabetes research and standards of patient care.

November is National Diabetes Month, when the Michigan Affiliate of the American Diabetes Association spreads the word to those affected by diabetes about the benefits of controlling blood sugar levels closer to normal to prevent the devastating complications of diabetes. For 1996, activities for patients and their families will be centered on the theme, "Diabetes. What to Know: Head to Toe." The centerpiece of this campaign is a free brochure which converts into a colorful, easy-to-read poster and provides a step-by-step guide to delaying diabetes' leading complications through foot checkups at every visit and annual dilated eye exams.

"Diabetes is a serious and lifelong disease leading to complications of the circulatory and nervous systems," said Martha Funnell, RN, MSN, CDE, President of the Michigan Affiliate.

"Understanding the 'system-wide' approach to treatment, through diet, exercise, self monitoring, and medication, is critical to improving the lives of people with diabetes."

In Michigan, there are approximately 371,400 adults with diabetes, costing about $2 billion in medical care and an additional $2.1 billion each year in lost productivity due to premature deaths, disabilities and illness.

All people with diabetes should seek their treatment and care from physician coordinated teams that include, but are not limited to, physicians, nurses, and dietitians, with an expertise and a special interest in diabetes. Controlling diabetes involves a combination of weight management through exercise and meal planning, glucose monitoring, and/or oral medication for those with non-insulin-dependent (Type II) diabetes. In addition, all people with insulin-dependent (Type I) diabetes must take insulin.

"For too long, people with diabetes have not had the information and technology to take charge of their care," said Martha Funnell. "Research is proving that we have the tools to prevent or delay the onset of the disease's complications, such as blindness and amputation. But we need to get serious about diabetes, and serious about treating it."

Diabetes is a serious disease in which the body either does not produce insulin (Type I) or does not use insulin effectively or produce adequate amounts of insulin. (Type II) Insulin is a hormone that allows blood sugar to enter the cells of the body and be used for energy. Diabetes can lead to severely debilitating or fatal complications, such as blindness, kidney disease, heart disease, stroke and amputations.

Holidays can be free from stress

People affected by chronic illness will have the opportunity to discuss stress-reduction strategies geared to preparing for the holidays at the Arthritis Foundation's 1996 Health & Education Series when "Positive Steps to A Stress-Free Holiday Season" will be presented by Sue Webster McDonald, MSW.

McDonald, of Family Consultation Services, will discuss stress-reduction strategies geared toward preparing for and enjoying a mentally and physically healthy holiday season. Her pro-active approach can benefit the entire family, especially this time of year as we begin to anticipate the stress and anxiety that often accompanies the holidays.

Webster McDonald will address the positive and negative aspects of the holiday season, the potential of "stress-free" holidays, and things you can do to make a difference.

McDonald works extensively with clients who are affected by chronic illness such as arthritis, lupus and fibromyalgia.

"Positive Steps for a Stress-Free Holiday" will be held Thursday, Nov. 7, in the cafeteria of the Senior Health Building, 5361 McAuley Dr. (on the campus of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital) from 7-9 p.m.

Although there is no fee to participate, registration is required. To register, please call the Arthritis Foundation, Ann Arbor Region at (313) 572-3224.

Stolen pets are often sold on black market

How many of us let our dogs and cats outside to roam unattended, or give up pets we cannot keep through "free to good home" ads in our local newspaper? With the best of intentions, too often we become the easy prey of pet thieves who sell as many as two million stolen pets each year into a vast black market.

According to the shocking new book "Stolen for Profit: How the Medical Establishment is Funding a National Pet Theft Conspiracy," many beloved pets wind up in puppy mills, dog fighting rings, satanic cults, and biomedical research laboratories. Companion animals who trust humans are naturally the most desirable to animal researchers. High-demand animal research has created a multi-million dollar market for stolen dogs and cats, run by a syndicate that is as well-protected as the Mafia.

Our pets are delivered into suffering and death by "dog dealers" licensed by the Department of Agriculture. Unscrupulous dealers, and their unlicensed accomplices known as "bunchers," steal pets from our neighborhoods, buy them from pounds and at huge "dog auctions," and take them from "free to good home" ads, then warehouse them in filthy, disease-ridden kennels where many of them perish prematurely.

The few inadequate laws in place to protect our pets go largely unenforced. It is up to caring pet owners in every community to demand that Congress strengthen and enforce existing laws, so that pet thieves and their accomplices are prosecuted and punished.

To find out how you can protect your pets and help end the national tragedy of pet theft, write to: Pet Theft Project, c/o In Defense of Animals, 131 Camino Alto, Ste. E., Mill Valley, CA 94941. To report a stolen pet or information about pet theft operations in your community, call the National Pet Theft Hotline at 1-800-STOLEN PET (786-5367-38).

Soaped downtown store windows, tipped over out-houses, a goat dropped off in the town hall and a cat let loose in church were some early pranks done around Halloween in Chelsea before the organized Halloween parties.

Years ago, costumes were usually just old ill-fitting clothing. Most girls were not allowed to wear slacks. On Halloween they could wear their dad's or brother's trousers for one night. Our grandparents liked to dress up as Charlie Chaplin, Cinderella, clowns, Laurel & Hardy and one group was the Donald Duck family in the '30s.

All of the children in the 1930s photograph are simply dressed. A clown, drummer boy, and a black-faced hobo costume stand out.

When treats began they were simple—an apple or penny. Baked goods, hard candy and popcorn balls followed. Today candy bars are most popular.

Controlled "trick or treating" during designated hours began in Chelsea during the late 1940s. A fireman blew the fire whistle to signal the start and stop times.

Chelsea Kiwanis Club has sponsored Chelsea's Halloween parties since about 1948. At first, kids could gather at the old high school playground around a huge bon fire (fed by plenty of boxes and scrap wood). Noisemakers, cider and donuts were handed out. A Halloween parade around East, Orchard, Main and Middle Streets brought the kids back to the school for costume judging. In 1959 the categories were neatest, most original, spookiest and most typical of Halloween.

The big bon fire and all leaf burning ceased in Chelsea with a new ordinance in 1973. However, Kiwanis still hosts a party and costume judging in the Municipal Parking Lot.

The window soaping and waxing slowed down when children were allowed to decorate store windows. Money prizes continue to be given for the costumes and the Halloween paintings.

During the early '70s trick or treating was nearly ruined when the big city news media announced pins and razor blades were showing up in apples and candy. In Chelsea the police set up a metal detector at McDonald's to solve any potential problems.

Each Halloween villagers can always expect hundreds of small spooks and characters living in town, and then some. Carloads of country kids come into town to canvas their favorite neighborhoods for candy.

Costumes are much more sophisticated today and are often influenced by TV/movies. Favorites this year may be from the "Hunchback of Notre Dame." Mixed in with the Draculas, ghosts, witches and bums, there may be a few Pocahontases and Power Rangers left from last year.

Dexter Fire Board votes to place truck in Webster

By Michelle Rogers
Associate Editor

Dexter Area-Wide Fire Board voted unanimously last Thursday to place a fire truck at the new Webster Township station connected to the township hall.

The action does not mean the fire department is operating a substation, however. The Fire Board emphasized the station will not be manned and will only serve as storage.

The board discussed the move at length, considering the possible implication of creating a false sense of security for Webster Township residents.

"The perception would be the service is out there because a truck is out there," asserted Fire Board Trustee Diana Walters. "I am not following this logic how this provides better service."

Many board trustees said they think if a truck is available in Webster Township, more residents may volunteer to serve on the fire department.

"I think it's an excellent move whether how effectively it's manned or not," said Fire Board Trustee Bill Eisenbeiser. "By having a truck out there, chances are it will be a lot easier to recruit people from that area. I don't see how it can possibly hurt."

Trustees Phil Arbour and Walters emphasized educating the public about what they can expect from having a truck in Webster Township is essential.

"If a Webster (firefighter) is not available, it becomes an issue (for the public) of 'Why didn't they use that equipment,'" Arbour said.

"We need to educate people about what they can expect from this situation."

Fire Board President Hugh Mosher speculated the Webster fire station may need to be manned full-time in the next three to five years. "As the needs grow, there has got to be creative ways of dealing with that," he said, alluding to a district-wide fire department with shared administration and equipment.

"This is just the infancy stage of the department starting to grow and blossom," said Trustee Jim Drolett.

In related news, the Fire Board postponed action on operating a joint fire station with Chelsea at the Multi-Lake Sewer Authority building on the corner of North Territorial and Madden Roads.

Drolett will discuss the issue with Dexter Township

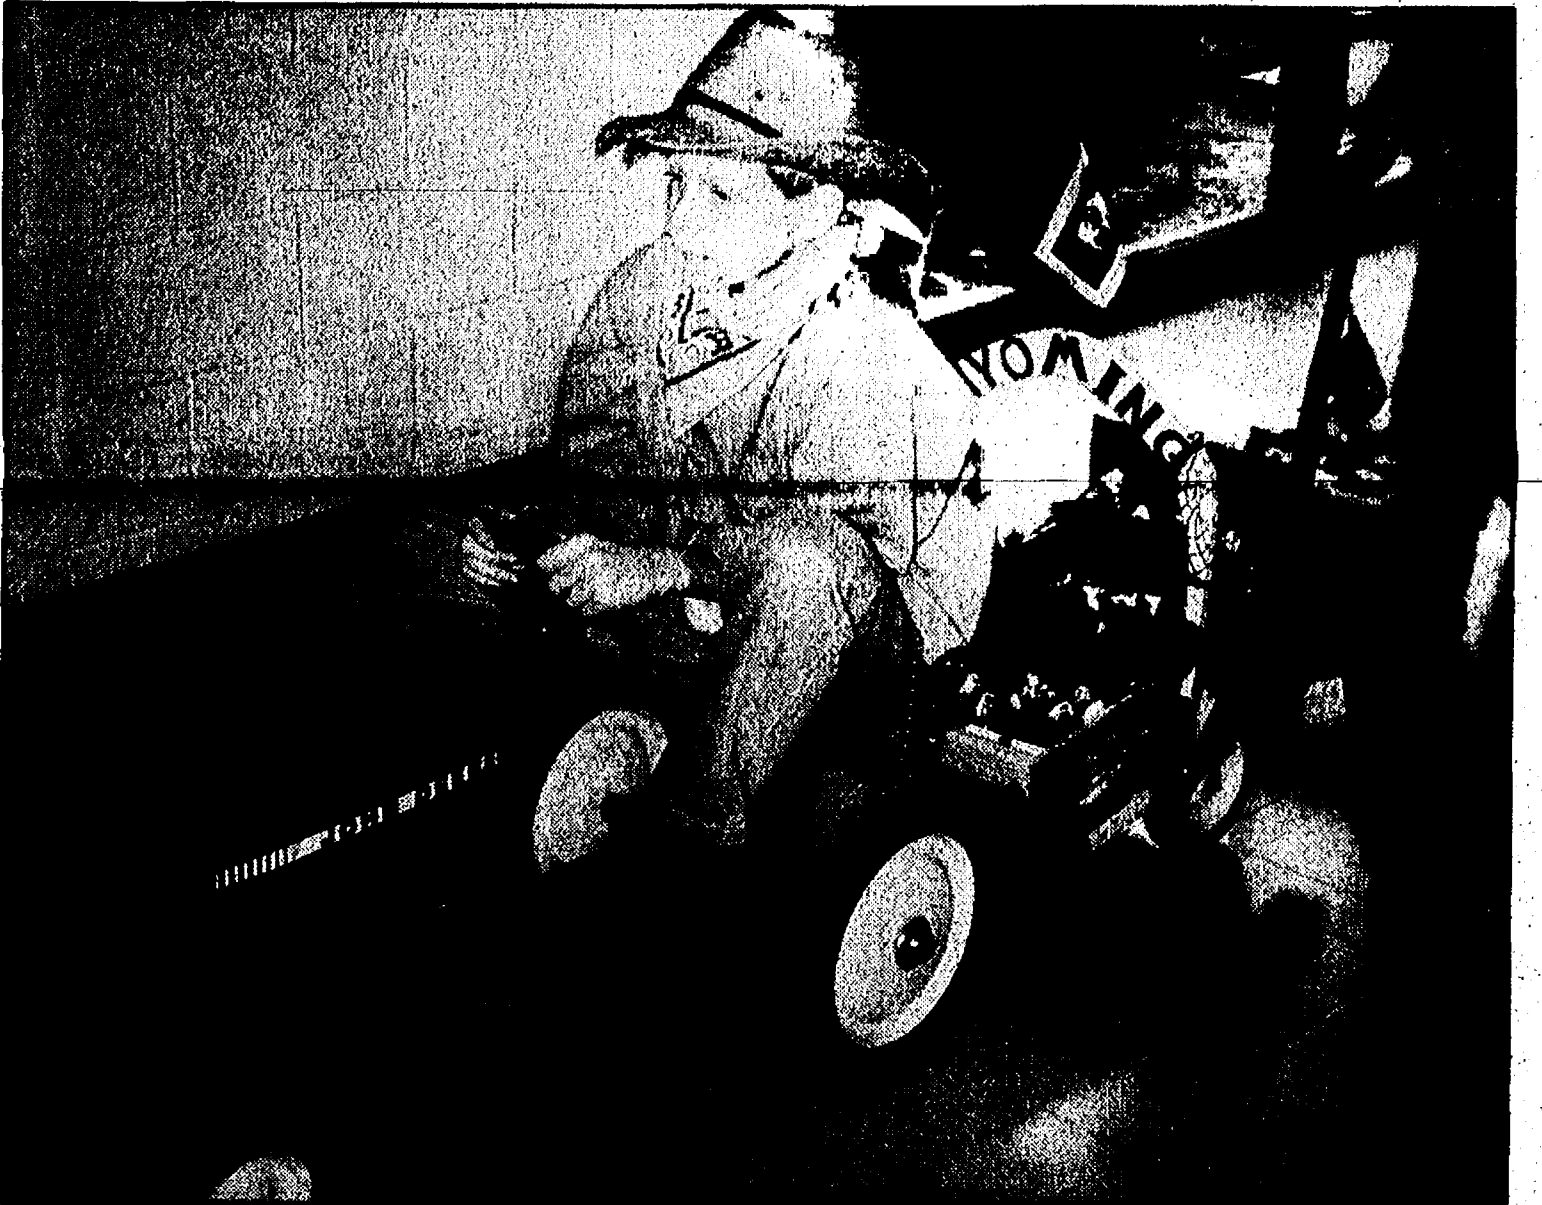

Board and return with a recommendation at the next meeting.

At issue is whether Dexter Township is willing to pay $8,000 a year in rent to the Multi-Lake Sewer Authority to lease space there. It would require the payment of rent because township residents did not pay for the construction of the building; residents in the sewer authority district did. Because Dexter Township residents would directly benefit from the new station, the rent must come from the township's coffers.

The situation is different from Webster Township in that Webster officials paid for their new township hall and fire station with taxpayer money.

The station in Dexter Township is also unique in that it would be operated in cooperation with Chelsea Fire Department. Chelsea would supply the tanker pumper and Dexter would provide a rescue unit to be housed at the station. Coverage and dispatch responsibilities still need to be resolved. Plans call for the partnership to begin Jan. 1.

"It's going to improve the service in that area also," the fire chief assured the board.

TEACHER FEATURE

McDonald: Researching is valuable skill

Laurel McDonald, the media specialist at South Meadows Elementary School, says technology is the way of the future. That is why she goes out of her way to make sure her student are well-versed in the variety of resources available to them.

"Chelsea is really lucky because we have a certified media specialist in each of the buildings and so I am able to teach and work with kids with their research skills," McDonald said. "We're able to look things up in the CD-ROM, encyclopedias, Internet plus the card catalog."

McDonald said libraries have changed a great deal since she was young.

"I'm old enough where when I was young we had a library, but you just basically got a book to enjoy reading," she said. "We didn't learn any skills."

She said with the background kids now get on how to use library resources, they're not as apprehensive to go into large facilities to research and solve problems.

"If kids can solve their questions by using a library they can go anywhere," McDonald said.

She said her family, as well as a somewhat sexist society, inspired her to become a teacher.

"At the time I was growing up that was one of the options for females," McDonald said. "Also my parents, all my aunts and great-aunts are teachers."

McDonald said one of the things she likes most about her job is that she never gets bored.

"I enjoy the spontaneity and how I can have one kid walk in and ask me a question—and I love to research. We can go in and delve into something and it's not repetitious. There's always that spark of something different," she said. "Sometimes you get four or five at the same time and you want to pull your hair out, but it's fun. Watching when they've solved something themselves or found their own answer their eyes light up." She said one of the things that most surprised her about being a teacher is the amount of change involved. She expected teaching to be the same each year and just get easier as the years passed.

"Education is constantly changing, and change means we have to research and look into things," McDonald said. "Every year I'm having to learn more."

She said she is excited to learn about and use new technology as it becomes available.

"I've been getting into multimedia and I'm sold," she said. During an Internet class she took over the summer there was no clock in the classroom, and she said she would often lose track of time throughout the day.

McDonald said she is often amazed at the adaptability of her students.

"I marvel at how they will just jump right in there and start looking," she said. "I'm still apprehensive sometimes, wondering if I'm going to go in and break something, but they just go for it."

McDonald completed her undergraduate study at Western Michigan University at the same time as actor Tim Allen was attending. She went on to earn a master's degree in library science at Eastern Michigan University.

She lives in Grass Lake with her husband, Doug, and her three children, Adam, Martha and Scott. In her spare time she enjoys basket making, helping on the farm and keeping the books for her husband's business.

Film society receives grant

The American Express Foundation has announced that the Chelsea Film Society has received an $800 grant as one of 202 organizations selected to receive a total of $150,000 from the Volunteer Action Fund. Established in April of 1994, the Fund awards grants to eligible organizations in which American Express U.S. employees volunteer on a regular basis.

The grant will go directly towards the purchase of equipment for the showing of movies at the Chelsea Train Depot. As a new organization the Chelsea Film Society counts on the generous support of local businesses and residents to fund its operations.

"The review committee, comprised of American Express employees/advisors, was extremely impressed by the dedication of so many employee volunteers and by the diverse nature of organizations and issues with which they are involved," said Mary Beth Salerno, President of the American Express Foundation.

"We are very pleased that the Chelsea Film Society was chosen as one of the organizations to be funded."

McKune friends salute staff

Friends of McKune Memorial Library will hold their 6th Annual Appreciation Dinner to honor members of the McKune Memorial Library Staff, Wednesday, Nov. 13, in Chelsea Community Hospital's Dining Room A.

The evening's activities will begin at 6:30 p.m., and dinner will be served at 7 p.m. Following the dinner Larry Ogden, president of Friends of McKune Library, will act as master of ceremonies for a brief program.

"The appreciation dinner, which is held in Nov. — because it's the month when we give thanks, has become a real Chelsea Area tradition," said Friends of McKune Vice President Lynn Fox. "We always have great food and a wonderful evening."

Friends of McKune Memorial Library, and other members of the community who would like to participate are encouraged to attend.

Lets Go Bulldogs!

Bulldogs keep winning ways

By Phil Lozen
Staff Writer

Heading into Friday's SEC finale with Pinckney, Chelsea knew that it had to win to keep a hold on the coveted fourth spot in Class BB, Region 3 and to keep hopes of a post-season playoff appearance alive. Also at stake was a possible share of the SEC crown. Should Milan lose to Lincoln and Chelsea beat the Pirates, the Bulldogs and Big Reds would be co-SEC champs.

Chelsea did beat Pinckney, behind 18 first quarter points, 18-6 to put themselves in a great position for a playoff showing with the final game against Jackson Northwest Friday night at Chelsea. But Milan's 48-22 whipping of Lincoln dashed any hopes of SEC titles for the 1996 season.

So now the concentration is on Jackson Northwest, and getting the win that should guarantee the Bulldogs a playoff spot.

Against the Pirates, however, Chelsea took care of business early and often, scoring three times in the first quarter and holding Pinckney off the board until midway through the fourth quarter.

The Bulldogs got the scoring parade started on their third play of the game. Quarterback Dustin White hit a streaking Jay Schick down the middle of the field for a 55-yard touchdown.

Pinckney, who shot themselves in the foot a couple of times with two fumbles and a blocked punt, fumbled the ball away on its first play of the game.

Shortly after, White galloped in for another Bulldog score, this one from 17 yards out.

On its next possession, Pinckney had a punt blocked near mid-field.

Chelsea took over possession and drove to the Pirate two-yard line where Schick pushed his way into the endzone to give Chelsea all the scoring it would need.

Outside of Pinckney's final drive that covered 65 yards, the Pirates were shut down offensively, gaining only 122 yards in the first three quarters. The Pirate score came on a Matt Cooke one-yard run.

White ended the night 10-14 for 184 yards with an interception and a touchdown. He scrambled for 33 yards on eight runs.

Schick totaled 190 all-purpose yards, 95 on the ground on 25 carries, and 95 in the air on two catches. Casey Wescott hauled in six receptions for 69 yards, and Matt Adams added two catches for 25 yards.

Chelsea (6-2, 5-1 SEC) now looks to Jackson Northwest and possibly the biggest non-conference game in Chelsea in years. A win all but locks up a playoff spot for the Bulldogs, while a loss could be devastating. Kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m.

Cagers solidify hold on SEC

By Phil Lozen
Staff Writer

Following a shocking loss to Saline, the Chelsea basketball team rebounded with two consecutive conference wins to solidify its hold on the top spot in the Southeastern Conference.

The Bulldogs kicked the string of wins off with a 52-47 home win over Pinckney, a game that coach Charlie Waller called: "A key game. A must win in our home court."

Led by Chrissy Hodgson, who finished the night with 17 points, Chelsea jumped out to a 10-6 first quarter lead, and stretched that lead to 24-16 at halftime. But the Pirates wouldn't go away quietly.

Pinckney outscored Chelsea 18-11 in the third quarter to trim the lead to just one, but it proved not enough as Chelsea held the Pirate charge off in the fourth quarter and held on for the win.

To go along with her 17 points, Hodgson grabbed seven boards to pace the Bulldogs underneath. Kacie Ruhlig scored 11 and added five steals and seven assists, while Cindy Richard chipped in with eight points.

Willow Run came to town to give Chelsea a break from SEC action with the second half of the conference schedule looming. Chelsea, as it did against Pinckney, jumped out to a huge first quarter lead but allowed the Flyers to creep back in towards the end of the game before closing out a 64-58 win.

A 23-point first quarter led to a 38-20 halftime lead for the Bulldogs, but the Flyers crept back into the game by outscoring Chelsea 20-14 in the third and 18-12 in the fourth. In the end, however, Chelsea played giant killer as the unbeaten Flyers suffered their first loss of the season at the hands of Chelsea.

Hodgson and Ruhlig scored 15 points apiece. Ruhlig added five assists and three steals. Mellissa Carty poured in nine points and snagged six boards, while Richard chipped in with seven rebounds.

Milan came to Chelsea looking to avenge its only loss of the season but without center Heather Frank, sidelined with an ankle injury, the No. 8 team in Class B couldn't find an offensive weapon as Chelsea completed the season sweep with a 47-32 thrashing to maintain a one-game lead in the SEC.

Bench play keyed the Bulldogs in this win as Karla Det-

Frosh gridders lose to Pinckney

The Chelsea freshman football team lost to Pinckney last week, 55-0.

The Bulldogs drove to the Pirate 12 on the first possession of the game but failed to score. From that point, the game was all Pinckney.

Although Chelsea had the ball for nearly twice as many plays as Pinckney, the Pirates scored five touchdowns in 20 plays for a 35-0 half-time lead, and kept up the pace in the second half.

There were few bright spots for the Bulldogs, who managed barely 100 yards of offense and completed only one of six passes.

"We came out flat after our two recent close losses, and Pinckney was probably the best team we faced this year," said Chelsea coach Bill Bain-ton. "Put those factors together and the result is very predictable."

The freshmen conclude their season this afternoon at Jackson Northwest at 4:30.

Bulldogs beat Milan

(Continued from Page 18) tling sparked Chelsea with 10 points off the bench. Ruhlitz paced the Chelsea attack with 18 points, nine steals, and five assists. Richard scored eight points while grabbing 10 rebounds and dishing out six assists.

Chelsea held a slim seven point lead at the end of the third quarter, but exploded for 17 points in the final stanza to put the Big Reds away for good.

Girls make state again

Chelsea girls placed third at their Class B Regional Cross Country meet last Saturday near Marshall to qualify for this weekend's state meet in Brooklyn. The top three teams qualify.

"All seven girls ran personal, season-best times and that's about as good as it gets," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

"I was very proud of the way our girls performed in one of the toughest regionals in the state. This regional contained six of the top 15 teams."

Chelsea, with 88 points, finished behind winners Jackson County Western with 70 points and Jackson Lumen Christi with 73. Southeastern Conference rivals Milan and Dexter were sixth and eighth, respectively.

Jeannie Spink was Chelsea's top runner and finished third overall in 19:20. Angie Lefere of Lumen Christi won in 18:49.

Chelsea's Karen Pieper was eighth overall in 20:05. Sarah Jedele was 14th in 20:30. Megan Smith was 22nd in 20:58. Corinna Christman was 41st in 21:39. Carolyn Wineland was 48th in 21:57, and Julie Williams was 54th in 22:10.

"We now have to focus our efforts on one final push at the state meet," Clarke said.

The whole team was named Runner of the Week.

Chelsea runs at 1:30 p.m. at Michigan International Speedway.

Chelsea JV basketball wins two more games

Chelsea Bulldogs junior varsity basketball team picked up victories over Willow Run and Milan last week.

On Tuesday, Oct. 22 Chelsea beat Willow Run, 48-35. The Bulldogs broke the game open in the fourth quarter, outscoring the Flyers 20-14.

Coach Paul Terpstra said that poor free throw shooting (38 percent) prevented Chelsea from scoring more points, but alternating defenses helped secure the win.

Miranda Harris and Amy McCalla each had 14 points to lead Chelsea. Other scorers were Meghan Holfka, 8; Brook Stolaski, 5; Lisa Zimmerman, 5; and Karen Kuhl, 2.

Harris had a team-high 10 rebounds.

On Thursday, Chelsea whipped Milan 48-17. Pressure defense led to a 27-7 lead at halftime. Chelsea had 19 steals for the game.

Zimmerman had a team-high 14 points and six steals. Other scorers were Harris, 11; Ellis, 8; McCall, 6; Holfka, 4; Candice McCarty, 2; Kuhl, 2; and Stolaski, 1.

Chelsea shot 30 percent from the field and 50 percent from the line.

The Bulldogs' record is 7-8 overall and 3-4 in the Southeastern Conference.

Bulldogs JV football team has another tough loss

Last Thursday the Chelsea junior varsity football team lost a heart-breaker to the Pinckney Pirates, 41-12.

After a costly turnover on Chelsea's first possession, the Pirates capitalized with a short touchdown drive.

The Bulldogs fought hard throughout the remainder of the half, trading scores with the Pirates.

"Offensively, in the first half we looked good," said Chelsea coach Kyle Plank.

Coming out of half-time, the Bulldogs trailed 19-12. After trading punts, the Pirates scored 22 unanswered points.

Swimmers prepare for postseason action

The Chelsea Bulldogs girls' swimming team lost to a very strong Dexter team this past week 131-55. Dexter is second in the Southeastern Conference behind Pinckney. Saline is alone in third place with Milan and Chelsea tied for fourth. Tecumseh is fifth with Ypsilanti Lincoln in sixth. With the SEC championships coming up on Nov. 8-9, all teams are beginning to rest in anticipation for a fantastic conference meet. Top performances against Dexter were as follows:

The 200 yard medley relay swam a state-qualification time for the second time this season. Chriss Tracy, Erin Hack, Cara Heitman and Kim Grossman swam a 2:03.82. This was only .6 seconds off their best performance of the year.

Grossman had a solid time in the 200-yard individually medley, placing second with a time of 2:28.48. Heitman had a season-best performance in the event, stopping the clock at 2:40.82.

Alicia Vogel had a solid performance in diving, scoring 195.40 points. Heitman had her second season-best performance of the meet in the 100-yard butterfly, cruising to a 1:12.28.

Katherine Knox swam a solid 100-yard freestyle as she had her best performance in the event of 1:13.61.

The highlight of the meet for the Bulldogs was in the 200-yard freestyle relay as the freshman record fell to Jocelyn Temple, Deb Adams, Jessica Inwood and Liz Kaminsky. Their time was 1:57.71, nearly .8 seconds off the previous record.

Tracy had her season-best performance of the season in the 100-yard backstroke as she paced herself to a very nice 1:09.

Overall it was a successful swimming meet with the team ready to start their resting process.

Chelsea Wahoos power past Pinckney swimmers

Following a close victory over Brighton, the Chelsea Aquatic Club Wahoos powered past Pinckney in their second meet of the season winning by a margin of nearly 100 points.

The coach stated, "We had a terrific meet, overall I thought that we had great swims across the line. A partial reason for the good swims were all the close races that Pinckney gave us. Pinckney had many good swims as well, and it just came down to who had the numbers, and for once we did. The number of swimmers that we had really helped us out in the freestyle relays where I thought we just dominated the other team."

"Ashley Augustine demolished the club record in the 13-14 girls 100-yard breaststroke, and the 9 and 10 girls medley relay with Rebecca Armstrong, Alise Augustine, Kim Vashon, Katrina Moffett was only 7 seconds off the club record. We also had some nice surprises come our way with terrific swims from Diana Ladio, Lauren Williams and Trevor Hughes."

—Reunion of Champions—

Chelsea's state champion football team from 25 years ago will have a reunion of sorts this Friday during and after Chelsea's final home game of the season. In 1971 the Bulldogs went undefeated and won the title by beating Jackson Northwest, 21-7. Chelsea is playing Northwest this Friday. In the team photo, there is at least one famous person, if you look closely enough. In front, at left, are managers Michael Bareis, Donnie Morrison, and David Leach. In the front row, from left, are Jeff Hughes, Bob Wojcicki, Dave Lukasiak, Randy Seitz, Wayne Welton, Tom McKernan, Joe Asparanti, Tom Lixey, Mark Collins, Keith Pfeifle, and Steve

About the Outdoors

by Jerry D. Posey

Many times while moving through the woods or sitting in a deer blind waiting for the big one to wander by, I have observed wild deer being pursued and harassed by dogs that are described by some as being wild dogs. It is my feeling that these dogs are not wild at all. They are pets that are allowed to run free by owners that probably do not realize what little Cupcake or Marmaduke are doing in their spare time.

Personally I would not shoot one of these free ranging canines even if they were caught in the act of chasing deer.

I am a dog owner and I realize it is not easy to keep track of a pet that is not confined in a pen or on a chain, and the last thing that I would want to happen to my pet is to have it shot by a hunter that thought he was doing the right thing by stopping the irresponsible actions of the dog.

Many dogs come up missing during the deer hunting season and their owners will always swear that old Beaguard would never chase a deer. But I personally know several hunters that would not hesitate one minute before shooting any dog running closely on the deer's trail. Many hunters think they are acting within the law when doing so but this is not true. The proper procedure is to contact the local Conservation Officer, who is the only person who can legally shoot a dog that is running loose and harassing wildlife.

Most hunters know this is the law, and many farmers do also. But I don't think I would let my animal run loose to test the moral standards of the many hunters that may be in the area at that time of the year.

Family pets that are allowed to roam the woods and fields freely do more damage to the wildlife than most owners realize.

Dogs will chase anything that run and this includes the young fawns in the early summer that are often caught and killed just for the fun of it by dogs that are given plenty to eat and are not doing it for the need of food.

Deer are not the only wildlife being pestered and destroyed by the roaming dogs. They often find and destroy the nests of rabbits, pheasants and turkeys, reducing the numbers of already scarce game in some areas.

Dogs of this type are called wild dogs by many although they are probably not wild at all, as I said before they are just the pets of people that don't care enough about them to keep track of them.

Cats that were at one time someone's pet and have reverted to living in the wild, or the litters of these felines that were born in the wild and know no other way of life, also do much damage to the small game in an area where they are allowed to roam freely. These animals are referred to as feral cats which means they are wild or not domesticated pets.

They can also be observed many times during the hunting season, wandering around in the fields looking for a small rabbit or game bird to take back to their litter. And again there are many hunters out there that will reduce the feral cat population by one when they see what they feel is a wild cat wandering by with a young turkey in its mouth.

Whether these actions are right or wrong is not for me to decide, but I am saying it is a fact that some of these animals are going to come up missing if they wander close enough to many of the hunters I know.

There are laws in most cities and towns that regulate allowing pets to run freely but almost every day in most towns that I visit, you will see a dog running loose with no owner in sight. And cats, not many people confine their cats to a pen or a leash, (but I have seen a few), a short walk in most neighborhoods will produce as many as six or eight before you can circle the block.

The loose pets in the cities may be a pest to neighbors, and songbirds trying to take a free bath in your backyard birdbath, but they are not usually the ones running the deer outside of town. Although a group of three or four will sometimes bunch up and chase any deer living in the semi-wild areas on the edges of town. We see this happen every now and then not far from my home in a residential neighborhood.

I don't feel every dog or cat should be restrained on a chain or in a pen, but I do know that I wouldn't own a dog that I couldn't teach to stay in the yard or in a designated area if I felt it may save it's life.

The people living in areas where they feel their animals can be allowed to roam freely, whenever and wherever they want, without any control whatsoever, might want to think about it a little more closely. They are not doing their pet a favor, as a matter of fact they are probably risking its life by allowing it to behave in this manner.

I for one, love my pet enough to want to protect it from the death or injuries it may sustain while running on someone else's property and I would like to enjoy its company for a long time in the future.

Snowmobile safety course offered

Ride safe and ride smart on your snowmobile this winter. Southeast Michigan snowmobile operators can improve their skills and help prevent accidents by taking a free home-study snowmobile safety course available from the Department of Natural Resources Law Enforcement Division.

People who complete the home-study attend a two-hour class and satisfactorily pass a test will earn a Snowmobile Safety Certificate. All snowmobilers, including children and adults, are encouraged to be certified. Children 12 years of age, but less than 17 years of age must be certified in order to operate a snowmobile without adult supervision.

"Modern snowmobiles are capable of operating at high rates of speed over snow and ice," said Sergeant Al Bavaras, DNR Area Law Supervisor. "There are countless hazards associated with operating a snowmobile. Training is crucial to operate a snowmobile safely."

United Way still seeking funds

The 1996 Washtenaw United Way Campaign is now in its final two weeks.

As of today, $3,483,477 has been raised, representing 41.5 percent of the $8,350,000 goal.

Michael F. Nold, executive vice president, KeyBank and chair of the 1996 Washtenaw United Way Campaign says, "I am encouraged by the number of completed campaigns that are exceeding goals and reporting higher pledge totals this year than in 1995. A large number of campaigns started late and that is having a major impact on the totals we have been able to report to date for the overall campaign. With the conclusion of the campaign fast approaching, we urge that all pledge cards be turned in as soon as possible. People in need in our community are counting on us."

The fourth report of the 1995 Washtenaw United Way Campaign showed $4,891,079 or 62.3 percent of the 1995 goal of the $7,850,000 goal.

People needing more information about giving to Washtenaw United Way, or funded programs and services, can contact the Washtenaw United Way's Info-Line at (313) 971-9191.

The holidays are fast approaching. Early shoppers can take advantage of the many handcrafted gift items at the Homespaun Creations show, set for Nov. 9-10 at the Washtenaw Farm Council Grounds.

A variety of crafts will be displayed, including baskets, ceramics, dried and silk floral arrangements, clothing, soft sculpture, jewelry, pottery, quilting, holiday items, stained glass, candles, cross-stitch, wood, and watercolors.

Chelsea and Dexter area crafters featured at the show include: Dawn Klein, Sue Dodge, Maureen Burch, Teresa Henry, and Sharon Haver.

"All of these products are designed, made and displayed by the individual craft artists," said a spokesperson for the show.

Admission to the show is $2 and the premises are wheelchair accessible. Because of the crowded conditions, organizers ask that no strollers be brought to the show. Parking is free, and concessions will be available for purchase.

Saturday hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The show will be open on Sunday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Chelsea boys place fourth

Chelsea boys cross country team took fourth at the Class B Regionals last Saturday in Turkeyville.

The Bulldogs missed qualifying for the state tournament by nine points as only the top three teams go.

Chelsea had 153 points, behind Jackson Lumen Christi with 99, Dexter with 129, and Jackson Northwest with 144.

However, Aaron Ruhlig qualified for the state meet as an individual runner by placing 18th in 17:10.

"We are disappointed by our finish," said Chelsea coach Eric Swager.

"Our goal all year has been to finish in the top three and advance to the state."

Other Chelsea places and times included Jeff Kolodica, 17:29.31; Ashley Coy, 17:34; Robert Bullock, 17:41; Tim Lawrence, 17:42; Deacon Holton, 18:03; Matt Kolodica, 18:11; Matt Kolodica, 18:11.

Freshman Jeff Kolodica, Bullock, a senior, and Holton, a senior, ran their best times.

"This shows the team nature of cross country," Swager said.

"If all runners don't run their best, we can't expect to advance to the state level competition. In all the season was a success and our young runners showed great improvement."

—Coloring Contest Winners—

Chelsea Realty, Inc. recently presented bicycles from Chelsea Bike & Sports to winners of its coloring contest, part of a promotion for the company's Window Talk marketing tool, which allows customers to see pictures of real estate on the market as well as hear a brief description. The prizes also included dinner for two at The Common Grill. From left, Sharon Roberts is pictured with Danielle Williams and Gregory and her mother, Lynn, and Cathy Graczyk of Chelsea and her parents, Stephen and Margaret.

Chelsea library offers Stephen King fix

By Ann Holt

This is Stephen King's year. In bookstores, on the World Wide Web, and in the library, his amazing inventiveness and output is taking center stage.

Not only has McKune Memorial Library been receiving each installment of his six part serial "The Green Mile" (in paperback and audiocassette) as it has been published this summer, we also have his two new titles, to be published this month, on order.

Reviewers have been generous with their praise of "The Green Mile" after spending years criticizing King. Now they see what the public has known all along—that Stephen King is a master storyteller. What other author will be able to claim having six titles on the bestseller list at one time?

The final installment, "Coffee on the Mile," was released on Aug. 26 and immediately landed at #1 on the Publisher's Weekly paperback bestseller list. The series began with "Two Dead Girls," and continued with "The Mouse on the Mile," "The Bad Death of Edward Delacroix," and "Night Journey." Start reading this tale of death row and you will be hooked.

King's two fall titles are being released simultaneously and have both received great advance publicity. "Desperation" and "The Regulators," called a "fun-house-mirror-flip of Desperation's plot and characters," by his pseudonym, Richard Bachman, will be released on Sept. 24. Although each book can be read independently, King says there are connections, details, and jokes that those who read both will catch. Ultimately his goal with these recent experiments in form is to "rethink the terms of storytelling." The readers are the winners this fall.

On the World Wide Web you can find out more than you ever wanted to know about Stephen King. On Labor Day a new Stephen King Web site (stephenking.com) debuted, which links to sites set up for his new releases (desperation.com and regulators.com).

Another good jumping off place is a fan page (mcalcin.ips.ras.ru/sk/) which provides links to a King bibliography, a map of Maine showing where fictional events might have taken place, the latest news and rumors "about our favorite author" and much more. A commercial page (bookwire.com/pw/articles/stephen-king.html) has a four-page article discussing "The Green Mile" phenomenon and King's two big fall releases. (greenmile.icomnet/index.html)

Try McKune Memorial Library for your Stephen King fix this fall. If it is not on our shelves, we can get it for you from one of the 55 other libraries in our on-line database. And now you can place a hold at the public terminal or check your borrower record without staff assistance. Ask us how, if you would like to learn, next time you stop in.

Farm Bureau offers fun facts

Why do tomatoes ripen when you put them in a paper bag? The tomato ripens because a gas produced by the fruit gets trapped in the bag and soaks into the tissue of the tomato. The gas is called ethylene, and it triggers the production of an enzyme that allows the fruit to ripen.

1996 marks the 205th year of availability of the Old Farmer's Almanac. The book contains extended weather forecasts for 16 regions of the United States, planting guides, tide tables, sunrise/sunset tables and numerous other bits of trivia and knowledge. The book is available at bookstores and newstands, and can also be found on the World Wide Web.

Michigan's farm crops continue to look below normal. Both corn and soybeans have suffered due to late planting and lack of rainfall in much of the growing season. On a national basis, the corn and soybean harvests will be up from last year.

Dexter
Age 78, born Barbara Binder on July 15, 1918 in Oerdingen, W. Germany (Sister city of Dexter) and died peacefully at home on Oct. 28, 1996 with her family present. In Germany, after receiving her business degree in Tuebingen, she worked for the mayor's office in Oerdingen for over 15 years, where she was instrumental in running the town government. For several years, she served as Oerdingen's acting Burgermeister (Mayor). She met Vincas Atkocinas (Vincat Atko), of Lithuania, and they were married in Oerdingen on Feb. 9, 1952. Later that year they emigrated to the United States and settled in Dexter. Barbara worked for Braun-Brumfield, Inc. from 1964 until her retirement in 1983.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Vincent Atko, on Jan. 6, 1977, and by her brother, Friedrich (Fritz) Binder, on Jan. 26, 1981 in Germany. She is survived by her devoted daughters, Agatha and Karen.

Funeral arrangements are being made through Hosmer-Muehlig Funeral Home in Dexter. Visitation and memorial service are tentatively scheduled for Friday, Nov. 1, 1996. Memorial contributions may be made to the family, in order to establish a scholarship fund to enable a Dexter student to study in Germany.

Mama, wir liebten Dich sehr und wir werden Dich vermissen. Wir konnten keine bessere und liebevolle Mutter haben!

He was born March 27, 1908 in Chicago, Ill., the son of Edward James and Mary Ann (Daly) Ford, formerly of Gorteen County, Galway, Ireland. He married Elizabeth O'Brien on Aug. 6, 1932 in Newark, N.J. and had been a Chelsea resident since 1940. He was retired from Federal Screw Works after 40 years of service. He was an avid photographer and loved bowling. He was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church, but most of all he was proud of his Irish ancestry.

Craft show set in Saline

More than 200 craft artists will display their wares on Saturday, Nov. 9 for the 10th annual Saline FHA Craft Show.

Sponsored by the Future Homemakers of America, the show is set for 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Saline High School. Admission is $2.

Among the highlights of the day are a concession stand featuring homemade German pretzels baked by Saline FHA's, and a free shuttle but to take craft show visitors from the parking lot at the middle school and at the First United Methodist Church to the high school site.

Among the Chelsea and Dexter area crafters slated for Nov. 9 are Mary Jones, Cindy Wernert, Sally Smith, Diane Graham, Dawn Hanks, Barbara Martin, Sharon Donovan, Sandra Martin, Joyce Conrad and Emilie Polens.

Proceeds from the annual show help support the FHA's school and community activities, including Saline Evangelical Home monthly birthday parties; sponsorship of a family at Christmas; stuffed animal and doll contest, and many others that help the membership "grow to the benefit of our society," according to Cheryl Hoeft, FHA Craft Show Coordinator.

"The Saline FHA is a leadership group directed to assist in school and community service," said Hoeft. "More than 200 members and parents will be helping with the show."

Crafts that will be displayed include: basketry, pottery, watercolor, soft sculpture, wood, stamps, bread dough art, candles, ceramics, clocks, clothing, furniture, folk and country art, weaving, jewelry, lapidary, quilting, stained glass, and dry and silk flowers.

The popular craft show attracts thousands of people, which means conditions will be crowded.

"Because of this, we ask that people refrain from bringing strollers to the show," Hoeft said.

The high school is, however, wheelchair accessible, and there is plenty of free parking.
