Voters elect two newcomers to council

Village president retains seat in easy win, while two incumbents lose.

By Sheila Pursglove
Associate Editor

Village President Richard Steele held off three challengers in Monday's election to keep a firm grasp on the presidential gavel for a seventh term. The Chelsea native was far and away the front runner, getting the nod with 225 votes. His closest challenger was former Village President Charles Ritter, a trustee with one more year left on his term, who took 144 votes.

Write-in candidate Carol Rauschenberger garnered 95 votes and Jim Machnik received 42. Steele, who has referred to the position as "the best seat in the house," said he sees a very exciting time ahead as Chelsea moves forward to cityhood.

"It will allow us to elect our charter commission who will write a document that will define our city for the future and the way we operate," Steele said Tuesday. "I think it will make government run smoother."

"I also look forward to addressing the problems we and some of the townships have regarding growth. It's a sticky issue for everybody, but it needs to be addressed."

In the six-way race for three council seats, Trustee Dale Schumann was the only incumbent to retain his seat. Even so, he came in second behind newcomer Howard Holmes, who garnered 277 votes. Schumann received 272 votes, followed by newcomer Cheri Albertson with 268.

Losing the race were incumbents Brian Cashman and Frank Hammer, who received 237 and 225 votes, respectively, and newcomer Tammy Lehman, who garnered 132.

Schumann was clearly surprised by the election

NEWS BRIEFS

Today's meeting on cityhood postponed

The State Boundary Commission has postponed today's meeting on Chelsea Village's petition to incorporate as a city. The meeting was scheduled for 1:30 p.m. in Okemos.

The panel's meeting has been rescheduled for 1:30 p.m. March 28 at the Michigan Public Service Commission Hearing Rooms, 6045 Mercantile Way, Hearing Room B, Lansing.

The meeting is open to the public.

Student named as scholarship finalist

Chelsea High School student Joseph Zynda was recently named as a National Merit Scholarship Finalist. Amanda Danielson, Sarah Eisenberg and Sarah Maynard were named commended students.

The National Merit Scholarship Program is a privately financed academic competition. Of the 1.2 million entrants, 50,000 with the highest test scores qualify for recognition.

Board orientation slated for March 25

Anyone interested in running for the Chelsea Board of Education may attend an orientation meeting 6 p.m. March 25 at North Creek Elementary School, 699 McKinley St., in Chelsea.

The school board race is set June 10. Two, four-year terms are up for grabs. Secretary Dayle Wright will seek re-election but Vice President Jane Diesing will not.

Chelsea police officer honored by Red Cross

Chelsea Police Officer Jeff Staebler has been honored as a hero by the American Red Cross for saving the life of police dispatcher Vicki Stowe Nov. 29, 2000.

Staebler used the Heimlich maneuver to dislodge food stuck in Stowe's throat.

He will receive the award 5 p.m. Tuesday at the American Red Cross' annual banquet at the Holiday Inn North, 3800 Plymouth Road, in Ann Arbor.

Cool Characters

Pupils in teacher Barb Doolittle's third-grade class at Pierce Lake Elementary School recently completed character book reports in celebration of March is National Reading Month. The class is pictured, with each pupil displaying the reports that depict the main character from the book they read. The class includes Christian Ballow, Shannon Baser, Robert Beneteau, Daniel Best, Austin Centofanti, Danielle Coleman, Cara Connell, Brandyn Gallup, Rebecca Glover, Camille Hicken, Naomi Jones, Natalie Kaczorowski, Page Katz, Anna Kingsinger, Spencer Mykala, Joseph Newland, Cooper Nickels, Kelly O'Keefe, Jacob Pace, Jake Riemenschneider, Patrick Roberts, Emily Shroobree, Tori Stevens and Caleb York.

The Chelsea school board hired Teresa Zigman Monday to serve as executive director of business and operations.

She will start March 29 at a base salary of $87,441. Her contract runs through June 30, 2004.

Zigman succeeds Jim Novak, who resigned last summer to take a position in Saginaw.

When the position was first posted last summer, 13 people applied. None were recommended, however, and Superintendent Ed Richardson assumed the additional responsibilities until earlier this winter.

The position was posted again in November, attracting 12 applicants. When the recom-

Special assessment district to pay for new system.

After a 90-minute public hearing March 5, the Sylvan Township Board voted to establish a special assessment district at Cavanaugh Lake to pay for a $2.2 million municipal sewage collection system.

The system initially will be funded by the sale of bonds and later by the special assessment district.

Treasurer Arlene Grau, who owns a house on Cavanaugh Lake, abstained from the vote.

The design for the collection system will be completed by the end of the year. Bids and construction will take place in the spring, with the entire project expected to be completed by December 1, 2003.

The special assessment district has won the support of 83 percent of Cavanaugh Lake residents, representing 75 percent of the affected land, according to petitions collected by landowners Scott Cooper and Irving Feller.

The estimated assessment of $14,300 per home will be spread over a 20-year period. It breaks down to $715 a year with annual interest expected to be around 6 percent to 6.5 percent.

The assessment would cover the installation of a sewer line around the lake, its connection to an underground grinder pump within a 66-gallon holding tank and the electrical connections from the grinder pump to the home, provided the home has sufficient electrical capacity.

There will be no charge for maintenance and replacement of the grinder pump.

The assessment of an empty lot that exists for the purpose of development will be $4,000 less than lots already developed. After a lot is developed, the township will bill the cost of installing a pump, as well as connection fees.

Homes under construction would have a full assessment. A multi-acre lot would

Some Washtenaw County offices are now calling Selo Township home.

The move has been promoted by a growth spurt in western Washtenaw County.

Hogback Road, which historically has been home to most county buildings, is considered the urban center of the county because it lies in between Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor. But the majority of Washtenaw County's growth in the last few years has been in the western part of the county, particularly in Dexter, Chelsea and Saline.

As a result, the county built the Western County Service Center at 705 N. Zeeb Road, just north of Interstate 94.

The drain commissioner's office, the MSU Extension Service, County Planning Department, Environment and Infrastructure Services, Public Works and County Building Department have been relocated to the building.

"It made sense to co-locate buildings with common objectives closer to many of the customers they are serving," said Frank Cambria, deputy county administrator for Washtenaw County. "The majority of customers for environmental ser-

Soft water on tap next week

■ Reverse osmosis system will remove impurities from water.

By Sheila Pursglove

Chelsea's new soft water should be flowing through faucets next week, Village Manager Jack Myers said Monday.

Although the new water treatment plant went online March 8, the reverse osmosis system will not be ready until next week, he said.

Myers said water flowing from Chelsea's faucets will have 100 parts per million or 5.8 grains per gallon of hardness, one quarter of the hardness of the current water, which has a hardness of more than 400 ppm.

The new plant features iron-removal filters and a reverse osmosis system to remove impurities from the water.

"Water is forced through a membrane filter, which is permeable only by pure water," Myers said. "Everything else is rejected, including minerals that cause hardness and even bacteria."

Myers said it will take some time to get the new water into the entire distribution system.

The village's water department is planning to flush out the entire distribution system as soon as weather permits in the spring. Myers said it will be part of the standard fire hydrant flushing routine done twice a year.

At that time, he expects that all of the old water should be purged from the system and only new water will be entering customer's homes, he said.

Student recovers from viral meningitis

■ Chelsea School District distributes information to parents on viral illness.

By Sheila Pursglove

Associate Editor

A ninth-grader at Chelsea High School was diagnosed last week with a combination of viral meningitis and encephalitis.

The student has fully recovered and is back at school.

Principal Ron Mead said Monday.

The Washtenaw County Health Department was notified and provided the school district with information to distribute to parents.

Viral meningitis, an infection of the membranes surrounding the brain and spinal cord, is more common than the bacterial form of the disease. It's rarely serious.

Symptoms, which seldom exceed 10 days, include severe headache, stiff neck and back, vomiting, sudden fever, irritability, and sometimes a rash.

The illness, which can be caused by a large number of different viruses, can be transmitted by coughing and sneezing or arise as a complication of chickenpox, diarrheal illnesses or transmitted by insects like mosquitoes.

The health department recommends practicing good hygiene, including washing hands frequently especially after using the bathroom, and before preparing food; covering the nose and mouth when sneezing or coughing; not sharing eating utensils, bottles or drinking glasses; and having children immunized against measles, mumps, rubella and polio because these diseases can cause meningitis.

Mason officials to visit Chelsea in May

■ Chelsea officials will play host and will also visit Mason.

By Sheila Pursglove

Associate Editor

Chelsea will play musical chairs with Mason for two days in May to celebrate Mayor Exchange Day.

Members of the Village Council and other staff will travel 40 miles northwest to Mason.

Chelsea will reciprocate by hosting Mason officials.

Martin Colburn, city administrator of Mason, said that Mason participates in Mayor Exchange Day every two years. He said the experience enables local officials and staff to meet with their counterparts.

Chelsea expects to host nine to 12 officials, Village Clerk Jill Branson said.

Officials should have plenty to swap notes about. Mason officials, who are currently updating their master plan, have an updated downtown development plan, a recently completed downtown streetscape project, multiple subdivision-housing projects, an industrial park and a street and sidewalk program.

The city is building a skate park this spring and a linear park.

The schedule offered by Mason includes a walking tour of the downtown, including such facilities as the library, art gallery, fire station, police department and city hall.

Chelsea officials may also get a tour of Lear Corp. and a motor tour of the city that includes the historical museum, cemetery, Department of Public Works, wastewater treatment plant, airport, industrial park, residential areas and some relaxation time in Laylin Park.

Crash, windstorm keep firefighters busy

■ Department's calls show a slight increase over same period last year.

By Sheila Pursglove
Associate Editor

Chelsea firefighters rushed to the scene of a two-vehicle crash 9:50 a.m. Monday at the Fletcher Road and Interstate 94 interchange in Lima Township.

Chelsea Fire Chief Dan Ellenwood said Tuesday that a small car and a pick-up truck collided at the westbound entrance to the freeway. The car was pushed into the guardrail, crushing the engine compartment into the passenger area.

Approximately 10 Chelsea firefighters raced to the scene and used the Jaws of Life to extricate the driver of the car, 82-year-old Ralph Jackson of Ann Arbor.

Huron Valley Ambulance took Jackson to the University of Michigan Medical Center where he was listed in critical condition as of Tuesday. Ellenwood said Jackson appeared to have head, chest and leg injuries.

Michigan State Police Trooper Chris Kurish said Jackson was probably not wearing a seatbelt. Chelsea Area Fire Department also ran between eight and nine calls during the high windstorms that hit the area Saturday and lasted into Sunday morning, Ellenwood said.

Several homes were left without power for almost 24 hours.

Chelsea firefighters rushed to the scene of Monday's accident at Fletcher Road and Interstate 94 in Lima Township. A small vehicle was hit and pushed into a guardrail by a pick-up truck. Firefighters used the Jaws of Life to rescue the driver of the vehicle, who was taken to University of Michigan Medical Center with critical injuries.

Ellenwood said there were downed wires in the village, on Riker Road in Dexter Township, and at Clear Lake and Trist roads in Waterloo Township.

Ellenwood said the fire department has handled 173 runs since the first of the year, an average of between 60 and 70 a month. The figures are up slightly from last year.

Ellenwood also said the new schedule is working well. Compliance Coordinator Jim Boritzki and Fire Inspector Matt Tuttle, both permanent part-time firefighters, man the station 30 hours a week, from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. weekdays. The station has a sign-up duty day roster of three weekday shifts for paid on-call firefighters. On weekends, the station is manned by paid on-call firefighters.

"It's too early to really look at stats, but it looks really good for man-hours," Ellenwood said Tuesday.

Six area firefighters are currently taking classes twice a week at Sylvan Township for emergency medical technician certification. The classes, which started in January, will end in May when the firefighters will undergo testing for national certification.

Two other firefighters are attending a medical first responder class in Pittsfield Township.

vices is west of Ann Arbor."

Cambria said that there is still some unpacking going on at the new facility, so it's too early to get any feedback from county employees.

Another big change going on in Washtenaw County cannot be seen. Cambria, along with County Administrator Bob Gunzel, is leading a plan to make many of the county's services available online.

"Sixty-five percent of the people in Washtenaw County are connected to the Internet," Cambria said, "and this is the fourth most wired jurisdiction in the country."

That means many county residents soon will be able to avoid driving to county offices for such over-the-counter services as getting permits and deeds.

"The clerk's office should be online in mid-March," Cambria said. "There will be a new Web page available to the public starting April 15, which is part of our long-term vision for e-government. You will be able to access individual townships through one central Web site."

Cambria said that soon residents will be able to do everything, from looking at the tax rolls to paying a speeding ticket online.

There are 325,000 people living in Washtenaw County, and it's the sixth-largest county in Michigan. The county employs 1,400 people.

WAIVE AS YOU GO BY

If you have ever rented a bicycle, you may be familiar with waiving liability for potential injuries. These releases have become quite common, especially with respect to recreational activities, in that courts have found some sports to be inherently dangerous. If so, participants in the sport are said to have voluntarily waived their right to recover in the event of personal injury. This is because the sport is generally known to cause injuries, and a person participating in an inherently dangerous sport should know the dangers and, by participating, has "assumed the risk" of injury. Assumption of risk has prevented the owner of a golf course from being held responsible to injured parties who are hit by stray balls. Poorly maintained equipment, inadequately trained staff, and dangerous conditions due to weather or a scheduled event can all act as mitigating factors in cases in which individuals have been injured while participating in activities for which they were required to sign waivers. To discuss the specifics of your case, call the LAW OFFICES OF KITCHEN & STRINGER, J.D., conveniently located in Dexter, at 3249 Broad Street, at 426-4695 to schedule a complimentary consultation. We also handle cases involving equine litigation and medical and veterinary malpractice.

HINT: Even in an inherently dangerous sport, or even with a signed written waiver of liability, the owner of property or equipment can, in some circumstances, still be held responsible for personal injuries suffered.

results. "Life has many surprises for us and this may be one of them," he said Tuesday. "I have never seen the village citizens make a mistake in voting for both council and school board. They have spoken and now it's up to us to make it work."

Schumann is now joined on council by Holmes and Albertson. The winners were sworn in at Tuesday's Village Council meeting. Schumann was appointed president pro-tem.

During his campaign, Holmes — who frequently has to point out he is not a Holmes of Chelsea Milling Co. fame — made no bones about his lack of previous government experience. In fact, he viewed it as a plus. Clearly, voters felt the same way.

"I'm very happy with the outcome," Holmes said Tuesday. "Clearly, enough people heard what I can represent as a trustee. I must have struck a few chords with the voters and made the right noises."

Holmes said that he brings years of team-building experience to council and is looking forward to helping to unify council as a team to promote Chelsea's needs.

"I want to balance the factors of Chelsea's growth and development to safeguard the future and retain the charm of the village that we all love," he said.

Albertson said Tuesday that she is enthusiastically looking forward to a new phase of community involvement.

"This is a wonderful opportunity to help create new and vital community collaborations within the context of an open, public forum," she said.

"Because Chelsea is at an important crossroad, thoughtful and careful leadership is now more critical than ever. As Chelsea's community voice, council will do its best work when the community is most vocal, most visible and most active."

Hammer said Tuesday that he would like to thank voters who gave him a chance to serve the village for the past 12 years.

"Due to the combined efforts of council over these years, I believe the village is healthier and more viable," Hammer said. "I am proud to have been a part of that growth and revitalization."

Village Clerk Jill Branson said that approximately 16 percent of the village's eligible voters cast ballots. A total of 48 absentee ballots were received, a higher number than usual, she said.

mended candidate decided to remain in his current position. Richardson continued an interim arrangement with Chelsea High School Assistant Principal Robin Raymond serving as his assistant until the end of the school year.

Raymond will return to his position at the high school. Math teacher Julie Deppner, who stepped into Raymond's shoes as interim assistant principal, has applied to become the assistant principal at Beach Middle School.

Zigman came to the position as a result of a posting in January that attracted 20 applicants, seven of whom were interviewed for the post.

She is currently employed as director of finance for Livonia Public Schools. Her previous employment included the position of controller at the Wayne County Regional Educational Service Agency, director of business services in Dearborn Heights School District No. 7 and as an accounting associate for Plante & Moran LLP.

She holds a master's degree from Wayne State University in educational leadership with an emphasis on curriculum. She also holds a bachelor's degree in accounting and a second degree in management systems from the University of Michigan.

EASIER TO COMPLAIN THAN TO FIX THINGS

Dear Friends and Neighbors,
Nobody complains about Faith's choir. Not openly anyway. For one thing, for a small choir in a small church we're fairly good. For another thing, they know what the response will be: "If you don't like the way we sing, then join us and make us sound better."

It is easier to complain than to make things better. When I was in school I complained about how boring the classes were. Before I entered the ministry I complained about how boring many preachers were. Once I had the job of teaching and preaching, I immediately realized how difficult it is, and how unfair I had been in my judgments.

We're eternally grateful that our God did not just complain about the world, even after it rebelled against Him. Instead, He immediately resolved to fix it. It cost Him the humiliation and suffering and death of His Son. This was an incredibly high price to pay, but He was willing to do it for us.

There are many things in this world that we can't fix. There are injustices, mass starvation, and inhuman conditions caused by political forces beyond our control.

Even in churches there is apathy, wrong priorities, questionable practices, and even immorality and false doctrine at times. Some of that we can fix; some of it we just have to live with. When things have reached the point where no one is willing to listen and see God's truth, the only option is to leave. In any case, complaining should not be an option. Speaking out in love must be our response.

Thank God, He chose not to destroy us or to treat us as our sins deserve. And thank God for people who are willing to try to improve things.

Please visit us this Sunday morning at 9:30 a.m., or next Wednesday evening at 7:30 p.m., and celebrate what God did to fix our world.

receive only one assessment because acreage does not affect the amount of water used.

If the lot is later split, the new property owner would have to pay cash up front. Separate tax identification numbers are not a factor unless property is non-contiguous.

Six pumping stations are being built to reroute the sewage to a treatment plant in Leoni Township. They are located in front of Sylvan Township Hall, on the west end of Brown Drive, on the corner of Kilmer and Notten roads, to the east of Deerfield Court and two in Jackson Township.

Gerald Dresselhouse, the township's special projects coordinator, said the township's original intention was to build a sewer plant in the Cavanaugh Lake area. It was decided later to run it to Leoni Township, where Sylvan Township is represented on a water and sewer authority board.

The amount for the special assessment district is based on the assumption that residents of Crooked and Sugarloaf lakes, Sugarloaf Lake Campground and Cassidy Lake Correctional Facility will connect with Cavanaugh Lake to form an aggregate sewer district of about 500 residential equivalency units.

Dresselhouse said that Cedar and Spring Lake residents also could be included, but only residents on Spring Lake, representing 27 REUs, have expressed an interest, so far.

The Crooked Lake special assessment district, which Sylvan Township has already established, is supported by 58 percent of the homeowners, holding 62 percent of the affected land.

The Cassidy Lake facility, Sugarloaf Lake Campground and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, representing Sugarloaf Lake Campground, have submitted letters of intent to Sylvan Township.

The Cassidy Lake facility, the largest of the outsiders wanting in, represents 150 REUs. Along with Sugarloaf Lake Campground, its inclusion would be on a contractual basis because both are owned by the state.

A special assessment district for Sugarloaf Lake residents, representing about 100 homes, has to be approved by Lyndon Township because a township cannot levy an assessment for another municipality.

The distance of the Multi-Lake Sewer Treatment Facility in Lyndon Township, from the Cassidy Lake facility and the Sugarloaf entitles, necessitates them to adjoin with Sylvan Township.

The inclusion of the Cassidy Lake and Sugarloaf sites are viewed as welcome additions to the sewer system because they would lower the assessment rate for Cavanaugh Lake residents. However, Dresselhouse said that it's not the township's goal to further enlarge the district.

"For one, we don't have the capacity to bring in outsiders nor is it in the master plan," Dresselhouse said. "Keep expanding and we'll build another Canton Township."

Cooper said in a telephone conversation last week that many residents like him want the special assessment district for environmental and practical reasons.

He said studies have proven that leeching happens if sewage is within 500 feet of water. He added that the decline of water quality in Cavanaugh Lake has been obvious for years.

Cooper also said that new state regulations passed last year require a health inspection whenever a major alteration or sale of a home takes place. This is making many residents hesitant to do so, he said.

Cooper said the board's mandated solutions to meet its guidelines, such as an engineered drain field, probably would be more costly to a homeowner than the special assessment.

Dresselhouse concurred with Cooper's viewpoint, saying the special assessment district was being established on behalf of Cavanaugh Lake residents who wanted to preserve the quality of the greenbelt.

The greenbelt starts from Brown Drive, goes north to the west of the Trinkle farm on Sibley Road, then north of Sibley to Ivey Road. It's zoned for residential development in the master plan and includes the new housing developments on Cavanaugh Lake and Sibley roads.

"The board is not promoting sewers," Dresselhouse said. "The people are. The only time the board would initiate a sewer project is if the board of health said we needed to."

"Homes on Cavanaugh Lake were originally subdivided in 30 to 40 acre lots. Many of the residences were seasonal. Now the land has been further subdivided and most residents live (there) year-round."

Dresselhouse said the Cavanaugh Lake special assessment district could be rescinded if officials at Cassidy Lake or homeowners on Sugarloaf Lake have second thoughts.

"Without Cassidy Lake and Sugarloaf, Cavanaugh Lake's assessment would rise to $20,000 per REU," Dresselhouse said. "If that happened, I'd recommend to the board that we pull out. If we only lost the Sugarloaf residents, we might have to pull out. The whole system has to come as one."

Dresselhouse said that a pull-out is unlikely because Cavanaugh Lake residents would not have signed the petition if they didn't believe Cassidy Lake and the others would adjoin. In fact, he said they waited until letters of intent were received before circulating petitions.

Dresselhouse also said that the two state facilities are using a lagoon sewer system that they want to abandon.

Dresselhouse said that unexpectedly high construction costs could also curb the project.

"I'd recommend going no more than 10 percent over the current estimated assessment," Dresselhouse said. "If it comes to more, we'll start over."

Several people attending the public hearing expressed anger over the fact that participation in the special assessment district is mandatory.

Brian Goodenough of the law firm Foster, Swift, Collins and Smith said that state law allows anybody to select an area for a special assessment district and organize a petition.

Goodenough said that basis or need does not have to be shown to establish a district, just simply the required percentage of signatures.

He also cited a state law that says if you live within 200 feet of a sewer, connection to it is mandatory.

"It brings everyone along for the ride with no option to opt out," Goodenough said.

"It's like paving a road," Dresselhouse said. "If more than 50 percent of the people living on a road want it paved, then the others must go along."

Several people in the audience wanted to know how many additional costs, besides interest payments, would be included and if they would end up paying for the system twice by way of a higher home assessment.

Goodenough said the sewage system could increase the sale value of a home but would not increase a resident's tax assessment.

"This is a public utility," Goodenough said. "It's not like a garage, which is a private, residential improvement."

Dresselhouse said that residents would be responsible for transferring their old sewer pipe from their old system to the grinder pump, removing the existing septic tank and filling the hollow.

He also said that if residents did not have the electrical capacity to handle the connection between the pump and the home, they would be required to make that improvement at their own expense.

Dresselhouse estimated the new system would add approximately $2 to a resident's monthly utility bill.

Questions were also raised as to the reliability of grinder pumps, which work on a pressure principle, as opposed to a gravity system.

Gregg Simon, director of civil engineering for Jones & Henry, said the Cavanaugh Lake area is too low for any alternative and said grinder pumps are more economical.

Simon also said that there have been 1,000 grinder pumps working effectively at the Multi-Lake Sewer Treatment Plant in Lyndon Township since 1995.

Concern was also expressed about power and mechanical failures.

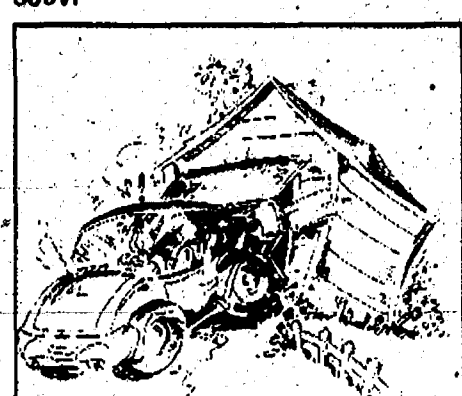

Goodenough said that the multi-lake system has alarms that notify a 24-hour service that there is a mechanical failure and provides generators for use during power outages. He said it's likely Sylvan Township would incorporate something similar.

Dresselhouse noted that the township already owns some generators but said it's too early to decide if more are needed.

"This is the first step of many," Dresselhouse said. "Several other approvals will be needed before we even begin to break ground."

POLICE BLOTTER

Scio Township Family Trouble

Police broke up an argument between a father and daughter March 8 in Scio Farms Estates, 6655 Jackson Road. A neighbor called police after hearing the two arguing in the front yard.

Sheriff's deputies reported that the 20-year-old daughter wanted to take her father's car, but he stopped her because she doesn't have a driver's license. Driving with a Suspended Driver's License

Deputies stopped a 23-year-old Manchester man March 7 near the intersection of Parker and Liberty roads for a defective brake light.

After speaking to the man, officers realized he was driving with a suspended driver's license. He also had two warrants for failing to appear in court for his suspended license.

The man was arrested and taken to the Washtenaw County Jail.

Drunken Driving

A 35-year-old Ann Arbor man was arrested for drunken driving March 9 near the intersection of Jackson Road and April Drive.

Deputies noticed the man while he was driving at a high speed at 2:15 a.m. When he changed lanes, deputies said he sped up and did not use a turn signal. When the man slowed down to make a left turn, deputies heard him skid to a stop.

When deputies stopped the man, they noticed that he looked drunk. Deputies gave the man several sobriety tests. He failed the three tests and was given a Breathalyzer test. His blood-alcohol level was tested at .23 percent. A blood-alcohol level of .10 or higher is considered legally drunk under Michigan law.

A 27-year-old Romulus man was arrested March 9 for drunken driving in the 100 block of North Zeeb Road.

The man attempted to leave his sister's home earlier, but she called the sheriff's department. The woman said her brother took her car keys and was planning to drive away.

When the man left his sister's house near the intersection of Cedar Ridge Drive and Zeeb Road, she thought he was still drunk.

Deputies stopped the man as he was turning onto North Zeeb Road. They could smell a strong odor of alcohol on his breath.

The man was given a Breathalyzer test. His blood-alcohol level was .25 percent. A blood-alcohol level of .10 percent or higher is considered legally drunk under Michigan law.

A 21-year-old Dexter man was arrested for drunken driving March 5 near the intersection of Dexter-Ann Arbor and Miller roads.

A Pinckney woman called police at 3 a.m. after the driver's vehicle skidded through a stop sign and rolled over in a ditch. The woman was following the driver from a nearby bar.

The driver was given a Breathalyzer test and his blood-alcohol level was .20 percent, double the legal limit. A blood-alcohol level of .10 percent or higher is considered legally drunk under Michigan law.

Breaking and Entering

A 42-year-old man called police March 2 after he noticed his basement window was broken.

The man had just returned home from vacation when he noticed muddy footprints leading from the window upstairs to the bedrooms. Damage is estimated at $100.

Dexter Village

Larceny

A radar detector was stolen from a car that was parked in the 4000 block of Inverness Street between 4 p.m. March 7 and 10 a.m. March 8.

Someone smashed the passenger-side window and took a radar detector valued at $200.

Drunken Driving

A 40-year-old Dexter man was arrested for drunken driving March 6 at the intersection of Baker Road and Ann Arbor Street.

Deputies were advised of a driver that matched the suspect's description. The driver has a record of driving with a suspended license.

Deputies found the man's vehicle near a gas station on Grand Street. When the driver pulled away from the gas station, deputies stopped him.

Deputies could smell alcohol on the man's breath. He refused to take a Breathalyzer test and was given a sobriety test, but failed.

At the jail, he was given a Breathalyzer test. His blood-alcohol was .16 percent. A blood-alcohol level of .10 percent or higher is considered legally drunk under Michigan law.

Webster Township

Drunken Driving

A 31-year-old Dexter man was arrested March 8 for drunken driving near the intersection of Huron River Drive and Chamberlain Road.

While on patrol, deputies noticed that the driver didn't come to a complete stop at the intersection of Huron River Drive and North Territorial Road.

Deputies stopped the man at 2:30 a.m. When they spoke to him, they could smell a strong odor of alcohol on his breath.

The man was given a Breathalyzer test and his blood-alcohol level was .15 percent. A blood-level of .10 percent or higher is considered legally drunk under Michigan law. The man was arrested and taken to the Washtenaw County Jail.

Breaking and Entering

A gun was stolen March 4 from a home in the 8900 block of Huron River Drive.

Someone kicked in the side door to the garage and then damaged a door to get into the house. The homeowner was away all day and when he returned at 6 p.m. noticed the damage. He reported a gun missing. The gun is worth approximately $350.

Minor in Possession of Alcohol

An 18-year-old Ann Arbor boy was arrested March 3 for underage drinking. Deputies were initially called at 1:30 a.m. to home in the 6800 block of Ralaric Drive on a noise complaint.

When deputies entered the house, they found several empty beer cans and liquor bottles.

After identifying everyone at the party, deputies arrested the suspect. They gave him a Breathalyzer test. His blood-alcohol level was .11 percent. A blood-alcohol level of .10 percent or higher is considered legally drunk under Michigan law. The teen was taken to the Washtenaw County Jail.

The teen-age girl who was hosting the party was ticketed for supplying the alcohol.

Dexter Township

Drunken Driving

A 39-year-old Pinckney woman was arrested for drunken driving March 8 near the intersection of Dexter Pinckney and McGregor roads.

Deputies noticed the woman driving 58 mph in a 35-mph zone. When deputies stopped the woman at midnight, they could smell alcohol on her breath.

She was given a Breathalyzer test. Her blood-alcohol level was .12 percent. A blood-alcohol level of .10 percent or higher is considered legally drunk under Michigan law. She was taken to the Washtenaw County Jail.

Chelsea Village

Larceny

A coat was stolen March 9 from the Comfort Inn, 1645 Commerce Park Drive.

The owner of the coat last saw it at 5 p.m. He called police at 11:30 p.m. to report it missing. The coat is worth $500. The man's car keys were in the pocket.

Warrant Arrest

A 29-year-old Canton man was arrested on a warrant March 10. The man was driving north on M-52 near Old US-12 when an officer noticed him. The officer could not read the license plate because it was covered in mud.

Grass Lake natives die in murder-suicide

Former Grass Lake residents Duane and Patty Caler were found dead in their Hillsdale County home March 3.

Hillsdale County Sheriff's deputies said Duane Caler, 37, called 911 about 7:30 a.m. March 3 and told the dispatcher he had killed his wife.

When deputies and Jonesville police arrived 10 minutes later, they found the couple's bodies in an apparent murder-suicide. The Calers, whose 12- and 13-year-old sons were staying the weekend in Grass Lake with their grandparents, were natives of the Grass Lake area. Both were graduates of Grass Lake High School.

Duane Caler had worked as a machinist for ADCO Products Co. of Michigan Center since 1997. Patty (Seller) Caler, a nurse at the Hillsdale Community Health Center, had also worked at the Chelsea Retirement Center.

HOME FRONT

Everyone has had that one bad experience somewhere — whether it's a restaurant, a business or elsewhere — and will never go back to that place because of it.

Like everyone else, I've had my share of those experiences.

There are certain restaurants that either I've had a bad experience at — maybe a hair in the food, terrible service or something else that just gives me the creeps.

Of course, there are non-food places that I've been turned off by, too, because of terrible customer service.

In my book, there are only a few rules to customer service: Communication is key and treat people the way you'd want to be treated.

Simple?

Maybe. But for some folks it's not that simple.

It could be that I've caught them at a bad day or time or I was the lucky one after they just got done helping a nasty customer.

I know, I've been there on both sides of the road.

Those who know me well enough know I spend my "free" time working in a local retail establishment that is based on a lot of customer service.

I've worked in retail for several years now, and I think I know what people want.

The same thing I want — communication, care and sometimes a call on the phone if necessary.

Recently, I went back to one of these places that I never wanted to set foot in again.

The result: this time? You'll have to read on to see.

About two years ago my fiancé's car needed to be serviced at a Downriver auto dealership. Being new to the area, I went to the first major dealership that could get the car in.

So amazingly enough, they could get it in the next day — and this is where bells and whistles should have gone off in my head.

I dropped the car off on my way into work the next day. Explaining I was a reporter and needed a car as soon as possible, they assured me that they would let me know the status of the vehicle by the end of the day with a phone call.

The phone call never came. I called them and found out they hadn't looked at the vehicle.

The next day came and went, but this time they could tell me what the problem was, but Friday morning the vehicle would be done. Again, I had to call them.

Friday rolled by with ease, and nope, the car would have to sit there through the weekend until Monday.

By this time, I had called every manager in the place and left voicemail messages — completely irate that I was being brushed off because I was "some chick" who didn't know any better and could be taken advantage of there.

I don't even know what I said I was so angry, but I do know I had my co-workers stopping what they were doing and looking at me.

They promised my car was the first one to be done on Monday (never heard that line before).

Since I thought I might hurt someone if I had to set foot in there, I sent my fiancé to deal with them Monday.

He came back with his car and had talked to a salesman about getting me a new one.

We argued about going back to the place and he practically had to drag me kicking and screaming in there.

While I was there, I'll admit, I acted like a spoiled brat. I was angry with them and in my mind, it wasn't going to be made right. I was doing them a favor by just looking at their cars.

They had already wasted enough of my precious time.

I didn't even perk up until I took a test drive in "the one." I was hooked on the car, but still not the dealership.

As the sale progressed there were minimal problems — the paperwork was written up wrong and when I got in my new car there were french fries in the back seat.

Oops.

Still an unsatisfied customer, but with my fiancé holding my hand, the deal was done.

First thing, I took the license plate holder and sticker off the car that signaled where it was purchased.

I flat out told them I was not the customer who was going to do any free advertising for them.

Afterward, every time I went by the place, I thought of the treatment and about never going back again — until my car needed work done.

I thought about giving them a second chance. As I hesitantly walked into the service area last week, I noticed that the guy I had worked with before wasn't there.

Breathing a sigh of relief, I explained what I thought was wrong with my car and told them about my past experience. They assured me it wouldn't happen again.

In fact, this time I was treated like gold. I told them up front that my biggest pet peeve is a lack of communication and I was kept well informed.

My vehicle was even done sooner than they thought it would be.

My face lit up when the serviceman gave me the keys to my car. We even had a little conversation about customer service and what we each expected.

I'm finally a satisfied customer.

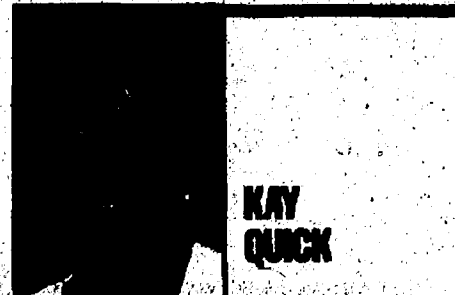

It's all about second chances, I've decided.

Now, if I can only work up enough nerve to go into the florist that did my wedding flowers.

Give me another two years.

We need to teach the younger generation

SN & SYNTAX

In the last week, I have heard "seen" misused three times, always by adults who should certainly have known better.

One occasion was in a bank. I will not mention the bank's name, so that the bank president is not embarrassed. The employee said to me, "I seen you downtown yesterday."

Should such an august personage as a bank president or a CEO read this column, I wish he or she would wander around the facilities and listen to the various employees. If he or she hears a mistake in grammar, send the offending miscreant to me for a lesson or two. I charge very little.

The second occurrence was in a hospital setting. I considered being rude and mentioning the offense, but thought better of it because the very sweet, pretty offender was sedating me for a minor surgery and might have been so overwhelmed by my criticism that she could have carried the sedation too far.

The third time I heard "seen" used for "saw" was in a retail establishment. "I seen it somewhere," said the clerk. I wanted to point out the mistake, but simply don't know how to do so to a presumably responsible adult. I doubt that if I did it, the answer would be, "Oh, thank you for telling me!" More likely it would be, "And just who do you think you are to tell me how to talk?"

What concerns me is that these three people all went to high schools in Michigan.

What I want to know is, don't teachers correct pupils' grammar any more? My husband's primary and secondary education was in Michigan, and I have never heard him make a grammatical error.

I asked him if, in those far off days, teachers ever corrected grammatical mistakes. He assured me that, indeed, they did and not in private, but right there in front of God and everybody. In such a case, the offender would probably attempt to do better to obviate any further embarrassment.

Now, is it because teachers feel that correcting a student in public — or even in private — will injure that self-esteem which has, in this egalitarian climate, become so precious that no action is allowable which might in any way lower it? Heaven help us if we say or do anything to any to make them think that they are less than perfect.

The depressing fact is that the misuse of "seen" for "saw" becomes progressive. The person lacking grammatical knowledge marries (or possibly not, present customs being what they are), has children, and uses "seen" for "saw," which, of course the children also will do. Then they will have children, and their children will have children — well, you can see where this is going.

This misuse starts because the past tense and the past participle of some verbs are not the same. The person who hasn't been corrected at school or at home and who reads little makes the assumption that, for example, because the past tense of walk is walked, and the past participle is also walked, then if the past participle of "see" is "seen" the past tense as well must be "seen."

Of course, I've also heard the past tense of "see," "saw," used as the past participle. "He had saw the girl." That's as bad as the "he had went," which I also hear from time to time. Please, teachers who read this column, give your pupils drills on irregular verbs. And then test them. If necessary, scold them.

Kay Quick, a retired teacher, is a regular columnist for The Guardian, a publication of Heritage Newspapers.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Many support sewers at Cavanaugh Lake

A response to last week's letter by Willadean Miles of Lima Township denouncing attempts to implement sewers at Cavanaugh Lake is in order.

As a member of the Cavanaugh Lake Association and the Cavanaugh Sewer Committee, I can tell you that the writer failed to fully explain the situation and left readers with the impression that the "heartless city dwellers" were kicking the old people around, and nothing is further from the truth.

• First, the law allows any group to petition for the good of the community any improvements such as paved roads or sewers.

• Notice was mailed to all members of the community.

• The petition was signed by more than two-thirds of the homeowners and they represented more than 70 percent of the land mass.

• Petitions were circulated by members of the committee who live at the lake year round and have lived in the community for many years.

• Since January 2001, the Washtenaw County Health Department has incorporated new laws regarding the sale of lakefront homes that have forced homeowners to reconsider sewers. While some homeowners have systems that would pass, many would not pass.

Finally, our lakes are no longer relegated to summer use only. Many cottages are now year-round homes, utilizing systems that are old and endanger the long-term water quality of the lake.

Last week's writer failed to mention that her father lives in Livonia and he stands to see his investment at Cavanaugh Lake grow considerably due to increases in market value of homes with this improvement.

Many of their neighbors overwhelmingly support the efforts that have gone into making this project become reality. The Cavanaugh Sewer Committee thanks those in the community for their support and encouragement.

We need to reduce dependence on oil

At a time when America's dependence on oil is a primary, national security concern, why is the fuel economy of my car based on an outdated standard passed almost 30 years ago?

The time has come for American automakers to stop resisting higher fuel economy standards. Detroit's profits are important, but not as important as the security of this country.

Since automakers are resisting new fuel economy standards, our senators must lead us toward energy independence by supporting legislation sponsored by Sens. Kerry, D-Mass., and Hollings, D-S.C., that will make cars go farther on a gallon of gas.

We need an energy bill that secures our energy future while protecting our precious public lands, including the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge.

By making America's cars and SUVs more fuel efficient, and using more renewable energy like wind and solar power, we can create more jobs and reduce our dependence on oil.

Wildlife group's banquet a success

Feb. 23 marked the 14th annual Washtenaw County Pheasants Forever fund-raising banquet held at the Washtenaw Farm Council grounds, located between Ann Arbor and Saline.

It was the best attended banquet ever held by the organization, with more than 400 tickets sold for the event.

Pheasants Forever appreciates the many local businesses and supporters who provided merchandise and services. The items were offered to banquet attendees in the form of auctions, raffles and door prizes. Money raised will help the group continue to increase wildlife habitat within Washtenaw County.

Nearly all of the money taken in at the annual fund-raiser goes back into the county for wildlife habitat, awareness and education, youth activities, and habitat seed distribution.

The hundreds of hours it takes to provide these services to the community are all given voluntarily. The membership of the Washtenaw County Pheasants Forever organization is a group of very dedicated and committed people.

We would like to thank everyone who attended the banquet and those who supported us in so many ways. We appreciate that when you think habitat, you think of Pheasants Forever.

Skipping a beat

Chelsea youngsters join fight against heart disease

By Sheila Pursglove
Associate Editor

Cardiovascular disease is a killer, but Chelsea children are fighting back armed with skipping ropes.

Pupils at South Meadows and North Creek elementary schools joined thousands of elementary school pupils from across the country to fight heart and stroke disease by participating in the recent Jump Rope for Heart program sponsored by the American Heart Association.

The program helps educate elementary schoolchildren about health, fitness and the value of regular physical activity while raising funds.

Both schools held assemblies to kick off National Heart Month, and watched performances by the Heart Beats, a jump rope team of youngsters from St. Francis of Assisi Catholic School in Ann Arbor.

"I loved watching the North students try to work on some of the new routines that the Heart Beats demonstrated," says Eric Burris, a physical education teacher at North Creek Elementary School.

"Some of the students really challenged themselves with new team-type jumping and had outstanding results."

Burris first got interested in the program while teaching in Pinckney.

When he joined the staff at North Creek five years ago, he brought along his interest in the program to help students give back to loved ones suffering from the preventable disease. He says he is fascinated by the number of pupils who are jumping for someone afflicted with cardiovascular problems.

Last year, while all North Creek pupils jumped rope as a physical activity, 76 youngsters found sponsors and raised more than $5,000. This year, 60 pupils raised $4,300.

Warning signs of a heart attack

- Uncomfortable pressure, fullness, squeezing or pain in the center of the chest that lasts more than a few minutes or goes away and comes back.
- Pain that spreads to the shoulders, neck or arms.
- Chest discomfort with lightheadedness, fainting, sweating, nausea or shortness of breath.

Warning signs for stroke

- Sudden numbness or weakness of the face, arm or legs.
- Sudden confusion, trouble with speaking or understanding.
- Sudden trouble seeing in one or both eyes.
- Sudden trouble walking, dizziness or loss of balance.
- Sudden, severe headache.

"It was down from last year, but still outstanding," Burris says.

Since learning that four minutes of jumping rope equals one mile of running, Burris has increased his own jumping and had his pupils work on a two-minute timed jump.

"This gives any athlete a great cardiovascular workout, as well as adding some variety," he says. "If every person can prescribe themselves 30 minutes of activity a day, the number of heart disease and stroke victims would and could be reduced."

"The activity doesn't have to be all at one time — 10 minutes here and there during the day, and pretty soon you find yourself getting the recommended time and maybe even a little more."

Mike Bareis, a physical education teacher at South Meadows Elementary School, also runs the event. Last year, 35 pupils at South found sponsors and raised $2,000, three or four times more than what was raised in previous years at the school.

This year, 63 pupils raised close to $4,000, with five children raising more than $200 each.

Bareis, who has taught physical education at South Meadows for two years, is a big advocate of the benefits. Every sports team he has coached has jumped rope for cardiovascular training and coordination, as the current freshman boys' basketball team at Chelsea High School can attest.

"Jumping rope gives your cardiovascular system a great workout, as well as helping agility, quickness, timing and hand-eye-foot coordination," Bareis says.

"A big advantage of jumping rope is that kids who aren't into organized sports can still enjoy the activity," he says. "They can jump rope alone or play with double ropes together in a group."

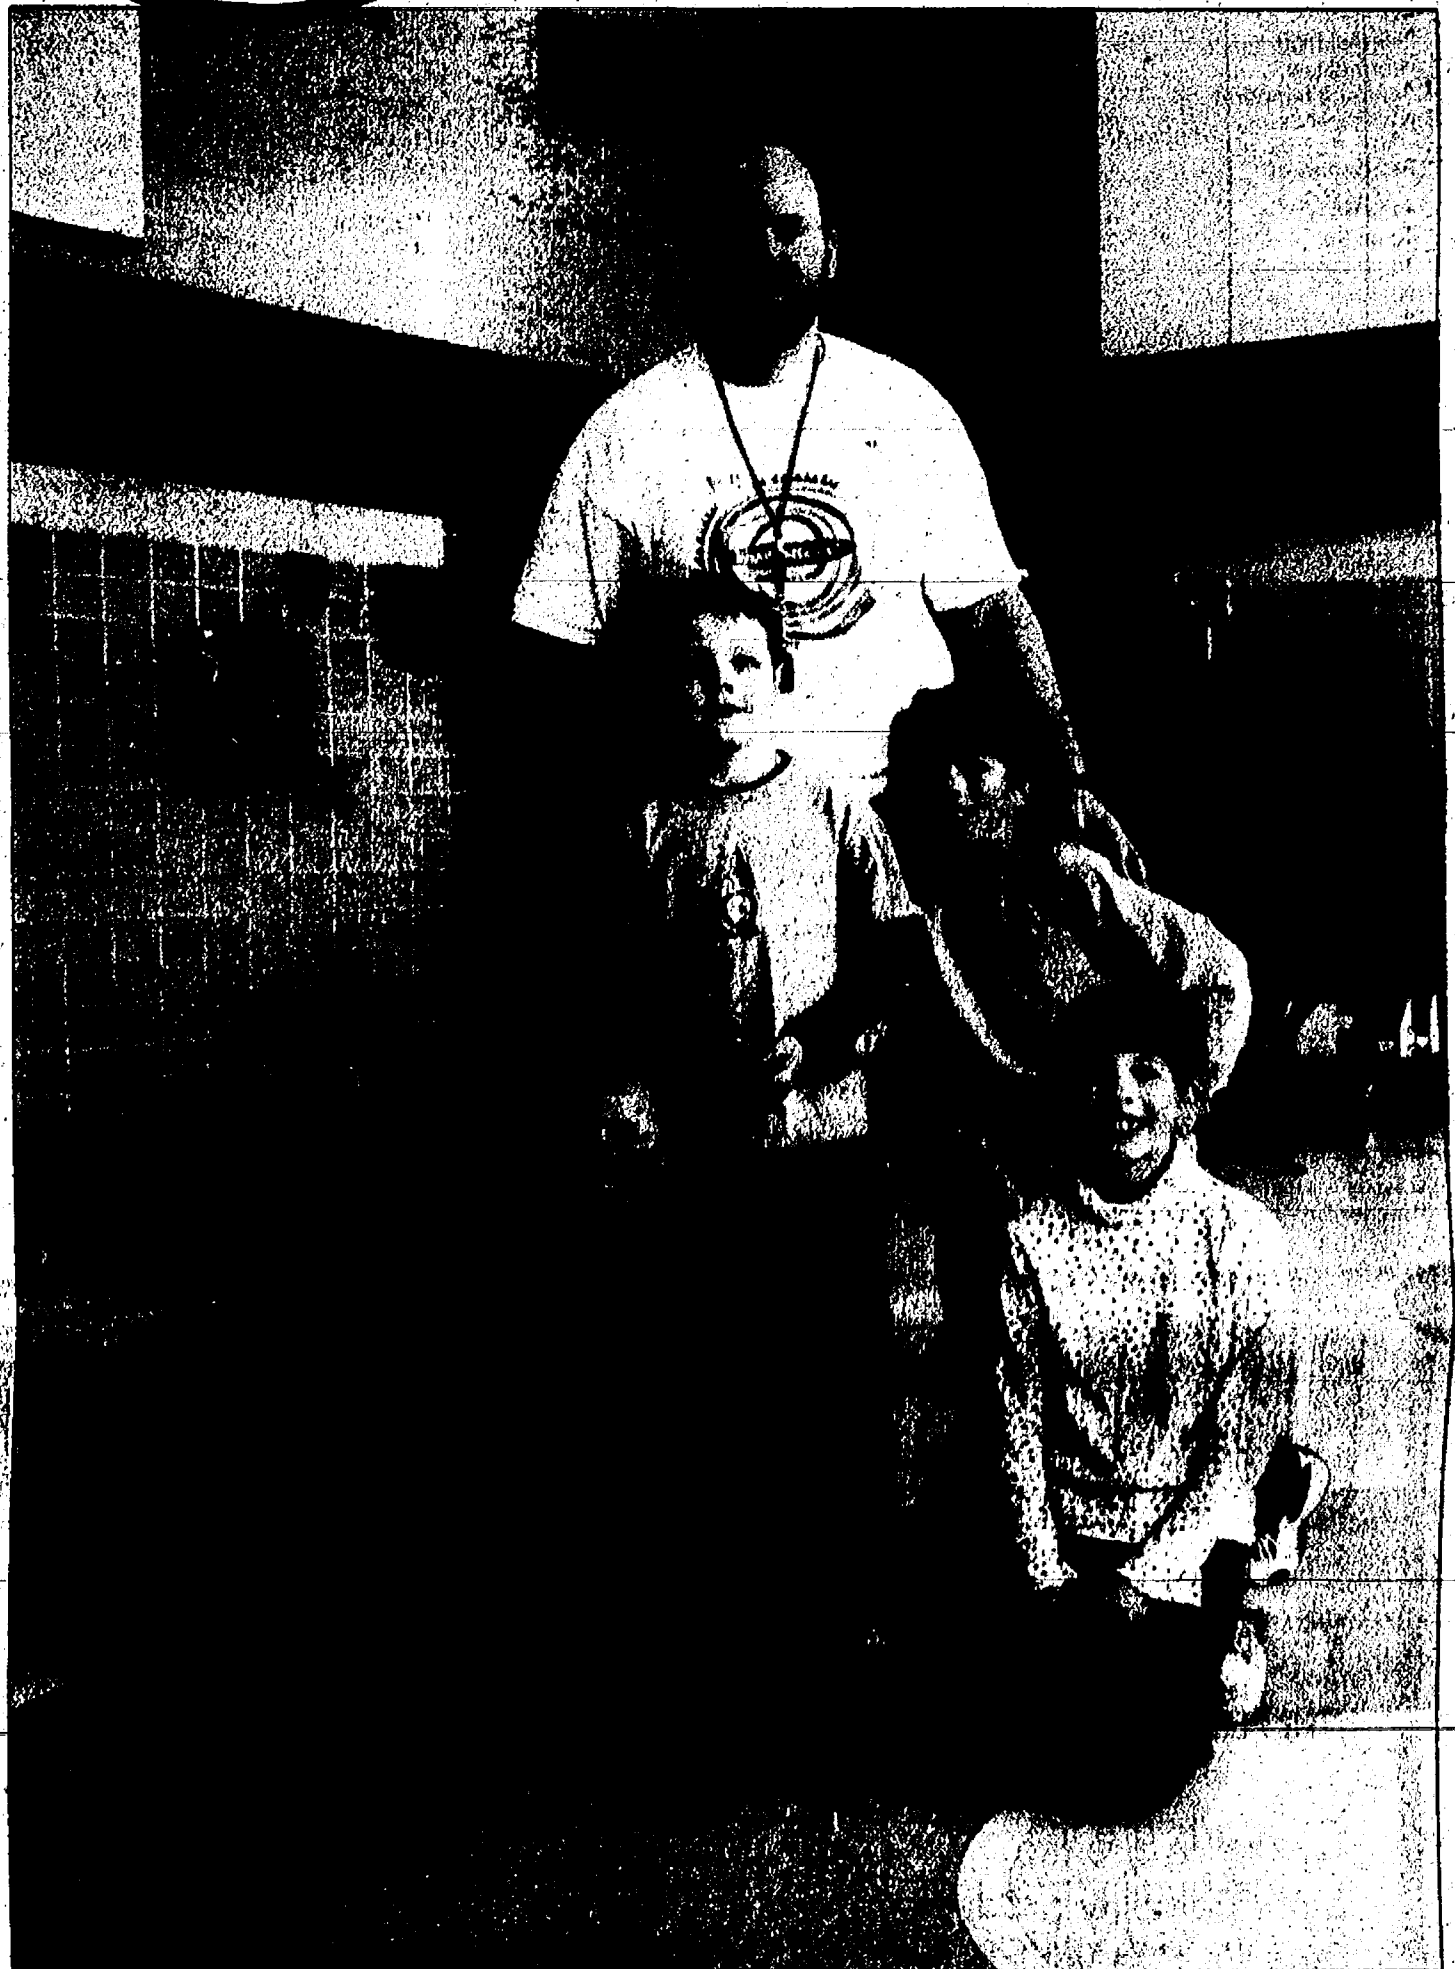

Bareis, who lost grandparents to heart disease, finds his pupils can relate to family members who have had heart problems.

A member of the Chelsea Kiwanis, Bareis believes in giving back to the community and discusses community service and volunteerism with the youngsters.

Both Bareis and Burris are struck by how pupils continued their interest in jumping rope.

"The skipping ropes hanging on my door at school disappear every recess," Bareis says. "It's another avenue of fitness and I'm very pleased to see the kids choosing it."

Local woman collects bells from around the world

By Rita Fischer
Special Writer

When local resident Mary Cook, 90, wants to remember her trip to Ireland several years ago, she just rings a little shamrock bell.

It's one of many bells that she has in a huge collection that spans two decades. She has no idea exactly how many there are, but estimates the number is more than 100.

"I can't always recall who gave me which ones (because) there are so many of them," she says.

The native of Nova Scotia moved to Michigan as a child when her father got a job with General Motors Corp. Before moving to Chelsea 18 months ago, she lived on the same street in Madison Heights for 30 years.

She now calls The Pines retirement community in Chelsea home after being widowed and deciding to move closer to her family in Grass Lake.

"I didn't want to be alone," Cook says. "When I moved here, I met new friends."

Her collection of bells began 20 years ago, when she and her husband, Harvey, were in Frankenmuth and Cook fell in love with two crystal bells in a store.

"I couldn't make up my mind which one I wanted, so my husband bought both of them for me," she says. "My friend thought I was silly when my Harvey pampered me, buying both of those bells."

Over the years, the collection has taken on a life of its own, growing to the point that Cook has found it a mammoth undertaking to keep all of the bells clean.

"It's a lot of work to wash them all," she says. "I never meant to have such a collection of them; it just happened."

Cook's family and friends were never at a loss for a gift. She received bells for her birthday and Christmas, for Mother's Day and just about every other celebration.

Her five children chipped in and bought her a light blue Wedgwood bell from England. Her other favorites include a bell from Brazil, one from Washington, D.C., and the shamrock bell from the Emerald Isle.

Her friend, Kitty Huber, another resident of The Pines, inadvertently added to the collection.

"Mary took care of my bird while I went away for a couple of days," Huber says. "I gave her a bell from Arizona as a thank you."

"I had no idea she collected bells. I was amazed at the amount of bells she has."

While Cook had stopped actively collecting bells by then, simply because she ran out of room to store and display them, Huber's gift — made of clay pottery and painted in the western colors of

It's a lot of work to wash them all. I never meant to have such a collection of them. It just happened.

FIVE WAYS TO DIE ON THE GOLF COURSE:

Surprisingly one million new cases of skin cancer are detected every year. One person an hour in the U.S. dies from melanoma, the deadliest form of skin cancer. If you spend a lot of time in the sun, you should protect yourself. One out of five Americans develops skin cancer during their lifetime. Don't be one of them. Stay out of the midday sun. Cover up. Wear a hat. Seek shade. And use sunscreen. For more information on how to protect yourself from skin cancer, call 1-888-482-DEBRA or visit www.aad.org.

WEDDINGS

Bradbury, Anderson marry

Faye Andrea Bradbury and Paul Houston Anderson were married Sept. 1 at The Pendleton Room at the Michigan Union in Ann Arbor. The Rev. Kenneth Spitzer officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Nancy Newton Bradbury of Lakeside, Calif., and Roger Bradbury of San Diego, Calif. The bridegroom is the son of Charlotte and Albert Anderson of Chelsea.

The maid of honor was Jill Bradbury of Rochester, N.Y. The best man was Michael Anderson, III, of Muskegon, Wis.

Laura Newton of Plattsmouth, Neb., was the flower girl and Albert Anderson IV of Muskegon, Wis., was the ring bearer.

The ushers were Jillian Downey of Ann Arbor, Michael O'Neill of Washington, D.C., Patrick Rady of Ann Arbor, Michael Selwa of Oconomowoc, Wis., and Jennifer Shauver of Chicago.

Becky Steider of Ann Arbor and Marcus Williams of Ann Arbor.

The reception was held at the Michigan Union in Ann Arbor. The couple honeymooned in Saugatuck. They reside in Ann Arbor.

The bride is a 1987 graduate of Lutheran High School in San Diego. She earned a bachelor's degree in chemistry and biology from the University of California at Irvine in 1993, and a doctorate in biological chemistry from the University of Michigan in 2000. She is a researcher at Pfizer.

The bridegroom is a 1981 graduate of Chelsea High School. He earned a bachelor's degree in computer engineering in 1988 and a master's degree in computer engineering in 1989, both from the University of Michigan. He is vice president of development at Public Data Queries.

Clinton, Munson tie the knot

Martha Jane Clinton, daughter of Joe and Jane Clinton of Troy, and Gregory Robert Munson, son of Roger and Linda Munson of Dexter, were married July 21 at St. Thomas More Catholic Church in Troy. The Rev. Edward Belczak officiated.

The maid of honor was the bride's sister, Kelly Clinton, of Troy. The bridesmaids were Nikki Fancy of Troy, Jessica Woodison of Atlanta, Jill Skodack of South Lyon, and Daniele Bochenek of Woodhaven.

The groom's brother, Nathan Munson of Dexter, was the best man. The ushers were Michael Clinton of Troy, Steve Waltz of Dexter, and Jim Carey of Dexter.

The reception was held at St. Nicholas reception hall in Troy. The couple honeymooned on a cruise in the western Caribbean. They reside in Dexter.

The bride is a 1995 graduate of Troy High School and a 1999 graduate of Western Michigan University. She is a fourth-grade teacher at Brick Elementary School in Lincoln Consolidated Schools.

The groom is a 1992 graduate of Dexter High School and a 1996 graduate of Western Michigan University. He is employed at Munson Electric.

Wheeler served on Olympics task force

Army National Guard Pvt. Deanna Wheeler was among more than 5,000 active duty and reserve U.S. Armed Forces troops last month who served as a member of Joint Task Force-Olympics in Salt Lake City.

Soldiers, airmen, sailors, Marines and coast guardsmen helped to support the 2002 Winter Olympic Games. The trained and ready forces provided routine support in areas of aviation, communications, explosive ordnance detection and disposal, physical security, and temporary facilities.

The task force also provided command and control, coordination, and integration of Department of defense units, resources, and assets specifically engaged in support of the games.

The joint task force employed medical evacuation and command and control helicopters, communications, security forces and canine support.

Wheeler, the daughter of Kenneth Miley of Scio Township and Barbara Miley of Owens Cross Roads, Ala., is assigned to the 441st Ordnance Battalion in Huntsville, Ala. She is a 1992 graduate of Stone School in Ann Arbor.

Wiechman to tour with Symphonette

Rebecca Wiechman, a senior at Hope College, will perform with a touring musical group from the college during spring break through March 24.

Wiechman, a 1998 Dexter High School graduate, is the daughter of William and Candy Wiechman of Whitmore Lake. She will tour with the Symphonette in Florida and Georgia.

The 41-member group is selected each year from the larger college symphony orchestra. The annual tour has taken the Symphonette from coast to coast in the United States, two Canadian provinces, the British Isles, Europe, Australia and New Zealand.

Kiwanis club hosts annual Scout Night

The Chelsea Kiwanis Club hosted its annual Scout Night Feb. 25 at Chelsea Community Hospital.

Representatives from Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts enjoyed dinner as guests of the club in celebration of the Kiwanis' sponsorship of Scouting activities.

Chelsea Kiwanis Club is the long-standing official sponsor for two Boy Scout troops and three Cub Scout packs, which are based at the three elementary schools in Chelsea.

Those Scouts were represented by leaders Dave Booth, Scoutmaster of Troop 425; Tom Turek, Scoutmaster of Troop 476; Randy Forsch of Pack 435 at North Creek Elementary School; Mike Kennings of Pack 445 at Pierce Lake Elementary School; and Steve Olson of Pack 455 at South Meadows Elementary School.

James McClelland, district director of the Great Sauk Trail Council in Ann Arbor, joined the group.

The Kiwanis Club also sponsors the newly formed Venture Crew, a youth development program for young men and women ages 14 to 20. The co-ed Scouting opportunity has been launched in Chelsea through the efforts of Unit Commissioner Lloyd Hafner and Crew Adviser Jeff Cowall. They were joined at the meeting by Council Chair Cady Conrad.

Hafner helped with the dinner program, which included the Scouts' presentation of their charters to Gary Maveal, president of Chelsea Kiwanis Club.

The Scouts also reported on a Winter Court of Honor for Troop 425, as well as Eagle Scout projects for Andrew Tomaka of Troop 425 and Aaron Turek of Troop 476.

Chelsea Girl Scouts were also represented at the dinner program. Nancy Neff, service unit manager for Chelsea, joined adult leaders Chris Frayer of Senior Girl Scouts, and Lynn Booth and Sally Wolf of Cadets. The Girl Scouts reported on the March 11 celebration of the 90th anniversary of Girl Scouts in the United States.

The evening concluded with the Kiwanis presenting donations to all of the Scouting groups present to continue their efforts with Chelsea youth.

Art presentation on tap for Saturday

The Chelsea Center for the Development of the Arts, in collaboration with River Gallery, will present a free lecture and presentation by Norm Stewart 3 p.m. Saturday. The center is located at 400 Congdon St., in Chelsea.

Stewart, who will discuss the process of collaborative screen-printing, has taught printmaking at the University of Michigan School of Art, Wayne State University and Cranbrook Academy of Art.

Following the presentation at the center, the group will move two blocks to River Gallery, 121 S. Main St., in Chelsea for refreshments and a tour of an exhibition of screenprints.

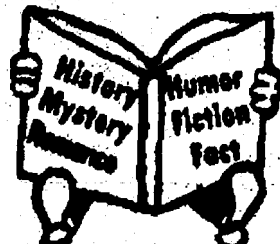

Lecture seating is limited to the first 50 people to register. Call River Gallery at 433-0826 for information and to register.

Arizona — took its place among the rest.

Four special bells are ceramic ones made by her daughter-in-law, Peggy Cook, who lives in Tennessee.

"Handmade with love, as she is a very loving person," Cook says.

After Cook's husband retired from a 39-year career with GM, the couple traveled throughout the United States and Canada.

Harvey also built his wife a bookcase — a piece of furniture that has never seen a single book because it was taken over by the bells.

"I knew that he was building that bookcase for me," Cook says. "One cannot know when something that big is being built."

"Everyone looks at the bells. They're hard to miss."

Woman's Club to meet March 26

Sue Williams of the Washtenaw County chapter of the American Red Cross was guest speaker at the Chelsea Woman's Club meeting Feb. 28.

The meeting, with 15 members and one guest present, was held at The Pines, 325 Wilkinson St., in Chelsea.

Williams demonstrated the automated external defibrillation machine, which the Red Cross is promoting for use in retirement and nursing homes, as well as businesses and wellness centers. It also will be available for home use, with a prescription from a physician.

While the machine does not replace the use of CPR, it should be used after an emergency 911 call has been placed and before help arrives, Williams said.

Williams said the machine can't be used incorrectly. It monitors the heart's electric impulses and will only give a shock if necessary.

The machine was used in Washtenaw County last June to save a young man's life.

In other business, committee reports were read and a slate of new officers was presented. The new officers are President Cheryl Schoenberg, Vice President Marilyn Haug, Secretary Linda Starr, Treasurer Betty Oesterle and Parliamentarian Jinny Johnson.

Johnson introduced her guest,

Nancy Storm. Carole vanReesema has rejoined the club. Betty Oesterle and Linda Starr were hostesses for the meeting.

The March 26 meeting will feature guest speaker Maggie Roberts, who will give a presentation on "Chasing the Blues," a program to help seniors who are struggling with depression.

Pride of Lions

Club to hold silver anniversary in April

By Sheila Pursglove
Associate Editor

Members of the Chelsea Lions Club will gather at a banquet April 20 to celebrate a quarter of a century together.

The event will be held at Chelsea Community Hospital. Members past and present are expected to join in the celebration.

Don Kvarnberg, one of the club's four charter members — the others are Fred Mills, David Scriven and Herb Pearson — has been enjoying Florida sunshine but will be home in time to celebrate.

Kvarnberg and his wife, Carol, moved to Chelsea from their native Muskegon in 1986. He worked as an engineer at the Chrysler Proving Grounds, now DaimlerChrysler AG, for more than three decades.

Kvarnberg said he joined Lions International because of its commitment to service to the community and to all human-kind.

"The most satisfying part of being a member of the Lions," Kvarnberg said, "is to see the gratification on the faces of people you have helped — new glasses for a child at St. Louis school, putting a new roof on a home of an elderly lady, giving a white cane to an elderly man so that he can get around through town."

Kvarnberg said the annual Senior Citizens Prom has been an event he looks forward to every year. He especially enjoys decorating Beach Middle School and taking pictures of the attendees. This year will be the club's 18th year of sponsoring the event.

Kvarnberg said some of the club's most successful projects include the dunk tank at the annual Chelsea Community Fair, the haunted house in October, Christmas candy sales, white cane sales, and Christmas in April projects.

"Some of our not so successful ones have been the corn roast at the fair, selling pumpkins and selling light bulbs," he said. "Unfortunately, our most successful money making project, the haunted house, has been abandoned because of difficulty in finding a place to hold it."

The Lions club is taking on another project during its silver anniversary month. On April 13, members will work with the village to erect a pavilion at Timbertown on Sibley Road and hope to build, landscape and provide tables for the project.

Kvarnberg took on the job of secretary of the Chelsea Lions Club in 1983. In 1986, he also took over the responsibilities of treasurer. He resigned both posts in July 1999 when he retired from DaimlerChrysler.

He has been honored as Lion of the Year three times, and received the Melvin Jones Fellowship award and 100 Percent Secretary award.

The Kvarnbergs enjoy spending winters in Venice, Fla., and returning to Chelsea for the summer.

"Unfortunately, this does not permit me to be as active in the Lions Club as I would like, but it's a heck of a lot better than shoveling snow," Kvarnberg said.

In retirement, he enjoys photography, golf, gardening, swimming and taking cruises. He and his wife, married for 42 years, have six grandchildren with a seventh expected next month.

"I'm looking forward to seeing all of the club members, especially those who have moved away, such as our founding president, Tom Dmoch," Kvarnberg said.

Reservations for the Lions Club silver anniversary dinner are due by April 10. The cost is $25, payable at the door.

For information and reservations, contact Chuck Armstrong at 475-8224 or by e-mail at cjamr@juno.com

For information about the Timbertown playground project or to make a financial contribution, contact Keith Bloomsaat at 475-2734.

Members of the Chelsea Lions Club will celebrate the club's 25th anniversary next month. Members carry out many community projects, including wrapping Christmas gifts at Faith In Action. Bulldog Madness

Chelsea volleyball captures first ever regional championship

By Don Richter

Staff Writer

It's official.

Chelsea volleyball has taken flight aboard the March Madness express.

The Bulldogs have hitched a ride on the Madness magic carpet and find themselves one win away from soaring to the Class B state volleyball finals.

Last Saturday at Brooklyn Columbia Central, Chelsea defeated Coldwater 12-15, 15-8, 15-13 to capture its first regional championship.

To reach the final, the Bulldogs bested Corunna 15-11, 15-4 in the regional semifinals.

"Our serve reception was one of the biggest keys to our success," said Chelsea coach Laura Cleveland. "When our efficiency is high, we are able to side out good teams and score successfully."

Against the Cardinals in the championship match, the Bulldogs' efficiency was at its highest, especially when it counted most.

Down 9-1 in the third and final game and facing elimination, Chelsea dug down deep, refusing to lose.

"That was the best comeback I have seen and been a part of," said Cleveland, a former player at Alma College. "The team was not playing poorly, but Coldwater just kept siding us out."

Despite being six points away from a season-ending loss, the Bulldogs remained poised.

Chelsea began its comeback with four consecutive points.

The rally closed the Coldwater lead to 9-5. It also forced the Cardinals to do something it hadn't done all regional, and that was blink.

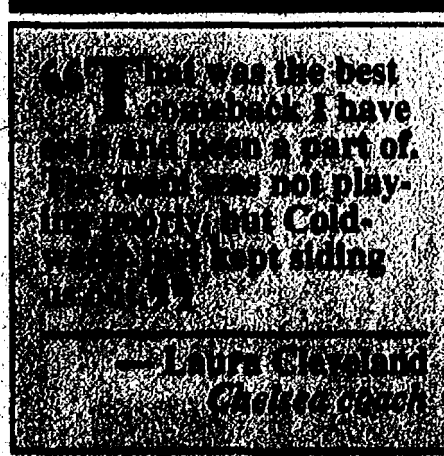

"You could feel a momentum switch occurring as the team grew with confidence on each point they won," Cleveland said.

With Coldwater starting to feel the heat, the Bulldogs continued to attack, going on a 6-2 run to tie the game at 11-11.

With strong serving and hitting, Chelsea had the Cardinals on the ropes, pushing the score to 14-11, one point away from a regional crown.

Coldwater, however, battled back.

able to side the (Cardinals) out and score the next point for the regional title," Cleveland said. Cleveland said her squad's come-from-behind victory didn't surprise her.

"All season long, this team has never ruled themselves out of a match," she said. "They have always worked hard to play point by point."

"That was very evident against Coldwater. We've played a lot of three-game matches in tournaments and that experience really paid off for the team."

Cleveland said ball distribution was a key for Chelsea.

"We were able to get a lot of production from our outside hitters and middle hitters," she said.

Sophomore Lindsay Tye paced the Bulldogs with 22 kills and 22 digs.

kills. Junior Karri Kuczjda finished with eight kills, while senior Connie Kolokithas recorded 13 digs.

Junior setter Courtney Bentley led Chelsea with 52 assists and also posted 13 digs.

"Courtney set a great game and was placing the ball accurately for our hitters," Cleveland said. "She also had some well placed serves that led to some key runs for the team."

Besides Bentley's strong setting, Cleveland said seniors Audrey Richardson and Meghan Tandy, along with Arend and Tye, did an excellent job in serve reception throughout the regional contest.

"I am extremely proud of this

Six Chelsea grapplers place at state finals

By Don Richter

Staff Writer

Chelsea wrestling was well represented this past weekend at the Michigan High School Athletic Association's state finals at The Palace of Auburn Hills.

The Bulldogs sent six wrestlers to the Division II finals, with all six placing in the top eight.

At the state meet, only the best 16 wrestlers in each weight class advance to the finals. Only the top eight receive medals.

Chelsea placed three grapplers in the state semifinals, led by junior Randy Ostrowski, who finished third overall at 130 pounds.

Ostrowski (44-11) went 4-1 at the finals, losing only to eventual state runner-up David Schlaud (57-7), a junior from Lapeer West.

Dexter junior Jeff Marsh (44-2) captured the overall championship.

Ostrowski defeated Erik Gray (36-13), a senior from Wyandotte Roosevelt, on a 15-3 technical fall in his first match. In his second match, Ostrowski beat previously undefeated William O'Neal (54-2), a junior from Gaylord, 11-7.

In the semifinals, Ostrowski lost to Schlaud on an 11-2 decision.

In the consolation round, Ostrowski beat Brandon Kakos (32-10), a senior from Birmingham Groves, 8-1. In the third/fourth-place match, Ostrowski defeated Joe Bulldog junior Randy Ostrowski (top) finished third at last weekend's Division II state finals in the 130-pound weight class.

Stevens (43-7), a junior from Mason, on an injury default.

"I did better than I thought I would," said Ostrowski, participating in his first state finals. "My goal was to place in the top four, and I did."

Chelsea coach Kerry Kargel, who earlier in the season, thought of moving Ostrowski from 130 to 135 pounds, said he was proud of his junior grappler. "I thought Randy could make it to state," he said. "We thought of moving him to 135 because 130 was so tough. But Randy was out to win. He was aggressive. He wasn't going to lay down for anyone. He made things happen."

Also making things happen was Bulldog senior Eric Lixey, who finished fourth at 189 pounds. "I was pretty disappointed with my semifinal match," he said. "I couldn't get anything going."

In the semifinals, Lixey (45-6) lost to Greenville senior David Kohn (49-4), on a 7-5 decision. Kohn ended up as state runner-up.

"I needed to settle down," he said of his semifinal match. "I needed to be smarter. I kind of panicked."

Kargel said he felt Lixey should have made it to the finals. "He got conservative (against Kohn)," Kargel said. "He wasn't aggressive. He had an early lead, and then backed off."

In Lixey's opening match, he beat Fenton junior Mike Smith (38-7) on a 16-0 technical fall. Lixey followed that match with a pin in 3:04 against Scott Evans (44-7), a senior from West Branch Ogemaw Heights.

After his semifinal loss to Kohn, Lixey decided on Matt Erb (52-7), a senior from Middleville Thornapple Kelllogg, 12-2 in the consolation round. In the third/fourth-place match, Lixey lost to Eaton Rapids senior John Dickerson (51-1) on a 4-1 decision.

Despite his fourth-place finish, Lixey, a three-time state qualifier, said wrestling has taught him an important lesson. "The biggest thing I've learned, is that you have to believe in yourself," he said. "You think it's (state meet) unattainable and hard. But once you accomplish it, you want to do it again."

Also placing fourth overall, was Chelsea junior Adam Egeler at 160 pounds. Egeler (31-7) defeated J.J.

Wilder (37-7), a junior from Lowell, in his first match 13-7. In his second match, Egeler bested Clio senior Kyle Brotherton, 6-0. In the semifinals, Egeler lost to eventual state runner-up Brandon Sinnott (46-3), a junior from Allen Park, on a 10-4 decision.

In the consolation round, Egeler defeated Center Line senior Ryan Black (42-11) on a 14-3 decision. In the third/fourth-place match, Egeler

Chelsea tankers ninth

Chelsea's boys' swimming and diving team concluded its season this past weekend with a ninth-place finish at the Class B-C-D state championship at Eastern Michigan University's Jones Natatorium.

Each year, the state's top swimmers and divers converge on EMU to prove who's best in Michigan. This season's final witnessed some unbelievable performances.

Alma captured the meet with 211 points. Milan finished second with 182.5 points. County rival Dexter was third with 154 points, while Plainwell had 126 points and Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook-Kingswood had 92 points to round out the top five. Chelsea finished up with 67 points.

After graduating six seniors from last year's squad, including double state champion and Class B-C-D Swimmer of the Year Andy Haek — now at the University of Michigan — no one gave the Bulldogs much of a chance to compete for a state title. But, compete they did, placing in three individual events and all three relays.

"This team in many ways was more gratifying than last year's squad," said Chelsea coach Dave Jolly. "Only one of these guys had ever placed individually at the state meet and two others had been on relays."

"The time drops that we experienced throughout the season were nothing less than incredible."

The state finals began with Zack Christman, Matt Holmes, Tim Wacker and Andy Kellogg

Bulldog cagers win district

By Don Richter

Staff Writer

Chelsea basketball defeated Milan 52-31 last Friday night, on a three-pointer from the top of the key by junior forward Paul Newhouse with 13 seconds left in the game.

The big-time, district-title-clinching basket brought the Bulldog faithful to their feet, and the Big Red fans to their seats.

"We played so well," said Chelsea coach Robin Raymond. "It was a huge game in a great atmosphere."

The contest, at Milan (19-4), was a wild affair from start to finish.

The Bulldogs (12-11), on a seven-game win streak, jumped out to a 12-4 early first quarter lead.

"That was important," Raymond said. "It set the tempo for the game."

The Big Reds, ranked No. 10 in Class B, regrouped and closed to within two points, at 12-10, as the first quarter came to an end.

In the second frame, Chelsea increased its advantage to 22-18 as both teams headed for the locker room.

By the start of the fourth quarter, the Bulldogs led 41-35.

Milan tied the score with 1:30 remaining. The Big Reds caught Chelsea flatfooted and scored on a backdoor slam dunk to make it 47-47.

With the Big Red crowd in an uproar, Raymond said it was up to his squad to respond. Momentum was definitely on and score, giving Chelsea a slim 49-47 advantage.

After a Big Red bucket tied the game at 49-49, Milan senior all-everything guard Aaron White (5-10) nailed an outside jumper, giving the Big Reds their first lead of the game at 51-49, with 47 seconds left on the clock.

With time winding down, the Bulldogs again attempted to go inside, but Milan collapsed defensively, shutting down the lane. With the Big Reds concentrating on stopping the inside pass, they ended up neglecting the outside zone.

With one flick of the wrist, Newhouse made Milan pay for its negligence, stroking the game-winning triple.

After the shot was made, the Big Reds called timeout to set up their final play.

With the seconds ticking away, Milan spread the floor for White. The speedy guard missed an outside jumper as time expired.

Newhouse, guarding White, used his 6-5 reach to contest the shot.

On the night, the high-scoring White, averaging 22 points a game, was held to nine points.

Cheer eighth at regional

By Don Richter
Staff Writer

The Chelsea competitive cheer team finished eighth at this year's Class B regional meet at Onsted Feb. 23.

The 18-member squad had a strong season, besting last year's top score in its first meet.

"The team did very well this year," said Chelsea coach Dianne Smith. "Beating all scores from last year's competitions at the first (meet) of the year was a team goal."

Despite its youth, the Bulldogs represented their school well, said Smith.

"This team was very young and inexperienced. (We) had five freshmen and four sophomores that had never cheered competitively before," she said. "They increased their skill level throughout the season."

Chelsea, in its second year as a varsity program, began the season with a second-place finish at Temperance Bedford Dec. 15.

The Dawgs next placed sixth at Leslie, followed by a 13th-place finish at Grosse Ile and a third-place standing at its own Chelsea Invite Jan. 29.

On Feb. 2, the Bulldogs ended up eighth at Allen Park, followed by a 13th-place finish at Livonia Ladywood and a sixth-place marking at Ida to close out the regular season Feb. 18.

Smith said the strength of this season's squad was its eight upperclassmen.

"(They) were integral to the team's success this year," she said. "The returning co-captains, Jessica Smith and Amanda Titus, showed strong leadership skills and had impressive performances on the floor during all rounds of each competition."

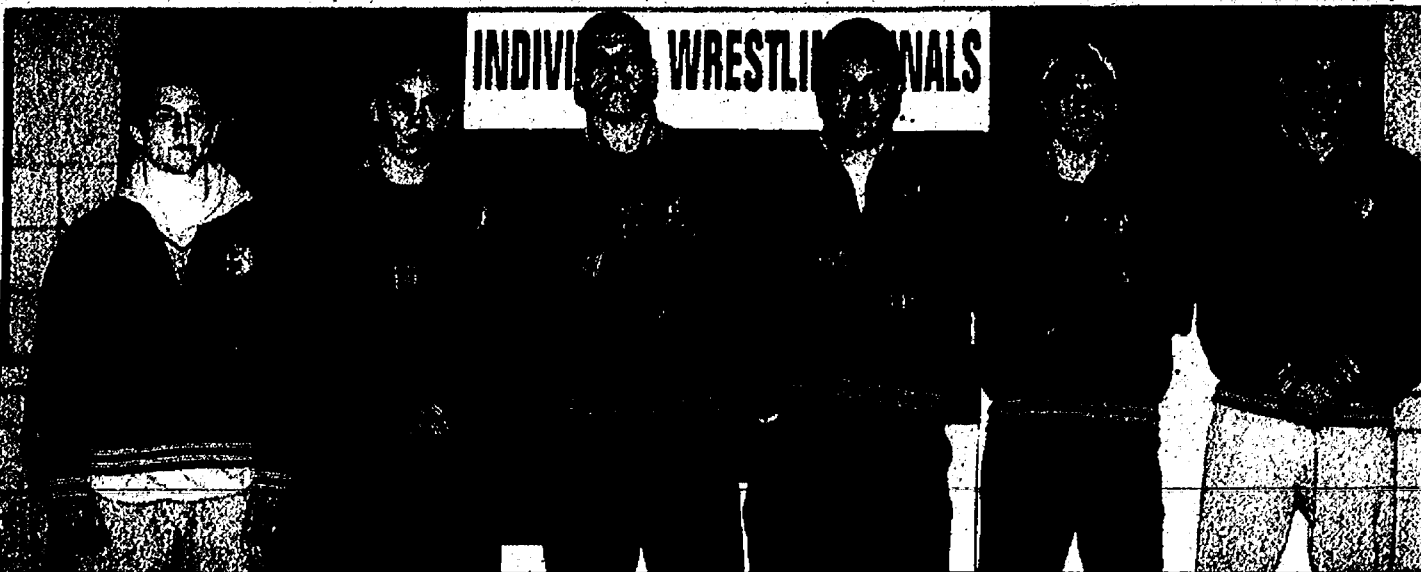

Earning their first varsity letter this year for the Bulldogs were freshmen Andrea Ball, Nicole Strader, Clarra Marquina, Samantha Bogdanski, Marissa Guysky and sophomores Kathy Everett, Tara VanRiper, Ashley Gadbury, Meghan Reames and Theresa Guysky.

Receiving second-year awards for Chelsea were sophomores Stephanie Dent and Kathryn Titus, juniors Carla Hashley and Susan Barkman and senior Grace Rapai.

Presented with a third-year award were seniors Jessica Irish and Amanda Titus.

Smith earned a fourth-year award, Irish was named team MVP, Everett was named Most Improved, and Smith, for the second year in a row, earned All-Regional honors.

Chelsea wrestling sent six grapplers to the state finals. All six placed in the top eight. Members of the Bulldogs squad include Randy Ostrowski (left), Adam Egeler, Jared Powers, Ross Davis, Darl Bauer and Eric Lixey.

lost to Brotherton on an 8-3 decision.

"I didn't wrestle as well as I thought I would," said Egeler, competing in his first state meet. "I'm going to work a lot harder next year."

Kargel said placing in the top four is pretty good.

"For his first time at states, he did well," he said. "I felt he was ready to wrestle. He was aggressive."

The Bulldogs' third fourth-place finisher was junior Darl Bauer at 171 pounds.

In his opening match, Bauer (42-8) lost to Adrian senior Lucas Vanetten (41-9) on a 6-5 decision.

"If he would have won that first match, he might have won a state championship," Kargel said. "To his credit though, he came back and won four in a row (all pins). That's hard to do."

After his opening match loss, Bauer pinned Rob McCullough (38-23), a senior from Swartz Creek, in 4:07. In his third match, Bauer pinned Jason Graham (27-9), a sophomore from Center Line, in 2:05. In match No. 4, Bauer pinned DeWitt junior James Braska (38-11) in 1:16. In his fifth match, Bauer exacted a bit of revenge on Vanetten, pinning him in 4:52.

In the third/fourth-place match, Bauer lost to Matt Ulrey (42-1), a senior from Orchard Lake St. Mary's, 8-7.

"Going in I expected to be in the finals," said Bauer, who finished fourth last year at 171. "I handed it (first match) to him (Vanetten). If I would have won that first match, I would have been in the finals."

Placing fifth for Chelsea was senior Jared Powers at 215 pounds.

Powers (32-3) began the tournament, pinning Ben Borgie (37-13), a senior from Wayland, in 2:27. In his second match, Powers lost to Birmingham Seaholm senior Pete Bozynski (44-4) on an 11-5 decision. In his third match, Powers pinned Mason junior Kody Jackson (32-9) in 3:54.

In match No. 4, Powers decided Ferndale junior Steve Berry (38-7), 4-0. In his fifth match, Powers lost to Ludington junior Phil Gable (53-6) on a 7-3 decision.

In the fifth/sixth-place match, Powers beat Bozynski on a 6-3 decision.

Powers, who missed last year's finals, losing 3-2 with one second left in regionals, said making the state meet as a senior meant a lot to him.

"Only 16 wrestlers make the state finals and to place in the top eight is pretty awesome," he said.

Powers felt he could have placed higher.

"The guy who won the state title (Ryan Huebner, senior from Stevensville Lakeshore, 44-3), I beat 18-3 in the regional finals. I was a little disappointed (not making finals)."

Kargel was, too.

"I thought he could have made it to the final," he said.

Despite not winning a state championship, Powers, injured for a portion of the season, said it was a memorable year.

"I'm real happy," he said. "I thought I did well. It was a good experience."

Finishing eighth overall for the Bulldogs was junior heavy-weight Ross Davis.

Davis, who didn't even make it to districts last season, said he'd always remember his first state final.

"I'm pretty happy with my top eight finish," he said. "I could have wrestled better in some situations, but I'm still happy."

"It was all pretty exciting. I placed at states my first year. All the training and hard work paid off. I'm ready to go for next year."

leading the way for the Bulldogs with an eighth-place finish in the 200-medley relay. The four-some combined for a season best performance of 1:43.53.

Lining up for Chelsea in the meet's next event – the 200 individual medley – was Christman. The senior tanker was somewhat of an unknown heading into this season. He had competed in the 50 freestyle at last year's state championship, but did not place. He also was a member of Chelsea's varsity record-setting 200 freestyle relay, which was All-State.

Christman ended the year as one of the state's best. He finished seventh in the 200 IM, winning the consolation finals of the event with a time of 2:02.71.

"What made this (performance) so special, was the fact that he was 2:17.49 last year at this time," Jolly said. "What a difference a year makes."

Bulldog freshman Kellogg ended up in 17th place in the event, with a season best time of 2:07.75. Wacker, a junior, finished in 22nd place at 2:11.71.

Junior Jake Holton was the next competitor for Chelsea. "He has greatly improved from a year ago," Jolly said.

Holton won the consolation heat of the 50 freestyle, an event he placed 17th in a year ago. His time of 21.74 was just shy of the varsity record and good for seventh place, but left much anticipation for next season, Jolly said.

Holton also participated in the 100 freestyle, and though improving, didn't fare quite as well. He finished in 12th place. His time in the preliminaries was 48.90, but slowed slightly in the final to 49.69. Both times were improvements over last season, when he was unable to meet the qualification standard.

Chelsea junior Andre Bravo also competed in the 50 freestyle, qualifying for the first time. Bravo, who was vital to the team's success this season, stopped the clock at 51.20 and earned 26th place.

The next event for the Bulldogs was their bread-and-butter event. For the past seven years, Chelsea has had an All-State 200 freestyle relay. This year would prove to be no different.

Christman, Bravo, Kellogg and Holton combined for a fourth-place finish, with a time of 1:29.01. The same group clocked a 1:28.52 in the preliminaries, which was just .12 off the Bulldog varsity record.

In the 100 backstroke, Wacker recorded his best time of the year. Fighting the flu all week put his entire state meet in question, Jolly said.

"He braved it and swam his heart out," Jolly said. "He could have gave up, but he didn't. He put too much time and effort into this season."

Wacker ended up 22nd, with a time of 59.38.

Matt Holmes gave it his all, but fell short of his goal in the 100 breaststroke, Jolly said. Holmes ended up 14th, with a time of 1:05.84.

The last event of the meet – the 400 freestyle relay – turned out to be one of the more exciting races of the day. Making hearts beat faster was the fact Milan needed to win the event to hold off Dexter for second place.

The Big Reds did just that, placing first with a time of 3:13.74. Dexter was fifth in 3:19.15.

Chelsea stopped the clock with a season best time of 3:17.19, just shy of last year's new varsity record. The Bulldogs ended up in fourth place.

"What an awesome season," Jolly said. "That's all I can say."

"I saw some young men do things that no one would have thought possible. I'm very proud of all my athletes from the beginners to the accomplished (swimmers)."

"I am always amazed at this time of year."

Jolly said next year it appears Chelsea will be moving up to Class A based on the high school's enrollment.

"It will bring on new challenges, but that is where great goals come from," Jolly said.

"Newhouse did a great job on White," Raymond said. "He's athletic. But it was a team effort. We thought if we could contain White, we could win. We would rather somebody else get hot."

That somebody was forward Eric Lore, who paced the Big Reds with 15 points.

Leading Chelsea was Newhouse, who poured in 17 points and grabbed seven rebounds.

Tripodi added 13 points and five boards, while senior guard

Dan Mueller chipped in eight points and five rebounds.

Senior guard Eddie McClendon finished with four points, seven rebounds and four assists.

Senior swing player Kyle Pepper had three blocked shots and five assists.

From the field, the Dawgs ended up 20-of-36 for 56 percent. Milan was held to 38 percent on 12-of-32 shooting.

Chelsea out rebounded Milan 26-21.

On March 5, the Bulldogs defeated Onsted 69-41 in a district semifinal game at Milan.

McClendon led Chelsea with 18 points and five steals.

Newhouse added 17 points, 10 rebounds, eight blocked shots and three assists. Tripodi finished with 10 points and four boards.

Senior swing player Nick Gadbury had four points and five rebounds, while junior center Scott Dettling recorded seven points and three blocked shots. Junior guard Kyle Brown had seven points and three assists.

team and how they have come together this season and played as a unit," Cleveland said. "They have been improving all season and have set some high goals."

Cleveland said a few of the Bulldogs' goals were to win a tournament, which they did (South Lyon Invite), win the Southeastern Conference (finished second to Dexter), win districts (beat Dexter and Brooklyn Columbia Central for title) and win regionals.

Chelsea has achieved most of its goals this year.

With two more victories, the Bulldogs can achieve the ultimate goal.

Last Tuesday, at Dewitt, Chelsea defeated Riverview Gabriel Richard 15-12, 15-10 in a Class B quarterfinal match. With Huron Camera marked a milestone March 1, celebrating 32 years in business. Owners Milt Campbell, Jerry Schmidt and Robert Clouse first opened the store in 1970 on Huron River Drive in Dexter. The shop offers a long list of accessories and services like one-hour photo developing and photo restoration. Pictured are Campbell (left) and Clouse. Schmidt is not pictured.

Developing memories Huron Camera marks 32 years

By Will Keeler
Staff Writer

The owners of Huron Camera marked a milestone March 1 as they celebrated 32 years in business.

The trio, Robert Clouse of Lyndon Township, Milt Campbell of Dexter Township and Jerry Schmidt of Freedom Township, met more than three decades ago while they worked for Argus, a camera manufacturer.

A friendship and a love of cameras brought the men together, providing the cornerstone of their business today.

Customers can find pretty much any gadget and accessory for their camera or photography need at one of five stores, with locations in Dexter, Chelsea, Saline, Jackson and Battle Creek.

Huron Camera offers a long list of service, including photo restoration, one-hour developing, camera reconditioning, slide developing and processing prints to videos, and draws customers from near and far.

"Some people drive 25 to 30 miles for processing or they might need a camera fixed," Clouse said.

The partners opened the first Huron Camera on Huron River Drive in 1970. "That is where we came up with the name," Campbell said.

As the photo industry changed, so did the needs of the young company.

"Over time, we outgrew our space and needed to expand," Campbell said.

The camera shop moved to the Dexter Commerce Building on Main Street and stayed until the mid-1980s, moving to 8060 Main St. in Dexter. In recent years, a street beautification program has enhanced the store's surroundings.

"It's amazing to see how the streetscape has changed over the years," Clouse said.

The owners are also amazed to see how cameras and technology has changed in the last three decades. Campbell said that one-hour developing is one of several advances to impact the business.

Digital cameras have become popular with many of the store's customers.

"It's amazing to see the changes of a generation of cameras," Campbell said.

The company has also seen how different types of film and speeds have evolved over time.

In the 1970s, the rage was 110 film, and the 1980s introduced the disc camera. Campbell said that he and his staff can still process the 110 film, but disc film is no longer made or processed.

Huron Camera also has an edge on the competition as the first photo shop in Michigan to develop film from a laser printer.

"You get a lot better color with these prints and better quality overall," Campbell said.

In the last three decades, Huron Camera has expanded to include four stores, with 28 employees.

And when a member of the trio isn't busy behind the counter helping a customer or fixing a camera, he might be at a village event snapping a picture.

The owners enjoy working with event organizers to take pictures at annual events. For several years, Huron Camera has taken complimentary photos at Dexter's Victorian Christmas and Apple Daze celebrations.

Chelsea company connects area businesses to the Web

■ New company fills broadband Internet void for businesses.

By Sven Gustafson
Heritage Newspapers

Chelsea Police Chief Lenard McDougall has some courteous upstairs neighbors.

A relatively new high-speed Internet service, offered to the police department by second-floor tenants OpAve Ltd., is being used to check weather, communicate with other police departments and send reports to the state.

"We never had it before," McDougall said. "Before, we had to send our reports in by mail. That's the biggest benefit."

OpAve has been offering broadband Internet service in Chelsea for more than a year, and is looking to expand into other communities in Washtenaw County, said OpAve Principal Steve Daut.

He said the business, which currently has a handful of retail, real estate and industrial clients, has built a cost model "that is becoming attractive to a number of communities."

He said the company is currently negotiating with one local municipality, which he declined to name.

Daut said the issue of high-speed Internet access is important to a complex and changing business world, which once viewed Internet connectivity as a luxury.

"(Businesses) have begun to use the Internet so much," he said. "They were spending so much time waiting for that data to upload that it was becoming a productivity issue."

With 768K broadband access — up to 50 times faster than standard 56K dial-up modems — businesses save money and time on ordering.

That's an issue Manchester Village President Jeff Schaffer can identify with. Schaffer, who is in charge of all electrical communications by day for Wolverine Pipe Line Co. in Manchester, is enjoying the new T1 lines the company recently installed to look up parts online and file forms with the government.

He said Wolverine once used microwave communications, and said from a maintenance standpoint, the T1 connection bandwidth is much easier. T1 lines transfer signals at up to 1.544 megabits per second.

"To work in the world today, you need it," he said. "Everything you have nowadays is microprocessor-based."

Although the village is not actively working with OpAve, Schaffer said, "We are actively seeking anybody who can provide our industries with the ability to make their businesses better."

Schaffer also said the Manchester Village Council recently helped approve fiber-optic Internet lines for the schools.

OpAve has been in operation in one form or another in Chelsea since 1986, when founder Ric Sauer opened a Web hosting and development company when the Internet was not yet a household word.

When the two began offering broadband service to businesses, standard Internet access for businesses was limited to 56K dial-up modems, Daut said.

"It's something like apples and oranges," he said. "What we're providing is a lot faster."

Up to 50 times faster, in fact. Daut said 56K is only the maxi-

Heritage stops Greenleaper

■ Soft economy, sluggish classified advertising market to blame.

By Ken Welsch

Heritage Newspapers

It didn't take long for the Greenleaper frog to become a visible character.

Just as quickly, the frog is hopping out of sight. Citing the poor economic climate and an industry-wide slump in classified advertising sales, Heritage Newspapers announced last week that it will discontinue both its print and Internet Greenleaper.com publications. A date to remove the site from the Internet wasn't announced.

"It isn't dying, it's going dormant," said Fred Manuel, president of Heritage Media. "It's important to point out that the infrastructure is still there. We could resurrect it any time and we may choose to do that."

"It's been an excellent product. Unfortunately, the economy started to soften, companies slowed down their hiring, and Greenleaper became a casualty."

Greenleaper.com — a two-pronged classified advertising product that featured a print version that published twice a month and was distributed in Washtenaw, Oakland and Macomb counties, and a Web site that was updated daily — was launched in April 2001.

It was advertised heavily in The Chelsea Standard and The Dexter Leader newspapers, and was a fixture on the newspapers' Web site.

Manuel indicated that the publication failed to generate even half of what its initial projections called for.

"The money just wasn't there to support it," he said, adding that the pending sale of Heritage Newspapers played only a minor role in the decision to discontinue Greenleaper.

All Heritage classified ads still will be available in the various weekly newspapers' classified sections. Those sections also are available online.

Real estate staff wins awards

Kathy Toth was presented with the prestigious Associate of the Year award by RE/MAX Community Associates at a recent awards breakfast.

Toth's award is based on total real estate production, including sales, listings, units and commission earned.

Larry Zahn and Kelly Cooper were presented with Excellence in Sales awards, while Rob Stofor received the Chelsea Office of Excellence Award. Renee Ritchey was named Staff Member of the Year and Carol Grubb was recognized for being with RE/MAX for five years. Regional and international sales awards were presented to Toth for Platinum Club, while Executive Club status was awarded to Cooper and 100% Club was awarded to Stofor, Zahn, Carol Grubb, Ray Arrington and Connie Woodruff.

Fund-raiser set tonight

Local bagpiper Tom Kennedy and the Chelsea House Orchestra will provide Celtic music at the third annual St. Patty's McFunraiser, which will be held from 5:30 to 9 p.m. tonight at the Clock Tower building, 310 North Main St., in Chelsea.

The event, a fund-raiser for the Chelsea Summer Fest, includes an Irish feast of corned beef and cabbage, green beer, wine, live auction, door prizes, raffle and more.

Tickets are $35 and are available at Pierce's Pastries Plus, Vogel's & Foster's, Dayspring Gifts, the Chamber of Commerce and The Chelsea Standard.

Chamber Donates to School

Steve Gergely, president of Dexter Area Chamber of Commerce, presents a check to Bill Spargur (left), superintendent of Dexter schools, and Dexter High School Principal Glen Stevenson Jan. 23 at the chamber's annual meeting. The group of business owners gave $240 for the purchase of an American flag and a table skirt for the new high school, where the chamber held the meeting.

amount deliverable in theory, but in reality phone delays can slow Web navigation to one-third of that speed. With broadband service, the Internet is always on, and the phone line stays open for calls.

"It becomes an integral part of your desktop," Daut said. "It's like having a private network on the Internet."

The issue of offering high-speed Internet access to more of Michigan has been a popular one of late. The Michigan Economic Development Corporation unveiled its Link Michigan Initiative in June 2001 with the goal of opening up more of the state to broadband access.

The idea is that without it, Michigan cannot remain competitive in luring businesses.

There is also a controversial bill sponsored by U.S. Reps. W.J. Tauzin, R-La., and John D. Dingell, D-Mich. Known as the Internet Freedom and Broadband Deployment Act of 2001, the bill is designed to ease regulations on local telephone companies to open up the market for broadband access.

Currently, cable companies like AT&T and Comcast dominate the market.

Comcast, the local residential, cable Internet service provider in Manchester, also offers high-speed Internet access to "any community where we offer Internet service to residential customers," said spokesman Rich Ruggiero.

Currently, he said Manchester is one of two communities in Washtenaw County where Internet service was still being upgraded. One service offers download speeds of up to 1.5 megabits and upstream up to 256K, and is compatible for virtual private networks for one to five PCs for less than $100 per month.

They also have a separate company that customizes service for individual businesses.

The Michigan Economic Development Commission says that no cities in Michigan appear on the list of top 25 markets for fiber-optic networks. In addition, they say that less than 20 percent of the 17,000 small and medium automotive parts supply companies in the state have broadband Internet connections.

"It's the equivalent of being one of those communities that didn't get an interchange, or the interchange was three miles out of downtown ... and (the downtown) shriveled and died," said Susan Lackey, president of the Washtenaw Development Council.

Lackey said she cannot get a digital subscriber line for her office in Ann Arbor because she is 30 feet out of the way.

"I would have frankly thought that all of Washtenaw County was well served," she said. "It's not."

Using a central radio installation to tap into an existing Nokia wireless system, OpAve splits its bandwidth out into adjoining areas, Daut said antennas are mounted atop buildings as part of what he called a "distributed network."

Each antenna's radio hardware can double as a router, forwarding data, whenever necessary, from parts of the distributed network. This results in a network of redundant radio connections that can automatically route, or re-route, data as needed.

"If one of them goes down, the technology finds the best route to go around that," he said. "It's very robust and very reliable in that sense."

The antennas are small — just 8 inches tall and about 3 inches in diameter, Daut said.

When OpAve first started operating the new systems, Chelsea Village had to amend its cellular phone tower ordinance to allow for size exemptions to accommodate the broadband antennas.

OpAve currently charges businesses a $126 monthly rate for broadband service, compared to about $17 per month for residential, 56K dial-up service. Daut said the amount varies according to available wireless rates.

"If you think about it, if it saves you a couple hours of staff time in a month, then it's paid for," he said.

Although Daut said he had some concerns over the Link Michigan Initiative and the Tauzin-Dingell bill, he said he was glad to see the issue of broadband access being addressed.

"We think overall it's a good thing that the state is taking an interest in building access for everybody because we feel that this is going to become a utility for businesses," he said.

ST. JUDE NOVENA. May the Sacred Heart of Jesus be adored, glorified, loved and preserved throughout the World, now and forever. Sacred Heart of Jesus, pray for us. St. Jude, warrior of miracles, pray for us. St. Jude of the hopeless, pray for us. Say this prayer nine times a day, by the eighth day your prayers will be answered. It has never been known to fail. Publication must be promised. Thank you. St. Jude for granting my petition. ddp

The Board approved $60.00 for a repair estimate on the digital camera currently used by the assessor's office.

The Board adopted the Portage-Base Lakes Sewer Amendment 1-G, as corrected. Roll call: Brushaber - Yes; Knight - Yes; Howard - Yes; Rider - Yes; Tetens - Yes.

The Board granted preliminary approval to Margaret Eta Drive, private road.

The Board approved the expenditure of up to $2,500.00 for a computer for the Supervisor's office.

The Board tabled discussion and action on the request by Bill Gajewski for a private road.

Oral and/or written reports were submitted by the Treasurer, Clerk, Planning Commission, Chelsea Area Construction Agency, Dexter Fire Board, Ordinance Administrator, Portage and Multi-Lakes Sewer Authorities and Western Washtenaw Recycle Authority.

Treasurer Knight informed the Board that recent State legislative action would require Dexter Township to again collect summer taxes.

The Board authorized the Supervisor to sign the contract for GIS database access with the Washtenaw County Metropolitan Planning Commission.

The Board agreed that the Clerk should send a letter to Sheriff Minzey discussing concerns with the logistics of the current policing contract.

Treasurer Knight asked that the Planning Commission put the petition from the owners of agricultural zoned land on the Commission agenda. Clerk Rider agreed to present that request to the Planning Commission.

There was no January ZBA meeting and no report from the ZBA.

The Board authorized the assessor to include a single sheet insert in with the assessment notices.

The Board authorized the transfer of $13,635.64 from the Police Fund to the General Fund to pay current expenses.

The Board authorized payment of the bills in the amount of $56,747.69 plus the monthly Paychex fee.

The Board authorized the Treasurer to pay $5,909.54 to the Washtenaw County Department of Public Works for the Portage-Base Lakes Sewer.

The Board rescheduled the budget working session to 9:00 AM on Wednesday, March 6th.

The Board adjourned at 9:20 PM.

Respectfully Submitted,
Harley B. Rider, Clerk
Dexter Township

NOTE: These are preliminary minutes subject to approval by the Township Board at the Regular Meeting to be held on March 19th 2002.

VILLAGE OF CHELSEA PLANNING COMMISSION MEETING

Notice is hereby given that the regularly scheduled Planning Commission Meeting set for Tuesday, March 19, 2002 will be a combined regular Planning Commission Meeting and Work Session. For this meeting only, the location and time has been changed. This meeting will be held on March 19, 2002 at 7:00 P.M., and will be held in the Village Offices, 305 S. Main Street, Lower Level, Chelsea, Michigan

LYNDON TOWNSHIP BOARD OF APPEALS

WILL HOLD A PUBLIC HEARING ON TUESDAY, MARCH 19, 2002, AT 7:30 P.M.
THE LYNDON TOWNSHIP HALL
17751 N. TERRITORIAL ROAD, CHELSEA, MI 48118

AGENDA:

1. To review the application of Wayne and Carol Slomiany (parcel #05-03-281-005) 4927 Homewild, Gregory, for a variance from the Lyndon Township Zoning Ordinance Article VI, Section 6.04, Paragraph E.1, Front Yard Setbacks. The Slomianys are requesting a variance from the 80 feet from the lake setback requirement, asking it be changed to 18 feet because of lot size, in order to build.

2. To review the application of Virginia G. Gillick (parcel #05-23-200-016) 701 Island Lake, Chelsea, for a variance from the Lyndon Township Zoning Ordinance Article VI, Section 6.04, Paragraph A, Lot Area. Mrs. Gillick would like to divide her property.

3. To review the application of Douglas E. Brown (parcel #05-33-300-004) 18001 Waterloo Road, Chelsea, for a variance from the Lyndon Township Zoning Ordinance Article V, Section 5.04, Paragraph E.1, Front Yard Setback. Mr. Brown is requesting a front yard setback of 36 feet rather than the required 70 feet from the right-of-way line for his garage because of the location of his drain field and the topography of the land.

The application for the variance and supporting documentation is posted on the board. Written comments may be sent to: Helena M. Robinovitz, Office Manager, 17751 N. Territorial Road, Chelsea, MI 48118.

The Lyndon Township Board will provide, if time after the request allows, necessary and reasonable auxiliary aids or services to individuals with disabilities at the public hearing. Individuals with disabilities requiring auxiliary aids or services should contact the Lyndon Township Board by writing or calling: Janis Knieper, Clerk, 17751 N. Territorial Road, Chelsea, MI 48118, or phone (734) 475-2401.

A copy of this notice is on file in the office of the Clerk.

DEATHS

PATRICIA "PATTY" B. CALER

Jonesville
Patricia "Patty" B. Caler, 34, of Jonesville died March 3, 2002, at her home. She was born July 25, 1967, in Jackson, the daughter of Robert and G. Jean (Johnston) Seller. She was a graduate of Grass Lake High School and received her nurse's training at Jackson Community College.

Mrs. Caler was a registered nurse, working at the Hillsdale Community Health Center. She had also worked for Hospice of Hillsdale County and the Chelsea Retirement Center. She played softball in Jackson County.

Her husband, Duane S. Caler, also died March 3, 2002.

Mrs. Caler is survived by two children, Nathaniel Douglas and Clark Robert Caler; her mother and stepfather, G. Jean (Clarence) Sheuvelt of Grass Lake; her father and stepmother, Robert (Marilyn) Seller of Grass Lake; a paternal grandmother, Rachel Henley of Jackson; a mother-in-law, Marilyn Caler of Media, Pa.; six stepbrothers, Donald and Timothy Simmons of Grass Lake, Michael Sheuvelt of Algonac, Andrew Sheuvelt of Okemos, James Sheuvelt of Selma, Wash., and Christopher Sheuvelt of Coldwater; a special friend, Kathy Kulpanek; and several nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by a brother, Robert James.

Visitation was March 6 at the Kurtz Funeral Home in Hillsdale. A funeral was held last Thursday at All Saints Episcopal Church in Brooklyn. Burial was at Oakwood Cemetery in East Grass Lake.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Nate and Clark Memorial Children's Fund. Envelopes are available at the funeral home.

DUANE S. CALER

Jonesville
Duane S. Caler, 37, of Jonesville, died March 3, 2002, at his home. He was born Aug. 7, 1964, in Jackson, the son of C. Douglas and Marilyn (Littabrant) Caler. He was a graduate of Grass Lake High School and worked as a machinist at Adeco Products in Michigan Center.

He loved the outdoors and was an avid hunter and fisherman.

His wife, Patricia "Patty" (Seller) Caler, also died March 3, 2002.

Mr. Caler is survived by two children, Nathaniel Douglas and Clark Robert Caler; his mother, Marilyn Caler of Media, Pa.; his stepfather, Carl Bohne of Seward, Neb.; his maternal grandmother, Doris Littabrant of Jackson; three brothers, Craig (Stacy) Caler of Rockton, Ill., Martin (Tracey) Caler of Vacaville, Calif., and Eric (Maria) Caler of Seward, Neb. He was preceded in death by his father.

Visitation was held at the Kurtz Funeral Home in Hillsdale. A funeral was held last Thursday at All Saints Episcopal Church in Brooklyn. Burial was at Oakwood Cemetery in East Grass Lake.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Nate and Clark Memorial Children's Fund. Envelopes are available at the funeral home.

WILLIAM P. HEENEY SR.

Stockbridge
William P. Heenev, 62, of Stockbridge died March 8, 2002, at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor. He was born May 11, 1939, in Jackson, the son of Lawton and Marceline (Beck) Heenev.

Mr. Heenev lived in the area most of his life and was employed at Chrysler Proving Grounds, now DaimlerChrysler AG, in Chelsea. He founded Heenev Racing Team and owned his own garage, becoming one of the best mechanics in the area.

He was a people-person and will be dearly missed by all.

Mr. Heenev married Juanita Sturgill April 30, 1960, and she survives. Also surviving are his two sons, William (Carrie) Heenev and James (Tammie) Heenev of Stockbridge; three brothers, Tom (Judy) Heenev, Jerry (Gloria) Heenev and Pat (Karen) Heenev, all of Stockbridge; two sisters, Ellen (Mike) Mosson of Jackson and Ann (Willie) Jackson of Stockbridge; and three grandchildren, Tracy, Brian and Tyler Heenev. He was preceded in death by his parents.

A funeral was held Tuesday at St. Cornelius and Cyprian Catholic Church in Bunker Hill. The Rev. Eugene Belter officiated. Burial will follow at St. Cornelius and Cyprian Cemetery.

Expression of sympathy may be made to St. Cornelius and Cyprian Catholic Church.

Arrangements were made by Caskey-Mitchell Funeral Home in Stockbridge.

MELBOURNAA O. SMITH

Kalamazoo
Melbournaa O. Smith died March 11, 2002, at Rose Arbor Hospice in Kalamazoo. She was born Aug. 15, 1913, in Otsego, the daughter of Berry and Maude (Stuck) Durkee. She graduated from Otsego High School and attended Western Michigan University.

On June 7, 1941, she married Richard J. Smith of Plainwell and they had four children. The family settled in Chelsea, where she kept busy raising her family.

Mrs. Smith was an active supporter of 4-H, helping her children raise chickens, and was involved with competitions at Chelsea Community Fair. She liked to help decorate bikes for parades, sew dresses for special events and create amusing Halloween costumes.

Mrs. Smith is especially remembered for her love of culinary arts and passing the talent on to her family. She was an excellent apple pie baker, prepared and baked thousands of rolls for church suppers and had a green thumb when it came to growing sweet peas.

Other interests included playing bridge, golfing, hunting pheasants and geese, and cheering the grandchildren on while participating in the family snipe hunt.

She enjoyed working with watercolors and passed the interest on to her family.

The Smiths spent considerable time traveling the United States in their camper. They moved back to Plainwell during their retirement years and spent the winters in Tucson, Ariz.

Following her husband's death in 1995, Mrs. Smith moved to The Fountains in Kalamazoo, where she made many friends and participated in numerous social events.

Mrs. Smith had a lifelong affiliation with the Congregational Church and was a member of First Congregational Church of Otsego. She also was a member of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Her family includes four children, Quentin (Karen) Smith of Rohnert Park, Calif., Rayma (Larry) Adkisson of Saline, Ryan Smith of Belleville and Kevin (Jill) Smith of Bingham Farms; nine grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

Besides her parents and her husband, she was preceded in death by a brother, Raymond Durkee.

Mrs. Smith's last days were filled with visits from her friends.

A memorial service will be held 1 p.m. March 23 at First Congregational Church of Otsego.

Mrs. Smith was cremated and her remains will be buried with her husband at Mountain Home Cemetery in Otsego. Memorials may be made to Rose Arbor Hospice of Kalamazoo. Rupert, Durham, Marshall & Gren Funeral Home's Plainwell Chapel made the funeral arrangements.

ROSALIE E. BURNS

Washington, Pa.
Formerly of Chelsea

Rosalie E. Burns, 88, of Washington, Pa., formerly of Chelsea, died March 6, 2002, in Humbert Lane Health Care in Washington. She was born April 9, 1913, in Millersport, Ohio; the daughter of Scott and Clara Stammier.

Mrs. Burns was a homemaker and enjoyed reading. On Sept. 4, 1942, she married E. Cameron Burns, who died July 8, 1998. Mrs. Burns was the last of her immediate family. Her son, Steven Cameron Burns, died as an infant.

Interment was in Oak Grove Cemetery in Chelsea. Local arrangements were by Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home.

MARY ELLEN STEINAWAY

Harrison
Formerly of Chelsea

Mary Ellen Steinaway, 91, died March 5, 2002, in St. Helen. She was born Jan. 28, 1911, in Port Huron, the daughter of John A. and Della M. (Stockton) McLaughlin.

Mrs. Steinaway had lived in Harrison since 1969, moving from Chelsea. She was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, the Blue Star Mothers of America and the United Brethren Church in Harrison.

She married Waldo B. Steinaway Sr. in Port Huron April 7, 1929, and he preceded her in death on April 30, 1981.

Survivors include two daughters, Helen (Richard) Scripser of St. Helen and Linda (Fred) Schoch of Sugar Island; two sons, Art Steinaway of Biloxi, Miss., and Richard Steinaway of Danridge, Tenn.; two brothers, Arthur W. McLaughlin and Robert J. McLaughlin, both of Port Huron; 20 grandchildren; 41 great-grandchildren; and 12 great-great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Steinaway was preceded in death by two sons, Paul and Waldo B. Steinaway Jr.; three grandchildren; one great-granddaughter; three brothers; and one sister.

A funeral was held Friday at Cole Funeral Chapel in Chelsea. The Rev. Lee Palmer of United Brethren Church in Harrison officiated. Burial followed at Vermont Cemetery in Chelsea.

Memorial contributions may be made to Hospice of Helping Hands in West Branch.

Formerly of Saline

Katherine Elaine Bauchat, 80, died March 11, 2002, at Arbor Hospice after an extended illness.

She was born Feb. 4, 1922, in Detroit, the daughter of Laura Marie (Brewster) and John Matthew Piotrowicz. She graduated from Warren High School in 1939.

On May 1, 1943, she married Robert James Bauchat and he survives.

Mrs. Bauchat was a gifted seamstress, an accomplished artist and, most of all, a wonderful wife and mother.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by five children, Robert James (Erika) Bauchat II of China, Karen (Thomas) Rang of Saline, Cynthia (F. Richard) Newton of Texas, William (Deborah) Bauchat of Georgia and Kristyn (B.J.) Hohnke of Chelsea; 15 grandchildren, Brian (Cristi) Bauchat, Jaquette (Chris Wong) Bauchat, Robert James Bauchat III, Thomas, Andrew, Michael and Christopher Rang, Kelly Newton, Erin, Nicholas and Andrea Bauchat, and William, Robert, Joel and Eric Hohnke; two great-grandchildren; a sister, Mary Ann Zapor; and many nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her parents and a sister, Elizabeth Reith.

The Mass of the Christian Burial will be celebrated 11 a.m. today at St. Andrew Catholic Church in Saline, with the Rev. Fortunato Turati officiating. Cremation will follow the Mass.

Memorial contributions may be made to the charity of the donor's choice. Envelopes will be available at the Robison-Bahnmler Funeral Home in Saline. Friends may call at the church 10 to 11 a.m. today.

NOW AVAILABLE: The Manchester Area Directory is the perfect publication to showcase your business. This handy reference guide serves as a year-long reader information source and advertising directory.

This comprehensive community guide will feature information on schools, libraries, government, recreation offerings, senior citizen programs, health care facilities, special events and churches.

Distribution will reach more than 2,400 homes within the Manchester Area School District and will be available through the Manchester Area Chamber of Commerce, as well as local real estate agencies.

This guide, used day after day by residents of the Manchester area, will supply year-long advertising exposure to your business. Plus, all advertisers will be listed in our categorized advertiser's directory: The Guide to Shops and Services.

EASTER COLORING CONTEST

RULES:

Children ages 4-12 are invited this year to enter The Saline Reporter, The Dexter Leader/Chelsea Standard, Milan News-Leader and Manchester Enterprise Easter Coloring Contest which is sponsored by local businesses. Contest rules include:

1. Contestants may enter their colored picture at any of our offices in person or by mail: The Saline Reporter/Milan News-Leader, 106 W. Michigan Ave., Saline, 48176; The Chelsea Standard/Dexter Leader, 20750 Old U.S.-12, Chelsea, 48118; or The Manchester Enterprise, 109 E. Main St., Manchester, 48158.
2. Contest is open to area children ages 4-12. Artists ages 4-5, 6-8, and those ages 9-12 will be judged in separate groups. A $25 cash prize will be awarded to the coloring entry judged best in each group.
3. Coloring must be done by the child, using crayons, paint, felt-tip pens, colored pencils, or any other coloring medium.
4. Each entry form must be completed with contestant's name, age and phone number.
5. DEADLINE for entry to be at the newspaper office is Friday, March 22, 2002.
6. Winners will be published in the March 28, 2002 editions of the newspapers.
7. Employees of the Heritage Newspapers and their immediate families, and families of the judges are not eligible to enter.
