Local contractor may sue village

Businessman questions use of village workers for pipe installations.

By Shella Pursglove Associate Editor

Old water pipes are causing more than a water flow problem in Chelsea.

A rusty piece of pipe may become the basis of a class action lawsuit brought against the village by local contractor Randy Rosentreter.

Rosentreter, who owns R.J. Trucking and Excavating, contends the village took work away from small businesses by carrying out work he and other contractors typically performed. He also suggests the village provided the curb box, he said. a "freebie" to village employee Bill Paul.

The problem hinges around part of the Phase II water main project being carried out on Madison Street this month.

When a new water main is installed, TCI. the contractor hired by the village, is responsible for the lead coming off the main to the curb box to provide service to the house, Village Manager Jack Myers said Monday.

Homeowners are responsible for the water service pipe running from the curb box to the meter in their home, and are also responsible for any plumbing connections inside their home. Myers said.

In a few instances on Madison Street, the old pipes, which have been underground for about 70 years, were so deteriorated that TCI workers were unable to make connections at

Board waives charge

The Chelsea Area Fire Authority Board decided to cut a break to a student who was billed after a car crash on Interstate 94.

The action follows a request from the Chelsea Recreation Department last July that the Chelsea School District, in conjunction with the Chelsea Recreation Council, direct operations.

Students experiment with special goggles

By Rita Fischer Special Writer

Chelsea High School students got a taste of the disorientation caused by drinking alcohol in an event organized by the school's Students Against Destructive Decisions group.

The Oct. 23 event was organized as part of National Red Ribbon Week, teaching children not to use alcohol, tobacco and other drugs.

Chelsea High School teacher Deb Bentley, who organizes the SADD group, arranged for police officers Thomas Hickey and Jamie Adkins to come from the Ann Arbor Police Department with Fatal Vision Simulator Goggles. The goggles simulate the visual impairment caused by alcohol and other drugs.

Wearers experience a loss of equilibrium, which is also one of the effects of intoxication. The goal is to demonstrate how quickly impairment can turn fun into devastating consequences.

Students donned the goggles and tried to walk a straight line. Junior Meghan Minnick called the experiment "weird and interest- see that if you drink, you will

"Even though the presentation was conducted during full of teen-agers," he said.

Hickey said that in today's world, people are exposed to alcohol at an early age.

"The students at Chelsea High School should be commended for their efforts," he said. "The students who experienced the goggles were amazed that a simple task such as walking a straight line was virtually impossible."

Hickey said that some teens may find themselves passengers in a vehicle driven by someone who has been drinking and the experience with the goggles should educate them about the dangers.

"An impaired driver is not only putting his or her life at risk, but the lives of everyone else in the vehicle." he said.

"Unfortunately, we read about the stories and see the crosses at the sides of the roads of young people who have made the wrong choices."

Hickey said peer pressure is a powerful influence.

"It's going to take a team effort on behalf of parents, teachers, fellow students and police officers to educate our students about the consequences of drinking and driving," he said.

Understanding with Leonard K. Kitchen, J.D. and Thomas L. Stringer, J.D. WHEN DOGS BITE In most instances, dog owners are liable for personal injury or property damage that their pets cause. Although the laws in many states related to dogowner liability are commonly known as "dog-bite statues," most of these laws cover all kinds of dog inflicted injuries, not solely dog bites. As for the "one-bite rule," this misleadingly named rule makes an owner legally responsible for an injury caused by a dog if the owner knew the dog was likely to cause that type injury. As for the victim, he or she must prove that the dog was dangerous. If the injury occurred because the owner was unreasonably careless (negligent) in controlling the dog, the owner is liable.

Dogs, cats, horses, even reptiles, can all attack if provoked or frightened, thus, even the most even tempered pet or livestock must be watched closely and controlled when children or adults who are inexperienced in dealing with your particular animal are close by. To learn more about the ways in which you can reduce your liability in regard to personal injury suits, call the LAW OFFICES OF KITCHEN & STRINGER, J.D., at 426-4695 to schedule a private consultation, free of charge. We are a general practice law firm conveniently located in Dexter, at 3249 Broad Street.

HINT: The laws of nearly every state authorize anyone to take whatever action is necessary to stop a dog caught in the act of attacking a person.

Rosentreter installed two such hookups in early October for homeowners on Madison Street. He said Friday that he charged about $2,200 for each job.

What has the contractor up in arms is that on Oct. 18 he noticed village workers installing a line at the home of Department of Public Works employee Bill Paul at 215 Madison St., and at the home of Herbert Hinz at 262 Harrison St. The two homes are serviced by the same distribution pipe.

Rosentreter also said the village plans to pick up the tab for a third person whose home at the intersection of Madison and Adams streets is serviced by the same distribution pipe.

Rosentreter took photographs and contacted Water Department Superintendent Dan Rosentreter.

Randy Rosentreter said the superintendent told him he didn't believe a homeowner should have to pay $2,000 for a water pipe "this close to Christmas."

'Most homes in the village have galvanized pipes that some time," Randy Rosentreter said Friday.

"What about other homeowners? Will they have to pay a contractor or will the progress meeting. He said village do the work for free Karl Grant, the owner of TCI, Randy Rosentreter said he would like to know who made the decision about the work, and whether taxpayers would end up paying for it.

The homes were without water for about three days, Dan Rosentreter Village crews hooked up garden hoses to re-route water to them from other residences.

Myers said that the village's typical policy, one that remains in effect, is that the village's responsibility is only from the water main to the curb stop.

"However, I felt these were circumstances." unusual Myers said. "We did this in fairness to these three residents who had a working service line until the Phase II work was done.

"Hopefully TCI won't experience this on other streets. They've worked on about 150 to 200 service lines in the village, so far, without anything like this happening."

Myers said it was less expensive to send a village crew than to contract out the work.

Randy Rosentreter, who said he has discussed the issue with his attorney, is trying to garner support among other contractors to bring a class action suit against the village.

Ritter also said a millage request by the Fire Authority next year could compete on the same ballot with a halfmill increase the village is considering for building improvements. The money would be used to renovate the former BookCrafters village offices.

Sylvan Township Clerk LuAnn Koch said it makes more sense to settle on how financing would be procured before approving a building authority.

Adrian asked that the millage or 18-percent hike in billings per run be brought before each municipality. He said he does not expect a decision anytime soon.

Another variable in the funding debate is a written request from Village President Richard Steele. He has asked that a meeting be scheduled between him and the Chelsea Area Fire Auth-

Adrian said that the cooperative agreement states that the use of the building would be donated until a millage was established.

Adrian said he is surprised that such a request would be made while the Fire Board is considering building, future site of the $250,000 in upgrades to the Middle Street station.

In another matter, Sandi Bird, business manager for the Fire Board, said she has been investigating the cost of building fire stations in comparable municipalities.

She said the Fire Board could save money in architectural and engineering fees by getting the blueprints for those buildings.

Why I Will Vote For Gene DeRossett

Gene Dellossett has proven to his constituents that he represents them and not his party. That is important.

Gene DeRossett is a consensus Builder. As such, he asked to sit on the minority side of the aisle in Lansing for the simple reason that he feels it is better to work together than to attack the other party. That is too rare of an attribute these days.

Gene is a hard worker. He put over 300,000 miles on his last van, driving all around the state to hear the opinions of experts on issues for which he would soon cast a vote-

Gene is for wise use of our land. He knows that it is a finite resource and must be presented. (Did you know that there are only 3.67 acres per person in the entity State of Michigan, Lower and Upper Peninsulas included, and also including Federal State, County articlity land? Gene knows.)

Gene helps yeterans. When funding was slashed for the Veterans Service Officers programs which gives representation to veterans filing disability claims, Gene went right to work and formed a coalition to not only get the fanding restored retroactively, but to get it increased. I want to personally thank him for that.

TALES FROM THE TRAIL

Getting into New Hampshire was a big milestone.

I was so happy to walk into Hanover in the rain and know that the most challenging and most beautiful parts of the trail lay just ahead of

I spent a couple of weeks traversing the White Mountains. I can't believe the weather I had — sunny and warm, blue skies and breezy for almost every major peak.

The views were spectacular. You can see for miles and miles when above the tree around mid-September.

My friend "Train Wreck" and I took some photos at the state line as we commiserated through the cold rain and slippery rocks. After the photo, we just looked at each other and smiled. We both had the same thought — the infamous phrase on the trail: 'No pain, no rain, no Maine."

The rain continued for a few days, which was not very pleasant.

We had to go through Masoosic Notch — a milelong stretch of huge boulders covered with slippery black moss — in the rain.

It was fun to do it together, but it would be terrifying to do it alone. There's just so much opportunity to slip and be severely hurt.

I turned into "Monkey Girl" and did my best to climb over boulders and through tiny tunnels.

Fortunately for us, the only crossed into Maine casualty was a huge rip in "Train Wreck's" shorts.

> Southern Maine has been the most challenging part of the trail. The climbs are long and the descents very dangerous. But it also has been so beautiful.

> Maine is really such a stellar ending to this magnificent journey. Most days I feel as though I'm in a fairytale.

> The trail tends to follow beautiful rivers and swing past beautiful, clear lakes.

> The path is usually narrow with the thickest, most beautiful vegetation covering the forest floor. I find myself stopping all the time to examine tiny, orange mushrooms or the thick, mossy groundcover.

It's impossible for me to describe the happiness I feel when sitting amongst the earth's greatest treasures and I cannot imagine why anyone wants to live indoors.

Today, I'm in Monson, with only 113 miles to Tomorrow, I will head out and start the "Hundred Mile Wilderness."

I saw Kathadin, the end of the Appalachian Trail, the other day from Moxie Bald Mountain. It was kind of exciting but kind of sad, too, I will probably reach there in about nine days.

I can't imagine the end of all this right now. All I can feel is happiness and joy. What an incredible euphoria to be pleased with every sound and sight of each day. 'I am blessed to have come

Teacher saves child from choking on candy

By Rita Fischer Special Writer

What started as a typical school day quickly turned into an emergency for teacher Amy Sumner.

On Sept. 24, Sumner, a sixth-grade math teacher at Navigator School in Pinckney, was trying to get the attention of her pupils to start class when she was alerted to a choking child.

"I walked over to that student and she had her head down," Sumner said. "I bent down to see her face as I patted her back and asked her if she was alright."

Sumner, the wife of Chelsea Police Department Sgt. Riley Sumner, realized Amy Sumner the child couldn't get air. Asking her co-teacher to contact the school office and have someone call 911, Sumner pulled the pupil upright and did the Heimlich maneuver.

Standing behind the child and wrapping her arms around her waist. Sumner thumb against the child's abdomen. Pressing her fist made quick, upward thrusts.

"A piece of hard candy came shooting out," Sumner said. "Then she began breathing and said that she was fine.'

Sumner used the aftermath of the event to discuss emergency situations and the Heimlich maneuver with her class.

"Each year, the school has an Emergency Safety Day, during which local firefighters, police, EMS and other emergency personnel teach lessons to students regarding emergency and safety situations," she says. "The Heimlich maneuver is always demonstrated in one of the lessons.

"The student's family has thanked me in numerous ways. I'm thankful that the student is fine and that I made a fist and placed her could help in an emergency situation."

Health initiative under way

■ Committee plans to promote better health and habits.

By Marsha Johnson _Chartrand

Heritage Newspapers In response to a survey showing that residents of Chelsea, Dexter and Manchester are more overweight and, by some measures, have poorer nutritional habits than the rest of the county, a community-based initiative has been launched aimed at increasing physical activity and healthy eating.

The survey was sponsored by the Washtenaw County Health Improvement Plan.

The initiative, Healthy Communities, will serve as a catalyst for implementing Ecommunity-based programs for people of all ages by building partnerships with schools, churches, businesses and civic organizations.

The goal of Healthy *Communities is to reduce the ccurrence of preventable chronic diseases, particularly those that are associated with being overweight, by helping residents pursue more physical activity and healthy eating.

Healthy Communities is led by a 14-member steering committee co-chaired by Chelsea Community Hospital's Joanne Grosh; director of Business and Community Health, and Lisa Senawi, director of ChelseaCare

Home Health Services. Several Chelsea and Dexter-area residents and businesses are represented on the committee.

Chelsea Community Hospital's Community Health Improvement Council will provide oversight for the steering committee.

The purpose of council is to develop and implement initiatives that are designed to improve the health of the communities served by the

'Dance and Disappear' transports the reader

KENT ASHTON WALTON

BOOK NOTES

In Laura Kasischke's latest. award-winning book of poetry, "Dance and Disappear," nothing is ordinary.

Though the setting may be cooking in a kitchen, doing the laundry, a bike ride or a first kiss, the reader is soon transported to ingenious realms filled with images and feelings that shock, delight and bewilder.

This three-part collection of poems is Chelsea resident Kasischke's fourth published volume of poetry. She has also published three novels.

Kasischke has little poetic patience with time and spatial limitations. She will move from 16th century Alysdorf to a modern hotel in a blink, synthesizing images across continents and centuries.

Reading her work with only a rational mind will poems are gleaned from the encourages becoming entranced as reality and imagination are spliced and made into a surreal tapestry.

Such poems as "Credit Card in My Hand" and "The Lamb and the Turtle" are multifaceted and considered erudite and melodious. Others are rich in innocence and wonder, such as "Green Bicycle," where Kasischke is a young girl in a world of old men.

Part 1 portrays spontaneous human combustion as though it was something we all have to put up with. Birds, countesses and a college girl in the 1960s turn to ash or burn up the countryside. Yet it is also a metaphor. Fire can mean pain, cleansing, passion and illumination.

The author draws on images from the mundane to the cosmic. The words and contexts that she employs are often common, but their combination is vibrant such as in "Kitchen Song."

The title "Dance and Disappear" comes from the directions on a Bisquick box. describing how, when making pancakes, a skillet must be hot enough so that "a few drops of water sprinkled on it dance and disappear."

The inspiration for some leave you confounded. It past, such as with her poem

"Mr. Mitchell," which describes a woman standing in a line at a bank during the 1929 Wall Street crash.

Sometimes it comes from poignant memories, as in 'Bike Ride with Older Boys."

Sometimes there is a mix of both as in "Grace" in which memories of a party coalesce with images of the Hindenburg disaster.

Kasischke's ability to rouse and suggest with a mix of the quotidian and shocking reveals her mastery of poetic language.

Kasischke is the recipient of many awards for her writing, including the Alice Fay DiCastagnola Award, and several Hopwood Awards for poetry and drama.

This volume of poetry is the 27th recipient of the Juniper Prize presented by the University of Massachusetts Press for original poet-

Kasischke will be signing, and reading from her book "Dance and Disappear" 2 p.m. Nov. 9 at the Little Professor Book Center, 1250 S. Main St., in Chelsea. For more information, call 433-2665

After logging hundreds of hours standing, sitting and squatting on the sidelines of countless soccer fields watching my son Laurence drill, scrimmage and play soccer, I had my first invitation to play soccer last weekend.

Village not acting in taxpayers' interest

If you are remotely concerned with how your tax dollars are being spent on the updating of the Chelsea water distribution system, read on.

As we know, the village has been updating its current water distribution system, i.e. lines and service leads because they're old and rotting.

Water mains are the large pipes running down the streets and they are 4 or more inches in diameter. Water leads run from the main to the curb box, the shut off valve is in your lawn extension and water service lines run from the curb box to the meter in your house.

We want to focus on the water service pipes. The old leads and services are made of either lead or galvanized pipe or they can be combined of each material.

Galvanized pipe has a life expectancy of approximately 80 years. Our old water system has reached the end of its service life.

Once the new water main has been laid, a crew comes through and hooks a new lead made of copper from the new main to the curb box. A compression fitting on the curb box is used to hook into the existing service.

For approximately the past 15 years, people have been updating water service to their homes, and in some cases re-piping the inside of their homes because their galvanized pipes are either rotting out or plugging up with mineral deposits.

On Oct. 8, the village's general contractor was attempting to hook up a South Madison Street resident and ran into the problem of the old galvanized service being so rotted out that the compression fitting kept crushing the pipe.

The contractor went to the resident's side of the sidewalk trying to make the hook up, and the old galvanized pipe continued to keep failing. The owner contacted the village water department representative, Dan Rosentreter, and he told them that they would have to hire a private contractor to repair their water line from the curb box into their water meter.

This South Madison Street resident called a private plumbing and excavating contractor and they made the repair to their water service.

We would like to draw it to your attention that in past years, all water service connections from the house to the curb box (the shut off valve that is in your lawn extension) have been the responsibility of the property owner to maintain.

On Oct. 18, the village water pipe for all village residents. department crew showed up to repair the water service of resident and village employee, free of charge?

I immediately contacted Dan Rosentreter to find out what was going on and I was told that "a man should not have to pay $2,000 to have his water line repaired this close to Christmas, and we are going to finish doing the rest of them."

My questions are: Are the residents who have already replaced their p.m. water service in the past years going to be reimbursed for their costs? In the case of the South Madison Street resident, yes they were promised a reimbursement check for the cost of replacing their water service, but what about the others?

•What about the residents who do not need their water service replaced, will they be compensated?

Waterloo Twp. issue needs public support

On Sept. 10, at the end of a 4½-hour marathon public hearing at the Waterloo Township Hall, with seven Planning Commission members present and more than 100 township residents, the commission voted not to amend the township's master plan. The commission decided to keep Waterloo Township at three-acre minimums, instead of two-acre minimums.

Voting "yes" at the Sept. 10 step to maintain the way of meeting were Steven Leiter, Wes Shulz, John Sweet and Donald Osborne Kerrine Morrisey. Voting "no" were Bob Hannewald and Steve Opp. Bob Burgess abstained from voting.

The hall was standing room only. Written statements were read and there were many spontaneous speakers overwhelmingly discussing the dangers of urban sprawl and over development in this beautiful Waterioo area.

These dangerous new amendments to the master plan would have significantly increased housing density by decreasing minimum lot

Have you heard the buzz phrase "They are back"? It's true, the Planning Commission doesn't seem to understand any part of the word "no" because it reversed its vote to allow the two-acre parcels Oct. 21 at a joint Planning Commission meet-

The vote taken was verbal and the results were 4-2, with one absent. Sweet changed his vote and Burgess was allowed to vote this time, rather than abstaining.

The most recent vote could significantly increase the build-out for development in Waterloo.

The majority of the Planning Commission appears to choose not to represent all of the township voters and protect their own special interests. How is this fair? What is it going to take for them to listen? Why are they ignoring the public outcry at the public hearing for

As a result of the vote changes, another public hearing with the Planning Commission is scheduled 7:30 p.m. Nov. 20 at Waterloo Township Hall.

We need big numbers. We reed two to three times the 100-plus residents who turned out Sept, 10. We need to tell them "no" again.

need your patronage Having lived in Chelsea all my life, this is my first and probably last letter to the editor. My concern is for the business owners and their employees in the Chelsea area. My greatest concerns right now are the downtown merchants and the downtown area in general.

It is common knowledge that more people earn their living from retail establishments than from big business and manufacturing. Though Chelsea's downtown is a small part of the whole, it is still important for the people who reside and work in the community.

Several years ago, I was asked to speak at the Chelsea Retirement Community about what it was like to be in business in Chelsea. I decided that the average person probably has no idea how complex a small-town business can be and what it entails.

that we made the kind of chemicals used, etc. profit that most people think we do - 100 percent. Buy it air conditioning,

If you own your own building, keep it in good shape, maintain its appearance. Roof leaking after a storm? You need a good furnace and air conditioning, several kinds of insurance, such as fire, theft, accident, in case a customer is injured while in your store, health insurance for your employees and yourself.

If you are lucky, your employee might be covered by family insurance. You will need insurance to cover your merchandise and equipment. If you are a renter, you pay this same insurance.

Now how about one of our favorites - taxes, Schools, village, township, state and federal, plus half of your employee Social Security, unemployment taxes, Workers Compensation and the Single Business Tax.

To open your store, you must purchase merchandise to sell. Display cases and shelves, probably a computer to keep track of your purchases, sales, bookkeeping, payroll, etc. A cash register to keep all your sales money in, display materials, maybe new carpeting, cleaning materials and equipment, gift wrapping and boxes (usually free to customers), gift cards, fancy bows to make the final touch.

Pens, pencils, rubber bands, paper clips, a stapler and staples, mailing boxes, sealing tape, typewriter, envelopes and fancy bags for customer merchandise.

Address envelopes, sales pads, stationery, telephones and monthly bills. A safe for security.

If you have a business that calls for repairs of customers merchandise, add repair equipment, tools of many First of all, I can only wish kinds, materials for repair, cost of installing and mainand some things for you to taining all this equipment. I am sure I have missed many other expenses, but you get the picture.

Now you have probably money to pay your monthly bills and payroll. To make a small profit would be nice.

You are now like everyone else who works for a living. Pay your own bills, taxes, perhaps rent and/or mortgage. Car payments, heat, make life worthwhile.

How far do you suppose that 100 percent profit we talked about has dropped? To 10 percent, 5 percent or 3 percent?

HOW IT WORKS

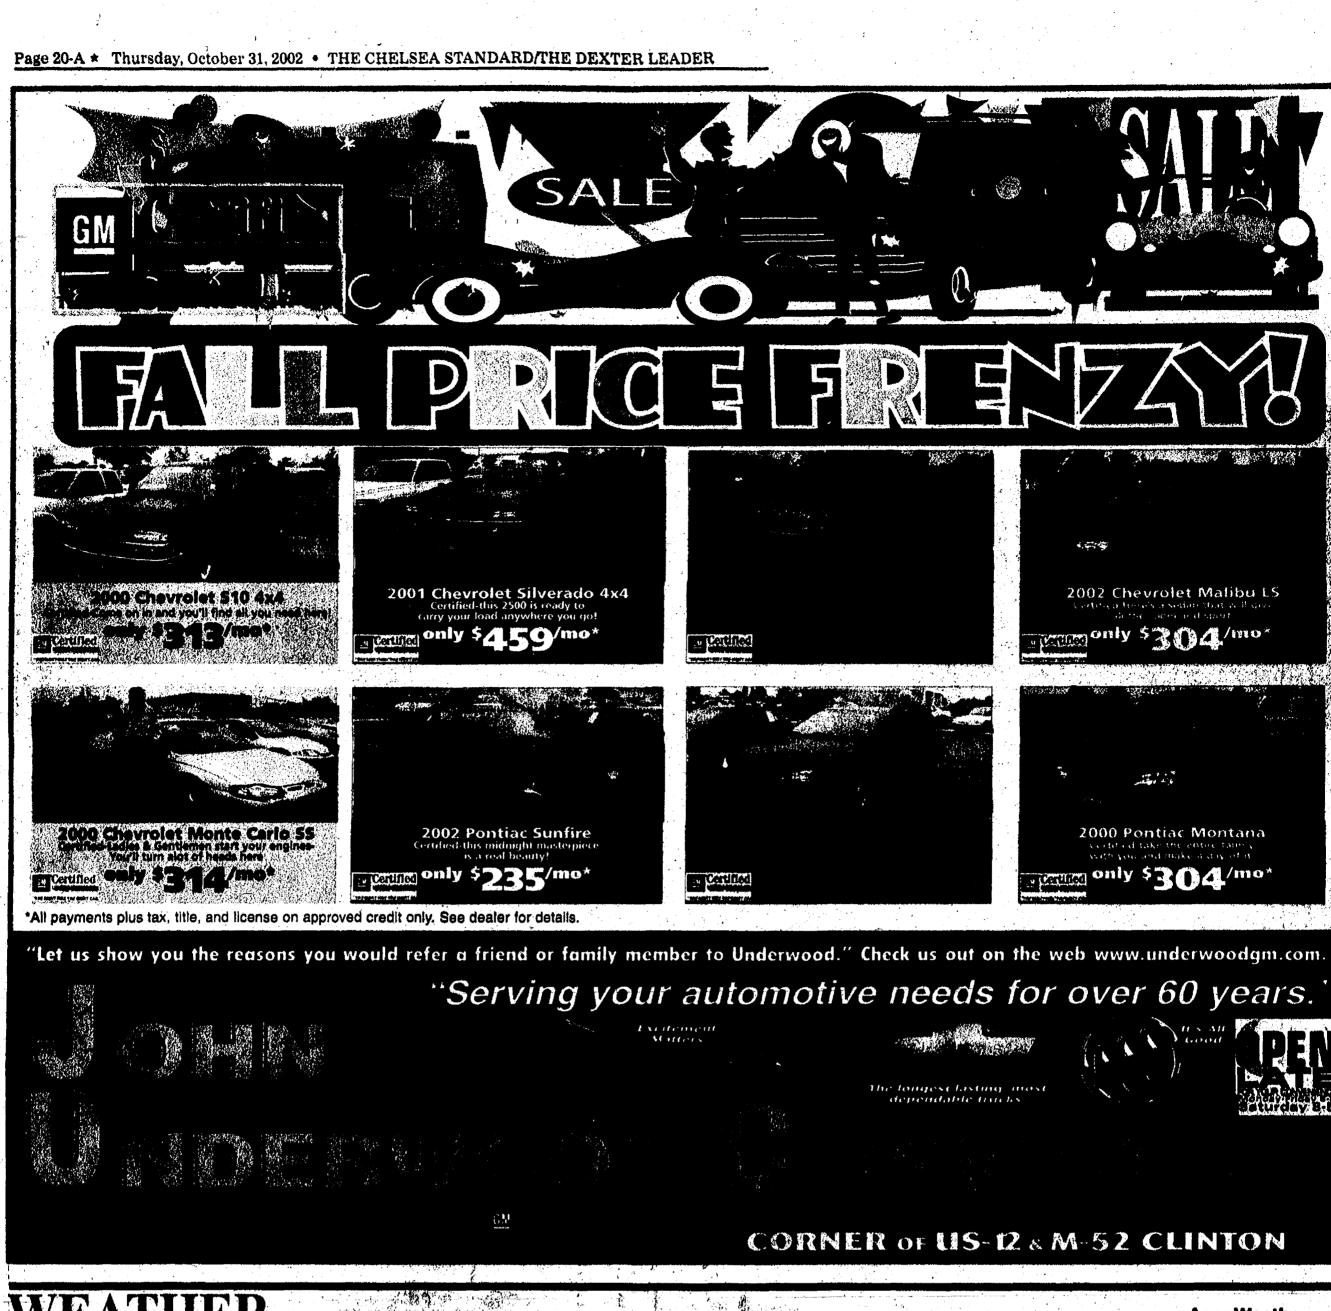

Gutter Helmet is a multi-patented, closed system that keeps your gutters free-flowing.

- The patented flow-limiting, ribbed design slows and spreads water as it nears the gutter.
- 2. Rainwater is directed around the nose and into the gutter by the simple physical law of surface tension, the same principle that causes water to cling to the outside of a glass as it spills. This exclusive, patent-pending, textured design increases the surface-tension performance of every panel by 60% over other products.
- 3. The patented nose-forward design eliminates all vertical openings, forcing leaves and other debris over the edge and to the ground.
- 4. Rainwater enters the gutter through the factory pre-set, 3/8" horizontal water gap, perfectly designed to channel the heaviest rainfall into the gutter, but engineered to keep birds, animals and depris out... permanently. The continuous water gap means there are no slots or screens to clog or clean.

- 5. Gutter Helmet panels are installed with patented 50-gauge brackets that reinforce your existing, full-size gutters, supporting even the heaviest snow loads. Our new Tri-BeamTM support bracket fastens securely and invisibly to the facia, eliminating roof penetration.
- 6. Our patent -pending texturing process adds depth and strength to every panel without adding weight and stress. Our panels are 33% thicker than other products, yet other products weigh 21%-26% more! More weight equals more stress on your gutters!
- 7. The patent-pending PermaLifeTM coating will not fade, will not chalk and is not affected by corrosive acid rain. No other company can make this claim. In fact, the polyester coating on most other products are recommended for limited exterior use! And, the PermaLifeTM coating has special additives that work overtime to help prevent the dirt and organic build-up common to other products. See our transferable warranty for specific details.

LOVING HOMES NEEDED Cooper is an active, loving labrador mix who is anxious to find a new home soon. He's here at the shelter because his owner couldn't keep him anymore. He's ten months old, and has all the energy of a puppy yet, though his body is pretty much full grown. Cooper needs an owner who can give him lots of exercise and love, and understand that he's just learning how to sit and stay. Susie is a beautiful blue merle, tan and white Australian shepherd mix, anxious to please a new owner and looking forward to meeting that owner soon. Susie is here and her owner really didn't want a dog: That's not good, is it! Now Susie is hoping for a new home where she can run and play, and be loved foreverl Davison came here to the shelter as a stray and is six years old. As you can see, he's all about the pointing thing! He's quite proud of that, too. He's quite well behaved and likes to be around people. He's sure he'll make his new owner the best pet ever! When she was 13, her family relocated to Virginia, where both her dance career and academic life took off. She became a member of The Virginia Ballet Co., still in existence today.

At the age of 15, DuBois auditioned for the School of American Ballet at the Kennedy Center.

"I didn't feel nervous at all," she says. "I had no clue that I was supposed to be nervous. I just danced and had fun."

A year later, the family was on the move again, this time Dayton, Ohio, where DuBois joined the Dayton Ballet. She danced bit parts in the ballet's first company and toured with the professional company.

In her junior year of high school, DuBois became a paid apprentice in the first company, her first profes- get it." sional gig.

While ballet provided its shining highlights, it also had its mortifying moments.

While with the Dayton Ballet, she danced a performance still suffering from the after-effects of a bout of influenza.

"I probably shouldn't have been out there," she says. "Everything was black — the curtains, the floor, the wings, everything.

"I came out of a pirouette and had no idea where I was. I was mortified to finally realize that I had my backside to the audience."

Among her highlights was dancing a pas de deux with Greg Robinson, now the associate director of the Dayton Ballet.

"It was choreographed by Lloyce Houlton for a friend who was dying of cancer," DuBois says. "I'll never for-

Only the birth of her triplets caused her to slow down and she stopped teaching at U of M. When the triplets turned 2 years old, she finished her degree in liberal arts at the university.

DuBois came to Chelsea via the Dance Gallery in Ann Arbor and the Grass Lake

DuBois enjoys developing choreography, finding it "challenging, like a puzzle."

All Ayes. Motion carried. Motion by Orthring seconded by Ritter to approve the Regular Agenda. All Ayes. Motion carried.

Audience Participation:

Communications to Council: President Steele brought to attention of Council the following correspondence: letter from Peter Flintoft re: Meadow Lane, 9/26/02 and 10/3/02 Progress Meeting minutes, MML Legislative Link, letter from DEQ re: Meadow Lane, letter re: Cassidy Lake meeting, letter from Marilyn Mink re: proposed rezoning of 40 acres, legal opinion re: conflict of interest, MML website information re: charter, letter to Jack re: thanks for Summer Fest, press release on new website, letters re: noise ordinance, memo from County re: 2002 special assessments, COLA information, Sept. 2002 Monthly Zoning Report, letter to CAFA re: rent, CACA Sept. 2002 Permit Statement, letters re: CATS, CATS ridership statistics.

Report from Council Committees: Trustee Ritter reported that the Planning Commission held a public hearing last Tuesday, as advertised in the newspaper, and it was poorly attended and there was a lack of a quorum for a good portion of the meeting.

Trustee Albertson explained that the public meeting took place at a work session of the Planning Commission and was held to receive public input for the rec and parks plan the Planning Commission is working on. A comprehensive recreation land use plan would give the Planning Commission authority to require developers to provide land for parks. Another public meeting will be held on November 19, 2002 at the regularly scheduled

Planning Commission meeting. Reports from Village Officers:

Village Manager Myers gave an update on the watermain project. Village Manager Myers also noted that a legal opinion from the Miller Canfield and information on the MML website state that Council members may run for Charter Commission for a new city without giving up their Council seat. The Charter Commission election will be held on January 21, 2003. Filing deadline for petitions is 4:00 p.m. on Monday, December 2, RFPs will go out to those firms that submitted statements of qualification in regards to the search for a village attorney.

Clerk Branson said the petition packets for the Charter Election will be available to pick up in the Clerks office on October 14, 2002. Planning & Zoning Administrator Jim Drolett advised Council that his monthly zoning report for September was in front of them. The Planning Commission will be looking at four site plans at their meeting on October 15th: Gene Drive, Faist Diesing, Bridge Travelland and the Welfare Building. Water Superintendent Dan Rosentreter said his department will begin fall flushing on Sunday, October 13th. Ric Sauer, Chamber of Commerce president, said the upcoming Business After Hours will be held at the Chelsea House Victorian Inn on October 9th, and there will be a Candidates Forum at the Comfort Inn at 7:00 p.m. on October 15th. Nancy Schumann, Chelsea District Library delegate, said the CDL Board held a meeting last night to review the Breton Group Study, accepted the study and will seriously look at the components of the report. Copies of the report, which is a feasibility study on the proposed expansion, are in the Chris Rode, Planning Commission Chair, reported on the public hearing.

Discussion ensued on the terms "public hearing" vs. "public meeting" and it seems the intent was that of a public meeting to seek input from the public on the proposed rec and parks plan. Unfinished Business:

Village Manager Myers reminded Council that they had approved the nstallation of an antenna on the water tower by OpAve at a prior meeting. The lease agreement is on the agenda tonight for approval by Council Much discussion ensued. Changes to the agreement requested by Council included requiring Village approval to changes in the equipment on the tower, giving the Council first right of refusal if OpAve should go out of business, and protection of the service and capacity Motion by Ritter seconded by Holmes to accept the lease agreement with OpAve to install an antenna on the water tower with the changes as proposed. All Ayes. Motion carried.

Trustee Albertson said she was concerned with erosion of privacy since cameras would be monitoring a public parking lot and said that the public has the right to know. Village Manager Myers said signs would be posted.

Motion by Ortbring seconded by Myles to recognize the memo from Jim Drolett regarding zoning compliance for Frame Hardwoods, dated 10/1/02, which states: the project does not conflict with any zoning requirements, the plan does not result in the relocating of any residents and the project has

Motion by Orthring seconded by Albertson to support the Resolution approving Industrial Development Revenue Bond Financing Project Plan for David and Lisa Frame LLC. Six Ayes, One No (Ritter). Motion carried. (Resolution attached as Appendix A)

New Business:

Village Manager Myers explained that the water from the water plant. treated by the reverse osmosis system, is currently going through the wastewater treatment plant. It is reducing WWTP capacity and the Village will need to spend about $150,000-$170,000 annually to treat this water at the WWTP. He recommends that Council approve the proposal from Tetra Tech to prepare a NPDES permit application for the discharge of this reverse osmosis concentrate to Lett's Creek.

Trustee Holmes said he was concerned that the creek is already polluted, he said he believes the DEQ is reactive to problems rather than proactive, and he is concerned about assigning this to Tetra Tech. He wondered if it could be handled in house and sent to the lab by the Village. Village Manager Myers and President Steele said Village Engineer Linfield has quite a heavy workload. WWTP Superintendent Brad Roberts said that the water in the creek coming into the Village has more toxicity than the water leaving the WWTP. Jim Muran of Tetra Tech said there was no significant phosphorus in the discharge from the plant. Trustee Myles said the Village needs to minimize the Impact on the WWTP as soon as possible. Trustee Orthring asked if the Village had to use Tetra Tech and Village Manager Myers said no.

Motion by Schumann seconded by Myles to support the modification of the NPDES permit for the water treatment plant and accept the proposal from Tetra Tech to prepare the NPDES permit application in the amount of $11,800.00. Five Ayes, Two No (Holmes, Ortbring). Motion carried. Trustee Schumann asked that the AATA budget be transferred to CATS since CATS took over the Dexter Chelsea route in late August and CATS is in need of funds. Pat Conlin, CATS Board member, said the mission of CATS is still to serve the senior and disabled population, but the service has been expanded to serve the general public. He also asked that money earmarked for AATA be transferred to CATS as well as the money already earmarked for her developmentally disabled students. Michaelene Pawlak said WISD is paying for 11/2 hours of bus service per day at $35.00 per hour and this bus is also open to the public. She has applied for many grants and spends about 80% of her time pursuing grants. She has applied for state funding for medical rides and pass through monies via AATA. Trustee Ortbring said $9312 was budgeted for AATA in FY 02-03. AATA has been given $6,057.80, which leaves $3,254.20 remaining. Village Manager Myers didn't see a problem with allocating that money to CATS but he is not sure $10,000 will be available next year as requested by CATS. Trustee Orthring said that Council needs to look at providing services to the residents when preparing the budget. She also said CATS needs to provide a written plan. Trustee Schumann said that it has to be recognized that transportation is not self-sustaining. Trustee Schumann asked that $5,000.00 be given to CATS in addition to the $4,000.00 already allocated. The $5,000.00 shall include the portion budgeted to AATA, but not used with the additional monies coming from the contingency fund. Bruce Carty, CATS Board member, said CATS is working with AATA and receives money through the state that more than pays for the Dexter Cheisea run. He provided a financial plan for the next year. He said the CATS Board must make strategic decisions in the next 60-90 days.

Judy Hein of Silver Maples said the residents depend on CATS when the Silver Maples bus isn't available and this allows many to give up driving their cars when they should. Motion by Schumann seconded by Orthring to allocate $5000.00 to CATS for the remainder of FY 02-03. Roll Call: Ayes: Schumann, Steele, Albertson, Holmes, Myles, Ortbring. No: Ritter. Motion carried. Michaelene Pawiak will put into writing how she would like to receive the Planning & Zoning Administrator Drolett explained that the 40 acres of the Merkel property currently part of the PUD application came into the Village over two years ago and is currently unzoned. The Planning Commission is recommending that this property be zoned AG-1. According to Mr. Drolett's memo, those that voted for AG-1 felt that if the PUD project fell through, the Commission could have an extra lever to use on a future developer. Those that voted RS-1 felt they had committed themselves in recommending the PUD rezoning which called for single family residential development and that the Comprehensive Plan recommends single family residential development for thie area. The Planning Commission voted 5-4 to recommend rezoning to AG-1. (AG-1: Haugen, Soule, Kinzer, Valle, Bolt. RS-1: Rode, Mink, Feeney, Elle). Much discussion ensued on these reasons. Trustee Myles said the Village hasn't held up the developer as the Village has been waiting for him to revise the agreement. However, he believes that not standing by the Comprehensive Plan weakens it and he supports RS-1.

Motion by Ritter seconded by Holmes to zone the 40.25 acres of vacant land, GC-07-06-401-001, Martin Merkel property, as RS-1. Six Ayes, One No (Albertson). Motion carried. (Ordinance No. 79-IIIII attached as Trustee Albertson indicated that she voted as she did because those that elected her asked her to vote this way.

Motion by Myles seconded by Orthring to approve Ordinance No. 79-IJJJJ that allows parks as a special land use in the C-5 zoning district. All-Ayes, Motion carried. (Ordinance No. 79-JJJJJ attached as Appendix C) Trustee Ritter explained that if the Chelsea Area Fire Joint Building Authority is formed, five members will be appointed to the Board and they will be able to build what they want. The Village could run over their bonding limit.

Motion by Albertson seconded by Ritter to table the Chelsea Area Fire Joint Building Authority to the next meeting. Discussion ensued and motion Motion by Ortbring seconded by Ritter to not enter into the Building.
